Voters Re-Elect Daniel, Yarborough; McIlhany, Goodrich Are Returned

Blakley Concedes To His Opponent; Daniel Far Ahead

By CHARLES E. WEBB
United Press International

Sen. Ralph Yarborough defeated William A. Blakley and Gov. Price Daniel won a landslide victory over three opponents Saturday night in the Democratic primaries.

Blakley, multi-millionaire Dallas attorney, rancher, and insurance and airlines executive, conceded the election to Yarborough at 11:30 p.m.

Daniel's victory came much earlier as he plowed under his opponents from the first returns on.

Hold Lead

Yarborough was holding a steady 57-plus percentage of the votes when Blakley conceded. Both Yarborough and Daniel had already issued victory statements.

"This is a people's victory," Yarborough said as he won his first "majority" election in 20 years of campaigning.

"The people have won. I am tremendously grateful for having been the instrument for having returned one office of the state of Texas to the hands of the people."

Blakley said "from the election returns so far, it appears that Senator Yarborough is holding a lead which the Texas Election Bureau believes will continue."

"Based on their estimate, I want at this time to thank those many friends who worked so diligently in my campaign, express appreciation to those who supported me at the polls and congratulate Senator Yarborough on his apparent nomination to the U.S. Senate."

Appreciates Victory
"I sincerely appreciate the great victories which we have won in the Democratic primary and the precinct conventions," Daniel said in his statement issued through his campaign office in Austin.

"I am sincerely and humbly grateful for the tremendous vote of confidence that the people have given my administration as governor and will do my best to continue this program of progress and good government in our state."

When Blakley conceded at 11:30 p.m. the Texas Election Bureau showed Yarborough leading 421,149 to 309,137.

Daniel had a whopping 461,815 to 142,970 for W. Lee O'Daniel, 124,543 for State Sen. Henry B. Gonzalez, and 18,348 for Joe Irwin.

Incumbents' Day

It was a field day for all incumbents in statewide races except in the Supreme Court elections. Incumbent Justice Joe Greenhill was leading Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas for place four. It was the closest race of all.

The other incumbents, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and Land Commissioner Bill Allcorn, were away out front. It appeared doubtful that a runoff would be necessary in the three-man agriculture commissioner race.

Ramsey had a total of 343,655 to 181,414 for Waco attorney George Nokes; White 265,061 to 121,917 for Judge Tom Griffin and 87,544 for State Rep. Glenn Kothmann. Allcorn had an overwhelming 314,486 to 124,090.

Traffic Safety Council To Meet In Courtroom Monday

A meeting of the Gray County Traffic Safety Council will be held tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the County Courtroom, according to Byron St. Clair, chairman of the Safety Council.

St. Clair said that the main feature of the program will be the showing of a series of film shorts indicating how our community can have safe streets and highways. These films depict the "Action Program," what it is and how it can be used to make our community safe.

"The 'Action Program' is a balanced plan of attack on the traffic accident problem. It was developed by the nation's foremost authorities, advocated by the major safety organizations, and endorsed by the President's Committee for Traffic Safety," St. Clair stated.

"The introductory film entitled, 'Citizen Support in Action for Balance'

Explorer IV In Orbit

Jupiter C Missile Successful Again

By ROLAND W. DOPSON
United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The Army's faithful Jupiter C rocket Saturday put an American moon over Russia.

Explorer IV, assigned to explore previously "uncharted" areas of space, streaked skyward on the tip of a three-stage Jupiter C at 10 a.m. e.s.t.

Two and one half hours later, the National Academy of Sciences in Washington announced it had gone into orbit.

The U.S. thus had hurled four baby moons into orbit since last Jan. 31, three of them still spinning around the globe along with the ton-and-one-half Sputnik III.

"The rocket was launched in a northeasterly direction," said Dr. James A. Van Allen, representing the International Geophysical Year committee in Saturday's shoot.

"And as a result, the orbit will cover an area between 51 degrees north and 51 degrees south latitude as compared with approximately 34 degrees for Explorers I and II."

Visible In Russia
This meant the new member of the man-made moon family was going more in a north-south orbit than its American predecessors and was crossing Russia periodically.

It will be visible in Russia and in other areas much farther north and south than the areas covered previously which were closer to the Equator.

Citizens of Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, Russia's "bread-basket," will be able to observe the American moon's passage. It will range as far north as Vancouver and Winnipeg in Canada.

Explorer IV also will pass north of Prague, capital of Communist Czechoslovakia, and north of Paris. Its southernmost range will be toward the tip of South America.

Van Allen, of the University of Iowa, who designed the satellite's instruments, said the first circuit was planned to take the satellite over the southernmost point of the British Islands, central Europe, the troubled Middle East and the central United States.

The Jupiter C shot aloft without wavering and turned north-westward with Explorer IV on its nose tip.

The 38.43-pound satellite, heated yet launched by the United States, went into orbit on schedule.

Van Allen said the approximate time of the orbit was 111 minutes — compared to 114.5 minutes for Explorer I and 115.7 minutes for Explorer III. Explorer II failed.

The maximum and minimum altitudes of the satellite's orbit were not yet known, he said. The shorter time of the orbit would indicate that its altitude may be less than the first two Army satellites.

Scientists equipped the new moon with instruments to measure cosmic rays along the new course and with radios to send back its readings, but they did not include a mouse or any other live matter.

The Army said the launching was part of a program to continue the investigation of "high-corpuscular radiation intensities in space." But in the next big firing here—about mid-August—scientists hope to fling a satellite into the vicinity of the moon.

Explorer IV is much smaller than Russia's 2,925.53-pound Sputnik II but it was this country's first to pass over Russia. Its course carried it over the major population centers of the world.

The big Jupiter C missile belched fire momentarily against its launching pad and then rose majestically, boring its way through a small puff of clouds hovering over the cape. Hundreds of bathers could hear the thundering roar of the Jupiter's engines for nearly two minutes before the rocket passed out of sight headed up the east coast.

Precinct 10 Convention

In the Precinct 10 Democratic Convention, held Saturday afternoon, 51 delegates to the county convention to be held Aug. 2 were elected.

Curtis Douglas was elected permanent chairman of the convention and John Teed secretary. (See PRECINCT, Page 3)

Lebanese Rebel Is Willing To Talk With Ambassador

By LARRY COLLINS
United Press International

BEIRUT (UPI) — Rebel leader Saeb Salam said Saturday he is willing to meet with U.S. diplomat trouble-shooter Robert Murphy and help him bring civil strife in Lebanon to an end.

"From what I learn from the other opposition leaders," he said, "Mr. Murphy is sincere."

At the same time Salam said the way out of the government-rebel deadlock is through formation of a "caretaker" regime acceptable to all Lebanese factions, and not through elections for a new president now.

Salam, who holds sway in the capital's barricaded Basta district, which his men control, said Friday the opposition would "not allow" elections to be held as long as pro-Western President Chamoun was in power and American troops were in Lebanon.

The elections set for July 31 would be robbed of their peace-making significance if boycotted by the opposition. But some diplomats thought Saturday's boycott threat by Salam was a maneuver to improve his bargaining position.

Salam said he was willing to meet with Murphy if asked to do so. He said a site for the conference "would be arranged" if Murphy were interested.

The Lebanese army keeps Salam's rebel forces contained in a large area of Beirut but it does not move against them.

Murphy, who met Friday with Rebel Druse Chief Kamal Jumblatt and called on Chamoun, continued his efforts for a compromise solution of the Lebanese crisis. He called on Chamoun again, accompanied by U.S. Ambassador Robert McClintock.

The military situation remained calm. A company of U.S. Marines exchanged fire with snipers Friday night but there were no casualties.

Planned Outer Space Pilot Is Killed In Routine Flight

EDWARDS Air Force Base, Calif. (UPI)—Capt. Iven C. Kincheloe, who was to have been the nation's first military man to attempt a conquest of outer space, was killed Saturday when his Air Force F-104 Starfighter crashed on a routine flight.

The 30-year-old Kincheloe, already selected as one of the first two men—and the first military pilot—to fly the still to be completed X-15, was on what the Air Force described as a "test support mission." The crash occurred 10 miles from the end of Edwards Air Force Base.

Air Force investigators theorized the sleek jet airplane had apparently flamed out (engine quit) and that Kincheloe was attempting an emergency landing near an unpopulated intersection when the crash occurred.

Sheriff's deputies from nearby Lancaster, Calif., said the plane exploded and burst into flames upon impact.

Although the accident occurred about 10 a.m. p.d.t., the Air Force withheld disclosure that the famed aviator had been killed more than three hours until his wife could be notified.

Kincheloe, a Korean War ace before becoming an experimental pilot, was scheduled to test the X-15 at this base early next year. The North American aviation company's super-sonic jet is expected to fly at well over 100-feet, and at speeds of more than 4,000 miles an hour.

The X-15 was believed capable of flitting with the truce space beyond the earth's gravity field, with an ultimate altitude of more than 100 miles.

Scott Crossfield, a civilian test pilot for North America, was to have given the X-14 its preliminary testing. But, it was Kincheloe who was to have tested the experimental aircraft to its ultimate capabilities — including the possible flight to outer space.

Diplomats said President Eisenhower appeared to have won a temporary war-of-nerves victory in convincing world opinion that a "mad rush" to the summit under any conditions was unwise.

But officials feared a renewed Soviet effort to create a "crisis atmosphere" in which such a meeting would seem immediately necessary to stave off another world war. They expected a new broadside of Russian threats to invade militarily in the Middle East.

Russia had demanded that the summit conference begin Monday at the United Nations. But Mr. Eisenhower, in a new letter Friday to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, ruled out a meeting Monday and insisted the sessions be held under Security Council ground rules. He also served notice the United States expected to expose Soviet intrigues in the Middle East if a conference is held.

Meeting Likely For Mid-August
Diplomats said the effect of the President's stand was to stave off a summit meeting until probably mid-August while the West works out its strategy. Meantime the State Department was reported working on a broad, new program to stabilize the Middle East by trying to solve the economic and military problems of the whole area.

Such a plan presumably would be presented to the summit meeting when and if one is held. It would be designed to counter anticipated Russian proposals to remove U.S. and British troops from the area without providing adequate security guarantees for

Craig Is New County Judge; Commissioners Face Runoffs

In an extremely light vote yesterday, Gray County voters went to the polls in the Democratic Primary election.

They favored Gov. Price Daniel, Senator Ralph Yarborough and District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich, all incumbents in their respective races.

Another incumbent, State Representative Grainger McIlhany of Wheeler, lost out in Gray County to Pampa's Johnny Campbell, but McIlhany's heavy lead in his home county and in Collingsworth County gave him the win.

For county judge, William J. "Bill" Craig was high man with 3,202. C. E. Cary followed with 1,046.

The County gave 1,614 votes to Robert W. Hamilton for associate justice of the Supreme Court, Place 1, and 1,388 to Wilmer B. Hunt, Sarah T. Hughes had 2,205 for associate justice of the Supreme Court, Place 4, leaving Joe Greenhill at 1,860.

For lieutenant governor, George Nokes polled 1,199 and Ben Ramsey, 3,115.

G. L. "Nat" Lunsford, 1,688 votes and G. H. Kyle, 747 votes, will be the object of a run off for County Commissioner, Precinct 2. The same is true of O. L. Tibbets and John W. Dwyer for County Commissioner, Precinct 4. Tibbets polled 162 and Dwyer, 256.

For commissioner of the General Land Office, Bill Allcorn polled 2,809 and L. J. Dimmitt, 1,087. John C. White had 2,848 votes as commissioner of agriculture. Tom Griffin, 627 and Glenn H. Kothmann, 378.

In the precinct one justice of the peace race, incumbent W. R. Combs, with 137 votes, and Mrs. Gladys Pafford, with 169, will be in a runoff. The other two candidates in the race were M. B. Harper and W. V. Hix.

For justice of the peace, Precinct 5, Cliff H. Day won over Joe H. Green.

In the governor's race, Henry B. Gonzalez polled 397 votes and Joe Irwin, 130.

Conservatives Lead Precinct Conventions

United Press International
Democrats met in an estimated 2,000 precinct conventions Saturday to determine whether conservatives or liberal-loyalists win control of the party at the state convention in September.

Delegates to next Saturday's county conventions were elected at the precinct conventions.

The county conventions will elect delegates to the state meeting in San Antonio.

Some precincts held meetings at 2 p.m. But most of the conventions started at 7 p.m., when the polls closed.

Issue Still Alive
The issue of conservative Democrats who defected to the Republican party in 1952 and 1956 was still alive.

Precinct convention reports from key counties included: Cherokee county — Loyalist forces turned out to take a 2-1 lead over the conservatives. With only 16 delegates to be selected, loyalists held a 125-61 lead in delegates to the county convention. Two conservative-controlled precincts passed anti-DOT resolutions, although there is no DOT organization in the county.

Lampasas county — Conservative Democrats controlled the two largest precincts of the county and appeared to be headed toward control of the county convention.

Conservatives Lead
Dallas county — Conservatives took control of the key precinct in Dalhart and elected 26 of the 56 delegates to the county convention. Other precincts unreported.

Hartley county — Conservatives gained control of the key Hartley county precinct and adopted a resolution blasting the DOT for the use of the word "Democrats" in its name. County appears to be in full control of conservative forces.

Brewster county — Conservatives took control of sprawling Brewster county, and passed resolutions in two precincts condemning the DOT. Two major precincts in the county elected 28 conservative delegates for the county convention.

Labor-Liberal Control

Delegates Arrive For Lions Meet

Delegates started arriving yesterday afternoon for the Lions District Cabinet meeting today. They were entertained at the Elks Lodge last night with a "sing song" and get-acquainted session.

The District 27-1 Cabinet meeting was to convene at 8 a.m. today in the Palm Room. Close to a hundred Lions and their wives were expected for a 12:30 p.m. luncheon in the Palm Room to hear Ralph Randall, from Panhandle, as speaker.

Cabinet members from Olton, Lubbock, Dumas, and Dalhart were the first to reach Pampa and were greeted by Joe Tooley, Pampa Downtown Lion boss, and Bill Hunter, Lions District governor from Amarillo.

Today's schedule called for the Cabinet to hold a two and one-half hour session, recessing for church at 10:30. The meeting would be open to some 28 Cabinet members and International counselors.

But all Lions in Pampa were invited to the luncheon. The luncheon was to break up at 2, so that the Cabinet could conclude its business. Plans were for the wives to visit in Lions' homes and take a Sunday drive around Pampa.

International counselors expected were W. L. Bell, Ross; Jim Ed Wallin, Lubbock; Marshall Harvey, Lubbock; Boyd Meador, McLean; Merle Cowan, Lubbock; Jack Griffith, Panhandle and Randall of Panhandle.

