Wilson Stirs Up Fury With 'Draft-Dodging' Statement About The US National Guard

By PAUL SOUTHWICK
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Congressmen and National Guardsmen today mangled the battle over Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson's remark that the National Guard has been a "draft dodging business."

The role of the National Guard in the military reserve program. An Armed Services subcommittee headed by Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La.) planned to open hearings Monday.

Wilson told the Armed Services Committee Monday the politically potent Guard was a "sort of scandal" during the Korean war. He said the Guard was used by young men as a "draft dodging business."

Guard charge that the new order is an effort to help scuttle the Guard. They fear the requirement of six months active duty will cut Guard enlistments.

Wilson Stirs Up Fury With 'Draft-Dodging' Statement About The US National Guard

Both senators and representatives defended the National Guard. Maj. Gen. Ellard A. Walsh, National Guard Assn. president, called Wilson's remark "a lie."

The House Armed Services Committee prepared for a showdown with the Defense Department on the role of the National Guard in the military reserve program.

Under the law, youths who join the Guard between the ages of 17 and 18½ are exempt from the two-year draft in the regular armed services. They may volunteer for six months active duty but it isn't mandatory.

Walsh said a Guardsman who performs combat duty or is subject to such duty at a moment's notice "has every right to resent being tagged a draft dodger as Mr. Wilson unfortunately has chosen to call him."

Rep. John J. Flynt (D-Ga.), another member of the committee, said Wilson's statement was "wholly unwarranted and is an insult to the men of the National Guard."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.), a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Wilson's "statement casts a cloud upon all Americans who have served in the National Guard at great personal sacrifice."

Allied Defense Is In Radical Change

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The Allied defense set-up is undergoing a radical change in both Western Europe and the Middle East.

The change in Europe is marked by the visit of British Defense Secretary Duncan Sandys to Washington and the appointment of a German general as commander of American, British, French and West German troops under the North Atlantic Alliance.

In the Middle East, of course, the change is marked by the Eisenhower Doctrine under which the United States would take prime responsibility in that big area for defense against Communist aggression.

mand what is called the central European area of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization means that increasing emphasis is going to be put on West Germany's role in the defense of Western Europe.

Both the United States and Britain plan drastic reductions of their forces in Germany, which would be the first line of defense in event of a war with Soviet Russia in that part of the world. Most of France's NATO troops already have been sent to Algeria.

West Germany is just really getting started on its rearmament program.

The first of 100,000 draftees for the West German army have started enrolling and undergoing physical examination.

The West German air force is now forming. It is planned to set up first-line air force units in 1959.

It is not quite clear that in the Middle East the United States, under the Eisenhower Doctrine, would replace Britain and France as the chief western barrier against Communist penetration.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told a congressional committee last Friday that British and French troops would be a handicap to the United States in the Middle East. He explained that the Arab countries were hostile to Britain and France because of the recent invasion of the Suez Canal zone, among other things.

But it seems increasingly likely that Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Pakistan may play an important part in the new defense line-up.

These countries are the Moslem members of the Baghdad Alliance against Red aggression.

Britain is the fifth member, the United States, which sponsored the Baghdad Alliance, cooperates with its members. It has refused to join the pact outright. Now, it seems increasingly possible that if the United States does not join the alliance, it will seek the cooperation of the four Moslem countries in making the Eisenhower Doctrine effective.

Turkey's cooperation, especially, seems essential. Turkey, which like Iran has a long frontier opposite the Soviet Union, also has the biggest and best army in the whole Middle East. Its influence is great throughout the Moslem world and it is a staunch friend of the United States.

Weekly Newsletter From Congressman Walter Rogers

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT:

H. J. RES. 117

The big question in Washington today is the possible fate of House Joint Resolution 117, the so-called "Eisenhower Doctrine" or "Middle East Policy". Soon after this proposal was announced in President Eisenhower's first message to the Congress, a campaign got underway to sell it to the American people. The two major items in the proposal were the vesting of power in the President to send American boys into the Middle East, and the granting to the President of wide powers to spend money in that area. They quickly brought opposition from a number of people in our country. These were generally divided into three groups.

One group was against the granting of any of the powers requested by the President on the theory that the right to declare war should remain in the Congress; that the granting of power to the President to use armed forces in foreign areas was, in effect, granting to the President the right to wage war, declared or undeclared. Another argument by this group was that the United Nations had been formed to provide a police force to handle matters of armed conflict such as the Middle East situation. Another argument was to the effect that American tax dollars that had been poured into the bottomless pit of foreign aid had not produced the results that had originally been anticipated, and that the further lavish expenditures of such funds would constitute additional waste without effective results.

The second group vigorously opposed the use of armed forces of the United States, but did subscribe to the use of American tax money for both military and economic aid in the troublesome areas of the Middle East. Their reasoning was to the effect that, since we were a member of the United Nations, the entire matter of policing the area should be left to the UN, but that money would be needed by these countries in order to meet their economic needs, and that the providing of ample sums for this purpose would lessen the danger of shedding American blood in those areas.

