In Immediate Future No More Arms For Tunisia

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States has no immediate intention of sending any more guns to Tunisia, officials said today.

Moreover, if and when more arms shipments are planned, this country will consult first with France and also obtain new assurances from Tunisians the weapons will not fall into the hands of Algerian rebels.

Although no hard and fast promises resulted from Tuesday's conference of French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Pineau apparently is going away in a happier frame of mind than he arrived in.

Pineau Confidential
French officials said Pineau was confident he had succeeded in impressing upon Dulles the urgent need for limiting arms shipments to Tunisia.

Pineau this morning had a meeting scheduled with Adlai E. Stevenson, the state department's special NATO adviser. Before leaving for New York, Pineau also planned to talk to top U.S. defense officials, possibly on the deployment of American 1,500-mile ballistic missiles on the European continent.

Dulles and Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy said Tuesday the U.S. will start to send atomic missiles abroad at the end of next year or before mid-1959. McElroy said Britain would get them first.

Dulles To Speak
Stevenson, twice-defeated Democratic presidential candidate, was to fly to Chicago later today with Dulles, who is making an evening address to the Chicago Council of Foreign Relations.

Many political observers felt the vote margin Tuesday night would have been even narrower if the 35-year-old premier had not made a last minute appeal for national unity during the current crisis over Anglo-American arms shipments to Tunisia.

Some political observers openly predicted Gaillard's days in office were numbered.

KF Club Hears Address By Woman Author On 'Happiness'

Approximately 235 persons attended the dinner meeting of the Top of Texas Knife and Fork Club last night in the high school cafeteria.

Dr. Cleo Dawson, widely traveled lecturer and physiologist, addressed the group on "The Achievement of Happiness."

Bill W. Waters gave the invocation and Mrs. Jack Foster introduced the speaker.

In her address, Dr. Dawson stressed the importance of self-satisfaction and elaborated upon the point that the basic element in the emotional world of man is fear. Fears which should be brought out into the open and conquered rather than hidden within one's self and pondered over.

Her idea of self happiness is to meet things as they come, conquer, obtain your goal and go onto other problems that are far greater than the hidden worries of the mind.

Dr. Dawson, widely traveled,

Pampans In Economics Discussion

Approximately 25 Pampa businessmen who had previously finished one of the three economic study courses sponsored in Pampa by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce National Affairs Committee, met with J. L. Craig, district manager of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, this morning in the chamber office.

Craig spoke to the group on ways and means of putting into practice some of the fundamentals in economics learned through these discussion groups.

Craig was to have spoken to the Rotary Club at noon today following the club's luncheon meeting. The address was to have stressed the importance of better economic understanding on the part of "Mr. Average Businessman" for the successful operation of his business.

A fourth economic study course will be started in Pampa soon if there is enough demand for the course, according to Mack Hiatt, chairman of the Legislative and National Affairs Committee of the chamber.

Rocket Production Rushed

European Positions By '59 Is US Goal

By CHARLES CORDRY
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States today rushed rocket production hoping to put them in European defensive positions by 1959.

Army Chief of Staff Gen. Maxell D. Taylor at the same time urged a speedup in development of an anti-missile missile as a defense to any Russian ocean-spanning rockets.

The step-up in 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missiles is expected to mean a further cutback in U. S. military manpower and domestic bases.

Top defense officials have given clear indications their budget going to Congress in January will have a lot of production money for IRBM's not previously counted on before Russia put two Sputniks into orbit around the globe.

Target Date Mid-1959
Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy said Tuesday the United States would start supplying Britain with intermediate ballistic missiles "before mid-1959." He said shipments to other allied nations would "have to follow" later.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had made clear earlier that this country would press its plans to ring Russia with intermediate atomic missiles on the assumption the weapons would be available about the end of 1958.

Dulles, who also revealed that this country was considering setting up several atomic stockpiles in Europe, conceded that the United States still does not have an operational intermediate missile ready for use by the troops.

Will Seek Permission
But he said this country "very likely" would open negotiations with its European allies for permission to establish bases when the weapons are available.

The idea would be to offset Russia's claimed possession of a 5,000-mile intercontinental missile by ring the Soviet Union with the shorter-range but equally deadly intermediate missile.