One of the early arrivals was Ed Judd, special representative of Lions International, from Dennison.

Outbreak Of Polio Reported

NORTON, Va. (UPI)—A polio outbreak in the rugged mountain country around Norton was described Saturday as having reached "epidemic proportions" and emergency shipments of vaccine and spare iron lungs were flown in from Richmond, Chicago and New York.

Dr. J. M. Suter, regional health director, said Wise County residents were being urged to take Salk anti-polio inoculations which were made available at all physician's offices in the county.

Nine confirmed polio cases and three suspected cases were reported in Wise County during the past week. A total of 14 confirmed cases have been reported this year.

Ambulances manned by volunteers of the United Mine Workers of America were placed on an alert in case the outbreak continues.

More than 300 persons were inoculated Friday. Suter said he felt the outbreak had reached "epidemic proportions."

LIZARD LOVER — Fifteen-year-old Donald Grant Jr., of Dallas, Tex., would rather watch a reptile writhle and roll than rock 'n' roll himself. He finds fascinating such creepy, crawly things as the handful of lizards and horned toads he holds. They seem to like him, too—when he rubs their tummies. He once had as pets a pair of poisonous tarantulas which he let run up and down his arm. He plans a career as a geologist.

Taxes, Debts Drain 'The Duke's' Money

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Ever hear of a poor movie star? John Wayne is one such. He claims "I keep working because I need the money."
While Gary Cooper, Clark Gable, Jimmy Stewart and other top stars relax with one picture every year or two, Wayne says he must make two or three to keep the wolf from the door.
"I've been acting almost 30 years and never come close to amassing a fortune. I'd like to take it easy for a while, but I can't. I have to work to keep my head above water," says Duke, as he is called by his buddies.
"By the time I pay off alimony, my business agent and manager, and raise five kids I'm lucky if I break even."
Ex-wives account for a blockbuster chunk of Wayne's income. He borrowed almost a quarter of a million dollars from RKO and Warner Brothers to pay off former spouses, not including alimony and child support.

"Because of high taxes I'll have to earn a million and a half dollars to pay off those loans. Under normal conditions I'd be a millionaire, but right now I figure it will take five million dollars to get myself out of debt. Kind of funny," he mused, "when you realize I've earned eight million dollars during my career, and Lord only knows how much money my pictures have made."
Duke said he is in the 90 per cent tax bracket, but has been in a position to demand outside salaries only during the past four or five years.
"I'm conservative," he said. "I don't throw big parties. I don't have expensive hobbies. I came along too late to make good investments before taxes."
Among the top three box-office attractions for the past 10 years, the big guy hauls away more than $500,000 per picture. But the more he makes the more it costs him to keep up with taxes and debts.

Lower Egg Prices Expected

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department thinks there may be more eggs and lower egg prices next year.
In a report Friday, it estimated 497,718,000 egg-type chicks were hatched in the first six months of 1958, up 7 per cent from the same period one year earlier. Department economists predicted the number of chickens in laying flocks next Jan. 1, as a result, would be up 5 per cent from the total last Jan. 1.
In another preliminary estimate the department said the number of young chickens raised in the first half of 1958 totaled 435,785,000, up 10 per cent from the same period one year earlier.

Ike Request Expected To Get Priority

By GEORGE J. MARDER
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A request by President Eisenhower that Congress nullify the Supreme Court's recent passport decision is expected to get top priority in the rush for adjournment.
Even though the proposal involves a highly delicate constitutional question, it was sped through committees so that action could be taken before the House and Senate quit sometime in August.
The court ruled earlier this year that the State Department can not refuse a person a passport merely because of his beliefs or past associations, Communist or not. Administration officials warned that the decision opened the door for suspected Communists or Red sympathizers to travel abroad on party business.
The President warned that "each day and week that passes" without congressional action exposes the United States "to great danger."

Constitutional Issues Ducked
In arguments before the court, the government asserted the danger is one which "might precipitate us into war."
The Supreme Court ducked the constitutional issues but they could easily arise if Congress gives the President the power he asks.
*Here is the background:
In the development of the recent cases, it was agreed by all concerned, including the government, that there is a constitutional right to free travel by American citizens even though nowhere in the Constitution does it say they are free to travel abroad.
But the right is considered implied in the Fifth Amendment which guarantees that no person shall be denied life, property or liberty without due process of law.
Freedom to travel, the Supreme Court ruled, is "an important aspect of the citizen's liberty."
The government conceded that this was a constitutional right but argued the freedom is not unlimited. It said it can be restricted by law. It also argued that it can deny passports to citizens if it feels their travel abroad would be against the interests of the United States and that such a decision can be reached on the basis of confidential information. The government contended further that Communists and Communist sympathizers can be denied passports for those reasons.

Prince Charles Gets A Royal Title

CARDIFF, Wales (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth Saturday named her son, Prince Charles, the Prince of Wales, the royal title last held by the present Duke of Windsor. The 9-year-old future King of Britain heard the news himself over the radio at his boarding school.

The Queen announced her decision in a tape-recorded statement to thousands of Welshmen attending the final day of the Empire Games in Cardiff. The audience greeted the news with cheers and burst into traditional songs.

Prince Philip attended the games in place of the Queen, who is suffering from sinusitis. But he made no mention of the elevation of their son in his address. He left that to the Queen's recording. "I intend to create my son, Charles, Prince of Wales today," she said. "When he is grown up, I will present him to you at Caernarvon."

Due to the cancellation of her fiancé's leave, the wedding plans of Miss Shirley Lee Larsen, 1208 Williston and Paul Glen McDonald, who is stationed at the naval air base in Key West, Fla., have been altered. Their marriage will be performed on Aug. 1 in naval chapel in Key West, instead of the First Presbyterian Church in Pampa, as originally planned. All leaves from the base have been cancelled until further notice, which necessitated the change of wedding plans. Miss Larsen plans to leave Thursday for Key West.

Russia Warns West Germany Of Aggression

BONN, Germany (UPI)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles explained U. S. policy in the Middle East to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Saturday under pressure of a Soviet warning to West Germany to stop supporting American "aggression."

Dulles spent five hours in Bonn, much of the time with Adenauer trying to overcome West German doubts about the wisdom of the troop landings in Lebanon.

Dulles stopped here en route to a London meeting of the foreign ministers of the Baghdad Pact. As he and Adenauer were driving from the airport, the Soviet embassy made public a note to Bonn accusing West Germany of helping the United States carry on "aggression" in the Middle East.

The Soviets said the use of airbases in West Germany by U. S. military planes meant Germany had supported the American action.

Observers said the note was designed to increase West German fears of being implicated by the United States in fights which many Germans feel are not their business.

It was also seen as a Russian hint that West Germany and other allies of the United States might themselves feel the weight of Russian retaliation against U. S. military moves such as those in the Middle East.

Russia demanded that the Bonn government take "effective measures" to insure that its territory would not be used as a base for "aggression" against the Arabs.

Outer Space Is Discussed At Kiwanis Meet

Master Sergeant Joe Lackey of Amarillo spoke on outer space at Friday's meeting of the Pampa Kiwanis Club.

Sgt. Lackey tried to give some idea of the vastness of outer space, giving astronomical figures of distances in light years between different planets and comparing them to distances on earth.

Guests for the day included Earl McConnell, Johnny Wagner, John Horton, Willis Hart, James Hart, Ralph Milliron, Wallace Bruce, Sgt. Doyle Roberson and Lt. Kevin Thompson.

H. Price Dosier Jr. and Cecil Reiger were inducted into the club by Fred Thompson and Jimmy Massa, respectively.

Conway Gets Band Scholarship

Mike Conway, Pampa High School graduate, will attend Texas Christian University on a $1,000 Bank Scholarship, according to a TCU release. Conway made the All Region Band last year from the Harvester Band. He played trombone through his years in Junior High and High School.

The grant, payable at $250 a year will become available starting with the fall semester in September. Conway plans to major in engineering.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Conway, 616 Deane Drive.

Charles the 21st

Caernarvon is the traditional place of presentation and investiture of Prince of Wales. It was there, in 1301 that the first British Prince of Wales was named. He later became King Edward II. Before that, there had been 19 Welsh princes.

Charles becomes the 21st British Prince of Wales, a title held by his great uncle, Edward VII, now the Duke of Windsor, his great-grandfather, George V, and his great-great grandfather, Edward VII.

Among the past holders of the title have been King Henry VIII, and King George III, the monarch who reigned during the American Revolution.

In addition to the title Prince of Wales, Charles automatically accedes to the rank of Knight of the Garter and succeeds to the title Earl of Chester.

Robert W. Hamilton led 221,809 to 119,322 for J. Edwin Smith and 114,750 for Judge Wilmer B. Hunt; Greenhill had 241,979 to 231,502 for Hughes.

Texas voters also voted on congressional contests Saturday and some 2,500 district, county and precinct officials.

In a Republican primary at Dallas, Rep. Bruce Alger, the only GOP congressman in the state, won re-nomination easily when labor leader Grover Cantrell polled less than three dozen votes.

But it was the Senatorial campaign that generated the most heat.

First Campaign
Blakley, a political novice making his first campaign, charged Yarborough with being the tool of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and of outside labor bosses.

He charged the senator received $28,000 in political contributions during a previous campaign.

Yarborough charged Blakley with serving the big-money interests.

He claimed that Blakley, reputed to be worth $200 million, received $100,000 a year from Braniff Airlines over a six-year period while the airline was receiving million-dollar subsidies.

Counter Claims
Yarborough claimed that Blakley favored the airlines subsidies while opposing subsidies for farmers. He termed Blakley a "cowboy in cufflinks."

Blakley carried out a heavy campaign, travelling some 17,000 miles and visiting 257 cities and towns in his bid for the seat on a platform of state's rights and constitutional government.

Yarborough was making his sixth state-wide race. He started his campaigning in 1938 when he ran for attorney general and lost.

He failed to win three other campaigns, starting in 1952 when he opposed Allan Shivers for governor.

Won Special Election
However, in a special election in April, 1957 he won his seat to the Senate over a field of 18 candidates.

Yarborough watched the results Saturday night at his home in Austin with a group of friends and close campaign advisers who jubilantly received telephone reports from county managers.

A victory celebration was started at 9 p. m. at his state headquarters on Congress Ave. Massive searchlights were turned on.

"They're probably probing the sky looking for a Republican," Yarborough quipped.

Figures Big Win
Figuring on a piece of campaign stationery, Yarborough, who got a boost from House Speaker Sam Rayburn in the final days of the campaign, predicted he would win by 100,000 votes.

Blakley was jovial at his campaign headquarters in Dallas. He shook hands with well-wishers and campaign workers.

Daniel, a seasoned campaigner, didn't turn on much steam in his bid for a second term.

When he did campaign he said he had a two-part job—to seek re-election and to keep the liberal Democrats of Texas (DOT) from taking control of precinct conventions.

CRAIG

In the state representative's race from the 87th District, Pampan Johnny Campbell beat his opponent by almost two to one in Gray County but this lead was not sufficient to overcome incumbent Grainger-McIlhany's overwhelming margins in Wheeler and Collingsworth Counties. The total votes for the District was Campbell, 4,038, and McIlhany, 4,571. Campbell pulled 569 votes from Gray.

75 Rebels Killed In Cuba Flareup

By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY
United Press International

HAVANA (UPI)—Bombings and armed clashes erupted throughout Cuba Saturday on the Fifth anniversary of Fidel Castro's rebel movement. The army reported at least 75 rebels dead, including seven men blown up by their own bombs in Havana.

It was one of the biggest flare-ups in the bitter war between President Fulgencio Batista's government and Castro, who calls his revolt "the 26th of July movement."

Ten bomb explosions rocked greater Havana Saturday morning.

The army reported 16 pitched battles with the rebels since Friday and the seizure of large quantities of rebel arms and ammunition.

The rebel radio in the rugged Sierra Maestra in Oriente Province claimed 20 army casualties in a series of skirmishes. It did not specify dead and wounded.

The army in Havana reported 68 rebels slain in seven scattered battles in Oriente, the easternmost province of the island republic.

The rebels said other clashes occurred in other areas of Cuba. The biggest clash was at Santo Domingo, where they claimed the army suffered the 20 casualties.

The government had moved swiftly to cope with the expected rash of rebel outbursts on the anniversary of Castro's first revolt against Batista.

That occurred on July 26, 1953, when Castro led an abortive attack on government installations. Fleeing the country, he returned in December 1956 and made a landing in Oriente. He has been fighting ever since.

CONSERVATIVES

borough took control in most precincts in Swisher county, and several precincts adopted sets of strong liberal resolutions which are expected to be approved by the county convention.

Hale county—Moderates took control of the conventions in Hale county and mustered sufficient strength to insure control of the county meeting.

Gray county—Nearly all precincts went conservative, and appeared to have sufficient strength to control the county convention.

DOT Defeat
Bailey county—A slate of DOT delegates were defeated in precinct conventions, the first report of real battle between DOT and conservative forces. Conservatives took over with enough strength to control the county convention.

Farmer county—The largest precinct in the county went strongly conservative, and gave the group the strength to control the county convention.

Smith county—Conservative leaders late Saturday notified Gov. Price Daniel the county had gone conservative "as usual."

Eight precincts were safely in the conservative camp, while three went to the liberal side. In one precinct, only two persons—one of them a newspaper reporter—showed up. One anti-DOT resolution, condemning the group for using the word Democrat in its name, was passed in one precinct.

PRECINCT

There were 28 persons present. The precinct voted to cast its votes in the county convention under the unit rule and went on record as favoring annual sessions and adequate salaries for the state legislature.

The convention was held in the 31st District Courtroom. John Kelly is the elected chairman of the precinct.

TIME OUT

Hotel Must Go

(Special to The News) PERRYTON — Equity Elevators has announced the purchase of the Glasgow Hotel on South Amherst in Perryton which will be moved to make room for construction of a new general office building for the company. The firm already owns the corner lot north of the Glasgow. Plans call for the hotel building to be sold and moved or torn down to allow construction of the offices and provide ample off-street parking facilities. Definite plans for the building have not been completed but the building will be a one-story structure. An architect is now working on the building plans. Construction is expected to be started by the first of January and only the company's general office will be moved to the new location. Read The News Classified Ads.

