Heavy Rains Pelt Red River Section

By UNITED PRESS
Heavy rains continued to pelt the watershed of flooded Red River overnight, increasing the threat of serious flooding along the river's banks in four states.

Muddy, red water from the river already had spread over lowlands in southeastern Oklahoma and parts of Texas. Flooding also was expected in Arkansas in the Fulton area and later in Louisiana when runoff water pushes farther south.

The Red has been at or above flood stage in sections of Louisiana since the first of May.

New heavy rains in the Fort Worth area Tuesday night caused some flash flooding in that city. Amon Carter field, between Fort Worth and Dallas, received nearly two and a half inches in six hours. The Arlington Heights section of Fort Worth had over four inches of rain.

Flash Flood
Heavy rains sent Village Creek south of Lake Arlington out of its banks and inundated portions of seven farms.

A flash flood sent a wall of water roaring down Sycamore Creek and swept Detective A. C. Howerton and four children into the raging waters at the south end of Coobs Park.

Howerton said he and his two grandchildren and two other youngsters were wading in a dry weather crossing on the creek when a sudden "big gush of water" swept them downstream.

Howerton managed to reach safety with one of his grandchildren, and the three other children were rescued by fishermen and passersby. None was injured.

Beck May Draw Charges For Frivolity Behind Fifth Amendment Seen To Prohibit More "Such Flagrant" Abuse

Amendment Seen To Prohibit More "Such Flagrant" Abuse

By HERBERT FOSTER
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. John L. McClellan D-Ark. predicted today the Senate will make Dave Beck Jr. a guinea pig in a contempt of Congress test case for "frivolously and capriciously" invoking the Fifth Amendment.

Young Beck invoked the Fifth Amendment 130 times in 40 minutes Tuesday under questioning by the Senate Rackets Committee.

Gray May Get Federal Aid For Bridges

McEvoy Also Cited
The committee also ordered contempt proceedings against Joseph McEvoy, a nephew of the elder Beck by marriage. McEvoy, the alleged body guard of the 6-foot, 200-pound Beck Jr., invoked the fifth 90 times.

Both men refused to answer nearly all questions put to them by the committee, including their connection with the Teamsters Union and its payroll.

If the Senate approves the contempt citations, the cases will be sent to the Justice Department for prosecution. Maximum penalty on conviction is one year in prison and a $1,000 fine.

McClellan's ire seemed to focus on two angles of young Dave's performance: The Teamster president's son refused even to say whether he "honestly believed" his answers would tend to incriminate him; and he refused to say whether he knew his father—or to state where he got the name "Dave Beck Jr."

The chairman said he doubted the framers of the U. S. Constitution "ever conceived that such flagrant abuse would be made" of the Fifth Amendment, which states that a witness cannot be compelled to testify against himself.

Ike Confident Girard Will Have Fair Trial In Japanese Court

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today he is confident William S. Girard, the American GI, will get a fair trial in Japanese courts.

He told his news conference that the U. S. government will follow the case every step of the way and intervene through diplomatic channels if it appears that any injustice might be done.

Eisenhower praised the Japanese judicial system. He said U. S. legal experts have told him Japanese courts have been eminently fair in the trials of American soldiers who came under their jurisdiction.

U. S. and Japanese authorities argued for weeks over who should bring Girard to trial and the United States announced Tuesday that he would be turned over to the Japanese courts since he acted "outside" his duties when he fired on a Japanese woman and killed her.

The Defense and State Departments rejected demands by some congressmen that the "status of forces" agreement be abrogated. Spokesmen for both departments said such treaties are essential if the United States wants to keep its troops on foreign soil.

Some Lawmakers Agree
This view was echoed by some members of Congress who said the nation must "weigh the risks" involved in protecting the rights of U. S. troops abroad without

Ike Favors Total Ban Of Nuclear Tests

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today he favors a total ban on testing nuclear weapons, provided it is linked firmly to an international agreement—backed up by inspection—prohibiting forever the future use of such weapons in war.

The President's news conference remarks on bomb testing stemmed from the current controversy over the effects of radioactivity generated by such tests.

In a many-sided discussion with reporters of the radiation and bomb testing controversy, Eisenhower made these other points:

He did not believe this country ever again would test a hydrogen bomb the size of the largest weapon exploded in the Pacific March 1954. That blast caused widespread, damaging fallout.

He did not rule out further tests of smaller hydrogen weapons, pointing out that the H-bomb is one of the cleanest weapons devised by the government's nuclear scientists.

He accepted the findings of the National Academy of Sciences that current radiation resulting from tests is not dangerous. He said opposition to the tests now being voiced by numerous other scientists seems to have a degree of organization behind it.

