Negroes Staying Away From Classes

Little Rock Situation Quiet; Some Arrested

By BRYCE MILLER

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—Central High School began classes today without any of the Negro students whose presence Monday prompted rioting and a threat that federal troops may be sent here to enforce integration. The last bell for classes rang without any indication that the nine Negroes would attend. White pupils were passed through strong police barricades, and a number of arrests were made before real trouble could start. If the police don't show today that they can handle violence, such as cut short the integration of Central High Monday, soldiers probably will move in by presidential order and do it for them.

Optimists To Start Sale Of Tree Cards

The Optimist Club will soon begin the sale of cards for its annual Christmas tree sale. At a meeting held last night, plans were made to get the cards ready, so the program can begin. Cards will be sold for $1 and will guarantee the reservation of a tree when they arrive. The purpose of the cards is to get an idea of the number of trees that will be needed and also to gain further funds for the construction of the Optimist Boys Club.

BULLETIN

NEWPORT, R.I. (UP)—President Eisenhower today ordered federalization of the Arkansas National Guard and planned to speed back to Washington for a nationwide TV speech to the people tonight on the Arkansas school crisis.

The President by executive order, in addition to federalizing the state National Guard and the Arkansas Air National Guard, also authorized Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson to use any necessary regular armed forces of the United States to break up crowds in Little Rock resisting compliance with a school integration order.

Police lines to their classes, there was a total of 200 to 300 adults in two groups at the ends of the barricades.

By 8 a. m. police had arrested six known agitators, some with knives. One was a well-known agitator named "Bickle."

"There is a man who gave us trouble yesterday," Night Police Chief Gene Smith said, as his men grabbed Bickle. "Get me a writ." Bickle screamed at newsmen as police took him off.

Ten minutes before school took in, police grabbed two high school boys out of a crowd and put them in a squad car. They searched them carefully for weapons, even to the lining of their coats.

Police Chief Marvin Potts said he was not, consciously at least, following the so-called "Nashville plan" to stop violence. Under that plan, used at Nashville schools, agitators were spotted the first day and seized the next.

Faustus Flies Home
Gov. Orval Faubus started a flight to Little Rock from a gov't hopes his presence would have a "settling influence."

The White House said President Eisenhower was awaiting "complete reports" from Little Rock before deciding whether to use federal troops to keep peace and enforce integration. It said any such action would not come until "later in the day."

The Negroes got into school Monday while a spitting, blood-thirsty crowd was beating up Negro newsmen and photographers.

But the students had to be withdrawn three hours later when the crowd started getting out of hand (See NEGROES, Page 3)

Stocks Have All But Wiped Out Early Gain

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—The stock market has all but wiped out its steep rise of five months from Feb. 12 to July 12.

In that period the market rose $31,678,000,000. In the period from July 13 to the close Monday, the market declined $30,268,000,000.

Hence at the opening today the market was only $1,410,000,000 above its year's lows on the basis of valuation of all listed issues.

Many reasons have been given for this drop, which is one of the most severe since the bull market started on June 13, 1949. There was a more severe one on President Eisenhower's heart attack just two years ago.

These reasons include tight non-

Ike Waiting For Complete Report

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
NEWPORT, R.I. (UP)—President Eisenhower awaited "complete reports" from Little Rock today before deciding whether to use federal troops to keep peace at Central High School and enforce the school integration order of the U.S. district court.

The President still was determined to use force if necessary to prevent violence and obstruction of federal law. But Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said if such action comes, it would not be until "later in the day."

Hagerty said that if the President's cease-and-desist order to the people of Little Rock is not obeyed, "additional action will be taken by the President on behalf of the United States."

The President was in his office shortly before 8 a. m. today and in telephone conference with Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, Jr. He expected to be in frequent touch with Brownell during the day.

Can Call Troops
The White House refuted assertions in some quarters that the President was without power to order troops into Little Rock to disperse mobs such as that which milled and scuffled around Central High School Monday.

Hagerty said that under the U.S. code, in the sections cited in the President's proclamation, the President may call state militia into federal service or use members of the armed forces to put down rebellion against federal laws.

"Other people quoting laws on the President's action do not know what they are talking about," Hagerty said.

During the night, Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas and other southerners maintained that the President did not have the right to use federal force in Arkansas without a request from the governor.

What the White House was waiting for was word from the scene at the embattled school. Hagerty declined to say whether the federal government will provide additional protection for the Negro

Police Catch Snake Thieves
MIAMI (UP)—Police here have come up with the latest thing in stolen property: Snakes.

Officers said they arrested William L. Rose and Dennis M. Oeppler after finding the bag they were carrying contained 10 boa constrictors belonging to an importing firm.

Rose, who described himself as "the youngest registered herpetologist (one who studies reptiles) in Florida," said he swiped the snakes so he could "do a little research."

Youth Gives Armed Forces Lesson On Keeping Secret
By RICHARD W. HATCH
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UP)—An 18-year-old youth who gave the armed forces a lesson in rocket building last year has taught them how to keep a test-firing secret this year.

Jimmy Blackmon, youthful master of the basement-built rocket, revealed Monday he successfully fired his latest creation to a height of 4,000 feet.

Jimmy and a few friends who were in on the secret tested the home-made rocket on a lonely North Carolina beach Sunday. But nobody knew anything about the test until Jimmy told the story Monday.

Jimmy announced some of the world's leading rocket experts last summer when he built a workable rocket missile in his basement and announced plans to fire it.

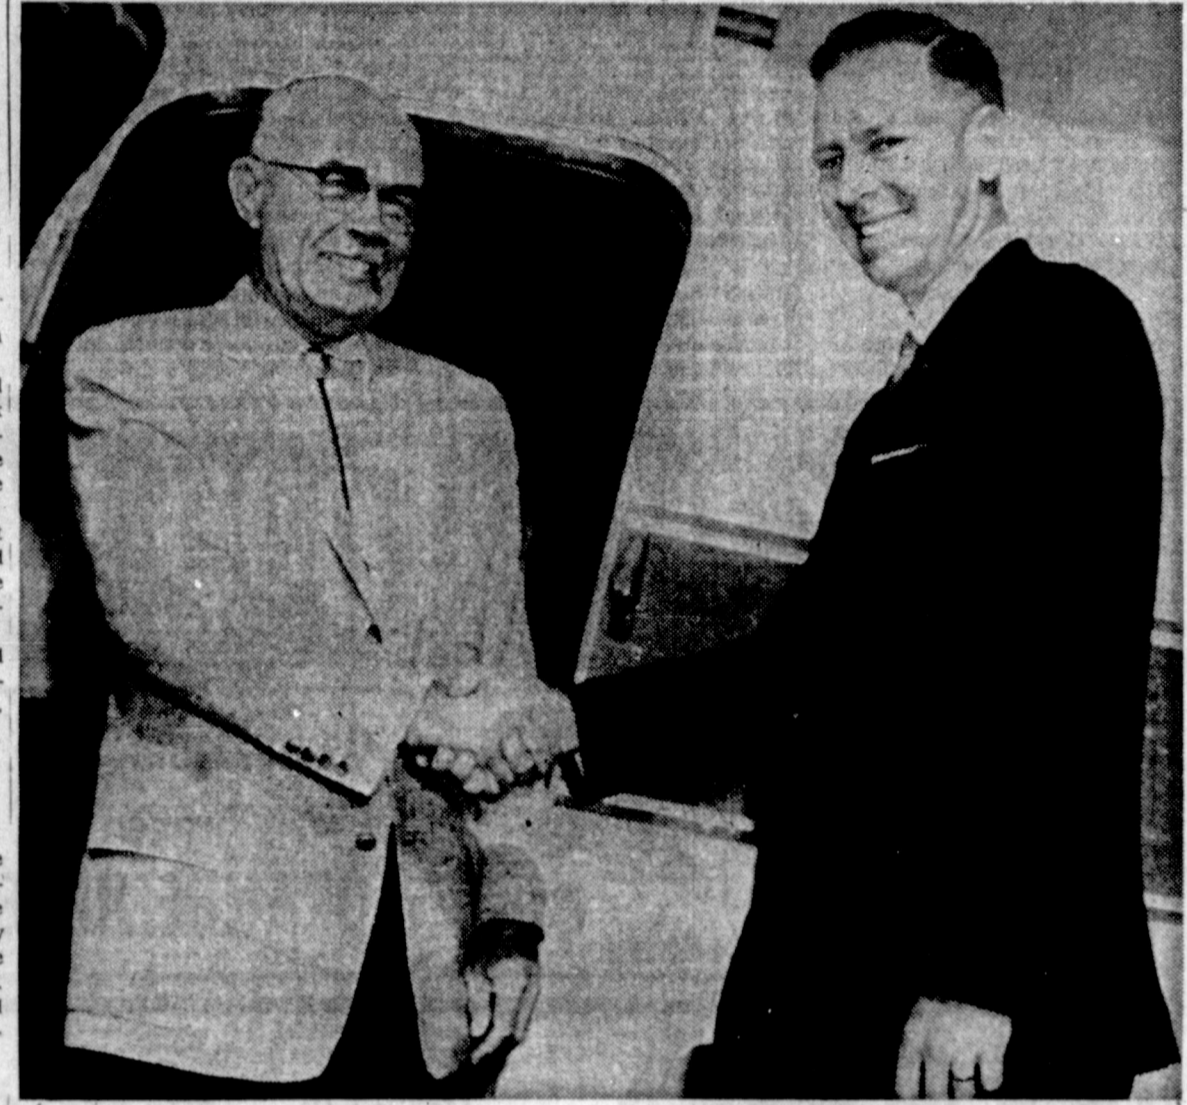

Just to be on the safe side, he sought permission from the Civil Aeronautics Administration. But CAA officials threw up their hands and called in the Pentagon. Military experts were so impressed with the rocket that they took Jimmy and the "unguided missile" to the Army's Redstone Missile Center at Huntsville, Ala.

