'Real Cool' Saturday For Pampa

Residents of the Top of Texas enjoyed a real "fall-like" day yesterday as a heavy layer of clouds over the area kept the temperature down. The high recorded in Pampa by Radio Station KPAT yesterday was a comfortable 74 degrees. The clouds brought welcome rain to the parched land Friday. See REAL COOL, Page 2

License Fees To Go Up On Sept. 1

If you're determined to get married—then do the second best thing and get your license before Sept. 1. If you do, then it'll be 50 cents cheaper, for marriage licenses are going up on that date from $2.50 to $3. Not only marriage licenses, but all filing and recording fees in the county and district clerk offices are to be raised Sept. 1 according to Charlie Thut, county clerk. The only exception is chattel mortgage fees which will remain the same. The announcement came after a notice from the state was received in the county clerk's office and in the district clerk's office telling them of the changes. This action resulted from a law passed during the past session of the Texas Legislature. Notary bond fees in civil cases will be raised from $1.55 to $2 and recording from 15 cents per hundred to 20 cents. Docketing will be raised from 20 cents to $1. The measure was set to go into effect Aug. 22, but Thut said he would not make the change until Sept. 1.

Budget Hearing Held

'58 Gray County Taxes Unchanged

The 1958 tax rate in Gray County will remain at $1.29 as it was in 1957. In a budget hearing held by the county commissioners Friday afternoon, requests by several department heads for pay raises were turned down in order that a tax hike could be avoided. "If we had raised salaries, we would have had to raise the taxes," Gray County Judge Bruce Parker said. Parker indicated that $20,000 in salary increases was asked. The only addition authorized was one more deputy for the sheriff's department. A public hearing was scheduled for 10 a. m. Friday on the county budget, but no one was present except the commissioners. Another change will be made in the operation of law enforcement vehicles. Instead of giving mileage to officers, six cars will be rented for the county officers and courtesy cards issued. Some $10,000 was allotted for this. Ray Wilson, county auditor said that there would be little change from the 1957 budget, and that it would run about $900,000. Of this, $162,352.27 will be provided for interest and sinking fund payments. Repair money allotted for improvement of the Perry LeFors Field airport was set at $20,000, and $70,000 is being provided for county equipment.

Guard Units Return One Day Early

Members of the Pampa National Guard returned yesterday, one day earlier than expected, from their annual two-week training camp at Ft. Sill, Okla. The main convoy arrived here about 6:30 last night. The group reported they went through two weeks of rigid training, consisting mostly of shooting field problems. Pampa's 474th Field Artillery Battalion troops were assigned to XLI Corp Artillery at Fort Sill. Other Panhandle towns are also members of the 474th. It is commanded by Lt. Col. Dock A. Stuart. The 52nd Field Artillery Battalion from the New Mexico National Guard and the 8th Field Artillery Battalion from Galveston were also assigned to XLI Corp Artillery. Pampa units include a headquarters and headquarters battery commanded by 1st Lt. Valta E. Tarbet Jr., service battery commanded by 1st Lt. Lawrence Hurdle and a medical attachment commanded by 2nd Lt. Terry Culley. Tomorrow will be spent by the troops in putting equipment in order here. At the closing parade, Brig. Gen. Retired Counter-Spy Submits Information

By NEIL MacNEIL
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (UP)—Retired counter-spy Boris Morros has named Martha Dodd Stern, her husband, a secretary in the U. S. embassy in Prague and a U. S. intelligence agent in Germany as Soviet spies, it was revealed today. Mrs. Stern is the daughter of former American ambassador to Germany. In other sensational testimony before congressional investigators, Morros said: Other Testimony—Moscow officials once boasted they had established 55 business firms in the United States to serve as covers for espionage. His orders from the Soviet spy ring included planting an agent in the office of Francis Cardinal Spellman, Catholic prelate of New York, and getting "compromising information" on President Eisenhower, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, and other prominent Americans. A chairman of the former four power allied control commission in Vienna, a Soviet ambassador to Switzerland, and a secretary in the Soviet embassy in the Soviet embassy in Washington were his superiors at various times during 12 years of cloak and dagger work as a U. S. government agent posing to the Russians as a capitalist-hating Soviet spy. Morros named Mrs. Martha Dodd Stern as the "prominent American woman" whom he earlier had mentioned as a member of the Soviet spy ring in this country. Husband In Ring—Her husband, Alfred Stern, also was in the ring, Morros said. The couple recently slipped out of Mexico. U. S. officials believe they went behind the Iron Curtain in eastern Europe. Morros made the statements Friday in sworn testimony in New York to a team of staff agents of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Highlights of his testimony were made public today by Committee Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.). Walter said his staff members questioned Morros most of Friday afternoon and evening. Morros, prominent Hollywood motion picture director and composer, recently testified before a New York grand jury on Soviet espionage activities in the United States. He worked for the U. S. government for 12 years, posing as a Russian agent while collecting information on Soviet spies. Role Was Revealed—His role was revealed when the spy case of Myra and Jack Sobel and Jacob Albam was broken. In a recent news conference in New York he said that, while acting as a U. S. counter-spy in Moscow, he was betrayed to the Russians by a "prominent" American woman whom he refused to name. Shortly after this, Mrs. Stern and her wealthy husband cashed in their assets—about a million dollars—and fled to sanctuary behind the Iron Curtain. They had refused to come to the United States for questioning by a grand jury. Man Fined On Driving Charge—A Jacksonville man came before County Court yesterday on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Earl D. Thurman pleaded guilty to the charge and Judge Bruce Parker fined him $125 plus costs and sentenced him to three days in jail. He was picked up by the police department Friday at the Wilks and Hobart streets intersection.

Suicide Ruled In Death Of Pampa Man

Justice of the Peace J. W. Graham ruled suicide by hanging yesterday morning in the death of Jimmy Gabriel Hagerty, 25, of 711 E. Kingsmill. The body was found in a garage behind Hagerty's home about 10:30 a. m. yesterday by the youth's mother. They lived alone in the house. Hagerty was discovered lying nude on the garage floor with a noose pulled tightly around his neck and his hands bound behind him with a fishing cord. Deputy Sheriff Shirley Nickols theorized that the youth climbed on a trunk, put his head in the noose and then wound the string around his hands before jumping off the trunk. When he jumped from the trunk the rope broke, but the perfectly-tight hangman's noose tightened, strangling him. The fall resulted in Hagerty hitting his head against the side of the garage, apparently knocking him out, Graham reported. Graham estimated he had been dead for 24 hours. The body was badly decomposed. Jimmie Gabriel Hagerty was born Feb. 12, 1932, in Pampa. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. G. A. Hagerty and one sister, Mrs. Helen Marie Matthews of Dallas. Services are scheduled for 2 p. m. tomorrow at the Duenkels-Carmichael Funeral Home with the Rev. Woodrow Adcock officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Plane Crash Kills Four Crew Members

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UP)—A twin-engine Air Force bomber crashed and exploded just short of a housing development here early today, killing four crewmen and hurling one of its engines into a bedroom vacated only minutes before. Authorities said the plane, a Martin B25, was on the last leg of a routine training flight from Vance Air Force Base at Enid, Okla., to the West Palm Beach Air Force Base. The plane, carrying four crewmen, arrived safely over the field, radioed for landing clearance, then apparently had engine trouble. The plane, which made its last stop at Barksdale Air Force Base at Shreveport, La., slammed into a field just short of a housing development where many Air Force families live. Residents in the development said they heard the plane in trouble and alerted the neighborhood. Families fled the homes in their nightclothes just before the plane hit, around 3 a. m. (e.s.t.). Debris from the plane damaged three of the homes, all of which had been evacuated seconds before the crash. Six children were among those who fled two of the homes. A witness said one of the plane's engines lurched through the air and landed in the bedroom of one of the evacuated homes. Residents said the plane burst into flames and exploded just before it struck.

Woman Treated For Overdose Of Pills

A Pampa woman was treated at Highland General Hospital yesterday for an overdose of sleeping pills. Officials reported that she had apparently taken nine sleeping pills, however, medical treatment was given in time to save her life. Her condition was reported to be satisfactory late last night. Jim Conner, chief of police, stated that it was not known if the taking of the pills was an accident.

Demos See Rights Bill Passage

By BETTY FRYOR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (UP)—Democratic leaders figures today they finally had corralled enough votes to shove the Senate's amended civil rights bill through the House and to passage. But they conceded it could be the end of next week—or even later—before they can force a showdown. They originally had hoped this could come in the House next Wednesday. Meanwhile—Republicans with fresh backing from President Eisenhower, fought to reform their wavering ranks in opposition to passage of what they called a weakened version of the bill. Republican leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.) said after a White House conference that the GOP will continue to insist that the bill's right-to-vote provisions be strengthened. Martin said passage of the bill in the form proposed by the Democrats would be a "tragedy" for the millions of Negroes who, he said, have waited 90 years for legislation assuring their right to the ballot. "I want to make it crystal clear," said Martin, "that there is no weakening in our position. We want a bill that will adequately protect the voting rights of every American."

The bill's Democratic managers who so far have not been in a hurry to reach a test, now believe the House is ready to approve, with one amendment acceptable to the Senate, Senate amendments to the bill as it originally was passed by the House. End of Next Week—However, having an unexpected change of heart on the part of a southern Democrat who heads the powerful House Rules Committee, they don't see how they can set the issue up for a House vote before the end of the week. The rules chairman is Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.), an ardent opponent of civil rights legislation in any form and a wily parliamentarian not easily outmaneuvered. Smith's 12-man committee must recommend in advance the procedure to be followed in a House vote on the issue. Smith so far has declined to call the committee into session. Sources familiar with his thinking said he is not likely to change his mind although powerful appeals are likely to be made.

President Hashem El Atassy. El Hayat also reported that Syrian authorities had discovered an attempt to blow up the foreign ministry in Damascus. The newspaper said a bomb big enough to destroy the whole building was found in the entrance way. The re-drafted, Irish-born film star hotly denied the testimony of a defense witness in the criminal trial of Confidential magazine that she was involved in a sexy escapade with an unidentified escort in the theater nearly four years ago. She sued the magazine shortly after publication of the story. Ward declared Miss O'Hara was "eager to go into court and fight" the accusation. It has highlighted sizzling testimony about Hollywood's biggest names who are faced with the defense promise to call as many of them as necessary in an attempt to prove lurid magazine stories about them are "true." Miss O'Hara has been subpoenaed by the prosecution and in "all likelihood will be called as a rebuttal witness" to the testimony by defense witness James Craig, 27, a former assistant manager of the theater, who Friday acted out the alleged back-row scene by sprawling across three courtroom chairs with a blonde newspaper woman. The actress is vacationing with her daughter and is on one-day call to appear in court, Ward said. Spellbound courtroom spectators watched Craig and his aide entangle themselves across the three chairs while Craig claimed he had seen Miss O'Hara sprawl across her escort's lap with her blouse open. Maureen Said 'Eager' To Defend Self HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 17 (UP)—Fiery Maureen O'Hara is "eager" to go into court to fight a claim she engaged in a torrid off-camera love scene with a Latin lover in the back row of Grauman's Chinese theater, her attorney said today. Atty. Guy E. Ward said he believed he would be "able to prove that Miss O'Hara was not even in the country when the alleged Grauman Chinese incident took place."

House Group Tells Rangers To Get Cage

AUSTIN, Aug. 17 (UP)—A House committee probing the failure of ICT Insurance Co. today summoned Benjace Cage to testify in an open hearing Aug. 26 and directed Texas Rangers and the Department of Public Safety to search for him. Cage was reported by his Dallas attorney, M. R. Irion, to be out of the state and Irion indicated he will not return until Sept. 3 when he has been subpoenaed to appear before a Dallas County grand jury investigating the ICT collapse. Cage, former head of ICT, was indicted by the Dallas jury on charges of embezzling $600,000 from the company. No Power Beyond State—Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, frankly admitted a legislative subpoena has no power beyond the boundaries of Texas. Cage also has been subpoenaed for an appearance before a Travis County grand jury next Tuesday, August 20. The chairman of the House committee, Reagan Huffman of Marshall, said if Cage can't be found to appear for the August 26 date, the group will hear him later. But the chairman bluntly added: "We are not disposed to set our hearing to suit the convenience of those who run and hide nor those who may be harboring any person we seek now or in the future."

Check Set For Storm Siren

"The storm siren will be made to work or we will send it back to the factory," Sheriff Rufe Jordan stated last night. In making the statement, Sheriff Jordan, who is also coordinator of Civil Defense for Gray County, reported that a check would be made this week on the installation of the siren and also another test would probably be made to determine if the siren is making the required number of revolutions for the proper sound. He stated that he had talked to the factory Friday and if the siren could not be made to work, a factory representative would be sent from Chicago to check it. "I was assured by the factory that the siren should work and that if it will not, it will be fixed," the sheriff concluded.

Syria In Red Military Purge

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Aug. 17 (UP)—Syria, described as a "Red colony" of the Soviet Union, was reported in the grip of a spreading Communist military purge today. The leftist clique of army officers united behind Syrian Defense Minister Khaled Azim appear to have won in the struggle for power, and have begun to clean out their opposition in the armed forces. Their next step may be a forced reshuffle of the Syrian cabinet. (In London, diplomatic sources said that Soviet party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev may try to help matters along by visiting Syria and Egypt, Syria's chief Mideast ally. Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov already has accepted an invitation to Syria.) Clearest indication of growing leftist domination came with reports from informed sources in Damascus that all President Shukri El Kuwaily has decreed the appointment of top-ranking Communist Gen. Afif El Bizri as Syrian army chief of staff. Bizri was promoted from colonel to replace Gen. Tewfik Nizamuddin, who asked to be retired on a pension at the age of 44 last Thursday. Bizri is 43. Observers have interpreted Nizamuddin's "retirement" as a forced resignation. Meanwhile, reports reached Beirut that a number of senior army officers had been placed

To Woo From West

LONDON, Aug. 17 (UP)—Soviet Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev is planning a barnstorming trip to Syria and Egypt to woo both countries further away from the West, diplomatic sources said today. The sources said they learned that Khrushchev may accompany Defense Minister Georgie Zhukov, the powerful Red army chief, who already has accepted an invitation to visit Syria in the near future. It was believed that Khrushchev and Zhukov planned to cash in on new Soviet economic and military ties with Syria which is on the verge of becoming an outright Soviet satellite in the Middle East. Congress Moves Into Mop-Up Stage Of 1957 Session

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (UP)—Congress moves into the mop-up stage of its 1957 session next week with its eye on adjournment in a week or two. Whether the annual sprint for the finish will come next week depends largely on how quickly the House can handle the civil rights bill. The deadlock over that measure seems to have broken, but there is still no assurance a settlement can be reached in time for adjournment by next Saturday. Meanwhile, the lawmakers will be working on a list of other unfinished appropriations for the fiscal year which began six weeks ago. The House still must vote on a belated appropriation bill for the Atomic Energy Commission. The Senate has three to go, including the foreign aid appropriation, on which President Eisenhower is putting much pressure. The Senate is expected to restore some of the 800 million dollars reduction voted by the House in the foreign aid funds, but differences between the chambers must be ironed out thereafter. The administration is sending Secretary of State John Foster

Dulles, Adm. Arthur W. Radford, retiring chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and retiring foreign aid boss John B. Hollister to the Senate Monday. They will ask for all of the $3,367,000,000 which the administration wants in the foreign aid bill. Other unfinished business includes: IMMIGRATION—Both houses are expected to pass a bob-tailed bill to carry out some of the administration's requests for a more liberal immigration law. ATOMIC POWER—A House-Senate conference committee must settle differences over versions passed by the 1956 cham-

GOVERNMENT PAY—The Senate may act, despite administration opposition, on its version of House-approved bills to increase the pay of civil service employees and postal workers.