He expressed the opinion that many scientists now disagreeing with the government on fallout are not geneticists or physicists and are, in fact, out of their field of competence.

Two Streets Slated For Widening Soon

The city commissioners will advertise for bids for the widening of Foster and Ballard, north and east of the Post Office on July 9, in accordance with a motion made at yesterday's meeting of the commission in City Hall.

At the same time the commissioners also approved the advertising of bids for seal-coating certain streets within the city. This bid will be advertised June 25.

The action was the last taken up at yesterday's city commission meeting during which time the commissioners took up such business as: the acceptance of a bid from L. K. Stout of Pampa, for the construction of two fire hydrants for a total of $68,560; the approval of a bid from the J. W. Marsh Co. of Amarillo for the construction of a swimming pool south of the Carver School for $126,907; approved the contract for wet garbage hauling; approved the second reading of ordinance 474, (the closing of the alley on Charles and Russell between 23rd and 24th streets); approved payment of a bill to Gifford, Hill Panhandle Inc. for $2554.50; and approved and authorized the mayor to sign two water and sewer refund contracts to T. B. Solomon for $1,653.88 and $1,858.08.

Welfare Index Elects Officers

The Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce lost one of its "best men and hardest workers" at the conclusion of yesterday's noon meeting in the Palm Room of City Hall.

Charlie Wilkerson, 1st vice president of the club, presiding in the place of John Campbell, who was out of town, acknowledged the work done by Rev. Ed Hall, who has been transferred to Muleshoe, and remarked that it was indeed a serious loss for the Pampa Junior Chamber.

The Rev. Hall, present pastor of St. Paul Methodist Church, will move this week to Muleshoe, where he will be pastor of the First Methodist Church. He was appointed at the recent Northwest Texas Methodist Conference which was held last week in Amarillo. He will be replaced by Dr. Burgin Watkins of Denver, Colo.

House Swings Into Battle On Civil Rights

By BETTY YPRYOR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The House today swung into a long battle over the administration's civil rights bill with a preliminary fight over the ground rules.

Debate was scheduled on opening debate to be followed in debating the bill itself.

The House Rules Committee recommended four days of general debate before considering any of the estimated three dozen amendments opponents are expected to offer.

Southerners were poised to fight even this wide-open rule in an effort to table the bill. But they conceded there was little chance of preventing the House from opening debate on the measure Thursday.

The southerners already won one day's delay when House leaders agreed not to begin debate today.

Due Next Week
Under the four-day schedule for general debate, the House would start acting on amendments next Tuesday at the earliest. The Tuesday date is based on the usual unusual session this Saturday.

Backers predicted the bill will finally be passed late next week. Both Democratic and Republican floor managers for it said the vote may be close on the southern "jury trial" amendment.

The administration contends the amendment, on which southerners are basing a major part of their fight, would wreck the civil rights bill.

Republican leaders tentatively planned a caucus of GOP House members today to drum up support for the bill and against the amendment. Northern Democrats scheduled a similar session for Thursday.

Jaycees Lose Hard Worker

The Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce lost one of its "best men and hardest workers" at the conclusion of yesterday's noon meeting in the Palm Room of City Hall.

Charlie Wilkerson, 1st vice president of the club, presiding in the place of John Campbell, who was out of town, acknowledged the work done by Rev. Ed Hall, who has been transferred to Muleshoe, and remarked that it was indeed a serious loss for the Pampa Junior Chamber.

The Rev. Hall, present pastor of St. Paul Methodist Church, will move this week to Muleshoe, where he will be pastor of the First Methodist Church. He was appointed at the recent Northwest Texas Methodist Conference which was held last week in Amarillo. He will be replaced by Dr. Burgin Watkins of Denver, Colo.

Guest speaker at yesterday's meeting was Jon Jones, pastor of Mary Ellen Church of Christ.

Jones spoke on the value of service clubs to the community and to the individual. He pointed out that the amount that any member of an organization got out of it depended largely on what that person was willing to put into it. He remarked that what was strangling too many civic clubs and organizations today was the fact that many people were taking too much out and not putting enough into it. Unselfishness, he said, is the essential spirit behind any organization.

"You can't have a proper organization," Jones pointed out, "unless you are unselfish. The purpose of service clubs and civic activities is not to be of service to its members, but rather to help somebody else. The surest way to destroy a club is to take more out than we put into it. A good club is one which is made up of people who are willing to sacrifice."

Two Pampa Boys Attend Boys State

Alton Thygeson and James Hopkins, both seniors of Pampa High School, left yesterday evening for Austin where they will represent this city in Boys State, which is to be held June 5 to 11 on the campus of the University of Texas in Austin.