Girl Reveals Cage 'Deal'
AUSTIN (UP)—A career girl who makes $15,000 a month told the Senate Investigating Committee Monday she sold insurance stock to her boss for $10 a share and he in turn sold it to Ben Jack Cage for $1,000 a share.

Mildred E. Gregory, treasurer of National Bankers Life Insurance Co. of Dallas, said she sold the stock to Pierce Brooks, it was part of a $6 million dollar deal which would have given the firm to Cage had he been able to come up with the final two million dollars of the transaction.

The testimony was a prelude to Cage's scheduled appearance

VISITING DIGNITARY—Max Bolick, (right), Cities Service district superintendent of production here, welcomes J. A. Cleverly, vice president and manager of the Cities Service production division, as he steps out of his plane. Cleverly, along with 27 other company officials from four states flew here today in six planes to inspect a new development recently installed by the Cities Service Company. Cleverly came from the company's main office in Bartlesville, Okla. (News Photo)

Cities Service Executives In Visit Here

Six plane loads of Cities Service Oil Co. executives landed in Pampa this morning, and were ushered out to the company's Hughey A and B leases southwest of Pampa where they were to observe the recently completed automatic custody transfer unit.

The new method of selling crude oil automatically through meters rather than measuring oil in tanks through gauge lines is the first installation of its type in Texas, according to Max Bolick, district superintendent of production here.

Some 28 officials, including company dignitaries from Kansas, New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma are expected.

Heading the list will be four executives from the company's headquarters in Bartlesville, Okla. They are J. A. Cleverly, vice president and manager of production division; J. P. Straight, assistant general superintendent of the production division; J. C. McClure, chief engineer of the production division; and Harry Nelson, manager of Cities Service Pipe Line Co.

The planes landed between 9 and 10 this morning, and after opening remarks by the local officials were conducted to the new unit. Afterwards they were to dine at the Pampa Country Club.

The transfer unit sell automatically to the pipe line companies through positive displacement meters. The operation is unattended and features safety controls.

Fluid from the oil is pumped through lead lines to a lease header where it is routed to a heater treater. Then from the heater treater it flows to a 20-barrel sump tank. From there it goes to the lease meter unit and to a central lease automatic custody transfer unit where oil is metered through the positive displacement meters and then automatically transferred to the pipe line.

Sen. Charles Herring of Austin, head of the committee, asked Miss Gregory if it didn't "bother" her when Brooks sold the stock at a $990 profit.

"I didn't feel that way at all," she said. "I feel like I've been a very fortunate young lady but I wouldn't be if it hadn't been for Doctor Brooks." The doctor title is honorary, she said.

Commission OK's Meat Ordinance

Ordinance 477 became law this morning with the third and final reading being passed by the City Commission.

The ordinance provides for the inspection of all meat sold in Pampa and also provides penalties for the selling of uninspected meat.

An inspector, paid by the city, will supervise the inspection of all meat processed in Pampa or Gray County. If the packing firm is inside the city limits the firm will pay 60 per cent of the cost of inspection to the city and if the plant is outside the city the packing firm will pay 100 per cent of the cost of inspection.

The ordinance is similar to ordinances in Amarillo and other nearby cities and provides that meat inspected in other towns can be sold in Pampa and that meat processed in Pampa or Gray County can be sold in the other towns.

Blackball Of Teamsters Threatens
By WILLIAM J. EATON
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—The AFL-CIO high command is ready to blackball the Teamsters Union unless the Teamsters do an about-face, labor sources said today.

The federation's Executive Council, meeting in New York, also planned to issue clean-up-ordered directives to the Bakery Workers and United Textile Workers.

The Teamsters, largest union in the nation, spurned repeated invitations to appear before the council on charges that it is dominated by corrupt leaders.

In Miami Beach, retiring President Dave Beck was blunt. "We can damn well handle our own business," he wired George Meany, AFL-CIO president, in a new burst of defiance.

Moves leading to expulsion of the 1,400,000-member trucking union are expected from the 29-member Executive Council.

Renewed claims by Midwest Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa that he is a sure thing to succeed Beck at forthcoming union elections have increased AFL-CIO determination to act.

A two-hour meeting of the AFL-CIO's eight-man executive committee Monday night set the stage for quick action on charges against the three unions.

Drainage Structure
A drainage structure to be located at the intersection of 23rd and Perryton Parkway was approved this morning and the contract for construction was awarded to J. L. Colville. The cost of the structure was estimated at $1,538.

The need for the structure resulted from the proposed paving of 23rd. Wayland Merriman, project engineer, reported that two drainage pipes under the Perryton Parkway emptied into the intersection and that the structure was needed to divert the water onto the paved street.

Merriman stated that this structure was only a temporary solution to the drainage problem in the area and that eventually a

Wrestler Is Filed On For Assault Here

More action took place outside the ring than inside last night during the regular Monday night wrestling bouts at the Pampa Sportsman's Club.

As a result, Art Nelson, Amarillo wrestler, was filed on in Justice of the Peace Court this morning for assault and battery on a 16-year-old Pampa youth, and for disturbing the peace by "rudely displaying a weapon."

Gerald McCoy, 1225 S. Sumner, charged that the wrestler had hit and kicked him and later displayed a gun after a dispute following the matches.

According to officers, during the evening's matches a fracas broke out between Nelson, another wrestler and two midget wrestlers. Several youths, the officers said, came to the aid of the midgets and in the ensuing brawl, Nelson allegedly hit and kicked McCoy.

After the brawl had broken up, Nelson went to his car to leave, but McCoy's automobile was blocking his path. When the boy refused to move, Nelson allegedly displayed a gun.

The charge was filed in Justice of the Peace J. W. Graham's court this morning, and a warrant was sworn for Nelson's arrest.

Officers said McCoy didn't know what caliber the pistol was, but that "it sure looked big."

One Fire Call Reported Here

A fire started from a refrigerator or resulted in the only alarm received by the fire department yesterday.

The fire occurred in the residence of K. Coombes, 1220 E. Frederic, when an electrical plug apparently shorted. Heavy damage resulted to the interior of the house, firemen reported.

Shoot Club Sets Meet Here Tonight

The Pampa Rifle and Pistol Club will meet at 7:30 tonight at the club for the year. The recreation park, for the purpose of electing officers of the club for the coming year.

This is the only official meeting of the club for the year. The remainder of meetings throughout the year are for the purpose of shooting or discussing problems involved in shooting.

All members of the club are requested to attend the meeting tonight, according to W. E. Huff. Persons desiring information about the club or who are interested in becoming members of the club, are invited to attend the meeting tonight, Huff said.

CASTLE OF LOVE—There's nothing startling about castles in Hollywood. Movie companies build them by the dozens, and millionaires import them from Europe. But, this castle, which is now for sale, is unique, even for Hollywood. It is a house that love built. The love of Milton Hopkins for his wife, Josie. It took Milt eight years to convert a tired cottage into a fairybook castle, complete with 18 waterfalls, 15 pools and ponds, islands, fountains and bridges. Red Squeeze On Berlin Is Expected

OUTLOOK
By CHARLES M. MCCANN

Red Retort

Intelligence sources in Germany predict a new squeeze on West Berlin by Soviet Russia and its East German Communist puppets. The Reds were enraged by the big victory Chancellor Konrad Adenauer won in the West German election. They could hit back by holding up railroad and highway traffic moving between West Berlin and West Germany across 110 miles of Red-ruled territory. Two United States army trains have been held up on pretexts in the last few days. That may be a foretaste.

Comeback

Reports are circulating in Southeast Asian capitals that Luang Pibul Songgram, the Thailand strong man, may make a comeback. Politically, Pibul has had more lives than a siamese cat. Some insiders suspect that Pibul and field marshal Sarit Thanarat, the army chief who ousted him, were actually in cahoots. They believe the Bangkok coup may have been a squeeze play by Pibul and Sarit to get rid of Gen. Phao Sriyanond, the national police chief. Phao is generally detested. If the experts are right, Pibul could take over the prime ministry again in a few months.

Cutback

Look for the closing of more major military installations to follow the newest 100,000-man cut in the armed forces. The army, as before, takes the biggest cut. It has not reached any decisions yet, but Washington believes some installations must be shut down. Some congressmen will be unhappy. The plea for economies in the last session of congress. But every one of them will fight to keep open any military post in his home district.

Diplomatic reports from the Middle East say that President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt doesn't like the way things are going in Syria. He showed Syria the way when he adopted a pro-Russian policy. But the reports say Nasser is worried over the extent of Soviet influence in Syria. His ambition is to be Mr. Big in the Arab world. In Syria, Russia's prestige has been strengthened at Nasser's expense. It is added that Nasser also is beginning to realize how dangerously he has tied up Egypt's economy—cotton exports, machinery imports, payments for Soviet arms—with the Soviet bloc.

Auto Note

Big question in Detroit: Will the automobile manufacturers continue to make radical model changes every two years or revert to the three-year cycle? Ford and Chrysler broke the mold in 1957 to pep up sales and will do it again in 1959. But one top industry executive says retooling is so expensive manufacturers will be forced to return to the three-year cycle, with extensive facelifts in between.

Want A Title? San Marino Has Put Them Up For Sale

By LARRY COLLINS
United Press Staff Correspondent

SAN MARINO (UP)—Does your wife crack jokes about you at cocktail parties, the boss laugh when you ask for a raise, the neighborhood children snicker when you tell them to get off your grass?

If so, this tiny nation just inland from Italy's Adriatic Coast has a remedy guaranteed to restore prestige.

The answer—Buy yourself a title, any title you want.

They come here in all sizes, small, medium and giant economy ranging from bacon to duke. There's a title to fit every pocket-book in San Marino. All you have to do to get one is pay for it.

No Mail Orders

Applications are taken every weekday in the office of Secretary of Interior Domenico Morganti from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Applications must be made in person—no mail orders, please!

The price list, subject to change without notice, is: Baron $8,350; count $13,350, marquis $18,700, duke $25,050.

Each title is accompanied by a gold-embossed parchment scroll. The title name is taken from any of the numerous hills that dot the 36-square mile state. When a prospective buyer enters his office, Morganti pulls out his huge map and scans the hills available. "We have plenty of hills left," he says.

