Scared Gunman Surrenders

Following a night-long search by over 200 officers and volunteers, a frozen, scared gunman surrendered to officers about two miles east of Shamrock about 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

The gunman, along with his partner who was found dead, had been the object of a search which centered in a four-mile-square area north of Highway 66 east of Shamrock.

The man in custody was identified as James Whiteard, 20. He had been out in the cold night air in only a dress shirt and slacks and was shaking from the cold when captured by officers on horses.

The dead man was identified as Junior Bard Myers, 32, wanted in Texas for assault with intent to murder and for theft.

According to United Press, Whiteard stated yesterday afternoon that he had accidentally shot Myers when they became separated following a shooting scrape with Collingsworth County Sheriff John Rainey, Collingsworth County Attorney Paul Spillman and Victor Lee Stephens, 19, a local farm youth, which resulted in the death of Stephens.

Myers and Whiteard were reported to have been half-brothers.

The large manhunt near Shamrock resulted Saturday afternoon after the two fugitives broke a roadblock near Texola, Okla., about 3:30 p.m. following an automobile accident in which the fugitives car sideswiped another car. The two fugitives shot at Marvin Skinner, Texola deputy sheriff, and wounded him in the cheek.

Skinner, despite his wound, chased the two men and radioed Shamrock officers for assistance.

Luke Henley, Shamrock deputy sheriff, and Mannon Nix, Shamrock city patrolman, set up a roadblock near Shamrock and were waiting for the car when a truck driver told them a damaged car was on a dirt road north of the highway. The two officers knew that the car would have to come out on a dirt road about two miles east of Shamrock and proceeded up this road. They spotted the car about one-half mile north of the highway but the car turned into a road leading to a farm house.

The two officers spotted the car coming back out the road from the farmhouse and the two fugitives opened fire. The officers exchanged fire for several minutes during which time the car they were in was riddled and Nix suffered a slight wound in the arm.

The two fugitives fled into the brush and went southeast from the farmhouse. They were later spotted by Rainey and the resulting gunfire resulted in the death of young Stephens.

Officers from towns throughout the Panhandle continued to arrive on the scene and local volunteers also arrived. All roads leading into the area were blocked and officers began patrolling the roads (See SCARED, Page 2)

Pampans Took Part In Search

Several Pampans were involved in the search for the two fugitives at Shamrock Saturday night.

These included both officers and citizens. Sheriff Rufe Jordan was accompanied by Monty Cotter, highway patrolman, and Buck Haggard, deputy sheriff, was on the scene in his car.

Local policemen who went to the scene were Jim Conner, chief of police, Ed Johnson, Bill Robinson and Dan Lewis, patrolman.

Johnson received injuries to his right foot when he fell into a well while the local officers were aiding in surrounding a house where something had been seen moving around.

The four local police officers went to the house when a highway patrol unit spotted something moving in one of the houses in the area and Johnson, accompanied by Robinson and Lewis, were going around the side of the house to help cover the back when Johnson, who was leading, disappeared from sight. He had fallen into a well which was about five feet deep.

Red Cross Board Sets Meeting

Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive secretary of the local Red Cross chapter, reported today that a meeting of the board will be held tomorrow in Johnson's Cafe at 7 a.m.

Ray Kuhn and Dr. Carl Lang will have charge of the program. Topic for the meeting will be disaster, with disaster films to be shown and reports from the recent conference for volunteers at Dallas. The group will also discuss the Hungarian situation.

CAPTURED — James Whiteard, 20, of Phoenix, Ariz., is shown as he talked to reporters shortly after he was captured by officers on horseback near Shamrock yesterday morning following an all-night search by over 200 officers and volunteers. Whiteard is being held in connection with the death of Victor Lee Stephens, 19, and the death of his half-brother, Junior B. Myers, who was with him. Whiteard told officers he shot Myers when they became separated in the dark and he thought Myers was an officer. (News photo)

200 Men In Tense Search

(Editor's note: Fred Parker was the only newsmen from Pampa on the scene of Saturday night's tense manhunt near Shamrock. He was also the only newsmen on the scene who went into the surrounding area with officers to "check out" suspected hiding places. Here is his account of what took place during the tense night while officers and volunteers kept a look out for two desperate men.)

The hunt for the two fugitives near Shamrock was one of tenaciousness for over 200 officers and volunteers throughout the long, cold, dark night.

Following the alert broadcast by Deputy Sheriff Luke Henley of Shamrock after the first shooting scrape with the two fugitives Saturday afternoon, officers started arriving from points all over the Panhandle.

All roads into the area where the fugitives were hiding were blocked by men armed with high powered weapons and the call went out for lighting equipment as dark approached.

As the lighting equipment arrived it was placed along the roads around the four-mile-square area that was blocked off by the officers and volunteers and was used to light the area along the fences. Shortly after mid-night a truck with three powerful floodlights arrived and was put into operation circling the area. The lights on this truck penetrated over one-half mile into the brushy area and officers following the truck in cars attempted to spot the fugitives without avail.

Later, a plane dropped flares over the area but light from these flares failed to reveal the fugitives' position also.

I was on the scene shortly after dark for the first time and joined Sheriff John Nunn of Panhandle and Highway Patrolmen Royce Logan and Wendell Richardson of Pampa in Nunn's car. The four of us were later joined by a farmer in the area who agreed to show us rarely used roads through the area of the search. We went into the area about the middle of the east side and searched the area leading to the spot where Victor Lee Stephens had been killed. We searched as much of the area as was possible with a car but the shinnery and sand kept us from searching too far west, or toward the middle of the surrounded sections.

Following this search I returned to write the story you saw in Sunday's paper but I returned to the area shortly after midnight and this time joined Deputy Sheriff Luke Henley and Patrolman Bill Robinson of Pampa in Henley's bullet-riddled car. Throughout the long hours of the night we continued to patrol the roads around the two sections along with other officers and volunteers in an effort to keep the fugitives from leaving the area.

All the three of us could think about was the danger of additional persons being shot before the fugitives were caught. Luke knew the effectiveness of the gunfire of the two and Bill and myself could see it in the bullet holes in the windshield of the car. It seemed impossible that Henley and M. N. Nix were able to get out of the car in time when they exchanged gunfire with the two desperate men.

As we rode I couldn't keep from looking at the holes in the jacket Henley was wearing. The back of the jacket was riddled with holes from either glass from the back window of the car or from bullets which came too close.

New Hotel Stock Totals $626,700

The stock sale campaign in a community-owned hotel for Pampa continues with a great deal of momentum, according to directors of the campaign, and a total of $40,700 in stock sales since Saturday noon was reported at a meeting of the hotel executive committee and the general sales force today at noon in the Palm Room. This additional amount brings the total amount of sales to $626,700.

The general sales force reported a total of 25 new subscriptions totaling $10,200 and the executive committee reported nine subscriptions which totaled $30,500. The Women's Section led the Men's Section with a report of $8,800 while the men reported $1,600.

The managers of the two sections of the general sales force had swapped sections over the week end and Mrs. Rufe Jordan and Mrs. Lynn Boyd apparently were not successful in urging the men on to greater achievements, Ed Myatt, manager of the Men's Section, stated.

Myatt stated, "It has come to the point whether or not we are going to have a hotel and this week will decide it." He went on to urge all persons connected with the stock selling campaign to work harder to assure a hotel for Pampa.

The division within the general sales force to report the largest amount of sales at the meeting today was Division F, managed by Mrs. H. H. Hicks and Mrs. Louise P. Clarke. This division reported a total of $6,500 in stock sales.

The group to report the largest amount of sales was Group 23 in Div. F, managed by Mrs. H. O. Darby and Mrs. Libby Shotwell, which reported $5,300 in sales.

The "We Are It" banners, awarded to the group in each division reporting the largest amount of sales each day, went to Group 4, managed by Aubrey Steele; Group 7, managed by Newt Sechrist; Group 12, managed by John Rankin; Group 13, managed by Mrs. Frances Creef; Group 19, managed by Mrs. Kirk Duncan; and Group 23, managed by Mrs. H. O. Darby and Mrs. Libby Shotwell.

The saleswoman to report the largest amount of stock sales today was Mrs. H. O. Darby who received a gift certificate presented by Ideal Food Stores. Mrs. Fred Alvey reported the largest number of sales by a saleswoman and received a turkey presented by Fite Food Market.

Bill Clements reported both the largest amount of sales and the largest number of sales at the meeting today and received gift certificates presented by Malone Pharmacy and M. E. Moses Co.

Myron Hockenberry, head of the firm directing the hotel campaign, told those attending the meeting that the test now is whether or not a person is willing to buy his full fair share of stock in the hotel.

He stated, "It is the responsibility of everyone in Pampa to share in Pampa's responsibility," and went on to state, "The people have to give a little and share a little if you hope to gain."

Fred Nealage, general sales manager, reported that the next report meeting of the two groups would be held at noon tomorrow in the Palm Room. One other report meeting is scheduled for noon Thursday in the Palm Room.

The final meeting of the hotel campaign will be at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Country club with a dinner for the hotel workers. A sign for the hotel workers. A dinner for the hotel workers. A sign for the hotel workers. (See HOTEL, Page 2)

Red Tanks Poised For Demonstrations

Editors: Russell Jones, United Press staff correspondent and last U.S. newsmen in Budapest, has been ordered to leave the country today. The following may be his last dispatch from Budapest.

By RUSSELL JONES
United Press Staff Correspondent
BUDAPEST (UP)—Soviet armored units hovered today on the outskirts of Budapest ready for action should Hungarians rise again as they did Sunday to stage mass anti-Russian and anti-government demonstrations in open defiance of Soviet guns.

There were anxious moments Sunday when hundreds of Hungarians marched into Lenin Avenue for a protest demonstration after Russian soldiers abducted an unidentified man in broad daylight on the thoroughfare.

Ordered Off Streets
A considerable force of Soviet armored cars and troop carriers converged on the streets. Every one was ordered off the street by the Russian soldiers brandishing machine guns.

They were still striking from mountain and forest hideouts against Red army troops in the provinces. Informed sources said the Soviet commander in the uranium and coal mining center of Pecs in southern Hungary was killed in a clash with Hungarian rebels. His successor, according to the informants, has threatened to hang captured guerrillas as "traitors."