The third group followed the school of thought that the power to send American armed forces into these areas should be vested in the President, because it was the only way that moves of dictatorships could be countered by this country. In other words, if a dictatorial country decided to move armed forces into an area, that decision could be issued at the same time; that if the President had to wait until Congress acted before such an order could be given, we would be at a serious disadvantage. This group felt that all sums expended in dealing with the Middle East problem should be devoted to military matters and none to economic aid grants. They argued that the military operation would be much more effective in settling the matter and that the granting of economic aid could well create a situation that would make the military operation more difficult.

Of course, there were other divisions of thought, but the three groups above named seem to constitute the nucleus of the opposition, and it appeared that a unification of these three groups would result in formidable opposition to the plan. However, the sales campaign that was commenced shortly after the White House pronouncement was most effective and is gaining momentum. The result is that a substantial amount of opposition in all three groups was measurably reduced. Much of the opposition was converted to support of the overall plan, but on the condition that the power to send American boys into the Middle East should be separated from the power to spend American money in that area; that both powers be granted the President as he requested, but that they be granted in two separate authorizations so that each could be weighed separately by the Congress and the Congress might want to place on either or both of them. It will be approved by the House Committee on Foreign Affairs and by the House of Representatives in almost the same terms as requested by the President. There is still some doubt as to the form it will take when it is approved by the Senate. But the present trend, as indicated by the high powered sales campaign, indicates that any changes made by the Senate will be minor.

The punch line that is being used with telling effect in this campaign is that "the adoption of the Presidential proposal is necessary in order to stop communism." If this could be established, the vote for the proposal in both Houses would be unanimous. In fact, there would be no need for a vote. The proposal would be adopted by unanimous consent. However, the thinking of many Members of Congress is that the adoption of this proposal is an abdication of power by the Congress of the United States, and poses a serious constitutional question in a strict interpretation of the Constitution.

HOW MUCH IS A USED CAR WORTH?

Depends on the make, the model, and the year, of course. Every dealer tries to tell you his make is worth the most.

Here are the facts! The resale value of every make, model, and year is listed in the NADA Used Car Guide, the official "bible" of the industry. And here's what the NADA Guide shows:

A used Studebaker is worth more than other cars in the low price field, model for model, year for year. For example, the 1956 Studebaker 4-door President has the highest average resale value of all comparable V8's in its price class—both in percentage and in actual dollars and cents.

Soviet Embassy Employee Leaves New York Monday

NEW YORK (UP)—An employee of the Soviet Embassy in Washington left here Monday night for Paris without commenting on speculation he had been expelled in connection with a newly disclosed Soviet spy ring said to be operating in the United States.

Both the State Department and the Soviet Embassy refused to discuss the sudden departure of Vasili Molev, indicating that the Russian had been ousted from the country.

Molev, after first denying his identity when confronted by reporters at International Airport, said, "I can't say anything."

Held Minor Post Molev and his wife, Taisya, who accompanied him Monday night, had been in Washington since September, 1955. A spokesman at the Soviet Embassy said Molev held a minor post, similar to that of a clerk.

Air France officials said he and his wife had reservations only to Paris. If Molev was expelled, he was the second Russian to be ousted in three days. Maj. Yuri P. Krylov, an assistant Soviet military

Face-To-Face Meeting In Murders Set

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN United Press Staff Correspondent CHICAGO (UP)—A face-to-face meeting between the man believed by police to be the slayer of two teenage sisters and his alleged accomplice was set today at the opening of an inquest into the girls' deaths.

Cook County Coroner Walter McCarron said he has asked that Bennie (The Dishwasher) Bedwell, 21, and the other man, William Cole Willingham Jr., 26, appear at the inquest.

Willingham has denied any connection with the sex and liquor murder of Patricia Grimes, 13, and her sister, Barbara, 15, whose nude and frozen bodies were found in a roadside ditch a week ago today.

Some Doubt Confession Willingham's statements and subsequent investigations have led some officials, including McCarron, to cast doubt on Bedwell's confession.

"If the confession is not true," McCarron said, "that fact should be disclosed as quickly as possible for the benefit of two girls who are dead and unable to defend themselves."

Willingham, a self-styled hillbilly singer from Richmond, Va., admitted to police he and Bedwell "picked up" two girls on skid row, but denied they were the Grimes sisters.

Resembled Alleged Partner Police said Willingham, nicknamed "Frank Sinatra" because of his singing, resembled the man named "Frank" whom Bedwell cited as his partner in the crime.

Willingham said the girls he and Bedwell took on a tour of skid row saloons shortly after Christmas were Indian girls from Michigan.

