Daniel Aims To Erase State Deficit

No New Spending Due Until 'Red Ink' Is Gone

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. Price Daniel embarked upon his third term of office today with a pledge to erase the state's deficit before Texas begins any new spending. The 50 year - old governor also vowed to continue his fight for state's rights. In a solemn 30 - minute ceremony on the south steps of the historic Capitol, Daniel received the oath of office from Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert of the state Supreme Court. He spoke after Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey was inaugurated to an unexpired sixth term.

Hughes Bldg Addition Set

Plans are on the architects' board for construction of a four-story annex to the Hughes Bldg. at N. Somerville and W. Kingsmill St., it was announced today by R. G. Hughes, president of the Hughes Development Co. Work on the $600,000 structure will be started as soon as plans can be whipped into shape, Hughes said, and it will be ready for occupancy early in 1962. Architects working on specifications are Cantrell and Co. of Pampa. The plans call for a modernistic building which will occupy the land directly north of the present Hughes Bldg. Each floor will be 75 by 100 feet. Ground floor of the air-conditioned building will be devoted entirely to enclosed parking for tenants and their customers. It will be possible to drive to the elevator and reach any area of the old and new buildings which will be completed.

Realtors To Install Tonight

James Dailey will be installed president of the Pampa Real Estate Board tonight by the new president of the Texas Real Estate Association, Joe B. Phillips of Lubbock. The installation and banquet will be held in the Coronado Inn beginning at 7 o'clock. Other local officers to be installed are: George Neef Jr., first vice-president; Bill Duncan, second vice-president; Ben Williams, secretary; Lindy Houck, treasurer, and directors Mrs. Willard Henderson, Paul Coranis and Bill Clements. Clements, the outgoing president, will be master of ceremonies.

Efforts To Rescue Men Trapped In 'Tower' Fails

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rear Adm. Allen M. Shinn said today there no longer was any hope that survivors were still alive in the submerged wreckage of a radar tower that collapsed during an Atlantic gale Sunday night. Twenty-six of the 28 men aboard the tower were missing. One body had been recovered and another was seen but drifted away. Skin divers this morning again located the stumps of the huge triangular structure. Admiral Shinn revealed in a radio-telephone conversation with United Press International from the aircraft carrier Wasp. The stumps were being marked so that the submarine rescue vessel Sunbird and other diving vessels could be moved into position where deep-sea divers with heavy equipment could go down to examine the tower structure in the 180-foot deep water. Shinn said the operation would continue until divers made certain there were no survivors in an air pocket as had been hoped Monday. Shinn reported earlier that "time and temperature are working against the chance of finding anyone alive."

A constant vigil was kept by a flotilla of rescue craft around the site of the radar tower that collapsed into the sea Sunday night in a gale. The 28 men aboard had no chance to abandon ship, Shinn said. One body was recovered and another body sighted. Twenty-six still are unaccounted for. In a pool dispatch from Shinn's flagship, the aircraft carrier Wasp, New York Journal-American reporter John Harris reported that the ships were standing by in the sweltering seas, unable to continue rescue operations but listening on sonar devices for any sounds of life in the wrecked tower. Hope was stirred Monday when tapping sounds were heard by the destroyer McCaffrey on its sonar equipment. A quick reply was tapped in return on the McCaffrey's hull, and the exchange of signals was accompanied by what might have been a human voice. The signals faded by mid-afternoon and only the faint scraping of what was thought to be shifting debris was heard. But a flotilla of Navy, Coast Guard and rescue craft kept up efforts on an "outside possibility." The submarine rescue vessel Sunbird, equipped with a diving bell, reached the scene Monday night. The tower had been known as a "wobbler" since its underpinnings were weakened last September during a powerful battering by Hurricane Donna. "It's getting worse and worse," Air Force S-Sgt. Kenneth H. Green wrote his wife in Elmira, N.Y. He is one of the missing. The one body recovered was that of M-Sgt. Troy F. Williams, 33, of Lake City, Fla., found floating in a lifejacket 16 miles from the site of the tower.

IT'S WADIN' TIME — Just because it's January is no sign boys can't go wading, and this picture shows that all too well. Need Cited To Develop U.S. Natural Resources

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Advisers reported to President-elect John F. Kennedy today that the nation needs "vigorous new leadership" in conserving and developing its natural resources. They predicted that the new democratic administration "will establish landmarks of achievement toward a constructive program that will protect the rightful heritage of all Americans." The report, submitted by the Kennedy-Johnson Natural Resources Advisory Committee, said all development of water, soil and forest resources "is necessary to make possible the growth of our economy essential to America's role in the free world." It recommended a speedup in constructing flood control and small watersheds projects, federal aid to combat water pollution, expansion of the national parks system, harbor and waterways improvements, establishment of a national fuels policy and stepped-up research in a variety of fields. The report urged giving "special consideration" to the needs of depressed areas. The document, based on recommendations from 200 committee members, set no price tag on its proposals. The advisory committee warned that "an adequate water supply for our growing population will be a major domestic need for many years to come." It recommended that Kennedy include a team of experts on the subject in a proposed new department of urban affairs. Major recommendations included: —Give highest priority to completing flood control projects already authorized and authorize new projects delayed by "unreasonable bureau of the budget restrictions."

Mr. Tom Stays; Workers Pacified

SEMPULVEDA, Calif. (UPI)—Labor and management concluded a two-hour grievance session Monday by agreeing that Mr. Tom the cat may go back to Pacific Mercury Electronic Corp. as the workers' mascot. Management and representatives of Industrial Union Local 9062, AFL-CIO, agreed to share costs for building the cat a shelter and a roomy sandbox. Management last week ordered Mr. Tom off the premises after a six-year stay when a new security guard said Mr. Tom's personal habits left something to be desired. The union had declared it would take the matter to the state arbitration service if necessary, but 300 of the firms 600 workers signed a petition to get him back.

