Viet Troops Airlifted In Five-Day Old Battle

Names Have Changed But Script Stays Same

By RAYMOND LAHR
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The GOP has changed the names in the east but it is following substantially the same script it used 16 years ago.

In 1948 Thomas E. Dewey was defeated by President Harry S. Truman in an election Dewey was expected to win. As the candidate of the Republican Party, he was denounced by embittered critics from within his own party.

Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the chairmanship of the Senate Republican Policy Committee. Taft hung on the job by a vote of 28 to 14.

On the Lodge slate of "young Turk" candidates was William S. Knowland, then a senator from California and a staunch Goldwater supporter in 1964. Knowland was beaten as a candidate for Republican floor leader.

SAIGON (UPI) — A fresh battalion of Vietnamese soldiers was airlifted into the five-day-old battle of Binh Gia today.

French Leader Blasts U.S. Again on West Alliance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American officials view French President Charles de Gaulle's year-end attack on U.S. "domination" of NATO merely as a restatement of his previously voiced opinions.

Although De Gaulle's remarks added nothing new to his position, they did underline the basic split between France and the United States over the future shape of the Western Alliance.

Why Johnson recently ordered his top aides to take the heat off for the time being, on the controversial proposal for an Allied Multinuclear Nuclear Fleet (AMNF).

Tournament of Roses Marks 76th Birthday
PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — The famous Tournament of Roses — a breathtaking procession of flower-covered floats and smartly marching bands — celebrates its 76th birthday today.

Court Order Halts Yugoslavia Bishops
WAUKEGAN, Ill. (UPI) — A judge has stopped an attempt by three bishops appointed by Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito to take over 130 churches worth $10 million.

Reds Block Pilots' Try At Rescue
SAIGON (UPI) — Communist guerrillas, meanwhile, fought on attempts to reach the wreckage of a downed American helicopter.

Poverty Funds Held In Louisiana Probe
NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The federal government is holding up some of the War-On-Poverty funds earmarked for Louisiana while it investigates "the quality of the personnel being recruited by the state."

County Officials Sworn in Today
A new type of New Year's resolution was made today by 10 officers and officials of Gray County. The resolution sounded like this: "... I do solemnly swear to perform the duties of my office ..."

The French president's remarks were not surprising. It had been assumed he would want to make it clear that his recent talks in Paris with Secretary of State Dean Rusk had not changed his attitude.

The United States essentially is in agreement with De Gaulle that the present NATO pact requires some revision to take into account developments since the birth of the alliance in April, 1949. The difference is over what changes to make.

De Gaulle has made it clear he envisions a united Europe clustered about France's leading nuclear power to deal as an equal with the United States.

The resolution was in the form of an oath of office administered to the recently elected officials of Gray County. The ceremonies were held at 10 a.m. today in 31st District Court, Judge Lewis M. Goodrich read the oath to the officials while they repeated it in unison, inserting their own names.

Two Charges Dropped Against Johnson, Barnett

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government is dropping two of the four criminal contempt charges against Mississippi Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr. and former Gov. Ross R. Barnett.

The contempt action against Johnson and Barnett was an outgrowth of the clash over efforts to register against Mississippi Gov. James H. Meredith at the University of Mississippi in September, 1962.

Each of the four counts charged Barnett and Johnson with willful disregard and defiance of appeals court orders forbidding them to interfere with Meredith's admission to the university.

Acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said a motion to dismiss two counts was filed with the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans Thursday. He said they would greatly extend "the length and complexity of trial of the case without furthering the interest of justice."

In Jackson, Miss., Barnett said he did "not think it wise to comment on the matter at this time." A spokesman for the governor said the Appeals Court Probably would have no comment until he has had a chance to read the Justice Department's contempt charges against Mississippi Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr. and former Gov. Ross R. Barnett.

Battle Looms
Although it is not billed as a contest between pro and anti Goldwater Republicans.

Thousands of persons were in their places at curbside during the night equipped with paraphernalia that ranged from sleeping bags and cots to step ladders and portable barbecues that were used to fend off the chill of 30-degree weather.

The bishops were sent here from Belgrade in 1963. At that time Yugoslavia's religious commission announced the Serbian Eastern Orthodox diocese of the United States and Canada, thus deposing Bishop Dionisije, who was appointed in 1944 by Yugoslavia's exiled King Peter.

The three bishops, Firmilian Ockoljich, Stefan Lastavica,

But the Reds were still resisting this afternoon. U.S. military spokesmen said the helicopter-borne troops were met with "light" ground fire when they swept into their landing zone.

Richard W. Boone, chairman of the Office of Economic Opportunity's community action program, said in Washington Thursday night that part of the funds slated for the state are being withheld.

Some complaints have been received about the quality of personnel being recruited by the state for its proposed technical and grant processing program, Boone said. The complaints will be investigated, he said.

As the midnight hour struck, shots rang out in various sections of the city. Automobile sirens screamed and the top noise-maker of all came with the blowing of the siren at Central Fire Station.

The annual January March of Dimes, now an all-out campaign against the national tragedy of birth defects, opened today in Gray County.

The pilot and co-pilot of the helicopter and the American civilian flying the French-made light plane involved in the collision all suffered minor injuries. Their names were not made public.

The administrators are locally appointed, but are to be paid by the federal government.

Probably the most controversial of the men named by McKeithen was former state education superintendent Shelby Jackson.

Just as the New Year moved in, dancers at various club affairs and guests gathered at parties in homes across the city, shouted greetings to the New Year and sang "Auld Lang Syne."

Under the leadership of Don Lusher, Gray County campaign director, the drive will run through January 31. Joe M. Daniel Jr. is the Pampa chairman.

Three of the missing Americans—the other crewmen of the downed helicopter—are believed to have been killed. The other two are said to have been captured by the Communists.

The NAACP asked Sargent Shriver, the poverty war director, to remove Jackson as an "avowed racist" and a consistent foe of federal aid to public education.

Two other appointees mentioned by a New Orleans television station as connected with the fund suspension are state program director Champ Baker and Alexandria, La., insurance man and campaign worker for McKeithen, who was to receive $15,000 annually, and Grand Sampo, the governor's driver during the campaign. He was to get $9,000.

Teenagers Go for Discotheque Party

TEENAGE PARTY — Holiday party planned to suit the mood of the teenager is a home version of a discotheque. Instead of "party" refreshments, a buffet table offering canned soft drinks in different flavors and a variety of spicy food such as pizzas and nibblers is ready to serve dancers whenever they wish. Clever misshapen decorations are made from soft drink cans, construction paper and cellophane tape.

There is a period in a home-maker's life when holiday entertaining is not limited to the pleasant, if tiring, round of parties with civilized adults. This is the period when the social life of the children must be considered.

And what a consideration when the kids are in different stages! On my calendar, I can look forward with more confidence to my role as hostess to the third grade recorder recital than I do as refreshment chairman for the seventh grade dancing class Christmas mayhem.

Both these junior social commitments pale beside one to entertain 10 or 12 teen-agers, 15 or 16 years old. I was nervous about this for the simple reason our 15-year-old daughter doesn't really believe I'm a product of the 20th century.

If "silence is golden" our communication would have shamed Fort Knox when I told her we were having a party. From the rolling upward of the eyes and the little words dropped, I gathered her reaction was to question what kind of a tin party could possibly evolve in a home where parents had such absolutely ante-bellum taste.

Civil War - bellum taste ideas. Then I tossed her a new slow curve.

"What about a discotheque theme?"

Interest flickered. In our area, teen-agers are subject to strict curfew laws and most night spots including the popular discotheques won't let them past the front door.

To fan the spark of enthusiasm I explained that, in case she didn't fully understand, the discotheque originated in France and refers to a little dimly-lit cabaret where dancers gyrate to the currently favored "veh, veh, heh" phonograph records. It's in discotheques that such dances as the Watusi, Hully Gully, Frug, Monkey and Fish find their greatest inspiration.

Well, this sounded more like

Dear Abby.... Poor Timing Causes Unintentional Hurt

DEAR ABBY: I feel so sick at heart I don't know what to do. My daughter-in-law is the dearest little thing. I couldn't love my own daughter more. Yesterday she brought my little granddaughter over to see me and she also brought me a cake she had made from "scratch" from a recipe I had given her. She was so proud of that cake. I wanted to make her feel good so I fixed a pot of coffee and served her cake with it. I want to tell you that cake wasn't easy to swallow. It was lopsided, underdone in the center and very heavy. After she left I took the cake out in the back yard and started breaking it up into small pieces for the birds. As I was pitching it left and right, my daughter-in-law came back to get the baby's diaper bag which she had forgotten. When she saw me throwing the cake out she looked so hurt. Oh, Abby, I haven't been able to sleep. Should I try to patch things up, or should I try to forget it and hope she will too?

DEAR ABBY: You've had letters from hostesses complaining because no one helps them serve or clean up after feeding a gang. Well, my problem is just the opposite. I get too much help. I had 14 (all relatives) for Thanksgiving dinner. Everything was well organized, but my older sister who likes to run everything started giving everyone orders like a drill sergeant. "Dora, collect the dishes! Pauline, fill the water glasses! etc. Just as I was coming through the swinging doors from the kitchen with a pie in each hand my sister, the drill sergeant, barged in with a stack of dishes. We collided and I dropped the pies and she dropped the dishes, breaking all but three. They were my best dishes, too. I was so mad I could have howled. Please tell people, Abby, that if some hostesses want help, they'll ask for it.

DEAR SORRY: It would be better to bring it up and clear the air. Tell her you appreciated her thoughtfulness and also tell her what was wrong with her cake and offer to help her make the next one. (P. S. Your timing, as well as her cake, was for the birds.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year-old woman who has been married for 21 years. I have four children. The two oldest are in college. My doctor put me on birth control pills but something must have gone wrong because I am pregnant again. When my husband heard the news he said it was no wonder I got in that condition because he should have been taking the pills. Me or my husband? He said, "You, of course. Are you trying to be funny or are you just plain stupid?"

My feelings were very hurt. Miss Abby, and I was not trying to be funny. Was my question stupid?

When you invite guests to your home, you hope they will do all the proper things to make your party a success.