Moscow In Effort To Break Up Baghdad Pact

LONDON —UP— Moscow Radio said today Turkey had sent two battalions of troops to Iraq to bolster the government of Premier Nouri El-Said against "popular demands" for withdrawal from the Baghdad Pact.

There was no official confirmation of the reports. Moscow has beamed a steady propaganda barrage at the Mid-East in recent weeks in an effort to break up the Baghdad Pact and cause the downfall of the El-Said government.

The Moscow broadcast quoted "well-informed sources" in Damascus on the alleged Turkish troop movements. It said Iraqi troops stationed in Jordan "have refused to obey an order from the prime minister, demanding their immediate return home."

The Moscow broadcast coincided with diplomatic reports in London that the United States and Britain planned to strengthen the Baghdad Pact nations to counter Soviet arm's shipments to Syria.

The development came as Britain and France prepared to announce today their withdrawal plans from the Suez Canal in hopes the United States would take a leading role in the United Nations in solving the Suez problem.

Britain called in experts and ambassadors from several Middle East countries to plan the buildup for the Baghdad Pact nations with which it is allied—Pakistan, Iraq and Turkey.

The United States is not a member of the pact but has supported it and President Eisenhower warned Russia and Syria last week against attacking any of the member states.

The Syrian situation, complicated by charges and countercharges, was even more confused by a total news censorship in that country. Syrian officials have denied any Syrian arms buildup.

The London News-Chronicle reported today that between 15,000 and 20,000 Soviet troops already are in Syria. It also said Syria had 175 MIG fighters "complete with crews, ground staff and spares—and a number of Ilyushin bombers."

Tanks Patrol Roads
The newspaper said tanks and armored cars were patrolling all Syrian roads and that Syrian tanks were massed on the Turkish and Iraq borders.

There was no confirmation of the News-Chronicle dispatch, but Allied intelligence sources previously reported a Soviet arms buildup in Syria.

Texas Legislature To Face Water Dilemma At Session

Following is the first in a series of dispatches dealing with problems facing the Texas legislature convening in January, according to a United Press survey of legislators.

By LLOYD LARRABEE
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN (UP)—Water — and how to conserve it—stood out today as the No. 1 problem facing the Texas legislature at its session convening Jan. 8.

Virtually every lawmaker out of more than 40 responding to a United Press questionnaire put a top priority tag on the water issue.

Other major issues listed by legislators were headed by the ever-recurring question of spending and taxes, segregation, improvement of mental hospitals, lobbyist control, higher salaries for teachers and state employees, and juvenile delinquency.

Almost as many potential issues were cited as the number of members who replied to the survey.

But water received No. 1 billing from all but four of the lawmakers responding.

Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas, chairman of the Texas Water Resources committee, expressed hope "we can make a start on conservation."

But Sen. David Rattless of Stamford, while agreeing the problem must be solved "quickly," said,

"selfish interests will again effectively block passage of needed legislation, despite efforts of an unselfish minority."

UN Move Asked In Crises

By WILLIAM SEXTON
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (UP)—Britain and France called today for United Nations to promote peace through the Middle East in return for their promise to withdraw troops from Egypt.

Informed sources said a declaration approved by the governments of the two countries asked the UN to take the initiative in settling the Arab-Israeli dispute, the Suez crisis and "other points of dispute in the Middle East."

The declaration included an assurance that Anglo-French troops will be withdrawn from Egypt, but set no date for completion of the movement. A French official said it "probably" will be completed by Christmas.

The precise details of the Anglo-French declaration will be announced to the parliaments of the two nations by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Foreign Minister Christian Pineau.

Santa Parade Preparations Being Made

By DANIEL F. GILMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent
Preparations for the Santa Day Parade, to be held at 3:30 p.m. Thursday, are currently being made.

At that time, Santa Claus will arrive in his new helicopter, and will circle over the city for about fifteen minutes before landing at Oiler Park at 3:15 where he will be met by Fire Chief Ernest Winborne in the new fire truck.

The parade will then form on East and West Craven streets one block north of Cuyler and Brown streets.

Bands participating in the affair will be the Pampa High School Band under the direction of Joe DeCosimo; the Wheeler High School Band, under the direction of Stanley L. Mohr; the McLean High School Band under the direction of Bruce F. Cook; the Lefors Band led by Jimmy King; the Pampa High School Band, and the Elementary School Band.

The Harvester Band will lead parade, which will be filled with floats of the various organizations in town. All organizations are asked to participate and enter a float of some sort, in the line of march.

Following the parade the Junior High School Band will play appropriate Christmas music on the (See PARADE, Page 2)

Troops Annihilate Rebels

By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY
United Press Staff Correspondent
HAVANA (UP)—Cuban warplanes and ground troops annihilated the 40-man high command of the revolutionary "26th of July" movement, including rebel leader Fidel Castro, almost as they set foot on Cuban soil, unimpeachable sources said today.

The government admitted the rebel landing and the air attack but would neither confirm nor deny the other reports.

Cuban army headquarters issued the following communique: "A Coast Guard cutter of the Cuban Navy captured a yacht near Cape Cruz and found aboard belongings apparently of Fidel Castro. Aircraft located the enemy and opened fire on them, dispersing them. The army is continuing their pursuit."

Cape Cruz, jutting into the Caribbean, is Cuba's southernmost point.

The sources told the United Press that Castro led his lieutenants ashore Sunday night in south eastern Cuba to lead his "fight to the death" to overthrow the government of President Fulgencio Batista. At least 11 persons had died previously since the rebellion flared Friday.

According to the sources, rebel leaders landed from a Mexican yacht between the port of Niquero and Manzanillo in Oriente province. Castro had been in exile in Mexico since he led an abortive attempt against Batista in 1953.

Low-flying Cuban warplanes trapped the rebels in an open area and strafed and bombed them. The sources said the 40-man group was "pulverized."

They said the bodies were recovered.

Bracewell said additional insurance legislation, in the wake of reform bills enacted in 1955 after a wave of insurance scandals, likely will come before the lawmakers.

Postmaster Gives Tips On Christmas Mailing

Pointing out the need for your cooperation on his 1956 "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign, Postmaster O. K. Gaylor says if you will follow these simple rules, all of your gifts can be delivered before Christmas Day: Wrap them securely. Address them correctly, and mail them early. Amplifying these rules, the postmaster said, "Avoid the risk of mailing poorly wrapped packages. Use corrugated mailing cartons, plenty of heavy brown wrapping paper, and be sure that every package is tied with strong cord. Cartons containing several gift packages should be stuffed with tissue or old newspapers to cushion the shocks!" He also reminded us that size and weight limitations for parcel post packages vary according to place of mailing and destination.

and advises us to secure Pamphlet No. 2, at the Post Office, telling all about packaging and wrapping parcels for mailing, and pamphlet No. 3, giving complete details on domestic postage rates and fees. Speaking about correct addressing of Christmas gifts and cards, the postmaster said: "Be sure your Christmas mailing list is up to date and that you have the complete name, address, zone number, city and state for everyone on your mailing list. Send all your Christmas cards by First-Class mail, because they will be processed and delivered quicker, and they'll be forwarded, or returned, if it becomes necessary. Only Christmas cards sent First-Class mail may carry written messages, a custom everyone enjoys. Moreover, Christmas card envelopes smaller than 2-1/2" by 4" or larger than 9" by 12" require hand cancellation, and thus, must carry First-Class postage."

The postmaster urges everyone to secure free labels at the Post Office marked "All for local delivery," and "all for out of town delivery." Then, sort your Christmas cards accordingly, tie them in two separate bundles with each address facing the same way, and attach the correct label to each bundle. Early mailing of all Christmas gifts and cards is the biggest factor in getting everything delivered before Christmas, according to the postmaster. The whole Christmas mailing period is a battle against time. Delays now in getting your Christmas cards and gift packages to the Post Office may cause a slow-up all along the line. Then, there's always the danger that commercial shipments and incoming Christmas mail will conflict with the outgoing operations.

In conclusion, the postmaster said that he is glad to see that many people are getting the Christmas gifts and cards for distant points mailed this week, pointing out that all mail going long distances should be sent before December 10th, at the very latest. Christmas packages for local delivery should be mailed by December 15th and all Christmas cards for nearby destinations by at least a week before Christmas.

SCARED

around the area and patrolled on roads that bisected the area. A call went out for portable lighting units and the lights were used to light up the area around the edge of the four-mile area. Shortly after midnight three powerful searchlights arrived and were mounted on a truck which patrolled the roads around the area. Officers following this truck in cars attempted to spot the two fugitives but were not successful.

Flares were dropped by an airplane of the Oklahoma highway patrol but did not have enough light to make the spotting of the pair possible.

Later an Air Force plane dropped more powerful flares but once again the flares did not aid in spotting the fugitives.

Bloodhounds were brought to the scene by the Oklahoma highway patrol and officers from Anson and it was decided to wait until daylight to put the hounds on the trail. Horses were obtained in Shamrock and officers mounted on them followed the dogs about 6:35 a.m.

The dogs started on the trail at the pair's abandoned car and about 8 a.m. the officers following the dogs stated that they began going in circles. The officers first spotted Myers and they stated that they knew he was dead.

Near Myers' body the officers located Whitehead who was asleep. An empty whisky bottle was near Whitehead's head when located.

Whitehead gave up without a fight when the officers awakened him and was taken to the Shamrock jail by several of the officers.

Myers' body was taken to a Shamrock funeral home where funeral services are pending awaiting the arrival of relatives. Officers reported that he had a wife in Colorado whom he had married under the name of Hunter.

Funeral services for Victor Lee Stephens are scheduled for 2:30 p.m. tomorrow in the First Baptist Church at Shamrock with Rev. J. E. Byers, pastor, officiating.

Young Stephens was born in Oxnard, Calif. on July 6, 1937. His family moved to Shamrock a few months after his birth and he had lived there since.

He attend Shamrock schools and was a member of the First Baptist Church. He was also a member of the Wheeler County Sheriff's posse.

He raised registered cattle on his father's ranch and at the time of his death was employed by the highway department.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stephens; a brother, Ward of Los Alamos, N.M.; two sisters, Mrs. Jack Dockwiler and Mrs. Don Peterson, both of Long Beach, Calif.; three nieces and one nephew.

