Crash Victims' Bodies Brought In

NEW YORK (UP)—A seagoing Coast Guard tug steamed in from the Atlantic Ocean today with the grim cargo—the body fragments of some of the 74 victims of Wednesday's crash of a Venezuelan airliner.

The tug Tamaros' grisly haul included about 100 pounds of body fragments and 100 pounds of debris.

The remains were transferred by a hearse to New York's Bellevue Hospital where identification was declared to be virtually impossible.

Cause of the crash, the worst in the history of regularly scheduled airline service, was undetermined.

Venezuelan aviation authorities said they will investigate the crash "to the last detail."

The Linea Aeropostal Venezolana (Lav) Super Constellation, attempting to return to New York's Idlewild airport with a runway engine, caught fire, burst into flames and plummeted 9,000 feet into the ocean.

None of the 64 passengers nor 10 crew members survived. Twenty Americans were numbered among the dead, which included a large number of Venezuelan school children.

The airliner crashed into calm seas at 1:32 a.m. EDT Wednesday about 35 miles east of the New Jersey coast, well out of American territorial waters and jurisdiction.

GAB Compiling Evidence

The Civil Aeronautics Board began, however, to collect evidence for an investigation, provisionally pending a request from the Venezuelan government.

The Venezuelan government, which operated the airline, indicate it would welcome any help from U.S. authorities.

Capt. Jose Mendoza, LAV's chief of international operations, left for New York Wednesday night aboard a Venezuelan airliner to take part in his government's investigation. Two Venezuelan communications ministry inspectors were also en route to New York to assist in the investigation into the cause of the crash.

Possible Cause Suggested

Investigation by U.S. experts indicated that the firing of the gasoline by one of the plane's still functioning engines may have caused the crash.

The experts said that fuel dumping does not ordinarily entail danger. The hazard could be great, however, that highly inflammable gasoline could be ignited if an engine or some other part of the plane was on fire.

Parts of eight bodies and about 100 pounds of body fragments have so far been recovered by coast guard boats assisted by planes. Searchers said they saw evidence of sharks.

Grappling for the plane and remnants of other bodies was resumed at dawn today.

Twining To Boost Ike's Inspection Plan On Visit

Air Force Chief Leaves Today On Trip To Russia

By CHARLES CORDDRY
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—UP—Gen. Nathan F. Twining will seize every opportunity in Moscow to foster President Eisenhower's "open skies" inspection plan for reducing the fear of surprise air attack, military sources said today.

The Air Force chief and a staff of six general experts in all aspects of air power, were ready to take off today noon (EDT) on their expedition to Russia. At Soviet's invitation they will attend the June 24 air show. They also have high hopes of seeing other late developments in Russian air power.

They will stop at Berlin en route to Moscow, reaching the Russian capital on June 23.

Big Display Expected

Some top airmen here expect the Russians to go all out in an effort to impress the American generals. And Russian-born Maj. Alexander de Seversky, long-time exponent of strategic air power, is out with a prediction that the Soviets will show enough to "scare the free world out of its wits."

In contrast with previous years, the Russians showed little new stuff at their May Day displays this year, and it may be that they held back for the June 24 show.

Twining Likes Plan

While Twining is in no sense on a negotiating mission, military men said, he will press the "open skies" plan at every opportunity. Eleven months ago at the Big Four Geneva "summit" conference Mr. Eisenhower put forth the scheme for mutual aerial inspection and exchange of arms data as a means of reducing fear of war.

Twining was one of the early enthusiasts for the plan. No one in high position knows better what a nuclear war would mean and how swiftly it could start. Nor does anyone have fewer illusions about Russian aims and the air power the Reds are developing to back their foreign policies.

"The paramount fear of our times," Twining said shortly after Mr. Eisenhower made the proposal, is "the fear of surprise air attack and the great devastation of air warfare."

Engineer Reports On Road Jobs

State Highway Resident Engineer G. K. Reading today reported fine progress on three area projects.

Reading stated the Pampa-Borger State Highway 152 project, contracted by Galvin-Terrill of Amarillo, is now 9 per cent complete in a total of 25 working days. The $52,400 contract price calls for 200 working days.

Excavation work is being done presently. Also, structure rock crushing is stockpiling base material that will eventually be used on the project. The Pampa-Borger Highway project started on April 30, 1956.

On the Highway U.S. 66 project which extends from the Donley County line at Jericho to the Carson County line near Groom, a 16 mile strip of 4-lane divided highway, Reading reports good progress.

Contractor J. R. Fanning of Lubbock stated the $775,483 contract is 43 per cent complete since the first spade was turned on Oct. 24th, 1955. In just 129 working days, of an allowable 275, the contractor has practically completed the North two lanes and is presently working on the South lanes.

Resident Engineer Reading also reported contractors Baker, Neill & Haner of Borger are roughly 20 per cent completed on the 21 mile contract in Gray and Carson Counties embracing parts of Highways 295, 293 and 2300, at an estimated cost of $223,200.

The project which started in April has so far consumed 25 working days of a contract calling for 150.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UP)—A prisoner being booked by turkey Henry Vandenberg answered "no" Wednesday when asked whether he was married. But Vandenberg wasn't sure what to put on the record, since the man was charged with bigamy.

Capitol Hill Roundup

WASHINGTON (UP)—Southern opponents of the administration's civil rights bill planned a bitter assault on the measure today but glumly conceded it will win rules committee approval.

The committee will vote on the measure this afternoon after hearing opposing arguments.

Rep. E. L. Forrester (D-Ga.) promised he would "take off the gloves" in discussing the bill today. Other Southern House members planned to do likewise.

Although backers confidently expect the committee to clear the politically potent anti-discrimination measure for a House vote, its fate in the Senate is another matter. The bill would face a certain Southern filibuster there.

It would create a bi-partisan commission to investigate allegations of civil rights violations; set up a new civil rights division in the Justice Department, and strengthen present laws against discrimination in voting.

Defense: A partisan fight shaped up in the Senate as the $34.8 billion military appropriations bill came up for floor debate. The fight centered around how much the administration's $15.6 billion Air Force appropriation should be increased. Democrats have accused the administration of allowing Russia to wear air supremacy and want a $1.6 billion increase. Republicans want a $500 million increase.

Schools: The House leadership will call up the long-stalled $1.6 billion school construction bill for action next week for a final vote before Congress goes home in mid-July. The House Rules Committee cleared the bill for floor action Wednesday with an 8-3 vote.

Roads: Senate-House financial conferees met to iron out differences over financial aspects of a compromise $32.9 billion road building bill. House conferees were determined to knock out a Senate provision that would make it "pay-as-you-ride," and Senate conferees agreed just to determine to keep the provision. One group of conferees agreed Wednesday on a compromise between the House and Senate versions of the construction part of the mammoth program.

Waterfront: Blinded labor columnist Victor Riesel in prepared testimony for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee said Harry Bridges, left-wing longshore boss, has tried and failed to gain control over the ports of New York and New Orleans. But, Riesel said, Bridges can now shut down the ports of San Francisco and Honolulu. The subcommittee opened investigations of Communist activities on the waterfront.

Miller: The House Committee on Un-American Activities called Marilyn Monroe's boy friend, playwright Arthur Miller, for questioning about alleged Communist-front associations. The committee claims Miller has been affiliated with 29 organizations which have been cited as Communist fronts.

Lobbying: The Senate Committee on Lobbying called for testimony for the first time from groups which opposed the controversial natural gas bill. It summoned officials of the Council of Local Gas Companies which opposed the bill that President Eisenhower vetoed after it stirred up a lobbying furor.

Ship: The Senate by voice vote authorized a $37 million prototype atom-powered merchant ship as a substitute for President Eisenhower's atomic "peace ship." The House approved a similar bill last year.

Cooler Units To Be Bought

Judge Bruce Parker today announced that bids for five additional air conditioning units were opened at 10 a.m. Bid winners were Brooks Electric Co., 1101 Alcock, and Paul Crossman, 108 N. Russell. Brooks Electric will supply one large 4-ton unit and two 1-ton units. Crossman will supply two 1½ ton units.

Judge Parker also reported the Board of Equalization, presently meeting to set values on oil properties, is conducting business in a quiet session. There have been few protests to decisions, he added.

Yarborough Talks To Pampans

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Ralph Yarborough, speaking this morning on the County Courthouse lawn, said he pledged "the people of Texas the restoration of honor, integrity, and dignity in their state government."

Yarborough's speech was preceded by a band of guitar players playing and singing such songs as "That's All Right Mama" and "The Yellow Rose of Texas." Mayor Lynn Boyd introduced Yarborough saying "he wished the candidate for governor all the luck in the world in his campaign."

The 53-year-old Austin attorney and former district judge, stumping toward the July 28 Democratic primary, said he'd give the people of Texas a "government with a heart in it."

"The people of Texas want a new state government, free of entangling alliances and partnerships with the outgoing administration," Yarborough pledged a "campaign of truth," and said he would "give the people of Texas the true facts in a straightforward and honest manner. This I will do again."

