NO GARAGE DOOR!

Heavy damages resulted when a driverless auto, owned by Henry Brewer, slammed into the side of the Russell Street Apartments Saturday night. Looking over the debris are Pampa Policeman, Dan Lewis, left, and Chief of Police Jim Conner from within the building.

No Injuries Reported

Run-Away Auto Hits Apartments

By RONNIE CROSS News Staff Writer

A driverless 1953 Buick, owned by Henry Brewer, backed through a fence, knocked down a clothes-line pole, and blasted into the north side of the Russell Street Apartment Building at 323 S. Russell, about 7:30 Saturday night.

Brewer, who told investigating officers he had drunk one can of beer prior to the incident, claimed the car "just ran away from me."

Damage to the building, owned by Steve Donnos, was estimated at about $1,000 by the owner. Police, however, estimated damages to the building in the neighborhood of $2,500.

Investigating officers, Dan Lewis and Dick Burkhardt, considered Brewer's vehicle a total loss.

Brewer's auto slammed into the side of the apartment in which Mr. and Mrs. James Roberts reside with their six children. The Roberts, however, were not inside when the vehicle went out of control and ripped into their home. They were lounging in chairs outside at the time.

The vehicle struck the Roberts' kitchen, sending pots, pans and dishes scattering in all directions, breaking most of them into tiny bits and pieces. Some clothing was also damaged by the collision.

As to how the auto actually came to take its wild flight which wasn't stopped until it met solid resistance from the apartment wall, Brewer had this to say, afterwards:

"I had parked my car behind a downtown liquor store and had gone into a drug store."

"When I came out, I had some trouble starting my car. When I did get it started it didn't sound right to me, the motor I mean. I got out and lifted the hood, and pressed down on the accelerator switch.

"Right then the car started going backwards, and I couldn't catch it. When the car hit the fence and clothes-line, it stopped momentarily, and when I tried to start it again, while looking under the hood, it ran away from me again.

"This time it hit the house and I couldn't figure out what in the world was happening. That car ran faster backwards, than it ever has frontwards," Brewer concluded.

Charges against Brewer are expected to be filed formally by local police, Monday morning.

Five Perish In Waco Collision

WACO, Tex. (UPI)—A grinding head-on collision on a crooked, narrow road killed five persons and critically injured five others Saturday night six miles southeast of Waco.

Nine of the dead and injured were from the same Waco family. The dead were identified as Paul Nino, 22, Waco; Rodrigo Alonso, 54, Route 6 Waco; his wife, Margarita, 55; their daughter, Deloris, 38, and granddaughter, Christine Guerra, 8, Waco. Injured were Natalia Alonso, 33, daughter of Rodrigo; Mrs. Georgia Guerra, 30, another daughter; and her three children, Joe, 6, Gilbert, 4, and Cruz, 3.

CRUSHED TOYS

A heavy wrecker begins to tow off a 1953 Buick which rammmed the side of the Russell Street Apartments Saturday night. Beneath the wheels of the wrecker, near the path the driverless auto barreled through moments earlier, lie several children's toy trucks and cars on a play-blanket.

U.S. Expelling Red For Espionage Acts

Tried To Buy Our Military Secrets

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States announced Saturday it is expelling a Soviet diplomat who tried to buy U. S. military secrets from an American newsmen.

The newsmen, identified by the Justice Department as Charles Beaumet, helped the Soviet official get about 25 non-secret military publications but reported to the FBI when the Russian asked him for secret documents.

The State Department did not name Beaumet in the case. But it revealed that a note sent to the Soviet Embassy Friday demanded the immediate departure of embassy third secretary Nikolaj I. Kurochkin.

It accused Kurochkin, a junior official, of violating established procedure in getting U. S. Army manuals and trying to buy secret documents.

A Justice Department official emphasized that there are no charges against Beaumet and no arrests have been made.

Beaumet, 35, identified himself as a reporter for the National Guard Association's publication, "The National Guardsman." He resigned from this job in February.

The Justice Department said Beaumet told the FBI he received about $485 from Kurochkin between last September and December for "unclassified" military publications, training manuals, news releases and other non-secret information.

He said he cooperated with the Russian "strictly on a free lance basis" until Kurochkin asked him to obtain manuals including classified, or secret, information.

Then he went to the FBI. He said he ended his contacts with Kurochkin in December "for all time."

Later — on April 18 — Beaumet registered with the Justice Department as a foreign agent and listed the Russian official as his "foreign principal" in the information-gathering work. There was no official explanation for this belated registration.

Denies It's Tit-for-Tat

Allan Crist, editor of the National Guardsman magazine, said Beaumet worked there as an editorial assistant for about a year, and left last February.

The Soviet Embassy refused comment. But Soviet sources said Kurochkin would leave for Moscow in a few days.

The expulsion order followed by about three weeks the ouster of John A. Baker Jr., second secretary of the U. S. Embassy in Moscow, on a complaint that he was too friendly with Russian students.

To Run For Governor

Lee O' Daniel Is Eligible

AUSTIN (UPI)—W. Lee O'Daniel was ruled eligible Saturday to run for governor in the July 26 Democratic primary on his assurance that he is a Democrat and will support nominees of the primary.

The ruling was made by a five-member legal subcommittee of the state Democratic Executive Committee in a recommendation to the full membership of the SDEC which meets Monday.

Members of the legal subcommittee, headed by Hal Woodard of Coleman, made public a letter from O'Daniel in which he advised the SDEC that he was a Democrat when he filed application for a place on the ballot.

O'Daniel also wrote the SDEC "I am still a Democrat and I expect to participate in the said Democratic primary and to abide by the decision of said Democratic primary."

The legal subcommittee met about 45 minutes in open session to draft its recommendation, which will be acted upon by the SDEC Monday.

Other recommendations of the subcommittee included: —That District Judge Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls is ineligible to have his name placed on the July 26 primary ballot for judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals because he has not been licensed as an attorney for 10 years as required by the constitution. Purcell contended the requirement was seven years.

—That two candidates who filed for governor and later withdrew — Austin attorney Alvis Vandygriff and Orange insurance underwriter Don Booker — are not entitled to a refund of their $1,250 filing fees which they sought after dropping out of the race.

—That John Barber is eligible to run for state Senate from district nine composed of Collin, Cooke, Fannin, Grayson, Hunt, Rains and Rockwall counties. The subcommittee said that a candidate for the state Senate who mailed his application within the scheduled time by ordinary mail rather than registered mail, and which is received by the proper county chairman on the following day but after the filing date set by statute, is eligible to have his name placed on the ballot as a candidate for the Democratic primary.

The question of whether O'Daniel was entitled to have his name on the ballot arose because the former governor and U. S. Senator sought two years ago, after being defeated for the Democratic nomination for governor, to run for governor as a candidate of the Constitution Party and later did run in a write-in campaign in the general election.

O'Daniel's letter, addressed to Woodard, the legal subcommittee and state Democratic Chairman Lin Lindsey, was dated Friday, in response to a letter from Lindsey earlier this week.

Purcell told newsmen after the legal subcommittee's report that he will file a mandamus suit in the state Supreme Court Monday seeking to force the SDEC to put

GEORGE TAYLOR ... Education Director

Taylor Named Educational Director

During the morning service today, the Pampa First Christian Church will install George Taylor as director of Christian Education.

Taylor came here from Fort Worth Sunday, taking his Master's degree in Religious Education from Bible College of the Bible, Texas Christian University.

Before attending TCU, Taylor was director of Christian education at churches in Durant, Okla., and Goldsboro, N. C. He received his B.A. from Atlantic Christian College, Wilson, N. C.

His "old stamping grounds" are Winston-Salem, N. C. Taylor is married to a former director of Christian education at the Church in Wilson.

For the past week Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have been active faculty members at the Christian Youth Fellowship District 1 Conference in Ceta Glen Canyon.

Ralph Depee, chairman of the Official Board; Homer Craig, Education Committee chairman, and Rev. Dick Crews, Church pastor, will conduct the installation ceremony.

Following the Scripture reading by Rev. James Minnich, Pampa Church of the Brethren, Rev. Hubert Bratcher, Methodist District superintendent, will deliver a short devotional message.

Rev. Watkins will lead the litany for the ground breaking after which H. B. Smith of Highland Baptist Church will pronounce the benediction.

Rev. Watkins invites all members of the public to this interdenominational ground breaking service.

DE GAULLE SETS DATE FOR POLICY REFORMS

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG United Press International

PARIS (UPI)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle Saturday closed out his first hectic week as French premier by setting Oct. 5 as the date for a nationwide referendum on constitutional reforms to end government "impotence" and ordering municipal Algerian elections within a month.

The 67-year-old premier, fresh from a three-day visit to Algeria in which he demanded and won full support of the rebellious military-civilian junta, presided at a two-hour cabinet meeting to plan his "salvation" program.

A source said De Gaulle and the cabinet decided to appoint a Moslem Algerian to a cabinet position for the first time in the history of the republic. There have been Moslem undersecretaries of state in the past, but never a full minister.

The meeting formally approved Gen. Raoul Salan, the army commander in Algeria, as "delegate general" in the territory with an "important civilian administrator" yet to be named. De Gaulle himself will personally supervise all Algerian affairs.

His attempts at "reconciliation" of the Algerian Moslem rebels fell flat. A series of rebel attacks were staged Saturday, including

Starkweather Gets Chair

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Convicted mass slayer Charles Starkweather was sentenced Saturday to die in Nebraska's electric chair Dec. 17, 1958 for the slaying of a 17-year-old Nebraska youth last January.

The red-haired former garbage hauler who marked his trail from Lincoln to near Douglas, Wyo., with eleven bodies, was convicted May 23 on two counts of first degree murder in the Jan 27 slaying of Robert Jensen, Bennet, Neb.

The jury ordered him to die in the electric chair. In Nebraska, the jury decides between life imprisonment or the death penalty upon conviction on a first degree murder charge. The judge is bound by the jury's decision.

one at Bonne, where de Gaulle spoke Thursday.

Three policemen were wounded by tommy-gun fire.

Information Minister Andre Mairaux said the cabinet decided that as a first step toward settling the Algerian crisis, municipal elections would be held within a month.

A full and completed cabinet will be announced Monday, Mairaux said.

De Gaulle decided to make a report to the nation sometime next week on his Algerian trip and he scheduled nationwide celebrations on June 18 — the 18th anniversary of his free French rallying cry: "France has lost a battle, she has not lost the war."

Electorate to Decide

The constitutional reform plan, rammed through the National Assembly in the early morning hours last Tuesday on De Gaulle's threat to resign the office he had taken on Sunday, was to be put to the people of France in October to end what De Gaulle called "the impotence of the public authorities."

St. Paul's Breaks Ground

St. Paul Methodist Church, 511 N. Hobart, has assembled an all star cast to break ground today for its first permanent Educational Building.

Rev. Burgin Watkins, minister, will have the support of ministers from four other Pampa churches in the 2 p.m. Ground Breaking Service.

This new educational building will house eight children's classrooms, the minister's study and a Church office. The brick and tile building will be of contemporary architectural design.

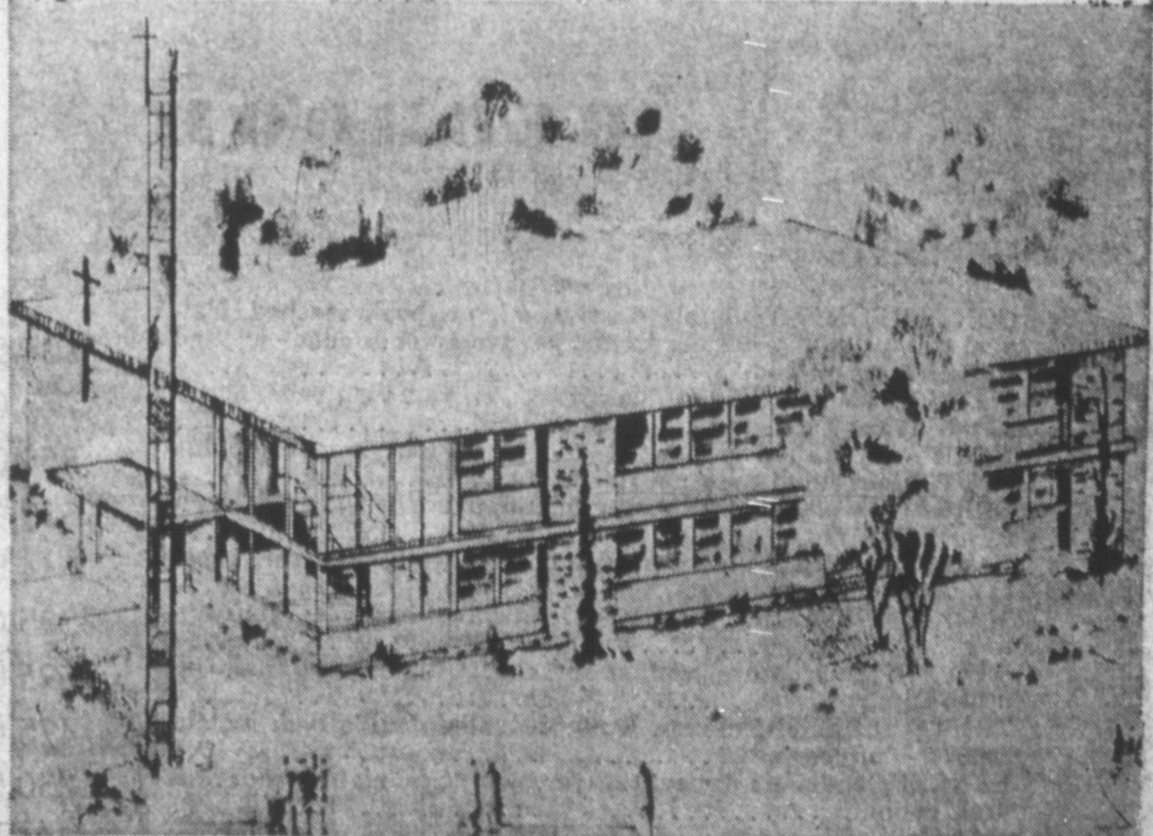

On the program, Gene Hollar will commission the contractor, Ramey Construction Company, Atchison, Atkinson and Cartwright are the architects.

The program will begin with an Invocation by Rev. Richard Crews, minister of the Pampa First Christian Church. Rev. Marvin Brayer, retired Methodist Minister, will lead the responsive reading; Rev. Woodrow Adcock, First Methodist Church, Pampa, will lead the prayer.

Following the Scripture reading by Rev. James Minnich, Pampa Church of the Brethren, Rev. Hubert Bratcher, Methodist District superintendent, will deliver a short devotional message.

Rev. Watkins will lead the litany for the ground breaking after which H. B. Smith of Highland Baptist Church will pronounce the benediction.

Rev. Watkins invites all members of the public to this interdenominational ground breaking service.

FUTURE EDUCATIONAL BUILDING

The new brick and tile Educational Building of the Pampa St. Paul Methodist Church will be of contemporary design and will have space for children's classes, the minister's study and a Church office. Atchison, Atkinson and Cartwright are the architects and Ramey Construction Company, the contractor. At 3 p.m. today ministers and others will gather at the Church to break ground for the Educational Building.

FIBERGLAS SPORTS CAR ON THE WAY

Jimmy Shuneman, home at 1816 N. Russell, shows off the Fiberglas sports car that he is fitting out with a steel frame and a motor from a '55 Chevrolet. With Fiberglass Body

Pampan Is Building His Own Sports Car

By WALLACE TRUESDELL
Pampa News Staff Writer

What are sports cars made of? You'd be surprised. This one has a fiberglas body and is getting a welded steel frame.

Jimmy Shuneman, home from Texas Tech on week ends, cuts steel tubing with an acetylene torch. If you drive slowly by 1816 N. Russell you may see the Fiberglas sports car in the drive, or, if you're lucky, you may see it behind a Mercury station wagon on its way to the welding shop.

For this is Jimmy Shuneman and his sports car and he's going to be in it in the Fall.

Pampans have seen Shuneman in an old Ford, an MG, a Studebaker, a Mercury and now it will be the JS.

But before the "great day" when the JS leaves the drive under its own power, Shuneman has the "labors of Hercules" to perform. First he has to get summer school over with, building on week ends as he has done since January, before he can put his nights on the car.

The first two years at Tech he spent his summers in garages. Then the SeaBees took over, putting him behind a desk in California and in the Philippines. January he was back in California. His two years were up and here was a company that made Fiberglas bodies for sports cars. $400 his cost.

So this is it. More one inch tubing in strategic places and then the motor and the steering column go in. He has a '55 Chevrolet motor for this ace of sports cars.

Right now he wants to get it in so he can roar off to Lubbock. It has heavy horse power but is light on the road. Shuneman forsee sports car racing and more power, more carburetor to come.

Tech means mechanical engineering to Shuneman. He left Pampa High School in an MG. The MG motor lasted a year. "It only had 50 h.p.," he says. For six months he MG'ed with a '45 Mercury motor and transmission. That meant 100 h.p. to the little MG.

The next one came from a Cadillac. "It had four times the original horse power," Shuneman exults. He had six months of his MG Cadillac before he sold the whole thing.

Shuneman is through with cars that pros built. He wants to have all the fun. Fiberglas not only looks 25th Century. It will take a coat of paint just like any other surface and "if you throw a hammer at it, it don't dent." What it will do is crack in a car wreck but Shuneman doesn't expect his sports car to wreck.

TV Guard Is On Duty In County Jail

GOLDEN, Colo. (UPI)—Closed-circuit television, an innovation in the mountain-town Jefferson County Jail, was installed Thursday to watch escape artists Albert Kostal and Arthur Watson.

But Sheriff Arthur Wermuth, Medal of Honor winner and Marine "one-man army" on Bataan in World War II, admits the two killers still have him scared.

