Williams gains GOP nod; Richards, Mattox in runoff

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Clayton Williams got both his wishes.

He's the Republican gubernatorial nominee, and the bloody Democratic battle continues with state Treasurer Ann Richards and Attorney General Jim Mattox clashing in an April 10 runoff.

Williams, a millionaire West Texas oilman and rancher who spent more than $8 million on the race, smashed his GOP rivals to claim more than 60 percent of Tuesday's vote and the party's outright nomination.

"It's a very humbling experience. I'm a little bit in awe of that many people who said, 'Williams, you're the guy.' But I look forward to the battle and I look forward to being governor," he said.

With 79 percent of the vote counted, Williams had received 62 percent, or 430,221 votes, to easily outdistance second-place finisher Kent Hance's 108,222, 15 percent. Even further back were Dallas lawyer Tom Luce and former Secretary of State Jack Rains of Houston.

Before the polls opened, Williams said he hoped to avoid a runoff so he could relax and "have some fun watching each of the Democrats murdering on each other."

Tuesday night, he added, "This has been a spirited primary and at times things have gotten a little testy, although looking at the Democrats' mess makes us look like a bunch of sissies."

Ms. Richards and Mattox ran neck-and-neck in the brutal Democratic race, sinking the comeback hopes of former Gov. Mark White.

With 84 percent of Democratic precincts reporting, Ms. Richards had 483,940 votes, 40 percent, to Mattox's 440,108, or 36 percent. White received 234,386, or 19 percent.

Ms. Richards, known for her caustic keynote speech at the 1988 Democratic National Convention in which she said then-Vice President Bush was "born with a silver foot in his mouth," easily topped opinion polls after entering the race last June.

But she stumbled after finding herself in a race where mudslinging was the mainstay. Ms. Richards' rivals lashed out at her for refusing to say whether she had ever used illegal drugs; she accused them of profiteering from public service.

She questioned how White could afford to move into a $1.3 million Houston estate after leaving the governor's mansion in 1987. She attacked Mattox for accepting $200,000 in contributions from Danny Faulkner, whose trial on charges of heading a scheme that cost lending institutions $500 million ended in a hung jury.

And in a preview of things to come, both Ms. Richards and Mattox were at one another's throats moments after White conceded Tuesday night.

"I hope Ann gets her consultants under control. She ran some pretty harsh ads against Mark and myself and I hope it stops because I intend to discuss the issues," Mattox said.

Ms. Richards again challenged Mattox to follow her lead and make public his income tax returns.

"It's going to be a very difficult 28 days," she said. "We're going to talk in these next 28 days about who has made their income tax public. We're going to talk about who truly believes in ethics in public office."

A somber White, governor from 1983 to 1987, said the campaign's acrimony caught him off guard.

"We came into this campaign for it to be a campaign about the issues, and I think something happened along the way. I'm sorry we haven't been able to be as successful as we had hoped," he said.

In the Republican race, no challenger could match Williams' bankroll.

After initially pledging to spend $3 million from his own pocket, he wound up spending some $6 million in personal funds on a nearly flawless campaign that included television commercials that analysts called some of the best ever.

"The Democrats are in for the contest of their life in November," Luce said. "He's a superb nominee for our party."

Williams said the results of the Democratic primary "shows that the Democratic party continues to move farther to the left" and gives him a chance to pick up some White supporters.

City to put sales tax hike proposal on May 5 ballot

By BETH MILLER
Staff Writer

Pampa City Commission passed the first reading of an ordinance Tuesday evening to put the proposed one-half of 1 percent sales tax for economic development on the May 5 ballot.

City Attorney Don Lane told commissioners that an ordinance was necessary to put the issue before the people on a ballot. A special meeting has been called for 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 20, at the Green Room of the M.K. Brown Auditorium to consider the second reading of the ordinance and to consider other items.

Jim Morris, president of the Pampa Area Chamber of Commerce, spoke briefly at the Tuesday meeting, offering his thanks to the commission.

"I appreciate the work on this ordinance," Morris said. "We feel this would be the fairest way to raise funds for this effort (economic development)."

A fact sheet, available at City Hall about the proposed sales tax, states that the proposition is being placed on the ballot now because legislation enabling a 1/2 cent sales tax for economic development was passed by the Legislature in 1989 and signed into law by the governor on June 14.

The city of Pampa joins cities across the state in attempting to gain voter approval for a means to fund its economic and industrial development efforts. Local chamber of commerce officials requested the City Commission to place the issue before the voters.

State law requires that a majority of the voters of a municipality approve the additional 1/2 cent sales tax for economic development before it may take effect.

Revenue received from the tax, if approved, will be earmarked to create jobs and stimulate business development and expansion. The fact sheet lists "specifics" of what the revenue will be used for. No more than 10 percent of the funds can be used for promotional purposes.

The funds will be controlled by the City Commission, which will be required by state law to form an Economic Development Corp. and appoint a five-member board of directors.

The proposition will read as follows on the ballot:

"The adoption of an additional 1/2 of 1% sales and use tax within the City to be used for economic and industrial development purposes only." Voters will cast ballots for or against the proposition.

If passed by voters on May 5, the sales tax would become effective in October, and an estimated revenue of $500,000 per year would be generated.

City Manager Glen Hackler said residents with additional questions are welcome to contact his office.

In related business, commissioners unanimously authorized the mayor to execute an order of election for the general election on May 5. Two commissioner seats, those occupied by Jerry Wilson and Gary Sutherland, are up for election.

Absentee voting for the election will be during business weekday hours from April 16 to May 1 at the office of the city secretary at City Hall, 200 W. Foster.

Commissioners also appointed the following election judges for May 5: Ward 1, Rocky Lucas, See CITY, Page 2

Prestidge narrowly edges out Roberts in J.P. race

By BETH MILLER
Staff Writer

Gray County voters turned out about a third of its registered voters to participate in the Tuesday primary with 32 percent of the 13,749 registered casting ballots.

In the only contested race at the county level, challenger Margie Prestidge unofficially defeated Wayne Roberts, the incumbent to the Justice of the Peace Precinct 2 race by seven votes. The 183-176 tally is unofficial, and votes will be canvassed.

Roberts said Tuesday evening he will file today with Democratic Party Chairman John Warner to have a recount of the three precincts and the absentee votes cast in the justice of the peace race.

Precincts 2, 10 and 13 voted in the contested justice of the peace race. In Precinct 2, Prestidge received 62 votes and Roberts received 49. In Precinct 10, Prestidge received 40 votes to Roberts' 39. In Precinct 13, Prestidge received 53 votes and Roberts received 57 votes. And in absentee balloting, Prestidge received 28 votes to Roberts' 31 votes.

Following the news of the unofficial vote, Prestidge said, "I feel great, I'm dumbfounded. I expected a close race ... I'd rather have won by a landslide."

After hearing the results, Prestidge, who has 15 years of experience as a justice of the peace, left the courthouse with her daughter-in-law, Gerri, and grandson, Shawn, to spread the news to relatives and friends.

Roberts said, "I will be asking for a recount. I feel like it's close enough I have to do this to see if there is an error."

"I expected it to be a close race, but I expected to come out on top." Roberts, who is completing his first term of office, also said he was concerned that some of the ballots might not have been counted because in Precinct 2 there were 115 voters, yet only 111 were counted as casting votes in the justice of the peace race. In Precinct 10, there were 80 voters, but only 79 counted as casting votes in the contested race. And in Precinct 13 there were 117 voters, and 110 were shown as casting votes in the justice of the peace race.

Roberts said the possible 12 other votes could make the difference in the outcome. It is possible, too, he said, that those 12 people chose not to vote on the justice of the peace race.

U.S. Representative 13th District

In another heavily contested race at the national level, Gray County Republican voters decided 2-to-1 in favor of Dick Waterfield of Canadian for the party's nominee for U.S. Representative of the 13th District. Waterfield received 1,418 votes in Gray County compared to former Congressman Bob Price's 706 votes. Democratic incumbent Bill Sarpalus received 1,342 votes.

U.S. Senator

Gray County Democrats chose Hugh Parmer for U.S. Senator with 894 votes compared to Harley Schlanger's 298 votes.

Incumbent Republican Phil Gramm received 2,239 votes.

Governor

Republican voters in Gray County overwhelmingly went with Clayton Williams for the governor's position with 1,798 votes. Other candidates were as follows: Kent Hance, 454; Jack Rains, 247; Tom Luce, 114; W.N. Otwell, 10; Royce X. Owens, 2; and Ed Cude, 2.

Democratic voters in the county chose Jim Mattox by 990 votes. Other candidates placed as follows: Ann W. Richards, 421; Mark White, 245; Earl Holmes, 35; Theresa Hearn-Haynes, 23; Stanley Adams, 23; and Ray Rachal, 7.

Lieutenant Governor

Democratic candidate Bob Bullock received 1,417 votes for lieutenant governor. Republican candidate Rob Mosbacher received 1,848 votes.

Attorney General

Republicans in the county chose

J.E. "Buster" Brown by an overwhelming vote of 1,451 in the attorney general race. Other candidates were as follows: Pat Hill, 478; Bobby Steelhammer, 159; and H.Tex Lezar, 131.

Area voters nearly unanimous in choices for statewide offices

By DEE DEE LARAMORE
News Editor

Voters in area counties were almost unanimous in their choice of candidates in contested races for major state offices following Tuesday's primary elections.

Hemphill, Roberts, Carson and Wheeler counties Democrats without exception cast the majority of their votes for Hugh Parmer for U.S. Senator; Jim Mattox, governor; John Odam, attorney general; Tom Bowden, state treasurer; Jim Hightower, commissioner of agriculture; Robert Krueger, railroad commissioner; Gene Kelly, Place 1 Supreme Court justice; Ross Sears, Place 2 Supreme Court justice; and Morris L. Overstreet, Place 1 judge - Court of Criminal Appeals.

Democrats from the four counties divided on their choice for the unexpired term of Place 4 judge - Court of Criminal Appeals, sought by Charles F. Baird and Herb Hancock. Baird carried the vote in all the counties but Roberts, where the two candidates tied with 78 votes each.

Roberts County also differed from the other three in their choice for Place 3 judge - Court of Criminal Appeals. In Roberts County, Pat Barber pulled ahead by a slight margin, while Bill White led the voting in the three other counties.

In the Republican primary, District 88 State Rep. Dick Waterfield led the voting in all four counties for his U.S. representative bid. Clayton Williams was the unanimous choice for governor.

All four counties also recorded the highest votes in the following races: J.E. "Buster" Brown, attorney general; Warren G. Harding Jr., state comptroller; Kay Bailey Hutchison, state treasurer; Rick Perry, commissioner of agriculture; Wes Gilbreath, commissioner of the General Land Office; Beau Boulter, railroad commissioner; Tom Phillips, chief justice, Supreme Court; and Charles Ben Howell, Place 2 justice - Supreme Court.

Hemphill County Republicans voted for John Cornyn over George Barbary for Place 1 justice - Supreme Court. However, Barbary carried the other three counties. And all three picked Joseph A. Devany for Place 1 judge - Court of Criminal Appeals, with the exception of Roberts County, where Allen C. Isbell led the voting.

Guy Hazlett faced no opposition in the Democratic primary for the state representative District 88 position now held by Waterfield, but Hazlett will be up against Republican David Swinford in the November elections. Jean Martindale at present has no opposition in his bid for 31st District judge.