The candidate, who has had long experience in wrangling with affairs in Austin, stressed his "platform of progress" saying that it was a "positive program including water and soil conservation, drought relief, higher old age pensions, improved schools, adequate teacher pay, adequate classroom space, a youth development program, a juvenile delinquency program, a real anti-narcotics law, a lobby registration law and an industrial safety law."

He said, "I promise to work as hard for this platform of progress as I have worked the past four years at cleaning up the mess in Austin."

Yarborough urged "all Texans who believe in the triumph of honesty and morality in their government to join this crusade for a new administration in Texas."

"We do not seek a mere personal political triumph; we seek an historical verdict of honesty in government for all the people of Texas in the eyes of men everywhere."

Arizona Girl Scouts Visit Pampa On Cross-Country

A dozen clean-faced Senior Girl Scouts of Troop No. 1, Coolidge, Ariz., four adults and two children made Pampa their port-of-call late yesterday afternoon en route to Camp Holly, near Detroit, Mich.

The girls, travelling by a Pinal County School bus they leased for $10, camped last night at the Pampa National Guard Armory after a reception tendered them by Ed Myatt, president of the Chamber of Commerce, the receipt of souvenirs, and interviews by local news outlets, a free swim in the city swimming pool and free rides at Caldwell's Drive-In Kiddie Land.

The touring girl scouts, who left Coolidge Monday, June 18 at 6 p.m., and spent the first two nights at White's City, N.M., and Carlsbad, N.M., will be camping out all along the route of their three-week trip, an annual affair.

Troop No. 1 has visited New York City, Washington, D.C., San Diego, and Colorado Springs in previous years.

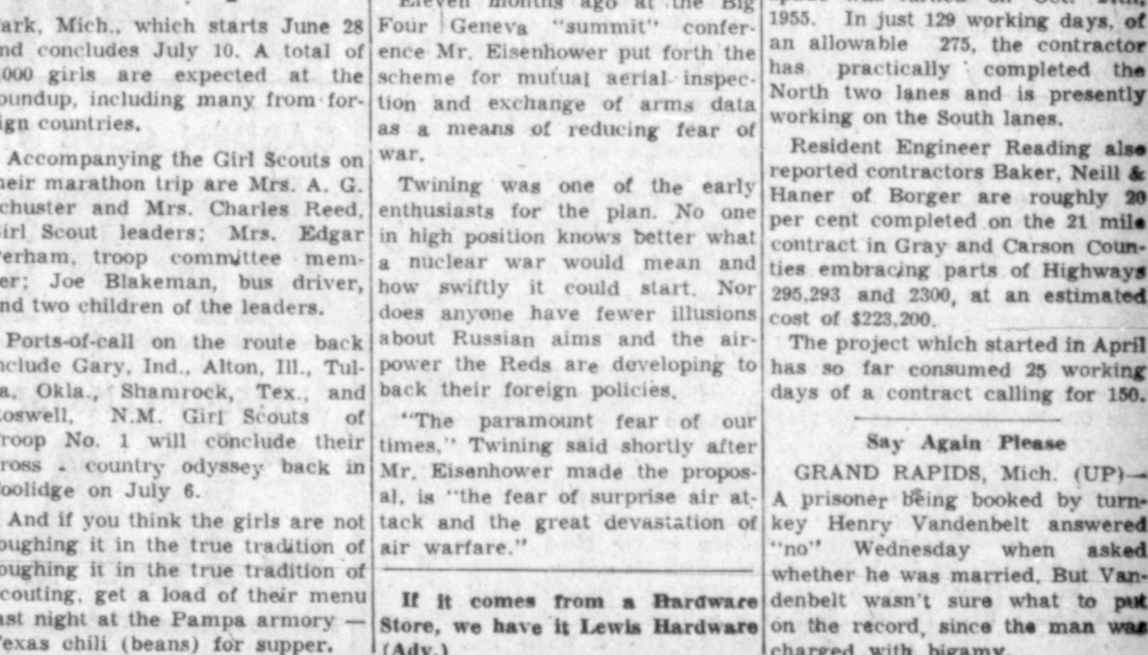

The girls raise their own expense money for the trip by giving smorgasbord dinners, bake sales, selling Girl Scout's candy and by staging an annual Sadie Hawkins Day Dance. Troop No. 1, raised a total of $800 for this year's tour.

Other stops enroute to Camp Holly will include Wichita, Kans., Des Moines, Ia., and Harvey, Ill. High point on the tour will be a stop in Canada to see Merrimac Island and Niagara Falls.

The girls in the travelling party are Marilyn Perham, Carla McManus, Nancy McIntyre, Jaynee Horn, Mari Schuster, Sandy Rowe, Louise Waddie, Nancy McIntire, Janice Custer, Sherrill Burnside, Sue Hamilton and Linda Simmons.

Patrol Leader Sandy Rowe and Assistant Patrol Leader Mari Schuster, who is also president of Troop 1, will help represent the State of Arizona at the National Girl Scouts Roundup in Highland Park, Mich., which starts June 28 and concludes July 10. A total of 5,000 girls are expected at the roundup, including many from foreign countries.

City Manager Talks Bond Need

City Manager Fred Brook explained the necessity of the proposed bonds for improvement to the city water system and additional fire stations and equipment, this morning.

Brook stated that if the additions to the city's water supply system and fire fighting equipment were not made in the near future the fire insurance rate for the city of Pampa would probably be increased, according to a letter from the Fire Insurance Division of the Board of Insurance Commissioners at Austin.

According to the Fire Insurance Division, in their report of a survey made of Pampa last year, the city's "elevated storage facilities are 52 per cent deficient in capacity." The letter continues by stating, "in order to eliminate the charge of two-cents now in order in the key rate for this item it is necessary that the elevated storage be increased a minimum of 750,000 gallons."

This deficiency will be corrected with the construction of a new elevated storage tank in the north part of town if the citizens of Pampa approve propositions six and seven in the bond election to be held next Tuesday.

The report of the Fire Insurance Division also states that an additional one-cent rate raise is in order because the city is in need of a two-company fire station located in the northern part of town. This station is necessary because of the distance from Central Fire Station and the rapid growth of the city in that area, the Insurance Commissioners stated.

The Fire Insurance Division also stated that another fire station should be located in the southern part of the city where access is now confined to the Cuyler Street underpass for equipment from the Central Fire Station.

The commissioners stated that the north fire station should be built first and the one in the southern part of town be built as soon as possible after the northern station was completed.

Brook stated that plans call for the construction of the two stations at the same time if proposition five is approved on the bond election.

The commissioners also report that cities with population exceeding 15,000 are required to have a fire department drill tower if a three-cent charge is to be avoided in the key rate. The report states, "this tower must be a minimum of three stories in height of masonry and steel construction, with the necessary inside and outside stairways. Vertical pipe and hose connections are to be provided, and there must be enough surrounding property, which must be hard surfaced, for the maneuvering of all equipment."

The Fire Insurance Division also reported that an effort should be made to purchase a 45-foot aerial ladder truck equipped with standard auxiliary equipment. They stated, "the purchase of such a piece of equipment will avoid a two-cent charge which now appears in your key rate and in the proposed analysis also."

Brook explained that savings in the fire insurance rate paid by property owners of Pampa would be considerable if the necessary improvements to the city water supply and fire department were made. He reported that these improvements can only be made by the approval of the citizens of Pampa for the city to sell the necessary bonds.

Brook concluded by stating that the selling of the bonds would increase the tax rate and water rate in Pampa but that the savings in fire insurance premiums would offset a large part of the increased costs of taxes and utilities.

Brook stated that the savings in fire insurance premiums would offset a large part of the increased costs of taxes and utilities.

Murder Count Is Filed After Killing

POTEAU, Okla. June 21 —UP— A murder charge was filed Wednesday against Edward Leon (Pete) Williams, 27, who confessed slaying a Tulsa minister and staging a string of robberies in four states.

LeFlore county authorities are holding Williams, a native of Tulsa, on an armed robbery charge without bond in connection with a holdup in Oallihina, County Attorney Joe Page said Williams indicated he would plead guilty to the robbery count at a preliminary hearing to be held here June 28.

Page said Williams would be tried in his county and then could be turned over to Muskogee and Tulsa county authorities.

Faces Kidnaping Charges The murder charge was filed at Muskogee, accusing Williams of slaying the Rev. Tommie Robert Cooke, 24, assistant pastor of the Glenwood Baptist Church in Tulsa.

Tulsa county authorities prepared kidnaping charges because Williams is accused of getting in Cooke's automobile in downtown Tulsa and forcing the young minister to drive him into Muskogee county near Taft where he shot Cooke in the head with a pistol and took his car.

Williams also is charged at Tulsa with the armed robbery of a service station there last Saturday.

Admits Burglaries A conviction on any of the charges could send Williams to the electric chair.

