Norway Follows Britain In Lifting Red China Embargo

LONDON, June 1 (UP)—The Norwegian government, following the lead of Britain, announced today it is relaxing the embargo on trade with Communist China.

A United Press survey indicated that virtually all the other Western European nations, except West Germany, will follow suit shortly.

The Norwegian decision was announced by a foreign ministry spokesman in Oslo who said that the ending of the separate Red China embargo had been under consideration "for some time."

The spokesman said Norway has decided, as did Britain, that

Exchange Club To Buy Disaster Truck

As a result of the recent rash of disasters striking across the state of Texas, the Pampa Exchange Club has purchased a one-ton panel truck for use as a disaster unit and emergency ambulance.

At a recent meeting of the club it was voted to equip the truck with a light panel, public address system, two-way radio, ladders, grappling hooks, first aid equipment, fire extinguishers and drinking water facilities.

All members of the club have been encouraged to take lessons in first aid, and individuals of business firms who wish to aid the project by donating any of the above mentioned items may do so by contacting V. E. Wagner, president of the Exchange Club of Pampa.

Death Toll Climbs Past 200 Mark

By UNITED PRESS
The death toll for a four-day Memorial Day holiday climbed past the 200-mark Saturday.

Motorists were credited by the National Safety Council with safe and sane driving in an effort to hold the highway slaughter down. The United Press death count at 8 p. m. est., showed 231 persons dead in traffic accidents. Eleven others died in plane crashes, 82 were drowned and 52 lost their lives in miscellaneous accidents to get the overall total at 376.

California At Top
California stood at the top of the traffic tally by states with 27 fatalities. Pennsylvania was next with 16, Illinois had 15 and Ohio 13.

During the official holiday period from 6 p. m. Wednesday to midnight Thursday, the United Press counted 99 holiday traffic fatalities. The toll was 24 above the normal 75 for a non-holiday Thursday in May but 21 under the 120 deaths predicted by the council.

A council spokesman said the toll during the same number of days for a non-holiday weekend at this time of year would be expected to reach around 330 traffic deaths.

He also revealed the country would have approached 200 deaths by 11 p. m. est Saturday during a non-holiday weekend.

Actually the drivers and the traffic enforcement agencies have teamed up to hold the death toll since 6 p. m. Wednesday below what would be expected during this same period of the same days at this time of year in a non-holiday weekend," said Ned H. Dearbor, council president.

The safety council, however, was not keeping an official tabulation of highway deaths because it said many Americans returned to work Friday and thus a bonafide holiday weekend did not exist.

New Bloodbath Facing French

Rebels Kill 35 In Algeria

ALGIERS, Algeria, June 1 (UP)—France today faced a worsening bloodbath in Algeria and rising anti-French violence in neighboring Tunisia.

Severe Weather Continues Over Southwestern Area

By CHARLES E. WEBB
DALLAS, June 1 (UP)—A six-state southwestern area was under severe weather warnings tonight that included tornadoes. Massive rains earlier struck southeastern Oklahoma and West Texas.

Violent weather during the last two months has already cost Oklahoma and Texas more than $130 million, according to an estimate by Rep. James Wright (D-Tex.), a member of a house subcommittee surveying the storm-torn area.

A deluge of 6.5 inches today swept Madill in the Lake Texoma area that splits Texas and Oklahoma, threatening to send the world's largest man-made lake to new record levels while posing more flood for the two states.

Roads Under Water
At Floydada in West Texas, 5.54 inches of rainfall battered that city in a 15-hour period. All roads in and out of the city were reported under water.

continued at flood stage because of new general rains. The Trinity River stood at 35.14 feet (28 feet in flood stage) at Dallas where more than 28 inches of rain fell within the past two months. The Trinity was expected to stay at flood level for several days.

The weather bureau later expanded the forecast to include an area 60 miles on either side of a line from 40 miles northeast of Mineral Wells, Tex., to 80 miles southeast of Fort Smith, Ark.

Atom Bomb Ban To Be Proposed

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
WASHINGTON, June 1 (UP)—The United States will propose a ban on production of atomic explosives and a temporary limitation or suspension of nuclear tests when it presents President Eisenhower's "first step" disarmament plan, an official source disclosed today.

Presentation of the package offer in the London U.N. disarmament talks will be delayed a week to 10 days while details are being worked out here and overseas with allied nations, administration officials said.

As now envisaged, the American plan would include a proposed international agreement to limit and eventually ban nuclear testing. The first step would be an agreed halting of the production of fissionable materials — atomic explosives — guaranteed by a fool-proof monitoring and inspection system.

Permanent Agreement
This could lead to a permanent East-West agreement to ban nuclear tests, which have aroused worldwide fears of radioactivity damage to present and future generations.

Officials denied that any "hitch" in this government or with the Western allies was blocking presentation of the American proposals in London by disarmament negotiator Harold E. Stassen.

They said a delay of at least a week or 10 days was necessary because:

Chiang States Reds Caused Mob Violence

By ROBERT BROWN
TAIPEI, Formosa, June 1 (UP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in a nationwide broadcast deploring last week's anti-American riots, today charged that the Chinese Communists have been trying to "stir up mob violence" on Formosa.

Chiang said Nationalist China must stand beside the United States. He gave the first official hint that Communist elements may have been behind the violence that led rioters to sack the U.S. embassy and injure at least 12 Americans on May 24.

Dutch Couple Proc laims Texas, United States As 'Overwhelming'

By GWEN THURMOND STARK
Pampa News Staff Writer

Mr. and Mrs. William J. C. Schmitz described their impression of Texas and the United States as "overwhelming" when interviewed by The News. The couple, natives of Holland, are in Pampa visiting their daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Carl M. Lang, 1408 Hamilton.

Schmitz, having recently retired after serving 28 years with the Bauxite Plant of the Alcoa Company in Dutch Guiana as a construction engineer, decided to come to Texas to visit his daughter, Mrs. Schmitz planned to go to Germany for a visit, so the two left their home in supposedly two different directions. However, when Schmitz arrived in Denver, Colo., after traveling several thousand miles to New York City and then to Denver, he had a wonderful surprise waiting for him. Both his daughter, whom he had not seen for three and one half years, and his wife, whom he had not seen for one and one half months, were waiting for him, besides Dr. Lang.

"It was a wonderful surprise," Schmitz said. Then he laughed and said that after his traveling so much his family took him to see "Around the World in Eighty Days," first thing.

Mr. and Mrs. Schmitz have traveled through many countries. A few of them are England, Germany, Ireland, South America and France, Dutch East Indies, Puerto Rico and Portugal.

"However, I just can't understand why so many Americans travel to Europe every year to see the country when they have such lovely scenery here," Schmitz said.

Mrs. Schmitz agreed by saying that she had visited the states several times before, but she thought it was more beautiful than she had ever seen it this time. "Things are so green this year," she exclaimed.

Mr. and Mrs. Schmitz have spent 30 years in the tropics. When talking of their experiences, they said it was nice but no good for family life.

"We never were plagued with diseases," Mrs. Schmitz said, "but since the schools were not much good we had to send our children back to Holland when they were only 10 and 11 to go to school. We really only had our daughter 11 years."

They went on to explain that Henye Marie entered school in Maastricht, Holland, and William, in Haarlem, Ireland, just before the war. Because of the conditions, the parents didn't get to see the children for six years. Henye Marie then went to her parents in checker players and nicknames were there, same as ever, and I suspect there is not another small town in the U.S.A. that preserves them as faithfully."

Toby now runs a small-appliance store in Key West, Fla. He's in New York for the opening of "A Face in the Crowd," a movie for which he was technical adviser on small town life. When the author and the director first asked him to take them to an Arkansas small town in which they could shoot the movie, he took them to Piggott.

Next morning he figured he'd done right. Both had got knives and joined the whittlers.

C. R. Anthony Remodeling Work Has Been Completed

An extensive remodeling has just been completed on the C. R. Anthony store, 118 N. Cuyler, Louis Overstreet, Anthony chain's advertising manager, announced yesterday.

This Anthony store, member of the famous dry goods chain, was established in 1933. It was the sixteenth in a chain of 244 stores covering 19 states.

The remodeling, started about five weeks ago, includes a completely new front with large windows, fluorescent lighting, pneumatic tube system for fast billing, and a repainting. Air conditioning has been installed for some time.

New maple finished display tables have also been added, increasing the amount of merchandise which can be shown.

"The whole idea is to make shopping easier for the customer," B. D. Briscoe, store manager, said.

Briscoe took over as manager in 1953. Chain headquarters is located at Oklahoma City, Okla. The first Anthony store was built at Cushing, Okla., in 1922.