Busy Pampa Woman Has Several Hobbies

By RONNIE CROSS Pampa News Staff Writer She is currently engaged in sawdust modeling and gadget painting, when she can find time from her work. Both are quite a departure from the ordinary conception of modeling and painting. No brushes, or fancy clay, no hot kilns, or expensive materials are required — though she has used all in past ventures. Equipment for these two activities include such common but improbable things as ordinary sawdust, wall paper paste, plain enamel and around-the-house gadgets such as broken knives, old nails, screwdrivers, electric iron cords, sockets, plastic forks, glasses, bottles, screws and potato mashers. There are numerous other implements but these are the ones Mrs. Lewter has already put to use to turn out dainty artistic designs comparable to fine textile painting. And the methods are as simple as the artist's tools. For sawdust modeling, Mrs. Lewter explains, you take sawdust, which is easily obtainable from local concerns, mix it with wheat paste (wall paper) and mold the desired object. She prefers finely ground wood shavings like that left up 4.84 points and a new high since Aug. 5. Sales for the week totaled 18,581,325 shares, the most since the 20,804,199 for the week ended Oct. 22, 1957. Automobile issues enjoyed good demand with American Motors leading the market in turnover with sales of 408,400 shares. That low priced issue gained 2 1/2 points. Crucible Steel, Avco, Bethlehem Steel, Olin Mathieson, and American Cyanamid followed in that order. General Motors brought up in seventh place in volume and gained 1 1/4 on the week. Chrysler netted 2 1/2 points and Ford rose only 1/4 which was considered good in view of its second quarter report showing a net loss of $17,300,000.

Stocks Soared In The Past Week

By ELMER C. WALZER UPI Financial Editor. NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks soared in all sections during the past week in the most active trading since the week ended Oct. 25, 1957, with the Dow Jones industrial average crossing the 500 level for the first time since Aug. 5. Day after day new features came forward to keep the rise going at top speed—a daily average of 3,716,265 shares. On Monday the steels ran up to new highs with the industrials soaring 6.31 points in their average. On Tuesday the chemicals had a spurt and Allegheny Corp. issues put on some fireworks when the company voted to clear arrears on two preferred issues. On Wednesday cancer cure rumors sent American Cyanamid flying up. The rumors were denied but the stock netted more than 2 points on the week. On the same day Addressograph-Multi-graph spurred on a 3-for-1 split and a rise in dividends. It netted 18 1/2 points on the week.

American Motors got into action on Thursday near closing time and ran up to No. 1 trading position. The company reported good earnings. On Friday the liquors were leaders for a time on a Senate Finance Committee plan to extend the bonding period for whisky from eight to 20 years. Then Du Pont took over and brought the whole market up with the close around the highs. Du Pont netted 8 1/2 points on the week. Business news was good in all quarters and there was talk that the Middle East situation might spur a real boom if it continued to keep our troops quartered there. Also there was the threat of more inflation with deficits mounting in the Treasury. At the close of the week the Dow Jones industrial average stood at 501.76 up 15.21 points on the week and a new high since Aug. 2; Rails 130.84 up 5.53 and a new high since Sept. 18; utilities 79.74 up 0.38; and 65 stocks 173.38

Good And Bad Of The Week's News

Foreign News Commentary By CHARLES M. MCCANN UPI Foreign News Analyst The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet: The Middle Eastern crisis dominated the news this week. A series of notes exchanged by the United States, Great Britain and Russia on the other apparently insured that a "summit" conference will be held on the crisis—most probably within the next two weeks at United Nations headquarters in New York. In the U.N. Security Council, Russia vetoed a Japanese resolution under which the U.N. observer force in Lebanon would have been reinforced to permit the early withdrawal of American troops. Russia used its veto because the resolution did not insist that the troops be withdrawn at once. In Lebanon itself, a meeting of the single-chamber parliament, at which a new president was to be elected to succeed Camille Chamoun, was postponed until next Thursday. There were increasing indications that the rebellion, which sent the troops to Lebanon in response to an appeal by Chamoun, might be ended soon by a compromise. Under the compromise, the 66-member chamber would elect a successor to Chamoun. It was Chamoun's attempt to revise the constitution, so he could get a second term, that caused the rebellion.

Hydrocarbon Plant Project Employs 45 (Special to The News) PERRYTON — Construction of a hydrocarbon plant has been started by Northern Natural Gas company in southwest Ochiltree county, adjacent to Northern's main pipeline. Dresser Engineer Company of Tulsa, which constructed a dehydration on the same site last summer, is also building the hydrocarbon plant for Northern on the 80-acre tract. They have 45 men working on the project with a peak of 75 men expected to be employed. Completion of the $750,000 project is expected late in November. The plant will be in operation shortly before final completion of all facilities. To be built are a 40x96 foot warehouse and office building, a 24x50 foot compressor building, a fuel metering building, two housing units on the plant grounds for key personnel and piping for the gasoline extraction process. The plant will have a maximum capacity to extract an estimated 15,750 gallons of gasoline a day from some 100 million cubic feet of recoverable natural gas flowing through the plant. John Scoville, Northern engineer, is chief inspector on the job. C. V. Suderth is in charge of the Dresser engineering phase of the construction. Birds are descended from reptiles and still have many of the same characteristics as reptiles.

'NO TIME FOR SERGEANTS'

Andy Griffith lends a leg to Nicki Adams, in a hilarious scene from "No Time For Sergeants," Mervyn LeRoy's film production for Warner Bros., which is now showing at the LaNora Theatre. Griffith stars in the role of the backwoods Georgia draftee he originated in the long-run Broadway hit. The movie will show through Wednesday here.

Administration Is Jubilant Over Farm Bill Prospects

By BERNARD BRENNER
 United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration rejoiced today in the prospect that a major farm bill to its liking might clear Congress before adjournment.
 The Senate Friday night approved, 82 to 11, an administration-backed measure which would give Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson much of the power he wants to cut farm price support floors and loosen government curbs on planting.
 Thirty-seven Republicans and 25 Democrats, mostly Southerners, voted for the bill. Opposed were 11 Democrats.
 Benson promptly praised the bill as "constructive" even though he said it did not give him everything he sought.
 Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), who led Democratic efforts to defeat the bill, raised a threat against Republicans who voted for its price-cutting features. He said he would "fight this out before the American people," in the coming election campaign.
 Benson issued a statement calling the measure a "victory for sound principles" and a stride toward more freedom for farmers. He said he hoped the House would approve the bill quickly without "crippling amendments."
 House farm leaders were considering a plan to pass a bill along the lines of the Senate measure, perhaps adding some relatively minor changes and amendments. They would then try to rush the House version through passage and send it to a conference committee to compromise the differences.
 The bill would avert 1959 cuts in 1959 planting allotments for both cotton and rice. However, it also would abolish all corn planting controls beginning next year, eliminating corn as one of the traditional "basic" crops for the first time since the farm program began in New Deal days.
 For the first time since World War II began, it would lower permissible price floors below 75 per cent of parity. Furthermore, it omits mention of wheat, tobacco or peanuts, thus leaving the door open for Benson to move next year to lower prices and relax planting restrictions on those major crops.
 Major provisions of the bill:
 —For corn, all federal planting controls dropped, beginning in 1959. Price supports to be based on 90 per cent of average open market prices for the previous three years but not less than $1.10 a bushel or 60 per cent of parity, whichever was higher. Supports for other feed grains would range between 60 and 90 per cent of parity—the first time federal law has provided a floor for these grains.
 —For cotton, cancellation of a drastic cut in acreage allotments from about 17,600,000 acres this year to possibly 14 million acres next year.

WASHINGTON — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), attacking administration-supported arguments that lower price supports would persuade farmers to cut production and thus reduce surpluses:
 "That's the biggest hoax ever perpetrated on the American people. There's only one other place you can get that much official lying, and that is the Kremlin."

SAN FRANCISCO — Commodore H. J. Ehman, skipper of the liner President Cleveland, expressing his conviction that the disappearance of Rear Adm. Lynn C. Quiggle, 52, from the vessel some time after midnight Tuesday was a case of suicide:

 "It had to be by design, rather than accidental."

PITTSBURGH — Rev. Cyril P. Wagner, Roman Catholic priest who returned to the United States after five years in a Chinese Red prison, explaining how American captives communicated with each other despite a Communist ban against speaking:
 "I remember asking one prisoner in sign language what he did to pass time. He showed me—by twiddling his thumbs. I asked him what he did after twiddling his thumbs. He motioned that then it was time to twiddle in reverse."

Week Ends In Sacrament

Dr. E. Douglas Carver ... on 17th Year

Dr. Carver Begins 17th Pampa Year

Dr. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the Pampa First Baptist Church, will begin his 17th year of ministry with the church today. During these 16 years the church has grown from a membership of 1,320 to its present enrollment of 3,938. Sunday School and Training Union and other organizations of the church have grown in proportion. The budget of the church has increased from $18,000 to $157,360.00. During this time two missions supported by the church have been organized into flourishing churches. At the present four missions are being supported. A new Educational Building, a cabin at Pan Fort Encampment, and a lodge at Glorieta Baptist Assembly have been built.

During the 11 a. m. worship hour Dr. Carver's sermon topic will be "Your Finest Hour" based on the scripture Luke 22: 47-53. Tonight during the 7:30 p. m. worship hour his sermon topic will be "Christian Etiquette" based on the scripture I Timothy 3: 14-15. Special music during the morning will be presented by the choir. It is entitled "Go Not Far From Me, O God." During the evening service the special music will be "Victory in Jesus" also presented by the church choir. Sunday School begins at 9:45 a. m. and Training Union at 6:30 p. m. A Youth Fellowship will be held immediately following the evening service at 8:30. In the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Railsback who live at 1906 N. Nelson. All young people are invited.

A church-wide dinner will be held Wednesday evening, in the lower auditorium of the church at 6:30. Each family is requested to bring a salad or a dessert. The Young People 1, 2, and 3 and the Adult 3 departments will set tables and serve. The Training Union "Thinkers" will continue with a meeting Thursday at 7 p. m. During this meeting a film entitled "Indian Missionary Diary" will be shown. Ice cream will be the refreshment for the evening.

Religious Drama In Review

By the last speech everyone was spellbound including the actors. "Between Yesterday and Tomorrow" was the drama. The author, a missionary to Japan, Vern Rossman; the players, five girls and a boy from the Fellowships. In the First Christian Church, over on Starkweather, the theme of the women's study groups has been Japan. The women had a play but no one to direct it. Then last week "Pinky" Taylor, wife of education director, rushed Rossman's one-act into rehearsal and before the B & PW Church Chorus.

This was Monday night, following a backyard salad supper. "Pinky" received many congratulations from the women. If her cast had done her proud, Thursday they went on again, this time in the Church before the Christian Women's Fellowship. Again Larry Partin subdued his 15 years into the middle age of a Japanese mill owner. Again Glen Lewis, Yukiko, marched with the Communists. But in the second scene a new face appeared in the cast. Linda Warden was Mariko now.

Betty Barnes' exit from the cast, explained by a conflicting engagement, resulted in one rehearsal sometime between the Monday and Thursday performances. The players did a creditable job, even little Linda Meech, the Maid. Dot Gantz, a friend of the family, played beyond her years. As the wife of the industrialist and mother of Yukiko, Mary Sturgeon showed all the confusions she was supposed to show. In the small sister part, Betty Barnes was utterly convincing.

But in the end it was Partin's and Miss Lewis' show and all the other characters could do was

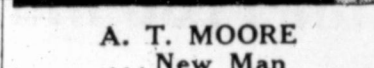

TRUTH Is The Lesson Sermon

Fulfillment of Jesus' promise "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free" (John 8:32) is a present-day possibility. This is a theme to be brought out in Christian Science services today.

Scriptural texts and correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy comprise the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Truth."

Among the selections from Science and Health will be read the following (312:17-19, 24-26): "Mortals try to believe without understanding Truth; yet God is Truth... A personal sense of God and of man's capabilities necessarily limits faith and hinders spiritual understanding."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (25:5): "Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day."

A. T. MOORE ... New Man

Moore Opens New Ministry

Buford Burgner is gone and in his place is A. T. Moore from Abernathy. Moore will open his Pampa ministry in the First Church of the Nazarenes today. His sermon will be "Walking With God." Burgner left July 6 for the San Jacinto Church of the Nazarenes, Amarillo. Moore has held pastorates in Abernathy, Wellington, Post, Roper, and Calumet, Okla. Mr. and Mrs. Moore arrived this week. They were in Abernathy for 2 months over five years. Wellington accounted for six years and Post, three years. The Moores have two children, both married.

Off To Pan Fork

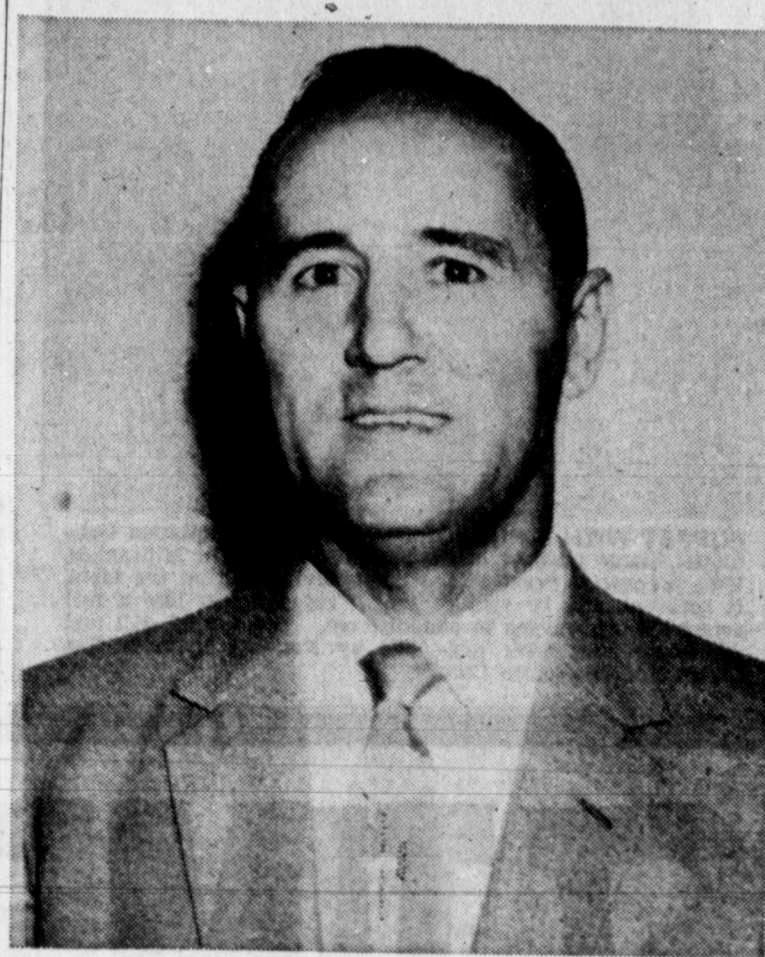

A group of young people will leave the Pampa Central Baptist Church tomorrow for Pan Fork Encampment near Wellington. They will be gone four days. The group, aged 15 and up, will leave Monday at 10 a. m. Worship services will take place at 10:55 a. m. and 8 p. m. today with the pastor, Therman O. Upshaw, preaching.