Funeral services for Bob Lewter, 81, a former resident of Pampa who died Wednesday at Vista, Calif., will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in Claude.

Mrs. Lewter lived in Pampa from 1916 to 1930 when he moved to Claude. He farmed there until 1954 when he moved to California. At the time of his death he was associated with the Golden Arrow Dairy Co. of San Diego, Calif.

He is survived by his wife, Mary of Vista, Calif.; his mother, Mrs. D. F. Lewter of Clarendon; one son, Forest of Vista, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Pearl Hathaway of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Ruby Folland of Borger; and six brothers, Roy of Pampa, Albert of Waco, Jeff of Oakland, Calif., Fred of San Diego, Calif., Jim of Martinez, California and Ellis of Los Angeles, Calif.

Brown Receives Letter From Scouts Who Met His Brother

A letter from Billy Neslage, one of the Pampa Boy Scouts who attended the Scout Jubilee in London, was received by M. K. Brown yesterday telling of their trip over Europe.

The boys first attended the American Boy Scout Jamboree held at Valley Forge, then went abroad for the Jubilee.

Brown arranged for his brother, Leonard H. K. Brown, and his wife to meet the boys. The Pampa collected various Scout badges from this region and sent them to his sister-in-law, Mrs. Leonard Brown, in London who sewed them on a banner. The Browns then put the banner on their car and met the Pampa delegation in London after the Jubilee.

until the letters were received and read by the three company presidents.

But the spokesmen indicated Reuther's invasion of product pricing — which Reuther admitted is considered "management prerogatives" — will get a suspicious reception from the auto chiefs. They termed the offer, "propaganda" and a "trap" on hearing of it.

But Reuther said, "in today's inflationary context, you must accept your responsibility to resist pressure to increase car prices and we must accept our corresponding responsibility to do what we can to facilitate your resistance to such pressure."

Hoffa Due

More Teamsters To Face Senate Probe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (UP)—The Senate Labor Rackets Committee today schedule more grilling for two teamster union vice presidents and ordered a search for four New York witnesses who have eluded federal marshals.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) announced that Vice President Elmer Mohn and James R. Hoffa will testify when the hearings resume next week.

Hoffa will be confronted with charges that he supplied "gangsters, criminals and racketeers" with "hunting licenses" to "prey upon legitimate business, honest working people and union members," McClellan told newsmen.

Thirteen days of hearings have shown that Hoffa, crown prince of the nation's biggest union, arranged for chartering of seven "phony" teamster locals in New York City, staffed them with thugs and gangsters, and used their votes to rig the election of New York City's going teamster council, McClellan said.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said four witnesses have so far eluded subpoenas to testify. Federal marshals are searching for them.

Life Saving Classes Continue

Red Cross Junior life saving classes passed the half-way point at the Marcus Sanders pool Saturday morning with the roster trimmed to eight Negro boys.

Buddy Moore lectured the students Saturday. He was assisted by Dick Elkins.

The life-saving course includes 14 hours of instruction. The first two classes last week were taught by Yorel Harris. The next class was to have been held at 9:30 this morning with Moore instructing. Classes Monday and Tuesday will complete the course.

Craig, first witness called by defense attorney Arthur Crowley in the case against Fred and Marjorie Meade, operators of Hollywood Research Inc., film land listening post for the magazine, was cross-examined on small details of the alleged scene by prosecutor William L. Rizzi, who asked:

"To put it bluntly where was her rear end?"
"On the corner of her seat," Craig said, claiming the star was sprawled horizontally across three seats with her head on the man's lap.

Kiwansians Hear Baseball Manager

Bob Scarlett and Gail Pringle, general manager and pitching coach, respectively, of the Amarillo Gold Sox baseball team, presented the program at the Pampa Kiwanis Club meeting Friday.

The meeting was held at noon in the basement of the First Methodist Church.

Scarlett spoke on three important things he feels baseball has an influence upon, democracy, juvenile delinquency and the will to win. He gave examples of ways he thought baseball had been an integral part of democracy, told how baseball helped one young man find the "right path in life," and gave examples of how baseball boosts a person's will to win.

Scarlett also invited all residents of this city to visit the Gold Sox, attend a game and examine Amarillo's new baseball park, Potter County Stadium.

Guests for the day included Bill Morris, Gene Hall, Clarence Holt, Jim Stowers, Frank Dykstra and Jim Waggoner.

Texaco Honors Employees

Employees of Texaco's West LeFors Producing Area, Panhandle District, and their wives were honored at a safety award dinner at Poole's Steak House at 7 p. m. last night.

This dinner was in recognition of this group's having worked for a period of five years without sustaining a disabling industrial injury.

S. R. Lenning, district superintendent, Pampa, presented an appropriate safety pennant and honor award certificate to W. Giles, area production foreman. Other guest speakers included L. H. Schrimpf, zone safety engineer, Tulsa, Okla.; P. M. Wiley, assistant superintendent, Pampa; and E. L. McIntyre, assistant division supervisor of industrial relations, Fort Worth, emcee.

Ex-GI Ends Efforts To Bring German Bride To America

DENVER, Aug. 17 (UP)—An ex-GI has ended a seven-year effort to bring his German bride to America.

The man is Glendon Dale Hallmark, 34, of Fort Worth, Tex., whose wife, Gerda, 27, has been prohibited from entering the United States because she has tuberculosis.

National Jewish Hospital at Denver announced today it will admit Gerda which clears the way for her entry into this country.

Hallmark returned to Texas in March, 1956, but his $54 a week mechanic's wages didn't provide enough to pay his wife's passage and hospitalization.

Cuban Planes Drop Bombs On Rebels

HAVANA, Aug. 17 (UP)—The Cuban Air Force has been dropping 400-pound bombs on rebel-infested territory in eastern Cuba in support of the Army's "annihilation" campaign against rebel chief Fidel Castro, it was reported today.

A source said "several hundred" heavy bombs had been dropped in close support of ground units operating against the rebels in the Sierra Maestra mountains of eastern Cuba's Oriente province. The reports would not be confirmed officially.

Other reports, quoting informed sources in Santiago, rebel-tinged capital of Oriente province, said a "private army" of between 100 and 200 men has been put in uniform and sent to reinforce the regular army forces in the hills.

The army was said to have been organized by Sen. Rolando Masferrer, who recently conferred with President Fulgencio Batista in Havana and then dropped from public view.

An Army communique reported another shooting in Oriente province.

The bullet-riddled body of an unidentified person was found on the grounds of the American-owned Preston sugar mill.

Shop Girl Visits Paris With Prize

PARIS, Aug. 17 (UP)—An attractive English shop girl and the tweedy British major she won for the weekend as a prize in a London newspaper contest went out on the town in Paris this evening.

A bit breathless, dark-haired Patricia Mills, 20, said she and Maj. Chris Powell, 49, formerly of the British Army, would go dancing and stroll around looking at "big tourist places."

Miss Mills won Major Powell as her personal property for 48 hours in a competition sponsored by the Daily Sketch, a mass circulation London newspaper.

She said, "He's wonderful. He's marvelous. He's so well-mannered, he thinks of everything."

The Daily Sketch is giving away the distinguished-looking major for 48 hours every week to the reader who writes in the most interesting ideas about what they'd like to do with him.

Miss Mills is the major's first owner.

Small Boy Okay After Being Lost

WHITE SALMON, Wash., Aug. 17 (UP)—Five-year-old Richard Craig was resting "comfortably" here today apparently none the worse after being lost for two nights in foothills of the Cascade Mountains.

"Right now he's sleeping like a baby," said a nurse at Skyline Hospital here. "He's resting comfortably and his condition is satisfactory."

The youngster was found early this morning by a Hollenbeck logging-firm crew about two miles from where he vanished Thursday morning while picking huckleberries with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Craig of Harrah, Wash.

The boy was brought to the hospital here where a physical examination disclosed he was suffering from exposure but was not in a state of shock.

Ingrid's Daughter Stockholm-Bound

ROME, Aug. 17 (UP)—Actress Ingrid Bergman said tonight she is taking her daughter, Jenny Ann, part of the way back to Stockholm tomorrow.

Miss Bergman said she will fly to Copenhagen with her 18-year-old daughter. She said Jenny would fly on from there alone to rejoin her father, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, in Stockholm.

The Swedish stage and screen star said Jenny's return to Sweden had nothing to do with Italian Press reports of a summer holiday romance with 22-year-old Franco Rossellini, the tall and handsome nephew of Ingrid's Italian husband, Roberto Rossellini.

Water Has Always Been Problem City Commission Records Show

By BILL NEAL
Pampa News Staff Writer
What was happening in Pampa 20 years ago, 10 years ago or even two years ago?
In looking through the minutes of past city commission meetings, it is immediately apparent that the city's development and much of its activity has revolved around that eternal problem in West Texas — water.
Hundreds of pages of commission minutes are filled with motions concerning the water situation, and volumes could be filled with the discussion and debate on that necessary liquid.
For instance the present hot issue of the Canadian River Dam Water Authority was brought up in a city meeting on Aug. 19, 1952. The commission voted to give $522 or 10 cents per water meter in Pampa for "furtherance of the project to supply water to the city from the Canadian River." That was five years ago.

Two years ago, on Aug. 16, 1955, the commissioners voted to hire an engineer to work on a "long range plan of expansion, and improvement" of the water and sewage system. The survey was to include a study of the growth of Pampa and the underground water resources.
H. N. Roberts, Wayland Merriam, A. C. Bowden and R. M. Isbel were employed as engineers in the report.
Incidentally, the commissioners at that meeting appropriated $44.49 to a petty cash fund to cover an accumulation of errors in one department in "making change."
Some four years ago, on Aug. 18, 1953, another project that is news today was begun. Guy Lott, district engineer, was asked to "give pertinent information" concerning construction of an underpass on Hobart Street. Work is to begin on that project about Sept.

On Aug. 19, 1947, ten years history, it was the same old water story. D. L. McDonald was contracted with to drill a producing water well. At that meeting Dr. R. Malcom Brown was appointed the County Health Officer.
A quorum of the commission was not present for the meeting 13 years ago, on Aug. 16, 1944.
Water was again of prime importance when the city fathers gathered for a session 15 years in the past. On Aug. 25, 1942, authorization came for issuing $15,000 in bonds for improvement of the water works. The resolution declared the situation "an emergency."
Back in 1939 when Mayor Lynn Boyd was a city commissioner, the group voted to take $10,200 from the water construction account and place it in the P.W.A. construction account. The action occurred during the first week in August of that year. E. S. Carr was mayor at the time.
Then 20 years back, the commissioners, evidently in a "get tough" mood, cracked down on solicitors — for all causes, charity and relief not expected. They passed an ordinance requiring all solicitors to register with the city manager. This happened on Aug. 16, 1937.
And still water is quite likely to remain the paramount problem of Pampa commissioners, at least until some adequate source or system is found.

Democrats Get Assist On Tight Money From Union

EDITOR'S NOTE: While Lyle C. Wilson is on vacation, special dispatches are being written by other members of the UP Washington staff. Today's is by the head of the Senate staff.
By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The AFL-CIO has given the Democrats a big assist in their continuing assault on the tight money policy of the Eisenhower administration.
In attacking the policy of raising interest rates, the AFL-CIO Executive Council went about as far as Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.), the most acid-tongued critic of that policy.
At their Chicago meeting the labor chiefs listed a series of administration decisions and said they were "designed to hasten a recession as the best means of adjusting to the paradoxical situation of rising prices and declining production."
Recall Douglas' Statement
This was Kerr talking in a statement last week end:
"A big issue now raging within the high council of high finance and government is whether to tell the people that a 'moderate recession' is being planned."
Few Democrats have gone as far as Kerr in charging the administration with a calculated plan to bring about a recession to check the boom. Some of them may be mindful of the fact that Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) is still being accused of predicting depression in 1954 when he says he was only sounding a warning.

But the idea of a planned recession has been given attention by some financial writers. Kerr said a recession is already being felt in parts of the country.
Viewed As Hardship
If his fellow Democrats are more cautious many of them are trying to get all the mileage they can out of criticizing the administration's "hard money" policy. They view it as a hardship for home-buyers, farmers and businessmen who may be hurting because of scarce credit.
To these arguments administration spokesmen have replied that higher interest rates were needed to curb inflation and to balance the supply and demand of credit.
But even Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), who has never been known as an "easy money" man, is asking if higher interest rates are not inflationary in raising business costs and leading to higher prices. And he worries that higher interest charges increase the federal budget through the increased cost of servicing the national debt.
These questions have drawn the reply that interest rates are an insignificant factor in business costs and higher rates on government bonds are a small price to pay for holding down inflation.
At this point in 1957, however, the Democrats expect to be making a big issue of tight money through the 1958 political campaign and possibly on into 1960.

Billy Graham On 'Petting'

NEW YORK (UP)—Evangelist Billy Graham advised young people Friday night that petting is a preparation for marriage is permissible for Christians, but "the other kind" of petting is a sin.
He told his Madison Square Garden audience of 18,500 persons, the majority of them teenagers, that young people should preserve their "purity, the greatest gift you can give the person you are going to marry."
Graham advised girls not to allow their boy friends to "paw" them, not to allow themselves to be "pawed and smudged" by everyone who comes along.
There is nothing wrong with sex, the evangelist said, as "it's part of God's plan for you to be attracted to the opposite sex."
As a substitute for "the other kind" of petting, he advised young people to take nice long walks, participate in athletic activities, and go to church often.
"My wife says that in the first year of our courtship, church was

French Franc Devaluated

PARIS (UP)—French Finance Minister Felix Gaillard set the wheels in motion by unofficially devaluing the franc. Now he is waiting to see which way they will turn.
The young financial wizard hopes this devaluation and a new "austerity" program will return the nation from the brink of bankruptcy.
But most experts—and many Frenchmen—believe the 27-year-old Gaillard's devaluation was just a starter, a prelude to a new wage and price spiral this fall and a general devaluation of the French currency at home and abroad.
France's economic problems come in the midst of its most prosperous postwar period. Industrial production has increased 47 per cent during the past four years. Steel production is up 92 per cent over 1950. The nation is producing 58 per cent more iron ore each year. It has 75 per cent more electric power and produces 27 per cent more food and farm products each year.
And France is buying more, too. With full employment—only 75,000 persons applied for jobs in May out of a population of 43 million—Frenchmen just wait six months to two years for new cars. They are buying television sets as fast as they come off the production line.
It is this very boom at home which is causing France's economic problems. It is the simple fact that France is importing more than it is exporting. Its currency reserves are all but exhausted and its credit is gone.
At present all that stands between France and bankruptcy is 200 billion francs (420 million dollars) in bank of France gold. This is melting away at the rate of 50 billion francs (120 million dollars) a month.

DULUTH, Minn. — Mrs. Ann Frombert, 74-year-old woman found Thursday after wandering lost in a dense woods since Monday.
"There were times when I wished I would die I was so afraid. Other times I prayed I would be found, and it was my faith that brought me through."
The only place I took her," he said. He added that "I never kissed my wife until I put the ring on her finger."