McElroy hinted that the Defense Department might go ahead with production of both intermediate missiles now under test. They are the Army Jupiter and the Air Force Thor at Augusta, the secretary said the defense budget may climb as high as 40 billion dollars next year. Defense spending now is running at a rate of about $38,400,000,000 and may go higher before the current fiscal year is over.

Reds Want Egypt In 'Eco Orbit'

The Soviet Union has moved to bring Egypt into its economic orbit along with Syria.

Russia accompanied the promise of economic aid to Egypt with new accusations today against the United States and Israel and said they were plotting war against Syria. It said Israel was massing troops for an attack on Syria.

At the same time Cairo renewed its campaign against King Hussein of Jordan and attacked the United States. It accused Col. James G. Sweeney, U.S. military attaché in Jordan, of "ecipsing" Hussein from Jordanian military affairs.

The Russian economic aid promise to Egypt was made Tuesday night in Moscow by Premier Niko-lai Bulganin at a reception for Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, the Egyptian defense minister and commander of the joint Syrian-Egyptian forces.

Amer Visited Military
Nothing was said in Moscow on the Soviet-Egyptian military relations although Amer met with several high military figures including Defense Minister Rodon Y. Malinovsky. But Moscow observers noted that Amer visited more Soviet military installations than any other non-Communist soldier.

Observers recalled that Syria's decision to link its economic future with Russia followed a similar visit to Moscow.

Russia is Egypt's largest customer and supplier, but Egypt also has talks underway with Britain in Rome and with France in Geneva in an effort to repair economic relations with the West.

Moscow Radio, in a broadcast monitored in London, said Turkish "provocations" were continuing along the Syrian border but it turned most of its venom on the United States and Israel. It said recent maneuvers by the U.S. 6th Fleet "give rise to the belief that Washington has now decided to attack Syria from both sea and land, more precisely from Israel."

No action was taken by the City Commission yesterday afternoon on a request of the Canadian River Municipal Water authority that the city indicate the amount of water that Pampa would purchase from the authority.

The request was presented to the commission by A. A. Meredith of Borger, secretary of CRMWA. He also presented information to the commission on the status of the up-dating of the information on the project and reported that information on the water needs of Pampa was needed as part of the information.

He also urged the city to give necessary information to the government engineers.

Additional information presented to the commissioners yesterday by Meredith indicated that the maximum amount of water available to Pampa from the authority during the first six years of operation was expected to be four million gallons a day.

He also reported that the monthly standby charge that Pampa would be expected to pay the authority has been set at $2,503.04 with the yearly total being $30,036.48.

PSSA Group Hears Talks On Crime, PR

Members of the Pampa Service Station Association heard reports on progress made by the Texas Service Station Association in the field of public relations and crimes involving service stations at a dinner meeting of the group last night at the Colonial Inn.

Joe Malik, executive secretary of TSSA, reported on progress made throughout the state in presenting the problems of service station owners. He reported that in recent months several problems had been solved.

He also complimented the local group on the status of good will between competitors and the relationship with suppliers.

Also speaking to the group last night was Charlie Clark, special agent of the TSSA. He informed those attending the meeting of the serious increase in crime in Texas and the U.S. He reported that one out of every ten robberies committed in the U.S. in 1956 occurred in service stations.

He further informed the group that the crime rate was increasing each year and that service stations were one of the best targets of armed robberies.

Information on the Texas hot check law, small claims laws and on what to do in the event of robbery was given to those attending the meeting.

Parr Released From 5-Year Prison Term

AUSTIN (UP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals today set aside a five-year prison sentence assessed George Parr.

The former South Texas political boss was convicted of conspiring to commit a felony in connection with the alleged theft of funds from the Benavides school district in Duval county.

However, the high court ordered the trial court judgment reversed and the prosecution dismissed on grounds the indictment under which Parr was tried came too late.

A similar opinion was returned last June in the case of B. F. Donald Jr., who was also assessed a five year term in a companion case.

Judge K. K. Woodley, who dissented in the Donald case, noted that the majority ruling last June would necessarily apply in the Parr case today.

The law provides that prosecution must start within three years after the alleged offense is committed.