The Girls Auxiliaries, Royal Ambassadors and Sunday School teachers and officers' meeting will occur at 7 p. m. Wednesday. Prayer services will come at 8 p. m.

KoC Installs

Pampa installation of officer for the Frank Keim Council No. 2767 was held Monday evening, July 21, in the Holy Soul's Parish Hall. J. T. Blackburn, District Deputy and staff, were in charge of the installation. Installed were C. L. Sullins, grand knight; T. M. Wade, advocate; Lee Roy McBride, inside guard; Jasper McBride and Adolph Gerik, outside guards; Bill Haley Jr., lecturer; T. C. Stein, Sam Gilliland and Jerry Torvie, trustees.

After the installation ceremony, refreshments were served to the members attending. Venezuela exports more petroleum than any other nation and produces about two million barrels of oil a day.

REV. JOHN S. MCMULLEN ... Cuyler & Brown

Today Will Be High Time In Church Life

In the midst of its rousing youth revival, the First Assembly of God has a new pastor—or an old pastor. After a nine year absence, Rev. John S. McMullen is back on Cuyler and Brown.

The Church here has been in revival since Sunday with Morris Sheats, from Lubbock, the evangelist. Sheats will be here through Sunday, Aug. 3. McMullen will come into the pulpit Sunday for "Revival and Ruin," the first sermon of his new ministry here. The morning service begins at 11 a. m. "Are You Overweight?" by Sheats, will be the subject of the evangelistic meeting that evening. The daily meetings take place at 7:30 p. m. Sheats comes to Pampa from Monterey High School, Lubbock, where he was Student Body president. He has held offices in many state wide governing bodies. His ambition is all for the ministry.

Rev. McMullen was due here last week before the revival. But, as he tells it, he was lucky to get out of a car wreck alive. The McMullens were coming from Modesto, Calif. where he had been pastor of the Sixth & G Assembly of God. McMullen was pastor here from 1946 to 1949. He succeeds Joe Neely who left June 15. The McMullens are back in the parsonage, 1233 Charles.

McMullen's first pastorate was in Wills Point, 19 years ago. His seminary was Central Bible Institute in Springfield, Mo. He has served churches in Vernon, G. A. and Grand Solano and Terrell.

From Paper Versus Hay To Science Versus God

By WALLACE TRUESDELL Pampa News Church Editor

During the past week, the youth of the Pampa First Methodist Church tried to put their finger on some of the deepest mysteries of the Universe and God. Their discussion topics were deceptive. They could pack a lot of meaning into The Church, The Bible, Friendships, Christian Beliefs, Missions and Communion.

But they packed as much meaning into a hayride to Lake McClellan as they did in "Communion With God."

Youth Activity Week began Sunday evening. "These Are Our Concerns," the Methodist Youth Fellowship declared as its theme. Rev. W. W. Adcock took the first concern, "The Church." The following night, Dr. Burgin Watkins took up "The Bible." As most Pampans know, Dr. Watkins is pastor of St. Paul Methodist Church.

Rev. Bob Ely came in from the Higgins Methodist Church to consider "Friendships" and Rev. Charles Elizey, associate pastor of the Polk Street Methodist Church, Amarillo, accounted for "Christian Beliefs." As the week drew toward a close, Paul Holderman covered "Missions." Holderman is minister of education for the Perryville First Methodist Church.

Friday was the end. A hayride to Lake McClellan set the stage for the lakeside "Communion With God," the last act of Youth Week. That the youth did not waste their week is something that Howard Graham can tell you. Graham was the leader of every one of the discussions that preceded the worship services. As leader he heard not only from MYFers but from pastor, education director and visiting preachers.

Wednesday evening a controversy raged in Fellowship Hall. A paper ride or a hayride was the question. The controversy quieted down for a look at "Christian Beliefs." Here are a few of the ramifications: Who is a Christian? What is Christianity? Are Mohammedans Christians? We believe in Christ as the son of God. What if someone has never heard about Jesus? What do we tell them? The first belief established was belief in God. It was recognized that every religion has a superior being. Someone met the challenge of science by saying that there has to be something above it. A high

Come to Church

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Rev. OLAND BUTLER, Minister
The Harrah Methodist Church

COMPLETELY AT HOME IN GOD'S LOVE

"He that dwelleth in Love dwelleth in God, and God in Him"

—I John 4-16

This word "dwelleth" is a very strong and eloquent term. To "dwell in Love"—what is this? What but to make it our element, to reside in it, to make it our permanent resting place, to make it our home? Home is the place where we dwell, where we abide, where our joys nestle and sing, where the springs of our comfort are. How wonderful that God should be our home! That we should be at home in God's Love.

Loving God is but letting God love us. John the writer of this book, was the Apostle of Love. His training, His nearness to Christ, having His Spirit ripened by long experience, made Him so. Accurately understood Faith is just letting God love us. So is consecration. "He that dwelleth in Love dwelleth in God."

Loving God is also but letting God live in Us. God in us and we in Him! We at home in God's love, and God at Home in our lives. Men as "temples of the Holy Spirit"! To dwell in love as a habitation is not natural, but supernatural, not of the flesh but of the Spirit.

How are we to realize this state? How have Love as our habitation? How dwell in Love? God Himself dwells in Christ Loving Hearts. The flesh is selfish and sensual. Obtain a place in the Spiritual and Divine—in God's House by adoption, in God's nature by regeneration, be born into the Kingdom of Heaven. The place is to be retained by FAITH, AND PRAYER AND COMMUNION. Communication kept up between Christ and the soul. Thus love will abound yet more and more. Fellowship with God begets love. Love is the reflection of Christ in Us. Therefore love must be revealed, in our tone of conversation, in unselfish conduct, for "Love seeketh not her own". In generous beneficence toward others. By doing all this constantly to God's Glory, Inspired by Him, seeking to please Him, and all this as the habit of the soul. Not the impulse of a season. Not occasionally. Not under unusual pressure but as our daily life, as the habit of our Home—dwelling.

Music Service To Start Here Aug. 1

Muzak, the internationally famous background music, is coming to Pampa, according to Paul W. West, manager of the local Muzak franchise, Tele Hi-Fi Company, which is a subsidiary of the Video Independent Theatres, Inc. The widely known music service will commence in Pampa August 1.

West says his organization will supply three separate and distinct types of programs — Office Muzak for clerical workers, Industrial Muzak for manufacturing plants, and Public Area Muzak for restaurants, hotels, shops and supermarkets, etc. These services will be available in Pampa and vicinity 18 hours a day.

Though most people think Muzak is used primarily in restaurants, hotels and shops, West says the majority of Muzak subscribers are industrial plants and business offices. Its use for workers dates back to the early 1930's when experiments showed it relieved worker fatigue and nervous tension, thereby reducing lost time, absenteeism and accidents.

During World War II thousands of industrial plants installed Muzak. The War Production Board surveyed the use of music in industry during the war and found it relieved "unnecessary nervous tension," and created "a pleasant atmosphere for work." However, the WPB stated in its report that "the kind of music played is of paramount importance." It is to determine the correct kind of music, points out West, that Muzak maintains a research department which has studied the effects of music and the kinds of music workers like for more than 20 years.

For restaurants and other public areas Muzak's programming department plays tunes in sequences which match the type of music to the time of day. For instance, morning music is much livelier than that played during the cocktail hour. Dinner music features salon-type selections while luncheon music includes a good many popular tunes and "brighter" perennial favorites.

West emphasizes that programs for office workers are entirely different from those used in industrial locations and both work programs are different from Public Area Muzak.

"Psychologists have found certain kinds of music should be used with office workers and different types with industrial workers," he says.

Each Muzak selection is specially arranged and recorded by leading orchestras of the nation for use exclusively on Muzak circuits. The selections are programmed to parallel the work day and are designed to be most stimulating when the workers normally are most tired—in mid-morning and

Bartlett Is Eagle

(Special to The News)

CANADIAN — Boy Scout Troop 71 of Canadian held a Court of Honor Friday night and awarded the Eagle Scout rank to Tommy Bartlett.

Bartlett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bartlett of Canadian. Other advancements made were: Philip Rogers, first class rank; Billy Ortega, Johnny Wright, Jim Bruce Graham, Wade Adams, Phil Jones, James Smith and Charles Kessie, second class rank.

The Cherokee, Chickasaw, Creek, Choctaw and Seminole Indians are officially classified as the Five Civilized Tribes.

Video Screen Plugged With Courtroom, Prison Dramas

Television in Review

By FRED DANZIG

United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Television viewers will be forgiven if they sport a prison pallor today.

It's the fault of Thursday night's TV shows. Courtroom and prison scenes, the long arm of the law, juries and judges. Where'd all the westerns go?

There was "Dragnet" on NBC-TV with a filmed re-run. "The Verdict is Yours," on CBS-TV, offered a new videotaped courtroom drama, "The People vs. Charles Kimball."

"Confession," on ABC-TV offered a rundown on the career of William P. McGriff, a 43-year-old former Army officer who served time in and out of uniform for theft, desertion and dabbling in counterfeit money. Now serving time in Texas for passing bad checks, McGriff said he had learned his lesson. A psychologist and a clergyman were on hand to explain that McGriff went wrong because his parents were too permissive. I didn't see anything new in this show. The all-important question of the prisoner's rehabilitation was not developed.

"Playhouse 90," another CBS-TV offering, gave us a filmed re-run of "Before I die," which dealt with the last-minute reprieve of a convict wrongfully sentenced to die in the electric chair. Okay, balliff. You can clear the courtroom now.

Channel Chips: Dick Van Dyke and Chuck McCann performed as Laurel and Hardy, respectively, on ABC-TV's "Andy Williams Show" but only emphasized again how great a comedy team the originals were. I suspect that was the purpose of the bit. . . . Th villain on NBC-TV's "Buckskin," played by Victor Tayback, certainly looked the part: A mean, black slouch hat; black handlebar mustache; shifty-eyes. He didn't fool me one bit. But I thought this sort of villain went out with Hairbreadth Harry.

Warner Bros. film series, "Tomb Raider," is scheduled for an ABC-TV slot sometime in October, replacing "The Patrice Munsel Show." Effram Zumbalst Jr. will star as a lawyer in search of adventure. . . . Another incoming ABC-TV show is "Music From Manhattan," starring Sammy Kaye and his orchestra. It will debut on Saturday, Sept. 20, and provide 30 minutes of "Swing 'n Sway" music following 60 minutes of Lawrence Welk's "Champagne Music." It figures.

Ducks banded in South Dakota, Ohio has at least 50 plants that are poisonous to livestock.

The U.S. Secret Service is responsible for the suppression of counterfeit money.

Bond Issues Successful

(Special to The News)

CANADIAN — Revenue bond issues, totalling $80,000, passed by a two to one majority in a special City bond election Tuesday.

The four issues will finance improvements and extensions of the City water and sewer system and the electric light plant.

Rural Residents Will Get Markers

(Special to The News)

PERRYTON — Ochiltree County Home Demonstration Club women are working with the Commissioners Court in getting road signs erected at county road intersections which will make it almost as easy to find a home in the rural areas of Ochiltree county as it is in Perryton.

The signs will carry a name plates of people living on the unpaved roads and the distance and direction from the intersection to each home. Signs will be of redwood, four feet long and six inches wide, painted white with three-inch black letters.

A committee of women from each home demonstration club will take orders for signs, make them, and get them to the commissioners for erection.

Each person wanting a name plate will be expected to pay for the expense of materials. The name plates will cost no more than $2.50 each.

Each post will have two or more name plates on them to be erected under this program. Families living directly off blacktop roads or the only family on a road, will be expected to take care of posts and setting them, but the ladies will make the signs for them if ordered.

Construction Soon

(Special to The News)

PERRYTON — Work is expected to be started within a week or ten days on a gasoline, butane and propane plant for Skelly Oil Company, southwest of Perryton, east of the Northern Natural Gas company dehydration and hydrocarbon plant.

C. V. Suderth of Dressing Engineering company of Tulsa will be in charge of the project which will employ more than 100 men.

The project should be completed by the first of next year. No estimate on the cost of the construction is available, but it should be over $1,000,000.

Panhandle Outdoor Life

BY STARKEY WHITEHORN

Less than fifty years ago most settlers in this part of the country existed on what nature and elbow grease provided, to a great degree. There were no supermarkets, no electricity, natural gas, no modern transportation.

World Of Difference

The table was set with whatever was available. Now the table is set the same but what a world of difference. Then, all Texans lived primarily from what the earth produced in a very local manner.

No Wild Grapes!

Today I was driving the river road east of Borger to the H & Y Hook Ranch and noticed a large number of plums that were red and yellow and just waiting for some family to stop by and load up baskets full.

Quail Peaks Seen

Recent conversations with G. P. "Slim" Davis, veteran Game Warden from Shamrock, and Jack Parsons, State Game Referee Manager of Canadian, revealed that in these two respective localities the quail population would be from very good to excellent.

Reds Demand To Score In Own Way

MOSCOW (UPI) — The United States meets Russia Sunday in the most important track and field meet since the Olympic Games, with the Soviet team insisting on counting points its own way.

Already worlds apart politically, the American and Russian teams turned out to be just as far apart in their ideas of what constitutes a dual meet as they inaugurated an annual series which may—politically willing—become the "Little Olympics" before a crowd of 102,000 at Lenin Central Stadium.

Two Title Brawls Set Here Monday

The brightest night of wrestling in several months is on tap for the Top o' Texas Sportsman Club here Monday night with not one, but two championship matches on the card.

The main event will be a tag-team championship match between a duo of Iron Mike DeBaise and Art Nelson against a tandem of Tokyo Joe and the Great Bolo.

The tag-team title brawl will be a best two-of-three falls hour-time-limit affair and the ring is expected to take many a dent before a winner is declared.

The semi-final match is also set up as a championship scrap with Ethel Johnson and Babs Wingo colliding for the Colored Girl's Title. They'll meet in a best two-of-three fall 45-minute match, and it also looms as a slam-bang affair from the opening bell.

Tokyo Joe, who struggled five weeks before racking up a win here during his past stint of Monday night grappling, is matched with Iron Mike DeBaise in the 8:30 p.m. opening match, a single fall 20-minute event.

