Local officers reported that they received a call at 6:02 yesterday afternoon that an injured man was at 111 S. Starkweather. Upon arrival they found Bell and rushed him to the hospital.

Some moves have been made toward compliance with federal court desegregation orders in all states but Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas.

At College Station, Dr. C. T. Lyons, superintendent of Texas A&M hospital, said the number of flu cases there has grown to 1,600. However, only 200 appeared for treatment Tuesday, he said, compared to 500 the previous day.

HOUSE JAM—The ill-fated house above blocked traffic on some of the main streets of Pampa yesterday while workmen struggled to get it out of the way and Pampa police tried to keep cars moving. This morning it was blocking traffic at the Hamilton and Kentucky intersection, just two blocks east of the Hobart and Kentucky intersection shown above. Originally located across the street from the Tex Evans Buick Co., the house was moved down Purviance and then Hobart. Above, the house obstructs traffic while workmen repair a flat tire on their truck. Beginning at 6 a. m. yesterday the officers stayed with the house until 4 p. m. yesterday afternoon, and then started again this morning. When the flat was finally fixed, the house was moved one block east, across from the Kelly clinic, where it got caught between utility poles. It is to be placed on the northwest corner of the block which corners at Hamilton and Kentucky. (News Photo)

Scientists To Peer At Sun Today

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP)—Scientists prepared to take a long indirect look at the sun today through a telescope dangling from a space-soaring balloon.

The flight, "Operation Stratoscope," is sponsored by the U.S. Navy and operated by General Mills, Inc. for the purpose of getting better photographs of the sun than have ever been taken.

Officials expected the large plastic balloon, to be launched from suburban New Brighton, to carry a powerful telescope and camera to about 80,000 feet in the heavens.

The flight is expected to last at least six hours, during which time the camera will record actions on the sun's surface, including "spots and flares."

A General Mills spokesman said the information would aid considerably in determining the sun's effects on radio waves.

The flight, highest of its kind, will not be manned.

(Continued From Page One) which is one of the world's ten basic inventions. Without it he said, we could never have made many of our scientific advances.

"The symbol for nothing, or the concrete mark for an abstraction was forbidden by the Christian church for over 1,000 years."

Charles Eagle Plume, born on a Montana Indian reservation to a half Indian mother and a German father, was graduated from the University of Colorado. He was studying for a doctor's degree in anthropology at Columbia at the outbreak of World War II. He spent three years in the Southwest Pacific as an Army scout.

Five more speakers have been scheduled by the Top o' Texas Knife and Fork club for the season. The next meeting is scheduled for Oct. 31 with Hon. Camille Chautemps, John McCallie, Peter Von Zahn and Arthur Webb explaining the United Nations Security Council in action. All meetings are to be held at the high school cafeteria and will begin at 7:30 p.m.

In closing, Eagle Plume said, "I feel this has been a council between you and me. I want to end with the quotation the Indians end their council with — 'May the camp fires always burn in this place.'"

NEGROES

(Continued From Page One) said. He referred to U.S. Judge Ronald N. Davies of North Dakota, who issued the order to admit Negroes to Central High and touched off the crisis.

Blackshirt boys During the night teen- aged white boys wearing "uniforms" of black, tight-fitting blue jeans and T-shirts that had been dyed black, cruised about the almost deserted streets.

When about six cars filled with the teenagers parked at a milk bar drive - in, police squad cars appeared suddenly and ordered the youths to go home. Some of the teen-agers argued, and police carted 15 off to the police station for disorderly conduct.

Most of Little Rock was quiet during the night with snafus drawn down in the Negro section. Only small groups of Negroes assembled in their hangouts.

Although the guardsmen were on the alert at Camp Robinson, it was doubtful that any would be brought to Central High itself unless their arms were needed. Central High, at dawn, was the domain of the paratroopers.

Some Negro troops of the 101st Airborne flew into the city but in order to avoid any trouble their officers assigned them to such menial duties as unloading trucks.

Fog Halts Trial Of Girard

CAMPWEIR, Japan (UP)—Jurisprudence took a beating today in the trial of U. S. Army Sp3-William Girard.

The on-the-spot trial itself was called because of rain and fog, and one of the three Japanese judges trying him touched off a controversy by hinting the Ottawa, Ill., soldier would get off with a light sentence.

"I do not think it was deliberate murder," Judge Yuzo Kawachi told the United Press before today's session began.

Today's hearing was on top of Hill 655 of the Camp Weir firing range where Girard shot and killed Mrs. Naka Sakai, a Japanese scrap metal scavenger, last Jan. 30. He is charged with manslaughter in her death.

The area was shin deep in mud from recent rains. Then at mid-morning more rain fell, forcing the court to take testimony under umbrellas. Finally fog enshrouded the twin-peaked firing range and Judge Kawachi called a halt to the proceedings.

Thursday's session will be held in the Maebashi district court building.

LONDON (UP)—Two British ships taking part in the current NATO exercises in the North Atlantic are using operationally for the first time a new method of flight deck communications called the "Flight Deck Magnetic Broadcast System." The system incorporates the use of tiny transistorized pocket receivers connected to ear pieces in the helmets of pilots and personnel on the decks of aircraft carriers. The system is designed to overcome the difficulty of communication caused by the noise made by jet aircraft.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The unlucky expert backed me into a corner. Since I had no escape I was forced to listen to his latest tale of woe which is even more heart rending than any of his other stories.

It seems that he decided his luck might be different on Friday the 13th so he tried a rubber bridge game. Sure enough! He got vulnerable on the first hand and on the second hand picked up a real rock crusher. He reached three no-trump after a spade overcall by East and anyone else would have made game and rubber but look what happened to him.

West chose to open the deuce of his partner's suit from king-deuce. A most unusual lead but deadly against the unlucky expert. East played the nine. He decided the lead had been a sin-

Report Of 40 Survivors Is False

HAMBURG, Germany. (UP)—The report that the U. S. naval transport Geiger had picked up 40 more survivors from the sunken German training ship Pamier brought short-lived joy to the nation today. The ship radioed the report was false.

