Group Seeking Voters As Tax Deadline Nears

With the deadline for payment of poll taxes thinning to three days, Gray County voters were today being sought out by various organizations, including the Pampa League of Women Voters, in an effort to raise the number of qualified voters to its potential prior to the deadline for poll tax payment Thursday, Jan. 31.

According to Jack Back, county tax assessor and collector, as of late this morning there was a total of 2,092 poll taxes paid with 760 exemptions. This total, when compared with the 8,191 poll taxes paid last year prior to the deadline, leaves a gap of at least 6,099 if that total is to be equaled or bettered within the next three days.

Representatives of the Pampa League of Women Voters were alternating at a desk set up in the Citizens Bank and Trust Company and the First National Bank where they were accepting payment of poll taxes and giving receipts. As of late this morning one of the women on duty quoted a figure of 30 poll taxes paid thus far today at that station.

The only scheduled elections for this year are city and school board elections with the probability of other local and county elections being brought up at later dates. Speaking for the county, Judge Bruce L. Parker said that he knew of no specific issues to be brought up for a vote at this time. He added however, that there have always been in the past at least five issues called each year because of events arising during the course of the year.

Last year, Parker added, there were a total of nine elections called. These, he injected, had not been planned prior to the deadline for payment of poll taxes. Qualified voters are defined as United States Citizens having attained the age of 21 and having resided in the state of Texas, one year preceding an election and six months within the city or county and having paid their poll tax between the dates of Oct. 1 and Jan. 31, or acquired their exemption certificate.

To become a qualified voter, a person must pay his poll tax or apply for an exemption from the office of the County tax assessor-collector. Those qualified for exemption are persons over 60 years of age, who must obtain an exemption certificate annually between the dates of Oct. 1 and Jan. 31; persons 21 years of age; new residents from out-of-state; residents new in the county, but not in the state.

If a person is not 21 years of age before Jan. 1, but attains that age after that date and before the date of the election, he may obtain an exemption certificate.

President Makes Request In Special Congress Message

By BETTY PRYOR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to vote $1.3 billion over the next four years to help states build new schoolrooms.

The President's recommendation is part of a proposed $2,077,500,000 school program. It also includes funds for state planning committees on higher education and federal loans for school bonds.

Mr. Eisenhower again asked Congress to act quickly on the school aid. In his State of the Union Message he urged Congress to give high priority to school aid.

Urges Speedy Action
Mr. Eisenhower urged Congress in a special message to approve his school construction program "on its own merits, uncomplicated by provisions dealing with the complex problems of integration."

An anti-segregation amendment was a principal factor in killing school aid legislation last year. Urging speedy action on his program, Mr. Eisenhower said the task of educating the nation's youngsters is "unprecedented in its sheer magnitude."

Enrollment at Peak
"The number of pupils in public schools has increased by 5 1/2 million in the past five years, and will further increase by about 6 million in the next five years," he said.

"We have already reached an all-time peak in enrollment in colleges and universities. Yet, in the next 10 to 15 years, the number of young people seeking higher education will double, perhaps even triple."

Mr. Eisenhower emphasized repeatedly that educational tasks before the nation is "basically a state and local problem," but he conceded the necessity for emergency federal assistance in the construction of seriously needed new school buildings.

Building Figure Up
He proposed that the first year of federal construction grants—at an annual rate of $325 million—be made on an outright basis. During the following three years, he said, the federal grants should be matched by state-approximate funds.

Mr. Eisenhower's recommendation for construction grants was slightly higher than the $1,250,000,000 he asked last year. He said the program was "designed to accomplish in four years what last year's proposal would have done in five, since one year has already been lost."

Other points in the President's program called for: State, Would Help
A total of $750 million over the four-year period for federal purchase of local school construction bonds when school districts cannot borrow "at reasonable interest rates." This same provision was included in his recommendation last year.

Committee To Meet, Talk Hotel Plans

A meeting of the Architecture and Building Committee of the board of directors of the Community Hotel Company of Pampa was scheduled for 4 p.m. today in the conference room of the Chamber of Commerce.

C. P. Buckler, committee chairman, told The News this morning that the contract with B. R. Cantrell for the drawing of plans for the hotel will be discussed.

Buckler stated that definite plans would be worked out and a date set for the submission of preliminary plans.

Buckler also reported that plans for the trip to be made by members of the committee on Feb. 4, 7 and 8 to towns in Oklahoma, Louisiana and Texas would be discussed. The committee will visit various community owned hotels to help them arrive at plans for the local hotel.

In connection with the tour, the committee has requested all directors of the hotel to submit questions that they would like to have answered by the operators of hotels visited on the tour.

These questions will be compiled into a questionnaire and answer will be obtained by the committee.

Pampans Will Attend Banquets

Pampa will be represented at Chamber of Commerce banquets in two cities tonight and at another banquet tomorrow night.

The banquets that Pampans will attend tonight will be at Amarillo and Dalhart.

Those attending the Amarillo banquet will be Tom Brooks, Paul Crouch and Joel Combs. E. O. Wedgworth, Henry Gruben and Fred Brook will attend the banquet in Dalhart.

The Chamber of Commerce in Wheeler will hold its annual banquet tomorrow night. The only persons scheduled to attend this banquet at last report this morning were Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Atkinson. Two other couples will attend, E. O. Wedgworth, manager of the local chamber, reported.

In Chicago Murders

Authorities Seek An Alleged Accomplice After Confession

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO (UP)—Authorities today sought the alleged accomplice of a 21-year-old skid row dishwasher who confessed slaying two teen-agers and dumping their nude bodies into a snow-filled ditch.

Edward Lee (Bennie the dishwasher) Bedwell, dictated a signed statement to sheriff's police Sunday in which he admitted the girls were killed after a series of drinking bouts in skid row bars.

Bedwell then was taken to the city's southwest suburbs where he reenacted the brutal crime before a crowd of thousands of onlookers.

Booked On Murder
The suspect showed how he and a man he identified only as Frank slugged the two girls in a car when the victims resisted their advances, stripped the girls of their clothes and then dumped them in a ditch in near zero weather.

Bedwell was booked on two charges of murder.

Services were held today for the victims, Barbara Grimes, 15, and her sister, Patricia, 13, at St. Maurice Roman Catholic Church where the sisters had worshipped.

Their mother, who has been on the point of collapse since the girls' bodies were found last Tuesday, kept a grim vigil beside the closed white coffins in the chapel. Her grief was heightened by Bedwell's confession.

Says Suspect Lies
"It's a lie," the mother, Mrs. Loretta Grimes sobbed.

"My girls wouldn't be on West Madison St. (Skid Row)," she said. "They didn't even know where it was."

Pathologists, who have been unable to determine the cause of the sisters' deaths, said Bedwell's confession contains some questionable points in light of the autopsy.