At Detroit, police said one of the girls, Carol King, 19, confirmed she and her girl friend, Irene Dean, dated Willingham and Bedwell at the time.

attache, left last Saturday for home after being declared persona non grata (an undesirable person). U.S. government officials said Krylov improperly bought electronic equipment and tried to purchase American military secrets while in this country.

May Disclose Molev's Part Indications were the State and Justice Departments would disclose within the next two days whether Molev was expelled, or left the country voluntarily. There was speculation Molev was one of the Soviet officials whom the FBI had indicated were involved in the espionage ring uncovered last Friday with the arrest of three persons here.

In announcing the arrests, the FBI hinted that the spy suspects Jack Sobel, 53, his wife, Myra, 52, and Jacob Albam, 45, had worked in concert with Soviet Embassy officials in allegedly spying for the Soviet Union.

Final selection of the special 23-member grand jury which will be asked to return indictments against the Sobels and Albam was expected to be completed late today.

Mastodons, long-haired, tusked, elephant-like prehistoric creatures, roamed the region between 3,000 and 10,000 years ago.

Pampa Man Found Dead In Trailer House

Marion Otho (Sog) Welch, 49, who lived in a trailer house at 400 E. Atchison, was found dead in his home at 10:30 a.m. yesterday. It is believed that he died sometime Saturday night.

Mr. Welch was found yesterday morning by a brother-in-law, Don Childers, who reportedly had to break open the locked door of the trailer in order to obtain entrance.

Coroner D. R. Henry had not rendered a verdict on the cause of death late this morning but reported that it appeared that Mr. Welch died as the result of suffocation.

Henry reported that a neighbor of Mr. Welch's stated that the last time he was seen was Friday night when he paid a utility bill.

Mr. Welch was born on Sept. 2, 1907, in Cherokee County, Okla., and was a veteran of World War II. He was employed as a mechanic at Gibson Studebaker Company.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. T. H. Wheeler of Goleta, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Marie Brown of Pampa and Mrs. Sue Woodard of Tucuman, N. M.; and one brother, Jesse of Cement, Okla.

Funeral services will be conducted in the Duenkel-Carmichael Chapel at 4 p.m. tomorrow with Rev. Richard Crews, pastor of the First Christian Church, officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

George Parr Is Bankrupt

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UP)—George Parr, no longer in power in Duval county, is officially broke.

Federal Judge James V. Allred ruled Monday that Parr, a political figure known for years as the Duke of Duval, is bankrupt, owing nearly $2 million.

Parr is currently on trial at New Braunfels on a charge of stealing $190,000 in Benavides district school funds. He filed a bankruptcy petition with the federal district clerk in Corpus Christi Saturday.

In his petition, Parr estimated his debts as $1,925,043 and total assets as $532,106. His liabilities include $654,697 in federal, state and county taxes which he disputes.

Assets Tied Up The assets include real estate, cash securities, household goods, livestock and wearing apparel.

But while the federal court declared Parr bankrupt Duval County Attorney Walter Purcell said he is still worth a lot.

"George is still worth a lot of money, by almost everything he has is tied up in some way," Purcell said. Parr, long described as a millionaire, is estimated as having an income of $100,000 a year from ranch, oil, bank and other interests.

The Duke took over as political leader of Duval county from his father in the 1930s. He saw anti-Parr forces win every major county office in the last election.

Divorced And Remarried Parr himself received the most votes for sheriff but the county commissioners refused to swear him in on the grounds that eight state indictments and seven federal indictments were pending against him.

Parr was divorced several years ago and several of the tax liens and bank mortgages against him involve litigation with his former wife. Two of his ranches were auctioned off last year to pay back taxes.

Pampans Get Real Estate Posts

Quentin Williams was installed as chairman of the Board Achievement Award Committee, and E. L. Campbell was installed as a member of the Texas Realtors Committee at a recent meeting of the Texas Real Estate Association, Inc., held at the Commodore Perry Hotel in Austin.

Among the major issues discussed during the week end meeting was a recommendation for amending the Texas Constitution, so as to provide state expenditures for advertising Texas and encourage new industries and greater tourist trade in the state.

The plan called for an Economic and Industrial Development Committee patterned somewhat after those already functioning in other states.

Williams and Campbell, both of Pampa, were encouraged to secure assistance from persons in this area toward the passage of this legislation.

Union Leader Is Defiant Over Stand

MIAMI BEACH (UP)—Fiery President Dave Beck of the Teamsters refused defiantly today to go along with the AFL-CIO Executive Council's stand against union leaders' use of the Fifth Amendment at congressional inquiries.

Union leaders remained silent on Beck's opposition to the council policy and there were indications the matter would not be brought up at today's session of the council's annual mid-winter meeting.

There was speculation the council would leave the matter as it stood.

New Residence Permit Issued

A permit to construct a new residence was issued by the City Engineer's office yesterday to Osborne Construction Company.