The title buyer doesn't get the hill, however, just its name. San Marino, despite its global nobility, is a republic. Title peddling dates back to its year of independence, 301 A.D. Not only is it a republic, but since World War II its citizens have three times straight voted themselves the only Communist government this side of the Iron Curtain.

Reds Compromise

The Communists at first put an end to the title traffic as "bourgeois nonsense." But, in 1949, with the treasury empty, the Communists set up their own bargain basement barony trade.

Last year the title business brought in more than $1,650,000 with sale of eight major and a score of minor titles. Most buyers are Italian business men, but the list also includes Americans. San Marino would like to expand its export trade to the United States but it is a hard product to advertise.

"It's a wonderful thing to have," says Morganti.

"It doesn't have to be cleaned, polished, fed or traded in. Every family should have one—every good family that is."

LONDON (UP)—The state-owned British overseas airways corporation has given in to government pressure and agree to release four of its ordered Britannia airlines to American Trans World Airlines, aviation sources said. The sources said, however, that BOAC wants up to three million pounds ($8,400,000) in compensation for revenue it expects to lose by releasing the planes.

Cabot Employees Receive Awards

The presenting of 61 service awards and one safety award highlighted the picnic for Cabot Shops employees Saturday afternoon. Service awards were given the previous Saturday in the first of two annual Cabot picnics, to employees other than the shop workers. The safety award from the National Safety Council was given to the Cabot Machine Shops. Hugh Layne, machine shops superintendent, received the certificate of commendation which was presented by H. J. Pickett, general superintendent of Cabot Shops. The award was made for 364,732 hours without lost time accidents. Service pins were given by R. A. Baker, manager of Cabot Shops, Inc. Heading the list was T. C. (Dick) Carter, who received the 25-year service pin plus a watch and a piece of luggage for his wife. Those receiving 20-year awards

Girl Scouts Slate Barbecue

A Girl Scout round-up barbecue has been set for Friday, Sept. 27, in the County Bull Barn of Recreation Park, beginning at 6 p.m. The barbecue supper will be served from 6 to 7 and the program will follow until 7:45. All Girl Scouts, friends, guests and all persons interested have been invited to attend. Tickets are $1 each and may be obtained by calling the Girl Scout office or any member of the organization. Tickets will be delivered to persons calling in, but will be on sale only today and tomorrow. The program will be over in time to allow everyone to attend the football game in Harvester Park.

One Collision Reported Here

A collision was reported at 8:10 yesterday morning on Buckler, 100 feet east of Gray. A 1950 Ford truck, driven by Harvey Wayne Wendo, Pampa, was in collision with a 1953 Ford, owned by Russell Neef, 415 W. Buckler, which was parked at the curb. Damages to the Ford were estimated at $40 and the truck was undamaged in the collision. No other collisions were reported in the city during the remainder of yesterday.

Consumer Prices Are Up Again

WASHINGTON (UP)—Consumer prices climbed to a record high in August for the 12th consecutive month, the government announced today. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that its consumer price index—a monthly sampling of prices for 300 goods and services across the nation—stood at an all-time high of 121. B. L. S. Commissioner Ewan Clague said food contributed mainly to the August increase, climbing 4 per cent during the month. He said the price of fruits and vegetables dropped but failed to offset increases in the cost of other foods. Egg prices climbed 10.2 per cent and all cuts of meat were higher. Bacon was up 8.4 per cent, ham by 3.5 per cent, frankfurters by 2.8 per cent, and steak, roast, and hamburger by 1.5 per cent. Clague said he could not say whether the index would continue its long upward climb this month. "While food looks more hopeful," he said, expected price increases for such items as new fall clothing might offset any declines in September.

and threatening to invade the school and drag the Negroes out. Today's crowd was, a third the size. The worst it did was mutter. School attendance, after a walkout of about 450 students, was back to normal. Two thousand white students attend Central. Police and federal agents worked through the night to assure a measure of calm when the school opened. Police broke up gang fights on the streets and arrested 16 braver, 14 of them Negroes, in an attempt to prevent the incidents from spreading into a full-grown race riot. FBI agents, working with city police and state troopers, broke up a caravan of about 100 automobiles of suspected night riders before they could reach the trouble centers in the Negro quarters in the south end of town and around Central High School, focal point of the controversy. Hope to Contain Violence Authorities hoped they could contain the violence, lest President Eisenhower, who issued a cease-and-desist proclamation last night, should invoke his authority and call in federal troops. Five persons were injured in one of the more serious brawls. A Negro airman struck a state policeman's leg with his automobile and then fled. The state policeman and other law enforcement authorities gave chase, firing at the automobile which eventually careened and crashed in a residential backyard. The airman, a Negro civilian and three girls in the automobile were injured. One man's skull was fractured by a rock, police reported. Violence broke out shortly after nine Negro students entered Central High surreptitiously Monday on the basis of a ruling handed down last Saturday by the U. S. district court. The Negroes were spirited out of the school with a police escort about noon C.S.T. after angry mobs of segregationists milled about the building. The tension was so great this morning that Negro leaders said the children would not attempt to go to school again today unless Eisenhower assures their safety. Eisenhower cleared the way for using U.S. troops to put down violence by proclaiming that segregationists had made it "impracticable" to enforce the laws by judicial proceedings. What the President meant was the swining, bloodthirsty crowd that forced the Negro students to leave the school for their own safety. The nine Negro students left the school by a side entrance about noon Monday three hours after COMMISSION (Continued From Page One) storm sewer would have to be constructed. He recommended that such a storm sewer be constructed along 22nd with branch sewers to pick up water at 21st and 23rd on the Perryton highway. Other Action In other action this morning the commission approved the plat of Frasier Annex No. 3. The new annex is to be located between Duncan and the Perryton Parkway north of 25th. The triangular shaped area will have streets running north and south and provides for a shopping area at the point on the north end of the triangle, where Duncan intersects the Perryton Parkway. The commission also approved engineer's estimates on the cost of graveling streets and alleys. The work was recently completed in the 700 block of N. Banks, 800 block of Bradley Dr., 1300 block of W. Browning, 300 N. Somerville, 1100 S. Wells and the alley south of Alcock between Hobart and Banks. A petition from the property owners on Somerville to the commission was received this morning. The petition requested that the city not remove the parkway along Somerville. As the commission had not discussed the removal of the parkways, the petition was placed on file until such time as traffic on the street warrants the removal of the parkways.

Suit Is Filed In Court Here A $27,101.50 damage suit was filed in District Court this morning, naming Vernon Johnston of Boyer as the defendant. Plaintiff in the case is B. F. Chance of Wheeler. A car driven by Johnston was in collision with an automobile driven by Chance on Aug. 25, 1956, approximately four miles west of Pampa on State Highway 152. Mrs. Chance, riding in the car with her husband, allegedly was injured in the collision. Chance is charging Johnston with five counts of negligence in the accident.

Liberals Lead In Honduras TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UP)—The opposition Liberal Party captured 36 of the 58 seats in the Constituent Assembly, according to latest official returns today from Sunday's elections. The total was just two thirds short of an absolute two-thirds majority in the assembly which is scheduled to convene Oct. 21 to draft a new constitution. It is empowered also to elect a new president, if it so desires.

Storm Heads Into Open Atlantic

MIAMI (UP)—Tropical storm Frieda gradually swerved farther out in the open Atlantic today some 550 miles east of Jacksonville, and the weather bureau said there was little chance it would strike the U.S. mainland. At 5 a.m. e.s.t. the weather bureau pinpointed the howler at near Latitude 30.2 North and Longitude 72.2 West. It was moving to the north at about 12 miles per hour but forecasters said it would veer to the north-northeast at an accelerated pace of 14 miles an hour during the next 12 hours. Numerous Fights Reported Monday night, three Negroes beat up a white boy. A white girl charged that a Negro man held her right hand with a piece of broken bottle. In the midst of one brawl, a Negro airman clipped a state policeman's leg with his automobile and fled in a flurry of shots. Gov. Orval Faubus, by the face of a "gradual" integration plan approved by the federal courts, called out the National Guard on Sept. 2 to prevent integration at Central High because he said it would cause violence.

Man Fined On Driving Charge

One driving while license suspended case was brought in County Court this morning. J. C. Griffin, Pampa, pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $25 and costs. Griffin was arrested by the Pampa police yesterday at 6 p.m. on S. Barnes.

MATURE PARENT
By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Out on the back yard lawn, Mrs. Mills had left some of her baby son's washing to bleach in the sun.

Suddenly from the driveway where Mr. Mills was cleaning his car, he noted his three-year-old daughter's attraction to the spread laundry. Actually, he knew what was coming even before he saw Nancy grab one of her brother's damp, soft, wool booties — and begin to tear at it.

"Put that down!" he called sharply. Then, striding over to where his frightened little girl stood clutching the crumpled sock, he said, "Put that back where Mommy had it. You want to help Mommy keep Bobby's clothes clean and pretty. You don't want to hurt them. You want to be a good big sister to Bobby and love him very much."

By these declarations of Nancy's virtues, her father rejected her jealousy with a finality that suggested he'd never felt anything so nasty himself in his life.

Well, he has felt it — and still does. The truth is, Mr. Mills is extremely jealous of his older sister. Not a month ago, he was deeply angered by the discovery that his parents had given her their Wedgwood tea service.

It usually works like this. If we have not worked out our own jealousy of brothers and sisters, we're apt to be particularly anxious for fraternal devotion among our own children.

Those of us who have been older children will be especially sensitive to any slight put upon our own older child. If, like Mr. Mills, we've been a younger child who felt himself unfairly used in favor of an older one, we may feel sudden, violent anger when Nancy affronts the baby. Like him, we'll sternly demand better sisterly affection for her brother in the fond belief that we are standing up for family solidarity.

Only too often, the unflattering truth is, that we're using Nancy to explode resentments we didn't dare to explode to her aunts and uncles when we were children. Our indignation with her jealousy is still unresolved jealousy within ourselves.