"There were no significant marks of violence on these bodies," a pathologist said, although Bedwell told authorities he and his companion slugged the girls in the face.

The Grimes sisters disappeared Dec. 28 after attending a movie starring their idol, singer Bill Presley, for the 11th time.

Espionage Case Indictment Sought

NEW YORK (UP)—Federal attorneys go before a special grand jury today to seek indictment of three former Lithuanians on charges of espionage—possibly under a law calling for capital punishment.

Thomas B. Gilchrist Jr., chief assistant United States attorney, is expected to begin presenting evidence against Jack Sobie, 33, his wife, Myra, 32, and Jacob Albam, 36, after a 23-member jury is impaneled before Federal Judge Sidney A. Sugerman.

The Sobies and Albam, all residents of New York City, were arrested Friday and accused of conspiring to obtain U.S. secrets for delivery to the Soviet Union and of failing to register as Soviet agents.

British Defense Minister In Talks With U.S. Officials In Washington

WASHINGTON (UP)—British Defense Minister Duncan Sandys today began talks with American officials that could lead to greater commitments of U.S. troops and money to replace British manpower withdrawals from the free world's defense system.

Sandys arrived from New York Sunday afternoon. He said he was not "on a begging mission" and looked forward to "friendly and happy cooperation" in reaching a British-American agreement on future defense strategy.

He was scheduled to meet with Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson this afternoon. He conferred with Secretary of State John Foster

Dulles and British Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia at Dulles' home Sunday night.

Sandys was expected to seek from Wilson greater British access to U.S. guided missiles and tactical atomic weapons to make up for cutbacks in British military manpower.

Britain is reducing its troop strength throughout the world as a result of the economic setbacks it has suffered as a result of the Suez Canal crisis.

Sandys said his talks with Wilson would cover Allied military commitments in the Far East and Middle East as well as those in Western Europe.

Weather Blamed In High Texas Violent Death Toll

A sheet of ice and snow covered North and West Texas today, closing many schools and making driving conditions extremely dangerous.

At least 28 towns and communities lost telephonic communication with the rest of the world over the weekend, and at last report 16 were still isolated.

Ice and snow combined with heavy fog in some areas grounded most airline flights over the weekend and disrupted other transportation.

Highway Toll Heavy
The bad weather was blamed for heavy contributions to one of the highest weekend death tolls in Texas in history. At least 27 persons died violently over the weekend, including 16 in traffic accidents. Most of the automobile wrecks were blamed on icy roads or on fog.

Southwestern Bell Telephone reported eight towns which it serves and 20 towns served by independent companies isolated from outside communications because of broken lines and heavy icing conditions.

The telephone company said 750 long distance circuits were out of service due to broken lines and formation of heavy ice on wires. At least 90 telephone poles and about 150 crossarms were broken.

Repairs Out
About 150 repairmen were out today restoring service. The telephone company said. Service to six of the eight Southwestern Bell towns isolated was restored today and six of the 20 towns served by independents were back in service.

Towns isolated included Frisco, Celina, Rosanoke, Wolf City, Whitewright, Crago, Seminole and Snyder in the Bell system. Service to all but Wolfe City and Whitewright was restored today.

Other towns isolated were Garden City, Andrews, Gail, Westbrook, Nolan, Blackwell, Maryneal, Ackerly, Coahoma, Desdemona, Godley, Lawn, Slidell, Bronte, Leonard, Trenton, Hermleigh, Murphy, Wendom and Bonham.

Service was restored today to Andrews, Westbrook, Leonard, Murphy, Garden City and Desdemona, but the others still were out.

Some damage was reported in other cities, mostly to long distance lines. A six-hour delay on calls from Dallas to Lubbock and Plainview was reported because of the shortage of circuits.

The telephone company said most of the damage was due to heavy icing, which puts out carrier systems on the long lines. Much of this will be restored automatically when the ice melts, the company said.

A slow thaw began today and forecasters said most of the ice and snow, except in the northeast portions of the state, should be gone by night.

Location Caught Of Four British Youths

VIENNA (UP)—British officials in Budapest were expected to make an all-out effort today to learn the whereabouts of four adventurous young Britons charged with spying on Hungary.

Some sources feared the three young men and a teen-age girl may be used as pawns by Premier Janos Kadar's government in its tough new drive to suppress the Hungarian "counter-revolution."

The missing Britons are 19-year-old Judith Cripps, granddaughter of former Labor Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps; Roger Cooper, 22, nephew of British author Robert Graves; Basil Lord, 25, and his 21-year-old brother, Christopher.

Free-lance photographer Geoffrey Milvauxke, Wis., reached the free world here Sunday after spending 50 days in a Hungarian prison for entering the country without permission.

Her release by Hungarian authorities prompted hope in some diplomatic circles that word may be heard soon of the four young Britons.

They were arrested by Russian troops Jan. 17 after crossing into Hungary from Yugoslavia. Christopher Lord and Cooper were in Budapest during the uprising last fall.

They were charged with possessing forged documents made out Nov. 12 in the name of the Budapest Soviet military command.

Humphrey Would Cut Ike's Budget

WASHINGTON (UP)—Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey called upon the American people Sunday night to demand that Congress trim President Eisenhower's record peace-time budget.

"If we can make a sufficient reduction now, then we would be in a position to reduce taxes a year from now," Humphrey said.

Humphrey emphasized that President Eisenhower is in "complete accord" with his goal of reducing, where feasible, the administration's proposed $71.8 billion spending program for the fiscal year beginning July 1. He said there also is "almost unanimous belief in the cabinet that we have to improve the situation."

But the secretary said the final answer to government economy lies with the public. He said his ever-growing demand for more and more government services always results in pressure on Congress to appropriate more money.

Humphrey said he never had seen "any man work harder" than Mr. Eisenhower to hold down government spending but that "the executive can't do it all."

"I think we ought to start with the people and then go to the Congress and then go to the Executive and have the Executive carry it (an economy drive) through."

Demos Suggest Dulles Resign

WASHINGTON (UP)—Suggestions that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles resign were being heard from some Senate Democrats today.

They came as Dulles went back before the combined Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees for more questioning on President Eisenhower's plan to use money and troops, if necessary, to protect the Middle East from Communist penetration.

Today's committee session was held behind closed doors.

The committees also planned to act on Sen. J. William Fulbright's (D-Ark) proposal that the Senate delay action on Mr. Eisenhower's Middle-East resolution until it first conducts a sweeping review of administration foreign policy.

Fulbright conceded in advance that he would fail to get such a review before a Senate vote on the President's resolution. But he predicted the Foreign Relations

Hobart Under Pass Agreements Due

The City Commission is expected to approve forms and agreements submitted by the Texas Highway Department on the construction of the Hobart Street Underpass and for the maintenance of highways within the city limits at its meeting tomorrow.