Freezing Air Rushes To Panhandle

Freezing air from the central Rockies began rushing toward the Texas Panhandle and South Plains today from a weak low pressure system north of Abilene.

Forecasters said no rain was expected along with the colder air, but winds were expected to shift gradually to the north over the Panhandle and South Plains. Temperatures were expected to drop to the lower 20s in the Panhandle tonight.

Cooler air was expected to spread into North Central Texas by Thursday.

Five-day forecasts issued today indicated the possibility of a new siege of rain for the state over the coming weekend. Temperatures were expected to range from 3 to 7 degrees below normal for this time of year through Monday.

Skies were clear over the state at dawn today, but shortly after sunup some high clouds began building up over Oklahoma and the Red River Valley of Texas.

Lows early today ranged from 26 at Dalhart, 30 at Amarillo and Lubbock, and 32 at Childress; to 30 at Brownsville. There was no rainfall reported for the 24-hour period ended at 7 a.m. today.

None was expected in the state until about Saturday night or Sunday.

Daniel In Address To Joint Session

By G. B. LLOYD JR.
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN (UP)—Legislators take time out from work on Gov. Price Daniel's anti-troop bill today to hear the Governor address a joint session of the House and Senate on the tidelands issue.

Daniel's anti-troop bill was expected to come up for debate in the Senate today after being passed out by the Senate State Affairs Committee. The committee removed a provision which would have given the governor authority to close a school.

The Senate version allows a local school board to close a school if it appears violence or danger of violence can only be prevented by troops, or if troops actually occupy the school.

The House committee, after winding up heated arguments on its bill, sent it to subcommittee.

Dr. J. M. Dawson, a retired Baptist leader, continued his opposition of the bill before the House group. He said it was to "enable certain candidates for public office to obtain the votes of violent-minded people."

When pressed by Rep. E. S. Headley of Paducah, committee chairman, Dawson said "Frankly I do not believe in intermarriage between the races."

A. G. Morton and B. E. Masters, both of Kilgore, appeared in favor of the bill. Morton is a member of the Texas Referendum Committee which put segregation questions on the 1956 primary ballot.

Morton said "I don't want my kids to go to school at bayonet point."

He said a "few people in East Texas say the only thing worse than violence is integration."

Boy Scouts Are Selling Light Bulbs

Boy Scouts of Troop 16 are calling on each residence in Pampa between 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. for the purpose of selling light bulbs to raise funds for the troop.

The young boys are accompanied by adult leaders, who remain in cars, and are supervised throughout the sale each evening.

Funds obtained by the sale of the bulbs will be used for activities of the troop and for the purchase of Scout uniforms for the boys.

Each boy receives credit for the sales that he makes and this credit is applied towards the purchase price of his uniform, the Scout leaders stated.

The troop is sponsored by the Pampa Lions Club and meets at the Scout Hut located in Lions Park. Boys who are members of the troop are from the southeast section of Pampa, the leaders reported.

JCs Talk Pancake Supper; Approve Float For Parade

The Pampa Jaycees held two meetings yesterday and discussed several items which will be coming up in the near future.

According to Johnny Campbell, president, the board meeting, which was held at 7 a.m. yesterday in Johnson's Cafe, was primarily concerned with plans and preparation of the Pancake Supper. The supper will be held Dec. 3 from 5:30 p.m. until "everybody in Pampa is fed," according to Kay Fancher, public relations chairman for the event.

Local firms are donating such supplies as bacon, sausage, butter, etc., while the Aunt Jimema Co. will furnish the ingredients for the pancakes.

Santa Claus, along with Aunt Jimema, will be present at the supper which will immediately follow the Santa Day Parade that is also scheduled for Dec. 3.

Tickets for the supper are $1 for adults, 50 cents for children and free for children under 6.

The board also approved of the float which has been designed to represent the Jaycees in the Santa Day Parade.

Other business discussed and approved at the board meeting was the possibility of developing a Fine Arts Program which would be used in schools. Charlie Wilkerson was put in charge of the program to see if it can be arranged.

Installation of a coat rack in the entrance hall of the high school cafeteria was approved by the Jay-

Explosion Kills 17 Coal Miners

MUIRKIRK, Scotland (UP)—An explosion ripped through a coal mine near here Tuesday night, killing 17 miners. The rest of the 300-man force scrambled to safety through falling rock, fumes and heavy dust.