You hope they'll arrive on time—for the sake of the roast in the oven—but not 10 minutes early in case you are running too close to your schedule for comfort.

You hope there won't be one guest who breaks up the party early, by making a production out of leaving.

You hope the guests will enjoy the food you have prepared. The only way you can be sure that they do is by hearing some compliments.

You hope that no one guest will monopolize the conversation, and that you won't have to cope with the difficult guest who waits to be amused.

You hope that from the moment your guests come into your home they will feel relaxed and glad to be where they are.

You hope the men won't gather and leave the women by themselves.

Mrs. Pearl Cullers Andrews Funeral services for Mrs. Pearl Cullers Andrews of Minneapolis, Minn., will be conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday from First Presbyterian Church with Rev. Donald Hauck officiating. Interment will follow, under direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home, in Fairview Cemetery by the side of her husband, John V. Andrews, who preceded her in death in 1956. The body will lie in state in First Presbyterian Church Chapel until service time. The casket will not be opened at the funeral service. Friends may donate to the Book of Remembrance of the church. Mrs. Andrews died Thursday morning in Methodist Hospital, Minneapolis, Minn. Mrs. Andrews was a long-time resident of Pampa, moving to Minneapolis, Minn., eight years ago following the death of her husband. She was a charter member of Pampa First Presbyterian Church and was the first president of the Women's Association of the church. Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Harry L. Height Jr. of Minneapolis, Minn., and one brother, E. Edward Cullers of Austin. Pallbearers will be Bill Walters, H. J. Johnson, Gene Fatheree, Warren Fatheree, Hobart Fatheree and Smiley Henderson.

Pampa Brothers Admit Burglary

Two Pampa teenage brothers gave local police a verbal statement today admitting the burglary last night of the Coop Service Station in Texhoma of $125 in cash. The pair was apprehended at 3:20 a.m. today in Pampa by city police. During questioning, officers said the pair admitted driving to Texhoma last night and breaking in the station. Taken in the theft was $124.50 in cash, eight cans of motor additive, three cartons of cigarettes, 27 boxes of ammunition and two pairs of leather gloves. Charged with burglary by Texhoma authorities is William Lambright, 18, who lists his address as 911 Albert. Being held for juvenile authorities is his 16-year-old brother Harry Lambright. They were arrested after local police were notified that the boys were suspects in the break-in and were furnished with a description of their auto.

Fire Damage Light Johnson Daughters Celebrate in NY

Light to no damage was reported by the Pampa Fire Department as the result of two fires yesterday afternoon. A hot motor on a residential heating unit was listed as the cause of a blaze at the home of W. C. Fry, 2126 Williston. The small fire caused light smoke and fire damage. A trash container caught fire yesterday afternoon at the Hendrix apartments, 1001 Summer. Firemen said the small blaze was quickly extinguished and no damage resulted. (Continued from Page 1)

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — President and Mrs. Johnson welcomed in the New Year quietly today at the LBJ Ranch while their daughters attended livelier celebrations in the East. The Johnsons looked forward to an exciting 1966 as they planned a peaceful holiday on the banks of the Pedernales River before returning to Washington. They were expected to have friends drop in for a New Year's Day dinner. The First Family was widely separated as 1964 faded into the past. Their 20-year-old daughter Lynda rang out the old year with friends in New York. Luci, 17, and her steady boyfriend, Paul Betz, 20, spent New Year's Eve partying in Washington.

Dockers Strike Appears Likely

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — The United States entered the New Year today only 10 days from a threatened longshoremen's strike that could tie up all ports from Maine to the Mexican border. Talks between shippers and the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) broke off in a deadlock Thursday. It appeared there was no chance they would resume until at least next Tuesday. The shippers accused the union of harassment. The union accused the shippers of trying to force a strike, and a Labor Department peace maker blamed the union for the breakdown in negotiations by "questionable bargaining tactics."

Jones Dismisses Four Footballers

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Four Oklahoma football players were dismissed from the team today by Coach Homer Jones because they have signed professional contracts. Three of the Sooners were scheduled to start Saturday in the Gator Bowl against Florida State. The four are tackle Ramon Neely, who signed with the Houston Oilers of the American Football League, and fullback Jim Grisham, halfback James Rentzel and end Wesley Skidgell. The other three signed with the Minnesota Vikings. Jones accused professional football of "destroying the entire intercollegiate program" by tampering with players before they finish their varsity eligibility.

Communists Call For U.S. House Cleaning

TOKYO (UPI) — The Communist radio said today Red China's principal internal struggle this year will be a fight against lingering tendencies toward capitalism. A Peking broadcast quoting the Communist "People's Daily" called for a nationwide "house cleaning" and an "education" drive to combat these tendencies.

BIG MACHINE — One of the major investments in the 1965 construction program of the Southwestern Public Service is a new 210,000 kilowatt generator, which is being installed at Cunningham Station, west of Hobbs, New Mexico. The new unit, pictured under construction, is scheduled to be in service in mid-1965. Southwestern Public Service Company's 1965-improvement program calls for an investment of $24,607,000 in new equipment, second largest construction-budget in the company's history.

Public Service Company Plans $24,607,000 Building Program

Southwestern Public Service Company's 1965 construction and improvement program calls for an investment of $24,607,000 in new facilities, it has been announced by A. R. Watson, president and general manager of the electric company.

The company's construction plans for 1965 anticipate the second largest annual improvement program in the company's history, topped only by 1964's record investment of more than $30,000,000. At the conclusion of the 1965 program, the electric company will have invested nearly $120,000,000 in new equipment in the 1961-65 period.

"One year ago, when we announced a record single year construction budget, our forecast was for continued growth throughout our 45,000 square mile service area. Our optimistic outlook remains unchanged, as evidenced by the continued high level of new equipment investment we plan for 1965 and the years to follow. Inasmuch as we must begin our planning and construction to meet our customer's needs from 3 to 5 years in advance of their actual requirements, it is apparent that we anticipate continued economic expansion in our service area," Watson said.

A major portion of the electric company's 1965 construction budget will go for additions to its interconnected generation and transmission system, which includes 11 base-load electric generating stations which are linked together by a 4,000 mile network of high-voltage transmission lines.

The additions to the generating capability include a 210,000 kilowatt unit to be installed at Cunningham Station, west of Hobbs, New Mexico. The Cunningham addition will be the second 210,000 kilowatt machine to go into service within the period of a year. Plant X, near Earth, Texas, houses the first of these giant generators, the largest single unit in service on the company's system.

The other generating additions to be completed in 1965 are gas turbine units to be installed at Borger and Pampa. These units will be located at industrial plants in each case, with the fuel to be provided by the customer. The Pampa Unit is located at the Celanese Corp. chemical plant.

At the Borger location, where natural gas will be purchased from the customer for fuel, the exhaust gases will be returned to the customer for use in his plant.

At Pampa, hot pressurized gases which are a by-product of the customer's manufacturing process will serve as the fuel for the new turbine.

"These tailored installations of generating equipment are indicative of our responsibility to conserve the natural resources of the area we serve. In each case, there will be total utilization of the heat energy present in the gases, and all waste will be eliminated.

Of course, introduces economies for us as well as the customer, and is the type of program we must carry on to keep the customer's price down by keeping our costs down. The benefit of this type of planning goes to all of our customers," Watson said.

1965 will see a continuation of a program started last year to convert the main arteries of the company's transmission network to 230,000 volt lines. The major voltage was 115,000 volts until this year.

Scheduled for completion this year are 230,000 volt lines running from Plant to Cunningham Station and from Plant to Nichols Station, northeast of Amarillo.

The 230,000 volt lines have 4 times the carrying capacity of the 115,000 volt circuits and their increased transmission capability ties in with the larger, more efficient generating units such as the two new 210,000 kilowatt machines to both improve service and keep it economical.

A 115,000 volt line is being constructed from Amarillo to Borger to provide the electric power for pumping the water through the aqueduct system associated with the Canadian River Dam.

Load growth in the Hereford-Dimmitt area will bring the construction of another 115,000 volt circuit from Plant to Hereford. This will "firm up" for many years the power supply in this growing region.

"There is great satisfaction being able to say to our customers once again as a new year starts that their electric service dollar is buying more than ever before. Three things make this record possible. First of all are the customers themselves, who are using more electric power than ever before. They make it possible for dedicated employees working with the most modern and efficient equipment to see down the price of our service in the face of rising costs for fuel, equipment and labor," Watson concluded.

History Shaped By Toss of Coin

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Historical Association held its 79th annual meeting here this week at the same time that Bill Cosby was holding forth in a local night club. If the significance of this confidence eludes you, let me point out that Cosby is a professional comedian.

Down through the years, historians have always been good for a lot of laughs, and now Cosby has returned the favor by inventing a theory of history.

There are, of course, almost as many theories of history as there are historians. One is the so-called "great man" theory which holds the course of history is shaped by the occasional appearance of world leaders of outstanding abilities.

Counter-Theory
Running counterblockwise to that theory is the theory that great leaders are only the products of their times, and that circumstances make the men, rather than vice versa.

Cosby does not subscribe to either of these theories. It is his theory that the course of history is shaped by the toss of a coin, as in football games.

Football captains, as you know, meet in the center of the field before a game to decide which teams will kickoff and receive, and which will defend what goal. First choice goes to the captain who wins the toss.

When applied to a specific event in history, such as the Revolutionary War, Cosby's theory works like this:

The American colonists won the toss and elected to fight from behind trees in loose formations and to wear nondescript uniforms.

Indians, Settlers Toss
The British then exercised their option and elected to fight in open spaces in tight formations and to wear red uniforms.

Wall Street In Review

L. O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton & Co. says he leans toward the cautious side and is hoping for a better chance to sell some stocks in the coming weeks. Hooper also says he lacks enthusiasm to buy but anticipates some better opportunities between now and midsummer.

Newton D. Zinder believes that year-end adjustments are obscuring the market's technical measurements and it would be better to hold off on any firm judgment until the early part of January.