Burial will be in the Shamrock Cemetery under the direction of Richerson Funeral Home.

C. V. Gowin Dies On Saturday

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Mr. C. V. Gowin of Shamrock died Saturday afternoon in Shamrock General Hospital. He had been in poor health for several years.

Mr. Gowin had been a resident of Shamrock since 1918 and was a member of the Lela Advent Christian Church.

Surviving him are his wife; four daughters, Mrs. Harry Jones of Sannorwood, Mrs. Durward of Oltton, Mrs. Dora Jones of Shamrock, and Mrs. W. H. Murray of Amarillo; three sons, Frank Gowin of Corona, Calif., Willis Gowin of Shamrock, Atty Gowin of Mineral Wells. Also surviving are 19 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by the Richerson Funeral Home.

Relative Of Pampan Dies

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Tinnin, 618 N. Frost, have received word of the death of Tinnin's brother, W. L. Tinnin of Los Angeles, Calif., who formerly resided in Pampa.

Funeral services are scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Thursday in Electra.

Mr. Tinnin is also survived by his wife, Kathryn; two daughters, Mrs. Clara Martin of Electra and Mrs. Dorna McLain of Houston; and one son, Jake Tinnin of Electra.

J. H. Hayes Dies Sunday

James Homer Hayes, 58, of 1245 S. Hobart, died Sunday at 12:55 a.m. in Highland General Hospital after a six-year illness.

Hayes is survived by his wife, Jewel; a son, Bobby, of Pampa; his mother, Mrs. E. F. Clay; Temple, Okla.; two sisters, Mrs. Ruth Benton, Lawton, Okla.; and Mrs. Jewel Cooper, Wichita Falls; three brothers, Lee of Walters, Okla.; Luther of Wichita Falls; and Boyd of Comanche, Okla.; a grandson, John Randall of Pampa; and a nephew, Jimmy Hayes of Pampa.

fied and made available to the press.

The booklet, which is detailed enough to be found in a Russian military library, is used by the Army and Navy as a guide for the "aggressor forces" in U.S. military exercises.

The Handbook at no point refers by name to the Soviet Union but talks of the "aggressor." And the Communist Party is referred to as the Circle Trigon Party.

But it is clear that the handbook is a definitive rundown of the Soviet military organization, based on U.S. information and intelligence.

The handbook said that the Russian army in the past six years has gone through a rapid modernization until now it has an atomic capability in missiles and artillery.

HENRY LEE HARRIS ... dies Saturday

Son Killed Mother For Scolding Him

BROOKVILLE, Pa. (UP)—A high school senior, who shot and killed his mother and then dumped her body in a snow-covered woods, calmly admitted to police today "she scolded me."
Apparently unremorseful, Samuel T. Lavella, 16, of Rural Crenshaw, Pa., reenacted the stark events of Saturday night in which, in a moment of rage, a bright, popular student became a calculating slayer.
He admitted to Jefferson county District Attorney William J. McKnight he shot his mother, Melinda, 38, with a shotgun "pumpkin-bail," borrowed the keys to the family station wagon by explaining to his father "mom wants to go somewhere," and then dropped the body down an embankment of an isolated rural road. He returned home, burned his mother's blood-stained clothing and later told his worried father "mom went out again."
Mrs. Lavella's body was discovered Sunday afternoon by a hunter who had stopped momentarily while driving along the deserted roadway.
Samuel was charged with the murder Sunday night before Justice of the Peace Homer D. Small. He remained silent except to utter "guilty" when asked to enter his plea. He refused assistance. His father, Stanley, refused to talk to him, McKnight said.
Samuel told police his mother had returned home Saturday evening from the tavern the family operated across the street from their residence in this rural northwestern Pennsylvania community. He was in the basement cleaning a .35 caliber rifle. Mrs. Lavella scolded him for handling the weapon without his father's permission.
"She made me mad," Samuel said. "I picked up my other gun and shot her."

Dulles Resumes Direction Of US Foreign Policy

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, recovered from his recent operation, today resumed active direction of U.S. foreign policy.
The secretary returned to his desk after a one-month absence convinced that "prospects of peace in the Middle East are now reasonably good."
Before him were three major long-range problems:
—How to help bring about a permanent peace settlement in the Middle East that will restore freedom of passage in the Suez Canal, guarantee Israel's security, stabilize the Arab states and block Russian infiltration into the area.
—Must Re-Cement Alliance
—How to re-cement the alliance with Britain and France that began cracking with the British-French-Israeli attack on Egypt. The United States took a major step in this direction Saturday when it put into effect an emergency plan to get 500,000 barrels of oil a day to oil-starved Western Europe.
—How best to help Hungary and other satellites break free of Russian domination.

Wife Further Questioned In Soldier Death

LAWTON, Okla. (UP)—Further questioning was scheduled today for Mrs. Virginia Paulus, 20-year-old soldier's wife charged with the murder of her husband Sunday at their home in an apartment above a Fort Sill officer's residence.
Mrs. Paulus was taken into custody and placed as a federal prisoner in Comanche county jail after 24-year-old Pfc. Charles R. Paulus died in the post hospital at 3 a. m. Sunday. He had suffered nine bullet wounds from a .22-caliber revolver.
FBI and Army criminal investigation agents were working on the case and neither was willing to provide much information. It was learned, however, that Lt. Col. A. C. Crowther, at whose home Mrs. Paulus worked as a maid, had called authorities to report the shooting.
Officers said Crowther knew nothing of the circumstances.
Mrs. Paulus waived preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Warren Crane and her bond was set at $20,000. She was scheduled to be taken to Oklahoma City later to await trial. She had not made a statement concerning the death.
No motive was established immediately for the slaying.
Mrs. Paulus was held as a federal prisoner. She and her husband, a draftee stationed at the nearby post since July, 1955, formerly lived at Beaumont, Tex.
Army criminal investigators, who were helping with the investigation refused to discuss the case. Comanche County Sheriff Everett Hale said it was not his responsibility since it occurred on the military post.
X-Ray Reveals Fraud
CHICAGO (UP)—Modern X-ray techniques have disclosed a fraud perpetrated in 300 B. C. by an Egyptian undertaker. An exhibit at the annual meeting of the Radiological Society of North America, showed the undertaker, commissioned to mummify a pet baby crocodile, stuffed the mummy case with a cloth dummy.

Sawmill Worker's Wife Plans Welcome For Turncoat Son

URANIA, La. (UP)—A sawmill worker's wife today planned the biggest Christmas celebration in family history for her turncoat son, whose return is raising the gravest problem of her life.
Mrs. H. D. Wilson, whose husband works in a lumber yard in this bustling sawmill town, intends to fly to the West Coast to meet her son Aaron, 23, who emerged from the Bamboo Curtain Sunday after six years.
The problem: What has Communist brainwashing made of her son?
"It's the first time I've ever been up against anything like this," she told United Press. "But it is up to him to decide what he wants to do. All I know is that he's coming home and I want him back."
"Everybody will be happy because Aaron's coming home after six years."
Former Friend There
When Wilson arrives at the airport at nearby Monroe, La., he will be met by a former friend, Richard E. Tenneson, an ex-turncoat who quit his job in Alden, Minn., to help Wilson's parents understand their son.
Tenneson also plans to help Wilson adjust to his return, saying the first advice he will give is not to talk too much. Tenneson says he said things he is now ashamed of and can never live down.
Tenneson believes Wilson is demonstrating recovery from the effects of "private tutoring" and "studies" forced by the Communists "because he decided to come home."
Mrs. Wilson said Aaron, eldest of her six children, quit school in the eighth grade to join the Army. At it, he was captured by the Chinese in Korea.
He's Average Boy
He was an "average, friendly boy with lots of friends," she said, and wrote regularly, asking about the family and things around the house. She said she received a letter two weeks ago saying he was coming to Urania.
She said she sent plane fare to the State Department in Washington for his return to the United States from Hong Kong.
Wilson has never seen his youngest sister, 5-year-old Glenda Joyce. The other brothers and sisters have grown up since he left.

A Moral Question

Let's take this matter of majority rule, since the election is now over and whether we like it or not, the majority has decided.

Are you completely happy with the majority decision? And in a moral sense, can you honestly say that the wishes of the minority are of no moment? Whatever fervor the minority may have had, whatever dedication to whatever principles those in the minority may have evinced, is it moral to shunt them aside now and say, in effect, "Be still. You have been proved wrong. Not by any degree of logic. Not by any degree of ethics. Not by any degree of spirituality. But you are wrong, simply because there is greater force against you than with you."

We are propounding this line of thought, not for the purpose of providing an answer, but rather for the purpose of raising a question. It is virtually a part of American folk lore that "might does not make right." But what is a majority decision to which all of the minority must bow, but the exercise of might over right?

Perhaps it is true that the majority is, in this case, correct. But is there any logical assurance that this is so? And if it is correct this time, is there any assurance that next time it will be correct?

If we examine our past we find innumerable instances in which majorities were wrong. A majority condemned Christ. A majority burned Joan at the stake. A majority sided against Columbus. A majority said that the Wright brothers could not fly in a heavier-than-air machine.

Would it not be more accurate to presume that a majority merely provides the path we WILL follow, whether the path is right or wrong? And if we believe as we say we do, that the rights of minorities in this country are protected, what protection has a minority which must submit to the rule of a majority?

So, now we have, by virtue of a majority, elected Eisenhower. Time alone can tell whether this decision on the part of so many was wise or foolish. Indeed, will we ever know? For the decision is made and we must make the best of it. We can only conjecture how things might have been had more people voted differently than they did.

This is certain. Despite the fact that Ike received a majority of those who voted, there were more who voted against him, either actively or passively, than voted for him. Our total population is close to 165,000,000 persons. And his total popular vote of 35,000,000 does not begin to approach an overall majority of those who live in this land.

Thus, if majorities really counted, we would probably find that there were more people opposed to anyone than there were for a particular figure. It is on this flimsy pretext of total representation that we permit ourselves to be ruled.

If we look into our immediate past, can we truthfully say that in every presidential election the right decision was reached? In 1932, the voters selected Roosevelt over Hoover. Was this wise? How can we tell? What would have been the course of history had the voters chosen otherwise then? What would have been our fate if, in 1944, the voters had selected Mr. Dewey? What would have been the situation today if Stevenson had been chosen in 1952 instead of Ike? We do not know. We can never know for sure.