The Zeresen Co., agents for the ship, was deluged with calls from anxious relatives who had become resigned to the fact only six of the 84 persons aboard the ship had been saved. It fired off a query to the Geiger and back came the heartbreaking denial.

In a radio message picked up by a German coastal radio station the captain of the Geiger said the only Pamier survivors he had aboard were the five rescued by the U. S. freighter Saxon and transferred to the Geiger Monday.

In addition, the U. S. Coast Guard in New York reported one of its cutters, the Absecon, picked up a lone survivor from a lifeboat drifting in the mid-Atlantic, some 600 miles west of the Azores.

Bomber Crashes In Dayton; Kills Four

DAYTON, Ohio, (UP)—One of the worst plane crashes in this aviation pioneer city took four lives and damaged seven homes Tuesday.

At dinner time in an East Side residential area a crippled Air Force B-26 bomber roared down, clipping the tops of four houses and bursting into flame.

"I was just coming out the front sidewalk when it hit," the 10-year-old daughter of Herbert Vanzant said.

"I saw something coming but I didn't know what it was. My uncle was out back cutting grass. Daddy and mother and my dog Fluffy were in the house."

Vanzant's wife, Elizabeth, about 40, and his brother-in-law, Walter Geisler, 53, were killed.

Also dead were the pilot and copilot of the plane, Maj. James E. Melancon, 36, San Antonio, Tex., father of two, and Capt. Wilho R. Heikkinen, 31, Ramsey, Mich.

The fliers, attached to the Air Research and Development Command, were coming in for a land-

MEAT AND YOUR CHILD
Keep meat on your youngsters' menus and you can rest assured they'll suffer no protein deficiency. Rapid growth and the great activity of children make the demand for adequate protein, vitamins, and minerals as well as calories more urgent than in adults.

Serve meaty breakfasts to the children and you'll know that they have a good start each day, for meat not only makes a notable contribution of top-quality protein, but it also furnishes important amounts of B vitamins — thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin — and of minerals, including iron, potassium, and phosphorus. Crisp-cooked bacon — the kind they can pick up in their fingers — makes a hit with children. Well-

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
It was Midge Ryerson who cracked the window of the Lawsons' car. He, Dave and another kid were playing ball in front of the Lawsons' house. Big for 14, Midge had a powerful pitch, and one of them sizzled right on past Dave's glove — straight into the side window of the Lawsons' parked car.

Dave saw the glass splinter. Still struggling to digest this impression, he heard someone shout "Get lost!" Then he was alone. Midge and the other kid were gone — and a red-faced, shouting Mr. Lawson was striding down his front walk towards him, shaking his fist.

Later, when he borrowed money from his father to pay his share of the damage, he was close to tears.

"It will take me weeks to pay you back from my allowance," he said. "If I'd run like Midge and that other kid, I wouldn't have to pay. I wouldn't have had to listen to old man Lawson calling me a juvenile delinquent."

Protested Dave despairingly, "What's the good of telling the truth like I did if telling it costs me $8 — and running away saves $8 for Midge and that other kid?"

His father said, "You don't tell the truth to keep money or lose it. You tell it to stand up for yourself the way you are. To discover you could stand up for yourself with the truth to Mr. Lawson is worth a million times $8 to you. You learned you're a brave boy today. So don't let me hear any more about how sad it is that it's costing you some money."

Was Dave's father right to thus impose his respect for truthfulness on his son?

Two distinguished authorities would say yes.

Dr. Dale B. Harris, director of the University of Minnesota's Institute of Child Welfare, recently told the Child Study Association of America: "The parent who does not strongly endorse — even demand — the values he feels are important may actually be transmitting weakness of faith in all values."

Added Dr. Alfred L. Baldwin, head of Cornell University's department of child development, "Parenthood must be positive. It must commit itself to standards and maintain those standards in the children's presence so that they get the idea that the universe is a place which requires a stand, a commitment in order for any activity to develop purposefully."

AUDIOMETER—B. R. Nuckols, county superintendent of schools, is accepting the presentation of a Maico audiometer, which will be used in the testing of school children's hearing, from Mrs. Gwen Gray, president of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority. Mrs. Buster Sublett, president of the City Council PTA, whose organization joined with the ESA in the purchase of the audiometer, was unable to be present when the picture was made. (News Photo)

As Youngster Grows Older, Rescale Room So He May Take Care Of It

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer
When a youngster leaves the nursery behind and marches off to school, his room usually benefits from some "growing up" changes, too. He may need more light and space to practice "homework" and to entertain his friends. More grown-up furniture and a bright color scheme may be in order.

He's also ready, I think, to take over part of the responsibility of keeping his room in order. An attractive room with smooth, easily cleaned surfaces, a minimum of clutter and as much planned storage as space permits will encourage neater habits.

Skilful use of wall space can relieve pressure on the limited floor area most children's rooms have. For example, toy storage chests mounted on the walls free the space beneath for play. Desks, homemade or bought, can be bracketed to the wall.

New lighting fixtures which swing out from the wall and can be raised or lowered to put light where it's needed leave chest and play surfaces unencumbered by perishable lamps. These come in many plain and fancy styles. Those with unbreakable metal shades are often favored for children's rooms.

If you plan to buy or make new furnishings, combine practicality with charm. This would seem the obvious course, but we've all seen some child's room weighted down with overscaled hand-me-downs or rickety chairs or fragile fabrics that show soil too quickly.

When a child has to be cautioned continually to be careful of things in his own room, the fault may lie in the furnishings. You can refurbish hand-me-downs with washable paints. You can rescale them by trimming off legs and mounting on flush bases. Or strip off excess trim and change fancy drawer pulls for simpler ones.

Fix his bed so that it is easy to make. You can take guardrails off a child's bed; mount a frame on free-wheeling casters so that it swings out easily from the wall; invest in a couple of contour sheets or remodel old straight ones so corners fit snugly. A tailored, boxed spread is usually easier for young hands to put in position than one that must be centered.

Arrange clothes closet so that he can reach and hang up his own things. In our case this meant lowering the rod and buying a few small-sized plastic hangers that fit small jackets and dresses better than slippery wire ones.