Rescue crews which worked through the night recovered the bodies of 15 miners trapped 1,000 feet underground by the blast. Two other miners brought to the surface died of their injuries today in a hospital.

The explosion occurred in the Kames Colliery, one of the oldest working mines in western Scotland. The sound of the blast echoed throughout the adjoining countryside and brought hundreds of men and women to the pit head.

It was Britain's worst mine disaster since 1951 when 81 miners were killed in an explosion at Easington.

Man Injured In Fight Last Night

A 33-year-old Pampa man is in Highland General Hospital today as a result of injuries received in a fight at the Bellaire Bar, 323 W. Foster, at approximately 6 last night.

Injured is Jerry Wayne Garrison. Hospital attendants reported his condition as good today and said that he is suffering from head injuries.

According to the investigating officer, Garrison was injured after starting a fight with Horace M. Killough, 604 N. Wells.

Witnesses to the fight told the officers that Garrison invited Killough outside and that as the two men prepared to leave the building, Garrison pulled a knife.

During the struggle for the knife, Killough struck Garrison several times, the witnesses said.

Garrison's wife managed to recover the knife and threw it outside the building, where it was recovered, the officer said.

Late this morning, charges had not been filed pending Garrison's release from the hospital, Lt. Dennis Roan, of the police department, stated.

Girl Is Injured In Mishap

A collision at the intersection of Decatur and Williston at 8:10 this morning resulted in injury to a 16-year-old Pampa girl who was a passenger in one of the automobiles.

Linda Wallace, 415 W. Browning, was taken to Worley Hospital following the collision. Late this morning her condition was not available but it was reported that she had injuries to her head.

Officers investigating the collision reported that Miss Wallace was thrown into a window by the impact.

A 1953 Chevrolet, driven by Wanda Lou Goodnight, 922 E. Jordan, and a 1955 Chrysler, driven by Mrs. Ann Jackson Hicks, 1005 Mary Ellen, were involved in the collision.

Miss Wallace was a passenger in the Chevrolet driven by Wanda Goodnight, the officer said.

Damages to both vehicles were estimated at $300 each.

WHAT'S ON THE MOON?—With all the talk going around about man reaching the moon, the question is: What will he find when he gets there? Scientists, who have studied the moon over a distance of 240,000 miles for centuries, describe it as a rugged, dusty, lifeless globe. It is none of the earth's life-giving qualities, not even air. In man's earliest observations, light and dark areas were detected. Dark areas were believed to be water. These areas were given the name "maria," or seas. Later investigation revealed them to be dry plains. Some of the maria (see Newschart) are of tremendous size. Light areas on the moon are mountain ranges. Among the most impressive sights, easily discernible through even low-powered telescopes, are the craters. Scientists are not in agreement as to what caused them. Some believe they are the result of impact of meteors; others believe they were formed by volcanic activity in the centuries before the moon cooled. The moon is subjected to extreme temperatures. In the center of the light side, it reaches 214 degrees, about the boiling point of water. Away from the sun, it drops to 250 degrees below zero.

"Everything happens to me," moaned Hard Luck Joe. "Now it's nine-card suits."

"So what?" grumbled his unfortunate partner. "If you had enough sense to shift to a heart at trick three South would have been set, nine-card suit and all."

Joe had opened the king of spades and after receiving the deuce from his partner had cashed his ace of diamonds and then played the ace of spades.

South had simply ruffed and run the rest of his clubs, discarding down to the ace and queen of heart in dummy. The last club lead had squeezed East. He had to unguard his king of hearts in order to retain king of diamonds whereupon South had gone up with the ace of hearts and dropped East's king.

A heart shift by Joe at trick three would have broken up the squeeze and South would have gone down one trick. Or even better, South might have taken a desperate heart finesse in which case he would have been set two tricks, not one.

Joe had a reason for playing the second spade. He suggested that East's deuce of spades might have been a singleton. East claimed that this was most unlikely since South had risked a vulnerable five-club bid with only one ace. Of course East could not have a doubleton spade. In that case he would have played his higher card in that suit.

