U.S. Anti-Missile Missile Near Completion by AEC

New Nuclear Arms Ready for Defense

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission today reported "significant progress" in development of nuclear warheads capable of penetrating enemy missile defenses.

Although the AEC did not directly say so, this appeared to be the U.S. answer to Soviet boasts of recent years that the Russians had perfected anti-missile missiles.

The commission also disclosed, in its annual report to Congress, that it has delivered to the Defense Department "new warheads for the Polaris, Subroc and Minuteman missile systems and new nuclear artillery projectiles and atomic demolition munitions."

Retailatory Power
The United States relies on the retaliatory power of its Polaris and Minuteman missiles to keep Russia from starting a nuclear war. According to unofficial estimates, the new warheads have a destructive potential equal to about 1.6 million tons of TNT, twice that of earlier versions of these missiles.

Dockers Face New Pressure To Halt Strike
GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — Pressured by demands for presidential intervention, negotiators pressed today for settlement of the continuing longshore labor dispute on the Texas coast, a major obstacle to ending of the 19-day East and Gulf coast dock strike.

The International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) and shippers at Mobile, Ala., announced agreement on a new contract Thursday night, adding another major port to the list of those where settlements have been negotiated. Terms were believed to be similar to those accepted at New Orleans Wednesday.

The 7,500 ILA members at New Orleans were voting today on the proposed four-year agreement and union leaders expected approval.

The 1,200 Mobile dock workers were to vote soon, possibly late today, on the proposed contract. George Dixon, president of the Mobile ILA local said, "I feel confident we will be back to work by this weekend."

Talks at Galveston, however, remained deadlocked. A key issue was the size of dock work contracts. Unlike East Coast contracts, west Gulf longshoremen do not have work gang size written into their contracts and ILA negotiators were holding out for a change.

ILA President Thomas W. Gleason, who was participating personally in the talks here, said he was confident bargainers soon "would work things out."

Assistant Secretary of Labor James Reynolds shuttled between separate meetings of union and shippers, hoping to forge an agreement as he did in New Orleans two days ago.

Longshoremen were adhering to their long-standing practice of keeping all ports idle until contract settlements were reached in every one. More than 500 ships were marooned and the strike cost exceeded $1 billion.

Probe Underway On Blackout of Midwest States

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — An investigation was underway today into the causes of a massive power failure that knocked out electrical service to wide areas of seven Midwest states Thursday.

Lights started going off about 1:20 p.m. across the stricken area. The failure lasted from less than a minute in some towns to more than two hours in others.

Emergency generators were thrown into the gap in many hospitals and municipal facilities. But traffic was snarled when signals failed to operate, radio and television stations suddenly went off the air and stores closed their doors rather than have customers grope around in the dark.

The breakdown affected much of Iowa and Nebraska and sections of South Dakota, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Missouri.

Among the big cities affected were Omaha and Lincoln, Neb., Des Moines, Sioux City, Council Bluffs and Davenport, Iowa, and Rock Island, Moline and East Moline, Ill., with a combined population of more than one million.

Col. Bert De Melker, an official of the U. S. Army Engineers at Omaha, said it is definitely known that a defective protective relay at the Fort Randall Dam facilities on the Missouri River near Pickstown, S. D., triggered part of the blackout.

"But what other factors have contributed, we still don't know," he said. De Melker said it might take more than a week to determine the whole cause.

Trouble shooters at Fort Randall located the problem about 45 minutes after the power shortage started. Service was restored on the local system a few minutes later but the blackout continued at other areas.

TOTAL COST PARED $11-MILLION

Dam Project Progress Is Ahead of Schedule

By TEX DE WEESE
Work on the Canadian River dam project is running slightly ahead of schedule and costs on the giant municipal and industrial water development will be approximately $11,000,000 less than originally estimated.

These facts came out in Washington yesterday afternoon when Reclamation Commissioner

Floyd Dominy laid out a tentative completion schedule for six of the largest water projects in the nation in a meeting with the House irrigation subcommittee, headed by Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa.

Rep. Rogers told The News today the meeting was called as a briefing session to bring new members of the committee up to date on progress of the nation's major water developments.

Dominy told the House committee that the Canadian River undertaking is the largest municipal and industrial water project ever to be developed under reclamation law.