Eliminate outgrown or outworn clothes so that these don't take up valuable space in closet or drawers. I learned from my youngster that the reason he was reluctant to put clean clothes away was that the drawers were overcrowded. If he pulled hard to open them, they were apt to fall out.

Until we can buy him a bigger and better-built chest, we fixed the old one by emptying the drawers of clothes he doesn't wear often to make room for those he does. We waxed the runners for smoother opening and closing.

West Texas Population Increases

ABILENE — Population, non-farm employment and factory jobs in West Texas all increased substantially in 1956, an article in the current issue of West Texas Today states.
"Population and nonfarm employment each increased at a 4 per cent rate, and factory jobs gained twice as rapidly," T. d. Clifford, supervisor of statistics for the Texas Employment Commission, writes in the September issue of the monthly publication of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.
"The population of West Texas, as estimated by the Texas Employment Commission, rose 115,854 to a total of 2,967,274. All non-farm employment gained 34,201 to 890,510, and factory employment climbed 10,624 to 143,746," Clifford says.
West Texas, as referred to in the article, refers to the 132 county region served by the WTCC and bounded on the east by a line running generally from Gainesville through Arlington, Waco, Fredericksburg and Del Rio.
"There was some shifting about of population in a continuation of the long-time trend from rural areas to cities. This movement was intensified in 1956 by the climax of the prolonged drought, which forced a considerable number of farmers and farm workers to look for jobs in town," Clifford says.
"West Texas is sufficiently diversified in resources to take care of such a situation. Fifty counties in the territory either lost population or held stationary, but industrialized counties made up for the difference. Tarrant and El Paso counties, for instance, each gained more than 20,000 residents in 1956. Increases of around 10,000 each were made by Ector, Lubbock and Taylor counties. Wichita scored an 8,000 gain.
"The 143,746 factory workers in West Texas make up 15 per cent

By JOE SARGIS
 United Press Sports Writer
 NEW YORK (UP)—Stanford and Northwestern, a pair of teams offering Broadway oddsmakers little to go on, were rated "evens" today for Saturday's nationally televised college football game of the week.
 Both finished sixth in their respective conferences last year and few if any observers have picked them to finish higher this season.
 However, the oddsmakers had decided "lines" on the nation's more highly regarded eleven, Texas A&M, Georgia Tech, Michigan State and Minnesota, ranked second, third, fourth and fifth, respectively this week by the United Press Board of Coaches, all were figured to score big wins.
 Oklahoma Idle
 Oklahoma, the defending national champion and the nation's top team in the first weekly rankings this season, is idle Saturday, but the Aggies are rated prohibitive favorites over Texas Tech in a Saturday night game. Georgia Tech is picked by 10 points over 16th ranked Southern Methodist. Michigan State gets the nod by 21 points over Indiana, and Minnesota is favored by 13 over Washington.

 Michigan, another leading Big Ten power, is picked by 14 over Southern California, a PCC title contender, while the Illinois-UCLA game at Los Angeles Friday night was rated "pick 'em."
 Tennessee, a ranking southern power with only three tough games on its 1957 schedule, tangles with Auburn, one of those toughies, and is picked by seven points. This game is expected to show how far the Vols can go toward a high national ranking.

 Notre Dame, hopeful of bouncing back from the worst season in its long and colorful career, was rated a one-point underdog against Purdue in its season opener, while California and Washington State were rated even and Cornell was picked by two points over Colgate in other expected close games.
 In other leading inter-sectional games, Pittsburgh, which bowed to Oklahoma last Saturday, was the choice by six points over Oregon. Army was picked by 19 over Nebraska in the Cadets' first game of the season. Syracuse was rated 14 points better than Iowa State, the improving Ohio State Buckeyes were made 13 points better than Texas Christian, and Oregon

State was picked by eight over Kansas.
Duke, Baylor Picked
 Duke, a perennial southern power and the nation's ninth-ranked team, was picked by 20 points over Virginia, Baylor got the nod by a touchdown and extra point over Houston and Texas was picked by the same margin over Tylahse.
 In other games by sections, Navy by 21 over William and Mary, Penn. State by 14 over Pennsylvania in the East; Maryland 7 over North Carolina State, West Virginia 6 over Virginia Tech, Mississippi 6 over Kentucky, Florida 13 over Wake Forest and Clemson 6 over North Carolina in the South; Wisconsin 21 over Marquette and Cincinnati 7 over Wichita in the Midwest; Arkansas 13 over Tulsa in the Southwest, and Colorado 13 over Utah in the Rockies.
TWO GOOD TO CARDS
 CHICAGO (UP)—The Chicago Cardinals have obtained waivers on Charley Twogood, 230-pound offensive tackle from the Los Angeles Rams in exchange for a future draft choice. Twogood played with the Rams for six years.

Lefors JH Has Opener Tomorrow

(Special to The News)
 LEFORS — The Lefors Junior High School football team, the Bandits, opens its season Thursday night against McLean's Junior High there at 7:30 p.m.
 The Bandits, coached by Eugene Collingsworth, were undefeated last year. Most of Coach Collingsworth's team graduated into high school at the end of last school year, however, and he expects a tougher year this term.
 Collingsworth attended college at West Texas State College and played high school football for Lefors Athletic Director and head football coach H. W. Callan when Callan was at Shamrock.

Winter Olympics Cease Bobsledding
 SOFIA, Bulgaria (UP)—There will be no bobsledding in the 1960 winter Olympic games at Squaw Valley, Calif.
 That was determined Tuesday by the International Olympic Committee, which is holding its Congress here, approved a proposal to drop bobsledding made by the organizers of the Squaw Valley games.

ST. LOUIS (UP)—August A. Busch Jr., president of the St. Louis Cardinals, congratulated the Milwaukee Braves Tuesday in a telegram to Brave Board Chairman Lou Perini. Busch said: "We are proud to have you represent the National League (in the World Series) and will be even more proud when you are world champions."

