Austria Will Need More Aid by April 1

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Congress may face an urgent demand for more stop-gap European aid unless the Marshall Plan gets started by April 1, lawmakers heard yesterday. A member in close touch with the State Department said Austria certainly will need more relief by then, and maybe one or two other countries as well.

The long-range, multi-billion dollar Marshall Plan for European reconstruction is making good progress in an election year Congress, but there is considerable doubt whether it can be cleared to President Truman in another month and a half. But the $522,000,000 which the special session of Congress voted for the immediate needs of France, Italy and Austria is expected to be spent by April 1.

The man who talked to the State Department said it might be necessary to cut Austrian rations to 500 calories a day unless new help is sent. It was feared that low amount for 10-15 weeks would cause serious food riots and other disturbances.

The long-range program made its first definite legislative progress Friday. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted unanimously to authorize the spending of $5,000,000 over a one-year period beginning April 1. The administration had asked $6,800,000,000 for the first 15 months.

Although the committee's figure averaged $11,666,667 a month, some critics of the program still thought it was too high. One of them was Senator Guffey (R-Ohio), chairman of the Guffey Policy Committee.

"I think the amount they (the committee) have endorsed is still too large," Guffey told a news conference in Denver. "I am seeking the Republican presidential nomination in the West on a campaign trip."

He will return to Washington this week, but the Senate will not start debate on the measure until March 1. The House Foreign Affairs Committee is still holding hearings on the program and is not expected to clear the legislation before late March.

Since the Senate and House are likely to pass different bills, it may be well after April 1 before the two can settle their differences and submit a compromise measure to the White House. Taft's stand is expected to strengthen the hands of 20 Republican "Revisionists" who also want a smaller spending authorization and other major changes in the program.

Senator Wherry (R-Nebr.), leader of the so-called "Revisionist" Republican senators, said the $5,000,000,000 figure was selected to "pick up a few votes." Senator Reed (R-Kans.), whose home the "Revisionists" have not, said the amount is bigger than we think it ought to be.

From the other side of the Capitol, Rep. V. D. Denny (D-Ill.), member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, indicated the amount might eventually be reduced to $4,000,000,000.

Vords said he didn't think the amount was too important as long as this country is committing itself to a long-range foreign program.

Senator Connally (D-Texas), member and former chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, indicated there will be "little opposition on the part of the Democrats in the Senate."

Members of the fraternity sought to be damaged under office of price administration legislation and also $1,000 for attorney fees. In a cross action Mr. and Mrs. Echols claimed they, not the fraternity, were the injured party. The prospective dentists wrecked their furniture to the tune of $2,500. Mrs. Echols testified.

U. S.-RED RELATIONS MAY GET WORSE

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Relations between the United States and Russia are expected by American officials to go from bad to worse during the next three to six months. After that, these U. S. diplomats say, they may get better.

Within a year or so, some advisers to Secretary of State Marshall report, there is a hope for easing up the differences between East and West.

Spring seems certain to these officials to be a time of crisis because of efforts of the Western Powers to unify Western Germany.

To reorganize the economies of the Marshall Plan countries. To form with American backing a Western European Union. The central issue in the crisis is the Marshall Plan for the European recovery. But until the State Department knows how that project will fare finally in Congress, its analysis of the months immediately ahead remains largely speculative.

However, the substance of the multi-billion dollar program has been approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. There are other evidences, too, which raise official hopes for an ultimate Congressional okay. So the diplomacy of Marshall and his staff of foreign service experts is taking sharper form around the recovery plan.

Marshall revealed in his speech at Reg. Mones Friday night that he regards British Foreign Minister Bevin's proposal of a "Western European Union" as the ultimate capstone of what he would like to see come about in Europe.

This public endorsement of the Bevin Plan is expected to speed up and widely encourage the efforts of the Europeans to break down traditional political and economic barriers. For them to form a more powerful international bloc than they have ever had in the past, he stressed.

It raised the monthly subsistence allowance for veterans without dependents from $65 to $75, those with one dependent from $90 to $105, and those with two or more dependents from $90 to $120.

The new schedules go into effect April 1. The Veterans Administration has estimated the increases will cost the government approximately $217,000,000 a year.

The measure was backed strongly by new allowances. However, such a veteran's combined allowance and salary will be held under the present ceilings.

The House Veterans Committee's professional staff said veterans working part-time while they go to school will be eligible for the new allowances. However, such a veteran's combined allowance and salary will be held under the present ceilings.

The limit is the same as that in effect for veterans taking on-the-job training, also under the GI bill.

Cold Wave Adds to Suffering in Flood

By the Associated Press
Turbulent flood waters from rain and snow-swollen rivers surged in eight states Saturday, taking at least five lives. This increased to 14 the death toll of a two-day attack by the elements.

Thousands of persons were driven from their homes by the angry flood waters. Sub-freezing temperatures added to their misery.

Four of the flood dead were in West Virginia. The fifth was in Indiana. Mississippi, in addition to facing a flood menace, counted nine dead and 42 injured from a tornado which ripped a section of the south, particularly in Central Tennessee.

Besides wreaking her wrath in floods and tornadoes, an angry nature hurled snow, sleet, rain and sub-zero temperatures at the wide-spread stretch of the nation from the Rockies to the North Atlantic Seaboard. A cold wave moving in from Canada threatened temperatures of 25 below in Northern Minnesota, 15 below in Northern Wisconsin and well below zero in the Dakotas, Nebraska and Iowa.

Zero temperatures were forecast for Illinois and readings of five to 10 above in the Ohio Valley. The cold wave was expected to reach the East by Sunday night.

In Central Tennessee, the swirling Duck River cut the city of Columbia in half. It was the worst flood in the city's history. Nearly 200 families were evacuated by the Army National Guard unit. The Army rushed in an emergency water purification unit to meet a crisis caused when the city water plant failed.

Up river from Columbia, the waters were falling at Shelbyville, Tenn. Six streets were washed from store shelves. Hundreds of persons still were held from their homes.

In the Tennessee River, the flood waters were too much for the great dams set up by the Tennessee Valley Authority. The huge reservoirs filled and the water was released to rush over the low country.

At Chattanooga, where the river stood four feet above flood stage, 25 families were evacuated. Arrangements were made to move 40 more.

The Cumberland River rose 11 feet above flood stage at Carthage in Central Tennessee. Evacuation of some homes was necessary.

At Nashville, downstream from Carthage, the Cumberland was six feet above flood stage and expected to rise another four feet.

The House Veterans Committee's professional staff said veterans working part-time while they go to school will be eligible for the new allowances. However, such a veteran's combined allowance and salary will be held under the present ceilings.

Hugh Burdette is chairman of the industrial division of the drive. He will solicit contributions from industrial concerns in and around Pampa.

An "early bird" drive kickoff breakfast will be held at 7:30 a. m. Wednesday in the P. A. Room of City Hall for drive workers. Team captains will then be selected from Pampa civic clubs and from the troop and cub pack sponsoring institutions.

Overriding opposition to the bonus proposal expressed at last week's meeting, the group instructed a committee to write other colleges and universities in the state informing them that a recent poll of university veterans here showed 85 percent favoring a bonus and asking that similar polls be conducted in other schools.

The plans call for a statewide rally here following completion of the polls.

Some 36 persons attended the meeting addressed by Rep. Roger Q. Evans of Denison.

Alanreed Body Files Suit in Hiway Action

A group of Alanreed citizens have filed an injunction suit against the State Highway Commission and others, seeking a restraining order against the plan to divert the course of Highway 66 thereby bypassing Alanreed.

It is alleged the State Highway Commission has undertaken to relocate 65 on a new right of way approximately one mile east of Alanreed, the highway then to turn in a northerly direction and proceed on a curve around Alanreed on the north side of town, so the present route of 66 will be intersected about one-half mile west of Alanreed, then to run along the north edge of the community, approximately one-fourth mile north of the business district.

The plaintiffs are challenging the right of the Gray County Commissioners Court to expend money realized from the sale of bonds voted by the county April 1, 1947, in the sum of $40,000 for the purchase of right of way.

They allege the bond election carried the stipulation, "For construction, maintenance and operation of state highways." They maintain there is no provision for purchasing right of way with the bond proceeds.

The plaintiffs' petition alleges new hazards would be created by the proposed relocation, that if the highway is allowed to remain in its present course, through Alanreed, a substantial part of the right of way is already available for widening, that if the course is changed value of business property in Alanreed would be so decreased as to be practically worthless.

Truman Signs Bill Hiking Veteran Pay

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman Saturday signed legislation increasing benefits of 2,600,000 veterans attending school under the GI bill.

HST Shifts Line Against GOP Tax Cut

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A shift in the administration's line of defense against the tax cut drive of the Republican was reported on good authority Saturday.

A high official who cannot be named indicated the new strategy keyed to signs of a potential change in the business tide—would follow this outline:

1. Champion a broad revision of the tax laws to benefit business as well as individuals. The idea would be to thus strengthen the country against the possibility of an economic storm.

2. Time the revision for later this year when the budget situation becomes more certain. This would be done provided that Congress leaves the government in financial position to afford revision costs after allowing for "substantial" reduction of the national debt.

3. Stress that a quick slash, like that proposed in the Republican $6,500,000,000 income tax cut bill, would smash chances for "sound" changes in the tax system in the foreseeable future by cutting up the money available.

The administration was represented as believing that the active "counter-offensive" nature of this defense would be more effective than its past course.

"Realism" was said to require recognition that President Truman's proposal for $40 individual income tax cuts, with a 75 percent excess profits tax on business to offset the revenue loss, had failed to take hold.

Some influential Democrats balked at the President's proposal. A number joined the Republican majority in slamming the $6,500,000,000 income tax cut bill through the House by a big margin.

The administration was reported hopeful that the new idea of promising business-bracing a.i.d.s. which are not covered by the pending Republican tax bill, would (See TAX CUT, Page 10)

DALLAS—(AP)—A jury failed to agree on who damaged who, and how much, in the trial for alleged rent overcharge brought by a Baylor Dental College fraternity. The fraternity, Alpha Psi Chapter of Alpha Psi Phi, claimed it paid rentals amounting to $1,300 over what it was to pay.