For the first time, Dominy revealed that the total cost would run approximately $85,000,000 instead of the originally estimated $96,000,000.

Rep. Rogers pointed out that the Canadian River project with its dam and 322 miles of aqueduct serving 11 Plains cities also will have the largest payback of funds with interest to the federal government of any project of its kind so far.

The Canadian River Municipal Water Authority, comprised of Pampa and ten other cities that will receive water from the reservoir, will pay back to the government approximately $81 million of the estimated $85-million total cost over a period of 50 years at an interest rate computed at 2.632 per cent, according to revised figures.

Other city members of the CRMWA include Amarillo, Borger, Lubbock, Plainview, Staton, Tuhoe, O'Donnell, Lamesa, Brownfield and Levelland.

The cities begin paying off when first water is delivered. This is expected to be early in 1968 under the present construction program.

Pampa, as yet, has made no concrete plans to pay for the Canadian River water, but the city's first year indebtedness under the Water Authority contract will be approximately $175,000. This will increase to as much as $280,000 annual payment before the 50-year payout period is completed.

These figures do not take into account the cost of a water treatment plant.

Three Seized by FBI in Bombings

NEW BERN, N. C. (UPI) — FBI agents arrested an "exalted cyclops" of the Ku Klux Klan and two other men today and accused them of three bombings that occurred during a civil rights meeting Sunday night.

Seized with the men were Ku Klux Klan robes, minutes of Ku Klux Klan meetings and Klan application blanks.

The FBI identified the men as Edward E. Fillingame, 23, a construction laborer; his cousin Laurie L. Fillingame, 21, a carpenter and grocery store operator; and Raymond Mills, 35, a salesman. All were arrested at their homes in nearby Vanceboro.

A Klan charter, issued June 4, 1964, by Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala., was found in Mills' home. It identified Mills as "exalted cyclops" of the New Bern unit.

The arrests climaxed an all-out effort by the FBI, the state bureau of investigation and local law enforcement officers to solve the state's first reported incident of racial violence in more than a year.

FBI help in the case was requested by local authorities and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

Gov. Dan K. Moore issued a statement deploring the incident and offering the full services of state police agencies.

Three explosions rocked this quiet eastern Carolina town Sunday evening while more than 300 Negroes met at the St. Peter's A.M.E. Zion church Sunday. The first, about 8:30 p.m., damaged the car of Negro attorney Julius Chambers. The car was parked near the church.

About a half-hour later, a similar explosion damaged another parked car, belonging to C. B. Chadwick Sr. of Pollocksville, chairman of the Jones County NAACP chapter. Both were attending the meeting to discuss the 1964 civil rights law.

Then, at about 9:35 p.m., a third explosion blew in the door of Oscar Dove's mortuary, some distance from the church. Dove has been a member of the NAACP for 12 years.

Fridays in December Worst Days to Be Driving on Pampa City Streets

If you are a resident of Pampa, between the ages of 25 and 34, and were driving an automobile at 4 p.m. on any Friday during the month of December, consider yourself lucky if you were not involved in an automobile accident on the streets of Pampa.

The annual traffic report issued today by the Pampa Police Department revealed the majority of the city's 654 traffic accidents in 1964 occurred under these circumstances.

The report showed that in addition to the 654 accidents, there were 154 persons injured during the year and two persons killed. This compares with 549 accidents in 1963 with a whopping 204 persons injured.

Weather to Stay Cold

The mercury plunged to a low of 19 degrees in Pampa early today behind a weak cold front, which dropped temperatures to as low as 14 at some points in the Panhandle.

A five-day forecast called for temperatures near normal over the state with light precipitation and possibly some snow in North Texas by mid-week.

Southerly winds and higher temperatures were expected to return to Pampa and the Panhandle today before the next cold front approaches from the north.

THIRTY-FOUR HORSES DIE — A fire at the Osage Downs race track near Pawhuska, Okla., resulted in the death of 34 horses valued at more than $1,000,000. The fire spread so quickly that only seven horses could be saved from the burning stables. (NEA Telephoto)

Work Stops at Cape Kennedy

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Construction workers today continued a massive walkout that halted spaceport building for the fifth time in less than a year.

A construction superintendent at the huge $750 million project Apollo moon base rising on Merritt Island reported that most work remained at a standstill for the second straight day.

