Russia 'Hogged' News Last Week

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Soviet Russia celebrated the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution this week while its two earth satellites spun round the world.

"Sputnik II" was projected into its globe-circling orbit by means of "new sources of power," Moscow said.

In the new satellite was sealed a dog, the world's first space passenger, along with scientific instruments to record and broadcast its reactions as it sped at the rate of 17,895 miles an hour, 1,056 miles above the earth.

Communist leader Nikita S. Khrushchev was the orator at a special meeting of the Supreme Soviet, the parliament.

Khrushchev boasted of Russia's scientific successes and derided the United States for its slowness. He boasted also that Russia would overtake the United States in industrial production, and he called again for a conference of capitalist and Communist countries on world issues.

Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, the new defense minister, reviewed an impressive military parade. In this, new weapons including two rockets, about 75 feet long, and numerous smaller rockets were displayed.

The French National Assembly, the controlling house of parliament, confirmed Felix Gaillard as premier after a 37-day cabinet crisis. The vote was 337 to 173.

Gaillard heads a coalition cabinet based on the Socialist, Conservative and Popular Republican groups — which cordially detest each other and disagree radically on all big political issues.

Gaillard's first act as premier was to win Assembly approval for a 600-million dollar loan from the Bank of France to get urgently needed cash for the treasury.

In the United Nations, Russia threatened to boycott disarmament negotiations unless the present 12-nation committee was scrapped in favor of a committee comprising all 82 members.

Unimpressed by the threat, the U.N. Political Committee voted 579 to 9 to maintain the present 12-member committee. The committee and its five-member sub-committee, which conducts actual negotiations, were instructed to continue their work with Western disarmament proposals, introduced at the recent London conference, as the basis.

Syria continued industriously, with luke-warm support by Russia, to keep alive the accusation that Turkey threatens it with attack.

The latest allegation was that unidentified planes — presumably Turkish — were violating the Syrian frontier. A border skirmish between trespassing Turkish troops and Syrian "public resistance forces" — armed civilians — also was reported.

In Washington, President Eisenhower and scientific and military officials studied the implications of Russia's successes in the rockets and ballistic missiles field. But it was indicated that no increase in the budget limit of $38 billion for defense spending this fiscal year was planned.

Lauritz Melchior, famous singer, was born in Copenhagen, Denmark, in 1890.

Some Stocks Were Up Last Week

INS 2-36 SOME STOCK

By ELMER C. WALZER

NEW YORK (UP)—Stocks of missile makers and companies producing exotic fuels made the stock market this week.

These issues registered gains ranging to nearly $10 a share in U.S. Borax which makes boron, an ingredient of the fuel that sends missiles into space.

While those stocks were rising, the general run of leading issues held in a narrow range. The averages showed gains on Wednesday and Thursday and losses on Monday and Friday. Tuesday the market was closed for election.

The final figures at the close of the week showed the industrial average at 434.12, off 0.59 from the week before, rail 107.19, off 0.84; utility, 64.85, off 0.69, and 65 stocks 146.61, off 0.64.

Narrow Moving Market
To find a market as narrow moving as this one it is necessary to go back to June 7 when the averages were up 0.70, off 0.54 off 0.49 and off 0.20 respectively.

Trading for the week averaged 2,416,421 shares daily for the four sessions against 1,991,656 shares, or 23 per cent of the total turnover for the week of 9,665,687 shares. The top half dozen in volume were North American Aviation, Boeing Airplane, Bethlehem Steel, General Dynamics, General Tire, and U.S. Borax in that order.

In the exotic fuel group led by U.S. Borax, American Potash netted 7 1/2 points, Stauffer Chemical 5 1/2 and Olin Mathieson 3 1/2.

In the aircraft section, most of the companies makers of missiles, Douglas netted 5 1/2 points, General Dynamics 4, Boeing Airplane 3 1/2, Bendix 1 1/2, Chance Vought 1 1/2, Lockheed 2 1/2, Martin 3, North American Aviation 2, Northrop Aircraft 3, and United Aircraft 2 1/2.

Foot Chemical Gains
Foot Chemical gained 4 1/2, Fannestock 4 1/2 and International Nickel

4 in the producers of rare metals, General Tire rose 1 1/2 and Thompson Products 2 1/2. The last two are in the missile program.

The market was not displeased with the President's message on missiles but found it lacking in inflation angles that would send stocks higher. The traders took the message as an opportunity to take profits at the weekend.

Among the leading groups, the steel did little one way or the other. Oils moved narrowly. Coppers lost late in the week after an earlier rise on a small increase in the copper price. General Motors and Ford lost more than a point each while Chrysler gained a fraction.

Beavers, bobcats, bull snakes, deer, ducks, ring-tailed cats and water ouzels live at the bottom of the Grand Canyon.

STATEMENT TO THE PUBLIC:

Effective on November 7, 1957, the stock and fixtures of the Friendly Men's Wear have been sold to the Dunlap Companies of Lubbock, Texas.

After more than eighteen years of serving the fine citizens of this TOP-OF-TEXAS area, it is with regret that we make this announcement, however, we will continue to make this store our headquarters and will from time to time give whatever help and assistance we can to the new owners. We intend to continue our endeavors to make this a bigger and better place in which to live, by devoting more time to community projects and problems.

Please continue to use the charge accounts that you have in effect at the Friendly Men's Wear, and make payments on your accounts in the same manner. We have retained ownership of our fine accounts and in order that we may end our fiscal year on December 31, 1957, it would be greatly appreciated if those customers with accounts with us would pay their present balance by that time.

Pampans' Feelings Are Varied On Flying Saucers, Russia's 'Sputniks'

By ALETHA DAVIS
Pampa News Staff Writer
There seems to be a lot of skepticism circulating around these days concerning the "flying saucer," "spaceships," and the "Sputniks."

I WONDERED how the people in Pampa felt about the theories that U.S. was being invaded by Martians, moon men, etc., and decided to find out exactly what the sentiments were among some citizens around town, and came up with some very interesting, as well as amusing answers.

The majority of persons with whom I talked were doubtful as to the foundation of all the reports of unidentified objects that have been floating around the skies the last week; but a few are either ready to go to the moon or crawl in a hole. Some found the possibility of interplanetary space very interesting; but, wanted no part of it themselves.

KATIE TAYLOR, secretary to Don Cain, county attorney, had about the most humorous reply I found upon asking, "What are your ideas on the possibility of space travel and what do you think about Sputnik?"

Katie replied, "When a spaceship lands in my backyard and three little green men emerge, tell me to take them to my leader—I'll get worried about Martians and spacemen!"

MISS BECKY BARKER, clerk in the County Clerk's office, was a little more easily "shook." She uttered, "The idea of spacemen or Russia spying on us from 'flying saucers' simply frightens me to death—do you really think they'll do something drastic?" So she questioned me instead of me questioning her.

Everyone seemed to forget Sputnik I and Sputnik II, better known as Muttnik, in light of the fact that the unidentified objects are "closer to home."

However, we found one person, a high school sophomore, who has already made a name for herself by winning the local "I Speak for Democracy" contest, who was more interested in the possibility of Russia's winning the race into space.

SUE FOSTER says, "I am terribly disappointed in our government for letting the Soviets get ahead of us in the scientific field and I hope they soon launch a satellite which they may not be able to resist even under threat of dire punishment."

Children are "extremely susceptible to the influence of other people's behavior." When they are playing in groups, a kind of "gang intoxication" may set in that will cause all of them to do things which none of them would do on his own.

Some conduct that parents find very annoying—for example, the "emancipation acrobatics" of the teen-ager—is a "waste by-product of normal development." The parent must set limits and enforce them, but he should also remember that "growing up is a process of finding things out the hard way and necessarily involves a lot of foolishness."

Any child will misbehave if he is "frustrated too long in any normal need." Moving around, making a little noise and letting off steam is a normal need. That's why a child who is cooped up in a car for a long trip, or who has to mind his manners through a long company dinner, often goes off the gold standard with a vengeance.

ellite so that we won't feel so helpless. As to the 'flying saucers,' I feel that if the people have seen something, which they may have, they are being fantastic to believe it is something from outer space. Our government would be doing something more than answering "unconfirmed" when questioned on reports of these objects."

J. W. GRAHAM, justice of the peace and long time resident of Pampa, feels that there is too much talk and too little truth to the reports. He says, "In the last 10 years 5,700 unidentified flying objects have been reported to the Air Force. Only 30 of these reports have been checked out as to correct identification, and they have been explainable in the field of our own experiments. I think people are seeing things that aren't there. People can build up into such a state of mind that they see things and make wild reports. It's probably nothing to worry about."

MRS. CLETA HUSTED, deputy clerk of Gray County, says that she would like to go to the moon—if anybody ever does. Of course, she is more daring than the rest of the people I talked to.

GENEVA DURHAM, also from the County Clerk's office, feels that something is going on we don't know about. "I don't know what is happening in outer space or wherever it is, but it surely does

Klansman Is Sentenced

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—Ku Klux Klansman Bart A. Foyd, 31, was under $20,000 appeal bond Friday after being found guilty and sentenced to 20 years for the emasculation of a Negro.

Foyd was the second klan leader to be given the maximum 20 years for mayhem in the Labor Day mutilation of Judge Aaron, 34, which was to serve as a warning to Negroes attempting integration.

Judge Alta King, in passing sentence, declared, "There's no justification for such a crime. You deserve more."

The jury of white men deliberated about 45 minutes before returning a verdict.

Klan Cyclops Joe P. Pritchett, 31, was also given the maximum sentence last week by King after being convicted of leading five other klansmen on the Sept. 2 search for a Negro victim.

Aaron was selected at random and was emasculated with razor blades on the dirt floor of the one-room Ku Klux Klan of the Confederacy headquarters here.

New Style of Actress Is In Our Midst

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—A new style Italian actress is in our midst. This one announced that her chest is flat, but she thinks her act will make her a hit with U.S. movie-goers anyway.

"Maybe if I were a bigger girl, it would be helpful," said 24-year-old Maria Landi, who's no competition for Gina Lollobrigida or Sophia Loren in the measurements department.

"But in Italy," she added, "the fans like Grace Kelly and Audrey Hepburn. This gives me some hope."

"Falsies? That isn't the same," said the long-legged Miss Landi, who also happens to be one of the world's highest paid fashion and photography models. Sort of a continental answer to Suzy Parker, the red-haired U.S. model who's made a quick rise to fame in films.

Eyeing Hollywood
Miss Landi, who is dark-haired and dark-eyed, has just completed her third, and she said, best film role—the love interest in the British-made "Across the Bridge." Now, she said, she's eyeing Hollywood.

"But I have no ambitions to be pin-up type," she said. "I just want to work hard and act... I think you learn by doing. But I don't plan to give up modeling either."

Miss Landi is five feet seven inches, barefoot, weighs 116 pounds and measures 35, 22 and 35. At present, she confessed, her earnings as a model (she accepts nothing for less than $50 an hour) top her earnings as actress. "But it isn't fair to compare," she protested.

Scarafia, daughter of an engineer in Turin. "My father had high hopes for me and my sister," she said. "He wanted us to be doctors. I would never have made it... My sister is the brains of the family. She is practicing in Turin."

Model, Actress Easily
She became both model and actress easily, and almost simultaneously. Her husband, who is with an aluminum firm, was transferred to London three years ago. Miss Landi, who had a little modeling experience, posed for some fashion photographs for a milliner friend.

Her modeling career has been zooming ever since. She has been a cover girl on virtually every leading glossy magazine on the Continent, has done work for Vogue and Harper's Bazaar, has modeled for Italian designers Simo-netta, Fontana, Faluani, and Pucci, and Morton, Cavanagh, Amies and Hartnell in London.

Her new movie role was a stroke of luck. For her, anyway, Actress Barbara Bates was forced to quit the picture because of illness and its star, Rod Steiger, suggested she take over.

Seven Reasons Why Children Misbehave

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—There are seven reasons why children misbehave.

If you understand these reasons, you can head off many disciplinary problems before they arise. And you can cope intelligently with those you cannot prevent.

This advice comes from Dr. Fritz Redl, chief of the Laboratory for Child Research at the National Institute of Mental Health. Redl, one of the world's foremost psychologists, is particularly noted for his research on the behavior problems of normal and disturbed children.

Wise discipline, Redl said in an interview, begins with the realization that there is "no nice pat theory, no simple rule of thumb" that you can apply to every instance of misbehavior.

Some parents seem to regard all misbehavior as a "harmless phase of development" to be ignored until the child "grows out of it." Others go to the opposite extreme. They treat all misbehavior as a rebellion against authority which must be stamped out with stern punitive measures.

"All such generalizations are poison," Redl said. "Misbehavior is not all alike. It can't be handled in the same way. There are times when a child needs to be punished—and times when punishment does more harm than good."

"When your child acts up, ask yourself, 'Why did he do that? What's behind this misbehavior? What does it mean to him?'"

"Figuring out the meaning of a child's misbehavior doesn't require a degree in psychology. All it requires is a little thought. A little common sense, and a willingness to look a few inches below the surface of a child's annoying conduct to find out what prompted it. Then you will know how to handle it."

Seven Basic Reasons
Here are the seven basic reasons for misbehavior listed by Redl:

1. Some objects and places cast an "almost hypnotic spell" over children. This is true of older children as well as the very young toddler who grabs for the vase left on a low table. To the normal child of 8, 8 or even 10, "a pair of scissors says 'cut with me' and a hammer says 'hit with me.' A big echoing room, like an art museum, whispers 'run and shout in me.'"

