A Letter From Governor Daniel

By JOEL R. COMBS
Pampa News Managing Editor

(Editor's note: Pampa News Managing Editor Joel R. Combs wrote a letter to Governor Price Daniel some time ago, in which he asked him a number of questions. Here are Governor Daniel's replies to Combs and to the people of the Top 'o' Texas.)

(Question) What are some of the major and most pressing problems confronting our state as you see them. What do you hope to do about them?

(Governor Daniel's answer) The enclosed calendar (see below) showing the outcome of my recommendations to the 55th Legislature, just ended, indicates the problems which I consider to be most important. The Legislature enacted 47 of these 51 recommendations.

In my opinion, the greatest need for our state is to more adequately assert the responsibilities that go along with our State's rights. The most effective answer to centralized government and Federal encroachment is full exercise of the responsibilities of the State and local governments. If we at home fail to do a job which we are obligated to do, the Federal government is always willing to fill the vacuum.

From the moral standpoint the State government still must take more positive steps to clean up and expose misconduct and to maintain public confidence. Of the five key reform measures I recommended to the Legislature, only two—insurance reorganization and Code of Ethics—were enacted.

For this reason I shall call a special session before the end of this year in order to give the Legislature another opportunity to pass a strict lobby registration law, a registration law for those who represent others before State agencies, and a State Law Enforcement Commission.

(The calendar mentioned above verifies Governor Daniel's statement concerning the number of his recommendations to the Legislature which were enacted. Detailed reports on the recommendations and the form in which they were passed by the Legislature have been published in previous editions of The Pampa News. The calendar, quite lengthy, is available for study to those Top 'o' Texans who so desire.)

(Question) What is your viewpoint on strengthening state law enforcement agencies?

(Governor Daniel's answer) Full and effective enforcement of the law depends to a great extent upon manpower. The Legislature followed my recommendation for increase in the strength of the Highway Patrol, Narcotics Division of the Department of Public Safety and other agencies.

(Question) What has been done to see that corruption in Texas governmental agencies is halted?

(Governor Daniel's answer) The policy of this administration has been to clean up, rather than to cover up, any and all instances of official misconduct. This is the only way the few who have violated their public trust can be exposed, and the only way we can protect the reputations of the vast majority of State officials and employees who have been faithful to their trust. (See answer to Question 1, also.)

(Question) What steps do you recommend to combat juvenile delinquency? What are your views on the curfew imposed on the teenagers in Pampa by County Judge Bruce Parker this spring?

(Governor Daniel's answer) The Legislature has strengthened the State's responsibility by reorganizing the Youth Development Council and strengthening the delinquency prevention program. However, this is a problem shared by every community and every family, and there are no ready made answers. In my opinion, curfews are justified, at the discretion of local authorities, when the problem becomes acute.

(Question) Do you plan to visit in or near Pampa in the near future?

(Governor Daniel's answer) I hope so.

Elderly Pampa Man Found Dead Friday

A 75-year-old Pampa man, Morris Hansen, who neighbors thought had gone to California last Monday, June 3, was found dead in his home Friday evening.

Mrs. Ola Mae Wells, 818 E. Murphy, called police at 7 p.m.

Friday when she went to Mr. Hansen's yard to gather his newspapers, and detected a strong odor. According to Coroner J. W. Graham he had been dead since Sunday night or Monday morning. "Death by natural causes" was the verdict rendered by Graham.

There was no sign of violence on the body or evidence of a any disturbance around the bed in which he was found, according to the coroner.

Mr. Hansen had told Mrs. Wells he was leaving Monday morning to visit his brother, J. W. Hansen, in Lamesa, Calif.

Mr. Hansen, who lived at 836 Campbell, came to Pampa in 1926 and had owned some property and been in the cafe business. At the time of his death he was unemployed.

He was not married and his only survivor was his brother in California.

Graveside services at Fairview Cemetery were conducted by the Rev. August Burns of the Lutheran church here at 10 a.m. yesterday.

CAA Wants More Data On Local Field

Two CAA officials, in Pampa yesterday to hear requests for navigation aids at Perry LeFors Field, said that if further data were furnished concerning the need, there would be a good chance of receiving the equipment.

The needed aids would make instrument landings possible.

Members of the Aviation Committee of the Chamber of Commerce met with Newell Lepeard and Sam Brown from the Civil Aeronautics Authority at 1 p.m. yesterday. Afterwards they went out to the air field for an inspection.

The committee is now preparing the necessary data to be forwarded.

In the past many flights into Pampa have had to be canceled because of inclement weather or darkness.

Approximately 45 companies operate planes in and out of Pampa. CAA officials said that their 1958 budget had already been set, but that it was not possible to secure the equipment this year, then it would be likely in 1959.

Committee members in attendance were Ed Myatt, Ralph Prock, Damarius Holt and M. W. Alford.

Public Auction Of Air Base Tuesday

A public auction sale of the old Pampa Army Air Base, which was deactivated shortly after the war will be held at the Top 'o' Texas rodeo ground at 2 p.m. next Tuesday.

The government land known as Pampa Auxiliary Field No. 1, along with other surplus property including 73,235 feet of three to ten inch pipe, will be sold then.

Approximately 2,544 acres of land will be available. Wayne Cook Associates, Inc. will be auctioneers for the occasion.

Complete information is available at the Chamber of Commerce office, including descriptive brochures and gas and water-line maps.

Storms, Hail Hit Texas

Locally severe thunderstorm and hail raked parts of West Texas from the upper Panhandle to the lower Pecos Valley Saturday night on the heels of severe weather forecast issued by the weather bureau.

While most of the thunderstorms were small in area, they dumped heavy amounts of water in isolated parts of the regions. Marble-sized hail fell over the Palo Duro canyon.

The weather bureau Saturday night issued a new severe weather warning, extending the time until 2 a.m. Sunday and expanding the area to include the extreme south-east portion of Colorado and the extreme northeast portion of New Mexico.

Earlier, the bureau had marked the storm area as extreme south-west and extreme south central Kansas, the Panhandle and western portions of Oklahoma and the eastern half of the Texas Panhandle.

Beats Officers' Raid

All Gulf Coast Gambling Locks Up

By O. B. LLOYD Jr.
AUSTIN, June 8 (UP)—A total lockup of all Gulf coast gambling—first in modern history—was officially announced today. Attorney General Will Wilson announced at the same time further developments would "take place in court" next week.

He didn't elaborate. Wilson made the announcement with Department of Public Safety Chief Homer Garrison Jr. The shutdown followed a secret meeting in Houston last Thursday night, he said.

There was to have been a series of mass raids in five counties—Galveston, Fort Bend, Harris, Brazoria, and Jefferson. But after the officers learned of the shutdowns, they dispersed and went home.

At Galveston, Mayor Roy Clough told United Press he knew nothing of any planned raids, but if he had known he would have been glad to have co-operated with the Rangers and Wilson in any way he could have.

A total of 60 Rangers, 23 assistant attorneys general and other public safety officers met in Houston in the auditorium of the Junior League building to avoid detection. Wilson said the gamblers must have closed up on a hunch.

"Gamblers are notorious as hunch players," Wilson said. "They make their living playing hunches. That's their business. The important thing is that they are closed, and we intend to keep them closed."

"We have the complete co-operation of Gov. Price Daniel on this," Wilson said. "If local officials fail to do the job of keeping these places shut down, then we will do it on the state level. We're concerned particularly about Galveston and vicinity," he said.

Clough said he was against anything obnoxious to a city. But he was not in favor necessarily of the way things were handled. He said he learned of the shutdown from a friend at 10 p. m. Thursday, adding "I never frequent those places myself."

"I was not consulted or told anything about it. It was as much a surprise to me as it was to those affected. Mr. Wilson has the authority by law to do what he thinks is the right thing in any community."

"If he saw fit to ignore the local people here, which he did, as is my understanding, that also is his privilege. I certainly can't criticize him for upholding his oath of office or the way in which he does it."

"But if he had consulted with local authorities, he might have found it a little easier to do what he did. Nobody was consulted. I'm going to sit on the sidelines and just watch developments."

Galveston county Sheriff Paul Hopkins said his office was "ready and willing to co-operate in any way and help all we can to keep the country shut down. We've made some raids and will keep on doing our very best in every way we can."

He echoed Clough's contention that "Galveston is a clean city, and there are a lot of them in Texas a lot worse."

Wilson said he spoke in Galveston about six weeks ago at the invitation of all service clubs in that city and publicly called on the citizens and public officials to eliminate the professional gambling there.

But Clough said Wilson didn't even contact him during his visit and "shunned my table."

of time for the local officials to do the job," Wilson said. "Some efforts were made, which were commendable, but the facts were that the operations continued virtually unabated."

He said there were at least 55 establishments operating there at that time.

Wilson said it was his understanding that employees of the major gambling places were leaving town, and added that he intends to speed them on their way.

"We will follow the same pattern over the state," he said. "Local authorities will be given time to do the job. Meantime, we will be preparing our evidence."

"We offer them the full co-operation of the state," he said.

West Germany Requests Russia Release Civilians

New Approach On Old Practice

BRAWLEY, Calif., June 8 (UP)—The old-fashioned practice of raiding a watermelon patch on a hot summer day has gone modern.

Farmer W. L. Fifield deputized to sheriff's deputies that a helicopter landed in his watermelon patch, the pilot hopped out and grabbed two or three melons, then took off.

CHAMPION COW-CALLERS—Mrs. Lloyd Wilkins and Donald Jenkins were named World's Champion Cow Callers in Miami's annual contest Saturday. Mrs. Wilkins out-yelled nine other women in the contest to walk off with the $25 winner's check and Jenkins managed a louder "call" than his seven competitors in the men's division. A large crowd attended the annual event sponsored by the Miami Men's Service Club. (News Photo)

Adenauer Wants Full-Scale Repatriation Agreement

BONN, Germany, June 8 (UP)—The West German government appealed to Russia today to release an estimated 80,000 to 100,000 German civilians still held in the Soviet Union.

The appeal was made in a note delivered to the Kremlin this morning by Dr. Wilhelm Haas, West German ambassador to Moscow.

In the three-page note, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government called on the Soviets to conclude a full-scale repatriation agreement similar to that signed by Russia and Poland.

West German and Soviet officials are scheduled to open trade talks in Moscow soon. Today's German note urged that the repatriation issue be discussed at the same time with the aim of reaching an accord on conditions for the release of German civilians.

The Bonn note recalled that when Adenauer visited Moscow in September 1955 and obtained the release of more than 9,000 German war prisoners, Kremlin leaders promised to examine the question of German civilians still held by Russia.

West German officials say 80,000 to 100,000 civilians remain in the Soviet Union. These include Germans deported to Russia after 1945, technicians who went there voluntarily under post-war labor contracts and the population of the northern half of East Prussia which the Soviets annexed outright after 1945.

The Soviets have insisted that only a few German civilians remain in Russia and that all the others claimed by the Bonn government now are Soviet citizens.

Ibn Saud Asks US For Help

CAIRO, June 8 (UP)—King Saud of Saudi Arabia was reported today to have appealed to President Eisenhower to put pressure on Israel to halt its "provocations" in the contested Gulf of Aqaba.

The report, printed by the independent Egyptian newspaper Al-Ahram, coincided with a warning by Syrian Premier Sabri Assadi that the Arab world has taken "sufficient" measures to keep Israeli ships from using the Suez Canal.

Al-Ahram said in a Washington dispatch that Saud told Eisenhower in a message he was worried about Israel "provocations" which he charged threatened the security of Moslem pilgrims on their way to the holy cities of Mecca and Medina.

The newspaper said Saud handed the message to U. S. ambassador in Saudi Arabia and forwarded a copy to the Saudi Arabian ambassador in Washington.

The reported move followed a Saudi Arabian protest in the United Nations Security Council Wednesday that Israeli warships have bombarded its coast and imperiled Moslem pilgrimages by land and sea routes in the Aqaba Gulf.

Al-Ahram carried the report only a day after Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion warned Arab nations that "force will be answered with force" if they attempt to interfere with Israeli shipping in the Aqaba Gulf. Ben-Gurion also said Israel was determined to send a test ship through the Suez Canal.

Two more local firms received suspensions from the Texas Liquor Control Board on their state licenses permitting the sale of alcoholic beverages.

The suspensions, which were delivered to the two establishments Friday afternoon by an inspector of the Liquor Control Board, bring to three the license suspensions which will begin today.

The latest two suspensions of licenses are: C. W. Bailey Package Store, 320 E. Frederic, and the Busy Bee Cafe, 410 Maple. A five-day suspension was given to (See FIRMS, Page 3)

Last year's winners were a brother- and sister team, Claude Seitz and Mrs. Carrie Lee Hodges, both of whom were ineligible to enter this year.

CoC Directors Meet Delayed

The monthly board of directors meeting of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development which was scheduled for Monday will be postponed until June 17.

Postponement was due to the death of Mrs. M. Wedgeworth of Nacogdoches, Tex., sister-in-law of Chamber Manager E. O. Wedgeworth.

Vice President, E. L. Henderson in announcing the change stated that the rescheduled meeting will be held the following Monday at 12 noon in the Southwestern Public Service Company's auditorium.

The E. O. Wedgeworths left Pampa yesterday for Nacogdoches to attend the funeral. They are expected to return to the city Tuesday.

In the clover leaf pattern, two brothers and a sister won. They were Frank, first; John, second and Verna Bridwell, third; of Miami.

Hotel Directors Meet Tuesday

Directors of the Community Hotel Company of Pampa will meet at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Chamber of Commerce conference room for their monthly meeting.

George E. Cree Jr. is president of the hotel company.