"It's completely dead," said J. L. Berlin, a project engineer on a 52-story rocket assembly structure that normally has more than 1,000 workers. "It looks like it will be this way until Monday at least."

The tieup brought to 11 the number of work days lost by labor conflicts here since last Feb. 10.

Government and union officials met Thursday in an attempt to resolve the crippling dispute, which involves the wage scale paid by one contractor, but no settlement was reached.

About 3,700 of 43,000 workers failed to report to work Thursday halting construction on 44 projects worth a total of $182 million. There was no picketing.

In Washington, Julius E. Kuczma, executive secretary of the President's Missile Sites Labor Commission, sent telegrams to the AFL-CIO and the presidents of eight unions involved urging them to intervene and stop the walkout.

"The work stoppage is causing a serious delay on very important space projects of national significance," Kuczma said.

The most important projects affected were the huge $109 million Saturn-5 moon rocket assembly building, the booster's launch complex and a launch pad on the Cape's main base to handle the new Saturn-IB super rocket.

A space agency spokesman said that each day lost on the Saturn-IB job could slow down preparations for the booster's first test flight set for late this year.

The walkout was aimed at space agency projects only. The Air Force's big Titan-3 military space rocket building job was not hampered.

Legislators Resting After Tiresome Week

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas legislators, weary from the busiest week so far in the 58th session, stood at ease for the weekend today.

Those who remained in Austin could find plenty of "homework." Literally hundreds of bills were introduced or filed in the House of Representatives, and Senate Wednesday and Thursday with others in the works.

Gov. John Connally's legislative proposals, outlined Wednesday in his "State-of-the-state" address to the joint session, were transformed into bills Thursday in both houses.

The governor's teacher pay raise proposal, an alternate to the "45-in-'65" plan, was pushed in the Senate by Sen. Jack Strong of Longview. It provides long-term raises for experienced teachers.

Amendments Offered
Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells and Rep. Gene Hendryx of Alpine came up with a constitutional amendment as per Connally's request to up statewide political terms from two to four years.

Sen. Roy Harrington and Rep. J. D. Weldon, both of Fort Arbut, unveiled bills for part of Connally's emergency appropriations requests—the part financing a new science building for Lamar Tech College in Beaumont to replace one that burned.

Rep. Neil Caldwell of Angleton wrote an industrial safety law bill, one that Connally has endorsed for two sessions but never saw gather support. Rep. W. H. Mier of Houston had a mental health bill creating a state department of mental health.

Jets to Borrow Trick From Lightning Bugs in Fake War

FT. HOOD, Tex. (UPI) — U.S. Air Force F100 jets from Cannon AFB, N.M., borrow a trick from lightning bugs Saturday night in a simulated attack with the 2nd armored division, the second such "Night Owl" exercise this week.

Armored and infantry units of the "Hell on Wheels" division follow up the air attack against "enemy units" under skies lighted by flares released from the fighters.

After the ground attack units secured their objectives in the first phase of the maneuvers Tuesday night, the F100s were called in to "destroy" a simulated enemy column moving in to attack from the north.

An artillery piece sent the first flare into the sky to guide the jet pilots to their target, and from there on the planes did the rest. The lead plane of the 523rd squadron released eight giant flares of one million candlepower, lighting the battlefield below with the brilliance of sunshine.

It was the first night air strike of its kind attempted in the continental United States. The two other jets in the squadron swept in low over the convoy beneath the flares parachuting slowly toward earth, and turned the ground into an inferno with a napalm bomb attack.

The bomb run was followed by rocket and 20 millimeter cannon attacks that slammed into the targets with pinpoint accuracy. As the first flares floated to the ground, the jets released new ones to keep their objective always within clear view.

Night Owl Brief
"Night Owl" only lasted a few minutes, but the accuracy of the air strike and the firepower brought to bear on the target rendered total destruction to the "enemy" column.

The F400s engulfed their targets with the fire from the napalm bombs and shredded them with rockets. They then sent 20 millimeter rounds of cannon fire exploding into the target area at the rate of 6,000 rounds a minute.

If the artillery flare had not provided initial guidance, tanks on the ground below were equipped with powerful infrared lights that enabled them to remain invisible but allowed the planes with their intricate sensing devices to spot the targets with ease.