W. L. Stark Construction Co. did the remodeling work here.

What Goes In Making Rural Small Town?

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—What is the real essence of a rural small town? Well, there have been some changes made in the last couple of generations, but the way Toby Bruce figures it, if you ain't got whittlers, checker players, and nicknames it's not the real thing.

These are basic ingredients of the old-time midwestern type of small town, like Piggott, Ark., a place of some 3,000 ruggedly independent souls where Toby grew up.

Away from Body
You whittle with a pocket knife on a cedar stick all day, with maybe a break for noontime dining. You sit with 50 to 100 other whittlers, saying little, shaving off razor-thin slivers with long, smooth, away-from-the-body strokes that are almost a rhythm.

Anybody who whittles toward himself's a real quarry. You don't whittle to carve out anything. You just do it for the art of whittling. Early next morning, a handyman cleans the courthouse yard of the piles of shavings, and the process is repeated.

If you're not a whittler, you may be a checker player, and you inhabit the same region, playing mostly up on the bandstand. On a Saturday there may be as many as 200 players and kibitzers gathered.

If you're not one of these groups, you may be in the coffee group.

"This is composed of men who mostly are merchants," Toby says. "They go from place to place in the business section for coffee, over which they exchange news items and transact politics. You find the same fellows at one place at 7 a.m., another place at 9 a.m., and so, on through 10, 2, 3 and 4. Some drink 15 to 18 cups a day.

Fanciful Names
"And then there are the nicknames. We had Humpy Wade and Turnbuckle Berry and Tighteye Sneed. Tighteye had three brothers named Gooseegg, Roundhead, and Batsy.

"My real name is Telly Otto Bruce, but Toby is the nickname that stuck. I also was called Baggers, Eaglebeak, and Little Britches. When I went back to Piggott last summer, the whittlers and Dutch Guiana and in less than a year married Dr. Lang, who had been stationed there as an Army doctor. William is now in South Africa mining gold.

Still speaking of his children and their extensive travel, Schmitz said, "Yes, our daughter was born in the Dutch East Indies, and our son in the Dutch West Indies."

When asked of their plans for the future, the couple said that they planned to stay in Pampa for awhile and then possibly visit friends in Baltimore at Gibson Island or New York. They said that they had made many American friends of people who visited Dutch Guiana.

"We don't know just yet where we are going to settle down," Schmitz said, "maybe the United States, Holland, or South Africa. I want to get a job. I'm only 57 and I want to continue working."

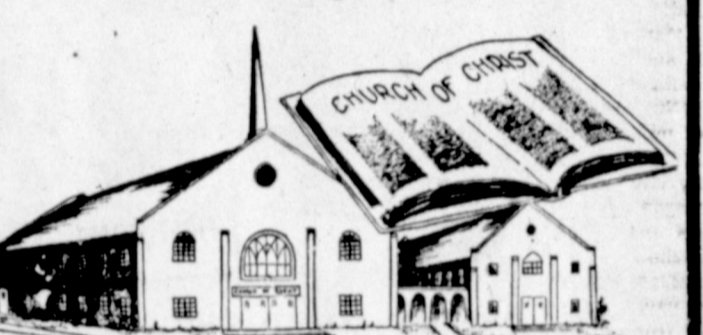

The couple expressed their opinion of the States by saying that they'd enjoy living here. "The people here have been so friendly to ward us," they said.

THE ABOVE brief clipping tells you worlds about the '57 Buick.

It tells you we went all out to make this car completely new—yet we didn't sacrifice a single Buick virtue.

So you still get that unmistakable Buick styling.

You still get that big-car room and comfort and that solid Buick quality.

But you also get so complete a change in the vitals of this car that the driving of it is a wondrous new experience.

You get a brilliant brand of performance that's different from anything else that goes on four wheels.

Words won't describe it. Telling you there's an all-new engine, an instant new Dynaflo,* a completely new power train—none of that will convey this news to you.

What you have to do is get in this car and drive it. Drive it around the block, through town, out on the highway. Actually feel what happens when you press the gas pedal, turn the steering wheel, touch those powerful new brakes.

Then—and not till then—will you know why folks call this "the dream car to drive."

The best advice we can give you, by far, is this: Ask your dealer for a trial run today.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick built today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special. Safety-Buzzer is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

THE BALD BOY

Progress occasionally Backslides

By ELMER WHEELER
I really believe I'm getting bald.

My "cowardly hair" seems to have stopped charging rearward. Or at least slowed down.

It may be my imagination, but, honestly, I am not finding so much hair on my comb these days.

Top, I believe my hair is getting a little luster back, for I have spent several weeks now using the mildest of tonics (my doc says they're O.K. if used conservatively, that even too much water can drown a person).

I'm now washing my noggin twice a week, not enough to make it look like a worn-out rug or my sheep dog when he comes in out of the rain; but enough to keep it dust- or dirt free and unclogged in the pores.

I'm boning up on nutrition now. I'm telegraphing from my Fat Boy's Book what foods to eat to promote better health, and I'm keeping track of my vitamin count to make sure I am not one of those people "with full stomachs" yet "starving from malnutrition."

What is more, I'm not upsetting my mind with worry. I'm trying to take things in my stride. Not trying to do everything today. Using a little manana.

Fact is, I took three weeks' vacation this year instead of two. Instead of motoring madly to some resort, burning up nerves and pistons, I flew to Mexico and really relaxed.

In Merida, Mexico, I learned about another hair treatment. I was tempted to try it, but my wife said, "Nix," wasn't I getting along better by not thinking about my hair?

Only one more time I "fell off the wagon" and took to the bottle, at is, the tonic bottle.

Somehow or other you always get tonics of other lands have more value, and when I found a bottle from Egypt in a Mexican store, I figured maybe some secrets of the Nile were passed on to the maker, and I tried it.

Two days later my wife complained of the enormous number of flies.

For awhile I figured it was the bees we were in, then suddenly it dawned on me it was my tonic they were after.

I bathed that night hard and fast and swore never again to be tempted with fancy hair stuff until I had given my doc's program an honest try.

I did watch my diet though. I ate dark breads with lots of wheat germ. I ate proteins galore such as chicken, fish and meats. I had cheese and fruits for dessert.

I began to notice, or rather the wife did first, that I wasn't scratching my head so much so often. Maybe cleanliness was removing the itch.

Nor was I brushing off those invisible butterflies any more on my shoulder, so I guess my nerves were relaxing, and I was improving on my physical and mental well-being which reflected in all parts of Elmer, including his hair glands.

Some fuzz appeared one day just in front of my receding hair line. I rushed at once to the doc.

He smiled, pleased. Said while there was fuzz, there was hope.

"Two days later my wife complained about the flies."

That perhaps the clogged pores in front of my receding hair line were cleaning themselves out, and maybe I didn't have the bad gene and my hair would correct itself.

Then one day my wife said, "I actually think the hole in your head, or rather your hair, is closing up. Fuzz is coming out inside the hole and the hair around the hole seems to be thicker."

Gosh, did I feel good.

Just as plants in a depleted soil come out thin and stringy, I guess hair that lacks nourishment comes out the same way; and that both can be made stronger and thicker by proper fertilization.

Maybe I was finding ways to stop falling hair not due to the bad gene. (Perhaps someone some day will isolate the bad gene as they have flu and polio viruses.) Nothing is impossible.

The costs on the cattle in Hereford are best in the world, as is the meat from them which gets highest world prices. I know, I live in Dallas on Sizzle Ranch.

I guess what goes in you makes you.

I stopped reading hair-raising stories, and started reading up on hair-raising, even on animals, to see if I could find some answers.

There must be a reason why my sheep dog has hair in his eyes, and the Chihuahua down the street that he envies, has no hair.

Breeding counts.

So on the advice of Peter J. Michael I boned up on animal hair.

Stocks Reach Record High During First 5 Months Of '57

NEW YORK (UP) — Stocks reached new highs for 1957 at the close of the first five months on the basis of the Standard & Poor's indexes.

Both the Standard index of 425 industrials and its composite of 500 stocks closed the week on Friday at their highest levels since last Nov. 5.

But the bluest of the blue chips which make up the Dow-Jones averages did a little less than nothing at all. The Dow-Jones composite of 65 stocks—30 industrials, 20 rails and 15 utilities—closed with a loss of 4-1/8ths point, the smallest change since April 20, 1956 when it was the same.

It was a dull week, cut to four days by Memorial Day. Daily average sales fell to 2,169,112 shares, against 2,235,897 shares in the previous week.