88 Persons Sign CRMWA Petitions

A total of 88 signatures of property owners in Pampa were obtained on the petitions asking the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority to call an election in Pampa for the purpose of re-admitting Pampa to the authority, Mayor Lynn Boyd reported to The News last night.

Only 50 signatures were needed on the petitions in order for the authority to call an election.

Mayor Boyd will take the petitions to Lubbock, where they will be presented to the board of directors of the CRMWA, Monday. He will leave this afternoon and will be accompanied by Ed Myatt, city commissioner, and B. D. Robinson, former director of the authority from Pampa.

It is not expected that an election will be called in Pampa until after it is determined if Amarillo rejoins the authority. According to George Finger of Berger, vice president of the authority, it is the opinion of the member cities that if Amarillo does not rejoin the group, financing of the project to build the dam and distribution lines will not be successful.

City officials felt that Pampa should re-join the authority in order that the water rights of this city could be protected.

Red Cross Board To Meet Tuesday

"Disaster Relief" will be the topic of discussion at the monthly meeting of the Red Cross Board to be held Tuesday morning at 7 in Johnson's Cafe.

According to John F. Campbell, head of the board, the program will be under the direction of Ray Kuhn and Sheriff Rufe Jordan.

Alvin Lewis of White Deer, a first aid instructor, will get an award for outstanding service at that time.

"Everyone is urged to attend," Mrs. Libby Shotwell, local Red Cross chairman, said.

LEVIN'S

Next Sunday Is Old Man's Day To Golf, Fish, Or Just Snooze

By BILL NEAL
Pampa News Staff Writer
Dad's day to play — that's next Sunday.

Or if the family bread-winner is too work-weary to run and play, maybe he'll just slip off in some secluded corner for an extended nap.

Yes, next Sunday is Father's Day. That day in the year when the old man is (we hope) exempt from dish washing, lawn mowing, or any other of those eternal odd jobs that plague dad from time to time.

That day dedicated to the proposition that all men should be free — at least once in the 365. Or to the proposition that the local straw boss should give orders occasionally.

At the least it is a time when those men with something running around the house other than a yard fence should be honored with some token of appreciation for a year's wage busting.

Of course the old man may not say much, but you can bet he'd be hot for a new fishing rod, bowling ball, etc. And even more than that, to know that he's not forgotten man after all.

But what does a dad really want on Father's Day? For an answer, this reporter took a limited survey of the "dads on the street."

We found as many answers as dads. The male ambitions ranged from golf to repairing the kids' toys.

Dr. Carl Lang, 1408 Hamilton, who is the father of four, expressed a desire to gather up the entire brood with their mother and go on a fishing trip.

"I like to get outdoors when I get a chance, and, being a doctor, I nearly have to leave town to keep away from the office," he said. Dr. Lang's four children, Mari-ke, 10; Carl Jr. (Bobo), 7; Ronald, 5; and Mark, 4; are all outdoor enthusiasts.

Another dad, Bill Garvey, a Lubbock salesman traveling through Pampa, thought he could work in about 36 or possibly 45 holes of golf if he got up at sunup. "I'd like to hit the links at sun-up and play until about four, then take the family on a picnic — that is if this crazy weather permits," Garvey said.

Garvey is the Gillette razor blade representative for this area. He is the father of a "loud" 2½-year-old tenor named Marty.

Garvey wants a bowling ball for that day.

"I told my wife about it last week, but I doubt that it'll do any good," he quipped.

Dr. Walter Bertinot, another local doctor, and father of three, just want to wpend a quiet day around the house.

RELAX WITH KIDS—Johnny Morris, 1152 Prairie Drive, just wants to relax with the "kids" on Father's Day, next Sunday. Morris is salesman for a local oil well drilling bit company. He is shown here with his youngest, Kim Denise, nine months. He has two more children, Cindy, four years, and Cheryl Rene two years.

"I don't get to spend much time with the kids. I think maybe I'd like to fix a few of their toys. They always like those better than the new ones," Bertinot said.

Dr. Bertinot, father of Myla, 6; Bill, 4; and Margaret, 3; lives at 1818 Chestnut.

"A doctor doesn't get to see his kids often, and they are always asking when I'll have a day off," he said.

Fred Parker, News reporter and father of a 3-year-old girl, announced that after working until late Saturday night on the paper, he would like to attempt to sleep the entire day.

One newly married man, when asked what he would like to do on father's day, said he would just like to "not celebrate it for a few years."

And so whether it's sleeping, fishing, golfing, or merely loafing maybe dad will get his chance next Sunday.

Scientists Discuss H-Bomb Dangers

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
The possibility that radioactive fallout resulting from nuclear weapons tests may harm children of future generations was a major topic for discussion over much of the world this week.

Political leaders, scientists, and ordinary people joined in the debate. There was sharp disagreement among scientists. Some asserted that the danger was sufficiently grave to warrant the suspension of all tests of nuclear weapons. Others, admitting that there must always be some danger, said it was negligible.

President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, leaders of the two Western countries which have developed the H-bomb, agreed it would be a good thing if the tests could be ended. But they agreed also — as did many eminent scientists — that it would be risking disaster to stop the tests while the danger of an attack by Soviet Russia still existed. As Eisenhower put it, this danger can be eliminated only when it is possible to reach an agreement with Russia, backed by an air-tight system of inspection, for a ban on nuclear weapons.

There was sharp disagreement among scientists. Some asserted that the danger was sufficiently grave to warrant the suspension of all tests of nuclear weapons. Others, admitting that there must always be some danger, said it was negligible.

Youth Revival Starts At Bethel Assembly Of God

Edith Little, well-known children's worker from Fort Worth, will begin a youth revival at 9 a.m. tomorrow, according to the Rev. Paul F. Bryant, pastor of the Bethel Assembly of God Church.

Services will be conducted there each morning at 9:45 throughout the week and on Wednesday, Friday and Sunday nights.

Unique teaching methods such as flash cards, flannelgraph, slide pictures, pantomimed stories, object lessons, visualized Bible verses and songs are employed.

Miss Mertice Cox of Spearman will assist in all activities.

The revival will be conducted much like a vacation Bible school, according to the Rev. Bryant.

On Friday night the evangelist is scheduled to give her life experience, discussing her return from a mental institution to promote children's church activities.

"You will not want to miss these services. All denominations are invited to come and enjoy these outstanding sermons," the Rev. Bryant said.

Sunday the evangelist will

Area Papers Get Awards

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8 (UP)—The 72nd annual convention of the National Editorial Association closed here tonight with an awards banquet honoring winners of the association's better newspaper contests.

Earlier in the day Max Thomas, NEA director, told the convention "there are still opportunities in the newspaper business" despite rising production costs.

The winners included:

Attorney Predicts Girard Will Be Returned To US

By RUTHERFORD POATS United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON, June 8 (UP)—An attorney for Army Specialist William S. Girard predicted today the young soldier will be ordered to Washington next week and never will stand trial in a Japanese court.

Government attorneys disagreed. They avoided public statements but said they expected the federal court here to follow precedent and uphold the administration's decision to turn Girard over to a Japanese court for trial.

Dayton M. Harrington, one of Girard's five lawyers, told the United Press his hope was based on the fact that the soldier was on duty at the time he shot a Japanese woman on a firing range. In the past, he said, U.S. courts refused to intervene to block foreign trials of servicemen because their offenses were committed off duty.

Girard, acting on advice of his brother and his chief defense counsel, Earl J. Carroll, fired his famous Japanese defense attorney Friday.

Harrington said this was done to avoid any possibility that Girard would be surrendered to the jurisdiction of the Maebashi, Japan, court before action in U.S. courts was completed.

The Japanese attorney, Itsuro Hayashi, said in Tokyo that he did not consider himself fired. He said his appointment is official and only the Japanese judge in the case can remove him now.

In other developments in the case:

—Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) arranged a White House visit Monday for a protest delegation from Girard's home town, Ottawa, Ill. The group, headed by L. S. Clements of the Republican Times of Ottawa, will confer with Edward A. McCabe, associate counsel to President Eisenhower.

—Chairman Thomas C. Hennings Jr. of the Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee, said he will send a committee staff lawyer to Japan to observe the soldier's Japanese trial — "if such takes place."

Hennings said the administration had made "grave mistakes" in agreeing to surrender Girard to trial by Japan in view of the evidence that the soldier was on duty at the time he fired the fatal shot from a grenade launcher.

He added, however, that his personal investigations in Japan last year had convinced him that American GI's have been receiving fair trials in Japanese courts for off-duty crimes.

House Group Calls Press Conference

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE WASHINGTON, June 8 (UP)—Chairman Oren Harris of the House Commerce Committee today called a special press conference for Sunday coincident with reports that President Eisenhower is ready to abandon his demand for certain amendments to the pending natural gas bill.

The bill would ease federal restrictions and regulations on natural gas producers. Eisenhower has insisted it be amended to require the Federal Power Commission to figure production costs in granting rate increases and to give the commission authority to review "escalator" price increases.

The producers are demanding that gas rates be figured on a "field pricing" basis which would guarantee them a "fair return."

Important Statement Harris would not discuss the topic of the press conference except to say he will have "an important statement from the president on the gas bill."

Asked by the United Press if Eisenhower was ready to back down on the amendments, Harris said: "I can't discuss that today."

Asked if he believed developments Sunday would enhance prospects for passage of the bill, which he co-sponsored, that Arkansas Democrat gave the same answer.

Industry sources told the United Press they had heard that Eisenhower was ready to change his stand, "though reluctantly."

The President urged a producer price exemption bill last year because it was tied to a lobbying scandal. But he said at the time that he would sign kindred legislation passed under more palatable circumstances.

Drafted New Bill It was on this premise that Harris and some of his colleagues drafted a new bill this year. Its chances were regarded as better than fair until the White House insisted on two amendments.

The President said he regarded the provisions as necessary to protect gas consumers against unreasonable price increases and also to keep a restraining hand on the producers.

The Independent Petroleum Association of America and other trade organizations said this doomed the new bill. Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) warned that the House would not consider the legislation until Eisenhower "comes out forcefully for it."

STAFF NOTES

JOEL R. COMBS, managing editor

A story like last Tuesday's announcement that the Franks division of Cabot Shops, Inc., of Tulsa, Okla., would move its manufacturing facilities to Pampa involves more than meets the eye of the average reader.

For instance, many people "knew" that such a move was being planned (or at least they heard rumors to that effect) months ago. The Pampa News heard one of those rumors several months ago, too.

We started to work on it and less than a day later it became evident that something big along that line was "in the making." Then, not too much later, we learned that it was true, but not official. Therefore, we set about to learn when it would become official and began laying plans. This was months ago. Then, a little over a week ago, we found out when it would become "official." And you never saw more tight-lipped people in a news room than in ours. We didn't want another single person to know if we could help it. We wanted to be the first to let you know the good news.

And we were. We scored a clean "beat" over all other news media, even in Tulsa. We were on the streets hours before anyone else broke the story. So here's a "thanks" to all those people (and there were quite a few) not connected with the paper who helped us keep the story "under wraps" until we could print it.

Back in March, I made a whole bunch of predictions of things in Pampa's future. So far they have all come true but one and we are still working on another. I promised if they didn't all come true I would get a GI haircut, which I did a couple of weeks later when one of the predictions fell through. I liked the haircut so much that I'm still getting my hair cut "nearly GI" now.

With a long-awaited break in the rain, most of the local news this week has concerned road rebuilding or repairing other damage done by the downpours.

The news from Washington meanwhile, has come thick and fast—mostly concerning one Dave Beck and later his playboy son, Dave Jr., who has managed to get a sizable finger in his dad's pie. (Or more accurately, the Teamsters union pie).

Young Beck set some sort of dubious record by invoking the Fifth Amendment approximately 130 times in 40 minutes. For this stunt, Sen. McClellan of Arkansas predicted that the Senate would make Beck a test case for "frivolously" invoking the amendment. McClellan hopes to get a contempt charge against Beck Jr., mainly to see if anyone may distort the use of the Fifth Amendment as flagrantly as Beck did.

Meanwhile, Beck Jr.'s, old man was still having troubles of his own. The Teamsters union, of which he is still president and is scheduled to be until September, doesn't want to wait for the ouster that long.

Although Beck has promised to resign in September, the Executive Board, which meets in July,

Pentecost Brings Special Emphasis On Mission Work

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP)—Pentecost Sunday, which falls this year on June 9, is a traditional time for Christian churches to take stock of their missionary work.

It was on Pentecost that the Apostles received the gift of the Holy Spirit and set forth with contagious zeal to "preach the gospel into every living creature."

Pentecost, 1957, finds the modern church still trying to complete that mission. But many church leaders are deeply discouraged about the present state and the future outlook of foreign missionary efforts.

DORIS WILSON, women's editor

Since this has been one of THOSE KIND of weeks, these notes will be a collection of this and that, and just whatever comes to mind as I write. All set? Okay, let's go!

My cute little next-door-neighbor, Iris Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Page, who, by the way, just celebrated her third birthday last week, is the proud new owner of a scaled-to-her-size playhouse. Well, not that is not an accurate description of the house; for she is so tiny, and the house is large enough for her to spend pleasant hours in for many years to come. I believe, it was her mother's before she fell heir to it. I've been intending to call on her and have a cup of play-like tea in a doll cup. But she has been having so much company lately, for all of the older children in the block have been "helping" her get settled.