The event is a yearly one sponsored by the Texas members of the American Legion. The boys were selected by a committee composed of Ed Myatt, John Studer and C. V. Ingram, after a meeting with a committee of teachers from the high school.

The purpose of the program is to fully acquaint the boys with the operation of state government. Upon their return, the boys will be made available to any club which is interested in hearing of their experiences at Boys State.

The trip, which included financing for extra expenses, was sponsored by the Pampa post of the American Legion.

Disarmament Conference Takes Recess

By WILLIAM C. SEXTON
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (UP)—The five-power disarmament conference broke for a six-day recess today without deciding on India's demand to enter the talks.

The request from India threatened a sudden East-West split, with Russia supporting it and Britain, France, Canada and the United States opposing.

But no decision was taken pending the long recess for Britain's Whitmonday weekend national holiday. The talks resume next Tuesday. Diplomats believe U. S. Delegate Harold E. Stassen will be ready to begin presenting the new American partial disarmament plan then.

The Soviet Union thus far has exploited the delay in presenting the new American plan with propaganda statements aimed at cashing in on worldwide fear of further nuclear weapons tests.

India's request to send a delegate here stemmed from the parley's two-month-old invitation to four nations—India, Norway, Japan and Yugoslavia—to furnish written explanations of resolutions on disarmament which they had placed before the United Nations General Assembly.

All complied but India, which asked that it be allowed to send a delegation to the London talks.

Russia, via Moscow Radio, sent out a stream of statements to Europe and Asia affirming Moscow's willingness to dispense with further atom and hydrogen bomb tests.

Circus To Be Here Friday

Al G. Kelly and Miller Bros. circus, billed as the second largest in the nation, will be in Pampa Friday June 7.

The one day engagement is scheduled for the Top O' Texas rodeo grounds for both an afternoon and night show.

It is sponsored by the DeMolay, Arthur W. (Art) Miller, general representative for Al B. Kelly and Miller Bros. called at the Daily News today to announce completion of preliminary arrangements for the visit.

The show is making its 36th annual tour.

Advertising cars, comprising six motorized units, with a crew of 28 publicity men arrived this week notizing the coming event with posters in this area.

In addition newspaper space, TV, radio time, boxholder mailing lists and airplane broadcasts will have coverage for a radius of 35 miles. This will make the first appearance of a big circus here in four years. It will feature such unusual animals as giraffes, hippopotamuses and rhinoceros.

In addition to a herd of 21 elephants, there will be more than 200 animals including lions, tigers, pumas, leopards, numerous species of monkeys, apes, and baboons; black, grizzly, Himalayan, and polar bears; hyenas, baby gorillas, kangaroos, mandrills, gnu, emu, llamas, seals, sea-lions, war hogs, water buffalo, camels and many other wild animals.

An aviary of tropical birds, dens of tropical reptiles, and a herd of 127 horses will also be on display.

It is one of the most varied and costly collections of rare animals in America.

Tim McCoy, western movie and TV star, is featured at each performance.

Al G. Kelly and Miller Bros. is now exceeded only in size by the famed Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey show.

Rebel Lines In Cuba Are Patrolled

HAVANA (UP)—Cuban war ships patrolled a "zone of belligerency" along the southeastern coast today to plug possible rebel supply lines.

All coastwise shipping was banned from Manzanillo south and east around Cape Cruz to Santiago, capital of troubled Oriente province. The blockade covers some 180 miles of coastline in the rebel-infested Sierra Maestra Mountains area.

As a result of the creation of the "zone of belligerency," the U. S. Navy announced cancellation of its usual weekend liberty arrangements in Santiago. Most weekends, anywhere from one to five U. S. Navy ships on Caribbean duty put into Santiago to give their crews shore leave.

The Cuban Navy action is designed to prevent possible landings at isolated ports of reinforcements or supplies for the Fidel Castro rebels holed up in the Sierra Maestra.

Rebel reinforcements have landed on both coasts of eastern Cuba. The government of president Fulgencio Batista has pledged to wage a "campaign of extermination" against the insurgents.

An American arrested by police at Bayamo, in the heart of the rebel-infested area, was transferred to the Santiago city prison to await trial on charges of anti-government activities. The American, identified as William C. Leonard, 27, of North Miami, Fla., was reported to have been armed when arrested.

Police said Leonard claimed he was trying to get in touch with Charles Ryan, a 20-year-old youth who ran away from the U. S. Guantanamo Naval Base to join the Castro rebel forces.

If it comes from a Hardware Store, we have it. Lewis Edgewood.

