Official Greeting Given Hungarians

By BOB PEREZ
Pampa News Staff Writer

Many Pampa officials and residents as well as those of neighboring communities were expected to be on hand this morning to greet a Hungarian-refugee family due to arrive here on the Santa Fe No. 1 at 8:33.

The family, escapes from their war-torn homeland are being sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Hills who reside in the north end of the city.

Little is known about them other than that they are three, the mother, father and one little girl. The name of the parents are Bella and Rosalie Bogmar but the name of the girl was not known as of late last night.

Expected to be on hand to greet the new arrivals are Mayor Lynn Boyd of Pampa and Mayor Malouf Abraham of Canadian who was to make the trip here with Mr. and Mrs. Horvath, recently arrived Hungarians themselves who were sponsored by the people of Canadian after an appeal by Abraham.

The whole idea, started, according to Mrs. Hills, when the revolt started last November in Budapest, and refugees began arriving in the U.S. At that time she had written a letter to the Catholic Relief Agency in New York City explaining to them that she and her husband would be glad to sponsor a family here in Pampa and do everything in their power to help them make a go of it. Hills, who is a partner in the Hills and Hills Drilling Company of Pampa, said that he would give him a job to get started "until" such time as Bogmar's qualifications were found out.

The next step in the process was a letter which Forrest and his wife received in January informing them that their letter had been forwarded to an office of the Catholic Relief Agency in New Brun-

Western Proposal Refused By Egypt; On Suez Tolls

US Plans Rejection Of Four-Power Meet

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
WASHINGTON, March 9 (UP)—The United States, in an unusual move, Saturday told nine Middle Eastern nations it plans to reject Moscow's month-old call for a Big Four policy declaration on the critical Mideast.

Along with Britain and France, the United States next week will turn down the Soviet Union's Feb. 11 proposal as a propaganda move in direct conflict with Russian efforts to stir up trouble in the Middle East.

The State Department summoned diplomats representing Israel, Lebanon, Syria, Yemen, Sudan, Jordan, Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Iraq Saturday to be informed of contents of the U.S. note.

The broad-scale move was disclosed in response to United Press inquiries about the steady flow of Middle Eastern diplomats in and out of the State Department.

The United States, Britain and France, are expected to deliver their notes in Moscow Tuesday. The concerted action will mark the first important show of three-power harmony since the western alliance was strained over the British-French-Israeli attack on Egypt last fall.

In notes to the United States, Britain and France Feb. 11 the Russians proposed that the four powers band together and issue a "joint declaration" of principles to guarantee peace in the Middle East.

Among other things, Russia urged that the four powers pledge non-interference in affairs of Middle Eastern nations, agree to liquidate foreign bases in the region, refuse to supply arms to Middle Eastern countries, and declare that Mideast problems should be settled peacefully through negotiation.

The purpose in conferring with the Middle East diplomats Saturday apparently was to make sure they understood in advance why the western powers are rebuffing Moscow. The American position is that Russia is primarily responsible for stirring up much of the trouble in the region and that a mere statement from the Soviets will not change her tactics.

To Bar Ships That Don't Pay Tolls To Cairo Government

By WILBUR G. LANDREY
CAIRO, March 9 (UP) — Egypt rejected Saturday a reported Western proposal for a 50-50 split in payment of Suez Canal shipping tolls. A government spokesman said the Egyptians would demand full payment of tolls once the canal is fully opened.

A statement by Egyptian Information Director Abdel-Kader Hattem implied strongly that Egypt would bar passage to all ships failing to pay the full tolls to the Cairo government.

(The statement, as heard in London over Cairo Radio, also hinted strongly that Israeli ships will be barred from the 101-mile waterway.)

The Egyptian statement, sharply attacking "proposals aimed at reviving the Suez Canal issue," came as a new crisis threatened over whether the United Nations or Egypt will control the Gaza Strip.

The UN announced that its trouble-shooting Assistant Secretary General Ralph Bunche, was flying here Sunday to inspect the explosive Gaza Strip where UN troops have taken over from the Israelis. Thousands of Arab refugees there have staged demonstrations demanding that Gaza return to Egypt.

Hattem announced Egypt's position on the Suez tolls just after the canal was opened to small shipping up to 500 tons. But UN salvage officials were still awaiting an Egyptian go-ahead to proceed with the removal of two sunken vessels that still blocked passage for larger freighters and tankers.

The Egyptian statement commented on a reported U.S., British and French plan for a 50-50 plan for running the Suez Canal until a final settlement is reached. Under the proposal half of the tolls would go to Egypt and half into an international bank escrow account to pay for salvage and maintenance.

The Egyptian information chief said the plan would violate the 1888 Suez Canal convention which "stipulates that these tolls should be collected without exception or discrimination from all ships under the same terms."

"The attempt by some countries to evade payment of tolls or some part of these tolls is an open violation of the 1888 convention as well as Egypt's legitimate rights," he said.

The governor was asked to name names, he declined.

His hope, the governor said, is to have the "few wrongdoers... so well investigated and punished that they are easily distinguishable from the overwhelming majority of honest public officials."

In addition to hanging an emergency tag on his law enforcement commission proposal, the governor also has asked emergency enactment of a "strict lobby registration act," and a code of conduct for state officials and employees.

Holland was arrested about 6:30 p.m. yesterday approximately 21 miles south of Canadian. According to Sheriff Harry Rathjen of Canadian, Holland was being pursued by Deputy Sheriff John Topper of Wheeler when O. J. Gross, Hemphill deputy, and Jack Nims, cattle inspector, stopped him.

Rathjen reported that approximately nine cases of liquor were in Holland's 1957 Dodge when he was stopped.

Mr. Boone was employed by the Merrifield Drilling Co. of White Deer and had only returned to White Deer about noon Friday after being out of town for some time. Nunn reported that discharges papers in Boone's pockets indicated that he was discharged from the Army in January of this year after serving 12 1/2 years in the Army.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Boone of Burnsville, N. C., were notified and they made arrangements for the body to be shipped to Burnsville for funeral services and burial, Nunn concluded.

Officers for the coming year will be elected by the Gray County Singing Convention today.

The singing convention will meet at 2:30 p.m. in the Immanuel Temple, located at the corner of Campbell and Finley, for the election of officers and the second Sunday singing. The program will be under the direction of Shelby Ruff, president of the group.

Special numbers will be presented by local quartets and singers with additional numbers by visiting quartets. Group singing will be directed by various song leaders.

Israel Seeks US Aid In Canal Barring

WASHINGTON, March 9 (UP)—Israel Saturday sought U.S. support to keep Egypt from barring Israeli ships from the Suez Canal.

Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban called on acting secretary of State Christian A. Herter to discuss Egyptian hints that it will continue to forbid Israeli ships to use the vital waterway now that it is about to be reopened.

Eban told newsmen afterwards that Israel views such reports "with anxiety."

The move suggested that Israel wants swift U.S. support in the United Nations should Egypt carry out its threat.

U.S. officials said barring Israeli ships from Suez would violate at least two UN Security Council actions in 1951 and 1956.

This indicated the United States would be prepared to back UN action if Egypt formally bars Israeli shipping. But officials bar a "wait-and-see" attitude until Egypt actually does so.

The chief "anxiety" mentioned by Eban was the one concerning the Suez Canal. He left no doubt that Israel will seek American support in the UN if Egypt does bar Israeli ships from the Canal.

The Israeli envoy noted that President Eisenhower, in his Feb. 20 speech to the nation, said firm action should be taken "by the society of nations" if Egypt barred Israeli ships from either Suez or the Gulf of Aqaba.

Eban was informed that the United States doubts Egypt will carry out its threat. Egypt has agreed to "free and open transit... without discrimination" in the canal officials said, although it may use some excuse to keep Israeli ships out. If it does, this would violate the Oct. 13 UN security council approval of six principles for operating the canal which include the non-discriminatory principle of free passage.

Officials said a 1951 security council order to Egypt to quit barring Israeli ships from the canal also would be violated.

May Let Court Decide

Diplomats hinted that Egypt may permit the International Court of Justice to decide whether it has the right to bar Israeli ships.

Israel ships have been barred in the past on grounds no peace treaty was concluded in 1949. Egypt's claims that article 10 of the 1888 Suez treaty gives it the right to bar the canal to its enemies. Under this reasoning Egypt still regards Israel as a belligerent power.

Apparently, Nunn stated, "he had been overcome from the heat while sleeping."

Mr. Boone was employed by the Merrifield Drilling Co. of White Deer and had only returned to White Deer about noon Friday after being out of town for some time. Nunn reported that discharges papers in Boone's pockets indicated that he was discharged from the Army in January of this year after serving 12 1/2 years in the Army.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Boone of Burnsville, N. C., were notified and they made arrangements for the body to be shipped to Burnsville for funeral services and burial, Nunn concluded.

New Doctrine Signed By Ike

WASHINGTON, March 9 (UP)—President Eisenhower Saturday signed his name to an historic declaration pledging that the United States is prepared to fight if necessary to protect the Middle East from Communist aggression.

Even as the President signed the Mid East doctrine resolution, Egypt raised the prospect of new tension in the Middle East by denying Israeli ships passage through the Suez Canal. Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban called at the State Department to protest.

The declaration, backed by Congress and popularly known as the "Eisenhower Doctrine," closes the last major gap in U.S. defense commitments for territory surrounding Russia and Red China.

Covers any Direction

The United States, through defensive alliances or by congressional mandate, now is committed to fight should either of the two major Communist powers try to expand in almost any direction.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization covers Europe and Turkey; the Middle East Doctrine, the stretch from Turkey to Pakistan; and the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization, the area from Pakistan to the Philippines. Formosa is covered by congressional resolution and treaty with the Nationalist Chinese, and there are separate defensive alliances with Japan and South Korea.

Mr. Eisenhower said in a 300-word statement that the declaration "is a further demonstration of the will of the American people to preserve peace and freedom in the world."

He also said it marks "an important forward step" in developing friendly relations between the United States and the Middle East.

There was no elaborate ceremony at the White House for the occasion. Newsmen, photographers and presidential aides were the only witnesses.

Besides endorsing the fight-if-we-must declaration, Congress authorized Mr. Eisenhower to spend up to $200 million in already-appropriated funds for military and economic aid to bolster Middle East nations against internal Communist subversion.

Harry Nelson and Bill Stockstill of Pampa were awarded leases, following a bid opening March 5, on six tracts of land, totaling 2,545 acres, designated as the Pampa Auxiliary Field No. 1, Texas.

The leases were for a 5-month period beginning March 1, 1957, and were leased for agricultural and grazing purposes.

Rebelling Students Expelled By State

By JOHN HEBERS
JACKSON, Miss., March 9 (UP)—The state officially expelled all students who defied orders to return to classes at Alcorn A&M college for Negroes but said the school would stay open for about 50 others who were not on the campus at the time.

The state college board also fired Dr. J. R. Otis, Alcorn president, saying that the student revolt had his acquiescence "if not the consent and approval." He was replaced by J. D. Boyd, who previously had been slated to take over Otis' job April 1.

But retained in his job was history professor Clemon King, whom the students called an "Uncle Tom" for his articles in a Jackson newspaper attacking the NAACP and urging Negroes to bide their time in obtaining equal rights.