Thus, our government, the most powerful on earth, is selected on the basis of whim and guesswork, couched in terms of the "common man," and designed to rule by force the most productive nation in the world.

No wonder men of perception have pointed out that government is such a grave danger to mankind. No wonder religious savants and philosophers have chided us through the ages to place our faith in something more substantial than the ebb and flow of political majorities. No wonder there are some who say there are, in point of fact, only two kinds of government, that which is evil and that which is still more evil.

Here is a fundamental moral inconsistency which lies at the roots of our dependence upon violence. If we insist that some men must rule other men, how can we provide for such rule and at the same time provide for wisdom, truth and morality, with the full rights of every minority protected?

Timely Statement

We are indebted to the American Council for Judaism, with headquarters in New York, for a clear statement of the difference between the terms Jewish, Israeli and Zionist. The statement is pertinent in view of the current crisis in the Middle East.

"It is as logically incorrect to use the term 'Jews' or 'Jewish' in connection with the Israeli Government and its actions as it would be to use the terms 'Protestant' or 'Christian' in reference to the actions of the United States Government," according to a statement by the council.

The following statement of terminology was released by the council:

"Judaism, like Christianity or Islam, is a universal religion. Jews are people who profess Judaism, regardless of their race or nationality. Although 'Israel' historically has been a theological term to describe the religious community of Judaism, the existence of a sovereign nation of that name suggests that, in the interests of accuracy and precision, the term be used to refer exclusively to the Middle Eastern state established in 1948.

"An Israeli is a citizen of the State of Israel. An Israeli may be a Jew, a Christian, a Moslem or a non-believer.

"Zionism is a worldwide political movement. Not all Jews are Zionists nor are all Zionists Jews. Such terms as 'the Jewish people,' 'the American Jewish community,' 'the Jewish homeland' (meaning the State of Israel), etc., are Zionist propaganda. American Jews are individual Americans and part of the American community. Their only homeland is the United States of America."

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES
Competition XIII.

In the last issue Frederic Bastiat explained how competition had improved the lot of all mankind. His works were written more than 100 years ago.

In the following issue he shows how competition prevents monopolies and tends to equalize the well-being of mankind, not by lowering the welfare of the few by the benefit of the many, but by raising the average standard of living, not by pulling down, but by building up. He continues:

"In fact, were it possible for an individual, a family, a class, a nation, possessed of certain natural advantages, of an important discovery in manufactures, or of the instruments of production in the shape of accumulated capital, to be set permanently free from the law of Competition, it is evident that this individual, this family, this nation, would have for ever the monopoly of an exceptionally high remuneration, at the expense of mankind at large. In what situation should we be, if the inhabitants of the tropical regions, set free from all rivalry with each other, could exact from us, in exchange for their sugar, their coffee, their cotton, their spices, not the equivalent of labour equal to their own, but an amount of labour equal to what we must ourselves undergo in order to produce these commodities under our inclement skies? What an incalculable distance would separate the various conditions of men, if the race of Cadmus alone could read, if the direct descendants of Triptolemus alone could handle the plough, if printing were confined to the family of Gutenberg, cotton-spinning to the children of Arkwright, and if the posterity of Watt could alone work the steam-engine! Providence has not ordered things thus, but, on the contrary, has placed in the social machine a spring whose power is only less surprising than its simplicity — a spring by the operation of which all productive power, all superiority in manufacturing processes, in a word, all exclusive advantages, slip from the hands of the producer, having remained there, in the shape of exceptional remuneration, only long enough to excite his zeal, and come at length to enlarge the common and gratuitous patrimony of mankind, and resolve themselves into individual enjoyments always progressive, and more and more equally distributed — this spring is Competition. We have already seen its economical effects — and it now remains for us to take a rapid survey of its moral and political consequences. I shall confine myself to the more important of these.

"Superficial thinkers have accused Competition of introducing antagonism among men. This is true and inevitable, if we consider men only in the capacity of producers, but regarded from another point of view, as consumers, the matter appears in a very different light. You then see this very Competition binding together individuals, families, classes, nations, and races, in the bonds of universal fraternity."

"Divine Beneficence
"Seeing that the advantages which appear at first to be the property of certain individuals, become, by an admirable law of Divine beneficence, the common patrimony of all; seeing that the natural advantages of situation, of fertility, of temperature, of mineral riches, and even of manufacturing aptitude, slip in a short time from the hands of producers, by reason of their competition with each other, and turn exclusively to the profit of consumers, it follows that there is no country which is not interested in the advancement and prosperity of all other countries. Every step of progress made in the East is wealth in perspective for the West. Fuel discovered in the South warms the men of the North. Great Britain makes progress in her spinning mills; but her capitalists do not reap the profit, for the interest of money does not rise; nor do her operatives, for the wages of labour remain the same. In the long-run, it is the Russian, the Frenchman, the Spaniard; in a word, it is the human race, who obtain equal satisfactions at a less expense of labour, or, what comes to the same thing, superior satisfactions with equal labour.

"I have spoken only of the advantages — I might say as much of the disadvantages — which affect certain nations and certain regions. The peculiar action of Competition is to render general what was before exclusive. It acts exactly on the principle of insurance. A scourge visits the fields of the agriculturist, and the consumers of the bread are the sufferers. An unjust tax is laid upon the vines of France, and this means dear wine for all wine-drinkers. Thus, advantages and disadvantages, which have any permanence, only glance upon individuals, classes, or nations. Their providential destination in the long-run is to affect humanity at large, and elevate or lower the condition of mankind. Hence to envy a certain people the fertility of their soil, or the beauty of their harbours and rivers, or the warmth of their sun, is to overlook the advantages in which we are called to participate. It is to contemn the abundance which is offered to us. It is to regret the labour which is saved to us. Hence national jealousies are not only perverse feelings; — they are absurd. To hurt others is to injure ourselves. To place obstacles in the way of others — tariffs, coalitions, or wars — is to obstruct our own progress. Hence bad passions have

Coffee To Celebrate Passing Of The Lorelei

By HENRY McLEMORE

"AFLOAT ON THE RHINE — I am writing this in the high wheel-house of the Rhine River barge, Mervesteyn, on which Mary and I are traveling from Rotterdam to Mannheim, and I wish you could see all that's going on.

We have just entered the second most dangerous part of the river — a 12-kilometer stretch near St. Goar, Germany, that runs past the famed Lorelei — and a pilot is at the wheel and Captain Starrenburg is at the engine controls.

We picked up the pilot a few miles back, off St. Goar. Rather, he picked us up. He came out in a bouncing rowboat that looked as if it would capsize at any moment and I wouldn't have given him a chance of getting aboard. But he made it, and standing spraddled — legged in front of the wheel, bundled up in a scarred black leather coat, and with a battered black cap pulled down nearly over his eyes.

His name is Walter Penzel, he was born in St. Goar, and this is his 26th year as a pilot in these waters. His dad considers him an upstart, however, as the old man is 84, has been on the Rhine for more than 60 years, and is up in front of us piloting a Belgian barge at this moment.

"The Rhine is churning and boiling beneath us now. The Rhine narrows sharply here, and makes S turns in quick order. The main downstream current runs anywhere from eight to ten knots an hour, and there are innumerable cross-currents which swing the boats about, especially the light-laden, high-riding ones coming 'downhill' from Switzerland.

The river is lower by more than a foot, and huge boulders have their shoulders out of water, close by the channel. The loaded barges, such as ours, have only a few inches clearance off the rockstrewn bottom, and it is the pilot's business to know how to thread these block-long barges through the deepest water.

The turns are so sharp there are towers on each turn, from which flying flags indicate what shipping is just around the blind bend. The pilot and the skipper are 100 per cent busy. The pilot is spinning and re-spinning the big wheel, and the skipper is working levers that increase or decrease our power, or slam the engines in to reverse.

One moment we are nearly broadside, the next we are charging straight ahead to hurry past a barge which threatens to swing across our bow, or slide into us. The horn sounds its roar every minute or so, and the first mate is their chastisement just as generous sentiments have their reward. The inevitable sanction of an exact distributive justice addresses itself to men's interests, enlightens opinion, proclaims and establishes among men these maxims of eternal truth: that the useful is one of the aspects of the just; that Liberty is the fairest of social Harmonies; and that Honesty is the best Policy."

FOR REFLECTION

...with JAMES C. INGEBRETTEN
President, Spiritual Mobilization

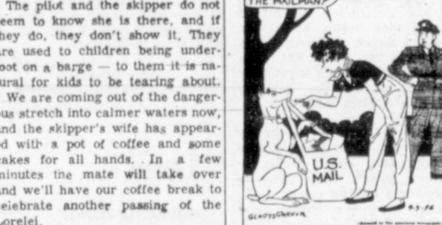

"We do not like communism," said Maxwell Droke, editor and publisher of Quote, in a recent issue of that magazine. "It is an impractical, unworkable philosophy. But it is not innately an evil ideology. And if it is, in the long-run, self-defeating."

Well, I agree with all of this except the rest of the statement. Jesus said, "Ye shall know them by their fruits...every good tree bringeth forth good fruit; but a corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit."

If Communism is to be judged by its fruits — I need not name them, they are so well known — then it appears to me to be "innately an evil ideology." As I see it, that is the reason it is "impractical" and "unworkable" and "in the long-run self-defeating."

We have long harbored among us the ideas, that Marxian concepts are idealistic but impractical under present conditions and that Communist practice is often not consistent with Communist doctrine. The truth is that Marxian concepts are impractical under any conditions, not because they are idealistic but because they are cynical, and that Communist practice, for the most part, is completely consistent with Communist doctrine. And, the sooner we get this through our heads, the better it will be for us.

With The Old Clients Gone Miami Is A Very Dull Place

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

PALM BEACH — Starting back in the early nineties, the Bakers, father and son, were sheriffs, successively, of Palm Beach County, which in that decade and the first two decades of this century consisted of Palm Beach and very little else. They were very firm, tough characters, afraid of neither man nor beast and their sovereignty often extended down into Miami when it was just a trading post on the water beyond the terminus of the Florida East Coast Railways.