BOYS STATE BOUND—Alton Thygeson, left, and Jim Hopkins, Pampa's representatives to Boys State, are shown above as they prepared to leave on a bus that was to take them and other boys from the district to the campus of the University of Texas in Austin. The boys are being sponsored by the local post of the American Legion, and they will remain in Austin until June 11. (News Photo)

THE BALD BOY

Chapter 13

Success Goes to Elmer's Head

By ELMER WHEELER

I'm becoming convinced my hair is improving. Success is really going to my head.

I find myself less and less noticing my hair, and I have given up all home-made remedies and have stopped listening to the housewife remedies of my pitiful friends.

I did try some experiments, though.

I started a mustache. No kidding. It is Bald Boy's final attempt at camouflage.

He figures he can center the eye of his friends on a mustache (hair), and keep their eyes off the balding noggin.

I tried all sorts of mustaches, from the John L. Sullivan handle bars to the modern ones such as you see on Clark Gable.

Things went O.K. until the wife asked me I was trying to become a great lover, or planning to go in to the movies. Then I shaved it off.

"I started to eat citrus fruits, liver, clams, cabbage. . ."

It was too much bother anyway. Then I tried other Bald Boy camouflages, such as combing my hair in a pompadour to hide the hair part that had spread pretty much during the past two years.

I tried pulling my hair over the bald spot to disguise it.

I tried a flat top, figuring the bald spot and the thinning hair would then be less noticeable. All the brush haircut boys look bald at 10 yards anyway.

Then I went to the other extreme. I let the hair grow real long, so it bent over the bald spot, just like long grass in a yard bends over the bare spots. The only trouble was when the wind blew I looked like heck.

I finally settled down to a normal haircut, gambling on my doc's advice to relax my nerves, improve my emotional condition, and wash the hair and eat the proper nourishing foods.

On and off I broke my diet. There were times as Fat Boy, you know, when breaking your diet enlivened you, pepped you up, and gave you a little respite. Then you went back on the diet. You didn't feel so bad.

I broke away from my daily rig-or-by going off the tonic bottle, so to speak, on and off just enough to keep me from getting bored with my life.

I had stopped overly cooking the food, letting the vitamins and minerals go into the drain; now I began eating the peels of apples, pears and even potatoes, having learned that the true value of these items are next to the skins.

If nothing else resulted in my attempts to grow hair, at least, I'd come out a better man, physically.

I wasn't trying to be an octogenarian, to live to be 80, 90 or 100; just to have some hair on my head.

Being old and bald is nothing to aim at.

But I do believe that an impoverished soil produces poor and stringy plants; and that an impoverished diet does the same with hair.

On the other hand, my doc assured me that I couldn't run down to the corner store and buy a million units of vitamins and expect my hair to come out, especially if I had inherited the bad gene which he wasn't sure of at the moment.

Extremes are never good in anything.

Recent research on rats indicates that certain vitamins will prevent gray hair, but the does tell me to go slow on this. Enough proof isn't available at this time, but scientists in universities are working on the idea.

Gray hair, by the way, is not due to age. Many are prematurely gray-headed. They inherited, you see, a gene that said they'd be gray, and if your parents are very gray your chances of being gray are pretty good.

Now that is getting closer to the psychosomatic treatment stuff my doc assured me was coming up soon, in his campaign on Elmer to save his hair.

For the present he was still trying to revive my hair with the hope mine was one of the curable losses, and not due to an inherited bad gene.

I do believe proper food intake does help hair.

So I started to eat citrus fruits, liver, clams, cabbage, tomatoes, and turnip greens.

I'd help my doc all I could!

South was one of those point count fanatics who knew that the two no-trump responses showed 13 to 15 points and a balanced hand. The fact that it also showed preparation for any lead meant nothing to South or maybe he was just one of those players who wanted to play all no-trump contracts.

Whatever the reason South responded two no-trump to his partner's opening heart bid. North went on to three no-trump and sat back to watch his partner play a piano.

The hand turned out to be a planola all right but the tune was played on North and South and not by them.

Baghdad Treaty Makes Remarkable Comeback

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The Baghdad Treaty against Communist penetration in the Middle East has made a remarkable comeback.

In fact, the five-country alliance is stronger and potentially more important now than it ever had been since it was signed in Baghdad, Iran, in February, 1955.

It started out as purely a "paper pact"—the loosest of all the free-world alliances against Communist aggression.

It was threatened with a complete break-up after the British-French invasion of the Suez Canal Zone last November.

But the meeting of the Baghdad Treaty members which started in Karachi, Pakistan, Monday, appears to mark a turning point which will strengthen Allied ties in the whole area of Asia from Turkey to Pakistan.