In addition to the TV, Wermuth has:

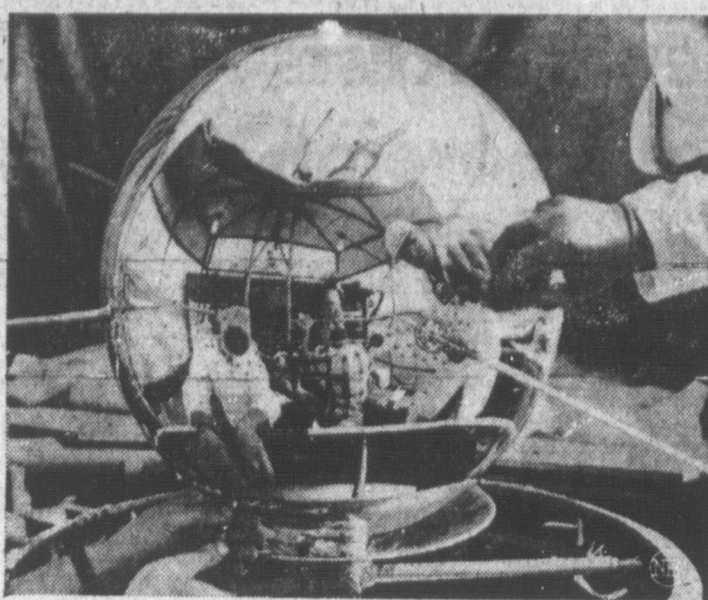

- A special guard watching the two cells or the TV monitor 24 hours a day.
- Floodlights trained on both cells day and night.
- New locks and new three-inch chains on the cell doors.
- Wended-shut cell windows and bunks welded to the walls.
- One daily 30-minute exercise period during which the two are shackled together.

The pair broke from the same jail last year using a key fashioned from a toothbrush and Kostal got to New York before the FBI gunned him down in Times Square.

He is still crippled from a leg wound. Watson, until the TV was installed, wore a 15-pound weight on his leg.

As he watched the television being installed to guard him until he goes to death row and ultimately the gas chamber, Watson commented:

"We're gonna check our ratings Friday to see if we can stay on top of the entertainment world."

Red Leader Disappears In Moscow

LONDON (UPI) — Mikhail A. Suslov, a Kremlin leader regarded as one of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's most dangerous rivals, was said to have disappeared from the Moscow scene.

Authoritative reports from behind the Iron Curtain said that Suslov has not appeared in public since mid-May. Functions from which he has been conspicuously absent included the recent Communist "summit" meeting.

Speculation about Suslov's fate followed reports that ex-Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin, who dropped out of sight a month ago, has been "exiled" to a minor job in the Black Sea port of Odessa.

In the past, prolonged absence from official Moscow receptions has often been the first — and sometimes the only — indication that a member of the Soviet high command has fallen from favor.

Suslov is regarded as a fanatic supporter of the now-unfashionable "Stalinist" policy line denounced by Khrushchev at the Communist Party's most recent Moscow convention.

Although little-known outside Russia, Suslov at 56 is one of the inner circle in Soviet affairs—a member of the all-powerful Presidium (Politburo), a secretary of the Communist Party and a former editor of Pravda.

Geo. Zoller Is New Perryton Principal

(Special to The News)
PERRYTON — George Zoller has been hired as principal of Perryton High School and will move with his family to Perryton this month. He has served as assistant principal of Seminole high school for the past two years. He replaces Troy Sullivan, who resigned to take over the new visual education department of the Perryton Schools.

Zoller, 35, attended high school in Van, and is a graduate of Texas Tech. He served in the U.S. Navy during 1934-45. He was an outstanding athlete at Tech, and was a first string tackle for the Red Raiders three years. He graduated in 1948 with a B.S. in education and worked for three years in Plainview as assistant coach.

In 1951 he completed his work for a M.A. degree in education and earned his Administrative Certificate. From 1951-56 he was athletic director and head coach at Seminole.

Zoller is a member of the Methodist church, the Lions Club, the Masonic Lodge, is a director in the Seminole Golf Club and has been Little League commissioner in Seminole.

Legion Holds Installation Of Officers

(Special to The News)
PERRYTON — The Perryton American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary installed officers in a joint meeting this week. District Commander Dow Stevens of Borger installed the officers.

Newly installed commander of the Pierce Johnson Post is Harry Stumpf, who replaced O. W. "Jake" Dunkle. Other new Legion Officers are: Herman Hardy, first vice commander; Virgil Olmstead, second vice commander; Bob Bond, adjutant; Tommy Manning, chaplain; Gayle Ferguson, finance officer; Robert Barlow, historian; and Tom Davis, service officer.

Legion trustees are Harold Hudson, Dr. Manse Wood, and Sidney Jines.

All Auxiliary officers with the exception of the first vice president were retained. New officer for that post is Mrs. Marge Black, who replaced Mrs. A. R. Hogland. Holdover officers are Mrs. C. B. Rogers, president; Mrs. E. W. Thomas, second vice president; Mrs. Robert Barlow, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Ida Garrett, historian; Mrs. A. W. Henry, sergeant-at-arms; and Mrs. Tommy Manning, chaplain.

Miss Anderson Is Drum Major

(Special to The News)
PERRYTON — Earlene Anderson has been selected drum major of the 1958-59 Ranger band.

Miss Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Anderson, will lead the 120-piece Ranger band in halftime ceremonies at football games and in other activities of the group next year.

She was chosen from a field of four contestants. Others trying out were Ruth Ann Smith, Jeri Ann Butler, and Carol Daisy.

SIGN WITH TORONTO — Toronto Argonauts, The Canadian club added William Unsinger, a Colgate University football star, a 211-pound guard and Ralph Atone, a 215-pound tackle.

LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE — Age-group pattern of American population growth in three years since 1953 is shown in Newschart above, together with estimated 1965 population, as predicted by latest Census Bureau figures. The projection is based on 1954-55 birth rate. Largest growth will occur in the age 5 to 19 group, more than twice the increase for the total population, indicating that the greatest demand for services in the next decade will be in the field of education.

Rites Held For First Tornado Dead

MEMONONIE, Wis. (UPI) — Funeral services were held today for the first victim of the tornado barrage that swept through northwestern Wisconsin Wednesday night.

Officials, meanwhile, revised their casualty figures to show a total of 28 killed in the series of twisters that turned peaceful dairy country into a wasteland.

The new count included the death of one of the 350 injured, and eliminated a duplication, a non-existent casualty, and a "dead" baby who was still alive.

A service was planned today at the Menomonie Evangelical and United Brethren Church for George House, 82, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Larsen and their son, Earl, were scheduled for burial Monday. There were signs the tornado-damaged area was getting back on its feet. Donations of clothes, food and money poured in to assist the hundreds left homeless by the savage weather attack.

A tornado relief fund of $11,000 was raised in nearby Eau Claire and tons of clothing were sent to Colfax, hardest-hit community. Help came from 50 miles away at the Twin Cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis which gathered 80 tons of clothing.

Progress was made in clearing away the massive accumulation of debris and fallen trees in Colfax and other stricken towns. National Guardsmen, however, remained posted to prevent looting and to assist survivors in picking through the ruins of their devastated homes for recoverable items.

In adjusting the casualty total, previously set at 30, authorities said there was no record of the unidentified truck driver earlier believed dead. They also said Leon Slaga, a 6-week-old baby believed dead, was still alive.

FINDS SUICIDE HARD

TOKYO (UPI) — Brought to the hospital after unsuccessfully trying to kill himself, Yoshimitsu Imai said, "I had no idea suicide would be such an ordeal, and I won't try it again." Doctors found a small steel plate, a brass hook, a metal fitting and several nails in his stomach.

Schell, Bride Reunited In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — International playboy Philip Schell—who says he's not a viscount—was reunited today with his bride of 39 days, Elizabeth Chester, who claims she's heiress to a Houston, Tex. oil fortune.

Schell, tall, dark and handsome, flew in to Hollywood Friday from France and made a straight path to his 35-year-old bride's rented mansion—the same mansion where Johnny Stompanato was stabbed to death by Lana Turner's 14-year-old daughter, Cheryl, April 4, while Miss Turner was renting it.

His frenzied efforts to get home were caused by a cable from Mrs. Chester saying she was "resigning" from their short-lived marriage.

Schell dashed directly into his wife's bedroom and emerged several minutes later, mopping his brow but apparently happy. "Everything will be all right," he said, "I haven't exactly asked her whether she's going to stay with me, but I'm sure everything will be all right."

Schell and Mrs. Chester were married at White Plains, N. Y., April 29 after a whirlwind two-week courtship.

Schell, brother of famed international sports car racer Harry Schell and a well-known race driver himself, said he didn't know whether it was true or not if his wife was heiress to a Texas oil fortune.

He also informed reporters that he was not a viscount. "That is all a figment of the press' imagination," he said.

Mrs. Chester is the mother of three children by her former husband, attorney William Chester, of Palm Beach, Fla.

Senate Rests After Clearing Ike's Foreign Aid Bill, 51-17

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate rested today after laboring late into the night for two straight days to clear President Eisenhower's foreign aid program. The weary lawmakers passed the $3,713,000,000 measure, 51 to 17, at 11:36 p. m. e. d. t. Friday night after rejecting any major changes.

Crowley Granted Two Extra Days

TOKYO (UPI) — A district court granted Japanese prosecutors two extra days to hold American businessman Joseph Crowley without charges in the death of his brother-in-law, T. A. D. (Tad) Jones.

At the end of two days, the prosecutors must decide whether to indict Crowley, 48, a former Yale football star, or free him. He has been held since May 21 on suspicion of inflicting injuries leading to the death of Jones in his hotel suite on May 8.

Jones, 45, son of the late Yale football coach "Tad" Jones, was found in the hotel suite he shared with Crowley and Maryland accountant Frederick Kissinger. His lip was split, his eye was blackened and he had body bruises. An autopsy showed he died of a cerebral hemorrhage caused by an outside force.

The bill now goes to a Senate-House conference committee which must reconcile it with a slightly smaller House version. Still to come is the pay-off battle for separate legislation to actually appropriate funds for the program. The bills passed by both houses so far merely authorize the spending without putting up the money.

A source close to the Senate Democratic leadership said today he thought debate would begin in a week or 10 days on a labor reform bill.

The Senate is believed almost sure to approve the "moderate" anti-rackets bill. But it appeared doubtful the House would act at this session.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Rackets Committee gave the measure a strong boost Friday. He announced he would support it and he hinted he would help hold the line against any attempts to toughen it up on the floor.

The rackets committee will begin hearings Tuesday on the author-patron relationship of Maxwell C. Raddock and Carpenters Union President Maurice A. Hutcheson.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Hutcheson will be heard sometime during the week. His father, the late William L. Hutcheson, preceded Hutcheson as head of the carpenters organization and was the subject of a biography written, published and sold by Raddock. Raddock will be heard Tuesday.

Chairman McClellan said Friday he had a "strong suspicion" Raddock didn't get all the profit from his $310,000 job on the Hutcheson biography. He said there apparently was "collusion" between Raddock and officials of the union who by this device enriched themselves at the expense of the honest workmen and women of this nation."

Neither Senate nor House was in session today.

Other congressional news:

Foreign Aid—The Senate passed its $3,713,000,000 foreign aid authorization at a marathon session after rejecting attempts to make any major cuts in its spending total or scope of operation. As approved, 51 to 17, and sent to a Senate-House conference committee, the measure trimmed 229 million dollars from President Eisenhower's request but added 100 million to the amount voted by the House.

Appropriations—The Senate Appropriations Committee approved a $1,012,886,000 money bill to run the Commerce Department and related agencies in the fiscal year

Reds United With Arabs

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) — Russia firmly aligned itself today with the United Arab Republic, threatening to turn the UAR's dispute with Lebanon into a new cold-war campaign against the United States.

At Friday's Security Council meeting, Soviet Ambassador Arkady A. Sobolev — without mentioning America by name—hinted that U.S. leaders are looking for a pretext to land troops in revolt-torn Lebanon.

Sobolev based his accusation on what he said was a statement by Lebanon's "opposition party" saying that Lebanese leaders are trying to "justify claims for... the dispatch of foreign troops and landing parties on (sic) Lebanese soil."

"I don't suppose these foreign troops would be Arab," Sobolev said. "Quite to the contrary, I am sure that other forces are assumed in this statement."

U.S. Delegate James W. Barco, speaking in the absence of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, starting July 1.

Labor—The Senate Labor Committee approved, 12 to 1, a bill calling for a congressional crackdown on labor racketeers. It was designed to safeguard union funds, insure Democratic elections and chase crooks out of the labor movement.

called on all parties concerned to "maintain respect for the independence and integrity of Lebanon."

The council met to consider Lebanon's complaint of "massive" UAR intervention in the current revolt. It adjourned until Tuesday after hearing spokesmen for both sides.

Miami Crowns Cow Calling King, Queen

(Special to The News) MIAMI — Claud Seitz and Mrs. Leo Paris both of Miami, were crowned King and Queen of the "cow-callers" yesterday in the cow-calling contest in Miami. A crowd of 2000 was on hand to watch the events, which included: a prize for the person traveling the longest distance. Bob Moulton of Melford, N.H. won that prize. A prize was given to D. M. Counts for being the oldest person present and W. E. Carter of Canyon received a gift for having arrived in the Panhandle the earliest. Mrs. Ivy Puraley, whom everyone calls "Ma" was recognized as sweetheart of Miami. Mrs. Dan Kivhnen, who arrived here in 1886, was declared the 1958 queen of cow-calling.

Following the registration of old-timers at the American Legion 10th Hall, everyone went to the R. E. Thompson grove, located east of Miami, for a basket lunch. Rev. Tom Layne, pastor of the First Christian Church in Miami, gave the invocation and paid tribute to the old-timers at the meeting.

In the cow-calling contest, Melvin McCutcheon placed second and Jack Walls third. In the women's division, Mrs. James Snyder placed second and Mrs. Guy Folly of Gruver placed third. Ten men and 11 women entered the contest. The top winners received a prize of $25 and second place won $15 and third $10.

Lunsford, 1029 Dunoon, returned Friday to his missionary duties in Kotzebue, Alaska, after receiving a BA degree at graduation services held May 31 at Oklahoma Baptist University in Shawnee, Okla. Lunsford served as a missionary student for the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board for two summers, 1953-56, in Anchorage; in 1957 in Selwick.

Mrs. Patricia Lunsford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Lunsford, left this week for Downey, Calif., where she will be a southern Baptist "tentmaker" of the Home Mission Board for the summer. The name "tentmaker" was chosen from the Bible in reference to Paul, who made tents to pay expenses while serving as a Christian missionary. Southern Baptists have a similar program in which the reserves do secular work during seasonal periods to support themselves, while rendering mission service.

his name on the ballot if the SDEC adopts the subcommittee recommendation.

The subcommittee recommendation was approved by a four-to-one vote, with Earl Sharp of Longview dissenting.

Judge K. K. Woodley of the Court of Criminal Appeals, against whom Purcell seeks to run, has challenged Purcell's eligibility on the ground the experience requirement is 10 years under a constitutional amendment adopted in 1945. Purcell has been licensed almost nine years.

In 1951, an amendment was adopted stating the requirements for a judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals should be the same as those for the Supreme Court. The requirement then was seven years but in 1945 the Supreme Court requirement was raised to 10 years.

Purcell's attorneys argued the constitution cannot be changed by "implication."

The majority recommendation of the subcommittee said, "the constitution must be read as a whole and all amendments thereto must be considered as if every part had been adopted at the same time and as one instrument."

However, Sharp's dissent expressed belief that the voters were not given proper notice in the 1945 amendment that they were judging the requirements for judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals as well as the Supreme Court. Sharp said "a mere technicality" should not bar Purcell's name from the ballot.

Governor Daniel will meet with the 62-member SDEC when it convenes at 9 a. m. Monday. Pickup 4th pgh. In addition to:

Olivia Swain Local Hopeful In Contest

The main event of the Texas State Chiropractic Association Convention, opening Thursday in Dallas, will be the selection of a Texas Posture Queen for 1958.

For Miss Olivia Ann Swain, 17 year old Pampa High School Senior, the Pampa Chiropractic Association has high hopes.

Winning out in the preliminary Correct Posture Contest against eight other girls from this Region, Miss Swain will contend with eight beauties from Chiropractic Regions of Texas for the State Posture title and the $500 prize.

In Amarillo Saturday Miss Swain made a televised appearance on the Cotton John program.

Coming into the Pampa Youth and Community Center Beauty Contest as a late entry of the Pampa Business and Professional Woman's Club, Miss Swain has shown as Pampa's brightest star as she wrestled the Miss Pampa Youth and Community Center crown from 18 qualified entrants and went on to the Lion's District Queens' Contest as the entry of the Pampa Noon Lions Club.

At Dalhart she missed the coronet by the toss of a coin; In Amarillo for the regional Posture Contest she took her second title on the strength of posture, poise and personality.

Farmers To Talk Grasshopper Dilemma

A group of Gray County farmers will hold a Monday morning meeting at 10 a.m. in the Miami court house to talk over the grasshopper situation. If enough farmers are interested, government assistance will be called for. The public is invited to the meeting.

According to County Agent Ralph Thomas, some area farmers have already sprayed their crops. The grasshoppers in the field now are called "Mexicana" or "Migratory" Thomas said.

He went on to state that the "hoppers" seemed to be more in the eastern part of Gray county around Laketon. Thomas said that the "hoppers will not endanger the wheat any, but will hurt the pasture grass and row crops."

He said the wheat is ripening fast and the harvest should start in another week with the best harvest in several years expected.

Violence In School

The results of bad policies and a dearth of moral instruction in our government schools are catching up with the American public. In cities large and small across the nation, student gangsters prowl the corridors bullying, intimidating and committing bodily harm. The newspapers are full of reports. At least as many incidents of violence occur which are not reported at all.