Parents should recognize the "seductiveness of gadgets and spaces" for their young, and try to protect them from "tempta-

DeMille's 'Ten Commandments' Is Fabulous Screen Masterpiece

The most monumental film of all time, Cecil B. DeMille's production of "The Ten Commandments," a motion picture of reverent and massive magnificence, opened Friday at the La Vista Theatre following widely acclaimed premiere showings which garnered world attention. Mighty in concept, mammoth in execution and overwhelming in impact, this costliest and longest work in screen history is an experience never to be forgotten.

The story of how one man's character was forged in the fires of power, temptation, self-sacrifice and love, until he was fit to receive God's Law, lead his people out of bondage and teach them to live under the code that became the fountainhead of three great religions, the Paramount colossus is above all a timeless, enthralling human document of man's first struggle for freedom.

Representing man's right to live by law on the one hand and tyranny on the other are Charlton Heston as Moses and Yul Brynner as Pharaoh Ramses II, with the tragic figure of Princess Nefretiti standing between them in the lovely person of Anne Baxter. Heston is superb as he evolves from prince to prophet, being in turn a figure of rugged strength, pathos and grandeur, while Brynner is the epitome of imposing but ruthless arrogance.

Heading a massive cast of skilled artisans are stars Edward G. Robinson, Yvonne De Carlo, Debra Paget, John Derek, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Nina Foch, Martha Scott, Judith Anderson and Vincent Price, with a myriad of top names in the supporting roles.

Spectacle of a scope never seen before and probably never again to be matched backgrounds the three-hour, thirty-nine-minute drama. Using some 25,000 extras, DeMille has given us immense scenes of Israelite multitudes building mighty cities, thronging to the horizon in the Exodus and reveling in barbaric worship of the Golden Calf.

Unforgettable, too, are the blasting of the Commandments into the Sinai granite by God's fiery finger; the miracle of the Red Sea, with the Hebrews crowding in panic between the towering walls of water as the thundering chariot

Rejected Youngsters Find Homes

By BILL FORCE
United Press Staff Correspondent
CRESWELL, Ore. (UP) —The American GI in Korea who fathers and then abandons the children of Korean mothers can thank a soft-spoken Oregon farmer that those rejected youngsters have a chance for homes and happiness in the United States.

But Harry Holt's biggest worry today is that he can reach and rescue only a small part of those helpless products of an idle army. Holt has sacrificed his health and the bulk of his modest fortune bringing, to date, 484 mixed-blood orphans to adoptive homes in the United States.

He recently completed his seventh Trans-Pacific flight to Portland from Korea with a plane-load of babies and there will be many more.

Problem to Continue
In a voice heavy with fatigue, he confessed that he can see no immediate end to the job he created for himself. With the Far East command of the Army now moved to Korea, he foresees a mixed-blood orphan problem continuing into the indefinite future.

On a recent flight between Seoul and Portland Holt suffered a heart attack and he now pursues what he considers to be his mission in life in defiance of doctor's orders.

"The doctors get sort of fed up with me," he said, sitting in that part of his home that has been transformed into a bustling adoption agency with a staff of clerical workers.

With only the help and encouragement of a missionary organization known as World Vision, Inc., of Pasadena, Calif., Holt has array is destroyed behind them; and the green smog, blood-red rivers and flaming hill of the Plagues. In VistaVision and Technicolor, "The Ten Commandments" emerges as not only the most visually exciting film ever made but one of deep meaning to the world today and to generations to come.

Elvis Presley plays his longest love scene to date in M-G-M's "Jailhouse Rock," with blonde Jennifer Holden on the receiving end of the kiss. At the end of the lingering embrace, Miss Holden, former Chicago model making her screen debut with Elvis, murmurs, "I'm all unglued." The movie opens today at the La-Nora Theater.

shouldered the full burden of his giant rescue mission.

Maze of Red Tape
Alone he battles the maze of red tape thrown in his way by both Korean and American authorities; begs, borrows and buys medical supplies for his fragile wards; arranges their transportation; processes adoption applications from parents in this country; operates the farm that finances the philanthropy, and is the adoptive father of eight Korean orphans who first inspired the full-scale operation.

He even built and operates a large Seoul orphanage that acts as a staging area for little migrants waiting for transport to the states.

But Holt said his operation functions smoothly and on a niggardly budget compared to adoption operations in this country. No one gets a profit; there are no attorneys' fees and no adoption fees. Parents can adopt a Korean child of transportation from Korea. The Korean government now provides passports at a special price to Holt.

Still preying on his mind, however, are the children of American soldiers in other parts of the world.

Hard Work Goes In School's Yearbook

FRED M. PARKER
Pampa News Staff Writer

A small group of students at Pampa High School is putting in long hours at a task that will provide a lasting record of the 1957-1958 school year.

This group is made up of members of "The Harvester" staff, the yearbook at Pampa High.

Many long hours go into the preparation of the yearbook. A thousand-and-one things must be taken care of to meet the five deadlines for pages during the year.

The first of these deadlines was made before the school year started. A total of 16 of the 228 pages of the annual had to be sent to the printer before June 15. These pages included the cover page, first page of each section and other pages consisting of art work.

The work on the first deadline was accomplished by Miss Karla Cox, editor, and Miss Elizabeth Hurley, journalism instructor at the school, who is the annual sponsor.

The staff of the annual consists of 18 students. Many of the members do two or more jobs on the staff.

Misses Pat Dial and Pat Jones are associate editors of the annual. The editor in charge of the clubs section is Miss Jo Ann Jones. Gary Dockery is business manager.

The classes editor is Bob Jernigan and the sports editor is Ronnie Biggerstaff. Jernigan and Biggerstaff, along with Jere T. eed, Michael Brown and Terey Patterson, are photographers.

Associate club editors are Misses Anne Triplehorn and Sylvia Grider and the staff artist is Louis West.

The staff meets during a regular class period five days a week at 1:30 p.m. and receives credit for a course of study in journalism. Miss Cox stated that this time isn't enough to even get started on the work that must be done.

The staff put in an average of six hours a day for a period before meeting the Nov. 1 deadline. Making up the pages consists of deciding upon what pictures are to go on each page, making a layout so that the pictures all fit, with enough room left for copy; writing and editing the copy and last but by no means least, making up the page.

The next deadline for pages is Jan. 15, 1958, and the group began work on these pages as soon as the last deadline was made. The photographers are out each day taking pictures and the rest of the staff is writing copy for the pages.

At the present time, the staff of the annual is taking a breather and only averages about three hours a day for each person, but when the material is gathered it will be back to the long, late hours again.

The final deadline for the annual is March 1 and the printer has promised that the annuals will be delivered to the school by May 15.

At the present time the annual staff does not have an adequate space in which to work. Miss Cox said that presently the annual shares a room with the Little Harvester, the school paper, and that the 20x20 room is also used for all journalism classes at the school.

Dreaming out loud, Miss Cox said, "It sure would be nice to have a workroom of our own so that we could leave layouts and other work on tables instead of putting them up each time we leave."

At about this time one of the photographers piped up, "It sure would be nice to have our own darkroom, too."

Despite the "handicaps," the staff of The Harvester is putting out a yearbook that will be cherished by all of the students of this school year and will probably be shown with pride to their grandchildren.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

West opened the king of hearts. East played the trey whereupon West shifted to the queen of trumps.

Generous George looked happily at the queen and remarked, "I could take that all right but every day is Christmas with me and I am going to let you hold that trick." As usual, George had been giving away ice to the Eskimos. He had to lose a trump trick no matter how he played the hand and he wanted to be able to draw the adverse trumps without giving the defense a chance to cash more than two heart tricks.

If George had taken that queen of spades he would have been set. Suppose he just played a second heart. West would win and lead another trump. Now George would have no trumps left for his two little hearts. If he tried to run the clubs he would get one heart discard but West would trump in and be able to cash one more heart.

Should George simply play out the trumps West would win the third lead and set the hand two tricks. If George went right after clubs West would trump the third lead and promptly knock out dummy's ace of diamonds.

When George gave away that first spade trick West was doomed. If he played a second spade George would simply pull trumps and make all the rest of the tricks. West noted all this and at least was smart enough to cash a second heart and keep George from making an overtrick.

GOP News Bad During Last Week

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — There was little but bad news for the Republican Party in this week's scattering of elections.

One bright spot: California's Gov. Goodwin J. Knight abandoned his re-election campaign, leaving the GOP nomination to Sen. William F. Knowland, while he seeks Knowland's Senate seat.

The Republican Party in California thereby avoided a primary contest which could have been destructive. Vice President Richard M. Nixon is credited with arranging the foregoing solution of a party problem in his own state to the considerable improvement of his chances to win the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

The further word on California is that Knowland was not enthusiastic about the deal, being anxious to lick Knight in a bruising primary contest and, further, being contentedly confident that he could do it, too.

Bad news: New Jersey Negro voters remained loyal to the Democratic Party of Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal. FDR's political heir this week in New Jersey was Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner who defeated Republican nominee Malcolm S. Forbes. Returns from New Jersey's Negro wards will depress Republican strate-

Great Plains Program Approved For Gray Co.

Texas has been given the go-ahead signal for its role in the Great Plains Conservation Program, the drive to stabilize agriculture in the vast Plains area where drought is a constant hazard.

State Conservationist H. N. Smith of the Soil Conservation Service announced that he has been notified of U. S. Department of Agriculture approval of the list of farm and ranch conservation practices for which the federal government will share installation costs.

The approval means the program can start moving in the 64 West Texas counties which have been designated for the program.

Next step is for county program committees in the designated counties to select applicable practices from the state list and work out share rates based on average costs in each county.

The state list has been submitted for Secretary of Agriculture Benson's approval by Smith and State Chairman R. G. Shrauner of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee for Texas.

The federal government, with $10 million appropriated for the current year and $150 million for a 10-year period, is to pay up to 80 per cent of the installation cost of eligible practices. Cost sharing for some of the practices ranges as low as 50 per cent.

Smith pointed out that the foundation of the program, for which 221 counties in the 10 states of the Great Plains have been designated, is a complete conservation plan for the entire farm or ranch operating unit.

"This program is an effort to solve the difficult long-term land use and conservation problems on the farms and ranches of the Great Plains," Smith explained.

"It will help a farmer or rancher plan his operations so that he can minimize the hazards of our plains weather. He can establish needed soil and water conservation measures with the help of federal cost-shares that are guaranteed for a long period, up to 10 years."

Smith pointed out that the Great Plains Conservation Program does not replace any other going program, but that it is designed to complement other programs and speed up any needed shifts in land use or operations on a farm or ranch.

The approved list of practices for Texas with cost share percentages is as follows:

- Establishing permanent vegetative cover, 80;
- Field strip-cropping, contour strip cropping, 80;
- seeding of rangeland, 80;
- planting trees or shrubs for windbreaks, shelterbelts, erosion control, etc., 80;
- terraces, 70;
- diversion terraces, ditches or dikes to intercept runoff and improve water penetration, 70;
- erosion control detention or sediment retention dams, 70;
- channel lining, chutes, drop spillways, etc., for the protection of outlets and channels disposing of excess water, 80;
- spreader ditches or dikes, 70;
- reorganization irrigation systems, 50;
- leveling land for more efficient use, 50;
- constructing, enlarging, deepening or lining dams, pits or ponds for irrigation water, 50;
- lining irrigation ditches, 50;
- constructing wells for livestock water to protect vegetative cover, 50.

Oklahomans Will Observe 'Pride In Oklahoma Week'

By CARTER BRADLEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NORMAN, Okla. (UP) — This state observes "Pride in Oklahoma Week" this week and its fondest object is the university football team which has won an astounding 46 straight games to rank as the nation's best.

Nothing since oil and the Broadway musical have done more to inflate a state which is as proud of its college footballers as Milwaukee is of the Braves, Lew Burdette could get no more votes in Wisconsin than Coach Bud Wilkinson in Oklahoma.

So puffed up are the fans, in fact, that University President George L. Cross remarked today that it probably would be a good thing for everyone concerned if Oklahoma would lose a game.

"But don't ask me to pick the team to beat us," he added quickly.

Won 100 Games
Wilkinson came here in 1946 and his teams have won exactly 100 games against seven losses and three ties. Oklahoma plays Missouri Saturday and Notre Dame the next week — and if it gets over those hurdles it should win 50 straight this year for the state's 50th birthday celebration.

Wilkinson says he expects to get a beating soon.

"Winning is getting harder all the time," he explained. "It has reached the point where everyone we play is playing their best game against us, and we certainly can't expect to win every time."

How do you get a phenomenal team like this one?

Well, Wilkinson has a yearly budget of almost a quarter million dollars for football, including $2,500 for scholarships — 32 to freshmen this year. He himself makes a yearly salary of $20,000 which is only $2,500 less than that of the university president.

Not Out of Line
But the amount spent for football is not greatly out of line with other schools in the Big Eight Conference and the percentage of out-of-state players is not greater than the overall enrollment of non-natives.

"Oklahoma is more local in makeup than most college teams," Wilkinson says.

Much of the credit goes straight to Wilkinson. He came to Norman as assistant to a new coach, Jim Tatum. Tatum stayed only one year, went on to build a great team at Maryland while Wilkinson took over here.