The agreements submitted by the highway department request that the city pass an ordinance and approve an agreement for the construction of the underpass at the Hobart Street crossing and also call for a consolidation of all agreements for the maintenance of the state of all highways within the city limits. Fred Brook, city manager, reported today.

Brook stated that in the past the city and state have had separate agreements on each of the highways but that the state is desiring one agreement to cover all of the highways.

The city attorney, Bob Gordon, is studying the agreements today and will present a report and summary on each one at the meeting tomorrow.

Also scheduled for action at tomorrow's meeting will be the approval of the cover sheet on the plans and specifications of the highway department for the underpass construction. The signature of the mayor is needed on this cover sheet before the contract can be given.

The zoning hearing on East Fraser addition No. 2, Fraser Annex and one lot in Sawyer addition will be continued tomorrow.

No report was given as to what action would be taken on the hearing to zone the above sections as semi-commercial.

If an agreement has been reached by the city attorney and the attorney for the Top O' Texas Rodeo and Horse Show Assn. on the insurance for the rodeo grounds the approval of the lease of the facilities used by the group should be approved by the commissioners tomorrow.

The only other action scheduled for the meeting tomorrow will be a request by Brook for the setting of a date for the acceptance of bids for equipment for the fire department. The city will request bids on a new 750 gallon-per-minute pumper and an aerial ladder truck. The new bumper will be transferred to the other substation. The ladder truck will be stationed at the main station.

MOUNT DIABLO, Calif.—UP—Four inches of snow caused an immense traffic jam here Sunday although all the roads were clear. Thousands of motorists packed the roads leading to the highest point in the San Francisco Bay area to get a look at the strange white stuff.

Fire Kills One, Sixteen Injured

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (UP)—A fire and explosion killed one person, injured 16 others and gutted $2.5 million worth of buildings Sunday in this resort city.

Some 30 families were left homeless by the five-hour fire which firemen believed was touched off when an oil burner exploded in a bowling alley.

Gas escaping from an unknown source filled the area around the still smoldering debris and made the work of crews clearing the burned out site extremely dangerous.

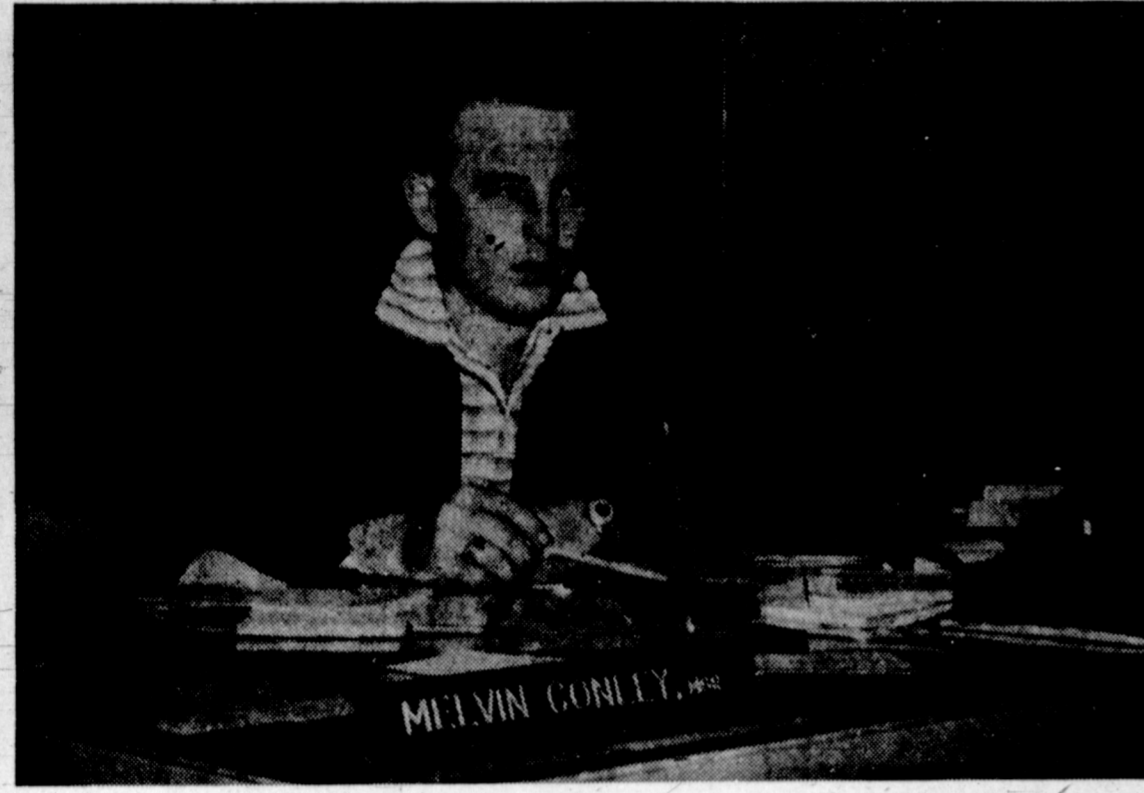

Kefauver: Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) said he would head up a Senate subcommittee to investigate a proposed shutdown of Army ordnance plants. Kefauver said he wanted to make sure there would be no shortage of ammunition resulting from the shutdown.

SOZY IN THE COLD—With the temperature dropping with each wind howling in from the Atlantic, this couple finds a cozy haven from which to watch the waves roll in at Jones Beach, Long Island. Huddled in the boardwalk ventilator are James Wintermantel, of Scranton, Pa., and Eileen Southwick, of Baldwin, N.Y.

Acting on this assumption, South led a club and finessed dummy's ten. This was one finesse too many. East won with the queen of clubs, and then a diamond. West was sure to get in with the king of diamonds in time to set the contract with the jack of spades. South made his mistake when he tried for all five diamond tricks. The first finesse worked. South should have followed with the ace of diamonds. If both opponents followed suit, South could give up one trick to the king. Even if it turned out that East had started with four diamonds, South could get to dummy with the ace of clubs in order to lead a diamond towards his hand. The game would be safe with four diamonds, one spade, two hearts, and two clubs.