Members of the fraternity sought to be damaged under office of price administration legislation and also $1,000 for attorney fees. In a cross action Mr. and Mrs. Echols claimed they, not the fraternity, were the injured party. The prospective dentists wrecked their furniture to the tune of $2,500. Mrs. Echols testified.

Chorus Practices For Big Minstrel

The Junior High auditorium overflowed with song and merriment as Harry Kelley led 50 songsters in the Friday night rehearsal of the Lions Club minstrel in the practice of a new number, "My Corn Fed Indiana Gals."

Boss Lion Clarence Kennedy reports Kelley challenged the chorus with "Who is the dandyman in this group?" as some member of the chorus insisted on rolling the "R's" in an up-country diction.

Fortunately the sponsoring committee was not present, as Dr. H. L. Wilder gave quickwitted ad lib to his specialty number, "Lil' Liza Jane."

After chorus rehearsal the end men, known as the "Six Simple Senators from Harlem," met with interloper, Arthur Teed, to try to settle the song group.

Next scheduled rehearsal will be held Monday night, at which time it is expected the full 60-voice chorus will be present. At the last rehearsal some chorus members were lured away by the siren's sally of Valentine dances.

Students Ask State Bonus Rally

AUSTIN—(AP)—A handful of ex-GI's at the University of Texas laid plans there last week for what they hope will develop into a statewide rally for a state bonus for veterans.

Major Commodities Hit Temporary Bottom

CHICAGO—(AP)—Some major commodities touched at least a temporary bottom yesterday after an over-all 10-day plunge that pushed the inflationary spiral back six months.

However, some grains continued their record breaking slump and New York stocks did little more than hold their ground at levels near the lowest in eight months.

Retail prices, always a galling factor behind the markets, still were coming down. Soap, flour, bread, meat, butter and lard in the list of shopper items marked down in some grocery stores.

Prices were down sharply from a week ago in many New York groceries. Shoppers in most American cities have had at least a few cents chipped off their grocery bills.

Water Plans Snagged by High Costs

AUSTIN (AP)—Inflated construction costs have temporarily crowded proposed Texas water projects off the Bureau of Reclamation's recommended list through officials related here.

H. E. Robbins of Amarillo, acting regional director of the bureau, at a public hearing told a special study committee appointed by Gov. Beauford H. Jester that costs of New River basin and certain Colorado River basin projects have risen to figures which water users would unlikely be able to repay.

Increased costs were estimated at 28 times 1940 costs while benefits from the projects were estimated to have increased only 1 1/2 times. 90 percent.

Projects which have fallen prey to inflation include Cotulla, Tom Norrell (La. River), Concan, Fossilton, Salsman and Quin projects in the New River basin and Fort, Lee and San Angelo projects in the Colorado River basin.

H. G. Wendland of San Angelo, chief of a reclamation of cost estimates of the Robert Lee project, both of which were promised by Robbins.

Lee project of Amarillo, bureau planning engineer, answered complaints that the bureau was taking construction costs too lightly.

"Too frequently," he said, "we have found ourselves estimating costs at figures considerably under those at which contracts are finally let because of the rapid price rise."

Not everyone in Hawaii wants statehood. The majority do. The people there voted on the question in 1900. The result: 67 percent voted for it.

Some congressmen oppose it. Some arguments against making it a state go this way:

1. This country's 48 states, solidly grouped together, have two oceans for a frontier. Making Hawaii a state would extend the Pacific frontier 2,300 miles into the Pacific.

2. The citizens there who are of Japanese descent might control the islands if they voted together as a group.

Statehood for Hawaii Is Up To the Senate

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—Statehood for Hawaii this year depends on the Senate. It may approve.

An okay by both houses of Congress is all that's needed to make any territory like Hawaii a state. The House approved last summer.

There's less chance for Alaska, also a territory to become a state this year. Neither house has acted on Alaska.

Hawaii's eight islands in the Pacific 2,300 miles from the West Coast has a population of about 500,000.

In area it's larger than Delaware, Connecticut and Rhode Island. It shares biggest products: pineapples, sugar, coffee.

140 Texas War Dead Returned

The bodies of 140 Texas men are included in a shipment of 2,792 war dead being returned to this country from the Pacific aboard the USAT Cardinal O'Connell, according to a report from the Army Publication Information Division.

The boat was to have arrived in San Francisco this past week, and the bodies will be sent to various parts of the country for the European aid legislation before Congress was not in suitable form for consideration.

Press Officer Roger Tubby said the two ambassadors were advised Tuesday that the department considered that "a preliminary draft bill indicating one aspect of congressional thought might be ready by the end of this month."

The recovery program was discussed at the regular Friday meeting of President Truman and his cabinet.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee, which is holding hearings on the Marshall Plan, also announced that Henry A. Wallace will testify Feb. 24.

Meanwhile, a business man's suggestion that the department aid stress loans rather than gifts won support among some committee members.

Department OK's Early Aid Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has withdrawn objections to an early meeting of the European Recovery Plan nations.

The State Department said the British and French ambassadors were told that this government has no objection to a meeting after the end of February.

A proposal for recovering the loan conference was discouraged last month by the State Department. It took the view that Congress couldn't underwrite a state like that.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Five years ago, this week, "The Desert Rat" paid a Valentine visit to the American forces in North Africa.

In the next few days this tempestuous Teuton—Field Marshal Erwin Rommel—sent the overwhelmed Yanks spinning back forty miles.

That was the only time I ever led troops. I ran back 41 1/2 miles.

After a week of wild rampaging, Rommel trundled his panzers back into the Tunisian coastal hills, leaving behind the hulks of 86 American tanks and thirty overrun field guns.

Since then it has been the fashion to treat the battle of Kasserine Gap as a great defeat caused by the greenness of American troops.

This ready explanation puts a needless and untrue slur on the men who fought there, men who really had done considerable fighting already. And it hides the fact that much of the blame belongs on the top brass.

Many of the men went to their deaths believing they were fighting the battle the wrong way. I know this because one evening they told me so, and the next evening they were dead.

There will always be some controversy over the battle of Kasserine. Many American officers who fought there believe the record would have been considerably better if their units hadn't been led to Rommel a battalion at a 150-mile north-south front with British Maj. Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson in overall command.

It was foreseen that Rommel would try to break out to grab the supplies of gasoline he needed desperately. He could strike at the British through the mountain pass at Pichon or through Faid Pass near the center of the thin American line.

Anderson thought Rommel would choose Pichon. But "The Desert Rat" came through Faid Pass with three full veteran panzer divisions.

Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall, Second Corps commander, frantically demanded that he be permitted to regroup the First Armored and First Infantry and fight them as full divisions.

Anderson refused, believing that the Faid attack was only a diversion and that the main German blow would still come at him through Pichon.

"I'm going to be the goat in this," Fredendall said when An-der's reply came.

So the first day one battalion from the First Armored was sent against the Germans. Outgunned, outnumbered—but not outfought—it was destroyed. The next day a second American tank battalion was ordered out and met the same piecemeal fate.

heavy tank battalion. It was under Brig. Gen. Paul McDonald Robinson—slim, small cantankerous commander of combat command "B."

A brilliant tactician, Robinson and his men stubbornly held off a German force at least five times their size until the infantry could withdraw. Then they pulled out in perfect order.

Scientists Now Produce Snow That's Housebroken

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—The science of making dry ice in the clouds to make it snow where or when you want it to have a new competitor. Meteorologists now have a way to produce snow flakes so they can look them over leisurely in a nice warm room, without threat of a red nose or chilblains.

And they do it without dry ice, right in their laboratory. Pennsylvania State College scientists, who are making this latest bid to snow-making fame, say it's the first time snow crystals have been produced indoors by a process imitating their natural production in the clouds.

The snow crystals were produced by J. Ross Hevly and Dr. Hans Neuberger of the Penn State meteorology division. Since they were trying to find out more about the icing conditions that hamper winter flying, they were looking for the conditions necessary in nature to make snow crystals, rather than a way to make nature drop a snowstorm.

Hevly and Neuberger took ordinary air, saturated with water vapor, and cooled it in a chamber to 15 degrees below zero. Then they expanded it to 150 percent of its original volume in close imitation to the changes that occur in a natural cloud being formed in rising air currents.

LABORATORY snowflakes, greatly enlarged by the camera, are replicas of the tiny crystals that grow to snow-storm size as they fall through the air.

Snow crystals, five-thousandths of an inch across, were pulled out of this air into a chemical solution called formvar; when the snow evaporated, it left perfect formvar replicas of the ice crystals.

Along with the ice crystals, the experimenters found numerous super-cooled droplets of water, which decreased in size and number as the temperature dropped.

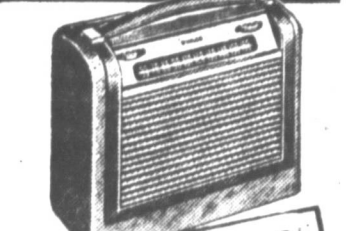

"These droplets," Dr. Neuberger explained, "form ice coating on a plane flying through a cloud containing them. Since the ice coating depends on the number and size of the droplets, the less dangerous they are for planes."

The dry ice weather-makers still have it over the Penn State meteorologists, however. With their dry ice seeds, they can make it rain as well as snow. But Hevly and Neuberger haven't found any way to save the drops of rain in their original form for leisurely study on a nice dry day.

Gatesville Plan Is Early to Bed, Early to Rise

By DAVE CHEAVENS
GATESVILLE—It's early to bed and early to rise at the Gatesville Training School for boys, but does it make Jack a good boy?

Several members of the State Training School Code Commission came away from their inspection of the institution with the impression that merely keeping the juvenile delinquents busy from 6 a. m. until 8 p. m. is not enough.

The commission found that the delinquents "in training" here might more accurately be said to be "in detention."

Its visit here was the first of three such formal inspection undertakings in the task of studying the entire problem of juvenile delinquency and evaluating the state's effort to correct it.

The commission has just barely started its work, and it has made no formal report on the school for boys, the first one to be visited. Most of its members are not yet ready to go on the record with their impressions or recommendations.

But on the basis of what they said informally, and on the basis of questions they asked the supervisors and inmates, it would be safe to say the members of this body are greatly concerned. Their concern was not over the administration, but the system the state is now using.

Several members put their finger on what appeared to be a basic weakness—little participation in vocational education.