Industrials Recover

Prices of industrials fell sharply on Monday — widest decline since Feb. 11, the day before the market made its 1957 low. They dipped again on Tuesday, and came back sharply Wednesday. They rose again Friday. The Dow-Jones industrial average closed the week at 504.93 up 0.91 point. Rails closed the week at 145.55 off 0.31 and utilities were off 0.33 at 74.03.

The Standard & Poor's 500-stock index closed at 47.43, up 0.76 point on the week. That works out to a gain of $3,300,000,000 in value of all listed shares and only 2.29 points or 10 billion dollars under the record high set last Aug. 2.

THE BEST TRIBUTE we have ever heard about fathers came from a youngster who said, "We have such good fun with my daddy I wish I had known him sooner."

FATHERS ARE IMPORTANT PEOPLE to have. A father is a banker provided by nature. He takes care of all the important things, while mother makes the decisions about unimportant things. Of course, it is very seldom that anything important turns up, usually never.

STAFF NOTES

JOEL R. COMBS, managing editor

I visited with Loyse Caldwell, the proprietor of Caldwell's Drive-In, last week.

Caldwell is of the opinion that we Top o' Texans need to develop a little better attitude toward the younger generation. He feels, as many other Pampans do, that most of the trouble youths in Pampa get into are caused by just a few and that the current "crop" of young 'uns are just as good and maybe better than any other in the past.

Caldwell said that he had had less "trouble" in the last two years at his place of business than in the entire 10 years he has operated it.

This talk with Caldwell came on the heels of a series of incidents around here in which youngsters have been "beating up" on each other. The "youngsters" haven't all been teenagers, though.

Caldwell told of an occasion when several teenagers came to him and showed him a petition they had gotten up whereby they had proclaimed that ALL of their number in town weren't bad and that perhaps most of the troubles in Pampa blamed on youngsters had been caused by just a few and not the whole teenage citizenry. They intended to bring the petition to The News, where they hoped to get some adults to sponsor it as an ad and get it published to combat what they thought was publically which put a bad light on all the teenagers in "Our Town" instead of just the few who were causing the trouble. It never got here. Somebody must have put a damper on it or they decided maybe everybody wasn't getting bad publicity after all.

But, back to Caldwell. He figures that a lot of trouble could be prevented if some of the parents in town kept a closer eye on their offspring and didn't leave it all up to the police department. He also feels that the current curfew on teenagers is unfair to those who weren't making trouble in the first place and who still aren't. He believes the curfew should be set in the homes.

Caldwell is probably in contact with about as many teenagers as anyone in town in his business.

Of course, Mr. Caldwell is right. Not all of Pampa's teenagers are "bad." In fact, if you stood all the "bad" ones shoulder to shoulder in a line, they probably wouldn't reach a block. And, if you stood all the "real cool cats" (average to outstanding) teenagers in the same manner and started lining them up at 6 a.m., then the last one in line probably wouldn't be able to walk back home before curfew.

FRED M. PARKER, staff writer

With the summer months now here and most of us using the long evenings and week ends for relaxation and pleasure the need to stress safety is more acute.

This fact was pointed up Thursday evening when the storm struck Lake McClellan while several boats were still on the water. Two men lost their lives, but it could have been more tragic. The other two that were with these men could also have drowned.

It was learned later Friday that at least one other boat overturned at the lake Thursday and that the man was pulled from the water by someone in another boat.

The need to consider the hazards of any pleasure should be realized. If the boats had pulled into shore when the clouds approached there would have been no danger. It might be well to note that

DORIS WILSON, women's editor

You are sitting in the Pampa Senior High School Fieldhouse. It is 8 p.m. May 30, 1957. The program in your moist hands reads, "Commencement 1957 Pampa Senior High School. Perhaps you have had one, two, maybe, even three or four graduates in your family before, but each time there is the same time-resisting feeling. "It isn't the end of anything... it is really just the beginning..." your thoughts echo back to you, as you pressed the graduation robe this morning. Now you try hard to hold onto this belief, too. But! The first grade seems such a short, short time ago!

The high school band strikes up the procession, "Pomp and Circumstance." The stirring music, with its significance, makes your heart beat just a little faster. The alphabetically first two grey-gowned figures wearing their tasseled mortar boards step out into the auditorium and begin a slow measured tread down the aisle to their assigned seats.

There is a great restrained stir in the audience and a strong feeling of expectancy as parents and friends strain to see "Their Graduate" or a friend's. As the graduates enter and walk slowly to their places, you think how sweet and serious they look... could you ever have thought they were, well, anything but sweet and serious?

If you are fortunate, your own graduate is alphabetically near the end of the line, because by the time your senior enters, you've learned to keep your eyes wide open; that way, the persistent

Turning from the serious news of the week to a lighter side, we find a sort of mass disease spreading rapidly through the citizens of this area—the males especially. It is brought on as far as modern science can tell by a bite of the common ordinary blue-eyed fish bug.

This produces a frantic fever which is appeased only by the victim dunking one hook baited with worm, preferably, in the nearest body of water. It also helps if the water is stocked with some species of the finny clan.

Oddly enough, if the victim encounters any measure of success in this project, the fever seems only to intensify.

Ross Buzzard, local lawyer and frequent victim, pointed out the fisherman's two great nemesis—houses and wives.

At times one can rely on the sympathy of the former when your suffering is greatest, but no known method has ever been consistently effective in coping with the latter. Females' brains seem incapable of comprehending the terrible agony the would-be fisherman faces. The editor was in the process, this week, of giving a first hand account to several staff members of the great number of large fish he had managed to subdue, when his wife unexpectedly walked in.

Mrs. Foster Completes 35th Year In Schools At Groom

By JOHN GARMON
Pampa News Correspondent
GROOM — If you want to know the history of the Groom Public Schools from 1922 to 1957, ask Mrs. R. T. Foster. She has been teaching at Groom during that period, which amounts to 35 years of classroom experience. A member of the First Baptist Church of Groom, Mrs. Foster came to the Groom community with her husband, Dr. R. T. Foster, in 1916. Dr. Foster died in 1945. Many people who have grandchildren now being taught by Mrs. Foster can remember when they were taught by this same patient teacher. They also remember how she directed playground activities with nearly the same enthusiasm for recess fun as the children had; and how she used to act as pitcher for those heated baseball games at noon recesses. Many of them who visit her present-day classes are astonished to see that she is still the same spry pitcher and alert teacher that she was when they were students in the Groom Schools. "She had a stern way about her which made you afraid to get out of hand," one person said, "but she was still so nice that you always looked forward to her classes." Most of her former students agree that this is the best description that a person could give of Mrs. Foster as a teacher. Mrs. Foster now teaches the fourth grade at Groom Schools where she is part-time principal of the six lower grades. Her fellow faculty members say that she is a "wonderful person to work with" and an encouraging example for younger teachers. She is active in her church work and other social and civic organizations in addition to her work at school. One of her fourth grade students this year expressed a view of Mrs. Foster which is shared by most of his classmates and many of those who were once members of classes which Mrs. Foster has taught: "I can hit a baseball a whole lot further when Mr. Foster is pitching," he said.

Jerry Lewis To Have Family On TV Show

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP) — A new show business career will begin for an 11-year-old schoolboy, Gary Lewis, and an old one will be revived for his grandfather, Danny Lewis, on television June 8. The double event will grace Jerry Lewis' second NBC-TV show as a single because he's the father of Gary and the son of Danny. The idea of helping his son start in show business seemed a natural for a program near Father's Day because Jerry will be repeating an incident from his own life. "I did a number, 'Sonny Boy,' with my Dad 23 years ago in vaudeville — that's how I got started," Jerry explained during a three-way interview with the Lewis clan at the comedian's home. "Out of the blue I started doing this same song with my own son at home — and realized it would be a good way to break Gary in."

radio," said the elder Lewis, who is young and good-looking enough to be Jerry's brother. "I played the Palace theater in New York in 1933, my act was 'Songs in a Nostalgic Manner.' Then Jerry went in there four years later — singing my same song, 'Sonny Boy.' His Johnson-type songs, you know, are what I used to do. When you hear us sing you can't tell us apart. "My wife, Rose, accompanied me in vaudeville and when Jerry was eight he got in the act. I didn't want him to struggle but he got through to his mother. "Before we turned around he was 18 and a married man, then with Dean Martin and a big star. We're still pinching ourselves. It's like a dream." Five years ago Danny gave up his act to help Jerry manage his records.

Good And Bad Of The Week's News

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet: Talks between President Eisenhower and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer appeared to make it quite plain that West Germany has become the key country in the attempt to negotiate a disarmament treaty with Russia.