When the story comes to be written they will be men of major importance in the modern history of Florida, starting about the time Henry Flagler pioneered the tourist phase of the society and economy of this phenomenal state. They were the very law itself in Palm Beach during the reign of Edward Riley Bradley, the gambler and racing man who landed in Chicago from somewhere in Pennsylvania not long after the fire and started a clothing store for men with a gambling joint upstairs.

Bradley never would discuss his career as a gambler until the last years of his life when he was jammed up in a Congressional inquiry and for the first time publicly admitted that he was a gambler, as everyone had known for years and years. He wore a gaudy collar and affected a pious mien which was a ridiculous disguise when you came to think of it because it was the typical appearance of professionals, some of whom were called parson.

The only gamblers who wore string ties, wide hats and check-board suits were the steamboat men of the Mark Twain period. Bradley's plant on Palm Beach was as prim as a church, a chaste white wooden house with the aspect of the squire's home in a typical village. His payroll included a staff of the toughest eyes in the country who patrolled the grounds and parking lot and stood guard at the entrance and drifted higher and yon among the stylish crowds around the tables and in the restaurant.

There was a house rule absolutely excluding from the games all persons who lived in Florida, but it was bent out of shape in the latter years as more and more of the Eastern trusts established their homes here to cut taxes and enjoy the climate.

There was a treaty between Bradley and the Bakers to this effect because they wanted to avoid trouble with local religious people. Even so, the Protestants generally deplored Bradley's activities, but the Bakers kept the preachers in hand and they were so cautious to avoid scandal that one night they let Gerald Chapman slip away without putting a finger on him although he was worth $100,000 dead or alive.

Chapman and his partner, named "Dutch" Anderson, were hot as a pistol and Chapman took a crazy, reckless chance when he braced up to the door with a beautiful woman and walked right in where several of Bradley's eyes "made" him on sight. They tipped off Barry Shannon, who was Bradley's manager, and Barry passed the word to the sentinels who always sat upstairs behind a demure decorative lattice with rifles and other weapons trained on the gambling rooms. He also phoned young Bob Baker in West Palm Beach. The other customers had no inkling of the situation, which presently dissolved as quietly as it had arisen when Chapman and his girl strolled out and drove away.

There were only three egresses open to Chapman and Anderson — the railroad, the highway and the sea. Shannon told me Baker decided that the publicity would be very unpleasant even if he killed Chapman and Anderson. He wanted no truck with them whatever and I do not recall that he ever told Shannon or Bradley just how he managed to ease them on their way.

Anderson was killed in a gunfight with a policeman in Michigan and Chapman was hanged in Waterbury, Conn., prison for murdering a policeman in a cheap burglary in Waterbury. He had the dubious honor of serving as guinea-pig in a new venture in capital punishment whereby the guest of honor stood on a spot with the noose around his neck and, instead of dropping through a trap-door, was yanked upward as a counterweight, like that on a pile-driver, dropped in a track. Gene Fowler wrote that this device flipped Chapple six feet in the air and whipped him around like a trout.

They buried Chapple in the conventional ignominy and his wretched sister beat her frail hands against the arrogance of the State for years and years in a mournful campaign to recover his body and bury him with other members of the family.

During Bradley's monopoly the only other place which the Bakers tolerated was a spot of the type known to the trade as a sawdust joint. Baker yielded to pressure from the social aristocracy to provide facilities for their cooks, drivers and so forth who craved action on their nights off. There was no tolerated gambling in West Palm Beach, but there was intermittent play in dumps back in the camps of the migrants and crackpots in the crop country. The Bakers also allowed a few slot machines, but, whatever their arrangements with Bradley and other operators, they seem to have accumulated little if any money.

The gambling house has vanished absolutely. Most of the old clients are dead and gone and Palm Beach is a very dull place, which seems to suit its present clientele perfectly. It is not at all "exclusive" now, but the hotels are luxurious and genteel and there are many more mansions than there were during the social reign of Mrs. Stotesbury of Philadelphia, whose silly old husband used to beat a drum on his birthday to the accompaniment of fictional stories about the Battle of Shiloh. I have made no effort to stir up action, but I do doubt that you could find anybody to lag pennies or pitch hoeshoes for nickels with you now.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

A Mother writes that her six-year-old son "with hardly any effort has learned the A B C's by seeing them in print and is able to say them forward and backward.

"He is forever spelling out words, asking us what they are, then he prints them and from then on he is able to spell them forward and backward.

"This seems rather remarkable as they are long and 'difficult' words."

There is certainly a good deal of difference between one person and another in their ability to learn to read and to perceive. Word vision is described as a special function of the general visual center in the brain. It is here that this six-year-old youngster excels. While I cannot explain it, I should think this particular facility with letters and words would be a great advantage in school and later.

ANOTHER WRITER is not so happy. She says that her 15-year-old boy has started to develop a breast on one side. This boy should be taken to a physician to see if anything is wrong with his glands of internal secretion — hormones — which might be responsible.

I believe that sometimes nothing is found and the breast enlargement continues and that very occasionally this is handled by plastic surgery. It should not be neglected since it may have serious effects on the emotional health of the youngster, even if it does not affect him physically. "MY DAUGHTER, age nine, recently got over the chicken pox," writes Mrs. F. "We tried hard to keep her from scratching, but notice several holes on her cheek, forehead and neck, and wonder if there is any way this can be straightened out."

Scarring from chicken pox is comparatively unusual.

Until recently it was not possible to hold out much hope of improving the skin from scars of this sort.

Now, however, in selected cases, it may be possible to improve the situation by the use of a special method involving a wire brush. The proper procedure is for the mother to take her daughter to a skin specialist. He can advise whether this would be suitable treatment for the little girl.

TO CLOSE this discussion of childhood problems I should like to quote from a letter written by a man who disagrees with his wife.

He says he told his little son that when he gets up in the morning he shouldn't jump out of bed immediately but should lie there a few minutes and stretch his legs, arms and body slowly and then leave the bed. His wife, he says, thinks it is all right to jump out of bed. I shall have to agree with the lady, since I do not know of any evidence that a healthy child is harmed by the splendid energy shown in facing a new day by jumping out of bed to meet it.

Jane Talk By JANE KADINGO Pampa News Women's Editor

CANCER, POPULARLY REGARDED AS A DISEASE OF maturity and old age, sometimes hits children. In Reader's Digest for December, a young mother reveals the suffering and heroism involved when her nine-year-old daughter was stricken. Her narrative, addressed to the dead girl, is entitled "The Story of Gabrielle," and is the condensation of a book to be published January 7 by The World Publishing Company.

THE AUTHOR writes under her maiden name of Catherine Gabrielson. She is the wife of an engineer and has another daughter. The family lives in New York and has a summer home in Truro, Massachusetts.

Gabrielle's story opens at Truro when she returns there from camp in September as "a long-legged, sun-kissed little girl with long, straight sun-bleached hair" who was "strong and healthy" and "full of lively, irrefragable spirits."

Back in school in New York that fall Gabrielle made high marks but in December complained of being cold. Shortly before Christmas, she became mildly ill. On Christmas Day, she was "strangely yellow" and definitely jaundiced. Infectious hepatitis, a liver malady was suspected and Gabrielle was placed on a fat-free diet.

It did not help and she was taken to a hospital where her case puzzled the staff. After many tests and X-rays, an operation revealed a malignant tumor that had grown out from the spine and invaded everything.

"It's worse than our worst fears," a doctor told the mother. "There's nothing we can do. We couldn't begin to remove it."

Gabrielle was not told of this and seemed to recover rapidly from her operation. She was taken home to the family's New York apartment.

There she celebrated her 10th birthday with a party at which her father gave her a Swiss music box which played "The Bride of Apenzel." He also rented a movie projector and Gabrielle entertained other children with it.

But a few days later she was ill again and returned to the hospital. There followed weeks of suffering which the girl endured with cheerful courage. For many nights her mother slept at her side to hold her hand and administer drugs when needed.

The mothers of some of Gabrielle's schoolmates sent a get-well card with three 50-dollar bills to help with the expenses.

"Sweet dreams," said Gabrielle to her mother by way of goodnight on the evening of Friday, April 25. The little girl could not speak next day and on Sunday, less than five months later her illness was noticed, she died.

A minister read the 23rd Psalm as she was buried on a hillside facing the bay in the old Snow Cemetery in Truro. Her favorite doll was buried with her.

The author was born in Virginia, Minnesota, near the Canadian border, and was graduated at Carleton College Northfield, Minnesota. She studied drama there and later at the Chekhov Theatre Studio in England. She has acted in off-Broadway plays in New York and in summer theaters. She has written stories, articles and poems but "The Story of Gabrielle" is her first book. "The book, written out of a deep need to keep this experience vivid for myself," she explains, "and also to try to convey to family and friends the atmosphere in which we lived during those five months. It wasn't quite the way they imagined it. "It was heartbreak, yes, but so much more."

Two other book publishers rejected the manuscript but World Publishing Company scheduled it for publication twenty-four hours after the first editor there read it and ordered a unusually large first printing.

When Digest editors read it in proof form, they out-bid several other publications for the magazine rights and revised their December issue to rush the narrative into print.

Several noted writers who have read advance copies are enthusiastic in their praise of the book. "The mother's bare recital of the events of the murder of a child by the unseeing force," comments William Carlos Williams, "moves the mind and the emotions beyond anything that the technique of novel could possibly present."

DECORATIVE SHELVES

A few decorative plastic shelves such as these in your bathroom offer needed storage space for feminine beauty aids or men's shaving supplies. The smart-looking shelves, known as Selfix, stick firmly to tile, wood, plaster, or glass walls without nails or screws. Just moisten the adhesive-coated backplates, work the adhesive into a gluey consistency, and press the shelf into position against the wall. The shelves are available in white, red, yellow, green, and black.

Ruth Millett

"Men are much more vain than women," a photographer who specializes in taking men's pictures recently confided to me.

"And," she continued, "the most difficult men to photograph are middle-aged men."

"That is because they want the impossible. They want to look as young and handsome as they looked in their twenties. But they also want to have 'character' in their faces."

"Take out the lines that make them look middle-aged and you also take out the lines that give character and distinction to their faces. It's impossible to give them all they ask for."

"Women aren't such a problem. Make a woman look a little prettier than she sees herself in a mirror, or make her look a little younger than she is and she is happy."

"She'll settle for that — and never mind whether her face has 'character.'"