Reds Friendly

MOSCOW (UPI)—The American track and field team that was to clash with Russia's top stars in a long-awaited meet here Sunday chatted pleasantly with Moscow students Saturday and reported it found "absolutely no anti-American feeling" despite international tensions.

Bears, Huskies To Meet In Grid Series

WACO (UPI) — Baylor University and the University of Washington will meet in a home-and-home football series in 1964 and 1965, Baylor Athletic Director George H. Sauer announced Saturday.

The first game will be played at 2 p. m. on Sept. 28, 1964 in Seattle, with the second game set for 8 p. m. on Sept. 25, 1965 in Waco.

The Washington series is the latest in a group of several series recently announced by Sauer.

Others recently contracted include early home-and-home meetings with Southern California, Pittsburgh, the Air Force Academy, Louisiana State University, Oregon State College and the University of Colorado.

Baylor and Washington have played twice before with Baylor winning both times, 34-7 in Waco in 1954 and 13-7 in Seattle in 1955.

"SUMMER TIME AND TH' LIVIN' IS EASY"...the sentiments in this popular song from "Porgy and Bess" are consoling and pretty... but rather out-moded in our fair city these summer days; what with beard-growing and pledging clubs... we don't image the "livin'" is easy for the group of 50-odd pledges of the Las Cresas Club, Kit Kat Club, or Sub Debs... but they are certainly having a lot of fun in their "misery"... there's been some weird and hilarious "goings-on" around town this week... On Wednesday morning, for instance, a group of Las Cresas pledges, equipped with yellow and white buckets, were attempting to fill up the gully, bucket by bucket, that runs beneath the bridge out on Kentucky Street... and we're wondering how Katy Price is coming along with the novel that she must write for the Kit Kat Club, entitled "Love Life Of A Door Knob"... We've done a little research on the matter of pledging and find that there isn't anything to become really alarmed about when you hear a member yell "air raid" at a pledge... it only means that the pledge must fall flat on her face with her hands above her head and remain prone until the "air raid" is over... or the term "rigor mortis-ing" isn't as morbid as it sounds... in fact, it is down-right funny to see a pledge on her back with her feet and arms rigid in the air... which position she must maintain until the member tells her to "come back to life"... livin' might not be so easy these days... but everyone is having a whale of a good time, including the pledges we've seen... another "young set" having a lot of laughs are the Jaycees in connection with their beard-growing contest being promoted for the Top O' Texas Rodeo, which takes over the town during the week of August 4... George Whitten, Gene Hollar and Jim Crouch have some beard-boasting beauties... and you simply can't ignore the fiery-red beard of Ronnie Cross... nor the jet-black one of Wally Truesdell... Bill McComas, Hoover Pitcock and Eugene Davis were drug away from their morning cups of coffee and thrown into the hoosegow the other day for failure to comply... Travis Lively Jr. is also "payin-off"... and we say "hurrah" for them... those beards must be mighty "itchy" and uncomfortable on these hot summer days on the kisser as well as on the kissee... Rumor has it Tommy Walker shaved his beard off because it kept blowing up in his eyes.

Real friends are those who, when you've made a fool of yourself, don't feel you've done a permanent job. — Erwin T. Randall.

SUMMER SOCIETY... there was a lovely dinner party given for the H. V. McCorkles in the Country Club on Wednesday evening (he is retiring from many years of service with Humble Oil Co.)... and the Earl Schmeidings were hosts for the Couples' Progressive Bridge and Dinner on Thursday evening in the Club... Pre-nuptial parties for Janet Weathered, who is, at this moment, the very new bride of John V. Thompson, were the prettiest ever... her chosen color was bronze... imagine she feels perfectly at home on her Cloud Nine of Happiness for airline hostess stewardess with Continental Airlines... The Tollie Hutchens of Houston came back for the wedding and to visit with his parents, the D. A. Hutchens... Friends of Mrs. Walter E. Daughterty have been so happy to have her back in town for a visit... she's the houseguest of the George Scotts and E. C. Sidwells... we wonder where Mrs. Carl Axelson was taking that lovely floral centerpiece we saw her carrying across Ballard the other afternoon... lots of local notables out to meet and welcome Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas last Sunday afternoon in the Lovett Memorial Library... among them Judge C. E. Cary... Bill Craig... and Johnny Campbell... just a thought in passing, we think Sue Foster has the loveliest shade of auburn hair... just the color most girls are "dye-ing" to have... nice to see Elmer Fite up and around after a stay in the hospital.

SUMMER ACTIVITIES... Frances Hofess, mermaid, is giving swimming instruction this summer at the Country Club... as is bronze Gene Chance... Betty Boswell is off on a sight-seeking trip to Canada and the northeastern states... and Doris Price and Glenna Murphy of El Paso left by air last week for several weeks of exploration in the man-made canyons of Manhattan... Ann McDaniel, who has seen only ten summers, is spending this one learning how to sew... she is making a dress for herself... our happiest wishes to Brenda Dianne Boyd, who is one little fat finger old and celebrated this week with a birthday party.

GALLANTRY IN ACTION... we didn't see it happen, but we heard that on his way to work one morning this week, Bob Richardson, not only signaled to a passing motorist that she had a flat tire, but stopped and changed it for her... the "she", of course, being one of those entirely helpless drivers, who doesn't know a jack from a picolo... in this old, buff-bang shoot-'em world, acts of gallantry and kindness like this are rare indeed... or perhaps, they happen more than we think and just aren't heard of... like, for instance, one day recently Viola Jordan took a fresh, homemade pie out to Fern Dawson's home... all for no particular reason... other than they are both just nice people... and we can attest to the fact that Pampa is full of them.

Writing is like religion. Every man who feels the call must work out his own salvation. — George Horace Lorimer

AS SOON AS THE LAST BULL has been "dozed" and the last little doggie has been roped and tied at the TOT Rodeo... the Pampa Garden Club and the Pampa Rose Society are planning a flower show that will contrast the versatility of the activities around town... their theme, "Panhandle Reflections" will bring out the opening hours of the Panhandle history... a sneak preview at some of the suggested arrangement themes sound so beautiful... one arrangement is to be called "Comanche Moon" suggesting the Indian History of this area... another "Conquistadors" to show the Spanish influence... other bewitching titles are "Pioneer Days"... "El Rancho"... "Harvesting The Wheat"... "Get Along Little Doggie"... "Black Gold"... "In All Kinds of Weather"... "Industries On Parade"... there will be a men's division for gardeners around town in those categories... and we hear that they will welcome entries from non-members as well as members... The show is planned for August 23 from two o'clock until eight in Lovett Memorial Library... which should be a date to circle on your calander... so Happy Horticulturing!

Our Column just wouldn't be complete this week without this bit of astounding information to make your day happy... The week of August 7 is National Olive Week... which is what every true and loyal olive-eater has been waiting to hear... until next week... Love, Peg

Miss Janet Weathered Pledges Vows With John Thompson In Bronze Setting

Dr. E. Douglas Carver, minister of the First Baptist Church, performed the double-ring service last night that united in marriage Miss Janet Weathered and John Vern Thompson in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Allan L. Weathered, 1322 Charles. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John E. Thompson, 221 N. 11, Brownfield. Candelebra holding bronze tapers, palms, arrangements of bronze mums, and huckleberry leaves entwining the altar rail formed the setting for the exchange of double vows. Miss Patsy Stovall at the organ provided a prelude of nuptial airs and accompanied the bridal party with the traditional processional and recessional marches. Mrs. Bill Webb sang "Here Ends The Rainbow" (King's Hawaiian duet). Mr. Webb sang "Wedding Prayer" (Dunlap) and "Malotte's 'The Lord's Prayer'".

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in pure silk and lace. The molded lace bodice was fashioned with a deep V-neckline edged with pearl beads and tapering, long, lace sleeves, which came to bridal points over the hands. The bouffant, pure silk skirt, encircled at the waistline with a shirred cummerbund, fell into a chapel train. A Queen's Crown of lace encrusted with pearls, held secure the Veil of Illusion accented with lace appliques edged with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses showered with white satin streamers atop a white Bible. She also carried a blue lace handkerchief, which had been carried by Mrs. Dick Seawright and Mrs. Duane Copeland.

Mrs. Robert Yeager of College Station, cousin of the bride, served as matron of honor, wearing a champagne-colored crystalline sheath styled with a cowl neckline. A bandeau of a matching shade of champagne trimmed with seed pearls complemented her dress. She carried an arrangement of Bird-Of-Paradise, entwined with ivy and showered with bronze satin streamers. Serving as bridesmaids, dressed identically to the matron of honor, were Miss Joy Wieland of Houston; Mrs. Harold Pharr, sister of the bridegroom, of Seminole; Mrs. Thurman Weathered, Dallas, bride's sister-in-law. C. B. Thompson, Plainview, served his brother as best man. Ushers were Thurman Weathered, Dallas, bride's brother, Elmer Wilson, Dale and Glen Cary, both of Lubbock. Candelighters were James Weathered, brother of the bride, and Gary Dearen, Amarillo. Ringbearer was Rusty Lentz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Lentz Sr. of Houston. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Weathered chose an embroidered cotton-satin beige sheath with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Thompson wore an embroidered cotton-satin sheath of lavender with white accessories. Their corsages were of pink orchids.

For the reception in the church parlor, following the exchange of vows, the table was covered with a white net cloth over satin caught up at the corners with bronze bows and centered with an arrangement of bronze mums. Mrs. Thomas Lentz, Houston, served the wedding cake, which was topped with a miniature bridal couple. Mrs. Dick Seawright, Amarillo, presided at the punch service. Mrs. J. D. Compton was guest registrar. Assisting with the houseparty were Mrs. Tollie Hutchens, Houston; Misses Carlene and Gracie Sexton. For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride traveled in a light-weight, wool, beige suit accented with brown accessories. She wore the white rose corsage from her bridal bouquet. Mrs. Thompson attended Texas Technological College, where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority. For the past two years, she has been an airline stewardess with the Continental Airlines in Houston. Mr. Thompson was graduated from Texas Tech, where he was a member of the Red Raider Football team and of the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. He coached at Bellaire High School this past year and will be assistant coach at Hereford High School next year. They will make their home at 318 Ave. J in Hereford.

Gahn-O'Keefe Vows Said In First Baptist Church

With double-ring vows repeated on July 25, Miss Mary Ann Gahn became the bride of Earl Jay O'Keefe in a ceremony performed in the First Baptist Church sanctuary, Amarillo, by Dr. Carl E. Bates. Miss Gahn and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Churchill F. Gahn, 3501 Concord Road, Amarillo, are former Pampa residents. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jay O'Keefe, 2808 Hayden, Amarillo. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white Valenciennes lace and tulle over blue taffeta designed with a bodice of lace bands, high rounded neckline accented with a small bow, and short, shirred sleeves. The full, flared skirt of tulle, inset with Valenciennes lace, terminated in a chapel train. Her finger-tip Veil of French Illusion was secured to sprays of pearlized lilies of the valley. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis. Mrs. James Webster, El Paso, was matron of honor wearing a Periman, Wayland Rogers, Edwin Stulce, C. A. Beadle, Miss Ann Ousley, all of Amarillo; and Miss Ann Price, of Pampa. Mrs. O'Keefe was graduated from Amarillo High School; Amarillo Junior College; and Texas Technological College, where she received a Bachelor of Science degree in Education. She is employed in the elementary schools in Amarillo. Mr. O'Keefe was graduated from Amarillo High School; attended Amarillo Junior College and received a Bachelor of Science degree from Texas Tech and a Masters in Actuarial Science from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. He is actuary of Western National Life Insurance Co. Amarillo. The parents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. R. Earl O'Keefe, entertained with a rehearsal dinner in the Amarillo Country Club on Thursday evening. Guests attending from Pampa were Mr. R. C. O'Keefe, grandfather of the bridegroom, Messrs. and Mmes. Traylor Price and daughter, Patty; Joe Gordon and daughter, Martha; Frank Culbertson, E. L. Campbell, Art Teed, Gene Green, Roy Bourland, Ralph Gardner, George Scott, W. A. Breining, and Mr. Michael Price.

Double-Ring Ceremony Performed For Geraldine Hill, Lee L. Harkins Jr.

Miss Geraldine Elizabeth Hill, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth King, became the bride of Lee Lytton Harkins Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee L. Harkins on July 18, at 7 p.m. in the parlor of the First Baptist Church.

Minister of Education, J. R. Strohle, performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and jade palm, flanked by candelabra with white tapers.

Miss Patsy Stovall played prelude music and accompanied Mrs. Don Patchin who sang "O Promise Me" and "Through the Years."

BRIDE
The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Bailey Cain, wore a ballerina-length white satin dress styled with a lace yoke and lace sleeves tapered to points over the hands. The classic neckline, yoke and sleeves were edged in seed pearls. The fitted, long-line bodice was enhanced by the full skirt with front lace panel inset in the deep, soft, folds of unpressed pleat. Her veil of silk illusion was bordered with hand-clipped applique.

Manners Make Friends

No matter how bad your cards are when you are playing bridge, don't sit and complain about them, hand after hand. Every body gets poor cards now and then so there is no reason why you should complain that your never hold good cards.

Complaining, you sound like a poor sport, and besides, it is boring to the other players.

RUTH MILLETT

It could be a compliment, but it usually isn't when a woman says: "I like your hair. You ought to keep it blonde."
"You have the nicest husband. He's so much fun at a party."
"You look simply marvelous. I believe you've gained a little weight and it certainly is becoming."
"I'm so glad you cut your hair. Really, you look a hundred percent better with it short."
"What do you care what anyone thinks? If you like it, that's all that matters."
"Wherever have you been keeping yourself? I simply never see you any more."
"I've always liked that dress you're wearing."
"I don't see how you find the time to do all you do. It keeps me busy just looking after my family."
"I envy you your job. I wish Jim would let me work, but he has the silly old-fashioned notion that a wife's place is at home."
"You're got a better disposition than I have. I wouldn't take that for a minute."
"I think it's marvelous the way you never let anything upset you. I'd be worried to death if I were you."
"Your hair is so pretty. I simply adore gray hair. I think you're so wise not to dye it."
"You've done a marvelous job as club president. It's a shame there aren't more members who appreciate all you've done."
From one woman to another such remarks could be compliments. But they usually aren't.

Miss Martha Cherlene Ritthaler Says Nuptial Vows With Maurice Dave Kerns

Miss Martha Cherlene Ritthaler and Maurice Dave Kerns pledged wedding vows in a simple ceremony performed on July 4 in the Lamar Christian Church. Doubling vows were read by Rev. David E. Mills.