In an outpost on Jack Mountain high above the battlefield, commanders from both services witnessed the attack together as their charges above and below them fought to

Dear Abby.... Day-Sleeper's Wife Is Rightfully Indignant

DEAR ABBY: My husband works nights and sleeps days. At least he tries to, but with so many salesmen knocking on our door my husband hasn't been able to get much sleep. Well, about two months ago I put a sign on our front door which said, "Do Not Knock For Any Reason - Day Sleeper."

All kinds of salesmen came around and beat on our door anyway. This makes our dog bark, and then my husband wakes up. Last week I put a bigger sign on the front door which said, "He Who Knocks on This Door Gets Water in His Face." I want to know, Abby, if I have the right to throw water in the face of a person who knocks and wakes up my husband.

HIS WIFE: Anyone who would knock despite the warning you posted, deserves to get water in his face. But you'd better check with a lawyer about your "right" to soak a salesman, though duly warned.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been happily married (until now) for eight years. She's a wonderful wife and mother and I love her very much. We have never had a misunderstanding we couldn't iron out in a few minutes.

For the past week my wife has been acting cool and distant. I asked if I had said something to hurt her feelings. She said no. I suggested calling a doctor thinking maybe she wasn't feeling well. She said she felt fine. Finally I got it out of her. It seems she went shopping last week and ran into an old chum she hadn't seen since high school. They got talking about old times and whom they'd married, etc. Well, this chum told my wife that I had had an affair with a friend of hers but she failed to mention that it happened ten years ago. (She also failed to mention that I had had an affair with her, too.) I was not married at the time and wasn't even going with my wife then. Do you think my wife is justified in acting this way just because I didn't tell her about my social life before I was married? I never asked her to tell me about hers.

IN THE DOG HOUSE: DEAR IN: Your wife is being extremely childish. What a pity they've done away with ducking stools, the 17th century method of punishing witches, gossips, and female troublemakers. It would have been an ideal way to teach your wife's chum a lesson.

DEAR ABBY: My niece is planning a wedding in the near future. She wants to be married in white with all the trimmings. Now it is no secret that she has already had her honeymoon. Last summer she and her fiancé spent their vacation together. This is a small town, Abby, and I'm afraid if she insists on going through with a wedding like that, our whole family will get the horse laugh. What do you suggest?

AFFRAID: DEAR AFFRAID: I suggest you leave your niece's wedding plans to her. And don't advertise your "fears" too broadly, or you might get the horse laugh.

NEW YORK (NEA) — In her showroom at Pattulo-Jo Copeland on New York's Seventh Avenue, designer Jo Copeland talked to me about current fashion trends.

Surrounded by her own beautiful spring collection, Miss Copeland gave her views on such topics as pants, above-the-knee skirts and the current trend toward nudity.

She is an articulate woman and her comments were sharp and to the point.

Re pants? "I don't understand all this hysteria about pants. They've been around for a long time. There's nothing wrong with a woman wearing them if she knows when, where and how. But they don't belong in the city or in a chic restaurant anywhere. And for formal wear, they are out of order entirely."

On short skirts: "They're awful. Knees are ugly. Instead of exposing them, we should thank our stars it's possible to hide them with skirts."

Re-cut-to-the-navel and little topless numbers: "I don't like vulgarity even when it's done expensively. In fact, I find it more offensive than. Anyone with a lot of money to spend on clothes should know better."

"But," said Jo Copeland, "a designer can't ignore the kooky styles that make shock news in the collections. These shockers either find their correct niche eventually at the hands of designers or they die because they were no good to begin with."

"Take the sack. It's still with us — but all the bugs are out. The current relaxed silhouette is the result of the sack in its original form."

"So a designer, you see, must be respectful of every new movement. New direction is inspiring, but you must know how far to go with it."

She feels strongly that women should look pretty, elegant and feminine at all times. And she has accomplished this for the women who wear her designs.

Freshness and femininity is the mood of the Jo Copeland spring collection of suits, daytime dresses and formal gowns.

She has used soft crepes, crisp silks and floating chiffon. Her colors include bright floral prints, spring's favorite navy and a whole new range of pinks whereof she speaks. And every item she has designed for spring is the essence of the elegant femininity she believes in.

Beauty and Fashion Director Predicts A Pill to Color or Curl Your Hair by 1980

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—By 1980, we'll probably take a pill to color or curl our hair.