Concert Group Sets Drive Date

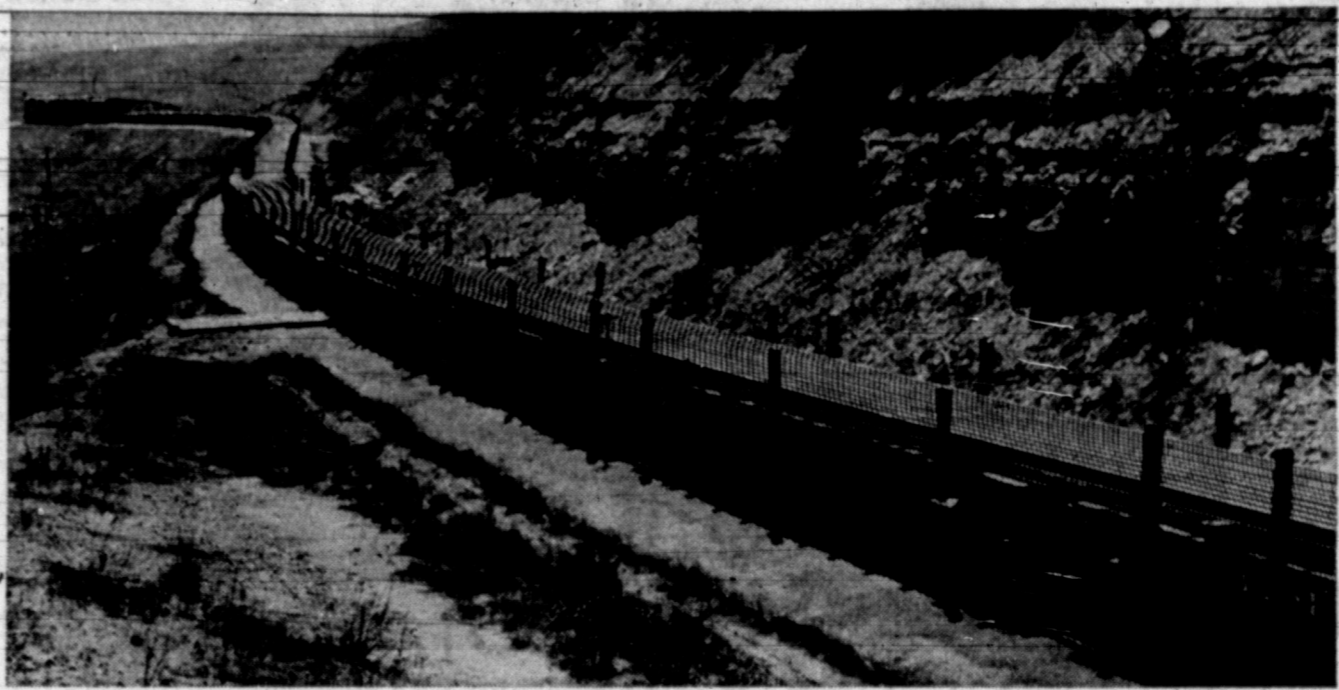

Community Concerts Assn. held an organizational meeting Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. MacField McDaniel, concert drive chairman, to discuss plans for the association's membership drive to be held May 8-13. "The Theaterman", a concert group from the Lyric Opera House in Chicago, with a company of five men and pianist, will appear on Jan. 28 at 8 p.m. in the Pampa Junior High School auditorium. The final concert of the season will be the National Ballet Company and orchestra booked for an appearance here on May 2. Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, New York representative, met with the group

Union Dues Use Hearing Continues

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court scheduled a second round of arguments today on whether union dues may be used for political purposes over the objection of workers required to become union members. The high court explored this issue last term but decided to take another look at it, this time with the Justice Department having a say. The union dues case was started in Macon, Ga., in 1953 by six employees of the Southern Railway System who were compelled under a collective bargaining agreement to join the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks within 60 days. Such a "union shop" contract is permitted under a 1951 amendment to the Railway Labor Act. The workers complained that they would lose their jobs if they did not join the union, yet their dues were being used to support candidates and political doctrines they opposed. If it comes from a hardware store, we have it. Lewis H. W. Adv.

Like Says Good-Bye Tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower makes his farewell address from the White House tonight to the American people he has served nearly all his adult life — in war and in peace. With just four days remaining before he turns over the burdens of Chief Executive to John F. Kennedy, Eisenhower will go on nationwide radio and television at 8:30 p.m. EST. The 70-year-old President is known to feel proud of the accomplishments of his eight-year administration. However, he is somewhat disappointed at failing to reach a real understanding with the Russians that would have permitted a reduction of arms. Eisenhower planned a 9:30 a.m. EST meeting today with Canadian Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker to sign the Columbia River Basin Treaty. He also arranged a lunch for Diefenbaker and other guests. Eisenhower, who has served his country almost continuously since he graduated from West Point in 1915, has worked on the farewell speech in his oval office already stripped of many mementoes in preparation for his retirement. But as his days in the White House run out, Eisenhower still has several important functions to perform. He will send his last report on the nation's economic health to Congress Wednesday.

NO MORE JOINTS — Shown here is a trainload of welded rails bending around a curve on their way to service on the Santa Fe mainline in Oklahoma. The 1,440 - foot long lengths of rails on the 31 flat cars take the curves with care. They contrast sharply with the conventional - type rail which is only 39 - feet long. The joints in railroad tracks have been eliminated by the new welding process developed by the Santa Fe and now being used at the railroad's temporary welding equipment headquarters here in Pampa.

Pampa Is Present Headquarters Santa Fe Using New Type Rails

Pampa is temporary headquarters for the Santa Fe's rail welding equipment in preparation for relaying some 33 track miles of new rail. Equipment employing 36 men and one welding engineer, a total of 37 people, currently is welding rail into 1,440-foot lengths which will be laid between Mooreland, Okla., and Clovis, N.M. at three separate locations. Starting about March 1, a relaying gang of approximately 90 men will begin laying the welded rail. Until that time, a backlog of welded rail is being placed at the locations where it will be used. The rail laying will be followed by a surfacing operation gang which employs about 30 men. The Pampa activities, located east of the city limits near the old Danciger refinery, are part of a total rail relay of 80 track miles of welded rail, some of which already has been completed. The equipment is averaging an output of one and one-eighth track miles per day and working five days a week, 24 hours a day. Based on this schedule, there is a possibility that welding will be going on at Pampa until about the middle of June. The Santa Fe was the first American railroad to employ a new electric flash method for fabricating continuous welded rail in the Spring of 1955, as a result of studies by the railroad's engineering staff. It is this method that is being employed in Pampa. Developed in Switzerland, the improved technique has been used on the Santa Fe since 1955, when about 27 miles of new rail were laid near Albuquerque in the first test of the method in this country. J. E. Eisemann, chief engineer for the Santa Fe's Western Lines at Amarillo, explained that one of the advantages of welded rail is the elimination of the always-troublesome joint that was a require-