570 Defy Ultimatum

All of the 570 students on the campus defied the college board's ultimatum to return to class Friday and end a three-day boycott in protest of King's writings. Most of them left Alcorn immediately.

However, the board noted that about 50 education students were away practice-teaching at the time and the college will continue to operate for their benefit. It was not known how many would take advantage of the chance to return to school.

"Students who have defied the set order of the activities committee of this board are hereby expelled and shall be required to remove themselves from the campus immediately," the board said. It added that the mass withdrawal announced by the students Friday "was not made in good faith."

"We want to emphasize that the school is not closed," said G. H. Carpenter, president of the state board. Saturday's ruling, he said, modified a previous one that all buildings on the campus would be closed Monday.

Absent Students Unnoticed

"We were led to believe that the entire student body was staying away from classes," he said. But the fact that the absent education students were not participating in the boycott was not noted at the time.

Officials said that King still held his job as far as the board was concerned. However, the professor left the campus Friday after students rejected his plea to return to class, re-read his articles and decide if they merited his resignation.

The few expelled students who remained on the campus for the weekend to clean up personal details were ordered away immediately.

STAFF NOTES

JOEL R. COMBS, managing editor

I think that I haven't enjoyed a meeting in quite some months as much as I did the meeting of the Epist. Brotherhood last Tuesday. I'm not a member of the brotherhood, I was invited by Dr. Carver the pastor. But the program was the most enjoyable I have witnessed in many a moon. And the food and fellowship were good too.

If you didn't know it, we have what I must modestly call a tremendous singer in our area. He is Leland Greer, who presently is working for Phillips in the Pampa area and who has the most captivating voice I have heard in quite a while. He sang for the Brotherhood meeting.

Greer has appeared on the Ted Mack Amateur show and is scheduled to perform with Arthur Godfrey and his friends in October. He is really a fine singer. Deep voice.

The "sermonette" by Rev. C. N. "Shad" Rue, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Phillips, was an inspiration, too. He is a young man and he too held his audience close.

Greer, the singer, teamed up with Paul Biggs, who used to be music director of the church here, for some good singing in addition to his solos.

Also met Joe Reed of Cabot, who used to play football for Louisiana State University and professionally with the Los Angeles Rams. Bet he would be an interesting man to talk to and I'm going to buy him

Also met Ken Reeves, Ed Railsback, R. L. Edmondson and a bunch more and got to visit with Floyd Watson, Ed Anderson, Ed Myatt Ham Luna, Shirley Nichols, Wesley Langham, and other friends.

It was a hand-shaking affair, which I enjoy because you get to meet so many people. Someone once said, "A stranger is only a friend you haven't met," and in Pampa, people see to it that there aren't many strangers in town.

One of the next big things for Pampa will be the Minstrel. Hear it's going to be better than ever. It's always good. Maxine Milliron is whipping up the special acts and several outstanding numbers are scheduled. The men have been cracking jokes for weeks now. Can hardly wait.

Friday's paper reported that several abandoned ice boxes have been seen in Pampa. If not abandoned, then placed in a spot where playing children could get inside them and, if the door was closed or closed accidentally, smother them. Let's hope those who have been leaving their icebox outside read the story and put their icebox in a place where children couldn't get to it, or took the door off. Wouldn't it be terrible if your child, or your neighbor's child, was smothered in an abandoned ice box? It happens all the time.

How often will we, finding ourselves perplexed by the magnitude of a certain situation, seek out a solution to that problem by asking one of our closest friends for advice on the matter, fully realizing the answer we want to hear already.

This comes to my mind as a timely subject having received within the past week a letter from a young lady whom I had known in New York and who was asking me, of all persons, as to the worth of a certain suitor who she was or was not in love with and whom she thought she wanted to marry. The question seemed to me to be a strange one, not solely because of the rash of commentaries on the subject released by myself recently, but rather because I knew that if I did not say what was expected of me, I should be accused of just not understanding, and my efforts towards a clear-cut path of advice covered over and ignored.

I thought for a while of explaining that love was something like a

There are not enough weeks in the year! Something must be done or the public relations boys will be in trouble.

It used to be that only a few of the weeks in each year had a special title but now it seems that every week and in some cases most of the days have special titles, all publicizing some product, group, activity or something.

Last week we had Public Schools Week and 4-H Club Week in Pampa, but that is not all. A list of the various items scheduled for this month is astounding.

The entire month is devoted to "Spring Clean-Up." That isn't all, along come three other items demanding equal attention during the month. These are "Cottage Cheese - Cling Peach Salad Time," then someone thought of "National Home Improvement Month," and last but not least it is "Red Cross Membership and Fund Campaign" month.

That takes care of the items that need the entire month. As for the items that take from one day to a whole week they are numerous.

As already mentioned from the 2-9 was 4-H Club Week. But did you know that from the 3-9 was National Peanut Week and that during the same period it was National Save Your Vision Week. All during last week, from 4-9, it was National Smile Week.

Then from the 6-13 it is National Canned Salmon Week. A day that should have been given attention every day in the year was last Friday which was "World Day of Prayer."

Among the items scheduled for this week are "National Girl Scout Week." The Girl Scouts are crowded out though by other items seeking recognition which are: "National Rice Week" and "Spring Millinery Week."

Then from the 15 to 22 of this month we have "Jewish Youth Week."

Also starting on the 15th, but continuing until April 21, is the "Easter Seal Appeal," which is worthy of our support.

Then from the 16-31 we have "Dried Fruit Weeks." Seems that one week wasn't enough for them. Starting on the 17 we have four different groups wanting recognition. These are: "National Salesmen's Week," "National Wildlife Week," "Camp Fire Girls Birthday Week," and National Want Ad Week."

As if the month had not already been filled, along comes two other special weeks for the last week in the month. These are "International Photography Week" and "National Television Servicemen's Week."

That was the count on the first of the month, probably before the month is over someone will think up a few more.

DORIS WILSON, women's editor

Proud parents and equally proud children went to school together last week. They sat through classes and then lunched together in the school cafeteria.

What fond and nostalgic memories were recaptured briefly. Some of the things had changed and some were just the same as they were when I attended grade school back in the early Twentieth Century. For instance, the hands of the clock still crawl, especially towards recess time or lunch-time, when the delicious aromas come wafting down the halls from the cafeteria.

The teachers still do have eyes in the back of their heads, when a piece of paper is surreptitiously thrown, or someone is hit on the head, or a note is passed. Penmanship specimens to be mastered still border the black-board and there is still the spelling honor-roll with its bright and gleaming hoped-for stars. The wall-map, when pulled down by the teacher's hand, still reveals those far-away and mysterious lands to be learned.

There is still that class fidgeting and that answer-dodging business of bending down to tie a shoe-lace when a question is asked and the answer is unknown. Hands still wave madly when the answer is known. Your favorite student is called upon, but the answer, even though her hand was up, isn't forthcoming. And, oh, how she wanted to answer that question because her parent was there.

Erasers still have to be dusted. I found. But one of the radical changes is that the dear, old familiar blackboard is no longer black! It is green!

Stood this close to Sheena Friday morning, when she made her appearance at the LaNora Theater and found her as lovely and gracious as did the thousands of children, mothers, and even the brothers, uncles, and fathers, who were lined up holding the necessary child by the hand or in their arms. She stood for three hours handing out autographed pictures and answering personal questions about herself, and through it all, remained unruffled and charming. I asked her how she remained so slim and lithe, and she said it was no problem. "In fact, I try to gain weight," but I work so hard, it just doesn't stay with me." I can see why. I don't know what mode of transportation Sheena uses in her jungle TV series, but it was a black and shining Cadillac (don't all Cadillacs shine, though?) that transported her on to her afternoon personal appearance and thousands of more fans in Borger.

try to go to ruin and failing to maintain our rights as outlined in the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, she said. "I don't like people who bow and scrape to the powers that be," she added.

Mrs. Cain said she had been accused of treason because of her cries against big government. She replied to this by recalling what Patrick Henry said when accused of treason in the days just before the American Revolution. Henry said, "If this be treason, then make the most of it." Henry later made his immortal remark, "Give me liberty or give me death." This was when the colonies were considering the revolt and many thought it would be impossible to win.

"The people of the United States will do something about 'big government' when they finally awake. And they must awake," she said. She pointed out that there are now 1,800 federal bureaus and 707 federal corporations which cost taxpayers an annual deficit of $10,000,000,000.

Mrs. Cain said the government has been violating the Constitution ever since Franklin Roosevelt came into office. She said the Wagner Labor Relations Act, during Roosevelt's administration, was the first governmental violation of the Constitution. "It told you you could not employ a person at a salary you want to pay," she said, "but must give him what the government says you must."

She said that the 16th Amendment, which provided for income taxes, gave the government the power to "rob you of every cent you make," and that Roosevelt found ways in the 16th Amendment to "buy people" to his cause.

Mrs. Cain added that "unbearable" taxes are a complete farce. That, for instance, Texas paid $2,193,000,000 taxes in 1954 and got back approximately 11.72 per cent of that money in grants-in-aid.

She said that the Constitution originally provided for the federal government to "take care of our foreign problem" and let domestic problems be solved domestically, or at the state level. She called for a return to States' Rights and said that, in order to get the money and power back to the people, we need a third political party, one which would guarantee citizens their rights as outlined in the Constitution and Bill of Rights.

Mrs. Cain also pointed out that the welfare department practices of our government are weak. She added that they tend to "promote adultery" in that they pay for illegitimate children, up to four in Mississippi and perhaps more in Texas, per person.

Mrs. Cain asserted that she will continue her fight, "regardless of the consequences." She said that she is in the El Paso area. He is a graduate of Texas Tech. at Lubbock and received his BD degree from Asbury Theological Seminary, Willmore, Ky.

Morning services on Sunday are at 11 o'clock with Sunday school at 9:45.

The public is invited to attend the revival services.

BEGINNING OF THE END — The once proud picture of the Lake McClellan Dam is shown shortly after it was constructed in 1940. The dam is almost unrecognizable today since it has been washed out and reduced to nothing but a mass of rubble which might well go out with any kind of adequate rainfall. Also virtually unusable are a large bath house and recreation building. (News Photo)

Lake McClellan: Motherless Child Of The Panhandle?

By BOB PEREZ
Pampa News Staff Writer

It's a standing joke around these parts that we are centrally located: fishing, swimming and hunting 500 miles in any direction. In actuality there is more fact than fiction involved in this statement. Gray County does, however, have a place which it can refer to for many of these comforts. The name, familiar to all of us is McClellan Lake.

There has been much talk and speculation in recent months in regards to this lake, most of it in regard to its disposition and maintenance.

McClellan Lake, built in 1940 as a WPA project by the federal government, has remained a federal tract with but one minor item, its maintenance. At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, a discussion was held on the run-down condition of the lake and several letters mentioned which had been received in regard to the poor facilities to be found there and calling those that did exist a disgrace. One letter said in part: "It appears that as much as has been done to secure and build this lake and facilities and the advertising done on it that someone in charge, or a committee, could start some sort of program whereby it would be cleaned up a bit."

Why does this condition exist? One reason given by those who have shown most interest has been that when the original contract was drawn up whereby the government agreed to go ahead and build a lake no stipulation was made in the clause that read "to build," to the effect of "to build and maintain." The result would seem to be that the federal government has kept its part of the bargain in constructing the lake and building the dam which now holds back the little muddy water resting in the lake.