Wilkinson has written two books on gridiron tactics and draws special praise from associates for a special talent of getting the most out of young men. His varsity workouts are not exceptionally long — about six hours a week. But he gives his players prepared diagrams on plays and signals they must know.

No Favoritism
The football players get no favoritism in the classrooms and the freshmen players are required to attend nightly study halls to keep up their grades.

University President Cross admittedly is concerned about the great emphasis on football at Oklahoma. He says the college deliberately put more emphasis on the sport in 1946 and now wants to reserve the trend.

"When we don't shellack a team by five, six or seven touchdowns, they talk about the team slipping," he said. "This overemphasis on winning can ultimately destroy the game."

House: Republican candidates in New Jersey and New York City were badly licked despite President Eisenhower's urgent endorsement — and, in New Jersey, despite campaign stumping by Nixon and other administration notables.

All of this and the Democratic win in Wisconsin's recent senatorial election indicate a political pattern of the emergence of a trend toward a substantial Democratic victory in next year's congressional elections. Such a victory, in turn, would establish a trend toward the election of a Democratic president of the United States in 1960.

Now is the time, as someone said, for all good men to come to the aid of their party, although it already may be too late.

(Special to The News) McLEAN, Nov. 8 — The Canadian Wildcats bounced back from a trailing score Friday night to down the McLean Tigers, 38-14, in a District 2-A encounter. The Wildcats scored two times in the initial quarter and McLean came back in the second scoring twice before Canadian broke loose and ripped to four more before the game had ended. Opening the first quarter for a Canadian Harold Yarnold raced 67 yards for the first score of the game and John Grist ran over for the extra point to put the Wildcats in the lead, 7-0. Later in the first quarter, Grist charged over from nine yards out to cap the second Canadian drive and put the Wildcats in front, 13-0. McLean then bounced into action as David Crockett broke away and galloped 26 yards into the end zone and David Woods made good the boot for the extra. Later in the second, Crockett took a Wildcat punt on his own 30 yard line, again evading Wildcat tacklers as he raced all the way back for the second score. Woods again added the extra to put the Tigers in front, 14-13. Canadian then began rolling as quarterback Abraham reeled off 59 yards for the third Wildcat score and Grist added the extra. Late in the first period, Grist capped another Canadian drive from six yards out and the half ended, 28-14.

Jim Wilburn accounted for the first Canadian score after half-time as he plunged over from the one yard line. Later in the third, Grist tallied the final TD of the game as he capped a final drive from seven yards out.

(Special to The News) SHAMROCK, Nov. 8 — The Shamrock Irish fell to the Wellington Skyrockets, 32-7, Friday night to drop their third District 3-AA tilt of the season. Wellington scored twice in each of the first two quarters and once in the final while the Irish managed their lone tally late in the final. The Skyrocket's Jerry Elbert opened the barrage in the first period as he finished off an early drive by racing 18 yards into the end zone. Pat Wilkins booted the extra point to put the Skyrockets in the lead, 7-0. Later in the first, Bill Lockhart broke away for 32 yards for the second score of the game. In the second period, Ferris Wood charged over from the four yard line and Wilkins booted the extra to move Wellington into the lead, 20-0. Late in the first half, the Skyrockets took to the air and Wilkins connected with Randall Raburn for 13 yards and the fourth Wellington score. In the final period, Wilkins again went the aerial route as he hit Elbert for 30 yards and the final Wellington score. The Irish tagged their touchdown late in the fourth as Don Dodgen hit Joe Jernigan on an aerial which netted them 92 yards for the score. Dodgen then passed to Ken Foster for the extra point.

Rangers Blast Guymon, 25-0, In Non-Conference Encounter

(Special to The News) PERRYTON, Nov. 8 — The Perryton Rangers handily downed Guymon Okla., 25-0, Friday night in their homecoming tilt, which marked their last non-conference game of the season. Scoring once in the first quarter, once in the third and twice in the final, the Rangers held the Guymon team from a serious threat during the entire encounter. Delray Mounts opened the scoring for Perryton in the initial period when he capped the first Ranger drive going over the goal from seven yards out on a keeper play. Harold Shittlett booted the extra point to put the Rangers in the lead, 7-0.

Capitalizing on a pass interception by Tommy Carter in the second quarter, the Rangers launched their second scoring drive. Mounts connected with Carter on a 24 yard pass and Seymour finished off the effort by smashing over from the three yard line to end the first half, 13-0. Both teams remained scoreless during the third quarter and in the final, the Rangers opened up again as Seymour raced over for the third touchdown of the evening. Sam McLean's attempt at the extra failed. The final score came to Rangers late in the fourth as Billy Apple (Special to The News) GROOM — Nov. 8 — The Groom Tigers rolled by the Vega Longhorns, 27-0, Friday night to sweep their sixth straight district victory of the season. Scoring once in the first quarter, once in the second and two times in the third, the Tigers handily held the Longhorns from any serious scoring threat throughout the game. Ernest Lewis opened the scoring for the Tigers when he plunged over from four yards out to cap the initial Groom drive. Leon Anglin booted the extra to put the Tigers in the lead, 7-0. In the second quarter, Willard Smith raced nine yards to tag the second Groom touchdown. Anglin's kick for the extra point failed and the half ended, 13-0. In a powerful third quarter, Johnny Eschle capped the first Groom drive from one yard out and Anglin again added the extra to put the Tigers in front, 20-0. Later in the third, Groom again flourished its offensive power as they pushed to the Longhorn one yard line and quarterback Eschle pushed over for the final score. Anglin kicked his third extra point in four attempts to put the score at 27-0. The Tigers, who are defending a district championship title, have one game remaining in their regular I-B schedule, with Stratford, who stands as the most able foe of the list. In district play this season, Groom has rolled by Claude, Darrouzett, Follett, Spearman, Texline and Vega.

MARTINEZ FIGHTS DRAW BERLIN, Germany (UP)—Jimmy Martinez of Glendale, Ariz., fought a 10-round draw with Bubi Scholz, the German middleweight champion, Friday night in a no-knockdown bout at West Berlin's Deutschlandhalle Sports Hall. Martinez weighed 160 pounds and Scholz 161. CAMPANELLA BOAT FOR SALE NEW YORK (UP)—Roy Campanella, veteran Brooklyn Dodger catcher and the most famous commander in the National League, has put his 41-foot, double cabin cruiser up for sale (at about $35,000). Roy figures he won't have much use for it until someone discovers an overland water route from Connecticut to Los Angeles.

TOLEDO, Ohio (UP)—Jim Nemeth, 6-foot, 3-inch, 250-pound first-string center for the University of Toledo, has been dropped by the team for "disciplinary reasons." Toledo plays Xavier University today.

Bobcats Drubbed By Pirates, 19-7

(Special to The News) LEFORS — Nov. 8 — The Lefors Pirates, now standing at the top of District 2-A, clipped the Sunray Bobcats, 19-7, Friday night in a non-conference battle played in Shaw Field. The Pirates scored twice in the second quarter and once in the final while the Bobcats' lone tally came in the third. With one minute gone in the second period, fullback Junior Taylor opened the scoring for Lefors when he plunged over from the two yard line to cap a 55 yard drive. Quarterback Tommy Johnson's boot for the extra failed. Late in the first half the Pirate offense again started rolling as a weak Sunray punt gave them the ball on the Bobcats' 45 yard line. The Buccaneers drove to the two yard line and Johnson then packed over for the touchdown and followed up by running the extra point himself to put Lefors in the lead at halftime, 13-0. A fired-up Sunray team took the second half kickoff and marched the ball 80 yards, where halfback Harvey Hickman smashed the remaining two for the touchdown. Boyd Pool booted the extra point and narrowed the Pirates' lead to six points. As the final quarter got underway the Pirates launched another drive that took them 45 yards to the Sunray one yard line. Johnson then carried over the double stripe on a keeper, and a passing attempt for the extra point failed after a line play had been called back on a penalty. In first downs, the teams tied with 15 each. The Pirates attempted six passes, completing three for 25 yards while Sunray attempted six, completing four for 68 yards. Lefors tumbled twice, losing both times while Sunray also fumbled twice, losing the ball once. The Pirates were penalized nine times for 75 yards and Sunray drew six infractions for 60 yards. In punting, Lefors had four for an average of 33 yards. After Memphis defeated Clarendon Friday night, Lefors stands with Canadian and Memphis as the teams having only one district loss. Since both Canadian and Memphis suffered their defeat at the hands of the Pirates, if Lefors can get by McLean next week, they will represent the district in the playoffs. McLean has been defeated three times in conference action.

REVOLUTIONARY NEW TRUCK POWER!

Chevrolet's '58 engine lineup packs new hustle across the board. There are higher powered V8's and Sixes with new stamina. Power leader of them all is a V8 so radical in design that it even looks different on the outside!

Chevrolet trucks introduce a new brand of hustle for '58. Biggest news in the power lineup is the revolutionary, all-new 230-h.p. 348-cubic-inch Workmaster V8! The Workmaster breaks away from conventional V8 design with a new Wedge-Head combustion chamber that helps to develop tremendous power. Combustion chambers are wedge-shaped, precision-machined, and located in the cylinder block rather than in the cylinder head. This means maximum power for each drop of fuel used, equalized work loads on each piston for smooth performance, less wear than ever. No matter what your job... let your Chevrolet dealer show you the latest in V8 and 6 engines!

- Compact power in Super Taskmaster V8
- More durability, more stamina in Jobmaster 6
- More "horses," more savings in Thriftmaster 6

High-efficiency 175 h.p. and short-stroke design give you power plus economy. Standard in heavy-duty Series 70 and 80 models.

Top 4-A Teams Unbeaten After Friday Night Battles

By UNITED PRESS
Nederland asserted its superiority in the state's Class AAA ranks and most of the other high-rated echelon schoolboy football teams came through unscathed Friday night, but some jarring upsets marked play as 35 more teams won their way into the state playoffs.

Amarillo crushed Lubbock 41-0, the same score by which second-ranked Corpus Christi Ray brushed aside Marshall, and third-rated Abilene beat down stubborn Odessa 19-0 for the state champs' 43rd consecutive victory.

AAA's Districts 10 and 16. Copping playoff spots in Class AA Friday night were Dimmitt in District 1, Lockney in 2, McCamey in 3, Ranger in 7, Lewisville in 10, Terrell in 12, Bonham in 13, New London in 15, Marlin in 17, Jasper in 18, Belton in 20, Liberty in 24 and San Antonio Sam Houston in 25. The teams joined Perryton in 3 and Hamilton in 8, which had clinched their spots a week earlier.

White Deer Slips By Panhandle, 27-26

(Special to The News)
PANHANDLE — Nov. 8 — The White Deer Bucks, after gaining a near-certain district championship, had to fight for their lives Friday night as they edged by the Panhandle Panthers, 27-26.

As the final period got underway, the fired-up Panthers again succeeded in a sustained drive that took them 64 yards, with quarterback Ted Addington connecting with Glen Axe for the final 15 yards and the last Panhandle touchdown.

One of the major upsets of the season saw Ranger whip undefeated-untied Coleman 21-6, while Elgin kayoed perfect record Giddings 28-0 in another A shocker.

Playing their homecoming game, the Panthers gained the lead two times during the hard fought battle, but lost out in the final period by the slim one stroke margin.

With only four minutes left in the game, White Deer started a desperation drive that took them to the Panhandle 16 yard line. Herschel Powell then took a reverse around left end and across the double stripe for the touchdown. White then plunged over for the winning extra point that ended the game, 27-26.

Among the other top 10 teams in action Friday night, AAA's fourth-rated Austin High beat back Waco 20-6, fifth-ranked Dallas Tech crunched by Dallas South Oak Cliff 52-6, sixth-ranked Highland Park walloped Dallas Samuel 28-6, seventh-ranked Wichita Falls beat Denison 40-7, Temple (No. 8) edged Austin Travis 14-13, Texarkana (No. 9) beat Longview 12-0 and San Antonio Jefferson (No. 10) walloped Victoria 40-14.

Both teams were then held scoreless until the second period when Panhandle again started rolling and Roger Williams skirted the Buck left end for 20 yards into the end zone. Williams also added the extra point on a line play to put the Panthers in the lead, 13-0.

Cyclones Drop Broncs From District Race In 19-6 Tilt

(Special to The News)
MEMPHIS, Nov. 8 — The Clarendon Bronchos dropped out of District 2-A running Friday night when they fell to the Memphis Cyclones, 19-6, to suffer their second consecutive defeat of the season.

half, however, as they racked two more touchdowns and held the Bronchos without serious threat.

Remaining in the district race now are Letors, Canadian, and Memphis, all of which have one loss each. The Pirates defeated both Canadian and Memphis and will represent the district in the playoffs if they defeat McLean next week in their last regularly scheduled game.

Frick Supposedly Mediates In Closed Meeting Of Leagues

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP) — Baseball, which everybody knows is "the great American pastime" as well as a non-monopoly by Supreme Court edict, played cloak and dagger today to make certain that it retained the status quo.

with all parties muzzled, is striving to arrive at a satisfactory middle figure which will keep the PCL from going to court. It's another step in a career which finds Frick passing out more muzzles than an Army ordnance sergeant.

Then, when the National League prepared to meet at Chicago on May 27, it was explained that the session was "a very routine mid-season meeting."

Prudence dictates silence. The reason is clear. Prudence dictates that the National League hide itself under the cloak of silence as baseball's upper echelon prepares to use the Sicilian scalpel on the Pacific Coast League.