Parents who know themselves don't require children to overcome jealousy. Struggling themselves with its complexities, they don't expect little boys and girls to conquer what they have not outgrown.

A "Turban" is essentially a scarf folded round the head. The English name derives from turban, tolliant or tulipant. All variations of the flower tulip, suggested by the design of the folds.

Schoolgirls are wearing "cuddle caps" this fall. As the name implies, these are small caps of soft jersey or novelty wool with chin ties that snuggle them comfortably over the ears.

Island Convention Told By Members

Beta Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma met recently in the Sam Houston auditorium for its first program of the fall season.

After a sack lunch with drinks provided by the hostesses, Mrs. Sam Irwin, Mrs. R. T. Foster and Miss Claudia Evertly, who had attended the Delta Kappa Gamma international convention in Hawaii, presented the program.

Mrs. Foster told the history of Hawaii; Mrs. Erwin gave a report on the convention, and Miss Evertly gave a travelogue with slides depicting all phases of Hawaiian life.

After a short business session, the meeting adjourned.

Lefors HD Club To Elect Leaders

LEFORS — Several short cuts and sewing instructions were given by Miss Helen Dunlap, Gray County HDA, to the Lefors Home Demonstration Club, in the civic center recently.

Included in her demonstration was stay-stitching, to be stitched with the grain; clipping selvages, to prevent pulling when laundered; and understitching necklines, arm eyes, pockets, etc. for a more professional look.

She also demonstrated the art of putting in zippers and pockets and gathering hemlines with basting stitches to secure smoother hemlines.

The making of self-material bias tape was included in the demonstration in which Miss Dunlap marked with ruler and pencil several widths of bias pieces, sewed several of material together, thus cutting bias in one continuous strip.

Mrs. J. D. Smith, president, presided over the business session, announcing that next meeting day, Sept. 26, will be officer election time and urged all members to be present.

A meeting was scheduled for Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Charles Roberts for committees to work on posters and scrapbooks to be displayed on achievement day.

QUICHE LORRAINE is a new and interesting dish to serve a family to spark an autumn round of interesting dishes.

Foreign Accent, Delightful Taste Mark These Dishes

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
Now that Labor Day has come and gone, it's time to think of new and interesting dishes for the family. Here are two, both with a foreign accent and delightful taste.

QUICHE LORRAINE
(6-8 servings)
One (10-inch) baked pastry shell, 6 slices bacon, 1 small onion, finely chopped, 6 egg yolks, 2 cups water, 1/4 cup (one envelope) instant noodle salt powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, dash of paprika, 1 (8-ounce) package natural Swiss cheese, shredded.

Fry bacon until crisp, drain on absorbent paper; crumble into small pieces. Sauté onion in 1/4 cup of the bacon drippings until tender; drain. Combine egg yolks, water, instant nonfat dry milk powder and seasonings; beat with rotary beater until blended. Add cheese, bacon and onions; blend well. Pour into baked pastry shell. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) about 40 minutes, or until knife inserted near center of custard comes out clean. Serve hot.

GNOCCHI ROMANO
(8-10 servings)
One cup water, 1 cup sifted flour, 1-3 cup instant nonfat dry milk powder, 2 tablespoons butter, 2-3 cup blended grated Parmesan and Romano cheese, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons butter, melted.

Roll dough into top of double boiler; sprinkle flour and instant nonfat dry milk powder over surface. Beat with rotary beater until just blended. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until mixture is very thick and no longer glossy. Blend in 2 tablespoons butter and 1-1/2 cup of cheese. Remove from heat. Add eggs; mix thoroughly. Spread mixture into 11x7-inch dish. Chill until cold. Cut into 1-inch squares. Place squares 1/4 inch apart on a baking sheet. Brush with melted butter; sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 25 minutes or until tops are brown.

Reports Heard At Three Leaf HDC

The Finest HI KENTU

Exchange Of Bone Marrow Between Persons Possible

By DELOS SMITH
 United Press Science Editor
 NEW YORK (UP)—This may not seem big-time scientific stuff to you but just the same it is—scientists have put the bone marrow of six persons into the bodies of six other persons without getting the slightest sign of a hostile reaction.

Bone marrow is the busy chemical factory turning out new blood cells. Those cells contain parts which inevitably attack and destroy any foreign chemical mechanism which enters the body, and somebody else's bone marrow is such a foreigner.

But the bone marrow of people with leukemia is messed up chemically, a condition which inevitably kills those people. Give them somebody else's well-adjusted bone marrow and at the same time persuade their own bone marrow to let it take over, and you have a cure for the presently incurable.

Indeed, that has been proved in rats—for rat leukemia. First, their own bone marrow was destroyed by heavy, "total-body" radiation with X-rays. Then the bone marrow of rats which didn't have rat leukemia were infused into them—and they no longer had leukemia.

Method Seems Hopeful
 What has happened now is that the beginning parts of this quite drastic method seems to work in people. The six in whom it was tried were all hopelessly doomed by their disease—and they had been intensively treated by X-rays (and some by marrow-destroying chemicals, too) to the very limit.

So when Drs. E. Donnal Thomas and Joseph W. Ferrebee of Columbia University, Dr. Harry L. Lochte Jr., of the National Heart Institute, and Dr. Wan Ching Lu of Harvard, reported that the six had shown no sign of an adverse reaction and had even shown some signs that the foreign bone marrow had "taken" temporarily, a door seemed to be opening.

The New England Journal of Medicine, which published their report, commented editorially that "a vital point now to be determined is whether the amount of radiation required to produce permanent homograft acceptance of cure of leukemia is within the range of radiation effects from which recovery can be induced in man by the transplantation of homologous (human) marrow."

Need Causes Death
 Experimentation in people is acceptance because the victim of leukemia "needs radiation and marrow" and "the uremic patient needs radiation, marrow, and a kidney." Without them, those patients must die and the question is can you now give enough radiation to make the transplantation of marrow—and of a foreign kidney—possible.

It represents a "transmutation" of an individual, but this age has witnessed the transmutation of metals through atomic radiation and biological transmutations would only be an extension, the Journal said.

"With reactors and small tactical atomic warheads springing up everywhere, radiation is becoming something of an occupational hazard," it added. "Infusion of marrow is known to induce recovery in the lethally irradiated mouse

Catholics Threaten To Nix Faith

PIETRABIANCA, Italy (UP)—Half of the 600 inhabitants of this tiny Catholic hamlet threatened today to turn Protestant unless their archbishop ends his ban on toasting the Statue of St. Joseph.

Msgr. Giovanni Ferro, archbishop of Reggio Calabria in the toe of the Italian boot, stood firmly by his ruling that toasts to the statue were "idolatrous."

The feud between the archbishop and the Calabrians began last month when Msgr. Ferro issued stringent restrictions on the annual procession with the Statue of St. Joseph. The procession was one of the few bright notes in the drab life of the shepherds of Pietrabianca, a desolate village in the barren mountains of Calabria, and they used to enjoy it thoroughly.

"But we know there are a lot of Protestant pastors at work here in Calabria and they are Christian like us," one villager said. "And they don't take orders from the archbishop."

and monkey. Forewarned experience with this form of therapy in man therefore appears desirable."

Jack Paar One TV Comic Who Outlasts Fruit Fly

NEW YORK (UP)—The life span of the average comic seems to coincide roughly with that of a fruit fly.

But Jack Paar goes on and on. Paar broke into TV back in 1952 with "up to Paar." Since that time, he has piloted an early morning TV show and an afternoon TV show. He is now working the late shift at NBC-TV where he heads up the "Tonight" show. He has jacked up the NBC show's rating, is pulling 1000 letters a day and is being hailed in some quarters as the comedy find of the year.

Panel Slated On Photo Journalism

DALLAS (UP)—A panel discussion on photo journalism will be included this year for the first time on the curriculum of the Southwest Journalism Forum, Oct. 1-3.

The forum is sponsored jointly by Southern Methodist University's journalism department and the Press Club of Dallas.

Three top Dallas photographers will lead the panel discussion. Heading the panel will be Charles J. McCarty, Southwest Division newspaper manager for United Press and chairman of the forum photo section.

The fifth annual journalism forum, to be held in Karcher Auditorium, is expected to attract 500 high school and college journalism students and teachers to Dallas.

The Dallas photographers who will appear on the panel discussion with McCarty are John Mazziota, Dallas Morning News staff photographer, and Sheldon Hershorn, former United Press photographer and now a free lance and feature photographer of Dallas.

Further emphasis will be laid this year on photo journalism, McCarty said, with the showing of some 30 prize-winning photo-

Yankees, Braves Take Pennant Races

First Western Team To Win Since Cardinals In 1946

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Braves took the National League pennant west for the first time in a decade today while the New York Yankees added an eighth American League flag to Casey Stengel's golden nine-year regime.

The race ended at 10 minutes past Monday night when a two-run homer by Hank Aaron gave the Braves a 4-2, 11-inning clincher over the St. Louis Cardinals and the Kansas City Athletics dealt the Chicago White Sox their knockout blow with a 6-5 triumph.

The long-frustrated Braves then enjoyed the thrill of clinching their flag themselves while the base Yankees, who spent the night at the Basilio-Robinson fight, clinched by proxy. The Athletics have so many ex-Yankees that they often are referred to as the "world champions' "second-stringers."

The Braves became the first western team to win a National League flag since the Cardinals won in 1946 when Aaron's 43rd homer of the year, a 405-foot shot over the center field fence, followed a single by Johnny Logan. A crowd of 49,926 at County Stadium saw the Milwaukee dream come true after a tense 3-hour and 33-minute struggle in which Stan Musial staged a one-man war against the Braves.

Now Hitting .349

Battling to keep the Cardinals "alive," the 28-year-old Musial had two doubles and a single in four tries to raise his average to .349. One of the doubles followed a single by Wally Moon and two runs scored to put St. Louis ahead, 2-1, when Al Dark singled with two out.