Democrats in all four counties also voted in favor of the three propositions on this year's ballot.

ROBERTS COUNTY

At the local level, Precinct 2 County Commissioner Ronnie Gill held his seat on the Roberts County Commissioners' Court, defeating J. Frank Heare 56 to 28. Gill has no Republican opponent.

County Judge Vernon H. Cook, District/County Clerk Jackie Jackson, County Treasurer Sarah E. Gill and Precinct 4 County Commissioner Donald Jenkins all ran unopposed in the Democratic primaries. And Republican Fanny Greenhouse was unopposed in her bid for justice of the peace.

CARSON COUNTY

Charles "Kevin" Howell led the voting in the Republican primary for Carson County Commissioner Precinct 4, gaining 129 votes to opponent Bob Lemke's 36.

Howell will be up against Tracy Kotara in November. Kotara won 265 votes to gain the Democratic bid, with opponent Don Elledge receiving 125.

Republican Sherry Jackson, who had no primary opposition, and Phyllis Tyler, Democrat, will vie for Precinct 1 justice of the peace. Tyler had 660 votes to gain the race over opponents Kim Kuehler Weller (147 votes) and Darrell Forbes (156 votes).

Max Wade faces no opposition for the Precinct 5 justice of peace position following the primary election. He gained 134 votes to opponent Donna Burton's 97.

Other unopposed candidates in Carson County include J. Robert Roselius, county judge; Peggy Butler, county treasurer; and Precinct 6 Justice of Peace Sharon Harper.

HEMPHILL COUNTY

Mary Ann Lloyd, Republican, and Davene Hendershot, Democrat, will face each other in the district/county clerk race. Hendershot presently holds the position.

Republican Claudette Hand's opponent for county treasurer will be Stephanie Scroggins Hebert. Eugene Thompson, Republican, and Democrat Bob Gober are both seeking the county judge seat.

Precinct 4 county commissioner will be decided

County Judge, Jim Osborne, 1,404; County Clerk, Wanda Carter, 1,567; County Treasurer, Elaine Cooper, 1,416; Precinct 2 County Commissioner, Jim Greene, 304; Precinct 4 Justice of the Peace, R.C. Parker, 423 votes.

Uncontested races in the Republican primary were as follows: 31st District Judge, Jean Martindale, 1,880; County Judge, Carl Kennedy, 2,081; District Clerk, Vickie Walls, 2,086; County Clerk, Gay Vanderburg Kuempel, 1,884; County Treasurer, Scott B. Hahn, 1,955; County Surveyor, V. Lynn Bezner, 1,889; Precinct 1 Justice of the Peace, Bob Muns, 805; Precinct 2 County Commissioner, M.W. "Bill" Home, 261; Precinct 2 Justice of the Peace, Nell M. Bailey, 231; Precinct 4 County Commissioner, Ted Simmons, 799; Precinct 4 Justice of the Peace, Creed Lamb, 725.

Three propositions that appeared on the Democratic ballot all passed in Gray County:

Proposition 1: The legislature and the Supreme Court should not limit the right of citizens to demand a trial by jury of their peers in either civil or criminal cases. In Gray County, 1,100 voted yes and 551 voted no.

Proposition 2: The elected legislature, not an appointed federal judge, should act to maintain Texans' right to nominate and elect judges instead of creating an appointed judiciary. The legislative plan should include the nomination and election of urban district judges from districts with smaller populations (similar to the population of existing judicial districts in rural areas). In Gray County, 1,386 voted yes and 366 voted no.

Proposition 3: The legislature should adopt comprehensive insurance reform legislation to eliminate price fixing, cause an immediate rollback of insurance rates, and require insurance companies to engage in good faith and fair dealing with policyholders. In Gray County, 1,507 voted yes and 158 voted no.

City

The current cable franchise with Sammons Communications expires July 13, 1991. Residents have been complaining about the service for months and Hackler said complaints about cable television generate more calls to City Hall than any other issue.

• Unanimously authorized the city manager to execute an agreement with the golf professional.

• Unanimously approved the first reading of an ordinance amending the city's tow truck ordinance. The city's ordinance conflicts with state law regarding fees for a tow truck service and storage facility. The amendment provides a guide to fees which will always comply with state law and/or regulations, Hackler said.

• Unanimously approved the first reading of an ordinance revising a section of the code on transporting butane or liquefied petroleum gases within the city limits. In addition to designated streets and avenues already in the ordinance, the amendment adds the allowance for transporting gas on South Cuyler from Brown Street to Albert Street south and on South Barnes Street from Albert Street south to Loop 2735.

• Unanimously awarded a bid from O.M. Scotts for turf fertilizer with two percent iron for Hidden Hills Golf Course. The bid of $14,685.44 was the lowest responsive bid, Hackler said. The lowest bid, by Helena Co., for $11,695.70 was not responsive, Hackler said, because the company would not provide a sample of the fertilizer as the specifications required.

• Unanimously approved a resolution supporting the Amarillo International Airport and the city of Amarillo in its fight against the Department of Energy on proposed rules restricting airspace of the airport.

between Republican A. C. Taylor and Robert "Bob" Forest, Democrat.

All of these candidates ran unopposed in the primary elections.

Frankie Hill faces no opposition for justice of the peace, nor does Don Thomason, who is seeking Precinct 2's county commissioner post.

WHEELER COUNTY

Republican Steve Emmert and Democrat Bobby C. Hill will be on the November ballot for the unexpired term of county attorney. Hill defeated opponent Guy Hardin by 847 to 662 to gain the GOP nod.

Precinct 2 county commissioner Democrat primary winner was Bill Atherton, with 194 votes. Totals for his opponents were K.D. Ford, 78; Arnold T. Jones, 92; and Tommy Puryear, 107. Atherton is unopposed in the general election.

Other winners in the Democratic primary included the following: Herbert Stacy, Precinct 2 justice of peace, with 431 votes to opponent Lee Bond's 257 votes; and incumbent Margaret Dorman, county clerk, who defeated opponent Jimmy Hill 847 to 720.

Those who were unopposed in the Democratic primary were Boyd Hiltbrunner, Precinct 4 county commissioner; Jerrrie Moore, county treasurer; Wendell Morgan, county judge; Doyle Ramsey, Precinct 1 justice of peace; and Paul Topper, district clerk.

While overall votes cast were not available for all four counties, Carson County reported a total of 1,729 ballots - 41 percent of the county's registered voters. Hemphill County reported 966 voters - 40 percent of the estimated 2,400 registered voters in the county.

U.S. senator candidates already trading jobs after primary wins

By MICHELLE MITTELSTADT
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — The general election is eight months away, but U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm and his November opponent, state Sen. Hugh Parmer, were already trading jobs a few hours after the polls had closed in Tuesday's primary.

Parmer, 50, a Fort Worth attorney, with 98 percent of the vote counted, took 76 percent of the vote to glide by his Democratic primary opponent, Lyndon LaRouche sympathizer Harley Schlanger of Houston.

During a joint and impromptu televised appearance, Parmer accused Gramm of softpedaling the war on drugs and downplaying his abortion stance.

"Trying to tell someone I am soft on the war on drugs is going to be very, very hard to say," Gramm told Parmer, accusing him of making a "complete misstatement about my record."

Gramm, 47, refused Parmer's challenge to debate in Texas' seven largest cities, saying the public was already familiar with his stance.

Texas GOP Chairman Fred Meyer said the party expects the well-financed College Station senator to get between 62 percent and 65 percent of the vote in November.

In the state's tightest congressional primary, a state lawmaker is headed to a runoff with one of two former Waco mayors in the GOP contest to represent District 11.

In final, unofficial totals, Temple state Rep. Hugh Shine had edged McLennan County prosecutor and former Mayor David Sibley. Shine had 42 percent, or 11,646 votes, to advance to a runoff with either former Waco mayor Jim Mathis, who had 29 percent of the vote at 8,163 votes. Sibley trailed Mathis by just 196 votes, garnering 7,969 votes, also 29 percent.

The winner of the April 10 runoff will face the Democrats' sole candidate, state Sen. Chet Edwards, for the seat left open by the retirement of Rep. Marvin Leath, D-Waco.

In other balloting Tuesday, two incumbent congressmen easily held off primary challenges. There were no primary contests in 10 other races to be decided in November, when a dozen incumbent congressmen will run unopposed.

Republicans want to recoup two congressional seats lost in 1988, pick up Leath's seat and knock off veteran Reps. Jack Brooks, Jim Chapman and John Bryant.

Nineteen of the state's 27 congressional seats are currently held by Democrats.

The Democrats said their strategy is to protect the most vulnerable incumbents and retain the open seat in their column.

In the 9th District, Brooks, a Beaumont Democrat, captured an almost three-to-one victory over state appeals court Judge Jack Brookshire, also of Beaumont. In final, unofficial totals, Brooks had 72 percent of the vote to Brookshire's 28 percent.

The GOP nomination for the seat will be decided in April when Beaumont Mayor Maury Meyers meets Steve Stockman of Houston in a runoff. In final, unofficial totals, Meyers polled 44 percent to Stockman's 41 percent. Steve Clifford of Friendswood finished third with 15 percent of the vote.

Veteran 10th District Rep. J.J. "Jake" Pickle, D-Austin, never trailed as he beat challengers John Longworth and Robin Mills, both of Austin. With 99 percent of precincts reporting, Pickle had 89 percent to 6 percent for Mills and 5 percent for Longworth.

In GOP balloting, David Beilharz of Leander narrowly defeated Matt Harnest of Austin. In final, unofficial totals, Beilharz had 53 percent, or 15,559 votes, to Harnest's 47 percent, or 13,866 votes.

State Rep. Dick Waterfield of Canadian will challenge District 13 first-term Rep. Bill Sarpaluis, D-Amarillo, in November. Waterfield, who was urged to run by Gramm and President Bush, easily defeated Bob Price of Pampa, winning 70 percent of the vote cast to Price's 30 percent, with 99 percent of the vote counted.

And Democrat John Caton will challenge District 26 Rep. Dick Arme, R-Copper Canyon in November. Caton, of Egleess, outpolled Craig Holtzclaw of Arlington 65 percent to 35 percent with only one precinct left to report.

The 10 November races in which there were no primary contests are:

— 1st District: Rep. Jim Chapman, D-Sulphur Springs, vs. Hampton Hodges, R-Paris.

— 5th District: Rep. John Bryant, D-Dallas, vs. Jerry Rucker, R-Dallas.

— 6th District: Rep. Joe Barton, R-Ennis, vs. John Welch, D-Waxahachie.

— 12th District: Rep. Pete Geren, D-Fort Worth, vs. Mike McGinn, R-Bedford.

— 14th District: Rep. Greg Laughlin, D-West Columbia, vs. Joe Dial, R-Victoria.

— 21st District: Rep. Lamar Smith, R-San Antonio, vs. Kirby Roberts, D-Kingsland.

— 22th District: Rep. Tom DeLay, R-Sugar Land, vs. Bruce Director, Libertarian, Houston.

— 23rd District: Rep. Albert Bostamante, D-San Antonio, vs. Jerome "Jerry" Gonzalez, R-Pleasanton.

— 25th District: Rep. Michael Andrews, D-Houston, vs. Beverly Spencer, R-Houston.