Don't think the forecast is too far-fetched. Marion McDonald, beauty and fashion director for a cosmetics company, makes the prediction and admits it might sound now like "real dream stuff." But she quoted her company's director of cosmetics research, Dr. Martin Rieger, that the beauty pill may not be so far fetched.

"We take a pill for everything else."

More immediately, Mrs. McDonald sees these trends in cosmetics:

Continued accent on eye makeup with the "big eye" to be around "for a long time."

A sports makeup separate from regular which will be sort of a non-made-up makeup. It's there, but not obviously.

A greater emphasis on body care, with body lotions to join the jars and tubes of hand and face lotions. "The face isn't everything anymore," she said. "Knees are on display again. The new sports and beach wear bare more and more of the body."

A revival of the deep-toned lipsticks after several seasons of pale shades. "I don't know just when this will happen," Mrs. McDonald said. "But some couturier will re-introduce the dark shades and they'll catch on, just as the pale ones did."

Mrs. McDonald sees cosmetic trends moving in cycles just as the rest of fashion seems to—the revival for spring, for instance, of many of the soft and sensual clothes of the 1930's.

In the cosmetics world, she mentioned the return of the saucer-sized compact that the current generation doesn't even remember; the shampoo bar, to go along with all the liquid and paste shampoos, for easy washing of hair in the shower; and the curling iron, now used by several "name" hairdressers including Kenneth of New York, and Alexandre of Paris, to help firm the loose, large curls in the new, elaborate coif-

AF Academy Honor System Due Probe

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI)—A top-level investigation of the Air Force Academy honor system was planned today as a result of the examination of a scandal which thus far has caused 65 cadet resignations.

Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert announced in Washington Thursday the appointment of a five-man advisory committee, headed by Gen. Thomas D. White (ret.), former Air Force chief of staff, to "review fundamental programs" at the academy.

Zuckert acted because of reports that as many as 325 of the academy's 2,567 cadets were involved in the cheating scandal. Many of the honor code violators apparently risked expulsion or court-martial only by failing to report breaches of honor by fellow cadets.

No new resignations were announced Thursday but regular Air Force investigators continued to question scores of cadets and more withdrawals were expected.

Zuckert charged the advisory committee to critically evaluate "structure and workings of the academy" in the light of the incidents. He asked White to convene the committee forthwith and proceed with "all prudent speed" to seek answers to such questions as:

—"Is the honor code unreasonable or unrealistic, in whole or in part?"

—"Are pressures on the individual generated by the curriculum, extra-curricular activities, military responsibilities, and the honor system too great?"

—"What is the proper role of intercollegiate athletics in the academy mission, including the effect of recruiting practices, scheduling of activities, and the treatment of the players themselves?"

Pampa Students Hold Dedication

Dedication ceremonies for a monument honoring the "Home of the Harvesters" was held at 9:30 a.m. today at Pampa High School.

Richard Fathere, student body president, dedicated the monument to the students.

Cameron Marsh made a brief acceptance speech.

City Policemen Get New Uniforms

The Pampa Police Department will soon be outfitted in new uniforms.

Twenty complete uniforms arrived at the police station yesterday and officers were in the process of being outfitted today.

The new uniforms will be an "army pink" color with black trim. In the past, policemen have been outfitted in brown and tan uniforms.

The purchase of the new outfits was approved by the city commission at a cost of a little over $1,600.

Viet Buddhist Leader Demands Policy Line

SAIGON (UPI)—One of South Viet Nam's most militant Buddhist leaders demanded today that military strongman Nguyen Khanh purge the government of anti-Buddhist remnants of the Ngo Dinh Diem regime.

The policy line, stated by Thich Tri Quang, produced the first clearest indication that the powerful Buddhist hierarchy was not completely prepared to throw its support behind Khanh and the coup his group of generals staged this week.

Revelers Due In Monday Concert

The Pampa Community Concert Association will present The Revelers as the third concert of the 1964-65 concert season at 8 p.m. Monday in the Pampa Junior High School auditorium.

An institution as American as the square dance, The Revelers male quartet has long enjoyed a unique popularity. The group has appeared in concert in each of the 50 states and practically all the provinces of Canada.