They found only a few inmates, for example, in the school's simple automobile mechanics shop. Just a handful of the 385 boys were in the well-equipped carpentry shop, and few in the plumbing and tinshop. Officials of the school explained that it is difficult—almost impossible—to find adequate vocational teachers for the salaries that are available. These would run from $80 to $100 a month, plus maintenance.

They aren't interested in farms, and don't want to spend their lives farming.

The inmate of Gatesville gets up at 6 in the morning, and most of the time he is in bed at 8.

He is kept pretty busy at work or in school during those daytime hours. Half at work. But the question the commission members asked was, does it all add up to much from the standpoint of rehabilitation? Are the inmates getting enough useful training to make them independent and self-respecting citizens when they leave the school?

The members of the commission are coming back individually for further studies. They want to

Medic Blasts Shortage of Hospital Beds

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN—More children die in Texas than in any other state because of a dire shortage of hospital beds and lack of adequate training centers for child health.

Dr. Hansen flatly placed the responsibility of persons of "influence and power." He said they "must be interested, challenged and stimulated to act" if this state is to have an adequate program of child health.

"Texas needs champions of child health," he declared.

"We have the interested fathers and mothers, the physicians and the fact that most of us are assembled here indicates we are concerned and are willing to do our utmost.

"Unfortunately too many of us are not in very powerful positions to do the things. Of Texas' many very wealthy men, too few or may I say none have gone out for child health in a big way."

Texas' "legal and moral" representatives—the lawmakers—must also do their part, Dr. Hansen said.

Mrs. Richard Turrentine of Denton, chairman of the State Board of Public Welfare, said the time to go into the entire matter more thoroughly before they are ready to sit down and write out a bill of particulars to submit to the next legislature. They will follow the same process at the Gatesville Training School for white girls, and the Brady Training School for Negro girls. They are investigating all related matters, such as the code of laws which set up the system of treating juvenile delinquency, the manner of commitment to the institutions, what the state does, if anything, to follow up and keep track of "graduates" of the institutions, whether or not the state is appropriating enough money to try to reclaim wayward boys and girls.

Paper Marks 35 Years of Publication

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—La Frensa, local Spanish language newspaper, Friday celebrated its 35th anniversary of continuous publication with a special edition.

Dr. Harold E. Fey of Chicago, managing editor of the Christian Century, said the right of children to tomorrow "includes access to all that enters into our heritage of democratic freedom and responsibility."

The editor said this should be passed on "without impairment or mortgage by reason of creed or color or economic status."

Jeff D. Bearden, representing THE FRANKLIN LIFE INSURANCE CO., Pampa, Texas, Phone 47

The paper was founded Feb. 13, 1913, by Mr. Ignacio E. Lozano, its present owner.

From a few hundred circulation until today the two daily editions have a 10,000 circulation and 20,000 on Sundays. It covers Spanish speaking communities throughout the United States and cities in northern Mexico. The paper has been a member of the Associated Press for the past 10 years.

Following a custom established years ago, the publisher was host at a banquet Friday night to the personnel of the publication and prominent business and civic leaders of the Mexican colony and city and civic officials of San Antonio. He also will be host to teachers of the University of Mexico who are now in San Antonio conducting the university's extension courses.

Greeting will be extended over radio station KITE of San Antonio to Mexican residents of the United States and Mexico, expressing the gratitude of the publisher and personnel, now numbering more than 100 persons.

Mr. Lozano is also the owner and publisher of La Opinion, Spanish language newspaper in Los Angeles.

50 POUNDS LOST WITH BARCENTRATE

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoons twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves, if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Here is what Mrs. C. M. Eash, 403 N. 12th St., McAllen, Texas, says about Barcentrate: "I want to tell you that I have lost 50 pounds since taking Barcentrate. I still want to lose 20 more pounds as I now weigh 167, a reduction from 217 pounds."

To lose weight the grapefruit juice way, get Barcentrate from your favorite drugist today.

Credit Association Celebrates Payment to Government

CANADIAN (Special)—The Canadian Valley Production Credit Association celebrated paying $20,000 back to the government at their annual stockholders' meeting in the High School Auditorium at Canadian, Feb. 7, according to H. H. Keahey, director.

Keahey said that in the early thirties when farmers and ranchmen could not get credit, the government provided most of the capital stock in the Canadian Valley Production Credit Association.

Congress outlined two provisions in making this investment, said Keahey: (1) The users of production credit as they become able would retire all government capital, and (2) That the association would be exempt from federal income tax until the farmer and ranchmen members could get it paid for.

He said that since organizing in 1933, the stockholders of the Canadian Valley Production Credit Association have been building up the capital stock of the association.

Archbishop Says Parenthood Chief End of Marriage

LONDON (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury says parenthood is a chief end of marriage regardless of a legal ruling to the contrary.

In the House of Lords on Dec. 17 the five law lords held that a marriage may be consummated even though contraceptives are used.

The archbishop declares that the insistence of the Church of England upon the obligation of parenthood as a chief end of marriage remains untouched. He conceded that the legal ruling might have a beneficial effect in preventing trial marriages which could be voided by collusion of both parties.

The church is relieved in that the judgment of the House of Lords limits the range of willful refusal and of decrees of nullity on that ground to cases in which marital intercourse is altogether refused, the archbishop said.

The ruling by the law lords was made on an appeal by Frederick Charles Baxter, London laboratory worker. Baxter said his wife refused to have sexual relations with him unless he used contraceptives. This constituted grounds for a nullification of the marriage, he said.

England's revised divorce code of laws provides for annulment upon willful refusal to consummate marriage.

The decision of the law lords said "the institution of marriage generally is not necessary for the procreation of children; nor does it appear to be a principal end of marriage as understood in Christendom."

The lords advised against relying on the wording of the Church of England prayer book, which speaks of the "procreation of children" and the "increase of mankind" as principal purposes of marriage.

New Schedule Road Damage By Weather Highest Ever

Santa Fe Railway's deluxe Diesel-powered streamliner, the Super Chief, now operating on alternate days between Los Angeles and Chicago, will go into daily service on Feb. 29, Fred G. Gurley, Santa Fe president, has announced.

Present running time of 39 hours and 15 minutes between the two cities will remain in effect. Doubling the service on this train was made possible by delivery to Santa Fe of latest-type lightweight equipment long on order, Gurley said. Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Company built the new equipment.

The new daily Super Chief will be an all-room train of 11 sleeping compartments, drawing room, dining room, observation car, and drawing room-bedroom suites providing more spacious accommodations for family and other groups.

A new type compartment features fold-away beds for daytime occupancy, permitting the use of two comfortable chairs with full view windows, and enclosed instead of open toilet facilities.

All the new equipment is decorated in the colorful Indian style of the Southwest.

Supervisors to Learn Techniques

"How to Supervise Employees," an eight-hour course in personnel supervision, presenting effective techniques of supervision and a plan showing how to carry these into practical operation, will be offered as the last course of instruction of the Retail Training Institute, being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, begins tomorrow night.

Enrollment in this course will be limited to 18, announced Miss Gertrude Prince, of the University of Texas, Division of Extension, conductor of the classes. Enrollment will take place at the first class Monday night at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce office.

This is the first time this course has been offered in Pampa, since Miss Prince was here two years ago. She then announced Miss Prince, the course has been revised, using the latest methods in supervisory techniques, as personnel administration is constantly strengthening its contribution to business.

Classes will be held for two hours each evening, beginning tomorrow night and will continue for four consecutive evenings.

A retail training banquet will be held Friday night beginning at 6:30 for all those participating in the training classes, which Miss Prince has been conducting here during the past five weeks.

Texas Regulars Advocate Own Plan for South

DALLAS (AP)—The Texas Regulars formula is advocated by Merritt Gibson of Longview as a means by which the South can assert itself in national politics.

The former Gregg County Judge and E. B. Germany of Dallas, both leaders of the Regulars in 1944, said they backed Gov. Fielding H. Wright of Mississippi in his call for a program of action by Southern Democrats.

Gibson said he believed the Texas Regulars formula was the only way for the South to assert itself.

The Texas Regulars in 1944 hoped to throw the presidential election into the House of Representatives by withholding enough electoral votes to prevent a presidential election in the usual method.

The party was organized in an unsuccessful attempt to divert the Democratic electoral votes in Texas from the Roosevelt-Truman ticket.

The issues today are the same as those which caused the Texas Regulars movement, Germany said. He said they involve what he called politically-inspired efforts of the national administration to break down southern segregation laws.

Chief Issues Call to Arms

(Ed's Note: The following dispatch was prepared by the Texas Highway Patrol, and is printed in the interest of public safety and welfare.)

A call to arms was issued today by W. J. Elliott, chief of the Texas Highway Patrol.

The arms referred to are the kind you stick through car windows to signal your intentions to other drivers.

"Hand signals are a means of self-preservation when you are driving an automobile, as well as a courtesy to the other fellow," Chief Elliott said.

He emphasized hand signals as one of the important laws designed to make motoring safer, and appealed for better voluntary observance of the regulation in cooperation with a nationwide "Learn and Obey Traffic Laws" program during February.

Captain Polk Ivy of the Amarillo District offered these hand signaling tips:

1. Give signals far enough in advance to allow the other driver to adjust himself—at least 100 feet.
2. Hand signals do not justify you in making an unexpected or illegal maneuver. For example, to make a left turn, be in the left lane before you reach the corner.
3. Get both hands back on the wheel before starting to turn.
4. Hand signals are not uniform throughout the country. A safe rule is to be prepared for anything when another driver holds out his hand.

Mangrum Takes Lead in Lower Rio Grande Valley Tourney

HARLINGEN—(AP)—Debonair Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago ripped the 6,045-yard Harlingen Municipal Course with an eight-under-par 63 Saturday to shoot into the lead in the Lower Rio Grande Valley $10,000 open at the three-quarters mark.

Displacing Jimmy Demaret, the singing man from Ojai, Calif., who led at the start of yesterday's round with 129 and skidded to a one-over-par 72, Mangrum brought his 54-hole total to 196. Demaret fell into second place at 201.

The finish of the leaders climaxed a day of bickering among the players over the rules situation and at one time two of the pros came to blows but, however, in no way related to the general turmoil that has taken over the tournament.

The two pros figuring in the brief flurry were N. G. Von Nida of Sydney, Australia, and Henry Ransom of Ravenna, Ill., former Texan. Ransom claimed Von Nida told him he should be charged an extra stroke on a hole for tapping the ball before putting.