Groom To Hold Fat Stock Show Next Saturday

GROOM (Sp) — The annual Groom Fat Stock Show will be held Saturday in the Whatley Building on Main Street. More than 40 FFA and 4-H members will exhibit barrows, gilts, steers and heifers in the show. Superintendent of the show this year will be Roman Homen and judge will be Tommy Hewlett of Amarillo. There will be 12 classes of barrows, two classes of gilts, two classes of steers and two classes of heifers. The gilts must not have farrowed a litter of pigs. A 4-H showmanship and FFA banner will be given at the show. Showmanship judge will be Milton Mann of Clarendon. Entries must not arrive before noon Friday and all swine entries must be checked in by 8:00 Friday evening according to Supt. Homen. The show is scheduled to begin at 8:30 Saturday morning in order that it may be completed in time for people to attend both the stock show and the John Deere luncheon and show. Immediately following the stock show the livestock going to the Amarillo Fat Stock Show will be loaded for the trip to Amarillo. Moving? Harding hesitated. "Stella's old enough to know what she's doing. Leave her be. We've got more important things right now. Anyway, she'll show up later."

Bart said thoughtfully, "It might be, Colonel, that she has a mistaken idea of warning Jones and his men to save them from getting killed—and that would tip our hand. Of course I'm not saying she would tell them what we're up to—but it would be just like a woman."

His tactic was successful. Harding sighed heavily. "It would be like a woman. All right, Hector, you better go see what she's up to. Take the sorrel. You'll need a good horse to head the chestnut. You say she went west?"

"Yes."

Johnson had not said it, so apparently Harding knew more about Stella's activities than they had supposed.

Harding watched him run to the barn. "Hector's got his mind set on Stella," he said. "I wish she would change her way toward him. Hector's mighty solid."

Bart did not answer. In that glimpse of Hector's face he had seen something that puzzled him: not concern for Stella, but something Bart could not identify, as if Hector's mind had been somewhere else.

The big chuck wagon—Charles Goodnight's own invention of a few years before—lumbered by, pulled by four mules each, and 33 riders followed them.

It was around four o'clock, and the sky would soon be lightening in the east. Twelve men jogged in from the distant Matadors, and were followed by 15 from smaller spreads in the area. Goodnight chewed on his cigar and walked back and forth, his massive shoulders restless under the vigorous drive of his powerful body. "Ninety-four men," he announced finally, "counting yours."

"I admit I was a little scared," Harding said, "that some might back out at the last minute."

Goodnight glared at him. "No man who had the guts to stay in the Panhandle more than two years would back out of a thing like this," he said.

A half hour later, as the last cowboy came out of the kitchen with a plate, he stopped in the doorway and looked to the west. "I heard a shot," he said.

Goodnight said, "I heard it too."

"A 44, maybe—or a big Sharps. Hard to tell at this distance."

They made a strange cavalcade a little later, with four canvas-covered chuck wagons strung out on the road, and five men—Bart, Harding, Goodnight, Lee Jasper, and the Slash K foreman—on horseback. Bart had suggested it would look better that way.

The wagons were crowded inside. They pulled into town at 10 minutes to seven, and Goodnight had them run the wagons into a large semicircle confronting the place where Willis would put his desk to be used as a bench. An area was left about twice as big as a large public hall. A few curious citizens ventured out to see what was going on, and Goodnight enlisted their help at unharassing the teams. The canvas was puckered tight at each end of each wagon. Jonas Myers said, "I don't see the sense of lining up a bunch of empty chuck wagons in front of the judge's bench."

Goodnight's answer was a sharp rebuke. "You don't expect the judge to talk to an open prairie, do you?"

It did not, as logic, carry much weight, but Goodnight's manner did, as always. Myers shut up and went back into his store.

An old desk was brought from Myers's store and set on the ground facing the wagons. A rawhide-bottom chair from the saloon was put behind the desk. There were no seats for spectators, but the townspeople began to drift in and squat in the dirt before the desk, curious to see if such a phenomenon as a court was actually to operate in the lawless Panhandle.

Temple Houston, a young man with long, flowing, lawny hair and bangs over his eyes, came up the street from the direction of the post office in big hat and high-heeled boots. He was the son of old Sam, and a brilliant lawyer. He was just the kind of district attorney for a case like this, thought Bart.

J. N. Browning, who had been district attorney, arrived with a case full of papers, and Bart guessed he would defend the accused. Al Wheeler, the sheriff from Mobeetie, came in with his prisoners. Three—Finger Halvorson and Indian George. Halvorson was big, stolid, unemotional; he had pale blue eyes that seemed to watch nothing. Indian George was smaller, thin in the body, dark of face, with black hair and black eyes that darted everywhere.

At ten minutes to eight, Judge Willis, seeming very small and slender beside so many big men, strode up to his desk and thumped down a copy of the statutes.

Engineers Begin Urban Plan Survey

Planning engineers from Dallas began a lot by lot survey on overall urban development plan Pampa.

Harry Maedgen and John Horn, engineering engineers with Cook, Fow and Grafe of Dallas, met briefly with members of the City Commission this forenoon and then returned to work.

The city's contract with the planning engineers calls for a comprehensive survey and planning for Pampa's future development.

The entire project, according to manager John Koontz, may take two years to complete.

The city commission had several meetings for discussion today but took no decisive action on any of them. These included additional paving on Harvester St., plans to put the city water well on H St. underground to make way for future parking needs, and plans for city prisoners.

Most of these matters were taken for further study with reports to be made back to the commission later.

Mainly About People

Burglars Fail Store Break-In

Burglars tried to break into the I.G.A. Food Liner, 600 S. Cuyler, last night but either were unable to gain entrance or were frightened away.

Police said Elmer Fisher, owner of the store, notified them this morning that efforts had been made to pry open the metal door in the rear of the store.

With a pay raise tucked safely away in their pockets, Texas lawmakers took it easy while Daniel was inaugurated.

Daniel signed into law Monday a bill that sets legislative salary at $4,800 a year plus $12 a day for the first 120 days of the 140-day regular session and every day of special called sessions.