Larry Jackson, who relieved Vinegar Bend Mizell in the second inning, protected the lead until the seventh when Red Schoendienst singled, Logan sacrificed and Ed Mathews doubled. The score remained that way until the 11th when Aaron's blow finally put the egg in all Milwaukee's beer.

Gene Conley, who took over after starter Lew Burdette was removed for a pinch-hitter in the 10th, retired the only three batters he faced to gain credit for his ninth victory. Billy Moffatt, who hurled the final 2-3 innings for St. Louis, suffered his second loss.

The Athletics ended the White Sox' last hopes for a miracle when pinch-hitter Bob Cerv, an ex-Yankee, delivered a 410-foot sacrifice fly that brought in the winning run in the eighth inning. The bases had been filled on a double by Hector Lopez, Hank Smith's infield hit and a walk to Billy Hunter after the White Sox rallied for two runs in both the sixth and seventh innings to gain a 5-3 tie.

Homers Prove Margin

Homers by Woody Field, pitcher Alex Kellner and Gus Zernial have lifted the Athletics to an early 5-lead but Minnie Minoso drove in three runs and Jim Landis hit a key triple as the White Sox fought back.

The 66-year-old Stengel's eighth pennant enabled him to tie Hall of Famer Joe McCarthy's Yankee record and left him one flag behind the American League manager set by Connie Mack. The major league record of 10 pennants held by John McGraw. The pennant was the 23rd in the Yankees' fabulous success story which began in 1921.

The Boston Red Sox defeated the Washington Senators, 9-4, before a crowd that included Vice President Richard Nixon and the Cleveland Indians scored an 11-inning, 5-4 victory over the Detroit Tigers in the only other game of the day or night.

Top Graded Harvesters Announced

Six men were named yesterday as the top graded offensive and defensive men in the Harvester squad as they defeated Arlington Heights, 7-6, Friday night.

In the line, Bailey Clements headed the list followed closely by Gary Peterson and Jim Scott. Clements runs the guard position with Peterson at tackle and Scott at end.

In the backfield Robert Langford placed first, with Don Bigham second and Jess Ingle third. Ingle and Bigham are halfbacks and Langford is fullback. Together the three men gained 218 yards rushing for the Harvesters. Their total gain for the two games Pampa has played is 340, having an overall average in the backfield of 5.8 yards per carry.

Ortiz Remains Undefeated

NEW YORK (UP) — Carlos Ortiz, Puerto Rican lightweight, remained unbeaten today as a result of his widely televised 10-round decision over Harry Bell Monday night at the St. Nicholas Arena.

Ortiz, weighing 137 1/2 pounds, earned the unanimous verdict over 135-pound Bell of New York in the bout that was televised to homes while the Carmen Basilio-Ray Robinson title fight was telecast only to theaters.

SW Readies For 2nd Week

By UNITED PRESS

Southwest Conference grid squads today begin beefing down for a tough week of practice before stepping on the firing line again next week end.

Most of the clubs watched the movies of their Saturday openers Monday. Nearly all the teams suffered damaging injuries, notably Texas Christian and Texas A&M.

John Crow, along with Loyd Taylor, both injured against Mary against Texas Tech for the Aggies next week end. TCU's Buddy Dikes, with a sliced leg suffered at the hands of Kansas, also was a question mark for action next week.

The University of Texas watched movies after trotting through a brief session of touch football. Baylor worked harder, running through a 90-minute workout including heavy contact and pass defense.

Bear Bryant singled out Dick Gay and Roddy Osborne for praise after watching movies of the Aggie-Maryland game. Bryant moved guard Bill Darwin to the first unit and Joe Munson to a second unit guard spot.

Henry Christopher, a regular end, and halfback Lon Slaughter missed workouts at Southern Methodist Monday. Christopher has the flu and Slaughter, who missed the California game, is expected to lay out of the Georgia game next weekend with a damaged knee.

McLean To Get New Scoreboard

MCLEAN — When the McLean Tigers meet Stintt here Sept. 27 for the next home game, a new "Fairplay Electric scoreboard" will have been installed and ready for use.

The $1,200 scoreboard has already been ordered and will be paid for by the city of McLean, the Lions Club, local businessmen and other individuals wishing to contribute.

Installation cost for the electric board ordinarily is $250, but the Lions Club President, Amos Page stated that the group will do the installation free of charge.

The modern covekeeping device will measure 18 feet by three and a half feet and the letters will be 24 inches high.

Dick Colman Takes Princeton Coaching

PRINCETON, N.J. (UP) — Richard W. (Dick) Colman Jr. has taken over as interim head coach of the Princeton University football team in the absence of ailing Charlie Caldwell.

Caldwell, the dean of Ivy League football coaches, was granted a medical leave of absence Monday because he is suffering from an infection of the intestines.

Wrestling Results

The six-man tag team main event match in last night's wrestling went to the trio of Dory Funk, Country Boy and Red Feather in two out of three falls.

In the semi-final, pitting John Tollas against Danno O'Shocker, the two men went the entire 45-minute time limit to a tie, with neither able to pin the other.

The first event went to Sky Low Low over Red Feather in the one-fall battle.

The wrestling is held each Monday evening at the Sportman Club, located one mile south of town on the Leora highway.

Admission is $1.50 ringside; $1.25 reserved seats; 90 cents for general admission adult and 60 cents for general admission children. Proceeds go to the Shriners children's fund.

Sandies Remain In Top Three Of Texas High School Teams

DALLAS (UP) — Austin High's Maroons, Highland Park, Waco and Temple made the big gains in position this week, but Corpus Christi Ray, Amarillo High and Abilene held firm to the top three spots in the United Press Texas High School Football Coaches Board AAAA ratings.

The Austin team, returning to power after several seasons lapse, jumped four notches to fifth place behind the three leaders and fourth-rated Baytown, which also climbed one spot to fill the void created when Wichita Falls was upset by Breckenridge last week.

Highland Park, which had been on the fringe of the top 10, climbed four spots to ninth, while Waco and Temple made four and eight-notch climbs, respectively, to 11th and 14th places in the ratings.

Rounding out the top 10 behind Austin were Dallas Tech, Port Arthur, Wichita Falls, Highland Park and Dallas Sunset.

Ray, which faced Baytown in the top contest on this week's card, polled 9 1/2 first-place ballots, Amarillo 9 1/2 and Abilene 1, as those clubs amassed 153 1/2, 137 1/2 and 119 points, respectively.

Baytown pulled enough support for 108 points, but from that point

Bums Leave Brooklyn Tonight

BROOKLYN (UP) — Brooklyn says "goodbye" tonight to its beloved Bums—probably forever.

When the Dodgers clash with the Pittsburgh Pirates under the arc-lights at Ebbets Field, they will be winding up their home season for 1927 — and with it a screwy saga that started back in 1900 and ran through every emotion in the book from high drama to low comedy.

After tonight, the Dodgers will have only three games left, all in Philadelphia.

And even New York Mayor Robert Wagner now admits that the team probably will play next season in Los Angeles "barring some unforeseen development."

So tonight they'll close the back cover on a "book" that included such characters as the sany Babe Herman, one-hit hero Cookie Lavagetto, controversial Jackie Robinson, and stars like Zach Wheat, Nap Rucker, Dazy Vance, Jake Daubert, Roy Campanella, Gil Hodges, and Duke Snider.

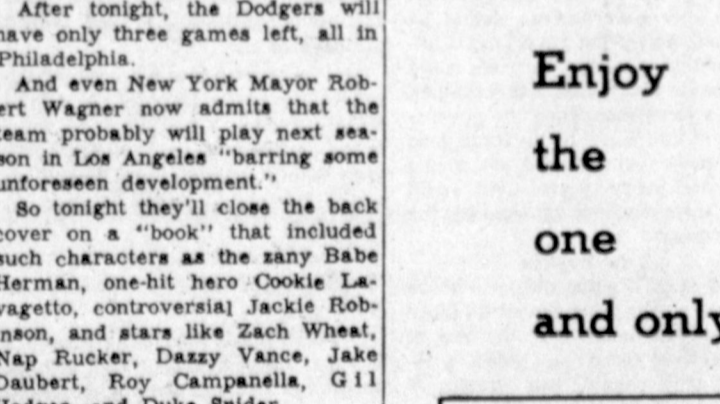

Bigham, Clements Selected As Most Valuable Players Of Week

Don Bigham and Bailey Clements were selected as the outstanding players from the Harvesters' victory over the Arlington Heights Yellowjackets last Friday night.

Running offensively, Bigham, at halfback carried the ball 13 times, rolling up a total of 67 yards for a 5.15 yard-per-carry average. The Harvesters gained 218 yards rushing Friday night. Defensively, Bigham was graded by the coaches at 91 per cent, among the top three. He also proved valuable in the punting field, booting the ball five times for an average of 41 yards. Bigham is a senior this year, having lettered one year previous to this season.

Clements at guard rated in the Fort Worth game as the top offensive lineman, running 71 plays of the game. This is his first season to start on the Harvester squad, having played last year as a Shockers regular. He played a large part in making possible the yardage gained by the Harvesters in downing the Yellowjackets. Clements is

Carmen Takes Championship From Ray In Violent Battle

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP) — Carmen Basilio, who won the world middleweight championship from Sugar Ray Robinson in 15 violent rounds Monday night, will meet ex-champion Ray in a return title fight within six months, it seemed nearly certain today.

Basilio, the ex-onion farmer of Chittenango, N.Y., who pounded out a split decision over the ancient but amazing Robinson, said, "I'll be ready to honor my return bout contract within six months."

And Robinson's most trusted advisor, George Gainford, declared today "Yes, I'd like to see Ray fight Basilio for the title again, if we can get assurances from the boxing commission that the New York state law against the use of colloidin - iodoform ointment will be carried out."

Gainford, principal handler in Robinson's corner during the electrifying battle before 38,000 in Yankee Stadium, complained to referee Al Berli five times against use of the ointment on Basilio's bleeding left brow, because it was getting into Robinson's eyes and causing him pain.

Considered Tip-Off

Although Robinson told reporters he would require four or five days to decide whether to fight Basilio again or to retire, Gainford's statement was interpreted by Sugar Ray's friends as the tip-off to a return brawl.