New York Considers More Teams To Fill Vacancies

NEW YORK (UP)—Mayor Robert Wagner's optimistic statement that New York may acquire a major league team to replace the Giants and Dodgers was founded on the fact that a group of local businessmen is planning to make offers to four National League teams.
 These teams, the United Press learned, are the Cincinnati Redlegs, Philadelphia Phillies, Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago Cubs. The Redlegs already have turned down one offer from the group which, incidentally, includes a current stockholder in a National League club.
 This is what the group thinks of its chances of buying one of the four teams:

 CINCINNATI — The group is sure the Redlegs are for sale but that Powell Crosley does not want to sell it to someone who will take it from Cincinnati.
 PHILADELPHIA — The group has no idea whether Bob Carpenter will sell but will make him an offer.

PITTSBURGH — One member of the group told the United Press, "If the Redlegs do not come to New York, I believe there is a very good chance it will be the Pirates."
 CHICAGO — The same member told the U.P.: "Phil Wrigley is a very wealthy man but we believe he might be induced to sell the Cubs."

Spahn To Hurl 1st Game Of Series For Milwaukee

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press Sports Writer

Fred Haney can make it official now—Warren Spahn will open the World Series for the Milwaukee Braves a week from today.

Spahn clinched the assignment Tuesday night when he beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-1, in the "hangover" game of the National League race. The victory was the 36-year old left-hander's 21st—and also just about clinched his right to be named the major league pitcher of the year.

Hank Aaron, the Braves' No. 1 candidate for most valuable player honors, again swung the big bat for the new NL champions. Aaron, whose two-run 11th-inning homer wrapped up the flag Monday night, hammered a grand-slam homer off Sam Jones in the first inning and from then on it was all downhill for Spahn.

Ted Williams hammered out his 38th homer of the year to give the Boston Red Sox a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators. Williams grounded out in the first inning, however, and ended a string of 16 consecutive appearances at the plate in which he reached base safely. He struck out and walked in his other two appearances to dip one point to .384.

Frank Sullivan was the beneficiary of Williams' homer, chalked up his 14th win after a fine duel with rookie Hal Griggs.

The Chicago White Sox beat the

Shockers Host Perryton In Tilt Tomorrow Night

The Pampa Shockers go for their second victory of the season tomorrow night as they meet the Perryton "B" team in Harvester Park at 7:30 p.m.

Composed of high school sophomores, the Shockers won their first tilt last Thursday night against the Dumas "B" team, 28-6.

Class AAA Teams Rated

DALLAS (UP)— Snyder, Levelland and Palestine moved into the top 10 ranks in the United Press Texas High School Football Coaches Board Class AAA ratings today in a general reshuffling that saw only the 1-2 teams, Nederland and Graham, hold their positions.

Palestine made the biggest jump from 17th to 10th place, while Levelland moved up five notches to seventh and Snyder two places to ninth as Kingsville, McKinney and Garland dropped out of the top 10.

The Breckenridge Bucks, who polished off high-ranking Wichita Falls in the state's top upset last week, matched Palestine's seven-run leap and surged all the way into third place. Kilgore held onto fourth, San Antonio Edison dropped one notch to sixth and Andrews picked up one place to eighth after the second week of balloting by the 16 coaches.

Nederland and Graham, with 148 and 138 points, respectively, dominated the ratings and the voting was so close for the last four places that only 18 points separated seventh-place Levelland from 14th-ranking McKinney. Kingsville headed up the second 10, followed by Littlefield, Brenham, McKinney, Garland, Sweetwater, Del Rio, Phillips, Stephenville and Cleburne.

Nederland polled 11 first place votes, Graham and Fort Neches got two each and Breckenridge one. No ballot listed Nederland lower than third, while Graham, which got 10 second-place votes, was listed no lower than fourth. Graham picked up 41 points during the week for its 85-0 romp over Fort Worth Tech, while Nederland's total was up two points after it beat Tyler 6-0.

Hard to Figure
Kingsville's plunge in the ratings was a bit difficult to explain since the Brahmas won their second straight with a 21-13 verdict over San Antonio Tech. McKinney, however, was held to a 7-7 tie by Birdville and Garland was deadlocked by Cleburne.

None of the top-ranking clubs are matched against each other this week. Nederland plays Beaumont South Park, Graham is idle, Breckenridge plays Gainesville, Kilgore meets Fort Worth Brewer, Port Neches plays Lufkin, Edison meets McAllen, Levelland plays Plainview, Andrews tackles Seminole, Snyder plays Big Spring and Palestine faces Tyler.

Reapers Meet Berger At Home Tomorrow

The Pampa Reapers open their conference play tomorrow afternoon as they meet Berger in Harvester Park at 3:45.

The Reapers have previously racked up two victories in downing Bowie of Amarillo, 6-0, and Sam Houston of Amarillo, 20-13. Composed of ninth grade students, the Reapers are competing in conference play with Berger, Dalhart, Dumas and Phillips for the northern half of the conference. The Amarillo schools compose the southern half, with the championship to be decided at the end of the season.

Probable starters for tomorrow's game will be:

Eben Warner	Right end
Earl Leath	Right tackle
Immy Crouch	Right guard
Duke Garren	Center
Jackie Bromlow	Left guard
Bill Langley	Left tackle
Steve Dobbin	Quarterback
Lucky Dunham	Right halfback
Sherill Miller	Fullback

In last week's game with Sam Houston, the Reapers led in first downs, 16-12, and in yardage gained rushing by the wide margin of 310 to 108. After Berger, the Reapers play a second conference tilt when they meet Dalhart Oct. 3 here at 3:45 p.m.

Class A Top-Notch Teams Should Be Secure Friday

By UNITED PRESS

There'll be a total of 10 district games scattered throughout an otherwise unimpressive 142-game schedule for the state's Class A schoolboy football teams this week end.

Title play has been under way in two of the larger districts for a couple of weeks, but this week still others join in the championship play.

In District 15, Liberty-Eylau and Talco get together in a game that counts, while George West meets Falls City in a title game in District 29.

Planters To Go Against Perryton

The Pampa Planters will journey to Perryton tomorrow afternoon for their second tilt of the season against the junior Rangers at 3:30.

The Planters dropped their opener last Thursday to Berger, 27-0. Composed of eighth grade students, the Planters play in a conference with Berger, Perryton and Phillips, playing each team two times.