Miss Ritthaler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cox, west of the city. Mr. Kerns' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dave Kerns, Cities Service Camp, southeast of city.

The bride wore white lace over taffeta fashioned with a flared, waltz-length skirt. The molded, strapless bodice was topped with a bolero featuring long, tapering lace sleeves, which came to petal points over the hands, rounded high collar fastened down the front with tiny self-covered buttons. Her finger-tip Veil of tulle illusion was secured to a bandeau of braided lace edged with pearls. She carried an arrangement of white carnations and stephanotis showered with white satin streamers atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Margaret Sausbury served as matron of honor.

Charles Ritthaler was best man for the bridegroom.

Mrs. Kerns was graduated from Pampa High School and has been employed by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. Mr. Kerns was also, graduated from the local high school; served eight years in the National Guard and is employed with the Neon Corporation in Oklahoma City, Okla., where they will make their home.

A post-nuptial courtesy was given for Mrs. Kerns on Tuesday evening in the form of a miscellaneous wedding shower by Meses. Clyde Martin, E. E. Campbell, Art Kahler, Travis Patterson, Audrey Huff, and Paul Hollahan at 717 E. Kingsmill.

Miss Judy Huff was guest registrar.

A blue and white carnation corsage was presented to the honoree. Corsages of white carnations were given to Mrs. W. B. Cox, mother of the bride and to Mrs. Dave Kerns, bridegroom's mother.

The serving table was covered with a white lace cloth over blue centered with a blue net, ruffled umbrella tied at the handle with a blue satin ribbon. Blue tapers in crystal holders tied with blue ribbon flanked the umbrella.

Mrs. Martin presided at the punch service; Mrs. Campbell at the coffee service. Mrs. Patterson served white cake trimmed decorated with blue icing. They were assisted by Meses. Huff, Hollahan, and Kahler.

Approximately 42 guests attended.

Pledges Entertain Chapter Members

Pledges of Rho Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi entertained the chapter members and their husbands with a Western Bar-B-Que and an evening of games, bridge and dancing in the City Service Recreation room on Saturday night.

The serving table was centered with a campfire scene featuring covered-wagons and rail fences. Table cloths were made of brown wrapping paper and the dishes were decorated with well known cattle brands. The guest-registering table featured a round-up coffee pot and coffee cups.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Terry and their guest Frank Bolding, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Florence, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Terrill, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wilson, Mrs. Wade Court and Mrs. Hart Warren.

Pledges and their husbands are Messrs. and Meses. Jim Wallace, Bill Tarpley, James Deaton, Bill Uncan, Chester Huff, Ray Jordan, Haldene Suttle and Miss Lilith Martin.

B&PW Group Has Salad Supper

The Business and Professional Women's Group of the First Christian Church held a Salad Supper on the back-lawn of the T. J. Wright's home on Monday evening with their husbands as guests.

A program, entitled "Japan Between Yesterday and Tomorrow," a one-act play, was enacted by a group of young people under the direction of Mrs. George Taylor. Participating in the production were Larry Partin, Glenna Lewis, Mary Sturgeon, Dorothy Gantz, Betty Barnes, Linda Meech and Jim Crinklaw.

During the business meeting, a letter of appreciation from Mexican Christian Institute was read, thanking the group for its contribution to the Building Fund.

It was announced that the annual district retreat would be held at Ceta Glen on Sept. 13-14. Mrs. B. G. Gordon led the evening devotional with the theme, "Beauty," which brought out the sentiments of beauty, not only in nature but in character and spirit. She stated that "when Beauty enters the soul, you live on the hill-top of service."

Guests attending, other than those already mentioned were Messrs. and Meses. O. W. Allston, D. V. Burton, Mitchell Hill, W. C. Chapman, C. W. Stowell, Bill

CORNER ON BEAUTY

Corner windows in the bedroom offer two distinct advantages: they eliminate drafts to a large extent, and, as they are usually the only windows in the room, they leave space for a large variety of interesting furniture arrangements.

On the other hand, they require special decorative treatment—one that blends with the style of furnishings and decor, and at the same time controls the light admitted from two exposures.

The sketch above shows a satisfactory and distinctive corner-window treatment. Valance gives a feeling of greater height, and also conceals traverse rods on which draperies may be drawn open and shut to control light from either or both exposures.

Note how the absence of pattern on floors, walls and furnishings plays up the design in the draperies. Fluffy nylon panels in off-white give a soft, restful feeling to the room. Bed, chest and high-boy in rich, mellow cherry wood are happily at home in this setting. Room-size rug is deep rose—contrasts effectively with paler rose bed-spread and soft-pastel green walls. Here is a cheerful, restful room—designed for comfort, beauty and gracious living.

In home decorating trifles can be tremendous—small accessories and lamps, for instance. Our accent pieces are all hand-picked to meet your personal taste preferences. So come in and make your selections now while stocks are complete. Our latch string is out.

Committee Symbols Displayed At Meet

Pampa Chapter No. 1163, Women of the Moose, met Wednesday evening in the Moose Home with Mrs. Verna Quinn, senior regent, presiding. During the business meeting, an invitation was extended from the Amarillo Lodge to attend the informal Hawaiian dinner and dance to be held on Sept. 6 in Amarillo.

New emblems for the committee chairmen were displayed at the meeting.

Mrs. Irene Jones, recorder, reported that Mrs. Polly Seitz had prepared the luncheon on Monday for Mrs. Quinn, Ruby Lard, Ila Arthur, Irene Jones and Genevieve Blakemore, who had participated in the redecorating of the Social Room at the Home.

It was with regret that members accepted the resignation of Mrs. Ann McCord, who has been serving in the office of guide, Mrs. McCord is moving to Nashville, Tenn.

The auxiliary will reconvene in its weekly meeting on Wednesday at 8:15 in the Moose Home, 401 E. Brown.

Runyon-Luedecke Say Nuptial Vows

Wedding vows repeated on July 19 at seven o'clock united in marriage Miss Charlotte Ann Runyon and Rondal Lee Luedecke. Thurman O. Upshaw, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, performed the double-ring ceremony amid a setting of baskets of white and peach gladioli.

Miss Runyon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Runton Sr., 333 N. Zimmer. Mr. Luedecke's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Luedecke, 109 N. Dwight.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in a street-length brocade dress fashioned with a rounded neckline and sleeveless. Her finger-tip Veil of Illusion net was secured to a hat encrusted with beads and pearls. She carried an arrangement of white carnations showered with white satin ribbon atop a pearl-covered Bible.

Mrs. Murray Leith, wearing blue lace over blue taffeta, served as matron of honor. She carried a bouquet of white carnations. Murray Leith served the bridegroom as best man, Doug Luedecke and Damon Runyon were ushers.

Miss Sheila Lemons at the organ played the traditional marches and accompanied Joe Whitten as he sang, "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Runyon chose a pink linen sheath with black accessories for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore blue lace with white accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations.

Mrs. Luedecke was graduated from Pampa High School and is employed by Hughes Investment Corp. Mr. Luedecke is serving with the United States Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Jett

Long-Time Club Reporter And JPNG Honored By Rebekahs At Banquet

SKELLYTOWN — Mrs. R. E. McAllister, junior past noble grand of the Rebekah lodge was honored with a banquet on Monday night in the dining room of Carpenter's Cafe. The banquet tables were laid in pink and green, lodge colors. A child's typewriter, on a small table, with a small doll seated at the table, formed the centerpiece. Place mats were of newspaper. Sheets of newspaper folded for a newsboy's throw decorated the table. A small note pad and pencil were at each place. The napkins were pink and green and inscribed with the name of the honoree and PNG-1958.

Mrs. Al Elweiss gave the invocation. Mrs. Miles Pearson was mistress of ceremonies. Each member present made a short talk.

Mrs. Howard Wedge gave a reading entitled "Friends." Mrs. Florence Duncan, Borger, played several popular numbers on the accordion. She also played an original number "Hoty Totsy" which will be published in August. Miss Addie Fern Lick gave several musical selections. The honoree was presented a newspaper filled with clippings and pictures about her term in office. Mrs. McAllister has been the lodge reporter since her membership in the order. Benediction was pronounced by Mrs. Walter Niver. The program closed with a group singing of "Just a Closer Walk With Thee."

Attending were Mrs. and Mrs. Johnnie Wyatt, Mrs. Mae Allan, Fred Genett, Gertrude Hocking, R. C. Heaton, Miles Pearson, J. H. Wedge, C. C. Coleman, Al Elweiss, Walter Niver, Carmy Estes, C. C. Hoskins, W. H. McBee, Florene Duncan, A. W. Shubring, R. E. McAllister and Miss Addie Fern Lick.

Blend enough Honey with cream cheese to make a spread of desired consistency. Add chopped raisins or nuts.

Cream $\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter. Add gradually 1 cup Honey and beat until well blended. Spread on brown or enriched bread.

Sewing Workshops Net 18 Garments

Gray County 4H Clubs attended five clothing workshops in June and July during which time 18 garments were made. It has been reported by Miss Susie Thompson, assistant county home demonstration agent.

Ten girls ranging in age from nine to 12 made gathered skirts from attractive print materials. These members are Misses Sharon Goldston, Sheila Standish, Mary Bell Gibson of Allamreed, Connie Burger, Kathy Davis, Georgia Iverson of Grandview, Janice Mackie, Judy Garrison, Sharon Mackie of Hopkins, and Cynthia Morgan of Pampa.

Miss Suzy Benton and Martha Pattillo of Pampa made skirts and blouses of matching material. The following girls made dresses, Misses Jane Howard, and Phyllis Dalsing, of Pampa; Irene Baggerman, Roselle Baggerman and Arlene Wills of Grandview. Miss Dalsing also made a bolero.

Miss Donna Hinton of McLean made a blouse.

Mrs. Earl Dalsing, Pampa, and Mrs. Dean Burger, Pampa, assisted with the workshops.

A dress revue was planned for Friday afternoon, June 25, at two o'clock in Lovett Memorial Library.

Varied Program For Lefors HDC

(Special to The News)
LEFORS — Carry a litterbag, roll clothes in paper and wrap to avoid wrinkling, put hose and little items in shoes, place underwear-in hat, shoes in plastic bags, roll towels and washclothes and stand on end to save space, and carry nail, tacks, pins, clips, needles, bandaids, in small bottle. A few of the tips given by members of the Lefors Home Demonstration Club on packing and traveling, at its July meeting held in the home of Mrs. A. T. Cobb on Friday afternoon.

A program was given by Mrs. L. D. Rider on identifying plants. She showed samples and gave details about each one emphasizing the ones best suited to this particular climate. "The different varieties of Euonymus are especially suited for West Texas," she stated.

A report on the "Texas Home Demonstration Study" was given by Mrs. Charles Roberts.

"Evaluation of Property," was discussed for the group by Mrs. A. T. Cobb, stating, "The basement, foundation, walls, insulation, roof, floors, interior finish, plumbing, added features, are all checked and graded and taxed accordingly."

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Rider, president and roll call and minutes were read by Mrs. Cobb.

A balloon game was led by Mrs. Roberts. Refreshments of cookies and punch were served to the following members: Misses Wanda Schiebell, O. O. Bishop, A. M. Dickerson, B. J. Deihl, L. D. Rider, B. D. Vaughn, Charles Roberts and A. T. Cobb.

Chop $\frac{1}{4}$ cup each of dried prunes, dates and figs. Add 1 tablespoon of candied ginger if desired. Add $\frac{1}{4}$ cup Honey and blend well.

Bebe Karen Higdon And Sanford Jett Repeat Nuptial Vows In Home Service

(Special to The News)
SHAMROCK — Miss Bebe Karen Higdon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Higdon, Twitty, and Sanford Jett, son of Mrs. O. U. Jett and the late Mr. Jett, Shamrock, were married in a home ceremony on July 11.

Marriage vows were exchanged in the home of Mrs. J. L. Nunn, Shamrock, aunt of the bride. The couple stood on a white rug under an arch of jade leaves tied with blue bows. Other decorations featured an arrangement of blue and white asters and pen pomps. Rev. J. E. Byers, pastor of the First Baptist Church, read the double-ring service.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of white nylon chiffon designed with a low neckline, sleeveless, and worn over white polished cotton. A small, white hat complemented her dress. She carried an arrangement of white carnations topped with a white Bible. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Walter Jett, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was matron of honor wearing a street-length dress of dacron in apricot shade and carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and pen pomps.

Walter Jett, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Miss Aneta Loyd, bride's cousin, played the traditional wedding marches.

The mother of the bride chose for her daughter's wedding, a dress of grey and white dacron and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of brown and white sheer with a corsage of white carnations.

A reception immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a cloth of white linen with white-and-silver-bells forming the focal point. Mrs. Farmer Heffley, bride's aunt, of Wheeler and Miss Loyd presided at the cake and punch service.

Attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Higdon, John L. Jett, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jett, Jett and Gayle; Miss Aneta Loyd, Rev. and Mrs. Don Blake, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Nunn, Mrs. John L. Nunn and Ray Johnson. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jett, and Patti, Borger; Mr. and Mrs. Farmer Heffley, Wheeler, and Alvin Nunn, Eldorado, Ark.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Jett are at home in Amarillo, where he is employed at the Star Lumber Co.

Miss O'Neal Feted At Bride's Party

(Special to The News)
WHITE DEER — Miss Peggy O'Neal, bride-elect of Gordon Stevens, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower on Tuesday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. Dalton Ford. Other hostesses were Misses H. T. Dickens, Byron Hodges, W. R. Howard, Paul Buchanan, Orville Franklin, M. A. Powers, W. C. Powers, John Skaggs, and Leonard Ballard.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Ford; Miss O'Neal; her mother, Mrs. L. C. O'Neal; and Mrs. Jessie Stevens, mother of the bridegroom-elect.

Miss Sharon Dickens was at the guest register, and Miss Joyce Ballard presided at the bride's table. Pale pink candles in tall silver Candelabra lighted the table, which was laid with a white linen cloth. The centerpiece was double hearts of pink styrofoam surrounded by an arrangement of pink carnations nestling in a ruffie of pink net.

TO WED IN GERMANY—Shown with their daughter, Miss Jane Guill, right, are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Guill, at the Sunday Afternoon Tea given in the home of Mrs. Coy Palmer, 2117 N. Russell. Miss Guill plans to leave August 8 for her marriage on August 14 to Edward Lee Alley in Stuttgart, Germany.

Jane Guill, Bride-Elect Of E. L. Alley, Feted At Sunday Afternoon Gift Tea

Miss June Laverne Guill, bride-elect of Edward Lee Alley, was the honoree at a Gift Tea, given last Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Coy Palmer, 2117 N. Russell. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. John Hessey, Billy McKee, Allen Alford, H. A. Yoder, R. A. Wilson, J. P. Elms, and Aubrey Jones.