Ransom said he did not tap the ball. Hot words passed between them then and later they renewed the argument near the scoreboard. They wrestled around on the ground until other pros separated them.

The bickering started Friday after some protests over testing up the ball in the opposite fairway and of improving the line. George Schneider, chairman of the PGA Tournament Committee, said the rules were not clear—that those on the back of the scorecard and those on a supplementary sheet did not agree.

The committee Friday night held that no one should be disqualified but that winter rules would be discarded Saturday.

Lawson Little of Cleveland, chairman of the Rules Committee, said Saturday he had resigned. Schneider said a general meeting of the pros would be held Saturday night to try to iron out the situation.

Mangrum missed an eight-footer that would have given him a birdie on No. 18 and a tie of the competitive course. The hole was set by the Harlingen Municipal Course Pro Tony Butler. He had eight birdies on his card and said the eight-footer at No. 18 was the only putt he had missed at that distance during the round.

Demaret started out by going over par on the first two holes and never could whittle it down. Al Smith of Winston-Salem, N. C., shot a 66 yesterday to move into third place with a total of 203. Next in line were Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., and Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., who were tied at 204.

Thirty-five of the field of 71 bettered par 35-36 71 yesterday. The final 18 holes of the tournament with $2,000 first money will be played today.

Ransom and Von Nida, who figured in the first two holes, were both among the 20 leaders. Ransom with 207 and Von Nida with 209. Ransom was tied for ninth place and Von Nida for seventh.

Texas Baseball Squad Opens Practice Monday
AUSTIN—(AP)—The University of Texas baseball squad opens baseball practice Monday, and Coach Bibb Falk apparently will have a strong team defending its Southwest Conference championship.

The Texas pitching staff should give Falk little worry. Bobby Layne, who has not lost a conference game, and Murray Hill are lettermen right-handers. Charley Goin of Austin is a promising sophomore southpaw.

Dan Watson, regular catcher, returns, as do three members of the 1947 infield. Three lettermen outfielders will also be on hand when the full squad reports.

Four of this group, Watson, Outfielder Charley Munson, and infielders Tom Hamilton and Chick

El Mono Captures McLennan Handicap in Photo Finish

MIAMI—(AP)—El Mono, a $900 for two shot, captured the $25,000 added McLennan Handicap at Hialeah Race Course Saturday in a photo finish while heavily favored Armed ran third.

In the preceding race, King Fanch's Assault made a successful winter season debut by winning a $5,000 overnight sprint by a head.

The largest crowd of the winter meeting so far, 21,995, turned out to see the Calumet Farm's champion lose the 14th running of the McLennan to Daniel Lamont's El Mono and Circle M. Farm's Riskolator.

El Mono, which has shown well in sprint events, was never figured as a threat to the mighty Assault's initial showing this year. Although the bay racer, third ranking money-earner of all time, finished only a head in front of Mrs. Helene K. Hagerly's Rampart. As in the McLennan, the winner was decided in a photo finish.

Jokey Warren Mehrtens, who piloted Assault, said his mount could have "won by as far as I wanted him to."

"I had plenty of horse under me, you may be sure of that," Mehrtens said.

H. A. (Jimmy) Jones, Calumet's trainer, said "Armed definitely did not run his race and I was far from satisfied with his performance."

"Armed is not himself and hasn't shown this winter that he has his old-time stuff. However, we won't decide until the first of the week what our plans for him will be."

Armed, Assault and Star Pilot, have all been nominated for the $50,000 Widener Handicap Saturday.

Death Takes Life Of Former Cub Pitching Great

TERRE HAUTE, Ind.—(AP)—Mordca Brown, one of the all-time great pitchers in major league baseball, died in Union Hospital Saturday. He was 71 years old.

Anchor man on the pitching staff of the Chicago Cubs, he returned to his boyhood home here after retiring in 1916 from professional baseball. His death followed a long illness.

In spite of losing two fingers in an Indiana coal mine accident, Brown advanced through the semi-pros to big-league competition with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1903. He served with the Cubs nine years, amassing a pitching record of 239 victories and 131 defeats.

Funeral services had not been arranged.

Fair Truckle Is Being Ridden By His Trainer

ARCADIA, Calif.—(NEA)—Hurst Philpot has personally taken over the riding in works of Charles S. Howard's Fair Truckle at Santa Anita. With his weight and experience, trainer Philpot, a former jockey and still an expert horseman, is bringing the heavy-headed sprinter back into condition. Fair Truckle has difficulty restraining his terrific speed. He holds the world record of 1:08 2/5 for six furlongs. A couple of weeks ago he ran up on a horse and went down, injuring Johnny Adams. Philpot hopes to correct the English thoroughbred's fault and bring him back to the races.

Two Bulldogs, Dick Hill, center, and Tommy Rice were responsible for supplying ample trouble for the Sandies.

Hill who turned his best game of the season against the Sandies fired eight field goals and five free tosses for high point honors with 21 points. Tommy Rice, stocky-legged forward, tossed five field goals and six shots from the free throw circle for 16 points.

The two teams fought a nip and tuck contest with the score being deadlocked on fourteen different occasions.

The district champions appeared to be surprised at the offensive power of the Bulldogs who played their best game of the season.

Marshall Carille, leading scorer for the Bulldogs, failed to see action in the final quarter after being sent to the bench via the five foul route early in the third period.

The Bulldogs were successful with 20 of 52 attempted shots fired from the court with the Sandies completing 20 of 71 attempted tosses. Entering the overtime period with a 56-56 deadlock it was Slick Ellis, Amarillo guard, who advanced the Sandies into a lead of 58-56. Bob Farmer, another guard for the champions, was unlucky in an attempt to fire a free throw but Bob Wilson caught the rebound and tipped the ball through the basket for an Amarillo lead of 60-56.

Before the Bulldogs were in possession of the ball during the overtime period the Sandies were busy firing seven attempts for goals.

Record High Sales Made at Houston Show

HOUSTON — Relief to needy Texans over 65 will cost more and more as time goes on, John Winters predicted here. Winters, executive director of the State Department of Public Welfare, said such aid had cost $6,081,261 this month. He said this amount would increase as the number of aged persons grows. In 1900, Texas had 74,000 residents over 65, he said. By 1920 the number was 163,000 and by 1940, 347,000. He said he expected Texas to have a population of 650,000 persons over 65 in 1960. Forty-seven percent of all Texans over 65 were on state relief rolls August last year.

U. S. - RED

(Continued from Page 1) not be an easy task. Officials here recognize that in addition to the obstacles normally in the way, some of the countries, notably Sweden and Norway, are reluctant to take part in any kind of political enterprise which might seriously offend Russia. Marshall's endorsement also brought renewed speculation here that if and when a Western European Union is formed, the United States would consider favorably any proposals for military alliance between that union and America. Officials still see no prospect that Washington would take the initiative to such a project.

These developments highlight the broad estimate of the future of relations between the United States and Russia which, assuming that the Marshall Plan goes through, now is entering into its second year. It goes along these lines: As long as Europe remains in a state of great instability, the Russians will continue, as Marshall charged in his Des Moines speech, to try to gain control of the whole continent.

Their efforts are being matched by United States encouragement to the Western European countries to make themselves capable of resisting all Soviet-Communist pressures. Marshall contended in his speech Friday night that if the recovery program does not go through the Communists will grab off all Western Europe.

American, British and French experts on Germany will meet in London this week to try to plan the unification of Western Germany. The Russians have protested against this three-power meeting, contending that it violates an agreement that Germany should be run by all four powers.

Austin Has Largest Well in the World

AUSTIN — Water-conscious West Texas, constantly searching for every sign of surface or subsurface water, ironically are exploiting only a few hundred wells in the largest flowing well in the nation. A well drilled at San Antonio in 1941 by the San Antonio Public Service Company still sets the nation's record with a natural flow of 1,000,000 gallons an hour, according to the State Board of Water Engineers.

The well is 1,032 feet deep, producing from the Edwards limestone. The water is of good quality and could be used for municipal supply without treatment, according to the board, but is used only for cooling purposes at the company's nearby power plant.

250 Miles on a Gallon, He Says

James Monroe, of Bellflower, Calif., checks the gadget he invented to make his car run 250 miles on a gallon of gas and a gallon of water. Soon he says he'll be able to do without the gasoline and just use water. Principle of Monroe's invention is the conversion of water into its hydrogen and oxygen components. These mixed with gasoline vapor, become a highly explosive product which is fed into the carburetor. Monroe hopes to perfect the device before it blows him and his car sky-high.

Laredo Plans Washington Birthday Celebration

LAREDO — Mount Vernon was never like this, but George Washington undoubtedly would be pleased at the plans they are making to celebrate his 210th birthday down here on both sides of the border. A three-day celebration—the first year that the Washington Birthday Celebration Association has marked the event—is in the making.

Pocahontas will lead the closing pageant. George and Martha Washington (their real identities a close-kept secret) will head another pageant and a colonial ball.

A bullfight will highlight the celebration in Nuevo Laredo, on the Mexican side Sunday, Feb. 22. Gov. Beaufort Jester of Texas, and Gov. Garate of the state of Tamaulipas, Mexico, will be among dignitaries honored at a cocktail party on the night of Saturday, Feb. 21.

The annual grand street pageant will be held Monday, Feb. 23. Headed by Pocahontas, it will include decorated floats, Indians, cowboys, cowgirls, lots of bands and military and school groups.

A Mexican delegation will be welcomed by Texas hosts at the boundary monument on the international footbridge.

Stockmen from both Texas and Mexico will hold an annual grand ball at the Martin High School Auditorium on the night of Feb. 19. The annual Pan-American fair and livestock show was postponed again this year, because of the foot and mouth disease in Mexico.

Cooperation Gets Papers to Readers LAKE CHARLES, La. — The afternoon edition of the Lake Charles American Press came off the press with the fresh smell of pine.

Less than eight hours previously the edition was practically a pine log at the paper mill.

Anticipating late arrival of a shipment of newspaper from the mill, the American Press gave a hurried call for an emergency truck load.

The afternoon edition was at stake. When the mill opened for the day, the first rolls of newspaper were allocated to Lake Charles. The truckload of cargo left Luffkin at 9:30 a. m. and arrived in Lake Charles at 3:20 p. m.