Went to the "most fun" tacky party the other evening given by Mrs. R. L. Schulz and Mrs. Kenneth Gowdy, who were hostesses for the "Tops o' Texas Club," whose membership is composed of wives whose husbands work for Schlumberger. Mrs. Jack Hall, who won the prize for being the "tackiest," was completely unrecognizable in a blonde wig (for she is really a brunette), blue denim overalls, and the fanciest open-meshed potato sack handbag, which was adorned with an artificial bouquet of flowers. One of the hostesses, Faye Schulz, wore a size 42 dress, and since she is a cute size nine, she was almost lost in it, but she managed to keep it by tying it around the middle, which hiked it up in back, so that lace-trim and shredded slip showed about six inches. Mrs. R. H. St. Aubyn was charmingly "tacky" in a style-to-the-moment gunny-sack dress, trimmed around the hem with a deep ruffle, and adorned on the shoulder by a single pink rose. Other "stylishly" dressed guests were, Mmes. E. B. Carter, E. C. Carter, Verna Morris, and C. V. Smith. It seemed that everyone had had the same experience in leaving for the party, by slipping out of their homes and making a mad dash for their cars, before the neighbors could see, and each lived in dread that they would be involved in a traffic incident before arriving at their destination. It was fun.

Did you ever take eight nine-year-old girls to the circus. I did the other night; to the Kelly-Miller Circus, which was sponsored by the Top o' Texas DeMolay Chapter. We had an "understanding" about their being "ladies" before we left the house, and they lived up to their bargain. Somehow, I'm very glad they got to see a real live circus, before it passes into non-existence, as has been rumored. With all due respects to that modern gadget, the TV set, it will never be able to duplicate the rugged and colorful atmosphere of a circus-in-the-real.

FRED M. PARKER, staff writer

Beginning next week changes will be made in Pampa. Yes, the new traffic ordinance of Pampa will become law next week and Pampa motorists will find that they must make changes in their driving habits or face the consequences.

The new traffic ordinance was passed by the City Commission the first part of the year, but due to having printing work completed on the copies for the individual motorists and meeting with law requirements on publishing the summary of the law in the paper, the ordinance could not be made law any sooner.

The law reads that the ordinance cannot become effective until 10 days after the final publication in the paper. This final publication was made last Friday so the ordinance will become effective the first part of next week.

With the new ordinance, one of the changes that will affect motorists will be that no more right turns will be allowed on red lights. The signs below the street lights, which state that this practice is permissible, will be removed and motorists must wait until the light turns green before they can proceed through an intersection which is controlled by a light.

The new ordinance also stipulates what streets will be classified as "through streets" and designates the locations of stop signs, yield-right-of-way signs and pedestrian crosswalks.

The ordinance is printed in book form and contains 27 pages with an index consisting of seven additional pages. Copies of this ordinance are available at the City Manager's office in City Hall and any motorist desiring to know what the traffic laws in Pampa require, can stop by and pick one up.

It might be a good idea to read a copy of this ordinance, it might save getting a "pink slip" from one of the local officers.

On the surface, it is hard to see any reason for their pessimism. Christianity today has about 800 million followers throughout the world—more than twice as many as the next largest faith, Buddhism.

American Protestants are supporting 23,500 missionaries in more than 100 countries, an increase of about 25 per cent since 1952. The Roman Catholic Church, which was sending missionaries to this country at the start of this century, now has 5,000 American-born missionaries at work in other lands.

But these statistics, which will be cited in many Pentecost sermons, don't tell the whole story. Here are some other facts:

—The relative number of Christians in the world has been dropping steadily for a quarter of a century, from 37 per cent of the world population in 1930 to about 30 per cent today. Buddhism, Mohammedanism, Hinduism and other oriental religions once considered moribund are powerfully resurgent in many countries of Asian and Africa.

—In Asia, tiny Christian minorities (averaging about three per cent of the population in most countries) are struggling for existence against a mounting tide of Nationalist feeling which often brands Christianity a "foreign" or "white man's" religion.

—In Africa, where Christians constitute perhaps 10 per cent of the population, racial tensions have produced a situation in which white missionaries leave, "five years at most" to continue their work on the present basis.

Leaders of major U. S. denominations believe the handwriting on the wall of history is already clear: The Western white man must face the fact that he is cordially hated in most colored countries. So long as Christianity is identified as his "export," it will be severely handicapped in Asia and Africa. The one hope for maintaining an effective Christian witness in these areas lies in strengthening their local churches under native leadership, and gradually turning the evangelical task over to them.

A major step in this direction was taken last March, when Christian leaders from 14 Asian countries met at Prapat, Indonesia, and formed the East Asia Christian Conference. The avowed goal of this new regional body is to give native Asians a primary role in the evangelization of Asia. The next step, according to church leaders, may be the most difficult. It is persuading Western Christians to continue large-scale financial support, which the "younger churches" of Asia and Africa require for survival, without insisting on foreign control, which will not be tolerated much longer.

PICTURE NEWS

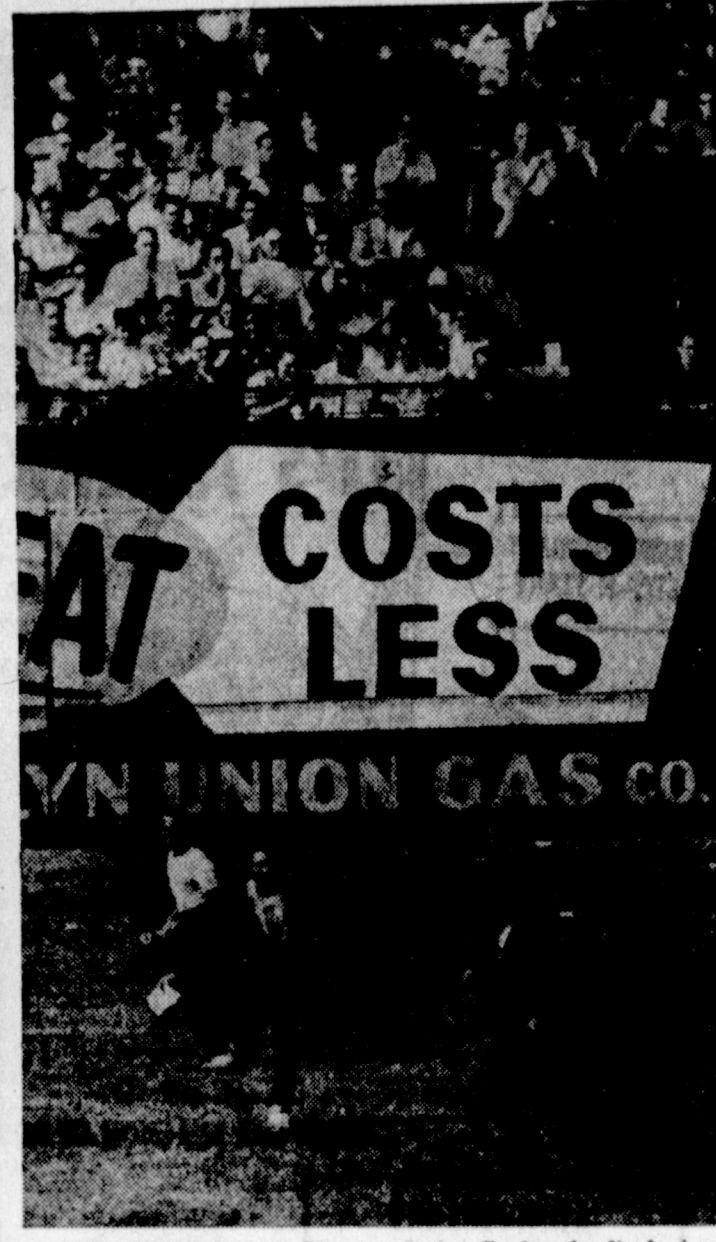

AROUND THE SPORTS WORLD

FOR WATER FUN—These sailing craft were readied for a new season at West Berlin's Lake Wannsee. Removing the protective covers and hoisting sail, some boatmen are getting ready for a mass outing. They'll get things under way officially in bright sunshine and a fine breeze.

STREET SCENE—A quiet sidewalk in New York was just right for a softball game until that heavily-laden junk cart interrupted the young players. Children in the city haven't much space for play, and this scene is picturesque little Minetta Lane, looking toward Sixth Avenue in the Greenwich Village section.

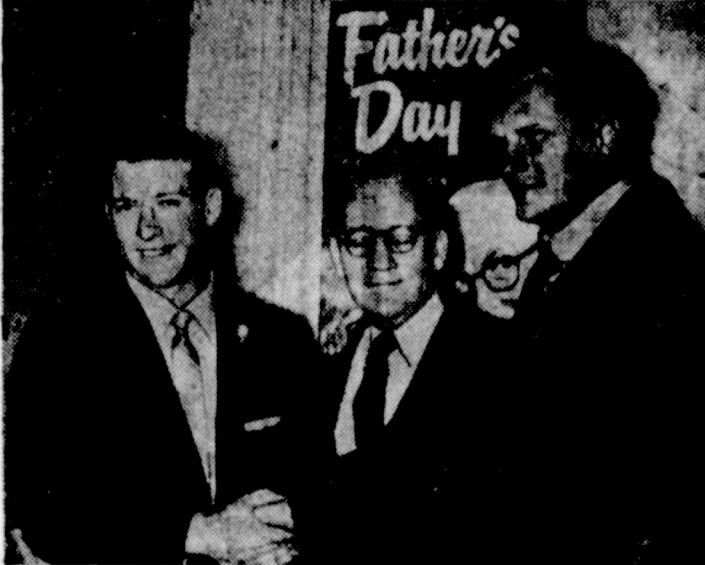

AFTER SOME FANS—Umpire Jocko Conlan is displaying some fleet footwork during a Giant-Dodger baseball game in New York. Conlan is heading off a couple of Duke Snider fans who jumped from the stands and ran onto the field to talk to the Brooklyn centerfielder during ninth inning. New York shaded the Brooks to take the game by a score of 8-7.

HE'S GOT A LINE—John Bromley spends most of his time tending the needs of fishermen in his tackle shack on a pier in Brighton, England. He manages to do some fishing himself by lifting a trap door and dropping a line into the sea below. Biggest catch he's made was a 32-pound conger eel.

BASKING—Gina Goddard, a singer from New York, is relaxing in the Cuban sun as she takes a spring vacation in Havana. The lucky sun must be smiling as it beats down on the luscious gal who is posing so prettily for a fortunate cameraman.

THE CHOSEN—U.S. Senator John L. McClellan, (D-Ark.), stands between baseball player Mickey Mantle, left, and Rev. Dr. Billy Graham in New York. He was named Father of the Year, Mantle was named sports father and Graham father of the year in religion by the National Father's Day Committee.

HELPING DAD—Buddy Fowkes, former Georgia Tech. track star, had plenty of help to train for the annual Georgia AAU meet in Atlanta. His three sons encouraged their dad who is the Georgia AAU champion in 100 and 200-yard dashes and the broad jump.

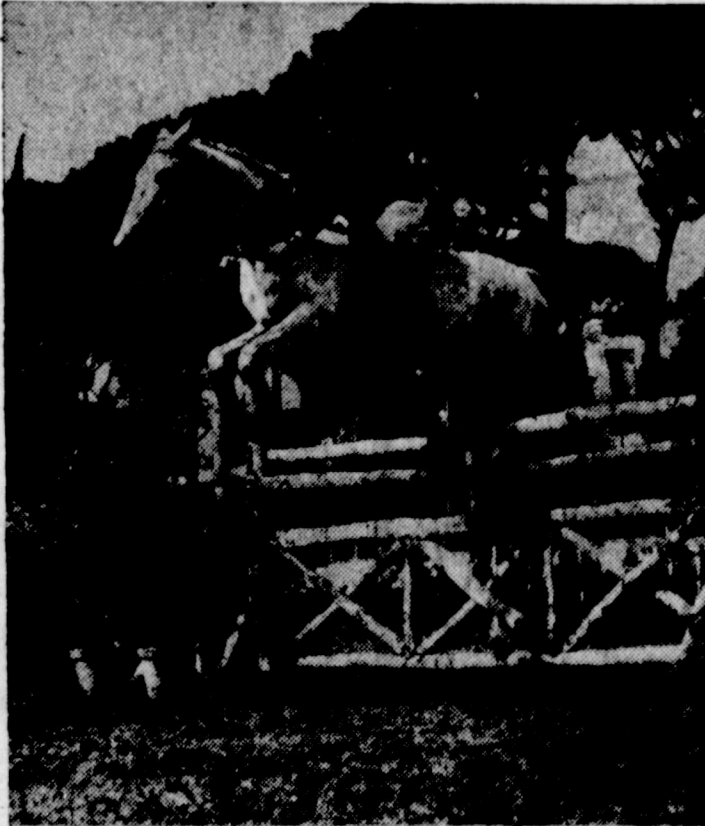

MISGUIDED MUSCLE—Paul Andrews of Buffalo, right, launches an uppercut into outer space, and Wayne Bethea, of The Bronx, N. Y., appears to be knocked off balance by the breeze. This happened during their 10-round heavyweight bout in New York. Bethea won it by a split decision.

SOUTH AMERICAN WAY—Here's a sample of the famed technique that makes soccer football the most popular sport in Colombia. Raphael Pardo, of the Bogota team, has just made a spectacular backward-overhead kick during championship game with Peru, in Bogota.

STEADY AIM—Anne Magi, 17, an Estonian refugee, was chosen Maid Marian for the annual Robin Hood Festival in Sherwood, Ore. Now a high school junior in Tigard, Anne was coached by Don Dahlke for an archery match between Sherwood and Nottingham, England.

GOING OVER—Rome's tree-shaded Borghese Gardens are the setting for a perfect jump as Miss P. Elizalde of Spain takes her mount over a barrier. She was competing in an international horse show with men and women riders from 11 nations.

BRITANNIA WRECKS—British racing drivers Peter Collins, in foreground, and Mike Hawthorn flee a possible explosion after their autos collided in Monaco during the Grand Prix road race. Argentine ace Juan Manuel Fangio won the annual event.