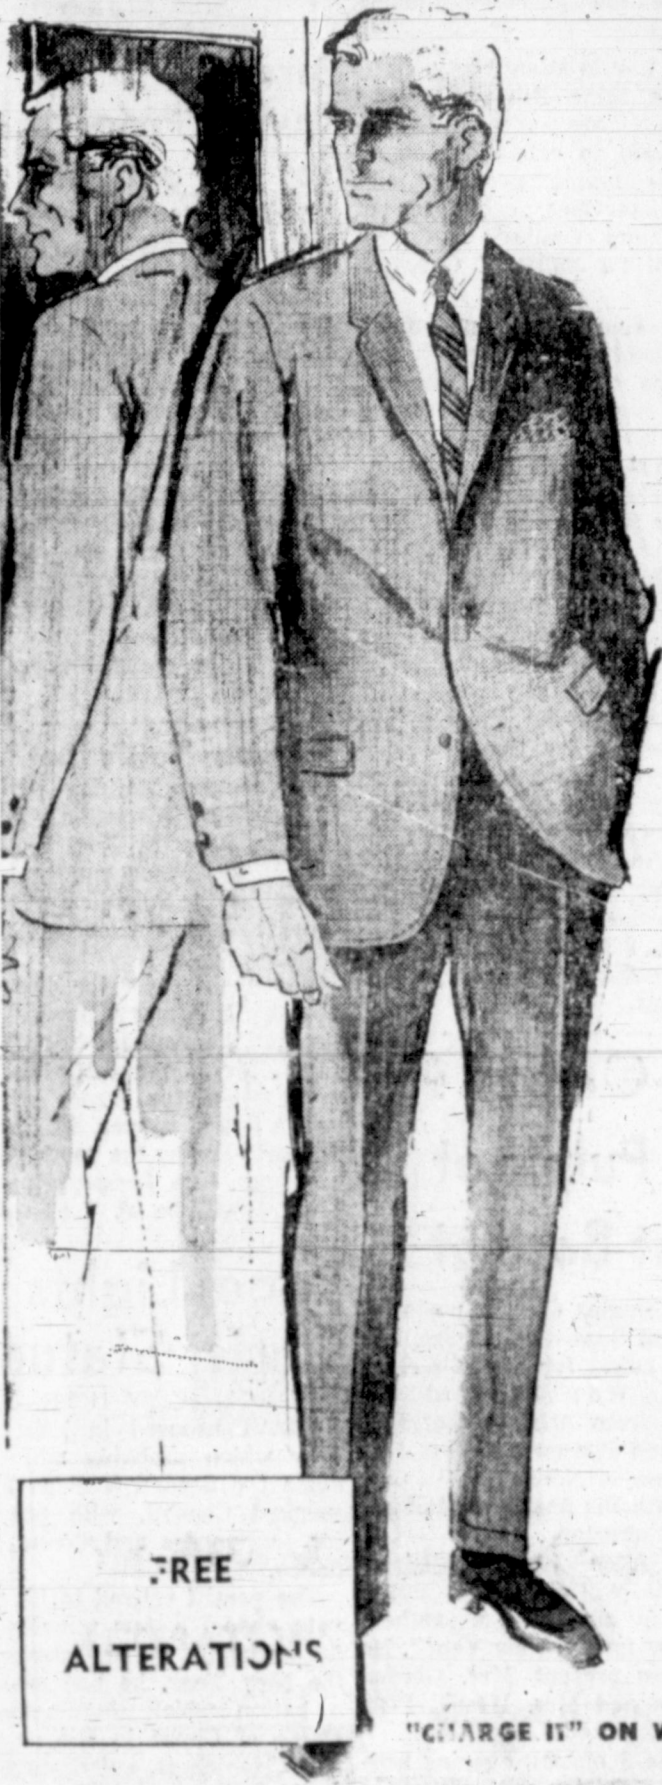

The Alexander Hamilton Institute says the general business outlook remains promising but the British financial situation and the steel-age negotiations remain uncertainties on the horizon.

Similarly, in the Indian wars, the settlers won the toss and elected to fight dismounted and drawn up in a circle. The Indians then elected to fight on horseback in the open.

Reasonable Forecasts of Religious Events for '65

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
 The Bible takes a dim view of dogmatic predictions about the future. It warns in James 4:14 that men "never know what tomorrow will bring." But it does not condemn the more modest enterprise of trying to read, in past and present events, some portent of things to come.

The following forecasts about 1965 are made in that spirit. Perhaps none of them will actually come to pass. But all seem, at this writing, like reasonable expectations.

I-Vatican Council
 The first Ecumenical Council in nearly a century will wind up with a highly productive fourth session at which bishops of the Roman Catholic Church will take a firm stand in favor of religious liberty.

Progressive bishops will leave Rome disappointed that they did not achieve more in the way of renewal. Conservatives entrenched in the Roman Curia will be appalled at how much the council DID accomplish, and will set about quickly to undo as many of its reforms as possible.

Both progressives and conservatives will continue to wonder whose side Pope Paul VI is really on.

II-Social Action
 Protestant, Catholic and Jewish bodies in the United States will enlist in the "war on poverty" with the same zeal and interfaith unity which they displayed in their successful 1964 fight for enactment of the civil rights law.

Race relations will continue to be a major social concern of religious groups with emphasis shifting from desegregation of public facilities to combating discrimination in housing and employment.

III-Aid to Education
 Religious controversy will break out over the administration's proposal for a large-scale program of federal aid to education.

Catholic opposition is assured to any aid plan which omits parochial schools. Protestant and Jewish opposition is assured to any plan which includes them. President Johnson will try to find a compromise solution that will make it possible to get a bill through Congress. But this will prove to be harder than he thinks.

IV-Prayer in Schools
 Attempts will be made in Congress to revive last year's proposal for a constitutional amendment to authorize prayer and Bible reading in public schools. They will receive articulate support from some Americans who think that the Supreme Court has repudiated the nation's religious heritage by decreeing that public schools be "Godless." But they will be vigorously opposed by many religious leaders who feel that the court has simply upheld the American tradition of church-state separation at a critical point.

In the end, Congress will piggyback the proposed amendment.

V-Christian Unity
 While some Protestants and Catholics are arguing loudly about aid to education, others will be taking part in joint prayer services, exchanges of visits, and similar manifestations of the spirit of Christian unity.

The ecumenical movement, long confined to the upper echelons of the churches, will finally reach the grass roots in a big way.

VI-Church Membership
 Churches will register increases in membership but they won't be big enough to keep pace with the rate of population growth. There will be a growing awareness that the boom days of "religious revival" are over, and people are no longer joining churches just because it's the thing to do.

This realization will come as a shock to many churchmen, but it will have a salutary effect in the long run. In 1965, for the first time since World War II, churches may be more concerned with evangelism than with putting up fancy new buildings.

 revival singer

Barrett Baptist Revival Program Set for January

Barrett Baptist Church will hold a New Year Revival Jan. 10 through 17.

The outstanding singer Sam Allen, who is presently leading the music at the First Baptist Church will be music director during the coming revival. He is known for his excellent solo voice throughout the Southern Baptist Church Convention.

Allen has held high honors in the field of sports and will be a blessing to our young people as well as adults.

The pastor, Rev. J. R. Ferguson, will be doing the preaching for the revival.

Sermon Topic Set

The Sunday-Morning Service at the First Christian Church will be given by Rev. Ford A. Ellis. The sermon topic is "The Church of the Spirit." The scripture reading is Galatians 5:13-25.

The choir under the direction of Miss Rosemary Lawlor will present the Anthem "Spirit of God." Mrs. John Gill will accompany at the organ.

The snack supper will be at 5:30 followed by the youth group meetings. The Sunday Evening Service will be at 7 o'clock.

Dr. Carver to Fill Pulpit at First Baptist

Dr. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church will be in the pulpit for the 11 o'clock morning worship and will preach from the subject, "A Promised Presence." Miss Eloise Jahn, organist, will play "Beneath His Sheltering Wings" for the offertory.

Sam Allen, interim Minister of Music, will direct the church choir in singing the anthem "Prayer for the New Year." He will also present Mrs. Gordon Bayless and Mrs. Harold Pitts in singing a duet.

At the 3 o'clock evening worship the Pastor will present a guest speaker. The special music will be a bass solo sung by Paul Barrett. Miss Eloise Jahn has chosen "Prayer" by Sergison for the organ offertory.

The Wednesday evening coordinated activities will be held on the regular schedule. Jack Parker, Minister of Education, has called a meeting of the Sunday School Superintendents for 5:45 in the Church lounge.

Pope Lights Christ Statue

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI ushered in 1965, the year which probably will conclude the Second Vatican Ecumenical Council, with prayers for forgiveness and divine guidance.

The pontiff retired to his private chapel a few minutes after midnight. On the stroke of the New Year, he had pressed a button which illuminated a statue of Christ in Rio de Janeiro, which is celebrating its 400th anniversary this year.

While the Pope prayed, the Vatican Radio broadcast a speech he had recorded in Portuguese conferring his blessing on the Brazilian city.

The papal prayers began with the psalm "Miserere" (Have Mercy), asking God's forgiveness for his sins. A "te deum" of thanksgiving for 1964 followed and then the Pope appealed for divine guidance during the new year in the solemn words of the "Veni Creator" (Come, Creating Spirit).

Duke Goes Back To Champagne Life

HOUSTON (UPI)—It was back to the champagne life tonight for the Duke of Windsor who was released from a hospital only hours earlier.

The former English monarch gave a small black-tie-and-formal-gown New Year's Eve party in the Princess Suite of the Warwick Hotel where he is staying for a week or so before going back to New York.

PLANS DEMONSTRATION
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party (MFDP) plans a demonstration here Monday to support its efforts to unseat Mississippi's House delegation.

Reflections on a Satellite

NASA is experimenting with laser as a possible tool for tracking satellites in space. Laser is a highly concentrated light beam whose chief characteristic is that it does not diffuse and disappear over a distance as, say, a flashlight beam does. A laser beam would hit a satellite in approximately the same size and intensity as when it left the transmitter. The "receiver" for the beam is pictured above, being inspected by Dr. H. H. Potkin at the NASA space center. Greenbelt, Md. It is an octagonal, pyramidal case to contain 360 one-inch prism reflectors, to be mounted on a satellite. They can bounce a ground-based beam back to its source from almost any angle. From beam's travel time, distance from earth can be calculated.