An exciting program will be presented Monday night by the group. Each singer is an accomplished soloist in his own right. Variety is the keynote in The Revelers' repertoire, with something to please the sophisticated concert-goer as well as the casual listener. Their program in Pampa will include everything from the rippling brooks of Schubert to the nostalgic bleat of the Whitefeet.

The Revelers possess an unmatched vocal quality, original arranging and experienced showmanship that promise to produce an enjoyable program for concert association members.

A few years ago The Revelers were honored by an appearance at the White House. Last summer they were featured in various productions of Meredith Wilson's "The Music Man," which starred Bert Parks, Hugh O'Brian, and Van Johnson.

the Senate unscarred Thursday. Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo won approval for his meat labeling law in the upper chamber.

Hardeman said the labeling was to protect the consumer from foreign meats. Sens. A.B. Schwartz of Galveston and Con Kennard of Fort Worth disagreed. Kennard said it intimidates grocers.

The measure requires labeling of all foreign fresh meat and would force retailers to display signs saying "imported meat sold here."

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith held a news conference Thursday after the Senate recessed and said he was satisfied with progress so far. "Next week is going to be extremely busy with committee hearings," Smith said.

Dam

treatment plant that must be built at the city's western limits. This is estimated to cost at least $750,000. Maintenance and operating costs then must be added to that.

The question has been raised many times in city commission meetings as to how this Canadian River Water project bill will be paid by Pampa.

Most authorities agree that there is only one way to do it and that is a sizeable increase in water rates.

City Engineer Harold Foreman said today that the contract for the 35-mile aqueduct line from a point seven or eight miles south of the dam through Borger to Pampa will be let March 2 in Amarillo.

Construction of the line, which will vary from 20 inches to 36 inches, should begin within 30 days after the contract awards are made.

It is estimated that the line will take approximately two to three years to build which would bring completion probably late in 1966 or early 1967.

The actual dam is nearing completion, with engineers predicting that it will be finished next June. Water already is 15 to 16 feet deep immediately behind the dam and stretches back for a mile and a half or so.

Engineers say the 322-mile aqueduct line which will connect the 11 participating cities in the CRMWA with the dam is about half finished and should be completed in 1967.

It has been predicted that water will be available to the cities that are prepared for it by early 1968.

The aqueduct line connecting the reservoir with Borger and Pampa will have two pumping stations, one on Antelope Creek about half way between Borger and the dam and the other about half way between Skellytown and Borger.

At the meeting of Rep. Rogers' subcommittee with Commissioner Dominy in Washington yesterday, the commissioner moved from the Texas project to the major trans-mountain diversion project to the upper Colorado River basin - Frypan - Arkansas - in his review for the subcommittee members.

He called the concept of that $170-million project "imaginative." It turns tributaries of the Colorado River from Pacific to Atlantic drainage by a system of tunnels through the Rocky Mountains.

Progress Report

Dominy gave a brief progress report on another trans-mountain diversion project—the San Juan-Chama in southern Colorado and New Mexico.

"This is another interesting transbasin project to bring badly needed water supplies to the Rio Grande basin. It features a 12.8 mile tunnel under the Continental Divide from the San Juan River basin. A contract for this work was awarded last April. Including associated irrigation units in the Rio Grande, this project will not be completed until 1971," he said.

The largest of the bureau's reservoirs in the Missouri River basin—Yellowtail in Wyoming and Montana—is about 65 per cent complete, Dominy said. He said the final unit of the 250-megawatt powerplant was scheduled to go on the line in 1966.

The commissioner said work on the major unit, Glen Elder, in the Kansas River basin will continue until 1969. He called Glen Elder a "key element" in the basin's flood control program and a "major auxiliary" in the conservation program. Some of the water use facilities of this project are still in the planning stage.

Sandblom Given 15 Year Sentence

CORPUS CHRISTI (UPI)—

Federal Judge Reynaldo Garza today sentenced bankrupt financier Paul Amos Sandblom to 15 years in prison on a conviction of 24 counts of defrauding investors in get-rich-quick schemes.

The 40-year-old Sandblom could have received a maximum sentence of 120 years and a $44,000 fine.

"When you get out (of prison) I hope you will turn your talents to something more useful and not waste it," Garza told an unsmiling Sandblom.

Sandblom, dressed in a dark olive drab suit, told the judge: "I have no excuse for what I did."