There have been, by some, complaints that the dam is in very poor shape. This some local citizens pointed out happened several years ago, as a result of heavy rainfall, when the dam filled up to capacity. The person then in charge of overseeing the lake, apparently unprepared as what to do, neglected to open the flood gates to let some of the water out. The result was that the dam, overburdened by the pressure of the water began to crack. That condition still exists. The threat to the areas below the dam, at present is not very great. However, those who have brought the situation to light recently have pointed out that the lack of rain will not last forever, and added that in the event of another heavy rainfall, the dam in its present condition might not be able to sustain it, thus washing out the lower areas.

Chamber of Commerce and Gray County officials, have, in the light of complaints made recently, undertaken to investigate the situation and to see if, since the government has not maintained it, it might not be turned over to the state and thus made into a state park and maintained as such.

The question now lies in the state organs and whether or not they will want to assume these responsibilities.

Should the state not want to assume this obligation, why then the affair would be passed down to the county, then to the city and so on down the line.

Within the past few years several individuals in Pampa have expressed a desire to purchase the lake and run it somewhat in the manner of a private enterprise. In a recent interview, one of these persons said: "I've been watching that place for some time and the run down condition in which it has been as a result I inquired with the proper authorities and with Congressman Walter Rogers as to whether it could be bought. It seemed to me at the time, that if nobody wanted to keep it up they would turn it over to someone who would maintain and keep after it. In answer to this last query, F. J. Monaghan, forest supervisor for the Forest Division of the Department of Agriculture wrote in a letter to Judge Bruce L. Parker: "All federal agencies will be canvassed to determine their needs for the Land Utilization Projects (of which McClellan is one) After the needs of the Federal agencies have been established (this action is now in progress), it is expected that the projects not needed for federal purposes will be offered for sale to State agencies at a negotiated price not less than 70 per cent of the present value. Deeds of Conveyance to State agencies will require that the lands remain in public ownership. Consideration will be given to offering to sell to local agencies, those projects not sold to State agencies."

Another one of the persons who has recently expressed deep concern over the condition of the lake has been Paul Crouch, president of the Chamber of Commerce. Paul, in an interview that he is "interested as a Chamber of Commerce man. That dam is in very poor condition. We're not going to have this much dry weather all the time. One of these days we're going to have a real rain. If and when it does come, and a big body of water presses against it, that dam is going to give way." Crouch continued with his views on the condition of the lake and he added: "There hasn't been much spent on that place since the last flood which washed the benches and everything away."

But regardless of how anyone chose to look at it, the situation as of this writing stacked up thusly:

The lake was built by the federal government. They completed their part of the bargain without having to maintain it.

The question then arises: Who should maintain it? Should the state? Some persons seem to think so. Should the county? Some expressed that hope also. And lastly, what are the possibilities of turning it over to private individuals who would run it as a business and see to it that it was built up?

In answer to this last query, F. J. Monaghan, forest supervisor for the Forest Division of the Department of Agriculture wrote in a letter to Judge Bruce L. Parker: "All federal agencies will be canvassed to determine their needs for the Land Utilization Projects (of which McClellan is one) After the needs of the Federal agencies have been established (this action is now in progress), it is expected that the projects not needed for federal purposes will be offered for sale to State agencies at a negotiated price not less than 70 per cent of the present value. Deeds of Conveyance to State agencies will require that the lands remain in public ownership. Consideration will be given to offering to sell to local agencies, those projects not sold to State agencies."

Monaghan added, however that "At the present time the Department does not have authority to sell these lands to private persons. A recent revision of the policy has been recommended which would permit sale of small areas to be used primarily for local recreational use, when no state-wide agency has been or is willing to purchase such tract."

At any rate, while the investigation into the disposition goes on, and the long bureaucratic process of reaching a decision is made, the question of Lake McClellan and its use as a recreational spot within the 500 mile radius remains a very live one.

Kefauver Group To Air Charges

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, March 9 (UP)—

Starting Tuesday, Sen. Estes Kefauver's Senate Anti-Trust and Monopoly subcommittee will air charges that giants of the petroleum industry are conspiring to defeat a pending oil bill.

The Tennessee Democrat said he has conclusive evidence the companies are forcing "captive" gasoline dealers and jobbers to "tip" the campaign, under threat of having their gasoline supplies cut off. He has subpoenaed 20 companies, two trade associations and four oil company officials to produce all documents pertinent to the inquiry.

The legislation in question is the Kefauver-Patman amendment to the Robinson-Patman act which passed the House 393 to 3 last spring but died in the Senate. It would nullify a Supreme Court decision that an interstate oil company—Standard Oil of Indiana—"acted in good faith" when it granted price cuts to some but not all of its customers in the Detroit area to keep them from buying from a cut-rate competitor.

The court said this "realistic approach" was necessary to preserve the company's business.

There was no trick to the play of today's hand. South was glad he had stopped at a low contract and proceeded to make exactly two spades.

Dummy's ace of hearts won the opening lead and the king of diamonds was played; East won with the ace and led the queen of trumps.

South won this trick, played the ace of clubs and ruffed a second club with dummy's remaining trump. That gave him four tricks. He cashed two diamonds for his fifth and sixth tricks and discarded his last heart. He ruffed a heart for his seventh trick and at 1111 was able to make a high trump.

There was no trick to the play of the hand but North and South are to be congratulated on having Stayed out of serious trouble. The standard rule for bidding two five card suits is to show the higher ranking one first but modern expert practice varies, this in the case when the two suits are spades and clubs. In this instance you should open with one club.

The opening club bid made it possible for North and South to stop at the two level. South's one club opening and spade bid and rebid were routine as were North's heart response and two diamond rebid.

When it came time for his third bid North knew that South held at least ten black cards. North had a nice two suiter himself but ten red cards opposite ten black cards aren't likely to be worth much and North was smart enough to pass.

DYED FOR ART—Here's Dorothy Malone, back in Hollywood after six years' absence—a blonde this time. As a brunette Dorothy's career skidded to a halt, but the same girl, this time with golden tresses, has won naughty girl parts in "Battle Cry" and "Written on the Wind." She has been nominated for an Oscar as the year's best supporting actress for the latter film. Dorothy seems to have proved her contention that Hollywood prefers blondes.

The pending amendment provides that any company resorting to such practices would violate the anti-trust laws if the price cut. The measure has most of the oil industry up in arms. Companies, trade associations and individuals are barraging Congress with pleas to defeat it.

This apparently was the source of Kefauver's conspiracy charge. He said the protests have been coming in since Congress convened Jan. 3. He said this was puzzling because the legislation is designed to help small business which includes thousands of filling station operators and oil jobbers.

"We now have evidence," he said, "that the major oil companies have engaged in a secret conspiracy to pressure these captive dealers and jobbers, dependent upon them for existence, to send messages opposed to their own interests."

Patman to Testify
"The subcommittee will go into this campaign very exhaustively." The House Anti-Monopoly committee headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) also plans to hold hearings but not until Kefauver's record is complete. Rep. Wright

Patman (D-Tex.) chairman of the House Small Business committee and co-author of the pending amendment, will testify before this committee.

The Federal Trade Commission and the Department of Justice also favor the bill although both have blown hot and cold on it. The FTC is currently pressing "good faith" charges against several companies.

Most refiners, retailers and jobbers dispute the Kefauver-Patman claim that the legislation would

Difference Between TV And Stage Pronounced

By JACK GAVER
NEW YORK, March 9 (UP)—The differences between television and the stage were never more noticeable than on a couple of this week's big dramatic shows. One case in point was the Old Vic Company's presentation of "Romeo and Juliet" in an NBC spectacular.

Television Channel Swim

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—The channel swim... Hal March, emcee of "The $64,000 Question," will branch out next season... CBS-TV is planning a new juvenile adventure series, "Nancy Drew."

SEEING U.S.—ON THE CUFF—Eugene Sermely, one of Europe's outstanding jazz pianists, and his wife, Joan, are on a 24-city, seven-week tour of the United States, nearly all of it on the cuff. It's this way: Eugene and Joan are Hungarian refugees, in this country only a few months after scurrying over the Austrian border disguised as potato-pickers, a jump ahead of Russian pursuers. To dramatize the contrast between the West and the Russian-dominated world, the American Hotel Association sponsored their tour. They'll carry very little cash. Practically all their hotel, traveling, eating and entertainment expenses will be on credit cards. The Sermelys, who live in Washington, D.C., are pictured in New York City at the start of their tour.

Harvesters Fall To Port Arthur In The State Finals

AUSTIN — Coach Clifton McNeely was feeling as happy as a youngster on Christmas morning for his Harvesters had gained the Class AAAA finals of the State Basketball Tournament Friday night. It was one of the very few times he's really opened up and pressed himself.

McNeely took advantage of the informal session to get a few comments from him and I found out he had the utmost respect for this year's team — a team he thought would be able to win the District 3-AAA championship.

"I gave my vote to Amarillo in the district championship because of the Sandies' height," stated McNeely, probably the winning basketball coach in the nation. "We were lucky to win our first district games and we were lucky to get this far," he added.

McNeely was running down his list of two regulars back from the 56 season when they started playing this year. They were Dickie Mauldin and Tommy Gindorf. Only Jerry Pope had seen very much action among the reserves last year. McNeely felt it hard to overlook the giant Sandie players and their coach T. G. Hull.

The Harvesters really caught fire after their one-point loss to Borger early in the district race from that point on they went undefeated. Their closest game was a three-point victory over the stalling Plainview Bulldogs. They reversed the Borger loss by beating the Bulldogs 19 points and 13 points.

"I thought the boys played a game against Austin," commented McNeely. "They made some mistakes there a few times. They're a fine bunch of boys. Actually this year's team is just a notch of the ones down here in 1955 and 1954. If I had (Jimmy) Bond I wouldn't be afraid to take on Port Arthur (the Harvesters' class opponent) at any time."

The Pampa coach stated that he believed Port Arthur was one of the best teams he had seen here since he's been coming to the state tournaments. He also listed in that category. Of course he didn't mention the Harvesters among the 24 teams entered but many of the proud Pampa fans, less modest than McNeely, were quick to add Pampa to that list.

Although several of the games in the tournament have been close, only a few of them have been classified as outstanding games. Only two games have been won in the final seconds of play but up until those final ticks of the clock those games were uninteresting.

Seats were at a premium for Friday night's Class AAAA games. The afternoon session was completed shortly before 6 p.m. and

Spring Training Roundup

By UNITED PRESS
ORLANDO, Fla., March 9 (UP)—Jim Lemon's three-run homer was the big blow Saturday as the Washington Senators defeated the Kansas City Athletics in a slug-ging battle, 8-7, in the first exhibition game of the season for both teams. Lemon's homer carried an estimated 450 feet.

Johnny Groth also hit a homer for the A's with nobody on in a game which saw 12 extra-base hits, seven for Kansas City. The visitors out-hit the Senators, 14-10.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 9 (UP)—A ninth-inning run-producing single by first baseman Tommy Alston gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 4-3 victory over the world champion New York Yankees Saturday in their opening Grapefruit League game of the season.

Don Blasingame led off the Cardinal ninth with a single and moved into scoring position on Eddie Kasok's sacrifice bunt. Blasingame scored on Alston's single to left off Jim Coates.