Warriors Fall To Turpin

The Miami Warriors dropped to Turpin Okla., 26-25. Friday in a six man battle played on the Warrior's home field.

Miami opened the scoring in the first period when Sam Harris capped an early drive and raced 20 yards for the score. Turpin then rebounded into the game as Charles Combs scored and Bill Foster charged the extra point to go into the lead, 7-6.

The quail situation, in many parts of the Panhandle resembles the duck and goose in that there is a vast amount of food on the ground that will not be consumed for lack of birds.

Due to the huge weed crop on the Gene Howe Wildlife Refuge plus some other conflicting complications, the Panhandle Bird Dog Ass'n. will not conduct the fall bird dog field trials this year near Canadian, but will go all out towards having a whing ding at the spring trials, which will be pulled off sometime in March.

November 16 at one half hour before sunrise the deer and turkey season for the Panhandle will open. There will be but very few if any more turkeys this fall than we had last fall.

But in each case, Cornhusker passes failed deep in Iowa State territory and Iowa State took over on downs, once on the 10-yard line and then on the 17.

Only a United Press exclusive revealed, just before the meeting, that the New York clubs were going to be given permission to move West. Which they were, despite protestations right up to the time of the meeting that this matter wasn't even on the agenda.

Iowa State got its clinching touchdown in the third period with Nichols pacing the Cyclones to a 64-yard drive in 12 plays. Ingram got the score on a one-foot plunge.

Prudence dictates silence. The reason is clear. Prudence dictates that the National League hide itself under the cloak of silence as baseball's upper echelon prepares to use the Sicilian scalpel on the Pacific Coast League.

STAFF NOTES

JOEL R. COMBS, managing editor

Items you may have missed: If you watched the news columns closely last week you probably already know that two Pampanos wrote articles or contributed to articles which were given nationwide circulation last week. They were County Judge Bruce Parker and Mrs. D. Z. Nenstiel. Mrs. Nenstiel wrote an anecdote in Together magazine. It goes like this: The Sunday school teacher was reviewing a lesson, "Who led the children of Israel out of Egypt?" There was no answer, so she pointed to a boy at the back of the room and repeated her question. "It wasn't me," he said timidly. "We just moved here from Tulsa." Judge Parker contributed to Doc Quigg's United Press dispatch on odd-named towns. He wrote Quigg, telling him about three Texas towns, Edna, Louise and Comfort, which lies between the other two towns. "The judge added that there was a sign on a hotel in Comfort which said, 'Sleep in Comfort between Edna and Louise.'" There was another local con-

Who was it that said "All I know is what I read in the papers?" That is the way I feel as I write this short item. After being in bed for several days with the "bug" I am a little out of date on what is going on in Pampa. All I know is what I have read and heard on radio and TV (ugh, those words). I can truly sympathize with those who have been sick because as I try to write I'm so weak I can hardly punch the keys on my typewriter. I did learn one thing, however,

This is in no way intended as a movie review. We'll leave that for those who know the technical ins and outs of a good movie. But from a "seasoned movie-goer's" point of view, may we recommend "The Ten Commandments," which will be showing for the next two weeks in the LaVista Theater. From the opening remarks of Cecil B. DeMille, who explains (and you feel that he is right in the theater with you) that the movie is based on proving whether "man belongs to the State or is he master of his own soul," all through the three hours and 39 minutes of breath-taking technical or showing the moving story of Moses and the Ten Commandments, you escape into that world. The miracles of God worked through Moses are approached by the miracles of the magnificent scenes and photography in illustrating these miracles. The first night audience was very attentive, so, spell-bound might be a better word. There was no shuffling, restlessness, and the feeling of a need for refreshments (a short intermission in the middle of the picture is provided for this). All of the cliches, which have been used before in advertising a movie should have been saved for this one alone. We liked it and hope you will, too!

ALETHA DAVIS, staff writer

Seems as if Buck Rogers is real these days doesn't it? Everybody is excited and spends a great deal of time discussing the probability of space travel. Well, we've had it — time is now short I feel, until everyone will have an opportunity to visit the moon, Mars, Venus and maybe even Russia! How exciting — for those who would like to go — believe I'm satisfied with the sands of the Panhandle under my feet. Seriously, if a Russian dog is brave (?) enough to go, why shouldn't people journey up into outer space and "see what they can see"? Of course she didn't have much choice. It's going to seem pretty strange when the youth of the world no longer gaze at the moon and whisper sweet nothings down by the old mill stream. With all probability, they will go courting by the light of the exhaust of a spaceship and beep-beep scientific date back and forth with their rivals on the moon and elsewhere. Before long the hotrod will become obsolete and the latest thing will be "hot plates" which are of course souped up flying saucers! # US Underestimated Russian Progress

EDITORS NOTE — Why was the United States bent on getting a satellite into space? Are we badly behind on military missiles? The following analysis is written by a U. P. correspondent who has been covering the American aviation and military scene for more than 10 years.

By CHARLES CORDDEY United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP)—We lag on satellites by default. We have financed our own program with peanuts. We obviously underestimated or failed to understand Russian progress and did not appreciate the psychological effects a Sputnik would have.

It would be hard to prove from that, however, that we lag in military rockets — that is, ballistic missiles and other weapons — although we are in a neck and neck race in which either side can forge ahead temporarily. Experts do not think the country can be lapped while spending the kind of money this country is putting into missiles.

SATellites Though the U. S. program was announced with great fanfare it has been a low voltage project. It has not been allowed to interfere with the missile, particularly ballistic missile, program. It is not a military project as Russia's must be. For example, the Vanguard rocket thrust is 27,000 pounds. The Air Force has just abandoned the Navaho intercontinental missile which had a booster with 225,000 pounds of thrust and would have had 450,000 pounds in production version.

against jet-propelled aircraft. Tactical guided missiles and smaller varieties of ballistic missiles had to be developed. Work had to be started on defenses against long-range ballistic missiles. All that has taken money and scientific manpower. The Russians, being reasonably certain the United States would not start a war against them, can afford to drop production or even development of any current weapon and leap out to a far more advanced thing.

The Yo-Yo dolls in many bright colors will appeal to the wee one in the crib and all ages. There will be clown dolls, stuffed animals, fuzzy yarn balls, which are new and fascinating. Other unique yarn toys are caterpillars, lobsters, and crocodiles. Another glamorous creation available will be red felt Christmas stockings, decorated with sequins and appliques. Decorative crayon sets will also be included in this department, for that little something for someone special. The food department, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Jack Reeve, has many special extras to make a Thanksgiving or Christmas dinner complete: homemade bread, cakes, pies, cookies, jellies, relishes, and pickles just to name a few. Mrs. Jay Meador, candy chairman, announces that there will be many kinds of candy available in this department to satisfy a family's sweet-tooth. The luncheon committee, under direction of Mrs. G. F. Richmond, will serve lunch on opening day, Nov. 14, from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. The menu consists of chili, soup, cobbler, milk or coffee. The committee suggests that this will give everyone an opportunity to meet their friends for lunch and to shop during their luncheon hour. The public is cordially invited to attend this annual affair.

'Future Of Japan' is Topic Discussion For Wesleyan Service Guild Meeting

Mrs. Lillie May Fowler was a cocoon, a chrysalis, and an open Bible in a colorful silken centerpiece, in keeping with the Japanese theme. Mrs. R. M. Wells gave a litany devotional. A hymn was sung, accompanied by Mrs. Iri Smith at the piano.

Thangsgiving Motif At TOT Club Meet

The Tops o' Texas Club met Tuesday evening in the Pine Room of the Pampa Hotel for a dinner meeting with Mmes. E. C. Carter and Ray E. Wilson as hostesses. The table was decorated in a Thanksgiving motif with a large turkey made from a pine cone, turkey feathers and a styrofoam head, forming the centerpiece. Plate favors were miniature turkeys made from the same materials, with pipe cleaners forming the legs, neck and head.

Following a turkey dinner, games were played by the guests. Winners were Mrs. Johnny McGuire for guessing the number of straws in a stack; Mrs. Kenneth Gowdy in the "shoe scramble"; Mrs. Cecil Tedrow in musical chairs; and Mmes. Jack Hall and Bill Rice in the "How Many Persons Am I?" contest. Mrs. Wesley Kieth was winner of the door prize. Members attending, in addition to those already mentioned, were Mmes. Joe Jeter, Edd Harris, Randy Schulz, Woody Woodruff, H. H. Killingsworth, Garland Pool, Don Boddy, F. D. Morris, and Doris Gastineau.

Duplicate Club Plays Howell Movement

The Pampa Duplicate Bridge Club met Monday evening in St. Matthew's Episcopal Parish House, 727 W. Browning, with six tables playing a Howell movement. Winners were Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Rogers, first; Mrs. A. T. Partin and Frank Roach, second; Mrs. Joe Rowell, Mrs. F. G. Richmond, third; Mrs. Louis Burns, Greeley Warner, fourth.

Mrs. Hutchinson Honored At Tea

(Special to The News) WHITE DEER R — A tea honoring Mrs. Lucille Hutchinson, telephone operator at White Deer, was held Sunday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Williams, with Mmes. W. J. Stubblefield, Tolbert Collins, and George Coffey assisting. Mrs. Hutchinson, whose home is in Wheeler, came to White Deer as operator for the General Telephone Company in February 1955. With the installation of the new dial system here now completed, she will be transferred this week to Memphis. As a token of appreciation for her efficient and courteous service, the citizens of White Deer presented her with a farewell gift of an electric blanket and a wrist watch.

WEDDING ANNOUNCED

MRS. JAMES H. BAILEY

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Osborne Jr., south of the city, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Betty Amanda to Dr. James H. Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bailey of Forsythe, Montana. The double-ring wedding vows were exchanged on October 29 at twelve noon in Raton, N. M. Mrs. Bailey was graduated from Pampa High School and attended Colorado State College, where she was a junior student. Dr. Bailey was graduated from Colorado State. After a brief visit with the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Bailey have returned to Billings, Montana, where they will make their home and where the bridegroom is engaged in veterinary practice. Inga Pratt. . . Louise McCreary. . . and Bea Ritchart are giving one. . . and so are Eunice Pierson. . . Marquerite Thompson. . . and Edna Branson and Dorothy Neslage. . . are hostesses for another. . . seems to us that these groups entertain quite often amongst themselves. . . you heard, didn't you about the bowlers who took top places in a tournament in Amarillo recently. . . Dorothy Jeffries won first place in the "sweeper" competitions. . . and Dorothy Davis was second. . . Peggy Kastein was first in Class A singles, and Dorothy Whitsett and DeAnn Heiskell. . . won in Class C doubles. . . we're proud of them. . . and we hope to be as proud of the men when it comes their turn to bowl in a tournament in Amarillo. . . there are lots of them going this next week or two. . . like for instance, Dale Haynes. . . Ira Carlton. . . Ray Stephenson. . . Jesse Smart. . . Joe Wells. . . Stanley Brake. . . and Keith Robinson. . . they better do as well as the women, for their own prestige's sake, no? . . . and that goes for N. S. Hegwer. . . Tony Smith. . . who are also going.

HAVE YOU noticed how beautiful the trees in the park are getting. . . the early frost we had is bringing out the colors. . . and we wish there was some way of keeping a Pampa Grass plume from shedding. . . and still keep it in its "natural" state when brought in from the yard. . . now is the time to be hanging corn and peppers and such up to dry. . . now is the time to enjoy the warmth of the sun on your shoulders while you sit in the park or in the back yard and enjoy the crisp Fall weather. . . it is a good time for a picnic, too. . . the best, in some ways. . . what tastes better than a cup of hot coffee or hot chocolate when it is cool and nippy. . . better go this weekend to take the "Foliage Tour" around Pampa. . . Palo Duro should be pretty now, too.

Well, the first concert of the season is tomorrow night. . . see you there.

CREATIVE ART — Mrs. Eugene Olds, left, art instructor in the Junior High School, was guest speaker at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of Parent Education Club in the home of Mrs. Tom Rose, 2228 Beech. ## Parent Education Club Hears Creative Art Discussion By Mrs. Eugene Olds

Mrs. Tom Rose was hostess to the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Parent Education Club in her home, 2228 Beech.

During the business meeting, conducted by the president, Mrs. Homer Johnson, plans for the annual Christmas party for the children of Parent Education Club members was discussed. The party is to be held Dec. 17.

Mrs. Johnson reminded members of the Story Hour, which is being sponsored by the Twentieth Century Allegro Club, to be held every Thursday morning from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. in the Lovett Memorial Library for children ages five to six.

Mrs. Horton Russell introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Eugene Olds, who has been with the Pampa schools for two years in the capacity of art instructor.

"Some of us will live to see the year 2000 A.D. The children in our schools will certainly do so. Are we preparing them for 1958 or 2000 A.D.?" asked Mrs. Olds.

"Some leading educators think that by the year 2,000 our traditional 3 R's will be replaced by the 3 C's of comprehension, creation, and communication. Ability to read, to write and to read figure complicated arithmetic problems will not suffice for the student and citizen of tomorrow."

"Reading will be largely replaced by visual materials, writing by high speed automatic machines that write what is spoken into them, and arithmetic by various computing machines," Mrs. Olds stated.

She pointed out that art education has much to offer our children in the way of preparation for the future, because of the emphasis on the visual and creative. "The schools must prepare creators, not merely spectators and imitators," she continued.