Teachers are attacked and beaten. Students fight each other with knives, sometimes on an individual level, sometimes in organized mobs. Older boys and girls extort lunch money from the small fry. Nowhere is the situation worse than in New York City where rape, murder and suicide have been reported, not as single incidents but as parts of a reign of terror.

In Kansas City, one boy who carried a switch knife in a boot and a chain in his hip pocket kept a class in terror for a whole semester. The teacher was afraid to report the matter or to take action against the young thug.

In Detroit, a gang set upon a junior high school boy and kicked and beat him so savagely that he will bear the marks of the assault all his life.

In Banning, California, a shotgun was fired by an angry student which cut down a high school football coach, maiming him.

In Elizabeth, New Jersey, a teacher was stabbed by a pupil in the classroom. When the teacher decided to prosecute, his family was threatened with bodily harm.

In Kansas City, teachers are reporting an extortion racket in which the older students take away from five to ten cents a week at knife point, from the younger pupils. One youngster who refused to pay his nickel was slashed in the abdomen.

These are only a sampling of the acts of violence which wrack the government school system. From one end of the nation to the other, anxious parents and frightened teachers are asking the question: WHY?

Even a cursory glance at the deplorable scene reveals one fact at least. Spending money and more money for bigger buildings and for higher salaries for teachers isn't going to cure this malady. The condition is chronic, not superficial. And to get to the bottom of the problem we are going to have to look beyond the bricks of construction and the worried frowns of school board politicians.

The immoral contagion springs from a deep well of iniquity. And to our immense relief, a vast majority of instructors, teachers, professors, principals and parents have come up with at least a part of the answer.

Amost with one voice they will tell you that at least a part of the reason for this horrendous state of affairs springs from the fact that there are thousands of young people compelled to attend school who are disinterested in educating themselves. They are in school simply because the government compels universal attendance. They have no business being in school. Their attitudes are such that they are not open to the educational processes. They want to hold down jobs to be considered as adults, to make their own way in the world. And with a growing unanimity, the cry is rising: "Very well, let the child who doesn't want to go to school, stay away."

Truculent young hoodlums who are enrolled against their wills provide not only a problem in themselves, but make it tremendously more difficult for the other students who really do want to learn. Additionally, the schools as we know are overcrowded.

The problem of overcrowding, the problem of maintaining discipline, the problem of getting maximum results from a given class of students, the problem of violence and terror... all of these problems could be alleviated if the compulsory attendance laws respecting children were repealed.

This would certainly provide a solution, if it could only come about. The trouble is that our schools are branches of the government. And compulsory attendance is related to the school's government income. Each student in attendance provides a certain sum of tax money each day for the school authorities to use. Therefore, the authorities tend to oppose the removal of compulsory attendance laws, for they see it cutting down on their tax income. Also they see it cutting down on the little bureaucratic empire they are building in our institution of supposed learning.

But something must be done. The condition is worsening rapidly and a cure must be found. Before the parents of the country rise up in open revolt the school politicians would be well advised to advocate a return to moral guides and standards and the abolition of compulsion in attendance.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

"Bending The Twig" Honorable Ralph W. Gwinn introduced into the Congressional Record a summary of a book, "Bending The Twig," written by Col. Augustin G. Rudd, a patriot, and a student in education all his life.

Gwinn says: "This is the story of the revolution in our public school system and the inevitable consequences of the soft courses, the lack of discipline, lawlessness and disorder, and delinquency that followed the introduction of so-called progressive education."

Then he quotes Rudd as telling about grants of $340,000 from the Carnegie Corp. in 1926 to the American Historical Assn. to investigate and study the teaching of history and other social studies in the schools.

The interesting thing about this American Historical Assn. is that they selected collectivists or welfare statist in this committee, such as Harold Rugg, George S. Counts, William H. Kilpatrick and men of that type.

Then he relates what has been repeated many times, how Counts had written:

"In the societies of the West in general and in the United States of America in particular the evolution of institutions proceeds for the most part without plan or design, as a sort of byproduct of the selfish competition of individuals, groups and enterprises for private gain. In Russia, on the other hand, since the days of 1917, the Soviet Government has sought to promote the rational and orderly development of the entire social economy... This means that the institution of private property, at least insofar as it applies to land and the tools of production, will be abolished."

Soviet System Rich And Challenging

"Counts saw that in the Soviet system 'much that is rich and challenging in the best sense of the word'... certainly no worse than the drive toward individual success... in the United States... It is only natural that this (Soviet) idealism and this passion should sweep through the schools as well as through the rest of the social order."

He quotes: "In 1932, Counts wrote a militant book named 'Dare the School Build a New Social Order.'... The book advanced some startling viewpoints. One of them was: 'That the teachers should deliberately reach for power and then make the most of their conquest is my firm conviction. To the extent that they are permitted to fashion the curriculum and the procedures of the school they will definitely and positively influence the social attitudes, ideals, and behavior of the coming generation.'... Our major concern consequently should be... to make certain that every progressive school will use whatever power it may possess in opposing the checking of the forces of social conservatism and reaction."

"Returning to his pet hatred, our capitalistic system, Counts stated that the child is a 'product of a society that is... victimized by the most terrible form of human madness — the struggle for private gain. Also, 'if democracy is to survive, it must seek a new economic foundation... natural resources and all important forms of capital will have to be collectively owned.'... Its (capitalist's) days are numbered... It will have to be displaced altogether or changed so radically... that its identity will be completely lost. And also: 'The urge for private gain tends to debase everything it touches... no longer works... is not only cruel and inhuman, it is also wasteful and inefficient.'"

"In February 1934, the final draft of the American Historical Assn.'s report to the Commission on Social Studies, Conclusions and Recommendations, was approved and printed. The date is important since it shows that this volume, giving the working plan of the Frontier Thinkers for rebuilding society, was available prior to the fatal National Education Assn. and Progressive Education Assn. conventions of 1934, when our great educational system definitely was turned to the left. Concisely and Recommendations completely 'selected' the design of the leftist educators for a collectivist society in our country. It marked the second state of the revolution in education in America."

"In this volume, the point of entry for indoctrination in our schools is clearly defined — the social - science courses intended to become the core of the curriculum. Textbooks were to be rewritten, special courses and teachers guides prepared and other teaching materials carefully 'selected' to accomplish this purpose in education. Here is revealed the formula which has radically altered instruction in most of our public schools. 'The commission... deems desirable... the incorporation into the materials of social - science instruction in the schools of the best plans and ideals of the future of society and of the individual.'"

Secretary Dulles has consistently strongly opposed that. The State Department chief takes the position that Russia has no "legitimate interests" in the Middle East, and he has pursued a vigorous policy of doing everything possible to uphold that contention.

"The 'Eisenhower Doctrine,' which Congress voted early in 1957 with a $200,000,000 fund, is a keystone of this policy of barring the Soviet from the Middle East.

An unusual report from diplomatic sources adds significance to De Gaulle's reputed view that the Kremlin should be brought into Middle East negotiations.

According to this diplomatic information, Ambassador Sergei Vinogradov is intimating to De Gaulle lieutenants that the Soviet is prepared to help him out in France's pressing financial problems.

Such a Red loan would be a spectacular development. Last winter the U.S. and Britain extended an emergency $625,000,000 credit to Premier Gillard. Virtually all of that money has been spent, chiefly for the costly fighting in Algeria and pay increases in France. As a result, De Gaulle's new regime faces a serious financial crisis and must seek another big emergency loan.

Apparently the Kremlin is proposing to offer the West some unprecedented competition on that.

Robert Allen Reports:

De Gaulle Seeks Series Of Man-To-Man Talks

WASHINGTON — General De Gaulle has some striking "summit conference" ideas.

Without waiting for a "Big Four," "Big Three," or any other parley of that kind, the new French Premier proposes to embark on a series of personal talks with top East, West and Middle East leaders.

The order of these man-to-man meetings is still undetermined. But they would include direct discussions with President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Macmillan, Chancellor Adenauer, Premier Khrushchev, President Gamal Nasser, and Marshal Tito.

Initial soundings for such meetings already are being made by Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Prime Minister Macmillan has responded cordially to such a proposal.

The British leader is so enthusiastic that he has expressed willingness to go to Paris to see De Gaulle for this purpose. Macmillan would do that following his visit with President Eisenhower next week that contention.

They will discuss this plan during their deliberations.

Also on the Eisenhower-Macmillan agenda is a subject that is causing the State Department much concern.

This is authoritative word that De Gaulle favors consulting Russia regarding Middle East affairs. He wants the Soviet to be brought squarely into discussions on this strife-torn area.

Secretary Dulles has consistently strongly opposed that. The State Department chief takes the position that Russia has no "legitimate interests" in the Middle East, and he has pursued a vigorous policy of doing everything possible to uphold that contention.

"The 'Eisenhower Doctrine,' which Congress voted early in 1957 with a $200,000,000 fund, is a keystone of this policy of barring the Soviet from the Middle East.

Crash Diet Reads More Horrible Than Bad Books

It was in the disrobing booth of a tailor's shop, while waiting for my trousers to be let out, that I first learned of the Crash Diet.

A pocket magazine had the instructions in full, right down to the last horrid bite. As I read, I couldn't help but wonder how the Crash Diet ever got past the postal authorities. It made much more lurid reading than some of the literature that is banned.

Dried prunes for breakfast. Dried figs and dried apples for lunch. More dried prunes for dinner, and dried apricots for in-between gnawing pains. You are also allowed an occasional slug of yogurt and black tea.

If this routine were followed for three days, the article said, a man would wake up on the fourth morning five pounds lighter. Friday, Saturday, and Sunday were days suggested for the test. A happy choice, because Sunday is a good day to quit this earth, plus on Sunday a man would most likely be at home with his loved ones.

I tried the Crash Diet. On my way home from the tailor shop I stopped in at a grocery store and loaded up with all the dried fruits in the place. The clerk was curious.

"Planning to make a desert crossing?" he asked.

"Never mind the banter," I said, already cross at the thought of a dried fig for next day's breakfast.

I was even crosser when I got it for breakfast the next day. Few things are more unappealing in appearance than a lone dried fig on a plate. It looks like a chunk of lava. Tastes a bit like a chunk of lava, too. I can't say much for yogurt as a chaser either.

A single dried fig for breakfast does have one virtue, however. It makes two dried apricots for lunch taste a little better. When I went to bed, after a dinner of dried prunes and black tea, I felt fifteen pounds lighter, especially in the head.

I couldn't face another dried fig for breakfast, so I switched to a dried prune. There isn't a great deal of difference, really. As a matter of fact, I believe one loses a little nourishment by the switch.

Prunes are more wrinkled than figs, and there is practically no sustenance in a wrinkle.

By mid-afternoon, I knew how the diet got the name of Crash. One is likely to unless one holds onto something. Right here let me advise anyone who goes on the diet to buy and wear a crash helmet all three days. The protective padding and hard outer shell of the helmet could prevent a nasty cut. Not having a crash helmet, I wore a hat stuffed with paper during the afternoon and evening of the second day.

There was no third day. I didn't mean to give up, but Mary was away all day, and I suddenly discovered that I didn't have the strength to get my dried figs, apples, prunes and apricots. I had to subsist on what I could find upstairs.

I crawled around and managed to find a stick of chewing gum in a coat pocket, two pieces of Charlie's dog candy which he gets as a treat at night, and a fragment of old chocolate bar.

Mary got home just in time. By midnight, with a plate of spaghetti

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR F. JORDAN, M. D.

The change now going on in the age and sex distribution of our population will affect all of us in one way or another. When there are more children, more pediatricians are needed to care for them. Schools, clothing manufacturers, toy makers, and many others are vitally affected.

When there are more elderly people, again more medical care is needed. Living conditions for the elderly must be studied.

Those are both extremes of life that must be supported by the men and women still in their peak working years.

Some interesting figures on what is happening to us appeared recently in the bulletin published by a large life insurance company. In this article it was pointed out that the total number of people over 65 in the United States has increased by nearly 5.5 million between 1940 and 1956.

There are now approximately 143.5 million people over 65 living. Their ratio to the whole population has gone up from 6.8 per hundred to 8.6 per hundred.

It will not surprise any of us to learn that the increase in elderly people has been less in such states as Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Iowa than it has in California, Arizona and Florida. This is clearly a reflection of the movement of elderly people into milder climates.

It is thought likely that more than five million more people over 65 will be added to the population of the United States by 1970, and that then those over 65 will constitute about nine and one-half out of 100 of the total population.

According to present forecasts, by 1970, 19 states and the District of Columbia will have more than 30 per cent of their population in the older age group.

Again, not surprisingly, women will greatly outnumber men. By 1970 it is thought that there will be almost three million more in the over 65 group.

Although the bulletin did not mention it, the burden on younger people by 1970 may not be increased as much as it sounds.

By that time the children who were born in such large numbers from 1940 on will be in their peak working years. Their numbers are so great that perhaps they will be able to support the elderly more easily than one would suspect.

Furthermore, recent years have shown a great increase in the ability of older people to develop financial resources during their working years to meet their later needs.

Barring the unforeseen, the situation should not be too acute, though everyone should plan for the expected changes.

ti and a small steak inside me, the damage done by the apricots and figs had been repaired. So had the damage been done to my Silhouette!

Moral: Don't read in a tailor's shop when having your trousers let out.

McConell Goes Hog-Wild When It Comes To Laying Train Track

By RONNIE CROSS
News Staff Writer

So, you like to play with electric trains, eh? Well, any old sport can amble merrily up to the dealer of toy electric trains and try one out. Take it home, follow very simple directions and get everything to working on the livingroom floor. On the other hand there are some gentils like Earl McConnell of 2008 Williston.

McConnell likes trains, too. More than that, he likes to make them. McConnell has built a snazzy miniature train layout—scaled 1/4 inch to one foot of the real thing—on the floor up. And like all model railroad layouts, it is still unfinished.

Somewhere between 150 and 200 feet of track has been built, with out crowding, on a platform eight feet long and six feet wide. Around the circuit can be handled four sections of "Dead" track until the "engineer" wants them to move.

The models are not confined to the ultra-modern speedy streamliners that roar across the rolling prairies of the west. There is one W.B.A. high wheeler with a tunnel like stack and sporting one of those long, pointed cowcatchers that were considered so efficient before the turn of the century. A sturdy little dock engine sits idly by to be put in use.

Parts of the "HO" Gauge-size locomotives and cars are so tiny one should almost be a watchmaker before attempting to tinker with them. But, with the aid of a minute screwdriver, a magnifying glass and patience plus the love of making something, a man or woman can work out his own model railroad on the same scale as McConnell has. It takes a bit of ingenuity, too, to set up the system. For instance, McConnell wanted some shrubbery. What did he do? He went to a furniture store and obtained some scrap ends of dark green carpet—the trick variety. This can be trimmed to the desired length, or even height by pasting two pieces on top of each other.

Fir trees he created from aircraft instrument packing-wadding which can also be cut and shaped to size. But, it's actually the trains themselves and the wiring which takes the time. McConnell estimates it takes as much as 15 hours working time to complete a steam locomotive from the kits now available on the market. He has six or eight different types of steam engines, including the large "Mountain Type" with two six-wheel sets of driver wheels.

Model diesels, McConnell says, are about the easiest to put together, the hardest job is painting them. As the tiny trains move around the layout, cross over switches, climb hills, travel under the mountains and come roaring out over one of three different tie bridges, the spectator can see every known type of freight car along with its own railroad insignia.

In the switching yards can be seen realistically-built buildings, signal towers, stations, cattle pens, and in one corner a huge grain elevator, all built to scale. McConnell made the grain elevator from his own plan, rather than relying on kits as he did on the other model buildings.

Only a few passenger cars are on the road, all of them drawn by a Santa Fe diesel. Two of them, one the siding, are models looking very much like the 1920's and 1930's replicas of the Reading Co. and Central Railroad of New Jersey. Two other old-type passenger cars are replicas of the type used over the Santa Fe before the turn of the century.

No trackage is complete without ballast. A gravel for this is available from any model making company and is applied to the system with a certain amount of patience. First you get some water glass, and with an eyedropper apply this to the track bed between the ties and on the sides. Then, lightly sprinkle your prepared gravel over the track, wiping off the excess after the water glass dries, holding the ballast in place.

One big problem in putting together a car, freight or passenger, is to keep from dropping one of the little springs on the floor. You'll never find it. McConnell first started playing with electric trains in the early part of the 1940's when he bought the regular "O" Gauge manufactured electric trains. Later he found that size takes up too much room, and actually costs more to build. So, he retired the loyal "O" Gauge and turned to model building HO Gauge.

But, trains are not McConnell's only hobby. Movies and still pictures have now surpassed the trains.

One of the city's best amateur movie cameramen, McConnell has invested quite a young fortune in cameras, projectors, film and extra attachments. When the committee was working on Gray County's 50th Anniversary, they selected McConnell to take the moving pictures of the unveiling of the monument to local pioneers.

But it doesn't stop there. It is the usual thing for someone having movies to ask McConnell: "Would you show them for us?" "Yeah, sure would. Be glad too," is the usual easy answer they get.

But, with all the precision needed in both marking his own railroad and making his own movies, McConnell is never too busy or too impatient to take time out and explain the why and wherefore of what he is doing at the moment.

Kirkham Is Hung In Utah State Prison

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah (UPI)—Psychopathic double slayer Barton Kay Kirkham, who preferred death to life imprisonment, was executed at sunrise today in Utah's first hanging in 46 years.

The trapdoor of a newly constructed gallows in a remote corner of the Utah State Prison Farm sprang open at 4:57 a.m. Kirkham, bound tightly and wearing a black hood over his head, dropped six feet. A physician pronounced him dead at 5:11 a.m.

Kirkham's last words to Sheriff George Beckstead were, "I've asked God to forgive me." On the way from the prison to the gallows he also told the sheriff he bore no malice toward anyone.