U.S. A Sponsor

The Baghdad Treaty members are Turkey, Iraq, Iran, Pakistan and Great Britain.

The United States, which sponsored the treaty, refused to join it. At that time, the Eisenhower administration did not want to involve itself so closely in Middle Eastern affairs.

The fact that all its members but Britain are Moslem nations, and that Iraq is a member of the nine-nation Arab League, nearly caused the break-up of the pact when Britain joined France in the canal invasion.

The four Moslem members boycotted Britain, and held meetings without inviting Britain to take part.

But Britain is back at the current Karachi meeting. The United States, which had limited its part to being represented by an observer and to joining the economic committee of the pact, formally joined the military committee at Monday's opening meeting. That means that except for admitting it, the United States is now practically a full member of the pact.

Formal Military Setup

The delegates are discussing the formation of a formal military set-up, which will be aimed at coordinating their defense organizations.

It is possible that Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi may be named before long as supreme commander of the treaty organization.

It is possible also that within the next few months Jordan may be invited again to join the treaty. This time, after the victory of young King Hussein over his pro-

Atomic Device Fired Today

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP) — An Atomic Energy Commission device was fired at 4:46 a.m. today from a platform suspended from a captive balloon ground-anchored 500 feet above Yucca Flat in the Nevada desert. The shot was a device of the Livermore, Calif., scientific laboratory with 45 experiments taken in connection with its firing, including the use of a number of rabbits to determine sensitivity of eyes to the blast. Dr. Gerald Johnson, test director, said the detonation was "quite successful" from the technical point of view. After the brief flash and a muffled report a small cloud rose above the skyline to some 6,000 feet and drifted slowly north and east of the site. The AEC said it anticipated no reports of fallout. It was the first time the AEC ever had detonated one of its family of nuclear weapons from a balloon. Veteran atomic observers described it as one of the smallest ever exploded.

Soldier Doesn't Recognize Wife

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UP) — Specialist 3rd Class Havis W. Cherry sat up in his hospital bed Tuesday and looked at his Korean war bride, who had just ended a 9,000-mile journey to his bedside. "As if she were someone he had seen before." Mrs. Moon Cherry, 24, arrived in Hot Springs Tuesday after the American Red Cross sponsored her trip from Taegu, Korea, last week. Cherry was severely injured in an automobile accident near his Monticello, Ark., home May 15. Mrs. Cherry and their one-year-old son Marvin spent about 10 minutes with Cherry Tuesday. Col. Paul Kiehl, chief of surgery at the Army-Navy Hospital in Hot Springs, said Cherry sat up and stared at his wife "as if she were someone he had seen before."

"However," Kiehl said, "I don't think he actually knew her as his wife." Mrs. Cherry smiled and mopped her husband's brow. She spoke to him but his answers were not coherent.

As for a pending proposal for Congress to grant a jury trial for persons cited for contempt in civil rights cases, Eisenhower said he agrees with the late President William Howard Taft that an effort to put a jury trial between a court order and the enforcement of that order is an invitation to anarchy.

On the subject of nuclear weapons tests and resultant radioactive fallout, the President noted that the United States in recent years has mainly tested defensive-type weapons designed to repel air attacks. He said there had been a steady development of cleaner bombs with a nine-tenths reduction in fallout.