Five Great Nights At the Church of the Brethren

The Brethren God Will Caravan on tour among the churches of America will be guests in Pampa for one week, conducting open discussions each evening at the local Church of the Brethren. All these meetings are open to the public and this is your invitation to attend and take an active part in the discussions.

TONIGHT AT 7:30 — "HISTORICAL BACKGROUND OF THE CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN RELATED TO PRESENT-DAY PROBLEMS."

Many people of Pampa have wanted to know more about the Church of the Brethren and its interpretation and application of the Christian Faith. We invite our good friends and neighbors to attend this discussion. It is not the purpose of this program to make Brethren out of our visitors or to make any one dissatisfied with his own church. It will be a heart-searching experience even for the members of the local congregation as they seek to match their ideals with the problems of our day.

MONDAY NIGHT at 7:30 — (Rest Night for the Caravan). The church presents to the public a stirring Motion Picture on the Passion week of our Lord and Saviour, entitled, "GOTTA." This is a stirring sound picture with a lovely musical background and on by a professional operator from California. The time of the picture is approximately one and a half hours. No admission will be charged but a silver offering will be lifted.

TUESDAY NIGHT at 7:30 — "RUSSIAN-AMERICAN RELATIONS." This Peace Caravan is prepared to lead us in this insistent and perplexing problem. You will want to be prepared to participate in the open give and take on this great subject.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT at 7:30 — "ATOMIC ENERGY AND THE UNITED NATIONS." Most of us are busy with our own affairs and have little time to devote to keeping up on these big movements which so vitally effect our lives. These young people have tried to prepare themselves to lead people into a better understanding of these problems and how to meet them.

THURSDAY NIGHT at 7:30 — "CHRISTIAN ACTION IN A PERPLEXED WORLD." What should Christian people be doing? What can we do? What are some of the "musts" in the midst of a ruined world? What can we do as Christians of all churches to help the people of the world in this great crisis? You are invited to be present and make your contribution in this discussion.

These meetings are strictly informal. After a few minutes each evening for presenting the subject for discussion the people will separate into informal discussion groups. There will be a special section each evening for young people.

COLD WAVE

(Continued from Page 1) gency crews moved families from the path of the waters. West Virginia highways were blocked by rising waters. Many small towns were isolated. At Charleston, the Kanawha River was rising and many lowland dwellers were threatened with evacuation. Numerous homes at Williamson and Matewan were under water. Snow began falling in the afternoon in the southern section of the state. There was hope that freezing temperatures might check the rising waters.

Argentina to Take-Over Railroads

BUENOS AIRES — Argentina will take possession of the British-owned railways in this country by Feb. 24. President Juan D. Peron revealed this in a speech before the Congress of Provincial Teachers. The purchase price is expected to provide about 150,000,000 Pounds ($600,000,000) toward payment for Argentine meat shipped to Britain.

TAX CUT

(Continued from Page 1) enlist strong new support for its plan. The recent break in commodity market prices, a signal of softness in at least one part of the economy and a demonstration that prosperity is not sure-fire, plays a part in the new policy. Cited as a trial run and initial public tip-off on the new strategy was a speech made by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder at Atlanta Friday night. Snyder named among business taxes for which "revision appears to be particularly desirable in the interest of basic economic goals" the following: (1) Excise (sales) taxes "which bear heavily on business costs;" and (2) double-taxation of dividends.

If elected Mr. Schaffer said his office would be in the County Barn. He will devote all his time to the office and said "personal service means satisfaction." Czech Woman Leader Wants Real Equality

By A. I. GOLDBERG We do not intend to make any changes in this. The new minister was asked whether Czechoslovakia's industry, eventually would find itself only working under planned programs...

Mrs. Ladmira Jankovcova (pronounced Yunk-ov-iso-va), 30-year-old widow whose husband was a victim of Nazi atrocities, told The Associated Press that the only advice she could give after a quarter of a century of combining office and home work was that those who try it must learn to organize their work well.

Our public still regards woman and her function in public life with scorn, although generally her work is judged by stricter standards, she complained. "That is shown by the fact that leading positions in offices as well as in economic life are still reserved for men only," she said.

Safety Check May Save Your Neck!

AUSTIN — A safety check may save your neck! That was the terse advice offered today by George Clarke, managing director of the Texas Safety Association in urging motorists to keep the safety equipment of their cars in tip-top shape.

"We are cooperating with safety authorities throughout the nation in a 'Learn and Obey Traffic Laws' program during February," Clarke said. "The law requires that your car have certain equipment for safety, and it's there when the manufacturer delivers the car. But it is up to the driver to keep it working properly."

He said National Safety Council figures show that 18 percent of all vehicles involved in fatal accidents are defective, and one out of seven with bad brakes.

The major safety equipment was listed as brakes, lights, mirror, windshield wiper, horn and safety glass. Many of these items will wear out or become damaged with use, and the motorist must see that they are maintained in good condition.

"Public inspection by trained mechanics or inspectors is the answer," Clarke said. "Professional drivers, such as truck drivers, inspect their vehicles before every trip. That's a good idea for every driver, and it would save a lot of lives."

FOR CRYING OUT LOUD...

CHILD PALCONY in a Memphis theatre seems to be going over with a howl. Non-baby toting audience is protected from the walling by the soundproof glass window at right.

That's What It's for, and With Baby, It's a Howling Success

The babies are having a wail of a time at the movies, and it doesn't bother the audience a bit. They are doing their loud howling in a special, very balcony that has turned out to be a howling success, because housewives can take in a matinee and bring junior along without any worry about the noise-making sound effects in it.

The "baby balcony" is a blessed in soundproofed room for child-carrying theatre goers. It recently made its debut in Memphis as an answer to two problems: non-child-carrying movie patrons who complained they couldn't hear the dialogue because of the infant chorus, and housewives who couldn't find sitters at matinee time.

A similar idea was tested in California before the war. That one was a stalling room lounge off the ladies' room. When the idea headed east, via Tennessee, theatre owners figured they'd make it possible for father to bring baby along, too. So the "baby balcony" is a balcony of its own.

Elsewhere, it is reported, certain of granted theatre goers are trying to start a campaign for baby people who have seen the picture before and want to explain the plot out loud, and the people who eat peanut brittle out of packing bags.

Advantages and opportunities made available for children of Mexican birth or parentage to the end that they may not have less opportunities than other children, is a very real test of our Mexican neighbors and of American citizens of Spanish or Mexican descent," Miss Lenroot said, in a speech prepared for delivery.

She viewed the work of the Texas committee as a medium through which the needs of their children and advance the cause of child welfare "in their own state, their homes, communities, and throughout the nation."

Reporting on the work of the National Commission on Children and Youth, Miss Lenroot stressed the significance of a 1950 White House conference on children and youth. A committee began making plans last year for the conference.

Further planning will be carried on by the commission's executive committee, working with federal agencies and other national organizations, Miss Lenroot said.

"A mid-century conference will have to deal with some hard facts as well as to evaluate gains made," she said, and then asked:

"How far can we go in the next four or five years in extending opportunities to all children, without discrimination because of race, national origin, or creed?"

Only if we progress steadily toward this goal will we be living out the principles of democracy, human rights and human freedom.

OFFICE Nurse

By Adelaide Humphries
© by Adelaide Humphries, Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Janice Hilary, pretty, efficient young nurse in popular and handsome society doctor Eric Holbrook, runs his office for him. Eric and Janice have fallen in love—although Eric already has a wife (who is away) and Janice has a boy-friend (Ben Archer). They continue on formal terms with each other at the office, meeting in out-of-the-way restaurants when they want to be alone together. They both know things can't go on this way indefinitely but put off doing anything about it.

XVI
JANICE, too, had to take care to guard their secret—hers and Eric's. She wondered, looking into her mirror, why it was not painted on her face for the whole world to see. It was impossible that she should continue to look exactly the same. All that was bottled up inside ought to rise to the surface and break through.

Sometimes she thought certain people—her mother, whose mild blue eyes were remarkably keen, Miss Willows, whose long nose could pick out anything as small as a bloodhound on a trail, Ben—But she was not going to think of Ben, yet, either. Sometimes she thought these persons did glance at her oddly. Perhaps they sensed a difference in her that they could not see.

As one day, a long idle Sunday when Eric had had to go somewhere on Long Island, her mother had suddenly asked Janice if she were feeling well.

"Why, of course, darling," Janice's answer may have come too hastily, too heartily. "Why shouldn't I be? I never felt better in all my life."

"Yes, I guess that's so," Mrs. Hilary spoke in a guarded tone, and her glance, resting on her daughter's flushed face, was searching, unsatisfied. "You do look well, very well indeed. But you've been working so hard, dear—after hours and even evenings." Janice had not always said she was working when she had called up to say she would not be home until late, but she had given that impression. "You can't keep on, you know, dear." Her mother's tone was as mild as her blue eyes, yet there was an urgency about it. "It will get the best of you in the long run. It will sap your youth, your strength. And, of course, Janice, you won't want to keep on working all your life."

"WELL, no—hardly!" Janice's laugh was rather forced. She thought, Now what is Mother driving at? What does she think is wrong with me that she must step in and try to remedy? It was wonderful having a mother like hers, but it could be trying. Janice had never thought that before. She had never had anything to hide from her mother before, either.

"You'll want to be married one of these days." This remark had a casual, innocent sound but there was much that was not casual or innocent behind it.

"What makes you think that?" Janice was glad that she was occupied mending some winter things.

"Why shouldn't I think it?" Mrs. Hilary deposited herself on the edge of Janice's clothing-strewn bed with an air that stated she had no intention of being dismissed because her daughter was so busy. "What girl does not want to be married? I certainly did."

Janice smiled. Her mother was so obvious. But why was she worried? Janice did not consider herself resigned to single blessedness at her age. At least she had not, but now—No, that was the kind of thinking she and Eric had forbidden themselves. Who could tell what the future would bring? Who wanted to know, with the present so perfect?

YET afterwards Janice was to mark the conversation on this particular Sunday as the beginning of the end of that perfection. She had known it could not endure forever. That was why she and Eric had shielded it so carefully.

"We want you to be happy, dear." Her mother's voice was unusually gentle.

"Of course," Janice answered. "I am happy, she told herself. I am terribly, unbelievably happy because I have Eric and his love."

It cannot last. She did not really have him. He did not belong to her. It was inconceivable that he ever would.