The 21-year-old former Air Force mechanic, who chose hanging instead of the firing squad "because it's more morbid," was convicted of slaying Salt Lake City grocer David Avon Frame, 50, in a robbery the night of Aug. 11, 1956, that netted him only $54. He also fatally shot Mrs. Ruth Holmes Webster, 38, mother of four children, but was not tried

Rev. Bruce Begins Second Year

(Special to The News) PERRYTON — Rev. S. Duane Bruce, pastor of the Perryton Methodist church, was returned as pastor in action of the annual Northwest Texas Conference at Lubbock last week. Rev. Bruce has served the church for one year, coming here from Phillips last summer.

Attending the conference besides Rev. Bruce were Paul Holdeman, minister of music and education for the Perryton church, and Lawrence Ellzey, who attended as a lay delegate.

Kirkham spent most of the last night playing classical music on a piano in the prison auditorium. Continuing a feud he had with some convicts over classical vs. rock 'n' roll music, Kirkham asked prison officials to open the auditorium windows "so the boys on B North (an isolated cell block) can hear the music."

Benson Warns Farmers Of 'Help' Bills

HARVARD, Ill. (UPI)—Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson told the nation's dairy farmers today that so-called "self-help" legislation would destroy markets and endanger international relations.

Benson spoke out strongly against such measures in a speech prepared for delivery at the 17th annual Harvard Milk Day. He also defended again his action in cutting dairy price supports to 75 per cent of parity.

"Self-help is the American tradition," Benson said. "But these proposed bills are not truly 'self-help' measures. A very substantial contribution would have to be made by the federal government. "Actually, the so-called self-help program would do the dairy industry more harm than good."

Benson said that under the proposals an initial assessment rate of 25 cents per hundred pounds for milk would be supplemented after the first year "by very high assessments levied on over-allotment sales."

"A vast control paraphernalia would be involved, the secretary declared. "It would infringe on the operations of the dairy industry to an unheard degree."

Benson said the dairy situation is brighter now than it was four or five years ago, with cash sales in 1957 totaling more than $4,600,000,000, highest on record.

Milk Day festivities also included a mayors' milking contest with 26 mayors entered. Free milk was to be distributed throughout the afternoon.

In Milwaukee Friday night, Benson said he doesn't mind being the "whipping boy" for the Republican Party as long as the Eisenhower administration farm policies are effective.

'Playhouse 90' Unbottles A Curious Little TV Animal

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—CBS-TV's "Playhouse 90" unbottled a curious little animal Thursday night in Tad Mosel's "The Innocent Sleep."

I'm not even sure I can quite crystallize my feelings about it because "The Innocent Sleep" was such a complicated tangle of good and bad.

But I suppose high on the list of good things I would have to place Mosel's unflinching approach to a fairly dreary and uncommercial theme—the corrosive influence of guilt.

High up among the good things too, I would have to place most of the acting, particularly that of Hope Emerson who played one of those crusty housekeepers with just the proper amount of crust.

And along with Miss Emerson, Dennis King, Hope Lange and John Ericson all turned in creditable jobs playing characters that struck me as a fairly tedious bunch.

That, I suppose, is where the bad comes in—the characters that Mosel spun his tale around. His gallery included a young girl who sought punishment because of her belief that she had prayed her father into death; the elderly invalid she married who wanted death because he believed he was unloved and "useless"; and the town butt, a gentleman struck mute because he went unpunished after killing his father.

As you can see, a pretty unappetizing crew, and in the telling Thursday night I found them almost infuriating in their absorption with themselves. Ninety minutes, after all, of fairly dull people can be pretty trying when they spend that time wallowing in their own remorse.

To sum up, a praiseworthy try, but one, I am afraid, that fell short because its people were merely irritating where they should have been stimulating.

Jackie Gleason says a couple of sponsors have expressed interest in "Mardi Gras," the big musical-variety package Gleason has been trying to peddle for a couple of seasons. "There's talk about doing one or two of the shows," says Gleason, "but so far I haven't seen enough cabbage."

CBS-TV signed Red Skelton to a five-year exclusive contract. "Peter Gunn," an adventure series, is a definite starter for Monday nights on NBC-TV next fall. Vonnie Nardoff's first opponent on NBC-TV's "Twenty One" will be Wolfgang Wiesleder, a fellow student at Columbia.

Inland Steel Co. said its operations this month will increase to 85 per cent of capacity from 75 per cent in May and 64 per cent in April. It reported a sharp increase in orders, which may reflect mid-year price boosts.

Retail sales this week held close to volume in both the prior week and the similar 1957 week.

By United Press International
The government reported construction spending last month rose seasonally to $4,100,000,000 or 400 million dollars over April. In the first five months expenditures amounted to $17,700,000,000 or slightly above the $17,600,000,000 in the similar 1957 period.

United Press International reported that the monetary gold stock of the United States dropped by $398,048,000 in April to $21,995,930,000 as the result of ear-marking gold for foreign account, exports and other transactions, the treasury reported.

Rick Pezdirtz

purely paydirt

The breeding and nurturing of a golf tournament is anything but beer and skittles. Just the opposite, whatever that is. Reeb and seltiks, maybe.

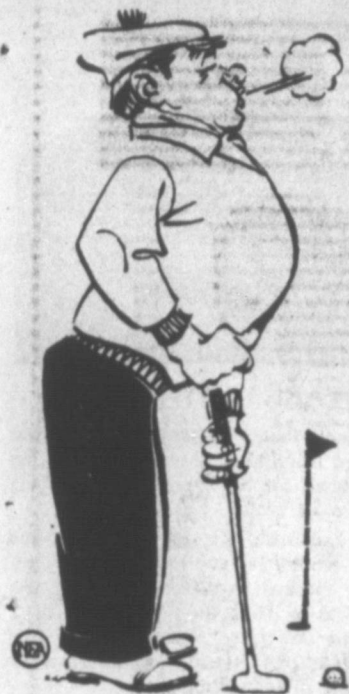

This week, Hart Warren attacks the Pampa Country Club Golf Meet for the 4th straight year with a tee-wallop amount of experience and promised sunny skies for weapons. Which is considerably better than fighting barehanded in such catch-as-catch-can events.

Usually a fortnight affair, Warren has prolonged this year's local links tourney another seven days, allowing entrants a chance to buzz over to Tulsa, June 12-14, to cavort in the gallery of the 58th National Open.

Successfully putting over a large-field tournament is no easy adventure. Not by a long shot. Or a short putt, for that matter.

Weatherwise, No Trouble!

Go to any golf tournament in the land and wait until tee-off time approaches. They'll be one peculiar group of citizens on display.

You can recognize them easily enough because of their desperate intent to consume North Carolina's tobacco output in one day and the constant rolling of their eyeballs to all parts of the compass.

They will be the gentlemen in charge of the tournament, as Warren is here. And what they fret about is the weather.

Try as you might, and we've been trying mightily for a least five minutes, and you can't think of a sport that depends so much on the weather. For its success, that is.

Let it rain and you simply cancel the baseball game and play a doubleheader on some other day. Dump some snow on the ground and the footballers still hammer away. Slush up a track and the horses slog along regardless.

But you must have the favorable thermometer and barometer for a golf tournament if matches are to be unfurled on schedule. And in a large field (104 tee-off in the CC Meet here last June) sticking close to schedule is as important to a tournament as a right leg is to Mr. Lou Groza.

Success Takes Time

There's usually small occasion for worry about the elements here, unless you want to sweat the sun. However, many's the lush tournament that's been muddled and moistened by Mama Nature and too much moisture.

The bottom fell out during the 2nd day of the Colonial in Fort Worth last year and Noah could have sailed every fairway on the acres. This year's Dallas Women's Open was played a few strained hours from row-boats before blubbing officials had to postpone the whole show. They hope to dodge the spring rains this fall, when it also been known for heavy dew-drops to pepper down.

A successful tournament is not an overnight affair. It's got to be like Topay. You remember Topay. Won the Trans-Mississippi one cold winter.

Greens In Terrific Shape

A guy who's golfed here for more years and strokes than he cares to remember, bogeyed into the clubhouse from an 18-hole tour, the other day, toweled golf-grime from his irons, and droned, "Them greens are in the best shape I've ever seen 'em since at least 1939. They're just beautiful, beautiful!"

His high esteem couldn't have been based on the fact he three-putted only one of the lush carpets of grass. He was just too happy. Warren concedes, "A fellow in the tournament who can keep his wood-shots in the fairway should have a real good round."

Hart doesn't expect the field to top the century mark this year. "We'll be lucky to have 80 enter," he said.

Any lack of interest by local swingers will be a crying shame. There's bound to be a new champ crowned come the day of the finals, Sunday, June 28, as defending title-holder, Melvin Chisum, will be off to Florida competing in the National Left Handers Tournament at Fort Lauderdale.

Warren rates last year's runner-up, Max Hickey, and Don Prigmore, Les Howard and Burt Watkins, as pre-tourney favorites, if such can really be put on paper.

Defending champs from last year's lower flights include: Tom Cox, 1st Flight; Duane Blake, 2nd; Jeff Bearden, 3rd; Jerry Boston, 4th; Don Fox, 5th; Earl Atkinson, 6th; D. E. Holt, 7th; Tom Farwell, 8th; Herb Lotz, 9th; and Bob Triplehorn, 10th. And that's the crop.

'FISH A BITING' AT SCENIC LAKE FRYER

"You get a line and I'll get a pole honey! You get a line and I'll get a pole Babe! You get a line and I'll get a pole and we'll go down to the 'ol fishing hole. Honey Babe of mine!"

Panhandle Isaac Waltons from age six to sixty flocked to the opening of Lake Fryer, located about 80 miles north of Pampa on scenic Wolf Creek, last Sunday.

Their's was just the first of many fishing party pilgrimages that'll be made this summer to the cool waters of the lake, revamped and opened last Sunday.

Perryton and Ochiltree county residents have been without a suitable recreational and fishing area since a 1947 spring flood along the Wolf Creek watershed washed out Lake Fryer's spillway, which had weakened under spring rains since the dam was originally built in 1939.

Before the dam could be restored many headaches were suffered by interested Ochiltree county and Perryton Chamber of Commerce officials. Not only did the federal government not allocate funds for the project on whose land the lake sat, but bids to buy back the land and building the dam with local funds brought consternation in the halls of Congress.

Finally a bill was passed in Congress which restored the title to the land to Ochiltree County. Then came the problem of gaining permission from the Canadian River Compact Commission to impound the body of water again.

Permission was granted and a bond issue was given an affirmative nod by the voters. But by a narrow margin.

However, when bids for construction of the dam were opened, commissioners got another shock. The lowest bid submitted was considerably higher than the amount of funds on hand.

Following extensive negotiations, budget cropping and plan trimming, the county voted to put up the rest of the capital needed, and work was started.

Months after impatient waiting, the dam was completed, water began to creep high in the lake and boaters, swimmers, picnickers a scads of fishermen, began thronging to the Lake Fryer waters.

One neat feature of the lake, is a no restriction limit on the size of boat allowed on its waters.

And naturally there's another feature — a super abundance of those wiggly taste-thrillers who are just waiting for your hooked worms or artificial flies.

Kid Leagues Are Red-Hot

Flag chases in Pampa's three kid leagues reach the club-house this week with races in all three circuits hotter than an iron at spring branding time.

Closest race at present is the Western Little League where Utility Oil holds first by a skimpy half game over One Bull Ranch and E. M. Keller. In the Western baseball is Hoover, only one game off the top spot. Cabot clings to a one game advantage over Duncan Insurance in Eastern Little League standings.

This week's schedule in the Pony League has Pampa News meeting Kist on Wednesday and First National Bank on Friday while Cree tackles First National Monday and Kist Thursday.

In the Western Little League, Utility gets a chance to add to its lead against One Bull Ranch Monday night and then face torrid C. R. Hoover, on Thursday. E. M. Keller takes on Hoover Tuesday night and One Bull Friday.

In the Eastern Little League first-place Cabot faces the Optimists Tuesday and Duncan Insurance Friday while Celanese meets Duncan Monday and the Optimists Tuesday.

Friday night's results in the three leagues saw this happen: EASTERN LITTLE LEAGUE — Duncan insurance creep to within a game of first place with a 5-3 triumph over the Optimists. Charles Wood notched the win and Warren Head suffered the setback.

WESTERN LITTLE LEAGUE — Cellar-dwelling C. R. Hoover tallied seven big runs in the third frame, thanks to a grand-slam homer by Chuck Worley, to topple One Bull Ranch from atop the standings, 8-5. Steven Cox chalked up the victory while Larry Gregory absorbed the loss.

Today they are entrenched in fourth place after being sent reeling three times last week, including a tough 7-6 loss Friday night to the Richardson Oilers, who've spurred into the loop leadership. It took an extra inning at that for the Oilers to crush Phillips hopes of getting back in the pennant picture. A base-loaded triple by Everson, in the first frame and Denham's game winning single in the 8th sparked the Oiler win, overshadowing a two-run homer by Phillips' Bob Price in the second.

Fast-coming K-P Lodge swept a pair of games from Motor Inn Friday night, 13-0 and 13-1, behind the effective hurling of Truman Cooper who recorded the shutout, and Delbert Daniels who fired the nightcap.

The wins were No. four and five straight for the Lodgers who have a ripe opportunity to squeeze into first place Monday night when they play host to the Oilers in a 7 p.m. fray at Bowers City Park. Regardless of a Lodger victory, Kempa Humble could claim first with a win Tuesday night against the Oilers.

Kempa's Joe Fortin reigns as the "homerun king" of the seven team circuit. The ex Pampa Oilers player has walloped five round-trippers in as many games. League Director Ben Hamilton has urged any outside teams who wish games with Industrial Loop clubs to contact him at MO 4-7912 or Box 398 here.

where its strictly a two-club fight as the Optimists and Celanese trail five and six games behind.

Most breathing room at present is enjoyed by front-running Pampa News in the Pony League. The Newsman own a 5-2 mark and lead by 1 1/2 games over Cree Drilling. First National Bank remains within striking distance, three games behind and Kist Bottles bring up the rear, 3 1/2 games back.

In the Eastern Little League, Utility gets a chance to add to its lead against One Bull Ranch Monday night and then face torrid C. R. Hoover, on Thursday. E. M. Keller takes on Hoover Tuesday night and One Bull Friday.

In the Eastern Little League first-place Cabot faces the Optimists Tuesday and Duncan Insurance Friday while Celanese meets Duncan Monday and the Optimists Tuesday.

Friday night's results in the three leagues saw this happen: EASTERN LITTLE LEAGUE — Duncan insurance creep to within a game of first place with a 5-3 triumph over the Optimists. Charles Wood notched the win and Warren Head suffered the setback.

WESTERN LITTLE LEAGUE — Cellar-dwelling C. R. Hoover tallied seven big runs in the third frame, thanks to a grand-slam homer by Chuck Worley, to topple One Bull Ranch from atop the standings, 8-5. Steven Cox chalked up the victory while Larry Gregory absorbed the loss.

Today they are entrenched in fourth place after being sent reeling three times last week, including a tough 7-6 loss Friday night to the Richardson Oilers, who've spurred into the loop leadership.

It took an extra inning at that for the Oilers to crush Phillips hopes of getting back in the pennant picture. A base-loaded triple by Everson, in the first frame and Denham's game winning single in the 8th sparked the Oiler win, overshadowing a two-run homer by Phillips' Bob Price in the second.

Fast-coming K-P Lodge swept a pair of games from Motor Inn Friday night, 13-0 and 13-1, behind the effective hurling of Truman Cooper who recorded the shutout, and Delbert Daniels who fired the nightcap.

The wins were No. four and five straight for the Lodgers who have a ripe opportunity to squeeze into first place Monday night when they play host to the Oilers in a 7 p.m. fray at Bowers City Park. Regardless of a Lodger victory, Kempa Humble could claim first with a win Tuesday night against the Oilers.

Kempa's Joe Fortin reigns as the "homerun king" of the seven team circuit. The ex Pampa Oilers player has walloped five round-trippers in as many games. League Director Ben Hamilton has urged any outside teams who wish games with Industrial Loop clubs to contact him at MO 4-7912 or Box 398 here.

SOUTHERN HILLS, SITE OF US OPEN IS IN THE 'PINK' PREPAREDNESS

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — Joseph C. Dey, Jr. is a neat, precise person. Joe is executive secretary of the United States Golf Association and practically runs the National Open Championship by himself.

Dey operates out of quiet, carpeted offices—the kind where you ask for an ash tray before flicking cigar ashes—in Golf House, off New York's fashionable Fifth Avenue.

Golfers touring Southern Hills in Tulsa, June 12-24, one more will find Dey influencing prevailing and, as usual, the unkempt, driving range type of swinger won't like it.

"We chose the Open site two years in advance," explains Dey, "are in constant touch with the course throughout that period. I've been to Southern Hills three times now—in fact I've just returned—and it is up to championship specifications. It is the only type of course over which we permit the Open to be contested—one that rewards good golf and penalizes bad golf."

DEY HAS HAD A MAN ON the job to make sure the 6,907-yard course is ready to demand all the good shots in the bag. John M. Winters, Jr., a USGA official, is president of Southern Hills. Robert Trent Jones, the golf architect, was brought in to add a bunker or so on the steady-lightened layout.

"We do nothing radical to the course," Dey points out. "By allowing grass to grow we narrow

PAST CHAMPS

The fairways to between 30 and 35 yards. The fringe rough is up to within three feet of the greens. The way the course is now, the farther off target a player gets, the more trouble he will encounter. Southern Hills penalizes by degrees. Is there any other way to do it?"

This is why, more than any other reason, the Open is the sternest test of golf. There is no room for wild men. Only the top golfer wins it. In the past five years, for example, Dick Mayer, Ben Hogan, Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Ed Furgol and Jack Fleck have won it.