Ride to the Hound

Sandra Terzian of San Francisco believes that to be a champion show dog her Afghan hound needs road work. While she feels Taishan requires a one to three-mile trot daily, she doesn't need it. Solution: she leads her dog beside her car while she drives about 10 miles an hour on a secluded road.

State's Prosperity Hit Highest Peak in 1964

By CHARLES A. RICHARDS
United Press International
 Spurred by last spring's tax cut and big increases in industrial development and customer spending, Texas prosperity rose to an all-time high in 1964 despite agricultural setbacks.

Financial leaders over the state reported pepped-up business trends over the past 12 months and were almost unanimous in predicting another banner year for 1965.

It was not an exceptionally good year for agriculture, but overwhelming gains in building more than offset the loss by farmers.

Building permits were 20 per cent above 1963. The federal income tax cut in March increased the amount of disposable personal income and apparently also provided an incentive for businesses to expand.

Statistics on Texas business activity for the first 11 months of 1964 show a gain of 8 per cent over a similar period in 1963.

Dr. John Stockton of the Bureau of Business Research in Austin said construction activity showed a switch from high-rise apartment building to business construction during 1964. The number of new office and bank buildings also declined slightly as they caught up with the demand.

Industrial Work Up
 The big jump came in work on schools, utilities and public works, stores and industrial buildings. Stockton said figures show construction of industrial buildings ran 94 per cent ahead of 1963.

Department store sales, a key measurement of the state's economy, showed a 10 per cent gain for 1964 over 1963 going into the Christmas season. Houston led the increase with a 14 per cent hike, while Dallas and San Antonio both showed 9 per cent gains in sales, according to figures from the Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas.

Personal income in the state rose about 5 per cent over 1963, with a record $1,850 per capita for the nearly 10 million Texans. The income tax cut, lowering withholding rates from 18 to 14 per cent, was a contributing factor.

Presbyterians Install, Ordain Church Officials

The Ordination and Installation of Ruling Elders, Deacons, Trustees, and Officers will be held at the First Presbyterian Church. This special observance will be at the second Worship Hour only.

To be ordained and installed as Ruling Elder are Hobart Patience and John Brewer. W. A. Morgan, Henry Gindorf, and David Tucker will be installed as this office having been previously ordained Deacons to be ordained and installed are L. W. Lilly, Joe Rogers, Jr., and Curt Beck. Other Deacons also installed will be Champ Barnes and Bill Eyles. Harvey Nonstiel is the newly elected Trustee, and Bruce Pratt and E. L. Biegerstaff will serve as Church Treasurers.

The Pastor, Donald S. Hauck will preach at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. Services and will be assisted by Mr. Boyd Taylor, a member of the Disciples. His message "Earthen Vessels, or Cracked Pots" will be taken from the Fourth Chapter of Paul's Second Letter to the Corinthian Church.

In the evening, the Junior and Senior High young people will have a snack supper and program together, prior to Evening Worship at 7 p.m. in Kelley Chapel.

The big jump came in work on schools, utilities and public works, stores and industrial buildings. Stockton said figures show construction of industrial buildings ran 94 per cent ahead of 1963.

Department store sales, a key measurement of the state's economy, showed a 10 per cent gain for 1964 over 1963 going into the Christmas season. Houston led the increase with a 14 per cent hike, while Dallas and San Antonio both showed 9 per cent gains in sales, according to figures from the Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas.

Personal income in the state rose about 5 per cent over 1963, with a record $1,850 per capita for the nearly 10 million Texans. The income tax cut, lowering withholding rates from 18 to 14 per cent, was a contributing factor.

Bible Study to Start Service at Central Baptist

Sunday's service at Central Baptist Church will begin at 9:45 with the hour of Bible Study. The Bible material for study concerns the ministry of John the Baptist. The Pastor, T. O. Upshaw, will preach at the 11 a.m. worship service. The subject of his message will be "Progress Under Difficulty."

Evening services begin at 6 o'clock with the Mission organizations for the youth fifteen years old and under. The older youth and adults participate in Training Union. The topic for discussion Sunday night is "Causes of Unconcern."

At the evening hour of worship, 7 o'clock, the church will observe the ordinance of the Lord's Supper. All deacons will meet at 4 o'clock.

Monday evening the Brotherhood and Royal Ambassadors will have a Chili Supper. Coach Gary Griffin will be the speaker.

Sunday Topic Set For Worship at Lamar Christian

Lamar Christian Church will begin their new year of worship Sunday morning by sharing the message "Crystal Gazing into the Future." Rev. Loren E. Williams said his text for this message is that of I Samuel 28:10. Bible study is held each Sunday beginning at 7 p.m. Letters to Paul are being studied and discussed. The portion to be covered this Sunday is I Corinthians 1:4-9. R. L. Hendricks will be the discussion leader.

The Official Board will hold their meeting at the church just following the Bible study. Chi Rho Fellowship for Junior High youth meets Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The Evening Group of Christian Women's Fellowship will meet Monday evening at 7:30.

THE KIND OF PERSONS WE OUGHT TO BE

"Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversations and godliness." (II Peter 3:11)

Surley any right thinking person will join with me in saying: "I believe in New Years Resolutions." We have some mighty good company along the way. Paul, the great apostle, surely believed in resolutions when he said: "But this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth to those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." (Phil. 3:13-14)

In the above text Peter is suggesting the vanity of this life and the uncertainty of it and suggesting that we should live in the light of eternal things. He says: "What manner of persons ye ought to be."

1. BE KIND . . . "Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord and in the power of his might." (Ephesians 6:10)
2. BE CHEERFUL . . . "In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer, for I have overcome the world." (John 16:33)
3. BE STEADFAST . . . "Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord." (I Cor. 15:58)
4. BE SAVED . . . "Look unto me and be ye saved, all ye ends of the earth: for I am God and there is none else." (Isaiah 45:22)
5. BE CLEAN . . . "Be ye clean, that bear the vessels of the Lord." (Isa. 52:11)
6. BE BUSY . . . "I must be about my Father's business." (Luke 2:49)
7. BE FAITHFUL . . . "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee the crown of life." (Rev. 2:10)
8. BE PERFECT . . . "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father in heaven is perfect." (Matthew 5:48)
9. BE READY . . . "Therefore be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh." (Matthew 24:44)

Dumas, Lawton; Pampa, Phillips Play Tonight

By RON CROSS
The annual Top O' Texas holiday basketball tournament gets underway tonight in Harvester Fieldhouse with Pampa, winner of the meet eight straight years, picked to repeat.
But don't be surprised if a tall, high-scoring gang from Southwestern Oklahoma upends the Harvester title hopes.
Lawton, Okla., will bring into the tournament the tallest and one of the most talented teams of the four entered in the mixings.

Lawton will kick things off tonight, playing Dumas at 7 p.m. and Pampa and another tough gang of basketballers, the Phillips Blackhawks, tangle at 9 p.m.
Saturday night the two losers play at 7 p.m. and the championship contest starts at 9 p.m.

Both Lawton and Phillips will be a definite threat to Pampa.
The boys from across the Red River are ranked second in the state behind last year's AAA champs Oklahoma City Northwest, who beat the Wolverines in the state tournament.

The Wolves will start 6'3 David Frost and 6'0 Robert Wooten at forwards, 5'11 Benny Wiggins at center, 5'11 Chuck Large and 5'11½ Eddie Hinton at guards.
Wiggins, Large, Frost and Hinton are returnees from last year's team that finished, 17-7.
Wiggins is the team's leading scorer with a 15.8 average, one-

Large is averaging 14.0, Frost, 12.2, Wooten, 11.4 and Hinton, 4.0.
Phillips will bring a high scoring offense into the tournament. The Blackhawks have scored 1,212 points in racking up a 14-2 season record.
Larry Lewis, a 5'9 guard leads the Blackhawks in scoring with a 23.9 average, highest of any one in the tournament.

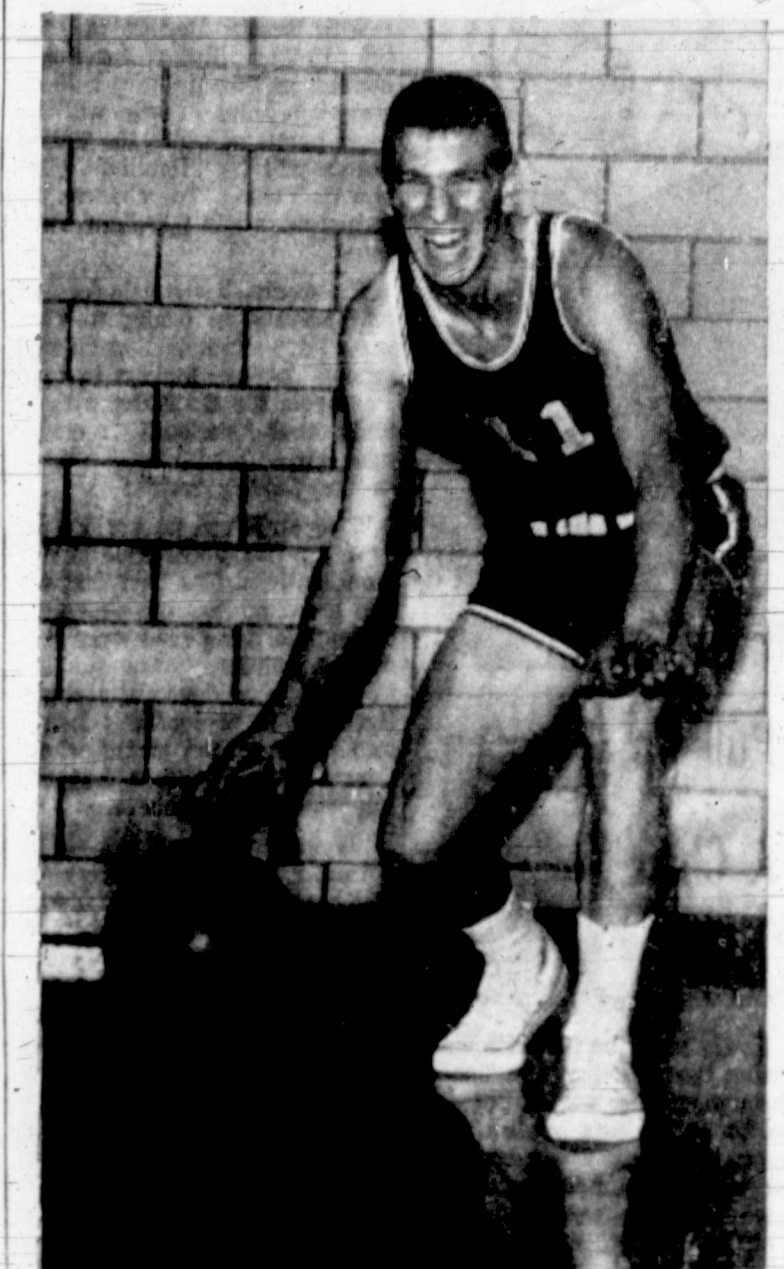

Phillips also starts 5'6 Danny Dawson at the other guard, Hank Boykin, 6'2 will divide time between forward and center. Gyrone White, 6'4 will do the same and Mike Kimmins, 6'6 is the other Hawk starter.
Dumas enters the tournament with a poor 2-6 record, but the Demons are one of the most respected teams around.
With 6'2 center Hulon Kirkland averaging 17.6 points per game and 6'0 guard Ronnie Stevenson with a 16.3 average, Dumas figures to be the spoiler of the tournament.