The new residence is to be built at 1811 Dogwood at a cost of $17,000.

Former Pampan Dies Sunday

Survivors include his wife, Ollie; three sisters, Mrs. C. S. Jackson of El Paso, Mrs. Charles Heffer of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Reefe Fryer of Dallas; and one daughter, name unknown.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the Duenkel-Carmichael chapel with Rev. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Russ was excited when he burst into the kitchen. "Can I go over to Walt's for supper?" he asked his mother. "His TV can get a channel that shows cowboy movies every night! And his Mom said why don't I come for supper, too. She said to tell you she was having chocolate pie."

His mother, preparing a pie of her own, said shortly, "No. I told you that Daddy was bringing Grandma home for dinner tonight. He'll expect you to be here — and so will she."

Russ said nothing but his face went sullen and set. After a moment, he turned and left the kitchen.

His mother waited to follow him until she'd got her pie in the oven. Then she went into the living room where Russ was slumped in a chair listlessly turning pages of a comic book.

She said, "If you want terribly to see a cowboy movie tonight, say so. Then I could help you. I could tell Daddy and Grandma you have to leave after supper. They won't mind so long as you eat with them. You could phone Walt right now that you're coming over after supper. You might even ask him to save you a piece of chocolate pie. But if you can't tell me you want to see the movie very much, how can I know you'd like me to help you?"

She got up from her chair. "Think it over," she said — and left him.

It took him about four minutes to decide that he wanted to see the cowboy movie enough to put his wish into words instead of into sulking's silence.

Sulking is protest by silence. Our responsibility to the sulking child is to persuade him to put his protest into words. His problem is his lack of confidence in the effectiveness of protesting words. Once he experiences our respect for his protesting words and good results from speaking them, he begins to reject sulking as an answer to his difficulties. It's that simple.

What complicates it is our fear of his open protest. We don't want to listen to it lest we have to back down from our inflexible "No" — and arbitrate with the child's wish. We want him muzzled and silent, because this is what makes us feel safe and in control of him. We dare not compromise with him lest he get the top hand — and misuse us.

This self — distrust is what makes it impossible to treat the sulker as Russ's mother treated him.

To Be A Well-Dressed Sweater Girl Start With Correct Uplift Foundation

There's hardly a well-dressed girl who hasn't at least one sweater in her life. Chances are she'll have many — because sweaters this season have taken on a new fashion look. They're worn with everything from ranch pants to evening skirts. They are dressed up with fur and embroideries, or made casual through the use of wonderful bulky knits.

Although some are coveralls, and some are decollete — it's in the nature of sweaters that all give clues to the basic silhouette.

To wear a sweater well takes the right underlining, according to designers from The H. W. Gossard Co., and the right underlining doesn't mean "the same old bra" for every occasion.

From their handsome new collection of uplifts, Gossard designers pick some styles with an eye to the sweaters they might "silhouette."

For the career girl who wears classic knits under-suits — Gos-

She works from 12 to 15 hours a day in her husband's cafe — Cooking, washing dishes, mopping floor etc., to keep him from having to hire someone for the job.

When she is through at the cafe she goes home and starts doing housework. The only day in the week she has off is Sunday when her husband goes off and leaves her at home with their baby.

She not only doesn't get any thanks for slaving to help her husband but he has become ashamed of her because she has gained weight, doesn't dress well, etc.

She wants to know what to do. First, she ought to quit working in the cafe. Any woman with a young child has a job cut-out for her right at home.

Then she ought to take a good look in the mirror and see if she looks like a woman a man would be proud to have as his wife.

She may find that overwork and neglect have taken a bigger toll of her looks than she realized.

If so, she had better put herself on a diet and stick with it, get herself a new hair-do, pay a great deal more attention to make-up and some new clothes.

To be a well-dressed sweater girl — start with the right uplift foundation.

You Can Tell A Good Shoe By Its Inside

You can't tell a shoe by its cover—to paraphrase an old adage—although all too many of us never think to look inside when buying new footwear.

According to government wear surveys, shoes that have leather linings retain their appearance, comfort and durability longer than shoes with canvas or plastic linings.

Shoe linings, in fact, are one thing on which the medical men and the fashion experts are in agreement. The foot doctors say that leather linings are best because they allow perspiration to be evaporated, thus keeping the foot dry. Also, leather linings will remain smooth longer, thus preventing chafing, calluses and blisters.

The fashion experts recommend leather linings because they are the sure mark of a quality shoe. So next time, you buy a pair of shoes, make sure you're getting your money's worth by checking inside where your feet go.

Breakfast With Tobe Launches Spring 1957 Fashion Excitement Campaign

Tobe, world famous fashion authority, delivered a fashion forecast for Spring 1957 at a McCall's Patterns breakfast in the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton-Astor Hotel recently.