The 12 incumbents facing no general or primary election opposition are: Rep. Steve Bartlett, R-Dallas, 3rd District; Rep. Ralph Hall, D-Rockwall, 4th District; Rep. Bill Archer, R-Houston, 7th District; Rep. Jack Fields, R-Humble, 8th District; Rep. Kika de la Garza, D-Mission, 15th District; Rep. Ron Coleman, D-El Paso, 16th District; Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, 17th District; Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, 18th District; Rep. Larry Combest, R-Lubbock, 19th District; Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-San Antonio, 20th District; Rep. Martin Frost, D-Dallas, 24th District; and Rep. Solomon Ortiz, D-Corpus Christi, 27th District.

Soviet Parliament to hold emergency session on presidential election

By MARK J. PORUBCANSKY
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Parliament today narrowly agreed to conduct its own emergency election for the new, powerful presidency, after a respected scholar warned that a nationwide popular campaign would lead to civil war.

Mikhail S. Gorbachev is expected to easily win election in balloting that appeared likely to take place in the Kremlin's Palace of Congresses tonight.

The vote to hold the emergency election was the closest Gorbachev has faced from the more than 2,000 members of the Congress of People's Deputies. He needed 1,497 votes, or two-thirds of all of the Congress' 2,246 deputies.

The final vote was 1,542-368 with 76 deputies abstaining.

It came shortly after an appeal from Leningrad historian Dmitri Likhachev, considered by many the dean of Soviet culture, who warned that the country was facing civil war if it had to go through its first nationwide presidential election now.

"I remember the revolution of February (1917) very well, and I know where emotions can lead," Likhachev, 84, told the deputies.

"Understand our conditions," he added. "Direct election of the president will lead to civil war."

Likhachev also warned that a proposal to force Gorbachev to resign his chairmanship of the Communist Party if elected president would pit the party against the state. He said that also could lead to civil war.

Sympathetic deputies broke into applause at the end of his statement.

On Tuesday, Gorbachev pushed a bill through the Congress of People's Deputies that gives the president the power to propose legislation, negotiate treaties, veto legislation and decisions of the Council of Ministers, appoint a Cabinet, declare war if the country is attacked and, under certain conditions, impose presidential rule.

Gorbachev has said a strong presidency is needed to hold together a system threatened by economic disarray, ethnic troubles and secessionist movements. The presidency had been a largely ceremonial post, with real power being wielded by the Communist Party.

was another step toward shifting power away from the Communist Party toward the government. Some have speculated that Gorbachev eventually will step down from his post as party leader to concentrate on the presidency.

The Congress gave Gorbachev a 1,817-133 victory to establish the strengthened presidential post and voted 1,771 to 164 for a bill striking the Communist Party's leading role from the constitution, legalizing some forms of private property and enumerating the powers of the new presidency.

Gorbachev picked up votes for his proposals by offering a compromise on some of the most controversial presidential powers.

He gave up the right to appeal a veto override and promised that any bid to impose a state of emergency would be preceded by an official warning and prior approval of local authorities.

The consensus in the Congress of People's Deputies was that there was no alternative but to eventually choose Gorbachev for the new presidency.

But the man who has overseen the dismantling of the authoritarian Soviet state faced considerable resistance from deputies who complained that he ran roughshod over the Congress rule book Tuesday to establish the presidency and to create a multiparty system.

Some deputies had said they preferred that the Soviet Union's first chief executive be elected in a nationwide popular vote, which under Gorbachev's plan would occur for subsequent five-year terms.

If he had failed to get an immediate vote at the Congress, Gorbachev would have been forced to go before Soviet voters to keep his job.

There is little opposition to Gorbachev's candidacy in the Congress, which despite being chosen in partially contested elections last year is top heavy with loyal Communists.

But a popular national election would be less certain for Gorbachev because of Soviets' frustration with Gorbachev's lack of progress in dealing with the country's dire economic problems.

Given a chance by Gorbachev to vote in contested elections for the Congress and local or republic councils, the people have defeated many top party and government officials.

Before today's session, one radical deputy said Gorbachev would win the presidency no matter what course the debate takes.

"I think there is no alternative to Gorbachev," said Vitaly Korotich, the editor of Ogonyok magazine.

Shuttle Atlantis back in Florida

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Space shuttle Atlantis received a warm welcome home after arriving atop a modified Boeing 747 at Kennedy Space Center, the final stop on a coast-to-coast trip that was interrupted by bad weather.

"After several delays, it's good to have the bird back in the nest again," said NASA spokesman Bruce Buckingham.

The jet touched down Tuesday near where Atlantis lifted off 13 days earlier on a secret mission to put a $500 million spy in orbit.

Before landing, the jet flew about 5,000 feet over the beaches south of Kennedy so spectators could see the shuttle riding piggy-back on the plane.

Atlantis blasted off Feb. 28 after five delays, all but one attributed to bad weather. Its trip back from Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., to Kennedy also was plagued by uncooperative weather.

Rain can damage the shuttle's thermal tiles.

The shuttle and jet completed the last leg of the trip home by way of Columbus Air Force Base, Miss., where the craft arrived Tuesday.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. Only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government, and that men have the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property for themselves and others.

Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is, thus, consistent with the coveting commandment.

Opinion

Let them come live with their families

Sometimes you need to make it personal to understand a big story. To many Americans, the plight of Vietnamese refugees in detention centers in Hong Kong, who are about to be "repatriated" back to Vietnam, is sad but a little distant. To California resident Khoan Van Dinh, of Santa Ana, it's very personal. One of them is his nephew, Bong Van Dinh, living now in a detention center with his wife and two small daughters.

That fact spotlights just how absurd the whole controversy is, and how easily the United States government could resolve it. More than 40,000 refugees from Vietnam have fled to Hong Kong in recent years. That island is one of the few places in the world that can claim with some justification to be already too overcrowded to handle that many new residents. But no other country has stepped up to allow the refugees in.

So the British government has decided to classify those who fled, using the artificial line between "political" refugees fleeing outright persecution, and "economic" refugees looking for a chance at a better way of life. Those who can't offer hard proof of political persecution involving imminent danger to their lives will be classified as economic refugees and "repatriated" back to Vietnam.

The distinction is invidious and virtually invisible. Vietnam is economically depressed because of the government's foolish and destructive policies. There is no easily discernible line between political and economic persecution.

The absurdity of the situation is further highlighted by Khoan Van Dinh's concern for his nephew's family. "I want to help them," he says. "I don't want them to suffer. They can live with me." The Dinh's aren't asking for a handout or for aid. They just want the opportunity to help their own family. A lot of Vietnamese-Americans in America have relatives in Hong Kong and are willing to help them.

Why can't the relatives just come over here? Two governments—the British and the U.S.—stand in the way. The U.S. government also makes the invidious distinction between political and economic refugees, and won't allow more Vietnamese refugees in. We have quotas, you know.

It shouldn't be impossible to resolve at least some aspects of this situation in a humanitarian way. For starters, refugees in Hong Kong, of whatever stripe, who have relatives in the United States who express willingness to help them should be allowed to come here immediately. Second, those who vow not to apply for welfare or any government (i.e., taxpayer) aid for a reasonable period after their arrival (five years?) should be allowed to come even if they don't have relatives.

For the most part, Vietnamese immigrants to the United States have been hardworking, diligent and industrious—definitely assets rather than liabilities. Most of those languishing in Hong Kong would be assets, too. Sending them back to Vietnam when they could be helping to build a stronger, more competitive United States is not only cruel, it's foolish.

The law is for our protection

WASHINGTON—This is the dire scenario: A law-abiding American citizen is peacefully asleep in his own bed in his own home. Crash! Soviet police have just battered down the front door. They search his house for evidence that the citizen has violated Soviet law.

The outraged homeowner raises an outcry, but to no avail. The Soviet cops explain that they are doing in the United States only what the Supreme Court has authorized U.S. officers to do abroad. What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

The scenario is phony. Civil libertarians have missed two key factors in the case decided by the Supreme Court on Feb. 28. One element is factual; the other is constitutional.

Take the facts first. In January 1986, Mexican police, acting at the request of our Drug Enforcement Agency, arrested Rene Martin Verdugo-Urquidez in Mexico and turned him over to a Border Patrol station in Calexico, Calif. Walter White, the assistant special agent in charge of the DEA office in Mexico City, then set in motion the chain of events that led to the high court's decision. White wanted to search the suspect's residences in Mexicali and San Felipe.

Note what Chief Justice William Rehnquist said in the majority opinion: "After several attempts to reach high-ranking Mexican officials, White eventually contacted the director-general of the Mexican Judicial Police (MFJP), who authorized the searches and promised the cooperation of Mexican authorities. Thereafter, DEA agents working in concert with officers of the MFJP searched respondent's properties and seized certain documents. In particular, the search of the Mexicali residence uncovered a tally sheet, which the government believes reflects the quantities of marijuana smuggled by Verdugo-Urquidez into the United States."

The point is that the search in Mexico clearly was authorized under Mexican law. It was undertaken with the specific approval and cooperation of Mexican officials. The Washington Post wonders fearfully what the reaction would be if Mexican, French or Korean police were allowed to search American homes without demonstrating probable cause. Rehnquist's opinion makes it clear that the court has sanctioned nothing of the kind.

Critics of the court's ruling also have gone astray on the constitutional issue. The Fourth Amendment protects the right of the people to be secure from unreasonable searches and seizures. It requires that warrants be issued only after "probable cause" has been established to the satisfaction of an American magistrate.

But to whom does the amendment apply? As Rehnquist noted, the amendment goes to the right of "the people." Who are "the people"? That is the crux of the matter. The Constitution makes meticulous use of the noun. The preamble begins, "We the people." Members of the House are to be chosen "by the people of the several states." The First Amendment protects the right of "the people" peaceably to assemble. The Second Amendment secures the right of "the people," to keep and bear arms. The Ninth and 10th Amendments also refer to "the people."

In other provisions of the Constitution we find "persons" or "citizens." Five members of the court agreed that for Fourth Amendment purposes, "the people" are those who are part of the national community or who have developed sufficient connection with the United States to be considered part of that community.

On this reasoning, a Mexican citizen is no part of "the people" whose rights are made secure by the Fourth Amendment. Neither is the amendment's warrant requirement applicable, and for the best of all reasons: A warrant from a U.S. magistrate carries no weight whatever in Mexico.

Since the arrest in January 1986, Verdugo-Urquidez has been convicted in a separate prosecution for his involvement in the kidnapping and torture murder of DEA Special Agent Enrique Camarena Salazar. The smuggling case just decided turns on the admissibility of the evidence seized in Mexico.

My own feeling is that of course the evidence should be admitted. If the court's decision paves the way for using evidence seized in Panama in the prosecution of Manuel Noriega, so much the better. Foreign nationals who brazenly violate U.S. law in their own countries cannot wrap themselves in our Fourth Amendment. The amendment isn't for their protection. It's for ours.

Today in history

By The Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, March 14, the 73rd day of 1990. There are 292 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On March 14, 1794, Eli Whitney received a patent for his cotton gin, an invention that revolutionized America's cotton industry.

On this date:
In 1743, the first recorded town meeting in America was held, at Faneuil Hall in Boston.

In 1879, physicist Albert Einstein was born in Ulm, Germany.

In 1883, German political philosopher Karl Marx died in London.

In 1900, Congress ratified the Gold Standard Act.

In 1923, President Harding became the first chief executive to file an income tax report.

In 1939, the republic of Czechoslovakia was dissolved, opening the way for Nazi occupation.

