'Open House' Is Scheduled At Lampasas

LAMPASAS, Tex. (UP)—Lampasas, which was almost washed away by a 10-foot wall of water last May 12, is holding an open house Friday and Saturday to show the rest of Texas it is back in business.

Gov. Price Daniel, among other officials, will visit rebuilt and prospering Lampasas. After the flood from Sulphur Creek hit Lampasas last May, it looked as if the town were finished.

The water drowned five persons. Five business places were destroyed. Forty suffered major damage and 41 minor damage. Thirty-eight homes were destroyed. Forty-six suffered major damage and 226 lesser damage.

A church, school and hotel were damaged. The town was filled with debris, despair and mud and damage was estimated at a total of $3,485,210. But the residents of Lampasas, with help from outside, were hard at work the morning after the flood.

They're Encouraged
"If we'd sat around and let the debris lay there, it would have been discouraging," Dan Nixon, engineer and manager of utilities, said.

With the money available, we were able to get the wheels rolling Monday morning. "The effect on the people was good."

What he meant was that the city had money in its treasury and could finance first cleanup efforts on its own. Furthermore, money and help came in from the outside.

"The response (outside) was astonishing," Mayor R. L. Northington recalled.

"I didn't give anybody much chance to feel sorry for himself and get discouraged. Right then we began getting back in business."

Morale Good
"The outside help was a great morale builder. With all that help, we couldn't quit."

Troops poured in from nearby Fort Hood to help cleanup the town and restore sanitary facilities.

"The greatest help any community can get at a time like that is the Army," Chamber of Commerce Manager R. A. Jones said. "They have the heavy equipment to do the job and, thank God, they were next door."

18 Trapped In Norwegian Ship

Arctic Snowstorm Hinders Rescue

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UP)—A driving Arctic snowstorm today shrouded the fate of a tiny Norwegian vessel with 18 persons aboard, trapped in an icefield off Greenland.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UP)—Eighteen Norwegians abandoned their ice-trapped ship today and sat on a polar floe off Greenland to await rescue by the U.S. Air Force.

The storm forced a U.S. Air Force DC7 and two American helicopters to abandon efforts to reach the wooden 292-ton Polarbjorn Sunday night.

A Danish naval spokesman here said the U.S. airbases Keflavik, Iceland, and Thule, Greenland, were asked to assist in rescue operations.

The Polarbjorn, chartered by the Norwegian Polar Institute, flashed an appeal for help, reporting it was in "serious trouble." The ship was trapped in the ice off Foster's Bay in eastern Greenland while returning from the Polar Institute station on the coast of Greenland.

The ship, skippered by veteran polar explorer Capt. John Blaeuer, was believed to be carrying five Norwegian scientists in addition to its 13-man crew.

Johnson To Back Foreign Aid Boost

By WARREN DUFFEE
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson told President Eisenhower today he will support "a substantial increase" in the foreign aid appropriation — but will be low what Eisenhower wants.

The Texas made the statement at a breakfast meeting with the Chief Executive.

He told reporters afterward that he thought the Senate would restore about $500 million of the $98 million dollars the house slashed from the foreign aid program. The final appropriation, he said, would be in the neighborhood of three billion dollars.

The President originally asked Congress for $4,400,000,000 in foreign aid, but later reduced this to $3,900,000,000. Congress cut the program to $3,367,000,000 in passing the foreign aid authorization bill and the House, in putting up the actual money, chopped it further to $2,524,000,000.

He Expects Increase
"I told him (the President) that if I felt it (the appropriation) would be substantially increased over the House figure, but I did not know what the exact amount would be. I am prepared to support a substantial increase in the neighborhood of about a half billion dollars."

The Senate Appropriations committee met this morning to consider the foreign aid money bill. Key senators predicted it would vote to restore 300 to 500 million of the House cut.

Most informed Senate sources forecast the committee would restore 300 to 500 million dollars, but not the full amount cut by the House. Eisenhower has sought the full $3,367,000,000 authorized by Congress earlier this month.

At the same time, Democratic GOP forces prepared to make fast work of the civil rights bill. With its compromise jury trial amendment.

Plan Meeting
Members of the House Rules Committee planned to call a meeting over the head of Committee Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) and speed the bill to the House floor for passage Tuesday.

Southern senators planned to attack it when it reaches the Senate. But there was no hint of a filibuster which appeared to be the only thing that could impede its passage through both houses.

The Senate while awaiting the civil rights bill drove for a final vote on a bill aimed at protecting the sanctity of the FBI files.

Graham's Talk Is Directed To Teen-Agers

NEW YORK (UP)—Evangelist Billy Graham Sunday night compared Belshazzar, Biblical ruler of Babylon, to the teen-age hoodlums of today.

Graham urged the nation's youngsters to follow the "courageous virtue" of young Daniel and reject the teen-age immorality of Belshazzar.

"Daniel was one of the few I can find in the Old Testament who never yielded to the temptations of the flesh," Graham told a capacity crowd of 19,200 at Madison Square Garden.

The evangelist told how, according to the Bible, the teen-age Jew was captured by the armies of King Nebuchadnezzar when they destroyed Jerusalem and taken 1,000 miles to Babylon.

Daniel was faced with many temptations in Babylon, then the world's greatest empire, Graham said. "But he made a decision for Christ" while in his teens.

Graham said that age is the natural time to "come forward for Christ."

At Sunday night's meeting, 567 persons made "decisions for Christ," boosting the total number in the New York crusade to 51,320.

CoC Will Mail Out Ballot

The first ballot for the election of a five-man advisory board for the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will be mailed out Tuesday, Sept. 3, E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber manager, said this morning.

The mailing of the first ballot, actually a sort of nominating ballot, will be followed 10 days later by a second ballot carrying the names of the 10 high persons on the first ballot.

New officers and directors of the chamber will be installed in the organization's annual banquet, Tuesday, Oct. 15, when Dwight Havens, manager of the service department of the United States Chamber of Commerce, Washington, D. C., will be the speaker.

The banquet will be held in the High School cafeteria and the program is being arranged by a committee composed of Smiley Henderson, chairman, Don Cain and Wedgeworth.

The banquet is looked forward to annually as one of the year's outstanding social events and is always well attended by members of the chamber.

Pampans Return From Course

Mrs. D. J. George and Mrs. Wayne Jones returned yesterday from a water safety instructor's course offered by the local chapter of the Red Cross and held at Camp Clover Point in the Lake of the Ozarks State Park near Kaiser, Mo.

John Greenwood of the national staff located in the area office in St. Louis, Mo., was director of the program, which offered instruction in water safety, swimming, small crafts and first-aid. Seventy-two students, representing 12 states in the mid-west area, attended.

Newsman In Red China Issue

'Hot Potato' Back In Hands Of The US State Department

By DONALD J. GONSALES
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The hot potato of whether American newsmen should go to Red China today was back in the determined but nervous hands of the U.S. State Department.