Solon Says Ike Must Carry Blame For Foreign Aid Cuts

By WARREN DUFFEE

United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (UP)—

Sen. J. William Fulbright said today President Eisenhower must take the blame for big cuts in his foreign aid program because he has "mishandled it all the way through."

The Arkansas Democrat, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he would vote to restore some of the cuts but "I'm not going to knock myself out." He added that he was "sick and tired" of "fighting for a fellow who won't fight for himself."

He asserted the President has not properly fought for his program. "He waits until the last minute and then puts on a big show," he said, referring to Eisenhower's sudden warning that he might call Congress back for a special session if the aid program is cut too much.

The White House plans to send Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other officials to the Capitol Monday to spearhead the administration's plea for restoration of 809 million dollars slashed by the House from the $3,367,000,000 authorized for the program and asked by the President.

Dulles moved up his scheduled return from a Canadian vacation by one day to be here for the closed-door Senate hearing. He will be accompanied by John B. Hollister, outgoing director of the International Cooperation Administration which handles the aid program, and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, former chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Although the administration pinned its hopes on the Senate for getting back at least part of the cut, prospects still were cloudy today. Key Republicans conceded the program faces stormy going. Sentiment among many senators on both sides was for holding to the House cuts. White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Dulles and the others would tell the Senate group why "the President and everyone else in the administration" believe the cuts should be restored.

House GOP leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.) said after a breakfast meeting with Eisenhower much disappointed at the House cut. He said Eisenhower reiterated that the money taken out of the bill is "absolutely" necessary for the United States to meet commitments to its allies.

Earlier, Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), an influential member of the appropriations committee, said he would support the House cuts and oppose any move to restore them.

"I'm sure glad getting up only comes in the morning—Pop couldn't stand the shock twice in one day!"

There is no way around it . . . the storm siren test just about everybody with a feeling of "void in their security."

But, wait a minute before you start giving up on the project. It's gonna work or else. That's just about what Sheriff Rufe Jordan, coordinator of civil defense in Gray County, said a couple days ago.

Jordan said he was "extremely dissatisfied" with the test. He has been making efforts this past week to contact the manufacturer to see if the company will send an engineer to go over the installation of the siren, which was supposed to have been heard five miles but failed to awaken a nervous cat four blocks away.

Jordan said he had contacted several local "siren authorities" and had some suggestions as to what might be keeping the big whistle from making as much noise as it is supposed to, all of which may be tried or not, depending on what the manufacturer thinks.

thing would be done this week on getting to work on the siren itself and said that "maybe several tests" will have to be run.

I'll bet it all comes out in the wash and that big yellow monster that looks down on us from the Hughes building will start "battering" loud enough to shake our ear drums clean soon.

Everybody should pay their taxes with a smile. I tried it but they wanted cash. (Wish I'd said that.)

Went on a two-hour tour of the Celanese Corporation of America plant here recently with Herschel Wilks, plant manager.

The place is as busy as a beehive with construction. They've just about got a huge new boiler "on line," will have the new acrylate unit completed pretty soon and have a number of other projects under consideration.

Got to meet operators, helpers, chemists, found out how automation is getting on in this area, and gathered much other information of an interesting nature.

CHARLES CULLIN sports editor

Outstanding Panhandle athletes and coaches will be honored in a new and exclusive way next season with the organization of the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame.

The organization, under the sponsorship of the Amarillo Junior Chamber of Commerce, will honor a number of outstanding athletes and coaches each year and select those persons who, because of outstanding accomplishments, deserve permanent recognition in the Panhandle Hall of Fame.

Each year awards will be given the "Athlete of the Year," a "Coach of the Year." Also honored will be the outstanding participant and coach in the separate sports, who will be given small trophies at the end of each season.

The member who is chosen to be placed in the Hall of Fame each year will receive a large plaque or trophy. An association is being formed to give all who wish to enter the privilege of making nominations for the outstanding personalities, with the governing body of the Association being composed of nine members, selected by the sponsoring organization. Dues to the association are $2 per year.

Through the years this Hall of Fame should become more and more valuable, serving not only to honor outstanding personalities and events, but to keep a record of this area's sporting history. Many Pampans will undoubtedly be among those honored through the seasons in this tribute to outstanding sportsmen.

The interesting part of being a newspaper reporter is the interesting people one meets and the information picked up in the performance of one's duties.

During the course of obtaining stories last week I had the occasion to visit a part of Gray County that, as an outsider of less than two years residence in the county, it had not been my good fortune to visit.

This area was along McClellan Creek. The purpose of the visit was to talk to T. T. Griffin about arrowheads and the story is elsewhere in today's paper.

But the main thing that interested me was the oasis along McClellan Creek. To a person raised on the desolate plains, not too far from here, it was amazing at the lush growth along the creek.

There were all types of crops growing in the fields and apple trees bore a heavy load of nearly ripe apples. And last but not least there were bees going about their business of making honey.

For a "city" boy this was a wonderful sight. Too bad I couldn't have spent longer along the creek bottom.

Back to the business at hand. Speaking of business at hand, it is hard to keep my mind on the business as I will be on vacation when this issue comes off the press.

It will be nice not to have to worry about deadlines on news and pictures. The only bad part about the vacation is the work that must be faced on returning in a few days.

In closing I would like to nominate a Pampa man for the world's biggest pessimist. During the shower Friday morning this man was seen watering his flowers while holding an umbrella to keep the rain off his person.

It was really a pleasure to be 'Society Editor for a Week' these last few days. I always enjoy getting a chance to associate with the many civic minded ladies here in Pampa.

During the week while Doris was gone on a very much deserved vacation, I had the opportunity to attend a Rho Eta Chapter breakfast, which was composed of many young, pretty Pampa wives; visit a short while with the sweet Miss Nancy Bower, recently named "Miss Crane of 1957" who was visiting with her aunt, Mrs. Clem Davis, 518 N. Sumner; take a picture at the bridal shower of Miss Jerry Sloan, who will make one of the season's most beautiful brides; many excited mothers of recent brides; and scores of other enjoyable "tasks."

Doris will be back Monday so I will be moving back to the news department. Thanks a lot for your supply of news and for your kind co-operation. It was a pleasure to serve you.

Gray County's much hallyhooded storm whistle proved recently to be not much more than that—no bark and no bite.

With citizens for miles around holding their eardrums and hiding under beds in anticipation of a tremendous blast, the toot emitted by our pride was heard almost three blocks away. Probably no criminal in the last 10 years has given the sheriff as many headaches as the cursed storm siren. At first, in spite of numerous notes, promises and calls, the thing was forever coming in; and then there was all kinds of difficulties in installing the device and arranging a test. And then came the crowning blow of that dismal squeak.

We would speculate that the county would be ahead just to forget the whole thing and let Rufe, with his great lung capacity stand on top of the Hughes building and yodel out with a cow call in case of emergency.

Well, 1957 may go down in the annals of Pampa history as the year of the great bagworm infestation. If the locust plague bugged salty old Pharoah, he would really go to the bug house battling the baggies.

The baggies are those worm-like monsters that dangle from tree branches by a thin thread. Some even dangle apparently on nothing at all. And unless you're careful you'll find one dangling from your nose the next time you stroll under an elm.

Every morning there's a new crop to scrape off the car, or sweep off the porch. (They're so greasy to step on).

Besides being very annoying, I am told by Jim Smathers of the Soil Conservation Office, that they are death on trees—literally. Furthermore, he said, the infestation has passed the point of no return. The DDT it would take to kill the trees first.

However, my neighbor found a solution to the problem. "Fry 'em," he says. "Big juicy baggies, french fried, charcoal broiled or just grilled, they're delicious," he claims. Anyway think of the money you'd save on meat bills.

Staff note quotes from file 13: "Why don't you just stay for breakfast, it's only seven hours away?" Or, "I really believe in that 'love your neighbor' business—you should see that blond that moved in next door."

Resident Of Gray County Is Collector Of Indian Relics

By FRED M. PARKER
Pampa News Staff Writer

At least one resident of Gray County has more arrowheads than most museums.

This person is T. T. Griffin, who lives on the north bank of McClellan Creek, just west of the Lefors to Alanreed road.

Griffin reported that he had always been interested in collecting rocks but that upon moving to his present farm in 1921 his interest in arrowheads and other Indian relics became whetted.

He has several thousand arrowheads in his collection and stated that most of them had been found in Gray County. Many of the arrowheads were found either on his farm or along the drainage area of McClellan Creek.

In showing his collection, Griffin unlocked a storage house on his farm and brought out five large display cases. These were filled with arrowheads of all sizes and shapes. There were a total of 256 in one tray and 149 in another tray.

In addition to the arrowheads, he has scrapers, knives, spear points, tomahawks, beads and hairpins.

All of the items, with the exception of the beads, are made of stone. The most unusual items are the hairpins. Griffin reported that he had been informed by Indians that the long slender stones were used by early day Indians to hold the top-knots in place.

He has several thousand beads of all sizes. The beads are made of bone or shells. He has found several hundred beads made of shells that can be obtained only in California. One of his small display cases has over 2,000 beads in it.

In addition to the cases containing the various items mentioned, Griffin has many boxes containing several hundred more of the items.

These items are not all that Griffin has collected. He has found many grinding stones, bowls and clay pots. He has placed several of the pots together and added them to his collection.

Some of the best grinding stones have been placed in his storage house while the remainder have been added to a rock pile in his yard.

This pile of rocks included those collected over a period of years from many places. The rocks are of all colors and all shapes.

One stone in this pile was extremely interesting. Griffin reported that this stone was found over the skull of a skeleton that he dug up several years ago. He stated that he had been told by a representative of a museum that this stone indicated that the Indian had died of a mysterious disease and that the rock had been placed over the head when the body was buried.

Down through the years, Griffin has not lost interest in his hobby.

'Gentle' Bull Gores Owner

LAREDO, Aug. 17 (UP)—Miss Angela Flores, 85, who lived alone, liked animals so well she kept a flock of chickens, 15 goats, three cows and a bull in her backyard.

The three-year-old bull was considered gentle and she let him graze loose on nearby vacant lots in the north Laredo residential district where she had her home.

Last night, Miss Flores went out to drive the "gentle" bull back to his pen for the night.

The animal wheeled suddenly and gored and then stomped the aged woman, whose screams attracted neighbors. One of the latter grabbed a rifle and ran outside and fired four shots, frightening the bull away. But Miss Flores was injured so badly she died a short time later in a hospital. The bull was captured an hour and a half later and tied up in his pen until authorities could decide what to do with him.

Every time he is in a freshly-plowed field he looks for more arrowheads or any of the other items that he collects.

Since last spring he has added many more arrowheads to his already large collection.

He stated that he had been contacted by several museums wanting the various items he has collected but that he has kept them. "I have always wanted these to stay in Gray County where most of the arrowheads were found," he stated.

He reported that he had hoped that Gray County or Pampa would start a museum to house various historical items and that his collection could be included.

FBI To Check Prints

LOWELL, Mass., Aug. 17 (UP)—The FBI was asked tonight to make a fingerprint check to solve the riddle of "the man who will not talk."

He looked like a book salesman but defied every effort to make him talk or to identify him with assorted poor box lootings "from here to San Francisco."

They also tried to trace his .25 caliber revolver and $1,000 in bills and express checks.

The suspected man was seized Friday outside St. Jeanne D'Arc Church. He would not say a word as police led him off to question him about poor box thefts. "I don't know" was the most officers could get from him in hours of questioning.

He refused to identify himself or discuss assorted birth certificates, licenses, medical prescriptions and other papers found in his car — all with different names.

When told his fingerprints had been sent to Washington, he smiled and said, "you'll be surprised at the result."

Solon Desires US Newsmen In China

GREATFALLS, Mont., Aug. 17 (UP)—Senate Democratic whip Mike Mansfield said tonight it is "highly desirable that the activities of American newsmen be extended as far as possible" in Communist China.

The Montana Democrat, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in a speech at a Montana State Press Association meeting that under the present State Department ban, "the public information which comes to us from China amounts either to official press handouts of our own government and the Chinese Communists or the reports of journalists of other countries."

"I recognize the difficulties of the Secretary of State in attempting to determine whether press representatives should be allowed to go to China but I believe that position is now changing because it is untenable. In matters related to informing the people of the United States, the press is in a special position, clearly safeguarded by the Constitution."

The State Department agreed recently to let a limited number of American newsmen go to Red China on a temporary trial basis.

"Even though the executive branch may change its position, the issue remains and it is much larger than the question whether a handful of reporters should be allowed to enter China," Mansfield said. "The issue is whether the press shall play in matters of foreign policy the same role that it plays in domestic questions."

He said that "under our system of government, the press must exercise, in foreign policy, the same independence as it does in domestic matters."

Girl Burned By Flaming Gasoline

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17 (UP)—A 3-year-old girl died today of burns suffered when her father accidentally lit a pan of flaming gas on her.

Evelyn Kazian had been taken to Misericordia hospital Friday night with second and third degree burns of her entire body.

The father, George, 38, told police he was heating the gas over the kitchen stove to clean paint brushes when it ignited. He went to the back door and hurled the flaming liquid out, unaware his daughter was coming up the steps.

Kazian suffered burns of both arms and his chest beating out the child's flaming clothes.

82 'Dusters' In Texas Last Week

AUSTIN, Aug. 17 (UP)—Texas' petroleum industry brought in 804 oil wells, 79 gas wells and reported 122 dry holes last week, the Railroad Commission said today.

Of 96 wildcat wells, 82 were dusters, nine were producing oil and five were gas wells.

The latest tally brought the cumulative oil well completions for the year to 10,005 as compared with 10,661 for the same period last year.

Gas well completion rose to 1,210, slightly ahead of the 1,118 total for the same time in 1956.

The total average calendar day allowable as of today was 3,073, 076 barrels, an increase of 13,857 barrels daily over last week.

SEARCH FOR COBALT

Heart Disease Killed Over Third In Texas

AUSTIN, Aug. 17 (UP)—Heart disease was responsible for more than a third of the 69,871 persons who died in Texas last year.

Cancer was the second worst killer. It took 10,168 lives last year, as compared to 22,888 for heart disease.

Not only was heart disease the No. 1 killer in Texas last year, but the state also led the nation in the increase in heart disease deaths.

Nearly 1,800 persons died of heart disease in Texas in 1956 than died in 1955. The total increase throughout the whole country was 15,000.

The State Health Department, which disclosed the figures, said the number of deaths from cancer was increasing, but the cancer rate in Texas is still well below the national average.

The Health Department believes this is because Texas has a younger population than most states. Cancer makes its heaviest inroads among persons over 50.

POSTPONE ATOMIC BLAST

11-Year-Old Negro Girl Gives Birth

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—An unmarried Negro girl celebrated her 11th birthday Friday by giving birth by Caesarian section to a 6-pound, 4-ounce daughter. Dr. Eva Dodge performed the operation at the university medical center. It was Dr. Dodge who had delivered the mother 11 years ago. The State Health Department's bureau of vital statistics said the new mother was probably the youngest in the history of Arkansas. Medical center officials said, however, that another record may be set in October or November, when Dr. Dodge will perform a Caesarian section on a 9-year-old Negro girl.

The Army And A New Story Of Three Bears

By WILLIAM TUCKER United Press Staff Correspondent ATLANTA (UP) — The Army and an unsung bus company official named Quattlebaum rewrote the story of the three bears today. But neither came up with a practical solution to get around the bearade in the Great Smoky Mountains.