Next game for the Planters will be against Phillips there Oct. 3. The team is coached by Frank Craig.

Hal Lahar Named Coach Of Week

By JOHN COLTON
United Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)— He started playing football as a high school junior in Oklahoma City when a friend told him it could help earn a college scholarship.

He produced a winner for five years at Colgate although his team was undermanned and played only a couple of home games each year.

His six-year contract of Colgate still had three years to run when he jumped into the hotbed of Southwestern football because "I felt the challenge was too much to pass up."

He's the United Press Coach of the week, Harold W. (Hal) Lahar of Houston, who made his debut at his new job Saturday with a 7-0 upset of powerful Miami of Florida for the biggest surprise of the first football weekend of the season.

Top Area Gridders Named

Three area teams dropped from the ranks of the undefeated last Friday night as Lefors went under to White Deer, 20-7; Wheeler was downed by the Stinnett Rattlers, 12-0; and Perryton dropped to the Canyon Eagles, 20-7.

In other battles, Shamrock was defeated by Clarendon 14-7, and Groom won over Gruver, 27-19.

White Deer vs Lefors
In White Deer's win over Lefors, tailback Courtney White proved one of the hardest running backs of the game, rolling up a major part of the Buck's gains. On the line for White Deer's powerful offense was Brian Cody, providing for the backfield to run 18 first downs during the game, while scoring the winning 20 points.

For the Pirates, it was Tex Nolan who proved a valuable force in the Lefors running attack. Nolan filled the halfback slot, both offensively and defensively, both tending the line for the Pirates was Charles Dickerson, who ran offensive end and defensive tackle.

Perryton vs Canyon
As the Perryton Rangers dropped to the powerful Eagles of Canyon, quarterback Harold Shiftlett and end Howard Swink were out-

GIANTS MAKE CUT
NEW YORK (UP)—The world champion New York Giants got down to the 35-player limit Tuesday night with only two rookies able to win berths with the National Football League club. John Bookman of Miami (Fla.) ## 'We Must Complex'

- "What we must have is more school buildings so that we can have better education."
- "What we must do is raise the pay of teachers."
- "We must enlarge our existing government buildings."
- "We must build a nation-wide federal highway system."
- "We must give of our money to foreign politicians so that they remain on our side of the iron curtain."
- "We must build more multi-purpose dams."
- "We must subsidize the farmers so that all of us have enough to eat."
- "We must enlarge our nation's hospital facilities to take care of the mentally ill."
- "We must see that every person past the age of 60 has a pension large enough for comfortable living."
- "We must produce electricity, gas and other fuels at below cost."
- "We must stand ready to resist aggression anywhere in the world."
- "We must assist all backward and sub-standard nations."
- "We must assist all backward and sub-standard nations."
- "We must employ the United Nations fully in order to prevent war."
- "We must recognize that the Constitution is out-moded and thus not be bound by its horse and buggy restrictions."
- "We must see to it that our president has all the power and money he needs to do whatever he thinks best."
- "We must work toward the day when every person in the world will have social security."
- "We must recognize that all persons have a right to good health and that the government can provide it if the money is made available."

There are literally hundreds of similar quotations we could use, each of which carries the same theme, but the above will serve. These statements, without exception, are sophistry. They are false and phony. Some of them contain a number of misconceptions, others only a few. But there is one general fallacy which runs through the entire lot. That fallacy is found in the use of words, "we must."

Why must? And why we? The word must contains an element of compulsion. It creates a sense of urgency and force. Something MUST be done. Why? Is there a single one of the above quotations which relates to each individual minding his own business? No, there is not. In every case the implication is that aside from ourselves, other persons are fools. They simply cannot take care of themselves. Hence the urgency. Hence the apparent necessity for us to interfere in everyone's business.

In the items listed in this brief run-down of socialistic ideas and schemes, is there a single indication that others, too, may be aware of what is going on? Is there a single appearance of willingness to let others decide as to what they want and wish to pay for? No. Others cannot decide, and apparently cannot pay for anything. The compulsion is on us. It appears to be a duty which must be undertaken out of sheer compassion for others.

And what about that we? Why must it always be the American people who come to everyone's rescue? Why must we pay all the money? Why must we decide before those who are to receive our benevolence know or understand the purpose of our outpouring? Then, there is another point, too, which could be raised. After cataloging these various demands actually made by various American political leaders during the past ten years, there is one more item which is usually added by the person saying, "we must." That is, "Of course this thing which WE MUST do, won't cost you (his immediate audience) anything. The entire cost will be borne by others."

Who are these others? The implication, spoken or not, is that the wealthy will pay for all the goodies and WE will benefit. Just how true is this implication? It is as false as the "we must" nature of every political demand. The WE who are sticking our noses, by means of politics, into every activity under the sun, are the same WE who will pay for it all. And make no mistake about that.

The government is not WE. WE are the governed. We are also the taxpayers. And we are all the taxpayers there are, the total of us. There are no potential taxpayers in this country as yet untaxed. The government has no money. It is a bankrupt mechanism foisting its do-good schemes off on the taxpayers under the urgency of the "we must" concept. And also, under the outright lie that others will pay the price. There are no others.

We ought to think these things over carefully the next time we hear some politically minded person saying "we must."

Los Angeles Schools Again Battle For UNESCO

The recent defeat of school board members in Los Angeles who objected to the schools using textbooks and policies that promoted UNESCO, by board members who favored using the schools to indoctrinate the youth in UNESCO and One World, is a nice illustration of what can take place when government has the authority to compel children to read and study what the school superintendent may decide is good for the children. It is hard to think of anybody having more power and more influence than the man who has the power to select the books the children must study. Actions at a recent board meeting show the policy of the Los Angeles schools will be completely changed. The board will permit essay contests in the schools to promote UNESCO. They will do this in face of the fact that the United States Senate Judiciary Subcommittee has this to say in their report of March 4, 1957: "Among less than 90 Americans employed by UNESCO, the International Organizations Employees Loyalty Board found 14 cases of doubtful loyalty. In all the other international organizations with investigations involving thousands of individuals, only four other cases of doubtful loyalty were reported by the board."