OF THESE, ONLY FLECK can be faulted, but that's now. "When Fleck won over the Lake Course of the Olympic Club of San Francisco," says Dey, "he was a magnificent workman. This was no wild man getting lucky. He was an accurate golfer who had to beat Hogan in man to man and did. What has happened to him since is another story."

Going all the way back to Willie Anderson, only one Open Champion could be picked to pieces—Sam Parks, Jr., who took advantage of his knowledge of Oklahoma under trying conditions to prevail in 1935. The professionals were exactly crazy about Ralph Guldahl's swing, but the tall man was a record scorer in 1937-38.

The big change in the Open is the absolute necessity for a long iron game—practically unheard of on the pro tour, where a drive, wedge and putt make up the entire game. Robust rough calling for a chopping stroke is something new to most.

"To play golf well," says Jimmy Demaret, who finished third at Inverness a year ago, "a man has got to be able to change his game to meet conditions. The fellow with just one set style gets in trouble in the Open and come nightfall they've got to send caddies out to look for him."

Amarillo Repeats As Best

By RICK PEZDIRTZ
News Sports Editor

Breathing sweet sighs of relief will be commonplace with most District 3-AAAA coaches next fall, when they fling open the doors at Amarillo's spanking-new Tascosa High School.

The entry of a third Amarillo high school into conference athletics won't only make for a better rounded loop — they'll be 3-4-A outfits next semester — but aid in chopping down Amarillo High's domination of the half dozen sports conference athletes take hand in.

The Sandies displayed their monotonously awesome powerhouse tactics again during the 1957-58 season, flying home a goodly pace ahead of the rest of the circuit in snatching the Vance Hall All-Sports Trophy.

With seven points awarded for a district championship, six for a second place, five for a third and so forth, Amarillo headed the loop by a full ten points ahead of runner-up Borger.

Pampa High's Harvesters finished third.

So repetitious were the Sandies that they tallied the same number of points as they had during the 1956-57 season, when the All-Sports Trophy was originated for the conference by Vance Hall Sporting Goods Company of Amarillo.

The Sandies finished with 37 1/2 for the second year running, while Borger had 27 1/2 and Pampa had 23 1/2.

On down the line Plainview was fourth with 22, Monterey fifth with 21 1/2, Lubbock sixth with 18 1/2 and Palo Duro seventh with 16 1/2.

Pampa High moved up from fourth to third during the past school year, and picked up a half point in the process. The Harvesters had 23 points in the 1956-57 sports chart, behind the Sandies' 37 1/2, Borger's 28 1/2 and Monterey's 23 1/2. Trailing Pampa in the 1956-57 chart were Palo Duro with 20, Lubbock with 19, and Plainview with 17 1/2.

Amarillo High's 37 1/2 points resulted from four first place finishes, in football, baseball, track and tennis, where they tied with Monterey. The Sandies were second in golf and fourth in basketball, their worst showing in any single sport.

Runner-up Borger was first in golf, second in basketball, baseball and track, tied for sixth in tennis and seventh in football.

Third-place Pampa was first in basketball, third in golf, fourth in baseball and track, sixth in football and tied for sixth in tennis.

Fourth-place Plainview was second in football, third in basketball and tennis, sixth in track and seventh in baseball.

Fifth-place Monterey tied for first in tennis, and was third in track, fourth in golf, fifth in football, sixth in baseball and seventh in basketball.

Sixth-place Lubbock was third in baseball, tied for third in football, fourth in tennis, fifth in track, sixth in basketball and seventh in golf, not entering a team.

Seventh-place Palo Duro tied for third in football, and was fifth in basketball, baseball and tennis, sixth in golf and seventh in track.

ACC Again Cracks Mark

By DON SMITH
United Press International
HOUSTON (UPI) — Abilene Christian College again beat the existing world record for the 440-yard relay at the University of Houston "Meet of Champions" Saturday night, but failed to top their pending mark of 39.7 seconds, set only last week.

The ACC team of Billy Woodhouse, Waymond Griggs, James Segrest and Bobby Morrow sped the distance around one turn in 40.1 seconds, one-tenth of a second below the mark now held by the University of Texas.

The 39.7 race run by the ACC team has not yet been officially recognized.

Morrow, cheered on by a record crowd of over 10,000, which school stadium for the meet, then came back to miss tying the world 100-yard dash record by one-tenth of a second.

His time of 9.4 was a new meet poured into Houston's public high record and tied his best time so far this year. Running in second place with a time of 9.5 were Bob Mitchell of Illinois, Dee Givens of Oklahoma and Jimmy Weaver of North Texas.

Whatever Happened To...
BOB CHAPPUIS
By United Press International
Bob Chappuis, an All-America halfback at Michigan in 1947, was the ideal "do everything" type for the dippy-doodle single wing attack devised by Fritz Crisler. He could run, kick, pass, fake and think—talents Crisler exploited to the fullest. In the 1948 Rose Bowl game against Southern California, Bob led his Michigan mates to a 49-0 victory by flipping two touch-down passes, passing for a total of 188 yards on 14 completions and he rushed for 54 more in 13 carries. Chappuis played briefly for the Brooklyn Club of the pro All America Football Conference but retired when the league went out of existence.

Whatever happened to Bob Chappuis? He now is in the electrical appliance business at South Bend, Ind.

Akins Wants Basilio Bout
By JACK CUDDY
United Press International
ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Cocky Virgil Akins, the explosive new welterweight champion who floored gory Vince Martinez nine times for a technical knockout title triumph said today, "I'd like to defend against Carmen Basilio in September."

Truman Gibson, president of the International Boxing Club, agreed with atomic Akins that a defense against ex-welterweight and middleweight champion Basilio would be a "natural."

Gibson said, "We'll know in a couple of weeks whether Sugar Ray Robinson will defend his middleweight title this year against Basilio. If he doesn't, we'll try to match Akins and Basilio for a September title fight at New York City or Syracuse, N.Y."

Akins of St. Louis gave boxing a robust shot in the arm with his dynamic performance Friday night as he won the vacant world 147-pound crown by scoring a fourth-round TKO over Martinez, who never had been stopped before.

Many of the 9,777 fans in the warm St. Louis Arena regarded 30-year-old Virgil almost with awe as they cheered his victory when referee Harry Kessler stopped the fight at 32 seconds of the fourth round.

At that time, the blood-smeared New Jersey contender lay stretched flat on his back, looking like a man who had been trampled by a herd of elephants. Kessler did not even count over him. In fact Kessler had started to wave his hands in the "that's all" signal as 29-year-old Vince was plummeting toward the canvas.

Each fighter weighed 146 1/2 pounds when they started the scheduled 15-rounder, and Akins was favored at 2-1 because of his aggressiveness.

BULL-JOE GO AGAIN
Tokyo Joe is a puzzled man. Last week he was looking forward to whipping Bull Curry in a revenge battle after being slugged into submission by the "Ugly One" two weeks ago as Curry resorted to Brass-Nucks to polish off the Oriental.

Last week Curry had to fly East to be at the bed-side of his sick wife, and Tokyo was belted around again, by Curry's substitute, Bob Geigel.

This week Curry returns to finish the job he started two weeks ago but Tokyo claims he's got some new tricks up his sleeve and hopes to spring them on Curry in a main event "Battle to the Finish" Monday night at the Top 'O Texas Sports Club.

A top-notch card precedes the Monday night main-event as husky Bob Elliott tumbles with Don Curtis in an 8:30 p.m. opener. That one will be a one-fall match with a 30 minute time limit.

Iron Mike DeBaise wrestles Cyclone Anaya in a best 2-of-3 fall semi-final match which has a 45 minute time limit.

Rex Mays Lures 30 '500 Drivers
MILWAUKEE (UPI) — More than 30 cars and drivers from the Indianapolis "500" race are expected to run Sunday in the 100-mile Rex Mays big car classic at State Fair Park.

At least eight of the first 10 finishers in the Memorial Day "500" have stated they will enter the ninth annual race over the one-mile paved track.

George Amick, Johnny Boyd, Tony Bettenhausen, Jim Rathman, Jimmy Reece, Don Freeland, Jud Larson and Bill Cheesbourg, all of whom were among the top 10 are expected to drive.

Jim Bryan, winner of the "500" said he would be present for the race, but whether he would drive was in doubt.

The fastest 20 cars will qualify for the Mays race. All cars qualifying from 21st down will run in a 20-mile added event with the first two finishers starting in the 100-mile.

Carr Captures British Am
ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (UPI) —Jaunty Joe Carr of Ireland, aided by two of the greatest back-to-back shots ever seen at ancient St. Andrews, won the British Amateur Golf Championship for the second time Saturday by overpowering England's Alan Thirlwell 3 and 2.

Leading 2-up going to the 30th hole of the scheduled 36-hole final, Carr unleashed a 360-yard drive against a gentle breeze that landed on the green and then calmly dropped in a 60-foot putt for an eagle-two.

Those two shots finished Thirlwell, who had gained the title round Friday by defeating Tim Holland of Rockville Centre, N.Y. The curly-haired English accountant matched par figures on the next four holes but so did Carr, enabling the dashing Dubliner to close out the match on the 34th hole.

In duplicating his clutch victory over Harvie Ward of San Francisco in the title round of this same tournament five years ago, Carr overcame early putting jitters to gain a 1-up lead at the 18-hole intermission.

STARKY WHITEHORN
The result of successful nesting activities is beginning to show up at this early date. Cleo Tom Terry reported one brood of blue quail last week. "There appeared to be nearly 20 young blues about the size of the end of your thumb in the brood."

D. T. Fuller reported that he noticed two blue quail some distance away and by the time he got to where they were he observed two sets of large tracks with the ground covered with small tracks.

Dick Coon, on the Sanford Ranch, reports quail whistling in all directions. One Rancher reported that he had to stop his hay mower and move a small deer fawn from in front of the mower blades. Another rancher who was "haying" reported one fawn casualty as a result of the mower.

From all appearances there will be a bumper game crop this fall.

TONS OF GAME BIRD FOOD
Stop almost any place where there is green grass, look at the ground and you will see hundreds of small grasshoppers in a few square feet of land. These small grasshoppers are about one-half inch in length. When these grow to two or more inches in length the earth will be practically covered. Young turkeys and other game birds should fatten at a fast clip. This situation is exactly opposite of what it was a few years back when quail and other birds needed to search all the daylight hours in order to find enough food for survival.

With the adequate amount of rainfall that we have had the wild species will hit near the peak this year. In fact, if there had been a large amount of seed stock on the ranges this year, we could have had one of the largest crops of turkeys, deer and quail that we have ever witnessed. Nevertheless, there will be good hunting this fall with all of the wild game in a fat and sassy condition.

FUN DELUX
Probably there aren't too many around who indulged in the sport of hoop rolling. This sport went out with the wagon and team. Among children up to fifteen or sixteen, the sport consisted of simply this: Take a small rim, the hub of a wagon wheel, then fashion a T-like pusher.

The pusher usually made from a piece of hoe handle about three feet in length with an eight or ten-inch piece nailed across the bottom.

The art was to toss the wagon wheel hoop along the ground so that it rolled and then before it stopped touch the hoop lightly with the stick and gently push it so that it would continue to roll along.

CAN HELP HITTERS

Rahja Thinks He's Got Bat Secrets

By GENE BLUDEAU
United Press International
CHICAGO (UPI)—Hall of Fame pitcher Rogers Hornsby said Saturday he can make a dangerous man at the plate out of any player with determination and ability. "That's all it takes, just those two qualities. The rest is confidence and I can give him that," said Hornsby, who was the scourge of National League pitchers for years before he turned to managing. "The trick is to get a guy who might be the worst hitter in the world to thinking he's the best hitter in the world. That's confidence," said the gruff Hornsby. He now toils as a batting coach for the Chicago Cubs.

important coach on a team. He's more important than a pitching coach," he said after recovering from shock at the question. "The hitters are the guys who are getting the big money, not the pitchers. What good is it having an expert out there in the bullpen teaching the pitchers how to throw if the team can't get any runs. The White Sox are an example of that," he said of the Cubs' cross-town rivals. "As for whether a batting coach is worth the money, why don't you ask some of those guys," Hornsby said, pointing to the likes of Ernie Banks and Lee Walls on the field. Banks, who has boosted his average from .239 at this time a year ago to his current .325 with a league-leading total of 16 home runs to five by June 7 of last season agreed with the coach. "He's taught me to hit to all fields and not just to left as I did last year. He's also given me a lot of confidence in myself," Banks said of Hornsby. Walls, who has 14 homers, said Hornsby helped him from a slump as nobody ever did before. "He noticed that after our recent road trip, I was gripping the bat too tight with my right hand and developing a tendency to lunge at the ball," Walls said. "I loosened up my grip and restarted hitting again. Sounds simple, but it takes a sharp coach to spot things I wasn't seeing. He spotted things like that," Walls said.

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Goldfom's great as well as some of its unknowns stage the 58th renewal of the storied National Open over the well-manicured Southern Hills Country Club course next week. The excellent condition of the course, coupled with its "untricked" layout, may put in sharp focus one of the age-old arguments of golf: Will the "old guard," such as Ben Hogan and Sammy Snead, hold sway over the up 'n comers like Ken Venturi and Arnold Palmer?

NEW COACH NAMED
COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Amiable Fred Taylor, who excelled as a basketball star during his collegiate days, was named head basketball coach Friday at Ohio State University, his alma mater. The soft-spoken Taylor, succeeds Floyd Stahl who resigned the post following a disappointing season in which the Buckeyes were considered to be one of three teams favored to take the Big Ten Championship.

Cavinan Winner in Belmont Race

By RAY AYRES
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Cavinan, a big strapping colt from Ireland, romped to an upset six-length victory in the $114,600 Belmont Stakes Saturday as Tim Tam's bid for a Triple Crown victory ended in an injury which may halt his racing career. Tim Tam, seeking to give Calumet Farm a record third sweep of the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes and become the ninth horse in history to win the three classics injured his right front foot during the race. He finished second but he was unable to menace Cavin in the stretch.

All-Tourney Teams Named

AUSTIN (UPI)—Sportswriters and broadcasters announced an all-tournament baseball team Saturday from the 10th annual Intercollegiate League Baseball tournament which ended Friday night. Stephen F. Austin of Austin took the Class AAAA title over Lufkin and South San Antonio triumphed over Corsicana for Class AAA honors. Members of the all-tourney team are:
CLASS AAAA
First base—Clovis Williams, Austin; second base—Richard Campbell, of Fort Worth Paschal; third base—David Skinner of Lufkin; shortstop—Bobby Nunis of Austin; outfielders—Angelo Indelicato, Tony Letbetter, both of Houston Lamar and Mike Noe of Austin; catcher—Mike Colten of Austin and pitchers—Raymond Culp of Austin and Bobby Callaway of Houston Lamar. Skinner was the only unanimous choice.
CLASS AAA
First base—Bobby Felder of Port Neches; second base—Ken-

Good And Bad Of The Week's News

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. MCCANN
UPI Foreign News Analyst
The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

France, facing political chaos called Gen. Charles de Gaulle back to its leadership as premier this week.

A reluctant Parliament gave the wartime leader of Free France nearly dictatorial power to rule by decree for six months. During a time, with Parliament in recess, De Gaulle will try to end the rebellion in Algeria, strengthen the shaky governmental financial situation and restore France's prestige as a world power.

Above all, he will draft and submit to a national referendum a drastically revised constitution, to provide a stronger government and make it impossible for squabbling politicians to upset cabinet after cabinet as they have done for 12 years.

To the bitter chagrin of the extremists, De Gaulle appointed an all-star cabinet comprising left-wing, middle-of-the-road and moderate right-wing leaders.

De Gaulle then flew off to Algeria where a revolt by professional army men and extremists against any attempt to end the nationalist rebellion by compromise led to a threat of civil war and to De Gaulle's recall.

Already angry over De Gaulle's choice of a cabinet of moderates, the extremists were shocked when he announced that Algeria's nine million Moslems would have equal rights with the one million French colonists in future voting as part of France itself.

De Gaulle's situation at the moment was that French Communists may start trouble, that the right-wing extremists and army men whose revolt led to his call to office are bitter over his moderation, that all Algerian rebels still demand complete independence and that foreign governments are anxiously waiting for pronouncement on his foreign policy.

The French crisis completely overshadowed other foreign news. But there were two important developments in the cold war.

First, Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev agreed to President Eisenhower's proposal that experts representing the Western allies and the Soviet bloc of Communist-ruled countries start technical talks on the possibility of sending nuclear weapons tests through a control agreement which would prevent cheating.

"MONSTER" CAUGHT—The werewolf of Columbus, Ohio, is dead. Uneasy parents and their terrorized children now go their ways in peace. How was he killed? Well, not with a sharpened stake through his heart. Police got into the act after hearing terrifying reports of a hairy man with the face of a wolf grabbing little girls and 100-pound men. Officers ran down the suit, above, but couldn't locate the rubber mask that went with it. Seems some rather small boys discovered that playing "dog" with a Halloween costume got more exciting when they added a few menacing gestures and realistic growls.

Secondly, Khrushchev in another letter to Eisenhower proposed an immense expansion of Russia-American trade and asked for credits to finance Russian purchases. Khrushchev said that the United States desired, trade

The State Department announced the indefinite postponement of the departure of Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, on a fact-finding tour of six Central American countries in his behalf.

The State Department said the postponement was due to delay in arranging mutually satisfactory dates for Dr. Eisenhower's visit to the countries concerned.

Actually, it appeared to be the result of the anti-American riots during Vice President Richard M. Nixon's recent "good will" tour of Latin America. Dr. Eisenhower probably will leave in July, when students, who led the riots against Nixon, will be home on summer vacation.

DIERKING SIGNED
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—The Syracuse Nationals have signed Connie Dierking, 6-10 teammate of Oscar Robertson at the University of Cincinnati, to a National Basketball Association contract.

Dierking, of Valley Stream, N.Y., is rated among the top college rebounders.

