Mr. Ira Haskett heard last Thursday his father was sick at Childress. That night he was presented with his first son; next morning he concluded he had better go to Childress, but friends told him the new comer could be announced to kin at Childress by telegram. But no, indeed, he must go to see his father, and he went. Of course the father was all right—and so is Haskett.

Mr. J. M. Myers and wife were in the city yesterday.

The entertainment by Misses Tannehill Tuesday and night is telephoned from all around as an unique success.

E. E. Akers, contractor for building the Hutchison court house, left Tuesday with John Adkisson, Mr. Niece and Mr. Haverly, to begin work.

The city board of equalization is in session, composed of W. S. Sherman, Tom Curry and R. H. McAlpine, Assisted by assessor Ong, and City Secretary Cunningham.

The presumption is, that by this time, in the advancement of civilization, this board knows the supreme importance of taxing vacant lots as high as improved ones. A house on a lot does not make the lot more valuable, but the house makes adjoining lots more valuable. A man who builds a house ought to receive a bonus, if any thing, because he has done some good, but a man who holds lots out of use is doing harm. Whack 'em.

It takes labor and money to build houses, but the lot owner has only to set down and wait for others to come in and go to work to make his lot valuable. Whack 'em.

The single tax would take all that a vacant lot would rent for, but the present law prevents that. We can however value the lot at their actual value and tax that value. If a lot is actually worth $50 assess it at $50, not at $10 as has been done. If you favor any body, favor the man who builds a house.

The excuse that a vacant lot should be taxed little because it brings in no income, is a humbug. If it brings in no income whose fault is it? If the owner wants to make it bring in an income let him put a house on it; if not allow someone else to do it, if it has to be given away. Income is what the tax collector wants.

Don't you believe that vacant lots do not bring incomes. The income is in enhanced value of the lot, made by other people coming in and building. Whack 'em.

Can you dodge your shadow? Neither can you dodge the justice of taxing vacant lots equal with improved ones. Whack 'em.

There is an open secret that may be profitable divulged. It is in regard to the difficulty of women renting residence rooms. That gentlemen roomers are much preferred to women goes without saying. The open secret reason why it is so lies in the fact that women are more obtrusive on the privacy of the family, and are perpetually and persistently a certain quantity. Men roomers come and go, but women never. Said a lady to the reporter: "Why, goodness, I rather board and lodge them than to lodge them only, at the same price. When I board them, they keep out of the kitchen until summoned. When I lodge them, they are usually at the stove before I am up and my John gets the fire well under way—just to warm the coffee, or broil a bit of meat please." Then they must have company during the day, and I must be the company, and"—and on and on she spoke giving dozen other reasons, which the ladies must guess at, and she added "give me men roomers every time—because I am not on the altar of sacrifice voluntarily, and won't be arbitrarily."

You pay for your water, do you? Yes, you mean you pay for part of the water you get, say $1.50 per month for family use; but you do not pay for the ten dollars worth you are using on your shade trees, flower beds, and vegetables, do you. Well, you are robbing the laundry and others for what they do pay for, and you are getting a good deal of something for nothing. Think about it.

Our spring millinery season will close with the end of this week. Until then we will sell flowers, straw braids and trimmed hats at reduced prices.

Smith, Walker & Co.

If you find there is nothing stirring in Amarillo, it is because you have not been to the steam laundry. They are moving there—and quickly too.

When you tax land you tax no man, because no man created the land. But when you tax a house you tax the man because he created the house. Whack 'em.

Said an alderman: "Say, Evening News, to get just taxation to run this town, it seems we can't dodge your single tax!"

No, indeed, just as well try to dodge your shadow. No man on earth has successfully controverted the claims of the single taxer.

Public revenue must be had. If it is got by taxing improvements you discourage improvements. If got by taxing vacant lots instead of improvements you encourage house building and discourage holding lots out of use. Whack 'em.