Chico, Indians Agree
TUCSON, March 9 (UP)—Shortstop Chico Carrasquel Saturday agreed to terms and ended the Cleveland Indian holdout siege.

Carrasquel agreed to a pay cut from General Manager Hank Greenberg which left his pay at an estimated $20,000. He hit 243 last year, his worst mark in the big league.

Carrasquel reported five days later than last year. He said his father underwent a serious operation recently and this was one of the reasons for his delay.

Carrasquel has been mentioned as a possible third baseman for the Indians, but Manager Kerby Farrell ended this speculation.

Tracksters Get Three Ribbons
The Pampa High School track team brought back three second-place ribbons from the Canyon Relays at Snyder Saturday.

Coch Dwayne Lyon's cindermen captured the second spot in the 880 relay, second in the low hurdles and second in discus.

The 880 relay team is comprised of Dick Barrett, Earl Cooper, Kenneth Keith and Alton Thyerson.

Barrett also copped the second place ribbon in the low hurdles. His time of 19.8 was reported to have been better than the meet record but he was nosed out by the winner's place.

Pampa's Five Trim Austin

By DICK COLLINS
Pampa News Sports Editor
AUSTIN—The Austin Maroons staged an early battle for survival and then fell far short in the final stages as the Pampa Harvesters rolled to a 54-40 victory over the hometown team to gain the finals of Class AAAA in the State Basketball Tournament here Friday night.

The Harvesters, playing far from their best, trailed the first quarter and then let loose in the second quarter to take the runaway victory. The margin of victory would have been much greater if the Harvesters had been hitting from the free throw line.

Although it was free throws that won the game for Pampa, the Harvesters missed 14 of 38 free throws and connected on 15 of 35 field goals for 41 per cent. The Maroons, who went into the consolation bracket against Highland Park after their ninth loss in 29 games, made only 14 field goals and hit on 12 of 24 free throws.

The Harvesters stayed behind most of the first quarter and trailed by a 19-18 count after the first rest stop. Austin's biggest lead was 11-5 midway of the first when the Harvesters began missing free throws and rebounds. Pampa failed to connect on five gratis shots in the initial quarter.

Pampa rallied early in the second quarter when forward Jerry Pope, the only all-state player in the four-team Class AAAA field, began getting rebound after rebound. The 6-1 senior wound up with only six points for the night but was one of the outstanding players of the game by grabbing 10 rebounds.

The Panhandle champions made 10 points in the second quarter while holding Austin to one field goal and three free throws. The half ended with Pampa out front 28-24. It was 46-34 after three quarters and from that point on the Harvesters needed only to hold on for the victory, their 29th in 30 games this season.

The Harvesters dumped in 18 points in the third period and held the Maroons to 10. Austin had been expected to use a slow-down, ball-control method in trying to beat the twice-a-tale champion Harvesters. Instead, it was the Harvesters who slowed the action down in the final quarter. With six minutes left in the game the Harvesters began a semi-stall and managed to keep the ball most of the last minutes of play.

Pampa's Sam Condo and Bill Brown and the Maroons' Ollie Shipley tied for game scoring honors with 11 for Pampa. Doug Funk had 11 for Austin and Bob Dowd, one of the top scorers for the Maroons, was held to five. Gindorf connected on three field goals of three attempted, two of them beautiful hook shots from the free throw circle.

Locals' Bid For 3rd Title Halted, 67-51

By DICK COLLINS
Pampa News Sports Editor
GREGORY GYM, Austin—The Port Arthur Yellow Jackets halted Pampa's bid for a third state basketball championship by staging a third-quarter scoring spree to topple the Pride of the Panhandle, 67-51, here Saturday afternoon in the finals of the Texas Schoolboy State Tournament.

The Yellow Jackets from the Bayou country gave the Harvesters just about as much chance as Pampa gave to 28 of its opponents this season. Port Arthur rallied for 17 points in the hectic third quarter while the steady Harvesters netted 11. With a lead built up to 45-28 after three quarters, the Jackets kept pouring on the coal to hold and increase their lead.

The game, played before a steaming crowd of close to 8,000 on the University of Texas campus, was close for the first half. The Harvesters looked good in the first two quarters but had to fight for survival as the half ended.

A spectacular offense, in which the Jackets made almost every type of shot in the book, sparked the Port Arthur victory. The Harvesters took charge of the rebound in the first half but the Jackets would put their smooth-running defense to work and Pampa's play went unspung.

Port Arthur, just like the Harvesters, had no outstanding star. The entire starting quintet pitched in for spectacular all-around play. Port Arthur's top scorers were Carroll Broussard and Jerry Franklin, each with 22. James Sharp had 14. Sam Condo played his usual consistent game by dumping in 15 points and grabbing seven rebounds. Jerry Pope had 12 points and four rebounds. Bill Brown contributed nine. Dickie Mauldin six. Mack Layne four. Tommy Gindorf three and Carroll Cole two. Gindorf fouled out late in the third quarter and sophomore center Layne went in to replace the game. Layne played a fine game as a varsity member.

The Harvesters started out much like their Friday night play against Austin's Maroons. They took a narrow lead at the start and held their own for a half. But unlike the Pampa-Austin game Friday night, the Harvesters were the ones this time who started slipping. Pampa gained a 2-0 lead with 10 seconds gone on a Condo field goal and the senior forward added two more points a minute later on a pair of free throws.

Pampa got the lead up to 6-2 and then Port Arthur began whacking away at the margin. The Jackets tied the game at 8-8 with 2:26 left in the first quarter. Pampa went out front 12-10 with 1:10 left and they made it 14-12 with 30 seconds left but a basket by the sensational Broussard with 10 seconds to go forced the game into a tie at 14-14 after the first quarter.

Pampa again took a lead and increased it to 20-14 on baskets by Pope, Gindorf and Pope in the first minute and 15 seconds of play in the second period. Port Arthur again failed to yield to the Pampa power and the Jackets went ahead 26-25 with 2:20 left in the half. The half ended at 28-27 with the winners in front.

Another Dean
MILWAUKEE, March 9 (UP)—Paul Dean Jr., son of one St. Louis Cardinal pitching great and nephew of another signed with the Milwaukee Braves Saturday and will pitch for Wichita of the American Association this coming season.

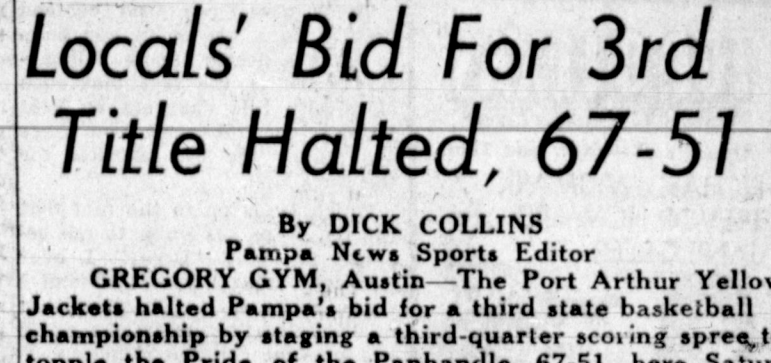

He is Dizzy Dean's nephew. The young right-hander was sought by 16 major league clubs. He has attended Southern Methodist University.

Industrial League Board To Meet

The Panhandle Industrial Softball League will have its first board meeting of the year Tuesday, April 2, in the conference room of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

Managers of each team in the league make up the board. All business men wishing to sponsor a team this summer are asked to attend the meeting by league officials.

The league will be organized by Charlie Wilkerson and Travis Live. Jimmy Demaret is fifth with $5,364. Another newcomer, Bill Casper Jr., Chula Vista, Calif., heads the second five in sixth place. Dow Finsterwald, Bedford Heights, Ohio, Mike Bouchak, Grossinger, N.Y., Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., and Jack Burke Jr., Kiamesh Lake, N.Y., round out the first 10 money winners.

Looking on is Austin's Doug Funk (23). Action took place early in the period when Pampa held a 33-32 lead. The Harvesters won the game 54-40. (Photo Courtesy Austin Statesman)

Australian Leads Pensacola Tourney

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 9 (UP)—Australian Peter Thomson, wielding a sure putter, shot the best round of the event so far, a five-under-par 67, to take a two-stroke lead Saturday at the end of 54 holes in the $15,000 Pensacola Open Golf Tournament.

Thomson, three times British Open champion, had seven birdies and only two bogeys for a three-round total of 205, two strokes ahead of Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., who carded 69.

"The long ones went in," said Thomson, a five-foot, nine-inch, 165-pound pro from Melbourne.

Drops 45-Foot Putter
He sank a 45-foot sloping putt on the second hole, and dropped a 40-footer on no. 16 to take birdies on both par three holes. Thomson said the wind gave him little trouble over the 6,325-yard par-72 Pensacola Country Club Course. The wind was still brisk at times and the weather chilly though a bright sun took away some of the bite.

"I didn't miss much," said the 27-year-old Thomson, who won over $20,000 last year in eight U.S. tournaments.

"However, I did miss a couple of short ones, including a four-footer on the 14th," he added. Wall, one of the quiet men of golf, had a total of 207 at the end of the three rounds but fell two strokes behind the Australian with whom he tied for first place Friday.

Idaho's Hopes Suffer Blow

POCATELLO, Ida., March 9 (UP)—Idaho State College hopes in NCAA basketball competition suffered a severe blow Saturday when guard Jim Rodgers, the Bengal's leading scorer, was declared ineligible.

Idaho State will meet Hardin-Simmons of Abilene, Tex., in a regional NCAA basketball playoff game here Monday night. Texas Western College, Border Conference champions, originally had been scheduled to meet the Bengals but withdrew because of "eligibility problems."

Bengal Coach John Grayson said Rodgers, a sophomore, was ineligible because he transferred to Idaho State College this year from the University of Oklahoma. Under NCAA regulations, a player must be enrolled at his present school for at least two semesters.

NEW YORK (UP) — The list of nominees for the May 4 running of the Kentucky Derby brings to mind again today the age old question of "What's in a name?" There are those who contend that to be a champion you have to carry a heroic handle. Momentary proof is the fact that such classically titled chargers as Bold Ruler, Gen. Duke and Iron-Liege are among the big favorites for the Rose Run.

Which leads up to the fact that the theory makes sense to me because the only "Oscar" I ever won was when I was born and I never heard of a "Chauncey" or an "Ethelbert" winning the world heavyweight championship. So let's look at the names of some of the Derby longshots, nifty little numbers who would pay off at anywhere from 50 to 300 to one, and I have to hold that not even

NEW YORK (UP) — National Basketball Association players will fight for shares in a $1,000 pool in their league playoffs starting March 16, league President Maurice Podoloff announced today.

The Boston Celtics already have earned $4,000 from the jackpot by winning the Eastern Division championship, and they probably will receive another $1,000 for finishing the regular season with the best winning percentage in either division.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Claude D. Kelley of Atmore, Ala., has been elected to his eighth one-year term as president of the National Wildlife Federation. F. Ross Brown of Albany, Ore., is the group's new vice president.

a good horse could carry loads such as these. There is, as example, a musical urlo specializing in the betting blues. These hopeless hayburners are named Mister Jive and Bonjo (a Heartbreak Hotel parlay for Elvis the Pelvis fans) and something called No Bumps (which already lost Gypsy Rose Lee).