Thirty-seven-year-old Robinson has a pre-fight contract with Basilio, calling for a return shot at the title within 90 days or at a mutually agreeable time thereafter.

Carmen's own welterweight crown was not at stake Monday night, but the title was vacated automatically the instant his hand was raised in victory as a new middleweight champion, by state law. Whether the N.Y. State Athletic Commission could make such an exception, should Robinson unexpectedly retire and should Basilio prefer to keep the welter title—is a matter of conjecture.

Basilio, who almost retired in despair six years ago because of ring reverses, triumphed heroically Monday night in the greatest fight of his life—and one of the most thrilling ever staged in any ring.

The betting was at "even money" when they squared off, and it was a "zigzag" conflict in which each was staggered several times and each appeared on the verge of a knockout at least once. In the bloody eleventh session, Robinson — bleeding from the nose — was stunned by a right to the head and then battered nearly a minute on the ropes. In the 13th, Basilio may have been saved by the bell, after a left hook buckled his knees and a barrage to the head left him lurching about crazily and ready to fall. But neither of the rugged champions went to the canvas once.

Basilio, weighing 153 1/2 pounds to Robinson's 160, forced the fight in every round against his heavier and rangier opponent. Before the struggle was finished, Carmen was bleeding from two gashes over his left eye and from the nose and there was a large mouse under his right eye. But he was still forcing the fight and he won the last round on the cards of all three ring officials.

Meanwhile, Sugar Ray—fighting defensively and trying to catch his shorter opponent with uppercuts and left hooks as he came in — made such a gallant stand that referee Al Berli voted him the fight on a rounds basis, 9-6.

But judges Artie Aidala and Bill Recht favored Basilio respectively, 9-5-1 and 8-6-1. The United Press agreed, 9-6. A poll of 47 sports writers at the ringside showed 26 for Basilio, 17 for Robinson and four "even."

Message To All Football Fans From President Of QB Club

The Quarterback Club will hold its third meeting of the season tonight in the Sam Houston school auditorium at 7:30.

In last week's meeting, officers were elected to serve for 1927, and a film of the first Harvester game was shown. In tonight's meeting, the coaches will give reports and comments of the Pampa teams and the film on the Pampa-Arlington Heights game will be shown.

The following is a letter from president of the club, Elmer Wilson:

To All Football Fans of Pampa

As all of you know, interest in the game of football is at one of its lowest levels. The cause of this is something we would all like to know. With suggestions and constructive criticism from each of you, we might once again bring back the enthusiasm and spirit Pampa once had for this fine sport.

No one individual is to blame, but the blame lies with all of us. To compete with schools such as Abilene, Wichita Falls, Midland, Amarillo, and Lubbock we must have a football program that will compare with theirs. This program must start with us, the fans of the game. With an enrollment of 450 boys in high school one would think more than 50 boys would turn out for football. Why is the percentage so low? That is where you are needed — to help find the answer to this and to correct it. You can start now by joining the Pampa Quarterback Club. We meet each Tuesday night, during the football season, at 7:30 in the Sam Houston gym.

Our boys need you! See you tonight!

Elmer Wilson, Pres.
Pampa Quarterback Club

First College Grid Ratings Announced

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP) — Oklahoma, which picked up where it left off last season and drubbed Pitt for its 41st consecutive victory, topped the first weekly college football ratings of the United Press Board of Coaches today by an overwhelming vote.

Texas A&M and Georgia Tech, which also opened the 1927 season with impressive victories, ranked second and third behind the Sooners in the choices of the 35 leading coaches who comprise the United Press rating board.

Coach Bud Wilkinson's powerful legions, national champions for the past two seasons, were the No. 1 choice of 30 coaches following Saturday's 26-0 triumph over Oklahoma second, coaches picked Pitt. Two other coaches picked Oklahoma second, one third and two fourth. That gave the Sooners 240 points out of a possible 350.

Michigan State, Minnesota and Michigan, the three Big Ten powers who do not open their season until next week end, were ranked fourth, fifth and sixth in that order. Navy, Tennessee, Duke and Oregon State rounded out the first week's top 10 in that order. Of the last four, only Tennessee did not play last week end.

Texas A&M, Michigan State, Minnesota, Duke and 14th-ranked Texas each attracted one first-place vote from the coaches, whose weekly ratings have become accepted as the most authoritative in college football.

With points distributed on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first to 10th places, Texas A&M received 210 points, trailing Oklahoma by 130. The Texas Aggies opened their season with a 21-13 triumph over Maryland in the week's nationally televised game.

Georgia Tech had 196 points, Michigan State 193, Minnesota 183, Michigan 142, Navy 104, Tennessee 91, Duke 87 and Oregon State 77.

Baylor topped the second 10 group, followed in order by Iowa, Ohio State, Texas and UCLA. Southern Methodist and Stanford were tied for 16th place, Pitt and Penn State were tied for 18th, and Rice was 20th.

In all, 36 teams received votes in the first ratings of the season. Here, by sections, are the coaches who comprise the 1927 United Press Football Coaches Rating Board:

East — Charles Caldwell, Princeton; Aldo (Burr) Donelli, Columbia; Eddie Erdelatz, Navy; George (Lefty) James, Cornell; John Micholosen, Pittsburgh.

Midlands — Bobby Dobbs, Tulsa; Bill Jennings, Nebraska; Charles Mather, Kansas; Bud Mertes, Kansas State; Charles (Bud) Wilkinson, Oklahoma.

Midwest — Terry Brennan, Notre Dame; Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty, Michigan State; Ray Elliot, Illinois; Forest Evashevski, Iowa; Woody Hayes, Ohio State.

Pacific Coast — Len Casanova, Oregon; Jack Myers, College of Pacific; James Owens, Washington; Henry (Red) Sanders, UCLA; Charles Taylor, Stanford.

Rockies — Dick Clausen, New Mexico; Jack Curtice, Utah; John Roning, Denver; L. T. (Buck) Shaw, U.S. Air Force Academy; Dallas Ward, Colorado.

South — Bobby Dodd, Georgia Tech; Andy Gustafson, Miami; Frank Howard, Clemson; Bill Murray, Duke; Bowden Wyatt, Tennessee.

Southwest — Sammy Baugh, Hardin — Simmons; Paul Bryant, Texas A&M; Bill Meek, Southern Methodist; Jack Mitchell, Arkansas; Darrell Royal, Texas.

Others—Mississippi, 7; Arkansas, 6; Houston, Kansas, and Purdue, 5 each; Southern California, Oregon, Utah, Auburn, Washington State and Colorado, 4 each; Iowa State and Tulsa, 3 each; Missouri, 2; Clemson and Virginia, 1 each.

The Pampa Daily News

One of Texas' Five Most Consistent Newspapers

We believe that one truth is always consistent with another truth. An endeavor to be consistent with truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Should we at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we would appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with these moral guides.

Socialist Fallacies

Something or someone has breathed new life into the Socialist Party.

Across the country come reports of a renewed agitation for socialism. Since so many otherwise good Americans are toying with socialist ideas it would be a good time to point up some of the socialist fallacies.

Inherent in all socialist thinking, is a large mental vacuum respecting production. Socialists simply do not understand production. They assume at the outset that 1) we already know all we have to know about production, or 2) we have already produced all that everyone needs, or 3) the world is static in this connection and all the wealth there is, is already in existence and requires simply a redistribution to bring us into a glorious Utopia.

These views are held singly or with modification in groups. They are all false.

To begin with, production is a vastly complicated affair about which even the experts know little or nothing. There is more to be learned in the future than all our knowledge at the moment tells us. We are not at the zenith of production. Rather, we are at the first exploratory stages and many of our most advanced practices circa 1957 will be as outmoded and as clumsy to the producers of 2057, as our own assembly line methods cause us to view the halting efforts of the pre-industrial revolution innovations.

And the point to be made here is simply this. We cannot bring about improved production, increased productivity and hundreds of new products which are needed and wanted, on a "production for use" basis. Innovations always require a type of genius. And the incentive for genius is always the hope for unusual and above normal recompense.

If socialism triumphs, we will be harnessed forever to the status quo. This means that the incentives for unusual ability will be cancelled out in favor of sameness and sterility. No one will seek to improve production. Rather, each will strive to fit himself into the governmental framework on a "security" basis. Progress will stop. It will take all the energy our non-incentivized manpower can muster, just to hold us at a level equivalent to the past.

Inevitably, we will slip backwards. No one will ever do more than he has to do. Indeed, efforts will persist to cause each of us to do less and less. In the end, a mere subsistence, universally shared, is all that socialism can offer.

What about the idea that we already have produced everything that everyone needs or wants? This, of course, is sheer fantasy. If the wheels and furnaces of our productive efforts were halted for a mere three months we would be facing a bleak future. In fact, if we are to cope with our expanding population, our production must expand. Any expansion of productive efforts can come only from savings, for it is savings which buy our new tools, pay for research and improve all our jobs. Savings come only from those who are able to produce for profit and whose profit is large enough so that all that is produced is not consumed. If savings are halted... one of the hopes of the socialist... no new or improved tools will be possible. And even if all the wealth in the world is distributed on the basis of "need," this will bring no improvement in our standards of living. Rather, this will simply expand the area of poverty until it is world wide.

And finally we must see that we live in a dynamic, not a static world. If wealth were simply a matter of money, why not call upon the government to print up enough million dollar certificates so that everyone in the world would have one? If this occurred, what would happen? All of us would want to retire. But could we? Frankly, we could not. Where would we go for groceries? There would be no grocers, because they, too, would have retired with their million. There would be no farmers, for they also would be retired with their million. There would be no gasoline for automobiles, nor would there be the bright new cars your million ought to be able to purchase. This would be true, since all of these producers of all of the things required, would also have retired. In short, the million dollars you received in this fashion would be worth exactly nothing.