Pampa, with a 13-2 season record and making big noises in the 3-4A race with a 5-0 mark, will have plenty to throw at the Blackhawks in their opening round encounter.

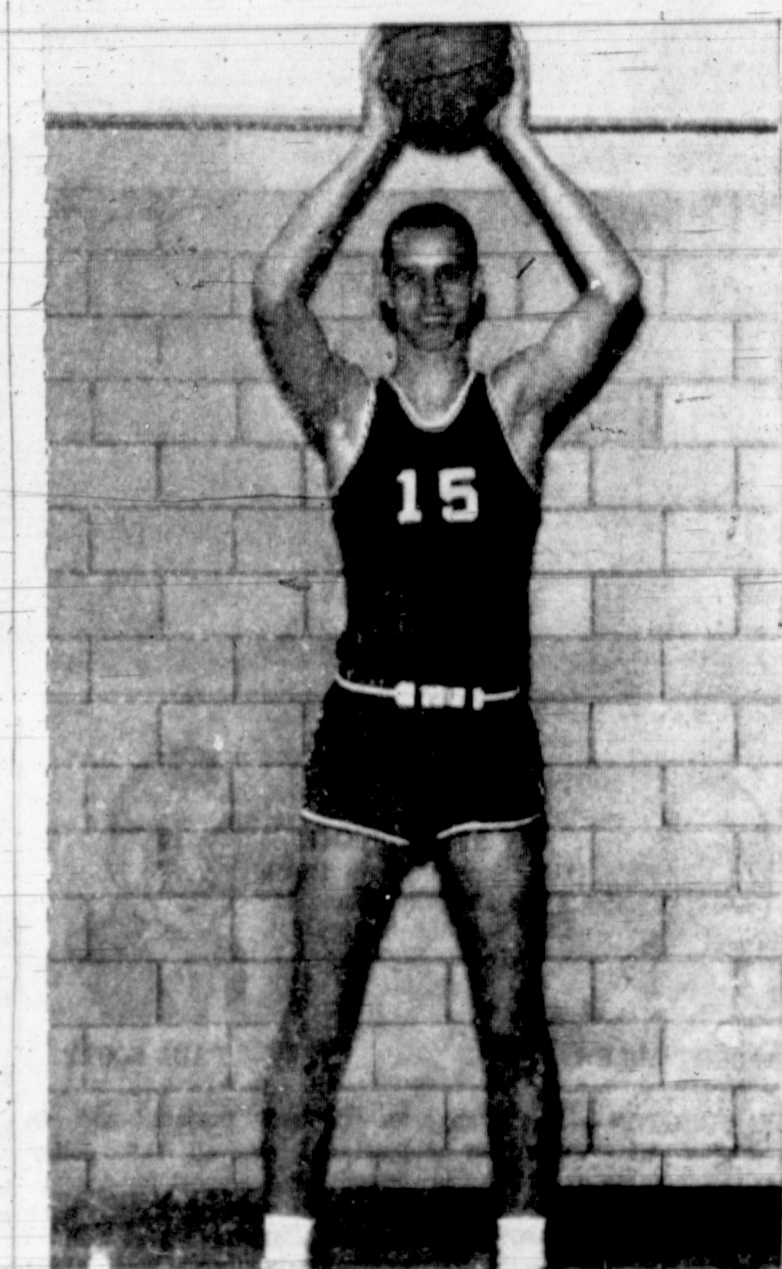

Pampa will probably start Ropes Roper, with a 15 point per game average, David McDaniel with a 13 point average, Mac McWilliams with a 12.2 mark, Lafny Lewis, 11 per game average and Randy Curlee, 7.2 through five conference games.
Pampa is averaging just over 66 points per game while giving up 53.2 per contest.

ROZELLE UNDER FIRE BY PLAYERS

Endorsement Pacts Are Protested

HOLLYWOOD BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle came under fire again Thursday for contracting players to endorse products without their knowledge or consent.
The NFL Players Association, holding its annual winter meeting here, said it would ask a federal court to rule on Rozelle's right to sign endorsement contracts for players without their consent.
Association President Ordele Braase of the Baltimore Colts, said the players were particularly concerned about pictures of Cleveland's Jimmy Brown and Bobby Mitchell of the Redskins appearing inside Coca Cola bottle caps, although both work for the rival Pepsi Cola Co.
Creighton Miller, the Association's attorney, said the league has refused to let the players' representatives see a copy of the contract between Coca Cola and the league's merchandising company subsidiary—NFL Properties.

At their opening meeting Wednesday, players demanded representation on the league pension fund and challenged the cost of running the commissioner's office.
Braase said that Rozelle, "without benefit of consultation with the players," sent all NFL gridders a license agreement last July naming him as exclusive agent in authorizing use of the players' names with commercial products. Profits from the endorsements were to go to the pension fund.
Miller said he advised the players against signing the agreement, but the pictures of Brown and Mitchell began appearing in the soft drink bottle caps without Broan's or Mitchell's permission.
"The players should have the right to select what products are to be used with their pictures," Miller said. "Commissioner Rozelle is totally unconcerned about the fact that the players he contracts for without our authority are employed by a competitor."

Sports Parade

By JACK CUDDY
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI)—To wish the sports of boxing a happy New Year today would be somewhat ridiculous because practically everyone acquainted with the current low status of the fight game knows that only the creation of a federal boxing commissioner can help it.
Largely because of the jealousies of state politicians there appears little likelihood that a bill proposing "The National Boxing Commissioner Act" will be passed by the United States Senate and House in the near future—if ever.
The long-time unsatisfactory control of professional boxing in America has been vested in state commissions. Those commissions tried to achieve some missions tried to achieve some mission tried to achieve some sort of national unity in governing the sport by establishing a National Boxing Association (NBA), which later sought world unity by changing its name to the World Boxing Association (WBA).
One need look no further back than 1964 for an illustration of the tremendous disunity in the WBA. At its Norfolk (Va.) convention in August the WBA banned the proposed return heavyweight title fight between champion Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston.
But when Boston was offered the opportunity of being the site of the Clay-Liston return match, the Massachusetts Boxing Commission staged a signing ceremony on Sept. 14 and scheduled the fight for the Boston Garden Nov. 16.
The WBA immediately stripped Clay of his title (WBA brand) and expelled the Massachusetts commission from the organization. However, the Boston fight was postponed indefinitely on Nov. 13 because of champion Clay's emergency hernia operation.

Now the WBA is arranging for Ernie Terrell of Chicago and Eddie Machen of Portland, Ore., to fight for the "vacant" crown, under the proviso that the winner defend within 90 days against the winner of the Floyd Patterson-George Chuvalo fight at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 1.
Williams Is Out
It should be added that Machen is getting a title fight with Terrell because Terrell's original opponent, Cleveland Williams, was shot in the body and wounded seriously in a fracas with a policeman near Houston Tex.
Also add the fact that ex-champion Liston goes on trial before a jury at Denver, Colo., March 29 on a charge of drunk driving after his arrest by police.
Just when the postponed Clay-Liston "title" fight can be held—if ever—will depend now upon how soon Clay recovers from his hernia operation and what happens to Liston at the hands of the Denver jury.
Another question is whether the brand new political set-up in Massachusetts will permit the postponed title fight to be staged there.
The unprecedented embroilment of the heavyweight crown among the Massachusetts commission, the WBA, the various heavyweights and the Denver police is just one potent reminder that the fight game needs desperately a national commissioner to keep the state commissions in line—as well as the fighters, managers, trainers, etc.

Bradley and Billikens Are Facing New Year With Renewed Hope

By MARTIN LADER
UPI Sports Writer
St. Louis and Bradley took different paths but both faced the New Year with new hope and the ninth-ranked Billikens rebounded from two straight losses to rout Loyola of Chicago 90-57 in the second game of a Chicago doubleheader Thursday night after Bradley had squeezed out a 74-72 decision over Notre Dame.
St. Louis never trailed after the opening minute of play and breezed to its seventh victory, in 10 starts. Bradley, on the other hand, needed two clutch foul shots by Eddie Jackson in the final second of play to have cause for celebration.
Gil Beckemeier, a 6-foot-10 center, was the toast of St. Louis as he scored 20 points for game honors and also paced the Billikens in rebounding.
Coach Empties Bench
St. Louis led by 47-32 at halftime and never was in danger in the second half even when Coach John Benington emptied his bench.
It was the fourth defeat for Loyola against seven triumphs. Notre Dame fought back from a 14-point deficit in the final six minutes of play only to watch helplessly as Jackson put the game away for Bradley on the foul line.
Larry Sheffield, who took game scoring honors with 26 points, tied the game for Notre Dame with 35 seconds remaining. Bradley then held the ball for the final shot and Jackson was fouled by Notre Dame center Walt Sahn.