As usual, I must agree with Joe's partner. East had doubled five clubs. Either he held a sure trump trick or the king of hearts or both. A heart shift was imperative and when Joe played the ace of spades he had produced his own bad luck.

Discrimination Against Negroes By Railroads Hit

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Supreme Court has struck another blow at what it calls "insidious discrimination" by railroad unions against Negro members.

The nine-judge bench said again Monday what it began saying in 1947: That a railway labor union is obligated to represent all workers fairly without regard to race. If a Negro worker suffers discrimination he may take his complaint to a federal court.

The ruling stemmed from a law suit filed by Negro workers in the Houston freight house of the Texas and New Orleans Railroad. They said the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks did nothing to help them when their jobs were abolished and whites hired as replacements.

1957—'Year of Decision' In Rheumatic Fever Fight

"Year of decision" in the fight against rheumatic fever — that is the perspective for 1957 held out by the North Plains District and Gray County Heart Association as it steps up its campaign to curb this major threat to the hearts and lives of America's youngsters.

For twenty years it has been known that rheumatic fever is almost always preceded by certain types of streptococcal infection, such as a "strep sore throat."

The implication is plain — bring streptococcal infections under control and the threat of rheumatic fever will diminish greatly. Today, effective weapons against "strep" exist in the form of modern drugs. Today the chief problem is to make sufficiently widespread use of existing knowledge and techniques so that rheumatic fever ventative to safeguard all individuals with a history of rheumatic fever or rheumatic heart disease against streptococcal infection, and hence against rheumatic fever recurrences. The importance of preventatives for such patients is underscored by the fact that many strep infections occur without producing recognizable signs or symptoms, yet are capable of setting rheumatic fever. Of especial importance among them is the streptococcus which has been previously had rheumatic fever. (The rate of rheumatic fever recurrences is such individuals after a strep infection may go as high as 50 per cent.)

Thus in its intensified campaign to make rheumatic fever a rare disease, the Heart Association emphasizes the need for two types of action:

- 1) Prompt and adequate treatment of all strep infections, to prevent a history of rheumatic fever;
- 2) Lifelong, year-round prevention to safeguard all individuals with a history of rheumatic fever or rheumatic heart disease against streptococcal infection, and hence against rheumatic fever recurrences.

Beings On Other Planets Possible, Theologian Says

WASHINGTON — The possibility of life such as ours on another planet is not ruled out in Catholic teaching, it was declared by Redemptorist Father Francis J. Connell, dean of the school of theology of the Catholic University of America.

Commenting on the reported sightings of "unidentified flying objects," the theologian ventured the opinion that "there is a much more prosaic explanation of their origin" than that they are space ships from another planet.

"Revelation is the common teaching of the Fathers, tradition, the solemn pronouncements of the Popes — none of these say there cannot be life other than on earth," he noted.

"Theologians have never dared to limit the omnipotence of God to the creation of the world we know."

If God did create other rational beings, he said, theologians can imagine a variety of states in which they might exist.

These beings could have received from God the same supernatural and preternatural gifts given to Adam and Eve, and could have never lost them. They might be intellectually and physically superior to us, and, adhering faithfully to God, would not wage war.

Could Be Like Devils

He pointed to another possibility, that these beings may be "like the fallen angels," who sinned against God and were never given another chance to reinstate themselves in God's grace. Such beings could have wills "strongly inclined to evil."

Father Connell noted that more than 70 years ago the question of life on other planets and interplanetary travel were discussed by Jesuit Father Angelo Secchi, an Italian astronomer, and by Dominican Father Jacques Monodastre, a French orator.

Pecan Crop Increase Seen

AUSTIN (UP)—Texas' 1957 pecan crop is up an estimated 64 per cent over last year, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported.

The crop was maturing a little later than usual, but the USDA said nuts marketed thus far this season "have been of good quality and labor is available for gathering the crop."

The estimate indicated a crop of 45 million pounds. This included 7,300,000 pounds of improved varieties. The remainder were native pecans.