For the cocktail set those listed include Pro-Brandy (bad bet on mint julep day), Martini and Olive Tree (which should turn a lead heat) and Wassail (another name for derby day). Hook one of those up with a nag named Hick's Error and you'll swear off forever.

Nobody ever sleeps during derby week, so how can you back such as Pajama Tops, Brezzy Night and Butch's Dream. But they do eat, once in a while, so maybe you can make some sort of a case for Mince Pie and Wise Apple. Case of parimutuel ptomaine, probably.

A Game 15th
My all-time "favorite" was one aptly named Sir Bee Bum, who proved he was as he ran a game 15th. Then there was Manister Toi, who sounded like he should have been in a dog show, and should have been when he ran and you've got to figure that a sixth.

Go back through the list of Churchill Downs' champions and you've got to figure that a slyling star was given to such as Exterminator, Gallant Fox, War Admiral, Count Fleet, Assault, Jet Pilot, Citation, Count Turf and Dark Star.

"What's in a name?" Maybe nothing. But if you're a martini man, you lost me long, long ago anyway.

4-Match Wrestling Card Set Monday

Two Negro girl wrestlers have been added to the Monday wrestling card here to make one of the most outstanding attractions in several weeks.

Babs Wingo and Ethel Johnson will match holds in a two-out-of-three 45 minute semi-final event. The two girls have wrestled here before and proved to be very popular.

The main event finds Don Curtis wrestling The Great Bolo in a two-out-of-three, hour limit affair. These two are also crowd pleasers who have graced the local arena with their presence in previous matches.

The second event will be a two-out-of-three 45 minutes time limit affair featuring Doug Donovan and Rip Rogers.

Tommy Phelps will wrestle Leo Newman in the one-fall, 20-minute limit opener.

The matches are scheduled to start at 8:15 p.m. Monday at the Sportsman Club, approximately one mile south of town on the Leffers Highway.

Fraley's Facts, Figures

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

Mickey Mantle and Duke Snider, the major league home run kings, both are talking through their hats when they insist that they won't worry about trying to break Babe Ruth's record 60 homers this season but instead will try to fatten their averages.

You can bet your last paltry peso that if either one of them gets within striking distance he'll be swinging so hard he'll break his shoelaces.

It's no secret that hitters of this calibre can fatten their averages considerably by punching the ball. Willie Mays in 1954 had 34 homers at the All-Star break and, deciding to boost his .312 batting average after a confab with Leo Durocher, knocked only seven homers the rest of the season but won the batting crown with .345.

Ride In Cadillac
It was only after his chances at Ruth's mark had gone down the drain last season that Mantle admittedly "quit swinging from the cellar" and went on to win the batting championship with his .353 performance. And Snider, who led the National League with 43 homers, could have bettered his lowly .292 average by not going for the fences. The answer is that home run hitters still ride in Cadillac.

The National Basketball Association, to preserve the tremendous gains made by the professional sport, should do something to provide better balance. Currently, the last place New York team of the Eastern Division has won more games than the first place Port Wayne team of the Western Division.

Following Famous Sires
There are 19 colts entered in this year's Kentucky Derby whose papies won the run for the roses. Two of them, Exalted Ace and Mantle, are sons of Citation but neither is owned by Calumet Farm which sent the last triple crown winner to the races.

Brooks Robinson 'Can't Miss' As Third Sacker, Says Kell

By BILL MCFARLAND
SCOTTSDALE, Ariz., March 9 (UP) — It takes one good third baseman to spot another and veteran George Kell of the Baltimore Orioles predicts 18-year-old Brooks Robinson "can't miss."

"Sure, he's trying to steal my job," said Kell, one of the game's all-time stars. "I'd kick him in the pants if he wasn't."

Nevertheless, Kell is one of the strongest boosters and most active tutors of the soft-spoken youngster from Arkansas, who threatens to move the veteran either to the bench or over to first base.

"I can't last forever," said Kell, who has starred at third base for the Philadelphia Athletics, Detroit Tigers, Boston Red Sox, Chicago White Sox and now the Orioles over a span of 14 seasons.

"We're bringing him along slow and easy," said Richards. "We're going to give him every chance to make good up here. Actually, he is a major league fielder right now with the best pair of hands I've ever seen on a third baseman."

"His hitting will determine how long he sticks with us and that is something he'll have to handle himself," Richards added.

A rangy six-footer weighing 170 pounds, Robinson was graduated from high school at Hot Springs, Ark., in 1955 and went directly to the Class B club at York, Pa., where he hit .331 in 95 games.

Last year he moved up to San Antonio in the Texas League and hit .272 for the season. At the tag end, he went to the Orioles for six games.

The going was tough at San Antonio, Robinson admitted, until he learned a few tricks from Harry (The Hat) Walker, former National League batting champ.

"Walker showed me how to hit the ball where it was pitched and my average picked up right away," he said, indicating he soon learned to hit outside pitches to right instead of trying to pull all pitches to left field as inexperienced right-handers often do.

If he can do that in the big time this year, he is likely to make a first baseman out of Kell, long one of the best in the business at third. And that's okay with George.

Hunt Deaths Decline For First Time

Final incomplete returns from the last major Texas hunting season added 10 previously unreported deaths to hunters, raising the total to 28, but falling short of the 35 fatalities listed for the previous season.

The executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission said it was the first year on record that the seasonal aggregate fell below that of the previous year.

"Twenty-eight Texans still is a pretty heavy toll to take during one hunting season," he added, "but if you compare it to the year before maybe our gun safety efforts are being rewarded at least in a modest way."

The executive secretary noted that the increasing number of sportsmen's groups are fostering actual training periods for youngsters, and that Commission Field personnel are helping out, where time permits, in most of these programs.

"Our principal safety work certainly rests with the youngsters," said the executive secretary. "For example, seven of the last ten fatalities were youngsters, mostly in the 10 to 14 year age bracket."

"Kids need some help in mastering their guns and to help them coordinate their developing minds and muscle. They also need to be guided in restraining their fire since late reports show that one 16-year-old Otona boy was shot and wounded by another boy who said he mistook his companion for a javelina."

Earlier casualty totals reported that the wounding of a Port Arthur boy by another youngster who explained that he thought the target was a wolf.

Eighteen of the twenty-eight deaths reported for last season involved teenagers either as the victims or as the perpetrators.

"This is pretty well in keeping with the modern trend," said the executive secretary. "And it points up the opportunity for a substantial field in safety work. Times have changed. The kids of former years grew up with guns. Now they sometimes try to handle guns without proper schooling, and oftentimes without realizing the lethal loads which their gun packs."

"It all outlines the way toward permitting the boy of today to share the same routine of the field that his forefathers enjoyed. When boys want guns, they deserve them, certainly at a reasonable price. In safety work, they follow through and help them master handling of the firearms."

The executive secretary said standing orders have been issued for all field personnel to give as much time as possible to gun safety. He emphasized that some wardens have sponsored local safety courses.

"We cannot lay down a mandatory assignment for field personnel to allot time for special gun-handling courses," he said. "Our field force is not adequate, for that, in view of the countless other tasks to be handled. But we definitely are committed to provide advisory assistance as a general rule. We would like nothing better than to further check hunting casualties of all kinds."

Listed below is the recipe for the famous German dish, Hasenpfeffer.

1 cup vinegar
1 12-oz. bottle beer
2 large onions, sliced
1 Tb. mixed pickling spices
1 tp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 large or 2 small rabbits, cut in serving pieces
1/4 cup flour
1/4 cup fat
1 Tb. sugar
Combine vinegar, beer, onion, pickling spices, salt and pepper in a large earthenware bowl. Add rabbit pieces. Cover and let stand in refrigerator one to two days, turning the meat several times. Dry rabbit pieces with absorbent paper, then dip in flour. Melt fat in large skillet. Add meat and brown on all sides. Pour off fat. Strain the mixture the meat has soaked in.

and add, with sugar, to the meat. Bring to a boil, reduce heat, cover and simmer forty minutes or until rabbit is tender. If desired, the liquid may be thickened with flour mixed with a little water. This may be served with potato dumplings and buttered green beans.

It would be difficult to imagine a person with much character or principle who is a dog thief. Possibly some might think the offense of stealing a bird dog is not serious but anything that has a value of over fifty dollars runs into felony theft when stolen. O. B. Sullivan of Berger recently had a male setter, orange and white, stolen from his yard. If the thief is apprehended this offense could warrant a prison term.

Each year there are scores of valuable bird-dogs stolen here in the Panhandle. If the general outdoor public cooperated enough, some of these dog thieves could be prosecuted.

Sullivan has a reward offered for the return of his setter.

Ever hear of a quail that would produce as much as four generations in one year? This might not be exactly correct but Frank Roach of Pampa has ordered a number of Japanese quail that are supposed to continue to nest all summer.

As soon as one brood is off, another is started. The state of Missouri has been experimenting with these birds for some years and the results are very good up to this date. As soon as I can get more information from Roach I will pass it on.

HSU In Tourney Playoff

ABILENE, Tex. (UP) — Hardin-Simmons University, with two sophomores on a squad which averages slightly more than 64 per starter, meets Pocatello, Idaho Monday night for a berth in the Far West NCAA regionals.

The Cowboys, with a 17-8 record, were substituted for Texas Western Friday night after the Border Conference champion, crippled by ineffectuality, withdrew.

The NCAA ban against fourth-year varsity players had already cost Texas Western the services of three squadmen, and when Miner ace Charles Brown was declared ineligible the team pulled out.

Hardin-Simmons, paced by 6-6 Rob Fremaine's 21-point average, finished second to Texas Western in Border Conference play with a 7-3 record, two of the losses coming against Texas Western.

The team will fly from Abilene to El Paso Sunday and take over the flight reservations previously held by Texas Western to Pocatello.

Next to Tremaine, 6-8 sophomore Carl Knight, a rugged rebounder, has paced the Cowboys. Other starters are 6-2 Ben Benton, 6-1, Barry King and Doyle Edmiston, 6-6, another sophomore.

gone undisturbed since. The court, in its football ruling, invited Congress to take a close look at baseball's exempt status. It said that the "orderly way to eliminate error or discrimination, if any there be, is by legislation and not by court decision."

Since then bills that would accomplish opposite purposes have been introduced in the House. On the one hand there are bills to give football, basketball and hockey the same anti-trust exemption enjoyed by baseball. Other legislation would bring baseball under the anti-trust laws.

Nat Official Says Baseball Business

By ERNEST BARCELLA
 WASHINGTON, March 9 (UP)—A high official of the Washington Senators said Saturday that baseball is a business — the Supreme Court notwithstanding — and Congress should so declare it.

"And it's big business," C. Leo DeOrsey said in a United Press interview in which he proposed a drastic overhaul of the present baseball system to counter congressional monopoly charges.

Newest Director

DeOrsey, newest member of the Washington club's directorate and counsel for the Griffith family which owns controlling interest, proposed that:

1. The American and National leagues be replaced by a single league of 16 teams with an eastern and a western division comprised of eight teams each. He said this would meet one of the chief criticisms that the present setup is monopolistic and pave the way for Los Angeles and San Francisco to become major league cities.
2. A limit be placed on the number of farm teams and farm players a major league club can have because "the greatest monopoly in baseball is the farm system." DeOrsey said in this way, big league baseball could "stop some of the New York Yankee dominance by limiting the number of players they can have."