The tough old chancellor succeeded in getting Eisenhower to establish a clear link between a broad disarmament agreement and the unification of West and East Germany.

A joint communique issued in Washington after three days of talks said that efforts must be pressed to reach a disarmament treaty.

The first step, the communique said, would be to make a start toward disarmament. Then, the communique continued, negotiations should be started "within a reasonable time" for a broad agreement.

But a prior condition to a comprehensive agreement must be the unification of the two parts of Germany, the communique said.

It was added that the United States would consult Britain and France on a suggestion by Adenauer that the first step toward a disarmament agreement might usefully be followed by a meeting of the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and Russia on German unification.

The Eisenhower-Adenauer talks overshadowed the London disarmament conference, which was resumed after an 11-day recess.

The atmosphere in London seemed to be more hopeful than it had been at any time during years of fruitless attempt to make a start toward disarmament.

Harold Stassen, the chief American delegate, returned to the conference with new American proposals which were understood to provide for aerial inspection of armaments facilities over a limited area of Western and Russian territory. If this inspection system worked, it would be broadened in later negotiations.

The anti-American riots in Formosa, which resulted from the acquittal by an Army court martial of an American soldier who killed a Chinese peeping tom, threatened to have a lasting effect on relations between the United States and Nationalist China.

The two governments sought to repair the breach in their close relations. But Chinese were still angry over the acquittal. And the State Department made it known that it was "actively considering" a reduction in the strength of the 10,000-man American garrison in Formosa.

Rebellion against President Fulgencio Batista of Cuba flared anew.

Fighting between government troops and small bands of rebels was reported in two areas of the country.

In Havana, the capital, rebel saboteurs cut off electric power by dynamiting an electricity distributing plant which served the center of the city. Business was disrupted because of lack of light. Telephones were put out of commission. Theaters, cafes and night clubs were closed.

United Press Hollywood Writer HOLLYWOOD (UP)—This community has schools that turn out atom scientists and zoologists, and now a "school for strippers" has joined the hallowed halls of learning.

An educational institution to teach the fine art of taking off one's clothes on a burlesque stage is flourishing on Santa Monica Boulevard hard by nightclub row, after - hours playground of the movie stars.

This is one school where teacher wears shorts and calls the pupils "Honey," and you're liable to get chilly at the end of the final exam.

Teacher is Rusty Lane, a top striptease dancer. Her classroom is in a little burlesque club, the Near 'N Far, to which such celebrities as Betty Grable, Michael Wilding and Corinne Calvet come to watch the floor shows.

During the afternoon when the show is closed Rusty takes over the stage for her school.

"My pupils are burlesque dancers, but I hope to branch out and get non-dancers," explained Rusty Lane.

"It's smart for any woman to learn a little grace and charm. Stripteasing is an art—every little gesture means something."

Book, Gift Shop Opens Tomorrow

"I've got a book to answer every question or problem," Mrs. L. V. Grace, owner and operator of the new Christian Book and Gift Shoppe, said.

The book store, featuring a large selection of religious literature, is opening in its new home at 108 1/2 E. Foster tomorrow.

Customers may register free tomorrow for a large family Bible which will be given away.

Formerly the shop was operated at the home of Mrs. Grace at 1505 Williston St.

It will now be open 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. each day Monday through Saturday.

Torrid Teacher Tells Teasers To Toss Togs

"If an ordinary woman learns to walk gracefully as we do and to make charming gestures with her hands, it can come in handy. Any type of dancing—particularly bumps and grinds—is good exercise."

Sitting in on a class at Rusty's school revealed that the students, though not exactly Ivy League types, are earnest to keep up with their studies. Rusty took student Toddy Taylor on the stage to coach her in a routine.

Pampa Visitors Tell Of Life Teaching School In Alaska

By BOB PEREZ
Pampa News Staff Writer

It has been said of the American that he is too used to having his environment adapt itself to him rather than adapting himself to his environment. If this is true, why then the Jack Dunham family must be listed as one of the necessary exceptions.

While the following story is nothing new to anyone who has found himself at opposite corners of the bridge table from one of this interesting couple during the past week or so, it is a story definitely interesting enough to warrant repetition outside of the bridge circle.

The Dunhams have, for the past two years been teaching in one of the most remote and unusual places a person could find in an age when pioneering is no longer possible within our own borders. Their school is the only one in the village of Quinhagak, Alaska, an Eskimo village of 225 on the Bering Sea.

The whole thing arose primarily out of curiosity. Mrs. Dunham says, when the couple then living in Pampa, decided to inquire about life in Alaska and the possibilities for school teachers in that area. Their questions received immediate attention and after being filled in on all the particulars, they decided to make the trip and to try out life in the vastness of Alaska.

Contrary to popular belief, Andy (Mrs.) Dunham revealed to this reporter, Eskimos do not live in ice huts commonly known as igloos. Neither do they all wear the traditional parka and mukluks (seal boots) to keep themselves out of winter's weary way. Most young Eskimos have shown a preference for newer styles (such as are found in mail-order catalogs.)

Both are employees of the Bureau of Indian Affairs of the United States Government. Mrs. Dunham teaches the younger pupils (up to the 3rd grade), while Jack Dunham teaches those from the 4th through 8th grades. If the children want to go on to high school, they must go 1,000 miles away to boarding school. It is easy to see, therefore, why there would be few children making the move to high school.

It would be an understatement to say that there are many problems faced by the Dunhams since they are not only teachers in the area, but they also take care of all the medical problems arising among the native villagers. They are, however, in constant radio contact with a doctor in Bethel Hospital which is only 70 air miles away. Then, too, all the food ordered by them is done on a yearly basis from supply spots in Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore.

"Our problem," Jack says, "is to educate the natives in order that they may become more of an asset to the nation than a liability.

"These people have many medical problems. About 90 per cent have or have had TB. Then there are some medical problems peculiar to the race. For instance, 'draining ears' is a common occurrence among many natives. It arises from a stopping up of the nasal passage which in turn sends phlegm to the ears where the drums burst and cause the ears to drain. There are quite a few who are deaf or partially so. Eyesight is another problem. This, however, goes back to the TB with which they are plagued. If it isn't checked, such things as blindness occur.

"We are attempting to educate them so that they can take care of themselves better. Previously this witch doctor or 'shaman' would take care of their ills by such 'medications' as squirrel skins which would be placed near a wound.

"There are still shamans in the villages, but they are not as influential as they once were."

The weather poses no big problem, however, since it is something to which one can easily become acclimated. Temperature in the winter usually sinks to around 40 degrees below zero, while in the summer it gets as high as 80 degrees above. Temperature and isolation go hand in hand, according to the Dunhams, as things which are soon accepted and made the best of.

But for all the difficulties and lack of convenience, there are some facets which give the picture a certain amount of natural beauty. The Dunhams are quick to admit that the fishing is "out of this world." The boating is also quite good, and many of the teachers in the area get together over the summer months for a little bit of social life and comparison of methods of teaching. Another attractive feature is that "the boss" never shows up but once a year and even then it is more of a social call than anything else.

Then again, as Jack is quick to point out, the students do an amazingly good job considering that few of them know any English when they started school, and they rarely use it in other than the school.

"They have," he says, "many attributes which we could learn and benefit from. For one, they are a happy people. They are also

Doug Ford Holds 8-Point Lead In Palm Beach Round Robin Tourney

By STEVE SNIDER
NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., June 1 (UP)—Masters champion Doug Ford, hitting the ball farther than he ever has in his life, whipped through his fourth straight sub-par round with 35-32-67 today and held an eight-point lead in the Palm Beach Round Robin golf championship with one more round to play Sunday.

The 34-year-old Ford, in the same spectacular groove that moved him to the front with earlier rounds of 69-66-64, amassed a total of 11 points against his three opponents today for a score of plus 39. Under the Round Robin scoring system by which points are won or lost by comparing medal scores within each foursome.

But hard at Ford's heels came slammint' Sammy Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., a four-time winner of the event, who equalled the course record as Ford had Friday with a 33-31-64 for a haul of 18 points and second place at plus 31.

Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., with 34-33-67, moved into a tie for third at plus 17 with Tommy Bolt of Los Angeles, who picked up 12 points with a 67 today. Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, Tex., was in fifth place at plus 16 after losing five points to his three rivals with a 70.

Kansas U. Wins 2nd Central Collegiate Track, Field Title

MILWAUKEE, June 1 (UP)—Lowell Janzen ran the 880 in record time to help a balanced Kansas team win its second straight Central Collegiate Conference track and field championship today.

Janzen won the 80 in one minute, 50.9 seconds, eight-tenths of a second faster than the old mark set five years ago by Ted Wheeler of Iowa.