While being questioned, Williams admitted a series of burglaries and holdups in Oklahoma, Arkansas, California and New Mexico.

Williams has served prison terms in Texas and Indiana for car theft and burglary. His first recorded criminal offense was an arrest in Tulsa for car theft in 1944.

The couple found a service station close by, and actually lost little time, Clark said.

"There goes your father—he couldn't decide between the mower and the garden tools again!"

Boy Scouts Swim 100 Miles In Completing Requirements

Over one hundred Boy Scouts actually swam a mile apiece at Camp Kew-o-wah Lake recently to total the distance swam in the new Aquatic mile program over a hundred miles. Each boy will receive an aqua-mile patch to show they completed the intensive swim which takes from 30 to 60 minutes to make.

"The program was developed to encourage the boys to swim long distances in lake water," stated Yorel Harris, Scout Executive. "Then if they are ever dumped in the middle of a lake from a boat, they will have no hesitancy in trying to swim in."

The long distance swim test has only been in progress for two weeks. "It is surprising that so many boys have completed it," Harris said. "Many boys who come to camp don't even know how to swim." Two hundred more are expected to make the swim before the program is over.

A boat follows every two boys who make the swim as a safety precaution. The boys have to swim the length of the lake four times to complete the 100-mile requirement.

Any approved stroke may be used by the boys in making the swim. "The strokes most generally exercised are the back, side, and front crawl and treading," Harris said. He explained also that the scissor kick is usually employed with these strokes because it is a stronger kick than the flutter. The flutter kick is used more for speed, he explained.

"The swim test increases the boy's appetite and runs up our food bill," Harris laughed, "but we're happy so many boys have made the swim anyway."

Another swim test will have to be passed by the boys who wish to attend the Aquatic Camp on July 1-7. They must be able to swim a hundred yards. This camp is to train boys to be Scout Life Guards.

From 8 a. m. until 10 p. m., the boys will spend their time swimming. All recommended swim strokes, resting methods, canoeing, rowing, and sailing will be taught. The camp's nature group is still adding to their wild life menagerie. Joe - the - Crow, the original member of the collection, now has lots of company. The nature group has brought in a chicken hawk, two owls, four raccoons, one possum, three turkeys, and various birds. All of the animals and birds are babies, and the boys are making pets out of them. They are feeding the raccoons with bottles.

Tito, Russians In Moscow Agreement

MOSCOW, June 20 (UP)—The Russian Communist orbit. The declaration accorded Tito the "freedom of action" that Stalin denied him as a member of the Cominform. In turn, Tito agreed with Khrushchev that the interests of Soviet and Yugoslav Communists now will be served by "co-operation."

Holmes Says Got Bomb Tip

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (UP)—J. J. Holmes, a gubernatorial candidate from Austin, said today he has received three anonymous telephone calls from a man who said he can clear up the station wagon bombing of Brady lawyer Sam McCollum III.

McCollum was seriously hurt June 8 when he turned on the ignition key of his station wagon in front of his Brady home and a bomb blew it up. He is recovering in a Brady hospital, as authorities try to solve the case.

Holmes said a man first called him "about June 15 or 16" at his home in Austin, and offered to tell him something about the case.

The man instructed Holmes to drive to Brady and park near the courthouse square, where he would make contact. Holmes said he waited at the designated spot all afternoon of the day the contact was to be made, but no one showed up.

Holmes offered a $10,000 reward—with a 10-day limit—on June 12 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the bomber. He said that if the bomber surrendered, he would pay the money to his wife and children, if he had any.

"I think he (the caller) wants to give himself up, and wants to do some talking," Holmes said. "But he sounds like he's scared to death."

Holmes said the man sounded as if he "very definitely knows something."

The man first telephoned Holmes on a local call in Austin, and offered to clear up the bombing. He asked about the reward money, Holmes said, and then made arrangements for Holmes to contact him Tuesday in Brady.

BUTLER'S HELPER—James Leonard Reinsch, above, has been named assistant to Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee. The Atlanta, Ga., broadcasting executive will manage the Democrats' national convention, which opens at Chicago Aug. 13.

Friends Say Martin, Lewis Will Team Up Again Soon

By ALINE MOSSBY

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Will the Martin and Lewis "divorce" stick? Most of their associates figure the two will star as singles but eventually drift back together again.

Dean and Jerry were two unknowns who never caught the fancy of the public until they became a team at the 800 club in Atlantic City in 1947. Most of their co-workers think the two will "sooner or later realize their big success comes-as-a-team."

Their associates agree they would have success as singles. Martin already has been offered the movie version of "Pajama Game" and Jerry has received permission to direct his own pictures at Paramount Studio.

But, even Martin admits, "we'll make less money as singles." Their friends say eventually "they will make reunion pictures like Betty Hutton had farewell tours."

Most show business teams stick together as a matter of finances. The Andrews sisters parted two years ago and tried "singles." They weren't as happy with the arrangement as they had figured, and the girls are back together now in Las Vegas.

Bud Abbott and Lou Costello have battled down the years, as many business partners do. But they always went out on the stage together to make their livelihood.

One way they worked out their troubles was to agree to keep their personal lives separate.

If Martin and Lewis are through making pictures together as they claim, Hollywood will say goodbye to one of the best shows in town—the public never sees. The boys backstage often were funnier than the antics they put on film.

Other actors on their movie sets had to put up with Dean and Jerry throwing wastebaskets full of water at everybody and each other. One Martin and Lewis water fight got so strenuous in a Philadelphia hotel the manager asked them to check out.

At Dean's wedding reception a few years back, Jerry—put on Dean's new suit and jumped in the swimming pool. Martin just laughed.

An interview with Martin and Jerry always was strenuous. When a reporter would try to ask them questions, Dean and Jerry would pull out water guns and pelt each other with fusillades of ink or perfume. If the interview took place in a restaurant they would stuff sugar cubes in their lips and throw pats of butter at the hapless waiters.

Somehow Hollywood movie sets won't be the same without Dean and Jerry. But, as their pals say, "Don't worry—they'll be back."

Texas Polio Count High

DALLAS (UP)—Texas was second only to California in polio cases at mid-June, the regional office of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis reported Wednesday in Dallas.

Texas polio cases passed the 400 mark in mid-June, compared with California's more than 600 cases, the foundation said. Louisiana was third highest in the nation with 100 cases.

The foundation said $182,900 in extra funds was sent to 27 Texas county chapters of the polio organization the first five months of this year. The money went to counties which had used up the local reserves from last winter's March of Dimes.

John Wesley Hyatt, inventor of celluloid, also invented the flexible roller bearing.

More Than A Couple
LONDON (UP)—Irish playwright Brendan Behan said the British Broadcasting Corp. was not quite correct in saying he had "a couple of drinks" before he was interviewed on a recent television program. "I had a bottle of good Irish whisky inside me when I went to the TV studios," he said, "it was an awful experience and I'm sorry."

One of their employers says, "look, I've been going through their fights for years. They may get over this battle next week."

But Dean and Jerry insist they want to change their NBC-TV and Hal Wallis movie contracts to allow them to perform separately.

OFFICE VISIT — Expert suggests antibiotic shot for whales after killing them to end the smell.

Rx For Whales: Antibiotic Shot In The Blubber

By KENNETH GILMORE
NEA Staff Correspondent
BROOKLYN, N.Y. — (NEA) — It takes a whale of a needle to jab a whale but the mightiest mammal of the sea may soon become a victim of the antibiotic age. Anyone who has ever had a shot of penicillin can appreciate what an operation this would be. But one expert suggests a way to inject the whale in order to prevent rapid contamination. And for the gourmets it could mean better whale steaks.

"An antibiotic solution introduced in the visceral cavity through the affline used for towing the mamals prior to their use inland may be of considerable usefulness," says Dr. Alex A. Malaspina of the technical service department of the Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc. But the good doctor goes even further. He feels that antibiotics can rid fish of their unpleasant body odors, which is progress.

To make extinct the stink, fish should be frozen with antibiotic ice or dipped in a special solution, says Dr. Malaspina who turns up his nose at the old systems of storing fish. The use of antibiotic will extend the freshness of fish up to 100 per cent or more and will permit a longer interval between catch and consumption," he claims. "This will permit shipments for longer distances, opening up new markets for fresh fish."

For example, take ocean perch which develop a horrible low tide smell. Simple, says the antibiotic man. Put the perch under oxytetracycline and the growth of bacteria will be inhibited. At least that has been the result of some very reliable laboratory tests performed in Canada, he reports.

What it means is that the antibiotic ice slows down the growth of bacteria which causes spoilage and a bilgy odor in the fish after they are caught. In the case of filets, Dr. Malaspina suggests another approach. Mix antibiotics in a brine solution, swish the fish through it and then freeze them.

No Need To Stop
DETROIT (UP)—Henry A. Davis Jr., 64, began serving a 10-day sentence today for stopping at a red light. Davis was arrested on a drunk charge Tuesday when he told an inquisitive policeman he was waiting at a corner for a red light to change. Police said there is no red light at the corner.