State senators gave overwhelming, 26-1 final passage to the bill after rejecting an amendment to set the annual salary at $3,600. The bill cleared the House last week.

Kiwanis To Hear Talk On Charter

E. E. Shelhamer will speak to members of the Top O' Texas Kiwanis Club in their meeting at 7 tonight in the Coronado Inn, explaining the proposed changes in the city charter which will come up for a vote of the people Jan. 31.

In the club's meeting last week five members of the Toastmasters Club, Joe Pafford, George Crown, Walt Jordan and Lloyd Kuntz entertained the Kiwanians with a series of special speeches.

Other guests for the last Tuesday program were: Malcolm Denison, Aubrey Jones, Joe Gordon, Paul Green and Sterling Price of Austin.

Inaugural invitations were sent to 46,000 Texans, and many were expected to honor Daniel and Ramsey at the inaugural ball tonight at the city auditorium.

The University of Texas band, which will also play at the presidential inaugural in Washington, Jan. 20, will provide special music for the state celebration. The Midwestern University choir from Wichita Falls will sing. Claude Thornhill's orchestra will play for the ball.

District Scout Leaders To Meet

The monthly scout roundtable meeting for all leaders in the Santa Fe District will be held at 7 o'clock tonight in the Fellowship room of the First Methodist Church.

Unit leaders of the Boy Scout troops and den mothers from the Cub Scouts will discuss and plan next month's scout events.

Convict Marks 86th Birthday

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI) — Tony di Tardo observed his 86th birthday at San Quentin Prison Monday — and his 41st behind prison walls.

Di Tardo has turned down parole 27 times since he was given a life sentence for killing his wife in San Jose, Calif., in 1919.

"I just want to sit in my rocking chair," said the old convict, cutting a piece of a birthday cake which he received from the hospital staff. "I'll stay here until the big boss calls me."

Following the modernistic trend, the exterior of the annex will be built predominantly of anodized aluminum and glass. The annex front entrance will be on N. Somerville.

Hughes said approximately one-half of the proposed building already has been leased to existing tenants. Prospective tenants who make their needs known now can have rooms and offices built to take care of their own particular needs.

The present seven-story Hughes building first was occupied by the Hughes' interests, Overton-Clinic-Cree Companies and Cabot Corp. in March of 1951 and was formally opened in June of that year.

Six Men Missing In Flash Blaze

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI) — Navy rescuers searched the banks of the Cooper River today for six men, missing and presumed dead in a flash fire at a Navy pier here Monday night.

The blaze, reminiscent of the tragic fire at the Brooklyn Navy Yard last month, was touched off by a spark from a welding torch.

Six men were injured in the Charleston fire which was by a 15-to-20 knot breeze.

Sixth Naval District Headquarters identified the missing men as three civilian employes and three Navy personnel. The civilians were identified as A. Popivchak Jr. of Charleston, and A.C. Sims and J. Dennison both of North Charleston. The military men were listed as Lt. (jg) R.A. Horvath of Chicago, assistant officer in charge of the Navy's deperming station, and Storekeeper 2-C J.R. Craft of Winnsboro, S.C., and Fireman John Robert Barrett of Flint, Mich.

Value Of Time Topic For Wilson PTA Panel

"Value of Time" was discussed by a panel for the Woodrow Wilson PTA meeting held Thursday in the school auditorium. Panel members were Mrs. Charles Brauchle, Roy Taylor, Bill Byerly, Panama High School student, and Cynthia Morgan, Robert E. Lee Junior High student. The Rev. Jack Riley was moderator.

The panel answered the following questions, posed by Rev. Riley: 1) Who decides how time is used in the home? 2) Who decides when time is mis-used? 3) Do we let our children learn just enough to get by? 4) Are we fulfilling our purpose in life? 5) Is a "quiet time" encouraged? 6) Do parents have the right to limit teenager's time? 7) Are we in a hurry to get nowhere?

In the ensuing discussion, the panel brought out that parents should more or less oversee the time factor "Time is mis-used," it was agreed. "So many people don't seem to have time for anything, but each individual has the same amount of time each day."

The panel agreed that a "quiet time" each day should be encouraged. "School assignments should be gotten and the evenings free for family togetherness. Discussions at the end of the evening meal over the day's problems are good. Reading a good book; listening to good music were a few of the suggestions given.

They suggested, also, to build a good and interesting hobby where the children can participate.

Recommendations were made by the panel to participate in church activities and other social affairs together.

It was brought out that parents should limit children's time until they reach high school; then they should let them accept challenges to occupy their time.

In discussing "do we always know where our children are?", the panel suggested "we know where they are supposed to be, perhaps, but not what they are doing. We must get acquainted with our children and their friends. Remember, though, don't become unbalanced in anything."

Rev. Riley closed the discussion with this statement: "At the close of the day, list the things time is spent on. Count how many were important."

In the business meeting conducted, Mrs. E. L. Henderson, president, it was announced that the Mothers' March of Dimes will be held Jan. 30 with all units participating.

Mrs. Calvin Hogan reported on the study courses, to be sponsored by the PTA City Council. "Wilson and Travis will be hostess for the Jan. 19 course in Travis School beginning at 9 a.m. and concluding at 10 a.m. on the subject "Are Teenager Athletes Happy?" McHenry Lane will be panel moderator, according to Mrs. Hogan. "There will be a course held on different subjects each Thursday for six consecutive weeks, she reported. A nursery will be provided.

Following room count, Miss Oleta Marlin's first grade and Mr. Groves' sixth grade tied for first place. Mrs. Carter's room third grade room won second place.

Varietas Study Club Officers Are Named At Tuesday Afternoon Meet

Mrs. Joe Z. Weaver was elected president of Varietas Study Club at the Tuesday meeting held in the home of Mrs. J. R. Spearman. Elected to serve with her are Mmes. Lee Harrah, vice president; Dow King secretary; W. A. Wagoner, treasurer; Luther Pierson, parliamentarian; Otis Nace, reporter; S. C. Evans, librarian.

Also included in the business meeting, was approval by members to purchase a tea table to be presented to Lovett Memorial Library.

"What Is Freedom?" was the topic discussed by a symposium composed of Mmes. H. H. Butler, J. E. Kirchner and H. P. C. Dossier.