The controversy headed back to its starting point when Radio Peking served heated notice Sunday that no American newsman would be allowed in Communist China unless Red Chinese newsmen were given permission to report from the United States.

The Peiping radio broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, quoted the Peiping People's Daily, the official mouthpiece of the Red Chinese regime which invariably voices the government's views.

Charge "Discourtesy"
The newspaper charged the United States with "discourtesy" in refusing reciprocal visas to Chinese newsmen and said the State Department decision to allow 24 U.S. newsmen to go to China is "completely unacceptable."

The State Department immediately said it would stand firm. The department's stand drew an immediate blast from Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), who is mounting a Senate resolution last Monday calling for removal of the administration ban against letting U.S. newsmen visit Red China.

"If our script is better than theirs why isn't it good policy not to let everyone know about it," Fulbright said.

Hurl Spy Charge
The broadcast accused the United States of wanting to send the newsmen as "spies" and to "create trouble."

State Department officials said they based their stand on the fact the United States does not maintain diplomatic relations with Red China.

The officials also scoffed at the charge that any of the newsmen could possibly be spies. They pointed out the reporters all were to be chosen by their own news organizations and the department would have no hand in the selection.

OPTIMIST

Manual Moreno, 37, yelps with discomfort as police saw him loose from a small serving hatch in a San Francisco, Calif., jail cell. Moreno, arrested for allegedly beating his wife while he was drunk, apparently thought it worthwhile to try and crawl out of the serving hatch. The cold-steel facts, ma'am: it took hacksaw artists two hours to free him... from the hatch, not the jail. At late reports, he was still in the Clink. (NEA Telephoto)

Burke Says Russia Still Building Subs

MIAMI BEACH (UP)—Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, said today Russia now has the largest submarine force in maritime history.

"And they are still building submarines at the rate of about 100 a year, a rate never equaled by any nation at peace," Burke said in an address prepared for delivery before the 68th national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Burke said the Soviets were "devoting great effort to development of submarines capable of launching guided missiles against metropolitan and industrial targets in any part of the world."

To counter Russia's increasing underwater strength, Burke said, the United States is building a fleet of 21 nuclear-powered vessels. Burke said these include 19 nuclear-powered submarines, the fourth of which will be commissioned Tuesday at Portsmouth, N. H.; an atomic-propelled cruiser now under construction, and carrier for which a contract has been let.

"The Soviet Union has now replaced Great Britain as the second-ranking sea power in the world" (behind the U.S.) with "a large well-rounded navy," the chief of naval operations said. He said Russia's "astounding" rise as a naval power in 12 years was accomplished because "they know that our allies throughout the world can prosper in peace and be supported in war as long as we control the seas."

Burke spoke at the opening session of the VFW convention during which he received the group's annual citizenship gold medal award.

Burke also lauded the concept of a Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"In hot war and in cold war, our American-developed Joint Chiefs team concept has demonstrated clear superiority over any system of one-man rule," Burke said.

New High School Students Enroll By This Thursday

Knox Kinard, superintendent of Pampa schools, reminded students who will be attending Pampa High School for the first time this year to be sure to enroll by Thursday of this week.

This does not apply to students who attended Pampa Junior High School last year, only to those who moved here since school last spring and who will be in grades 10, 11 or 12.

Kinard said new students who enroll by Thursday would be "obliging both themselves and the school."

All high school students are to report at nine o'clock, Tuesday, Sept. 3, for the beginning of school.

(Complete instructions for enrollment in Pampa Schools, which ran in last Tuesday's paper, will be printed again in tomorrow's edition.)

Hereford Breeders' Picnic Set

Indications are that there will be approximately 300 persons attending the Top of Texas Hereford Breeders' Association annual picnic Thursday.

The affair will be held at the Rube Thompson place, four miles east of Miami.

Festivities will get underway at 5 p.m. with the registration and a Frank Carter barbecue will be served at 6 to members of the association and their invited guests.

Following the barbecue, a program of entertainment and education will be presented, including an address by Durwood Lewter, commercial feedlot operator from Lubbock, Lewter, according to association representatives, has made "quite an outstanding record in feeding commercial cattle." Special entertainment will be given by the Maxine Milliron Trio and the "Squeaky Door Four" barbershop quartet.

US Army Specialist Declares Innocence

By JOHN ZIMMERMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

MAEBASHI, Japan (UP)—The government charged today that Specialist 3C William S. Girard fired "two or three times" at other Japanese before he fired the shot that killed Mrs. Naka Sakai and started a passionate international controversy.

The prosecution read its statement on the opening day of the trial. At the end of the day, trial was adjourned until Sept. 6. During the opening moments Girard pleaded innocent to manslaughter charges and his attorney made a motion to get the case thrown out of Japanese courts.

The prosecution read its statement on the opening day of the trial. At the end of the day, trial was adjourned until Sept. 6. During the opening moments Girard pleaded innocent to manslaughter charges and his attorney made a motion to get the case thrown out of Japanese courts.

The prosecution statement said that on the same day Girard fired at Mrs. Sakai he also fired at the feet of a man identified as Isamu Yadoyara and at scrap scavengers named Toshizo Koyama and Katsuzo Kanase.

Nine Witnesses to Testify
Chief Prosecutor (prosecutor) Yoshio Konawa announced he would call nine witnesses to testify, including Girard's Army buddy Specialist 3-C Victor Nickel of Inkster, Mich., who was with Girard at the time of the shooting.

The prosecution charged that Girard lured Mrs. Sakai toward him by throwing out used cartridges and calling "mama-san, takusan ne (woman, plenty, eh)."

It charged he fired one shot at Hideharu Onozeki, who was with Mrs. Sakai, just missing his feet, and then loaded his grenade launcher again.

It said Girard ran toward Mrs. Sakai, shouting "get out, hey," and fired from a distance of about eight meters (eight yards) hitting her in the back.

Judge Juzo Kawachi adjourned prosecution completed its opening the first day's session after the statement.

Reserves Decision
Girard's attorney, Itsuro Hayaishi, one of Japan's top criminal lawyers, made a motion to get the case thrown out of Japanese courts on jurisdictional grounds.

BULLETIN
PITTSBURGH (UP)—An airplane, believed to be a military craft, crashed today at nearby Clinton, Pa., a small community near the greater Pittsburgh airport. First reports said several homes were set on fire.

A necklace, knife and other articles, believed to be a military cache, were found by boys when they entered a home located at 627 N. Bank.

Earlier yesterday they had entered a home at 833 W. Kingsmill taking firecrackers and other items.

Movie Stars Dared By Attorney To 'Swear' Falsity Of Stories

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Defense attorney Arthur J. Crowley today dared film celebrities "to swear" in court that lurid stories about them in Confidential and Whisper magazines were untrue.

Crowley's challenge was an outgrowth of out-of-court denials of alleged off-screen amour by such stars as Corinne Calvet, Maureen O'Hara and John Carroll. The attorney said he would prefer that the prosecution call the angered celebrities to the stand because "it would put me in a position to impeach their testimony."