The problem arose from the Army's desire to get fresh recruits from western North Carolina over the mountains to Knoxville and safely into GI garb within the rapid schedule laid down by the Pentagon.

For this task, the Army has an agreement with the Carolina Coach Company at Raleigh. The Carolina Mountains are in the jurisdiction of the 3rd Army, which has headquarters in Atlanta and an area recruiting post in Knoxville. But the buses are persistently late getting the rookies into Knoxville. The matter has been brought to attention of HQ in Atlanta by the Knoxville recruiting officer together with the explanation provided by J. H. Quattlebaum, the bus line's vice president in charge of traffic.

Blames Bears Quattlebaum's "brief," as relayed by the assistant traffic manager to whom it was addressed, spoke for itself as it reached the scrutiny of the Army brass.

"To be perfectly frank with you," Quattlebaum said, "even though you may think I am kidding, the bears in the Smoky Mountain Park cause the lateness of the buses in the tourist season. If the weather is pretty and the bears come out of the woods to the side of the road, every tourist and his family has got to stop and try to feed the bears and take pictures and so forth.

"This continues until a trooper comes along and runs the bear back and makes the tourist go on. It is impossible to pass when such happens. It usually takes us from 20 to 30 minutes or longer on a schedule. In other words, if we have three bears, the bus is an hour late."

Suggests Possible Solutions The commander of the Knoxville recruiting station, Maj. Dorris N. Gerard, suggested three possible solutions:

1. The weather be changed to bad on the days when Army recruit runs are made to discourage both the bears and the tourists.
2. The road be closed to tourists on such days.
3. Stop all clocks which the bears might read at 9:30 a.m. on Army bad days to delay the appearance of the bears by some this might result in a secondary traffic jam of tourists waiting for the bears to show up.

The matter was duly forwarded by Maj. Gerard to Lt. Col. Bule Hess, commander of the 3rd Army recruiting district in Atlanta.

Gerard pointed out that signs along the highway in the Smoky Mountain Park plainly state that tourists should not feed the bears. The inference was plain that the bears not only won't tell but they defy the signs by sitting beside the road with their paws out.

GRAY COUNTY Soil Conservation District News

By JIM SMATHERS Work Unit Conservationist Many of our warm season grasses are now in the process of making seed. Now is the time when ranches should be deferring some of their range land to insure grass seed production.

The drought took its toll on a number of pastures. These pastures may take some time to return to good condition even under light grazing, if not deferred until after the seed matures. With the rains that have fallen up to date, some of the pasture lands that have thin stands of grass, now have a chance to reseed.

A few animals left in a pasture will eat the seed stalks and flowers of such better grasses, as little and big bluestem and Indian grass. The poorer kinds of grass may be left to increase.

In the late summer and early fall a few animals may consume the seed crop. The tender seedstalks and flowers of these better grasses carry more protein, phosphorus and nitrogen and are more desirable than the leaves and stems. Where seed is needed to thicken the stand, grazing at flowering and seeding time should be avoided.

Deferred grazing has other benefits also. To improve and maintain plant vigor; to accumulate forage for future use; to improve soil condition and to facilitate management of livestock.

While resting one pasture, the pastures being grazed should not be overused or benefits will be lost.

For further information the farmer or rancher can contact the Soil Conservation Service at the district office in the Court House in Pampa.

Robert Anderson Uses 'Cram Course'

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — When Robert B. Anderson graduated from the University of Texas at the age of 19, he applied for a job as high school math teacher in Burleson, Tex. The trustees hired him on condition that he also coach the football team.

Anderson had never played football and his knowledge of the sport was meager. But he bought a book of football rules and spent the summer studying it. That fall, his team went through the season undefeated.

Today, at 47, Anderson is using the same "cram course" technique of easing himself into a much bigger and tougher job as secretary of the Treasury.

Anderson is not a stranger to high finance, as he was to football. He has had considerable experience in handling large sums of other people's money—as manager of the 300 million dollar Waggoner Estate in Texas as deputy chairman of the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank, as secretary of the Navy and deputy secretary of defense, and for the past two years as president of Ventures, Ltd., a big Canadian mining and investment firm.

But Anderson, whose unaffected humility belies what he says about Texans, does not consider this background sufficient training for his new job. Ever since he learned in April that President Eisenhower wanted him to succeed George M. Humphrey as Treasury secretary, he has been going up on the intricate problems of federal fiscal policy.

So far, he has worked his way through (1) about five feet of books, including most of the classic texts on such subjects as debt management and the operation of the federal reserve system; (2) more than 1,000 printed pages of Senate and House hearings; (3) scores of government reports and Treasury documents.

Still Doing Homework
Although he assumed a active command of the Treasury July 29, Anderson is still plugging away at his self-assigned homework.

One of his first acts was to call in the Treasury's 14 division heads, and ask for a detailed report from each of them on the "issues and problems" confronting his division. These confidential reports were prepared, at his request, in the same kind of loose-leaf notebooks that students use, and are kept up to date with frequent inserts and substitutions.

Anderson keeps them in his desk drawer for ready reference, but he has already memorized most of their contents.

He has the kind of memory that is, sometimes called photographic, and has trained himself to be an extremely rapid reader. One of his aides, who saw him flipping through the pages of a highly technical report, assumed that Anderson was merely pretending to read it. The aide was startled some days later to hear the secretary cite specific dates and figures from the report.

His Knowledge Incredible
Over the years, Anderson has stocked his retentive mind with an incredible variety of information. He learned one profession—law—in the usual way at college. Other subjects he has picked up along the way, in preparing himself for various jobs or just out of curiosity. He taught himself petroleum geology because the vast Waggoner ranch, which he managed for 11 years, had more than 2,000 oil wells. He mastered the fine points public buying "E" bonds, with their 3 1/2 per cent interest rate, in a period when more attractive yields are readily available on many other investments, including some issues of government securities.

But he is counting on old-fashioned patriotism to help him sell bonds.

Anderson knows it will take a lot of salesmanship to keep the received since I took this job," he said, toward the close of a long interview. "Old friends, business acquaintances, even total strangers write to say that they are buying savings bonds to help me out."

"Most of them are dead serious about it. It has convinced me there are millions of Americans who still consider it part of their patriotic duty to help the government move some of its debt out of the banks, where it contributes to inflationary pressures, and into long-term savings held by individuals."

Many Questions Posed By Toll TV

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — Toll TV poses more questions than all the quiz shows put together. It's up to you to start thinking about the answers.

Right now, this nation far outstrips the rest of the world in TV activity. Sponsored TV has been responsible.

We have 489 TV stations and they beam their waves into some 40 million homes. That's more than 80 per cent of the homes in the country.

Great Britain has only six million TV homes and 17 stations. Russia has slightly over one million TV homes and 14 stations.

The champions of toll TV say our level of TV activity could be even higher. They point out there is room on the airwaves for more than 1500 stations, but that more than 1000 of these aren't being used. They say advertisers just can't support that many outlets.

However, toll TV's fail to point out that many of these 1000 channels are in the ultra high frequency band (UHF) and that most TV sets aren't equipped to receive them.

Show Types Questioned
What's more, neutral observers agree that although toll TV may boost the quantity of TV shows you see (assuming that the empty channels on your set are used), there are disturbing questions about the kind of shows toll TV will feed its audience.

It is doubtful, point out observers, that the public will benefit by paying for regular season baseball games, World Series and fights when it gets a fairly steady diet of these now free.

Further, although pay TV champions talk often about Broadway plays, ballet, opera, educational programs and other high-toned fare, it is becoming increasingly obvious that the bulk of the toll TV diet will be movies.

Toll TV operators will be in business to make money. Money lies where the taste of the masses lie. And the masses like to watch movies. A Sindinger research report stated recently that out of the 1,085.4 million hours devoted to TV viewing during one week in July, 400.3 million hours were spent watching movies.

Commercial Pattern Threatened
Another danger lies in the threat to the present pattern of commercial broadcasting. The networks bring you comedy, variety, music, such as it is, on the cuff. But talent goes where the money is. There is always the chance that the Dinah Shores, the Perry Como, the Frank Sinatra would prefer the larger monetary rewards of toll TV. The loss of these regular programs also would seem to be of doubtful benefit to the public.

Finally, and most disturbing, there is the possibility that toll TV may not be as uncommercial as it claims. There is already quiet talk in some toll TV quarters of working advertisers into the act through the use of tokens or coupons inside the advertiser's product.

Thus, say, a cornflake sponsor might back a Western show for toll-TV. Buy a box of cornflakes and you would get a special token to put in your toll TV attachment to see the show, or you might get a coupon which you would mail in to your toll TV operator for a refund or discount.

Greenbelt Bowl

The East's 6-0 victory over the West in Friday night's Greenbelt Bowl game was an upset, according to pre-game guesses, in score alone. The West led impressively in most departments at the half, and even more impressively when the game had ended.

A total of 299 yards were gained rushing by the West as compared with 90 for East. The West had 7 first downs in each half of the game while the East had five in the first and one in the second.

The lone score of the game came for East the only time they penetrated the opposition's ten yard line, while the West came within ten yards of scoring four times during the game.

Amarillo's Billy Hulet led the West's backfield with a total gain of 63 yards in 14 carries. Dale Keadle of Stinnett also sparked the loser's offensive attack with 34 yards in eight runs. Abilene's James Carpenter failed to make the impressive showing most spectators expected but still managed to gain 27 yards in carrying the ball 17 times.

West quarterback, Larry Dawson of Stinnett, received the outstanding back award, passing four times with two completions for a total gain of 29 yards. He gained 18 yards in 15 tries packing the ball himself.

For the East Richard Christopher of Vernon led the offensive field with 49 yards gained rushing, carrying the ball 12 times. East quarterback, Harvey Klinkerman of Iowa Park, scored the East's touchdown and completed two of three attempted passes for a total gain of 46 yards.

Children's Fair Park Stadium hosted a capacity crowd for the game and spectators saw a good, hard fought contest. College coaches had another field day also, with the cream of prospective talent all gathered for their easy viewing.

Golf Record Set

Lila Austin made Pampa sports history Thursday when she set an all time womens golf record of 3-under-par 69 at the Country Club. The record scoring took place in the second round of the Ladies City Golf Tourney, which Lila is leading by 14 strokes. Lila had the previous course record of 72, which had been duplicated in the past, but never bettered. She has won the City Tourney for the past four years and has also won the Panhandle Women's Golf Association Tournament for the past four years. She has been given a golf scholarship at Odessa Junior College, and plans to teach physical education at a finishing school. She has no definite plans about trying the professional circuit.

Texan Leads Second Round Of Jackson Colonial Tourney

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 17 (UP)—Betty Betty Dodd of San Antonio, Tex., again showed no respect for ladies par as she increased her lead in the $5,000 Jackson Colonial Ladies PGA tourney with a second-round four-under-par 72 today.

Miss Dodd, a long-belting 26-year-old, had taken the drivers seat in the field of 22 pros and 13 amateurs Friday with a record-breaking 68.

Her closest rival two strokes behind was a hometown pal, Betty Jameson, who added a 74 today to make a second round total of 146.

Eight strokes off the sensational pace set by Miss Dodd were Jackie Pung, San Francisco, who had a 73 today, Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., who rapped out a second straight 74; and Mickey Wright, San Diego, who notched a 77.

Bunched with 149's were Betty Hicks, Long Beach, Calif.; Ronnie Colby, Miami Beach, Fla.; Wanda Sanchez, Baton Rouge, La.; and Louise Eiggs, Sea Island, Ga.

Leading the amateurs was four-time Mississippi amateur kingpin, teenager Mary Mills of Gulfport. She had a 157 — eight strokes better than Vicksburg's Peggy Swett who ranked second in the play for fun category.

Brown Wins Canada Tennis MONTREAL, Aug. 17 (UP)—Mrs. Louise Brown of Toronto, finally won the Canadian Ladies singles title today after 11 previous unsuccessful attempts, beating Miss Sieglinde Boeck, of Montreal, 6-4, 6-3. Mrs. Brown, perennial Ontario ladies champion, was too steady for Miss Boeck, formerly of Germany. Both girls stuck to the baselines throughout the match and it was Mrs. Brown's ability to keep the ball in play which proved to be the deciding factor.

MUNICH, Germany, Aug. 17 (UP)—Budge Patty of the U.S. and Mervyn Rose of Australia today moved into the men's singles finals at the next to last day of the International Bavarian tennis championships here. In one semi-final match, Patty beat Alex Olmedo of Peru and the U. of Southern California, 4-1, 6-2, while in the other semi-final, Rose beat Giuseppe Merlo of Italy, 13-11, 4-1.

Ken Venturi Leads in Round Of St. Paul Open Tourney

By BOB DODER
United Press Sports Writer
ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 17 (UP)—Ken Venturi of San Francisco fired a seven-under par 65 today for a 34-hole total of 198, 18 under par, and the lead in the St. Paul open.

Venturi, a 26-year-old auto salesman who turned professional after his brilliant showing in the 1956 masters tournament when he finished second, carded seven birdies and used only 27 putts.

He had a two-stroke lead over big Mike Souchak, who won the tourney last year with a closing surge of six straight birdies. Don Fairchild of Casey, Ill., and Marty Furtol, 40-year-old veteran from Lemon, Ill.

Ex-Marine Cards 71
Venturi missed a four-foot putt on the 18th when the ball veered off after hitting a spike mark. But the likeable newcomer didn't have any complaints.

"I sure can't kick about my putting," he said, "I'm playing as good as I can and all I can do is hope it's good enough."
Jay Hebert, the 34-year-old ex-Marine purple heart winner who led the field after 36 holes, slumped to a 71 and a five-way tie at 202.

Others at that mark—14 under regulation—were Art Walls Jr., Pocomo Manor, Pa., Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, Bo Winger, Tex., and Dave Thomas of London, England.

Snod at 206
Tomas produced the day's most spectacular round when he fired a nine-under par 63, the best of the tourney. Thomas, a 22-year-old newcomer to the tour who weighs 230 pounds and stands six-three, had seven birds, an eagle and 10 pars.

Rosburg, the first day leader with a 64, came back with a 68 to jump among the leaders after his second-day 70.

At 203 were Peter Thomson, Melbourne, Australia, the winner of three straight British Opens; Doug White, Alameda, Calif.; and Doug Sanders of Miami Beach, Fla.

Sanders of Miami Beach, Fla. Sneed, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., skied to a 71 and was far back at 206, 10 under-par.

Par took an unmerciful beating through the first three days of the tourney, and it took a 54-hole total of 214, two-under par, to even make the list of the 60 low professionals who qualified for the final 18 holes.

Barber Wins AF World Golf Title
SHAW AIR FORCE, BASE, S.C. Aug. 17 (UP)—After three years of trying, Lt. Miller Barber of Perrin Air Force, Base, Tex., captured the Air Force's World-Wide golf championship today, shooting a 35-34-69 in the final round of the tournament's open division.

Barber, who has been among the leaders in the last two World-Wide Air Force tourneys, collected a total of 277 on the par 71 Shaw AFB course and topped it off by dumping a dazzling four-foot putt in the number six hole today.

Barber was followed by Staff Sgt. Albert F. Langford of Hickam AFB, Hawaii, with a 284 and Airman 2nd Class Ralph Morrow, of Andrews AFB, Md., with a 285.