I am in love with a married man. There, she had said it to herself. It was a fact. It was such a hard fact it could not be pushed into the background. Janice experienced a deep dismay, an utter wretchedness that had nothing to do with the happiness she had just claimed was hers.

"We rather hoped, your father and I," her mother was saying in a voice that seemed far away, "that you might marry Ben. He is such a nice boy, I know, dear, that it's not supposed to be our business, and we don't want to interfere, but as I said, all we want is your happiness. We want that very much."

"I'm fond of Ben," Janice heard herself answering, "but I don't love him."

"How can you be so sure?" her mother asked. Her eyes, her tone, added, How do you, my daughter, know so much about love unless you have found it?"

Janice hoped her eyes did not give her away. "I'm as sure as anyone could be." She knew her tone was too light, almost frivolous.

Her mother gave a little sigh. She got up from the bed and put an arm around her daughter's straight shoulders. She brushed Janice's cheek with her lips: a fleeting caress, yet it turned Janice's heart over and brought tears to her eyes and a lump to her throat.

And after her mother left the room, Janice sank down on the bed and covered her face with her hands.

Mildred Hilary had given her daughter something. But she had taken something away, too.

Expert Believes We Need More Understanding

AUSTIN — P. Texas, because of its nearness to Mexico, is in a strategic position to promote international understanding in behalf of children, a child welfare expert said.

The speaker was Miss Katherine Lenroot, chief of the United States Children's Bureau, U. S. Federal Security Administration. She addressed the opening session of the annual meeting of the Texas Committee for Children and Youth.

Mark Twain Did This Who-Dun-It, But Whose Is It?—Big Question

NEW YORK —(NEA)— It's been pretty much a literary mystery up to now, but Mark Twain was a pioneer writer of "who-dun-its." It all is coming out in a court battle.

Lew D. Feldman, who owns a $85,000 library of detective-mystery first editions, wants to publish Twain's "A Murder, A Mystery, and a Marriage," written in 1876.

Feldman bought the little known thriller at auction for $1250. The manuscript is in Twain's rambling scrawl and signed with the famous Twain flourish.

"Twain would starve to death among contemporary mystery writers," Feldman says. "But that's not the point. His contribution to the detective-mystery format was tremendous."

Despite this, Feldman ran into a restraining order when he tried to bring out the old mystery in a limited edition.

"I contacted Thomas G. Shamberg, administrator of the Twain estate, and outlined my plan. He said he thought the idea was all right but referred me to Bernard De Voto, literary editor of the Mark Twain papers.

"De Voto read the manuscript and promptly told me that it wasn't 'good Mark Twain.' De Voto admitted there was far worse Twain material in print but said his job was to make sure that only the best of Twain's prolific works be reproduced. I was amazed. Why, next to the 'Almighty Twain' is my Holy of Holies. I'd never do anything to impugn his reputation!

"This Twain manuscript was a most important step in the chronological and historical development of the American detective story.

"Twain was the first to introduce fingerprints in fiction as a means of identification in murder after Feldman privately printed 16 copies of the book to protect his copyright. Now the courts will have to decide whether the owner of a copyright also owns publication rights.

Twain's foray into the murder story field seems to be more of a question of "who's got it" than "who-dun-it."

Cut Out Sweets or Wear Store Teeth

CHICAGO —(AP)—A University of Illinois dental school professor Thursday declared that the teeth of Americans are decaying six times faster than they can be filled and that eating of sugar is the major cause.

Dr. Robert G. Kesel, professor of therapeutics at Illinois and president of the Illinois State Dental Society, made the assertion in a paper prepared for the 83rd midwinter meeting of the Chicago Dental Society.

He said that nine out of 10 children in the United States have dental caries (decay) and estimated that the average American eats about his own body weight in sugar yearly.

Dr. Kesel and his associates have been making clinical studies for several years of the effect of ammonia in reducing tooth decay. They are currently making a long range study of 2,000 sixth grade children who are using a dentifrice and mouth wash containing ammonia.

Production and Distribution of Milk Takes Care

AUSTIN — The production and distribution of milk is a business requiring great care in the handling of the product, as it is highly subject to contamination. Inasmuch as milk can be readily contaminated, control of production and distribution is necessary in the form of sanitary regulations. Milk that is produced and handled from farm to consumer, where sanitary precautions have been taken to make it a clean, wholesome product, is designated a Grade A milk, said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

In the production of Grade A milk, it must come from clean and healthy cows. It is produced under conditions that will insure freedom from dust, dirt and fly contamination in both the dairy barn and milk house. The dairy barn construction is such that it can be easily cleaned. Facilities are provided in the milk house to wash and sanitize utensils and equipment easily and quickly, and to store them in a place protected from contamination. Adequate cooling facilities are provided in the milk house so that the temperature of the milk can be lowered immediately after milking. It is the bacteria in milk that indicate the care with which it is produced and handled.

Water supplies should be safe in order that no harmful bacteria

Houston Tunnel to Be Started Soon

HOUSTON —(AP)— Construction work on a 1530-foot vehicular tunnel beneath the Houston Ship Channel at Pasadena is to begin within 20 days, Robert Baker, vice president of a Mobile, Ala., engineering firm named as consulting engineers on the project, said Thursday.

The tunnel, designed to replace ferry boats now being used to move automobiles across the channel, will cost $7,512,000.

may be introduced into milk from contaminated water in the process of washing and rinsing utensils. Carriers of disease organisms, or milk handlers who may be ill, can also introduce harmful organisms into a milk supply.

Pasteurization does not make a dirty milk clean. A clean quality milk can only be provided by having it produced and handled under sanitary standards. In brief, the consumer is assured that when Grade A pasteurized milk is used, it not only is a safe milk, but it has the added quality of being a clean milk.

Food for Those Who Can't Think Some of Pravda's more thoughtful readers must have been puzzled by the series on American life that Boris Izakov and Yuri Zhukov wrote for that paper. Comrades Izakov and Zhukov were over here covering the UN meetings for the Communist Party organ. But they took time to record a few impressions of the American scene.

They seem to have gathered their material on this broad land of ours by walking around New York City and reading American newspapers and magazines. They didn't get all their facts on straight. But their conclusions, of course, new right to one favorite line of Soviet propaganda.

Everything the Russian reports saw here added up to an impression of a desperate America. They learned that a New York factory foreman told Comrades I and Z that the plant's workers couldn't even afford to go to a cafeteria any more. But to a cafeteria on bread that brought lunch from home. Meanwhile, in Chicago, General Eisenhower had spoken at a merchants' banquet where each guest was served a four-pound steak.

Pravda readers were told that the New Look is a desperate measure to postpone depression. Last autumn, at the command of the textile corporations, a new fashion was proclaimed in America—long skirts. The authors discovered "AS if by magic" the whole press started praising the new look. Oh, yeah. It was advertised as improving morality and possessing important practical advantages.

Well now, what about this, the thoughtful Pravda reader says—but not out loud of course. Yesterday I read that America's small plane was a huge speculative venture by American capitalists to cash in on European disaster. The day before I read that America seeks the economic and political enslavement of Europe. Day after day I see by the paper that the Americans are imperialistic aggressors, led by a government that is plotting war.

But something is wrong, the thoughtful reader reflects. Comrades I and Z say that America is on the brink of economic collapse. Capitalism, of course, is a vicious, unworkable system that is bound to buckle under its own evil weight. So how can an American be planning a war to conquer the world? Surely there will be a people's revolution there before there can be a war in Europe.

Probably the Izakov-Zhukov series wasn't aimed at the thoughtful reader at all. It was more likely aimed at those Soviet citizens whose minds have been regimented from childhood by Russia's insulated, one-sided educational system, and who swallow anything the government hands out.

There must be millions of those thoughtless readers in Russia. They are the ones who are being urged to increase their production or who are being kept in the armed forces to make their country strong against the coming imperialist war that the Communists are always shouting about.

The series on American life must comfort them somewhat. It must help them forget their own sky-high prices and meager rations and shabby clothes as they reflect that things are bad in America, too. Probably it never occurs to them that the capitalist nation which is about to collapse is also the capitalist nation whose strength their government fears.

Fair Enough... by Westbrook Pegler

While we continue to wait for Henry Wallace to say something about his association and infatuation with the late Prof. Nicholas Roerich, the Russian Easter-egg designer, fortune-teller and medicine-man, I will continue to tell you little odds and ends bearing on the questions of Wallace's honesty which his followers talk so much about, his moral courage, his fairness and his mental condition.

Henry refuses to say whether he wrote the idiotic guru letters to Roerich which bobbed up for sale to the Republicans in 1940 when he was running for vice president under Roosevelt. But he doesn't have to say whether he knew Roerich and fell for him during the time when the old guy was playing a season as God Almighty to a select list of suckers in New York. We know Henry knew Roerich and we know he did fall for him. We know he did hang around the joss-house on Riverside Drive where Roerich held forth as the voice from the cloud of intense stroking that St. Bernard on the wrong side of a kitchen door and going teeter, as are his wits.

Henry fell for the god-man so hard that he put over a big publicity show in Washington to solemnize the signing of the Roerich pact of peace, symbolized by an original device which Roerich designed himself, and arranged upon an official banner. The pact was a promise by the American people to the war-torn world that in case of war they would refrain from inflicting harm on artistic treasures. Babies, yes, babies were fair prey. But statues of saint-eyed, pot-bellied cutaneous carved out of an antique or jaunty soap, no. The mighty air force of Costa Rica and the marching hordes from El Salvador would not lay waste the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, and precious decent of them so to promise. It was a great day for peace, culture, Roerich and Wallace.

The Roerich pact was a great publicity dodge. The old boy had put over a similar score in Belgium a few years before and he was a distinguished and a distinguished name on a glibbie potentes and isolated veronous, first-class for the big shots, second class for the puns. Soon after Henry became secretary of agriculture, he was only secretary of the joss-house on the drive, drew a read on our dribbling nay-shaker and wouldn't leave him be until he fixed up this ceremonial signing of the Roerich pact at the climax of a three-day orgy of agriculture and the secretary of agriculture sits well below salt and just barely does rank the administrator of the Wage and Hour Division. But he is a cabinet member of the United States of America. He is only secretary of agriculture and the secretary of agriculture sits well below salt and just barely does rank the administrator of the Wage and Hour Division. But he is a cabinet member of the United States of America. He is only secretary of agriculture and the secretary of agriculture sits well below salt and just barely does rank the administrator of the Wage and Hour Division.