And now the children in their formative period of years are to have essay contests promoting UNESCO. And, of course, who will be the judges of the essay contests? Those who favor UNESCO and One World; those who discard the American concept that governments derive their just power from the consent of the governed.

Read Many Thousands of Pages Of Textbooks

I have, for many years, been reading textbooks on social studies used in the schools. I must have 20 textbooks on that subject. Some 20 years ago I started to read the Rugg books - six large volumes. I was so astounded that I quoted from the textbooks day after day and explained what they really meant. The Elks and the American Legion took it up and got the Rugg books out, but that did not solve the problem because they put in other books that were just as bad - such books as "Madruger's American Government," which has been one of the leading textbooks on social problems throughout the United States. The author of this book seems to have no conception of what liberty means. It simply means absence of aggressive force and fraud used against an individual and his getting what he wants by benefiting others rather than injuring them. Page after page of this book advocates bigger government and less liberty. On Page 17 it says: "For us liberty is relative, not absolute." Yet our Founding Fathers pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor to support liberty, life and the pursuit of happiness. Our children are being taught that our Founding Fathers were in error. This publicity of what was in the textbooks attracted the attention of the Los Angeles Times. On January 28, 1959, they devoted their lead editorial of nearly a column, under the heading of "Informing Children to the kind of textbooks used. The first paragraph reads: "R.C. Hollis, publisher of the Santa Ana Register, has been doing yeoman service in the cause of common sense by getting a number of 'pinko' textbooks eliminated from the Santa Ana public schools. He has encountered a new problem, however, in a volume which the State Department of Education in its wisdom has made a standard textbook for pupils in the higher grades of all California elementary schools and hence cannot be eliminated by local effort. Only protest on a State-wide basis can be effective in such a case."

Then the editorial goes on to show what the textbook "America and the New Frontier," by George Earl Freeland, taught the impressionable youth of the land. Among other things it said: "Leaders of labor," writes Mr. Freeland, for example, "have come to be highly regarded," the context indicating that he may have had in mind some of the founders of the organized labor movement. Does he consider that such present-day leaders of labor as Harry Bridges, John L. Lewis, Dave Beck, Al Rosser, Harry Dail and their ilk are 'highly regarded' or that children should be taught so to regard them?"

Beck was so highly regarded that he was on the Board of Regents of the University of Oregon. Then the editorial concludes with this paragraph: "These are representative samples, among many cited by Mr. Hollis, of similar superficial, undigested, unanalyzed flights from reality. If the State Curriculum Commission cannot find a social science textbook giving an accurate picture of social and industrial problems it would do well to drop the subject altogether."

I doubt whether those people who believe that the state can educate the youth of the land to know how government should be limited and know the difference between right and wrong, have ever read 100th part of the pages I have read of textbooks used in the government schools. Undoubtedly that is the reason they still have confidence that a monopoly on education is good.

If we judge education by the condition we are in today, there's something woefully wrong with the education we are subjecting our children to in their formative years.

Hank To Do Battle With Foreign Waiters

By HENRY McLEMORE

ROME — Before I leave Europe for home this time, I am going to try an experiment. If the experiment works I will become the first American tourist to have actually eaten as cheaply as is planned in a European restaurant. Thousand of tourists think they eat for a song over here, but that is because they are hypnotized, or mesmerized, or something, by the prices printed on the menu. They read, for example, of a fixed price dinner at 600 lire. They order it, eat it, and though they pay a bill of nearly twice that amount, they leave convinced that they have dined for under a dollar. The forget all about the extras that aren't listed on the menu, and a European dinner, be it in a good, medium, or bad restaurant, has more extras than a De Mille epic. To start with, there is always a cover charge that the printer forgot to put into type. It is a v run as little as 50 lire, but it'll be on the bill. Then there'll be butter tacked on, and after that bread, and in 99 cases out of a 100, water. And you'll be charged by the amount of bread you eat — one roll costs so much, two rolls a little more, and so on. It's the same with butter. You'll never get by with paying for only one pat if you eat a pat and a half, or even a pat and a quarter. Usually each vegetable adds a little more on to the bill, and if you nibble so much as one leaf of lettuce, the waiter will see you and jot it down. But this isn't all. There are always two or three highly mysterious items listed, and no one, to my knowledge, has ever deciphered them. Everyone tries, but everyone meets with failure. They are always written in a hand that bears no relation to any language on earth. The words — if they are words — usually start with a grand whir, flatten out to a straight line for a while, and end in a maze of loops and dips and twists. The secret items are written in the same way by waiters of all European countries, giving rise to the suspicion that somewhere on the continent there is a school which teaches the unfathomable script. It's probably located in a cave, somewhere in France. Along with this weird hand, the waiters are taught an unintelligible language which they use when you ask them what the fanciful scrawl means. You always get an answer, but it is gibberish, and foreign gibberish at that. The experiment I am going to try in an effort to get out of just one restaurant without paying more than I intended to is this: I am going to walk in and stand erect in the middle of the floor, refusing all efforts to seat me at a table. Then I am going to order say, a plate of spaghetti with tomato sauce, after carefully noting the price. I am going to eat it standing up. I am going to order nothing else, not even a glass of tap water. I want to see if, when I get my bill, there will be only one item on it — one order of spaghetti. The chances are there'll be at