Airman 2nd Class Neto Cavoz of Lackland AFB, Tex., provided the thrill of the day after he sank a 160-yard hole-in-one on the par three 18th hole. Cavoz, 26, said it was his first ace in 10 years of golf.

Bums Troubles Worry Sugar GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y., Aug. 17 (UP)—Sugar Ray Robinson was concerned about the Brooklyn Dodgers' sagging pennant fortunes today as he trained for his Sept. 23 middleweight title defense against Carmen Basilio.

"What's happening to the Dodgers?" Robinson asked visitors and writers who came to his training camp. Robinson is a staunch Dodger fan.

Wellington's Skyrocketers are represented by R. W. Warren, a burly 195-pound tackle whose aggressive play stood out all last season.

Burk Burnett's Bulldogs set Jerry Gee, a fine 190-pound guard who won all district honors.

Gerald Emerson of Henrietta's Bearcats won Oil Bowl selection at guard. A toponath lineman, Emerson was all-area, all-district, and all-state.

Munday's Glenn Emerson is a talented addition to the squad. Emerson is versatile and plays offense and defense. A fine quarterback; he was one of the area's outstanding players.

Vernon's Richard Christopher was a dependable, talented half-back, picked on the all-district team two years. Christopher was an outstanding player for the Lions.

Seymour's Panthers are represented by big and aggressive Pat Stewart, a 201-pound center, who bulwarked a strong Seymour line last season.

North and West Texas Last season produced some of the Lons Star state's finest football talent. That talent will be well-represented in the Oil Bowl squad that will meet Oklahoma's schoolboy stars.

The 20th annual Oil Bowl game will be played in Midwestern stadium Aug. 23. Tickets are on sale in Kemp Hotel lobby, Wichita Falls; the phone is 2-3711.

The famed Apache Belles of Tyler Junior College will stage a spectacular show at half-time.

NEWPORT, R.I., Aug. 17 (UP)—Unseeded Michael Davies, a slender 18-year-old from Great Britain, today blazed his way into the finals of both the singles and doubles events in the Newport Casino Lawn Tennis Tournament.

Davies displayed a powerful service and great volleying ability as he turned back U.S. Davis Cupper Mike Green of Miami Beach, Fla., 7-5, 6-4, 6-2, in the singles matches.

He then teamed with fellow countryman Bob Wilson to score a stunning 6-3, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4 upset victory over top-seeded Maj. Anderson and Neale Frazer of Australia in a doubles semi-final.

The six-foot Davies, who won his quarter-final match against Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, N.Y., after dropping the first two sets, lost his cannonball service only once in the doubles today. His strong volleying and pinpoint placements carried the tandem in the last two sets when partner Wilson tried somewhat.

If Great Britain was making a surprisingly strong showing in the tournament, the United States was doing the opposite. The United States' 1957 Davis Cup hopes took a sharp dip when Ham Richardson, top-ranked nationally and second-seeded here, was upset in a singles semi-final, 6-1, 2-6, 6-0, 6-1, by Aussie Anderson.

Richardson's service was breaking poorly and the Westfield, N.J., lad was in the match only briefly in the second set, when he broke Anderson's service three times.

The famed Apache Belles of Tyler Junior College will stage a spectacular show at half-time.

After the match, the two girls were congratulated by the tournament officials.

Maxwell dropped a Texas league double to right with two in the 10th and reliever Paul LaPalme, who took the defeat, walked Bill Tuttle before Groth slashed his hit down the third base line.

DETROIT, Aug. 17 (UP)—Johnny Groth smashed his fifth straight single today to score Charley Maxwell from second base with the winning run in the 10th inning today and give the Detroit Tigers a 9-8 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Groth's single with two out climaxed a long uphill battle for the Tiger, who twice had to come from behind to tie the game despite raking five Chicago pitchers for 21 hits—their highest output in more than a year.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (UP)—Little Bobby Shantz finally scored his 10th victory after five futile tries as the New York Yankees upset some manager Paul Richards' strategy today to beat the Baltimore Orioles, 6-2.

Mickey Mangle collected two singles in five times at bat to raise his average two points to .384. He thus gained ground on Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox in the race for the American League batting crown. Williams had one hit in two trips in his game at Washington.

Shantz who scored his last previous victory on June 23, scattered nine hits and helped his own cause at bat with a double, a walk and a sacrifice bunt.

Richards started right-hander Ray Moore against the Yankees, batting order that was made up of six left-handed hitters, including switch-hitting Mantle. However, after Enos Slaughter had fouled out and Joe Collins singled in the first inning, Richards removed Moore and brought in southpaw Bill O'Dell.

The move hardly deterred the Yankees, who provided Shantz with enough runs for victory when they scored three runs off O'Dell in the third inning.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17 (UP)—Rookie Jack Sanford won his 16th game of the season today as he pitched the Philadelphia Phillies to a 3-1 victory over the New York Giants.

It was the fourth straight victory over the Giants for Sanford, who has lost only four times this year.

New York's lone run off the freshman right-hander came in the first inning. Danny O'Connell opened the game with a single and went to third on Ray Mueller's single to right.

O'Connell crossed as Willie Mays grounded into a double play.

Aaron's 11th Inning Double Breaks Deadlocked Game

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 17 (UP)—Hank Aaron doubled in the 11th inning to drive in two runs that gave the first place Milwaukee Braves a come-from-behind 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals today.

After one out in the 11th successive singles by Frank Torre and Eddie Mathews off young Cardinal relief pitcher Billy Muffett set the stage for Aaron's game-winning shot, his first hit of the game.

The Cardinals had taken a 4-3 lead in their half of the inning when Don Blasingame led off with a double, took third on a ground out and scored on a long fly by pinch-hitter Walker Cooper.

Warren Spahn, the Braves third pitcher who choked off a Cardinal threat with the bases loaded in the ninth, was credited with his 14th victory against eight defeats. Larry Jackson pitched the first 10 innings for the Cardinals, giving up only six hits and walking none. He was benched for Cooper in the 11th.

The Cardinals scored their first three runs in the first inning off starter Lew Burdette, and led until the eighth when successive singles by pinch-hitter Carl Sawatski, Red Schoendienst and Torre scored the Braves third run to tie the score.

NEWPORT, R.I., Aug. 17 (UP)—Unseeded Michael Davies, a slender 18-year-old from Great Britain, today blazed his way into the finals of both the singles and doubles events in the Newport Casino Lawn Tennis Tournament.

Davies displayed a powerful service and great volleying ability as he turned back U.S. Davis Cupper Mike Green of Miami Beach, Fla., 7-5, 6-4, 6-2, in the singles matches.

He then teamed with fellow countryman Bob Wilson to score a stunning 6-3, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4 upset victory over top-seeded Maj. Anderson and Neale Frazer of Australia in a doubles semi-final.

The six-foot Davies, who won his quarter-final match against Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, N.Y., after dropping the first two sets, lost his cannonball service only once in the doubles today. His strong volleying and pinpoint placements carried the tandem in the last two sets when partner Wilson tried somewhat.

If Great Britain was making a surprisingly strong showing in the tournament, the United States was doing the opposite. The United States' 1957 Davis Cup hopes took a sharp dip when Ham Richardson, top-ranked nationally and second-seeded here, was upset in a singles semi-final, 6-1, 2-6, 6-0, 6-1, by Aussie Anderson.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (UP)—The Washington Senators went on their biggest batting binge of the season today and pounded out 19 hits to overwhelm the Boston Red Sox, 16-2.

Art Schult was the big man in the Senators' attack, collecting four hits, including his second homer of the year. He drove in nine runs. Eddie Yost hit his ninth homer and Roy Stivers had three singles.

The Senators enjoyed their biggest scoring inning in the fourth when they pushed across seven runs. Their run and hit totals for the game also surpassed season highs as the Nats battered four Boston pitchers—loser Mike Fornieles, Bob Porterfield, Rudy Minarcin and Dean Stone.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 17 (UP)—Billy Hunter hit two homers and bunted with the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth to score the winning run as the Kansas City Athletics defeated the Cleveland Indians 4-3 tonight.

Hunter batted in three runs in handling Early Wynn his 14th loss of the season. The ninth opened for Kansas City with Hal Smith's singling. Hector Lopez then attempted to sacrifice but forced Jack Urban, who was running for Smith, at second.

East Defeats West, 6-0 In Greenbelt Bowl Game

The Eastern all-stars scored an unexpected victory over the West, 6-0, Friday night in the Eighth Annual Greenbelt Bowl game, played in Children's Park.

The only score of the game came late in the first quarter after an exchange of fumbles gave the East possession of the ball on the West's six yard line. An Eastern drive had been halted on the ten yard line when the West recovered a fumble by Fritz Land of Wichita Falls. On the following play, however, the East recovered a West fumble on the six yard line and two plays later Harvey Klinkerman of Iowa Park scored from the four on a quarterback sneak.

The West's first golden opportunity came in the second quarter when a continuous drive took them from their 33 yard line to the opposition's six. The East then recovered a fumble by James Carpenter of Abilene to halt the threat.

Again in the third quarter, the West drove to the East's nine yard line, but relinquished the ball on downs after four running plays failed to gain the needed yardage.

The final opportunity for the West to even the score came in the fourth quarter when they again reached the Eastern ten yard mark but couldn't push past the stone-wall defense thrown up by the East.

Pampa's Gene Devera played a major part of the game at guard for the West, and along with Stewart Peake of Abilene, afforded the strength of the Western defense.

Larry Dawson of Stinnett quarterbacked the West and completed two passes in four attempts for a total of 29 yards. For the East, Klinkerman tried three through the air and completed two for 46 yards. Jerry McCloud punted twice for the East with an average of 47 yards, while the West didn't try a punt during the entire game.

The West was penalized two times, while the East went without a single infraction.

Special Awards
Award for the outstanding back of the game went to quarterback Larry Dawson of the West. The outstanding lineman honors went to Eastern guard Royce West of Stamford.

The special awards presented by the Phillips Petroleum Company were awarded to Stewart Peake of Abilene on the West team and Clarence Young of Amarillo, a tackle on the Eastern squad.

The West team was coached by H. A. (Sandy) Sandford and Johnny Dunn, head coach and line coach at Tarleton State College. Eastern coaches were Bobby Lane, Burley Bearden and Claude Gilstrap, trainer, line coach and head coach at Arlington State College.

A GOOD GAME—Eastern head coach Claude Gilstrap congratulates Gene Devera of Pampa after the Greenbelt Bowl game Friday night. Devera played guard with the East all-star team.

Basilio Readies For Sugar Ray

By JACK CUDDY

United Press Sports Writer ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (UP)—Carmen Basilio, back in the ring after an eight-day boxing layoff, is throwing more right hands than usual and using the lowest bob-weave of his career. The welterweight champion, who might be called a "right-handed southpaw," definitely is preparing a submarine attack to try to win the middleweight title on Sept. 23 from Sugar Ray Robinson, the tallest opponent he ever fought. And apparently that attack will include more right smashes to body and head than he threw in any previous bout. In the past, the left hook has been Basilio's 6-1 weapon. He threw about six lefts to one right. As he resumed sparring Friday, he surprised observers by shooting almost half as many rights as lefts in three bruising rounds with middleweight Lee Owens of Syracuse, N.Y. He was particularly effective with rights at close quarters. Thirty-year-old Carmen is a southpaw in most respects. He writes left-handed and instinctively

Nelson and Rip Rogers presently hold the title of World's Tag Team Champions. DeBaise was grouped with Roberto Pico and Rip Hawk last Monday night in a tag team that defeated Tokyo Joe, Great Bolo and Tommy Phelps. In the second event Enrique Romero will oppose Bolo in two out of three falls, with a 45 minute limit. The curtain raiser will pit Frankie Murdoch against Tommy Phelps. Last week's semi-final went to Thor Hagen over Rip Hawk in two out of three falls. The first event to a tie due to time between Tokyo Joe and DeBaise. The wrestling, held each Monday evening at 8:30, is sponsored by the Pampa Shrine Club. The Sportsman Club is located across from the Pampa Drive-In on the leftors highway. Bowling Appeals To Most Stars In Other Sports

By LEE JOUGLARD ABC Singles Champion

Written for the United Press NEW YORK (UP)—If there is one sport that appeals to stars in every other sport, it just has to be bowling. In touring the country as an exhibition bowler, I found standout performers in every sport you can name—baseball, football, boxing, basketball, the works—who also excel on the bowling lanes.

Take baseball, for instance. I'll bet you didn't know that one of the game's real hook-ball artists—and I mean bowling hook-ball artists—is lefty Billy Pierce. The Chicago White Sox star is a lefty bowler, too, incidentally. Billy sharpens his game during the winter months at his home outside Detroit and finds it a source of real family fun. His wife, Gloria, has taken to the sport, and his 4-year-old youngster, Billy Jr., comes along to watch.

Fox Owns Alleys Billy's teammate, Nellie Fox, is even more of a bowling fan. Nellie owns and operates twenty alleys in his home town of Chambersburg, Pa., and his recreation center is one of the East's real bowling showplaces. Equipped with automatic pin-spotters and underlane ball returns, "Nellie Fox Bowl," as it's been named, operates 24 hours a day. And Nellie admits he's his own best customer. He belongs to two ABC-sanctioned bowling leagues and works out on the lanes several times a week. "It's tough to walk by that row of lanes," Nellie says, "and not want to toss a ball at those pins." Pro footballers are another group who agree that bowling is healthful and relaxing. Otto Graham, formerly of the Cleveland Browns and one of the game's all-time greats, finds bowling a wonderful sport because as he puts it: "You haven't got eleven guys trying to knock the living daylight out of you."

Gus Mauls The Maples. If you think Gus Lesnevich packed a wallop in the ring, you should see his bowling "punch." Gus mauls the maples at lanes near his home in Cliffside Park, N.J., and boasts an average that approaches the 180 mark. Jim Braddock, Tony Canzoneri, and Rocky Marciano are boxers who look to bowling for competitive fun without the rock and sock of the prize ring. The tallest bowler in the country— he is the tallest basketball player, too, I guess—is without a doubt Wilf (The Sift) Chamberlain of the University of Kansas.

Jones, Britton Join Baylor Coaching Staff

WACO, Aug. 17 (UP)—Bobby Jones, co-captain and quarterback of Baylor's Sugar Bowl team, and Fred Britton, letterman tackle, will serve as assistants this fall to Baylor freshman football coach Luke Welch.

Athletic Director George Sauer made the announcement today. Jones, now a Baylor law school student, and Britton, a senior in the academic school, will continue their studies while serving as part-time assistants, hired only for the 1957 fall football season. Britton had one more season of eligibility, but decided to quit playing because of a bad knee.

TACKLES NAMED CAPTAINS

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A pair of huge tackles—Leo Nomellini and Bob St. Clair—have been named co-captains of the San Francisco Forty-Niners of the National Football League. Nomellini stands six-three and weighs 255, while St. Clair stands six-nine and weighs 265.

POSTPONE FIGHTS

BOSTON (UP)—Next Thursday's scheduled middleweight bout between Eddie Andrews of Lowell, Mass., and Eddie Price of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., has been postponed indefinitely because of the Boston newspaper strike. Promoter Sam Silverman said no bouts would be held here until the strike is over.

Jean Myers Wins Triple Crown In Womens National AAU Meet

HOUSTON (UP)—Nine records were smashed and Paula Jean Myers of Los Angeles became the second woman to win a triple-crown diving championship as the four-day Women's National AAU Swimming and Diving Championships ended Friday night.

one-meter and three-meter events to become the second woman in American history to sweep both the indoor and outdoor championships. Only Pat McCormick, now a professional, did it before—in 1951 and 1954.