The sensational criminal libel trial of Confidential magazine entered its fourth week today.

In another development, a London newspaper quoted model Pat Steele, 25, as saying she was prepared to testify that a story she sold Confidential about movie producer John Huston was "a pack of lies." The newspaper quoted Miss Steele as saying she "elaborated" on a story about Huston and his secretary because she was in need of money.

In New York, Michael Cordaunt - Smith, European correspondent for Confidential, said he had "documentary proof" that the Huston story is true. He said he had affidavits but declined to say who had signed them.

Whether Miss Calvet or dozens of other stars named as possible candidates for the witness stand will be called remained a mystery.

However, the French-born actress has been alerted by the defense to appear in court on two hours' notice.

"I want to see these people take the witness stand for the prosecution and swear that the Confidential magazine stories about them were untrue," Crowley

Pampa Minors Are Adjudged 'Delinquents'

Two Pampa minors, ages 11 and 12, were adjudged delinquent in Juvenile Court this morning and put in the custody of their parents.

The two boys were picked up by police here yesterday after a series of house-breaking and petty burglaries during the past three weeks.

One of the youths had been involved in a burglary last December.

Gray County Judge Bruce Parker told their parents that if the boys were involved in any other mischief he would immediately change the custody to the boys reform school in Gatesville. They are to report regularly to Juvenile Officer H. A. Doggett, and the parents said they would pay for minor damage to the homes.

Five homes were entered by the boys while the owners were gone. They were caught at noon yesterday in a home at 712 Buckler when the owner returned and found them hiding under a bed.

When officers arrived, one boy was being held while the other fled through the front door. They had taken an air rifle and a knife from a house at 324 W. Sumner about three weeks ago. One week ago they broke into a house at 428 N. Wells, but took nothing.

Commission Has 3 Items On Agenda

Three items were listed on the agenda of the regular City Commission meeting to begin at 8 a.m. tomorrow in City Hall, according to acting City Manager, John Koonz.

Heading the list will be bids on two water wells for the city. A paving estimate will be given by Ray Boswell, and the commissioners are to consider laying a sewer line to the Optimist's boys club building which is under construction at Barnes and Craven.

The commissioners may consider appointing two representatives from Pampa to the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority. Another item that might come to the attention of the city leaders is action on a meat ordinance, regulating the sale of all meats within the city. Action was postponed on this during last week's meeting.

LITTLE LIZ

The fall-out that has most of us worried is from our pay checks.

Hats move to the back of the head this fall and take on a soft, draped look. Profile turban (upper left) by Sally Vieto is printed wool jersey in an abstract pattern of grays and beiges on a white ground. This same design does a profile toque (upper center) in ambre velvet caught on one side with a large topaz-colored jewel. This hat is completely crushable, can be packed flat in a suitcase. Turban of gleaming ruby-red satin (upper right) has crown elaborately embroidered with fake ruby jewels. It is by Beatrice Martin. Spanish Isabella cap (lower left) by Emme has high draped crown of sapphire matte jersey and draped bandeau of matching blue velvet. Completely flattering is the hat of white ermine (lower center) by Miss May. This has beret crown mounted on turban drape of white satin. Ruby red wool jersey is draped into turban (lower right) by Hattie Carnegie. It is smooth and high above the brow, dipping low at the sides.

Hat Fashions Go To Head Of Class As Turban Comes Back Into Its Own

By GAILE DUGAS, NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA)—Hats move to the back this fall. The back of the head, that is. They are soft hats, draped and manipulated for a very feminine look. Most of them are brimless but when brims appear they are small and close to the head. It makes fashion sense, then, that the turban, the coil and beret are back in favor. These brand new versions of old favorites are not only soft, they are done in lightweight fabrics that curve easily to the head.

More of the hair and particularly the hairline is revealed by the new hats. Even the soft cloche, for suit wear, shows less brim at front and more at the back, frequently in pleats or gathers. Little caps are twisted to one side of the head and worked in and even feather trim, prominent in every top designer's collection, is draped and handled as if it were fabric. Hat colors are rich and jewel-toned: red, brilliant purple and blues, emerald green, bronze, and pink. Fur is used either by itself or as trim for hats of elegance and great flattery. Mink, colored broadtail, ermine, leopard, sable, mole and even fox are used for turbans, caps, berets and cloches. For evening, hats become miniature. They perch to one side or level on the head in small pillbox or beret form. These get trim of feather or jewels or are cut from fabrics so glowing that they need no trim.

Wife Leads Trek Back To City Life

NEW YORK, N.Y. — If it's the man of the house who is the guiding force behind the transplanting of a city family to the suburbs, it's the wife who can take a big part of the credit for moving them back to the city again. According to a survey in the September issue of Fortune magazine a small "countermovement" of households from suburbs to city is under way and promises to get bigger. Fortune discovered the trend while researching a series of articles on American cities. The magazine says that city life is particularly appealing to women after the children are married and homes suddenly become quiet. Social life seems to pall after there are no more children's problems or PTA to talk and worry about. The wife discovers, says Fortune, that she really has very little in common with people she has been close to for years. Fortune found that a woman often identifies the city with a certain "freedom." The day in town has been a day off (as some wives put it, the "maids day off") and she has long envied her husband his presumably exciting life in the city. "She wants to be close to things," says Fortune, and while she might be sorry to leave the garden, she looks forward to the museums and theaters and symphonies. Whether or not she will ever take advantage of the cultural life, is beside the point, the report adds. It's there, and to a city dweller this is an important fact.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
 "It isn't fair!" is the eternal complaint of the G.'s two older children. Nine-year-old Janet will come home to find her younger brother on the back porch scraping the cake batter bowl. Flying to her mother, she'll cry, "Why does he always get everything? Just because I had to go to the library, you didn't have to let him scrape the whole bowl! It isn't fair!" Recognizing the jealousy behind these accusations, Mrs. G. tries to soothe it by declaring impartial love for both children. Doggedly, day in, day out she says, "I love you both the same." It doesn't work. Words do not rid children of jealousy. Time does — and their own increasing experience of our reliability. Thus, the jealous accusations of Janet and George seek a reassurance from their mother that is beyond her power to give. It might be wise to tell them just that — to say, "I can't make you believe that I'm fair to you. You are the person who has to make up his mind about that as you get to know more and more about me."

Speaking this truth will benefit Mrs. G. quite as much as the children. She is not responsible for the jealousy between Janet and George. It is a characteristic of all human nature. So, instead of wasting time wondering what awful thing she did to create it, she'd better start resisting her fear that she's to blame for it. For until she does, she'll just go on receding from every new evidence of it as more damning proof of her incompetence. And the children will have to go on attacking her as "unfair."

What else, given her fear of their jealousy, can she do? They fear what their mother fears. When their mother recedes from their jealousy as frightening, they promptly run away from it, too, crying, "You are unfair!"