Tint Thatch-- Or Shave Noggin'

By ELMER WHEELER

What's the tone of your hair these days? Or of what's left of it? I read about another trend in men's hairdos. The accent on youth is making men follow their wives into the beauty salons instead of the saloons.

No foolin'. Men are going in for the "proper tone" of hair tinting to fit their mood, personality, job, or the gleam in their eye.

This tinting applies both to the real stuff or the "kid 'em" kind you bought at the hair store or mattress factory.

The beauty counselor's sales sizzle is, "Men no longer need to look their age."

It seems personnel men foolishly believe gray hair interferes with a man's job these days of the return to youth.

This, of course, is bunk.

The girls still love to run their fingers through a good crop of matured gray hair, real or the glued on stuff, and they'll always come up chirping, "My, such dignity."

Ask Walter Pidgeon, Spencer Tracy, George Brent or any other former dark-haired matinee idol if he isn't far more appealing today to the ladies than when he wore the stuff Valentino style in smeared down fashion.

So to make my Bald Boy story complete, I simply must include the new tint jobs the men are getting to match their careers and cars or the latest tint of their gal friend.

So if wife suddenly finds hubby two booths away in Marie's Beauty Salon, she needn't worry. The guy is just getting tinted up for the weekend.

On the other hand, if there's nothing left to tint, have faith, bald one:

In all bad there is good; in all baldness there is fame, fortune, wimmin'.

In fact, in baldness you may win an Oscar.

Who do you think wins Oscars these rock-and-roll days?

Not the handsome Rock Hudson, 6 foot 6 "Giant" man, with a mane as glossy and expensive as the movie he was in.

"Men are following their wives into beauty salons."

Nor was it bold Kirk Douglas, he-man, virile, with a two-fisted way of getting fame and ladies in his "Last for Life."

Nor old education himself, Mr. 80 Days — the Britisher David Niven, epitome of erudite mannerism and Oxfordian language.

Nope — none of these lads won the latest Oscars from Hollywood.

Indeed the world isn't giving Oscars away to the brains, brawn and bravery types of manhood these modern days as it did in the flicker era of Valentino, the slick haired, or Theda Bara, the vamp.

Today's he-vamp is a Bald Boy!

Indeed, a 41-year-old man with no hair was the 1957 winner of the Oscar. Egg-headed Yul Brynner.

Nor is he just semi-bald, or one about to lose his hair; or one with a moon (crescent or full) on his head.

The sad fact, bald one, is this fellow must achieve his daily fame by shaving off his hair each a.m. after breakfast, while most of you lads are trying some new hair glue to keep it on.

All of which backs up the fact that baldness today is an admirable happening in a man's life.

As admirable as was the growing of chin whiskers and mutton chop sideburns in the pre-Elvis and before-Brynner days.

The point in this is that when there are shiny spots on your noggin, there is hope for fame, fortune and wimmin' in your middle-aged life.

Baldness today is now a sure sign of virility, latent talents and great business acumen.

So rather than hide your baldness, or camouflage or delay its arrival date, encourage the event.

Be proud you are bald — or getting that way — and face the new adventure with Elmer's Psychosomatic Treatment No. 1 for Bald Boys.

NEXT: Psychosomatic Treatment No. 1 for Bald Boys.

WASHINGTON — William Lacey, special assistant to the secretary of state for East-West exchanges on the two-hour conference with Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zaroubin.

"We had an exhaustive discussion of the details of the East-West exchange program. If negotiations continue to be successful, there probably will be more exchanges in the near future."

Quiz Program Nets Income Tax Criticism

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The third birthday of "The $64,000 Question" shall not pass without a reminder that thoughtful citizens have been getting a sugar-coated tax lesson from the popular TV program.

It is a lesson in what the income tax at current rates does to middle and upper bracket taxpayers. "The $64,000 Question" early got a lot of free and interesting advertising on its tax aspects in such unlikely places as the columns of the Wall Street Journal, the editorial pages of The Saturday Evening Post and the monthly letter of New York's First National City Bank.

The First National had an emphatic point of view about income tax rates. It was that the personal rates were confiscatory to the point of discouraging individuals from taking risks to make more money.

Some Interesting Calculations

Back there when the TV programs was just beginning, the bank distributed a letter which said, in part:

"The program has provided a vivid illustration of the way confiscatory personal income tax rates stack the cards against risk-taking ventures."

The bank calculated that a contestant who was single and had an income of $4,000 annually would have to win $448,711.11 to acquire $64,000 of actual, take-home prize money.

A single person with $4,000 of annual income would be assessed $15,400 in taxes if he reached the $32,000 winning level. This would reduce his actual prize money to $16,600. If this contestant took the last, long step, doubling his $32,000 into $64,000 the additional tax bite would be $23,292. The take-home prize would be increased by only $8,708.

"Thus," the bank concluded, "he is risking an assured $16,000 for a chance to win an additional $8,708."

The bank argued that the same tax situation which discourages contestants from reaching from $32,000 to $64,000 applies also to businessmen with venture capital who refuse to risk it by reason of tax limitations on their possible gain.

The Saturday Evening Post remarked that:

"What high taxation is doing to the free enterprise system is a subject which is about as interesting to the average man as a treatise on medieval metaphysics."

The Post contended, however, that the famous TV show would zooming on the big and little fell low alike. The record showed that in the 23 years from 1936, the government's take from individual income taxpayers had multiplied 64 times.

TV Lines Up New Shows

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—The channel swim...

When the Spike Jones show folds on June 23, something called "Playhouse of Mystery" will drop into its CBS-TV spot. Next fall, "Small World" starring Eric Sevareid, is expected to move into the Wednesday night period.

Jayne Meadows (Mrs. Steve Allen) is expecting... Mike Wallace will interview an interviewer on his June 25 ABC-TV show—Mary Margaret McBride.

A toothpaste sponsor offered comic Dick Shawn a Friday night half hour show of his own on NBC-TV, but Shawn turned it down. ABC-TV has decided to slot another saddle soap opera, "Colt .45," into its Friday night sked.

Jack Paar, expected to take over the revamped "Tonight" show on NBC-TV next month, and Steve Allen. Some of the reported titles: "High Noon," "African Queen" and "Moulin Rouge."

BROOKLYN—Chicago Cub outfielder Bob Speake on losing a routine fly ball in a heavy fog: "I knew the ball was up there somewhere, but I just couldn't find it."

Singer Peggy Lee will star in the last three Jackie Gleason shows this season — Polly Bergen turned the assignment down... ABC-TV is interested in a new series, "Maggie," which stars Margaret O'Brien.

ABC-TV and Kaiser Aluminum are expected to announce a deal that'll bring a flock of top grade movies, some of them post-1948, to Sunday night TV — they'll be

READ THIS STARTLING FACT

5 out of 10 Smaller Cars wear a Pontiac Price Tag —yet none gives you Any of Pontiac's Advantages

PONTIAC GIVES YOU UP TO 8.9% MORE SOLID CAR PER DOLLAR!

Not one of the smaller cars can give you the heavy-duty construction, the road-hugging heft and solid security that surround you in every Pontiac. Yet Pontiac's the nimblest heavyweight you ever managed—and your Pontiac dealer can show you more than six dozen advanced-engineering reasons why! Pontiac has gone all out to make this genuine big car the best behaved beauty that you ever had the pleasure of bossing. You'll find Pontiac's exclusive Precision-Touch Controls make steering and braking the surest, easiest you've ever experienced! Park it, cruise it, try it in stop-and-go traffic . . . this is driving the smaller jobs can't duplicate.

PONTIAC GIVES YOU 4 TO 7 INCHES MORE WHEELBASE!

The small cars extend bumpers and fenders to look big—but Pontiac puts the extra length where it counts—between the wheels! Pontiac's longer stride brackets the bumps instead of riding on them. And this extra length shows up inside, too, in stretch-out space for six footers. Add to Pontiac's bonus in length its all-new suspension system and you have an exclusive Level-Line Ride no car at any price can surpass . . . and a built-in sense of direction and security that will spoil you for the smaller cars forever!

PONTIAC'S PERFORMANCE TOPS THE BEST THE SMALL CARS CAN OFFER—BY A WIDE MARGIN!

Not one of the smaller cars can measure up to Pontiac Performance. Whether you judge a power plant by engineering statistics or on-the-road performance, Pontiac's Strato-Streak V-8 stands head and shoulders above anything in the low-price field. Your Pontiac dealer will be happy to show you a complete facts-and-figures comparison—then an eye-opening test drive in traffic or out on the highway will supply all the heart-lifting proof you need that Pontiac has separated the men from the boys when it comes to performance!

—AND PONTIAC HAS ALWAYS BEEN FAMOUS AS ONE OF AMERICA'S TOP TRADE-INS!

Maybe it comes as a surprise to you that so much more car can be yours at the same price you've seen on the smaller cars. But there's the fact! And Pontiac is a wonderful investment, too! As you know, it has always commanded a top trade-in. So why not step out of the small-car class and into a Pontiac . . . there's nothing in your way. Your Pontiac dealer has the keys and an eye-opening offer waiting for you right now!

So why not look and feel like a million—instead of a million others?

NOTE! If you want the ultimate in both economy and extraordinary performance, new Tri-Power Carburetion is available on extra cost on even the lowest priced Pontiac models! It's America's newest power advance and exclusively Pontiac's at so low a cost!

Congressman Promises Baseball Legislation

Would Free Players From Lifetime 'Peonage'

By ERNEST BARCELLA
WASHINGTON, June 8 (UP)—A baseball-minded congressman said tonight he is introducing legislation Monday to free players from "lifetime peonage" and permit them to negotiate as free agents with any club after five years as professionals.

Rep. Patrick J. Hillings, R-Calif., said the "emancipation" provision is contained in a bill that would bring certain aspects of professional baseball, football, hockey and basketball under the anti-trust laws.

Hillings also disclosed that he will offer a separate bill to give professional baseball, football, hockey and basketball players an income tax break. They would be permitted, in computing their income taxes, to deduct 15 per cent of their gross athletic income for "depletion of physical resources."

Also victimized by the weather was U.S. Women's Open titlist Kathy Cornelius participation in the annual "I bet the champion" day, and an amateur tournament being held in conjunction with the LPGA money event.

Pert Dianne Garrett of Houston, Tex., one of the youngest in the 26-player LPGA field, expressed the general feelings of her fellow pros.

"It seems everywhere we go, we have at least one rainy day," she said. "We all had hoped we would get by here with good weather."

Miss Smith, freckle-faced 20-year-old, shot a 68, two-under-par in the opening round Thursday and came back with a one-over 71 Friday for a 36-hole aggregate 139. She leads Miss Suggs by four strokes.

Tied for third with 144 were defending LPGA titlist Marlene Bauer Hage, Dallas, Tex., and Joyce Ziski, of Waterford, Wis. A stroke further back with Miss Hage's sister, Alice Bauer, Palos Park, Ill., and veteran Patty Berg, of St. Andrews, Ill.

Miss Suggs, freckle-faced 20-year-old, shot a 68, two-under-par in the opening round Thursday and came back with a one-over 71 Friday for a 36-hole aggregate 139. She leads Miss Suggs by four strokes.

Attainment has averaged only 500 a night, McHugh said, and added he'd dropped $32,000 since the opening of spring training. McHugh said he lost $500 to $900 almost every home game.

McHugh said he has received offers from both Big Spring and Lamesa, each of which has been the home town of a pro team previously. The Texans currently occupy sixth place in the Southwestern League.

Texas A&M Name Coach

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UP)—Bobby Rogers, coach of the East Texas State basketball squad with a 140-31 won-lost record over the past five years, was named basketball coach at Texas A&M College Friday.

Rogers replaces Ken Loeffler, former national championship coach at LaSalle, who resigned under fire after violations of Southwest Conference recruiting violations.

Loeffler was accused of arranging a private workout for a New England basketball player who stayed at A&M only through the freshman season.

Rogers was given a three-year contract, according to A&M athletic director Paul Bryant. The appointment was approved by the faculty athletic committee.

Palmer In Tie For Open Lead

By BILL LOFTUS
AKRON, Ohio, June 8 (UP)—Arnold Palmer sank a 120-yard iron shot for an eagle two on the 10th hole today and tied sharp-putting Dow Finsterwald at 204 for the lead in the $22,000 Rubber City Open Golf Tournament after three rounds.

Palmer in sixth place Friday, coupled the eagle with three birdies for a 71-66-67-204. His 66 Friday remained the best round of the tournament.

The two leaders held a comfortable, three-stroke lead over their nearest rivals.

Almost A Repeat
Palmer found himself in almost a repeat of the 1956 tournament here when he was the third-day leader at 205 but lost to Ed Furgol by one stroke in the final round. After play today, Furgol was at 211 with four others.

Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla., steady at 65-67-69-204 over the rain-drenched, 6,620-yard Firestone Country Club course, went one over-par on the front nine today.

Tommy Bolt, who had kept his hot temper in check during the first two days when he tied for first place, finally let a club fly today when an approach shot landed in a trap next to the 18th green. Bolt slipped to a 67-68-72—207 including bogeys on the last two holes.

Grouped with Bolt at 207 were Doug Ford, Mahopac, N.Y., 70-69-69, and Will Trombley, Dallas, Tex., 69-69-69. Art Wall, Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., 69-69-70—208 and George Fazio, Philadelphia, 71-67-70—208, were four strokes off the pace.

January At 209
Ed (Pocky) Oliver, Canton, Mass., was 71-68-70—209 after the third round and tied with Don January, Lampasas, Tex., 70-68-71—209.