In 1964, a jury in Dallas found Jack Ruby guilty of murdering Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin of President Kennedy.

When repairmen can't read

If the plumber who comes to your house to fix your plumbing botches the job, there may be an explanation.

If the electrician who comes to your house to repair some appliance can't, there may be an explanation.

Modern sophisticated plumbing fixtures come from the factory with detailed diagrams and instructions for installations and repair.

Modern sophisticated electrical appliances are delivered with pamphlets describing trouble-shooting procedures.

But none of this information is any help at all if the plumber and/or electrician cannot read.

Illiteracy in the workplace becomes an increasing problem as construction components become more complex.

There is a pressure-controlled mixing valve for your shower that effectively prevents you from being scalded by sudden fluctuations in household water pressure. But I challenge even the most experienced plumber properly to assemble those components if he is unable to read the factory-included instructions.

In the Gomer Pyle image, yesterday's shade-tree auto mechanic could fix almost anything on a car with screwdriver, pliers and an adjustable wrench.

Today's auto repairman will need highly sophisticated tools that are electronic, metric, maybe customized to one specific make and model.

If the journeyman can't read, he's helpless.

So, according to the FTC, half of all the car repairs you get charged for were not made or were not needed.

While this is an inconvenience to you and me—some household something that doesn't get fixed right because the repairman was a dropout—how much worse is it when we are depending on an inept repairman to maintain an airliner?

Granted, you do not get an aeronautical engineering (A&E) degree if you can't read. But our airlines have been having to employ some maintenance workers who are less than proficient.

Further, there are not enough federal air safety inspectors to monitor what goes on.

One senior Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) official estimates the shortage at 20 percent.

We are that short of the number of inspectors needed to ensure the dependability of aviation-related equipment.

And as airline equipment ages, the need for more careful scrutiny increases.

Public education for four generations has been flunking its finals. Tardily there is an awareness; an announced resolve to graduate nobody from high school until he can read.

But this solves only half the problem. The other half relates to federal laws basing hiring practices on something other than ability.

In India, the chairman of Indian Airlines has resigned, saying that he accepts "moral responsibility" for mismanagement, including "improper maintenance of planes."

One of his planes had crashed, killing 91 people.

Democrats, why not sue the DNC?

By BEN WATTENBERG

With Bulgaria moving toward democracy—including such subversive devices as elections and secret ballots—perhaps the Democrats of Iowa, and the Democratic Party, should consider the same ideas in choosing a presidential nominee.

What exists now is a scam. The presidential nominating rules of the Democratic Party—whatever that may be—are made by a fascinating body called the Democratic National Committee. It's not democratic. It's barely a committee. If it's national, why does it always harm Democrats trying to win nationally?

There are 406 DNC members. There are quotas for blacks, Hispanics and women, but no one else. DNC members are typically self-perpetuating ciphers from state parties; sometimes they are appointed or muscled into their jobs; occasionally they are publicly elected, barely noticeable on the ballot. Thirteen members were hand-picked by Jesse Jackson. No other current potential candidate picked any.

One DNC rule dictates that Iowa, and only Iowa, can have the first presidential selection event if it so chooses, and if it does, it must be done through caucuses. Under Iowa caucus rules it may take all evening to cast a vote—by non-secret ballot with the whole neighborhood and anchor-men watching. Caucus turnout is small, thus providing a mugging field for liberal activists to extort far-out positions from the candidates.

Current DNC rules were established in 1988, in secret, at 4 a.m., by operatives of Jackson and Michael Dukakis, in a Dukakis sell-out designed to get Jackson to stop being a pest. Consider pest power: Only under such Jackson-demand, European-style proportional representation rules can Jackson hope to get nominated.

Questions: (1) What would we say if Bulgaria did all that? (2) Because having exclusive right to "the first caucus" makes Iowans more politically powerful than thee and me—making us unequal—why don't we run a lawsuit against the DNC?

Comes now California. Jackson's choice for DNC chairman, Ron Brown, had pledged not to tinker with the rules. But on Feb. 14, the Brown-picked, and previously inconsequential, "Rules and Bylaws Committee," acting with no hearings or advance notice, moved up the starting date of the 1990 general primary season by one week. There was an understanding that California would take advantage of the ruling, changing state law to move its primary from last in the nominating process to what would become an exclusive "first big primary" slot.

Who gains? Theories abound. It's said California is great for deep-pocket candidates like Mario Cuomo, Bill Bradley and Lloyd Bensten—folks who can raise money to buy expensive California television commercials. It could happen.

But one candidate doesn't need early big money. Jackson. He is already a super-duper-star and will get his media coverage for free.

The California-first rule also puts Jackson into the biggest state prior to the beginning of what is now called the Last White Guy Standing Syndrome. Jackson, it is believed, tends to lose to a white candidate when matched one-on-one after the winnowing of early primaries. The LWGS wins. But in a split field, Jackson does well. California, if it goes first—before the winnowing—would guarantee a split field, probably a large one. It could catapult Jackson to a plurality victory.

Jacksonites like it. We know that because they haven't complained. When they don't like rules changes, they say it's racism.

This is no Jackson conspiracy. Californians didn't like being last in the process, reduced to apparent irrelevance by the LWGSS.

But non-conspiracies have been the root of much Democratic madness. Things happen randomly, and if they end up helping liberals, then liberal DNC members, who control the DNC, see to it that the item in question becomes untouchable. That happened with Iowa. It was once a gimmick caucus. But because it serves left-wing special interests, it can't be budged from its superior status.

Unless there is a lawsuit. Which might properly be expanded to challenge the whole nature of the hardly national, non-democratic, quasicommittee.

Incumbents have easy wins in bids for re-election to statewide offices

By JOHN A. BOLT
Associated Press Writer

Incumbency proved unbeatable as Texans renominated candidates left and right, including Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower, who easily turned back six Democratic challengers bankrolled by the state's largest farm lobby.

The crowded field against Hightower led 15 other statewide races in Tuesday's primary election, otherwise dominated by bitter Democratic and runaway Republican gubernatorial contests.

None of the six candidates financed by the Texas Farm Bureau won more than 7 percent of the vote, but Farm Bureau President S.M. True of Plainview claimed victory.

"Our goal was to show the world there is opposition to Mr. Hightower. We'll take our 30 percent of the vote, add the Republican vote and beat him in November," True said.

Hightower, whose populist policies have alienated many farmers during his two terms, won 64 percent of the vote.

He will face either state Rep. Rick Perry of Haskell or Richard McIver of Stafford, who are headed for an April 10 runoff for the GOP nomination. Perry had 47 percent and McIver 31 percent in Tuesday's balloting. Gene Duke of Brownfield was eliminated with 22 percent.

The six defeated Democrats were Neal Burnett of Plainview, Clyde Chandler of Rosebud, Dan Krenek of Rosenberg, Paul McDaniel of Weslaco, Dan Pustejovsky of Hillsboro and John Smith of Quemado.

Heat wave brings tornadoes to Plains states; two killed

By ARTHUR ALLEN
Associated Press Writer

Tornadoes gobbled up farmhouses as they veered through the Plains on the second day of a winter heat wave that brought strollers to parks and sidewalk cafes in the East and Midwest.

The funnel clouds plowed through Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Oklahoma and Texas on Tuesday, killing two people, injuring at least 22 and wrecking scores of houses.

One tornado ripped a 100-mile path in a 2 1/2-hour tear through southeastern Kansas. It lingered in Hesston, Kan., a town of 3,000 people, long enough to damage 75 to 100 houses. A 6-year-old boy died and a mother and her teen-age son were missing today.

Thunderstorms brought flood warnings early today to Oklahoma, Iowa, Wisconsin and Illinois. Walnut-sized hail fell at Groom, Texas.

The funnel-spinning warm front brought balmy weather to much of the country east of the Rockies.

"I always feel confused when I feel good in the unusually warm weather we're having nowadays, because I know it's related to the greenhouse effect," said Ellen Spiro, a New York video maker.

The National Weather Service said the heat came from a high-pressure system pumping Gulf of Mexico air northward.

A full week before the first day of spring, summer came to New York City. The high of 85 was 38 degrees above normal and 15 degrees higher than the 1929 record.

Lenny and Robin Wayne, tourists from Los Angeles, took a few spins around the Rockefeller Center ice skating rink and left early.

"It's too hot to ice skate," Wayne said.

"It makes you want to fall on the ice," his wife said.

The warmth was expected to last until Thursday, then "it'll just get a little cooler," said meteorologist Robert McElhearn.

Michigan hardware stores that were selling rock salt and snow shovels two weeks ago shifted gears

San Antonio attorney Dan Morales won the Democratic nomination for attorney general, defeating Houston lawyer John Odam by an 8-point margin.

Morales' opponent remains undecided. State Sen. J.E. "Buster" Brown was on the verge of avoiding a runoff, holding 51 percent of the votes with 94 percent of precincts counted. If he fell below the 50 percent mark, he'd face state Rep. Pat Hill in the runoff. She had 27 percent of the vote, knocking out Dallas lawyer Tex Lezar and 7 percent for Houston lawyer Bobby Steelhammer.

Two former congressmen won nomination for the seat on the Texas Railroad Commission being vacated by Kent Hance.

Robert Krueger, also a former dean at Duke University and former ambassador to Mexico, outpolled former state Rep. Clint Hackney 71 percent to 29 percent for the Democratic nod.

Boulter defeated businessman Ted Lawson by 60 percent to 40 percent.

Harris County Treasurer Nikki Van Hightower and San Saba County Judge Tom Bowden will meet again for the Democratic nomination for state treasurer, left vacant by Ann Richards' run for the governor's mansion.

Ms. Van Hightower led the Democratic field with 35 percent. Bowden had 26 percent. Eliminated were Houston businesswoman Karen Friend with 19 percent and Austin professor Armando Gutierrez with 20 percent.

The runoff winner will face Republican Kay Bailey Hutchison of Dallas, who took 78 percent of the vote to defeat Charlotte Boylan

Self, a Richmond businesswoman.

Financial adviser Warren G. Harding Jr. of Grand Prairie—name sake of the 29th president—beat two other candidates for the GOP nomination for state comptroller. Harding had 60 percent, more than twice the vote for accountant Jon Hall of San Antonio. Third was Irby Ford of Pflugerville.

Railroad Commissioner John Sharp, a former state legislator from Victoria, was unopposed for the Democratic nomination. Incumbent Democrat Bob Bullock did not seek re-election.

Republicans Wes Gilbreath of Houston and Flint teacher Grady Yarbrough will meet next month in a runoff for the right to face Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, who was unopposed in the Democratic primary.

Gilbreath had 47 percent while Yarbrough, who ran unsuccessfully for the same post in 1986, had 34 percent. William John, a semi-retired petroleum geologist and real estate broker from Dallas, trailed with 19 percent.

State Sen. Hugh Farmer, a Fort Worth attorney, defeated Harley Schlanger, a supporter of extremist Lyndon LaRouche, by a three-to-one margin in the Democratic race to oppose Republican U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, who is seeking a second six-year term.

Neither party had contests for attorney general, as Democrat Bullock and Republican Rob Mosbacher were unopposed.