On Monday Evening July 1st, Mrs. Lorenzo Browning will give a reading in the Presbyterian church. She will tell how she made a trip to the West Indies—traveling 3000 miles, being on board ship three weeks; where she was quarantined; their mode of disinfection, etc. How she visited Cuba and finally made her way to the City of Ponce, on the island of Porto Rico. She will also give a sketch of life on the island, habits of the people, climate, scenery, etc.

A collection will be taken up. The proceeds going to the Ladies Aid Society, who will use it in beautifying the windows of the church. You are cordially invited to be present.

The ladies of the C. P. church will give a sociable, from 5 to 12 o'clock, next Monday at the residence of Mrs. C. M. Hardin.

Our spring millinery season will close with the end of this week. Until then we will sell flowers, straw braids and trimmed hats at reduced prices.

THE ORATORICAL CONTEST.

The following is taken from the report given by the Picayune of the oratorical contest between the four University boys of Texas and Louisiana:

The Texas-Tulane debate was one of which both states may well be proud, and when the speeches were over and the judges had retired, it was a very serious question among the friends of the two contesting parties as to which would get the decision. Texas had made a splendid fight for holding the islands, and had displayed so much of that strong, clear and breezy eloquence and sharp logic and up-to-date business sense of the southwest that, though Tulane people felt a strong conviction that the clear eloquence and fine oratory of their champions would win, they felt better when the decision was announced.

The debaters for Tulane were Ferdinand C. Claiborne and Ralph J. Schwarz, and for Texas Henry S. Bishop and Bennett B. Perkins. Mr. Schwarz is the only one of the three who is not in the law course. Justice Newton G. Blanchard, of the state supreme court, presided.

The judges were Hon. Charles F. Buck, Hon. E. B. Kruttschnitt and A. Brittin, but Mr. Brittin being unable to serve, Mr. R. Buckner was chosen.

In opening the session, Judge Blanchard said that it was not necessary to remind the audience of the importance of the occasion, and that every one comprehended the significance of the debate between representatives of the two great states. They represented the two greatest universities of the south. Tulane and the University of Texas. He spoke eloquently of the heroes of the independence of Texas, of the Alamo and San Jacinto, and of the greatness of the state, with 3,500,000 population. Then he referred to the fame of Louisiana and her achievements, and compared Chalmette with the Alamo and San Jacinto.

He announced that each speaker would have seventeen and one-half minutes, which might be extended by grace to twenty, and that then each would have five minutes to reply.

Mr. Buck, announcing at without consulting, but each man acting independently, they had decided in favor of Tulane 2 to 1.

Ralph J. Schwarz was born in the city of New Orleans Dec. 6, 1880, and moved to Galveston when 3 years old, and graduated from the Ball High School there in 1897. He studied law a year there, and then came here to attend Tulane. He has won the Glendy Burke medal for oratory and debate.

Ferdinand C. Claiborne is a son of Judge L. B. Claiborne, of Pointe Coupee. He received his preliminary education at Poydras Academy at Newroads, attended the State University at Baton Rouge and took a course at Soule's. He entered Tulane law school in 1897. He is an athlete.

Bennett P. Perkins was born Nacogdoches, Tex., in 1879. He lives at Rush at present, and is a senior in the law department of the University of Texas representing the eastern portion of the state.

Henry S. Bishop was born at Miami, Mo., in 1872, and has lived seven years in Texas. He is in the junior law class and represents the Panhandle section of this state.

EXPLANATION OF WEATHER FLAG DISPLAYS.

The display of weather flags indicates the probable weather for the 24 hours from 7 p. m. of the day on which they are displayed to 7 p. m. of the following days. When the weather changes demand it this period is divided into two 12 hours periods ending 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. of the following day.

The white flag alone indicates fair weather with stationary temperature for the entire period.

The white flag with the black triangular or (temperature) flag above indicates fair and warmer weather; with the black flag below, fair and colder weather.