Fred Haas, New Orleans, Billy Maxwell, Odessa, N.Y., 70-69-69, and Casper, Jr., Bonita, Calif., Marty Furgol Le Mont, Ill. Al Bessell, Jr., Grossingers, N.Y., and Gary Brewer, Jr., Cincinnati, were bracketed at 210.

Two holes in one featured today's round. Francis (Bo) Winger, Odessa, Tex., scored the 155-yard 12th hole and Bob Black, Massillon, Ohio, led the amateurs with 217 after scoring a hole-in-one on the 145-yard seventh hole.

Dodgers Take First Place; Chisox 6 Games In Front

Orioles Blanked

CHICAGO, June 8 (UP)—Lefty Billy Pierce, who now has given up but one earned run in the last 47 innings, hurled a three-hitter today to gain his 10th win and 2-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Pierce, the majors' winningest pitcher, struck out six to bring his strikeout total to 70, the best in both leagues.

The win, Chicago's fifth in its last six games and ninth in its last 11, strengthened the Sox' hold on the American League lead.

The Sox' second and final run came in the sixth when Nellie Fox doubled and Lollar singled him home.

The win was Pierce's seventh straight and sixth consecutive complete game. He leads the league in overall complete games with eight.

The little southpaw, whose season's earned run is 1.80, has not allowed a run in his last 23 innings or since the Cleveland Indians nipped him for a score in the sixth inning of a Memorial Day game.

Podres, Bums Win
BROOKLYN, June 8 (UP)—Johnny Podres pitched his fifth straight victory and Rube Walker and Junior Gilliam knocked in three runs apiece today to help the Brooklyn Dodgers take over first place in the National League with an 8-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

This was the first time the Redlegs were out of first place since May 15. The triumph was the Dodgers' fifth in a row and moved them into the league lead by a margin of a half-game over the rain-out Philadelphia Phils. The defeat, Cincinnati's fifth in its last six games, tumbled manager Birdie Tebbets' men into third place.

Podres extended his string of shutout innings to 21 before Cincinnati scored a run in the fourth on a walk and Gus Bell's double. The Redlegs scored only once more, when Frank Robinson hit his 10th homer in the eighth inning.

Cards Nip Giants

NEW YORK, June 8 (UP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, under the direction of Coach Stan Hack, extended their winning streak to four games today by beating the New York Giants, 5-4, with the aid of fine late-inning relief by ex-Giant pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm.

The Cards, handled by Hack in the absence of manager Fred Hutchinson, who was scouting young players in the NCAA tournament at Omaha, Neb., spurred to a 5-9 lead with the help of home runs by Alvin Dark and Stan Musial. But the Giants closed in to win in the eighth and might have even pulled ahead were it not for Wilhelm's airtight performance.

Indians Trim Nats

CLEVELAND, June 8 (UP)—Don Mossi and Ray Narleski, the Indians' bullpen beauties, combined their pitching talents today to pull Cleveland out of a five-game losing streak with a 6-4 victory over the Washington Senators.

Mossi shut out the Senators for five innings and when he was knocked out by a four-run outburst in the sixth, Narleski came on and shut out Washington the rest of the way. Mossi won his third of the year and second as a starter.

Camillo Pascual started for the Senators and was the loser, going four innings.

Delaney Overtakes Courtney at Tape

HOUSTON, Tex., June 8 (UP)—the high jump and 120 high hurdles Villanova's Ron Delaney dogged the heels of Tom Courtney for 53 seconds tonight, then flashed ahead in a burst of speed to best the world record-breaker by a yard in a showdown half-time.

Delaney, one of the world's miracle milers, crossed the finish line in 1:48.4 in the 880 hard event of the 2nd annual meet of champions, missing by 1.6 seconds the world mark set by Fordham's Courtney two weeks ago at the Coliseum relays.

Delaney's best time for the 880, set last Saturday in winning the IC-4A championship, was 1:49.5. The victory made him one of the night's double winners, coming after an heroic 4:05.4 mile victory over Oklahoma's freshman Gall Hodgson and University of Texas' Joe Villareal.

Four Records Fall
Four meet records were broken and two were equaled but the spotlight for an estimated 9,200 spectators in Public School stadium was easily on Courtney, Delaney and Villareal.

Courtney, the Olympic 800-meter champion, led the first quarter in 33 seconds, with Delaney sticking fast about two yards behind. Delaney poured on the coal to draw ahead of Courtney in the final 100 yards as the crowd screamed.

Villareal, the Southwest Conference champion miler, whose best mile time has been 4:06.7, was expected to push Delaney to the four-minute barrier and looked well on his way to doing it.

Rebels Defeat Chiefs

Pampa's American Legion baseball team, the Rebels, playing their first game since being organized here in the last few weeks, won a thrilling game here Saturday night, defeating last year's state champions, the Amarillo Chiefs, 13-12.

The local team, finding itself eight runs behind in the bottom half of the eighth inning, staged a terrific two-inning rally in its come-from-behind victory.

The two teams matched single runs in the second and third innings. Then, in the fourth, the Chiefs picked up four runs, then added three more in the fifth while Pampa was going scoreless.

In the ninth, the Chiefs went down in order, twice on rolling grounders to Shortstop Bill Brown and the other falling on a strike-out.

In the Rebels' half, Dale Lake, first man up, drew a bases on balls, followed by a single by Mike Conway and another base on balls by Ray Stephenson. Meanwhile, Lake had scored on an error.

Gary Willis popped out to the shortstop for the Rebels' first out in the inning. Then Bobby Stephenson filed out to center, bringing up Terry Haralson, who missed a third strike pitch which was dropped by the catcher. He beat the throw to first. This brought up Kippy Williams, Rebel pitcher, who turned out to represent the winning run as Conway, Stephenson and Haralson scored after a double by Billy Brown, who followed Williams' walk. Williams, who made it to third on Brown's double, scored when David Marler stroked a single to push him across and win the game.

The game is scheduled for 3 p. m. at Oiler Park, according to "Wimpy" Windom, the Black Oilers' business manager. The game was originally scheduled for last Sunday but was postponed because of wet grounds.

Jake Mintz Dies Of Heart Attack

PITTSBURGH, June 8 (UP)—Excitable Jake Mintz, one of boxing's most colorful managers who piloted Ezzard Charles to the heavyweight title in 1949, died today of a heart attack.

Mintz, 75, whose loquacious pugacity often embroiled him in controversy, had suffered two heart attacks in 1953 but refused to slow his pace as a manager and promoter. He suffered another attack last Saturday when his latest contender, middleweight Wilf Greaves, won by a technical knockout at Mingo Junction, Ohio, and was stricken again Monday after Greaves signed for a June 18 bout in Pittsburgh.

Later in explaining his collapse, Mintz uttered one of his most widely-quoted humorous scrumbings of the English language which popped from his lips in moments of excitement.

Texas U. Wins In NCAA Game

OMAHA, Neb., June 8 (UP)—Texas strikeout artist Harry Taylor held Connecticut to four hits this afternoon as he pitched the Longhorns to a 3-0 victory in the first round of the NCAA college world series here.

The second game on the opening round program pits Penn State against Florida State. Tonight, Colorado State plays California, and Iowa State meets Notre Dame.

Taylor fanned 12 Huskie batsmen and twice ended innings with strikeouts to bar runners in scoring position on third.

The first run came in the third when Bill Moore tripled to score Glenn Van Rosenberg who had reached base on a single. A one-handed stab by Connecticut's left fielder Bill Stevens robbed Pete Embry of a hit and ended the inning.

In the sixth, a double by George Myers scored Embry, who had reached first on a fielder's choice. The final rally was knocked in by Dick Carrington's single. Myers, who had reached first on a single, advanced to scoring position by stealing second. He went home on Carrington's blast to left center.

FEATHER IN HIS HAT

Harvey Ward Jr. On Probation Middlecoff Shoots Golf Day '70'

CHICAGO (UP)—Two-time U.S. Amateur golf champion Harvey Ward Jr. no longer was an amateur today and the United States Golf Assn. said it all was a matter of "misinterpretation of the rules."

The USGA Executive Committee Friday slapped a one-year probation on the San Francisco amateur. It said he "had violated his amateur status" and "no longer was considered an amateur."

Ward was with the committee when the decision was announced. He murmured "I feel terrible about this whole thing" and "I didn't realize I did any wrong," and then walked out.

The USGA contended Ward "violated his amateur status" by accepting expenses "incident to participation" for a four-year period beginning with the British Amateur in May, 1952, and ending with the Colonial Tournament in Fort Worth, Tex., on May 6, 1956.

USGA Executive Director Joseph Dey, said it was "usual" for the group to penalize a case such as Ward's "beginning with the date of the last violation."

Thus Ward would be eligible for reinstatement, if the USGA thought such action advisable, by May 6, 1958.

Dey said Ward would not be eligible to participate in the 1957 Amateur to defend his title, but the USGA had no intention of declaring his previous titles, won in 1955 and 1956, vacated.

The battery for Sinclair was Emerson, Flynn and Brown. Emerson was tagged with the loss.

The only information received on the second game at Lefors was the score. Lefors downed Magnolia, 9-6.

In the other "upset game," Celanese downed Phillips 13-5 at the Lions Park in Pampa. Bob Cardin of Celanese and Tom Price of Phillips stroked homers in the game.

The battery for Celanese was Howel, Kemp and Cantrell and for Phillips, Shew and Smith. Howell held Phillips to five well-scattered hits to pick up the win.

Plans are being made for an Invitational Tournament to be held the first part of August and a barbecue will be held sometime during the last part of August for all participating members of the League and tournament players and their families.

All league managers have been urged to pay their umpire fee and entry fee as quickly as possible as there are bills to be taken care of, according to Charles Wilkerson, league director. At the present time, League representatives reported, only Frontier has paid both fees in full.

Panhandle Outdoor Life

By S. V. WHITEHORN

Here in the Texas Panhandle, the Texas Game and Fish Commission has the privilege of regulating the fish and game. The laws are made by the Commission. The Texas Legislature gave the Commission this assignment with the stipulation that before the laws are set by the Commission each year there will be a scientific survey made of the game available for each season and that the commission will stage county meetings each year for the purpose of inviting the public and landowners to a discussion of the rules and regulations desired by the people in this part of the state.

These meetings are now in progress in different parts of the Panhandle. The meetings will be conducted by the district game warden and a wildlife biologist. The get-together is for the benefit of Panhandle hunters and fishermen in that they have the opportunity to express their ideas pertaining to the "bag limits," when the season should open, etc. A few years back, one hunter said that he thought it should be legal for a person to hunt deer with a shotgun using a slug. Since this request was logical, the idea or request was passed on to the commission, which in turn included this method of kill in the regulations.

In the past, there has been a very small amount of sportsmen show up at these advertised meets. If you are interested in the rules and regulations pertaining to fish and game in this part of the country, then by all means come out to the meetings.

Listed below is part of the schedule pertaining to the central-top part of the Panhandle:

June 10, Wheeler; June 11, Clarendon; June 11, Borger; June 12, Silvertown; June 12, Pampa; June 13, Lipscomb; June 14, Spearman, Claude and Perryton.

All of the meetings listed will be at the county courthouse with the exception of Borger, where the meeting will be conducted as in the past at the Junior High School. The usual meeting time is 8:15 p.m. Your attendance will be appreciated.

There is more to successful fishing than probably is realized by the average angler. For example, bass fishing at Lake Marvin is usually fair for the ordinary fisherman, but from what I have been hearing for the last couple of years, there is a group of fishermen from Phillips who practically always catch their limit of whoppers every time they fish at Marvin.

How do they do it? P. D. Moseley, state game warden from Canadian, said that these fellows have bass fishing figured out to a fine art. They converge on the lake and, after making the necessary arrangements, fishing permit, making camp, etc., choose up between them to see who does the testing —Who's going to be the best of the young golfers?

Three To Beat
"I told them that Hogan, Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff still are the three men you've got to beat to win the Open," Jimmy says. "And that the new leader should come from among such as Dow Finsterwald, Mike Souchak, Arnold Palmer, Gene Littler, Mike Fetchik or Jay Hebert."

Thomson, national manager of golf promotion for A. G. Spalding, cherishes two memories in particular from this trip.

One was that in London, prior to the British Amateur, he played a round with Air Force Sgt. Harold Ridgeley who finished a dark horse runner-up in that tournament. The other was that he took off two days for a surprise visit to his parents in North Berwick, Scotland, whom he hadn't seen in 10 years.

"Ridgeley is a real fine player and a classy guy," Thomson relates. "We commented that he had the game to cause a lot of trouble in the British Amateur and he sure did."

Dad Still Teaches
A nephew of Jack White, who won the British Open in 1904, Thomson also is the son of a pro. His dad, Wilfred Thomson, operates the North Berwick Golf Club and, at 72, still teaches on the Scottish moors.

Army women, he noticed, are more wholeheartedly devoted to the game than their stay-at-home American sisters.

"Maybe it's because there is so much less to do," he said, "but, whatever the reason, it seems that almost everybody at the Air Force bases plays golf, from the privates right on up to the generals—and their wives."

That Thing You See In The 'Wild Blue' Is A Golf Ball

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—That thing you see "off in the wild blue yonder" is a golf ball.

That's the word from long-hitting Jimmy Thomson, the one-time tournament ace just back from a five-week clinical teaching tour for the Air Force. The slugging Scot his 12 bases in France, Germany, England and North Africa and came home amazed.

"I've never seen such interest," he says, "and they don't just want to see a pro hit a ball. They want to know how and why, so they can do it themselves."

And, from the questions aimed at him during a half-hour daily question and answer period, Jimmy could tell that all eyes were turned homeward. Because the two most repeated questions were:

—Is Ben Hogan still a threat in the U.S. Open?