The breakfast was attended by more than five hundred fabric and retail executives who viewed a fashion show of McCall's Patterns' new Spring collection after hearing Tobe's predictions.

According to Tobe, fashions are changing from the full to the slim silhouette. "This change seems to have taken longer than it often does," she declared. "Sometimes you change in a season or a year. It has really taken two years from the time we talked about it until it arrived. And it really hasn't arrived yet, because this Spring and in the Summer especially, you will wear plenty of full skirts."

"The sheath," added Tobe, "is no longer the princess sheath. It has some fullness thrown in," she revealed. "So it isn't skin tight or skintight as it was last year. It gives relief over the tummy and hips and fits much better and is much easier to wear."

"With the transition from slim to full or vice versa," Tobe declared, "the tunic comes into its own." She acknowledged that it had not had much acceptance as yet but she predicted that it would be a part of the fashion theme.

"Another result of the changing silhouette," she said, "would be the popularity of pleats — all around pleats, fine pleats, big pleats, box pleats — any kind of pleats, since pleats look slim when you stand and yet they are full when you walk."

"Along with the slim silhouette, Tobe predicted a trend toward big sleeves, which, she added, "has already had spasmodically big acceptance."

Tobe also expressed the opinion that suits are back in fashion. "While fitted suits are still in fashion," she said, "the newer fashion is the semi-fitted or the very Chanel open suit which emphasizes the blouse."

As far as coats are concerned it was Tobe's belief that the biggest coat silhouette was predominantly on the slim side — "but an easy slimmness, a walkable slimmness."

For sportswear she forecast the appearance of many more dressmaker skirts with much more detail in them than before. "Skirts in general," she added, "would be about an inch longer for the Spring season, with full skirts maybe a half inch to an inch longer."

"Hats," Tobe concluded, "are still in fashion. Be sure to show hats with your clothes. It's very important, and dress them up very, very much indeed."

"McCall's Patterns, in their Spring 1957 collection, has embodied all of this fashion news," said Tobe.

Contrary to what one would expect, extremely long nails are unattractive on blunt fingers. They may add the desired length to the fingers, but they accent the bluntness by contrast.

If you have difficulty setting in a wave with a comb, try alternating the direction of two rows of pin curls. You'll have your wave and you may find it simpler to manage.

Dons Host Harvesters Tonight

AMARILLO — The job of beating Palo Duro for the first time on the Amarillo school's home court faces the Pampa Harvesters when they take on the Dons here tonight.

The Dons, 1956 state basketball champions of Class AAA, have never lost a game in the Palo Duro gym. The new school lost only three games last year in marching to the championship. Those three losses were to Monterey at Lubbock, Grand Prairie there and Norman, Okla., in Fair Park Coliseum.

Pampa will be after its 20th victory of the season in 21 starts. The Harvesters have a 6-1 mark in District 3-AAAA play to trail the Berger Bulldogs by one-half game. The Harvesters must win tonight in order to remain in contention for the district championship.

The Harvesters hold one victory over the Dons this season, a 67-65 win in Harvester Fieldhouse. Pampa held a big lead over the Dons in the earlier game but Palo Duro staged a scoring spree in the last two minutes to tie the Harvesters at 65-65. Jerry Pope then dumped in a hook shot with two seconds left to win the game.

Palo Duro will be hard to handle tonight. Their fans remember the unimportant scoring incident in Pampa which caused a near-riot. Pampa had a 65-63 lead with seconds left although the scoreboard showed the score at 64-63. When Paul Hyatt hit two free throws the board was corrected to 65 for the Harvesters, bringing a roar of disapproval from visiting fans.

A non-conference meeting with Littlefield at Plainview.

Pampa and Berger meet Friday night in what could decide the outcome of the district race if both get by opponents tonight. Last year the Harvesters lost to Berger in Pampa and then beat the Bulldogs at Berger. Pampa then beat Berger in the playoffs to decide the northern representative of District 1-AAAA.

Palo Duro has only one regular

The Dons have won four of seven district games but are almost out of contention for the title. They have won 10 of 18 games this year. Amarillo's Sandies are a tie with Plainview for fourth place while Monterey and Lubbock High are tied for last place with 1-6.

In other 3-AAAA contests tonight, Amarillo is at Lubbock, Monterey plays at Berger and Plainview has scored 113 points in seven district games to go with 199 in non-conference play. Mauldin has 95 points in district play followed by Condo with 94, Brown with 90 and Gindorf with 83.

Tonight's game starts at 8. Tickets for the 900-capacity fieldhouse are already sold out. The Pampa-Berger tickets were expected to be gone early today.

Gene Fullmer In Decision Over Greaves

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (UP)—Gene Fullmer, welder, mink rancher and middleweight boxing champion, has ably demonstrated that he intends to keep his title for a long time.

The bull-necked Utah boxer gave that impression Monday night by lashing rugged Wilf Greaves of Pittsburgh, for an unanimous 10-round decision in a non-title and over-weight slugfest in the Utah Fairgrounds Coliseum.