Mrs. Butler opened the discussion with a quotation from President Dwight Eisenhower, who said, "Freedom is a state in which, under the law, every human has the right to live his own life; to choose his own path and to work out his own destiny." Ghandi said, "she continued, "Freedom is a gift of God."

In discussing the subject of freedom, Mrs. Kirchner said "freedom means many and varied things to different peoples." She also stressed the fact that freedom has limitations.

Mrs. Dossier told what freedom meant to the country's forefathers and to the framers of the constitution. She discussed the freedoms guaranteed in the constitution, which was followed by an open discussion of freedom.

Mrs. Butler closed the program by quoting Kipling's famous tribute to the Freedom Fighters.

Mrs. Helen Vick of Houston was welcomed as a guest.

Members attending were Mmes. H. H. Bratcher, S. C. Evans Cecil Dalton H. T. Hampton Lee Harrah, Dow King, C. L. McKinney, Milton McKinney, Luther Pierson, Ralph Thomas, W. A. Wagoner, Joe Z. Weaver, Sherman White and Ben Faulkner.

Dear Abby... Easier To Improve On Environment

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We have been having an argument. Just how much of a person's success and failure is due to heredity and how much is due to environment?

STUDENTS: No one really knows—but environment is the easier of the two to improve.

DEAR ABBY: I am 23, divorced and have two children. My boy friend is 30, married and has two children also. He was my boss at one time and we fell deeply in love. A month ago I had a child by him. No one knows anything about this. The baby is in a home right now waiting for me to sign the adoption papers or take him home.

My boy friend can't get a divorce without sacrificing his family, business and religion. He said if I kept the baby he would always provide for him. Should I keep the baby and raise him with my two? Or should I give him up? Please don't ask me to give up my boy friend. I love him so much I could never do it, so there's no use kidding myself.

"BIG DECISION" DEAR BIG DECISION: The answer is not in my head—it's in your heart. You show no concern for the baby's welfare but mention only yourself, your "boy friend" and your determination to eling to an illicit love affair. Keep the baby only if you decide to give up your boy friend. Any other decision would complicate the lives of many innocent people.

DEAR ABBY: I am desperate. I am only 20 but weigh 180 pounds. When I go to buy a dress, it must be a size 18 with a full skirt. My measurements are (please don't print my name) 38-28-46, so you can see where my problem is. How can I reduce my problem?

DEAR HIPPI: First, see a doctor about a diet. Rolling on the floor 15 minutes a day is dandy for reducing your "problem." Walking is good, too—but not to the refrigerator.

"Who pays for what?" Send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., for Abby's pamphlet, "How to Have A Lovely Wedding."

Amarillo Guests Attend Meeting

At the January meeting of the Pampa Music Teacher's Association, Mrs. L. M. Blakemore of an Amarillo Music Store gave an interesting discussion of new teaching materials. She also brought a display of new works for the teachers to examine.

Mrs. Gertrude MacDaniel, Amarillo music teacher, accompanied Mrs. Blakemore and was a guest of the local association.

Mrs. W. M. Cooper, president of the local group, presided at the meeting, which opened with the singing of "Texas our Texas," accompanied by Tracy Cary.

During the business session plans for the annual Sonatina Festival were discussed. It was decided to have the festival during the last week in March and to have the Sonatina Recital as a part of Music Week activities the first week in May.

Following the business meeting and program, luncheon was served to the members and guests. Mrs. Ramon Wilson was in charge of table decorations.

WINTERIZE POTS After bringing house plants indoors for the winter, scrub their porous or glazed clay pots. Use a sponge or brush, dipped in thick soap or detergent suds.

LOOK FOR LINING Whenever you shop for a dress, look for a lining. A lined dress will give you far more wear. And even budget-priced dresses come with linings these days.

PURPLE FOR WEDDING For the winter bridesmaid, there's the purple dress done satin, peau de soie or silk taffeta. Sometimes it's cut as a simple sheath with an overskirt.

Education Whose Lordship?

The reason The Pampa News on the opposite page is publishing "Education - Whose Lordship?" is that the publishers believe it is a race between educating people to believe in a single standard of rightness... or a double standard of rightness. Under a double standard the group or the government believes it has a right to do things that no individual in the group would believe he had a right to do as an individual.

Rev. Snavely wrote in a letter to Freedom Newspapers: "The position which this pulpit's message set forth has been reached by me only in the past year. I take it as a result of several years of wrestling against my Protestant background and its particular prejudices in this matter. Heretofore, I, as I am sure most Protestant ministers do, took for granted that there was something almost sacred in the unquestioning support of the public schools per se, regardless of what they were doing or what they were up to."

Official Physical Culture

It is doubtful if a competent study exists in the field. Yet we would hazard a guess that nations which intend to conduct large-scale warfare are far more interested in physical fitness and physical preparedness than any other nation. A typical example would be Germany under Hitler when youth clubs were formed under government sponsorship with full emphasis upon sports, games and physical exercise.

"FIRST: We must establish a White House Committee on Health and Fitness to formulate and carry out a program to improve the physical condition of the nation. This program will include the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare and the Secretary of the Interior. The executive order creating the committee" (note this will not be a matter for legislation - Ed.) "will clearly state its activities with the many federal programs which bear a direct relation to the problem of physical fitness."

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON
NEW YORK - From here it is difficult accurately to estimate the juvenile delinquency problem as it exists in other cities, but we have enough of our own right here in New York to engage attention. Like the procedure quarrel between two estimating groups, each as earnest as a monkey picking fleas off himself. The social worker side of the street claims juvenile gangs are losing their appeal for the kids and that within five years such gangs won't exist, having vanished in a growing wave of juvenile disinterest.

Neither side, it seems to me, has come to the colder facts of delinquent life and that is odd, if nothing else. I read a long, tape-recorded meeting the other day between youth workers and a gang that was getting ready to rumble with another gang. Perhaps you read some of it: it was in a very recent issue of a major news weekly. I seldom have read such hesitant, nauseating, outright placation of vicious young hoodlums in my life. No one spoke sharply and to the point, no one spoke with anything but pleading and weak logic.