Fullmer Back On Comeback Trail

CHICAGO (UP)—Ex-middleweight champion Gene Fullmer was back on the comeback trail today with a victory over Tiger Jones.

"Sure, Jones had me in a corner almost all through last night's fight," Fullmer said. "But that's the way I had it figured. I wanted him to corner me. He just fell right into place."

Jones' manager, Bob Melnik, said he was "disgusted" with the decision.

Jones, 26, from Yonkers, N.Y., said he kept yelling at Fullmer to "come on and fight."

"How are you going to fight a guy who's running?" Jones asked. "If Fullmer had run backwards any faster I never would have caught him."

Fullmer, 26, didn't go into the matter, but merely said he "changed styles to meet Jones."

Fearless Fraley's Facts N' Figures

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

A "moving" fast ball may force Dick Ricketts, the former Duquesne All-American basketball player, to give up the cage sport after two successful years in the National Basketball Association and devote his efforts exclusively to baseball.

The 23-year-old Ricketts has a 4-1 record with the Rochester Red Wings this season and they say that if he improves his curve and change-up he could make the big league grade. Opponents also say that trying to hit him when he lets loose of the ball is "like having somebody throw off the top of a roof."

Ricketts isn't the first ballplayer who had to make such a career decision. Such current stars as 6-foot, 8-inch Gene Conley of the Milwaukee Braves as well as Frank Baumholtz of the Phillies and Dick Groat of the Pirates all could have had successful professional basketball careers but decided on baseball instead.

There have been others, too, who could have made it in baseball but decided they preferred basketball. These include Bill Sharman of the Boston Celtics, Neil Johnston of the Warriors, who was forced to shift because he came down with a sore pitching arm; and Philadelphia's Jack George, who was under contract to the Red Sox.

Les Arries, teevee consultant to promoter Emil Lence in the Floyd Patterson-Hurricane Jackson heavyweight title bout at the Polo Grounds July 29, played football at Northwestern just before World War I. At the time, a Chicago sportswriter picked Arries on his All-Western team and the grateful Arries told him:

"I'll leave you something in my will."
"What?" asked the writer.
"Why," said Arries, "the clipping, of course."

Temporarily - Shelved Dream Becoming Reality For House-Wife And Mother

By DORIS WILSON
Pampa News Society Editor

It is nice to meet someone who is busily engaged in accomplishing worthwhile objectives. Such was the experience of your reporter this week when she called on Mrs. G. M. Walls, 1203 Christine, who is a teacher in the third grade at Lamar School. Teaching is a long cherished dream and she wants to be a good one.

Mrs. Walls is the daughter of Mrs. C. W. Bowers of Miami, and the late Mr. Bowers, who was county commissioner, when the county seat was moved from Lefors to Pampa, and it is his name that is inscribed on the courthouse here. Her brother, Sam, lives in Miami; another brother, Paul, lives just south of Pampa.

"The dream," Mrs. Walls said, "began a long time ago, when I was a small girl. A teacher in one rural school, near our home, lived with us. And on rainy days, when the roads were impassable, school would be held in our home. It was then that I began dreaming of some day going to Canyon, wearing my hair in a bun, and becoming an old - maid school-teacher."

Well, it is all coming true for Mrs. Walls, who this week enrolled at West Texas State College, where she will attend summer session to pile up more hours towards a master's degree.

"Yes," she laughed, "it is all coming true, I'm going to Canyon and I wear my hair in a bun... all but the old-maid part." And your reporter can attest to that for she met Mr. and Mrs. Walls' three sons, G. M. Jr., who is 14 and lives history and cars; Wilbur, 12, who likes band and girls; and 6-year-old Stevie, who likes "arithmetic first and piano second."

Mrs. Walls attended Texas Technological College 1938-39; 39-40, fall, spring and summer sessions for two full years; this, plus correspondence courses helped her to accumulate about 30 hours needed for a Bachelor of Science degree.

She did teach school for a time, before going into "semi - retirement." She taught two years at Laketon and two years at Farrington, both of these rural schools are now closed. And she taught one year in Miami.

After their marriage and subsequent arrival of their sons, she shelved the "teacher idea" and devoted herself to her family. But the dream was rekindled one day about two years ago, when a friend, Mrs. D. L. Mackie, who was then working towards her master's degree, stopped by the Walls' home to bring her two jars of freshly canned green beans. They discussed Mrs. Mackie's new college career, for she, too, had children; three sons. Mrs. Walls expressed the desire that she would like to renew her college career. "There is no time like the present," Mrs. Mackie encouraged. Slowly the old ambition returned.

After family conferences, the Walls worked out a plan whereby Mrs. Walls could resume her college career. In 1955-56, Mrs. Walls attended Amarillo Center and after practice teaching in Junior High School, under Miss Nova Mayo, received her Bachelor of Science degree and permanent teaching permit.

This year, Mrs. Walls taught in the third grade at Lamar; did her own housework outside of school hours, and attended Amarillo Center again for three nights a week. This time, working towards a Master's degree.

"None of it would have been possible," Mrs. Walls said, "without my husband's help and encouragement, and the help of the boys."

Six-year-old Stevie is telling all of his neighborhood pals that he is going to college this summer and work for a master's. And that is partially true. Stevie and Mrs. Walls will live in an apartment in Canyon, while she is attending school. G. M. Jr. and Wilbur will alternate visits with them; one will remain at home to "batch" with his father.

Wilbur and G. M. Jr. have some plans of their own, too. They have a paper route and plan to attend Boy Scout Camp Kiowa and church camp at Ceta Canyon.

"Several times this winter," Mrs. Walls stated, "the thought crossed my mind, 'Am I doing right?'" And then she realized that if the sought - for goal was not right, and the means taken to acquire it was not for the good, then the accomplishment would be impossible.

During the interview, a neighbor, Mrs. W. R. Campbell, stopped by for a chat and imparted side-looks of Mrs. Walls' activities that she would never have done. "Here is an amazing woman. Let me tell you some things that she would not tell you. She sits down after school and can make a dress before going to bed at night. She can iron 25 shirts in one Saturday afternoon, and does all of her own house-work. And on top of all this, she can give charming book - reviews."

Before the interview ended, Mrs. Walls handed your reporter a quotation to her. "The man who was educated yesterday and stops today, is not educated for tomorrow." Yes, 6-year-old Stevie, 12-year-old Wilbur, and 14 - year - old G. M. Jr. will be going to college this summer with their mother, while their father farms, sells automobiles, and beams his pride.

It's Poison Ivy Time In Texas

Do you know how to protect against ivy poisoning? It's a year-round hazard most common during summer, according to the National Safety Council.

Ivy poisoning is a term used to refer to skin irritation resulting from contact with any one of more than 60 varieties of plants found in the United States.

Most persons are immune to the highest share of them, the Council said. But nearly everyone who touches the three most commonly known plants — poison ivy, poison oak and poison sumac — is affected to some degree.

Such poisonous plants are the bane of outdoor workers. There's even risk for garage mechanics, golfers — and dog-lovers!

In one year more than 2,000 employees of the Connecticut State Highway Dept. contracted ivy poisoning, losing from two to five days of work. This despite a program of inoculations, eradication of road-side growths of the plants, and years of experience in detecting them.

There are cases on record of garage mechanics getting the rash from working on an auto that had come in contact with the irritation-producing plants. Golfers, too, have picked it up when they handled a golf ball that had crushed leaves of one of the three plants.

And, of course, there are instances of dog-lovers coming down with ivy poisoning after petting Fido — who just frolicked in the Ivy poisoning is caused four ways, the Council pointed out. These include bodily contact with any part of the plant, exposure to smoke from the burning plant, contact with clothing or other objects that have been exposed to it, and wading or swimming in water containing its oil.

Here's a brief description of the "Big Three":
Poison ivy, a low shrub or climbing, creeping vine, has leaves (a shiny, dark green in summer, a brilliant orange or scarlet in fall) that may be notched or smooth and are arranged in groups of three on short stalks. (It may be found in every state (except California and Nevada) in woods or in the open — along fence rows, paths and roadways, and climbing trees or posts.)

Poison oak, a variety of poison ivy, is a term usually given two plants — one, a shrub, the other, a shrub that may become a vine. Leaves of the former resemble small oak leaves, occur in groups of three, are somewhat hairy and deeply lobed, and usually are found south of a line connecting southern New Jersey to Tennessee and extending as far west as Missouri. Leaves of the second type — which are oval and rounded — also come in three's. Strictly a western plant, it's found in states bordering the Pacific Ocean and grows in the same locations as poison ivy.

Poison sumac (also known as white sumac, poison ash, poison dogwood, poison elder and thunder-wood) is a shrub, but occasionally can be found as a tree 20-30 feet high. Its sharply pointed, smooth, oily leaves are arranged in pairs along a slender stem with a single leaf at the end. Poison sumac has smooth, cream-colored berries growing in loose clusters along the side of a branch or stem.

Many popular misconceptions exist concerning the three poisonous plants. Among them are these:

1. The blisters from ivy poisoning don't contain poison. They do. Breaking the blisters spreads the irritation.

2. Eating leaves of the plants affords protection. It doesn't. Death has resulted from this.

3. Some persons are immune to ivy poisoning. No one is. Nor does immunity once insure future immunity.

4. Others can catch poison ivy from your rash or blisters. They can't — it's not contagious.

If you come in contact with the poison, the Council said, wash the affected area five or six times with plenty of laundry soap and tepid water. Don't use a brush or rough wash cloth. Self-treatment can be risky, so see a physician.

"Above all, learn to know and avoid these hazards," the Council said. "That's the best protection."

Israelis Still Wary About Gaza Border

By K. C. THALER
United Press Staff Correspondent

GAZA FRONTIER, Israel Side (UP) — In the communal dining room of a farming settlement on the Gaza frontier, a young Jewish boy shoved aside his plate, picked up his rifle and went out to his tractor.

"We had a short respite from this after we beat the Egyptians in the Sinai campaign," he said.

"But now," he added, brandishing his rifle, "we can't take any chances any more. Something might happen any time again."

This feeling that "something might happen any time again" is the mood of Israel today. The situation is one of truce rather than peace.

Across an almost invisible partition line, a Yugoslav and a Norwegian contingent of the United Nations Emergency Force are standing guard, flanked by Bedouin tribesmen grazing their herds in the scorching sun which bakes the Gaza Strip. The dividing line, drawn with a plough long ago, is overgrown.

At the frontier, an 18-year-old Israeli soldier remarked, "It's quiet now, but for how long?"

On the farm, a settler pointed proudly to an engine from a Russian-made tank captured in the Sinai campaign. The engine now helps to generate current for the settlement.

"I guess," said the settler, "this is an example of turning the sword into the ploughshare."

But Israel today relies for her peace on the sword. There is no mistaking that. Government leaders stated frankly that the country must maintain a high degree of readiness in the absence of a peace settlement which will end the state of war still existing with the Arab states.

Meanwhile, new settlements go up all over the country and along the 600 miles of borders exposed to the neighboring Arabs. At night these settlements are lit by search lights arranged in a circle. Guards scan the horizon for infiltrators.

The Israeli government blames the United Nations — and also the United States — for allegedly failing to provide adequate safeguards against a resumption of frontier raids.

Speakers charge that the present situation has handed Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser the chance to resume the raids any time he chooses.

"The U.N. force is a symbolic army, but it is not effective," one high government representative said

Israeli officials are nevertheless pleased by the easing in the dollar freeze which is expected to bring a multi-million dollar loan from the Export - Import Bank in Washington for use in expansion, irrigation and handling an immigration wave. One hundred thousand immigrants from Europe are expected this year, possibly half a million in the next decade.

This, the defense effort and the fact that the big hotels in Jerusalem and Tel Aviv are nearly empty of the tourists who once poured dollars into the economy, have put a strain on the young republic.

But there is a sign of confidence in the future. The state is gearing for its 10th anniversary in 1958 by building new hotels for a celebration intended to proclaim "Israel is here to stay."

THIS SEEMS MORE LIKE SUMMER SHOULD BE . . . golly we haven't even had to unpack our shorts from the mothballs until just this week . . . and the warmth of good old sunshine feels somewhat strange . . . not to mention that for days and days there were clouds obscuring the moon so that there wasn't even a little bit of "moon-shine" to be seen at night . . . the family sat outside one evening and marveled that the stars and the moon were visible once more . . . and not only that, but one of the mornings was so super that we just put everything on a table in the back yard and ate our breakfast outside so as not to lose a minute of a perfect day . . . surely is good for the appetite.

A LITTLE BIT OF HUMOR for the week . . . comment of recent news item that dock-workers were being charged 347 per cent interest on loans: "That's adding insult to usury!" and did you hear about the zoo-keeper that finally created a crossbreed between a tiger and a parrot after years of struggle? Asked what in the world came out of such a combination, he said . . . "I don't know, but when he talks—we LISTEN!"

NOTES AND COMMENTS . . . ah, this is where we have a free-for-all with the information . . . no holds barred . . . on the tennis court this week were Marion George and Bubs Lang . . . and wasn't that an interesting article about Mr. and Mrs. Schmitz, who are Bubs' parents . . . attending vacation Bible schools this week are Dennis and Stephen Palmittier . . . and Pat Stewart . . . Chris Grayson . . . Bible School when we were a child, was more fun than anything . . . we still remember the tablets for Moses' Ten Commandments that we made from a mixture of flour, water and salt, which hardened to a rock like consistency . . . and the bowls we made from strips of paper wound around and around and then shaped and varnished . . . and what is more, we even remember some of the Bible verses and so on that we were taught along with the crafts! . . . saw a pretty twosome the other day . . . Vera Andis and daughter Linda who is as tall as her mother and will someday be just as beautiful . . . and who makes a very, very pretty teen-ager right now . . . have you seen Elmer Fite's new station wagon . . . a beautiful two-tone orangey color . . . heard that Pat Jones has been honored by the American Legion Auxiliary by being chosen to go to Girls State at the University of Texas in Austin . . . for a week . . . Alton Thygerson and James Hopkins are representatives to Boys State chosen by the American Legion . . . friends of Ed and Nedra Hall will miss them very much and hope they will like Muleshoe . . . wheee-ew . . . let's come up for some air.