It was Fullmer's first bout since he dethroned Sugar Ray Robinson Jan. 2 at New York City. While Fullmer won the unanimous nod, his was unable to floor the courageous former Canadian Amateur who was making only his 16th appearance as a professional.

Fullmer used his usual bruising, boring style to carry the fight most of the way. But the plaudits of the 3,000 fans went to the visitor whose red and bruised body was evidence of a thorough pounding at the hands of the champion.

The Utah favorite, weighing 160½, took command in the fourth round, but only after Greaves, weighing 162, opened a small cut over his left eye in the first round.

Tarheels Holding To No. 1 Rating

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, (UP)—North Carolina, Kansas and Kentucky remained 1-2-3 in the United Press College basketball ratings today as most of the teams prepared to resume full-scale action after concentrating on mid-term examinations.

There were no newcomers in the top ten but after the first three teams only Louisville, which was sixth, retained the position it held last week. North Carolina, the only major college team with a perfect record (15-0), plays little Western Carolina Wednesday night in its only start this week.

Southern Methodist and UCLA, like North Carolina and Kansas, were idle last week and found it sometimes pays to relax.

Southern Methodist advanced from fifth to fourth and UCLA from seventh to fifth. The Mustangs advanced mainly because Iowa State, which had jumped from eighth to fourth last week following its upset victory over Kansas, lost to Missouri last Thursday night. The 35 leading

Boston Celtics Gain Runaway In Pro Circuits

By UNITED PRESS

It's now a runaway in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn, where the Boston Celtics have opened a 7-2 game lead with a seven-game winning streak.

The Celtics took their latest giant stride toward the regular season division title by whipping the Philadelphia Warriors, 105-95, Monday night at the Boston Garden after Syracuse had beaten Minneapolis, 112-96, in the first game of the doubleheader.

The loss dropped the Warriors into third place, less than one percentage point behind the idle New York Knicks.

Boston took a 10-point lead in the opening minutes and led the rest of the way despite Warrior rallies in the second and fourth periods. Bob Cousy had 22 points and Tom Heinsohn 21 to lead the Celtics, but Paul Arizin of the Warriors took individual honors with 24.

Funk And Rogers Win Over Duo Of Newman, Tokyo Joe

The rafters shake, the ring quivers and the fans get their money's worth every time Dory Funk comes to town. Last night was no different as the blond wrestler from the Flying Saucer Ranch single-handedly beat Leo Newman and Tokyo Joe in a tag team rematch.

Funk and Rip Rogers defeated the two villains two weeks ago here but the four asked for a rematch with no time limit and no disqualifications. Funk finally won the match by taking the last two falls in short time after partner Rogers was unable to report back to the ring after the opening fall.

Newman and Joe used some rough stuff copied from the Great Bolo to try and win the match. It worked for the first fall. Newman came into the ring with a piece of metal in his knee protector. Tokyo Joe tossed Rogers against the metal object and he immediately fell on Rip for the body press in 19:24.

Funk came back alone but concealing something in his lower. Referee Tommy Phelps discovered a huge carved bear to be used by Funk as a club in case the two tried more rough stuff. Newman tried the metal in his knee protector again but Joe was the victim this time and Funk fell on him for a body press plus five minutes.

Pampa In Regional Gloves Meet

By DICK COLLINS
Pampa News Sports Editor

AMARILLO — The Panhandle's greatest amateur boxing show of the year — the 21st Annual Regional Golden Gloves Tournament — opens here tonight in Fair Park Coliseum with over 85 fighters from a dozen area cities competing.

The gigantic four-day meet continues through Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights. Bouts get underway each night at 8 with an estimated 16-18 matches slated each performance. Advance ringside and reserve seats for all four nights are $8. Final night tickets are slightly higher.

Tournament director Duke Nally and other officials are expecting one of the best events in several years with added competition this year in the Open Division. The High School Division is also expected to draw more fighters.

District tournaments at Pampa, Berger, Plainview and Wellington have produced some outstanding boxers. Others will come from Canyon, two Amarillo clubs, Memphis, Hereford, Dumas, Clarendon and other area cities.

Weights and registration began this morning at 10 and were to conclude at 5 p.m. Pairings were to be made shortly afterward. Fighters from 105 pounds to the heavyweights will compete for individual and team honors in the two divisions. Each fighter entered will receive individual awards, win or lose.

At least six of last year's champions are expected to return and three of those are from Pampa's Optimist Club squad. The Pampa team captured the school division championship last year with 22 points by winning four of the nine titles. Pampa also had one open division champ.