According to this, big cities could aim unwanted storms somewhere else. It doesn't take much imagination to see Los Angeles routing its smogs and fogs to Miami, with the compliments of its chamber of commerce. And Miami could be trusted to return the favor with the first cute little hurricane playing around off the Florida coast.

In the end, I guess, every city will have to hire a weather expert who like a hockey goal-keeper, will bat down the assorted storms, hail and cyclones that other cities will try to shoot by him into the net.

As a nation we can no more return to isolation than an adult can return to childhood. Sen. William F. Knowland (R) of California.

Actually, Mr. Truman stuck his hand out of the window to signal a left turn, waved to a few pedestrian progressives, but didn't turn left.

Henry A. Wallace, referring to the gesture the President made to liberals and organized labor in his State of the Union message.

Postponing tax reduction for two years is not asking too much when so much is at stake.

The Soviet Union is subsidizing poverty in Europe and maintaining armed forces at approximately 30 percent of her wartime peak.

Common Ground

Education and Freedom I attended a lecture on the announced subject of "Education and Freedom" sponsored by the Santa Ana, California Board of Education. The address was made by Donald J. Cowling, former president of Carleton College, Minnesota.

The lecture turned out to be not an inquiry into the question of education and freedom, but an effort to prevent the Federal government from taking over local or state tax-supported educational institutions. The speaker frankly admitted that that was the subject of the address. The whole address was a protest against the Federal government instead of the local governments having charge of tax-supported education.

The speaker had an impossible undertaking. He eulogized more or less local tax-supported education. He was woefully afraid, however, to explain how you could separate real education from rational religion. No one could explain that.

Of course he did not define "freedom." Nor did he define "education." He would have been in a lot of hot water if he had even undertaken to define either freedom or education, how you could separate real education from rational religion. No one could explain that.

He said he didn't understand how people got credit for attending these lectures. The reason was that he did not see how he could get credit for attending such lectures as that every citizen in the state of California has to help pay for his lecture whether he went to hear the lecture or not.

After the question period the writer asked Mr. Cowling whether it made any particular difference in the freedom of an individual who was obliged to pay for a service he did not want whether the Federal government compelled him to do so or the local board of education did. Of course he was living on a free world, he had to say to all believers in public education that when you have government you have to give up some of your freedom.

Powerful individuals and factions in the party have quietly suggested that he lift the torch of the "four freedoms" still higher by insisting on the nomination of a member of the Catholic faith as his running-mate. The two men most prominently mentioned in this connection are Senators Brien McMahon of Connecticut and Joseph C. Mahoney of Wyoming.

Although making no particular effort for the honor, or so they maintain publicly, it is understood that the two Yankees (Senator McMahon went west from Massachusetts) are agreeable to the idea.

Both men are admittedly well qualified for a post which is generally regarded as an innocuous assignment, although John Nance Garner of Texas showed that the occupant could be an influential figure and economic national resources and similar problems. He is looked upon as one of the top ten men in the upper chamber.

Either senator, according to an argument on their behalf, could fill a lack in a state headed by Mr. Truman. They have likable and pleasing personalities, they make an attractive appearance and they can deliver a rattling good speech.

Depending on the identity of the Republican ticket, either Mr. O'Mahoney or Mr. McMahon might prove important offsets. Should the GOP name Gov. Earl Warren of California for first or second place, the Wyoming expert on western affairs might loom as a local sub-division of the land that the majority in any sub-division of the state has a right to force the minority to pay for anything the majority wants.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — President Truman's strong stand for civil liberties, and especially his demand for an end to all forms of segregation based on color, race or creed, has placed the Democrats in a predicament. The support of the selection of a vice-presidential nominee is concerned.

Powerful individuals and factions in the party have quietly suggested that he lift the torch of the "four freedoms" still higher by insisting on the nomination of a member of the Catholic faith as his running-mate. The two men most prominently mentioned in this connection are Senators Brien McMahon of Connecticut and Joseph C. Mahoney of Wyoming.

When the robbery, which is all local tax-supported education is so difficult to notice its danger. But when the dirt is all swept together in one big heap or when the power is put in one group which is easy to recognize that it is dangerous—very, very dangerous.

White Deer WHITE DEER (Special)—Coronation of the Annual Presentation of a one-act play, and an amateur contest furnished a full evening's entertainment for the large crowd in attendance at the high school annual staff, Monday evening, in the Grade School Auditorium.

The queen, Ramona Hightower, representing the Sophomore Class, was crowned by her business manager, Tom Horn, before a white archway decorated with a large red heart. She wore a pale green formal dress and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Her attendants were Jane Power, escorted by Gilbert Ross, Seniors Francis Freeman, escorted by Vernon Thurman, Juniors and Carolyn Evans, escorted by Kenneth Crawford, Freshmen. Crownbearer was Barbara Coffey.

Dorothy Barnett announced the arrival of the royal party, and Mrs. Herman Demus played the professional.

Immediately after the coronation, the play, "Summons of Sarel," a highly dramatic and beautifully staged production dealing with the interval between Life and Eternity, was presented by the speech department, under the direction of Wendell Cain, speech instructor. Members of the cast were Frances Freeman, Dorothy Barnett, Claudine Doffey, Barbara Tucker, Roberta Corder, Lora Dale Wells, Jane Powers, Gaynor Simmons, and Kayleen Jordan.

This was followed by the amateur contest with six entries, under the supervision of Miss Ola Mae Roberts. Winners in the High School Division were Dorothy Broome, who sang "Serenade of the Bells"; Billy Joyce Adams, who read "On Courtin'"; and the high school trio, Dolores Kalka, Jimmie Newman and Bette Price, who sang "Too Fat Polka."

In the Grade School Division, Barbara Jo and James Huffines won first place with a reading "Sparky Sings 'Dinah'"; Guydon opened; and White Deer Grade School sextet, Norma Lou Gibson, Betty Webster, Ernestine Thornburg, Laverne McAdams, Alma Howard, and Guyda Bates, singing "How Soon?" won third place.

FUNNY BUSINESS

BY HERSHBERGER

As chairman of the Rules Committee, the senator from Illinois bosses the eating place. Instead of hiring his own employees when he took over, he contracted the job to an outside firm. And they have the nerve to charge a large inflationary price when they serve meals in a senator's office, even if it is only a few feet from the dining room!

It may not seem like a serious tax, but it is. Many high-ranking senators find it necessary to transact official business in their luncheon hours, and it is impossible for them to discuss private affairs in the open. Frequently, they consult people with whom they would not want to be seen in public, especially in a restaurant. It might be expected that they would plan to dine in private. So "Curly" is lodged in what passes for the "Senate doghouse."

TEXAS TODAY

BY WILLIAM C. BARNARD

A couple of Panhandle people want to shake hands with the guys who stuck the pin into the inflationary bubble. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reece Miller have been cutting expense corners so long they count pennies at night instead of sheep.

The Millers live in a trailer home at Southern Methodist University. Miller is a ministerial student with one year to go. When it comes to quoting food prices, the checker at the grocery store has nothing on him.

"I have learned a lot about economics just trying to get along," he says. "It might be a long and the couch is reserved, generally, for Robert Clark Miller, five and one-half month-old son. At night, Robert Clark has his own baby bed and one of the trailer and his parents share the couch at the other end."

MECHANICAL SLAVES

by Upton Close

Our mechanical slaves are working for the wage-earner as well as for all other Americans. In 1940 we consumed electric power equal to the work of about 750 million men. Other sources of power must have given us a total of about a billion and a quarter mechanical slaves.

With wartime and postwar increases we must be working between a billion and a half and two billion mechanical slaves today.

This is about as many "slaves" as there are people in all the world. And these mechanical slaves produce the good life for all of us.

Under half a century of propaganda, largely one-sided, we have almost forgotten that these silent, faithful slaves are the source of our prosperity. They never remind us by sitting down or slowing down or walking out and leaving us stranded.

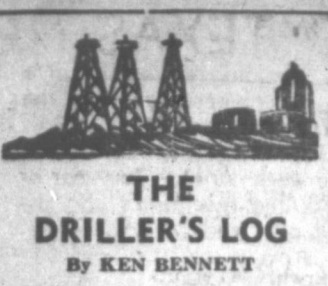

All these years we have been hearing that the union has brought good jobs and high wages to the American wage-earner.

How foolish. It has often done the opposite. It may well have cost the wage earner more than it has contributed to his welfare.

Let us take the orchid out of the union and pin it on the deserving "man," the mechanical slave.

It's a swell masquerade outfit, but he can't get to the car because of the dogs!

THE DRILLER'S LOG

By KEN BENNETT

This has been a week of inactivity in the oil industry in most all phases. Roads, being almost impassable, have hampered the oil people just as they have slowed the wheels of commerce all over the area. Just as soon as people begin to get about again I imagine rumors will begin to pop up again about this and that. In contacting representatives of the various camps for news items I have been greeted almost unanimously with the statement, "It's been so cold we just don't have any news." Well, maybe news will thaw out with the snow and frozen pipes and next week we can have a column of real gossip again.

Last week I mentioned the new couple at Stanoung camp, the A. J. Carros, Monday evening, the Mrs. and I were invited to their home for a delicious meal "Chop Suey." Mrs. Carros was born and reared in Shanghai. The Chop Suey was delicious and we really enjoyed our evening. The peculiar thing about this news item is that Mrs. Carros was a very efficient young man, is certainly up on his oil studies. He can quote items from almost any issue of the various oil journals. Quite interesting to me was his explanation of the China Government's treatment of property owners in China regarding their mineral rights. That government lays claim to all mineral rights, including oil, under the assumption that the owners' claim stops with the absolute surface and all other depths come under government jurisdiction. Incidentally a very good article on this subject is to be found in the January issue of the Oil and Gas Journal, Page 45. If you think we are the only Panhandle to produce oil you'll find a map on page 46 of this same article that lists the Panhandle of Kansas. It might be prudent to say here that the present trend in government lines in our own country is progressing slowly toward the same line of thought. If you stop and consider the "Greenlands" question carefully you can more than likely understand why it might be presumed that such is true.