Women also like the idea of being close to stores. Help is easier to get in the city, transportation is less complicated and a lot of things are within walking distance. Fortune says women talk of more leisure time and the magazine found many returnee wives delighting over the fact that at long last they are seeing something of their husbands — and not in a bad temper from commuting either. Husbands, too, testified to the new way of life they had found in the city. The men told Fortune it was great being but a few minutes away from the office and they were delighted with the two extra hours they now had each day. Commuting, many said, "took too much of life," and they mentioned such new found pleasures as "strolling home and gazing down from the terrace at the jammed cars fighting their way to the suburbs."

Twinkle-Toes Need Once-A-Week Care

By ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor
 It's fun to wear polish on your toenails, particularly in the warm weather that's left to us this year. Your feet look the prettier in sheer stockings or open sandals for the gleam of rosy polish. But this doesn't mean that you can get by with merely applying polish now and then. Give yourself a thorough pedicure once a week, just as you give yourself a manicure. Begin by removing the old polish. Then, file your toenails straight across with an emery board. Don't file them down at the sides or you'll sprout ingrown toenails. Soak your feet in warm soapy water, dry them carefully and separate the toes with small rolls of cotton. Now, brush on a thin coat of base coat and pick your polish shade. It should be in the same color family if not the same color as your nail polish. You might like to try one of the iridescent polishes in a pastel shade. Stir the polish thoroughly so that the iridescence is evenly distributed and apply it just as you would any other polish. When the polish is completely dry, flow on a film of clear liquid overcoat to give a glass-like finish.

Rebekah Lodge To Initiate Members

Mrs. Ola Isbell, vice grand, was in charge of the regular session of the Pampa Rebekah Lodge No. 555, when it met Thursday evening in the IOOF Hall. It was announced that initiation would be held on August 29. Members are asked to wear formal or semi-formal attire. It was also announced that a circle meeting would be held on Tuesday evening in Panhandle. Mrs. Bertha Chambers appointed a committee to arrange for the officer's banquet to be held September 14 at 7 p.m. in the Hall. Members reported ill were Mmes. Lillye Noblett and Susie Beard. Twenty-three members were present. If your mixed dishes vary in flavor from dinner to dinner, it may be the eggs. There are flavor differences between high and low grade eggs. Better flavored baked custard and angel-food cake, for example, result from top quality eggs.

It was the jurisdiction issue that sparked the controversy in the United States with congressmen and veterans' groups criticizing the United States for turning Girard over to Japan.

Japanese trials usually run for months with frequent and lengthy recesses. However, Judge Kawachi had promised that he would speed up the trial as much as possible without interfering with the procedure of the court and the fairness of the treatment of the defendant.

Girard, 22, of Ottawa, Ill., was accused of shooting and killing Mrs. Sakai, mother of six children, on a U.S. Army firing range Jan. 20 while she was gathering shell casings to sell as scrap metal. If convicted, Girard faces a possible sentence of from two to 15 years imprisonment.

Declares Innocence Girard declared his innocence at the opening of the trial when Judge Kawachi asked him if he had anything to say.

Girard spoke in a voice almost inaudible to spectators in the first row seats: "I did not scatter shells or lure anyone," he said. "I did not intend to hurt anyone. I was carrying out my duty defending the machine gun. I fired over their heads to scare them."

"I have one thing to say," Girard said. "It was an accident, and I am sorry this occurred."

Some 300 persons gathered when Girard arrived.

There was no commotion outside the courthouse, but a self-appointed Japanese champion for Girard passed out leaflets demanding a light sentence for the American soldier.

Interested In An Unusual Piece Of Jewelry? Check This

By DOC QUIGG United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (UP)—Sam Kramer, a tall, slim man with a bushy black beard, pierced ears, haunting eyes, and an addiction to awning-stripe shirts, is a Greenwich Village jewelry-smith who is wedded to the weird.

He is also one of the best advertising writers in the world. The thing he advertises is Sam Kramer and Sam's jewelry, which is made, as his ads say, "with our own bare hands and a few creature-like tools."

His handbills and leaflets have excited my admiration for 15 years now, and I still have the first one he put out, beginning: "Fantastic jewelry — for people who are slightly mad." It describes some of his more morbid, writing pieces thus: "Tortured and massive, they almost cry out with hysteria."

The text of this original pamphlet also contains the immortal headline: "Buying is actually discouraged."

GERMS AND WORMS His leaflets are apt to have such bold headlines as "Wol Eek! Gasp!" or "Warning!!" or "Stop Brooding!!!" or "Why fight it any longer? Come at once. Or wire, or send an emissary, or beam a strong through wave."

The text is likely to say: "Germs and worms and amoebas and kidneys, startled eyes with teardrops dropping... not exactly jewelry and not exactly anything else... but just what your subconscious has always wanted."

A windfall for Sam occurred some years ago when, for $150, he bought 18,000 eyes from stuffed animals from "a tipsy taxidermist." These stare from much of his jewelry. He also gets used artificial human eyes from pawn shops and works them in along with pieces of teeth, bones, tusks, and meteorites from outer space. Some potential customers never get into Sam's shop. They stop at the door. Instead of a doorknob, there's a female hand, carved in copper, extending toward you — skinny, witchlike, vampirish.

Observers here believe that Khrushchev's attack will boomerang, winning Adenauer more votes among the violently anti-Russian West Germans. They have also done harm to the Socialist party by emphasizing Soviet intractability over reunification.

Khrushchev made it clear the Soviets are not prepared to negotiate a reunification which would depose the East German Communist regime. He almost contemptuously dismissed the proposal supported by Socialists and Christian Democrats alike — for free, nationwide elections.

The real worry for the Christian Democrats is Adenauer's health. For a man in his 80s Adenauer is remarkably fit and has been delivering hour-long speeches on a campaign tour without visible signs of fatigue. But there is always the danger at his age that a comparatively minor ailment might be serious.

Adenauer's greatest asset is the fact that West Germany is enjoying booming economic prosperity which has even permitted a national tax cut. The low point of his fortunes came last October-November when the Hungarian revolt raised fears of another war. A new element in the campaign was the visit of Soviet Communist Chief Nikita Khrushchev earlier this month to East Germany.

Khrushchev blasted Adenauer as a new Hitler and warned that his policies were taking Germany along the road to war.

Important Election Slated In Germany

The latest indications are that Adenauer will win a third successive four year term, but it may be by a narrow margin.

Public opinion polls report that support for the Christian Democrats has risen from 39 to 46 per cent of the electorate since November. Socialist strength has dropped from 44 to 35 per cent in the same period.

Political experts estimate that about 80 per cent of the voters already have made up their minds. The campaigns of all parties are now being directed at the 20 per cent "floating vote" which will be decisive.

There will be at least 494 Bundestag seats at stake, half of them by direct election in the constituencies and the remainder by proportional representation. One of the smaller parties, the free Democrats, may emerge holding the balance of power and forcing West Germany into another coalition government.