Suggests Option Clause

3. Revise the controversial reserve clause because "you are going to arrive at a situation where you can't hold on to your ball player forever." He suggested an "option clause" type contract under which a club could hold on to a player for a certain time of usefulness—say under 10 years—for so much for one year with an option for other years.

DeOrsey, noted Washington tax lawyer who represents Arthur Godfrey and other notables, said he disagrees with "the conclusion reached by the Supreme Court that there's a difference between football and baseball."

"I disagree with the idea that baseball is a hobby," he said. "I think it is a business, and a big business. My vote as a member of the Washington club's board of directors will be cast along business lines; not hobby lines."

Invites Congress to Look

The Supreme Court ruled Feb. 25 that football is a business and subject to the anti-trust laws. In 1922 the tribunal held that baseball is a sport and not subject to the laws. The baseball ruling has

Weather Causes Baseball Blues

United Press Sports Writer
 By LEO H. PETERSEN

The worst weather in years has major league managers in Florida crying the blues over scrambled pitching plans and insufficient opportunity to appraise rookies Saturday as the teams began Grapefruit League play.

Bobby Bragan of the Pittsburgh Pirates spoke for just about every manager in Florida when he said, "my plans are just all shot" while veterans of the New York Yankees' training campaigns called this "the worst weather the world champions had encountered since 1925."

The weather is more than a little embarrassing to Florida chamber of commerce because the four teams training in the West—the Cleveland Indians, New York Giants, Baltimore Orioles and Chicago Cubs — have hardly missed a day under warm sun. These four managers report they are right on schedule and eager for the exhibition season.

Here's how the teams shape up as the long Grapefruit grind begins:

INDIANS — Herb Score bigger and heavier than ever and Early Wynn and Bob Lemon looking good in intra-camp games. Keith Farrel' looking for third baseman to replace Al Rosen but hasn't found one yet.

RED SOX — Enthusiastic over over condition of slugger Ted Williams, who says he'll play in 125 games this year. Club's No. 1 project to develop a new short-stop-second base combination.

WHITE SOX — Al Lopez insists they have better chance than Indians to beat Yankees. Jim Landis, rookie outfielder, is sensation of camp and early candidate as rookie "who can't miss." Lopez converting Bubby Phillips from outfield to third base.

PIRATES — Warren Hacker is No. 1 reclamation project. Manager Birdie Tebbetts feels Hacker's 3-13 record last season can be changed to read something like 16-10. Sluggers all on hand and Tex Kluszewski down to 234 pounds.

CARDINALS — Acquisition of Hoyt Wilhelm increased likelihood Cardinals can be contender. Manager Fred Hutchinson already has "set" lineup although he may have to optimistic about center field. Team regarded as definite dark horse.

PHILLIES — Grinty Hammer's attempt to switch from shortstop to mound has occupied most interest so far. Team's principal concern in exhibition games will be to find punch. Team average only 244 last season.

PIRATES, CUBS and GIANTS — Manager Bobby Bragan insisting Pirates "going step" up this year "if rain ever stops." Cubs expect new catchers, Charley Silveira and Ray Katt, to plug gaping 1956 hole and help pitchers. Giants desperate for help of any kind after wave of ill fortune although manager Bill Rigney surprisingly confident.

BRVES — Pitchers, key to club's chances, slow getting started because of rough holdout sieges. Manager Fred Haney mad as a hornet over "crackdown" stories because of "nightlife" charges but promises "team will behave." Deal for Red Schoendienst still considered possibility.

REDLEGS — Warren Hacker is No. 1 reclamation project. Manager Birdie Tebbetts feels Hacker's 3-13 record last season can be changed to read something like 16-10. Sluggers all on hand and Tex Kluszewski down to 234 pounds.

American League

YANKEES — Pitching set. Slugger Bill Skowron among those involved in "open" battle for third base. Incumbent Andy Carey, weak hitter may be on block. Yankees would take Detroit's Bill Tuttle as solution to "left field problem." No. 1 rookie in camp is first-baseman Marv Throneberry.

Best Bass Fisherman Is Sought

LAKE WHITNEY, Tex., March 9 (UP)—Who's the best bass fisherman in Texas?

As many as 500 pluggers will vie for this title at the 1957 State Black Bass Tournament on Lake Whitney May 2-5. The tournament, sponsored by the Waco Tribune-Herald, was held for the first time on Lake Whitney last year, with 378 fishermen from 47 cities competing.

This year, Outdoors Editor Earl Golding is confident of 250 two-man teams. "Interest has been booming bigger and bigger," Golding said. "Well-known pluggers from all parts of Texas have indicated they'll be on hand."

Some contestants are already "trying the lake for size," according to Golding, to get acquainted with the waters.

In the tournament, the first three days will be used for qualifying. Golding said. Each team will fish only one day to qualify for the tournament. Sunday will be the final round, after the field has been narrowed "considerably."

All of the winners in last year's tournament are coming back for another crack at the title, Golding said.

"We still have the records from last year," Golding warned, "so there'd better not be too many 'fisherman's tales.'"

We're talking about the extra features that add so much to the value of your car, yet don't add an extra penny to the price of your Olds.

For example, you don't pay extra for the big-car performance of Oldsmobile's Rocket Engine.* The pace-setting action of its high-compression power gives you economy when you want it, power when you need it.

You don't pay extra for the snug comfort of Oldsmobile's big-car ride. New Wide-Stance Chassis and Pivot-Poise Front Suspension mean added smoothness and safety, too! And there's big car glamor that's distinctively Oldsmobile. You don't pay extra for that either!

Compare Oldsmobile's extra-value features with any car at any price! You'll soon find out that you get more when you go Golden Rocket 88. And this Rocket fits your pocket. Be our guest... take a Rocket Test, soon.

*277-h.p. Rocket 7-400 Engine standard on all models. J-2 Rocket Engine, with 300 h.p., and special Rocket Engine, with up to 312 h.p., optional at extra cost.

ALL THIS AND J-2

Be our guest for a J-2 test! Oldsmobile's sensational new engineering advance presents two-stage engine control through progressive carburation. STAGE ONE: for smoother operation and better economy. STAGE TWO: for a quick surge of active power when the situation demands it.

It's like two engines in one!

Ike's Honeymoon May Last No Longer Than Roosevelt's At What Price Aspiration?

By RAYMOND LAHR
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower's second term honeymoon may last no longer than President Roosevelt's.

While no real revolt is in sight, a rebellious spirit is developing among members of his own party in Congress.

Some are complaining about what they consider major irritations like the still sizeable foreign aid program and the record peacetime budget of $71.8 billion for the coming fiscal year.

Others are grumbling about minor annoyances. They do not want to learn first from their newspapers about government action affecting their constituents or their committee chores in Congress. They want to be consulted.

Trouble For Administration
 All this can spell trouble for Mr. Eisenhower's legislative program. How serious it may be will be more apparent by next summer.

Republicans and Democrats have a healthy respect for the vote polled by Mr. Eisenhower last November. But some veteran Republicans in Congress believe there will be a growing tendency for each man "to go his own way" in voting on the administration's legislative program.

One reason for added sensitivity to the home front is that the House's entire 435 seats and one-third of the Senate's 96 are at stake in the mid-term elections of 1958.

Some Eisenhower partisans in Congress want the President to give them more concrete help to get his legislation passed.

On the other hand, some conservative Republicans think he has embraced the New Deal and submitted legislation that would better be forgotten.

Some Republicans want Mr. Eisenhower to visit more with members of Congress. Others feel he's too deeply tied up with foreign affairs to do that, but want his "White House, cabinet and sub-cabinet officials to give more attention to Congress."

Don't Relish Treatment
 A veteran Republican senator said he got more sympathetic treatment from the executive departments when the Democrats were in control. And here a Republican House member is talking:

"The President ought to take just one month and see the members of Congress. The main trouble is that the guys around the President don't care about Congress. He's involved in foreign affairs. The members of the House are interested in what's happening at home. But Ike's men are big shots. They don't have time for our problems."

"They don't hesitate to call up when we want something. But when we want something—maybe just a little thing like an autographed picture of the President to send back to a county chairman—they say he's too busy."

"Also the President ought to be seeing some local political leaders. I had a fellow in from home recently who could do the party a lot of good. He wanted to see the President. I told him it wasn't even worth trying."

 NEW YORK (UP)—Painful thoughts from all over:

What price aspiration? The Nepalese government has decided to charge $640 for the privilege of climbing Mt. Everest. It has fixed climbing royalties for all Himalayan peaks, according to height.

Why this ski pole tax? Mounting overhead, probably. The high things in life certainly come good and expensive nowadays.

Expeditions will have to pay up before going up—or else drive a pretty Sherpa bargain. Why do people climb a mountain? Because it's there—and the price is right.

This move will probably hang a new name on the tax collector—the abominable schmo man.

In London, the Sunday Graphic reported that 18 men and women smokers underwent remote-control hypnosis and that after three 14-minute sessions, seven had stopped smoking completely.

The group sat before a giant picture of the hypnotist while a photograph played his commands to stop smoking, presumably putting a lot of cants in their trance.

The hypnotist plans soon to issue records for slimming and stopping drinking—which will give him a wide opening to advertise

The Difference
 Unlike the Atlantic salmon, which enters freshwater streams to spawn and then returns to the sea, the Pacific salmon spawns in fresh water and then dies.

that he practices hypnosis and hypnotism.

At the 53rd annual dinner of the New York Explorers Club next Friday, a staple of the menu will be fried termites' eggs. The egg of a fried termite probably is fine eating, but how do they get the bees to fry them before they start laying eggs? Let 'em eat worm-wood? Oh, let's knock this stuff off.

 Thuban, in the constellation Draco, once the North Star, was the star by which the early Egyptians orientated their famous pyramids.

DOES A TROPICAL ISLE SOUND GOOD to you? ... you may consider yourself a part-owner in a tropical isle ... as an American citizen you have lately become the owner of a piece of real estate that has been made into a new national park ... it is 9,500 acres of tropical isle ... the newly acquired park is two-thirds of one of the Virgin Islands ... down near Haiti, Jamaica and Puerto Rico ... with the turquoise water of the Caribbean ... the warm winds caress the swimmers lolling on white beaches beside a warm blue sea ... the name of the paradise is St. John ... next time you take a vacation, go to a national park ... but pick the one that is a tropical isle.

THIS WEEK IN THE NEWS ... to coin a phrase ... the rush to the bookstore and the library will be on within a couple of weeks ... Pampanos have been receiving postcards in the mail announcing the forthcoming publication of our own Wanda Campbell's book for young people ... the "MUSEUM MYSTERY" ... a treasure hunt in Palo Duro Canyon is part of the contents ... congratulations to a busy mother who made the time to write successfully ...

Give me liberty to know, to think, to believe and to utter freely according to conscience, above all other liberties. —Milton

TRAVELING VICARIOUSLY this week were many Pampanos ... first a trip to Yugoslavia by way of Miss Helen Poe's recent lecture ... her vivid descriptions brought the country right into the auditorium ... Betty Wright (all in blue, the color she wears gloriously) ... Beulah Merchant and Laura Fatheree were listening with rapt attention ... Fanny Fern Henry was there ... and we heard comments later about the lecture ... Miss Poe pointed out that Yugoslavia is one of the few countries where native costumes are still worn ... and the greenness of the land was unbelievable after the seared dryness of a good bit of Texas ... we hear that more Pampanos are going to travel again ... when Dr. Voet from Berger shows his pictures of Japan and Israel for members of the Adult Education "Current Events" group in a week or two ... and no doubt some of us watched "CONQUEST OF EVEREST" when it was a "midnight movie" on TV recently.