Defense Spending May Be Increased

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UP) — Great Britain's proposed substantial reduction of defense spending is likely to invite greater United States contributions of defense money and manpower to collective security.
British Defense Minister Duncan Sandys will arrive here this week to discuss defense problems with U.S. officials. Sandys comes at the invitation of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.
The trend of discussion was indicated Thursday by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in the House of Commons. Macmillan said that the United Kingdom's defense burden must be lightened, that it no longer is bearable. The British put much thought and money and their trust and confidence in an air-borne, fire-brigade defense theory. It was that hot-shot and mobile armed units could arrive almost anywhere quickly, like the Marines, get things well in hand.
The fire-brigade defense theory blew up in the recent British armed action against Egypt. The fire-brigade was conceived as a big stick in support of British policy, the United Kingdom's No. 1 political weapon. The fire-brigade landed, evidently to aid Egypt of the Nasser government.
It was British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, however, who resigned instead. British pride and British prestige were severely damaged. U. S. diplomatic pressure compelled the British and French invaders to withdraw from Egypt. All of this has caused Britons to take a new, cold and suspicious look at their national defense achievements, commitments and general posture.
The January issue of London's thoughtfully edited Economist now hints at what may be in British official minds as they survey the wreckage of Great Britain's Middle East policy. The Economist suggests that British defense has from a frank admission of the present ineffective multi-purpose

Experience
There is 21 years of experience standing behind this business which assures its expansion and success. We have all the latest types of equipment and machines for precision work that guarantee our customers and dealers of the Fine Storm Windows and Doors on the U.S. Market along with the type of installation that any home owner can be proud of.
There is no finer Storm Window at any price that will do what the Dust Stopper will do with ease. We employ over 15 people who make Storm Windows their profession, which in turn assures you a professional job on your home. The Dust Stopper has been proven by 24 months of Service and over 11,000 units have been installed.

Weather Stripped
The Dust Stopper Storm Window is weather stripped, has no inserts, cleans easily, fits between screen and inside windows, so that it is invisible from the street. When the wind blows the window tightens. For ventilation you simply raise the window from the bottom, just like a double-hung window. As you can see in a picture the top sash swings down to make cleaning easy.
When more people begin to realize how important Storm Windows are to their home from a standpoint of cleaning, heating and air-conditioning, we will have to build a new plant to handle the increased business. We can turn out 15,000 units a year with the present factory personnel.
For further information just write or call Owen Moore, 1057 Huff Rd., Pampa, MO 4-4431 or MO 4-3538. He will go anywhere in this area and give a free demonstration and estimate.

Integration in each operational area — There is the germ of a new idea of collective global security. The Economist boldly suggests that Great Britain soon must invite others — most likely the United States — to share the costs and hazards of holding such empire bulwarks as Hong Kong and Singapore.
The main point that emerges from composition of our forces is that defense should be integrated with our allies in each operational area, not just some of them.

Night life for the working homemaker may not be unalloyed gaiety, but today's budget-priced automatic washers and dryers help to lessen the work load for her.

Automatics Ease Load Of Homemaker Who Has Both Home - Office Careers

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer
To the busy young homemaker who juggles a job by day and housework by night, time and labor-saving devices can be as important as to the full-time homemaker.

Organizing her strictly budgeted time and money to best advantage is not always easy. While she's working and later when she returns to start a family some of the most desirable appliances seem just too expensive.

One aspect of part-time homemaking that's apt to take a major chunk of time is the laundry. Some apartment houses have washing machines in the basement but I was never fortunate enough to live in such an apartment, and I can state authoritatively that the bathtub is no satisfactory substitute for a machine in doing general laundry.

Bringing the ease of automatic laundering within each of the limited budget of a young couple is the aim of a thrifty new washer. This is not a stripped-down version of top-of-the-line models but a new design, ruggedly built with a simple and easily maintained mechanism. It doesn't have all the detailed fabric controls of de luxe models but it will wash any fabric.

Dwight Eisenhower apparently has pegged one fixed definition of the term "liberal" in political parlance. In recent times it has been accepted that a political "liberal" is no longer one who opposes monarchial, aristocratic or dictatorial government but rather a political theorist who believes the government should do all, and sundry for its subjects.

Mr. Eisenhower has been shy about identifying himself with the egghead group that so strongly influenced the Roosevelt - Truman regime. He apparently has been reluctant to permit his public relations advisers to place him in the liberal category. He has attempted to set himself aside from this clique without moving into the conservative group. He once described his philosophy as being liberal in dealing with people but conservative in spending their money.

Now it seems he is not so reluctant about the spending. In his State of the Union message he emphasized what Uncle Sam should "do" for the individual in the way of "prosperity, health and welfare."

And when the President presents the budget it also will be evident that the costs of the Federal Government are going to rise — probably to about $72,000,000,000 in the next fiscal year.

After the last election Mr. Eisenhower indicated he considers himself the founder of a new political philosophy which he described as "modern Republicanism." This will, of course, be a "liberal" moment, but what Mr. Eisenhower now means by "liberal" is quite obviously "generous and bountiful" with the public money.

Four years ago Mr. Eisenhower went to the White House with an avowed goal of a $60,000,000,000 Federal budget. In his first year in office he cut the Truman budget down from $74,300,000,000 to $64,500,000,000. But since then the budget trend has been upward. The latest estimate for the fiscal year that ends next June is $69,100,000,000, and the estimate just given to Congressional leaders is that the budget for the 1957-58 fiscal year will be two or three billions higher.

The cold war accounts for only a fraction of the $7,000,000,000 increase from the low point of two years ago. The upward trend of civilian spending has been from $21,900,000,000 in 1953 to an estimated $28,900,000,000 next year.

If Mr. Eisenhower had held civilian spending in line, the next budget could probably have been at the discarded $60,000,000,000 budget goal, and there would have been some chance for tax relief and debt reduction.

The President has clipped a page from the Democratic party's fiscal policy and apparently has decided the way to win elections is to adopt the old Roosevelt slogan of "tax and tax, spend and spend" with its corollary of a steady leftward shifting in political activities.

Judging from his program he is not only reconciled to seeing government bills grow larger and larger, but he is embracing the idea that a modern "liberal" is one who encourages free spending of tax revenue.

SOCIALISM OPPOSES DIVINE PLAN

(Christian Economics)
God must have realized that man could become strong and develop character only if he had the power of choice—the responsibility of choosing between right and wrong, and deciding his own course of action.

Certain men—Marx, Lenin, Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini, the Socialists and the proponents of the Welfare State—believe that man and the conditions under which he lives can be improved by lessening his power of choice, by formulating his beliefs, his standards for distinguishing between right and wrong, and by relieving him of the responsibility of determining his own actions.

As the powers and functions of government—any government—increase, man's responsibility for himself, the number of decisions he must make, and his choices between right and wrong grow less and less. If exercising the power of choice makes him stronger and develops in him the possibility of becoming a son of God, the Socialist Welfare State program gives him increasingly less opportunity to make progress in that direction.