Ernie Thompson led the Bradley scorers with 20 points with Jackson adding 18 and Tom Campbell 16. It was the eighth victory in 10 starts this season for the Braves, who now have beaten Notre Dame eight straight times. Notre Dame carries a 5-4 record into the new year.
Virginia beat Canisius 64-61 and Connecticut topped Cornell 75-63 in opening round play of the Queen City Invitational tournament at Buffalo, N.Y., Virginia and Connecticut will meet for the championship Friday night.
Sophomore Jim Connelly led all scorers with 17 points as Virginia snapped a five-game losing streak in the opener of the doubleheader. Senior Ken Goble scored only seven points for the Cavaliers, but five of them came in the final four minutes of play to ice the game.

Cornhuskers Hoping for Big Upset Against Arkansas in Cotton Bowl

DALLAS (UPI)—Nebraska's boasting their first perfect season since 1909, were in their fourth Cotton Bowl game without yet having paid a victorious visit here.
Arkansas had a string of three consecutive bowl setbacks starting it in the face, starting with the 1961 7-6 loss to Duke in their last Cotton Bowl appearance. They bowed to Alabama and Mississippi in the 1962 and 1963 Sugar Bowl games.
Nebraska, under Coach Bob Devaney's guidance, won the 1962 Gotham Bowl over Miami and last season beat Auburn in the Orange Bowl.

BOWL GAME ROUNDUP

'Bama, Arkansas Favored

By FRED McMANE
UPI Sports Writer
Alabama, Michigan, Arkansas and Louisiana State are the favorites to capture the four annual New Year's Day bowl games, but by the time the day's college football program has ended, the real winners will be the nation's eye-doctors.
All four games will be carried over nationwide television, beginning at 12:45 p.m. CST, and if the viewer isn't bleary-eyed by the time dinner rolls around, he'll be able to pick up the final game of the day beginning at 7:45.
LSU (7-2-1) and Syracuse (7-3 kick off the day's activities in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans (NBC) 12:45 p.m. CST along with Arkansas (10-0) and Nebraska (9-1) which will meet in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas (CBS) 12:45 p.m. CST. Michigan (9-1) and Oregon State (8-2) continue the action in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif. (NBC), 3:45 p.m. CST and Alabama (10-0) and Texas (9-1) conclude the festivities in the Orange Bowl at Miami (NBC, 6:45 p.m. CST.
Even More
If that isn't enough football for the average fan, he can always turn the TV set back on Saturday and watch Florida State (8-1-1) tangle with Oklahoma (6-3-1) in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla. (ABC) 1 p.m. CST and the East meet the West All-Stars in the annual Shrine Game at San Francisco (NBC), 4 p.m. CST.

A real tight game is expected between LSU and Syracuse with the Tigers given a slight five-point edge. Syracuse, however, has two of the nation's best running backs in Floyd Little and Jim Nance, and the two are expected to give the LSU defense, which ranked third in the nation, a rough time. LSU is only 1-4 in Sugar Bowl competition and is aching for the chance to redeem itself.
Strong Defense
The Razorbacks, who ranked No. 2 in the nation, have a tremendously strong defense which finished the season with five consecutive shutouts.
The Cornhuskers' biggest asset is a strong running attack centered around Kent McCloughan and 156-pound Frank Solich. Michigan is a big 11-point choice to defeat Oregon State in the Rose Bowl. The game is expected to be a battle of quarterbacks with Michigan's Bob Timberlake and OSU's Paul Brothers among the nation's best.

The closest battle of the day should be in the Orange Bowl where Alabama, the national champion, is a three-point choice over Texas.
Face Tough Line
Texas might rate the edge if such a situation occurs, but the Longhorns' offense which relies mostly on the running of Ernie Koy and Harold Phillip will have a tough time wearing down Alabama's strong defensive line.
Florida State's strong passing combination of Steve Tenst and Fred Biletnikoff give the Seminoles a three-point edge over Oklahoma in Saturday's Gator Bowl.

Guerrero Lifts Hopes Of Miami Cage Crew

MIAMI—The hopes of the Miami Warriors of 1964-65 rest in the big hands of the last of the regional finalists of 1962-63. Big Ray Guerrero, 6-4½ senior, is the last and the tallest of the team that missed beating state champion McAdoo by only two points, and with all his tall backboard buddies gone, is the "big man" in Miami's cage fortunes.

Three squadmen from last year who see plenty of action are Tilden Moore, 6-0, Tom Grantham, 5-9 and Deverell Murphy, 5-9. Jack Evans, a 6-0 youngster, is rated strongly for the future.

Seminole Kicker Booted by NCAA

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) eligibility rules Thursday apparently sidelined Florida State's ace place-kicker, Les Murdock, for the Gator Bowl.
It has been revealed that Murdock attended Tampa University one semester in 1959 before entering Florida State as a freshman the following year.
Under NCAA rules, a student may compete in college athletics only during a five-year period, excluding military service. Murdock, currently is in his sixth year.
Murdock ranks third in the nation in scoring by kicking with 22 of 26 conversions and nine field goals for a total of 49 points.

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Tulane and Notre Dame, two schools which have not met on the football field since 1950, will renew their rivalry in 1969 and face each other again in 1971.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Happy New Year

1964 has been a year of large happenings.

What lies ahead for us in 1965 cannot be known.

The great merit of this particular moment in time is that it reminds us we can evaluate what has transpired in the preceding year and resolve to do better in the coming twelve months.

Every year that passes, causes us to be more and more aware of our personal shortcomings. But since it is the newspaper itself by means of which we communicate with so many others, and by means of which our own shortcomings are so readily seen and identified, we might reflect a bit on what we would like to do to try to improve the newspaper.

First of all, we start with some hefty advantages.

The Pampa News has excellent news coverage.

Additionally, our picture coverage is tops and the new Photo-Lathe engraving setup gives us far better reproduction of all pictures locally taken.

On the local scene we're going to keep on trying in an area where it is difficult to be completely satisfactory. However, we think our Women's Pages are way ahead of anything comparable and our Sports Department works overtime in covering the Panhandle area.

So far as general news is concerned, we make a constant effort to see that our news stories are kept free of all editorial slant. Most people have commented on the fact that whether they approve of our editorial policies or not, they can read our headlines and our stories without detecting editorial motivation.

Next, we have some outstanding columnists, on the editorial pages and throughout the balance of the newspaper.

And while we're thinking of special features, our comic page and special humorous cartoons and features are more numerous and of a higher caliber than is normally expected.

And, of course, when it comes to local advertising the News has the readership and the acceptability which makes an ad in our pages, dollar for dollar and line for line or inch for inch, the finest and least costly way to acquaint the Top O' Texas area with your message.

We are particularly concerned with our editorial page. We spend a great deal of time and effort in this one area. Our concern here is to be right, not to be popular. To seek the truth to the best of our ability and to express it as best we can whether it is popular or not, that is our aim. And we can quite understand how often such a position and such an effort can be misunderstood, and we hope you can understand and appreciate that with so high a goal we will often fall short of the ideal. However, we would rather strive and fall than to abandon our ideals and goals and take the easy way.

We believe in human liberty and in your rights as an individual. We do not believe in coercing you into any position or activity, even for "your good" or for the "good of the community." And in our judgment, YOU are the most important person there is. You are an individual and a customer of ours. Nothing could be more important than this.

And we are going to try during 1965, to be more easy to understand and more gentle to get along with than before. Quite frankly, we don't think that the problems we face can be solved by attacking people.

We are going to try to discuss ideas and to adhere to true ideas, discarding ideas which are not true. We hope you will help us in this and take a real interest. America's future depends on what we know and what we believe.

Hope for the Days Ahead

Hope is one of man's most precious possessions. Without it, life loses its savor.

That is why "Happy New Year" carries special significance. It is an expression of hope for the days ahead.

No one is going to contend that 1964 has in all ways been a vintage year. It brought more than its share of tragedy and national and international crises and problems.

It may, therefore, be difficult for many Americans to sincerely say "Happy New Year" this year, and even harder for many others to acknowledge the greeting without a trace of bitterness and a pang of sorrow.

But the beacon light that shines through the gloom of disappointment, tragedy and sorrow is — hope.

Hope is what is to come. Hope in the healing power of time and courage and prayer. Hope based on faith and confidence that no matter how rough things may have been, they can and may get better.

So with hope in our hearts, confidence in our way of life, and in reverent determination to make 1965 not only better, but the best, ever, here's a "Happy New Year to all!"

Here's to education. You can lead a man to college, but you cannot make him think.

UN Debate Backfires On Rebels

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Ironically, the spotlight the radical African nations tried to turn on the United States and Belgium has become focused on the complaining Africans.

The real emphasis in the United Nations debate on the U.S.-Belgian air rescue of hostages in the Congo has fallen on the moves by militant African states to subvert the duly constituted Congolese government.

U.S. officials concerned with the Congo are deeply troubled over the signs that Congolese rebel forces are getting increased and steady assistance from neighboring Africans.

This aid is not massive. There is no way of knowing whether it can or will be maintained at present levels, or stepped up further.

Despite reports that Soviet and Red Chinese arms are turning up in rebel hands, no firm conclusions may yet be drawn as to the role these outside Communist powers might play in the newest phase of the Congo's turbulent nationhood.

Nevertheless, this bold intervention, which finds its driving heart among Africans, brings the emergent "new Africa" to a serious crossroads.

Roughly half of all the African states — old and new, Arab and Negro — are considered moderate. In terms of population, the moderates have a clear continental majority.

The big question posed by the present turmoil is whether these forces, of which Nigeria is typical, can begin to exert a governing influence among the newly independent Africans. The goal, of course, would be to develop a maturing sense of responsibility and mutual regard.

The vehicle at hand for this badly needed effort is the Organization of African Unity. U.S. officials, like a good many Africans, would like to see it acquire some of the stature and reliability of Latin America's impressive OAS.

Up to now, however, it has tended to be dominated by the noisy radicals — Ghana, Guinea, Mali, Kenya, the French Congo, to name some of the key activists. Using hatred of the West as a rationale for their every act, some of these militants practice interventionism in utter disregard of African solidarity.

The Congo affords merely the most striking instance. One harsh judgment by a U.S. spokesman asserts that certain militant Africans are, in fact, interventionist by confirmed habit and inclination.