Maybe the reason women are easier than men to photograph is simply because women are more realistic about their looks.

Early in life women accept their faults and do everything in their power to play them down and to play up their good features. Their hair styles, their make-up, and their clothes are all chosen with their face and figure faults in mind.

"The spend a lot of time before their mirrors, so they know full well what changes the years have made. No woman, for instance, grows gray suddenly. She knows when she gets her first gray hairs. But a man will often be startled to discover that he is quite gray — as though the change had come overnight. That is probably why it is much more of a shock for a man to see a photograph of himself than for a woman to see how she looks to the eye of a camera.

According to one beauty expert, about 90 per cent of American women have naturally curly hair and aren't aware of it. That is, they possess enough natural curl to do without a permanent if their hair is properly cut. Brushing, too, aids rather than hinders natural curl.

Activities For Pampa Youth Discussed At Twentieth Century Culture Club Meet

"Our Town's Youth Program" was the program topic at the meeting of Twentieth Century Culture Club in the home of Mrs. H. H. Hahn, with Mrs. L. J. Zachry as co-hostess.

Presenting the program were Mrs. J. R. Stroble, Mrs. Rufe Jordan and Johnny Campbell. COMMUNITY

Campbell, who was introduced by Mrs. Jordan, told of the work being done for boys by the Pampa Optimist Club. He discussed the boxing and baseball programs the club sponsors and runs for the boys. Campbell also recommended the Boy Scout program as an outlet for boys' energies.

SCHOOL Mrs. Rufe Jordan discussed the school activities provided for Pampa's youth, telling of the many activities available through the school system.

CHURCH Church-sponsored activities for youth were explained by Mrs. Stroble.

"We all recognize the truth of the statement that if a youth is to grow into a happy, useful, and even an acceptable, mature individual, the responsibility for achieving this is divided among the home, the church, the school and the community," she told the women.

She added that a cake is not all that is to be desired if one ingredient is left out, so will an "incomplete individual" result from the failure of one of the four agencies to provide its part in the life of youth.

The church activities she listed include Sunday School, with sponsored social activities; Training Union, Christian Endeavor and Epworth League, with their sponsored social, community and missionary activities; missionary organizations, with their sponsored social, community and missionary activities; choirs; vacation Bible schools; athletics; camp programs; and libraries.

"We cannot underestimate the importance of home and family-sponsored activities for youth," she concluded. "Too often, so much is provided by the community, school and church, that there is no time left for family-sponsored activity for youth, and this is a grave error. But, with all making provision and with parents encouraging their children in wise participation in all, I believe we will be proud of our youth, not in some distant tomorrow, but even now, as they are becoming what they are going to be."

BUSINESS SESSION Mrs. Michael Wilson, president, led the business session. It was announced the next meeting will be a Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Irene Osborne, 2107 N. Russell.

Harvesters Set For Blackhaws

Pampa's Harvesters, with easy victories already behind them, prepare today for the Phillips Blackhaws—perhaps their toughest foe of the early season—with the game to be played Tuesday night at Phillips.

The Harvester cagers rolled with precision over Childers' Bobcats Friday night, 78-33, and marched over Vernon's Lions, 85-44. Saturday night. Both games were road contests.

Coach Clifton McNeely's Pampa team played like it was in mid-season form in taking the opening games of the season. Reserves played almost as much as the regulars. The first team spent the last halves of the two games on the bench.

Following the Phillips game Tuesday night the Harvesters take off once more, meeting Portales, N.M.'s Rams there Friday night and the Clovis Wildcats there Saturday night. Their first home game will be against the Phillips Blackhaws in that period.

Pampa Boxers Gain Wins In Local Matches

Pampa's boxers won 15 matches on the 15-bout Optimist Club-sponsored attraction over four other boxing teams at the Gray County community building Saturday night. The Pampa squad lost only two matches against outside opponents while six of the matches involved local boxers only. Other teams entered were Guymon, Okla., Canyon, Berger and D & D Boxing Club of Amarillo.

Guymon won two matches and Amarillo won one to complete the attractive card. It was the second of several scheduled events slated before Golden Gloves gets underway.

More matches are scheduled here next week against Amarillo teams, For Riley, Kans., and Pampa.

- The results:
- 70 pounds — Ronnie Browning, Pampa, dec. Steve Martin, Pampa.
  - 70 — Curtis Eastman, Pampa, dec. Bobby Williamson, Pampa.
  - 90 — Leslie Heron, Pampa, dec. Bill Martin, Pampa.
  - 80 — Bryan Martin, Pampa, dec. Herman Wattle, Pampa.
  - 75 — Donnie Shipp, Pampa, dec. Jean Brown, Pampa.
  - 75 — Bill Snider, Pampa, TKO'd Charlie Martin, Pampa.
  - 75 — Mike McMurry, Guymon, dec. James Tucker, Pampa.
  - 105 — Dickie Wills, Pampa, dec. Johnnie Mayes, Amarillo.
  - 105 — Dickie James, Pampa, dec. Johnny Hill, Amarillo.
  - 110 — Carl Kirk, Guymon, dec. Orin Barnes, Amarillo.

  - 150 — Charles Snider, Pampa, dec. Darrell Bledsoe, Guymon.
  - 147 — Jim Murray, Pampa, KO'd Royce Austin, Amarillo.
  - Heavyweight — Doug Simmons, Pampa, dec. Billy Mayes, Amarillo.

Harvester Fieldhouse next Tuesday night, Dec. 11.

Scoring has been fairly even in Pampa's initial games with everyone on the 12-man team getting into the scoring columns. Dickie Mauldin took top honors against Childers with 16 points while Jerry Pope and Bill Brown had 12 each. Bill Brown and Ray Stephenson each had 16 points against Vernon. Brown collected his in the first half and Stephenson came in to score his 16 in the last half.

The Harvesters have been hitting well over 50 percent of their field goal attempts. They had a fine 86 percent in the second quarter against Childers while the Bobcats failed to sink a field goal in that period.

The Shockers have also been looking like champions. Coach Terry Culey's squad beat the Childers B team 71-28 and then coasted over Vernon's B team, 65-24. The Shockers play Phillips at 6:30 Tuesday night and they also meet Clovis and Portales B teams at the same starting time.

Pro Football Tifflists Are Near Decision Last Year's Champs Pass Opening Tests

By UNITED PRESS Frank (Merriwell) Gifford of the New York Giants will provide a big problem for the Detroit Lions or Chicago Bears in the National Football League's championship game Dec. 30 at Yankee Stadium.

New York isn't counting playoff swag yet, but it virtually clinched the Eastern Division title Sunday by defeating the Washington Redskins, 38-14. Gifford, one of the game's most versatile players, ran for two touchdowns, passed for another and caught a scoring pass.

The Green Bay Packers gave Gifford and his teammates a hefty assist by edging the second-place Chicago Cardinals, 24-21, to enable New York to take a 1½-game lead with only two games remaining.

The Bears lost the 1955 Western crown because they took a 53-14 walloping from the Cardinals and face their cross-town rivals again Sunday. The Cards wind up with a game at Cleveland.

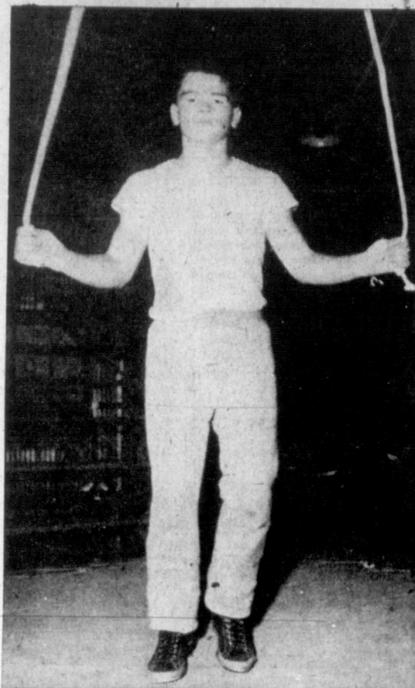

The Standings:

Jumping Into Shape

Lightweight Gary Wilhelm does some rope-jumping exercises in the Gray County community building to get in shape for boxing season. Wilhelm, a four-year veteran of Pampa boxing, plans to enter the Open Division competition in Golden Gloves this year. He has already had two fights.

Last Year's Champs Pass Opening Tests

By JOHN GRIFFIN United Press Sports Writer San Francisco and Louisville, the two big tournament champions of the last basketball season, already have passed their first tests of the new campaign and tonight it's the turn of Wilt Chamberlain, the game's most publicized sophomore.

The seven foot Chamberlain, who is expected to lead Kansas back to or near the top of the college heap, is the amazing beanpole many coaches think will revolutionize the whole court sport.

Chamberlain hasn't been seen officially in college yet, although he scored 42 points and had 29 rebounds in an exhibition game last year against the Kansas varsity; so tonight's game at Lawrence, Kans., against Northwestern is his big debut. Some rival coaches are afraid to look.

Dons Extend Win Streak San Francisco served notice it isn't ready to abdicate its national championship just yet, despite the loss of All-American Bill Russell and K. C. Jones by graduation. The Dons extended their record winning streak to 57 games by crushing Chico State, 63-34, Friday and then won their first real test, 70-56 over California on Saturday. Louisville, winner of the National Invitation Tournament last spring but under NCAA ban from a similar appearance next spring opened with an 81-63 victory over Morehead (Ky.) Saturday as 6-8 Charley Tyra began his All-American bid with 28 points.

All six 1955-56 conference champions who appeared on Saturday were winners.

The winners were San Francisco of the California Basketball Association; North Carolina State of the Atlantic Coast Conference, which drubbed Pittsburgh, 97-85; Utah of the Skyline Conference with a 63-56 win over Montana St.; West Virginia of the Southern Conference, an easy 71-47 victor over VMI; Kansas State of the Big Seven, which routed Houston, 97-58, and UCLA of the Pacific Coast Conference which defeated Nebraska, 78-60.