In an informal question and answer period, Mrs. Olds urged parents to give their children large blank sheets of paper to paint on in preference to coloring books. "When your child draws a picture that looks out of proportion to you, remember the world does not appear to a child, as it does to an adult. His proportions indicate the significance things have for him and his feelings of their importance. Try to see the world through your child's eyes, not correct him through your eyes," Mrs. Olds said.

As a closing thought, Mrs. Olds quoted Albert Schweitzer, "The most important years in the life of a child are those between nine and 14. This is the time to plant seeds of knowledge in the minds. Afterwards, it is too late. This is the time to acquaint the young with the great spirits of mankind."

Cake and coffee was served during the social hour.

Those attending were Meses. J. B. Deer, Gene Fatheree, Warren Fatheree, L. L. Garren, R. C.

Goodwyn, R. M. Hampton, H. D. Johnson, Julian Key, Jack Lockett, Myron Marx Jr., H. L. Meador, Tom Rose, Horton Russell, R. K. Russell, Fred Vanderburg, and C. C. Whitney Jr.

Butter Cake Bake For WHDC Meet

Mrs. Roy Tinsley, southeast of city, was hostess to the Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club meeting in her home recently.

Mrs. Tinsley, president, presided at the meeting, which opened with the club prayer repeated in unison. Mrs. N. B. Cude gave the report from the council meeting.

Miss Helen Dunlap, home demonstration agent, demonstrated the making of a Butter Cake.

The club presented to Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Betchan two blankets as a wedding gift.

with coffee to members and guests.

The Butter Cake was served. Attending were Meses. Norman Walberg, Matilda Smith, Mary Brown, Miss Dunlap, Sue Clark and Dan Carlton.

Members attending were Meses. J. R. Clark, N. B. Cude, J. L. Carlton, O. A. Wagner, Roy Tinsley, O. G. Smith, Freddie Betchan, R. F. McCallip, and Marion Roberts.

The group will have its next meeting with Mrs. Carlton, 1313 Duncan, on Nov. 15 at 2:30 p.m.

Miss Smith Has BW Circle Meet

The Business Women's Circle of the Central Baptist Church met with Miss Jeanette Smith, 716 E. Kingsmill, Monday evening at 7:30.

Mrs. R. E. Bradford, president, presided during a brief business meeting and announced that a mission book would be reviewed in the First Baptist Church on Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Ned Herd presented the program entitled, "Three Knocks in the Night."

Miss Grace NeCase opened the program by reading the prayer calendar. Mrs. W. C. Bass led in prayer.

Those taking part on the program and their topic were "Welfare Center In Ire, Nigeria," Miss Evelyn Patterson; "Ogbonsho Hospital," Mrs. R. F. McCallip; "Southern Rhodesia's Baptist Hospital," Miss Smith; "Columbia," Mrs. T. C. Narron; "Paraguay," Mrs. W. C. Maples; "Dr. Mary L. King," Mrs. Paul Turner; "Medical Work in Indonesia," Mrs. G. C. Stark; "Japan's Hospital at Kyoto," Mrs. Bass; "Christ Would Enter To Bless," Mrs. Ed Flynt.

The group will meet next with Mrs. Flynt, 1239 Williston on Nov. 18 at 7:30 p.m.

Baker PTA Plans Dad's Night Fete

The executive board of the B. M. Baker PTA will meet in the office of John Evans on Tuesday at 1:30 p.m.

A report will be given on Fun Night by Mrs. D. L. Martindale. Alternate delegates to the state convention to be held in Galveston on Nov. 20-22, will be elected. Regular delegates are Mrs. R. A. Mack and John Evans, elected at the last meeting.

Plans for Dad's Night will also be discussed. It is planned that Dad's Night will give fathers an opportunity to attend and visit their children's classrooms in order to see their progress and meet the teachers.

To insure plenty of time, doors of the school will be opened at 7 p.m. for the visitation period.

At 8 p.m., the meeting in the auditorium will begin. Mrs. Flaudie Gallman and the choir, accompanied by Miss Exie Searight, will present several selections. Also participating on the program will be Wayne Lyles with piano numbers, Donna Key Haynes, a song and dance; Patricia Lambright, dance; and Mary Ann Mack will present a reading. Gary Jones will act as master of ceremonies.

Garden Club Plans Guest Day Meet

The morning unit of the Pampa Garden Club met Monday in the home of Mrs. W. R. Campbell, 1200 Mary Ellen. Eighteen members were present.

An interesting program was presented by Mrs. Stanley Brandt and Mrs. Tom Price on preparing dried flowers and foliage for Fall and Winter arrangements. Mrs. Price showed unusual wood plaques to be used as the base for dried arrangements. The wood plaques were made from a rough and rugged cedar post. First the bark was stripped from the post; then the post was sliced in uneven slices, sanded and varnished. Styrofoam or florist clay was attached to the wood plaque and the dried arrangement mounted in this.

Mrs. Price made an arrangement using gold leaves and other dried foliage, which was presented to the residents of the Nursing Home by the Garden Club.

The next meeting of the Pampa Garden Club will be the Guest Day meeting on Nov. 18 at 9:30 a.m. in the Lovett Memorial Library.

All club members are reminded to bring guests.

PTA YEAR BOOK — Glancing through the Hopkins' PTA yearbook, which was a second place winner in last year's judging, are, left to right, Mrs. Buster Sublett, council president, Mrs. James E. Lewis, and Mrs. Weldon Trice, Woodrow Wilson PTA president. The book was used as an illustration for Publicity Chairman at the City Council PTA meeting on Tuesday in the Junior High School. (News Photo)

City Council Parent-Teachers Meeting Hears "The News Story" By Speaker

The City Council PTA met Tuesday morning in the Junior High School with Mrs. Buster Sublett, president, presiding.

L. C. Davis, principal of Sam Houston School, opened the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. James E. Lewis discussed parliamentary procedure concerning minutes of the meetings and committee reports. Mrs. Lewis stated, "These reports should be brief and accepted by the association."

Mrs. Doris Wilson, women's editor for the Pampa Daily News, was guest speaker on the topic, "The News Story" in relation to PTA publicity. Mrs. Wilson took the group on an oral tour of the News Plant and traced the steps of an article from the time it is brought to the News office until it appears in print at the subscribers' homes.

She described the route of a news story from the reporter's typewriter to the perforating machines to the teletypesetter linotypes. "Where mechanical impulses guided by the holes in the coded perforated type make matrices fall into place, which are sent through the machine and are molded into a line of type."

"Once the line of type is cast," she said, "it is then shot from the machine and falls into place behind another line of type, finally winding up on the news dums to be handled with quick sure hands and, like a picture puzzle, are fitted in with the rest of the story already in type."

"When the story is completely set in type, it is carried to the proof press, where a galley proof is made, so that it can go from there to a vital department, the proof reader, whose pencil compares the printed word with the original copy. It is here," Mrs. Wilson said, "that errors are checked and marked for corrections or where last minute changes are marked in by the hands of the proofreader."

"As line after line goes through the proofreader's hands, headlines, as well as the body of the story, starts to move again on its journey. It's next stop is the galley correction bank, where offending typographical errors are thrown out and corrected lines inserted by a make-up man, whose hand must be as sure as his eye, or the new line may find itself anywhere from six or more lines above or below its intended spot."

"The beginning of the end of a news story is when it enters the casting box where molten metal from a huge pot holding more than 8,000 pints of metal is poured over a mat of print to make it into a page plate. The page plate is fitted on cylinders. Now it is press time. The pressman slowly turns the big roll of newsprint as the "web" is treaded through the intricate mechanism of the News 48-page Goss press. Once the web is treaded, paper is automatically carried over the printing plates and the finished product comes out folded and ready for distribution. The papers are then carried by a conveyor to the circulation mail room. Here more busy hands gather papers into bundles and stack them for distribution to various workers in the circulation department. The conveyor at the News runs under the floor from the press to the mailroom. Once off the conveyor papers may be tied into the bundles for distribution to area towns; others are wrapped for mailing, while still others go to the newsboys, whose agile young hands swiftly fold papers into squares for delivery to subscribers' homes."

In conclusion, Mrs. Wilson stressed timeliness as the important factor in submitting a story of a meeting, with names correctly spelled. Triple spacing of typed reports help expedite the story into print.

Those present were Meses, John Mackie, Harry Garrison, Weldon Trice, K. L. Green, Buster Sublett, James Lewis, John M. Nutting, Myron Marx Jr., Jack Vaughn, J. H. Trotter, Elmer Darnell, Kenneth Cambren, B. E. Tidwell, Chris Walsh, Robert Reddell, Walter Eller, Kenneth McQuire, Tom Rose, Warren Jackson, E. E. Shelhamer, Messrs. L. C. Davis, Sam Begett, Jack W. Nichols, H. A. Yoder, D. V. Biggers, John Evans, and J. Aaron Meek.

Bats, chipmunks, jumping mice and woodchucks are the only mammals in New England which truly hibernate during the winter months. Bears, though commonly regarded as hibernators, sleep fitfully, emerging to forage on warmer days.

The pint contains 16 fluid ounces in the United States, 20 fluid ounces in Great Britain.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend
I am 16 and have been going with a boy 18 for three months. I love him very much but I made the mistake of going all the way with him. He says he loves me as much as ever but I am so confused I could scream.
Besides this, my older sister who is married is having an affair with one of my brother-in-law's friends. She's really a wonderful person but lately she has slipped too.
The boy I am in love with is leaving for another state in a few weeks and he wants me to go with him. I'm a senior in high school and I could probably finish school down there.
Grace, I have made a mess out of things in the past year. I fight with my father and mother. I smoke, drink and do terrible things.
I've reached the breaking point and I need some help badly. Any advice will be truly welcome.
Should I let him go and try to start over or should I give up my family and friends for him?
Thank you very much and please answer soon.

FLOYD PATTEN

Notable Musician Speaker For Ass'n

Lloyd Patten of Amarillo will be the speaker next Thursday evening, when the Pampa Music Teachers Association and guests meet in Johnson's Cafe for a dinner meeting.
Mr. Patten is chairman of the Amarillo College Music Department, and president of the Amarillo Music Teachers Association. He has received a Bachelor of Arts in Education from the University of New Mexico; a Bachelor of Music in Voice and Master of Music in Voice from Jordan Conservatory of Butler University. He has also done some work toward a PhD in Musicology at Indiana University. His previous collegiate teaching experience includes Franklin College, Franklin, Ind., and he, also, served as head of the Voice Department and was founder-director of the Opera Workshop, at Mississippi Southern College, Hattiesburg, Miss. He has done graduate teaching at Indiana University.
The subject of Mr. Patten's talk will be "The Parent, the Teacher, and the Student." In addition to his talk, Mr. Patten, who is a tenor singer and has had experience in recitals, opera, operetta, oratorio, radio and TV in New Mexico, Indiana, Illinois, Mississippi and Texas, will sing for the group. He will be accompanied at the piano by Russell Curtis, head of the piano department at Amarillo College.
Other members of the Amarillo Association have also been invited to attend this meeting.

Mrs. Warren Chisum, Recent Bride Honored With Wedding Shower

(Special To The News)
LEFORS — Mrs. Warren Chisum, the former Miss Omega Crutcher, was honored with a wedding shower on Monday night in the home of Mrs. A. W. Shoffit.
Hostesses for the occasion were Meses, Lowrie McCathern, Emily Smith, Mayo McKnight, Robert Smith, Jesse King, Mike Nichols, George Morrison, A. W. Shoffit, Preston Crutcher, R. H. Lacy, G. W. Jones, and Miss Peggy Lamb.
Guest and gift registrar was Mrs. McKnight.
The honoree was presented a corsage, carrying out the color scheme of blue, silver, and white, fashioned of a blue sponge dish mop, silver tea strainer arranged on a white hot-pad tied with blue and white ribbon, adorned with blue ornaments.
Mrs. Edgar Crutcher, mother of the honoree, was seated with her daughter and assisted in opening gifts.
The serving table, appointed in crystal and silver, was laid in a white and blue crocheted cloth over white, centered with a white candy mint arrangement surrounded with blue candles in crystal holders.
The white cake iced in blue was served by Mrs. R. H. Lacy. Mrs. Preston Crutcher served the punch over blue ice cubes.
Plate favors were gold and silver wedding bands in a snow white marshmallow base. White and silver napkins completed the appointments.
Guests present were Meses. Ed Brock, D. W. Willis, Allan Crutcher, Hugh Terry, Ed Lehnick, Helen Florence, Beulah Hext, Calvin Lacy, Don Chisum, L. E. Coleman, Charles Roberts and Miss Loretta Moxon.
Approximately fifty persons attended or sent gifts.
Costly Tea
When tea first was introduced in England during the 17th century, it was served only by the rich and only on special occasions, because it cost $50 to $50 a pound.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY — Once a month the Altrusa Club sponsors a birthday party for Senior Citizens, who have birthdays during that particular month. On Thursday afternoon in the Lovett Memorial Library, Mrs. Iva Ward, right, 415 W. Browning, was the only member present with a birthday in November. She will celebrate it on Nov. 12. Mrs. Loyce Caldwell, who presented the program on Dried Arrangements is congratulating Mrs. Ward.