They appear undeterred by the thought that what they do to others, in the Congo and elsewhere, could one day be done by others to them.

Nec-do Moscow and Peking seem to them a menace. The radical Africans evidently feel that all advantage lies with themselves in their flirtations with Communist powers.

Yet the Russians, said by our officials to have made no evident commitment to the Congolese rebels, could now be maneuvering to claim credit for ferment which is gaining its principal encouragement from the African interventionists.

Even the Red Chinese, whose documented links to the Congolese rebels are just one proof Peking is playing a somewhat harder African game than the Russians, may also be getting a pretty free propaganda ride from the African interventionists' own dirty work.

The OAU's articles of intent forbid the subversive intervention of its radical members practice as a ritual. The UN debate highlighted this glaring gap between performance and stated purpose.

The American view is that this exposure to the world's gaze has hurt the African radicals seriously, and that it may have emboldened the majority moderates to try leading Africa toward the genuine continental co-operation now so grievously lacking.

THE DEAD END — While this ominous possibility already has set off alarm bells among the Joint Chiefs of Staff and U.S. military adviser in Thailand, State Department policymakers headed by Secretary Rusk and Undersecretary Harriman are showing no concern.

Overruling all JCS proposals to protect the U.S. - financed highway, Rusk and Harriman are directing that the project be finished regardless of who finally ends up in control of this strategic road.

U.S. Strategists to Bomb 'Ho Chi Minh' Road in Laos - While State Dept. Builds Highway

By FRANK J. MARKEY

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The strange on-again, off-again war in Laos is becoming even more incomprehensible with the growing deterioration of the political-military situation in bordering South Viet Nam.

While U.S. military strategists are preparing to bomb the "Ho Chi Minh" roads and trails in Laos, State Department authorities are rushing work on a hard-surfaced highway where the pro-Soviet Pathet Lao are waiting only for completion before taking over.

The controversial "Nam Cadinh - Nam Hin Boun" project, at a cost of $8.4 billion to U.S. taxpayers, is being constructed to link northern and southern Laos and serve as the country's gateway to neighboring Thailand.

The all-weather road is to be completed by October 1965. According to latest intelligence warnings from Vientiane, the Pathet Lao overran the road 60 miles north of Thakkek, the government's stronghold in the province of Khannouane, several weeks ago, but strangely withdrew so construction of the highway could continue.

Except for this military intrusion, the pro-Communist Pathet Lao have been content to keep a close watch on the progress of the 300-kilometer highway.

Instead of taking the road with their overwhelming military force, the Pathet Lao have moved troops into strategic positions on both sides of the highway, giving them full command of the high ground from Vientiane, Laotian capital in the North, to the Mekong River in the South.

In a "for-their-eyes-only" report to his Pentagon superiors, one U.S. military intelligence officer in Laos described the "intentions" of the Pathet Lao maneuvers as follows: "Prisoners and captured documents clearly indicate that the Pathet Lao plan to use the Nam Cadinh - Nam Hin Boun road themselves, as soon as completed.

"Despite overwhelming military forces encircling the road, the Pathet Lao are content to let us finish it for them before taking it over. When the road passes to their control, the Pathet Lao will have a highway that can be used for the invasion of Thailand by North Vietnamese troops."

THE DEAD END — While this ominous possibility already has set off alarm bells among the Joint Chiefs of Staff and U.S. military adviser in Thailand, State Department policymakers headed by Secretary Rusk and Undersecretary Harriman are showing no concern.

Overruling all JCS proposals to protect the U.S. - financed highway, Rusk and Harriman are directing that the project be finished regardless of who finally ends up in control of this strategic road.

line with over-all U.S. policy of providing support for a coalition Laotian government that includes Communists as well as neutralists and pro-Western officials.

In backstage arguments for continuance of the road Rusk and Harriman flatly claimed there was no conflict between their position on the highway project and support for bombing other Communist-held roads.

They stressed that the latter action was a "diplomatic-military" maneuver to encourage the Soviet-controlled North Vietnamese Communists to begin negotiating a settlement to end the fighting in both Laos and South Viet Nam.

THE DETAILS — Secret details of the multi-million dollar road project are highlighted in a confidential briefing paper prepared by the Agency for International Development for the National Security Council, the government's highest policy-making body.

States the paper: "This project involves construction of an economically important 300-kilometer segment of the all-weather road linking the capital, Vientiane, to southern Laos.

"AID - financed construction is scheduled to be completed by October 1965, at a cost of $8,500,000. As of June 30, 1964, $5,170,000 has been spent on the project which is being built by an American contractor, Grove-Jones.

"Funds for the road were first obligated in 1961; however, the coup d'etat of August 1960 caused postponement of the start of the project until February 1963. Until this road is completed, Laos must depend on costly U.S.-funded air transport."

THE CONTROLLED WAR — In an agreement reached before Christmas, the Laotian government privately consented to permit U.S. bombing strikes against the Ho Chi Minh roads over which the North Vietnamese are transporting Soviet-made arms to the Communist Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

Under the strategy approved by President Johnson no air strike can be made by U.S. planes unless given advance approval by Secretaries Rusk and McNamara. While Ambassador Maxwell Taylor has requested permission to conduct several raids, only one unannounced attack has been given the green light so far.

With the Pathet Lao's approval, the U.S. is spending more than $1 million this year to set up health centers and dispensaries in Laos. Another $4 million is going into community development projects, including schools located in areas controlled by the pro-Soviet Pathet Lao. The U.S. also is spending $6 million to feed and clothe 150,000 refugees in the southern section of Laos.

Learned U.S. Study Finds 'We Ain't Seen Nothing' Yet

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It's a paradox. But the Red China-Soviet split, the restlessness of the East European satellites, the weakening of NATO and the rapid growth of U.S. and Russian nuclear power may result in a rash of wildcat brush-fire revolutions, guerrilla wars and riots around the world in the years ahead.

With Russia, Red China and the United States inevitably coming in with military help on opposing sides, there will be more points at which the United States will be "fighting" Moscow or Peking. The chances for larger wars will therefore escalate.

These are the conclusions of an analysis on trends in the world situation - circulated among policy makers in the Pentagon, the State Department and other national security agencies.

In the paper's words:

"The structure of world power (is) undergoing major modifications. The fact that the two great powers have found it difficult to bring their very substantial military power to bear in order to achieve their objectives, or to project this power into parts of the world where they have an interest, has had important consequences.

"It has deterred the major powers from undertakings which might call their military capabilities into action. In part, this deterrence has been from fear that the use of nuclear weapons might escalate into an all-out nuclear war. In part it has been because the United States does not have the proper weapons or the necessary forces trained in modern guerrilla warfare."

"As a consequence of . . . the progressive disintegration of the two (U.S. and Soviet) power blocs, a pluralistic world-order is rapidly coming into being. World power is proliferating . . .

"The (resulting) situation in most of the underdeveloped world is so disorderly that many situations are likely to develop from which the great powers will have difficulty remaining aloof (and) which they win find difficult controlling if they do get involved.

"Once outside powers do become involved, whether by accident or by design, crises can develop which will engage their prestige to a degree incommensurate with the intrinsic or strategic value of the area itself."

Under these conditions "often an event occurring through accident or irrational action will trigger political developments throughout an entire area and provide opportunities for political adventurers or revolutionaries who otherwise would have remained obscure or ineffectual."

Some of these adventurers will be owned by Peiping or Moscow. In addition, this study by a man high in the government says: "Individuals and groups calling themselves Castroites or Communists might stage revolutionary attempts or initiate guerrilla movements, not on the orders of Moscow, Peiping or Havana, but in the hope of gaining their support.

Magic Formula for Happy New Year
NEW YORK (NEA) — It is traditional at this time of year to extend the greeting, "Happy New Year," and hope for everybody's sake that 1965 will be better than 1964. Even if it requires a miracle or two.

Well, it is the farthest thing from our mind to break that tradition. So we wish you a very happy new year, and hope that this year will be better than the last.

But generally we do not hold out much hope for any miracles. It has been our experience that the things we want generally do not come looking for us. Rather, they are usually the result of proven principles applied to available materials and, from time to time, a little good luck.

We have given that definition considerable thought. And while it does state quite nicely our general method for trying to make the year happy, we have been appalled to find that it also defines television entertainment.

To our way of thinking, there is nothing like a television show to demonstrate the results of applying old principles to common materials.

This is not to say that we feel more television is the route to a happy new year. We point the similarity out because television is filled every night with authentic miracles. And as one definition cannot include both inevitable results and miracles, we may have discovered a truly magic formula for the coming year.

To begin with the weight of numbers, we have noticed that the patients of Dr. Kildare and Casey never seem to have any trouble getting hospital accommodations. In fact, none of the patients on any of the doctor programs ever has any trouble getting doctors to make house calls or to get nurses or private duty.

It has also occurred to us that the lawyers on television — Lawrence Preston, Perry Mason and the rest — seldom actually get paid by their clients, or even discuss the fee. Indeed, we have never seen Mr. Preston's son and partner come close to getting any money for all the work he does.

That, however, is only half a miracle. The other half is that nobody in the shows ever pays for anything. People eat, drink, travel, stay in sumptuous hotels, replenish their wardrobes, court each other and sometimes actually get married. But nobody in our presence has ever worried about what it will cost.

In that regard, nobody is ever forced to wait for a restaurant table, theater tickets, plane reservations, or the bathroom in the morning. Only once that we can recall did anybody wait for a taxi. But in that instance, it was a commercial for a car rental firm.

However, nobody — but nobody — ever waits for a parking place anywhere, anytime, day or night. And we never miss the chance of tuning in on the reruns of a series called Highway Patrol starring Broderick Crawford just to see him pull up to any curb that strikes his fancy.

Well, the list of television miracles goes on and on. Boys and girls in love never find the beach crowded or the park dangerous. The Untouchables (100 years old this month) and The Man From U.N.C.L.E. always break the gang, solve the crime and get away unscathed.

And best of all, Elizabeth Montgomery proves week after week that it takes a sorcerer to cope with the forcefulness and independence of the American male. . . .
We wish you a very happy new year. And if it requires a couple of miracles to make it happen, don't be put off by that. It can be arranged. But it may take a little effort.