Saturday's over important winners included: South Dakota, with a 58-56 upset of Wisconsin in overtime on Clifton Daniels' rebound shot with 30 seconds left; Ohio State, 98-82, over Butler, Minnesota, 63-60 over Vanderbilt; Dayton, 63-50 over NIT runner-up, crushed Gustavus Adolphus, 84-68; Seattle, possibly the West's top independent, 66-59, over Utah State; Arkansas, 59-55, over Oklahoma; Northwestern, 99-60 over Western Michigan; Brigham Young, 70-66, over Washington; St. Louis, 91-73, over Cincinnati; and Niagara 75-73 over Colgate.

In addition to Kansas-Northwestern, other top games tonight include: Butler - Wisconsin, Colorado - Oregon St., Connecticut-New Hampshire, Fordham - Toronto, Utah-Hawaii, Iowa St.-Houston, Utah St.-Idaho St., Nebraska-Iowa, Texas Tech - Kansas St., Kentucky-Miami (Fla.), La Salle, Millersville, Toledo-Niagara, Ohio St.-Pittsburgh, SMU - McMurry, Texas - North Texas St., and Washington St.-Gonzaga.

The overall calibre of play in the United States has much to do with our proficiency, too, Tucker continued.

Good Foreign Potential "Don't think that there aren't some potentially great players on these other teams," he said. "They have the talents, but they just haven't been brought out in one way or another."

This, Tucker said firmly, was the best team that the United States ever had sent to the Olympics and its unblemished record proved his assertion.

U. S. Athletes Grasp For Lead As Olympics End Draws Nearer

By LEO H. PETERSEN United Press Sports Editor

MELBOURNE (UP) — Australia's crack 800-meter relay swimming team whipped the U.S. by a solid 20 yards in the only Olympic championship decided tonight, but Pat McCormick of Lakewood, Calif., headed for the third gold medal of her career by rushing into the lead after six rounds in springboard diving.

A smashing anchor leg by Jon Henricks, handsome 21-year-old Olympic 100-meter freestyle champion, gave the Aussies a new world record of 8:23.4. Only four yards ahead of Ford Komono of Honolulu when he started his final leg, Henricks splashed ahead so quickly he left Komono as if he were treading water.

The U.S. was second by five yards over Russia with Japan a fast-closing fourth.

Mrs. McCormick, a 26-year-old housewife who won two gold medals in the 1952 Olympics, easily led the 12 qualifiers for Tuesday night's springboard final. U.S. hopes soared for a big haul of points when other American girls placed third and fourth in the standings after the first six dives.

Mrs. McCormick seeks a first Mrs. McCormick, hoping to become the first in history to win both Olympic dives two consecutive times, scored a total of 76.80 points for a comfortable lead over Irene McDonald of Canada who had 73.25.

Barbara Sue Gilders, a pretty blonde from Detroit, was third in the first phase of the diving with 71.47 points and Jeanne Stunoy of Gary, Ind., was fourth with 71.02.

In one other standout performance, Shelley Mann of Arlington, Va., set a new Olympic record of 1:11.2 in the women's 100-meter butterfly trials. The butterfly is a new event in Olympic competition.

The Australians, as expected, dominated the 800-meter men's freestyle relay from the start.

Opening with 19-year-old Kevin O'Halloran, the husky Aussies followed in this order — John Devitt, 17-year-old Murray Rose and then flashy Henricks.

Their time of 8:23.6 bettered the previous record of 8:24.5 set by Russia last month. It broke the Olympic standard of 8:31.1 set by the U.S. in the 1952 games.

The second place finish for the U.S. was good for five points but Russia picked up four for third. Hence the Americans gained only one slim point in the race for the unofficial team championship and now lead Russia, 468 to 394½.

It was a comparatively quiet day on most Olympic front after Saturday's hectic session during which 26 gold medals were awarded.

Americans made some advances but had scant hopes for many medals in yachting, cycling, Greco-Roman wrestling, shooting or gymnastics. The Russians have a high point potential in most of those events.

In cycling, Jack Disney of Pasadena, Calif., lifted some eyebrows when he unexpectedly captured his heat in the 1,000-meter sprint to qualify for the quarter-finals.

The U.S. dragon class yacht, Spirit III, skippered by Eugene Walet of New Orleans, won the fifth of seven races by which the medal is decided. Kathleen, U.S. entry in the star class, was third in its race of the day.

Foreign Teams No Match For US Collegians

By OSCAR FRALEY United Press Sports Writer

MELBOURNE (UP)—Any one of America's top 15 college basketball teams could beat the best foreign team in the Olympic games. Coach Gerald Tucker of the victorious United States Olympic team said in retrospect today.

Tucker, coach of the Phillips Oilers who guided the United States to a 89-55 win over Russia in the final round Saturday night, was jubilant over the outcome of the tournament. But he didn't act like a man who was taking bows for a job well done.

"Let's look at it this way," he explained matter of factly. "There wasn't a single player on any other team in the whole Olympic basketball team who could have made our ball club."

Three Big Reasons There are three answers, according to Tucker, as to why the United States is so far ahead of the world in basketball and has never lost the Olympic championship.

"Our greatest assets are speed, height and the overall calibre of our play at home," he asserted. "Other countries have tall players but they don't seem to be able to teach the big fellows to handle themselves properly."

A case in point was Ian Krupnik, the seven foot, four-inch Russian giant who played less than two minutes in the final against the United States. He was a lumbering behemoth who spent most of his time around mid-court as he tried to get to one end of the other with the fast break passing him in the opposite direction almost before he could get turned around.

"Our big fellows, such as six foot, 10 inch Bill Russell, can move just as fast as the small fellows," Tucker added. "You remember the case of George Mikkan one of the first of the best of the bigger men. Well, he skipped rope and did countless other exercises to improve his footwork, timing and speed. The upshot is that our big fellows can go and they've got every shot in the book."

The overall calibre of play in the United States has much to do with our proficiency, too, Tucker continued.

Good Foreign Potential "Don't think that there aren't some potentially great players on these other teams," he said. "They have the talents, but they just haven't been brought out in one way or another."

This, Tucker said firmly, was the best team that the United States ever had sent to the Olympics and its unblemished record proved his assertion.

Schoolboy Grid Titles Nearing Final Stages

By UNITED PRESS

Thirty-two Texas schoolboy teams rolled on toward the four state championships today, eight of them with perfect records and six others with only one or more ties marring their records at the quarterfinal pole.

And, there were only two standouts favorites in the bunch — mighty Abilene in AAAA and Stamford in AA, both defending champions and seemingly capable of wading through the treacherous playoffs again.

Amarillo's Golden Sandies, who have known the pinnacle of success at the top in the past, found out last week just how treacherous the playoffs can be. The Sandies were rudely jolted 13-7 by Fort Worth Paschal, a team they had walloped 34-0 earlier in the season.

Basketball Taking Over Southwest

By UNITED PRESS

Southwest Conference basketball fans may find out real quick if it's true what they say about champion Southern Methodist and Rice being co-favorites for the title and Texas the most serious contender.

A 10-game schedule this week gives SMU and Rice one mutual foe—Minnesota—and sends them against two better-than-average outsiders, SMU against Oklahoma City and Rice against Auburn. Texas, meanwhile, will open a Pacific Northwest foray with games Friday and Saturday against Oregon State and Oregon.

SMU, Texas and TCU all make their first appearances of the young season tonight — SMU against McMurry at Dallas, Texas against North Texas at Austin and TCU against Austin College at Fort Worth.

The other clubs all made their debuts last week with Rice beating Trinity 89-55 with sophomores playing most of the time, Arkansas nipping Oklahoma 99-55, Baylor falling to Oklahoma A&M 68-45 and the Texas Aggies losing to Centenary 67-59.

The Aggies and Rice also are in action tonight, the former at home against St. Mary's and the latter at Beaumont against Lamar Tech. Baylor and Arkansas return to action Tuesday night with the Bears at home against the Oklahoma Aggies again and Arkansas at Wichita.

Rice takes on Minnesota Thursday night in Houston before opening a southern junket against Auburn, while SMU will take on Oklahoma City Wednesday night before tackling Minnesota Saturday. All three Mustang games on their own merits are of considerable interest.

TCU, the dashhorse contender, plays Texas Tech, which becomes a conference member next season, at Little Rock Wednesday and faces Tulsa at Fort Worth on Saturday, while Arkansas is at Tulsa on Thursday.

Dickinson Is Palm Beach Golf Winner

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UP) — Dark-haired Gardner Dickinson Jr. of Panama City, Fla., who learned the finer points of golf from Ben Hogan, resembled the "old master" himself in winning the $10,000 West Palm Beach Open Sunday.

The lean, young Dickinson shot a five-under-par 67 that enabled him to overtake faltering Sam Sneed, the second-round leader in the tourney. Dickinson won the $2,000 first-place money with a 54-hole total of 208. Sneed shot a 73 for a total of 213 and 31,400.

Al Baidling of Eridandale, Canada, carded a 68 on the final round for a 213 and third place, and Bob Tozki of Holyoke, Mass., was fourth with 71-215.

Games Expected Sugar, Orange Bowl To Be Top New Year's Day Contests

By TOM MORIARTY United Press Sports Writer

According to the wisards of odds the Tennessee-Baylor meeting in the Sugar Bowl and the Clemson-Colorado head-knocking in the Orange Bowl will be the closest-fought games among the major post-season classics.

Both contests were pegged as "pick 'em" (even - money) affairs today in the initial prices released by the Minneapolis oddsmakers.

The point spreads on the other major games favored Iowa by 6½ over Oregon State in the Rose Bowl, Texas Christian seven over Syracuse in the Cotton Bowl, and Georgia Tech 6½ over Pittsburgh in the Gator Bowl.

The bowl pairings were completed during the weekend and, with one exception, produced no surprises.

Navy was considered Texas's Christian's likely opponent in the Cotton Bowl. But following their disappointing 7-7 tie against Army Rear Admiral W. R. Smedberg, superintendent of the Naval Academy, turned down the bid because "of our record." Navy wound up with a 6-1-2 record.

Following the Middles' refusal, Syracuse was offered the Cotton Bowl berth and quickly accepted. The Orange, led by All-American half back Jimmy Brown, completed its regular season with a 7-1 record but may be overmatched against TCU which cruised to a season-ending 21-6 victory over Southern Methodist Saturday.

Georgia Tech, beaten only by Tennessee this year, agreed to play Pittsburgh in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 26, following a 35-0 victory over Georgia. It will be a revenge meeting for Panthers, who dropped a 7-0 decision to Georgia Tech last New Year's Day in the Sugar Bowl.