FOR A SUNDAY DRIVE . . . and this is an order, not a suggestion . . . get in the old or new buggy and take a gander at the fantastic flowers in bloom all over Pampa . . . particularly noteworthy is this year's crop of red climbing roses . . . never in the past ten years have they seemed so super-colossal as this year . . . drive up and down Christine, Charles, and Mary-Ellen streets particularly . . . and see what we mean . . . note especially the home of A. MRS. RICHARD TEMPLETON PRIGMORE

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend,
I read your column with interest and wondered if you could give me some information.

My husband and I are completely incompatible, but on account of our child he will not consider a separation or divorce. I too, feel that divorce is unwise when there is a child to be considered, but when the climate of the home is so unfriendly, this can be equally unsettling. I am emotionally bankrupt trying to lead a normal life with the cranky, misery, pedantic man I married, and have come to the conclusion that the only course left to me is to walk out. I have a little money put aside during a period when I worked before my son was born which might tide me over until I got settled and found a job.

MAIN WORRY

My main worry is that my husband might trace me and try to take my child away. Could he legally do this? I have read of cases where one partner has accused the other of kidnaping in circumstances similar to this. I realize a lawyer could give me this advice, but I am reluctant to dissipate my small savings on legal fees, so I would appreciate any information you can give me.

In case you are thinking this might be the case of a devoted father hampered with an unreasonable wife, I can assure you such is not the case. My husband assumes no responsibility with the child. He never made any effort to help with the boy when he was an infant, and now that he is older will not baby sit to give me an evening out. His love for the child is completely selfish - he plays with him when he is in the mood, but gets furious with him if he happens to make a noise when he is watching TV. His discipline is completely inconsistent. One minute he is unreasonably severe over a trifle, and the next he is petting him up. The atmosphere of our home is unhealthy for both the child and myself.

N. G.

MAKE IT LEGAL

Dear N. G.
In order not to have to live in fear of your husband, you should make any separation legal with the custody of the child settled by the court.

The trend is to give young children to the mother, let older children choose with whom they wish to live. The courts as a rule consider the welfare of the child rather than the wishes of the parents in deciding custody.

If your husband is as selfish as you say and as uninterested in your son then the chances of his trying to get custody seem remote. In order to avoid future unpleasantness you should settle the matter now by taking it to court. Certainly you can't give the boy much security if you intend always to be prepared to flee from your husband should he trace you.

With a legal separation your husband would have some rights regarding seeing his son. If you attempt to run away with the child you may be hurting him a great deal more than you realize at con-

Miss Davis Weds Richard Prigmore With June Ceremony In Church

Among the attractive June brides is Miss Marjorie Ann Davis, whose marriage to Richard Templeton Prigmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Prigmore, 620 W. Francis, was an event of June 8 at 8 p.m. in the East Grand Ave. Baptist Church, Dallas.

Miss Davis is the daughter of Mrs. Marguerite Davis, 821 Newell, Dallas, and H. H. Davis, Seattle, Wash.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Joe Weldon Bailey amid a setting of pink roses, which decorated the altar. Miss Sylvia Green, organist, and Mrs. Raymond Rushing and Billy Hill, all of Dallas, vocalists, presented the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her cousin, Jerry Williams, Houston, Miss Davis was gowned in white Chantilly lace fashioned with a lace figuring bodice with sabrina neckline and long sleeves. The bouffant skirt of lace was defined in the back with pleated lace ruffles intermingled with tulle ruffles, which cascaded in a chapel-length train. Her finger-tip imported Veil of Illusion was caught onto a lace and pearl crown. She carried a white orchid surrounded by stephanotis.

Wedding attendants were Mrs. Fred Wolff, Dallas, matron of honor; Miss Mary Kathryn Acklen, Houston; Misses Richard L. Clements, David Bridges, Charles Reeves, all of Dallas, bridesmaids.

Miss Mary Jane Bailey, Dallas, served as flower girl. Ring-bearer was Fred Wolff Jr., Dallas.

Mrs. Tom Perkins has been appointed calendar chairman for the Council of Clubs. Anyone wishing to make reservations for the use of the City Club Room, may call Mrs. Perkins at MO 4-7286.

Manners Make Friends

If you don't catch a person's name when you are introduced, say "I'm sorry I didn't get your name," and get it right. You might have to introduce the person later.

Then confessing that you don't know his name will be embarrassing.

Contact with his father can be an important part of his life and something which he should not be denied. You cannot tell how important it may be to the boy to know his father and to see him from time to time. Consider carefully before you make this impossible whether you can possibly make up to him for the loss of his father.

A whole closetful of clothes can be demoted at one time by your vacuum cleaner. Use moth-proofing attachment and anti-moth crystals when placing the machine on the closet floor and running it as a blower for 15 minutes. Remove the vacuum and seal the closet with cellulose tape for about 24 hours. This will give the moth-proofing vapor time to permeate the closet and its contents.

Miss Magee Is Worthy Advisor

(Special to The News)
McLEAN — A formal installation of the Order of Rainbow for Girls was held recently in the Masonic Hall.

Miss Janiece Magee was installed as worthy advisor. Following the installation service, a short program was given.

Gifts were presented to the installing officers. Miss Betty Dickinson was presented with a past worthy advisor's pin. Following the presentation of awards by the mother advisor, Mrs. C. J. Magee, the benediction was pronounced by Jeff Railsback.

Miss Rose Helen Fields of Groom was installing officer. Other installing officers included: Misses De Ann Clayton, musician; Mauree Miller, chaplain; Betty Dickinson, recorder; and Donna Magee, marshal.

Choosing earrings is like a treasure hunt. For the girl who wears glasses most of the time, earrings close to the ears look best. Dangling earrings worn with glasses lose their charm.

Even with automatic dishwashers in more homes, women have their hands in water often during a day. Chapping and roughness results from lack of care. Always dry your hands thoroughly each time you remove them from water. When you're finished with a job, apply hand cream or lotion.

Long, hot, soaking baths may make your skin tingle. But are they good for you? Too much hot water robs the skin of necessary oils. A tepid bath actually is more relaxing.

Wash your work gloves as often as your dress gloves. They are to protect your hands from dirt. But dusty or dirty gloves are as harmful as working in fresh dirt without gloves.

Corner Fireplace - Modern Style

The old-fashioned corner fireplace often presented the home planner with room arrangement difficulties and space management problems... particularly when it was desirable to make the hearth the room's center-of-interest.

But modern architects, proven masters of the art of space maneuvering, have surmounted this difficulty by giving us a new corner fireplace effect with the chimney breast extending into the corner and the hearth off-centered. This leaves space available for comfortable and uncrowded furniture arrangements.

In the modern living room sketched above, the furniture seems to be molded into the architectural form of the room. The long low sofa backed by the wall mural has a sense of belonging... seats six comfortably. The chairs, low-scaled to be in balance with the sofa, are gently curved, offer a relaxing relief from the predominance of straight lines in the room.

Form, texture and color are largely responsible for this successful room plan. Natural chipped brick of fireplace wall appears again in an opposite corner. Rich wood tones of ceiling give a warm covers, and deep-pile carpet are sheltered feeling. Sofa and chair blended shades of tawny beige. Color accents are introduced with the wall mural and accessories.

Have you a space management problem? Perhaps one of our trained decorators could suggest new room arrangements that would make your rooms appear to be much larger than they actually are... and, give you more comfort. Come in for friendly suggestions whenever you wish.

MATURE PARENT Miss Vesta L. Sullivan Is United In Marriage To Douglas Duane Miller

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
 One day when Roy was five, he became angry at his mother. Not daring to kick her, he kicked the refrigerator, making a black smudge on its white enamel.
 She didn't require him to clean it. Instead, she cleaned it herself, crying angrily. "That's right — make more work for me! You bad boy, I don't know what devil gets into you. Go on — get into the yard before I hit you."
 Roy ran into the yard, pursued by these accusing words. They echoed louder and louder inside him, multiplying into terrifying thoughts. Would his mother ever be kind to him again? Why should she be kind to a boy she considered so bad? If she wasn't, then he would be the only one who was — this awful feeling of Nothingness.
 In no time, these anxious thoughts had got Roy into more trouble.
 As our childish despairs once absorbed all our attention, so they now absorbed so much of Roy's that he had little left to give to what he was doing. So he lost his footing on the trellis he was trying to climb and fell, tearing a big rip in his new sweater.
 This mistake brought more accusing words. In their turn, they multiplied more anxious thoughts

ARCHER CITY — The wedding of Miss Vesta L. Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sullivan, and Douglas Duane Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Miller, 1232 Garland, Pampa, took place at eight o'clock June 1 in the First Methodist Church in Archer City. The ceremony was read by Rev. Jimmy Westbrook, before a setting of white candelabra, flanked by large basket arrangements of white gladioli and jade.
 Most of the attendants of the bridal couple were school friends from Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, Maid of honor was Miss Clara Jean Jesko. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Kay Lucy; Misses Theresa Jesko and Jo Ann Miller, sister of the bridegroom. Candelighters were Misses Glenna Weeks and Zonnell Eady, Little Christie Meredith and Speck Barnard, niece and nephew of the bride.

Best man was Jack Weldon. Ushers were Sonny Sullivan, brother of the bride, Gene Chance and Bob Howington. Thomas May served as special usher to the mothers of the bride and bridegroom.
 Miss Alice Faye Roberts of Archer City, played nuptial music and served as accompanist to Don Waldrip, soloist.
 The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta with scooped neckline, fitted bodice, and long sleeves with petal points extending over the hands. The bouffant skirt was floor-length. The elbow-length veil was topped with a tiara encrusted with rhinestones and seed pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of pink orchids and stephanotis on a fan of jewelled net, atop a white Bible.
 The bridesmaids, complementing the bride's colors of orchid and white, wore gowns of orchid chiffon over taffeta and carried bouquets of white carnations on fans of orchid jewelled net.
 The ceremony was followed by a reception in Fellowship Hall of the church. In the receiving line were the bridal pair, their parents, the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Morris, of Archer City, and the bride's attendants.
 The refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of pink and white carnations with pink candles. An ornate white wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, was at one end of the table, where Mrs. Barbara Alexander presided, and at the other end, Mrs. Wayne Abshier served frosted pink punch.
 Mrs. Miller, popular Archer City High School graduate, attended Midwestern University one and one-half years. She was chosen M.U. Beauty, ROTC sponsor, Calendar Girl, band majorette, and member of the Cowgirls Club. She is a member of the Tau Beta Sigma social sorority, and is now employed by Rhinehart Oil News in Wichita Falls.

The bridegroom received his degree of Bachelor of Science from M.U. this spring. He was chosen Lord Midwestern; was president of the senior class; and president of the Boot and Spur Club.
 After a short trip to Dallas and Galveston, the couple will be at home in Wichita Falls, where the bridegroom is employed by Sears Roebuck Co.

Mrs. O'Gorman Is Honored At Fete

Mrs. Gladys O'Gorman, who, with her family is moving to California to make their home, was guest of honor at a coffee given Tuesday evening in the Holy Souls Parish Hall. She was presented with a three-piece set of matched luggage. Misses Toni Epps, Sharon Maul and Wanda O'Gorman, daughter of the honoree, presented the gift.
 Garden flowers were used in decorating the hall. The serving table was covered with a lace cloth over pink with pink candles flanking the arrangement of a floral centerpiece. A large banner "California, Here I Come" was hung on the wall.
 Forty guests attended.
 Mrs. O'Gorman is a past president of the Home and School Association. She served last year as prefect in the Altar Society and was a room mother in the Home and School Association.

Manners Make Friends

Taking pains to wrap a package attractively is one way of adding a bit of special meaning to even the most inexpensive gift. The pretty wrapping says "You are a very special person." Of course, it doesn't make up for a completely unimaginative gift. But it adds a bit of graciousness to the gift that is chosen with care.

Keep a lemon handy. It is good for removing stains from hands. Rub stained area with the cut surface of a lemon. Follow with a soapy wash in warm water. And use a hand brush.

Enhancing your smile means regular brushing and trips to the dentist. But, if you can wear the shade, a blue-red lipstick will make the teeth look whiter.

Summer Styles Are Cool, Man

By ALICIA HART
 NEA Beauty Editor

Along about now, you're probably thinking of having your hair styled for summer. And what you have in mind is a hairdo that's cool, pretty and easy to keep.

The answer lies in the hands of an expert hair stylist, of course. Give him an idea of what you want and make sure that he shows you how to set your hair in order to follow the lines he's carved out.

The calypso coil is an ideal summer hairdo. The hair is kept medium short so that it doesn't hang hot and heavy on the neck. And it's long enough to allow for curls that are soft and wide.

This is the kind of hairdo that looks well even when it's breezes blown. It can, as a matter of fact, be kept in order with brush, comb or fingers. It can look pretty and informal at the seaside and equally soft and young at an evening party.

Because of its short length, you'll find it a simple matter to shampoo your calypso coil often during the hot, humid and sticky summer days.

Those deep V necklines on spring blouses and dresses may be filled in with chiffon scarves or five-strand necklaces.

parties and picnics

By Margaret Deeds Murphy

Anyone who has watched teen-agers devouring sundaes in a soda shop knows how popular the mother is who plans a sundae party for her teen-agers. This is a "make your own" party with ice cream and sundae sauces playing the starring roles.