EXODUS FROM the city ... Pampa is losing some friends ... with the exodus of Frank and Anita Fata ... leaving a great gap ... we'll miss Sara's wonderful things Frank was always doing in civic affairs ... and miss Anita's infectious smile ... and Sara and Ken Meaders are leaving also ... we'll miss Sara's attractive accent and Ken's friendliness ... and the Solon Blundells are leaving, also ... bet the church will miss its secretary ... and Pampa is losing one of its best bridge players in Mary Blundell ... we say a warm goodbye to these people and hope they come back to visit often.

Until I truly loved I was alone. —Mrs. Norton

NEWEST SHACKS ... if you will pardon the term which is meant in the best of ways ... belong to the Jack Osbornes ... with what we think must be Pampa's first real honest-to-goodness split-level house ... and Carl and Mary Hill's house is going up in a big hurry ... they will be in it in time to enjoy the air-conditioning this summer ... and the Charles Cooks are expecting ... to be in a new house, that is!

WE CAN IMAGINE the talking-fest going on in the household of Margaret Thompson ... her father is visiting and they haven't seen him in over four years ... we think the clean-up committee at the Pancake Supper the other night deserves mention ... Mrs. James Hart ... Mrs. Charles Bruce ... Mrs. Paul Henlon ... Mrs. William Felter ... Mrs. Louis Belanger ... and Miss Ollene McShan ... do not mention the Young People's Service League ... dishwashing galore ... the most important part of the event, we suspect ... and sometimes a thankless one ... wonder if Brian and Gail Duncan are excited about their new little sister Wendy ... Hilda will be a busy woman for quite a while.

SCRAPS ... gathered in and around and among and between ... the pre-Lenten Mardi Gras dance at the Parish Hall was a success ... Mahaunta Hills did all sorts of art-work for it ... with Forest's help ... there were lamp posts ... and candles in bottles on the tables ... a charming atmosphere was created ... Bill and Norma Neumeyer were there, of course ... they give such devoted attention and work for the Home and School Association ... George and Clara Dillman were there and they always enliven a party ... they are such cute ballroom dancers ... Joan Henry was ticket-taker ... sometimes a thankless task even when in fun ... the Hamkins' were there ... they are new and welcome additions to Pampa ... a good time for all ... we heard of a very good idea lately ... it seems that friends of Joyce Wood decided that the best kind of baby shower should be for the mother just as much as for the baby ... so Martha McComas was hostess at a shower for Joyce recently and she was given house shoes ... lingerie ... and so on ... this is a wonderful idea ... wish someone had thought of it for Peg ... something new to wear in that old hospital is cheering ... Pat and Alma Glascock have been to their ranch near Las Vegas ... friends of Gus and Pat Murphee will be happy to hear that Pat is recovering well ... saw Ruth Osborne the other day looking busy about something ... noticed that Peggy and Dewey Palmittier have joined the station-wagon set ... saw a new tan-colored one sitting in their driveway the other day ... the Joe Fortins are planning a two-week trip to Florida to attend a convention ... they are looking forward to it ... bet their four children will miss them ... the M. Z. Silvers are settling down to a busy schedule with a recently purchased house ... They are relatively newcomers to Pampa ... guess that's all.

THAT IS about it for this time ... we'll see you, we hope, at the Elks Club Open House and Tea this afternoon ... and at the concert Tuesday ... Peg is anticipating both of these events.

As ever,
PEG

The wedding is being planned for Aug. 17 in Fairmont.

Mr. Burdette was graduated from Pampa High School and Amherst College, Amherst, Mass., in 1955 with Cum Laude honors. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity and is a second-year student at Harvard Law School.

The purpose of the Girl Scout movement is to help girls realize the ideals of womanhood as preparation for their responsibilities in the home and as active citizens in the community and the world.

The Girl Scout Promise and Laws, an ethical code, provide the driving force behind the movement and its program. Progressive activities in broad fields of interests are suggested for each age level. These activities offer variety and choice, they lead to new interests and hobbies, and make possible the development of skills.

In Girl Scouting, each girl is important for what she is rather than for what she is or for what she does. Each girl gets a chance to explore her own talents. Each girl learns to take responsibility and to be an active citizen in a girl-sized democracy. Camp life teaches a girl to live happily outdoors on her own resources.

In Girl Scouting girls are partners with adults — their leaders guide rather than dictate. Membership is voluntary — the entire organization is directed by volunteers.

There are many ways adults can help further the Girl Scout program. Mrs. N. G. Kadingo, executive director, has announced. Women may serve as troop leaders, which means taking the responsibility for a troop, which meets once a week, and being willing to take training necessary for leading a troop. There are also places open for assistant leaders. Women may serve as neighborhood troop organizers, which means organizing new troops and re-organizing old troops in a designated neighborhood. And former leaders may serve as neighborhood troop consultants, which means helping new leaders get started and giving advice to other leaders in a designated neighborhood.

Both men and women may serve as members of board committees, which include troop organization, training, program, public relations, finance, membership, nominating and Day Camp.

Working with Girl Scouting gives the satisfaction of having a part in a program that helps girls become better persons and useful citizens of a community. Volunteers are responsible for the support and extension of Girl Scouts. When adults give time, ideas and abilities to promote and direct the Girl Scout program, to work and play with girls in troops, they demonstrate their personal concern for the welfare of girls, their belief in the program and active citizenship for the good of the community.

Her unusual experience enriched Mrs. Gloria Butch's life and sent her back to her family, shown here, a better and more efficient homemaker.

"Mrs. America" Contest Winner Finds Enriching Experience Benefits Family

By NEA Service
LOS ANGELES (NEA) — Her white silk dress is still doing fine for Mrs. Gloria Butch. She wears it to church frequently.

Her dressy, form-fitting black gown she reserves for speaking engagements and the theater.

She won them last year in the "Mrs. America" contest. They have enriched her life, but not nearly so much as what she learned.

Mrs. Butch is the wife of a Lutheran minister and has four children. She entered the contest after her family convinced her with hours of debate. She then lived in Columbus, Ohio.

She passed the judges' fiendish hurdles in local and state eliminations to become "Mrs. Ohio."

"It was a wonderful experience," Mrs. Butch says. "It changed my whole philosophy on homemaking. I realize more firmly than ever that I have the most important vocation in the world — maintaining a happy, Christian home."

Among her winnings in the contest were a household of appliances, including a gas stove, refrigerator, washer and dryer. And she proceeded to the national finals in Florida with a complete wardrobe. This included the white silk which she wore to church there and the dressy black which she appeared in at the finals.

"My wardrobe is still the envy of my friends," she says. "It even includes a pink bathing suit — but we didn't wear that in the contest."

Instead, she experienced a week of the most grueling tests of her homemaking ability which she had ever gone through.

There were parties and sight-seeing, yes, but daily she was measured and quizzed as to her housewifery.

She cooked meals, submitted menu plans, and baked pies. A refrigerator buffet lunch was prepared at night and eaten the next day. Judges poked and tasted her pies.

Meanwhile they were grading her on her appearance, poise and personality. She was sized up on knowledge of nutrition, neatness in the kitchen, appearance of her food, financial management and family recreation planning.

The attention to time management gave Mrs. Butch a new viewpoint on her everyday work.

"A 30-minute cook-off is no place to waste time," she says. "Each movement had to mean something."

"A lot of this stayed with me. For a child's lunch, for instance, there isn't much you can do for a peanut butter sandwich. But using your time right, and remembering a child's love of color, just a little radish rose can add life to the plate. Or cutting the sandwich with cookie cutters can add interest. And it takes me no longer than when I did it in my old easy-going fashion."

"I've had a six-tier spice cabinet built for my cupboard. At finger-tips I have 30 spices and flavorings. And I use them. There were seven in the pumpkin pie that I made in the contest."

"The two oldest children used to sit in piano practice at odd hours. Learning from my experience, we discovered that it fit best into a daily routine before school."

"The fact that I get home from church at 12:30 with guests coming for dinner at 1:00 doesn't bother me any more. My work is planned better and any extra bits are finished ahead."

In other tests she made an apron in half an hour and ironed her husband's shirt. Her mind was plumbed for knowledge in many lines in written tests.

She had to answer questions like this: "Does too hot water cause

orlon sweaters to 'pill' or to 'ball'?"

On civilian defense she had to write 100 words on her family's plan in case of emergency.

Another 100 words were used to describe a safe driver, since the American housewife is a chauffeur, as well.

Each day for a week she planned and prepared one meal. Precise recipes for each item were required, with cost estimates and a reason for the selection — economy, nutritional, for example.

Mrs. Butch's husband was moved to the West Coast this year, but she had many friends waiting, new ones she'd made in this adventure.

Even more valuable than winning third place in the finals, was something she lost, not gained. During the week's frantic activities she lost 10 pounds.

Lillie G. Gilliam Unit In Bible Study Meet "Ambassador Extraordinary", Life Of Claire Booth Luce Reviewed For Club

The Lillie G. Gilliam Business Women's Circle, Highland Baptist Church, met in the home of Mrs. Joan Dawes for mission study. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Henry Maple.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. W. F. Slaten, Mrs. James Barrett continued the mission book study, "Home Missions USA." Closing prayer was given by Mrs. Flo Alexander.

Members present were Meses W. F. Slaten, A. M. McPeak, A. E. Butler, H. H. Stull, Joe Achord, Henry Maple, Flo Alexander, James Barrett and Joan Dawes.

"Ambassador Extraordinary," by Alden Hatch, was reviewed by Mrs. Frank Kelley at a recent meeting of Twentieth Century Forum in the home of Mrs. C. V. Wilkinson, 815 N. Somerville. After a brief business session conducted by Mrs. M. McDaniel, president, Mrs. Kelley was introduced by Mrs. H. C. Federer Jr., program chairman.

"This is the story of Claire Booth Luce's life," began Mrs. Kelley proceeding to qualify the author's ability to tell the story. He has been Mrs. Luce's personal friend since 1924, spent two months working with her in Rome and interviewed nearly 100 famous people before writing the biography of this woman who held the most important diplomatic post ever held by a woman — Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary to the Republic of Italy. Claire hesitated to accept the President's offer of this post as being most difficult, especially for her, on the following grounds: "1. I am a woman — this will hurt the pride of the Italians. 2. I am a Catholic — some will say that I will get too close to the Vatican or be influenced by the Vatican. 3. Since my husband is an important publisher some will say we won't report the news from Rome objectively. 4. Since I am so strongly anti-communist the whole Italian left, 1-3 of the people, will hate and distrust me." But, after much thought on the part of both the President and Mrs. Luce, the appointment was made.

Mrs. Kelley limited her review to the fascinating events which led to the development of a woman qualified to hold such a post.

Ann Claire Booth was born April 10, 1903, in New York City, even more beautiful than her mother, daughter of Catholic, Bavarian immigrants. Her mother married a divorced Baptist, Billy Booth and both young people were disowned by their families.

As a child Claire knew real privation, and it was during one of these difficult periods that her mother put her on the stage as Mary Pickford's understudy.