Nancy Ramey, 17-year-old Seattle, Wash. mermaid, cracked the 110-yard American and AAU butterfly record with a 1:11.3 timing bettering Shelley Mann's 1:11.8 standard. The blonde Seattle high school senior will submit her time to international AAU swimming officials for world record certification. This is a new event in international competition. Miss Ramey finished second behind Miss Mann in the Melbourne Olympic games. Miss Mann is leaving competitive swimming after this meet and did not defend her title. She limited her activities here to relay swimming. Miss Myers Friday night tacked the platform diving championship to gold medals won early in the Sensation of the meet with only one win was 13-year-old Chris von Saltza of Santa Clara. Miss Von Saltza picked up 21 points on a first place and new American and AAU record in the 220-yard backstroke, second place and new American citizen's standard in the 110-yard backstroke. Miss Myers shared the individual championship with young Chris. Her triple-crown diving events gave her 21 points. Fifteen-year-old Berkeley, Calif. high school sophomore Sylvia Ruuska collected her second gold medal of the meet last night speeding to an American and AAU record time of 10:45.8 in the 880-yard freestyle. Earlier Miss Ruuska had won the 440-yard individual medley, also in record time.

Rademacher:

An Archie Moore Who Shaves

By HARRY GRAYSON NEA Sports Editor

ISSAQUAH, Wash. (NEA)—Pete Rademacher maneuvered Johnny Riggins into a corner and started to throw to the head. Riggins, a dusky 184-pounder from Detroit, sprayed punches, a bit too easily, perhaps, to the middle of Rademacher's strong-looking body. Then Riggins moved out of the corner and Rademacher, surprisingly agile, was after him. This was your first look at the implausible young man who is to have his first professional bout as challenger for Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title on Aug. 22. Rademacher trains in a firehouse here in this small village 20 miles north of Seattle. Pete boxed two rounds with Riggins and it was enough to give a vague notion of how he fights. His ideas, apparently, is to corner Patterson and go to the head. The fact his body seems wide open disturbs one used to seeing fights. Rademacher's reddish-brown hair is losing a battle to sun-tanned skin on the top of his head. He has the sloping shoulders of a puncher and his tanned body has freckles on it here and there. Those expecting a big, slow, muscle-bound guy are surprised. Rademacher moves loosely and well. But here and there, the mark of amateur shows in his movements. But all this is forgotten when you walk downstairs to the little basement dressing room he uses, sit down on an old couch and listen to Rademacher talk as an Army sergeant gives him a rub-down. As a talker, Pete is, roughly, an Archie Moore who shaves. "Lindbergh flew the Atlantic," Pete begins. "Gertrude Ederle swam the English Channel. They weren't accepted until they did it. I won the Olympic title, but when I came back I found I wasn't accepted. I had to do something else. I had two objectives. One was Archie Moore, who was old. One was Floyd Patterson, who was young. I was in between. I was younger and stronger than Moore, more mature mentally and physically than Patterson. I wind up with Patterson. "That's fine with me. I'm taking this whole business in one swoop. No waiting. And I don't think Patterson can punch too well. As far as this first fight business, well, I've been working with pros for 10 years now. George here (he motioned to George Chermers, the Seattle trainer) has handled me for that period. In fact, I boxed more against Harry Matthews than I ever did any amateurs." Pete went on. Like a door-to-door salesman who has the housewife ready to buy, Rademacher plunged on. The amateur is a master merchant and his basic attack with visitors is to underplay the whole business of his impending bout with Patterson. "There was," he smiles, "far more tension on me during the Olympics than now. This — this is merely the fulfillment of something I wanted to do. I'm not the least bit nervous about it. I'm ready right now, in fact. All we're doing here now is tapering off, keeping sharp." Rademacher then went into a sermon about Youth Unlimited, the outfit which put up the money, and it is up — all $250,000 of it — to entice Patterson and Gus D'Amato into a three-day training trip to this town. "Youth Unlimited," Pete said in hushed tones, "will give anybody who has the incentive a chance to do what he wants to do." In some quarters, people hope it won't find too many amateurs who desire the heavyweight championship.

"In my case," he smiled, "it is to put the lug on Patterson. I can't wait to do it. I like to hit people, you know." One embarrassing question about the fact he won one of his Olympic qualifying bouts while on the floor after being fouled—was quickly brushed aside by Rademacher. "Oh, that happened," he said, "but I beat the man, Johnny Johnson, easily next time out." Outside the fire house, a visitor tried to collect his thoughts after the liberal brain-washing that had taken place. But all he could be certain of was that Mt. Rainier, which serves as a snow-tipped backdrop for this town, would wind up with a roof over it if Pete Rademacher, salesman, wanted it that way.

Ferris Recalls Most Thrills In Olympics

By DAN FERRIS
Secretary-Treasurer-AAU
Written for the United Press
NEW YORK (UP)—During my 50 years association with amateur sport, I have witnessed many thrilling performances. To enumerate all of them would consume more space than has been allowed for today's column.

The Olympic Games, as might be expected, have produced many of these spine-tingling performances which remain as vivid in my memory now as the day they were made. The Olympic Games in Stockholm in 1912, probably because it was my first Olympics, made a lasting impression on me and the 800-meter race at those games gave me one of my greatest thrills.

was Tom Courtney's victory in the 800-meter race. When Tom took the lead I relaxed, believing he would not be overtaken before crossing the finish line. I guess Courtney felt the same way about it at that time.

However, the situation changed almost immediately as Derek Johnson, the fine British half-miler, started his sprint and passed Arnie Sowell of the U.S. and then Courtney. This was a most exciting moment. My heart started thumping as I sat up in my bed to get a better view. (I was witnessing the race on TV from my bed in St. Vincent's Hospital, Melbourne, where I was confined with pneumonia.)

A tingling feeling raced up and down my spine as Courtney, calling upon a reservoir of power and with super-human effort cut down Johnson's slight lead inch by inch and hit the tape a winner by inches. For me that was one of the most exciting moments during the 1956 Olympics.

By S. V. WHITEHORN
According to information received from the Colorado Game and Fish Department, a non-resident can buy a non-resident hunting license for $40.00, then he is allowed to purchase a resident or second license for about $8.00. He will then be given the privilege of killing four (4) deer in many parts of Colorado. When this information of the hunters here, it sounded like a wild rumor, but, nevertheless, it turned out to be the truth. For further information write the Colorado Game Department in Denver.

Provided, however, that any person exempted by this section, before hunting deer or wild turkey shall first register with the Game and Fish Commission, and receive from said Commission a hunting license which shall be in the form and signed by such exempted licensee as prescribed herein for licensees for which a fee is charged; but in addition thereto, such exempted licensee shall clearly show on its face that it is an exempted license.

Wright, former Amarillo star whom Amarillo sports writer Puff Powell lists on the all-time Amarillo team, will coach Wendell Cason, 1957 Amarillo schoolboy ace who also is on Powell's all-time team. Cason has signed a Baylor letter of intent.

PESCARA, Italy, Aug. 17 (UP)—Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina, who already has won the 1957 world driving championship, was the heavy favorite among the 16 entries for Sunday's 25th Grand Prix of Pescara auto race.

Mrs. Rademacher

The Wifely Story Of Rademacher

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Margaret Sutton Rademacher was the wife of an Army lieutenant stationed at Fort Benning this spring. Her husband, 29-year-old Peter of Grandview, Wash., was the Olympic heavyweight champion. But discharge from service was to bring a life of apple farming home in Washington or, perhaps, youth work.

But it didn't work out that way at all. Instead, Mrs. Rademacher now sits with her three-year-old daughter, Susan, and waits for her husband to get into the ring for his first professional fight—against Floyd Patterson, the heavyweight champion.

It is a fight that has amazed the sports world and here, in the first of three dispatches written exclusively for NEA Service, she tells of how this fight came about. And why she thinks it's fine.)

couple of letters, and meetings with some of the wonderful people around Columbus who helped make the fight possible was all that it took.

It was, however, a little more than this. For when Peter came home that night he had an opponent waiting for him in the form of one wife. Since we had started dating in junior college, boxing was something I didn't really care for. It was brutal, I thought, and I was afraid he'd get hurt.

So on this evening last spring in Columbus, I had every wifely argument on the ready as I said flatly there would be no heavyweight title contender married to Margaret Rademacher and that would be that. Then I went through the rest of the repertoire females use when they don't want men to do something.

wants to do, he generally goes out and does. First, I was told, he wanted to fight Patterson. And getting a chance at the heavyweight championship on your first professional fight doesn't happen every day. (In fact, according to some, there ought to be a law against it!)

Peter then pointed out that he was taking this fight for Youth Unlimited. This is an organization which was started by Mike Jennings, who owns a sporting goods and apparel store in Columbus. He is a man who has a deep and abiding interest in youth that goes beyond the usual vague concern most feel.

I knew that Mike and Pete had been planning together about Youth Unlimited for some time and if the Patterson fight had a tie-in with their plans it was apparent to me that arguing was not only senseless, but wrong.

night, I found that the Patterson bout had been on Peter's mind since his return from the Olympics. When he talked it over with Mike Jennings, it seemed to fit in with their plans. The idea was fantastic — but only because it had never been done before.

Peter thought it could be done and so did Mike. When they went to New York, they found Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, was of the same mind.

Then Mike and other members of the Youth Unlimited board of directors sat down and raised a $250,000 guarantee for Patterson.

For me, it all started with the mailman bringing a letter. It will end in a ring-side seat the night my husband fights for the heavyweight championship.

But my husband has persuasive powers. And when you know him, you realize that anything Peter says when it all came out, that

By MRS. PETER RADEMACHER
GRANDVIEW, Wash. (NEA) — It was just like any other spring morning in Columbus, Ga., and the mailman came around and left what, at a glance, seemed to be the usual pile of advertisements and bills and letters from friends back home.

My husband, Peter, a lieutenant stationed at Fort Benning, would be back later in the day and Susan, our three-year-old daughter, was romping around the house. So I started to open the mail.

One letter was to Peter from Joe Gannon, a former fighter. As I started to read it, it hit me between the eyes and hit me hard. "Spoke to Cus D'Amato and he and Patterson like the idea."

"A title fight is going to conceivably... pen-written lines like that began to startle me.

This was how I found out my husband was going to fight Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight championship of the world — as his first professional fight.

Today, Gannon is an assistant trainer and one of Peter's sparring partners at Issaquah. And I'm spending my time visiting relatives in the Yakima Valley and waiting for Aug. 22, when Peter gets in the ring with Patterson in Seattle.

On the surface, this fight has taken shape so easily, it seems a

Peg O' Pampa

WELL? AND HOW ARE YOU THIS WEEK... busy getting ready for school to begin, we wager... counting the days... and also the jeans that need to be bought new, or repaired... and washed and ironed... the school uniform... is the blue-jean it looks like to us... it is fine for the "grades" but we wish that when young people get into High School they would learn to dress like adults...

AROUND THE TOWN... have you read about the latest fashion the designers have foisted on the women this Fall?... the so-called "sack dress"... how can we women let this happen to us... why spend millions of dollars each year for the beautification of our figures... and faces and hair... and then enclose our figures in a shapeless sack, and our hair in hats that come "clear down" to our necks...

"THE CORN IS AS HIGH AS AN ELEPHANT'S EYE"... and is mighty tasty, too, as this is the season for fresh corn on the cob... and did you hear about the garden-club member who wrote a letter to the editor of a garden magazine and signed the letter "Constant Weeder"...

A word in sincerity is better than a speech. -Charles Dickens

WERE YOU counted properly this week?... we mean by the little counters of cars set out all over the city... we bet we were counted at least fifty times... do the operators of those little boxes take the number recorded and divided by two we wonder... each car hits the thing twice when going over it...

SOMEPLACE OF NOTE that you might like to see if you take a drive Sunday afternoon (although we suspect most people will stay safely under their air conditioners, at least, if they want to be comfortable)... see the gorgeous pink petunias along the stake fence at Virgil Romack's home, 1541 Williston, they are worth seeing...

THAT WAS A LOVELY coffee given last week for Francis Milliren... by the Sunday School class of the First Methodist Church... Margaret Wells was hostess... and she had decorated beautifully with flowers... and served coffee with ice cream in it from a huge punch bowl...

MYSTERY WOMAN... we saw a lovely dark-haired woman downtown last week, with a white linen dress... and pale blue accessories... wondered who she could be... have you seen Margaret Thompson's attractive black-shuttered home... heard of a grand trip coming up for Lu Kuhn and Ray...

And with that we must leave you until next week. Peg.

White Deer Church Is Scene Of Evans-Browning Wedding

(Special to The News)

WHITE DEER - In the First Baptist Church of White Deer, wedding vows were exchanged Friday evening at 8 p.m. by Miss Barbara Eloise Evans and Jeanne Lee Browning, Rev. Philip G. Carpenter, Jr., associate-pastor of the Deer Park Baptist Church, Louisville, Ky., and brother-in-law of the bride, officiated for the double-ring candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Evans of White Deer and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Browning of Plainview.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional gown of white chantilly lace and tulle over satin. The elongated body of lace fashioned a portrait neckline with folds of tulle accenting the scallops of lace. Long sleeves of lace came to points over her hands. The bouffant floor length skirt complimented an over-lay of scalloped lace which extended into a full sweep-train. Her tiered veil of French illusion fell from a plateau type head dress of matching lace with hand made petals of tulle completing the trim.

Her bouquet of white orchids and Stephanotis was atop a white satin bride's Bible.

For something old she carried a hand made handkerchief which the bridegroom's grandmother carried at her wedding over 60 years ago. An heirloom bracelet of cultured pearls belonging to her maternal grandmother was the "something borrowed" and she wore a blue garter. Her other jewelry was a strand of cultured pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

ATTENDANTS

Matron of honor was Mrs. Philip G. Carpenter, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., a sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Tommy Browning of Plainview, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and Miss Beverly Brian of Amarillo, cousin of the bride. Miss Linda Brian of Amarillo, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. All wore tulle length dresses of emerald green silk organza. The tucked bodices were styled with bateau necklines and the shirred waist formed a torso waistline for the full gathered skirts. Their head pieces were halo crowns of green velvet ribbon and white velvet flowers with short scalloped veils of matching green tulle. They wore half mitts of green silk organza and carried a cascade arrangement of white pom chrysanthemums with white velvet streamers.

Misses Deborah Anne and Nancy Evans, nieces of the bride, and Elizabeth Ann Browning, niece of the bridegroom, were flower girls. They were attired in dresses of white silk organza with tucked waists and full gathered skirts and wore sashes of green velvet ribbon. They carried ivy leaves in white lace baskets and wore a flower arrangement of button chrysanthemums in their hair. Ring bearer was Holly Browning, nephew of the bridegroom, who carried the rings on a white satin pillow. His formal attire was identical to that worn by the groomsmen.

Tommy Browning of Plainview, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsman were A. C. Floyd of Snyder, cousin of the bridegroom, and Clifton Kelly of White Deer, brother-in-law of the bride, Bob Nowlin of Vernon, cousin of the bride was junior groomsman.

Mrs. Evans, mother of the bride, wore a mauve beige lace dress with mauve and brown accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose an aqua linen sheath embroidered in white. She wore a mulberry color velvet hat with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of Phalaenopsis orchids.