Gary Willis, Gary Wilhelm and Kenneth Wood are Pampa's chief title hopes for the second year in a row. Both Willis and Wilhelm won in the school division last year but have moved up to the open bracket.

et. Wood was voted the outstanding fighter of the tournament last year to win the Hamilton Memorial Trophy. He won at 135 pounds. Other champions back for another shot are Don Britain of Canyon, Merrell Johnson and Bill McFarland of the Amarillo Boxing Club.

Pampa will send approximately 20 fighters to the tournament with 15 or more of those competing in the high school division. The Optimist Club team and Berger's Jaycee squad are expected to battle it out for the school division team title while Pampa and AEC appear to have the outstanding open contenders.

Pampa entries include Dickie Willis and Dickie James, 105 pounds; Charles Coffee, 118; Larry Powell and Norman Resroat, 126; James Snider, 135; Jim Murray and Richard Conner, 147; Jesse Ring, 155; and Wesley Crites, 175, all in the school division. Open division representatives include Gary Willis, 118; Bill Bledsoe, 126; Gary Wilhelm and Kenneth Wood, 135; Charles Snider, 147; and Darrell Bledsoe, 165.

Shockers Rip Bees For Victory No. 21

Coyle Winborn's sure-fire shooting paced the Pampa Shockers to an easy 69-52 victory over the Palo Duro Bees at Amarillo last night.

The victory was the 21st this season for Coach Terry Cullley's Pampa team. The Shockers have lost only one game this season.

Winborn dumped in 11 field goals and five free throws for 27 points and game honors. He fouled out with minutes left to play. Mack Layne made 15 and Bobby Murray had 12 for the Shockers. Two Palo Duro players were tied for scoring honors. They were Richard Ashby and Richard Barker with nine points each.

The Pampa win was not as easy as the one played here recently when the Shockers won by an 81-34 count. The Shockers led 21-10, 39-23 and 56-40 by quarters. The Shockers outscored the Bees in field goals by a small 22-20 margin but hit 25 of 34 free throws while Palo Duro was making only 14.

Abilene's Moser Given Big Boost

ABILENE (UP)—Chuck Moser, Abilene high school championship winning football coach, was given a $1,000 pay raise and an extension on his contract Monday by the board of trustees.

The raise brings Moser's salary to $10,000. The three-year extension of his contract gives him a five-year pact.

Moser, who learned his football at the University of Missouri, has won three straight state schoolboy titles in the four seasons he has coached at Abilene.

He came to this West Texas school from McAllen, Tex.

Carl Wise Named At Georgia Tech

ATLANTA (UP)—Georgia Tech replaced backfield coach Frank Broyles today with Carl Wise, 41-year-old former backfield coach at Clemson.

Wise, who will be in charge of keeping Tech's smother offense going next fall, moved into the important spot from Clemson.

"We are really enthused about getting Wise," Tech Coach Bobby Dodd said. "I think we're getting one of the finest coaches in America. He is known and respected in the coaching profession as one of its top men."

Broyles left a hard-to-fill hole in the Tech coaching setup when he was named as head coach by Missouri recently.

Bad Boy Amoros Is Plaguing Dodgers Again This Season

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

Don't look now but Sandy Amoros, the Dodgers' perpetual problem child, is plaguing them again. Sandy, who got into all kinds of hot water with bobbles, boners and what-nots in Brooklyn's stretch run last September, only to emerge as a hero in the subsequent battle for the pennant, probably will come out all right again but right now he wants more money.

Amoros, who batted .260 in 114 games, is one of the three remaining unsigned Dodger players. The other two are infielder Chico Fernandez and pitcher Bob Darnall.

Playing in the Cuba winter league, now Sandy undoubtedly remembers how some of his Dodger teammates took him over the coals for costing them a crucial game against the Phillies in the last month of the 1956 campaign. Shortly afterward, however, he came through with a couple of key hits.

At any rate, Sandy is having his troubles getting base hits in Cuba at the moment (he's batting less

Buckeyes Hand 'Surprise' Title To MSC

By UNITED PRESS

They've been calling Ohio State the "surprise team" of the Big Ten this season, but even the Buckeyes were willing today to hand that title over to Michigan State's slow-starting Spartans.

Ohio State's perfect league record was wrecked and its hold on first place in the conference badly shaken Monday night when Michigan State led most of the way to beat the Buckeyes, 75-61, at East Lansing, Mich.

By contrast to the woes of eighth-ranked Ohio State, Kentucky, the nation's No. 3 team, retained its share of first place in the Southeastern Conference Monday night by fighting its way to a PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UP)—The touring professional golfer moved on to Phoenix today for the $15,000 Phoenix Open starting Thursday — and on the basis of the first four tournaments of 1957, there isn't a standout in the pack.

The 18-hole playoff was easy pickin' for Demaret here Monday. All he did was birdie the first three holes and from there he went on to smother Souchak by eight strokes and Venturi by nine. Demaret finished with a four-under-par 67.