Pipeline Explodes In Celanese Plant At Bishop

BISHOP, Tex. (UP)—An explosion in a pipeline in the Celanese Corporation of America plant Tuesday shattered windows and forced a shutdown of the oxidation unit of the plant. R. M. Bielestein, the plant's personnel manager, said none was injured and the cause had not been determined. The pipe, which conveyed oxygen and hydrocarbons from one part of the plant to the other, blew out at 9:52 a.m. "Nobody was hurt because that unit is isolated for the purpose of safety," Bielestein said. He said the explosion was not accompanied by fire, but that after the explosion, the chemical mixture coming from the ruptured pipe "burned like a torch."

"However, it was under control at all times," he said.

Officer Made Chief After 'Aiding Lady'

ATHENS, Tex. (UP)—A Lancaster, Tex., policeman joined to Athens when the three-man Athens force resigned because of employment of a woman officer has been named police chief here. Athens Mayor A. R. Cox announced Tuesday the appointment of Johnny Flatt, 30, as head of the city police force. Flatt was one of three members of the Lancaster police department sent here to help out last week. The three-man Athens police force resigned effective last Thursday morning after the city commission appointed Miss Jessie Nell Sweeten, daughter of ex-Sheriff Jess Sweeten, to the force. Cox said he authorized Flatt to appoint two more policemen to complete the city's force. The mayor also said Miss Sweeten would remain on duty and expressed the hope that a dispute over her appointment between the city and the sheriff's department "will be patched up." Sheriff J. W. Brownlow told the city if Miss Sweeten joined the city force, he would cut the city off from use of the county radio and county jail. Flatt has been a member of the Lancaster police force for three years. Previously, he was an officer at Waxahachie for two years. He is a veteran of the Navy, attended school in Quitman and Dallas and is married and has four children.

Sheriff Says Bachelor Committed 10 Murders

By GEORGE ARMOUR, United Press Staff Correspondent. MADISON, Wis. (UP)—A sheriff maintained today that bachelor Ed Gein committed the mass murder of 10 or more women to obtain his collection of human heads. Sheriff Herbert Wanserski of Portage County injected the controversial theory into the investigation Tuesday night when he said he found the shrunken head of a missing woman in Gein's "house of horrors." However, the director of Wisconsin's crime laboratory, Charles Wilson, said it would be impossible to identify any of the human death masks or skulls by sight. Gein, 51, a frail, mild-mannered farmer from near Plainfield, Wis., admitted butchering a Plainfield woman storekeeper last Saturday. He said he got the rest of the skulls found in his junk-littered home by robbing fresh graves. More Tests For Gein Gein was scheduled to undergo further lie tests this morning at crime laboratory headquarters here in an effort to settle the issue. Gein was questioned for about five hours Tuesday afternoon and submitted to a 35-minute lie test.

Wanserski told newsmen he and other authorities found the "face and head of Mary Hogan," a 54-year-old tavern operator from near Plainfield who disappeared nearly three years ago. Gein has admitted dragging Mrs. Worden's body from her hardware store and hanging it by the heels in his woodshed. When found, the body had been decapitated and "dressed out like a deer."

There also were traces of formaldehyde in Gein's house, Wilson said, which could mean that Gein embalmed murder victims or that the skulls could have come from persons already embalmed. Disputes Wanserski But Wilson said he did not think Wanserski could possibly identify the head of Mary Hogan from among Gein's ghoulish trophies. Wanserski said the heads found in the farmhouse had been skinned and made into death masks which were "well preserved, with hair, ears, lips and nose." The sheriff also confirmed that other items made from human skin were scattered about the house, including a vest made of a woman's torso, and chairs that had been upholstered with human skin.

Gov. Daniel Hits Brownell For 'Violation Of Assurances'

AUSTIN (UP)—Gov. Price Daniel charged today former U.S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell violated his official "assurances" to Texas when he filed suit seeking to roll back the state's tidelands boundary from 10 1/2 miles to three miles. Daniel in a speech before a joint session of the Texas legislature, said President Eisenhower has repeatedly stated the position that Texas' seaward boundary extends three leagues and "there is something wrong" when the attorney general files a lawsuit directly contrary to that policy. "It makes us wonder who is running the administration in Washington. We have heard for years that Mr. Brownell settled years ago that Atty. Gen. Brownell has had a lot to do with it, and I for one am glad that he is gone," Daniel said. The governor asked the lawmakers to adopt a concurrent resolution calling upon President Eisenhower to respect previous agreements and to direct the attorney general to do likewise in the case. Daniel pointed out that as a member of the U.S. Senate he sponsored legislation restoring Texas' ownership of its tidelands, and said that for 121 years the federal government has recognized the three-league boundary in the Gulf of Mexico.