The honoree, wearing a white gladioli corsage, Mrs. Harry Guill, bride-elect's mother, and Mrs. Jim Alley, prospective bridegroom's mother, both wearing blue carnation corsages, and Mrs. L. L. Palmer, grandmother of the bride, with a white carnation corsage, formed the receiving line for guests.

Mrs. Jack Moser and Miss Adelaide Williams presided at the guest register.

The serving table was covered with a white, floor-length organdy cloth over blue satin caught up at the corners with wedding bells tied with satin ribbon and centered with blue umbrellas, tied at the tip with a nosegay of white mums and blue satin ribbon, encircled at the base with an additional blue umbrella arranged with a cascade of white mums showered with blue and white satin ribbon and net.

The white, oblong cake, designed to depict the approaching nuptials, was decorated on the right side with a map of Texas with Pampa, clearly marked; an airplane emitting vapor letters to spell out "Jane and Ed" in blue letters was winging its way across the cake towards a map of Germany on the left, where a uniformed figure of a boy stood, waiting for the plane.

Bell-shaped blue and white mints, toasted pecans, and punch was served with the cake. Mrs. Alford presided at the punch service. Mrs. McKee served cake.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding party were Mrs. H. T. Wilkins Jr., Amarillo; Mrs. H. T. Wilkins Sr., Roswell, N.M.; Mrs. A. H. Moreman, Mrs. Wilson Blakney, Mrs. B. L. McKee, Mrs. L. L. Palmer, all of Alanreed; Mrs. J. P. Elms, Lubbock; Mrs. Allan Alford, Spearman. Approximately 85 guests registered or sent gifts.

Miss Guill, who will leave for Germany on August 8, and Mr. Alley plan to be married on August 14 in Stuttgart.

Plan a Casserole Menu

Casual outdoor meals are becoming more and more popular with the American family because of the many conveniences offered them by manufacturers of picnic items. Today's picnickers do not have to worry about hot foods staying hot or cold foods staying cold thanks to the new insulated food carriers.

Now, Ma can prepare hearty hot dishes or delicious cold meals to satisfy the most ravenous appetites of young and old alike. Too, carting a casserole to the beach or forest preserve is a snap, especially when the recipe calls for very few ingredients.

Here are a pair of casserole recipes dedicated to memorable eating for even the most jaded picnic palates. Both call for a crisp tossed salad (dressing added after the dish is uncovered at the picnic grounds), pre-buttered bakery rolls and thermos-cold iced tea for satisfying accompaniment. They are taken from a new all-sausage cookbook, "Easy-Do Meals With Sausage," written by food expert Ida Bailey Allen.

Sausage-Sweet Potato-Apple Casserole

(Serves 6)
Boil or steam 6 medium-sized sweet potatoes, or use canned sweets. Cut into lengthwise slices. Arrange in a single layer in an oiled shallow casserole. Brown 1/2 pound sliced bologna or ham bologna (cellulose casing removed) cut in half-moons. Arrange on the potatoes. Cover with sliced peeled tart apples. Dust with 1/4 cup brown sugar* and 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon. Stir together 1/4 cup hot water and 1 tablespoon lemon juice; pour over the apples. Bake 35 minutes in a moderate oven, 375 degrees F. Garnish with fresh parsley.

*If using sweet potatoes canned in syrup, add only 2 tablespoons sugar. Indoors or out, the spicy-sweet flavors of the apples, bologna and sweet potatoes add up to intriguing fare. For another casserole dish, based on the picnic standbys—baked beans and hot dogs—but with a difference, try the following:

Snappy Baked Beans

(Serves 6)
Season 2 (No. 2 1/2) cans baked beans with 2 tablespoons molasses, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 2 tablespoons vinegar and 2 tablespoons minced onion. Arrange in an oiled 3-pint casserole in alternating layers with 8 sliced skinless frankfurters and 2 fine-chopped green peppers (or use 2 canned green chilies). Top with the beans. Bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven, 375 F. Garnish with fried onion rings.

To keep the casseroles piping hot, cover and wrap them in several layers of newspapers or thick towels before placing them in the insulated picnic basket.

MATURE PARENT

I know a girl of 22 who's been under psychiatric treatment for a nervous breakdown.

A week ago she came to see me. We talked of her plans to find a room and work. Hardly had she left when the telephone rang. It was her mother.

She said, "Oh God! help me, Mrs. Lawrence, I've just had such a shock I can hardly speak. I was putting some underwear in Julia's bureau drawer—and found a book on sex and marriage in it."

Then her voice changed, and she cried at me through the telephone, "If she's out fooling around with some man, I'll kill her."

I said sharply, "You are the person you will kill if you go on taking such responsibility for other people."

She began to cry.

And I said more gently, "Julia is not disgracing you this afternoon, Mrs. D. She is looking for a job."

Do you feel sorry for Julia? My heart goes out to her mother.

Because, if like her we live in secret terror of disgrace by a child's sexual misbehavior, it's certain that other terrors are also our daily companions.

So if someone momentarily soothes our fear that Julia is dallying with a sexual partner, we've not been released from terror. When we hang up the phone on our superficial comforter, other expectations of disaster will soon be crowding in on us with visions of Julia's death by traffic accident, of diseases growing subtly in our bodies, of our husband's displeasing his boss.

For we are people who have been trained to believe we should be able to control all circumstances—and expect catastrophes to descend on us as punishments whenever we can't control them, whether they concern an absent child's sexual behavior, the city's traffic or our husband's treatment of his employer.

We do not enjoy living in fear of punishment. So what Julia's mother was doing was protesting against it to me.

She was saying, "Help me accept my limitations. I don't want to kill Julia; I want to kill my own sense of obligation to control circumstances I can't control."

Will she kill it?

Probably not. Which is why my heart goes out to her.

The wise bride is the one who plans ahead to have her cake and eat it too. That is, she glories in a full, formal wedding gown on the big day. Then she turns it into a party dress, thus being kind to her bridegroom's wallet.

Hate to change handbags? The most efficient way to switch from black to navy and back again is to keep the contents streamlined. Get rid of everything you don't really need and the changing will take seconds.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a fellow who said he loved me too. I have a very jealous nature and I know that he was once in love with a girl and they went together almost two years. He would never let me hum, or whistle, or sing "Sweet Sue" because that was her name—and it was "their song." I got mad at him one night and I started to sing "Sweet Sue." He lost his temper and knocked the filling out of my tooth. He left me (we were in a tavern) and I had to hook a ride home. I called him the next day and he said he didn't ever want to see me again. How can I get him back?

BLUE GIRL

Dear Blue: If you intend to "get him back" you should take out Blue Cross. You asked for it when you sang "Sweet Sue"—but a man who would knock the filling out of a lady's tooth needs to be "filled in" on how a gentleman behaves. Lose this brute.

DEAR ABBY: I recently was a guest in America and was invited to a formal dinner. The hostess was served first. It appeared rude to me, but perhaps it is your custom. If this is correct in America

I would like to know the origin of this custom.

FROM ACROSS

Dear From: The custom of the hostess serving herself before her guests never was "correct" but it was practical and accepted at one time. In the old frontier days when rough and unschooled guests were invited to dinner, the hostess would help herself and eat first in order to show her guests which silverware to use. The need for such a demonstration went out with the Chicago fire.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is that my husband just had his driver's license taken away from him for the second time and it is serious as he is a truck driver. The judge was very hard on him because he had had a few beers this time and the charge was Driving While Drunk. He drives okay, beer or no beer, but the judge said he was a danger to the pedestrians. How can he get his license back? His living depends on it.

WORRIED WIFE

Dear Wife: So do the pedestrians. Sorry, but he will have to learn the hard way.

DEAR ABBY: I have been annnoyed for a long time by this. "We're taking up a collection for Mary" business. She is either having a baby, leaving the city, getting married or has been with the company for ten years. As far as I am concerned it is way overdone. The "amount" of the contribution is usually set by a committee who think a dollar here or there doesn't matter. They always see to it that the one who "asks" is your immediate superior so you can't refuse. I resent having to donate just so I won't look cheap. What is your opinion?

FED UP

Dear Fed: Tell the person who is taking up the collection that your budget doesn't include this kind of giving. Once you take this stand, you will find plenty of others who will admire your courage and follow your example.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister has been having her mail sent to our house so her husband won't know she is writing to a certain married man. I feel like a weak, hiding the letters away and then slipping them to her behind her husband's back. Would it be wrong to tell her right to her face (in front of her husband) that I am through covering up for her?

TIRED OF COVERING

Dear Tired: Tell her privately first. If this doesn't penetrate, let your husband (her brother) tell her to either cut out the extra-marital correspondence or face exposure. Double exposure, that is.

Confidential To Babs At The Bank: Do not spend so much time with that lawyer. He might try to break your will.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fitch

Mr. and Mrs. Lester C. Newman, 1229 Garland, announce the marriage of their daughter, Jeanette, to Ray Fitch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy I. Fitch, south of the city. Wedding vows were repeated on July 20 at four o'clock in the First Christian Church with Reverend David Mills performing the ceremony. They will make their home near Lefors. (Photo, Clarence Studio)

Mrs. McCorkle Feted At Coffee

Mrs. H. V. McCorkle was the honored guest at a Morning Coffee given Tuesday in the home of Mrs. D. A. Caldwell, 110 E. Kingsmill. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. W. E. Abernathy, Vard Smith, and L. A. Morrison.

Mrs. Smith presided at the guest register.

The honoree was presented with a corsage of white carnations. The party was given as a farewell courtesy for Mrs. McCorkle, who, with her husband upon his retirement as Humble Pipe Line Company district superintendent on July 28, is moving to Abilene.

The serving table was covered with a crocheted cloth over pink centered with an arrangement of white pom poms, pink Fuji mums, lavender and pink asters in a milk-glass bowl. Butterfly cinnamon rolls, grapes, cantaloupe cubes and coffee were served with Mrs. Abernathy presiding at the coffee service.

Approximately 31 guests attended. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. W. P. Guinn, Mrs. W. C. McDaniel from Cisco and Mrs. Bob Thomas from Crowell.

Garden Club Has Workshop-Lunch

Pampa Garden Club held a workshop-luncheon on Monday in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church.

A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Thelma Bray, president, during which Mrs. Martin Stubbe, Garden Club flower show chairman, explained the schedule for the show to be held on August 23 in Lovett Memorial Library.

The highlight of the meeting was given by Mrs. H. D. Lewis of Dumas, district governor of District One for 1959 of Texas Garden Clubs. She gave constructive criticism on flower arrangements and judged arrangements made by members.

Luncheon was served to members and guests during the noon hour.

The afternoon session was presented by Mrs. Lewis, who showed slides of her recent trip to Europe, which included slides of the famous Bellingrath and Cypress gardens.

Mrs. Lewis, who is a member of the Royal Horticulture Society of England, visited the Chelsea Garden Show, while in England.

Chilled Salad Loaf Festive Party Dish

A cold macaroni loaf, baked and then chilled makes an attractive summer luncheon or Sunday night supper. Like molded gelatin salads, it's a fix-ahead dish... just slice and serve. Since the main course is fairly substantial... why not serve a bowl of mixed fresh fruit for dessert? Could be strawberries and pineapple or cultivated blueberries and peaches. For an added touch, garnish the fruit with canned flaked coconut.

CHICKEN MACARONI SALAD LOAF

- 1/4 cup butter
 - 2 tablespoons minced onion
 - 1 cup flour
 - 1 1/2 cups milk
 - 1 chicken bouillon cube
 - 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
 - 3 oz. can chopped broiled mushrooms
 - 4 ozs. processed American cheese, diced
 - 2 cups cooked elbow macaroni, drained
 - 1 1/2 cups finely diced cooked chicken, turkey or roast meat
 - 1 canned pimiento, diced
- Melt butter in skillet over moderate heat. Add onion and saute 1 minute. Stir in flour. Add milk, chicken bouillon cube, mustard and contents of can of mushrooms and bring to boil, stirring constantly. Add cheese and chicken in large mixing bowl. Add diced pimiento. Pour in cheese sauce and mix thoroughly. Place in well-greased loaf pan, 8 x 4 inches.

Bake in preheated oven, 350 degree until lightly browned and done about 40 minutes. Cool in pan, then refrigerate. When thoroughly cold, invert on cold serving platter. Garnish and serve, cutting loaf in slices like your favorite meat loaf.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

"50% OF A SPORTSMAN'S WORRIES ARE OVER IF HE HAS A FREEZER TO PRESERVE HIS CATCHES!"

SAYS Mr. Lee Pool,
924 WEST FIRST STREET,
MULESHOE, TEXAS

What better "insurance" for a good catch than a home freezer, as Mr. Pool, a partner in an insurance firm, testifies. Says sportsman Pool, "When I get home with fish or game, regardless of the hour, I can immediately put the catch in my freezer and preserve its fine quality. One of my great joys in hunting and fishing is sharing of the fish I catch and the game I shoot, all year, with friends, relatives and neighbors." Whether or not you're a sportsman, you'll like the fine way an electric food freezer preserves the flavor and freshness of foods. Ask anyone who owns an electric home freezer.

Pampa Loses Pioneer

Pampa yesterday laid to rest one of its finest and most honored pioneer citizens, Dr. Walter Purviance. Dr. Purviance was the epitome of the classic family doctor who combined warmth, selfless devotion and skill as he tended those who called upon him for healing.

In 1952, Dr. Purviance retired from active practice after 50 years of service and a large number of his friends and neighbors gathered to pay him tribute. The respect given this man is shown in how seldom such an honor is bestowed upon others when they step down from an active occupation.

Russia's New Trend

When Karl Marx, the father of aggressive socialism, enunciated his central theme, many persons believed that it sounded like the finest of Christian principles.

This tenet was so basic in all of the socialist dialectics, that it was written into the Russian constitution following the October Revolution. For a number of years thereafter, the Russian government sought to take from those in the Soviet who had ability, and to distribute whatever was produced on the basis of need.

So dismal was the failure, in fact, that at one time in the twenties, the Kremlin bosses relaxed their rules. They financed certain businesses and granted to the businessmen a certain amount of freedom to produce out from under state control.

In the forties Stalin took a closer look at this socialist tenet and promptly re-wrote the Russian constitution. He changed it to read: "From each according to ability, to each according to his work."

Under the chapter of "Race," he draws this conclusion: "Underlying the attempts to prove that there are great basic differences among peoples is the thought that one group (usually that of the speaker or writer) is 'superior' to another. Leaving aside the question of what is meant by 'superior,'" scientists are inclining more and more to the view that such attempts are fruitless and will remain so until we can set up uniform standards of measurement that will apply fairly to all peoples.