ANNA, Ill. (UPI)—Landowner Don Lingle conceded today that the new state highway must go through — even at the cost of relocating the grave of a high-priced hog.

Lingle in a change of heart settled his controversy with the state of Illinois which plans to cut across the property in construction of a new highway project.

The proposed road will pass right through the site where "King Neptune" is buried, just outside the Anna town limits.

"King Neptune" is a hog which was auctioned off during World War II as a promotion stunt which helped sell 19 million dollars in war bonds for funds in building the battleship Illinois.

The hog died in 1950 and was buried with appropriate honors in a spot which residents have come to call "Neptune Park."

Lingle owns the land and looked after the pig when it "retired" to a farm after the war until its death.

The pig was something of a celebrity in its day.

Lingle took it throughout the state for war bond rallies. The buyer would bid for the pig in war bonds. The highest bidder would get the bonds and the pig, although he was owner of the animal for a brief minute.

Then the pig would return to the auction block.

Peg O' Pampa

WE SUPPOSE IT IS JUST egotism, or something . . . but we were pleased to see in Changing Times that our thoughts on the subject of food packaging had been given article space . . . we have long thought that grocery prices would go down considerably if one didn't have to pay for a fancy package . . . for instance, did you know that researchers into the subject say that there are regional differences in the choice of colors for packages . . . we in the Southwest are supposed to prefer cedar color on our packages . . . Giraudoux, the great French writer once said, "I remember well the time when a cabbage could sell itself just by being a cabbage."

SOMETHING YOU SHOULD never say to a friend, who is wearing a chemise "Isn't it fun to be wearing them again . . . reminds me of when you were a girl!" . . . (end of friendship.)

AROUND AND AROUND SHE GOES and where she stops, nobody knows . . . but to stop, one must need first begin . . . so forthwith . . . we begin . . . we toured through the Charles Russell's home recently . . . it is a building on Linda Drive . . . beautiful home . . . and you should just see the marvelous storage space built into it . . . and we think it may be a record to have a home that faces two streets . . . at least there is a view and a door-out to two streets . . . Linda Drive and Aspen, too . . . and paneling all over . . . a terrific home . . . Julia McKernan was downtown recently . . . we do admire her vitality . . . wish we had some of it . . . and she always has such a jolly smile for everyone . . . glad to have Perle Mitchell amongst us again . . . she is looking splendid . . . in the best of health and so enthusiastic over her recent trip . . . George Snell's lawn is looking neat and green . . . and we have always admired their corner lot with so much room for grass and a tree and flowers . . . but expect that when it comes to caring for it they sometimes wish it was smaller . . . there is something to be said for an inside lot, with definite boundaries and a "share-the-fence" plan . . . speaking of fences, the W. D. Andersons, out on Duncan are hard at it putting up a fence . . . have seen him working on it evening after evening as we drove by, trying to cool off after the hot days . . . Kay and Charles Bruce are sprucing up their gray house with a gorgeous yellow trim . . . and we heard that Florence Jackson has made a very, very, charming patio with brick and flowers and a tree or two . . . incidentally, she has had visitors this past week . . . her sister Miss Fay Jackson from San Antonio, and other relatives are visiting with her and with Ann Hicks . . . imagine they must enjoy the new patio tremendously . . . the evenings are cool and sweetly perfumed by flowers of all kinds (the ones the grasshoppers neglect) . . . and perfumed sometimes, also by odors of charcoal and fresh steaks . . . we call it downright cruel of neighbors to put out such odors and not invite the whole neighborhood covered by the odors from their cooking.

SUMMER SCENES we have thought about this past week . . . little girls with a blanket and their dolls out under a shady tree . . . or kids just sitting on the porch talking with each other . . . it is so nice to have a whole day ahead with nothing special to do . . . evn adults like that feeling . . . we saw a little bird . . . sparrow type . . . getting a wonderful cool bath underneath the sprinkler on Somerville . . . there was a shallow pool beneath the sprinkler head, which was spraying gently in a two-foot radius . . . and the little bird was splashing away merrily and having what looked like a grand time . . . now the swimming season is here, people-type folks can do the same in the pools . . . and we don't mean "purple people" either! . . . although "red-people" may sometimes be the proper term, after sun-burning.

NOTES . . . is there a new fad, or is it because we've had our ears tuned properly . . . or is avocado growing a new rage . . . all sorts of people are either growing, or trying to grow avocado trees from the "seeds" . . . Alma Jaynes has one about two-feet high, we hear . . . Mrs. Al Johnston has two that have sprouted . . . we won't mention the unsuccessful attempts, which far outnumber the successful . . . seems to be very hard, and therefore challenging to grow the things . . . someone said that Eleanore Waggoner cheated on hers, because she found one already sprouted inside the fruit and just stuck it in water, where it is growing . . . are there any more successful avocado trees around Pampa? . . . we wonder if they will ever bear fruit . . . we know of orange and lemon trees that have been grown in the house in tubs and which have actually produced edible fruit.

DO YOU KNOW how to spot a well-informed person? . . . we'll let you in on the secret . . . his opinions are just like yours . . . and according to Changing Times, now that school is out, our educational problems have really hit home . . . so goes life . . . Miss Irene Coronis, Gary Dale Pinson Repeat Double-Ring Vows In Ceremony

Wedding vows were repeated by Miss Irene Coronis and Gary Dale Pinson on June 2 at seven thirty o'clock in the First Christian Church.

Floor baskets of pink chrysanthemums flanked with a grouping of spiral candelabra on either side of the altar formed the setting for the double-ring vows performed by Reverend Richard Crews.

Miss Coronis is the daughter of Mrs. Ida Mae Coronis, 911 E. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Pinson, 699 Bradley Drive, are the parents of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Sue King at the organ played the traditional processional and recessional and was accompanied for Miss Marilyn Myatt as she sang, "Because," "Through the Years," and "The Lord's Prayer."

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her brother, Paul, the bride was gowned in imported Chantilly lace over satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned with tiny stand-up collar, long tapering sleeves, which came to bridal points at the wrists and was enjoined to half overskirt of Chantilly lace. Wide, tulle ruffles encircled the full skirt, which fell into a sweeping chapel train. The bride's veil was of imported lace

Chantilly and was worn as a mantilla. She carried a white orchid corsage.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Mary Turnbo, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor wearing a pink silk organdy over pink taffeta fashioned with a full skirt. She carried an arrangement of pink carnations.

Miss Zoy Coronis was maid of honor wearing a dress fashioned of white organdy over pink taffeta skirt with a bodice of white lace over pink taffeta. Her flowers were of pink carnations.

Bridesmaids were Misses Pat Gorman, Sheridan Sikes, Linda McDonald, whose dresses were identical to the maid of honor, but fashioned from pink silk organdy over pink taffeta skirts with pink lace over pink taffeta bodices. Their bouquets were of pink carnations.

BRIDE

Dickey Mauldin served as bridegroom as best man. Groomsman were Gary Dearen, James Weathered, Rickie Gardner and Glenn Howell. Ushers were Jimmy Enloe and Don Bigham.

Misses Key Baker and Jan Foelker lighted the candles at the altar. Randy Hall served as ring-bearer. Miss Sheila Braly was flower girl.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Coronis chose a pastel blue dress. Mrs. Pinson, bridegroom's mother, wore a beige suit. Their corsages were of gardenias.

Friends were received in the Fellowship Hall of the church immediately following the exchange of vows. Miss Carol Roundtree presided at the punch service.

Miss Joy Vanderburg served cake. Miss Karla Cox was guest registrar. Assisting with the reception were Nelda Cooper, Ann Williams, Mrs. Chester Mauldin and Mrs. Madge Zuerker.

For a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nev., the bride traveled in a navy blue suit and wore a pink roses corsage. Mrs. Pinson was graduated from Pampa High School this Spring, where she was active in Tri-Hi-Y and served as its secretary during 1936-37 and 1937-38. She plans to attend Daughon's Business College.

Mr. Pinson was graduated from Pampa High in 1937; attended Texas Technological College last year and plans to resume his studies as a sophomore this fall.

They will make their home at 413 1/2 Yeager.

RUTH MILLETT

The older a woman gets, the more important some things become. For instance —

Looking as well-groomed and neat as possible. A young woman can sometimes get by with being careless about the way she looks, but as a woman's youth and beauty fade she has to depend upon good grooming to keep herself attractive.

Being tactful and gracious. The young are often forgiven for tactless remarks, but the woman who has lived long enough to know better isn't so quickly forgiven for remarks that hurt.

Nurturing her friendships. During the busy years of her life a woman can get by without close friends, but as she demands on a woman's time and energy lessen she needs friends more and more.

Keeping up with what is going on in the world. There is no age limit in the world of ideas. The older woman who wants to be good company for those who are younger than she is tries to keep up with things of general interest.

Being cheerful. The older a woman gets, the more she has to complain about, it seems. She must constantly fight the temptation to make conversation of her troubles.

Using her time and strength wisely. An older person can compensate for slowing down physically by the wise use of time and energy. The older person who seems to have as much pep as a much younger person is one who has learned how to conserve strength and use time to the best advantage.

Looking for opportunities to be helpful. An older woman never feels so young as when she is able to do something for someone else. Being genuinely kind. Kindness brings a softness and sweetness to an older face that no woman can get at a beauty salon or out of jars and bottles.

Colonial Garden Forms Nuptial Scene For Charlotte Flowers, Henry Hale

(Special to The News) PERRYTON — Miss Charlotte Flowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar C. Flowers, became the bride of Henry Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hale, on June 4 in the First Baptist Church. Reverend Carroll B. Ray, pastor, read the double-ring service at 5:30 p.m.

Vows were exchanged in a colonial garden setting. Hedgegroves and cathedral tapers bordered the chancel rail. Four woodwardia trees, centered with pyramid of candles, banked with white gladioli and spiral candelabra, completed the setting.

Joe Erickson, organist, played a medley of traditional wedding music and the processional and recessional. Miss Donniss Piank, Amarillo, sang "Because," "How Do I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer."

BRIDE

Mr. Flowers gave his daughter in marriage. The bride wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace over white satin. The fitted bodice was designed with a Sabrina neckline accented with sequins and pearls and the long-fitted sleeves terminated in petal points over the hands. Tulle ruffles adorned either side of the full skirt, which was worn over crinolines, and swept into a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a pill-box of sequins and pearls. She carried a bouquet of phylloopsis orchids faced with stephanotis and trimmed with white picot ribbon.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Phyllis Vernon was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jane Malone, Miss Pat Wood, Mrs. Bill Thrasher and Mrs. Jerry Conner, sister of the bridegroom. They wore powder-blue chiffon frocks fashioned with scooped necklines trimmed with satin and pleated satin cummerbunds. Their hats were of blue leaf clusters, scattered with pearls, with short circulet veils. They carried colonial bouquets of blue carnations centered with gardenias outlined with satin leaves and lace.

The tapers were lighted by Miss LuNette Castle and Miss Ann Portwood. Their dresses were of powder-blue taffeta styled with fitted bodices and harem skirts. Their corsages were of pink dwarf roses.

Lou Anne Wright was flower girl wearing a powder blue sheer dress. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Bill Helton served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsman were Ray Castle, Ben Flowers, brother of the bride, Bill Farrington and Jerry Conner.

Miss Charlotte Pyles registered the guests.

Mrs. Flowers selected for her daughter's wedding a rose colored Italian lace dress with rose and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Hale wore a navy blue sheer dress with white accessories. They both wore gardenia corsages.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents, Ray Castle, organist, played during the reception.

The bride's table was covered with a white cut-work cloth over blue and decorated with silver candelabra, entwined with white pon-pon chrysanthemums and white carnations. Garland of greenery were caught at the corner of the table with white flowers and white satin bows. Mrs. Harlan Hawk served the cake and Mrs. L. C. Portwood presided at the punch bowl.

Assisting in the houseparty were Mmes. Leroy Hartman, J. W. Dragoun, Virgil Castle, I. R. Buchanan, Glen McGibbon and H. D. Malone.

For a wedding trip to Colorado, Mrs. Hale traveled in a blue silk shantung sheath with a bolero jacket. Her accessories were blue and white with a white orchid.

Mrs. Hale is a graduate of Perryton High school and attended Baylor University, University of Hawaii and received her bachelor of science degree in speech from West Texas State College in Canyon in May. While in college, she was a member of Delta Zeta Chi, social sorority; Alpha Chi, honor sorority; and Tau Beta Sigma, band sorority. Mr. Hale is also a graduate of Perryton High school and attended West Texas State College. He is engaged in ranching.

The bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Holley, were hosts for the rehearsal dinner Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Charles Larry Palmer

Patricia Ann Turner Becomes Bride of Charles Larry Palmer

St. Paul Methodist Church was the scene of the June 2 wedding of Miss Patricia Ann Turner and Charles Larry Palmer at six o'clock.

Double-ring vows were performed by Dr. Burgin Watkins before a background of baskets and bouquets of garden flowers flanked with candelabra.

Miss Turner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Turner, 2206 Hamilton. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Palmer, 28 SE 40, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Preceding the exchange of vows, Mrs. Lois Fagan, at the organ played nuptial airs and the traditional wedding marches. Mrs. Helen Conway sang "Because."

Brushing is extremely good for fair health. But it also contributes to a better hair setting, whether done at home or in a beauty salon. Brush your hair before combing it to loosen the curls. This also makes them easier to handle.

and "The Lord's Prayer."

BRIDE

Escorted down the aisle and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown fashioned with a bodice of jacket of white Chantilly lace styled with a stand-up collar and long tapering sleeves which came to bridal points over the hands, enjoined with a waltz-length skirt of white crystalline. Her fingertip veil of white French illusion was secured by a Queen's Crown of seed pearls. She carried one dozen white roses.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Irene Henry of Tulsa, Okla. served as matron of honor wearing a champagne lace and crystalline waltz-length gown. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

Miss Margo Burgess and Carol McLennan served as bridesmaids wearing turquoise lace and taffeta waltz-length gowns and carried an arrangement of white carnations.

Eldon Henry, Tulsa, Okla., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Charles Lockhart and Don Tinney were wedding ushers.

Mrs. Turner, bride's mother, wore an afternoon dress of toast lace over taffeta with beige accessories. Mrs. Palmer mother of the bridegroom, chose a navy blue crepe dress with white accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations.

RECEPTION

Friends were received in the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony. Miss Sandra Lockhart, Amarillo, presided at the punch service. Miss Chloe Darden served from the three-tiered cake. Miss Pat Henry, Tulsa, was guest registrar.

The serving table was centered with a bride doll fashioned in turquoise and lace flanked with turquoise candles.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride traveled in a turquoise lined sheath dress, wearing a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. Palmer was graduated from Pampa High School this Spring. Mr. Palmer was graduated from Southeast High School in Oklahoma City; and attended Oklahoma University in Norman, Okla.

They will make their home at 809 1/2 E. Francis.

Don't worry any more about the sack dress, men.

Word has just come from Hollywood columnist, Erskine Johnson, that glamorous Rosalind Russell is going to wear 30 different, but all dazzling, costumes in the movie version of "Auntie Mame."

"It's about time for some real mad, glamorous clothes in a movie," says Miss Russell. "And she's so right. With so many American women running around in sacks, Miss Russell wearing 30 different glamorous outfits is going to be a sight for bored eyes."

And I predict that those fancy get-ups will dazzle American women clear out of the notion of the sack dress.

When they sit back in a movie theater and see what form-fitting, seductive looking clothes can do for a woman they are sure to go home, take a look at their own sad sacks, and say, "Enough's enough. Why am I wearing these baggy dresses when maybe with the help of some really feminine frillery I could look as glamorous as Rosalind Russell — or almost, anyway?"

In the past, movie stars who went in for glamor instead of the girl-next-door-look have led the style parade.

And it would seem that the time is ripe for a movie star to perk women up again, get them out of the fashion doldrums and into something that makes them look better than they thought they could.

So relax, men. Today we women may look like so many potatoes in a sack. But after Rosalind Russell struts her stuff before the movie camera, we'll probably all be looking like Auntie Mames.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Recently a neighbor of Mrs. P. took her six-year-old boy to a relative's funeral. Ever since, she and Mrs. P. have been arguing about the rightness of letting children see a dead person.

Mrs. P. writes, "When my husband's aunt died several months ago, he wanted me to take our two older children to the funeral. I refused to. I was right, wasn't I?" As Mrs. P. herself seems to recoil from the mystery of death, I expect she was.

Today many others of us recoil from it, too. Though undertakers try hard to protect us against its strangeness, they don't succeed in spite of their rouge and satin. As death is different from life, no body can make it appear to be the same.

But the fact that we pay undertakers to try to make it appear the same indicates a horror of the difference that is easily communicable to children. So those who feel it do well to spare them their shock and recoil.

However, among less civilized people where death and grief are accepted as part of life, children are exposed to them without harm. Perhaps we have developed our modern horror of death as the rituals of mourning have gone out of fashion.

In the old days, our ancestors took time to grieve at death instead of wanting to pretend it hadn't happened. Custom encouraged them to retreat behind drawn blinds and heavy veils to fully experience their sorrow.

I used to think the custom morbid. Now the speed with which we dispose of the dead and our grief is what seems morbid to me.

But today we are speedy with all dead experience.

When we marry we do it in our lunch hour between business appointments. Some psychologists regard honeymoons as unsound. When we give birth, we're back on our feet in three days.

It all seems very efficient, saving time and money. But as marriage, birth and death are our most vital experiences, the speed with which we rush through the profound emotions they involve may not be so efficient as we think.

If we let them happen to us instead of running away from them the way we do, maybe our divorce courts and psychiatrists wouldn't be so busy.

Pat Shelton, Richard Hagar Say Vows In Church Of The Brethren Ceremony

Wedding vows were solemnized for Miss Patricia Joan Shelton and Richard Hagar on May 29 at eight o'clock in the Church of the Brethren with Rev. James Minich performing the double-ring service before an altar arrangement of candelabra.