There would not have been New York juvenile gangs to the horrifying extent that they existed, and still exist, if from the beginning, the loose, fat hand of politics hadn't entered the racial tension areas and cozied both Negroes and Puerto Ricans. Police were ordered not to be harsh with racial groups, and thus the poisonous aspects of Negroes and Puerto Ricans at brutal odds with each other - not with whities - began. The Negro community had contempt for the islanders and the islanders, stung in their pride, fought back. The police in the main had to stand by, which left the field open for added social workers whose idea of handling youth gangs was to hold their hands and speak softly and comforting to them.

There is no better policeman in the world than Commissioner Stephen Kennedy. If politicians kept out of his way, an Eden scarcely to be dreamed of in New York City, he and his force could have erased youth gangs from the city five years, certainly four years ago. But politicians feared to be candid and forthright with either of the two opposed races and a witch's brew of hellish crimes was boiled.

"THIRD: The governor of each state will be invited to attend an annual National Youth Fitness Congress. This congress will examine the progress which has been made in physical fitness during the preceding year, exchange suggestions for improving existing programs and provide an opportunity to encourage the states to implement the physical fitness program drawn up by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare."

Who, Me?

Allen-Scott Reports: Kennedy Set for Nuclear Nuclear Showdown U.S. to Resume Tests if Soviet Evades Pact

WASHINGTON - President-elect Kennedy's first momentous foreign affairs move will be to start the wheels rolling again on the long-pending effort to reach an understanding with Russia on the control of nuclear weapons. For this purpose, soon after Kennedy takes office, Britain will be consulted on reopening the adjourned Geneva discussions and formulating a new disarmament plan. John J. McCloy, former World Bank head named by Kennedy as his special disarmament assistant, will go to London for talks with Prime Minister Macmillan and his advisers.

"All who know Sherman Adams regret the misfortune of his retirement. That resulted from an effort of the heart, and leaves his record for honesty - and devotion - untarnished. I am sure he will be very successful in teaching practical politics."

For every disease that afflicts us, we Americans have a tax-free foundation which works constantly on a remedy - except for the real killer - vehicularity. (Carl Sandburg identified this for us). Because we are a vehicular people, thirty-eight thousand of us die annually, as many as five hundred over three-day weekends.

Note: Secretary of State-designate Dean Rusk has informed Kennedy that Prime Minister Macmillan, President Charles de Gaulle and Chancellor Adenauer are getting together early in February. Exact date and place of this meeting are still under discussion. Reputed purpose of this conference is to discuss "mutual European problems."

The American Way Hankerings

By GEORGE PECK ON THE SPOT

In a previous article I stated that President-elect Kennedy would be doubly moved to deal fairly with all the American people. I had the temerity to suggest for him a refresher course in basic Catholicism. Now I would specifically recommend that he study Pope Leo XIII's "Rerum Novarum," the references to Labor of which will help him in dealing with organized labor. It will serve him well in not erroneously conceiving he has a political obligation to certain labor bosses as may already be shaping unchristly demands to make upon him.

Organized labor did perform an outstanding job in helping to get out the vote. However, it was not alone in rendering such service as other groups did comparatively well. It was not its job, however, to tell any citizen how to cast his ballot. Such prerogative is a strictly private one. It is the national will alone that should exert an influence on the successful Presidential candidate - never the interests of such minority groups as may arrogantly and erroneously claim to have "delivered" his election.

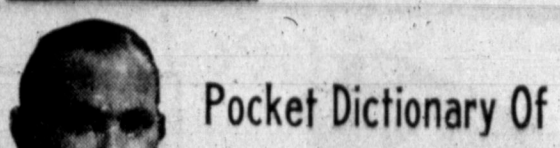

Mr. Kennedy will soon find out thereby that his church does not countenance any communistically dominated labor union, and stands unequivocally opposed to socialism in any manner, shape or form, knowing that state control of industry spells state control of church, if not its final extinction.

Mr. Kennedy's election means that he will soon have to exert the influence of his executive office in one of two directions. He can carve a pound of flesh from the American worker and pay it as an ill-conceived "debt" to the dictators of organized labor - or he can reward with a greater measure of freedom the working men and women of this nation whose indigenous votes helped to elect him.

The disease of vehicularity is really an easy one to control. All we have to do is to remove the power from the car. If we bought cars that never exceeded a speed of forty miles an hour, several thousand extra people would grow to a healthy old age. Certainly wrecked cars and torn bodies would not litter our freeways, which is a hell of a name for those stretches of pavement which have claimed the souls of so many nice people.

Here we have every right to be optimistic. For John Fitzgerald Kennedy, the next President of the United States, will find himself because of both influences very much ON THE SPOT.

Pocket Dictionary Of Asian, African Names

By HENRY McLEMORE

ROME, Italy - To follow intelligently the chaotic events in Asia and Africa it is necessary to know the leaders of the various parties, tribes, groups and factions, and the causes for which they stand. For the benefit of readers, here are capsule profiles of the personalities now in the news:

Wu Luau - Rabilid pro-Communist leader of the guerrilla faction fighting in the jungle on the side of the West. Brilliantly educated at Studebaker, Wu Luau collects antique grenades cases and American aid. He is bitterly engaged in an attempt to wrest control from Lom Masai, pro-Western leader of the Bong tribe battling the Communists for possession of Lari-Hola and N-guan Airport. His brother, Oblate Masai, recently returned from an economic mission to Cuba, shares with Lom Masai a passionate interest in bandolier belts, American aid, and unchipped Coke bottles. Lom Masai's greatest rival is Phou Cho, graduate of Lao Phi War College and unrivaled builder of roadblocks, whose ambushes have been studied at Studebaker. A vigorous supporter of Khrushchev and the Free World, Phou Cho is a sensitive hypochondriac and takes as many para-drops, and from both sides, as possible. When not terrorizing the closest border to his capital city of Huan Whang, he crochets, sorts American aid, and repairs bongo drums. His arch enemy is Col. Viet Prabang, one-time Congo boatman whose short tenure as Prime Minister of Lumph Hobi was marked by conflict between pro-Western and pro-Communist forces, both of which he supported with sincerity and guerrilla troops. He believes in more American aid, heavier taxation of phinda growers, and triple feature movies. His chief threat to regaining his post of Prime Minister is Habiang Taos, deposed Foreign Minister of Lubada Sulada, who has set up a provincial government and taken a firm stand both for the West and the East, with matinee hours for neutrality on Wednesday afternoons, when he likes to practice magic and witchcraft. Habiang Taos is scheduled to speak before the UN as soon as America can land a plane on the airfield torn up by Habiang Taos's supporters a week ago. His efforts to speak at the UN are opposed by Prince Suva Hyphol, round but articulate pro-Communist by night and hardy supporter of the West by day. Hyphol, a former Foreign Secretary under Lunl Gango, spends his spare time training falcons, seeking American aid, and encouraging ballet for the phanal, or farm folks. Calm save when aroused, and aroused save when calm, Prince Hyphol has a special hatred for Larani Whang, one-time Communist in - Chief of the Muara Bong army. Whang has made great inroads on Hyphol's popularity with his motto of "Bloodshed, Neutrality, and American Aid." His collection of funeral fans is unsurpassed in the Far East. He is a devoted patron of whippet racing. The present fate of two men is chiefly in the hands of time. It is too early, as are too late, to predict which emerge as the Strong Man.