Teachers Helped in Wage Fight

By WILLIAM HAMILTON
AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas teachers, fighting hard for a pay raise, might be surprised to find they've won overwhelming support.

A United Press International survey among members of the 59th Legislature shows more than 95 per cent of the House and Senate members who responded favor a raise for public school teachers across Texas.

But how much? To whom? Where will the money come from? These are the questions that gnaw at the budget-minded solons.

The Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA) is lobbying for "$45-65," a 645 per month pay increase across the board to raise state minimum salaries for all teachers in public grade schools.

Some support the plan wholeheartedly, among them state Reps. Travis A. Peeler of Corpus Christi, David Haines of Bryan, John Ray Harrison of Houston, Jake Johnson of Houston, Howard Green of Fort Worth and Bob Armstrong of Austin, and Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio.

Others have reservations. An El Paso representative indicated support "only for those who merit an increase, for those who are educated in the basic subjects, not for the illiterate or semi-literate education majors."

Reps. Henry Fletcher of Lockhart and Paul Floyd of Houston both want a raise large enough "to put Texas above the national average."

That would take more than the TSTA proposal, according to their figures. The national average is $5,735, the teachers group claims, while Texas teachers average $5,300.

Rep. Nelson Cowles of Hallsville favors "a reasonable film bill and sick leave program" in addition to a pay increase. The TSTA proposes to establish film libraries on a regional basis to make teaching aids more accessible to small towns.

Rep. Wilson Foreman of Austin supports the program "only if enough members are willing to vote the taxes to finance it. Too many times those sponsoring this sort of legislation leave it to the rest of us to vote the taxes for it," the veteran lawmaker said.

Trial of Century Is Still Just That

By WILLIAM T. KEOUGH
FLEMINGTON, N. J. (UPI)—They called it "the trial of the century" and so far the tag has stuck. There hasn't been one to match it since.

On trial was German-born carpenter Bruno Richard Hauptmann. He was charged with the kidnap-slaying of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., son of the "Lone Eagle" who captured the hearts of the nation when he made his daring solo flight across the Atlantic to Paris in 1927.

The trial got underway 30 years ago this Saturday in the century-old Hunterdon County courthouse. Press coverage was overwhelming. Wires were strung all over town. Union Hotel, across the street from the courthouse, became famous.

Circumstantial Evidence
More than 700 reporters from all over the world wrote millions of words during the trial's 43 days.

The prosecution convinced the jury Hauptmann was guilty, although it could not find a witness and offered only circumstantial evidence. The prosecution contended Hauptmann made a ladder from floor boards in his attic, used it to climb to the window of the Lindbergh mansion, took the child, killed him and later received $50,000 ransom in a cemetery from school-teacher James F. Condon of the Bronx, the famous "Jafsie" in the case.

It took two years before Hauptmann was arrested for killing "Lucky Lindy's" 20-month-old son, and to this day people still argue whether Hauptmann was guilty or innocent.

The child was kidnaped March 1, 1932. Hauptmann was arrested in New York Sept. 20, 1934, and he was executed in the electric chair in Trenton April 3, 1935.

Visitors View Scene
Visitors still come to Flemington to stare at the courtroom in the white courthouse with brownstone steps. Some still search out the spot where a truckdriver found the body of the honey-haired child in a thicket six miles from the Lindbergh home in Hopewell on May 12, 1932.

David T. Wilentz, then a dashing young lawyer who as state attorney general prosecuted Hauptmann has become one of New Jersey's most prominent Democratic politicians.

While others have questioned the evidence he presented in the case, he has taken the position that no one has disproved the evidence, no additional ransom money has come to light since the close of the case and no legitimate confessions have been made.

But hometown lawyer Lloyd Fisher, who defended Hauptmann along with Edward J. Reilly of New York City, died in June, 1960, convinced Hauptmann was innocent.

Before he died Fisher said, "I still believe he had nothing what ever to do with the kidnapping. The verdict resulted from extreme prejudice and the heated attitude in the community. There was absolutely no believable evidence that connected Hauptmann with the crime."

Delayed Execution
The late New Jersey Gov. Harold G. Hoffman was so convinced of Hauptmann's innocence that he delayed the execution as long as he could.

Backstairs At The Whitehouse
By ALVIN SPIVAK
JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI)—Backstairs at the White House:

Into the life of every presidential press secretary, there comes an embarrassing moment of truth about the feminine side of First Family life.

And so it did to press spokesman George E. Reedy the other day, when in the absence of Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's press secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, he had to provide details of the First Lady's birthday gift and Christmas decorations.

The official transcript of Reedy's question-and-answer session with newsmen follows:
Reedy: "The President's gift for the First Lady, which he will be presenting tonight, is a simple gold brooch pin."
Newsmen: "Gold, what kind of—what? I didn't hear."
Reedy: "A simple, gold brooch pin."
Newsmen: "Brooch?"
Reedy: "Shrugged."
Newsmen: "That's redundant."
Reedy: "Also, rococco."
Newsmen: "Does it have any jewels of inscription on it?"
Reedy: "I am told it is a simple, gold brooch" (laughter).
Newsmen: "Do they present them, or do they open them?"
Reedy: "They usually open and exchange on Christmas Eve night."
Newsmen: "Do you know what is going in 'Daddy's' 'Mother's' 'Lynda's' or 'Luci's' socks?"
Reedy: "I don't know."
Newsmen: "They don't go into the socks on the tree?"
Reedy: "I do not know."
Newsmen: "Did you say the socks were on the tree?"
Reedy: "No, they are on the mantle."
Newsmen: "Where did you say the balsam boughs were on the mantles?"
Reedy: "Mantles and the stairways. And also—pine cones."
Newsmen: "Do you have anything else?"
Reedy: "That's all I have."
Newsmen: "Magnificent, George."
Another newsmen: "First rate."
Reedy: "Thank you."
(Whereupon the conference was concluded.)

Before he died Fisher said, "I still believe he had nothing what ever to do with the kidnapping. The verdict resulted from extreme prejudice and the heated attitude in the community. There was absolutely no believable evidence that connected Hauptmann with the crime."

Delayed Execution
The late New Jersey Gov. Harold G. Hoffman was so convinced of Hauptmann's innocence that he delayed the execution as long as he could.

In 1952 on the 20th anniversary of the kidnaping, Hoffman said:

"I believe the crime was committed by more than one person. I believe it would have been difficult to execute that crime without the assistance of someone who was inside either the Lindbergh or the Morrow, Mrs. Lindbergh's family home."

"I believe that the police, once Hauptmann had been apprehended and the 'lone wolf' pattern of prosecution decided upon, not only failed to make, but made every effort to hinder further investigation that might have brought others to the bar of justice," Hoffman said.

The police took over two years to apprehend a suspect. "I could never understand their eagerness in demanding the immediate execution of the convicted man. The suspect was tried and condemned in the newspapers before he went on the stand in what appears to have been more a circus than a trial conducted under American standards of justice."

World-Wide Search
The 2½-year police investigation that led to Hauptmann's arrest was directed by H. Norman Schwarzkopf, who later became a major general in the army.

Under Schwartzkopf's direction, hundreds of investigators traveled throughout the world tracking down leads of all types. They were handicapped at first by Lindbergh's desire to pay the ransom and have his child returned alive.

Condon became a central figure in the case when he published a letter to the editor in the Bronx Home News and received a reply from the kidnaper.

He carried the $50,000 from Lindbergh to a man known as "John" whom he met in a cemetery. Lindbergh remained out of sight, but during the trial he said he recognized Hauptmann's voice as that of the man Condon met in the cemetery.

Condon or "Jafsie" as he referred to himself in the ransom negotiations, also identified Hauptmann as "John."

Three decades have passed since the trial took place, but the memory of it is still deeply etched in the memories of those who were alive when it happened.

Flood Hits Pacific Coast Again; Supplies Airlifted

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A new storm swept down the flood-battered Pacific coast today but the New Year came in on a much brighter note than expected.

Some 500 persons who had been trapped by floods and snow for 13 days in northern California's Salmon Mountains greeted 1965, with badly-needed supplies of food and medicines.

They were marooned by the series of storms and rampaging floods that took at least 41 lives and caused damage estimated at $700 million in California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Nevada.

Daring helicopter pilots, who were turned back by snow and high winds in their efforts to reach the isolated communities near the California-Oregon border earlier this week took advantage of slight breaks in the weather Thursday to carry out their missions of mercy.

"These guys are terrific," said Jim Jones, coordinator at the Yreka Helicopter Flight Center. "They'll fly between snow flakes to get down to the people. They're hauling payloads they really shouldn't be hauling."

Huge Air Force rescue helicopters, which were unable to reach the marooned areas because of rugged terrain, brought supplies to a staging area at Happy Camp—and 12 civilian pilots flying three-place 'copters took it from there.

The first American dictionary was published by Noah Webster near the California-Oregon border in 1828.

NAME-DROPPING
Care to change your name? According to a survey, one-third of all adult Americans are dissatisfied with the name they bear. And in substantial numbers they are trading it in for a new model.

There are two ways to make the change. In most states, you can take your choice of either method.

First, you can do it yourself. All that is necessary is to get yourself generally known by the new name. The trouble is, the process is too gradual. There may be uncertainty, at any given moment, as to whether the change has really "taken." And doubts about your name can cause complications in everything from collecting a debt to taking out insurance, from getting a credit card to selling your home.

The second method of name-changing, by court order, is far better. A formal request is submitted to the appropriate tribunal. If it is approved, that settles the matter—instantly.

Of course, the court does not have to approve your request. Your reason for a change might be found—unacceptable. Thus, you cannot change your name for such skull-duggery as dodging creditors or cashing in unfairly on someone else's good will. Doubtless you would have trouble changing your name to "Woolworth" for the purpose of opening a variety store, or to "Charlie Chaplin" for a fling at comedy.

Too, judges sometimes frown on changes that are notably off-beat. One judge balked at changing a man's name to "Jesus Christ II" ("I don't believe it would be within my discretion"), and another judge said no to a girl's request for "Baby Doll" ("How would it look on a driver's license?").