Are Top Hats Proper At Baltimore Games?

By HERBERT SPENCER United Press Staff Correspondent LONDON (UP)—John Taylor, Britain's top arbiter of men's fashions, got to musing recently about Queen Elizabeth's visit to the North Carolina-Maryland football game in October and what should the dignitaries wear.

Top hats and tails, of course, he thought, or more properly, morning clothes.

And then he got to thinking about those top hats which would cut off the view of those sitting behind. What would you do? Flatten them a little? Bore holes in them?

Obviously not, thought Taylor, who is the editor of the trade magazine Tailor and Cutter and whose word on men's fashions is law in the British Isles.

But his musings had been loud and little did he know the fire his thought had caused.

The first set of rumors hit Saville Row, the capital of English gentlemen's tailoring: "Somebody is cutting the tops off of top hats for the royal party to wear in Baltimore for the football game."

One version got into a London newspaper quoting the Tailor and Cutter's famous editor as prescribing stovepipe hats with abbreviated chimneys.

"It all happened because a chap from Baltimore rang me up and asked what the mayor of Baltimore should wear to that football game," Taylor explained today.

"I naturally thought of morning dress, as we call it. It is not so silly a suggestion. There is an old tradition in England that the directors of football clubs and guests

Braves Stretch Flag Lead With 7-3 Win Over Phils

Tribe's Hazle Has Perfect Day

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Braves feel they'll win in a breeze, especially now that rookie Bob (Hurricane) Hazle is leveling a path to the pennant for them.

Hazle, a left-handed hitting outfielder brought up from Wichita on July 27, has been Milwaukee's most devastating hitter the past two weeks and now sports a .526 average with 30 hits in 57 times at bat.

Sunday he blasted a pair of three-run homers plus a single for a "perfect day" that powered the Braves to a 7-3 victory over the Phillies and enabled them to stretch their National League lead to 7 1/2 games.

Hazle's spectacular one-man batting show accounted for Milwaukee's last six runs. Southpaw Warren Spahn drove in the first one with a homer off loser Robin Roberts in the third inning en route to his 16th victory. The loss was Roberts' 18th compared with eight victories. Stan Lopata homered for the Phillies.

Chixos Move Up

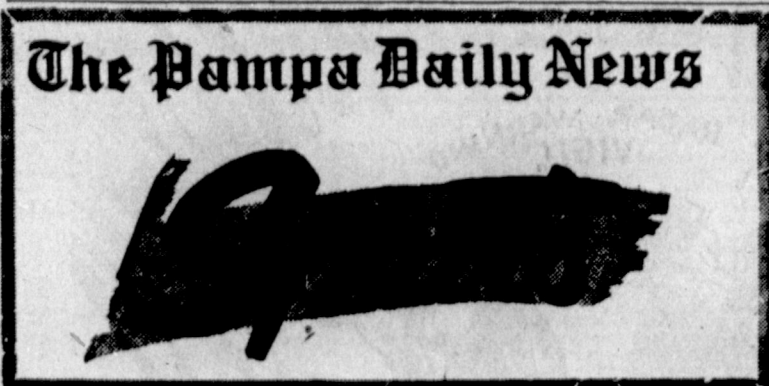

The Brooklyn Dodgers edged the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-5; the Giants crushed the Redlegs, 10-1; and the Pirates beat the Cubs, 3-0, in the opener, then lost the nightcap, 5-2.

The White Sox tightened the American League race considerably, climbing to within four games of first place by beating the Orioles twice, 6-2, and 5-0, while Detroit defeated the Yankees, 7-2. Cleveland took a pair from Washington, 3-2 and 6-4, and Kansas City beat Boston, 3-2.

Don Drysdale was credited with his 13th victory for the Dodgers although Brooklyn manager Walt Alton had to employ three pitchers — Ed Roebuck, Sandy Koufax and Sal Maglie — to stop the Cards in the ninth.

Muller, O'Connell Star

Don Muller drove in three runs for the Giants with two homers and a pair of singles and teammate Danny O'Connell also drove

Arcaro Relates The Outstanding Races Of His 25 Year Career

By EDDIE ARCARO
Written for the United Press

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (UP) — Gee whiz, boy, writing is much harder than picking winners, not that I'm any good at that either, but trying to pick out the greatest race out of the 20,000 that I have ridden is darn near impossible.

There have been so many races that I enjoyed winning and when you lose they are all bad. Your memory fades a bit at times when you have 25 years of riding to cover and the later races are all much clearer in my mind.

But who can forget the speed with which Whirlaway picked up his fields in his many winning races? Assault didn't have any room to go between Gallorette and Symbia in the Butler Handicap but he went through anyway and we won. I really smiled that day.

Enter Citation

Citation was just like driving a Caddy. He could give you speed at any time and more than once during a race to boot. You'd have to search pretty hard to find a gamer horse than Devil Diver and we had many good races together. Picking any one of these would mean leaving the others out. That won't work, so let's make another category: One of the most satisfying.

The Nashua-Swaps match falls into this category because of many reasons. We had been beaten, pretty badly at that, by Swaps in the Derby and now we had another shot at him. Winning any race for Mr. Fitz (Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, veteran trainer) is a pleasure but this one meant a little more to him than most others. His methods of training were on the line and so were the methods used by all the horsemen of the old school in which I had been brought up.

The old gentleman had Nashua sharpened up for that race. I watched him take two months with the big colt just for that day. I

Venturi Takes Miller Open

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Ken Venturi, professional golfer's hottest player with two straight tournament victories, said today two lessons he learned in his 1956 Masters' blow-up had helped in his young career.

"Don't nurse a lead. Go out and try to improve it."

"Never look back and see what the guy behind you is doing," said Venturi, who won the $35,000 Miller Open here Sunday with a 13-under-par 267.

"I didn't pay any attention to what Snead or Balding were doing. I figured I needed a 68 the last day to win, and I went out to shoot that," he said.

The confident 26-year-old San Franciscan did just that. His 2-under-par 68 won him the $6,000 first prize. Five strokes behind him with 272 were Al Balding, of Big Winn Inn, Ont., and the "Old Blammer," Sammy Snead, who each got $3,500.

Snead made the best showing of the "old pros" in the tournament. Ed Furgol, St. Andrews, Ill., who won last year's tournament with a 265, finished out of the money with a 290. Dr. Gary Middlecoff was 11 strokes back.

Howie Johnson, Houston, Tex., and Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, who were two and three in the St. Paul Open, tied for third with Paul Harney, Worcester, Mass., each getting $1,866 for their 276 totals.

Admission is $1.50 for ringside, $1.25 for reserved seats, 90 cents for general admission adult and 50 cents for general admission children.

Grid Practice Begins Today

By UNITED PRESS

More than 700 of Texas' top schoolboy football teams open practice today for their first game less than two weeks away.