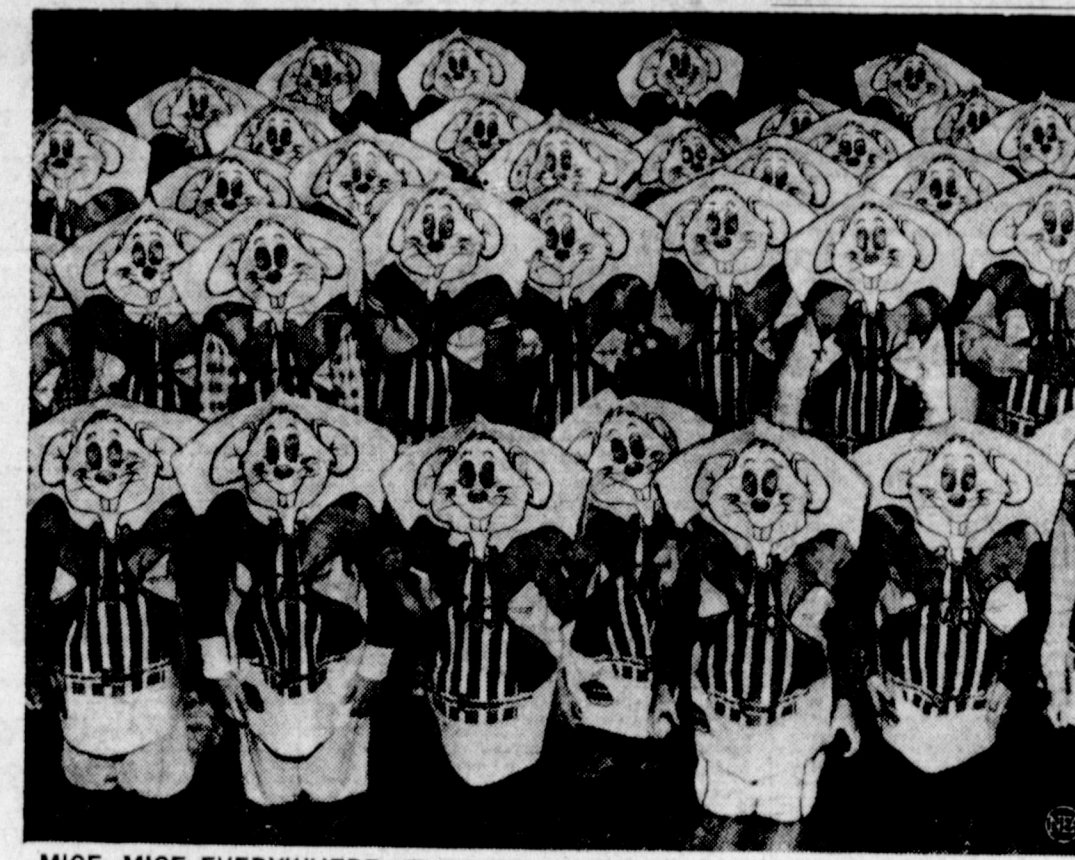

As for organized opposition to continued testing, the President said he had no detailed information. But he was interested in the fact that scientists with no close connection with the nuclear field had been making speeches and statements across the country.

He did not feel this organized opposition was wicked. In his opinion, he said, many of the opponents are just as honest as they can be. But, he added, when scientists start talking out of their fields he prefers to adhere to the findings of the National Academy of Sciences.

AEC Scientist Criticizes Fellows

CHICAGO (UP)—The head of the Atomic National Laboratory criticized fellow scientists seeking a halt in nuclear bomb tests and said fumes from cars and buses are more dangerous than radioactive fallout. Dr. Norman Hilberry, director of the Atomic Energy Commission installation operated by the University of Chicago, spoke Friday at a meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations. He said a petition by 2,000 geneticists, biologists, chemists and physicists urging an end to H-bomb tests shows that "sometimes scientists get off the beaten track." "Frankly, I'm more concerned about tetraethyl lead being tossed from the auto exhausts than I am about the present rate of fallout in the United States," Hilberry said. He charged that the danger of radiation is being emphasized out of proportion to its actual threat.

NEW YORK — Roger Hull, vice president of the Mutual of New York Insurance Co. and chairman of the New York Billy Graham Crusade Executive Committee, on the decision to extend the evangelist's meetings an extra three weeks. "The consensus of the committee was that the great success thus far of the New York Crusade demands that it be extended."

MICE, MICE EVERYWHERE—The teacher of a Cincinnati, O., fourth grade must have been overwhelmed when the children showed up dressed as "Jaq," the mischievous mouse from the Walt Disney movie, "Cinderella." The costumes are made from new dry cleaning bags which will be distributed world-wide to cleaners using a special process. Their inventor, Don Poynter, has previously come up with such items as bourbon toothpaste and do-it-yourself voodoo kits.

Harvey Haddix, Billy Pierce Shine For Phils, White Sox

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer
Harvey Haddix and Billy Pierce are two of the smallest pitchers in the majors but they may be worth their weight in World Series gold to the Philadelphia Phillies and Chicago White Sox.

Haddix, a slight 170-pounder dubbed "The Kitten," tied up the muscular Cincinnati Redlegs in victory Tuesday night while Pierce, who is a little over 165 pounds, fired a two-hitter that enabled the White Sox to shade the Boston Red Sox, 1-0, in 10 innings. Haddix' victory moved the dark-horse Phillies to within a game and a half of the first-place Redlegs in the National League race and Pierce's triumph maintained the White Sox' five game lead over the New York Yankees in the American League chase.

Haddix shut out the Redlegs with one hit for seven innings and yielded their only run in the eighth on Ed Bailey's triple and Don Hoak's sacrifice fly. Ed Bouchee singled home Philadelphia's first run in the first inning and the Phillies added two in the second on an error, Chico Fernandez' triple and Haddix' sacrifice fly. The loss was the first of the year in the East for the Redlegs, who swept all 12 games they played on their first invasion.