Each local School Board used to have full responsibility for the conduct of its school; the hiring of teachers, the length of the school term, what would be taught and the textbooks that would be used. The local Boards are now deprived of the opportunity to exercise most of these choices. Men used to determine how they would spend their incomes. Now government determines how from one

Government Limits Choice

Men used to determine what occupations they would follow. Now, their choice is greatly limited by government—tariffs, subsidies and various special privileges conferred by law upon industry and labor unions! Men must pay initiation fees and dues before they are allowed to work. They may be forced to strike against their will. Unions may rob them of money to be used for the election of candidates of which they do not approve. Their money may be used to promote one candidate while they vote for another. Many men prefer to save and invest for themselves, but government robs them of the privilege of taxing them for so-called Social Security.

Analyze the modern state as we will and we are forced to the conclusion that it is steadily robbing the individual of the power to choose. Of the responsibility of making his own decisions, and is gradually reducing him to the status of a creature without choice who can only obey—a slave!

When the full light of analysis is turned upon the Welfare State-Socialist-Communist philosophy it will be seen to be in direct opposition to the plan of God for creating an individual in His own image through the exercise of the power to make decisions. Only free men with the power of choice can be moral. Deprive men of that responsibility and they become amoral creatures. Their distinctive individuality tends to disappear. Their capacity to become sons of God grows weaker.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES
Ike Seems Not To See What Causes Inflation

President Eisenhower's state-of-the-union address is evidence that he doesn't have the faintest conception as to what causes inflation. He undoubtedly means well in his advice that "business leaders must, in the national interest, studiously avoid those price rises that are possibly only because of vital or unusual needs of the whole nation." Then he says, "increases in wages and other labor benefits, negotiated by labor and management, must be reasonably related to improvements in productivity." He also talks about a reasonable profit.

Of course, Ike couldn't define a reasonable profit, nor can anyone else. The only time there could be such a thing as a reasonable profit when the government has interfered with an unhampered market and given certain groups special privileges. Then there could be an unreasonable profit. The purpose of government should be not to give anybody special privilege so that he can have an unreasonable profit.

Inflation is a natural result of certain courses of action. It is a defense measure. It is the lesser of two evils. Inflation, of course, is an arbitrary increase of credit and circulating medium of exchange. It is always caused by government wanting to stay in office.

When the government cannot tax enough or borrow enough to buy enough votes to stay in office, it makes laws that make it a crime to use gold as a medium of exchange. That's what the government did in 1933 when it went off the gold standard. For nearly 24 years now, the politicians have been deluging the country with credit.

When the government passes a lot of laws in the past giving organized labor a monopoly so that they can plunder the rest of mankind, unemployment is bound to result. Unemployment is a result of monopolies, of lack of a free market, and when labor unions are able to get two or three times as much as other people with the same skills are able to get, there is bound to be unemployment. Unemployment comes when both parties to a transaction do not believe they are benefited.

The labor unions have become strong and caused unemployment because of such laws as the Norris-LaGuardia Law, the Clayton Amendment to the Sherman Anti-Trust Law that permits unions to do things that would be a crime if done by non-union people, the Wagner Act, the Taft-Hartley Law that makes it a crime for an employer to show preference in employing labor to those people who will make a binding honor contract, to those workers who join a union that prevents them from making a binding dependable contract. Protective efforts are also forms of helping labor and capital monopolies, minimum wage laws and laws that require time and one-half for over 40 hours.

These discriminatory laws are some of the laws that get the country in trouble, cause long periods of unemployment. Unemployment makes the politicians uneasy and they cannot tax enough or borrow enough to correct the damage they have done by their class legislation, so they pass more class legislation by making an act a crime that is not a crime—trading in gold.

When the government is on the gold standard, the politicians are limited in the amount of credit or money they can get. When they are off the gold standard and control the banks and what can be used as money, the sky is the limit. They can make everybody a millionaire in worthless money. And this increase in money and credit by government fiat results in this unit of money buying less and less.

It is irrational for the President of the United States to be warning employers not to get an unreasonable profit or workers not to get an unreasonable wage. Society is benefited by every individual getting as high a wage as he can get on a free market and employer by making as much profit as possible on a free market and still have his business grow.

To talk about a reasonable wage and a reasonable profit is to use words that cannot be defined. It is adding confusion to confusion. It is better to have inflation and thus eventually correct the wickedness of monopolies than to continue to suffer from government playing favorites with those they believe will keep them in power and thus reduce production, cause long periods of unemployment and enslave mankind.

But what can be expected from a man who was trained by the government as Ike was. He believes the government can work miracles, that it need not live in harmony with eternal moral and economic laws.

We are reaping exactly what we have been sowing.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.
A discussion on sinusitis recently appeared in the publication, New York Medicine. Among many of the problems connected with this common and painful condition, it was pointed out that deflections of the nasal septum (the dividing tissue between the two nostrils), or the presence of polyps in the nose often serve to interfere with drainage and hence frequently cause acute inflammation of the sinuses.

It was also emphasized that the general health is important in relation to diseases of the sinuses or the teeth.
Acute sinusitis caused by germs presents the same symptoms as bacterial infection elsewhere, with the addition of readily identifiable local signs.

While prevention should be the aim of treatment, early acute sinusitis should usually not be treated by surgery but by local medication, steam inhalations, appropriate antibiotics and like measures. Somewhat later, irrigation, suction, and other procedures may be helpful.

Probably more widespread and in some ways more difficult, is chronic inflammation of the sinuses associated with a thickening of the mucous membranes and chronic inflammation.
This may be more difficult to diagnose since it is likely to be slowly progressive and often produces no symptoms, or very slight ones. If symptoms are present they are likely to be those of obstruction of outflow from the sinuses, sometimes associated with heavy mucous discharges. Sneezing is common and loss of taste and smell are also frequent.

It was thought by the article's experts that chronic sinusitis can be treated best by surgery to improve the drainage and also removal of polyps or other obstructive elements in the nose. Antibiotics do not cure sinusitis and other substances such as antihistamines and ACTH or cortisone seem to have limited value. Anxiety and tension, as well as inhalation of dust, fumes, pollens, or other irritating substances, can bring about symptoms which may be attributed to sinusitis. But acute sinusitis usually brings no problems of diagnosis and diagnosis of chronic sinusitis can usually be made by means of X-rays and other tests.

President's Consideration Is Greatly Appreciated
By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's distribution of Federal patronage in Southern States shows that he means business in aiming to attach this historically Democratic section to the once deserted Republican Party.
His technique differs completely from the abortive efforts made by Herbert Hoover and his national chairman, Claudius Huston of Tennessee, after Hoover carried several Southern Commonwealths in his 1928 defeat of Alfred E. Smith, and by a long list of pre-Hoover GOP-ers.
Whereas they looked upon Dixie as a captive province, to be ruled by absentee and politics-for-pay overlords, Eisenhower and National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, with active co-operation of certain Democratic Senators, have recognized the new forces and personalities which seem to be reconciling that area toward Republicanism on the national level.