Janzen also ran a leg on Kansas' winning mile relay team to clinch the Knute Rockne trophy for the Jayhawks. Notre Dame trailed by only five and one-half points at the start of the relay and was one of the favorites in that event, but the Irish finished third.

There were no double winners but Leonard Lyles of Louisville and Charles Batch of Missouri each won an event and finished second in another. Lyles won the 100 yard dash in 9.6 seconds in a close finish with Ira Murchison.

KNOW THE ROPES

By GORDON H. MILLER

I was given a very personal message from blonde (?) Ivan Kola, recently; Ivan would have me know he can wrestle! Prove it, mister, prove it! One of the fans asked me if I didn't think Ivan looked like George Washington!

Here is an item from a Dayton, Ohio, program: "Atom Bob Geigle," who has appeared here on numerous occasions, is the center of a controversy in Minnesota; seems as the Bob has developed a hold he calls the neck breaker and the cry of 'Bar it' has been heard from numerous places.

Still another forthcoming importation to whose arrival Pampa wrestling fans may look forward is a burly hombre, resembling a movie version of one of Pancho Villa's banditos, one Roberto Fico of Tia Juana, Mexico, sometimes called "El Ziplote," which, translated into English, means "The Buzzard".

There are some 17 Shrine hospitals thru out the U.S.A. for the benefit of crippled children; one of which is in Dallas, Texas. The Pampa Shrine Club sponsors wrestling to promote funds for the crippled children's hospital. It's surprising how many crippled children in our own community are being helped thru the efforts of the Pampa Shrine Club.

Braves Sign Schoolboy For Bonus

METROPOLIS, Ill., June 1 (UP)—The Milwaukee Braves today signed a star high school catcher to one of the biggest bonus contracts ever offered a rookie, outbidding six other major league clubs.

Robert Dale (Hawk) Taylor, 18, became Braves' property by inking a contract believed to exceed $100,000.

Taylor, who graduated from Metropolis High School, will report to the Milwaukee club at New York Tuesday.

A source close to the family here said Taylor got "at least $105,000," and added that a figure of $125,000 was "too high."

Another source, close to the family, revealed Taylor grabbed the Braves' offer which topped a Brooklyn Dodgers' bid of $98,000.

Time For A Change:

'Bush' Manager Rushes In Where Lopez Feared To Tread

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor
NEW YORK (NEA) — When Kerby Farrell was named manager of the Indians, it was written and said that his big test would come when it was time to take out a member of the Big Three.

"If the 'bush' manager panicked," it was said, "he wouldn't do."

The Cleveland pattern has been the same for years, with three stickout pitchers getting the most money and pretty much running the works. First it was Bob Feller, Bob Lemon and Early Wynn. Mike Garcia replaced Feller and then Herb Score completed the triumvirate before his injury.

Lou Boudreau and then Al Lopez more or less went along with the stand-out pitchers, figuring that it was sound business. If it would Farrell, who spent practically all of his 25 years in baseball in the minors, react when it was time to take out one of the older pitchers?

The answer is that Farrell, a fighting Irishman from the rolling country of western Tennessee, waded right in where Boudreau and Lopez feared to tread.

The challenge came when the Athletics scored four runs off the veteran Wynn in the fourth inning in Cleveland. Wynn growled and kicked things around in the clubhouse. The burly righthander who four times has won 20 or more games violently objected to being yanked while he still had a chance to win.

"With this club, I got to get a run whenever I can," explained Farrell.

The Tribe was in Baltimore when baseball writers took up Wynn's complaint with Farrell. "This is the first I've heard of it," said the new head man. "Wynn didn't say a word to me. I can't help how a pitcher feels when he is taken out — you know that. I'll MANAGE this club as long as I'm here."

Wynn pitched that night and the score was tied at the end of nine innings. As Wynn returned to the dugout, Farrell patted him on the back and said, "You PITCHED a fine game." Wynn was the lead-off batter in the 10th you see, and Farrell had decided to pinch-hit Bobby Avila for him. Wynn once more lumbered to the dressing room teeming with rage and disappointment.

Avila struck out, but Jim Busby tripled and Al Smith doubled. Wynn was credited with his fourth victory and everybody including the pitcher, was happy.

More important to the future success of the Indians, Farrell had convinced all hands that he was making all the decisions... and without the slightest hesitation.

American Is Runnerup In British Am

FORMBY, England, June 1 (UP)— Reid Jack of Scotland, who wanted to win the British amateur golf championship because it will bring him a trip to the U.S., made good his dream today with a 2 and 1 victory over little U.S. Air Force Sgt. Harold Ridgeley of Havertford, Pa.

Jack, a Glasgow accountant who holds the Scottish championship never has made the British Walker Cup team, and said he particularly wanted to win the British amateur title this year, since that should assure him a place on the squad which will invade America later this year.

"I want to play in the U.S. and have a look around," he said.

He had tough opponents in both Ridgeley and the weather. The five-foot, five-inch sergeant, who has been stationed in England for the past six years, was fresh from a record 13 and 12 semifinal victory over favored Arthur Walker of South Africa. The weather was sunny and near 80 degrees, the hottest of the year in Britain.

The 43-year-old Ridgeley, a quiet, freckle-faced father of three who had little to do with the social whirl during the week at Formby, started today as though he would repeat Friday's rout.

Jack won... 13th and never was headed, again as he became the first Scot since Hector Thomson in 1936 to win this amateur championship.

Kerby Farrell

Indians Option Joe Altobelli

CLEVELAND, June 1 (UP)— Joe Altobelli was optioned to Louisville today by the Cleveland Indians but the infielder said he wouldn't report to the American Association club.

Altobelli talked with manager Kerby Farrell and also called general manager Hank Greenberg here in a bid to be sold to some other major league team.

"I've been in this organization since 1951 and I'm not getting any place," Altobelli said.

Altobelli, who had been used this season as a defensive first baseman and pinch-runner, is batting .061. The Indians optioned him to make room for pitcher Hank Aguirre, who was recalled from San Diego of the Pacific Coast League.

Wiffi Smith Cbilled 'New Babe Zaharias'

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—The ladies of the links insist that a chunky youngster named Wiffi Smith is the new Babe Zaharias of women's golf.

This is much like comparing the rookie Mickey Mantle with Babe Ruth, or this year's winner of the National Amateur with Ben Hogan.

But the fairway fillies figure that the 20-year-old Wiffi can't miss.

There are many reasons. First of all, she powders the ball a long ton. Add to that the silken touch of a pick pocket on the greens and the poise of a second story man in an empty house and you have the qualities which won the Dallas Open and have kept her well up among the money winners elsewhere during her brief four months as a pro.

Looks Like Patty Berg
Wiffi is the breezy young Californian who looks enough like Patty Berg to be her sister and has been making golf headlines since she was 14. At that age, only two years after playing her first round, she won the championship of the country club at Guadalajara, Mexico, where her parents had moved from Redlands, Calif.

That was a tremendous incentive for the 5-foot, 6-inch redhead with the prize crop of freckles. Two years later, at 16, she copped the Women's Western Open and at 17 she took the World Amateur at Tam O'Shanter.

Last year Wiffi had a tremendous grand slam within reach when she took the British and French Amateurs but then fell by the wayside in the U.S. event. It

Don Drysdale Had Meteoric Baseball Rise

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—This was a year ago and the tall young man, looking a bit nervous, beat the Philadelphia Phillies for his first major league victory.

"It's something you just dream about, knowing it'll never come true, and then suddenly it is true."

This was the other night and the same tall young man, looking not a bit nervous, beat the Philadelphia Phillies on two hits for his fourth win of the season.

"I guess it's the best game I ever pitched," he said.

Thus, in the span of a year and against the same club, did 20-year-old Don Drysdale of the Brooklyn Dodgers complete the jump from rookie to veteran.

Amazingly Speedy Rise
His is one of the most amazing rises in sports, because young Don didn't start to pitch until three years ago and that victory over the Phillies on Monday night was only the 43rd game of his meteoric career.

Don's father one time was a pitcher in the Texas and Pacific Coast Leagues and was headed up to Cincinnati when he came down with arm trouble. Thus, as young Don grew up suddenly in high school, his father warned him against pitching too soon on the theory that he might wreck his arm. It was sage advice.

Because when he was a junior in high school, Don's arm began to pain and X-rays disclosed that he had grown so rapidly that the bones in his arm didn't join properly at the elbow. For four months he rested the arm completely.