Pierce Wins No. 9
Pierce struck out seven and didn't walk a batter in posting his sixth straight victory and ninth of the year. Nellie Fox singled with the bases filled and one out in the 10th to break up the game and hand relief pitcher Ike Delock his fifth defeat. Pierce now leads the majors with nine wins, 64 strikeouts and has allowed only one earned run in 38 innings.

Boys Leagues Games Called Off

Despite the warmth of late yesterday, all games in the Pony and Little Leagues were called off due to facilities not yet in condition to permit following recent rains. Various teams were readying in "dry spots" around the area and scheduled play should begin again tonight.

Wagner Concedes Dodger, Giant Showdown Was Flop

NEW YORK (UP)—Although he has promised to "expedite" all plans aimed at keeping the Dodgers and Giants in New York, Mayor Robert F. Wagner today virtually conceded his showdown meeting with officials of both teams was a flop. "There was nothing to encourage us," Wagner said after holding a 75-minute conclave Tuesday with Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, and Giant presy Horace Stoneham. The object of the meeting was to determine if New York's two National League teams had definitely committed themselves to a westward movement that by next year could find the Dodgers playing in Los Angeles and the Giants performing in San Francisco. It turned out to be a no-hit, no-run, no-commitment standoff. Wagner said that O'Malley and Stoneham told him during their closed-door conference that they had "no commitments to move." "They also said they have no commitments to stay here," the Mayor added. Despite the fact the National League already has approved a transfer of the Dodgers and Giants to California, if they move together, Wagner had scheduled additional conferences with O'Malley and Stoneham this summer in the hope of "talking them out of such a switch."

However, Tuesday's meeting did little or nothing to strengthen that flickering hope, and one unidentified city administration man admitted, "It looks like California here I come for the Dodgers and the Giants."

Two Added To Dodger Wounded

BROOKLYN (UP)—Two more names were added to the Brooklyn Dodgers' "walking wounded" list today. St. Maglie was unable to pitch against the Chicago Cubs Tuesday night because of a bruised right thumb. Veteran catcher Roy Campanella started the game but had to leave in the third inning when he was hit in the left side by a pitch thrown by the Cubs' Dick Drott. Shortstop PeeWee Reese still is nursing a torn muscle in his right side and is not expected to return to the lineup until the weekend series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Patterson Signed For 2nd Defense

NEW YORK (UP)—Optimistic second heavyweight title defense at Seattle today; but no progress was reported from the gummy whirligig of title negotiations among rulers of the light-heavy, middle-weight and welter divisions. Promoter Jack Hurley flew home to Seattle today with a contract for young Patterson to make his second defense of the heavyweight crown at Seattle in the first week of September. Of course, that defense probably is in the University of Washington football stadium against an unselected opponent is contingent on Floyd's keeping the crown in his first defense against Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson at the Polo Grounds, July 29. The champ is Hurley, veteran promoter and manager, said, "I'll announce the challenger, the date and the site within 10 days. Also the terms." Announcing Patterson's contract for Seattle, Hurley simultaneously poured ice water on the report that he and Baron Von Mummie were negotiating for Archie Moore to fight his light heavyweight crown against middleweight champion Ray Robinson at Los Angeles in September. 'Mighty Mites' Packed Something Extra to Get Into Big Time Sports

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—You have to pack a little something extra to get a big trip into the sporting big time. This has been proved often, for the little guys always find the going rough. Yet they couldn't hold down such mighty mites as Phil Rizzuto, Bob Toski, Chet Forte, Betsy Grant, Sammy Lee and Davey O'Brien. Take, for instance the chewing tobacco kid. This, of course, is Nellie Fox, the mighty atom of the Chicago White Sox. As of Tuesday night he was no less than second in the American League batting lists with a fat .387 average. Nellie is the current Eddie Stanky. They used to say of the indomitable Stanky that "he can't run, can't hit, can't throw—but he's the guy who'll beat you." But at the moment don't tell those American League pitchers little Nellie can't hit. The five-foot, eight-inch infielder is murdering them. Has Many Drawbacks Under the microscope, he has many drawbacks. His arm isn't too strong and, even though he's hitting, he doesn't look impressive at the plate. He misses the double play occasionally and he doesn't hit the ball out of the park. He didn't hit his first major league homer, as a matter of fact, until his 804th time at bat. Nor is Nellie too popular among his mates. There are some who call him "showboat" because of his constant hubbub and holler. The reason is obvious. He makes too many of his mates look lazy. The little man caught on with the lowly erst Philadelphia Athletics only as a war-time spare. Nellie was only 16 when his dad finally gave in to his pleadings and took him to the A's camp at Frederick, Md., for a tryout. The late Connie Mack admired his spunk—and the cigar jutting from the round, beaming kisser—and assigned him to the Lancaster farm club. Nellie still had a lot to learn, even about giving it that all-out

STATUE OF LIMITATIONS RUNS OUT - During the judging of fraternity house decorations at Emory University in Georgia the water fountain sculpture, left, decorated the lawn of one of the houses. The "classical" work was a huge success until the "statues," Paula Foer and Charles Rumble in real life, began to wilt under the strain and the statue became a bust, right, when they had to take time out for a break. After all, they're not made of stone.