Since the days of "Teddy" Roosevelt and William Howard Taft, who were almost the only Republican post-Civil War Presidents who had not served on the Union side in that conflict, the GOP has "used" — or misused — the South for selfishly partisan purposes.
Questionable members of white and colored races were placed in positions of influence as national, state and local leaders. With only a few exceptions, appointments to Federal offices — District Attorneys, Marshals, Customs and Internal Revenue Collectors — were made on the same narrow and mercenary basis.

These Republicans' most important job — and it was about the only work they did — was to deliver delegates to their Party benefactors at Republican national conventions. Sometimes, as at Kansas City in 1928, they sold out to rival candidates for the nomination, and had to be bought back by the original purchasers.
Under such disgraceful circumstances, no self-respecting Southerner dared to register or vote as a Republican, even in Presidential contests. More importantly, no reputable newspaper could say a good word for that Party's platform or nominee. From 1928 until 1952, no state in the Deep South deserted the Democrats.

Ike has reformed this situation from top to bottom, although additional cleansing is still needed and is in the works. He is appointing able and distinguished "Eisenhower Democrats" to key positions in recognition of his 1952-1956 political successes before the Mason and Dixon Line. Moreover, he is consulting recognized Democratic Senators before sending the nominations to Capitol Hill.

The new Commissioner of Education, Lawrence Gridley Dertlich of Tennessee, is recognized as one of the nation's experts in this field. In view of the controversy over segregation, selection of a man from Dixie for this office caused surprise and comment.
For the one appointment on the Civil Aeronautics Board reserved for the Democrats, Ike picked a well-known Miami lawyer, Louis J. Hector, after endorsement by Senators Holland and Smathers. The President had to resist strong pressure from the Northwest to name Joseph P. Adams of Washington State, for the Far West has a deep and growing concern with commercial aviation.

Although he ran against Ike as a Conservative Independent, T. Coleman Andrews of Richmond told into this category. One of the nation's ablest certified public accountants, he did an excellent job in purifying and streamlining the Internal Revenue Bureau before he resigned as Federal Director. Although not formally endorsed by Senator Byrd of Virginia, Andrews was eminently satisfactory to this veteran Democrat.

In short, Ike has shown himself to be a Christopher Columbus in remaking the map of American politics, at least temporarily.

For The Greater Honor And Glory Of Henry McLeMore
By HENRY MCLEMORE
GARMISCH - PARTENKIRCHEN — It's probably immodest of me to say so, but I wouldn't be at all surprised if there were a monument erected to me when I leave this famed winter sports resort.
To tell the truth, I have heard rumors that a drive to raise funds for such a memorial are already under way, and that the heaviest contributors by far have been husbands in the middle-aged group.
I also have read an inscription that has been proposed for the base of the monument. It reads: "To a brave pioneer who dared not only the wrath of his wife but the jeers and laughter of strangers in order to save us money."
When I did what I did, I wasn't thinking of helping my fellow man, but was motivated purely by selfishness. It all started several days ago when Mary and I decided to come to Garmisch and try a little skiing. At the mention of skiing she started talking clothes — ski clothes.
She'd have to get this sweater, that pair of ski pants, these boots, those gloves, these woolly undies, that hat, and goodness knows what else.
"Nonsense," I said. "You've got enough warm clothes to spend a month in a snowdrift already."
Then Mary started telling me what I would have to have. It sounded like an inventory of a Nome haberdashery. Massive sweaters. Poplin trousers. Fancy windbreakers. Norwegian caps. Mittens. Dark glasses. Red long-johns.
"Better add a tin cup to that list, too," I said.
Mary paid no attention, but continued naming the necessities. Not only did we have to have outfits

Harvesters Facing Tough Week

This is the big week for the Pampa Harvesters. They will either be relegated to second place or jump within championship contention of the District 3-AAAA basketball title when they meet the Palo Duro Dons and Borger's Bulldogs.

Both games are out of town and pose problems for the high-flying Harvesters who have lost only one game all season and that by only one point. A pair of victories this week would put the Harvesters right up there on top.

The Harvesters go to Amarillo tomorrow night to take on the deadly Palo Duro Dons. Then on Friday night, Borger hosts the Harvesters. If the Harvesters get past the Dons tomorrow night they will go into the Borger game only one-half game back of the Bulldogs and a victory over their dreaded rivals could give the Pampans a temporary one-half game lead.

Borger last week played only one conference game while Pampa was playing and winning two. The Bulldogs played Guymon Saturday night and were upset 71-67. It was their second loss of the season against 20 victories. The Bulldogs meet Monterey tomorrow night and must get past the Plainsmen in order to stay in the race.

Palo Duro tossed a scare into the Harvesters the last time they met while finally losing 67-65 after Jerry Pope had dumped in a spectacular hook in the last two seconds of the game. Prior to that, though, the Harvesters had been leading by 14 points with only minutes to play.

Palo Duro is out of contention for the District 3-AAAA crown. The Dons have lost three of seven games in district competition. Pampa has a 19-1 season mark and 6-1 for the district.

Tickets for the Palo Duro-Harvester game have already been sold out. The school business office was allotted 50 student and 50 adult tickets for the game. The Palo Duro fieldhouse holds only 900 fans. The business office expects 300 adult tickets to go on sale tomorrow for the Borger game Friday night. The students will also receive 300 tickets. The tickets are $1 each for adults and 25 cents for students.

The Harvesters do not have a home game this week or next week. They meet Monterey at Lubbock next Tuesday night and have an open date on Friday night, Feb. 8. Pampa closes out its regular season on Feb. 12 and Feb. 14 against Lubbock High and Plainview, respectively, with both games to be played here.

Pampa Has Three Champions In Amarillo Regional Meet

An estimated 25 well-experienced Pampa Optimist Club boxers will go after the big one this week — the championship of the 21st annual Regional Golden Gloves Tournament which starts in Amarillo Tuesday night.

The Pampa team has come a long way since its first workouts several months ago. And now, the team coaches expect it to pay off. The Pampa representatives will be seeking championships in both the high school and open divisions.

The Optimist Club squad has entered eight team matches and competed in two district Golden Gloves meets to prepare the fighters for the big one in Amarillo. Borger and Pampa are expected to be the toughest competitors for the high school division title if the district tournament action is an indication.

Pampa will have three regional titlists to return for more cracks at the championships Tuesday night. The meet starts at 8 p.m. in the Tri-State Coliseum on the fair grounds. The tournament concludes Saturday night although bouts are not slated for Thursday night.

Weight-ins and registration begin at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Herring Hotel and will continue until around 4 p.m. Duke Nally is once again in charge of the tournament.