Learns Under Father
When the arm was pronounced fit, his father told him they were ready to learn to pitch "and we started a steady backyard routine." The payoff was almost immediate. A Dodger scout signed him off one season of high school pitching and after he graduated Don was sent to Bakersfield. There a record of eight wins against five losses earned him a promotion to Montreal in 1955, where he had an 11-11 mark, then to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Don had much to learn and completed only a 5-5 mark last season. But this year, still working on a change up to go with a "live" fast ball and a good curve, he has acquired the poise which comes only with confidence.

There is a feeling among the Dodgers that the two-hitter he threw at the Phillies can make a tremendous difference to him. Sort of a final polishing. Now, they believe, the kid is really ready to go.

The "book" play occurs frequently in textbooks but seldom if ever in actual play.

When it does come up, it takes a mighty good man to recognize and use it.

Take a good look at all the hands. You are West and open the nine of spades against three no-trump. Dummy plays the ten, your partner the jack and declarer the four.

Your partner leads the king of spades and holds that trick also. Now he leads a low spade and declarer wins with the ace. What do you discard?

If you are alert you will get rid of your queen of diamonds. The card is no use to you. It is a clitch that declarer's first play will be a diamond and your queen will have to be played anyway. If declarer has the jack of diamonds your queen has been no good to you. If your partner holds three diamonds to the jack your side will make a diamond trick in any event, but it is most important that your partner make that diamond trick, not you.

Signor Mimmo D'Alerio, a member of the World Champion Italian team, stayed in this country long enough to play in the recent Vanderbilt Cup tournament. He held the West hand and won a match for his team by remembering to get rid of that queen of diamonds on the third spade lead.

A fairly elementary play when you can look at all 52 cards but a mighty good one when all you can see are your own hand and dummy.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend
I have a young friend 19 years old and she is engaged to a boy who is overseas.

The boy sent her a dress he picked out overseas for her birthday present.

The girl's mother is very upset about this and seems to think it was very bad taste and insists the girl send it back to him.

We would like your advice on this matter.

It usually is considered poor taste for a boy to give clothes to a girl before they are married but it seems to me that in this case there are extenuating circumstances.

To send the dress back after the boy, who is overseas and lonely and who, if he is like most men, has a hard time deciding on a suitable gift, has gone to so much trouble to pick it out and mail it to his fiancée seems a little cruel. This would be especially true if the dress is typical of the country where he is stationed and might be regarded more in the light of a memento of the country rather than as "clothes."

If the boy were here and the matter could be talked over it would be different also as it is far easier to explain something in person than to try to write it. The boy might never understand the return of his gift and might be hurt and offended.

Times have changed quite a bit in the past decade and many gifts are considered acceptable now which weren't earlier. While it is still unwise to allow gifts of clothes, in this case I believe that if I were the girl's mother I would allow her to keep the dress. After all they probably would be married now anyhow if it weren't for the interference of the draft.

QUILTER

Dear Grace Friend

I am interested in finding someone to piece quilts, either on the shares or for money. Can you help me? I remember that you helped me years ago and I was well pleased.

L. A.

Dear L. A.
If someone wants to help you, I'll be glad to send you their letters.

Dear Grace Friend
Sometime ago you told in your column where you could send words for a song poem.

Can you tell me if these places you mentioned can be trusted as I've heard of some who cannot be trusted.

Hopeful

Dear Hopeful
I believe that I told the writer to whom you refer that there was very little if any chance of breaking into the music field. The most talented composers in the business are constantly at work and they are turning out songs far faster than the publishers can use them.

However if you feel that you can sell your song write to the Songwriters' Protective Assn., 158 W. 55th St., New York 19, N. Y., or to the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, 575 Madison Ave., N. Y. 22, N. Y. for a directory of members. Then start in trying to sell your song to the publishers listed. Don't send the song unless the publishers answer you and suggest that they are interested. First write and ask if they will consider it.

I cannot tell you whether they are trustworthy. I imagine most of them are but that is a chance you will have to take.

COMMON LAW MARRIAGE

Dear Grace
Can you tell me where common law marriages are legal? Does it depend on where and when it began?

K. J.

Dear K. J.
Twenty three states and the District of Columbia have recognized common law marriage in court decisions. States which have recognized them as legal are Alabama, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Mississippi, Montana, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas. All that is required, as a general thing, is that the man and woman live together openly as husband and wife, with the consent of the parties implied in such ways as through the introduction of each other as "this is my wife" or "this is my husband."

Manners

Make Friends

If you see a letter lying open on a table or on someone's desk, don't feel that because it is open it is all right for you to read it. The only time you should read another person's letter is when it is handed to you to be read.

And that goes for letters written to another member of your family.

When you converse standing up, don't slouch or lean on the nearest object. Stand up straight to look poised and graceful.

Bob Rasmussen, center, chief process engineer for Celanese Corporation is shown here following his talk, "Petro-Chemicals And You," given at the Desk and Derrick Club meeting recently. Club members pictured are left, Miss Lou Nell Wagner and, right, Miss Lilith Martin.

Desk And Derrick Club Hears Topic
By Chief Celanese Process Engineer

The Pampa Desk and Derrick Club met recently in the Beacon Supply office, 735 S. Cuyler for its monthly meeting.

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Foster White, president, plans were made to attend the seminar, which is to be held in Amarillo June 15-16.

The minutes were read by Mrs. M. Q. Wilson, secretary.

Miss Lilith Martin introduced guest speaker, Bob Rasmussen, chief process engineer for Celanese Corporation of Pampa, who showed a colored film, "Frontiers Unlimited," which gave a visual idea of how petro-chemicals are processed through scientific research and laboratories to better illustrate his talk entitled, "Petro-Chemicals And You."

He said petro-chemicals are derived from petroleum, carbons, hydrogen, oxygen and are made up in molecules of various amounts from which many products are made. The use of petro-chemicals started about 30 years ago and especially after World War II, a vast amount of chemicals were in demand. There are, at present, about 190 petro-chemical companies of which 63 are petroleum companies, 72 are chemical companies, and some are joint ventures.

Mr. Rasmussen approximated about 24 new companies are being built at present in the United States; Houston has the most locations of these plants.

Chemicals go into synthetic rubber, automobile and aviation parts, synthetic fibers, plastics, agriculture materials, surface coatings, such as paints, explosives, foods, and soap detergents.

From Mud Pies To Dressed-Up Look

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA) — Much as most little girls enjoy making mud pies, they also enjoy dressing up. They may have to be lifted into the house and scrubbed up under protest but once the soaping is over, the notion of pretty clothes is exciting.

When visitors come or there's a party or a trip to grandma's house, a girl likes to look her best. And she can this summer in clothes which have many of the fashion points seen in mother's wardrobe.

Some of these small fashions have a yacht club look in blue and white. And many of them offer their own capes or jackets for cool days or early evening excursions.

When it comes to a wedding, there's nothing like organdy for a small girl who's a guest. She can have it this year in many designs. One of the nicest places white organdy over a coin-dotted navy underdress.

We show here (left) a jacket dress in white cotton and orlon. The dress is cut (like mother's) to a deep V at the back. Jacket is fully lined.

Carousal red-striped cotton dress (right) has matching red trim and big white ocean pearl cutouts at the neckline for something extra. Both designs are by Celeste.

Gingham Girls Club Had Its Start
Over A Morning Cup Of Coffee

By MRS. R. H. ST. AUBYN
Gingham Girls Club Reporter
You might say it all started over a cup of coffee. A group of friends and neighbors were enjoying this housewives' morning ritual, when the course of conversation steered to hobbies. This, in turn, brought on the suggestion that a club be formed to work on hobbies. Thus, marked the beginning of the Gingham Girls Club.

Meetings are held every other Thursday morning in the members' homes during the school year. During the summer months, when the children are home, paints and brushes are put in "moth balls" and activities for the children are planned. Last summer, the group rented the Lefors swimming pool on Thursday mornings. While all didn't learn to swim, some overcame their fear of water which was a big step. A picnic usually followed these morning swims.

Different projects have been completed during the club year; among them are number painting, tacking quilts, making dolls from filler discs, sequin pictures, platter portraits and sewing novelty gifts.

The club is distinct in that the only "officer" is the treasurer, who collects the dime dues each meeting. The money accumulated during this past year and in March, the club's "first birthday," used for a celebration by driving to Borgers for a barbecue dinner.

Among other social activities have been a hobo party with scavenger hunt and a come-as-you-are breakfast. Identical red-checked gingham dresses and bonnets have been made by each member and a matching dress was made for a doll used as the club's mascot. The group entered the Beta Sigma Phi table setting contest in February and used the doll, which is pictured, above center, as the centerpiece with Gingham Girl as the theme.