Miss Shelton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Shelton, McLean. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Hagar of Hereford.

The bride wore a pink linen chemise fashioned with a rounded neckline, fitted, sleeveless bodice. The lower half of the pink linen over lace skirt was encircled at the knees with a satin band, which met with a bow in front. She wore a pink chiffon "coolie" hat, white shoes, gloves, and carried an orchid arranged with a shower of white satin ribbons atop a white Bridal Bible.

In carrying out the bridal traditions, Miss Shelton, for something old, carried a silk handkerchief belong to her grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Ellington, which she had carried when she was married; a coin minted in 1876 in her shoe that had belonged to her great-grandfather, M. Moss; for something borrowed, she wore her mother's pink earrings; and for something blue, a garter.

Miss Sheila Dickson, college friend of the bride, wearing a beige linen sheath and a white carnation corsage, served as maid of honor.

Best man for the bridegroom was Jim Burkett, student at West Texas State Teacher's College. The bride's mother, Mrs. Shelton, chose a pink nylon knit dress with white accessories. Mrs. Hagar wore a blue shantung silk suit with black accessories. Their corsages were fashioned from white carnations.

A reception was held, immediately following the exchange of vows, in the social room of the church. Miss Jeanene Shelton, bride's sister, presided at the punch service. Miss Betty Hagar, bridegroom's sister, served cake.

A white linen cut-work cloth over pink covered the serving table, which was centered with an arrangement of white stock, pink carnations with pink candy-tuft fillers in a crystal bowl. The white, two-tiered wedding cake, encircled with pink net, was topped with a miniature bridal couple.

For a wedding trip to Tucumcari, N.M., the bride traveled in her wedding ensemble. She was graduated from McLean High School, attended West Texas State Teacher's College, and has been employed during the past year as third grade teacher in the Will Rogers elementary school in Amarillo, where she plans to return next year.

Mr. Hagar was graduated from Hereford High School and will be engaged in farming, until he resumes his studies next fall in West Texas State Teacher's College.

Wilson-Ruff United With Double Vows

Double-ring wedding vows were repeated by Irvine Mae Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Ruff, 1825 Duncan and Cletus James Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Mitchell, on May 31 in the home of the bride's parents.

Reverend Wodrow W. Adcock, minister of the First Methodist Church, officiated at the ceremony before a background of baskets of white gladioli flanked with candelabra.

The bride wore a beige chiffon over taffeta semi-formal dress and carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Mrs. Jim Ward, matron of honor, who wore a yellow organdy street-length dress with a corsage of white carnations.

Harold D. Mitchell, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

A reception followed immediately after the exchange of vows in the bride's home. The serving table was covered with a white linen cloth centered with a floral arrangement and complemented with crystal and silver appointments. Mrs. O. V. Bailey presided at the coffee service. Mrs. Harold D. Mitchell served cake. Guests were registered by Mrs. Jimmy Baird.

For a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., and Pensacola, Fla., the bride traveled in a beige and white chemise with beige accessories and wore the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell will be at home to friends, upon their return, at 1901 Duncan.

Surprise Balls Add Note Of Glamour

Glamorize the young graduating crowd's darling (hamburger, to you) with the zippy flavor of cheese crackers and a surprise in the center, namely Cheeseburger Surprise Balls. Add a whimsical Diploma dessert, tied with a ribbon, and rich as anything. You're slated for high honors.

- CHEESEBURGER SURPRISE BALLS
- 2 lbs. ground beef
 - 2 eggs, lightly beaten
 - 1/2 c. minced onion
 - 1 t. garlic salt
 - 1 t. salt
 - 1/2 t. pepper
 - Dash of tabasco
 - 6 Oz. package Cheddar-Bits
 - rolled (about 2 1/2 cups crumbs)
 - 8 cheese cubes (about 1/2 inch square)
 - 8 large stuffed olives.
- Combine first seven ingredients and 2 cups Cheddar-Bits crumbs. Mix thoroughly. Shape into 16 balls the size of an egg. Press whole olives into half the meatballs; cheese cubes in the rest. Roll meatballs in a remaining 1/2 cup crumbs. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 F.) 25 to 30 minutes until golden brown. Serve with favorite barbecue or tomato sauce.

Second Rush Party Has Calypso Mood

Sigma Delta Sub Deb Club held its second party of the rush season on the back lawn of the home of Miss Carmelita Hogan. A calypso theme was carried out in the party themes. Invitations shaped as a calypso man wearing an orange hat, turquoise shirt, red pants and beating a drum were given to guests.

The serving table was covered with a green cloth centered with a straw hat filled with flowers. A monkey sitting on a red cloth covered table surrounded with bananas formed the other decoration. Refreshments of red and green punch, sandwiches, pineapple and bananas were served.

DIPLOMA ROLL: Add 1/4 t. mace and 1 T. sugar to 1 1/2 cups heavy cream. Whip until stiff. Spread cream on 20 Chiparons and stack together 4 or 5 high. Turn stacks on edge, press together to make one long roll. Frost roll with cream. Add few drops of red food coloring to remaining cream and put through pastry tube for ribbon bow that ties the diploma. To serve: cut diagonally at a 45 degree angle. Serves 6 to 8.

Miss Earlene Black

Worthy Advisor Is Installed In Rites

(Special to The News) SKELLYTOWN — Miss Earlene Black was installed worthy advisor of the White Deer-Skellytown Assembly of Rainbow for Girls at an open installation in the Masonic Hall recently. Miss Janet Wedge was installing officer.

On the installing staff were Mmes. J. C. Jarvis, Forrest Lilley, Frank Hewlett, Tempest Adams and Floyd Franklin.

Officers installed were Doyle Black, associate advisor; Patsy Moore, chair; Portia Harden, hope; Sammy Kay Osbourne, faith; Joan Jarvins, chaplain; Pat Marx, recorder; Tommie Kay Kelley, treasurer; Margaret Grange, drill leader; Linda Payne, confidential observer; Janet Wedge, outer observer; Mary Lois Smith, musician; Nelda Barb and Cherry Baker, choir.

Installed in color stations were Rosalie McAllister, love; Donna Moore, religion; Kathy Smith, nature; Patsy Silkwood, fidelity; Carolyn Silkwood, immortality; Shirley Keach, patriotism; Melva Batson, service.

Miss Black used the colors red and white in room and table decorations. Bouquets of cut flowers were used at the pedestals with the pedestal in the east having a rainbow with a pot of gold as decoration.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE Ward's mother, his grandparents, his Uncle Jack and Aunt Flo were all in the living room discussing his uncle's plan to drive to California this summer. The trouble was, Aunt Flo wanted to use part of the trip to visit her parents.

Ward's grandma said, "But Flo, Jack's got only three weeks to take in all those wonderful sights out west. He works so hard all year I do think that you..."

Bored by this grown-up talk, Ward had started running his dump truck's wheels up and down the arm of the sofa. Noticing this, his grandma interrupted herself to say to her daughter, "Connie, the boy will wreck the fabric on that sofa arm if you let him go on doing that."

So Ward's mother told him to stop.

He didn't. And at once every member of his mother's family stiffened, waiting for her to do something about it. When she ignored it, saying querulously, "He just won't do a thing he's told," they all started hating Ward.

His Uncle Jack and Aunt Flo thought, "When this kid is around, nobody else gets a chance at attention."

But his mother's thought was the most resentful of all. She thought, "My family despises me because Ward doesn't obey me. Their contempt for me is his fault. If he'd only do what I tell him, he could save me from humiliation. But he never does. He never does..."

Thus five-year-old Ward paid the price of rejection by his family community for the insignificant pleasure of running a toy's wheel back and forth over a sofa.

Though Jesus managed rejection by people who said they loved Him, little children cannot stand it.

and white in room and table decorations. Bouquets of cut flowers were used at the pedestals with the pedestal in the east having a rainbow with a pot of gold as decoration.

The serving table was laid in white with flounces of red satin ribbon, centered with a doll dressed to resemble Miss Black. White cake with red roses icing was served with punch.

KRUISE—The first rush party of the Kit Kat Klub was held on Thursday evening in the home of Miss Virginia Hopkins, center standing, 1710 N. Russell. Among the rushees who embarked upon the Kruiise chartered by the club to begin its rush season were Miss Karen Wells, left, and Miss Katy Price, left; kneeling in front, Miss Zip Hall.

JUNE HONOREES—Celebrating birthdays this month are Senior Citizens, left to right, Mrs. Jesse Vanhuss on June 1; Mrs. Mary Carlson on April 4 (Mrs. Carlson was unable to be present when April birthdays were honored); P. O. Thompson on June 9; Mrs. H. F. Walker on June 24; and Mrs. George Barksdale on June 28. Honorees were served a birthday cake decorated with pink carnations which was baked by Mrs. Emily J. Coston. Altrusa hostesses serving the Thursday afternoon party in Lovett Memorial Library were Mmes. Ida Keller, Eunice Pierson, and Floy Heath. Gray Ladies, who assisted with the transportation of Citizens to and from the party were Mmes. A. D. Hills and Louise Sewell.

Rushes Honored On Kit Kat Kruiise

"Kit Kat Kruiise" was the theme for the opening party of the KKKK's held Thursday evening in the home of Miss Virginia Hopkins, 1710 N. Russell.

The Bon Voyage party brought out of the theme of the Kit Kat Klub as it starts its cruise through rush season.

As each rushee registered was welcomed, she was given a small anchor-shaped name tag.

Punch and cookies were served from tea carts placed about the yard, which was bordered with blue and red flags inscribed with "Welcome". The side of the garage was arranged with drapings of fish-nets and sea shells.

Miss Kay Baker, president, extended a welcome to the guests and introduced club officers, which was followed by individual introduction of each rushee.

The remainder of the evening was spent in games and conversation.

LAVFW President Plans Red Tape Cut In Club Reports To Maintain Strength

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The space age battle against red tape has even spread to U.S. women's clubs.

And if the National President of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has her way, the 375,000-member women's organization is going to be one of the country's most efficient outfits.

Mrs. Ray Godbey declares, "As far as the program activities of our auxiliary are concerned, this means fewer words, more work, fewer committee meetings, more constructive action, fewer reports and more results."

These are the goals which the energetic red-headed president insists LAVFW members must achieve if they want to help maintain the nation's strength.

"As citizens and as members of major local and national organizations, I think our first and most practical step is to organize the work we do in our communities so that not one hour of time nor one ounce of energy is wasted," Mrs. Godbey says. "I am convinced our nation's great need today is for more efficient and more effective use of its manpower and womanpower."

When it comes to talking about the value of women workers, Mrs. Godbey's always intense enthusiasm for her job seems ever higher.

She's especially pleased about work members are doing in the public schools. Last year she launched a program whereby LAVFW volunteers lighten school teachers' burdensome work by performing many of their administrative and non-teaching duties.

"I think the success of the program has been terrific," Mrs. Godbey declares. Schools in 8,700 cities and towns now are using the LAVFW teacher assistants, and she expects 75,000 women will be working in the program by the end of the school year.

Mrs. Godbey also praises the work her members are doing in the country's health, welfare and service agencies. LAVFW members are working in veterans hospitals throughout the U.S. She believes their support is an invaluable asset to such organizations as the Polio Foundation, United Cerebral Palsy, the Y's, the Boy and Girl Scouts and life, would be seriously crippled." Mrs. Godbey, who lives in Lynnwood, Calif., was elected president of LAVFW last August. Since that time she has only spent a few days in her lovely California home. The majority of her time has been taken up traveling throughout the country visiting LAVFW clubs.

The charming club woman still expects to be busy after turning over the presidency to someone else in August. She plans to spend a lot of time with her favorite hobby, which is redecorating her home.

Mrs. Godbey was born in Washburn, Iowa. She has one married daughter, a step-son, who will soon be graduated from West Point, and three grandchildren.

Miss Sikes Feted At Bride's Party

Miss Sherlian Sikes, bride-elect of Jim Hopkins, was honoree at a miscellaneous bridal shower given recently in the Fellowship Hall of the Central Baptist church.

Hostesses were Meses. R. E. Warren, John Mitchell, Marian Pendergrass, Scottie Gates, Gooding, Evelyn Epps, Helen Warren, Fern Frock, Paul Baker, Henry Holtman, Jim Conner, Burl Lester, Christine Nelson, Hagerman, Wayne Cobb.

Miss Carol Roundtree was guest registrar.

The honoree was presented with a white carnation corsage. Mothers of the bride couple, Mrs. A. L. Sikes, bride-elect's mother, and Mrs. Thelma Hopkins, prospective bridegroom's mother, were given corsages of blue carnations.

The bride's tables was covered with a white organdy inlaid with lace cloth over blue centered with a bride's doll holding a lacy umbrella standing on a mirror encircled with fern. A wedding bell theme was carried out with a white-iced cake with blue wedding bells inscribed with "Sherlian and Jim."

Miss Pat Gorman presided at the punch service. Miss Karla Cox served cake. Miss Irene Coronis assisted with the gifts.

Approximately 80 guests attended or sent gifts.

HOT AND HUSKY ROAST CORN

Serve it hot and husky straight from the coals. Sweet corn to be roasted, is tender if soaked in salted, cold water for 30 minutes to an hour. Drain. Place unhusked ears on grill over hot coals. Turn every 5 minutes. Roast about 15 minutes, or until husks are brown. By this time the corn will be tender and hot. To serve: Peel husks down, but not off, butter and salt. Eat banana fashion. Perfect with grilled minute steaks eaten between hot hamburger buns warmed at the side of the grill.

TURNING AVOIDS BURNING

No thermostats or fuel controls have been invented for charcoal broiling. To prevent burning, it's a matter of frequent turning. To warm bread or rolls, place them in a pan or wrap in foil and set at side of grill where heat is not too intense. Turn once or twice for even heating. Little heat passes over the top of the pan or package.

Mrs. Marcella Wright
Mrs. M. Wright To Attend Girls State

Mrs. Marcella Wright, 1123 E. Frederic, is leaving today by car for Austin to attend Girls State, which is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary of Texas and will be in session from June 11-20. She will be serving this year as senior counselor.

Mrs. Wright has been active in Girls' State activities since she was sent by the local auxiliary as a citizen in 1954, while she was still a junior in Pampa High School. She returned in 1955 and in 1956 as a junior counselor and this year will go as a senior counselor.

Among her duties as counselor will be the direction of the activities of a dormitory, which houses a minimum of forty girls; to help organize and oversee the city government, which governs each dormitory.

In an interview with Mrs. Wright, she stated that Girls' State is in reality a mythical 49th state. Girls attending learn government on the city, county, state and national levels. They form two parties, federal and national; have their own platforms; pay a one cent poll tax for the privilege of voting in the elections; present bills for debate, which are passed or vetoed by the two houses, which rule Girls State, the house and senate.

One day during the sessions, the girls visit the state capitol and take over in the offices they fill in Girls State.

Gardening Topic For Lefors Club

LEFORS — "The Glad Story," "How To Grow Beautiful Roses," and "European Gardens," were the titles of three films shown at the recent meeting of the Lefors Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. L. D. Rider was hostess to the group in the high school homemaking department.

Bab Vall, Amarillo, guest speaker, gave pointers on planting, pruning, rust, fertilizer, disease, mildew, insects, sprays and dusts, which would help in raising beautiful gardens.

Mrs. Rider, opening with the club prayer, conducted the business meeting, during which minutes of a previous meeting were read by Mrs. A. T. Cobb. Plans were made to assist in the mass feeding program in the event of a disaster. It was decided to sterilize and prepare bandages at the next meeting to be held June 8 in the high school building. At which time, also, films will be shown by Mrs. John Lantz.

Miss Norma Lantz explained the record system of schools and distributed forms on which records should be kept by every family. Members present were Meses. O. O. Bishop, Wanda Scheibella, Ted Kendall, Hugh Braly, Charles Roberts, Jennie White, A. T. Cobb, B. J. Deihl, W. E. Melton, John Lantz, L. D. Rider, B. D. Vaughn, J. D. Smith, J. D. Halley and Barbara, R. A. Degray, Ples Bennett, Oran James, F. A. Williams, B. J. Leininger, and Miss Norma Lantz.

Engagement Told At Afternoon Tea

(Special to The News) SHAMROCK — Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Throckmorton announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patricia Ann to Lt. Paul F. Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Larson of Clinton at an afternoon tea given in the home of the bride-elect.

The tea table was laid with a white cloth of lace and a large white fan with the names "Paul and Pat" inscribed in gold and pink. The centerpiece of pink daisies was flanked with candles and satin streamers leading to the wedding ring of the fiancée's grandmother, symbolizing something old; a white linen handkerchief for something new; her sister's Bible for something borrowed; a blue garter for something blue; items she will wear at her wedding. A silver service completed the table arrangements.

Mrs. Joe Marshall of Post was guest registrar. Mrs. Urban Brown, Taboka, presided at the tea service. Mrs. Rogers Brunley, Herford, assisted with the serving. Approximately 50 guests called.

The wedding is planned for August 3 in the Shamrock First Baptist Church. Miss Throckmorton was graduated with the 1958

Miss Trout Bride Of C. Ferguson

(Special to The News) McLEAN — Miss Susie Trout, daughter of Mrs. Susie Trout and Cecil Ferguson, Berger, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ferguson, Dumas, were united in marriage on May 25 at high noon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. (Chock) Smith.

The double-ring ceremony was read by Rev. Paul Cooper of Alarend before an archway covered with greenery and red roses.

The bride wore a blue taffeta dress with a blue nylon chiffon overskirt fashioned with a fitted bodice covered with white lace. She carried a white Bible arranged with a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss De Ann Clayton of Alarend was maid of honor wearing a white linen dress with a corsage of red rosebuds. Ray Anderson, Dumas, served as best man.