Classes AAAA and AAA aren't allowed to open drills until Friday under rules of the Texas Interscholastic League because they are allowed spring workouts. However, the 164 teams in Class AA, 191 in A, 226 in B and 153 in six-man start rolling today.

None of last year's state champions — Abilene in AAAA, Garland in AAA, Stamford in AA and Stinnett in A — are favored to repeat again this year.

Both Stamford and Abilene have divisional record winning streaks going, but will have to hustle to beat the all-time mark of 43 set by little Hull-Diasetta. Abilene has won 37 straight and Stamford 32.

Early favorites are Corpus Christi Ray and Amarillo in AAAA, Andrews and Nederland in AAA, Locke and Giddings in AA and Paducah, Big Lake and Bishop in A.

Birdie Blasts His Redlegs

NEW YORK (UP) — Angry manager Birdie Tebbets lowered the boom on his slumping Cincinnati Redlegs today, slapping them with a curfew and rules on drinking beer and smoking.

Tebbetts barred the door of the Redlegs' clubhouse at the Polo Grounds after Sunday's 10-1 loss to the Giants, Cincinnati's 12th defeat in the last 13 games, and "roasted" his players' ears. It was learned he announced the following rules for players:

An 11 p.m. curfew at night on days when the team plays in the afternoon; after night games players must go directly from the ball park to their hotel rooms.

No beer drinking after games.

No smoking in uniform.

All players must report in the hotel lobby at 9:30 a.m. every day, whether or not a game is scheduled that day.

Controversy Continues Over Patterson's Racial Remarks

SEATTLE (UP) — The controversy over alleged remarks by heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson about "racial prejudice" in his fight with Pete Rademacher was stalemated in the "you-did-it, no-I-did-not" phase today.

Emmett Watson, reporter for the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, insisted that Patterson made remarks about the $250,000 guarantee being possible only because it was raised in the South.

Patterson denied making the remarks.

Patterson's and Rademacher's camps backed the champion and called Watson's story "ridiculous."

Two newsmen, who said they were present at the interview, said Watson's story was factual.

The controversy broke out after the fight when Watson quoted Patterson as saying:

"In New York they couldn't have raised $250 for this kind of fight. Rademacher couldn't have raised the money in any other place but Georgia or the South. That money had to be raised some place where they don't like colored people... If I had been a white fighter they never would have put up any $250,000... The whole show leaves me with a very bad taste in my mouth."

What Elections Do

We are at the moment a considerable distance away from an election. Consequently, this may be a good time to consider the scope and character of the process whereby we, as Americans, are permitted to express in peaceful manner our pleasure or displeasure at what is happening to us politically.

Were an election bearing down upon us, such objective study would be more difficult than it presently is. Emotional intensity always increases when great issues are linked to public personalities, and it is considered by so many that so much hinges on an electoral outcome.

What is an election? In simple definition, it is a revolution conducted within legal and peaceful bounds.

It should be understood that government is an agency of force. It should also be comprehended that government, as such an agency, is always in a position to wield that force either aggressively or defensively. Force does not reside generally in the body politic. The people are NOT the government. The people are the governed. For there to be any government, there must be a body of people who are to be governed. To presume otherwise is to presume an absurdity. Nor do the people control the government. That is fatuous nonsense. The government controls the people. It is never the other way around.

It is presumed, as a part of our national mythology, that the people are the government. This myth is maintained in the popular superstitions by reason of our periodic elections. It is supposed by a vast majority that so long as the people retain the power of voting, that they are in essence in command of every political situation. No greater fallacy exists.

The people are NEVER in command of any political situation. It is the function of the government to control and to regulate. People are the subjects of these controls and these regulations. Power, like water, always flows down hill. Power flows from the government, down upon the people, who obey their government or suffer the disastrous consequences of their refusal to obey.

What is an election, then? It is a moment in time, set aside by the government, wherein individual citizens can register in a peaceful manner their desires respecting the names of their chief controllers and regulators. That is all.

And it can be said that during the period of an election, as during the period in which a revolution might occur, power is flowing up from the people and against their government. But this is not government. This is an opportunity for the expression of displeasure against their government. Once the election or the revolution ends, the power is firmly implanted in the government once more and the people again are the governed, with nothing more to accomplish on the subject.

These periodic peacefully performed programs do not establish that the people are the government. The people retain no such authority. Nor is it true that by virtue of an election great national issues are decided. The only issue to be decided by an election, or in the main by a revolution, is the issue relating to the names of the personalities who will, thereafter, rule. But the rule is centered in the government and not in the people. The issues are decided later by the persons who achieve election.

What is important is that we fully understand these things. For if we insist that by virtue of our quadrennial trips to the polls that we are in fact ruling ourselves, we shall have succumbed to a patent sophistry. All we are doing by these pilgrimages, is to help in selecting between two or more potential candidates, the names of the men who will have power over us. This does not mean that we retain power. On the contrary, it means that we do not retain power, but rather that we pass it over to someone else and consequently accept his dicta as to how and what we shall do, or not do.

Those who believe that a right to vote is automatically a safeguard of their freedom are in for a rude awakening. Every democracy and every republic in the human record, have fallen in the midst of much voting. An election is no assurance of freedom in perpetuity. An election simply provides for a periodic venting of our displeasure. After that, things continue much as before.

The Polytheists We Are, The False Gods Served

I noticed in a church announcement that the preacher was going to preach on the subject "The Polytheists We Are."

"Poly," of course, means "many," and "theist" means "god"—the many gods.

That was an interesting subject to me because I believe our trouble largely comes from trying to serve false gods. So I went to hear the sermon. He took as his text Joshua 24:15: "And if it seem evil unto you to serve the Lord, choose you this day whom ye will serve."

Joshua had related how the fathers had served false gods and how it had not been good. Then he warned them that if they were not going to serve the eternal Lord, to choose that day whom they would serve.

It seems to me that our trouble today comes from attempting to serve false gods. The preacher named some of the false gods. He mentioned the god of Mars, or war; the god of Venus, or lust; the god of Bacchus, or drink; the god of Apollo or beauty and the god of mammon, or wealth. These false gods directly harm the individuals who worship them.

The false god that does the most harm by worshipping is a god that directly injures every other person in the world. This is the kind of a false god that the Reverend did not seem to recognize. Of course, in a sermon one cannot go into all the false gods. But the false god that does the most harm certainly would have been mentioned if the preacher had recognized it.

This false god he did not mention has caused us to be in almost continuous wars, long periods of unemployment, ever-mounting debts, money that is having less and less purchasing power, increasing juvenile delinquency and less and less belief in personal responsibility. These are some of the things that we suffer because we are worshipping false gods—the various governments.

The problem is to get people to realize which gods are false. The false god that is getting us in all this trouble is the belief in the serving and worshipping and the respecting and the honoring of and the having reverence for the governments that do things that no individual has a natural right to do.