Clearing House

Articles for this column are preferred to be 300 words or less in length. However, longer articles may be printed. By opposing an owner's use of his property as he sees fit, for industry, schools, churches, homes, etc., a person or group automatically and necessarily reveals its unfair prejudice. If noise, sanitation, appearance, etc., are used as arguments the critics should know that laws provide protection for people in these matters. Perhaps the most used argument, and the most ridiculous and unreasonable one, is that a certain school, industry, or family being located on their own private property will lower the value of surrounding property. Such a claim clearly reveals the unfair prejudice of the critics. The value of anything is determined by what it is worth to the one who has it or wants it. One person will not sell a car below a certain price, but another will. One customer will not pay above least one or two extras. Standing room, perhaps, or 100 lire for wear and tear on the floor tiles or on the plate and silverware. It should be an interesting experiment, even though a messy one. Eating spaghetti while standing in a busy restaurant couldn't possibly be an easy trick. There are many people who would gladly pay a dollar or more extra for a home near an industry where they can do work. Therefore, wherever an industry is located it INCREASES the value of the surrounding property for some people. There are those who want to pay more for a home near a certain school. Therefore, ANY school INCREASES the value of surrounding property for some people. Many colored people would gladly pay more for a home because it is near that of another colored family. Therefore, it INCREASES the value of surrounding property when a colored family moves into a home. It is hard to understand why a person or group will allow itself to publicly reveal its unfair prejudice by trying to prevent certain schools, industries and people from locating on their own private property, with such an excuse that it will lower the value of surrounding property. In fact, it is hard to understand why people and groups don't mind their own business. Sincerely, R. J. Smith, 7051 Thornton Ave., Anaheim, California

Allies Say US Foreign Policy Is 'Haphazard'

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Administration's arms airlift to friendly Arab countries is Washington's first major diplomatic offensive to be generally condemned by friends and foes abroad. It supports even our Allies' reiterated opinion that our foreign policy is haphazard and slightly hysterical. The screams from Communist, Egypt and Syria, as well as from Moscow, were to be expected and discounted. But the prospect of an American contribution to an arms race in this inflammable area has aggravated Britain, France, India, Israel, and brought a word of warning from King Saud.

In their belief, it furnishes Russia with a plausible pretext for offsetting our military efforts around the globe, and for exploitation at the current session of the United Nations. As the Anglo-French, Israeli attack on Egypt last fall tended to nullify the psychological impact of Russian brutality in Hungary, so our intervention in Jordan, Iran and Iraq overshadows the U.N.'s debate of that campaign of terrorism by the invading Communists.

DULLES' ATTITUDE — Secretary Dulles' attitude has been peculiar and puzzling from the start. At first, he was inclined to minimize the emergency of Communist sympathizers as the political rulers of Syria. It was not until after he received a report from Special Emissary Loy Henderson that Dulles showed alarm and rushed weapons to Syria's pro-West neighbors. The incident suggests that our intelligence system in the Middle East, as was true with respect to the Aswan Dam and Suez Canal crises, is inaccurate and inadequate.

Although seeking a huge loan here, that did not prevent Prime Minister Nehru from expressing his concern. Instead of guns and tanks, he urged greater economic assistance for these underdeveloped and underprivileged nations. Abba Eban, Israeli Ambassador, protested that, if the arms are ever used, it would probably be against Israel, not Syria. Although Israel's enemy and a Nasser cohort, King Saud joined the chorus of protest. BRITISH PAPER'S COMMENT — The liberal Manchester Guardian, which has frequently praised this country's leadership and generosity, as reflected in the Marshall Plan, NATO, the Truman Doctrine and Korea, sees a great gain for Muscovite propaganda from our action. It says: "The Russians must be delighted with all the excitement. They have succeeded in opening another front in the cold war. "The more definite they can make the polarization between supporters of East and West, and the deeper they can make the gulf between the Arab peoples and their governments, the greater advantage they can draw from their Syrian connection. Mr. Henderson has helped them greatly. "An arms race in the Middle East is certainly not in the Arabs' interest, still less in Israel's; nor is it in the West's. "The atmosphere is so electrically charged that explosives lying around are more likely to do damage there than anywhere else. "The Soviet Government could probably destroy American policy there overnight. If Syria felt encouraged to march against Israel, it would make a classic case for the Eisenhower Doctrine. But what would be the use of arms flown to Jordan, and on which side would King Saud fight?"

MIDDLE EAST CRISIS — Many foreign diplomats at Washington believe that, as Truman did in Korea, it would have been wise to policy for President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles to submit this latest Middle East crisis to the United Nations General Assembly for discussion and possible action. Their reports do not bear out Henderson's advice that Russia has taken over the Syrian Government, despite the recent shipments of arms and money to Damascus.

Moreover, such a move would have perverted Russia, Egypt, Syria and their sympathetic mobs in the streets of nearby nations from branding the United States — again — as "imperialistic and militaristic." We may appreciate that our policies in this region are merely defensive and idealistic, but we do not seem to have sold that theory to the people on the spot.

The Doctor Says

By Edwin J. Jordan, M. D.

Mrs. J. D. writes that she has been having a great deal of trouble with splitting fingernails. She adds that she has been taking calcium, gelatin, and wearing rubber gloves because of the possibility that soaps are partly responsible. She wonders particularly whether this difficulty is related to an operation she had some time ago for removal of the womb — hysterectomy. It is possible, of course, that there is some relation to the operation but it seems unlikely. It is certain that trouble with the nails or other difficulties is quite common. While I cannot make any specific recommendations, the subject is certainly worth discussing.

The nails of the fingers and toes are subject to a number of difficulties from local disorders — injury, dietary deficiencies, general skin diseases. For example, most of us will get temporary ridging of the nails following a severe illness associated with fever. This, as a rule, is not permanent. It is doubtless true that the nails are affected by disorders of the glands of internal secretion, poorly fitted shoes or gloves, dirt and neglect. One of the most important diseases which affect the nails directly is an inflammation around the base — that is in the nail bed. This is the result of infection with germs and its common name is "whitlow."

A single nail may be involved or all of them. This results in ridging and sometimes the nail separates and falls off. The treatment, of course, is to attack the infection. In extremely severe cases the nail may have to be removed. Ringworm can affect the nails and may be difficult to cure. Psoriasis is another skin disease which may cause nails to become pitted and deformed. White spots, or streaks often appear in the nails. This is most common in young people, and is on the fingers rather than the toes. Irritation of the nails from polishes or lacquers is sometimes responsible for difficulty. In psoriasis, ringworm or eczema of the nails, treatment has to be aimed at the particular disease responsible.

When some general condition is at fault, such as vitamin deficiency or wasting disease, local treatment is not likely to be effective. The distant cause must be identified and appropriate treatment undertaken. Disturbances of the nails are common. The cause is often difficult to identify and cure is often tantalizingly slow. The maintenance of general good health, avoidance of injury and good care of the nails are probably the most important precautionary measures.