In the races for the Texas Supreme Court:

Incumbent Chief Justice Tom Phillips won renomination over GOP challenger Daniel R. Rutherford, almost three to one. In November, Phillips will face Justice Oscar Mauzy, who was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Both parties had races for Place 1 on the state's highest court. In the Democratic race, attorney Gene Kelly of Universal City won with 64 percent of the vote over Fred Biery, an appeals court judge. State District Judge John Cornyn won the GOP nomination 52 percent to 48 percent over George Barbary, a Dallas attorney.

Ross Sears of Houston and Appellate Justice Bob Gammage of Austin will meet in a runoff for the Democratic nomination for Place 2 on the court. Sears had 39 percent and Gammage 34 percent, eliminating Kilgore lawyer Clifton Lee "Scrappy" Holmes, who polled 27 percent. Charles Ben Howell, an appeals court judge in Dallas, won the GOP nomination over Lamar McCorkle, a state district judge in Houston.

And in races for seats on the Court of Criminal Appeals:

Another Democratic runoff will pit Austin lawyer Frank Maloney against Morris Overstreet, a county court judge in Amarillo. Maloney had 36 percent Tuesday to Overstreet's 34 percent. Jeff Van Horn, a Caldwell County state prosecutor, trailed with 30 percent. In the GOP race, lawyer Joe Devaney of San Antonio beat Allen Isbell of Houston by 55 percent to 45 percent.

Incumbent Democrat Bill White won renomination to Place 3 over Pat Barber, a Colorado City lawyer and former Waco prosecutor. He has no Republican opposition in November.

In Place 4, lawyer Charles F. Baird of Houston defeated Herb Hancock of Nacodoches, 56 percent to 44 percent. Democrat Baird will face Republican incumbent David Berchelmann Jr. in the general election.

Tea and scones evoke romantic image

NEW YORK (AP) — Tea and scones — the very words evoke romantic images of elegant settings, old linen, good conversation, friendship and the happy contrasts of taste and texture sensations that a tea menu represents.

Tea is back in favor in fancy hotels, where business teas are becoming popular. Tea is also being more frequently served at home, as a way to entertain family and friends.

Buttermilk oatmeal scones and sliced gingerloaf are the perfect accompaniments to your favorite tea. Serve the scones with homemade fruit spreads and apple butter. The gingerloaf has a ricotta filling.

The recipes were developed by the Sugar Association in Washington, D.C.

Buttermilk Oatmeal Scones
2 cups all-purpose flour, sifted
1 cup rolled oats
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/8 teaspoon salt
1-3rd cup granulated sugar
6 tablespoons cold unsalted margarine, cut up
1 cup buttermilk

Blend together flour, rolled oats, baking powder, baking soda, salt and sugar. Using a pastry blender or food processor, cut in margarine until mixture resembles a coarse meal. Add buttermilk, and stir with a fork until a soft dough forms.

On a lightly floured board, knead dough 10 to 12 times. Roll out to a 1/2-inch thick rectangle and cut into small 1 1/2-inch circles. Place on a lightly buttered baking sheet. Brush tops with a little buttermilk and sprinkle with sugar. Bake in a 375-degree F oven for 18 to 20 minutes or until golden brown on top. Makes about 30 scones.

Nutrition information per serving: 72 cal., 11 g carb., 1.6 g pro.,

2.6 g fat, 42 mg sodium, 3 mg chol.

Fruit Spreads
These spreads can be made with blueberries, blackberries, raspberries, strawberries or any seasonal berry.

2 cups berries
1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
Wash, drain and crush fruits. Add sugar. Cook over medium heat until sugar is dissolved, stirring constantly. Increase heat and bring to a rapid boil, again stirring constantly. Cook about 10 minutes or until jam is thick and a small amount dropped onto a saucer stays in place. Cool completely.

Fruit spread should be refrigerated and will keep well for about 1 month. Makes 2 cups, or 10 servings.

Nutrition information per serving: 117 cal., 31 g carb., .18 g pro., .11 g fat, .69 mg sodium.

Apple Butter
1 pound cooking apples
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup brown sugar for each cup of apple pulp
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
Dash ground cloves

Dash allspice
Wash, remove stems and quarter apples. Place apples and water in a large saucepan and cook slowly until soft. Squeeze fruit through a fine strainer. Measure pulp; add 1/2 cup brown sugar for each cup of apple pulp. Add cinnamon, cloves and allspice.

Cook fruit butter over low heat, stirring frequently, until sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking and stirring until mixture is thick and brown and no liquid separates around the edge of the butter when placed on a saucer. Makes 1 pint or 32 servings.

Nutrition information per serving: 21 cal., 5.5 g carb., .03 g pro., .05 g fat, 1.1 mg sodium.

Gingerloaf
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon ground ginger
3/4 teaspoon baking soda
3/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup light molasses
3/4 cup milk
1/4 cup margarine
3/4 cup sugar

1 egg
Sift together dry ingredients. Combine molasses and milk. Cream margarine and sugar until light and fluffy; add egg and beat well. Add dry ingredients alternately with molasses mixture to the margarine-sugar mixture; beat well after each addition. Turn into a greased 4-by 8-or 5-by 9-inch loaf pan. Bake in a 350-degree F oven for 35 to 45 minutes. Cool and cut into 1-3rd-inch slices.

Nutrition information per serving: 217 cal., 50 g carb., 4.7 g pro, 7 g fat, 347 mg sodium, 36 mg chol.

Ricotta Spread for Gingerloaf Fingers
1 cup part-skim ricotta
1/4 cup confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon finely grated orange peel
1/2 cup dried apricots, chopped finely

Mix all ingredients; blend well. Spread ricotta mixture onto gingerloaf slices to make sandwiches. Slice sandwiches into fingers. Makes about 30 fingers.

Nutrition information per serving: 20 cal.

Take a break with tea and don't forget the biscuits! Serve gingerloaf fingers with ricotta spread, buttermilk oatmeal scones, apple butter and fruit spreads.

Low fat cooking

By NANCY BYAL

Better Homes & Gardens Food Editor

With less fat and more fiber, this off-the-shelf supper revamps German potato salad. Beans and chicken replace potatoes and bacon. You can substitute a cup of diced cooked chicken or turkey for the canned chicken, if you have it on hand.

Hot German Bean Salad

Non-stick spray coating
1 medium carrot, chopped
1/2 of a small red onion, chopped
1 stalk celery, sliced
1/2 cup water
1/4 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon instant beef bouillon granules

1/4 teaspoon celery seed
One 15-ounce can black beans, rinsed and drained
One 8-ounce can red kidney beans, drained

One 5-ounce can chunk-style chicken

4 large lettuce leaves
1 red onion, cut in half and sliced (optional)
Spray a cold, large skillet with non-stick coating. Heat skillet over medium-high heat. In hot skillet stir-fry carrot, onion and celery for 2 minutes. Remove from heat.

In a small bowl stir together water, vinegar, sugar, cornstarch, bouillon granules and celery seed. Add to skillet. Cook and stir over medium-high heat 1 to 2 minutes or until mixture is thickened and bubbly. Stir in black beans, kidney beans and chicken. Cook 2 to 3 minutes or until heated through, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, arrange lettuce leaves on individual serving plates. Serve bean mixture on top. Garnish with red onion, if desired.

For a "skinny" chicken dish, remove the skin from the chicken pieces before cooking. Discarding the skin this way disposes of the fat that's located in the skin and just beneath, saving 25 calories per serving.

Chicken Parmesan

1-3rd cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/4 teaspoon Italian seasoning, crushed

3 whole medium chicken breasts (about 2 1/4 pounds total), skinned, boned and halved lengthwise

1/4 cup sliced green onion
2 teaspoons margarine or butter
1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
1/2 cup skim milk
1/2 of a 10-ounce package frozen chopped spinach, thawed and drained

1 tablespoon chopped pimiento

In a small mixing bowl combine Parmesan cheese and Italian seasoning. Roll chicken pieces in cheese mixture to coat lightly; set remaining cheese mixture aside. Arrange chicken pieces in an 8-by 8-by 2-inch baking dish. In a small saucepan cook onion in hot margarine until tender. Stir in flour; add milk all at once. Cook and stir until bubbly; stir in drained spinach and pimiento. Spoon spinach mixture over chicken; sprinkle with remaining cheese mixture. Bake, uncovered, in a 350-degree F oven for 30 to 35 minutes or until tender. Makes 6 servings.

Submarines make super lunch or supper items. For a leaner sandwich, go heavy on the vegetable layers, light on meat and cheese. Switch to low-fat options: Canadian-style bacon and low-fat ricotta cheese. Parmesan, Italian seasoning and garlic powder punch up the flavor.

Super Submarines

1-3rd cup low-fat ricotta cheese
1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons skim milk
1/2 teaspoon Italian seasoning, crushed
1/8 teaspoon garlic powder
1/2 of a small zucchini
1 medium tomato
1/2 of a small onion
One 6-ounce package sliced Canadian-style bacon

1 pound loaf French bread (about 15 inches long)
Preheat broiler. In a small mixing bowl stir together ricotta cheese, Parmesan cheese, milk, Italian seasoning and garlic powder. Set aside.

Thinly slice zucchini, tomato and onion. Cut bacon slices in half. Slice bread in half horizontally. Reserve one half for another use. Spread remaining bread with a little of the cheese mixture. Top with bacon slices. Spoon remaining cheese mixture on top of bacon. Top with zucchini, tomato and onion. Place on a broiler pan. Broil 4 to 5 inches from heat for 8 to 9 minutes or until heated through. Cut into 8 pieces. Makes 4 servings.

Recipe contest

NEW YORK (AP) — The deadline for entering the 39th National Chicken Cooking Contest, sponsored by the National Broiler Council, is Oct. 15, 1990.

The only required ingredient is chicken, whole or in parts. Recipes will be judged on taste, appearance, simplicity and appeal. Your name, address and telephone number must be included on the front of each recipe. Mail recipes to: Chicken Contest, Box 28158, Central Station, Washington, DC 20005.

A finalist from each state and the District of Columbia will be selected to receive expense-paid trips to the national cook-off to be held May 16, 1991, in Little Rock, Ark. The top prize is $25,000.

(For a copy of "The Chicken Cookbook," which includes recipes from the 1989 Chicken Cooking Contest, send $1.75 in check or money order to: Chicken Cookbook, Department NBC, Box 307 Coventry, CT 06238.

'Got my readin' book'

Seventeen-month-old Adam Gonzales goes to day care at Pampa's Alternative Learning Center while mom, Martha, goes to classes. During graduation ceremonies last Friday, Adam was seen walking around carrying his book. His mom said he almost cried when they left the house because he wanted to take his book and couldn't understand that Friday was a special day at school and books weren't needed. It seems he has learned from mom that one doesn't go to school without carrying a book.

Wife seeks advice for valentine day's

DEAR ABBY: Another St. Valentine's Day has come and gone without flowers, candy or any kind of a valentine from my husband.

I'm 25 and he is 26, and we've been married for three years. I'd have been thrilled if he had brought me a flower — or even handed me a valentine — but he ignored the day completely.

Abby, the newspapers were filled with ads for gifts, and the store windows were decorated with hearts and flowers to remind people of that special day for lovers.

He's a super guy, hardworking and decent, so maybe I shouldn't complain. But it sure would have felt great to have been remembered on St. Valentine's Day. Any ideas?

NOBODY'S VALENTINE

DEAR NOBODY'S: So, another St. Valentine's Day has come and gone. You were forgotten, and now you're hurt.