This preacher does not recognize this god because he believes that the city in which he lives has a right to use aggressive force to make people do things they do not want to use. He believes the city, through the representative of the majority, has a right to force widows and orphans and ditchdiggers and dishwashers to help pay for books when they prefer to use the fruits of their labor to buy food and clothing and other things. Certainly men who understand God's laws do not so believe. In other words, he puts the representative of the majority on a pedestal and contends they are justified and act morally and ethically and in harmony with the Love Commandment when they force individuals to pay taxes for anything the majority wants. If that is not a false god, then I would like to know what is a false god. And when people so believe locally, they certainly believe in it for the state, the federal government and one world. They are trying to give their agents the right to do things no individual has a right to do. They are making the agent superior to the master.

Remember the Great Teacher said: "The learner is not superior to his teacher, nor the servant to his master. Enough for the learner to be on a level with the teacher and for the servant to be on a level with the master." But this false god that permits the agents of the government or the majority to do things the individual has no moral right to do is putting the servant, the representative of the city, above the master, the individual. It is a complete denial of eternal moral law. It is the worst form of false gods because it has the collective power to do harm that few individuals have the power to do. That is the reason why the false god that has brought about the above conditions mentioned.

Yes, what we need most is to have more people recognize that there is only one Lord, one God, one principle; that man cannot serve two masters—his God-given conscience within and the will of the agents of the majority.

Jesus emphasized the warning of Joshua when he pointed out, "No man can serve two masters for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon."

You cannot serve God and the state that violates the Decalogue. You will put one of them first. And when any man, whether he be preacher or layman, contends that the agents of the state have rights that no individual has, he is worshipping the worst kind of a false god.

The Reverend, undoubtedly, preached the best sermon he knew. He is undoubtedly a product of contemporary environment rather than of the Decalogue and the admonitions of Jesus Christ.

A small boy, who had never been on a farm, visited a family friend who lived on a farm a considerable distance from any railroad town. For a time, he enjoyed the novelty of the situation and seemed to be happy in his rural environment. After three or four days, though, monotony and homesickness got the better of the lad. He wrote the following message to his mother: "Dear Mother, I am not having a better time than I thought I would. Your loving son, Jimmie."

Dubinsky Denies Tie With Racketeer Dio

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — The day after Dave Dubinsky's pious denial was printed, disclaiming any truck with Johnny Dio, in an affidavit filed with the Senate committee, I met him in the lobby of the Drake in Chicago and we had quite a party. A lot of leeches of the executive committee of the AFL-CIO stood around gawping and one of the bell-men, an old friend from the happy days of the big fight and prohibition, stepped up at the conclusion and said: "Brother, I wish I had the movie rights to that one — with sound."

Dave made the pass. He threw me a nod and when I stopped he said, "How long ago did you learn that Dio was a hoodlum?" I said I couldn't say as to that, but, anyway, why? What was the point? Dave did a couple of laps around Robin Hood's barn and finally said that even if he had known Dio back in 1930, as a witness had charged before the Senate committee the day before, that would not prove toleration of a crook. Dave said he did not learn that Dio was a gangster until later. I said I couldn't be sure about that because he has access to information which I and others haven't.

"And, anyway," I said, "don't tell me that you are always quick to throw hoodlums out of your rackets because I know you had a report on your desk for about two years which absolutely wrapped up your Pal Sam Berger as a gangster, but you didn't even make a swipe at the jouse until a few weeks ago and then only because he took the Fifth Amendment."

I said: "You knew Berger and Dio were close friends and had business relations and this report even told you how many suits of clothes and pairs of shirts - colored slacks Berger was buying and just exactly where and the prices. And don't try to tell me you didn't because I know you did."

This is not verbatim on either side, you understand, but a fair presentation from memory. You see, Dave has been peering down his snoot at other boss unionists who make traffic with criminals and Dio had been nailed as one of the mob who blinded Dave's intimate personal friend and political devotee, Victor Riesel. And, moreover, just 24 hours before, in that same lobby, I had slapped into his fat, chubby fist a whole page of single-space on the criminal record of his fabulous martyr, Willie Lurye, who got a grand political demonstration, old world style, at his funeral in New York in 1949.

Lurye was hacked dead in a phone booth and Dubinsky uttered squawks of outrage and the union ordered out 65,000 workers, without pay, for a half-holiday, which, naturally, turned into a whole day off, without pay. In New York you can't hustle back to your job in the Bronx or Coney Island in time to hit any licks after a political rally downtown. In Europe, both the Reds and the Nazi - Fascists practiced that trick. It is called the spontaneous demonstration. Dubinsky got a rousing political hand from a dumb phase of journalism which did not bother to ascertain whether Lurye was a martyr to a cause or just another dead hoodlum.

Editors:

To spell out matters a little more explicitly in the Supreme Court decision which turned over Private Girard to the Japanese for trial: The Court used the logic of Joseph Caiphaz: "It is expedient for us that one man die for the people."

Girard was thrown to the wolves. The newspapers were full of assurances that they were, after all, very gentle wolves and the soldier would not be badly mauled.

According to the Constitution, Now we find, by fiat of the Supreme Court, that the citizen exists for the state, and you or I can be sacrificed — even in peacetime — if someone thinks it is required by our foreign policy.

As Senator Knowland pointed out, the diplomatic corps and NATO personnel have been most careful to maintain their constitutional privilege of trial by an American Court. They will have nothing to do even with "nice wolves." But the Supreme Court has taken away this right from our servicemen, thereby reducing them to the status of 2nd-class citizens.

It is not the Supreme Court which is wholly to blame for this and for other unfair acts of theirs which affect us. It is we who voted for a President and Congress who allow this Court to be in power, or it is we who did NOT vote for ones who would not allow such a Court to rule us, who are at least equally to blame, if not more so.

Our President and Congress MAY be sincere in believing that they are being fair in their decisions and acts of governing. Therefore, we should not vote for anyone who is for Income Tax, Social Security, payroll tax deduction, certain foreign aid, the United Nations, the Status of Forces Treaty, the Wagner Act, the use of strikes and picketing, and other important things which we are against. There ARE both kinds of candidates during election.

Disarm Conference Like Others Hurts US Prestige

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The disarmament discussions have now been transferred from London to United Nations headquarters at New York under circumstances extremely inauspicious to the Eisenhower Administration. Like so many postwar conferences, the five-months negotiations threaten new injury to American prestige abroad and a gain for the Communists.

The Russians show no inclination to fulfill Delegate Harold E. Stassen's early optimistic reports on the anti-Stalin position of the men in the Kremlin, which does not seem to extend to foreign policy. Delegate Zorin, under instructions and wraps from Khrushchev, has used the talks as a platform for Communist propaganda, charging that the United States effort.

WEST GERMANY JAPAN OFFENDED — Wrose still, the Dulles-Stassen proposals for establishment of inspection areas has antagonized both West Germany and Japan, two shaky Allies. Bonn and Tokyo have filed unpublicized protests against our alleged neglect of their national interests. Numerous NATO nations, a NATO supposedly friendly non-NATO countries in Europe feel offended.

preme Court, that the citizen exists for the state, and you or I can be sacrificed — even in peacetime — if someone thinks it is required by our foreign policy. at our presumption in speaking for them without prior consultation with their government officials.