'Catastrophic Illness' Insurance Comes To Forefront In America

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—When severe illness strikes the average American home, the reaction almost invariably is: "Doctor, do whatever is necessary and we will pay for it somehow."

That happened in approximately a million families last year. Many of them had medical bills that exceeded the father's total income for the year. The bills ran in the thousands of dollars for doctors' fees, surgery, hospitalization, medicines, laboratory tests, X-rays, nurses.

Of those million families, their health insurance covered only about 25 per cent of the cost. Many were put in financial straits through which they will struggle the rest of their lives. And many of the illnesses were of the type that are prolonged.

That is a spectre which most of us have worried about. The need to do something about it has led to the booming of a new type of health insurance which is generally known as "catastrophic" or "major medical."

Backed by Government, UPIons in the year 1952 only 689,000 persons had such insurance. Now five years later, the total covered by major medical insurance is around 10 million. It has the hearty endorsement of the government, labor unions and many of the nation's big corporations.

Here, in brief, is how such a policy works:
The insured and his family are covered for expenses up to a very liberal limit, perhaps $5,000 or even $10,000.

His smaller medical costs are not insured. That is the so-called "deductible" amount. It may be $50 and all expenses up to that amount must be borne otherwise. It is similar to automobile deductible insurance.

But once the medical expenses reach, say $250, the insurance takes effect and goes to the limit. In virtually all such policies, however, the patient must pay 20 or 25 per cent of the bill himself while the insurance company pays 80 to 75 per cent.

The necessity for this so-called "co-insurance" provision is fairly obvious. It deters the patient from staying in a hospital longer than is necessary, demanding treatments, examinations, drugs and services that are superfluous—but which he might demand if "nobody" were paying.

This is the point on which most criticism of major medical insurance is based. Its critics say it is inflationary, that doctors and patients will conspire to boost bills. They say that may be particularly applicable to doctors, faced with the choice between an expensive and inexpensive treatment and taking the costly one.

Insurance companies themselves are concerned about this possibility, but they say the ethics of the profession will cope with it. Also, the size of such bills must be "reasonable, necessary and customary." Appeals against alleged overcharging may be made to medical societies.

The cost of such insurance depends on the amount that is deductible, the maximum benefit payment that can be made and the income of the insured. The cost of a fairly typical major medical policy in one corporation for a factory worker and his family was $70.20 yearly.

Preventive Medicine Uncovered
These plans generally do not cover preventive medicine—regular checkups, inoculations, fitting of eyeglasses or hearing aids or most dental work.

Most of those with major medical insurance decide to have some smaller hospital and surgical bills, smaller hospital and surgical bills.

The misuse and abuse of major medical insurance obviously could spiral into impossible costs that would raise premiums above the reach of most persons. As one insurance company said, "while our resources stand behind each policy, the company in the long run must collect enough total premiums to support the total payments."

Doctors, too, are worried that they will be called upon to carry out unnecessary procedures. A survey taken by the American Medical Assn. produced such comments as: "Not a day goes by that we aren't being pressured to do something we would like not to do."
The doctor can, of course, refuse. But the patient can reply, "Then I'll go elsewhere" and frequently he does.

Nevertheless, major medical insurance seems one of the fundamental answers to catastrophic illness. Marion B. Folsom, secretary of health, education and welfare has termed it "perhaps the most venturesome and important new development in the voluntary health insurance field."

MILWAUKEE — Warren Spahn, veteran left hander, reflecting on Milwaukee's chances of winning the pennant and the World Series: "Sure, we'll win the pennant. And we'll do all right against the Yanks in the Series, too."

AT LONG LAST — The king has answered. Arlene Francis, 15, of Columbus, Ohio, wrote King Hussein of Jordan last March after meeting Jordan's U.S. ambassador in Washington. The king said his reply was delayed because of "a slightly disorganized state of affairs in my office." Hussein said he was touched by Arlene's sincerity and outlook on world affairs. The king advised her that if she wrote again she should "write 'Personal' on the envelope." "It's just wonderful," said Arlene.

Eve Arden Makes A Big Switch In TV Appearance

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Eve Arden, returning to television after a year's hiatus, plays a chic woman of the world in contrast to her former plain-Jane "Our Miss Brooks" role — and she's hoping viewers can make the switch, too.

"It's not easy to lose an identity after you've played a role for 10 years on radio and four years on TV," she sighed. "Hardly a day goes by but what someone calls me Connie Brooks."

The problem is complicated by the fact that Connie hasn't been killed off. The re-runs are still going strong.

Better Wardrobe
"My new role as Liza Hammond calls for a sophisticated author-lecturer. Her wardrobe is a terrific improvement over poor Connie's. And the characters are so completely different I don't think there will be any confusion."

Eve, relaxing in her dressing room between rehearsals for "The Eve Arden Show" (CBS, Tuesday nights), spent the past year searching for the right series to relaunch her video career.

"I wanted to get away from the broad comedy of Miss Brooks," she explained.

"This new show is about a working mother — and that's exactly what I am. I have a career, and I also have four lovely children. So it shouldn't be too difficult for me to play the part."

"Liza is a widow with twin girls (played by Karen Green and Rosemary Clooney's younger sister, Gail Stone). Because she has written a best-selling novel, she decides to travel around the country on a lecture tour. We think this will lead to a whole bunch of hilarious situations."

Man Finally Gets To Go To College

KINGXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—Maybe everybody thought so later, but Rex Parton wasn't kidding when he registered at the University of Tennessee 21 years ago.

matching blouse, the long-stemmed comedienne bears no resemblance to the aquatic movie roles she once played. Neither is she the wise-cracking Miss Brooks.

It was just that things kept coming up.

First-off, Parton was offered a good-paying lumber camp job in Oregon, so he decided higher education could wait a while.

Seven years later the idea of owning his own restaurant lured Parton once again from matters academic.

He acquired a wife and two daughters, too, who had to be supported.

Then World War II came along, another delay.
But now business is good, the family is well taken care of and Parton is a freshman at the University of Tennessee, heading for a law degree.