Well, don't let it happen again. A week before St. Valentine's Day, leave a note on his pillow, "Only six more days before St. Valentine's Day — start shopping for a card." The following day, tape a note on the bathroom mirror, "Only five more days ... a single rose would be nice." The next day, stick an artificial flower in his shoe with another reminder. I think you get the idea.

Some men need more reminding than others, so don't sit silently with your fingers crossed, hoping he'll remember. Some good-humored "reminding" can save you the pain of being forgotten. And he may even appreciate it.

DEAR ABBY: You recently reminded your readers about International Forgiveness Week, which is a wonderful idea. However, it is nothing new. In the Jewish religion, there has been a "forgiveness fortnight" for at least 2,000 years.

During the 10 days between Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur, those of the Jewish faith are commanded to ask forgiveness from those whom they may have offended or wronged during the year. In Judaism, God cannot forgive the sins a person has committed against another unless the sinner has asked that person for forgiveness. If the injured party rejects the apology three times, the wrongdoer is then released from his or her obligation to ask forgiveness. Isn't this a beautiful tradition, as well as a good way to begin a new year?

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

ESTHER KRISMAN,
LOS ANGELES

DEAR ESTHER: It is indeed. This year, the 10 days to ask forgiveness are between Sept. 20 and Sept. 29.

***

DEAR ABBY: Just a note regarding Forgiveness Week. A long time ago I heard the following on, of all shows, "Saturday Night Live":

"Don't hold a grudge,
"It's heavy,
"And it doesn't have a handle."
Worked for me! It can work for everybody.

SUSIE JOHNSTON-FORTE,
ROSEBURG, ORE.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HATES WAR" IN ANCHORAGE, ALASKA: No one said it better than another military man: "Every gun that is made, every warship launched, every rocket fired, signifies a theft from those who hunger and are not fed, those who are cold and are not clothed. The world in arms is not spending money alone. It is spending the sweat of its laborers, the genius of its scientists, the hopes of its children. This is not a way of life at all in any true sense. Under the cloud of war, it is humanity hanging on a cross of iron."

Felton concert entertaining

By BILL HAILEY
Guest Reviewer

The Pampa Fine Arts Association presented Judith Felton in recital Sunday, Mar. 11 in St. Matthew's Episcopal Sanctuary. Known both in the United States and abroad for her sensitivity and creative gifts, the pianist performed a program of works by Debussy, Schubert, George Crumb and the Russian composer, Mussorgsky.

A graduate of Harvard with a major in music, Felton teaches privately in New York City.

Felton's opener was the Klavierstück in E Flat by Schubert followed by two compositions of the impressionistic composer, Debussy. Of these three works, the Sunken Cathedral by Debussy seemed to be outstanding. Both from the standpoint of interpretation and atmosphere, the latter work was close to perfection.

The George Crumb Makrokosmos which followed was indeed attention getting. The strings were strummed and activated by chains. It was, to be sure, somewhat blasphemous but the music was there if one listened closely. With the growing importance of electronic music, I am sure Mr. Crumb is getting a second look.

Pictures at an Exhibition closed the program with an array of charm and oddities. Where else could you find a group of such delicious poetic images? - Children quarreling in the Tuileries, women pursuing bargains in fine china at Limoges, the Hut of Baba Yaga and the Great Gate of Kiev. To me the Tuileries, the Ballet of the Unhatched Chicks and Baba Yaga were the best.

Finally, something should be said about the artist's mode of presentation. Her running commentary was articulate, highly informing and added immensely to the concert. However accompanying the Mussorgsky with slides would have

Wildcats blessed with young talent

Canadian sophomores Kale Yarnold and Howie Bentley are a pair to keep an eye on in upcoming track and field meets.

In last weekend's Wildcat Relays at Canadian, Yarnold and Bentley were second and third respectively in the discus. Bentley claimed third in the shot.

With two years remaining in their high school careers, Canadian coach Jim Hester knows the pair can only get better.

"They have tremendous potential. What I like about them is that they're always pushing each other to do better," Hester said. "They're also the best of buddies, and that really helps."

Both also have the bulk needed to compete in the throwing events. Bentley weighs in at 245 while Yarnold is a 200-pounder.

As a freshman, Bentley finished third in the discus in the District 2-2A meet.

"He was in second place going into the last throw and he got beat out," added Hester.

Hester marveled at Yarnold's 140-6 throw in the discus during the Wildcat Relays.

"I've never coached a sophomore that threw the discus that far," Hester said.

John Hughes, a Spearman senior, won the event with a 143-6 toss.

Canadian also has a pair of throwers in the girls' division that are off to a good start.

Vickie Cervantes threw the shot 31-6 to take first while Cassie McNees won the discus throw with a 105-3 heave at the Wildcat Relays.

"I was real pleased with the way these two seniors threw in the first meet," Hester said.

McNees also placed second in the shot and tied for third in the high jump. A pulled muscle forced her out of the mile relay.

Neither Canadian team is blessed with a lot of speed, picking up most of their points in the field events.

The Lady Wildcats didn't have a trackster place among the top three in the running events and wound up seventh in team totals.

Canadian boys finished fifth in the eight-team meet and only one Wildcat captured the gold medal. Mark Cornett won the 300 hurdles in 43.09.

David Tucker for Canadian finished second in the 3200 and third in the 1600. Cornett was second in the 110 hurdles and Justin Price was third in the pole vault.

Wheeler girls made a strong showing in the same meet, finishing third with 83 points.

Tammy Helton had a 32-51/2 leap to win the triple jump and she also placed second in the long jump and second in the 200.

Lori Van Pool won the long jump by clearing 15-91/4 and she was third in the 400. Bobbie Kuehler was third in the shot.

Michael Kenney won the high jump and Kelly Aderholt won the 400, but the Wheeler boys couldn't muster enough points on the final day of the two-day meet to finish above seventh place.

Kenney high-jumped 6-4 while Aderholt recorded a 53.07 in the 400. Aderholt also placed second in the long jump.

West Texas High won the boys' title while Spearman claimed the girls' crown.

Hogs put greed up against Princeton's patience

Seventh-ranked Arkansas favored by 14 in Midwest Regional opener

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

AUSTIN — If this seeding business is to be believed, why is it that Nolan Richardson feels like the guy who pulled out the short straw?

After what Princeton did to Georgetown last season, extending the top-seeded Hoyas to the limit before falling 50-49, no one relished the idea of opening NCAA tournament play against the frustratingly efficient Tigers.

Arkansas (26-4), champion of the Southwest Conference and the No. 7 team in the country, gets the dubious honor of facing Princeton (20-6), the 13th seed, in a Midwest Regional opener Thursday night.

"It will be their patience against our greed," said Richardson, the Arkansas coach whose team features a full-court press that he calls "40 minutes of hell."

The Ivy League champions of Pete Carril lead the nation in scoring defense, their 50.4 average yield an eye-opening eight points a game better than runnerup Ball State. The Tigers also boast the nation's 3-point shooting percentage leader in Matt Lapin, who hit 70 of 128 attempts (54.7).

"We know they'll pass it 12 times before they shoot," Richardson said. "We went from Loyola Marymount in the opener last year to just the opposite."

Arkansas is cut from the high-scoring Loyola Marymount mold, averaging 97.5 points a game to rank fifth nationally.

Towson State (18-12) is cast in the Princeton role this season, facing the unenviable task of taking on the top-ranked team in the country, Oklahoma (26-4).

Odds makers favor the Sooners by a gaudy 29 points, the biggest margin of any first-round game. Arkansas is a 14-point choice over Princeton, Illinois is favored by nine over Dayton and North Carolina is the pick by five over Southwest Missouri.

That North Carolina is not an overwhelming choice is an indication of the troubles the Tar Heels have endured this season. Coach Dean Smith hasn't had a team win less than 20 games since 1970, but this club must beat Southwest Missouri to reach 20-12.

Charlie Spoonhour, whose Southwest Missouri club has won 22 of 28 games, isn't exactly rubbing his hands together at the idea of getting at a less-than-top-drawer North Carolina team.

"When Carolina doesn't have its best year, that's still pretty good," Spoonhour said. "That's like Stan Musial only hitting .329."

Indeed, about 200 major-college teams didn't manage to make it into the NCAA field, which includes North Carolina for the 16th consecutive season.

The Tar Heels will be unusually well-rested, having lost to Virginia in the first round of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament.

Another underdog is Dayton, which earned a spot in the field by beating regular-season champion Xavier of Ohio in the final of the Midwestern Collegiate Conference tournament final. The Flyers are no fluke, however, with victories over the likes of DePaul, Marquette and Notre Dame during a 21-9 season.

Dayton made a school-record 245 3-pointers in 622 attempts for first-year coach Jim O'Brien, and long-range bombing will likely decide Dayton's fate against Illinois (21-7).

Illinois, a Final Four team in 1989, closed the regular season with a 69-63 victory at Indiana. Kendal Gill, who will present the biggest defensive problem for Dayton, scored 23 points against Indiana to win the Big Ten scoring title.

Todd Day (10) and the Razorbacks have the dubious honor of facing Princeton in Thursday's opening round.

Harvesters stay unbeaten with 10-1 victory over Caprock

AMARILLO — The Harvester baseball team ran its unbeaten record to 5-0 Tuesday with a 10-1 victory over Caprock at Potter County Memorial Stadium.

Brandon Knutson picked up the mound win for Pampa, giving up three hits and one run while striking out six in 5 1/3 innings of work.

"Brandon pitched well," said Pampa coach Rod Porter. "He threw a lot of pitches — probably more than we wanted to — but he did a good job."

He was relieved in the sixth inning by James Bybee, who struck out three, gave up one hit and held the Longhorns scoreless in 1 2/3 innings.

"We made a lot of mental mistakes out there," Porter said. "But our program is to a point where we can make some mistakes and still come out with a lopsided win. Two years ago, we couldn't have done that."

"Every inning we made one or two mental mistakes and I don't know if we shouldn't expect that this early in the season. It's nice to basically be able to get away with those things."

On the day, the Harvesters were credited with only one error. They pounded 12 hits and chased Gerardo Arevalo from the mound in the fourth inning.

Paul Buentello came on in relief to finish out the game for the Horns.

Bybee paced the Harvesters at the plate with a 2-for-3 performance, including a double, triple and three RBI. Catcher Tory Peet went 3-for-4 with four RBI and an inside-the-park homer.

Chad Bittick, the only Caprock player who got an extra-base hit, cracked a double.

After leaving the bases loaded in the first inning, Pampa scored six runs in the second frame and three in the third to put the game out of reach. Each team added one run in the fourth to end the scoring.

The loss dropped Caprock's record to 5-2, which includes a 10-5 victory over Hereford last week.

The Harvesters open District 1-4A play this Saturday at home against Hereford, which stands at 1-5 on the season. The game is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. at Harvester Field.

The Pampa J.V. team plays a home game Friday afternoon at 4:30 against River Road.

La Salle's Simmons tops All-American cage team

By The Associated Press

Lionel "L-Train" Simmons can add another name to his portfolio: All-American.

Simmons, a third-team selection last season, was joined on the 1990 Associated Press All-America college basketball team by seniors Gary Payton of Oregon State and Derrick Coleman of Syracuse, junior Larry Johnson of UNLV and sophomore Chris Jackson of LSU.

The voting was done by the same national panel of sport writers and broadcasters that selects the weekly Top 25.