The campaign was boosted yesterday morning with a $2,500 check from the Cabot Foundation. This check was from the company and does not represent any of the several thousand dollars given by Cabot employees. Mrs. Gee said.

The action this morning resulted from the girl's running away from home this week and being gone for nearly two days before located by juvenile authorities, the judge said.

Dispute May Lead To Policy Review

Foreign News Commentary By CHARLES M. MOCANN United Press Staff Correspondent

The dispute over the arming of Tunisia may lead to an important review of United States-British-French relations.

By sending weapons to France's former North African Protectorate, the United States and Britain angered both the French government and the French people.

France was willing to send weapons itself. But it wanted first to get firm guarantees that they would not fall into the hands of the rebels in next-door Algeria.

The United States and Britain took their action on the ground that if they, or France, did not give Tunisia President Habib Bourguiba the weapons he demands, he might turn to Soviet Russia to get them.

It can hardly be disputed that in taking their action against France's wishes, the United States and Britain intervened in what is a problem for France in its desperate attempt to keep Algeria, last of its three North African possessions.

Whether the action was justified by the British-American belief that it was necessary to keep Tunisia from following the course of Egypt and Syria and thus giving Russia a foothold in North Africa such as it has in the Middle East.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau has come to the United States to confer with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

It is expected that Pineau will first ask Dulles to get a guarantee from the Tunisian government that the weapons it is sending will not be permitted to get to Algeria for use by the rebels in killing French soldiers.

But Pineau undoubtedly will seek American support for French policy in Algeria also.

The Algerian problem, specifically the demand of the rebels for outright independence, is to be debated in the United Nations General Assembly, possibly next week.

Rebels Will Have Support The rebel cause will be supported by the "neutralist" and "anti-colonial" nations of Africa and he believed not.

Asia. France will expect the loyal support of the United States and Britain for its policy of ending the revolt by giving Algeria a limited measure of self-rule.

It is possible that, largely due to the Tunisia dispute, there will be a meeting of the American, British and French foreign ministers before the meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries in Paris starting Dec. 16.

At a United States-British-French meeting, or in separate discussions with the United States and Britain, France is likely to tie up the Tunisia issue with NATO. That alliance pledges its members to give no help to an enemy of any of them, and the Algerian rebels are enemies of France.

In the end, the Tunisia dispute may lead to a needed clarification of the relations of the big three western allies.

What Heart Fund Means To You

The United States has the highest death rate from heart attacks and strokes of any country in the world. No American can afford to be complacent about this situation—especially since it is also true that the heart and blood vessel diseases take more lives in the United States each year than all other causes of death combined.

It becomes plain why support of scientific research has always had top priority in the program of the American Heart Association, receiving the largest share of the funds contributed by the public to the fight against heart disease.

The Heart Fund is a member agency in the Pampa-Lefors United Fund.

Campaign Is On In New York To Educate The Pedestrians

By DOC QUIGG United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Oh, leave us alone, will you? Let us work out our own problems. We New Yorkers are just like anybody else, except maybe a mite more stubborn—and jumpy at times.

We know we're backward, but we're trying. We need encouragement, not horse-laughs, from the rest of the country.

A man from down south has sent this department a cheery little message, as follows: "What happens when a city gets to be so complex, too overgrown, too mixed up? I'm thinking of New York."

Uh-huh. He forgets a couple. The National League has abandoned to the West Coast—and the poor pedestrian is being told, gently but firmly, that he is no longer a free soul wandering in the asphalt wilderness.

More Off-Farm Employment Is Expected

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Agriculture Department said today there may be more cash in farmers' pocketbooks next year, but it won't come from an increase in farm income.

Individual farmers may tally an increase in their ready cash from more off-farm employment, investments and the fact that there will be fewer farmers on fewer farms to participate in the total farm earnings.

Department economists said farm income in 1958 is expected to average about the same as in 1957.