Wealth is production, not money. And wealth exists only because of constant effort made by men who wish to profit by the expenditure of their energies. No one can share wealth that has not been or cannot be produced. And to get it produced, incentives must be offered on the basis of ability. Failing this, the only other course would be employment of the force and violence of government to compel each one to work as told, when and where. If this occurs, then we would have traded our freedom for universal servitude under a totalitarian and tyrannous government. And, in its simplest delineation, that is what socialism calls for.

Isn't it too bad that the socialists haven't the foggiest notion about economics?

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. Holles
The Spirit Of The Constitution
September 17 has been designated as Constitution Day.

The controversy between the federal government and the State of Arkansas on the meaning of the Constitution should cause more people to try better to understand the spirit of the United States Constitution.

Years ago one of the Supreme court judges, in a decision on a Texas case, wrote that in order to properly interpret the Constitution we had to go back to the spirit of the Constitution, which was the Declaration of Independence.

If we had followed the spirit of the Declaration of Independence, we would not be in the controversy of segregation, nor would we be having the debts we have today, nor the shrinking of the dollar, nor would we be in almost continuous war and be so anxious about our security. Of course the Constitution, as written and amended, went far afield from the spirit of the Declaration of Independence.

All Men
One of the most important words in the Declaration of Independence is the word "all." Remember it said: "... all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness..."

Most people seem to think the word "all" applies to the people living in the boundaries of the United States, but it applies to every human being in the world. And if we in the United States recognized this word "all," then we would not have protective tariffs, immigration quotas that are aimed in taking away from other men throughout the world, their inalienable rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. We would not be trying to benefit ourselves by injuring other men by limiting their right to trade and to move. The pity of it is that, in trying to improve our own well-being, we are instead injuring ourselves.

It is rational to believe that we would not be in wars all over the world if it were not for this violation of the spirit of the Declaration of Independence by the adoption of protective tariffs and immigration quotas.

All in United States
And if we really followed this spirit of the Declaration, we would not have progressive income taxes, we would not have subsidies, we would not have minimum wages, we would not have irredeemable paper money, we would not have strikes, and if we did not have strikes, we would not have labor unions.

Labor unions are a complete denial of the word "all." They contend that only those people who are admitted to their groups have these inalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. In other words, they adopt the caste system that existed for thousands of years.

And the Declaration also pointed out that all men are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, as above mentioned. It pointed out that they are endowed by their Creator and not by the government or by any other group.

Then another new concept of government was set forth in the Declaration: "... That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed..."

Let it be understood that the word "secure" means to make more secure. It doesn't mean that the governments have the power to endow men with life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Consent
Another most important and revolutionary word was the word "consent" of the governed, and that was an entirely new concept as to how governments should be limited. And if the government followed this ideology, then we could not have taxes that are obtained with a tax pistol. Then the government would have to be limited so that those who wanted all men's lives and property protected would give their consent to support the government.

Two Wrongs
And even if some did not choose to support the government as those people who believe in the use of aggressive force — taxation — think they should, two wrongs — forcing others to pay — never, under any circumstances, make a right. And the Constitution that gives the elected representatives of government an unlimited right to tax progressively, as our amended Constitution does, certainly will not improve our society, our government and our general well-being.

Yes, if we want a Constitution that will make us most secure in our inalienable rights, we must go back to the Declaration of Independence to get the real spirit of liberty and an eternal Constitution that is in harmony with God's laws.

Hank Foils Relatives' Attempt To See Rome

By HENRY McLEMORE

ROME—"What We Didn't See In Rome Due To Having My Brother For A Guide."

That is a long and awkward title for a book, but I am sure one by that name has already been started by my sister.

She and her husband have departed for Germany for the remainder of their European vacation, and they must have sighed with relief when their plane was airborne and they knew I wouldn't be in Munich to greet them and show them about.

They never did come right out and say I was a poor excuse for a guide, but I caught the hint when the last thing my brother-in-law did before catching the Germany-bound plane was a buy a guide book to Rome.

I was sorry to see him do this because when he reads it he is really going to know what he didn't see. Not only that, but he is going to discover that several of the points of interest I led him to were not what I said they were.

There's the Pantheon, for instance. In looking for it, I happened to run across the Borsas, or Stock Exchange, first. On the illustrated map I have they are placed very close together and are represented by tiny pictures that look very much alike. I took the Borsas to be the Pantheon and we spent a good half-hour examining it and taking pictures of it.

My brother-in-law was skeptical, especially after we looked in the building which I said was the Pantheon and saw crowds of men gathered about a quotations board on which figures in lights blinked on and off.

"I just never read of the Pantheon being used for a market," he said.

"The Romans are funny people," I said defensively. "They think nothing of using these ancient monuments for the damndest things."

I got them away from there as fast as I could, because my brother-in-law was on the point of asking someone if I were right about the building. And if he had found out that I was incapable of finding the Pantheon, it would have shaken his faith in everything I had pointed out. He wouldn't have even believed that what I had said was St. Peter's was the real thing.

I know that what I said was the Trevi Fountain was genuine, but I am not sure about the Borghese Gardens. One big garden looks a lot like another big garden to me, and there are lots of big ones in Rome. But the one I showed them was a real pretty one, so I don't feel so badly about that.

I wouldn't want to swear that I got all the churches straight, either. We saw all the principal ones, but whether I pointed out St. John's Lateran for Mary Major, or said that St. Paul's Within The Walls was St. Paul's Without The Walls, is something they'll have to work out from the guide book.

I am pretty sure I got the Spanish Staircase right, and that what I said was the TWA office was the TWA office because of the big sign in front of it, but he'd better check on the names of the hills I said we were on. The hills really get me mixed up, all seven of them. For

SEEK NEW MEASURE

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Agriculture Department will discuss Sept. 25 a proposed shift from the bushel to a hundredweight measure in federal grain operations. Similar proposals have been under discussion in trade circles for several years, and the Commodity Credit Corporation is currently considering use of the hundredweight measure for its 1958 grain programs.

at the expense of another who lost them. The employer didn't owe them, but he lost them.

The only possible way to get something from another who is otherwise unwilling to give it, and which is not required by law, is by acts or threats of violence. If the law does not require the employer to give something for nothing (pay for time not worked, pensions, insurance, severance pay, etc., for which he receives nothing in return), but he is otherwise forced to do so, he is a victim of unfair acts or threats.

Never should any group brag about or feel proud of things which it has gotten for either itself or others unless it can explain the method it used as being fair and reasonable. Anything gained by other methods is of NO actual benefit or value to anyone. In fact, it is always a detriment to those who get it.

When the union tries to entice people to join it by naming the ever-growing list of things it has forced employers to give its members, any non-member who is interested, attracted, or otherwise influenced by the thought of getting "these so-called benefits" by methods as used by the union is not being fair to his employer or to himself.

How can anyone explain that he is worth something for which he cannot give a good reason for not, why would he use even a PAIR having or wanting? And if he cannot, let alone try to FORCE another to give it to him?

Sincerely,
R. J. Smith

It's Up To You

Are We Heading For The Same Fate As Chile?

By HOWARD KERSHNER, L. H. D.

After describing the rising tension and desperate suffering of those squeezed by the longest inflation in the history of Chile, The New York Times ascribes the difficulty to "a false step made nearly twenty years ago." At that time, according to the Times, the working classes and the whole population "were given social services and privileges that could not be paid for by increased productivity."

Since then, government after government has tried to overcome the difference between the production of wealth and the cost of maintaining the welfare state services by inflation.

As The New York Times puts it, the "people were educated to expect and hope for a high and ever better standard of living, but they could not earn the real income to meet their demands."

The Times then goes on to explain that the Chileans tried to solve their problems by democratic methods, "but since they could not permit anarchy they have had to resort often to emergency powers for the President."

There have been eighteen cabinet crises in the last four years. Free government, for the most part, has been succeeded by dictatorship.

Chile is another example of the slow transformation of the welfare state into tyranny and dictatorship. When the government has the power of dipping into public funds for distribution to various groups under the welfare state theory of government, the pressure put upon it by the people cannot be resisted. Inevitably, it spends more than its income and not only taxes the people to the point of strangling business but creates enormous deficits in addition. Inflation then produces the chaos which makes necessary the suspension of free government and the institution of dictatorship.

This has happened over and over in ancient and modern history alike. Are the American people so careless and their leadership so irresponsible as to keep going merrily down the road leading directly to the same result in our country?

Our beautiful land with its high scale of living for all is in the gravest peril. The Roosevelt spending was incredible. The Truman spending was much worse. And now the Eisenhower spending makes both the previous Administrations look like peanuts.

During the Thirties Roosevelt spent $8 billion to $9 billion per year. After the war and during the late Forties Truman got down to an average of about $50 billion per year or less, while Mr. Eisenhower's low peacetime year, 1955, was $73,115,000,000, and the proposed budget for 1958 is about $86 billion.

Such dangerous and reckless totals threaten every American home. Our freedom and our way of life are in grave danger and aroused public opinion must make itself felt quickly or disaster will be upon us.

THE NUCLEAR ENERGY GAMBLE

By George Peck
Some folks never will learn. It is almost incredible that there can be in this country one single thinking adult who does not know that America's rise to glory and prosperity is due to our free enterprise economy. But unfortunately, there are still a few die-hard who still believe or pretend to believe that government bureaucrats can do a better job than private entrepreneurs.

For instance, take the current drive to put the Federal Government into the development of nuclear energy for peacetime usage. Congress slapped that down, at least, temporarily, when it clipped from this year's Atomic Energy Commission appropriations measure, a provision which would have directed the Commission to build $400 million worth of nuclear reactors with government funds.

President Eisenhower, on August 21, said about this: "I wish to make it clear that I will oppose the expenditure of public money for the construction and operation by the Government of any large-scale power reactor, or any prototype thereof, unless private enterprise has first received reasonable opportunity to bear or share the cost."

Continuing, the President added: "This comports with the precept in the first chapter of the basic law, which declares that the policy of the United States shall be to strengthen free competition in private enterprise."