Simmons, just the fifth player to score 3,000 career points, ranks third all-time with 3,157 heading into the NCAA tournament. At his current pace of 26 points a game, Simmons would have to lead La Salle into the East Regional finals to score the 92 points necessary to pass the No. 2 man on the career list, Portland State's Freeman Williams.

Simmons is La Salle's first All-American in 35 years, since the storied Tom Gola won the honor three times and led the Explorers to the pinnacle of college basketball. La Salle won the NCAA title in 1954 and came within a game of repeating before losing to San Francisco and Bill Russell.

Neither of those stellar teams managed a record like that carved out by Simmons & Co. this season. With "L-Train" providing the locomotion, the Explorers posted a 29-1 record, best among major colleges.

"It is gratifying to me in several ways, especially because of the fact that La Salle does not get a large amount of national exposure," the 6-foot-7 Simmons said of his selection. "Our record is a great compliment to our coach, his staff and all my teammates. I consider this their award, too."

Even if his team should win six games and the national title, Simmons can't hope to supplant the No. 1 major-college scorer, LSU's Pete Maravich. In two years, however, Maravich's 3,667 points might be surpassed by another noted Tiger, Jackson.

The high-scoring guard, only the second freshman ever voted to the AP first team, was second in the nation in scoring last season at 30.2 points a game and hit 28.7 this season against defenses rigged specifically to stop him. He has 1,825 points midway through his career and, at least statistically, has a chance at moving past Maravich in 1992.

"Nothing like this is possible by yourself," said Jackson, who paced LSU to a 22-8 record. "It's the other players who should be given credit. I thank them for their help in my accomplishments."

"It's great. It's a very nice honor to be chosen again like this," Jackson said.

Jackson is the 52nd player to repeat in the 42 years the AP team has been selected. Wayman Tisdale of Oklahoma, who in 1983 was the first freshman All-American, was a three-time selection before turning pro following his junior season.

Payton, a 6-4 guard, averaged 26.3 points and 8.3 assists for Oregon State (22-6). Payton had made his reputation regionally as a defensive whiz and ballhandler. He became a national star this season when Coach Jim Anderson asked him to shoot more.

Lionel Simmons (22), shown above after scoring his 3,000th point, was named first team All-American.

Soccer

CHICKASHA, Okla. — The Pampa High School soccer team opened the 1990 season with a 1-0 victory over Chickasha (Okla.) High School Monday afternoon.

Freshman left wing Ascencion Anguiano scored a goal in the first half to account for the only score of the game.

"We felt real good about the way we played, particularly with this being our first game," said Mike Redwine, who is coaching the Harvesters in their second season at the high school. "We scored the only goal playing against a stiff wind. They took 10 shots on goal to our one. Daniel (Trejo, goalie) was able to save five and the other five were off the mark."

Pampa played with the wind in the second half, shutting out Chickasha once again.

"The key was stopping them when they had the wind," Redwine said. "It's difficult to build the ball up and get it to your attacking end when you're against the wind. As far as shots on goal, things evened up in the second half."

Pampa's next game is the league opener on April 3 against a team made up of Canyon and Randall high schools combined. The Harvesters will compete in a league made up of Amarillo High, Tascosa, Caprock, Palo Duro and Canyon.

Wrestling

The Pampa Takedown Club will hold its annual awards banquet Thursday, March 15, at 6 p.m. in St. Paul United Methodist Church.

The dinner is a covered dish banquet and admission is free.

Football

HOUSTON (AP) — University of Houston quarterback and Heisman trophy winner Andre Ware will forego his final year of college eligibility to enter the 1990 National Football League draft, the Houston Post reported today.

In a copyright story, the Post quoted unidentified sources as saying Ware is ready to announce his decision this week even though the NFL draft commitment deadline is March 22.

According to the sources, Ware has made his decision to turn pro, and only an 11th-hour change of heart would keep him in the college ranks, the Post reported.

A major factor behind the 1989 Heisman Trophy winner's decision to enter the draft this year is the impending entry-level wage scale, which would reduce significantly the size of rookie contracts.

Boxing

EL PASO (AP) — Boxing promoter Don King must pay a former El Paso heavyweight fighter and another fight promoter $700,000 as part of a $1.4 million out-of-court settlement the three reached.

The rest of the money must be paid in two lump sums within the next 18 months, according to an agreement signed by King, Tony Perea and Thomas Prendergast.

And if King doesn't come up with the first payment quickly, he could end up back in court, 346th District Judge Jose Baca said Monday. Baca told King's attorney, Dale Ruge, that if King didn't pay by April 1, the case would go to trial April 2.

Perea and Prendergast have been involved in litigation with King for eight years. The two men took King to court in 1982, accusing him of taking fighters under contract to Prendergast.

Greedy Suns halt Jazz home streak

By The Associated Press

For a team that carries Johnson & Johnson on its roster, the Phoenix Suns are feeling no pain.

The Suns ended Utah's club-record 19-game homecourt winning streak Tuesday night, defeating the Jazz 114-106. Kevin Johnson scored 29 points, including 14 in the fourth quarter, and Eddie Johnson had 27, 11 over his average.

"We're a greedy team," Eddie Johnson said. "We want to win it all, just like those great Laker, Celtic and Sixer teams. You have to be greedy for a win. We know Utah is a team we'll see in the playoffs and it was nice to pick up a win in their own place."

Meanwhile, Denver coach Doug Moe reached the 600-victory milestone as the Nuggets beat Houston 117-114. Michael Adams had 25 points, including a 3-pointer and bank shot in the final 1:14.

The Suns remained 11/2 games behind second-place Portland in the Pacific Division. Phoenix's first lead was at 85-83 on Tom Chambers' 20-foot jumper with 9:39 left. The lead changed hands several times after that before the Suns went ahead for good 98-96 when Kevin Johnson made two free throws with 4:40 left.

Chambers had 21 points for the Suns. Karl Malone led Utah with 37, including 11 in the second half.

Nuggets.....117
Rockets.....114

Denver won despite spectacular performances from Houston's

Akeem Olajuwon and Vernon Maxwell. Olajuwon had 25 points and 19 rebounds, Maxwell a career-high 32 points on 15-for-21 shooting.

With Denver leading 110-109, Adams hit a 3-pointer. It was 115-114 when Adams' bank shot with 7.8 seconds left restored Denver's lead to three points.

Bulls.....111
Knicks.....108

Michael Jordan scored 34 points and Craig Hodges hit two key 3-pointers in the fourth quarter.

Hodges' 3-pointers gave Chicago 91-85 and 104-94 leads and the Bulls clamped down on Gerald Wilkins in the fourth quarter, holding him scoreless after he had 26 points through three periods.

Patrick Ewing led the Knicks with 29 points. Scottie Pippen scored 17 for Chicago.

Cavaliers.....119
76ers.....102

Mark Price scored 30 points, including a pair of fourth-quarter 3-point shots that stalled a Philadelphia comeback.

Cleveland's Larry Nance scored 26 points. Charles Barkley led the Sixers with 29.

Celtics.....112
Hawks.....100

Kevin McHale, playing less than three quarters before injuring his right knee, scored 26 points for Boston.

NBA roundup

Boston took the lead for good with a 10-0 run in the second quarter in which McHale scored six points, putting the Celtics on top 46-39.

Trail Blazers.....142
Magic.....117

Cliff Robinson scored 22 points. Robinson had 13 points in the second period as the Blazers built a 73-52 halftime lead.

Reggie Theus scored 25 points for Orlando.

Spurs.....103
Pacers.....102

Rod Strickland made two free throws with 2.6 seconds remaining.

LaSalle Thompson gave Indiana its final lead when he tipped in a miss by Chuck Person with 2.9 seconds to play.

David Robinson had 26 points for the Spurs. Indiana's Reggie Miller led all scorers with 31.

Kings.....121
Heat.....87

Wayman Tisdale scored 23 points, Antoine Carr 21 and Rodney McCray 20 as Sacramento rolled up its biggest victory margin of the season. The margin was the second-largest since the Kings moved to Sacramento from Kansas City five years ago. They crushed Miami 108-69 last April 10.

Glen Rice led Miami with 18 points.

wrestling. 8. Give more fans the opportunity to join the "Angry Fans Club." (Call 515-472-5757 for information) 9. Team owners can make up for lost revenue by selling unused artificial turf to people who are tired of moving their yards. 10. People will stop confusing baseball owners representative Chuck O'Connor with actor Chuck Connors, who once played both pro baseball and basketball.

George Smith, an avid basketball fan from Pampa, attended the Texas High School championships in Austin.

Here's some of his thoughts and impressions on the tournament:

- Boerne's 59-55 first-round win over Port Arthur Lincoln in Class 4A: "It was a real thriller. Port Arthur had won two straight state titles and Boerne just took it to them with their ball-control offense. Boerne was picked to finish fifth in their district and they wound up playing for the championship." (Boerne lost to Dallas Lincoln, 87-77, in the finals.)

- Dallas Kimball defeated Clear Lake, 65-59, in the Class 5A finals: "I thought that was the biggest upset. Clear Lake had a good team, but they just folded up. Kimball outrebounded them, which was the big difference in the game. Kimball has a lot of juniors, so they'll probably be back next year."

- Navasota's 71-54 win over Lamesa in the Class 3A finals: "I thought Lamesa would win. Navasota was unbeaten, but they couldn't hit a lick in the first-round game (Navasota defeated Gainesville, 54-35, and Lamesa defeated Gonzales, 100-69, in first-round action). I guess it was just opening-game jitters."

- David Shivers, 6-4 senior forward, Boerne: "He's a good college prospect. He's a good ballhandler and has a lot of court savvy. His brother, Robbie (6-1 sophomore), is also a good player. They both made the all-tournament team."

- Michael Davis, 5-5 senior guard, Troup: "This guy is quick as a cat. He dribbled through the defense time after time for layups. He can also hit those 3-pointers."

- Troy House, 6-1 senior guard, Ingram Tom Moore, and the state's all-time boys' scoring leader: "I wasn't impressed with him and neither were the coaches I talked to. He wouldn't dish off to his teammates when one of them was wide open. All he wanted to do was shoot and he only hit about 40 percent of his field goal attempts. His teammates won the game." (Ingram defeated Troup, 73-72, in the Class 2A finals.)

- Ingram Tom Moore defeated Abernathy, 77-69, in the first round of Class 2A: "I thought Abernathy could have beaten them, but I think their players had read too many articles about House and they were afraid of him. Abernathy was always fighting from behind."

Under 6 champs

Bush believes players are ready to accept owners' current offer

ARLINGTON (AP) — A secret ballot by major league baseball players on whether to accept the latest offer by the owners would be one way to resolve the nearly month-long lockout, Texas Rangers managing partner George W. Bush says.

Bush told reporters Tuesday he believes most major league players are ready to accept the offer and get started with spring training.

"We're hearing rumors that the players are restless," Bush said. "The owners are solid as to being pushed too far."

Bush suggested that the owners' current offer be put to a vote of the players.

"I would propose that there be a secret ballot among the players...I would like the players' opinion on the subject," Bush said. "It probably won't happen...but if there is any democracy at all in the union, the union leaders will be getting the message that the players want to be out there on the field."

Bush later clarified his suggestion for a secret vote among the players.

"I'm not trying to bash Donald Fehr (executive director of the players union)," Bush said. "He has a job to do and I understand that. No way are we threatening the leadership of the union."

"But I was asked how it could be resolved. One way, if the players are in fact as disenchanted as some of the rumors say they are...is by private ballot. If that's union busting, I don't mean it to be."