Each of these ultramicroscopic organisms is a member of a family of filterable viruses. They're gotten that name because their minute size enables them to pass through the finest filters that are used in bacteriology laboratories to catch a solution of ordinary microbes like staphylococci, streptococci and the various bacilli. And, what's more important you and me, their minute size enables them to float through the nasal passages and with their thin membranes to pierce living tissues. When they move in on us, they immediately establish themselves as the greatest "free-loaders" of all time. They're able to breathe, feed, excrete, even reproduce themselves; they hook into one of our cells. Then, without so much as a year - leave - they take everything in sight and copy nothing we can use. Now we could stand it "free-loading" and their ingenuity if only they didn't interfere on being the hand that feeds them. And we might even be willing to settle for the commodity if otherwise they leave us alone. But when they paralyze our youngsters with poliomyelitis virus or go off to a world-wide rampage, as did in the 1918-1919 influenza pandemic, it's time to get busy. For that's going much far, as any reasonable individual should speak at the UN are opposed by Prince Suva Hyphol, round but articulate pro-Communist by night and hardy supporter of the West by day. Hyphol, a former Foreign Secretary under Lunl Gango, spends his spare time training falcons, seeking American aid, and encouraging ballet for the phanal, or farm folks. Calm save when aroused, and aroused save when calm, Prince Hyphol has a special hatred for Larani Whang, one-time Communist in - Chief of the Muara Bong army. PHS Hosts Improving Monterey

Harvesters Hungry After Borger Loss

By ARTHUR MAYHEW
Daily News Sports Editor

Pampa's Harvesters hope to catch Lubbock Monterey team that has been up and down more times than a roller coaster, on a uphill grade at 8 tonight when the game is in Harvester Fieldhouse in a District 3-4A game. Coach Terry Culley's Green and Gold lost a 58-55 thriller to Borger last Friday night, dropping Pampa last place tie with Lubbock — both 1-3 — and fell below the .500 mark for the year, 8-9.

Pair Hold Slim Lead In 3-4A

District 3-4A enters its third week of activity, one pattern is to be taking form: don't on the favorite.

At week end, Amarillo upset Palo Duro, 55-49; Plainview beat Duro, 53-42; then Palo Duro Plainview, 70-46; and Monterey around and beat Tascosa, 45-28.

Into tonight's play, Palo Duro (2-1), which has lost only one game, is tied for seventh place with Lubbock and Borger (2-1) in first place.

Monterey is second, all with 2-2 records. Amarillo, Tascosa, and Amarillo are tied for third place with 1-3 records. The team that may be a test away from home tonight is Duro, which has little trouble when Lubbock (1-3) comes to town.

A battle of contenders, Plainview and Amarillo meet in Amarillo, and Monterey meets Tascosa.

Despite its narrow 58-55 victory over Pampa last Friday, still like the team to beat but the still lacks 72 games of experience.

The battle for the district lead, Vernon Welch pumped in 21 points to lead Pampa to a 49-45 victory over Palo Duro.

Wilkinson, Monterey (63); Amarillo (61); Plainview (61); Carter, Palo Duro (63); Laney, Tascosa (61); Pampa (60); Randy Matson, Pampa (60); Swanner, Plainview (60); Webb, Lubbock, all

Coach Dean Evans will send his Pampa Shockers, 3-1 in district, in a 6:15 p.m. game against Monterey 'B' and probably will start Bob Neslage, Ronnie Chase, C. E. Cantrell, Darrell Doss and Kries. Monterey will counter with John Crippen, Buddy Gregory, Al Ayers, Ray Cravy and Carlton Jones.

The Lancers are 3-1 in district, downing Amarillo, Borger and Tascosa and losing to Amarillo.

SHOCKER STAR—Bob Neslage, the Shock's top rebounder and one of their top scorers, is a 6-2 junior who also has seen some action for the Harvesters this season.

Longhorns Pace SWC After Downing Aggies

By United Press International

The Texas Longhorns took over the top spot in the Southwest Conference title chase Monday night and dumped Texas A&M into third place, but Aggie ace Carroll Broussard moved on top of the overall individual scoring race with a torrid attack that matched his hottest night of the year.

Texas rallied in the second half to pull in front after trailing 38-37 at halftime, and with a fine 16-point clutch performance by sophomore Jimmy Gilbert, managed to hang on for a 81-76 victory.

It was the only league game of the night, and the only one for the rest of the week. The Aggies take time out from final exams to tackle the University of Houston at Houston in an inter-sectional clash on Thursday.

The victory put the defending champion Steers out in front with a 4-1 record and dropped the Cadets to a 3-2 mark, just behind Texas Tech's 3-1 record. Arkansas, Southern Methodist and Rice are lumped in fourth place with 2-2 marks.

Broussard jammed in 37 points to pace A&M's futile efforts. It matched the school scoring record he set last week, and also set another school scoring record on free throws—19 of them in the total.

He took over the overall scoring leadership with 295 points in 13 games, 16 points ahead of Steve Strange of SMU, who was held to six points over the weekend against Texas Christian.

Albert Almanza, who led the Longhorns with 23 points moved into fourth place with a total of 231 points. Del Ray Mounts of

Stand Aside Hogan—Palmer's On The Way

By HAL WOOD
United Press International

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—It's time for Ben Hogan, Walter Hagen, Byron Nelson and Sam Snead to move over and make room for Arnold Palmer — at 31 years of age certainly one of the greatest golfers of all time.