Members are: Mmes. Ray Frazier, Tom Haggard, LeRoy Frazier, Evan Jones Jr., D. L. Martindale, J. M. Hahn, Douglas Clark, John Mobley, A. P. Coombes, C. L. Cochran, Gay Grider, J. D. Skaggs, Abram Lewis and R. H. St. Aubyn.

RUTH MILLET

Why should marriage make a woman forget—

That the easiest way to keep a man thinking she is wonderful is to keep him thinking he is.

That all a woman has to do to convince a man she has a sense of humor is to laugh at his jokes.

That it never pays to tell a man what's wrong with him.

That it isn't smart for a woman to prove to a man that she is smarter than he is.

That a woman doesn't have to convince a man he couldn't get along without her. All she has to do is convince him that she couldn't possibly get along without him.

That a man thoroughly enjoys being seen with an attractive woman.

That it is impossible for a woman to win an argument with a man — for if she wins she loses some of her charm for him.

That a woman needs sparkle and gaiety to keep a man interested.

That it makes a man uncomfortable for a woman to pick people to pieces.

That there's no use trying to change a man, the only way to get along is to like him "as is."

That a wise woman assumes that a man's love is as strong as ever, unless he tells her it isn't. She doesn't plant doubts in his mind by asking him if he loves her or by accusing him of not loving her 'any more.

Some women forget the simplest things about men — as soon as they marry one and start thinking of him as a husband instead of a man.

Lefors Home Demonstration Club Has 'Vegetables For Dinner' Program

(Special to The News) LEFORS — Due to turbulent weather warnings Miss Helen Dunlap, Gray County home demonstration agent, had a "vegetable for dinner" demonstration already prepared for the meeting of the Lefors Home Demonstration Club Friday afternoon in the Civic Center. Each member was greeted by Miss Dunlap with a sample of cooked potatoes, carrots, onions and squash about which she explained the preparation as the group ate.

Miss Dunlap improvised a steam method of cooking by placing scrubbed vegetables (with peel) in a collander and then placing them in an ordinary pan with the bottom covered with water. She emphasized cooking the vegetables quickly, explaining that scientists have discovered that vegetables retain more vitamins and minerals when not cooked as formerly has been the custom.

"Green and yellow leafy vegetables serve double duty purposes in our diets," Miss Dunlap stated. "They add color, variety and texture to a meal and also furnish carotene which is changed by the body into vitamin A and other vitamins and minerals. Potatoes are also very important for they contain five times less calories than one small popular candy bar and are delicious served with only a very little seasoning which also cuts calories," Miss Dunlap continued.

She stated also that legumes such as dried beans and peas are an excellent source of protein but should not be cooked in water to which soda has been added as this destroys food value.

Representatives from Hopkins, Merten and Lefors clubs met in the morning of the same day to fit dresses which they had made from patterns altered at a former meeting. The group decided to have a dress review at a date to be decided by the council. At that time they will model the garments and explain alterations made to a group from all clubs in this area.

Members present for the fittings were Mmes. Jack Prather; Jack Howard of the Merten club; Frank Palmittier and W. E. Milton of the Hopkins club; and J. D. Smith and H. L. Braly of the Lefors club.

Miss Norma Lantz, Lefors High School homemaking instructor, extended an invitation to girls who wish to earn half a credit and mothers and women to use the homemaking department's facilities during the summer. Leathercraft, coppercraft, plastic craft and upholstering training will be given.

Members present for the club meeting and vegetable demonstration were Mmes. B. J. Leninger, J. B. Deihl, J. D. Smith, H. L. Braly, A. M. Dickerson, L. D. Rider, Larry Rider, John Hatfield, and Charles Roberts.

Miss Dunlap will meet with the group on June 14 to demonstrate the preparation of sponge cake.

20-30 Club Elects New Officers

(Special to The News) LEFORS — Members of the 20-30 Club assembled Thursday afternoon in the civic center for the purpose of electing new officers who are as follows: Mmes. M. E. Eigham, president; Duane Howard, vice president; Joe Archer, secretary; Pascal Crutcher, treasurer; and Jack Taylor, program chairman. The carnation was selected as club flower and pastels were chosen as club colors.

Following the election of officers, their duties were discussed by the group and extra duties were assumed by those elected, which are: president in addition to regular duties to serve as park project chairman; vice president, to also serve as year book and membership chairman; secretary, to serve as reporter in addition to secretarial duties, and treasurer, to keep an account of collections and disbursements.

The group planned a park workday which was held Wednesday, May 29, to plant grass in the recently plowed soil.

Secret pal names were drawn and as an added attraction, a door prize will be given at every other meeting.

Those present were Mmes. M. E. Eigham, Duane Howard, Joe Archer, Pascal Crutcher, R. y.

Coffee Acquaints Mothers With The Scouting Program

Mothers of girls, who will enter the second grade in the fall, were feted with a coffee Tuesday morning in the Girl Scout Little House, 716 E. Kingsmill.

Neighborhood chairmen, Mmes. H. M. Brown, Bob Andis, James Hall, James Scholl, and Louis Allen, were hostesses.

Mrs. John Holt Jr., Top o' Texas Girl Scout Council president, talked on the Brownie Scout program. Mrs. N. G. Kadango, executive director, spoke on the organization of the council and various types of work for adults in scouting.

The serving table was covered with a green cloth and centered with an arrangement of roses. Mrs. Andis presided at the silver coffee service.

Bride-Elect Feted At Bride's Party

The Altar Guild of St. Matthews Episcopal Church honored Miss Geneva Covalt with a miscellaneous bridal shower recently in the home of Mrs. Z. B. Deer, 1300 Hamilton.

Miss Covalt, whose marriage to Daniel Michael will be solemnized on June 15 in St. Matthews Episcopal Church, is the daughter of L. R. Covalt, 1225 Duncan and Mrs. F. W. Charmasson, Woodward, Okla.

Miss Covalt's chosen color, pink, was used to decorate the table, which was covered with a hand-made lace cloth with tall pink tapers flanking a cut-glass compote filled with pink carnations.

Refreshments of coffee and cookies were served. Guests were registered by Mrs. Brown. Approximately 25 guests attended.

Cake squares were served. Mrs. Howard Johnson poured the pink lemonade.

Guests were Mmes. Henry Rose, L. K. Tomlin, Jack Nichols, Howard Johnson, Z. B. Deer, William West, William Ellis, Grundy Havenhill, Bob Plummer, Clem Followell, James Hart, Wm. J. Noland, E. E. Ethridge, and Miss Ollene McShan.

If you've acquired the habit of sitting with your feet apart, look at yourself in a mirror. It is an ugly pose. Try sitting with your ankles slightly touching. It's comfortable and looks a lot more attractive.

Try not to eat when you are tired or upset. Your food will not digest properly and you won't derive the nourishment from it that you should.

"Christy likes the push buttons. I like them, too, because they are out of reach of the smaller children... besides electric is the cleanest kind of cooking"

"Shelley likes the big oven and I agree. The automatic timer is very handy. Also, it is nice to be gone for an afternoon and have your dinner all cooked and ready to serve when you get home"

"Kathy likes cooking with her fudge set and the fast surface units are certainly our answer when working on a tight schedule"

"Laurie likes it because it cooks good chicken and when we cook chicken, or anything else, it doesn't heat the kitchen — just the food"

Here's An Off-Beat Story About A Girl Who Wants To Be An Engineer

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Correspondent
DEARBORN, Mich. (NEA) —
Bonde, 18-year-old Mary Ellen Duvall is the lone coed on a unique automobile industry campus in Dearborn, but she's not the least embarrassed about it. Neither are her male classmates.

"The fellows just kid me about being the only girl among them and we have a lot of fun over it," Mary Ellen explains. "But everyone else seems downright amazed at the idea of a girl engineer."

Mary Ellen is one of a select group of students from 36 colleges over the U.S. whose classrooms for six months of the year are the steel mill, test track, foundry and other manufacturing, engineering and research facilities of the Ford Motor Co.

college study courses. Students thus get a chance to work in their chosen fields before graduation while receiving salaries that enable them to finance their education.

When her "co-op" days are completed, Mary Ellen hopes to work at Ford, although that is not a requirement of the program.

She discusses engineering matters with the enthusiasm coeds usually show for literary or sociological studies. When she tells you how fascinating she finds a course in which she is learning about heat treating and welding of metals, it is obvious she isn't fooling about her desire to be a girl engineer.

What she can't understand is why her ambition puzzles so many males.

Pampa Bridge Club Has Master Play

Fourteen couples played a Mitchell movement on Master Point night recently, when the Pampa

Episcopal Parish House.