At the same time the department said the total value of farm real estate on Nov. 1 was $114,700,000,000 a record high. This is 8 per cent greater than farm real estate values on Nov. 1, 1956, and 20 per cent higher than values four years ago.

Farm income for the first nine months of 1957 was at an annual rate of $12,100,000,000 up 2 per cent from the corresponding period in 1956. The department said most of this increase was due to higher payments under the 1957 soil bank program.

Only three states—Wisconsin, New York, and North Carolina—failed to register an increase in farm real estate values from July 1 to Nov. 1.

'You Poor Fellows'

"Seems to me every time I pick up a paper I see that the subway is out of commission up there, the water mains have broken, the lights have gone out, the steam pipes are leaking, the Long Island trains are stopped, traffic is jammed up, there's no place to park, or the mail is late. You poor fellows."

For the moment, we're concentrating on reforming the pedestrians. And they're resisting strenuously. This week, the city began a long-heralded campaign against jaywalking. The idea is to try to educate New Yorkers against their impulse to walk out and get themselves killed.

To get an unbiased idea of how the campaign was working out for the first couple of days, we turned to Robert Vermillion, a businessman from the Orient who got into town on a visit as the anti-jaywalk campaign started.

"It's amazing," he said. "You have these big red blinking signs at the corners blaring with a 'don't walk' warning, and people just walk right out against them and dodge through traffic. At times there seem to be more people in the streets than there are on the sidewalks."

Taxi Driver Pitches In "I came across town in a taxi, and the drivers seemed to be trying to do his part in the campaign. He would lean out the window and holler at scurrying pedestrians, 'keep working at it—you'll be an angel yet.'"

Asked whether Orientals were as backward as New Yorkers in the matter of jaywalking, he said:

"Take Tokyo," he said. "There's less jaywalking there than in New York—probably because of the risk involved. The driver learns that to survive he has to behave. The auto has the right of way, the driver has the advantage, and you're just not wise to walk out in front of a car."

"You should see the roads leading to the horse-race track. It's considered back luck for a horse-player to be passed by another car on the way to the track, and it's good luck to pass another. The roads, through residential areas, become racetracks themselves. Let the walker beware."

This, however, is not the answer for New York. We're going to educate ourselves. May take a generation or so, but we'll do it.

Farley Granger Is Not Afraid Of Television Over-Exposure

By WILLIAM EWALD United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Aside from such curious anatomical specimens as Jayne Mansfield, Farley Granger may be the only TV performer unconcerned with over-exposure.

While other actors try to hold down their TV emoting to three or four major dramas a season, Granger capers through that many in a few weeks. Witness his recent schedule:

On Oct. 23, "Kraft Theatre." Nov. 7—"Playhouse 90." Next Monday—a CBS-TV spectacular, "Beyond This Place." Dec. 4—"Another Kraft."

Not Over-exposed "Over-exposure? As far as I'm concerned there isn't any such thing," said Granger as he worked his way through some under-exposed chopped steak. "I don't think anybody should be afraid to take on as many roles as he's offered."

"I've been careful in my choice of roles, but in this business, you can't be too careful of your existence. The only important thing is to work. There's nothing wrong with being in a flop and I don't think people remember your TV or movie flops anyway. They remember your successes."

"They remember Joan Crawford for 'Mildred Pierce' or Bette Davis for 'Jezebel.' But they don't remember all the bombs they were in and they were in plenty, just like everyone else in the business."

Debuted in "North Star" Granger, a by-product of San Jose, Calif., made his movie debut in 1943 in "North Star." He then threaded his way through a succession of pictures including "Rope," "Strangers on a Train" and "They ride by night." He fled Hollywood three years ago.

"Acting for pictures is a very difficult craft which I don't think I knew anything about at all," confessed Granger. "In fact, I didn't know anything about acting at all. That's why I came to New York—to learn about my craft."

"I was pretty young when I broke into pictures and I looked upon acting as something you do under the stimulus of inspiration. The trouble with that method is that most of the time you don't really feel any inspiration and you become a line reader. That's what I was."

Problem is Unlearning "My problem has been to unlearn everything I learned in pictures. I was burdened with all sorts of acting cliches. It's something a bunch of us now in New York—Shelley Winters, Roddy McDowell, Peggy Ann Garner—have found we had to do. We left