Mauve Shades Are Spring's Pets

By ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor

The mauve shades of spring's ready-to-wear are delicate and flattering. They're to be had in clothes for daytime and evening, in feather tweeds, silk sheaths and chiffon dinner dresses. They also appear in accessories.

But mauve takes special make-up. And so does spring. Just as you're glad to cast off your winter clothes when the first spring days come along, so are you glad to put on a brand-new make-up.

Knowing this, one well-known beauty house has brought out a complete make-up series in shades of crimson lilac to wear with the new mauve fashions. You can start with face powder and go right on through pressed powder, lipstick and rouge to finish up with eye shadow in lavender blue with a violet cosmetic to tip the eyelashes.

YOU... and YOUR HOME

by Jack Foster

BED AND BOARD

We've discovered that practically all girls between the ages of eight and eighty love a picture-pretty bedroom. And that's not all. They want this room (at least most do) to be as practical as a savings account.

This is not such an unreasonable order when you analyze it.

The "picture - pretty" part of the plan is a matter of color selection and blending; of window treatments; and all the little innovations that decorate your room and make it an expression of you.

The "practical" side is concerned primarily with designing a room that gives you the ultimate comfort in a given space — and keeps upkeep labor to a minimum.

The headboard goes with this "picture-pretty and practical" bedroom scheme as naturally as a chicken with an egg.

In the bedroom sketched, the headboard flanked by the desk and commode provides ample space for books, telephone, radio, lamps, and all the comfort accessories the sleeper requires.

The rich, burnished tones of the hand-rubbed wood is complemented by the soft blue wall color. Small print (predominately blue) draperies and dust ruffle introduce just the right amount of movement to enliven the room without making it busy.

Choose your headboard today from several styles in our comprehensive assortment. Blendable pieces that will live easily in any style room. Light and dark finished hardwood. Tasteful designs. Superior craftsmanship. Noteworthy values.

Respecting others' privacy is an important part of good-manners.

Through her association with Mrs. Belmont she met many of New York's "400" and married New York's richest bachelor, George Brocaw. He was 43 and she 20. It was not a happy marriage. Mr. Brocaw was an alcoholic and Claire felt that her luxurious life was purposeless, and ended it in divorce after 6 years.

She became a playwright, also worked on Vogue and Vanity Fair, meeting Harry Luce of Time, Inc., whom she married in 1935, during this period. She did much traveling with her husband and wrote many brilliant articles for Life and Vogue.

It was in 1943 that her beloved daughter, Ann Brocaw was killed in an automobile accident. "The shock was so great, her grief so deep, it was feared she might lose her mind. In order to help her she was asked to give the keynote address at the Republican National Convention, 1944."

She ran for Congress again and was elected. During tours of the frontiers with the horrors of Buchenwald and with her daughter's death still weighing heavily upon her she felt the depths of despair which led to her consultations with Monsignor Fulton Sheen and her conversion to Catholicism.

Mrs. Kelley closed her review with Valiant Women, from Solomon's verses.

Members present at the meeting were Meses Kelley, Wilkinson, McDaniel, Federer, Bob Curry, E. J. Dunigan, Jr., William E. Ellis, William T. Fraser, Biggs Horn, Dick Hughes, Homer D. Johnson, W. Calvin Jones, John B. McCrery, Henry J. Rose, Aubrey Steele, Arthur Teed, and F. J. Vendrell.

Manners Make Friends

"If you open another person's letter by mistake, don't read it. Give it to its rightful owner without delay and explain what happened."

From her son it brought silence. From her daughter it brought a $2 check enclosed in a hastily written note describing the progress of a grandchild's measles.

Mrs. G. was furious at her children's lack of attention. By mid-afternoon she'd generated so much anger at it that she put herself to bed with a raging headache. But of course she didn't say to herself, "My anger has stretched me out on this bed of pain." What she said to herself was, "My children's cruelty has stricken me."

In her younger days, it was the children Mrs. G. stretched out on a bed of pain when they made her angry. When Maudie or Frank denied her the attention she wanted, she'd spank them and say, "Get up to your bed before I whip you again!"

As a result of this direct discharge of anger, none of it was left inside her to upset her digestion and give her a headache. She went vigorously on with her household work instead of crawling feebly about in the cold, gray mist of depression her unreleased anger settled over her yesterday. In those days, it was her spanked children who felt depressed — not their actively angry mother.

But these days, they are out of her reach. When they deny her the attention she wants, she can't grab them and spank them. So her baffled anger, seeking about for its victim, decides to stretch her on its bed of pain in her children's stead.

What productive things could happen if Mrs. G. would stop blaming her children for her state — and admit it's caused by anger at their refusal of attention.

For in this admission lies the key truth to her whole problem — the simple, understandable, appealing truth: "I need appreciation."

Once she knows this is the need, she can start filling it. Instead of waiting around for her children to decide to send her some appreciation, she can go and see her minister, her doctor, her local Council of Social Agencies and say, "I am a useful person. Will you help me find a place where I can help?"

Unacknowledged anger at people always keeps us concentrated on them. When we feel it for children who no longer need us, it can blind us to people who do.

they're here now for you!

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. G., the widowed mother of two married children, had a 59th birthday yesterday.

From her son it brought silence. From her daughter it brought a $2 check enclosed in a hastily written note describing the progress of a grandchild's measles.

Mrs. G. was furious at her children's lack of attention. By mid-afternoon she'd generated so much anger at it that she put herself to bed with a raging headache. But of course she didn't say to herself, "My anger has stretched me out on this bed of pain." What she said to herself was, "My children's cruelty has stricken me."

In her younger days, it was the children Mrs. G. stretched out on a bed of pain when they made her angry. When Maudie or Frank denied her the attention she wanted, she'd spank them and say, "Get up to your bed before I whip you again!"

As a result of this direct discharge of anger, none of it was left inside her to upset her digestion and give her a headache. She went vigorously on with her household work instead of crawling feebly about in the cold, gray mist of depression her unreleased anger settled over her yesterday. In those days, it was her spanked children who felt depressed — not their actively angry mother.

But these days, they are out of her reach. When they deny her the attention she wants, she can't grab them and spank them. So her baffled anger, seeking about for its victim, decides to stretch her on its bed of pain in her children's stead.

Investments For The Future Is Topic Presented At Twentieth Century Club

Investments for the future was the subject discussed at the recent meeting of Twentieth Century Club when it met in the home of Mrs. Richard Stowers, 2015 Charles. Two guest speakers, Kirk Duncan and Rev. Ronald Hubbard approached the subject from two different viewpoints.

Mr. Duncan discussed Material Investments and warned his listeners that investments must not be confused with security. He stated that the time element is most important in making investments. In youth one may consider longtime investments, and even take more chances in investing his money, than when one is older.

He also explained various fields of investment, such as stocks, bonds and real estate, and answered questions regarding these.

Rev. Hubbard said in his discussion of Spiritual Investments for the Future, that when you get a minister to speak you always get a sermon. "Spiritual Investments also have a great deal to do with time," he said. "In this field one needs security now. Basically, a sense of insecurity is what makes people cling to material things. We do not need new life at the Judgment, but now."

He also pointed out that man's insecurity in himself can be achieved in Christ, first by recognizing who you are, that is, your own self, with all your own successes and failures. Then that man does not stand alone, he may accept God's grace to face his insecurity, day by day. In conclusion, he read Romans 8.

Reports and plans were presented by the various committees during the business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. V. J. Jamieson. Mrs. McKernan reminded the members that the Guest Coffee will be held in the library, March 12 when Mrs. Otis Nace will review Ruth Moore's book, "Speak To The Winds." Each member is to bring three guests.

Nineteen members were present and enjoyed a social hour.

Spaghetti should not be broken up in order to get it into a pan. Put in a handful at a time and curl it around the inside of the pan. And it will taste better if you slightly (very slightly) undercook it. This is the Italian method.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

At nine months, Barbara hadn't developed the muscular controls she needed to feed herself. But this didn't matter to her. She wanted to feed herself anyway.

When she wasn't allowed to, she grabbed the spoon. She snatched food and smeared it passionately over her face and hair. She clenched her mouth tight.

Her mother tells how she solved this problem in a letter in the Family Clinic department of Parents magazine.

"I put three spoons in Barbara's dish (one for her, one for me, one for the floor!), she says. "This pleased her and she allowed me to feed her while she tried to feed herself. Then I learned to put a cracker, a piece of toast, bacon or carrot beside her plate. As long as she could feed herself something, she would cooperate."

Other mothers reporting solutions to the Family Clinic, the great majority, like Barbara's mother, found them to be increased respect for a child's powers.

For example, a small boy had been making a mess of brushing his teeth. He started to brush them with efficiency as soon as he was given a manageable, guest-size tube of toothpaste—and more control of the operation.

A little girl insisted on defacing her library books. She began to treat them carefully when the library fines were deducted from her allowance.

Another small boy had developed resentment of bedtime. He began to approach it with interest when grownups stopped thinking they had to lift him into his crib. It was then that he had a chance to discover that by pushing a chair up to his crib, he could climb into it under his own power.

An eight-year-old girl fussed at the chore of setting the supper table. Finally, her mother gave her the far more responsible chore of making the salad. Now she cooks one of the family's meals every week.

Overprotection of children is a form of contempt for them.

Of its effects, psychoanalyst Erich Fromm writes, "Every neurosis is the result of conflict between man's inherent powers and those forces which block his development. Destructiveness is proportionate to the degree in which the unfolding of a person's capacities is blocked."

Good And Bad Of The Week's News

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:
 Israel, in compliance with United Nations demands, started withdrawing its forces from the Gaza and Aqaba Gulf coast areas which it had held since it invaded Egypt last Oct. 29.
 United Nations forces took over authority in the two areas as the Israeli pulled out.
 President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt was expected, as the result, to permit completion of the clearing of the Suez Canal which he blocked after the Israeli invasion and the British-French attack on the canal zone.
Colony Becomes Nation
 With Vice President Nixon representing President Eisenhower, the British colony of the Gold Coast in West Africa celebrated its independence day and became, as the new nation of Ghana, the ninth member of the British Commonwealth of Nations.
 A revolt by army and civil leaders in the Macassar and Celebes islands groups in eastern Indonesia forced President Sukarno to reconsider his plan to set up a new governmental council, with Communists included.
 "American-born Eamon de Valera, 74 and nearly blind, was returned to power in an Irish Republic election which unseated Prime Minister John A. Costello.
Important Voting Strength
 In Great Britain, the Labor Party gained important voting strength in a series of by-elections for seats in the House of Commons. The Conservative government of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan still held a safe majority. But political experts said the trend showed that the Laborites would win if a general election were to be held now.
 Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew to Australia to attend a meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Members are the United States, Great Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Philippines, Pakistan and Thailand. The chief topic for discussion was means to combat Communist subversion in Southeast Asia.
 San Francisco (UP)—John P. Edwards, who was picked up by federal agents Friday on suspicion of selling narcotics, has lost his faith in "man's best friend." Agents, unable to find any evidence in his apartment, released his dog, Trixie, from her pen. Trixie was so overjoyed at her freedom she cavorted around the apartment — knocking loose a wall panel that concealed four ounces of pure heroin.
 NEW YORK—Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meier on her country's position, should Egyptian troops ever return to the Gaza Strip:
 "We would reserve the right to defend ourselves."