To date the Food and Drug Administration has not been asked to approve the use of antibiotics on fish. Officials indicated there is need for more research and experimentation in this field. Food and Drug has given permission for an antibiotic called chlortetracycline to be used to preserve fresh poultry.

U.S., France Plan Red Challenge

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States and France planned to challenge Russia anew today to accept disarmament, with fool-proof controls. The two nations also were expected to chide the soviet for a shift in attitude on settlement of the Arab-Israeli dispute, Russia this spring indicated she wanted the two sides to negotiate for an end to their dispute but recently indicated she sides with the Arabs in opposing negotiations with Israel.

The U.S.-French positions were expected to be outlined in a joint statement to be issued at the con-

Demos Consider Fall Campaign

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Managers for the three Democratic presidential contenders now campaigning against each other assembled today to talk about how to campaign against the GOP next fall.

The Democratic strategy conference will be followed by a Republican session Friday to complete plans for the GOP national convention which opens at San Francisco Aug. 20. Leaders of both parties will lay out plans on the assumption that President Eisenhower will be the Republican nominee in the Nov. 6 election.

Adlai E. Stevenson, Sen. Estes Kefauver and Gov. Averell Harriman, the three active candidates for the Democratic nomination, all sent ranking aides to the Democratic meeting. It was called by Paul M. Butler, chairman of the party's National Committee.

A Varied Agenda
Stevenson's delegation was headed by his campaign manager, James A. Finnegan, Kefauver's by Campaign Manager F. Joseph Donohue, and Harriman's by Carmine De Sapio, Tammany chief and New York national committeeman. Television campaigning, travel plans, fund raising, organization and national convention planning were on the agenda for discussion. De Sapio made a gesture toward Southern Democrats, who are defiantly cool toward Harriman, when he attended a dinner given by the New York Democratic House delegation Wednesday night in honor of Rep. James P. Richards (D-SC). Richards, chairman of the House Foreign Relations Committee, is retiring from Congress.

GOP Arrangers Also Meet
Senators and congressmen who attended from most Southern states professed there was no political significance in the presence at the affair of De Sapino and Brooklyn Democratic Leader Joseph H. Sharkey.

The arrangements committee for the GOP national convention meets Friday to name convention officials and make other preparations. Although GOP leaders have been confident that Mr. Eisenhower's decision to seek reelection would stand despite his recent operation, they had hoped for a reassuring message at Friday's session.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Wednesday, however, that the President was not planning any such message. A House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin was understood to be in line for permanent chairman of the convention. Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana was reported under consideration for keynoter or for the speech to put Mr. Eisenhower's name in nomination.

Not Very Ethical
FLINT, Mich. (UP)—Police today sought a bicycle thief with "pack rat" ethics. The thief stole a new bicycle from the Stephen Lane home Tuesday and left an old dilapidated bike in exchange, police said.

Sole State of Sort
Pennsylvania is the only state of the Union that bears the family name of its founder. It was named by King Charles II in honor of Admiral Penn, father of William Penn.

Marilyn's Boyfriend Questioned

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee today called Marilyn Monroe's boyfriend, playwright Arthur Miller, for questioning about alleged Communist front associations.

Committee Director Richard Arens also scheduled some questions (at 10 a.m. EDT) on a 1954 passport tiff between Miller and the State Department.

The most recent of a flurry of rumors about Miller and Miss Monroe fixes their wedding for this weekend in Connecticut. Miller recently divorced his wife and has been seen frequently in the company of the blonde actress but is refusing comment on whether he will marry Miss Monroe.

The committee claims Miller has been affiliated with 29 organizations which have been cited either by the attorney general or by congressional groups as Communist fronts. However, no witness before any congressional group has ever testified that he was a Communist, a committee source said.

The source named the American Peace crusade, the China Welfare Appeal and the Civil Rights Congress as examples of Miller's affiliations.

Kremlin Is Setback On Stalin Blasts

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The Kremlin has suffered a big setback in its attempt to blame Josef Stalin for all the crimes of the Soviet Russian dictatorship. The French and Italian Communist parties, the two largest in Western Europe, have issued pronouncements of policy on the "stalin did it all" campaign of the new Soviet collective leadership.

Both parties agree that Stalin sinned. But both take the view that the men who denounce Stalin now as Russia's evil genius were his active accomplices.

Both parties agree also that in future it will be necessary for them to take a more independent attitude instead of blindly following the Moscow party line.

Looks Like Blunder

This new development makes it more likely that, as has been suggested, Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin, Soviet Communist party leader Nikita S. Khrushchev and their fellows blundered in debunking Stalin so savagely and so completely.

It is becoming increasingly evident how deeply the bunking shocked all but the inner circle of Communists in Russia, and all Communists including the topmost leaders in satellite and other countries.

The one Communist who has emerged from it all with prestige unimpaired is President Tito of Yugoslavia, who denounced Stalin as evil eight years ago.

Unless all present indications are misleading, "Titoism" is going to spread.

Who Bloc Boss?

It is indicated not only that non-

Russian Communist parties are going to show an increasingly independent tendency but that Tito may wind up as the leader of a bloc of Communist countries in Southeastern Europe.

Falbro Togliatti, leader of the Italian Communist party, started the newest flare-up in the Stalin situation.

His party is the largest Communist party in Europe outside of Russia itself. Poland, largest of the Soviet satellites, has about 1,400,000 Communist party members. Yugoslavia has but about 650,000. Italy has more than 2,000,000.

Togliatti, in a formal statement of policy, said that he could not accept the idea that Stalin sinned alone.

Question Of Responsibility

"The question of the responsibility of the entire Soviet directing group must be considered," he said. "This includes those comrades who today have taken the initiative in denouncing the errors of Stalin and their consequences."

Togliatti said also that "the Soviet model of Communism can not and must not be obligatory any more."

The French party's statement was made public by its Politburo, or inner leadership. It was issued in the name of the 65,000 members of the French party. It took the Italian line. It said that it was unjust to blame Stalin for all the errors of Soviet leadership. It called for "a profound Marxist analysis" of what happened during the Stalin era.

Both the French and Italian parties seemed to make it plain that they will no longer regard the Kremlin as infallible.

MODERN CARS HAVE ROOMY TRUNKS. THEREFORE YOU DON'T HAVE TO LEAVE ON YOUR MODERN VACATION LOOKING LIKE A SELF-PROPELLED RUMMAGE SALE. BEFORE PACKING YOUR BAGS, TRY A "TEST RUN" TO SEE HOW MUCH TRUNK SPACE THEY USE AND HOW MUCH IS LEFT OVER FOR OTHER EQUIPMENT.

WHILE TRUNK SPACE VARIES, THE AVERAGE NEW CAR CAN HANDLE ONE 26-INCH SUITCASE, A TWO BUTTER, THREE 21-INCH BAGS, TWO LARGE DUFFEL BAGS, A SET OF GOLF CLUBS, FISHING TACKLE AND A SOUVENIR BOX FOR THE CHILDREN. HERE'S HOW TO DO IT:

1. PUT SPORTS EQUIPMENT IN FIRST, AT THE REAR OF THE TRUNK. PLACE ITEMS YOU'LL USE EN ROUTE ALONGSIDE SPARE TIRE.
2. LINE UP THE SUITCASES SIDE BY SIDE--HANDLES UP. (ONE 21-INCH BAG CAN HOLD THE FAMILY'S OVERNIGHT ESSENTIALS.)
3. FIT DUFFELS IN FRONT OF SUITCASES. THEY'LL SQUASH DOWN WHEN YOU CLOSE THE TRUNK. (USE ONE FOR SWIM SUITS, TOWELS, ETC. THE OTHER MAKES A FINE LAUNDRY BAG.)
4. LAST COVER THE CARDBOARD SOUVENIR BOX. (THE YOUNGSTERS WILL USE IT FOR SOUVENIRS PICKED UP EN ROUTE WITHOUT DISTURBING THE OTHER BAGGAGE.)

Here's Angles Voter Should Consider

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Some angles the voters should consider with a national election coming up are these:

Judges Like Vacations

CHICAGO (UP)—Eight Chicago U.S. District Court judges turned down today a Justice Department plea to work all summer. Judge John P. Barnes, spokesman for the group, said the courtrooms are hot air conditioned and added "chaos would result if the judges continued to sit—besides, our vacations were planned for months in advance."

1. The political parties soliciting their votes are frauds. The party labels mean not much.
2. The platforms upon which the candidates stand are largely phony rather than real statements of party policy. The platform pledges are not binding.
3. The dividing line which defines a two-party system in the United States is more imaginary than real.

Fraud Easily Seen

The fraudulent nature of the political parties easily is demonstrated. For example: Try to define the Democratic party in terms which would include such disreputable Democrats as Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Va., and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota. Or, try to define the limits of the Republican party to include such Republicans as Sen. Clifford P. Case, N.J., and Sen. William E. Jenner, Ind.