Mrs. Trout, bride's mother, chose a teal-blue linen dress for her daughter's wedding and wore a white rosebud corsage.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Ferguson, wore a printed silk valise dress with a white rosebud corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony, dinner was served to the bridal party and approximately sixty other guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson will make their home at 106 Weatherly, Berger, where Mr. Ferguson is employed by the Ideal Food Store.

FEAR THE SPAREIRIS

If spareiries are to be grilled over the coals, do not cut the skewer through the whole cut of ribs into sections. Rather, weave a pork. Rotate over hot coals — a slow fire — for about 1 1/2 hours, or until tender and brown. Baste with barbecue sauce during cooking. To know if meat is done, cut a slit near the bone or in the center of the piece. No redness should remain. Cook eating with the ribs are chunky servings of buttered French bread. Be sure to wrap it in heavy foil and warm on the grill.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband runs a filling station and this blond "string bean" hangs around there all day long. She's an old maid of 33 and is about five foot ten and can't weigh a hundred pounds. And you never saw such get-ups as she wears! Off the shoulder peasant blouses and Mexican print skirts with six petticoats. She helps him fill up the cars and writes up sales slips and I am sick of seeing her there everytime I look out my window. (We live next door). My husband claims there's nothing but friendship between them and he likes her terrific sense of humor. Any suggestions?

SLIGHTLY JEALOUS
Dear Slightly: Keep your eyes open for a nice unattached male who is interested in meeting a tall blond with time on her hands and a terrific sense of humor. Pair them off and do her a favor while solving your own problem.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a guy who is loaded with dough but tells you he is saving it for a rainy day?

IMPATIENT
Dear Impatient: Freeze him out and give him hell.

DEAR ABBY: I was the last person in the world who anyone thought would end up in a divorce court. I was a bride with a veil and a white dress and I promised to love, honor and cherish and so did he, but we weren't married six weeks when my best girlfriend told me my husband was trying to date up some of the girls where he worked, and he wasn't funny either. He denies it, but these stories have upset me so much that I get cold and freeze up when he comes near me. He says if we can't be like we used to be there is no sense in staying married, so now we are getting a divorce. I still love him but I can't forgive him.

BEA
Dear Bea: With friends like this you don't need any enemies. A marriage counselor (or the clergyman who married you) should be consulted.

DEAR ABBY: It was necessary for my husband to write a letter to his ex-wife. He started it with "Dear Mary." I objected because under the circumstances she is no longer "dear" to him, and he should have started it out with just plain "Mary." We've had a few heated words over this and would like to have your opinion.

HIS WIFE
Dear Wife: Addressing his ex-wife as "Dear" Mary was only a formality and you should have thought nothing of it. If you want to make a mountain out of a molehill—add a little dirt to it.

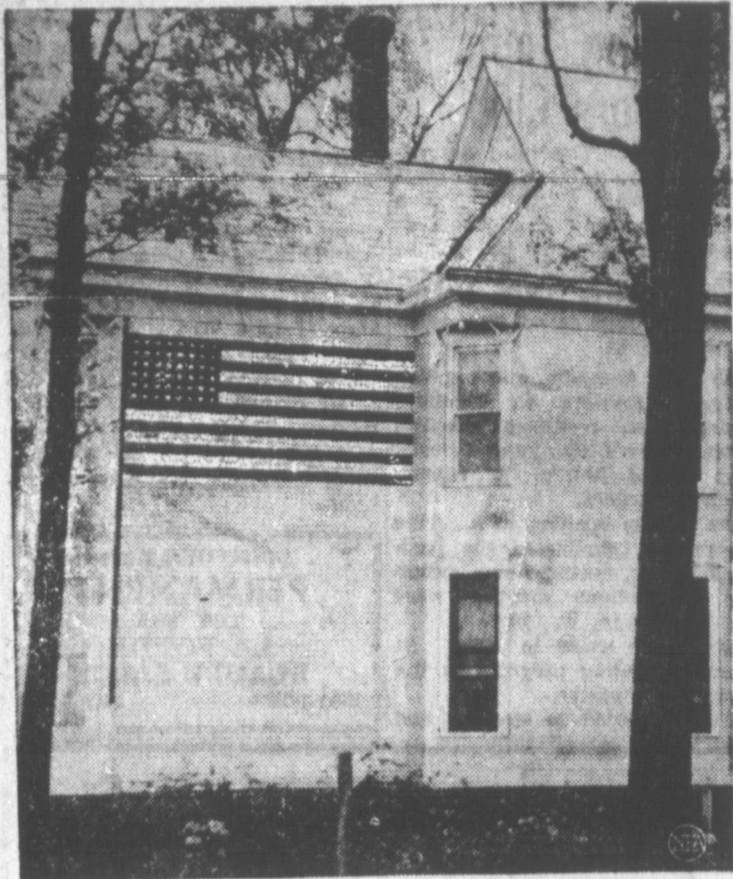

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Stocks Surge To New High For Year

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks surged to new highs for the year this week in a rise that restored more than $2,800,000,000 to market valuations.

The stock market now has risen more than 20 billion dollars from its lows for the year set in February for the industrial shares and in the first session of the year for the railroad and utility groups.

The industrial average, rising in four out of the five sessions, finished the week at a new high since Sept. 19, 1957. Utilities finished at a new top since Oct. 3, 1950. Rails hit a new high since Oct. 16, 1957, on Thursday but backed down on Friday in the face of profit-taking.

The general market average, rising in every session except Wednesday, ended at its highest level since last Sept. 19.

Experts Don't Agree

Volume, on a daily average basis, rose to 2,705,000 shares, making this the most active week since early in May.

Market experts are divided on the market's future. Some believe the market has over-discounted the future of business and therefore has over-done the rise. Others believe the momentum of the upturn has not been checked. Steels responded this week to rising production, which was attributed to improved orders and some hedge buying against the possibility of a July price rise. Aircrafts met support on predictions of good business ahead. Rails were in demand following news of a congressional drive to cut the excise tax on transportation. Building and oldshares rebounded a sharp rise in a better inventory picture and favorable comments from the analysts.

Averages Show Good Gains

Richfield sparked the oils, which stood out as a group all week. It added 5%.

Eastman Kodak and Union Carbide rose more than 4 points each in the chemicals. American Tobacco rose 3 1/4 in its group and Lorillard led the market in turnover. Republic Steel and Wheeling added more than a point each in the steels.

The Dow Jones averages for the week showed industrials up 8.90 points to 469.60 — the best gain since the week ending April 18; rails up 1.27 to 117.27—the best gain since May 23; utilities up 0.69 to 78.88—the best gain since April 25; and 65 stocks up 2.07 to 162.62—the best gain since April 18.

Hi-Fi Fans Say Stravinsky Tops

By PRESTON MCGRAW
United Press International

Many high fidelity reproducing equipment owners think Igor F. Stravinsky has no equal as a composer of overwhelming musical sound.

For example, consider his "The Rite of Spring," which musically depicts a criminal assault and a human sacrifice.

Newareel producers use its savage music as a background in motion pictures of tornadoes and floods.

One of the top performances of "The Rite of Spring" is available now on an Angel record (35549, 12-inch LP, RIAA curve). It is by the Philharmonia Orchestra, conducted by Igor Markevitch.

It is an exceptional record, with an almost noise-free surface and a flawless reproduction of a procession of low-frequency passages played by tubas, oboes and kettle drums.

Another type of Stravinsky's work is on a Decca record (DL-9980, 12-inch LP, RIAA curve.) The record includes performances of Bartok's "Sonata No. 2," Hindemith's "Sonata in C" and Stravinsky's "Duo Concertante for Viola and Piano."

The record is technically good, with perhaps a touch of built-in wow. The combination of piano and viola is generally pleasing, but in some pieces sounds as if the pianist and violinist were living in an apartment on opposite sides of an air shaft and trying to play each other down.

That is because of the music and not the musicians. But after some of the calculated discord, it is a relief to listen to Decca's recording (DL-9977, 12-inch LP, RIAA curve) of Mozart's "Symphony No. 39 in E Flat Major" and "Symphony No. 40 in G Minor."

No. 39 is a joyful work, played on the classical upbeat, as it were. No. 40 is almost exactly the opposite, a restive, troubled piece.

Capitol records has a new record out called "Nightsounds" by pianist Joe Bushkin with alto flute, alto saxophone and bassoon, two baritone saxophones, bass clarinet and a conventional rhythm section.

The recording is of top quality with Bushkin playing such pieces as "A Foggy Day," "Love Me Or Leave Me," "At Sundown" and "You Go To My Head."

WEBB TO SLACK OFF

HOLLYWOOD — Actor-director Jack Webb, star of the TV show "Dragnet," explaining that he intends to slow down his professional pace following his planned marriage later this month to Miss United States Jackie Loughrey:

"I'm going to work hard — but I'll take some enjoyment from life too."

Ike Might Name McCone AEC Chairman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A usually well-informed congressional source said today he expected President Eisenhower to name Los Angeles businessman John A. McCone to succeed Lewis L. Strauss as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

McCone was named by the President Friday to the vacancy on the AEC created by Strauss' decision not to accept appointment to another five-year term. But the chairmanship remained in doubt.

The President could name one of the other four commissioners to the top post. Strauss retires June 30.

Chances of Commissioner Harold S. Vance being elevated to chairman went out the window with McCone's appointment, according to the source — a lawmaker who chose not to be identified. The source was in close touch with congressional atomic developments.

The likelihood of McCone's future selection as chairman would give added interest to Senate hearings on his nomination. The Senate must approve the President's choice.

In nominating McCone, Eisenhower announced that he would not name a new chairman until the Senate confirms McCone's nomination.

McCone, a Republican, is chairman of the board of the Pacific Far East Lines, Inc., and director of several corporations. He has served as a member of the President's Air Policy Commission, deputy to the secretary of defense (March-November, 1948) and undersecretary of the Air Force (1950-51).

Kilgore Man Wins State Case For Imprisonment

LONGVIEW, Tex. (UPI) — Kilgore cafe owner H. A. Clements has won his case against the State of Texas for false imprisonment and has been awarded $37,700 in damages.
He sued for $149,500.
In the first court test of a controversial amendment passed by the state legislature during its last session, Clements sued the state for damages incurred during imprisonment.
A jury deliberated two hours and 20 minutes Friday before awarding 68-year-old Clements $14,000 for lost earnings, $15,000 for mental suffering, $5,700 for physical suffering and $3,000 for legal fees.
Clements spent 600 days in the state prison after being convicted of armed robbery in Navarro County in 1926. Later, a second man confessed the crime and Clements was pardoned.
The state claimed the case should be thrown out on grounds that the constitutional amendment under which Clements sued the state was not valid.

French Army Is Moving Silently

ALGIERS (UPI) — The French Army was moving quietly behind the scenes Saturday to seize full control of the Algerian rebel movement which brought Gen. Charles de Gaulle to power.
There was evidence that the military members of the All Algeria Committee of Public Safety were cracking down on the firebrand militants who are still demanding a "purge" of the French government system.
Committee spokesman Lucien Neuwirth, a reserve officer in civilian clothes, told a press conference Friday night the committee already had decided to "change its orientation" as result of De Gaulle's sharply worded edict.
Before leaving for Paris Friday after his three-day tour of Algeria, De Gaulle told local officials the government must not exceed its function and attempt to dictate to the Paris government.

Ring A Bell!

MONROE, La. (UPI) — Mrs. Ruth Davis was trying to figure out today how to get back her $300 wedding ring.
She was holding the ring between her teeth while she washed her hands Friday. She coughed and swallowed it.
Card experts say that eight percent shuffles by the rifle method will return the cards to their original order.

Pampa Girl Is Ferry Hall Grad

Graduating from Ferry Hall in Lake Forrest, Ill., Saturday, Theresa Lee Warner of Pampa acquired the Library Essay Prize for her high literary performance.
Trustee David Dangler, giving the prize, said that Miss Warner's essay met the high requirements of expression and showed superiority in its light touch, individualism and evidence of enthusiasm for books.
In her essay Miss Warner discussed Christopher Morley's "Mince Pie."
Her parents are Mr. and Mrs.

Soldier Faces Murder Charges

TOKYO (UPI) — U.S. Army Sp5C Richard M. Stovall will be freed if an investigation does not justify his trial on murder charges, an Army spokesman said today.
The 22-year-old Columbus, Miss. soldier was charged with murder Friday in the death of his 19-year-old wife. She was found dead in their private quarters a year ago from apparent asphyxiation from gas stove fumes.
The death was ruled accidental at the time. But authorities reopened the case, and the murder charge was made.
Stovall currently is being held at the Camp Drake Army stockade near Tokyo.

Ike Relaxes, Fires 18-Holes Of Golf

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower shot a morning round of golf today to start off a quiet weekend of relaxation at home.
The President took advantage of sunny, cool weather to get in 18 holes at the Burning Tree Club in nearby Maryland. He had no scheduled appointments today.
Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen he did not expect Eisenhower's latest letter to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on possible nuclear test suspensions to be made public until the middle of next week. The exchange of notes deals with forthcoming East-West talks at Geneva on ways to police a nuclear test ban.

"My double oven ELECTRIC RANGE gets me out of the kitchen QUICK!"

says Mrs. P. R. Garre, 4212 GEM LAKE ROAD,
AMARILLO, TEXAS

And that's good. For when this vivacious and attractive doctor's wife is out of the kitchen, she's spending much of her time making her community a better place to live.
Time is important to Mrs. Garre. In addition to being a fine mother and homemaker, she is a working leader in the P-T-A, Amarillo's Child Guidance Center, The Family Service of Amarillo, and The Potter-Randall Citizen's Committee.
You'll find there's more time for you — and the things you want to do when you cook — and live — better electrically.

Your Reddy Kilowatt dealer has a bonus for you if you see a demonstration of his electric range in his store. He'll give you a certificate good for two bug lamps at any Public Service office. Yellow bug lamps, which fit ordinary sockets, eliminate most of the light that insects see, yet provide a soft, comfortable light for outdoor living.

Five Alarm Fire Guts Dallas Store

DALLAS (UPI)—A five-alarm fire roared through a Dallas food store Saturday morning, causing an estimated $150,000 in damages and injuring two firemen when a wall and part of the roof fell on them.

Police spotted the inferno at 1:33 a.m. By 2:03 it was termed a five-alarm and 17 firetrucks rushed to the scene.

The blaze, at Wyatt Food Store (Clearview Shopping Center), Hampton and Illinois, was brought under control at 2:38.

Firemen Jim Corbett and Glenn A. Dobbins were battling the conflagration when a backdraft sent a wall and a roof crashing down about them.

Police said Corbett, who suffered a broken hand, probably saved his life by throwing himself against the store's front wall. They called it "a reflex action."

Dobbins received a back injury and was hospitalized for observation after treatment. Corbett was treated and released.

Fire Chief C. N. Penn pinned damages at $150,000. He said the figure includes a recent inventory of $75,000.

Penn, who did not know how the fire started, said two "very tight" fire walls—one on each side of the store—prevented the flames from searing through the building to neighboring variety store and a hardware firm, which received smoke damages.

The food store manager, Jack Garrettsen, said no one was in the building when the fire began. He said the night crew left between 9:30 and 10:00 p.m.

Portugal Goes To Polls Sunday

LISBON, Portugal (UPI)—Portugal and its overseas territories go to the polls Sunday to elect a new president after the bitter political campaign in 30 days.

The government's candidate, Rear Adm. Americo Tomas, 68, was considered virtually assured of victory despite the extensive campaigning of his sole opponent, Lt. Gen. Humberto Delgado. The winner will succeed Gen. Francisco Higo Craveiro Lopes as president for the next seven years.

The president will continue to be largely representational and the power will remain with Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, who has ruled Portugal since 1928.

About 1,200,000 Portuguese are expected to cast votes throughout the country and in Portugal's vast African and Asian territories. Official results probably will not be available before next Wednesday.

No False Stop

NEWCASTLE, England (UPI)—The Newcastle-Edinburgh Express started on an unscheduled halt.

Startled passengers peered out of the windows and saw the engineer get down from the cab, trot a hundred yards back up the track and return with a toothy grin.

He explained he had gone back to collect his false teeth. They fell out when he sneezed the day before.

IKE PLAQUE INSTALLED

MANILA (UPI)—A plaque honoring President Eisenhower has been installed on the wall of President Carlos B. Garcia's office in the presidential Malacañang Palace. Garcia unveiled the plaque Friday, paying tribute to Eisenhower as one of the fathers of the Philippine National Defense Act.

President Eisenhower used the office when he was a major and later a lieutenant colonel serving as military adviser to the Philippine commonwealth from 1935 to 1939. At that time he was on the staff of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

TURTLE VS HARE

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—A Navy jet fighter and a sheriff's squad car will stage a handicap race to Millington, a Memphis suburb, June 14. The jet will fly from Dallas, Tex., 463 miles away, while the squad car travels 16 miles to Millington's Naval Air Station. The Navy predicts the jet will make the trip in 24 minutes and the car in 32 minutes.

Wilson Sees Bright Future For Galveston

AUSTIN (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson Saturday predicted a prosperous future for Galveston Island so long as authorities "keep illegal activities suppressed."

Wilson's statement came on the first anniversary of his crackdown on the Pleasure Isle's bars, brothels and gambling casinos. "I have always been an economic parasite. I am delighted to see this proved to be a fact in Galveston," he said.

It was a year ago that Wilson's men filed 63 injunction suits as their first move in attack on organized gambling and vice in Galveston county.

"The crackdown was one of the best things to happen to Galveston," was the way Wilson quoted John McCray, president of the Galveston Progress Committee.

"We are moving forward to a better, sound economy; the people are responding magnificently and we feel the future is unlimited," possible by the general's crackdown. McCray was quoted as saying.

Police Chief Gene Henson, according to Wilson, said the "biggest problem now is traffic. We are having a record tourist season, cars are bumper to bumper and they hold everybody from the laboring class to the executive."