North-South winners were Mr.
and Mrs. Charles Vance, Liberal,
Kan., first; Mr. and Mrs. Quentin
Williams, second; Mr. and Mrs.
Greeley Warner, third.

In the east-west position, winners were Mes. W. L. Loving and Louis Burns, first; Mes.
Knox Kinar and W. B. Murphy, third.

The group will meet again on Monday evening for their weekly play.

Don't let dust and lint give your your hand. It's very effective.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Four Pampa ballet students, who are members of the Amarillo Civic Ballet Company and students of Miss Jeanne Willingham, Beaux Arts Studio, were recently awarded ballet scholarships by Robert Bell to attend the Southwestern Art and Music Camp to be held on the University of Kansas campus in Lawrence, Kan., this summer. The students are, left to right, Misses Maynette Loftus, Ann Hofsess, Anite Guidry, and Carmelita Hogan. Mrs. Frances Morrow, secretary of the Amarillo Civic Ballet Co., is showing the girls plans for the summer study. Misses Loftus, Hofsess, Guidry, and Hogan appeared in Jeanne Willingham's dance revue, "Television, USA" on Friday evening and will perform in "Les Sylphides" and "Les Masques" on June 4 and 5 in an outdoor setting at the formal dedication of Elwood Park in Amarillo.

Mrs. May Foreman Carr Honored By Altrusa Club With Service Award

Pampa Altrusa Club met in the City Club Room on Monday evening for a regular meeting. Mrs. Jack P. Foster, president, presided and greeted the guests. Mrs. May Foreman Carr played dinner music and, also, played two of her favorites for the group. Miss Zelma Franklin, Altrusa Girl-of-the-Month, gave the invocation before the buffet supper was served to 50 members and guests.

During the early part of the meeting, a reception was held for the Altrusa Girls, who were introduced by Mrs. Foster as Misses Franklin, Dot Gantz, Judy Neslage, Sarah Harnley, Martha Shewmaker, Ruth Adcock, and Beth Spencer.

Mrs. Irene Smith had charge of the program for the reception and presented each girl with a corsage dressed as a girl graduate. The Altrusa Girls then presented a short musical program.

Mrs. Smith introduced Mrs. Evelyn Nace, who told an original story entitled, "This Is Your Life." The story, as it unfolded, was in honor of Mrs. May Foreman Carr, a member of the Altrusa Club, who had been selected by the members as the outstanding executive to receive the special award for service to the community throughout the years.

Mrs. Nace said, "May, this is your life. As your life unfolds before us, we want you to know that Altrusa is proud of you and that we appreciate what you have meant to Pampa and the other cities in which you have lived. We respect your ability as a concert pianist and accompanist; as an organist, conductor, radio artist, teacher, organizer, composer, and author. We honor you as a mother of three children, whom you have reared alone, and as a grandmother of nine. We love you for yourself."

The following is Mrs. Carr's life story, as Mrs. Nace told it. "You took your first music lesson, when you were eight years old, and when you were 13, you directed your first choir and gave your first music lesson. When you were 15, you accepted your first position as a church organist, in the Baptist Church, which you had joined a few years earlier. You attended Shurtleff College Conservatory and were graduated from there in 1911. In 1913, you were married to Raymond Carr and for 16 years you and your husband lived in a beautiful world of happiness in your shared music."

"You lived in Chicago and Des Moines, where Mr. Carr was dean of the School of Music at Des Moines University in Iowa, and you accompanied all of his musical productions. Late in 1926, you and your family moved to Salina, Kan., where again you and your husband were to teach in the music department of Kansas Wesleyan University. You, May, worked at bringing music in great quantities to a middle Kansas town in such quality as the people there had never heard before."

"While you were in Salina, you became a life-long friend of a woman of outstanding musical ability, Hazel Silver Rickel, whose lyric soprano voice delighted the thousands of people, who heard her sing in her great concerts. You became her accompanist, and the two of you went on tours that you will remember and cherish all ways."

"In 1930, you met Emil Meyers, who persuaded you to leave Kansas and come to Texas. He wanted you to open a branch of the Amarillo College of Music in Pampa and to head it. So, you came to Pampa and for the next five years, you brought music to Pampa."

"You organized the Messiah Chorus; the Philharmonic Symphony, and the first Music Observance Week in our town."

In 1932, you opened the May Foreman Carr School of Music in Pampa with a faculty of five. In 1933, your Philharmonic Chorus gave the "Holy City" with 50 voices, two pianos, an organ, and two violins. In 1934, you presented the opera, "Trial By Jury," in the District Court Room, playing to a packed house and giving a performance that is still remembered by the town. Your daughter and sons starred in the opera in leading roles, and the audience loved every minute of it.

"During those five years, you were also director of music in the First Methodist Church, and your splendid work there is still remembered and talked about. In 1935, when you accepted the position as head of the music department of Martin College in Pulaski, Tenn., there were farewell parties for you such as Pampa had never seen before. You gave a farewell concert in the First Methodist Church for hundreds of your friends and you played many of your best loved selections for them. You stayed in Tennessee for two years; then becoming homesick for your friends in the Panhandle, you came again to Pampa for a visit and decided to remain here in Pampa instead of going back to the college work in Pulaski."

"You have taught 1500 students to know and love music in Pampa. You have directed 1,000 singers in choruses and ensembles. You have made Pampa the music-conscious city that it is. You are known as MRS. MUSIC in our city. Mrs. Nace continued, "You have been in charge of music in many of our Pampa churches, among them the First Methodist, First Christian, St. Matthews Episcopal, and the Church of the Brethren. You directed the Messiah Chorus for 14 years and made the annual presentation of this great oratorio an event, which the whole community awaited with pleasure. You even organized the famous Piano Symphony, when many told you that it could not be done. This group of 50 musicians, playing 25 pianos, won you fame throughout the country. It was written up in the musical journals and magazines. The most notable article was probably the one called, "Pianistic Pampa," in the magazine, "Life With Music." Your piano symphony performed not only in Pampa but in surrounding cities as well."

"You organized the Treble Clef Club and the Triple Trio, which won a silver loving cup for outstanding achievement. You have written music for the piano and orchestra and have had musical numbers accepted for use in high school orchestra books. You have written a book called, "A Manual and Guide For Private Piano Teachers," and you have made many new arrangements of musical numbers.

RUTH MILLET

Most young parents whose evenings out depend on whether they can get hold of a paid baby sitter treat the sitter with the utmost courtesy and consideration. After all, they want to be sure she will come the next time they call.

But a lot of young parents who depend on "Grandma" as a sitter aren't nearly as thoughtful.

"They figure they can call 'Grandma' at the last minute and expect her to be happy to rush right over and take care of their little darlings.

When she arrives, they don't bother to word their instructions tactfully and graciously.

"Now, Mother," they may say with more than a trace of irritation, "see that Johnny gets to bed by 8 o'clock. Last time you let him sit up so late he was cross all the next day. And don't stuff him with cookies again."

Nor do young couples always bother to get home at a reasonable hour when "Grandma" is doing the sitting. They aren't paying her by the hour. And, furthermore, they aren't afraid of losing her services if they don't get home when they said they would.

It doesn't even occur to a lot of young parents that they should pay for "Grandma sitting" in some kind of coin. They could offer to do something that would be as big a help to her as her sitting is to them, give her a gift now and then, or even have her as a special guest, at least as often as she is asked to baby sit.

And don't think "grandmother sitters" don't resent being taken for granted and imposed upon. This column was prompted by a stack of letters from disgruntled grandmas whose children have turned them into unpaid and unappreciated baby sitters.

Peach Crunch Is Enhanced With Almond Flavor

Many baked fruit desserts owe their good taste mainly to the seasonings that are added to them. This is particularly true of those delicately flavored fruits, such as peaches and pears, which lose character when heated.

Remedy for this slight flavor loss is to add a bit of vanilla, Vanilla extract, as you probably know, heightens rather than masks the taste of many foods. Almond extract too, is a marvelous seasoner for either canned or fresh-frozen peaches.

In this peach crunch a la mode, for example, both vanilla and almond are used to good advantage, with a flavor boost provided by the usual whipped cream garnish, home economists at Meadow Gold Dairies who developed the recipe, suggest that almond candy ice cream be spooned on for topping. This is the company's featured ice cream of the month, and should be easy to find in stores.

Just a spoonful of the ice cream

10 squares of warm, succulent peach crunch does wonders for the rich peaches and candy cream dessert.

PEACH CRUNCH A LA MODE

 - 2 cups coarse graham cracker crumbs
 - 1/4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
 - 1-3 cup melted butter
 - 1 No. 2 1/2 can sliced peaches, drained