Platforms are phony in proportion to the extent to which party members ignore them. Presidents usually stick fairly close to the platforms on which they are elected. Members of Congress are less responsible men. Six out of ten congressional votes on major legislation will find large numbers of Republicans voting against Eisenhower administration policies and large numbers of Democrats voting for them.

No Solid Policies
The dividing line between the two major parties is more imaginary than real on the national level because neither party has a solid foundation of policy uniformly acceptable to its national membership. A conservative politician who might properly be labeled a Democrat in Virginia or Georgia would have to be tagged a Republican if he shifted his voting residence to, say, Michigan or New York.

This confusion of party labels and loyalties has been aggravated by the combination of political groups which Franklin D. Roosevelt created and called the New Deal. He held the largely conservative South and normal Democratic strength in the North and West. To those, FDR added a substantial left wing element which embraced the rising giant of organized labor and gobbled up even Norman Thomas' Socialist party. New Dealers, flocking to FDR at the polls only after Hitler invaded the Soviet Union and lend lease supplies began to support Stalin's military forces.

An FDR Maneuver
Mr. Roosevelt's greatest political trick was the welding together during his lifetime of the conservatives in the South and the Northern Democratic machines ruled by the big city bosses. Individual Southern politicians balked and bolted, but the Southern voting masses stayed with FDR.

American politics is a crazy, mixed-up thing. But, better times probably are coming. How fast depends mostly on political developments in the South. When Southerners have a two party system of their own, a chance to vote radical or conservative without wasting their ballots, the re-alignment of parties in the United States will move along quickly. Presidential elections of 1928-48 proved that the solid South isn't solid any more. President Eisenhower carried four Southern states four years ago—Florida, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia. More significantly, he polled a respectable number of votes in each of the 10 Southern states. His vote was a substantial 47.7 per cent to Adlai E. Stevenson's 52.3.

French Form New Plan For Algeria

PARIS, June 21 (UP)—The French cabinet Wednesday approved a sweeping Algerian reorganization and reform plan that would give the native Moslem population a larger voice in local affairs.

Premier Guy Mollet's government, in a long meeting, reached accord on a series of decrees that will alter administration of the revolution North African land, officially considered part of France. It decided to divide Algeria into 12 French departments—administrative districts roughly equivalent to counties—in place of the present four.

The cabinet also approved a decree turning local "mixed communities," with largely Moslem population, into "regular" "full rights" communities under the same laws as those applying in metropolitan France. Local council elections would be held, probably this fall.

This decree will scrap the system under which the appointed French administrator has been the effective power in the district, ruling through a hand-picked "caids"—or local chiefs in various villages of his area.

Reds Picked Oklahoma For Visit

WASHINGTON (UP)—Whatever their purpose, two officials of the Soviet embassy picked Oklahoma to visit first in a four-state tour of the Midwest.

The State Department disclosed partial itinerary plans of Lt. Col. Boris Bogatyrev and Alexander Okhapkin, who popped up in a number of Oklahoma cities last week but were reluctant to discuss their visit.

The pair had official permission to travel in Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and Arkansas between June 11 and June 25, the State Department said. Purpose of their visit was not explained. A spokesman here said such information was not required for a travel permit.

FBI agents have kept an eye on the two men, the spokesman said, to assure that they followed their exact itinerary as listed with the State Department.

Bogatyrev, assistant air attache for the embassy, and Okhapkin, office administrator, appeared at Oklahoma City last Thursday seeking information about Lawton, Ardmore, Norman and Enid—all of which have military installations.

They later turned up in Enid and Lawton, and were last seen at Henryetta Saturday.

Newspaper Food Editors Are Authors Of Cook Books Featuring Shortcuts

Two of the country's best-known newspaper food editors — Julie Benell of Dallas and Ruth Ellen Church of Chicago — have recently authored cook books which combine good reading with good cooking. Both emphasize the short cuts and new products that make food news today.

First to appear was "Mary Meade's Kitchen Companion" by Ruth Ellen Church of the Chicago Tribune. This is a complete cook book and more, as the title indicates. Mrs. Church writes about kitchen management and equipment (she titles this section Home, Sweet, Dangerous Home) as well as how to use herbs, wine and other flavorings to individualize today's mixes and ready-to-eat foods. Mrs. Church gives these tips, among many others:

- Appetizers. . . Chill green olives several hours in Sherry. Different flavor!
- Soups. . . Add about 2 tablespoons Sherry or Madeira to any cream soup, especially cream-of-mushroom, asparagus or chicken, or frozen-shrimp soup.
- Fish. . . Sauce for hot fish sticks: Melt 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese in 1 can cream of celery soup with ¼ cup Sherry, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley.
- Meats. . . Sauce ham with thickened pineapple juice and Port.
- Poultry. . . Baste duck while roasting and flavor the gravy with Burgundy or Claret, or even with

Accent Cold Supper With One Hot Dish

Cold plate suppers can be made much more appealing and satisfying when one hot dish is served. This delightful macaroni and mushroom dish is perfect with cold meats, fish, eggs or even served as the main course. It's an old-time favorite with a new twist taste.

Add and stir in flour, salt, pepper and curry powder. Add milk and contents of can of mushrooms. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and boils. Add kitchen bouquet and catsup. Break lima beans apart and add to sauce. Add parsley and drained macaroni. Mix well. Pour into greased shallow baking dish. Cover tightly, or loosely if aluminum foil over top of baking dish. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., until beans are tender, about 30 minutes. About 5 minutes before beans are done, remove cover and sprinkle with cheese. Continue baking uncovered. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Easy-To-Do Appetizers In Dressy Attire

A wedding anniversary is one of those important dates you just don't forget. It'll be exciting for you when preparing a warm welcome for your close friends. Let them join in — enjoying your reflected happiness at this time.

For this special event in your life, plan on serving some taste-teasing, bite-size appetizers or canapés for your guests to nibble on during the evening.

Appetizers in the modern mode can be easy to make, attractive and not too expensive to serve. Choose ready-to-serve meats and bacon for the right touch.

Beautiful appetizers and unusual canapés, of the sandwich type begin with the clever cutting of the assorted breads. Whole wheat, rye or white bread may be cut with cookie cutters or perhaps you'd prefer to use an assortment of crackers.

Have the bread prepared ahead of time along with the spreads. Shortly before the guests arrive, prepare the appetizers. This way the crackers, toast rounds and fancy-shaped bread bases will stay crisp and firm and will not become too moist.

Besides appetizers which can be spread on crackers or toast rounds, plan a few that can be eaten from wooden picks, something as simple as a cube of canned luncheon meat.

Here are some other ideas for the hors d'oeuvres tray.

BACON-PEANUT BUTTER ROLLS

Cook half slices of bacon until transparent but not brown. Spread with peanut butter, roll up bacon and fasten with wooden picks. Finish cooking the bacon by broiling, turning the rolls occasionally. Serve hot.

CHIPPED BEEF YOGURT

Cut chipped beef into rectangles, spread cream cheese (flavored with chopped chives, if desired), roll up and chill until party time. Serve cold.

LUNCHEON MEAT CUBES

Cut canned luncheon meat into cubes. Put a carrot through each cube. Serve cold.

LIVER SAUSAGE BALLS

Form liver sausage into balls around stuffed olives or pickled onions and roll them in chopped parsley. Chill until serving time. Serve cold.

SPREADS FOR CANAPES

Canapés are those appetizers consisting of mixtures spread on crackers or bread and gaily decorated. Canapés always need a little garnishing. Very small bits of parsley, water cress, stuffed olives cut in thin slices and radishes cut thin, all make interesting bits of decoration.

Most important to the success of these appetizers is the spread. Bacon and ready-to-serve meats are convenient and combine readily with other foods.

Here are some ideas when you crave something different.

DEVILED EGG-HAM SPREAD

Spread toast rounds or thin slices of refrigerator rye with your favorite chopped deviled egg mixture. Cover this with a thin slice of cooked smoked ham and garnish with sliced stuffed olives.

CRUNCHY SPREAD

Mix together 1 cup dried beef with ½ cup pineapple cheese spread, ½ cup chopped toasted almonds and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Spread on ½-inch slices of cucumber.

When preparing these small nibbles for your guests remember they should be colorful, crunchy or crisp, spicy, tangy or tart, easy to fix and easy to serve.

PARTY TIDBITS — Whether you call them canapés, hors d'oeuvres, appetizers or snacks, you'll be serving these tasty bites, not only as a dinner prelude, but as "round the clock" party fare. They are easy to prepare with ready-to-serve meats and bacon.

Pork Cuts Are Rated Easy On The Budget

The butt end or portion of the eye-appealing and appetizing main ham represents an economy pork dish.

Reba Staggs, meat expert, suggests you ask the local meat dealer to divide this cut into the boneless cushion piece and the portion containing the leg bone.