Varied Program For Senior Citizens

The weekly meeting of the Senior Center was held Thursday in the Lovett Memorial Library with Altrusa Club members. Meses Frank Lard, Jay Flanagan, Mark Heath, and John A. Hall, as hostesses. Mrs. Louise Sewell, Red Cross Grey Lady, assisted with transportation of the Senior Citizens to and from the meeting.
The program, prepared by Mrs. Tom Price of the Pampa Garden Club, was presented by Mrs. Loyce Caldwell, president of the Garden Club and Altrusa member. Dried floral arrangements were illustrated by Mrs. Caldwell. A discarded wicker basket, which had been sprayed in bronze by Mrs. Price, illustrated an ideal manner in which to put it back into use for Christmas cards. The autumn arrangement, which formed the centerpiece for the serving table and which was also made by Mrs. Price, was awarded as a door prize to Mrs. H. F. Meers.
Senior Citizens brought to the meeting, articles of handwork that they had made. Among the dis-

FALL SAUSAGE SUGGESTION
This spicy sausage main course is the kind that appeals to a family on a crisp fall evening. The sausage patties are cooked with chopped vegetables and tomato juice.
CREOLE SAUSAGE
1½ pounds pork sausage meat
1 No. 2 can tomato juice (about 2½ cups)
½ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons flour
¼ cup water
Parmesan cheese
Shape sausage into 12 patties and brown slowly over moderate heat, draining off drippings. Add tomato juice, green pepper, celery, pimiento, onion, sugar, salt and pepper; cover and simmer 1 hour. Remove sausage to platter. Blend flour and water and stir into liquid. Cook, stirring, until thickened and serve gravy over sausage. Sprinkle with cheese. 6 servings.

"Growing Up With Books" Program For Twentieth Century Cotillion Club Meet

"The child's first experiences with literature at home will largely determine his attitude toward reading throughout life. It then becomes the parents' opportunity and privilege to direct those experiences, so that the child will not only enjoy reading, but will also enjoy the very best literature."

Those were the opening remarks of Mrs. Bob Price, when she spoke at the Twentieth Century Cotillion Club on Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Charles Brauchle, 1206 N. Russell.

Mrs. Lee Moore Jr., president, presided at the business meeting during which roll call was answered by the members giving "The Book That Means the Most to Me."

Mrs. John Campbell gave the Federation report. It was announced that Mrs. Robert Lindsey, B. O. R. Ger, will speak to the club at its next meeting on Nov. 19 on the topic, "The Purpose of the Federation." The meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. J. B. Maquire Jr.

Mrs. Price began the program by speaking on "Growing Up With Books." She quoted Christopher Morley's philosophy, "The real purpose of books is to trap the mind into doing its own thinking."

"Very young children," Mrs. Price went on to say, "are greatly influenced by what is read to them and what they read for themselves. Imagination is stimulated, beliefs are formed or destroyed and experiences are widened through literature, as well, as through actual living."

"Usually the very young child's first introduction to literature is through Mother Goose rhymes. Now and then the value of these nonsensical rhymes is challenged. The purpose of most of the rhymes was never intended to teach facts, but to build interest in the humor and repetition of the words, the action and rhythm. This type of repetition and play of the finest sort, presents an opportunity for making the child's first experience

BETROTHED

MISS JENNIE HOSIER

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beum of Miami are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jennie, to Gerald Kent, son of Mrs. Ida Kent, also of Miami. The wedding will take place on Nov. 16 in the YWCA chapel in Amarillo with the Rev. J. V. Patterson of Miami officiating.

Auxiliary To Visit Veterans Hospital

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars met Tuesday evening at 8 in the VFW Hall to complete work on centerpieces to be used at the Veterans Hospital in Amarillo on Nov. 11. Sixteen floral arrangements were made during the meeting with the help and direction of Mrs. Fred Hart, who has much experience in working with dried floral arrangements.

Materials of dried garden flowers, milk plants, cotton bolls, pods, grain and florist leaves were used. Materials were sprayed in autumn colors and blended together.

Boxes were decorated with crepe paper and ribbon to be used for the annual poppy sales by the auxiliary on Saturday.

Auxiliary members will make trays favors filled with mints and candies to be used at Veterans Hospital and Worley Hospital in Pampa on Nov. 11. The American Legion Auxiliary will make trays favors for Highland General Hospital, it was announced.

Members of the auxiliary will drive to Amarillo this afternoon to take their project, as well as, articles they have been sewing for Christmas gifts, in order that the Veterans can make a selection to send or give to their wives, mothers or persons they could not buy a gift for otherwise.

Refreshments of coffee and sweet rolls were served by the auxiliary.

Members present were Mmes. Josephine Blalock, Frank Hudgel, C. D. Malone, Larry Parsley, Vernon Stuckey, O. M. Tigart, and Carl Wright.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

That Sunday when John's sister had left for a date, he and his friend, Wes, got a stimulating idea.

They entered her room. With her powder, they whitened their faces. With her rouge, they painted their noses cherry red. With her eyebrow pencil, John made himself a Groucho mustache. They were giggling so hard they didn't hear the door open.

Unamused, John's mother said, "Good gracious, how would you like it if Sister treated your things like this?" Then she sent Wes home; and after ordering John to help her tidy his sister's dressing table, told him he'd have to spend the rest of the afternoon in his room.

Shortly before supper, she went back upstairs. To John, she said, "Now this punishment is over. Daddy and I have missed you. So we want you to come back downstairs to us and look at some TV cartoons."

She did not say "How would you like to come back downstairs and watch TV?"

For she knew that when you've been punished, pride makes it hard to confess your wish to rejoin the family community. As a person hurt by his disapproval, you fear to expose yourself to more of it. So you cannot jump joyfully from your wounding isolation, crying, "Oh, thank you for taking me off the hook! Indeed, I want very much to return to your good graces."

How we deal with a child who has been humiliated by punishment is as important to our tranquility as it is to his.

The Biblical text for parents approaching a child after punishment always is, "God requires that which is just."

With its moral authority, we can reject the uncertainty that so often scares us into moralizing over his misdeed — and impels us into those cowardly questions that try to force him to admit his wish to return to the family fold. It enables us to take the initiative for him by inviting him back.

Gradually as he gains more experience of our genuine forgiveness, he can trust us with his wish for it. But until this growth is made, it is unfair to try and pry it out of him.

Manners Make Friends

"He overcharged me. I'll never hire him again," said the woman about a repair man she had hired. She didn't ask the cost before she hired him. So she runs the man down to others and feels she was cheated. There's nothing wrong in asking "How much?"

In fact, it is much better than letting yourself be surprised and resentful when you get the bill.

through an imaginary typical Japanese home and displayed clothes from that country.

Attending were Mrs. Lee Moore of Pampa; and Mmes. W. H. Craig, S. S. Jackson, C. C. Shield, C. W. Bowers, J. K. McKenzie, Laura Cox, Eunice Holland, J. V. Coffee, Willis Clark, J. V. Patterson, James Seltz, Ramon Cowan, Joe Cunningham, R. W. Beck, Charles Clark, Dwayne Wells, R. J. Bean, Wm. E. O'Loughlin, Clint Caylor.

SPACE-WISE PLANNING

Just because a bedroom is small is no reason why it can't be made attractive and convenient. Today we are realistic about the use of space. We strive always to make the most of every available inch, and we plan furniture arrangements that contribute the maximum comfort to small areas and at the same time give them a sense of being uncrowded.

The position of the bed in any size bedroom is of the utmost importance. It should be placed so as to be free from draughts and to protect the occupants against early morning glare. Bedroom colors should be quiet and restful—give a sense of serenity and security.

In a shared bedroom, double storage space and sleeping equipment must be provided. Note the fine example of space strategy shown in the shared bedroom sketched above. Space has been conserved by pushing twin beds together and using one large bookcase headboard which performs the duties of night stands.

Unit chests banked along one wall provide ample drawer space and put the room in a fashionable Contemporary mood.

Color scheme is composed of soft blue-green and delicate mauve-pink. Wood surfaces are rich mat-finish walnut.

Whether you're looking for furniture for living room, dining room, bedroom or den, you'll find a large assortment of handsome pieces here in our store. Styling that will not become dated, quality that you'll enjoy living with and values that can't be duplicated. Come in today!

Members present were Mmes. Alvin Agan, Don Baker, Robert Boyd, Charles Brauchle, Jim Campbell, John Campbell, Lee Moore Jr., Kenneth McGuire, Ralph McKinney, Bob Price, Dale Thut, and Thelma Bray.

Twentieth Century Allegro Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Evert Duncan with Mrs. Robert Karr assisting hostess.

A program on Buddhism was presented by Mrs. Clifford Braly and Mrs. Joe Franklin, who illustrated their discussions with colored slides.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. H. C. Grady Jr. during which plans for the Library Story-Hour to be sponsored by the club was discussed. The story-hour will be held each Thursday morning from 9:30 until 10:30 with Mrs. Leroy Ogden as the story-teller. Hostesses for the initial story-hour were Mmes. Grady and Braly. Other members will serve as hostesses during the ensuing programs.

Members present were Mmes. Braly, Bill Craig, J. O. Evans, J. H. Franklin, H. C. Grady Jr., Mack Hatt Jr., J. O. Miller, S. B. Spyer, J. E. Thompson, John Gentry, Evert Duncan and Robert Karr.

Fake Furs For Freezing Weather

Beautiful protection against cold winter blasts comes in candalon, a new orlon pile fabric which looks like seal. It has a lustrous surface, is lightweight and warm. We show it here in a straight, simple jacket (left) with rounded patch pockets, four-button closing and turn-back cuffs. It's used (center) for a chesterfield of great elegance. The coat is double-breasted, has straight lines and a luxurious collar of ranch mink. Brief jacket (right) is just twenty inches long, has notched collar, push-up sleeves and two-button closing. We show it in white. The hat fashions are by Sally Victor.

Legal Rights Topic For Venado Blanco

(Special to The News)
WHITE DEER —J. B. Maguire Jr., Pampa lawyer, conducted an informal discussion of the legal rights of women at a meeting of the Venado Blanco Club on Monday evening in the home of Mrs. David Grayson.
Mr. McGuire explained that under the common law of England, the wife merged her legal existence into that of her husband, retaining no rights, either personal or realty; but under the Spanish civil law, husband and wife are partners. Texas, he said, now has a modified system which gives women the privileges of civil law and the protection of common law.
Further explaining the three basic types of law, constitutional, statute, and case, he discussed briefly, giving specific examples of each, such phases of legal procedure as property rights, wills, contracts, and criminal laws.
Every case stands on its own merits and must be considered on the facts of the situation," he concluded, stressing the fact that one should not base his actions upon assumptions, but should seek competent legal authority, just as one would seek competent medical advice.
Mrs. R. J. Sailor Jr., president of the club, was in charge of the program.
The next meeting will be on Nov. 18, in the home of Mrs. Felix Ryals.

How Sight Works

Humans would become confused if they "saw" only with their eyes, because the image on the retina always is upside-down. The brain translates the images and conscious vision takes place in the mind, the eye merely recording light stimuli and setting off a pattern of nervous impulses.

RUTH MILLETT

Think twice before making a remark that begins with any of the following phrases, for they are really danger signals:
"I shouldn't be repeating this but . . ."
A second thought will make you ask yourself, "If I know I shouldn't repeat it, why be stupid enough to go on in spite of that little warning signal?"
"I think the world of Janice but . . ."
If you feel at all kindly toward a person, why introduce the "but" that leads to criticism of the one you profess to like?

"There may not be a word of truth in it but . . ."
If there is the slightest possibility the bit of gossip you are about to pass along might not be true, why risk being a party to spreading a false rumor?
"I know you haven't asked for my advice but . . ."
If your advice hasn't been asked, don't give it.
"I know I am wasting my breath but . . ."
If you are convinced that what you are going to say won't do a bit of good, why bother saying it? That's how nagging begins.
"If I tell you something will you promise not to get mad?"
That's taking an unfair advantage, for by your remark you admit that what you are going to say is likely to cause resentment and anger.
You aren't, so why bother pointing out what you think you could do if you were another person?
"Maybe I shouldn't bring up the subject but . . ."
Why deliberately introduce a subject that may prove to be a painful one?
"I know it's none of my business but I can't help wondering . . ."
You can help wondering out loud. And that's all you have to do to keep from asking personal questions.

Miss Giddeon Has Las Cresas Meet

The Las Cresas Club met Thursday afternoon in the home of Miss Jayne Giddeon, 612 N. Dwight.
During the business meeting, the president, Miss Joyce Nelms, read to the members, a telegram of thanks from the executive secretary of the Pampa Chapter of the American Red Cross, Mrs. Libby Shotwell, expressing thanks for the stuffed toys, which members had made for the Junior Red Cross program. Mrs. Shotwell stated in her telegram that the toys would be sent to hospitals where they were needed.
New officers took over their duties. Presiding were Misses Nelms, president; Priscilla Turbo, vice president; Mary Hefflin, secretary; Kay McMurray, treasurer; Lynda Wilhelm, historian; Alcyon Flaherty, reporter; Jayne Giddeon, chaplain; Nancy Bailey and Marilyn Whitener, parliamentarians.
Miss Carol Miller made a motion that the treasurer's report be made each week. The motion carried. Miss Mary Gerik suggested that get-well cards or flowers be sent to sick members and it was decided to do so.
The meeting was adjourned by Miss Giddeon with prayer.
Refreshments were served by Miss Giddeon and her mother, Mrs. Odell Giddeon.
The club will meet next with Miss Donna Herr, 449 Pitts, on Nov. 12 at 7 p.m.