Free entrepreneurs have already given the lie to the charge that they will not take the gamble necessary to develop nuclear energy, and that government must, therefore, undertake it. They have answered the charge in no mistakable manner. The investor-owned electric companies are participating in 14 projects which are expected to have a generating capacity of over 1 1/2 million kilowatts and involve expenditures of over $400 million.

The risks involved are great — the unknown factors are staggering. It calls for pioneering of the highest order, but that is nothing new for private entrepreneurs. Over the nation's history, they have encountered and conquered similar hazards. Left to their own devices, is there any reason to believe they will not give a repeat performance in the nuclear energy field?

At the current pace of nuclear expansion by private enterprise, it is estimated that soon the aggregate output for nuclear energy electric plants will be in excess of $8 billion. Considering that it was only 3 years ago that passage of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 gave the "green light" to investor-owned electric companies to build nuclear-fueled power plants, this is indeed a remarkable achievement.

The first nuclear pile chain reaction was effected in 1942, but until three years ago, the Federal Government kept atomic power within its tightly-closed fist, and behind a curtain of secrecy. Thus, peacetime development of nuclear power is a relatively new thing, but the investor-owned companies have let no grass grow under their feet since at long last given the opportunity to start working in the nuclear field.

Atomic energy in its present stage is simply a new fuel for the fire-box under the conventional steam boiler in the traditional electric plant. It is simply a fuel that may be used instead of the customary coal, oil or gas.

Right now, nuclear fuel is more expensive to use than conventional fuels. Electric companies in most parts of the United States have access to abundant supplies of low cost coal, oil, or gas. However, they are going ahead with the construction of nuclear-fueled plants — many kinds of them. It is not known yet just what type of nuclear reactor on nuclear fuel will be best suited for electric power production. That's the reason several kinds are being built.

The investor-owned companies are gambling that through this costly experimentation, they'll find a method or methods to cut down the cost of producing nuclear fuels. This columnist is betting that their gamble will pay off.

Continuing, the President added: "This comports with the precept in the first chapter of the basic law, which declares that the policy of the United States shall be to strengthen free competition in private enterprise."

Free entrepreneurs have already given the lie to the charge that they will not take the gamble necessary to develop nuclear energy, and that government must, therefore, undertake it. They have answered the charge in no mistakable manner. The investor-owned electric companies are participating in 14 projects which are expected to have a generating capacity of over 1 1/2 million kilowatts and involve expenditures of over $400 million.

The risks involved are great — the unknown factors are staggering. It calls for pioneering of the highest order, but that is nothing new for private entrepreneurs. Over the nation's history, they have encountered and conquered similar hazards. Left to their own devices, is there any reason to believe they will not give a repeat performance in the nuclear energy field?

WAR OF REDS
KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UP)—The Malayan government today warned parents to be on guard against Communist attempts to get jungle recruits from among students in urban schools. A government statement said the Communist terrorists hiding in the jungles were finding it more and more difficult to get youths in rural areas to join them because those youths "know how tough life in the jungle can be." The statement said the Reds obtained 21 recruits in Johore State during the past year.

KOREAN CABINET RESIGNS
TOKYO (UP)—The North Korean Supreme Peoples Assembly has accepted the resignation of the entire cabinet and has asked Premier Kim Il Sung to submit a plan for a new cabinet, the Communist New China News Agency reported today. No reason for the cabinet change was given other than the fact that "its mission is done." The outgoing cabinet will continue its duties until a new one is formed, the agency said.

New York Is Biggest City In World, However You Look At It

By DOC QUIGG
NEW YORK (UP)—In the population "explosion" which sociologists fear may someday have human beings standing bumper-to-bumper in a global bottleneck, three cities lead all the rest.

Which is the biggest city in the world? It all depends, as some philosopher always is saying, on how you figure. But if a New Yorker is doing the figuring, he'll tell you this polyglot burg is easily the biggest—any way you look at it—and he'll challenge Tokyo and London to show otherwise.

Tokyo seems to be growing by leaps and bounds and London spreading itself out into the suburbs fairly fast and New York having a squabble about just what it is doing. With the aid of the Tokyo and London bureaus of the United Press, here are the latest obtainable figures on populations:

Disagree On Census
Tokyo proper — 7,377,394; London Administrative County — 3,250,000; New York City proper — 7,771,509, if you believe the latest census, or more than 8 million if you take the estimates of those who say the census was inaccurate.

Greater Tokyo — 8,518,622; Greater London — 8,270,000; metropolitan region of New York — 15,500,000.

With that breakdown, New York comes out on top, no matter whether you figure a governmental administrative entity or the greater area which includes the suburbs.

Tokyo proper has 23 wards and an area of 356 square miles. Greater Tokyo is 1,237 square miles.

The administrative County of London is 117 square miles. Greater London includes the "outer ring" of suburbs in neighboring counties totaling 721.6 square miles.

New York City proper is composed of five boroughs totaling 315 square miles. The New York metropolitan region is a complex of 17 counties surrounding the five counties of the city proper, and its land area is 6,915 square miles.

rank poison which demands immediate diagnosis and outright rejection."

Sound Habits Required
Finally there are "sound habits." He emphasized "adequate sleep," "regular exercise," and "self-discipline." On sleep, he said he had even "caught a trout napping" — and "most animals need to sleep." Any physician frequently sees people "whose main complaint is a persistent lethargy," and enough sleep usually cures them.

Lixton is an English physician. He was addressing a recent medical meeting.

AFL-CIO LISTS WORTH
WASHINGTON (UP)—The AFL-CIO reported Thursday that as of June 30 its net worth was $6,330,613. The labor organization's biggest asset was its ultra-modern Washington headquarters building valued at close to five million dollars. President George Meany and Secretary-Treasurer William F. Schmitzer together receive a total of $68,000 in salaries, the financial statement said.

'Daily Meditation' Ingredient In 'Prescription For Health'

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—In writing "a prescription for health," a medical scientist insisted upon this ingredient: "Daily meditation." It can be considered a thoroughly scientific viewpoint.

"I cannot overstate the importance of the habit of quiet meditation for health of body, mind, and spirit," said Dr. R. W. Luxton. "Modern man's life is grossly abnormal. Our days are spent in continuous activity and our senses stimulated incessantly, so that we have neither time nor opportunity for quiet.

"We search for the kingdom of heaven in every quarter except where we are told on excellent authority that it happens to be—within us. We need to meditate daily on great truths. We need to explore our own lives, our motives, our plans in the clear light of God, provided as we sit quietly and untroubled in his presence."

Resistance Encouraged
His "prescription for health" had five other ingredients. Another was "promotion of active resistances." Both child and adult can be induced to develop bodily resistance to infectious disease, with vaccines. The minds of children can also be vaccinated, he said.

This can be done in the home, he said, "by instilling absolute moral values under their skin." In that way "we can protect them against slipshod standards of work, against lying and petty theft, against sexuality and homosexuality. The mind can acquire active resistances."

A third ingredient was "creative work," because "every person has creative power, and if his daily work is useless a man becomes subtly frustrated and demands more wages, more leisure, more amusement."

Then there is "right environment" and here he bore down on the polluted atmospheres of cities. "We must fight for the air we breathe to be made as pure as the water we drink."

But the ingredient he listed first was "wholesome food." He said: "It is clear to science that the human engine requires certain general categories of fuel if it is to function — proteins, fats, and starches, and also vitamins."

Unhappily "from all sides modern man has his five senses bombarded with information dressed up to stimulate his appetite. Propaganda has become a fine art, and ideas are forced into one's mind, willy-nilly, as by a kind of psychological stomach tube. Some of the ideas are wholesome, many are fatuous and futile, but some are

Jill Corey Is Proof That Perseverance Pays Off

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Jill Corey, one of the new adornments of "Your Hit Parade," is proof that perseverance pays off. She applied for the job on the NBC-TV show two years ago.

"I was up for the show back in 1955 when Dorothy Collins was going to leave her baby," recalled Miss Corey. "They wanted a temporary replacement for Dorothy and for a while, I thought I might get it."

"Polly Bergen got the job instead, but they didn't forget me. When Gisele MacKenzie turned in her resignation early this year, they called me up again. I guess it's just about the biggest thing that ever happened to me. It's a real prestige show."

Miss Corey, a dark haired chick who hails from Avonmore, Pa., where she was born Norma Jean Speranza, is also happy about the brand of music she'll be called on to sing this season.

Ballads Make Come Back
"I think the trend is pretty much away from rock 'n' roll and that the pretty ballad is coming back," she said. "In the past two years, I've cut only one ballad ('Let It Be Me')—all the rest have been rhythm or novelty tunes. I'll be glad to get back to some ballads."

"I guess the reason most singers don't like rock 'n' roll too well is that you can't get a really pretty sound with a rock 'n' roll song. You just can't sustain a note."

"Did you ever notice the way a rock 'n' roll song is sung? The singer always tries to keep a smile on his face. I don't know why, but it's certainly one of the most trying things about rock 'n' roll—you have to keep that smile.

Has TV Experience
Miss Corey is, at 22, a TV veteran having slaved in the shops of Dave Garroway, Robert Q. Lewis and Johnny Carson. But she confesses that TV singing can be a little taxing at times.

"You can't get settled in TV when you're singing," she observed. "You have to be on your toes and you have to sing out—that mike boom is always a couple of feet away from you. Well, that means that it's pretty difficult to get a mellow sound. If you try for a mellow sound, the director always starts shouting — 'sing a little louder.'"

In an effort to polish her vocal technique, Miss Corey plans to buckle down to singing lessons again. Her schedule also calls for two dramatic lessons a week and four dancing lessons a week, the latter with June Taylor, Jackie Gleason's former choreographer.

Aims For Movies
"The thing about 'Hit Parade' is that I'll get all sorts of experience," said Miss Corey. "I'll be dancing, singing, clowning. It'll make me an all round performer."

"It'll help me a lot in my eventual goal—to get in the movies. I know it sounds like a childish dream, but they're my goal."

"The thing about TV is that it's so uncertain — even when you have your own show, there's no certainty that you can last as a performer. But if you're successful in the movies, well, you just go on and on."