The portion of the ham butt containing the bone may be used for cooking with vegetables, boned and diced for casseroles or cooked ham dishes. The boneless section of the butt portion is actually the piece of resistance. This piece may be baked whole or sliced for broiling or panbroiling. Even though the butt portion of the ham is one of the thriftiest cuts of pork correctly prepared it becomes an

Bridal Party Entree Is Veal A La King Baked Beef Dish Favored By All Men

Special days and occasions call for something out of the ordinary in menu selection.

For a bridal shower luncheon Veal a la King is an excellent choice for the main entrée, according to Reba Staggs, home economist.

The recipe isn't of the "quick 'n' easy" variety, but for an event such as this, a little extra preparation is expected.

Your friends will find real joy in sharing in this day of happiness with the bride-to-be.

2 cups diced cooked veal
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup veal stock
1 cup milk
½ cup diced celery
1 small can button mushrooms
½ cup canned or cooked frozen peas
1 pimiento, diced
1 green pepper, diced
Salt and pepper
1 glass currant jelly
6 pastry shells

Melt fat and stir in flour. Gradually add the veal stock and milk, stirring constantly until the sauce boils and is thickened. Add diced veal and vegetables. Season with salt and pepper. Serve in pastry shells. Place a spoonful of currant jelly on each serving. Yield: 6 servings.

Lamb Chops Broiled The Right Way

Intriguing aromas, the result of a touch of "this or that" greatly enhance the flavor of meat.

But before a meat cut can be dressed up with different herbs and spices, basic methods of meat cookery are important. It is these basic methods that produce a juicy, tender meat cut.

Lamb chops, either shoulder, rib or loin cuts, are usually prepared by the broiling method, and should be cooked so the outside is brown and crisp with the 'inside' still a little pink and juicy. Over-cooking lamb chops produces dry and unpalatable meat.

So before you launch into a complicated or entirely new recipe, make sure you use and know the basic broiling method.

BROILED LAMB CHOPS

Purchase either 6 rib, loin or shoulder chops and have them cut about 1 inch thick. Place the chops on a broiler rack. Insert the broiler pan so the top of the chops is 2 inches from the heat. When one side is brown, season, turn and finish cooking on second side. Season. Chops cut 1 inch thick require 5 to 7 minutes for each side. Yield: 3 to 6 servings.

Planning Kitchen To Meet Family Needs Is Talk Presented To Merten HD Club

Meeting the needs of the family in the kitchen was the program presented by Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration agent, at the meeting Tuesday of the Merten HD Club in the home of Mrs. T. G. Groves.

The kitchen is about the most important room in the home to the family, and a great deal of thought and planning should be given to it when building or remodeling, Miss Dunlap told the women, advising them to especially consider the convenience of the family members as well as the housewife.

"Today our kitchens are not the big, roomy, step-taker kind as in the past," she pointed out. "We plan the floor space to save time and steps. We should take care not to have it (the kitchen) too small, or not to have a lot of useless space."

She went on to explain a kitchen should be planned for its specific need and is usually in the shape of a "U", a square or an "L." Plenty of cabinet space and working area is important, as well as storage, cooking surface, sink, and refrigerator. Generally 5-foot triangle is best from the refrigerator to the cabinet to the stove, she told the women.

A kitchen should have at least two doors — one from the outside and one into the serving center, Miss Dunlap pointed out. Simplicity, good arrangement and color scheme should be followed in planning a kitchen, she added.

"Planning ahead with a lot of thought for future enjoyment and needs of the family and using basic and standard rules for lighting, wiring, windows and ventilation bring a kitchen of tomorrow we can really be proud of," she concluded.

During the business session, led by Mrs. V. Smith, it was announced the next meeting will be at 9:30 a.m., July 3, with Mrs. Jack

Agriculture Research Service Makes Tests For New Energy-Saving Kitchen

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — They've been stooping over a stove of late at the Agriculture Department to make life easier for us kitchen-enslaved females.

It's part of a unique study by the Agriculture Research Service which is planning to come out with a new, energy-saving kitchen. They hope to unveil it sometime next June.

That is if the portable respirators keep operating efficiently. For the girls working on the project are rigged out like frog men.

Breathing through a tube hitched to a special measuring mechanism strapped on their backs, they work away in a special kitchen. This device measures every breath they take.

The first part of the study involved hauling containers in and out of an oven raised or lowered to different levels. On the basis of energy consumed, results now released from the floor are least fatiguing.

It was also found that getting a heavy roast in and out of an oven with the track 16 inches from the floor requires 70 per cent more energy than racks 28 to 40 inches every than a 36-inch rack.

Other aspects of the energy-saving kitchen are now being studied with aid of the respirator, including make-up of storage cabinets, shelf arrangement and location and the basic shape of the kitchen.

The half-dozen women using the respirators range in height from five feet, two inches to five feet, five inches tall.

When all the information is com-

Every breath she takes is measured by portable respirometer as Department of Agriculture household equipment specialist evaluates adjustable oven installation in test kitchen at Washington, D.C. Tests indicate that ovens 28-40 inches from floor are least fatiguing for homemaker to use.

pleted, a complete kitchen will be built. The Agriculture Department has already developed a step-saving kitchen on the basis of time and motion studies.

"This new kitchen will bring together all that we know in the way of efficiency and energy consumption," says Dr. Hazel Stiebeling, Director of Home Economics Research. "It should help lessen the burden of millions of homemakers who are incapacitated."

"It will also make kitchen chores easier for the young housewife who has to care for several children, and for women who have outside jobs."

The kitchen will be particularly invaluable to architects, custom builders of kitchens and cabinet manufacturers says ARS experts.

"The efficient kitchen is first and foremost a research achievement," says Dr. Stiebeling. "It represents home economics research at its best in attacking a problem."

"And probably no other feature of home life in this country is more

FOR THE ROUND OF BRIDAL SHOWERS on the social scene, try a new kind of gift-giving party: a "share-the-present" kitchen shower suggested by the June "Seventeen." All the girls purchase one joint grand offering — a pink pop-up toaster or a turquoise electric skillet — and then add several "under-a-dollar" kitchen accessories for extra fun.

A SHARE - the - present kitchen shower gives the bride a good head start on homemaking, and it's especially exciting now that new appliances come in a riot of colors.

Here are some bright decorating tricks to make your shower shine. To announce the kitchen shower, cut potatoe invitations from bright colored paper. Continue this theme in table decor: Set colorful earthenware on a checked gingham cloth and give jeweled cloestpins as novelty favors for each guest.

A talk - of - the - party "potbelled stove centerpiece" will hold the smaller kitchen gifts. Follow these instructions to make it —

1. Use two lamp shades eight inches in diameter across the bottom. Remove bulb holders. Cover the shades with black crepe paper and place one on top of the other (wide ends touching) to form basic stove shape. Secure the shades together with a single hinge tied with pink ribbon so that stove may open to show gifts.

2. Edge the shades - and outline makebelieve "stove doors" with pink crepe twist (pink crepe paper pulled through a twister). Use hat pins or buttons for stove door knobs.

3. Take the cover of a gallon-size round cardboard container and cover it with black crepe. Trim with pink twist and place on top of shades.

4. The stove pipe is a cardboard towel cord, slashed and bent in two places to look like elbow joints. Cover with black crepe, trim with pink twist and tape to top of stove.

5. Stand stove on a square box lid covered with pink crepe paper.

YOU DON'T need elbow-grease to clean casseroles, roasters, broiling pans and utensils that have been used to the point of being almost unrecognizable. Just soak the utensils, as soon as the food is removed, in warm water with one teaspoon of a controlled suds detergent. The burned food or food that sticks-to-the-pan will loosen almost immediately, and you can easily wash on a new shine in a matter of minutes.

Place a single layer of bacon in a cool frying - pan. Place over low heat. Turn frequently. Drain excess drippings as they accumulate so that the bottom of the pan is well - greased. Cook slowly until the bacon is lightly crisped and evenly browned.

When preparing lamb - bacon patties, broiled pineapple slices will make an interesting addition. Ground lamb is shaped into patties and then wrapped in bacon slices. The pineapple is broiled at the same time the lamb patties are cooking.

Paper Path to Oriental Splendor

Longing for something new in table decorations? Want your table to look as if you had been magically transported across the seas to the Orient? Want to power this magic carpet for pennies? Here is one decorator's suggestion built around colorful paper place mats which are attractive in design, blend well with modern pottery and table accessories and are so inexpensive that they can be crumpled and discarded after every meal.

The place mat is a deluxe style, extra large for big plates. The background is a pale beige with a matchstick bamboo motif. It resembles Oriental bamboo, the right accent for the Japanese Iris of the pattern. The flowers are in lovely pastel shades.

The porcelain bowl and spoon is also Oriental in design. The linen napkin is jade green with a cream white center, and the paper fan repeats the same tender shades in its design.

In the center of the table stands a polished piece of driftwood, washed a pale beige by sun and sea... and decorated with tiny, gaily colored paper umbrellas and paper butterflies. Shells from the seashore complete the motif, and the porcelain blue duck is the exact shade of the blue iris on the deluxe place mat.