Upton County, The Alford No. 1, and Tom Slick, Jr., made big news this week in the latest edition of LIFE magazine. Of course the name Tom Slick has been well known in the wildcat field for years. Now his son has taken on new laurels for the family name, with the aid and counsel of another old timer in wildcatting, Mike Benedum. I know most people who are really interested in all phases of oil have probably already read the article, or at least have been informed of it. I'd like to recommend it to other readers, however, for it will give you an insight into the possibilities of deep tests as well as the actual strata talk which is associated with wildcat activities.

A newcomer to this area is Travis Pat Collins, recent graduate from Texas A. & M. College who has just gone to work as a roustabout in the Production Department of Humble.

A former Humble employe, E. T. Elder, passed away at his home in Greenville, Pa., the fifth of this month. Mr. Elder was employed in this area from 1921 until 1941 and no doubt there are many of his friends in this area who are saddened to learn of his passing.

Skelton Reviews Texas Oil News

By MAX SKELTON
 AUSTIN — (AP) — The Texas Company has awarded a contract for construction of a field, 10 miles northeast of El Campo, Wharton County, the three compressors to have a capacity of 9,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

The bureau of business research at the University of Texas reports the state's highest paid industrial workers are of the petroleum refining field where a weekly average for December was said to be $68.13 or 18 percent above December, 1945. Texas crude petroleum production workers were said to have a weekly average of $64.42 to lead the non-manufacturing field.

Frank Champion, veteran oilman, has resigned as vice president and general manager of the Glenn McCarthy interests and is forming the Champion Oil and Gas Company. Humble Oil has announced a $19,000,000 expansion program for its Baytown refinery, headed by a new pipe still which will enable the refinery to run an additional 48,000 barrels a day of crude oil, or 20 percent more than at present.

De Robert E. Wilson, chairman of the board, and A. W. Peake, president of Standard of Indiana, and F. O. Prior, chairman of the board of Stanolind Oil and Gas, are to make an inspection tour of facilities in the Houston area Monday.

The Railroad Commission has scheduled April hearings for determining new efficiency rates of production for Texas' ten oil districts, the commission expressing hope new MER's will result in increased productions to meet the state's needs. With Texas showing an increase of 32,100 barrels daily, the nation's daily crude oil production average jumped 14,388 barrels above the previous week to 5,332,575 barrels for the week ending February 7.

Wildcatting—Humble Oil has staked a 12,000 foot Ellenburger wildcat a half mile south of its No. 1 J. M. Parrott Zell in the Upland Pool of Southeastern Upton County and three miles northeast of Slick-Urschel Oil No. 1 D. L. Alford, Plymouth in the recently opened Benedum Pool.

Slick-Urschel-Plymouth's D. L. Alford, producing from 11,885 to 11,985, the deepest producer in West Texas, is the subject of an article in the current issue of LIFE magazine. A fire at Seaboard Oil's No. 1 Powers wildcat, 25 miles north of Refugio, was raging out of control last week to bring the Lower Gulf Coast Area its worst oil well blaze in a decade.

H. R. Calien, Houston oil man and philanthropist, has staked an 8500 foot wildcat test in Victoria County.

Fabrics Share Fashions Fanfare

By EPIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

New fabrics fulfilling postwar promises of textile wonders share spring debut fanfare with fashion's "new look."

One fabric making its bow is a rayon crepe imprinted by means of a new etching process. The process makes an ink-scratched "picture"—resembling an etching on parchment or paper—which occupies the front of a bodice of a white one-piece crepe dress. The etching, shown top right, which decorates a Tina Leser-designed dress, depicts an inclined tropical scene with a colorfully clad girl and fisherman swinging in a catch.

"Photographed" leather gives pastel-colored handbags and gloves a sensational New Look. These accessories, top left, are printed with camera-caught images which makers claim won't rub off.

A dazzlingly striped cotton seersucker is Switzerland's contribution to new play fads. Making stylized use of this crinkly cotton is the one-piece bathing suit, top center, with bloomer pants, halter top and a sash-tied midriff.

The black and white striped top of the two-piece bathing suit, bottom left, is a Claire McCardell design which dramatizes the new use of elasticized jersey. Elastic woven into fabric gives it hugemight but flexible fit.

New frosting for spring's perennial navy blue suits and dresses is cadet cloth, a starry white cotton used almost exclusively up to now to make West Pointers' trousers. At bottom center is designer Ben Rog's use of cadet cloth to put white lining on a navy blue suit with collar and cuffs which have no rivets that can boast a more immaculate look.

Worsted denim, a woven copycatting the crisp finish and two-tone weave of cotton workwear denim, is another newcomer. The worsted denim suit, bottom right, of traditional blue is made up of a McCardell-designed long full skirt and a caplet-styled jacket. Teamed with the new denim are a blue chambray blouse and a matching full-flounced petticoat.

Water to Make Round Trips Over the Dam

AUSTIN, Feb. 15.—Round trips are being planned for "water over the dam" at Lake Buchanan. The Lower Colorado River Authority has ordered equipment which would pump water back into Buchanan Lake after it has spilled over the dam into Inks Lake.

The project is a joint water conservation and power plan designed to meet peak power needs during the day without reducing Buchanan's water storage below desirable levels.

LCRA Engineer C. L. Dowell says the plan is nothing new in theory. A power plant at New Milford, Conn., has been operating by the plan for 20 years, though it's the only such plant operating in the United States, the system is widely used in Europe, he said.

Under the system, pumps to return the water would be turned on after 11 p.m. when power demands have slumped from daylight and early night high peaks, returning a portion of the water that has spilled over during the day. When high demands return the next day the water can be released again to spin Buchanan's turbines to meet the increased needs.

It will take 1.8 kilowatts to pump back enough water at night to produce 1 kilowatt the next day, Dowell points out. But a night kilowatt, when demand is low, is worth only two mills while a day kilowatt, when demand is high, is worth eight mills. So Dowell expects LCRA won't lose money and industry will get the power it needs.

Because of present delays in delivery of heavy equipment, Dowell estimates about two years will be required before operation of the project can begin.

In the crater of Mt. Ruapehu, 9,175-foot peak on North Island, New Zealand, is a lake of hot water surrounded by snow drifts.

A LITTLE CHILD SHALL LEAD THEM, Isaiah 54:13.
THE REAPER AND THE FLOWERS
And the mother gave, in tears and pain,
The flowers she most did love;
She knew she should find them all again
In the Fields of Light above.
Where has he gone since yesterday
And left us lonely here?
Tonight he seems so far away
Who yesterday was near.
No map of ours, on sea or land,
His journeyings may trace;
We only know he's reached his home
And seen his father's face.
And oh, he knows since yesterday,
The mists of earth are cleared away,
The sun of truth in radiance glows
Unshaded by any cloud of earth,
Unshaded by its night.
And he has grown since yesterday
And he'll be growing still;
The hours of time and sense and space
The weary world fret us no more.
The spirit, freed and light,
O dear, familiar yesterday,
O sad and strange to-day,
Yet who would call the glad soul back
To roam the rearing clay?
Or who would wish that he might share
Our sorrow's toil and strife,
Who, freed from Death and all its pains,
Has entered into Life?

PERRYTON—The second annual Registered Hereford Sale of the North Plains Hereford Breeders Association will be held in Perryton on Thursday, Feb. 19, C. A. Hoover of Perryton, president of the association, has announced. The sale will be preceded by a public showing of the registered animals on Wednesday, Feb. 18, when three prizes will place them for sale.

Twenty-three registered Hereford bulls and 15 cows have been consigned for the sale. Animals from the outstanding Hereford herds in the North Plains area have been consigned for this sale and a good crowd is expected for the two day event. The sale will be held in the Ochiltree County Warehouse.

Walter Britten of College Station has been secured as auctioneer, and field representatives at the sale will be H. P. White, Western Livestock magazine, Bill Castellow, Texas Livestock Journal; Henry Elder, Texas

Hereford Association; and Claude Willett, The Cattleman.

Forty calves, entries in the Ochiltree County Junior Livestock Show to be held on Feb. 18, will be sold at auction on Thursday morning, Feb. 19, immediately preceding the Hereford sale, which starts at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

This second annual sale of the North Plains Hereford Breeders Association promises to be even better than their first sale which was held last year. Organized in 1946, the North Plains Hereford Breeders Association is a non-profit organization devoted to the improvement of cattle herds on the North Plains. Members are drawn from the three Oklahoma Panhandle counties and the top ten counties in Texas.

A. B. Carruth of Pampa has consigned three bulls for this sale.

Federal aid for education of pupils from five to 17 years old varied from a high of $9.65 in Nevada to a low of $1.99 in Pennsylvania during the 1945-46 school year.

MRS. CARL MILLER and her four children are pictured in the chicken coop that has been their home in Littitz, Pa., since the family was evicted from its former residence two months ago. Miller, a middle-aged laborer, who was away at work when this photo was made, lined the 10x24-foot shack with cardboard cartons to keep out snow and wind. Oil lanterns provide light and a small coal stove is used for heating. The family uses the sanitary facilities of a nearby church.

Withholding Tax To Have Test Case

LOS ANGELES.—Miss Vivien Kellems, Westport, Conn., manufacturer, said Friday her firm will stop withholding federal income taxes from employees. She offered to fight the issue out with the government in the courts.

"If High Tax Harry wants me to get that money for him," she said in an address prepared for a Los Angeles Rotary Club meeting, "then he must appoint me an agent for the Internal Revenue Department, he must pay me a salary for my work, and he must reimburse me for my expenses incurred in collecting that tax."

Miss Kellems is a slight, dynamic woman who lost out in congressional Republican primary race in Connecticut to Mrs. Clara Booth Luce in 1942. She is a leading woman electrical engineering manufacturer in the nation.

Her Connecticut office said her firm, which manufactures cable grips, now employs about 30 persons.

BEYOND THE VEIL
Valled from our sight, withheld from our embraces,
Who greet us face to face, and hand in hand,
Yet in our dreams we will see well
And feel their presence near when we awake.

Closer perchance than those who walk beside us,
Who greet us face to face, and hand in hand;
Given perchance, a power to shield
Our unseen guardians from the unknown land.

WE wish to express our heart felt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy during the hours of grief, and death of our dear father and grandfather. We are indeed grateful to all who did so much to help bear our grief.

True hearts that loved you with a devoted affection,