ACC Selects Clemson Clemson was picked to represent the Atlantic Coast Conference in the Orange Bowl by a unanimous vote of the ACC members after its convincing 28-7 victory over Furman Saturday.

Crossman Has New Frigidaire

Glamorous 1957 Frigidaire appliances with an exciting new design look were unveiled here today by Paul Crossman in Paul Crossman Refrigeration Co., showrooms at 224 N. Russell.

Household refrigerators, electric ranges and upright food freezers have been designed by Frigidaire engineers and General Motors stylists to build-in blend-in or fit into nearly any kitchen arrangement and color scheme.

"The new appliances have a completely new and different type of design," Crossman declared. "The design, squared-up lines so popular in today's architecture and functional interior design are highlighted in these new products."

He pointed out that styling experts are predicting that this concept will touch off a whole new trend in appliance design that will sweep the country in chain-reaction fashion.

The 1957 Frigidaire appliances are styled and designed so that the homemaker can have a kitchen with a built-in look without necessarily making expensive room cabinet alterations when new equipment is installed.

The thrilling new squared-up styling makes it possible for the appliance to blend into a kitchen setting with building-block simplicity, Crossman emphasized.

Frigidaire's 1957 appliances come in a provocative array of exterior colors. For the first time, the appliances are available in a new sophisticated charcoal gray as well as Mayfair pink, Starstraw yellow, Sherwood green and Snow-crest white.

There are 12 new refrigerator models with capacities from 8 to 14.1 cubic feet designed for any type kitchen or family build. All models have newly designed recessed doors to accentuate the built-in look and fit glove-anug with adjoining kitchen cabinets. Doors of all models can be easily opened from the inside — thanks to an exclusive new safety latch and an air-cushioned door seal.

A new modular design concept also has been incorporated into refrigerators this year. They are built on a four-inch module in 24, 36 and 48 inch widths.

There are many other thrilling new ideas incorporated into these fashionable refrigerators. For example, there is a new lever-operated, built-in Ice Ejector on the freezer door of one model and in the bottom freezers of others. The homemaker has only to slide a tray of ice into the device, pull the lever and cold, dry ice cubes cascade into a storage bin, ready for serving.

A completely new idea in de-frosting food storage is being introduced in Frigidaire's new refrigerators. There are special temperature zones for the various types of fresh and frozen foods, fruits and vegetables.

An important new storage development is the new Plan-A-Door for the freezer door of one model, which provides storage space in the door for nearly any type item, ranging from a half gallon milk container to the smallest condiment jar. Not only are the shelves removable, but entire storage compartments as well, permitting the homemaker to arrange them to suit the storage job at hand.

A new roll-out shelf delivers large gallon jugs or bottles from refrigerator storage to the homemaker's fingertips. In addition there are full-width roll-out shelves for general storage, plus roll-out freezer baskets. Flowing cold refrigeration, automatic defrosting food storage compartments, and special storage facilities for fresh meats, eggs, cheese, butter, leftovers and tall bottles are other important conveniences.

When the hand was played in a team match, the bidding was deferred at the other table. North made some unwise jump bids and West eventually made a sacrifice bid of six spades. North led a heart, and South won with the queen. South knew nothing about his partner's void in diamonds, and he therefore made the mistake of returning the club. This gave West time to draw trumps, and the fortunate location of the diamonds allowed West to make his contract of six spades. The winning team made a vulnerable slam at each of the two tables!

Weekly Stock Market Report

By ROBERT G. SHORTAL
United Press Financial Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—Pent-up demand exploded on Friday and the stock market ended the week on the best rally in a month.

The government's announcement that it was putting into operation an emergency oil program to aid Europe and Bethlehem Steel's surprise stock split proposal triggered the Friday rise.

The robust rally carried individual stocks up as much as 7 points or more and restored three-fourths of the $2.2 billion which had been whittled from stock values in the first four sessions of the week.

Steel and oil issues started in the final session. Friday's rise actually was an extension of the market's lull brought in support at levels where three other advances started earlier this year.

Industrials Gain
The industrial average gained 6.16 points on Friday, the sharp daily rise for that group since Nov. 1, when President Eisenhower's assurance that U.S. troops would not become involved in the Middle East fighting touched off a sharp rally. Rails rose 1.25 points and utilities 0.46-point in Friday's session.

At the end of the week, the industrial average stood at 472.75 up 0.22 on the week; rails 151.69 up 2.47; utilities 66.42 up 0.07, and 85 stocks 167.24 of 0.54.

The industrial average on Thursday touched an in-tray-day low of 460.41. There it met good demand. On Oct. 1 the industrials touched 463.83; on May 28, 463.85 and on Feb. 14, 463.89. The year's low of 458.21 was set on Jan. 23.

That's Demand Area
Wall Street has come to regard the area 458-464 in the average as a demand area and so far it has not been disappointed.

However, some market experts believe there will be further tests above the recent lows. If it breaks of the market's ability to hold above the recent lows. If it breaks through the critical support area, the chartists say the next stopping place may be 20 or 30 points lower in the average.

The overriding market issue continues to be the Middle East. Prices react to developments in that area like a thermometer to hot and cold. Tight money also is exerting some influence on the stock market. Heavy tax selling has been another factor behind the recent weakness in stock prices.

Bethlehem Steel was a star performer on Friday. Directors of the company proposed a four-for-one stock split after the close of trading on Thursday. The market got its first chance to react to the surprise move on Friday. The stock soared more than five points and finished the week with a net gain of 5 3/8.

Jacoby On Bridge

How should you bid when you discover a fine distributional fit with your partner? Should you bid the maximum at once, or should you bid gradually, allowing the opponents to push you?

The answer depends on whether the opponents have found their own fit. If they have already made that discovery, you will have trouble shutting them out. Your best tactic then is to bid gradually.

The principle is illustrated in today's hand. North might have jumped to four hearts at his first turn, attempting to shut the enemy out before they discovered their fit. North chose, instead, to bid the clubs first. By the time North's next turn came, East had doubled and West had responded in spades.

It was now too late to make a jump bid in hearts.

North bid as gradually as possible from this point on. As a result, South was able to get the hand at the excellent contract of six hearts. No skill was needed to make this contract. South simply drew trumps and established dummy's clubs.

When the hand was played in a team match, the bidding was deferred at the other table. North made some unwise jump bids and West eventually made a sacrifice bid of six spades. North led a heart, and South won with the queen. South knew nothing about his partner's void in diamonds, and he therefore made the mistake of returning the club. This gave West time to draw trumps, and the fortunate location of the diamonds allowed West to make his contract of six spades. The winning team made a vulnerable slam at each of the two tables!

Answer To Cold And Dust: New Plains Storm Windows

KEEPS OUT DUST AND HEAT — Owen Moore holds one of the famous Dust-Stopper storm windows by his Plains Aluminum Station Wagon. This window, manufactured in Panhandle by Plains Aluminum Industries, fits between the regular window and the screen so that it is invisible from the street. When the wind blows the window tightens to keep out dust and cold. Call or write Owen Moore, Pampa Area Representative, at 1057 Huff Rd., Pampa. Phone MO 1-4431 or MO 4-8538, for a free demonstration and estimate.

The first and only Factory in Texas devoted to the Exclusive manufacturing of Storm Windows and Doors is Plains Aluminum Industries, P. O. Box 38, Panhandle, Texas, Phones 2621 or 3761. There is no side line to detract our personal attention from designing, manufacturing and supervising the installation of Plains Aluminum Dust Stoppers.

Experience
There is 21 years of experience standing behind this business which assures its expansion and success. We have all the latest types of equipment and machines for precision work thus guaranteeing our customers and dealers of the Fine Storm Windows and Doors on the U.S. Market along with the type of installation that any home owner can be proud of.

There is no finer Storm Window at any price that will do what the Dust Stopper will do with ease. We employ over 15 people who make Storm Windows their profession, which in turn assures you a professional job on your home. The Dust Stopper has been proven by 24 months of Service and over 11,000 units have been installed.

Weather Stripped
The Dust Stopper Storm Window is weather stripped, has no inserts, cleans easily, fits between screen and inside windows, so that it is invisible from the street. When the wind blows the window tightens.

As you can see in above picture the top sash swings down to make cleaning easy.

When more people begin to realize how important Storm Windows are to their home from a standpoint of cleaning, heating and air conditioning, we will have to build a new plant to handle the increased business. We can turn out 15,000 units a year with the present factory and personnel.

For further information just write or call Owen Moore, 1057 Huff Rd., Pampa, Mo 4-4431 or MO 4-8538. He will go anywhere in this area and give a free demonstration and estimate.

Employment At Record High
DALLAS (UP)—Employment of non-agricultural workers in the 11th Federal Reserve district during October totaled 4,166,100, a record high for the third consecutive month, the Federal Reserve Bank has reported in its monthly business review.

Most of the 13,700 gain over September resulted from seasonal increases in government, trade and manufacturing, the report said.

The Middle East crisis, interrupting the normal market from that area, brought about an increased demand for southwestern crude oil, it said. The situation resulted in "higher allowables in Louisiana, New Mexico and Texas, a moderate increase in refinery runs, and firmer prices for crude oil and refined products," the review said.

Increase Less Than Average
The increase in consumer buying at department stores in the 11th Federal Reserve district from September to October was less than the seasonal average, the report noted.

Home furnishing sales continued weak, while the soft goods department as a whole showed a slight sales increase over a year earlier. Furniture store sales rose 10 per cent over September, but were down two per cent from October last year.

The district report said that prospective production of cotton and grain sorghums improved slightly from early season estimates. "No major improvement has occurred in moisture conditions in range areas, and forage supplies remain critically low," the report said.

Construction Declines
The value on construction contracts awarded in the district during October showed a sharp decline of 30 per cent from September and was 13 per cent below the level of a year earlier. "A continued decline in residential awards accounted for most of these decreases," the report said.

The report also noted that: "Gross loans at weekly reporting member banks in the district declined slightly during the five weeks ended Nov. 21, although commercial and industrial loans rose $19,074,000. Investments, which increased $65,818,000, were strongly influenced by treasury financing operations. Average reserve balances of member banks declined in October. The annual rate of turnover of deposits, which was 19.0 in September, rose to 21.8 in October.