Decorations in the church included a large fan shaped bouquet of white chrysanthemums backed by a tiered arrangement of jade palms and spiral seven branched candelabra. Floor baskets of white chrysanthemums and jade palms flanked the altar. The choir rail was covered with huckleberry and topped with white tucks and the pews were marked with white satin ribbon entwined with English ivy.

Mrs. Douglas Smith of Panhandle, cousin of the bride played an organ prelude of "Melody of Love," "Indian Love Call," "Wonderful One" and "No Other Love" and accompanied Miss Maurea Hanna of Plainview as she sang "Youman's Through the Years," "Because" by de Hardol and Maolotte's "Lord's Prayer." Debussy's "Clair de lune" was played as the vows were repeated. Guests were registered by Miss June Firestone of Snyder, cousin of the bridegroom.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Baskets of white chrysanthemums formed a setting for the bridal party to receive the guests. An arrangement of white flowers were used in the music room. Piano selections were played by Miss Linda Caudle of Plainview throughout the reception.

The serving table was covered with an imported hand embroidered linen cloth and a silver and crystal epergne flanked by white tapered centerpieces. The three tiered wedding cake was topped with wedding bells of spun sugar and white ribbon and was encircled by a wreath of white stock and English ivy. Green minted punch was served from a crystal bowl.

Mrs. Tommy Browning served the cake while Mrs. David Hutchens, former college roommate of the bride, lauded the punch. Assisting with the reception were Miss Clara Brian, Mrs. John Tanner, Mrs. W. H. Brian, Mrs. C. V. Nowlin, Mrs. Gene Brian, Mrs. W. W. Evans and Mrs. Jack Brian, all aunts of the bride. Misses Lynn Nowlin, Linda Jo Broadway, Susan Nowlin, and Linda Brian, cousins of the bride, also assisted.

For a short wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado, the bride traveled in an autumn cotton of black and brown plaid with black velvet hat and accessories. She wore an orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet. After Sept. 1 the couple will be at home at Plainview.

The bride graduated from White Deer High School and received her Bachelor of Arts Degree from Wayland Baptist College with a major in Elementary Education. In her three years of college she has accumulated many honors having been named first campus beauty this spring after having placed second and third in the two previous years. She was Miss Future Teacher of America and served as a staff member of the Traveler, the college year book. She was Secretary of Student Government Association and was active in the Home Economics Club, Mission Band and Ikwas, a woman service club.

Mr. Browning graduated from Plainview High School and received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Baylor University in 1954, majoring in history and minoring in law. He was active in Phi Alpha Delta and Alpha Phi Omega Fraternities and served as president of the Baylor Panhandle Club. Following graduation he did advanced study in the field of foreign service in Georgetown University, Washington D.C. He is presently engaged in business and farming at Plainview.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Browning, parents of the bridegroom were hosts at a rehearsal dinner Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. W. L. Heskey.

Mrs. Gary Green, Recent Bride, Is Honored With Come-And-Go Shower

The home of Miss JoAnn Miller, 1232 Garland, was the scene Thursday evening for a bridal shower given in honor of Mrs. Gary Green, formerly Miss Kay Stephens.

The table was attractively arranged with a floral setting of roses and gladiolas. The cut-work lace cloth laid over blue carried out the bride's colors of blue and white. A white cake with "Gary and Kay" written in blue, was served with punch and assorted nuts.

A corsage of white carnations tied with blue ribbon was presented to Mrs. Green. She received an array of gifts which were displayed for the guests to see during the come-and-go event.

Hostesses, in addition to Miss Miller, included Misses Jackie Bourland, Lois Schneider, Phillis Phillips, and Mmes. D. S. Miller, J. O. Dumas, Lester Newman, Lester Stewart and Jackie Hollingsworth.

The bride, who has resided with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Dumas, for the past year, is a graduate of Pampa High School. Gary Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Green, is also a graduate of Pampa High School, and attended West Texas State College. He is now employed at the Phillips Petroleum Company. The couple is at home at 1002 E. Francis.

The program closed with Miss Riley and Miss Munger singing, "When He Calls Me." Approximately seventy guests were present.

RUTH MILLETT

Ever read the want ad section of your paper, not just when you are looking for a bargain, but for the fun of wondering what's the real story behind the ads?

Here's a man who wants to sell his fishing equipment, right down to the tackle box. How does it happen that a fisherman is willing to part with his favorite rods, his lucky lures, his chance to someday catch one worth mounting?

Could it be he finally made that long, long trip to a faraway fisherman's paradise and found when he got there that it was the same old story: "They were biting last week?"

Or did his wife get tired of being a fishing widow and finally put her foot down?

Here's a two-year-old piano for sale, "like new." But that one's easy. That is just how long it takes a hopeful Mama to admit that Sis doesn't have any musical talent after all — just as Pop claimed when he was forced to buy the piano and start paying for twice-a-week music lessons.

And how about all those home power tools for sale; electric saws, sanders, drill presses, etc? It looks as though the do-it-yourself craze has slowed down a little judging from all the "little used" power tools for sale.

And what about all those used attic fans? Must be a lot of housewives are claiming they are fed up with cooking over a hot stove all summer and either Papa puts in air conditioning or the family starts eating dinner out.

And that partly used series of ballroom dancing lessons being offered for sale by a "college student." What happened to make the young man quit his lessons? Did he feel it was hopeless? Or did he find a girl enterprising enough to say, "I'll teach you to dance?"

The fun of reading want ads is that you can make up your own stories as you go along.

Serving as bridesmaids were Miss Darlene Bozarth, who wore a light blue nylon dress, and Miss Nancy Fry, who wore a light blue check dress. Their corsages were of pink split carnations.

Jimmy Whitmarsh served the bridegroom as best man. The bride's mother chose a pink and grey print bemberg sheer dress.

Toll Television Is A Revolution

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Toll TV is not just a new twist in mass entertainment; it is a revolution. It means that for the first time in history, you don't have to put your shoes on to become a paying customer of movies, sports or stage shows.

The previous concept of box office entertainment boiled down to this: The paying audience had to be moved to a theater or arena. That audience receptacle had to be centrally located, an expensive proposition. That receptacle could be used only periodically or even seasonally, also an expensive proposition.

Toll TV moves the entertainment to the paying audience. It puts a box office in the home. It is an electronic delivery service. Right now, you see entertainment on TV free. Sponsors pay the bills. According to Harris, Upham and Co., a New York financial house, those sponsors spent about one billion dollars in 1956 on TV. However, not much of that sum went toward the creation of actual program content. Almost 900 million dollars, says Harris, Upham, went toward the purchase of program time, commercials and spot time.

Largest Audience Needed
Toll TV's say despite a sprinkling of quality shows on TV, the bread and butter of commercial TV must be paid—the sponsor must reach the largest possible audience for the smallest cost.

Furthermore, say toll TV's, TV costs are rocketing. The average half-hour situation comedy costs $35,000 to $40,000. Last season, the production budget for the Perry Como hour was $108,000, for Jackie Gleason about $102,000, for Sid Caesar about $115,000. How many sponsors can afford to carry this kind of a load?

Not many, say toll TV's. In 1956, for example, 25 per cent of TV's bill was paid for by 10 top firms.

What's more, say toll TV advocates, commercial TV has affected other entertainment industries—minor league baseball, fight clubs, the movies. Back in 1947, for example, movie theaters grossed more than $1,500,000,000; last year, the gross was $1,200,000,000.

Among the eight major movie studios, RKO is closed, Republic operates for the most part as a rental depot for TV films, and the six other companies all have been forced to swing heavily to TV film production.

Is This The Answer?
Toll TV's say they have the answer. A picture like "Giant" (which needs about 10 million dollars to break even; could make back its investment in a single night if only half the TV homes (20,000,000) were willing to pay 50 cents a head. It could still be shown in theaters here and abroad and on TV again. Would people be willing to pay? Well, the Alfred Politz research firm reports that 16 million people over 15 years of age would be willing to pay 50 cents for a first run feature or a "Broadway" play on TV.

Politz says six million people would pay $1 to see an opera; almost 20 million fans would pay $1 for a World Series game; 16 million buffs would pay $1 to watch a championship fight via toll TV.

If all this is so, it would mean an upheaval in the entertainment field. The Hollywood dream factories would have to labor overtime to feed the toll TV demand. Fight promoters and baseball magnates would harvest fortunes.

(The Brooklyn-Los Angeles Dodgers already have been guaranteed a minimum of two million dollars from a toll TV operator; their present TV take is $750,000 annually).

College Courses Possible
Colleges might teach courses via toll TV and reap bushels of money; charities could stage telethons on pay TV to collect their yearly budgets.

However, there are some flaws in this picture. One is the public's appetite for entertainment—no family is going to sit down night after night and plunk down $1 for a movie.

Another is the reluctance of producers and authors to release their hits to toll TV under the present tax structure. Oscar Hammerstein recently pointed out that it wouldn't be worth it to him to coin a million dollars in a single night from a showing of "South Pacific." It's more advantageous to spread his earnings over a period of years.

Teams Good When Seeking New Industry

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UP)—A Paris, Tex., banker said yesterday that communities seeking new industries can better be represented by teams rather than by individuals.

Robert McWhirter, president of the First National Bank of Paris, delivered the opening talk at the seventh annual meeting of the Texas Industrial Development Conference which will continue through today.

McWhirter said "it is highly important in dealing with industrial prospects that your city be represented by an industrial team acting as a team rather than by an individual or individuals."

"It is... a hopeless situation for one or more individuals to negotiate with industrial representatives without having their own efforts fully coordinated," he said.

Such teams also should have the same chairman and members over a long period of time, McWhirter said.

The opening session was presided over by Gordon Turrentine of the Houston Chamber of Commerce. More than 150 persons attended the opening of the conference.

'Nature Girl' Remarks Park Avenue 'Like Other Streets'

By CLAIRE Cox
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (UP)—A 16-year old "nature girl" from North Carolina's moonshine mountains took a good look at Park Avenue today and said, "it looks just like any other street."

Jim Dorothy Brown, who has lived her entire life until now in one broken down mountain shanty after another in a part of the world where there are no streets at all, spent the weekend living in luxury in a hotel on Park Avenue.

She came to New York to be on a television show, but she did what comes naturally to any feminine tourist in the big city. She went shopping.

And the first thing she bought was a pair of shoes. Not just any shoes. Comfortable flat-heeled walking shoes. Her Sunday-to-meeting spike-heeled pumps, the only ones she has worn before, were killing her.

Not Used to Sidewalks
Mountain folk aren't used to hard city sidewalks, she explained, and high-heeled shoes can be mighty uncomfortable for a girl who is used to going barefoot every day except Sunday.

Dorothy May, as the pretty tall brunette prefers to be called, came to the big city Friday as a result of a series of experiences that would befuddle even a Cinderella.

She was "discovered" at a well in a clearing in the woods outside Mooresville, N.C., by Tom McKnight, editor of the weekly Mooresville Tribune. He wrote a "mood piece" about stumbling on a white goddess fetching water in the backwoods.

The story caught the fancy of Kays Gary, a columnist for the Charlotte Observer. He spent 10 days working up a story about Dorothy May, the backwoods girl who had quit school after the eighth grade to help her poverty-stricken family.

Things Began To Happen
Then things began to happen.

An industrialist offered to finance a high school and college education for Dorothy May. Several women gave her hand-me-down clothes to replace her two only dresses. A department store provided her with a modest wardrobe, including the first evening gown she has ever owned.

She stands before a mirror in her lavender evening gown once or twice a day, but so far no Prince Charming has turned up to take her dancing in it.

Now Dorothy May is about to become a celebrity. Ed Sullivan brought her to New York to appear on his CBS television show tomorrow night—for $1,000 plus all expenses for her and two chaperones. Dorothy May rode on a train for the first time in her life to get here.

Paper Calls For Abolition Of House Of Lords

LONDON, Aug. 17 (UP)—Lord Beaverbrook's "Daily Express" today called for abolition of the House of Lords and denounced the whole hereditary aristocracy—short of the royal family—as a "liability to the nation."

If carried out, the proposal would cost the famed publisher one of his own jobs. As a peer, he is a member of the House of Lords.

The Express, second-largest paper in Britain, emphasized that it is a "royal paper" and "gives support to the Queen when she is subjected to unfair and ill-mannered criticism."

But it said its defense of the monarchy did not extend to support of the non-royal aristocracy, "once a bulwark of the monarchy, now a liability to the nation."

"Certainly its political expression, the House of Lords, should be abolished as quickly as possible," the Express said.

There are 228 dukes, marquises, earls, viscounts and barons in the hereditary nobility.

The argument in the Daily Express was an extension of a column in its sister paper, the "Sunday Express" which last Sunday questioned whether the Queen would be "better off without her peers."

SUDDENLY

YOU ARE THERE!

A carefree child—books under his arm and his mind on wonderful, far-away places—skips off the curb and into the street . . . and, suddenly, you are there, his very life in your hands. A split-second's carelessness—a lifetime of regret!

It happens almost daily all over the country
TO PEOPLE JUST LIKE YOU!

SCHOOL OPENS SEPTEMBER 3rd

Many of our children will be using the streets for the first time—many others have used them little in the past three months. They'll be careless, so YOU must be extra careful. Approach school areas with the utmost caution. Keep our traffic records tragedy-free, our children alive, and our homes happy.

In The Final Analysis . . .
IT'S UP TO YOU!

FOLLOW THESE SAFE DRIVING RULES:

- Be doubly careful near schools or where children play. Children don't realize the danger and may take chances. That's why you, the driver, must take extra care.
- Slow down. Speed is dangerous at any time—doubly so when visibility is cut by rain, fog, or darkness.
- Keep lights and windshield wipers in good condition during rainy or snowy weather. You have to see danger to avoid it.
- Keep your car in top mechanical condition. Use chains when roads are slippery.
- Obey traffic laws. Know the traffic laws wherever you travel and don't break them.
- If you drive, don't drink—if you drink, don't drive. Remember, Death takes no holiday.
- Be a courteous driver. Yield right-of-way even when it should be yours. It's better to stay alive than be dead right.

The News Policy

Here is the News' policy in a nutshell. No man should be coerced into paying for anything he does not want.

Stating this in a positive form would mean that each and every man should get EVERYTHING he desires on a voluntary basis.

Most people undoubtedly would agree that this is what they believe. But judging from what they advocate, few people actually believe in this policy—this eternal principle. They believe they should get most things but not everything on a voluntary basis.

This policy is relatively a new concept of right and justice. For thousands of years men believed that one man had a right to own, another, that men could be sold into slavery for debts; that parents had a right to marry off their children; that men were not free to move or to own private property; etc. This was the concept of human life during the barbarous age and the stone age.

It is the basis on which all forms of state socialism and political communism operate. They only differ in degree of getting things in an involuntary way.

Now, here in the United States we have discarded most of this kind of involuntary servitude. We, however, have adopted other forms of involuntary servitude. The two outstanding forms of involuntary servitude are closed shop labor unions and the government requiring men to either leave the territory or pay for some "services" they do not want.

When labor unions demand that all men belong to their unions and pay dues and fines and work as unions permit in order to be employed in that field, then that is a form of involuntary servitude. It is a hangover from primitive, barbaric times. It is a throwback to the Dark Ages.

Just so, when one of the 102,000 governments in the United States coerces a man either pay for something he does not want or leave the territory controlled by this government unit, then that man is subject to a form of involuntary servitude.