The deluxe decorator design paper place mats are sold at department stores, gift shops and stationery stores; packed in a cardboard-backed, cellophane-wrapped package, fifty-four to a pack, approximately under one dollar in price. Other designs include corn flowers in three different color combinations, and a criss-cross or caning design available in antique green or gold.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
A recent meeting of professional parent advisers asked itself this question: What can we do about foreign-born parents who ask their American children to obey the codes of their native lands?

Someone presented the case of a Mrs. P., who had been reared in a country that tolerated no unchaperoned contact between young people of opposite sex.

Though her native village would smile indulgently on such human foibles as adultery, stealing, gambling, it simply couldn't bring itself to allow a girl and boy to be alone together for five minutes.

Mrs. P.'s compatriots were convinced that the only mutual interest a boy and girl alone could share was sexual satisfaction. And by stamping her with this cultural conviction, they made it impossible for her to accept her American daughter's social life.

A high school senior, Maria was forbidden classmates' parties, dances, movie dates. As in all these social excursions there might occur some fatal interlude that left Maria alone with a boy, her mother could not permit them.

Instead of realizing that American girls are supposed to be reared with built-in chaperones, Mrs. P. refused Maria the supervision of her own social activities — and demanded that she submit to the code of an Old World mountain village.

The parent advisers had some suggestions for changing her mind. One lady counsellor said: "This mother, close American when she left her native country to come here, she should be told that by leaving it, she also left behind its customs — and took ours."

Another lady said: "She should be warned of the scar these restrictions will leave on Maria." And another: "What about introducing her to some Americanized mothers?"

Then arose a wiser member of the parent education profession. She said: "Are we not rushing to conclusions here? How do you know that these restrictions will scar Maria? How do you know that living with authority she doesn't agree with for next three years may not be precisely discipline she needs to make her an unusually understanding and brave person?"

She was reproving our national tendency to regard any unusual harshness in children's experience as dooming to them.

Let me quote Dr. Viktor E. Frankl, famed psychoanalyst of the University of Vienna, on this tendency. He writes, "Goethe says, 'There is no predicament that we cannot endure either by doing or enduring.' This right enduring is the kind that constitutes moral achievement."

Ham Souffle Good For Porch Dinner

In the spring a homemaker's fancy turns toward the out-of-doors. The smart homemaker will take advantage of this time, and spend leisure hours in the garden.

No! Meals don't have to be a chore during this period. Everyone loves to eat outside but let's save that day for another time, and compromise — serve easy dinners on the porch. Plan on serving an oven dish or a favorite casserole recipe. Just place the casserole in the oven and tend to the garden chores.

As a suggestion Reba Staggs, meat expert, mentions a Ham Souffle for a meaty yet not too heavy meal for a warm day.

HAM SOUFFLE
2 cups ground cooked ham
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
2 tablespoons enriched flour
2 cups milk
3-eggs
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Salt
Pepper
Melt lard or drippings. Add flour, stirring until smooth. Add milk and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Separate the egg yolks, and whites and beat each well. Combine the bread crumbs, egg yolks, ham and cream sauce. Add parsley. Season. Fold in beaten egg whites. Turn into greased baking dish. Bake in a slow oven (350 degrees F.) for about 1 hour, or until set in the center. Serve immediately. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Manners Make Friends

When you run into a friend on the street, show your pleasure and think of something cheerful to say.

That is just as easy as pulling a long face and starting in on a tale of woe.

Be a "happy meeter" and your acquaintances will never cross the street to avoid running into you.

Covering for Baby's shoulders is an essential for the beach trip. Like an adult, he tends to be turned first and ought to be covered up after the first few moments. The cover should be something he can wear right into the water.

Pork is thoroughly cooked when the color has changed from a grayish pink to a grayish white. All cuts of pork should be cooked to the well-done stage.

Cinnamon or silvers of orange or lemon rind added to mashed potatoes gives them a gourmet touch.

Patterson's Boss Is Now Looking For Race Horses

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE (Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.) By JACK CUDDY United Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (UP)—Stranger in the land is the reason why Cus D'Amato, manager of heavyweight challenger Floyd Patterson, is looking for two horses—race horses.

"After six weeks of training, the mare was running so fast the owner's regular trainer refused to believe Grain's clockings. So I finally went over one morning, and clocked her myself, right in front of the jealous regular trainer. He says it can't be true, no horse can run that fast."

Starting Gate Trouble "And a few minutes later the exercise boy tells me the mare can beat anything on four feet if we ever get her out of a starting gate, which she has always refused to do for the owner in the past. I tell him he's crazy because my friend, the owner wouldn't do a dirty trick like that to me."

Anyway, Grain took her to a small track in New England for her first big test, and her early morning speed flabbergasted the rail birds. On the afternoon of the race, Grain made an investment at the windows for himself and for D'Amato in New York.

It seemed they had a gold mine on the hoof until the starting gates flew open, and the mare remained cantankerously in her stall.

"That exercise boy was right," Cus continued. "We brought the mare back to Red Bank and were pretty sore at the owner; but we had no grounds for suit even though the experiment had cost us a couple thousand dollars."

"Now summer's here again and we're looking for two more horses. We know the system works. But this time we'll make sure the horses will leave a gate before we waste the system on them."

D'Amato had a friend who owned some gee-gees at Red Bank, N.J. He agreed to let Grain experiment with a gelding and a mare, both five-year olds, if D'Amato would pay their upkeep during the eight weeks of training at Red Bank.

"Grain did the training and I stayed in New York," Cus resumed. "His interval system, as he called it—gradually increasing the muscular efforts at short intervals during each workout—proved very beneficial for the mare, but the gelding got hoarse."

Yanks Win; Braves On Top; Mantle Continues Hitting

By FRED DOWN United Press Sports Writer Mickey Mantle went 18 games ahead of Babe Ruth's record home run pace today in what is now the greatest assault any player ever has made on the mark.

Mantle connected twice in the New York Yankees' 4-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers Wednesday night to increase his total to 27 in 60 games. Ruth didn't hit No. 27 until the Yankees' 7th game in 1927.

Braves Take NL Lead In the National League, the Milwaukee Braves remained unbeaten under Fred Haney and took over first place when they beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-3. Gene Conley went the route for the first time as the Braves scored their fifth straight win. It was the fifth straight defeat for the Pirates and dropped them into fifth place.

Satterfield 175 Lb. Champ?

CHICAGO (UP)—Bob Satterfield's victory over sixth ranked heavyweight Johnny Summerlin makes him either a logical claimant to the 175 lb. heavyweight title or a challenger for the heavy weight crown, his manager, The Bernstein, contended somewhat illogically today.

There's nobody to beat us out of it, and we can make 175 pounds," Satterfield, though beaten 21 times in his 66 fight career, weighed only 183 pounds Wednesday night, but overcame Summerlin, 24 years old and 194 pounds, handily. It was Summerlin's fifth loss in 37 pro fights and ended a 12 fight winning streak.

Gene Woodling tied the score, after an eighth-inning homer, Herb Score struck out 10 batters in six innings to reach the 100-mark for the season but relief pitcher Don Mossi was credited with the win. Tom Hurd was the losing pitcher.

Braves Take NL Lead In the National League, the Milwaukee Braves remained unbeaten under Fred Haney and took over first place when they beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-3. Gene Conley went the route for the first time as the Braves scored their fifth straight win.

Homer In Ninth Nips Oilers, 6-5

HOBBS — A leadoff home run by Carlos Pascual in the bottom of the ninth inning provided the league leading Hobbs Sports with an uphill 6-5 win over the Pampa Oilers here Wednesday evening.

With the exception of Pascual's circuit clout in the payoff frame and a single tally by the Sports in the seventh all of the scoring was confined to the wild and woolly fourth inning.

Pampa teed off on Hobbs' starting pitcher Oscar Chinique in the fourth and before he was lifted without retiring a man, the visitors notched four runs on doubles by Allan Cross and Lynn Tucker and circuit clouts by Jim Robinette and John Brugza.

Hobbs bounced back in the bottom of the fourth to tally four times on a walk to Carlos De Sousa, a single by Osele Alvarez, and a double by Osele Grimes to score his two mates. Dan Dobek then chased Grimes home with a mighty home run over the center-field barrier, 390 feet from home plate.

The circuit passettiers tied the score at 5-5 in the seventh, when Hank O'Neal singled and went to second on an error by Pampa left fielder John Guzman. He then romped home when Ike Seane hit a clean single into center field.

In the top of the ninth Pampa's leadoff man, Grover Seitz Jr., pinch hitting for Joe Fortin, singled but was nailed at second on an attempted sacrifice by Kempa to put the damper on the Pampa Oilers' last chance.

Pascual then stepped into the batter's box and chose to swing at the first pitch. He connected and the spheroid sailed over the left field fence to end the well-contested match.

The two teams will conclude a three game series in Hobbs on Thursday night when they tangle under the arcs in a doubleheader.