Opti-Mrs. Plans December Bazaar

The Opt-Mrs. Club met in the home of Mrs. Gerald Sims, 3115 N. Nelson, on Tuesday evening. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Ben White.

A play tea party is one of the delights of childhood. These small girls sip cocoa using plastic cups, saucers and spoons that come with a miniature beauty set designed to teach good grooming to little ladies.

Tea Party Helps Towards Beauty

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Whether it's "Sara Crewe," "Alice in Wonderland" or the real thing, the tea parties of childhood are wonderful.

Be it a rainy autumn day or one in which a blizzard howls outside while everything's cozy inside, a tea party is just what small girls love. The "tea," of course, is cocoa or milk served with cookies or small sandwiches. A little girl likes to have at least one guest for her party, to make her feel really grown up.

Knowing how small girls feel about tea parties, one beauty house has packaged plastic cup, spoon and saucer in a good grooming set meant especially for the small fry. The set contains, in addition, a squishy plastic milk bottle filled with powdered bubble bath, five cookies made of soap and a soap lemon.

Soap and bubble bath are not meant to be eaten, of course. This is just an indirect way of getting a little girl to form the habit of cleanliness. The soap and bubble bath turn a bath into fun.

Lollypop School Has Open House

Parents of Lollypop Pre-School pupils met for a brief discussion on "Why Pre-School?" led by Mrs. L. L. Harkins, teacher-owner, assisted by Mrs. Dennis W. Stafford, music teacher and co-worker.

Preceding the informal talk concerning the daily program at the school, parents saw the collection of pictures made by this year's pupils, and also pictures from the album of the Lollypop School at Vernon, where Mrs. Harkins taught six years prior to moving to Pampa in Oct. 1956.

Highlight of the children's handwork was the "free-hand" bicycle pictures drawn by the four-year-old pupils in the nursery class.

Visual aids, work-book were shown to point out how to "see" the child's work and facts to remember in measuring achievement were emphasized.

Mrs. Harkins stated that these classes will not make a child perfect, but will help to perfect those who have the advantage of attending. Mrs. Harkins quoted from Laura Zirbes article, Kindergarten is important not because it develops preparedness for first grade, but because it develops people who are going to be

"Force Against Communism" Discussed By Mrs. Grady At Ethel Hardy Circle

Mrs. H. C. Grady was guest speaker for the Ethel Hardy Circle of the First Baptist when it met in her home recently.

Mrs. Grady discussed the work of missionaries in foreign fields and in Pakistan in particular and described some of their work. She stated, "Of course, we can't all be missionaries, but there is so much we can do. I think women of the United States have a greater obligation than any women in the world. Why more than British women? Because we are less tired. Because we do not have the long list of things to forget. Why more than Chinese? Because we have never been hungry. Because we are Christian. Why more than Russian women? Because we have had for a hundred years the means to expression, which they have had for only twenty."

With the threat of communism facing us, we should more fully realize this obligation and be women with the single eye, and the mighty purpose."

Mrs. Grady went on to say, "I read a speech the other night that John Edgar Hoover had made about communism. It quite frightened me and made me see that we as Christians must take a firm stand. I would like to give you excerpts from his speech. . . 'from the top of a mountain nearly two thousand years ago, Christ warned mankind against being duped by the very menace, which we face today. He said, 'Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly, they are ravening wolves.'"

No words could more accurately describe the purveyors of the evil philosophy we know as communism, and no words of warning are more urgently needed than at the present."

"One communist member revealed that the youth of America is the object of intensified communist effort. High on their priority list of infiltration targets are minority groups. How are we to identify these communists? Again, Christ gave us the answer in simple words: Ye shall know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles? . . . by their fruits shall ye know them."

"What are the fruits of communism? Millions of Russian kulaks speaking from the grave would say, 'death.' The Ukrainians would shout famine. Some would say torture. Surely the wretched minds of millions of brainwashed victims would cry, 'corruption.' We face today a movement of ever expanding power and strength fanatically bent on achieving the subjugation of the world."

"Apart from the physical strength of international communism, we too often ignore what it is. Communism means more than a physical organization. It means more than an economic system and more than a cultural pattern. Communism is a total philosophy which enslaves the human being from the cradle to the grave."

Mrs. Grady continued, "And what is that philosophy? To scholars, it is known as 'dialectical materialism.' While all communists are materialists, not all materialists are communists (and this is the statement that really frightens me. Scores of individuals who have never been members of the communist organization contribute to the spread of the philosophy of materialism. In so doing they are adding generously to the strength of the communist movement. These people are not communists yet they are preparing the soil for the needs of communism."

Mrs. Grady concluded, "religious freedom did not come to us except at tremendous cost. When we hear these words of John Edgar Hoover about communism, I think we, too realize anew how precious this freedom is; also, I think we realize that it will take each and every Christian being a force and not just a clod to preserve this freedom."

Mrs. N. J. Ellis presided during the business meeting.

Sentence prayers were given by each in the group. Eight members were present and one visitor.

Christmas Baubles Illustrated At Club

Pampa Art Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. H. Nienstiel, 1020 N. Russell, with Mrs. James McCune as hostess.

Plans were made to sponsor an art show. Paintings of noted artists will be on exhibit in the Lovett Memorial Library.

During the brief business meeting, Mrs. Clarine Hills was welcomed into the club as a new member.

Mrs. Nienstiel presented a program on Christmas decorations.

Starbursts made of gold and silver wrapping paper, balls of gold paper, and lace doilies; angels cut from copper-lined cans were among the many articles on display.

"Many beautiful things can be made from discarded household items," Mrs. Nienstiel said. "Burned-out light bulbs become attractive ornaments with the addition of glitter and sequins. Pot baling pans can be cut to make candle holders, and the tops of tin cans can be turned into stars by the use of a soft drink can-opener. Elives are made of peanut shells by using pipe cleaners for arms and legs and bit of sealing wax for a cap."

"Caged balls are fun to make of balloons, string and clear plastic spray."

Members attending were Mmes. A. C. Cox, Loyal Davies, W. L. Heakew, A. C. Houchin, C. P. Purley, W. Purviance, O. W. Appleby, Fred Hart, A. D. Hills, Loretta Killingsworth, Ervin Puraley, and C. G. Shirley.

BWC Meets For Mission Lessons

(Special to the News)

PERRYTON — Mrs. T. R. Shirley and Mrs. Leo Shuler were hostesses for the missionary program and Bible study of the Business Women's Circle of the Baptist Women's Missionary Union last Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Shirley, 818 S. Drake.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs. Carl Blackmore. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Leo Shuler.

Mrs. Jerry Slaughter, chairman, conducted the business meeting and reports were given. Mrs. J. R. Gunter, chairman, conducted the program and gave the devotional. Mrs. A. L. Schnell spoke on "The Southern Baptist Medical Mission Work Around the World." Mrs. I. R. Buchanan taught the Bible lesson, "The Jewish Maid." The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Tom Evans.

Those present were Mmes. Thelma Carver, J. R. Gunter, A. L. Schnell, P. B. Spelding, I. R. Buchanan, Marvin Shiflet, L. M. Harris, D. W. Hart, Pau Bowen, Val McLanahan, Tom Evans, Carl Blackmore, Jerry Slaughter and Miss Sara Riggs.

RUTH MILLETT

The clerk in the dress shop was having a hard time with the mother and her teen-age daughter. They were looking for a party dress and the mother's comments made it clear she shouldn't be buying it at all.

"She has a perfectly beautiful dress she hasn't worn but three times," the mother fumed. "But she says the other girls are getting new dresses for this party and if she can't have a new one she won't go."

"It's always something to spend money on," the mother went on. "I think I have her all set and then some dress isn't just what the other girls are going to be wearing. Or she wore it to the last party — or something is wrong."

Having spent her frustration on the clerk, the mother finally let the daughter buy a dress and the two left the shop. One was happy; the other probably wondered how she was going to face her husband when the bill for the dress came in.

Apparently it had never occurred to that mother — or to many of today's mothers — that it is possible to say to a demanding teenager, "You can't always have everything other people have, so you might as well get used to making the best of what you've got."

That attitude on the part of a parent is certainly more realistic than struggling to give the teenager everything he wants, all the while being resentful toward him for demanding so much.

It's no favor to a teenager to let him buy acceptance with a reputation for having the best clothes, or the most spending money, or a car he hasn't even helped to earn.

That's about as false a security anyone could ever count on.

A child is never too young to learn that the important thing is what he is. A girl who has been taught that lesson can have a good time in a dress that isn't new. And a boy who has been taught to depend on himself can get along without his dad buying him a car he can't afford.

Mediocrity

Dr. Darnell Rucker, assistant professor of philosophy at Colorado College, came up with an interesting lecture recently.

Dr. Rucker selected for his subject the rather all-encompassing title: "Art and Politics in an Industrial Age," fitting this neatly into the trilogy chosen by the faculty under the heading "Democracy, Mediocrity and the Good Life."

Thus, he joined with others in decrying the giant poll of modern times, mediocrity. "We need not look for to find evidence that we are afflicted by mediocrity. The evidence is everywhere—in our schools, in churches, our industries, our governments, our families."

But Dr. Rucker, approaching his subject through the field of art and the industrial age, was apparently undecided as to the core of this bane to superiority. Did mediocrity stem from the objects of art themselves, or did it originate in our emotional grappling with the reaction such objects made upon our tender libidos? Tossed between the horns of this dilemma, Dr. Rucker made the only logical choice. He decided that the objects d'art in themselves are but the result of the mediocrity rising like an emotional mist from our preoccupation with material things, simply because we are not truly preoccupied with material things. Americans, it seems, are not true materialists, in that they do not seek material things as though they held a value in themselves. Material things are sought as symbols of success, and merely represent success, not being the thing itself.

In sum, said Dr. Rucker, "the real tragedy lies, not in the fact of mediocrity, but in our apparent contentment with it. There is something saddening and disheartening in the richest nation in the world being content about its cultural poverty."

We must admit at this point that we are in complete sympathy with the professor's conclusion, but we are at a loss when we seek to understand the mental route he has taken to arrive at it. Certainly there is evidence, and plenty of it, that we, as a people, are passionately fond of avoiding both the highs and the lows. We seek to escape risk and to find solace by smoothing off the peaks and filling in the valleys. We are not only content with mediocrity, as the professor has said, but we are devoted to it.

We wish Dr. Rucker had spent more time in demonstrating our contentment with mediocrity, and less in worrying about whether we Americans are materialists, pseudo materialists, or even immaterialists.

At least we can say that Dr. Rucker and his distinguished precursors have all tended to show that mediocrity has become a fact in our way of life. Now if these august gentlemen will see to it that they themselves avoid banality and mediocrity, by daring to find firm principles on which to base their teaching, then Colorado College may perform a double service. It will not only serve as a warning signal respecting the curse of conformity; but it will, in its own efforts, serve as a powerful agency to banish conformity and mediocrity to limbo.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. Moties

"Inflation! What It Is—What It Does"
No. 2

I want to continue to quote from an editorial in "Christian Economics" on "Inflation! What It Is—What It Does." Under the subhead "As a Confiscator of Wealth," the editorial continues:

"If the supply of money relative to the supply of goods is increased by 25 per cent, $125 will then compete for the goods formerly available for $100. Apart from the expectation of further inflation, prices would tend to rise about 25 per cent. The owner of the new money would get a fifth of the good and the owner of the old money, four-fifths. In other words, 20 per cent of the wealth owned by the dollar savers before the increase in the monetary supply would be taken from them and given to the owners of the new money. But this transfer of purchasing power can go on so long as there is a class of thrifty savers to be dispossessed."

"There are about $275 billion in government bonds outstanding. State and municipal debt totals about $45 billion. Private debt is roughly estimated at about $380 billion. Bank deposits and currency in circulation amount to about $220 billion. If we add to these items the cash surrender value of life insurance in force, not to speak of pensions, annuities and Social Security obligations, we reach a total of something like $1 trillion or more owed to the thrifty savers of our country."

"Let us assume that as a result of more inflation during the next ten or fifteen years the purchasing power of the dollar is reduced to half of its present value and the quantity of dollars approximately doubled. That reduces the wealth of the dollar savers by half. The burden of paying interest and paying off principal is reduced by half. The transferring of wealth from the dollar saver to the non-saver, as we have noted, discourages saving, encourages spending, and creates an appearance of prosperity. Suppose inflation continues until the purchasing power of the dollar is reduced to the present value of a penny. The savers will then have been robbed of 99 per cent of their wealth."

"When that point is reached, or long before, if at any time the people should lose confidence in the dollar, inflation, debt and deficit spending will have lost most of their power to stimulate business."

"The last time I was in Greece, one man was paid for his services for $1.00. An announcement that $1.00 would buy 31,000 drachmas the following week would have had little effect on business. As the value of the dollar approaches zero, increasing the number of dollars will accomplish nothing. It will no longer cause forward buying. Two units of near zero value are worth but little more than one."

"To generalize, as the quantity of money increases further, expansions less and less stimulating effect upon business activity. When the value of the dollar is near zero it means that the wealth of the dollar savers has been transferred to non-savers. Debt and deficit spending can be used to "cure" depression and revive business prosperity only so long as there is a backlog of accumulated wealth to be taken for the benefit of the owners of the new money."