Pampa will send Gary Wills, Gary Wilhelm and Kenneth Wood back to try and win repeat titles. Last year Wills won the 105-pound high school crown and Wilhelm was the 126-pound school winner. Wood was the 134-pound champion in the open division. All three will compete as open division representatives this year.

Among the other Pampans expected to compete are district champions Dickie Wills, Charles Snider, Jesse Ring, Wesley Crites, Bill Bledsoe and Darrell Bledsoe. Local coaches plan to send several fighters from each weight to the tournament although one boxer in each category will be named as the team point representative.

Others who will probably fight include Dickie James, Charles Coffey, Larry Powell, James Snider, Norman Rexroat and others.

Wood will be seeking his fifth regional title. He has won two open crowns and three high school titles. Last year, while winning the lightweight trophy, he also received the Hamilton Memorial Award for being named outstanding fighter of the meet. Dickie Wills is expected to take over the 105-pound weight where brother Gary left off last year. Wood is rated as one of the top boxers ever to come out of regional competition.

Ring is also a champion of the Amarillo meet. He won the 155-pound title two years ago. It will be his first appearance for Crites, James and Charles Snider, Coffey and Dickie Wills. Pampa coaches are Ollie Wilhelm, Ben White, Bill Martin and Oren James.

Betsy Rawls Wins Tampa Golf Title

LAKE WORTH, Fla. (UP) — History did not repeat, so Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S. C., picked up her second check for $880 within a week Sunday for winning the Lake Worth Women's Open Golf tournament.

It was almost a replay of the final round in the Tampa Women's Open the previous week when Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, came in second to Miss Rawls.

At Tampa, however, Miss Crocker rallied on the closing day to fall short by only one stroke.

This time, it was Miss Rawls who was one stroke behind at the end of nine holes. She put on a sizzling finish to win with a 214 for 34 holes, while Miss Crocker's game fell apart on the closing nine with four bogeys for a 72-218. Miss Rawls finished with a 69.

Defending champion Southern Methodist gets a chance this week to find out if the Southwest Conference's mid-term examination lull has made its nationally-ranked Mustangs rusty or rested when the Ponies close out the first half of the loop race against Arkansas.

The SMU-Arkansas get-together in Dallas Saturday night highlights a sparse conference program of three league and two non-conference contests and will determine whether the Ponies go into the final half drive with a one-game lead or tied with Baylor and Rice — and possibly, Arkansas.

Both of those clubs have completed the front halves of their title slate and will sit on the sidelines this week with 4-2 records.

SMU, Either Rusty Or Rested, Get Back Into Action This Week

Defending champion Southern Methodist gets a chance this week to find out if the Southwest Conference's mid-term examination lull has made its nationally-ranked Mustangs rusty or rested when the Ponies close out the first half of the loop race against Arkansas.

The SMU-Arkansas get-together in Dallas Saturday night highlights a sparse conference program of three league and two non-conference contests and will determine whether the Ponies go into the final half drive with a one-game lead or tied with Baylor and Rice — and possibly, Arkansas.

Both of those clubs have completed the front halves of their title slate and will sit on the sidelines this week with 4-2 records.

Arkansas, which still has only two setbacks charged against it like Rice and Baylor, tries to stay in contention in the week's opening clash when the Porkers entertain TCU at Fayetteville Tuesday night. The Razorbacks could throw the first-half race into a four-way deadlock by sweeping both the TCU and SMU contests.

TCU and the Texas Aggies meet in Fort Worth Saturday night in the only other game on the week's program.

Baylor continued its eye-lifting brand of play last week when it fought from behind against a TCU 10-point lead and forged a 70-64 victory that pulled the Bears into the runner-up spot tie with idle Rice. In the only other game last week, Arkansas bowed to Kansas State 70-56.

The Baylor-TCU game produced some minor changes in the individual scoring race as well as the team accomplishment.

Baylor's Jerry Mallett, held to five points, by TCU's gang tactics, failed to improve his fifth spot ranking in the season scoring total, but it did move him into second place in league output with 104 points behind SMU's Jim Krebs' 116.

Shockers Play Bees Tonight

The Pampa Shockers will go after their 21st victory of the season tonight when they take on the Palo Duro Bees in Amarillo at 7:30.

The Shockers won their 20th win Saturday night by edging the Amarillo Yannigans, 88-77. Pampa's B squad was scheduled to meet Palo Duro Saturday night but because of the Sandie football banquet the two games were reversed.

The Shockers beat the Palo Duro B squad 81-34 in their last game here. The Yannigans fell 84-58, to the Shockers in their last meeting.

The Pampa team went behind in the first quarter against the Amarillo squad 26-22. It was the first time this season the Shockers had trailed after a quarter of play. Pampa jumped back to lead the Yannigans 45-42 at the half and it was 68-56 after three quarters.

Mack Lyle hit for 31 points to pace the Shockers. Robert Murray had 20 and Charles Minor had 17 for Pampa. Bert McLain made 28 of 48 field goal attempts for 48 per cent. The Yannigans made 33 of 79 for 41 percent.

Three In Thunderbird Playoffs

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UP) — A couple of ex-college kids, Ken Venturi and Mike Souchak, and old Jimmy Demaret, who graduated from the college of hard knocks, tangle here today in the playoff for the gold and glory in the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational Golf Tournament.

The three men ended the regulation 72 holes Sunday in a deadlock with 273 strokes — 11 under par for the distance.

And today it will be an 18-hole battle to see who takes home the first prize of $2,000; second place pays $1,000, and third $750.

Demaret, who is 45 and was winning in the big time before the 25-year-old Venturi was born, is the defending champion and he shot the finest golf Sunday (a 67) to pull up into the deadlock.

It was a dramatic finish to a scrambled race that saw from two to five men tied for the leadership every day; with Venturi sinking an exceptionally tough 18-foot putt on the 17th hole to tie Demaret, who already had finished; and then Souchak knocked in a 45-foot putt on the 18th to join the traffic jam.

Texas Western Holds Border Circuit Lead

By UNITED PRESS
Coach George McCarty's Texas Western Miners swing into action twice against the same club this week in an effort to reach the midway point of the Border Conference basketball race with an unfinished record.

The Miners entertain Arizona State (0-2) at El Paso tonight and then trek to Tempe for a return engagement with the same club Saturday night. A 6-0 record awaits them if they can sweep both contests.

Runner-up Hardin-Simmons (3-1) will face North Texas in a noon-long game at Abilene Thursday night and then tackle West Texas (1-3) at Canyon on Saturday night in an attempt to stay in contention.

The New Mexico Aggies (2-2), host Arizona State at Las Cruces Tuesday night and then travel to Tucson against Arizona (0-2) Saturday night.