The Hobbs Sports built their Southwestern League lead back to 3-1-2 games last night, but it was a rough night on all other first division teams in the circuit.

While the Sports were edging Pampa 6-5 with Oscar Chinique, Angel Oliva and Jim Grimm all being called on for mound duty, Roosevelt romped over second-place Plainview 19-8, Ballinger bested third-place El Paso 8-3, Clovis kayoed fourth-place San Angelo 9-1.

Hideaway Pitch For Dallas Hurler Clips OC Indians Rodriguez tured a bit in the late innings in chalking up his sixth victory against one loss and wound up walking six men. Ray Dabek and Art Dunham helped him along with solo homers.

Houston scored all his runs in the first inning on three hits and as many walks, but Phil Clark had to come on to snuff out an Austin threat in the ninth to preserve Bob Mabe's 10th victory of the season.

Fort Worth had to close with a rush to beat out Tulsa in a 35-hit melee that saw seven pitchers parade to the mound, but in the end it was the Cats' home run power that turned the trick. Jim Gentile hit his 27th four-baser and Frank Marchio and Rudy Paychick each chipped in with one.

Stan Holmigg's grand slam homer in the sixth game San Antonio enough working margin to stay off Shreveport's last bid. Ev Joyner hit for the cycle with a single, double, triple and home run to drive in four Shreveport runs and boost his league batting lead.

H-Bomb Aimed At Small-Weapon Field

AIRBORNE H-BLAST — Wrapped up for supersonic speed.

By DOUGLASS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The U.S. Air Force and Atomic Energy Commission will begin final development of a whole new family of small hydrogen weapons in Nevada this fall.

It is reported that highly successful results from the firing of hydrogen devices in the Pacific this spring contributed to this vital advance in U.S. nuclear weapon development.

It means that the terrible destructive force of hydrogen weapons — many times greater than that of atomic bombs — can henceforth be delivered by supersonic fighter planes or fired in smaller, more accurate, tactical guided missiles.

This new test program will also contribute to the development of intercontinental ballistic missiles with hydrogen war heads.

The testing, to begin in October, is aimed at perfecting the shapes of hydrogen bomb packages so that they can serve as war heads for supersonic missiles and be dropped from planes also traveling faster than the speed of sound.

The ballistic work in Nevada will not involve the actual firing of nuclear charges, although a new series of live atomic tests is now being planned for the AEC Nevada Proving Ground.

Supersonic missile and bomb shapes have already been developed for atomic weapons. But the problems of packaging the more complex hydrogen weapons for supersonic delivery are far more difficult.

The first clue to this important development came from Brig. Gen. Alfred D. Starbird, director of the division of military applications of AEC.

He recently revealed to the House of Representatives Interior Committee that the AEC and Air Force had an emergency need for a special 2,000,000-acre tract. It is adjacent to the present 700,000-acre Nevada proving ground near Las Vegas.

Starbird told the committee that this new test program could take up to three years to complete and that the new range would be in operation an average of 10 days per month.

Indian Convention Scheduled

WICKFORD, R. I. (UP) — Indians from all over the country assemble here Saturday for a pow-wow with a moral for the white man.

It's the annual convention of the League of North American Indians, an organization embracing Indians from the United States and Canada. For two days, this community will reverberate with the beat of tom-toms and its lanes will be crowded with redskins in ceremonial dress.

Theme of the gathering will be "one fire." According to Princess Red Wing of Charlestown, R. I., convention corresponding secretary, it symbolizes an attempt "to bring all nations and tribes around one fire—not only Indians but men everywhere."

The "delegates" to the convention represent more than a dozen tribes. Probably the longest distance traveler will be Chief Sam Grey Wolf of San Diego, Calif.

From the Midwest will come Chief Tom Pea-Saw, a Cherokee from Parsons, Kan., and the moderator, Chief Shup-Shee of Fort Wayne, Ind., and others.

"Last year the convention was held in Denver," the princess said, "but it was decided to meet in the East this year because it was thought that we non-reservation Indians might have something to offer the group."

Opportunity Knocked Dallas

DALLAS (UP) — Dallas was the victim of Opportunity Wednesday.

Dallas officials said Opportunity, a Dallas county municipality that voted incorporation Saturday, had taken in part of the city of Dallas — about 223 feet to be exact.

J. W. Hassell Jr., a lawyer in Opportunity, said: "It's difficult to know where the boundaries of Dallas are because they change so frequently."

Jaycees Hear Talk By Hubbard

At a meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday it was reported that in the recent money raising campaign $2,200 was raised. The money paid off the organization's free dental clinic.

John Cunduth became a new member and was awarded his membership pin by Ray Duncan, president. Announcements were made of the Free Caravan Party to be held by the Amarillo Jaycees June 23 to send the delegation to the national meet in Kansas City and the tri-regional meet to be held in Lubbock July 7 and 8.

Rev. Ronald Hubbard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Pampa, spoke to the group on the immigration problem of the U.S. and the Refugee Relief Program.

Gang Wars Are Feared In London

LONDON (UP)—Scottish Yard feared today a major gang war is about to break out in a section of London known as the "Square Mile of Vice."

Police have increased their forces in the international Soho section because of a series of fights and slayings between rival gangs struggling for control of horse race bookmaking districts.

Members of parliament were reported considering asking the government to clamp down on the gangs and clean up Soho.

The section is composed largely of foreign restaurants, markets, nightclubs just off Piccadilly Circus.

The latest outbreak came Wednesday night when a friend of one of London's former gang leaders was attacked with knives and razors in the plush Mayfair section.

The victim, Tommy Falco, had to be given 47 stitches. He is a pal of Billy Hill, the self-styled "King of Soho."

The attack came only a few hours after a London judge sentenced two men to seven years apiece for attacking a clerk with hammers, a shillelagh, a knife and blackjacks.

The judge said the case "sounds like Chicago in the worst days of prohibition rather than London in 1956."

Chicago, served by 38 railroads, is considered the world's greatest railway center.

WHOA, NOW

The '46 Plymouth driven by Fred M. Broadbent, 837 Brunow, didn't whoa in time Wednesday and slammed against the residence of Mitchell Hill at 820 E. Browning. The accident occurred about 4:10 p.m. yesterday when Broadbent lost control of the automobile while attempting to make a right turn from Sloan onto Browning.

AROUND THE WORLD

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON—Sam Zamudio, left, and his son, Emilio, are shown as a water skiing duet near Palm Beach, Fla. The Zamudios were celebrating National Father and Son Week, and they obviously make a pretty good team.

A "RELATED" AFFAIR—Keeping it in the family is 18-year-old Margaret "Wiffi" Smith, of St. Clair, Mich., shown with her 14-year-old brother, Biggs. The lad was acting as caddy for his sister as she played on the Princes Golf Course at Sandwich, England. Miss Smith was the youngest member of the U.S. Curtis Cup golf team which took part in the Curtis Cup Tournament over there. Biggs might have settled for the trip, and not expected any caddy pay.

THIS IS WORK?—Sportscaster Bill Stern meets some interesting and attractive people when he collects material for his daily ABC-Radio show. He's shown at a swimming pool in New York interviewing Yugoslavian Olympic swimmer Tanya Velia, who fled to the U.S. from behind the Iron Curtain.

READY FOR ACTION—Bunny Lundrum, who was recently voted Miami's most beautiful model, has a strange way of showing her appreciation of that title. The 18-year-old doll is spending much of her leisure time in the surf at nearby Miami Beach, a sort of rival of Miami. Looks like Bunny's all set to catch a beach ball—if someone will only throw it.

REALLY ROUGH—Riders from seven nations are pedaling up a twisting mountain road near Bologna, Italy, during the 39th Tour of Italy cycle race. Here, the riders are headed for the sea, but they encountered more mountains before the course ended in the Dolomites.

DISCORD—Yankees' Billy Martin safely steals home while the disagreeing Indians' catcher, Earl Averill, holds the ball and batter Gil McDougald joins in the disputed decision. During the Cleveland-New York game in New York, umpire Charlie Berry called the late tag. Martin tripled off pitcher Mike Garcia with two down, and broke for home later.

TURN OF THE WORM—Fran Paul, of Massillon, O., is having a terrible time with an awfully stubborn worm. The slippery fellow almost got away, too, but Fran finally managed to hook him. By that time, however, she was so tired from the struggle to bait the hook that she gave up the idea of going fishing and settled for a soothing game of tennis.

FOUR-FOOTED FRIENDS—Royal Lilt, owned by the Triangle Stable, is burying his nose in some tasty clover at Oceanport, N. J., as Shorty, the stable's canine mascot looks on and wonders what's so good about clover. The thoroughbred was in training there in order to be ready for the opening of the 1956 race-meeting at Monmouth Park.

WINGLESS WONDER—Sometimes seeing is not believing, as in the case of Tom Donachy's apparently superhuman high dive over the top of some buildings in London. An unusual camera angle gave this illusion as Donachy was perfecting his diving techniques at a swimming pool in the British capital.