According to them, Secretary Dulles has bargained away their rights. For instance he has not included Formosa, Okinawa or Japan in the territory marked for inspection against surprise attacks. Nor has he included the Chinese mainland, although that nation can provide atomic and aircraft facilities to Russia. In short, he has left Japan out of the disarmament picture entirely. It is a blow to her pride as well as to her security.

RUSSIANS ADROIT ARGUMENTS — This difficulty results from Washington's refusal to recognize the Mao Tse-tung regime. Zorin has argued skillfully on Red China's behalf, that no disarmament plan will work without Peiping's participation. Dulles takes an opposite view for obvious reasons. Admitting Communist China to these talks would amount to de facto recognition.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany fears that Dulles' policy may cost him votes in next month's election, although he seems sure of winning. In the Bonn statesman's opinion, Dulles gives the impression that he would barter German unification for a disarmament agreement. The Secretary of State denies this suggestion, but it may not be convincing to West German voters.

Finally, the Dulles' inspection program includes such non-NATO members as Spain, Austria, Yugoslavia, Sweden and Finland in the proposed European demilitarized zone. But none of these countries has taken part in the talks or given assent to the American plan. In fact, in addition to London and Paris, the only countries which have given formal approval are Canada, Norway and Denmark.

SECRETARY DULLES' INTIMATION — In answer to this chorus of public or private protests against what some foreign statesmen and editorial characterize as "American dictatorship," Secretary Dulles has intimated that they will have an opportunity to express their contrary viewpoint when the Stassen subcommittee's report is presented to the United Nations at the regular October session in New York.

He has also notified the suspicious and nonparticipating governments that no definite agreement on inspection areas will become final without their consent. It is hoped that this general assurance will satisfy all the dissatisfied and dissident parties.

From a realistic, diplomatic standpoint, however, this need to placate and soothe so many unhappy statesmen in Europe and the Far East at the last moment will merely precipitate fresh wrangles that will kill any chance of even a limited and preliminary disarmament agreement.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
Phil Abrahamson, who died recently in Hollywood, Fla., was one of our great players. He played today's hand in the finals of the 1933 Vanderbilt cup and showed how an expert takes advantage of every possible break.

to hold the first trick (East playing the six) and West shifted to a heart. East won with the king and returned the suit.

Phil won in dummy, played the ace of diamonds and ruffed a small diamond in his own hand. He continued by leading the ace of spades and ruffing another spade with dummy's last trump.

A third diamond lead was ruffed with the jack of hearts, and the queen of hearts led pulled East's last trump. The four of clubs was discarded from dummy.

Next came a successful club finesse and a lead of a fourth diamond. East was in with the

Penland Elected By Wholesalers

NEW YORK — Election of R. Buford Penland of Dallas as vice president and director of the newly organized Schenley Wholesalers Foundation was announced today. The Foundation is described as a non-profit organization formed to make grants for educational, scientific, literary, religious and charitable purposes. Penland is president of Penland Distributors, Inc., 6614 Maple Avenue, Dallas, Texas.

The foundation has been established, its officers said, "to provide a permanent means through which Schenley wholesalers, as a group, can make a unified and major contribution to the advancement of the ideals exemplified by the American way of life."

The initial project, now under way, is the establishment of a scholarship program of awards to children of employees of member Schenley wholesalers and to others recommended by such wholesalers, the announcement said. Also, grants - in - aid will be provided to privately endowed colleges or universities attended by scholarship winners.

Sidney E. Frank, vice president of Schenley Industries, Inc., was elected honorary chairman and a director of the Foundation.

The Foundation will give its attention first to college scholarships, the first of which is expected to be available for the 1958-59 academic year.

king of diamonds and had to lead a club to dummy's ace whereupon dummy's fifth diamond made the last trick.

It will be noted that all Phil needed to make his contract was a three-trump break, a four-three diamond break, a successful club finesse and the presence of the long spades in the hand that didn't hold the long diamonds.

More than that he needed the skill necessary to take advantage of the breaks that were there.

Jimmy Stewart Unperplexed Over Lack Of Promotion

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Shy, stammering Jimmy Stewart played the real-life role today he's portrayed so many times on the screen—the nice guy who gets a rough deal, but comes through like a champ anyway.

The lanky actor's friends say Jimmy would have made brigadier general without a hitch if he weren't a famous movie star.

They yelled "foul" when his promotion was hung up by the Senate Armed Services Committee this week.

But not Jimmy. "I'll continue to do my best," he said, referring to his colonel in the Strategic Air Command.

"I was very honored to receive the nomination for this promotion by President Eisenhower and the Air Force," Stewart added, and then he clammed up, just as he has in movies when the script threw him a curve.

The actor's friend and agent, Bernie Williams, says Jimmy pulled a two-week tour of active duty with the reserve this year and last—which is all the Air Force requires.

Jimmy himself admits he has been through transition and familiarization with B-47s and B-52s—the two SAC standbys, and both jets. During his last tour, less than a month ago, Col. Stewart had 25 hours flying time in B-52s.

According to Jimmy, his recent training has been directed at fulfilling the job of deputy commander of operations in the event of mobilization day—a task that involves movement of all aircraft throughout the global command.

At the height of his film career, when he was chosen best actor of 1946 for his role in "The Philadelphia Story," Stewart junked his $3,000-a-week movie salary to become a backprivate. In those days they were paying $21 a month.

Was Too Light: He weighed less than 157 pounds when he reported to the draft board and was turned down for being underweight.

A few months later he fattened himself up by 10 pounds and was called into service in March, 1941, eight months before Pearl Harbor. Jimmy rose rapidly in the ranks of the Army Air Corps. He had held a civilian flying license since 1935.

Without hoopla or fanfare, Stewart went about doing his duty — 20 combat missions and 18 months in the European war theater.

He was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for leading his squadron of bombers on a Feb. 1945, raid on Brunswick, Germany, aircraft factories. He also was awarded the air medal and oak leaf cluster.

Jimmy is as highly regarded in his native Pennsylvania as he is in Hollywood. The 49-year-old star of an Indiana, Pa., hardware store owner, Stewart once was suggested as the Democratic gubernatorial candidate of the state.

But win or lose, general or no, Jimmy Stewart isn't fretting about the current hubbub in Washington. He and his family are vacationing on his ranch in northeastern Nevada.

HOLLYWOOD — Mae West, on a confidential magazine story about her and former featherweight boxing champion Chalky Wright:

"The entire story was silly. I was living in an apartment house in the Wilshire district at the time and it was like living in a fish bowl. Everybody knew what everybody else was doing."

FORT ORD, Calif. — Army Secretary Wilbur Brucker, on the need for continuing the draft:

"I feel it would cut the strength of each service directly in half if the draft were abolished."