Sometime early in the day, dish up balls of ice cream into serving bowls and store in the freezer. Plan at least two flavors of ice cream, more if you wish, so each guest can make his own combination. When setting the table, paper place mats make a pretty and durable cover and do a way with the worry about stains on the tablecloth.

Lidded paper containers are practical for serving sundae sauces since they double for storage of leftovers as well as eliminating dish washing. A variety of sauces such as chocolate, butter-scotch, pineapple, and strawberry will be sure to please everyone. The chocolate mallow sauce is a new recipe to add to your collection.

Smaller containers can be used for toppings which might include maraschino cherries, chopped nuts, chocolate sprinkles or whipped cream.

An easy way to handle the beverages is to have a choice of carbonated beverages with paper cold drink cups for serving. Use sturdy paper serving bowls for this "make your own" party and with the ice cream and trimmings you've provided, you'll be amazed at the concoctions which result.

CHOCOLATE MALLOW SAUCE.
1 cup marshmallow syrup
1 cup chocolate sauce
3/4 cup whole pecans
1 teaspoon vanilla
Combine marshmallow syrup with chocolate sauce and beat slowly with rotary beater until blended. Fold in pecans and vanilla. Makes 2 cups.

1a. Chill. Serve over ice cream.

There's a popular belief that cashmere sweaters must be handled with kid gloves. Actually, they wash beautifully and, if they're properly washed, need no blocking to stay in shape. Wash them in lukewarm water and gentle soaps. Never lift them up while soaking. After three rinses, squeeze them out right in the basin, transfer quickly to a towel with no attempt at shaping and get the water rolled out. Now you can do the shaping on a second towel. Always dry sweaters flat.

Those conservative about make-up still may enhance their eyes. Instead of eyeshadow, try vaseline or eye cream on the eyelids for a little highlight.

A corsage of white carnations was presented to the honoree; white daisy corsages were given to the mothers, Mmes. Viril Ward and Ross Byars.

The bride-elect's chosen colors of blue and white were used in the table decorations, which were centered with arrangements of mock orange blossoms and asters.

Guests were Mrs. E. V. Ward, Mrs. LaVera Lewis, niece of the couple, is to be guest registrar. The table will be covered with an imported Irish linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow roses and iris in a crystal bowl flanked with yellow candles.

vin G. Williams, while visiting in Kansas City, Mo., in 1900. They were married May 29, 1907, in the home of her parents, the late M. A. Lewises, on Red Deer Creek. After their marriage, they lived in Kansas City for two years; in Pennsylvania for two years; and then back to Kansas City for 12 years.

In 1921, Mr. and Mrs. Williams moved to Texas and bought a farm south of Pampa, where they lived until 1926. Since 1926, they have lived at their present address. Mr. Williams is the son of the late L. C. Williams of Kansas City.

Mr. Williams was an electrician and tool maker until his retirement. Though their anniversary date is May 29, they postponed the celebration until today in order that most of the family could attend. A family dinner will be held at noon in honor of the couple.

Plan Shower For Mom, Not Baby

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Planning a baby shower for a summer time arrival? When you're discussing gifts with the gals, consider the prospective mom, especially if she has other youngsters.

Caring for a new baby plus vacation - happy children can impose an extra burden on her energy and she would probably be very grateful for presents designed to spare her work and time.

This is the opinion of many mothers I know. We're planning a shower for a mother expecting her third. And we're taking our cue for presents from the crowded days following her return from the hospital.

To reduce the daily dish-washing load, disposable dishes are part of the plan. Included in the box are plates, bowls, napkins and cups, both small and tall.

To ease the increased laundry, there's a package of the really soft diaper liners.

Friendly neighbors can be counted on to bring a pie or cake when they come for a peek at the new comer. But main dishes are harder to come by. So we're giving her promissory notes for casseroles, main-dish salads and the like. And the food will be handed over in non-returnable aluminum foil containers.

But the party table needn't be so practical. A pretty centerpiece devised by a friend of mine is easy to do. A shoe-box baby carriage floating streamers and packed with garden flowers can highlight the dessert - and - coffee table.

To make it, use the bottom of one shoe box for the body of the buggy. Slip the bottom of another shoe box over one end to form the hood. Adjust hood to the height you want and cut off the lower end.

Paste or staple these two parts together. Cover with pink, blue, yellow or turquoise crepe paper. Ruffle a strip of crepe paper and paste around the edges.

Wheels are made from six-inch paper plates with a crepe-paper ruffle in the center. Anchor them to the buggy with thumb-tacks.

Paper-wrapped pipe cleaners for the handle.

Fill the buggy with garden flowers stuck in lightweight plastic foam of the type used by florists. Result is fresh and gay.

Western Theme Is Party Opener

To open their season of rush parties, the Kit Kat Klub has chosen as its rush theme, Broadway Shows. The first in a series of parties was given recently in the home of Miss Joy Vandenberg, 1615 N. Russell. "Oklahoma," a perennial hit, was chosen as the first theme.

Rushes were greeted at the door by Kit Kat members and presented with a name-tag shaped as the state of Oklahoma with a miniature cowboy hat hanging from it. Members and rushes wore western clothes. To carry out the western atmosphere, bales of hay and saddles were placed around the lawn, where the party was held.

After refreshments of pink lemonade and cookies were served from a table covered with a red and white-checked table-cloth, Miss Carol Hughes gave a pantomime; Misses Sara Gordon and D'Anne Prince presented a tap dance routine. The program was concluded with each member and rusher introducing themselves; remainder of the evening was spent visiting.

Mmes. Fred Thompson and D. A. Finkelstein were introduced as club sponsors; Mrs. Fred Vandenberg, as hostess.

A business meeting was held at the conclusion of the party. Plans were made for the next rush party, which will be "Guys And Dolls." Plans were also discussed for the dance, which will be given at the Hobart Street slab on June 15th at 8 o'clock.

Eye-glasses have won a place in the fashion world. For those who wear them all the time, there are ways to highlight the face. Comb your hair away from your face so you don't disappear in a shaggy-dog coiffure.

ELECTRIC LIVING

IS FUN!

"In Guatemala or Texas, the simplicity of ELECTRIC BROILING makes delicious steaks!"

SAYS Mrs. R.C. Hutchinson, 1221 AUSTIN, AMARILLO, TEXAS

Mrs. Hutchinson, wife of an air force Colonel, who was Chief of the United States Air Force Mission to Guatemala, was called upon to entertain large groups of people in her Guatemalan home. She says, "At that time I had a deluxe electric range with 2 ovens, 2 broilers and 4 surface elements. Using this range, I have prepared dinner for as many as 75 people." In the upper picture, Mrs. Hutchinson sits beneath a Guatemalan work of art and displays flag of that country presented to her by a high official as a gesture of friendship. In Amarillo, Mrs. Hutchinson often broils steaks and finds the same ease of cooking that she noticed in Guatemala. She says, "The Indians there, who had never been to school, and could neither read nor write, were able to use my electric range, and other electrical equipment, with a few simple instructions". So, for ease of cooking, rely on Mrs. Hutchinson's experiences to guide you to your Reddy Kilowatt dealer store.

Jurisdiction

It was a cold, bleak day in Japan. The clouds draped themselves far down Fujiyama's slopes and a bitter wind cut across the rice paddies right to the marrow.

The Japanese have not known free enterprise very long. The war has plunged them swiftly from a presumably conquering feudalism, into an actually conquered representative monarchy endeavoring to catch up.

Thus, there is always a shortage of the things that free enterprise produces. And as the sergeant stamped his feet and beat his cold hands together to restore circulation, there it was. Out near the targets, furtively hugging the ground gleaming the precious metal from expended bullets, were certain Japanese.

The sergeant glanced around. The great red signs warning off all comers were well displayed and the print was bold and in two languages. The red flags were flying. There was simply no excuse for the Japanese to be where they were, in positions of mortal danger.

The sergeant yelled and motioned violently for the Japs to get out of the way. He saw a sudden scurry and commanded his men into firing position. Then he looked again. One Japanese remained, bent over, scrambling frantically for lead on the cold ground.

"Aha," thought the sergeant, "That little Nip needs a real warning." At hand was a grenade launcher together with a stack of blank cartridge cases. "Just the thing," the sergeant in a trice rigged the missile, aimed it in the general direction and fired. His aim was all too true. The Japanese, a woman, fell to the ground fatally wounded.

This incident has brought to light the infamous "Status of Forces" treaty with which American citizens serving as soldiers, are saddled. The accident, in which the Japanese woman was plainly a trespasser, brought about the arrest of the sergeant.

But who has jurisdiction over the sergeant? There is the matter for debate. The Far East Command ruled that the sergeant, in firing the warning missile, was not a military function and that his punishment, if any, must come from the military.

But the internationalists got into the act and charged that the sergeant, in firing the warning missile, was not on duty and that, consequently, his action was the action of a civilian. They overruled the Far Eastern Command and ordered that the man be tried by a Japanese court.

At this point in the dispute, Defense Secretary Wilson moved to block the action by the internationalists and to retain the Far Eastern Command in authority over the sergeant. But the Japanese will have none of it. They want to get their hands on the sergeant although they are quite willing to admit that the woman was in the wrong.

The affair is beginning to assume ugly aspects as internationalists, communists and others prop themselves into the dispute with revenge and destruction in mind.

But the whole situation is inexcusable in the first place, and has come about because of this infamous "Status of Forces" treaty which declares in essence that Americans who serve in foreign lands are subject to the courts and the laws of those foreign places, rather than continuing to enjoy the protection afforded them as citizens under the American Constitution.

There are a number of grave questions which naturally arise. And the most important of all is the obvious implicity and immorality of a treaty which places American soldiers at the discretion of their government, beyond the protection of their government.

THE NATION'S PRESS

BRAINWASHING IN THE FIRST GRADE (The Wall Street Journal) Our first-grader brought home a copy of the current "My Weekly Reader," a four-page "newspaper" with a question section on the back page. It is published by American Education Publications of Columbus, Ohio, and New York Wesleyan University. On the first page of this issue is a photo of part of New York City's congested West Side Highway. The headline reads: We Need New Highways. The text is as follows: Our country is going to build many new highways. We need more highways, and we need better highways. Many roads of today were built long ago. There were not so many cars then. Cars were not so big. The old roads are not wide. They are not safe for the speed of cars today. New highways will be built for safe travel. They will not have steep hills. The longest highways will not have traffic lights. They will not have side roads. Other roads will pass over or under a big highway.

Why 7,000 Prisoners Were So Un-American

I have been reporting for a couple of days part of a speech by Major Mayer on his interpretation as to why so many American prisoners were influenced by the Communist "education."

At the end of the address, he answered certain questions. One party asked this question: "Would you compare the differences or compare some American soldiers to other national groups, such as that of the Turks?"

They were captured almost all in groups, and they were subjected to exactly the same conditions of captivity as the Americans. There was a slightly lower percentage ratio of instructors; but the instructors used on them were not Chinese; they were Turks, Turks from the Soviet Republics which are ethnologically Turkish. They spoke Turkish, they looked like Turks, they lived with the Turks.

"At the end of almost three years of captivity, the 229 Turks captured — exactly 229 — were marched back through Panmunjon. The survival rate was 100 per cent. Now how did they do this?"

"Why Turks survived?" "First of all they did it on the basis of something we do not normally associate with Moslems. They supposedly are willing to die in battle more readily than we are. This is a glorious and honorable way. Also, the people who travel in this part of the world are not struck by a great deal of humanity, a great deal of self-sacrifice, of the kind we like to think is our personal property. And yet these Turks survived very largely on the basis of an exercise of the kind of love among themselves.

"When a Turk was really sick, other Turks bathed him and fed him and washed his clothes and lay beside him to keep him warm and in general just let that Turk know he wouldn't die. He was a Turk and they were going to take care of him.

"Well, secondly, they survived on the basis of very hard-headed practical reality. There was a major in command of the Turks, of the several hundred captured. He took command. There was no voting; nobody told him 'Just run along, Buster, because you're just a prisoner like we are' which is what happened to our majors and our sergeants and our colonels. He took command. He assigned 'this' detail to dig a latrine in the camp. Some of our camps had no latrines, and then some of our men started dying from dysentery because they were contaminated throughout the whole camp; because, simply, they rejected leadership.

"Not these Turks. This group led, this group dug a latrine, this group scrounged for food, this group took care of the more seriously sick and wounded. And the major himself talked to the enemy. Nobody else talked to the enemy, under any circumstances. Of course this is not what the Communists want. And the Major would not co-operate.

"So, they segregated the major as a poisonous individualist. You know, this is the first sin in Communism. Do not have the audacity to set yourself up as a leader. He was segregated and a lieutenant took over. He did not take over three ranks below the major; he just took command, that's all. He had the same staff, he organized the same kinds of details. And he alone talked with the enemy. He was segregated as a poisonous individualist.

"A sergeant took over. He was segregated. "The Turks finally got down to where all they had was a couple hundred privates and so they found out who was the senior private, had been a private longest, and he was put in command. And the Chinese would come in and throw up their hands in disgust and they'd say: 'Now, look, we're appointing this man as group discussion leader, this man as daily life activities leader, and this man as political leader,' and the one Turk who was in command would stand at attention, salute them and say, 'Yes, sir, we understand perfectly. Of course you might as well tell only me because I'm in command.'

"And they would segregate him. And the next private would take over. There were no arguments, no voting, no discussion about this. They knew somebody had to lead and the others had to support him. The Communists finally segregated so many Turks that they were all back together again. And they lived, a hundred per cent."