Anthony Quinn May Be The Surprise 'Oscar' Success

By ALINE MOSBY
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Anthony Quinn may be the surprise success of the Oscar Derby — he's a favorite to cop two academy award nominations for two "Cinderella" roles that at one time were expected to fail.

Not since Laurence Olivier's "Hamlet" has an actor in a foreign film snared an Oscar nomination. But Quinn may get enough votes to be nominated as best actor for his striking performance as a brutish strong man in "La Strada," an Italian movie that's one of the most successful foreign films in years.

And Anthony appears a shoo-in to snare a nomination — and probably an award — for stepping into the small, supporting role of Paul Gauguin in "Lust for Life."

The triumph has even more meaning for Quinn, because he kept faith in both roles even though others around him thought the films would fail.

"Nobody wanted to finance 'La Strada,'" Quinn said as we sat in the Paramount commissary. "When I was in Italy for 'Attila,' I told the producers I would walk out unless they also made 'La Strada.' I did the role as a favor, a labor of love. I received no salary."

"I accepted a percentage of the profits but I haven't seen that money yet. The picture cost only $250,000. It's run a year and a half in Paris, is in its eighth month in New York and fourth month here."

The unusual Quinn — a true gem in this city of overexpanded egos — then stepped "down" into a supporting role. He was on the screen in "Lust for Life" only 7½ minutes. But he made the part so memorable that viewers felt he was part of the entire picture.

"I don't believe in all that star stuff," scoffed the bluntly-talking actor. "I don't know how to behave like a star. Never been to a premiere or Hollywood party. Been to nightclubs only twice."

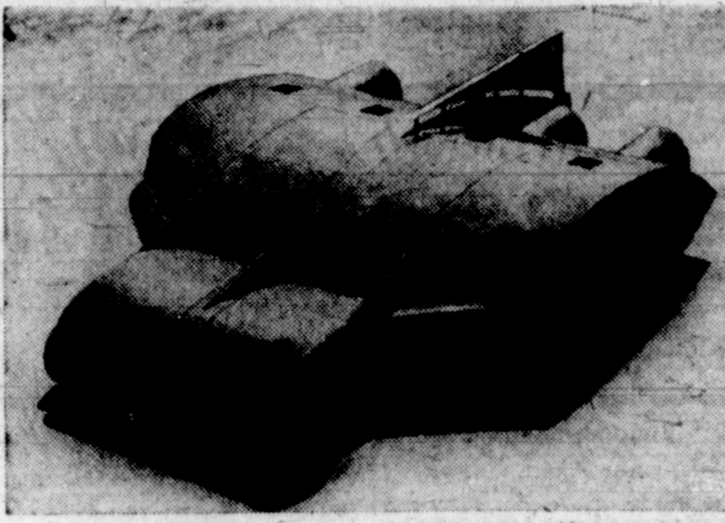

"Lust for Life" was another surprise box-office smash. Quinn revealed that during the filming it was called "John Houseman's Folly," after the producer, at MGM.

"They thought it would lay a bomb," he said. "Most of the cast figured they were in a picture that just the intellectuals would like, and the critics, and maybe a few art theaters would play it."

"But I had faith in the movie. I kept saying people would like it. Some people think of art as something in a dark museum. Art is becoming a dirty word. We're ashamed of it. But I think films are an art form."

The sought-after Quinn now is co-starring with Shirley Booth at Paramount in "Hot Spell." As in "Lust for Life" and "La Strada," he again plays a man who regards women with casual cruelty.

"I'm really not hostile to wom-

It was devised by All American Engineering to test the strength of gear built to stop high-speed jet aircraft on landing. The car, being used at Georgetown, Del., has four powerful turbo-jet engines. It runs, unmanned, on a 5,000-foot track, pushing a dead load the weight of a twin-engine bomber. Near the end of the run, the car is stopped suddenly and the dead load goes hurtling into the arresting gear being tested.

Slowdown For Dulles?
 Washington insiders say Secretary of State John Foster Dulles may start to take things easier soon. Even since his operation for cancer, he has kept up the fast pace he set for himself when he took office. But now his intimates are urging him to delegate to his associates some of the many chores he has insisted on handling personally. Especially, they want him to stop making so many exhausting flights to far parts of the world. Dulles will be 69 on February 25.

Pole To Pole
 Don't be surprised if the Russians attempt a round-the-world flight — by way of the North and South Poles — to match last week's now-stop world flight by American Air Force planes. London experts say they can do it with their four-jet Bison bombers. The Bisons are credited with a range of 7,000 miles or more. They could be refueled by tanker planes based on friendly countries and in the Antarctic, where a Soviet scientific mission is stationed.

Inside Monaco
 Word comes from Monte Carlo that even hardened news men blushed at the intimate details they received on the birth of Princess Grace's baby. One of the attending doctors gave an hour-by-hour account from the moment the Princess's labor pains started, with nothing left out. Some reporters cabled the facts to their