Not on the strength that he won the National Open and Masters last year; not because he set an all-time money winning record; and certainly not because he won the San Diego Open here Sunday.

But it just happens that Palmer has reached the pinnacle where every other golfer on the tour knows that he's the best man to beat in any tournament he enters.

Not since Hogan quit the tour; not since Snead retired to his gold in West Virginia; not since Hagen was in his prime has any one man so blanketed the opposition.

Less than half a dozen years ago the touring professional leaders casually proclaimed: "There'll never be another man come along to blanket the field. There are too many fine golfers on the tour these days."

But Palmer not only blankets it — he completely submerges it. It draws the big galleries. He steals the headlines one way or another. He wins a bigger percentage of tournaments than any man in modern golf history. He makes more money out of the game.

Palmer had just come from four strokes off the pace with only six holes to go to tie Al Balding and then beat him in the playoff of the San Diego Open when Balding was asked how this could happen.

"I just don't know," Balding lamented. "I've never heard of a leader shooting a 66 in the final round and still losing the tournament. He's so strong. He's just

Mays Signs Texan Pact

DALLAS (UPI)—Jerry Mays, 6-4, 235-pound Southern Methodist tackle signed a 1961 contract Monday with the Dallas Texans of the American Football League.

"We couldn't be happier," said Texans' Manager Jack Steadman. "We've now signed six of our first eight draft choices."

Mays was co-captain and an All-Southwest Conference tackle for the Mustangs.

Bonnies Advance Into Second

Ohio State Keeps Top Spot In UPI Ratings

NEW YORK (UPI)—St. Bonaventure, beaten only by Ohio State this season, moved into second place behind the unanimously-acclaimed Buckeyes today in the United Press International college basketball ratings.

For the second week in a row, all 35 members of the UPI board of Coaches made Ohio State their No. 1 choice. The Buckeyes are the first team ever to receive a perfect score in the UPI ratings, and have led the ratings seven consecutive weeks.

St. Bonaventure, with a 13-1 record, advanced one notch to second place and Bradley dropped to third after losing to Houston for its first defeat in 14 games.

DePaul, which has the only major college perfect record besides St. Bonaventure, moved into the top 10 after snapping Louisville's 11-game winning streak. DePaul, with an 11-0 record, jumped from a tie for 18th place to this week's No. 10 ranking.

Iowa (11-1) also made a big jump from 8th to 4th place. Kansas State, North Carolina, St. John's, Duke and Louisville filled the rankings between 5th and 9th in that order.

UCLA headed the second 10 teams this week, followed in order by Southern California, Kansas, Indiana and Utah. Rounding out the second 10 group were Memphis State, Wake Forest, Cincinnati, Wichita and Detroit.

Ingo Doped Or 'Dopey?'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Newly arrived Ingemar Johansson, uncertain whether he was "doped" or merely dopey last June, said today he would prevent the recurrence of either handicap in his third title fight with champion Floyd Patterson at Miami Beach, March 13.

His mother Hebbia will personally do the cooking at his training camp this time to prevent any possible tampering with his food, he explained.

And he will make changes in his training routine to step up his speed and alertness, he assured.

Swedish Ingo, the ex-heavyweight champion who arrived by plane from his new home in Switzerland Monday night, will come face to face tonight with Patterson, the man Ingo's knocked out "1,000 times" mentally since their second fight last June 20.

Wilt, Russell Make East Cagers Choice

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—The East was a six-point favorite to beat the West in the National Basketball Association's All-Star game tonight, chiefly because of Wilt Chamberlain and Bill Russell, and despite a boast that the West has the "strongest" team in years.

Unmindful of the odds, Coach Paul Seymour of the Western Division All-Stars said, "I believe we have a fine chance of winning the game even though the East has Chamberlain and Russell going for them. This is the strongest West team in my memory."

The professional odds-makers saw it differently, however. They liked Chamberlain and Russell, the NBA's top two rebounders, plus the fact that the Eastern Division All-Stars have more experience and a stronger bench.

Dolph Schayes of the Syracuse Nationals and Tommy Heinsohn of the Boston Celtics will start for the East in the forecourt.

'Peanut Hearing Aid'
AMARILLO, Tex. The makers of the world's first electrical hearing aid are manufacturing a "Peanut Hearing Aid," a tiny device worn entirely in the ear. This device is not for the really deaf, but for those who have a little trouble with their hearing and have said, "When they make a hearing aid I can put in my ear I'll wear one."

This "Peanut Hearing Aid" is worn entirely in the ear. Not a gadget but a real hearing aid, complete with volume control.

For free demonstration of this tiny device come to our regular monthly hearing aid clinic at Hotel Adams, Pampa, Texas, Wednesday, January 18, 1961, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

* How old is your bourbon?

The Top Bourbon of Kentucky is now a full 7 years old... the only bourbon in a handsome traditional etched green glass bottle! And the name has been changed from Old Stagg to Geo. T. Stagg to pay tribute to the memory of the man who created this bourbon nearly a century ago. Almost three million barrels of this fine old Kentucky bourbon have been produced according to his unique formula. Now that it is older than ever, its flavor is smoother and mellower than ever. Enjoy this old whiskey tonight... Geo. T. Stagg in the distinctive square bottle.

Leaflet Sets Up Facts On Oil And Gas

DALLAS (SpI) — To answer frequent "how many" and "how much" questions about the Texas petroleum industry, Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association today issued its "61 Facts about Texas Oil and Gas."

Styled as a "little giant compendium of 61 facts and positively amazing statements" the free leaflet commemorates the 60th anniversary of the discovery of oil at Spindletop near Beaumont, Jan. 10, 1901, which opened the oil and gas era of Texas history.

Among the 61 miscellaneous facts are these:

- Texas oil and gas provide 29 per cent of the fuel energy produced in the U.S.
- Value of Texas crude oil in 1958 was $2.9 billion.
- Texas has 47.8 per cent of U.S. oil reserves.
- Texas produced 14 per cent of world oil in 1958; 23 per cent in 1958.
- The industry spent $1.8 billion on production equipment and supplies in 1958.
- Average expenditure for drilling wells in Texas is $10.55 per foot.
- An average Texas well yields 14 barrels a day.
- About one out of every 11 Texas workers is in oil and gas industry.
- Industry payroll is $1.3 billion annually.