Recently, the successor to the Kremlin seat of power has expanded this same theme. Khrushchev is offering farmers more than Stalin ever granted them. The results can be viewed in more plentiful harvests and in stronger and more self-reliant men behind the plows.

In science, the departure from pure socialist ideology is even more apparent to the non-Russian world. In the Soviet Academy of Sciences, government control is specifically banned. The talent, corralled into this agency both by force and by the promise of greatness, has flexed its mental muscles to such a degree that it has sent non-Russian scientists into spasms of terror.

The tragedy of our times is not contained in this switch-over toward a capitalistic concept behind the iron curtain. The tragedy is found in our own steadfast descent toward the silliness of Marxian platitudes. As Russia climbs out of the pit of share-the-wealth folly, America courts the abyss by clasp to its bosom this unworkable and fatuous doctrine. We have no fear of Russia, if Russia finally abandons socialism. As a free enterprise nation it will behave it to move toward peace in fact, rather than in propaganda.

BETTER JOBS By R. C. HOILES

I want to quote a few more conclusions from Amram Scheinfeld's book of "You and Heredity." Under the heading of "Why cannot science tell us something more definite about the inheritance of intelligence?" the author writes:

"First because we haven't determined what we mean by 'intelligence.' The intelligence tests, as we have already pointed out, were devised by educators chiefly for their own domain. The realm of the classroom. But academic intelligence and practical intelligence as judged in the larger world outside are not necessarily the same.

"Second because we haven't determined what we mean by 'intelligence.' The intelligence tests, as we have already pointed out, were devised by educators chiefly for their own domain. The realm of the classroom. But academic intelligence and practical intelligence as judged in the larger world outside are not necessarily the same.

"Meanwhile most geneticists, while agreeing that differences in intellectual capacity among humans may be inherited, shy away from further commitments. Several have toyed with theories of the genes involved in producing intelligence, and have even made guesses as to the types and numbers of these genes.

"It is when we try to isolate and identify these 'behavior' genes in the light of our present limited knowledge that we encounter difficulties. Much more than in the case of mentality, human behavior is influenced - and modified by training and environment, and any comparison between humans and lower animals falls short if it does not take this into account.

"A girl is blond, blue-eyed, beautiful. Does a certain kind of temperament, character, behavior, go with that combination? Or does beauty in a girl produce a certain kind of environment about her which in turn molds her temperament and behavior? Here is where we must consider two kinds of environment - the external environment which one encounters in any society, and the internal environment which a person himself or herself creates."

"Under the chapter of 'Race,' he draws this conclusion: "Underlying the attempts to prove that there are great basic differences among peoples is the thought that one group (usually that of the speaker or writer) is 'superior' to another. Leaving aside the question of what is meant by 'superior,'" scientists are inclining more and more to the view that such attempts are fruitless and will remain so until we can set up uniform standards of measurement that will apply fairly to all peoples.

"Don't you consider these negotiations of sufficient importance to have immediately replaced Ambassador Johnson?" asked Rooney. "Yes, they are important and we propose to resume them," said Henderson. "But it seems rather silly to us to insist that an ambassador has to carry on these negotiations."

"Perhaps it is silly," retorted Rooney, "but these talks involve the release of Americans who are wasting away their lives in Chinese prisons. If the Reds demand an ambassador to negotiate for the release of these prisoners, then I don't see why we couldn't have designated a replacement for Johnson in a matter of days instead of six months. Why did it take so long?"

What? No More Jackpots?

Robert Allen Reports:

US Is Resuming Its Red China Negotiations

WASHINGTON — The U.S. is resuming its three-year-old negotiations with Red China for the release of military and civilian prisoners. The talks are slated to get underway again in a few weeks in either Prague or Warsaw.

They were begun originally by Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson on August 1, 1955, in Geneva. Up to last December, when Johnson was transferred to Thailand, he had held 73 meetings with a Red Chinese ambassador and had obtained the release of 15 American civilians.

The Department's reason for bowing to Peiping's demand is explained in a private memorandum to congressional foreign affairs leaders, as follows: "There is little ground for hope, on the basis of our experience in the Geneva talks, that their continuation at the ambassadorial level will be any more effective than they have been in the past in causing the Chinese Communist regime to fulfill its promise to release Americans expeditiously."

MYSTERIOUS DELAY — Representative John Rooney (D., N.Y.), chairman of the Appropriations Subcommittee in charge of the State Department's budget, has gotten nowhere so far in trying to ascertain the reason for the six months' delay in reaching that decision.

"Don't you consider these negotiations of sufficient importance to have immediately replaced Ambassador Johnson?" asked Rooney. "Yes, they are important and we propose to resume them," said Henderson. "But it seems rather silly to us to insist that an ambassador has to carry on these negotiations."

Hankering for US Espionage System Is Not 'Up To Snuff'

I have been watching movies and TV long enough to know that the espionage system of the Free World countries is not up to snuff — maybe not even up to cut plug!

None of the Western powers is ever forewarned of a turn of events. Every new move catches them by surprise. No word of brewing discontent seems to reach their ears. A rebel coup succeeds in the Middle East and Mr. Dulles cries, "Oops!" Mr. Macmillan cries, "Blast!" General De Gaulle cries, "Oo-la-la!" and all the other heads of friendly powers cry the equivalent of "Wow!"

This can only be due to faulty espionage, intelligence, or just plain spying. The agents are to blame for the surprise of their superiors. No one expects Mr. Dulles to skulk about in foreign lands wearing sneakers, a false beard, and dark glasses. Or Mr. Macmillan to take a job drinking gin and playing the piano in a Teheran dive to pick up information. But someone has to do these things if information is to be gathered. The movies and TV have proved that this is a sure-fire way to get the low-down. There's no other way. Our spies need a course from someone like Peter Lorre.

As for the American agents, they must wear Stetsons, munch hot dogs and hamburgers when they are on the trail, and shield their faces in hotel lobbies with U. S. road maps. Whatever they do, or don't do, they can't be given anything like a "A" for results.

To judge from the shock the Iraq coup caused in Western circles, the boys must still be tracking down reports that President Jefferson is planning the Louisiana Purchase, and that Cromwell is up to some mischief in England!

Q — When a person has had a stroke and this has affected the mind, is there any way that the mind can be restored? — Mrs. M. A — The brain tissue is exceedingly sensitive and, unlike some of the other tissues, it does not rebuild after it has been damaged. As yet there is no treatment which can effectively restore damaged brain tissues.

Q — My right foot is always cold, no matter how much I rub it or what I wear. Can you help? — H.T. A — The question suggests poor circulation in one leg. Consequently there is need for immediate and careful examination of the circulatory system.

Note On Questions Dr. Jordan is unable to answer directly individual questions from readers. However, once a week, in this "Q & A" column he will answer the most interesting and the most frequently asked questions received during the week.

The Doctor Says:

It is a pleasure to give a clear answer to today's first inquiry! Q — Do thyroid tablets become habit-forming? Is it better in the long run to take these tablets or to leave them alone if one's thyroid is underactive? — Mrs. H. B. A — Thyroid tablets are not habit-forming. They supply the hormone which a person with an underactive thyroid gland is not able to produce himself. In other words, this is substitution treatment.

If the thyroid is truly underactive, thyroid tablets can supply the deficiency and can be taken indefinitely in the proper dosage without harm. However, just the right amount must be taken — neither too little nor too much.

Q — What are the advantages or disadvantages of taking warm salt water baths? Are they beneficial? If taken, should the salt bath be followed by a plain water bath? — Mrs. A. M. A — I am not aware of any convincing evidence that there are any great advantages or disadvantages in bathing in salt water rather than in fresh water, though such treatments have been used for centuries.

Salt water will often leave a deposit of salt on the skin and most people feel more comfortable if this is washed off by subsequent fresh-water bathing. A — A friend of mine died a few weeks ago from cancer and her family gave me her clothes and her bed. Would it be safe for me to use them? — Mrs. S. A — It would be quite safe. Cancer is not spread through clothing, nor is it contagious in any other way.

Q — What is the meaning of a dilated heart? Is it dangerous? — Mrs. E. A — This presumably refers to a condition in which the size of the heart is enlarged by pressure from the inside, probably without corresponding increase in the thickness of the heart muscle. It can result from any one of several kinds of heart disease. It must be considered a serious symptom.

Critic Is Fascinated By 'Treasure Hunt' Shenanigans

Television in Review
By FRED DANZIG
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—The shenanigans on "Treasure Hunt" hold some sort of fascination for me.

Like so many give away shows on TV, it has mastered the art of killing time so adroitly that the viewer believes the sound and fury signifies something.

Wednesday was a typical day on this Monday-through-Friday NBC-TV show, so I kept tabs on it. The half-hour was packed with seven one-minute commercials and a one-minute station-break, leaving 22 minutes for action. All the rest went to small-talk, little jokes by emcee Dennis James, who is substiting for Jan Murray, suspense-building mumbly-jumbo about the 30 treasure chests containing $50,000 in prizes and some booby prizes.

It wasn't until 11 minutes went by that a woman contestant, held over from Tuesday's show, got to see what her treasure chest contained.

James pretended she had hit a booby prize, but it turned out she won $1,200 worth of goodies.

The show was 18-minutes old before James got around to asking the competing housewives—or homemakers, as he calls them—some questions. Nine questions and answers consumed 2 minutes. Sample question: "What animal is the symbol of the Democratic party?"

A new champion was hailed after the quick question round and, although the show still had 10 minutes to go, James sadly advised her there was no time left to pick a treasure chest. She'll have to be back another day for that ceremony.

The last 10 minutes did have time for three commercials and a little girl who selected after some more time-consuming chit-chat with James—a card from a huge container. This gimmick is aimed at letting the home viewer win money or prizes. Unfortunately, the chosen card directed James to a chest that did not contain the $3,300 jackpot. The viewer, from Milwaukee, Wis., won a dinette set instead. And the little girl also won some prizes for her work.

And that's the show. Say what you will, though, it's handled so cleverly that you can't get sore at anyone on the show. How can you get sore at people who have given us a new art form?

Channel Chips: Gene Rayburn, emcee of "Dough Re Mi," on NBC-TV, forgot to show up on time for his program Wednesday. About 10 minutes after the show started with announcer Roger Tuttle pinch-hitting, Rayburn dashed on-stage unshaven, without a necktie—his shoes unlaced. He explained that he overslept, thinking the program had been pre-empted by the U.N. again. Jack Paar noted that you can always tell when the nation is in a touch-and-go global crisis. "They begin putting more servicemen on the quiz shows," he said. He's right. Whether coincidence or design, the daytime shows have more servicemen contestants nowadays.

The Channel Swin: The National Assn. of Broadcasters says its ban against the portrayal of doctors, dentists and nurses by actors in TV commercials also includes props or sets that imply the speaker is part of the medical profession. Lou Costello will play the part of a misunderstood alcoholic in a fall "Wagon Train" episode on NBC. Danny Dayton, comedian-panelist on CBS-TV's "Keep Talking," will double as assistant producer of "Masquerade Party" when it returns on Aug. 4.

United Press International
Orders for machine tools turned up in June, ending a two-month decline. This spurred optimism in the field, which often is one of the first to mirror an improvement in business in general.

Aluminum Ltd., major Canadian aluminum producer, said it will cut production of the metal another 10 per cent on Aug. 1 to bring production into line with sales. This cutback follows a big slash last January.

Eastern States Petroleum & Chemical Corp. of Houston, a Texas oil refiner, asked the U.S. Court of Appeals to throw out the government's oil import restrictions. The company contends that its quota is too low and that because it brought in more oil than called for in the program the government has refused to buy jet fuel from it.

Business in hotel restaurants has been picking up, according to the government's survey of current business. The index of hotel restaurant sales went to 303 in May, the highest point since May, 1957.

Boots Are Included In The Clothing Of American Women

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Designers plan for us women to live with our boots on come fall and winter. The new footwear styles are full of boots for all occasions— for active sports, for at-home entertaining, even formal opening nights.

Most fabulous boots of all, in a collection rounded up by the Leather Industries of America, is a pair in gold kid. And the patina is real 24-karat. The boots come all the way to the knee, have pointed toes, skinny heels, and a price tag of around $100.

"Go great with one of those short formal, with fur-bordered hem," said Billie Gould, fashion director.

Other formal boots come in soft suedes, in rich purples or blues, and with rhinestone-decorated heels. These and the kid have an elasticized inset at the back for easy pull-on. But there also are boots which lace up the front like the old-fashioned high button snee-

Miss Gould said apparently such pace setters as Herbert Levine, David Evans and Delman were influenced more by the Russian folk dance troupe which recently toured this country, than by all the westerners on television. Some of the boots are direct copies of the Russian Tartar, which doesn't hug the calf.

Both boot top and heel height vary. Some tops reach mid-calf, others go all the way to the knee, still others only go to the ankle. One group of slip-on studees, with an outer finish like shaggy mohair, have curved mid-heel and huge the ankle. These come in gold, bronze, green and yellow tones.

A "boot-shoe" in suede has five jeweled buttons up the front and just enough height to cover the

BRUSSELS — Jack Marks, zoo director of Portland, Ore., after arriving in Brussels with four beavers and getting his first look at four Russian brown bear cubs which he will take in exchange for the beavers:

"The bears look in even better condition than the beavers because they have been resting for two days already. The Russians said they would look after the beavers until I can fix up the exchange with the Soviet Embassy."

vamp.

They're even showing "his" and "hers" boots—boot-shoe height, in fine grain leather and conservative shades of black and brown.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand was played in the Oregon State Pairs and was sent me by Albert Sundberg of Portland. He calls it a study in frustration.

If a heart is opened against four spades South can make all 13 tricks. He simply trumps in dummy; overtakes dummy's queen of spades and draws trumps. Then, since West holds king and one club, a club finesse gives him seven club tricks.

If a trump is opened, South can draw trumps and make 12 tricks. If a diamond is opened and a club returned, or if a club is opened, the best South can do is to get out for down one.

The record of the hand shows that top score went to a player who bid and made exactly four spades! I imagine that he got a heart opening and drew trumps, but compromised by discarding some of dummy's clubs before trying the club finesse.

It is possible that someone did open a club but my guess is that all other spade declarers simply played safe to go down a couple of tricks rather than risk going down a lot should the clubs not be exactly the way they were.

I do not approve of this technique. South should realize that several of the Norths would have played three or four clubs and made the contract so that any minus would have to be a bad score. Therefore, they should have gone all out to make their contract and now worried about how many they might go down.