The only explanation as to why so many people believe in these forms of involuntary servitude is because it has been believed in for thousands of years, just as men believed the world was flat for thousands of years. This belief is a hangover from the belief in the divine right of kings. Most men have just substituted the belief in the divine right of the majority for the divine right of kings, or they have been taught to believe that under a democracy they, themselves, are the government. Let them try to have their taxes reduced and they will soon find out that they are not the government but the elected or appointed judges are the government.

At any rate, this belief that men should get everything on a voluntary basis is relatively so new and so seldom practiced that few have grasped the great blessings that go with man getting everything he wants on a voluntary basis instead of some things on an involuntary basis.

The holding on to the belief in getting some things on an involuntary basis simply shows how most men are content to do as others do and follow the leader. They have seen this vice practiced so long and so often that they do not even know it is harmful.

Remember Pope's warning:
"Vice is a monster of so frightful mien,
As to be hated need but to be seen,
Yet seen too oft, familiar with her face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace."

We have seen government and unions practice getting things on an involuntary basis so often that many have come to embrace getting some things the involuntary way.

We are persuaded that a man or men getting everything he or they want on a voluntary basis is in perfect harmony with the Decalogue, the Love Commandment, the Golden Rule and The Declaration of Independence; that to the degree more and more persons come to believe in this eternal principle will wars decrease and peace, goodwill, love and charity grow in men's hearts. The by-product of this will be more material prosperity.

We hope more and more persons will adopt this creed of living or show us where it is wrong so we can help promote a better policy.

Step by step, the American people are being persuaded, by books, by plays and movies, to renounce the institutions that make them free people — or even self-respecting human beings. A few years ago a play called "The Time of the Cuckoo" argued not only that a woman should engage in an illicit love affair, but that she should not expect it to be accompanied by love or affection. She should simply be "thankful for what she got." And, in the play, she got only momentary animal pleasure. This was a philosophy to encourage promiscuity and to undermine the family, a thing most dictators despise. Apparently this did not go down too well with the general public, for when the play was converted into a movie called "Summertime," love became an important element in it and the picture was a financial as well as an artistic success. But the attack is still carried forward along other lines.

One Man's Fight For Freedom

IV.

A. G. Heinsohn Jr. has a very interesting chapter on the history of the fight for freedom.

He ends his book with a letter to his two sons, Dick and Doug. It's the kind of a letter any father with foresight and judgment and goodwill in his heart would write to his son. It is such a masterpiece I want to quote from it. It is written by a man who had experienced the difficulties that confronted business during the last 45 years. I quote:

"Dear Dick and Doug: This personal story is told so that both of you may have a first-hand account of the tragic betrayal and the dismal surrender of liberty that has taken place in your parents' generation. From it you can see how important individual resistance is except for the purpose of building the record. You probably wonder why your dad is so exercised over the situation. After all, he doesn't need to worry — he's got it all made. When one reaches the age of sixty, it can't make much difference what happens. But —

There is such a thing as self-respect. There is such a thing as looking at yourself in the mirror every morning. There is such a thing as really believing in God to the point of not sitting, silently by and watching the atheist poison of Karl Marx destroy America from within. There is such a thing as resisting regimentation even if no further personal accumulation of material wealth is needed or desired. There is such a thing as passing on to the coming generation the precious freedom inherited from previous generations.

So for these reasons your dad will never cease to resist collectivism, though at times the resistance does seem hopeless. Perhaps there can be reborn in the grass roots of America a political force dedicated to the recapture of States' rights and a return to constitutional government. Perhaps, before our generation passes on, a political party may be formed which has the honesty and the courage to say something like this:

Regardless of what the New Deal Democrats and the Modern Republicans claim, the fact remains that a War of Independence was fought in this country less than two hundred years ago. It is still a fact that our ancestors did revolt against 'Big Government' in England. They did found a new nation of self-respecting, self-respecting, free men willing to give and in their own efforts. The very foundation of this new nation was the personal freedom of each citizen. The very cornerstone was the God-given right of each citizen to live his life the way he wanted to, and not the way some bureaucrat ordered him to. To safeguard personal freedom, private property, and States' rights, a central government of limited power was set up. A document to protect the citizens from 'Big Government' was created. It was called the Constitution of the United States of America.

Then in Europe, some sixty years later, Karl Marx started another movement. Marx did not believe in God. He refused to accept either the Jewish faith of his rabbi ancestors or the laws of nature. He was a complete cynic and saw only the sordid and material side of human nature. He believed that people were unable to govern themselves and needed to be regimented through life by political masters whose power was absolute. He was the father of communism — and advocated Big Government through centralized power.

The Communists realized that the power to tax without limit was the power to destroy. The Communist Manifesto prescribed a graduated income tax and a confiscatory tax on inheritance for the destruction of the free nations. This would give Big Government money for handouts and make the citizens more and more dependent upon political masters on earth. In time this would do away with personal property and human freedom.

It was inevitable that these two theories of human government should clash. It is ironic that the showdown is taking place here in America. It is sad to state that the tide runs toward the atheistic Big Government of Karl Marx and away from our inherited trust in God and belief in individual freedom. Every day more and more power is taken from the American people and is concentrated in the hands of the government in Washington. The leaders of both the Republican and the Democratic parties realize this, but they are afraid to speak out for fear of losing control of the Big Government in Washington.

Dubinsky's 'Boss-Picket' Killed For Double-Cross

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

CHICAGO — William Lurye, the martyred picket of David Dubinsky's union, who was stabbed to death in the New York garment district on May 9, 1949, was a Chicago criminal with a multiple record of arrests, convictions and terms in prison. Nevertheless, 35,000 New York needworkers had to knock off work for a half day on May 12, 1949, and devote themselves to "demonstrations" of sympathy for political deceits of their fuhrer and the sub-fuhrers. In a similar imposition on the faceless rank-and-file a few weeks ago, the entire industry in the city of New York was closed down for half a holiday in solemn tribute to Dubinsky's personal majesty on the 25th anniversary of his first "election" to the job of president-dictator. In all such cases, the workers forfeit pay for the time lost.

Lurye was a thief and racketeer with a record dating back to his 17th year, 1928, in Chicago. His father was occasionally implicated in violent union troubles including gun-play in the junkyards of the west side. A dominant police official who directed the investigation of the New York stabbing in the phone-booth, said recently that Will Lurye was killed for double-crossing other crooks in a deal for safe-conduct through picket lines. Lurye was Dubinsky's boss-picket, responsible for preventing the distribution of needwork among non-union shops. He arranged to permit delivery of hot cargo to "outlaw" shops at a small stipulated price per garment. There is little room for doubt that Dubinsky had heard about this deal. However, he chose not to believe that Lurye had sold him out.

Lurye's sister, Min, a noisy personality in Dubinsky's New York machine, is represented as a warrior fighting on in the gallant tradition of a family of heroic unionists. Another brother, Sam, known mostly as Simon Kahn, had an Illinois prison record, racked up about the time that William was earning his stripes in the house of correction and Pontiac Reformatory. Min is known as a "lovestoneite," or political disciple of Jake Lovestone, the whilom boss of the American Communist party and current manager of Dubinsky's overseas political apparatus. A newspaper picture of a "Communist" disturbance at Madison and Wells Streets, Chicago, Jan. 26, 1929, bears the outline, "Women Communist Workers Arrested On Madison Street. Miss Min Lurye, 2021 Division Street, Police Broke Up The Meeting And Arrested 9."

J. B. Matthews, the original fellow traveler; Ben Gitlow, one of Lovestone's contemporaries in the Soviet Communist movement in the United States; and Maurice Malkin, a lesser bol of the Lovestone movement, all declare that Min Lurye was known to them as a Lovestoneite. Gitlow said, and Malkin concurred: "Minnie was a Lovestoneite and she is now co-ordinator and organizer of the dressmakers' joint board in New York, working with Sacha Zimmerman, who was a charter member of the Communist party of the United States. Minnie's brother, William, was a Lovestoneite. So was their father, Max."

disturbance. One month later, he was pinched on suspicion in connection with the use of an automobile in numerous burglaries. He was exonerated. Two months later, he was pinched again as "A well-known hoodlum," questioned about burglaries and released. The file includes a letter from Al Dubinsky, an Interior Decorator, offering Lurye a job at $25 a week on parole. There is nothing to indicate whether Al Dubinsky and Dave Dubinsky are related or acquainted. William was discharged from parole in May, 1935.

Samuel Kahn, alias Simon Lurye, was about 17 when he entered Pontiac on Oct. 28, 1932 to do one year for a stickup with a gun. He and two other hoodlums had poked an ice cream parlor for $10. Sam was charged with first-degree robbery, but this was marked down to petty larceny, although he had a previous record of a robbery, reduced to petty larceny, for which he had received one year on probation. He listed New York addresses. Both Sam and Will said their parents were divorced. The old man's address was given as Salem, Wis., and 414 West 34th Street, N.Y., which was one of Min's addresses.

In September, 1934, William said he felt that the cops were still on him because his brother had jumped his bond on a new larceny charge and was then in New York.

Zermatt For Hermits; Don't Bother With Duds

By HENRY McLEMORE

ZERMATT, SWITZERLAND — For anyone with an extremely limited and extremely tired wardrobe, this is an ideal spot. Nature is so beautiful here that no one gives a hoot how the humans look.

Since reaching this Alpine retreat, snuggled at the base of the Matterhorn, I've seen more varieties of costume than you'll see at a costume ball and three Hollywood period epics. No matter what clothes you have in your suitcase, they're adequate and acceptable. A man could come here with a missionary barrel for a valise and get by just fine. He might even earn the distinction of the best-dressed man in town.

The only people here whose dress is at all standard are the serious mountain climbers. While there are a lot of them walking about in the proper haberdashery for their chosen sport, they are in the minority. Most of the visitors, along with the townspeople, like to look at the mountains, not climb them.

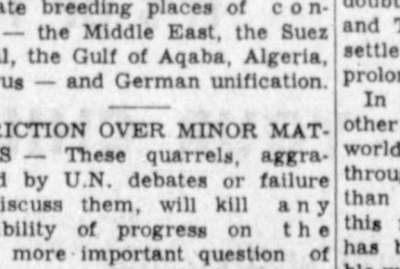

There is no set garb for looking at mountains — anything will do. Apparently the peaks look just the same to a man wearing a flowered Hawaiian shirt and a pair of plus-four corduroy knickers as they do to a man in bathing trunks and his wooden clogs. I have seen both of these outfits worn on the streets of Zermatt as well as seersucker suits, lederhosen, blue jeans, and, early yesterday morning, a dinner jacket. Also to be seen on the streets of Zermatt are quite a few suits of Edwardian vintage. The sport of climbing the Matterhorn was at its height in the late 1880's, and many of the Englishmen of that era who accomplished the feat, return to the scene of their youthful triumph. But it is the women, not the men, who win the wreath of edelweiss for bizarre get-ups. Name it, no matter how odd, and it is to be found here beneath the snow-crowned Alps. Dowagers barge by in dresses suitable for a Buckingham Palace. High heels are worn with rucksacks. Now and then, as it is warm here, a Bikini-clad beauty is to be seen sunning on a chalet lawn. Unbelievable as it is, I saw a stout woman in leather shorts and silk blouse put on her pinnex to inspect a music box. I have a picture of her to prove it.

My own mountain-viewing outfit is worth a snap or two from someone's camera. I am wearing the in-liners to one of those do-it-yourself suits which can be washed by hand, need no pressing, and are guaranteed to look it. With the trousers, which have more wrinkles than an octogenarian prune, I am wearing a brown sports shirt embossed with horses' heads, a pair of tennis shoes, one of which has no shoe lace, and a gray flannel cap with ink spots on it that I bought in Malta months ago.

Mary won't even let me describe her get-up, and I don't blame her. But if some passer-by doesn't offer her a crust of bread before the day is over I am going to be surprised. The truth is, everybody is so busy looking at the scenery that they don't have time for looking at people. Here one's gaze is usually up, where Nature's handiwork is on display as it must be in a few other spots in the world. I'm liable to go barefoot tomorrow, and turn my cap around like Jackie Coogan used to. There's no use in not going back to nature. There's plenty of it around here.

Disillusionment May Cause UN Downfall

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The growing disillusionment with the United Nations offers serious threats to its survival in its present form. It also emphasizes the importance of the scheduled September 10 session for consideration of the five-nation subcommittee's condemnation of Russia's savage suppression of the Hungarian revolt.

Already, and swelling the chorus of criticism of the U.N. as a do-nothing and double-standard organization, the Communist bloc and a few Asian and African countries have sought to sabotage even the presentation of the subcommittee's findings. Although these members supported the resolution condemning the Anglo-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt, they seem determined to spare Moscow's feelings. Should they succeed, the regular October session will convene in atmosphere charged with bitterness and hostility. There would then be no chance of solving the international disputes that threaten global or local wars, and perpetuate breeding places of conflict — the Middle East, the Suez Canal, the Gulf of Aden, Algeria, Cyprus — and German unification.

BID FOR A SMILE

A small boy, who had never been on a farm, visited a family friend who lived on a farm a considerable distance from any railroad town. For a time, he enjoyed the novelty of the situation and seemed to be happy in his rural environment. After three or four days, though, monotony and homesickness got the better of him. He wrote the following message to his mother: "Dear Mother, I am not having a better time than I thought I would. Your loving son, Jimmie."

Decentralized Executive Works At Home; Likes It

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
GREENWICH, Conn. (UP)—Victor Muscat says you can talk all you want to about decentralizing industry, but he's the only man he knows of who's a decentralized executive. He works at home and likes it.

What's the sense of wasting a couple of hours each day commuting to a hectic office in a jammed place called New York when you can sit with a seven-line phone and secretary beside your swimming pool and work serenely while your wife and three kids splash happily in the foreground and birds tattle tenderly in the background?

That's a good question. It's one Muscat asked himself three years ago. He's been working at home ever since.

Think More Clearly

"I've found you can think much more clearly, work out your problems much better, away from the center of activity," he said. "And I can get on the phone and give orders just as well here in Greenwich."

One of the things he's been thinking about is where tubes are going. He's in toothpaste tubes. He has 11 factories dotted around the United States, Canada, and Venezuela, and is president of the Victor Metal Products Corp. He's in of 200,000 a year made for toothpaste, shaving, and cosmetics outfits.

As I say, he's been thinking, and I'm afraid I got him going on the subject of whither tubes are drifting by asking what was intended to be a nonsense question. Why couldn't the ketchup problem—how to get it out of the bottle—be solved by putting it in tubes?

Biggest Future

"Certainly!" he said. "We expect that to be the biggest future use of tubes—not only ketchup but all the condiments, peanut butter, jams and jellies, mustard, soft cheeses... why, it's all done in Europe right now. In Switzerland, for instance, that's the biggest use of tubes. You can get butter in tubes there."

"You have to keep it the right temperature in the refrigerator. It comes out in a long string like toothpaste."

"And peanut butter is a natural. A mother can let the child make a sandwich all by himself, without leaving a knife around, by just leaving a tube and some bread on the table. Why, I can envision a mother sending the so, naturally I handle my personal 'bookkeeping' in a businesslike way.

For complete, accurate records (full information about my expenditures right on my check-book stubs) and for complete, sure receipts (my cancelled checks, returned to me automatically), nothing, in my opinion, can beat my CHECKING ACCOUNT at the bank!