The blue flag alone indicates rain or snow with stationary temperature; with temperature flag above it rain or snow and warmer; with temperature flag below it rain or snow and colder.

The flag half white and half blue alone, indicates local rain or snow and stationary temperature; with temperature flag above, local rain or snow and warmer; with temperature flag below, local rain or snow and colder.

When more than one flag is displayed they are to be read from the top downward, the upper flag for the 12 hours ending 7 a. m. of the following day. Should the temperature flag be displayed between them it is to be read with the flag closer to it. If closer to upper flag it means colder tonight, if closer to lower flag warmer tomorrow.

When the 3 flags are displayed on equal distance apart, the temperature flag at top means warmer for the entire 24 hour period, and at bottom colder for entire 24 hour period.

When the square flags are displayed with the space between them decidedly greater than the space between temperature flag and the one next to it, the temperature flag next is to be read only with the flag next to it and stationary temperature read for the other 12 hours.

The white flag with black center during winter season indicates a cold wave; during the late spring and early fall it is used to indicate frost.

Cards with key to interpretation of displays can be received by calling at Weather Bureau office.

Responsible parties can secure the forecast daily, stamped on cardboard, and holder for same, by applying to the observer, provided these are to be displayed in a conspicuous place easily accessible to the general public.

It is the purpose of the Bureau to serve the public and measures suggested with that end in view will be very gladly received and if practicable will be adopted.

Any parties desiring any information at our command are always heartily welcome. JAS. F. ATHERSTON, Amarillo, Tex. Observer in charge.

Rev. Hatcher said: A great campmeeting will be conducted by Rev. J. M. Gaddy at Channing, beginning on the 28th inst. The Channing people are making extensive arrangements, and hope to have many of their Amarillo friends to attend.

CONSTITUTIONAL LIBERTY.

Justice Brown says: "There are certain principles of natural justice inherent in the Anglo-Saxon character which need no expressions in constitutions or statutes to give them effect or to secure dependencies against legislation manifestly hostile to their real interests."

If "There are certain principles of natural justice inherent in the Anglo-Saxon character which need no expression in constitutions or statutes to give them effect or to secure dependencies against legislation manifestly hostile to their real interests," why were the people of revolutionary days unwilling to rely upon that "natural justice?" If there is no danger in "an unrestrained possession of power on the part of congress" why were our forefathers so careful to restrain that power? Has human nature so changed as to make unnecessary now the constitutional limitations which were thought necessary a century ago.

Jefferson was a firm believer in the doctrine which led to the adoption of the bill of rights.

"By a declaration of rights I mean one which shall stipulate freedom of religion, freedom of the press, freedom of commerce against monopolies, trial by juries in all cases, no suspension of the habeas corpus, no standing armies. These are fetters against doing evil which no honest government should decline."

Every state has adopted a constitution placing restrictions upon the legislative branch as well as upon the other branches of the government. The state of Ohio has a constitution and a bill of rights; how can Senator Hanna and President McKinley favor a constitution and a bill of rights for Ohio and then declare that the people of Porto Rico need no such protection? If the farmers, laborers, and business men of Ohio are not willing to trust the wisdom and justice of an unrestrained state legislature, by what process of reasoning do they reach the conclusion that the people of Porto Rico can entrust their rights to the protection of an unrestrained congress?

The position taken by Judge Brown would be ludicrous if it were not so serious. It is strange that his language is not challenged by republicans. Two republican judges out of six dissented from this position; have the republican newspapers less independence than the judges? Have the rank and file of the republican party, less independence of thought and action than the justices who hold their commissions from republican presidents? Unless the people are wholly absorbed in money-making and entirely indifferent to that constitutional liberty so highly prized and so dearly bought by our ancestors there will be so emphatic a protest against the imperialistic utterances of the court that no body of officials on the bench or elsewhere will soon again disregard the spirit of American institution.