"Thrifty Savers Debraided"

"The so-called benefits which the economy of a country derives from inflation and deficit spending are in reality only the result of stealing the property of the dollar savers. When that is done inflation loses its magic power. Politicians will no longer be able to gain the favor of the voters by confiscating and handing out the property of the thrifty dollar savers through the medium of deficit spending. We shall then see "hard times" the like of which have not before existed in our country."

"Various attempts have been made to mitigate the disaster of inflation. Escalator clauses have been included in wage contracts, providing for more pay as the cost of living rises. Social Security adjustments are made, and elastic bonds, redeemable on the basis of returning to owner the same purchasing power which he paid for them are being sold. The next step would be annuities and life insurance that would pay more dollars in proportion to the degree of inflation obtaining at maturity. The purpose of these measures is to guarantee those who participate in them against the effect of inflation."

"To the extent that this can be done, inflation will lose its effect on business activity. It would no longer cause forward buying and it would not serve as a means of taking wealth from creditors and transferring it to debtors. If the bondholder, the laborer with his escalator clause, the annuitant, and other groups of citizens are to be guaranteed against the effect of inflation, there will be fewer and fewer people whose wealth can be seized by the inflationary process. As the number of these grows smaller, inflation will lose its power to confer benefits on some at the expense of others. If everybody is to be guaranteed against having a part of his wealth seized there will be nothing which inflation can pass on to others, hence it will lose its attractiveness."

Reds' Methods Date Back To Catherine The Great

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Russia's post-war territorial conquests, including today's penetration of the Middle East through Egypt and Syria, has been described by American statesmen and diplomats as the result of an entirely novel and sinister form of warfare. They say it is a new kind of aggression, a new kind of which they find it almost impossible to check or combat.

Ironically, the Muscovite methods are the very same which the Russians used for expansion as far back as the days of Catherine the Great almost 200 years ago. The Commissars are merely following the identical tactics of the Czars and the Czarinas.

Moreover, except for the different circumstances which almost two centuries have produced, the Western Allies are trying to resist Russia in almost the same way that the great powers — England, France, Prussia, Austria, Hungary — did so many years ago. The resistance movement then was more successful than now, however, for understandable reasons.

NEED TO BRUSH UP — Since history is supposed to light up the future, a book which Western diplomats should read today was written almost 100 years ago by Sir Edward Creasy, author of the famous "Fifteen Decisive Battles of the World." The volume on Turkey is contained in an encyclopedic "History of Nations," which was published more than 50 years ago.

The editor-in-chief that 1905 series was the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, uncle of our present Ambassador to the United Nations. For more than sentimental or family reasons, Ambassador Lodge should study this analysis of Russian technique. So should President Eisenhower, Secretary Dulles and all the Allied statesmen.

It is, in retrospect, unfortunate that Roosevelt and Churchill did not have a copy of this historical review with them at Yalta, or that Harry S. Truman had not read it before he journeyed to Potsdam. They might have emulated such illustrious diplomatic predecessors as Metternich, Castlereagh, Wellington and Disraeli in their dealings with the Communists. The West would now be in far better shape for a showdown with the Reds.

Creasy's acute analysis of Catherine's strategy and tactics — her basic policy — parallels today's front-page newspaper dispatches from the Middle East. He writes:

"That policy was to foment disturbances and civil wars; to interfere in the pretended character of a friend of the weaker party; to sow the seeds of new and worse dissensions, and then to make the misery and anarchy which Russian arts had produced, the pretext for subjugation of the exhausted state by Russian arms."

"It was in Poland, that 'commonwealth of common woes' (a term previously applied to Ireland by Sir Walter Raleigh) that this Muscovite Machiavellism was chiefly practiced during the first years of Catherine the Great."

BULLYING BY RUSSIA — It was by these methods that St. Petersburg, then the capital, swallowed Poland, the Crimean Peninsula, and most of the area now included in the Balkan states, which had been Turkey's possessions.

The West European nations, which were stronger then than now, blocked or minimized Muscovite strategy in two ways. When they threatened a full-scale, retaliatory war, the czars usually backed down. Or Russia was stripped of ill-gotten gains by being outsmarted at the diplomatic tables, or outgunned on the battlefield.

With European nations so weak and splintered today, the West's

The Monument At Little Rock, Ark.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

SHREVEPORT, La. — The South had lost or mislaid much of its old political pride and self-respect in the years since Roosevelt and his crimson tide went booming into Washington, but President Eisenhower and the Supreme Court have set up a dramatic monument in Little Rock at the line where the surf, at last, spent itself with a crash and began to fall back. As clearly as I can discern lineaments of the statue, it is a graven figure of an American soldier with a document impaled on his bayonet. And the letters, in blurred relief, say "We the People — Justice — Domestic Tranquility — Blessings of Liberty." (In the excitement of the cleverly miscalled "intergration" crisis, much of the Southern journalism and many of the people see the court personified in Earl Warren and the hatred engendered by the Diktat of 1954 is localized on him.)

A southern congressman said today that come hell or whatever, Mississippi, Louisiana and many localities in other states across the Southern tier, altogether a major expanse of Dixie, will not send their children to "integrated" schools. What else will they do?

Well, they could close the schools. Just close them, period. No more public schools down South. Release the teachers. Buy up their contracts. But, definitely, close the public schools. Surely they wouldn't try to man the school system with paratroops. He might could pry them open by law with Warren's connivance. But could he force the white kids to go? If some Brownian brain in the palace guard thinks that can be done, let Ike try.

Or, there is an idea worth study in the case of the municipal pool at Marshall, Tex., 35 miles west of Shreveport.

Marshall held an election, and voted to sell the pool to the highest bidder. It is now private property and the purchase price an asset on the city's books. The new owner has been toying with the notion of organizing a swimming club.

This idea has been wafted across county and state lines. Public schools might be sold somewhat the same way. In that case, would "teeners" and college men at the schools for colored children women also be knocked down from the courthouse steps? Would it not be against "The Law of the Land" to continue to run them with only colored students? Wouldn't that call for more bayonets?

In Dallas, Judge Hutton Sumners, a Democratic congressman who bowed out by his own decision during the war after an overdose of union extortion, sabotage, bloodshed and contract-profiteering recently arose at a political luncheon and let fly his considered opinion that Texas hadn't been robbed of her virtue. No, God pity her! Texas had sold it to Roosevelt for doles of her own money.

As of now, and probably henceforth, Eleanor Roosevelt is rejected in a region where, even for years after she had earned cordial disfavors, she was still politely accorded the mythical status of First Lady. Of course, in any mixed population, it would be possible for some local cell of her widespread political apparatus to engineer a hearing for La Boca Grande at a modest fee — say the traditional $2,500. Alben Barkley always got that. And Senator Wiley, of Wisconsin, a Republican of peculiar sort, received the same for many a learned "lecture" on international problems when he was chairman of the foreign relations committee. (His price dropped to $1,000 when the Republicans lost congress and he lost the chairmanship.)

The dowager empress Eleanor is still barnstorming long after her husband died at Warm Springs. The widow soon will be speaking in a more or less municipal "forum" in Tucson — if she hasn't already been and gone, with her honorarium folded away in her knitting-bag and with evasions drooling from the petals of the rosebud mouth which so often evokes the silent tribute, "catfish."

But, frankly, in the old South, her turned toward not merely been turned toward the wall but tossed onto the dump after the chromos of the late Commander-in-Chief, Harry Hopkins and Henry Morgenthau from whom all blessings flowed.

A dozen genteel ladies of the South came up to me at a small gathering recently, chattering sincerely their admiration of my valor and learning expressed in a thus-far endless series of homilies — "Especially when you pour it on Miz Roosevelt."

I hadn't appeared in print in their city in about seven years, nor leveled on La Boca anywhere in four or five. But, suddenly now, out of their past, they remembered with joy facts adduced to the political and ethical disparagement of a female who, at last, had come into focus in her true men and meaning. But they seemed to think all this had been repartee. Over and over, I had to say, "But, Miz Jones, I never did pour it on her. I never wrote a word about Miz Roosevelt that wasn't absolutely true."

Yes, yes, but I had such a way of pouring it on that woman.

They had finally overcome Southern manners which had long restrained them from acknowledging an enemy of their sacred altars. Now at long last, should she come their way, they were ready to greet her whilom first lady with that sort of matchless eloquence expressed by insertion of the tongue through lips loose pursed and a hard blast of exhalation.

There's A Turkey On The Back Seat Of Mac's Car

By HENRY McLEMORE

INNBRUCK — You are not going to believe a word of this, but if I could cross my heart and type-write at the same time I'd do it.

There's a turkey on the back seat of my car, and it's not in a can. It's alive, flapping and gobbling, and weighs, I'd guess, around 14 pounds.

I bought Tom at a farm a few miles outside of Innsbruck and am to keep him until Thanksgiving, when we are going to eat him. If I can't find a restaurant that'll fix Tom for us, we're going to pull up alongside a stretch of road that looks good for turkey cooking and prepare him ourselves.

It's been at least ten years since I have had a turkey dinner on Thanksgiving, and that's too long. I always seem to be on the move on Thanksgiving, and wind up eating dishes that have no connection whatsoever with the Pilgrim Fathers.

Last Thanksgiving I was in Germany somewhere and sat down to a plate of hasenpfeffer, sauerkraut, fried potatoes and red cabbage.

only anti-Moscow resource is NATO and the sister alliances which ring Russia. They are the present-day equivalent of the old European concert of powers, but they need to be strengthened for the task they might have to undertake one of these days.

The West likewise does not possess the same wiles or influence at the peace councils which Metternich, Castlereagh and Disraeli wielded, as Yalta and Potsdam demonstrated. To match their diplomatic triumphs, it is necessary to transform Ambassador Lodge's United Nations from a feeble debating society into a powerful instrument for peace.

But it does seem odd, in view of Western diplomats' apparent frustration, that Sir Edward Creasy outlined both the questions and the answers to the Russian enigma almost 100 years ago!

The death penalty now may be imposed by 42 of the 48 states, the District of Columbia and the federal government.

IKE'S COATTAILS KAPUT?
(N. Y. Daily News)

The fight for control of the next Congress is already on, more than a year before the 1958 elections.

Virtually every Republican hopeful will have to decide sooner or later whether to run on President Eisenhower's coattails or on his own two feet.

Discussing that question a few days ago, the influential Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.) said in effect that the Eisenhower coattails have become just about worthless for riding purposes.

A lot of people are dissatisfied with some of Gen. Ike's policies, said Simpson — especially his fondness for spending. So Simpson's advice to GOP congressional candidates is to leave Ike out of their calculations and run on issues which they believe will interest the most voters in the candidates' various districts. Government economy, Simpson feels, will interest more voters in more districts than will any other issue.

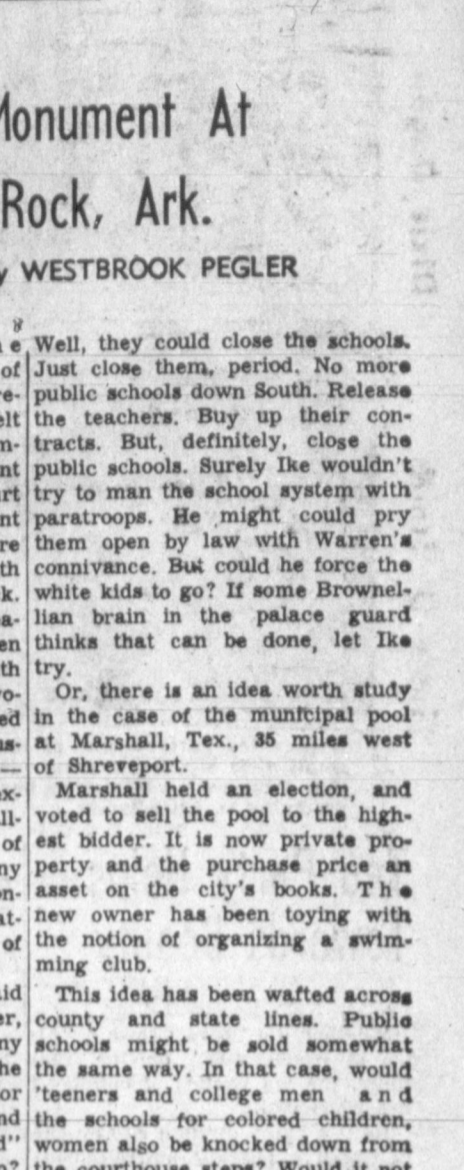

It would be quite some irony, eh, if the Republicans should win the next Congress but as a band of economizers determined to curb the spending habits of their own chief?

Production, Trade Patterns Undergoing Drastic Changes

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (UP)—The production and trade patterns of the world's two largest food crops—wheat and rice—have undergone considerable change since World War II.

When the war ended, the world's wheat and rice production was low. Nations that had surplus wheat sent emergency shipments to feed hungry people in other countries. Now, a dozen years after the war, the world's crops twice the prewar level. The increase in rice production, however, has not meant greater exports. In fact, world exports are only 75 per cent of what they were before the war.

The postwar years have noted significant changes in the trade pattern for wheat. Before the war, Canada was the world's biggest wheat exporter. Canada now is in second place, even though the volume of its wheat exports is about 75 per cent above prewar. The United States has moved from fourth place to first. Argentina and Australia, now third and fourth, are exporting about as much as before the war.

The trade pattern for rice also has shown changes. Burma is still the top rice exporter. Thailand is now second instead of third. Viet Nam and Cambodia were former