SECOND GETTYSBURG—Here's the terrain over which military experts Elsenhower and Montgomery re-fought the battle of Gettysburg. (1) shows location of Elsenhower farm. Arrows at (2) indicate Pickett's charge. The old soldiers also visited Culp's Hill (3) and Little Round Top (4).

Premature Death Coupled With Cigarette Smoking

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP) — Cigarette smoking and premature death were coupled Tuesday in final report of a massive four-year statistical study of 18,000 male smokers and non-smokers conducted by the American Cancer Society.

Death rates from all causes were higher among the smokers than among the non-smokers. The rates rose consistently in proportion to the amount of smoking.

Among men who smoke 20

Ex-Child Star McDowell Whips 'Age' Problem

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Roddy McDowell, back in Hollywood for the first time in six years, is one ex-child star who happily gave up worrying over whether producers think he's still a youth — or a ripe old 29.

Roddy is here for two "matinee theater" shows on NBC-TV Wednesday and next Wednesday, in which he'll play "young men in their mid-20's."

Television and such stage hits as "No Time for Sergeants" have given him somewhat more grown-up roles than the movies, he thinks. Roddy left the movie capital in 1951 for Broadway because he felt his film bosses kept thinking of him as the little English boy in "My Friend Flicka."

What Roddy has is a young-looking face, and apparently, like Margaret O'Brien, he doesn't work too hard to change his youthful appearance. His hair is cut in a sideswept "bitch cut." For our lunch date he wore one of those baggy, heavy sweaters, open shirt and no tie, causing us to be evicted quickly from the Brown Derby dining room.

non-smokers had died of lung cancer during the five-year period of the study.

The death rate from heart and circulatory diseases was 70 per cent higher among smokers than the rate statistically expected among non-smokers.

Deaths from lung diseases other than cancer were three times more numerous among cigarette smokers than among non-smokers, and deaths from pneumonia and influenza were almost four times higher.

The report also found that male smokers were seven times more susceptible to death from cancer of the esophagus, larynx, mouth, tongue and the back of the throat than non-smokers. As for stomach ulcers, 51 men of the 188,000 studied died from this cause, and all were smokers, 46 of cigarettes, two of pipes, two of cigars and one of both pipes and cigars.

The overall death rate was 12 per cent higher for cigar smokers than non-smokers.

In lung cancer, pipe smokers were found to be only a little more susceptible than non-smokers.

Men who had smoked little and had given it up for more than two years had a mortality rate only slightly higher than non-smokers.

Only in the following categories were the death rates for smokers and non-smokers approximately the same: Violence, suicide, chronic rheumatic fever, hypertensive heart disease, other hypertensive diseases, nephritis and nephrosis, diabetes, leukemia and cancers of the rectum, colon and brain.

Hammond is director of the American Cancer Society's statistical research, and Horn is his assistant director.

But after six years Roddy says it's been a battle to get mature roles. But he also seems confused as to whether he actually seeks them. His attitude is, "I don't worry any more about looking older or younger. It's dangerous to try to change what is there—you take what you have and grow with it. If you spend more of your life trying to disguise yourself, you're foolish."

When you grow up in the motion picture industry, you have a big problem when you reach 16. If one child role made you famous, you keep falling heir to carbon copies of that role.

"Suddenly you reach 17 or 18 and you're still presented with 14-year-old roles. But in New York having been a child actor gets you in to see producers.

"The actor should mature, too, but often he clings to the security of being a child actor. Unfortunately, if you have a young face you can play 16 the rest of your life—it's difficult to stop being 16," he admitted.

"There are certain parts I never play because of the way I look. But I don't think of the age of a part any more — just whether it is something I want to do."

To suggestions that the child actor legend may be buried if he would shorten his name to Rod, he shrugged. "many times I've thought of changing my name to Rod, but I don't think it helps. Maybe eventually I will."

"Having been a child actor is an advantage and a disadvantage," was the final two-sided conclusion.