A settlement in the next few days would enable the season to start as scheduled on April 2, Bush said.

"We think we could," Bush said.

"But those decisions will be made by the union and the Player Relations Committee."

But Rangers president Mike Stone said time is running short.

"After another week we'd be real hard-pressed to make opening day, mainly because of the pitchers needing innings in spring training," Stone said.

Stone said cancellation of a sellout on opening day would represent a loss in revenue of $350,000.

Bush's news conference at Arlington Stadium Tuesday afternoon was held with the approval of fellow owners to explain the owners' position.

"We wanted to speak to our fans about the status of the negotiations, what's on the table," Bush said. "As a baseball fan myself, I'm really frustrated that spring training is not going on."

The lockout particularly hurts players like Rangers pitcher Nolan Ryan, 11 victories short of 300 for his career, Bush said.

"The inability to get a deal done really affects Nolan Ryan's career," Bush said. "I just hope we get this done, not just for the good of the game but for the good of some of the unbelievably great players like Nolan Ryan who deserves a full season...to set the records he's after."

Salary arbitration remains The main factor contributing to the current stalemate remains salary arbitration. Bush said the owners are solid in their resolve to reserve arbitration for players with at least three years' major league service.

"I think frankly we've conceded as much as we can concede," Bush said.

Strate Line

Pro basketball had its "Dr. J." in Julius Erving. Pampa also has its own "Dr. J." in Dr. Joe Donaldson. But our "Dr. J." is more handy with a golf club than a basketball.

Dr. Donaldson bagged his third career hole-in-one last week at the Pampa Country Club.

He used a 4-iron to ace the No. 5, par 3, 150-yard hole.

Witnesses were Pete Blanda, Elmo Wright, Harry Frye, Norman Sublett and Ken Reeves.

His other aces were on No. 7 and No. 16 at the PCC course.

Here's 10 positive things that could happen as a result of the baseball lockout: 1. Texas fans can boast that the Rangers are tied for first place. 2. More newspaper space can be devoted to the life of baseball union leader Don Fehr and speculations as to which team will oppose the San Francisco 49ers in the Super Bowl. 3. George Steinbrenner will have time to complete his list of potential Yankee managers. 4. No Budweiser commercials featuring Dancin' Harry Caray. 5. Tommy Lasorda can appear on more talk shows. 6. Morganna will be free to kiss pro golfers. 7. Wrigley Field can save on electricity. 8. Anheuser-Busch can peddle beer commercials where it belongs....on NAWF pro

Etc.

SWC Roundup
DALLAS (AP) — Here is a roundup of spring sports around the Southwest Conference:
ARKANSAS — The Razorbacks baseball team started the week ranked seventh in the Collegiate Baseball-ESPN national poll and 12th in Baseball America's survey. Arkansas won 12 of its first 15 games. Sophomore catcher Kirk Piskor of Plano, Texas, has been the early catalyst for coach Norm DeBrynn's squad with a .411 batting average, four home runs and 14 RBIs in his first 15 games.

BAYLOR — Just 10 points out of first place after two meetings of the SWC championship trophy, Baylor is concentrating its efforts on a sound showing in the All-American Intercollegiate at Houston on April 4-6 in Houston. Coach Gene Shields' crew has 140 points to trail Rice, Texas and Texas Christian in SWC standings. Senior Tim Hobby of Alvin, Texas, finished second in the Border Olympics at Laredo with a one-over-par 217.

HOUSTON — Coach Greg Williams' Cougars just missed their second NCAA basketball appearance in three years while finishing the 1989-90 women's basketball season with a 17-12 mark. Senior guard Jana Crosby of Irving paced the Lady Cougars with 13.8 points, 72-of-156 3-point shooting (46.2 percent) and 91.3 percent (84-of-92) at the free throw line, the latter two peaking the SWC.

RICE — Coach David Hall reached the 300-victory milestone (first Owls' baseball coach to make the mark) and watched his squad turn the first triple play in a baseball game as Rice downed New York Tech 5-1 on March 4 at Cameron Field. Sophomore catcher Jamie Cook of Missouri City continues to rank among the SWC's top hitters with a .372 average for the Owls.

SOUTHERN METHODIST — Sophomore Claire Sessions of Dallas and senior Kim Galdo of Galveston had a combined start of 7-2 in singles play for the 1990 Lady Mustangs' tennis team. Coach John Fielding rates the pair as critical to SMU's Southwest Conference hopes after they teamed to defeat the No. 1 doubles teams for both North Carolina and Texas A&M in earlier matches for the Lady Mustangs. SMU hosts Auburn in a key inter-sectional match Tuesday.

TEXAS — Capturing its third NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championship crown in the last five meets, coach Terry Crawford's UT outfit romped past its nearest team competition, Wisconsin, 50-28 at Indianapolis last Saturday night. The key points came from sprinter Carlette Gудry of Houston with victories in both the 55 and 200 meters. She had been held out of the Feb. 16-17 SWC Indoor Championships with a knee injury.

TEXAS A&M — Junior sprinter Andre Cason of Virginia Beach, Va., won the 55 meters with a clocking of 0.7 seconds in last week's NCAA Indoor Championships in Indianapolis. That gave coach Charlie Thomas' Aggies their second consecutive second-place finish in NCAA track activity after A&M nabbed the same slot in the NCAA Outdoor in 1989. Thomas' crew was behind seven-time defending champ Arkansas indoors.

team. Through Sunday's games, the junior standout was sixth in SWC batting with a .410 average while belting five home runs and driving in 24. Los leads coach Lane Brown's squad into the Dixie Classic Friday through Sunday in Shreveport as TCU challenges NCAA power Oklahoma State in the opener.

TEXAS TECH — Linksman Chance Blythe of Waxahachie fired a five-over-par 221 for 54 holes to lead the Red Raiders' golf team with a medal-play showing of sixth in the Border Olympics at Laredo earlier this month. Coach Tommy Wilson's young unit has to gather some quick points in the All-American Intercollegiate in Houston next month to climb into the SWC's first points' division. Tech is tied for seventh with SMU at 50.

Military experts: defense budget too cautious, too expensive

By DONNA CASSATA
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush's defense budget is an "excessively cautious and inordinately expensive response" to the rapidly diminishing Soviet threat, a bipartisan group of U.S. military experts said Tuesday.

The administration's fiscal 1991 budget calls for full-scale strategic modernization with procurement of the B-2 stealth bomber, two land-based nuclear missile systems and the Strategic Defense Initiative.

But the disintegration of the Warsaw Pact requires a restructuring of the U.S. military, starting with a reasonable goal of a 50 percent reduction in defense spending by the year 2000, the group said in a 27-page report.

"Changes in the world must be reflected in the defense budget, and U.S. national security can be supported with a steady, sustained decrease in defense budgets over the next 10 years," the report said.

The panel, headed by Lawrence J. Korb, a former assistant secretary of defense in the Reagan administration, recommended halting production of the B-2 bomber at 15 planes, canceling plans to move the multiple-warhead MX from fixed silos to railroad cars, and limiting spending on SDI to no more than $3 billion a year.

In its report, "Restructuring the U.S. Military: Defense Needs in the 21st Century," the panel also proposed that the United States seek a ban on multiple-warhead, intercontinental ballistic missiles, stop the purchase of Trident submarines at 17 and cancel production of the C-17 cargo plane.

The panel suggested cutting active forces Army divisions from 18 to 10, reducing the Navy's carrier battle groups from 14 to nine and halving the Air Force's active tactical air wings from 24 to 12.

It said the number of troops U.S. stationed in Europe should be cut from the current 305,000 to about 100,000.

Bush's $292 billion defense budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 calls for a nearly $1 billion increase in spending on SDI, $5.5 billion for the B-2 bomber and more than $3 billion on the MX and single-warhead Midgetman missiles.

Defense Secretary Dick Cheney has said no major cuts in spending or changes in defense strategy should be considered until new U.S.-Soviet arms control treaties are completed.

"A good deal of prudence is in order," Cheney told Congress last month.

But the panel said the administration's "proposals for only slight reductions in defense programs and budgets over the next five years reflect an excessively cautious and inordinately excessive response to the changing security environment."

It proposed reductions in defense spending averaging 6.7 percent annually for a 50 percent cut in the next decade. The current budget is a 2 percent reduction from last year after adjusting for inflation.

The Defense Budget Task Force of the Committee for National Security and the Defense Budget Project produced the report. The committee and the project are independent, non-profit organizations.

Members of the panel included former CIA Director William Colby, retired Rear Adm. Stanley S. Fine, former Navy budget director; and Paul Warnke, a former director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

Children protest in favor of principal who paddled student

HOUSTON (AP) — More than 150 students at an elementary school boycotted classes to protest the suspension of the school's principal, who admits striking a 10-year-old special education student.

Douglass Elementary School principal LaSalle Donnell was suspended with pay pending the outcome of a report that he spanked the child last week.

The students refused to go to class Monday for about two hours, and about 40 parents resumed the protest outside the Houston school board meeting and at a principals' workshop later in the day.

The protestors claim Donnell was improperly suspended, and the action was endorsed by the child's mother.

"I've always given them permission to spank when it's needed," said Linda Curry. "They haven't ever abused it ... Mr. Donnell has been real helpful to my son."

Faye Bryant, deputy superintendent for campus management in the Houston Independent School District, said Donnell was suspended because school officials are prohibited by law from spanking special education students and it is a violation of district policy to use a belt.

The incident will be investigated over the next month before a decision is made on Donnell's employment.

Donnell, 62, who planned to retire in six months, said he swatted the child three times on the legs with his inch-wide belt last Friday morning after catching him pushing and punching other children in the hallway. He said the boy, whom he considers "like a son," swore at him when he ordered him to class.

"I forgot the child was in special education," Donnell said. "I was going on my past experience with the child and the mother. I was going with what the mother wanted me to do."

"He wasn't hurt at all," said Ms. Curry. "I think Donnell is a nice person; the kind who would do everything he could to help you. If he spanked (my son), I feel he spanked him because he needed to be spanked."

Students gathered Monday around about 10 parents in a vacant lot across from the school, saying they wanted Donnell reinstated. A community leader got the children to return to class later in the morning.

"We want him back," fifth-grader Nakia Ashton said. "We don't think it was right."

Parents and community leaders praised Donnell as a strict but beloved father figure in the impoverished southeast Houston neighborhood near downtown.

Ms. Bryant confirmed that Donnell, a 31-year-old employee with HISD, had not been in trouble before.

WAL-MART'S ADVERTISED MERCHANDISE POLICY—It is our intention to have every advertised item in stock. However, if due to any unforeseen reason, an advertised item is not available for purchase, Wal-Mart will issue a Rain Check on request, for the merchandise to be purchased at the sale price whenever available, or will sell you a similar item at a comparable reduction in price. We reserve the right to limit quantities. Limitations void in New Mexico.

WAL-MART'S AUTOMOTIVE POLICY—It is our endeavor to satisfy all customers. Wal-Mart retains the right to decline any service, whether advertised or not, where an automobile has related worn parts, which in Wal-Mart's sole discretion would serve to create or continue an unsafe or unsatisfactory condition. Upon notification of the unsafe or unsatisfactory condition the customer may sign a written waiver of the replacement of such needed parts. Wal-Mart retains the right to accept or decline any such waiver, or to refuse such service.