First Place In Three Cage Loops Go On Line Tonight

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

The mid-year "vacation" is over for college basketball teams, and first place in three major conferences goes on the line tonight when full-scale warfare breaks out again.

Kentucky, the nation's No. 3 team which gained a tie for the Southeastern Conference lead by whipping Vanderbilt, 91-83, Saturday night, risks that share tonight when it visits Georgia Tech — the school that sat on the court world two years ago by upsetting Kentucky twice.

Ohio State, Big Ten pacemaker and the nation's No. 10 team, risks its perfect 6-0 league record in a road game against Michigan State, and Texas Western, unbeaten leader of the Border Conference at 4-0, plays host to Temple State.

These three games keynote a week in which the court stars who have been busy with mid-year examinations for two weeks, swing into the second and decisive half of the season.

Before the week is out, every team in the top 10 of the United Press rankings will see action except ninth-ranked Seattle, idle until Feb. 5.

Kentucky Sets Style
Kentucky was one of four high-ranked teams playing last Saturday, and set the winning style for the quartet. The Wildcats sank 43.9 percent of their shots as Jerry Calvert and Johnny Cox scored 23 points each to beat 15th-ranked Vanderbilt.

Louisville (No. 6) nipped Dayton, 57-56, in a replay of last year's National Invitation Tournament final on soph Hal Andrews' 25-foot shot at the final buzzer; Illinois (No. 8) equaled the Chicago Stadium scoring record in whipping Notre Dame 99-81; and Ohio State (No. 10) rallied in the final six minutes to beat Northwestern, 83-71, as Frank Howard and Jim Laughlin scored 20 points each.

Here's the situation now in the major conference title races:

Iowa State Strong
Missouri Valley — St. Louis (4-1) can tie Wichita (5-1) for second place by beating Oklahoma A&M Tuesday, while Wichita and leading Bradley (6-0) are idle from league action.

Big Seven — If Iowa State can repeat its upset of Kansas (3-1) at Kansas Saturday, then idle Nebraska (2-1) will inherit the lead.

Southwest — If S.M.U. (4-1), the nation's No. 5 team, is upset by Arkansas Saturday, it will drop into a tie with idle Rice and Baylor (each 4-2).

Skyline — If Brigham Young (4-1) is upset by Denver Saturday, then either Montana or Colorado A&M (each 3-2) can go ahead by winning a game Thursday and then beating the other on Saturday.

Tag Team Match Is Main Event

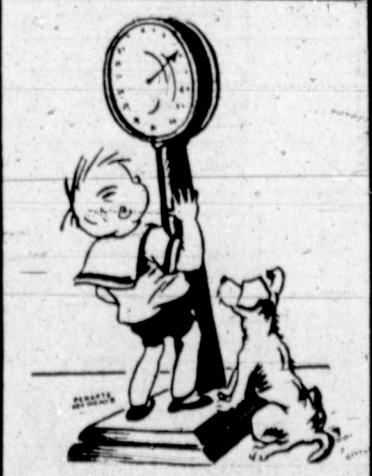

A rematched tag team bout is the headline attraction of the Pampa Shrine Club's wrestling program tonight at the Sportsman Club.

Dory Funk and Rip Rogers take on Leo Newman and Tokyo Joe in the main event of the show. The match is slated for two of three falls with a one-hour time limit.

Newcomers Juan Humberto and Jim Wright meet in the semifinal contest scheduled for 45 minutes and the best two of three falls. Rogers and Tokyo Joe tangle in the one-fall, 20-minute opener.

Tickets are on sale at Modern Pharmacy and will be sold tonight at the Sportsman Club. Admission is $1.50 for ringside seats, $1.25 for reserved seats, 90 cents for adult general admission and 50 cents for children.

The matches get underway at 8:15 p.m.

FAMOUS Esso Extra GASOLINE

gives extra anti-knock performance in modern engines

Modern cars, especially the 1957 models, have engines with high compression ratios.

Even at this altitude, these engines require the extra performance of Humble's famous Esso Extra gasoline.

It's the best premium gasoline you can buy... with extra anti-knock performance... extra power... extra protection against vapor lock... extra mileage... extra quick starting and warm-up.

Fill up with Esso Extra gasoline under your neighbor's Humble sign — it's famous for performance.

Prevent "the knock you cannot hear" — use famous Esso Extra gasoline.

Engineers call it "trace knock," a knock so faint that only a trained technician can hear it. But like all knocks, it robs your engine of power, forecasts engine damage. If yours is a modern car in any price class — especially if it's a 1957 model — prevent "trace knock" with Humble's famous Esso Extra gasoline.

PRICELESS — Most precious animal in the world is the appearing mite pictured above in the Columbus, Ohio, Municipal Zoo. It's a girl baby gorilla, precious because she represents a triple triumph—first gorilla breeding in captivity, first conception and first birth. Her arrival tossed an H-bomb in world zoo circles. Theories, some 100 years old, said it never could happen. "Sweetie Face," 16 days old when this picture was snapped, has a wizened face, a head the size of an orange, is 13 inches long and weighed four pounds at birth. She lives in an incubator and is fed human baby formula.

Burial was in Miami Cemetery with services under the direction of Duengel-Carmichael Funeral Home, Pampa.

Mrs. Rees, member of an Irish family was born in Birmingham, England, and came to this country in 1896 to marry the Rev. Dan Rees, whom she had met when both were engaged in mission work in London.

In 1949, when she celebrated her 90th birthday, she remembered some of the details of her colorful life, including a proper Victorian upbringing, which might have unfitted some women for a career as a preacher's wife in small towns on the American frontier.

Her "frivolous qualities" sometimes criticized when she was growing up, helped keep Mrs. Rees youthful long after other ladies would have been happy to settle for a chair by the fire.

"A sense of humor, overshadowed by the proper Victorian training, and a talent for music prepared her to teach and eke out the small salary paid to a minister in the American West."

She taught music until she was 75 and taught a Sunday School class long after she had to give up reading the Bible because of failing eyesight. She continued to enjoy radio and television for several years after she quit reading.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. George of Shamrock, Mrs. C. T. Locke, Miami, and Mrs. J. B. Mathers, Canadian; seven grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Union Inquiry Expected Today

MIAMI BEACH (UP)—Top union officials were expected today to look into the reasons why Teamsters leaders refused to testify at a Senate subcommittee inquiry about handling of union funds.

The controversy possibly will become one of the first items on the agenda of the AFL-CIO Executive Council's annual 19-day conference which opens today.

Several officials of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, largest AFL-CIO member, balked at testifying before the congressional investigation of labor racketeering headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) had no power to investigate unions.

The Teamster Executive Board backed up the officers who refused to answer charges that union funds were used to build a plush home for Teamsters President Dave Beck, and to help pay some of Beck's "personal" bills.