Sandblom pleaded nolo contendere (no defense) to the fraud charges Jan. 11. Garza then revoked his $280,000 bond and ordered him to jail pending sentencing.

Youths Arrested On Check Charge

Two Pampa youths, ages 14 and 16, were turned over to juvenile authorities yesterday after admitting attempting to cash a forged check at a Pampa department store.

One of the youths entered Dunlap's Department Store, Coronado Shopping Center, Wednesday afternoon and tried to cash a check made out to James Madison.

The store manager became suspicious when he noticed the check signed "Arthur" Aftergut. The correct spelling of the name is Arthur.

When the manager attempted to phone Aftergut, the youth ran out of the store. The 16-year-old boy was waiting in a car and the pair made off.

After checking the description of the boy with school officials, officers arrested the youth.

The youngsters admitted forging the check and attempting to cash it.

Government Seeks Help Of American Churches

By LOUIS CASSELS
United-Press International
A great recruiting campaign is under way in America, and its purpose is to enlist church and synagogue congregations in the war against poverty.

One of the recruiters is Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity. He hopes that Protestants, Catholics and Jews will bring to the fight against poverty the same zeal and interfaith solidarity they displayed last year in campaigning for the civil rights law.

"The struggle against racial injustice seems to be moving ahead very rapidly," Shriver said in an interview. "And one of the reasons is that all three faiths got behind the moral issue involved. The elimination of poverty is no less a moral challenge than the elimination of prejudice. Every religion teaches that we must make the poor our personal concern."

To Mobilize Congregations
Religious leaders agree. The National Council of Churches has launched a country-wide effort to mobilize Protestant congregations for constructive service to the poor in their communities. United Church Women—a potent organization which includes 10 million members of ladies' auxiliaries—has made the anti-poverty program its "special emphasis" for the next two years.

Services Set
The vital nature of "Love" as a power that can reshape human lives will be brought out in Christian Science churches this Sunday. The subject is "Love," and the Golden Text from I John (4:7,8) underlines the theme: "Beloved, let us love one another; for love is of God. . . . He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love."

Mgr. Raymond J. Gallagher, secretary of the National Conference of Catholic Charities, recently appealed to all Catholic parishes to become "dynamic spearheads" in community action programs designed to help all of the poor, regardless of race, color or creed.

"Won't Be Easy"
Rabbi Leon Feuer, president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, said Jews are ready to unite with Protestants and Catholics in "awakening the conscience of the nation to the moral evil of tolerating poverty in the midst of plenty." But he warned that it won't be easy. "I fear," he said, "that our smug and complacent American society couldn't care less about pockets of poverty which are out of sight and out of mind."

There is a general consensus that the first thing a church or synagogue must do is to convince its well-fed members that there really are people in the community who are desperately poor, through no particular fault of their own.

Attendance Moves Up Since Arrival Of Superintendent

Rev. Wayland A. Murray, pastor of the Pampa Baptist Temple, said Sunday School attendance has been going up each week since the arrival of Fred C. Bowen, Sunday School Superintendent and song leader.

Bowen was formerly Sunday School superintendent of the First Baptist Church of Fort Worth and he pastored the Eighth Avenue Baptist Church for more than four years before coming to Pampa.

Bowen and his wife live at 800 Duane St. They have one daughter, Sharon, 19, who still lives in Fort Worth.

Johnson Keeps Calendar Clear
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson, still convalescing from the severe cold which hospitalized him, today kept his official calendar clear of announced appointments.

The Chief Executive returned to his desk Thursday for the first time since last Friday when he first noticed the beginnings of the cold and sore throat which sent him to the U. S. naval medical center at suburban Bethesda, Md., for 3 1/2 days.

Johnson had remained in the residential quarters of the White House, spending a good deal of time in bed, after returning from the hospital Tuesday afternoon.

Nazi Youth Head Taken to Hospital
BERLIN (UPI)—Allied officials secretly rushed former Hitler youth leader Badur von Schirach out of Spandau prison Thursday night for treatment of an eye ailment. They said today he will spend several days in the British military hospital in Berlin.

A British spokesman said von Schirach, 58, will be treated for "an acute eye condition." Informal sources said he had suffered a detached retina.

Von Schirach was placed in an ambulance and moved about two miles from the grim war crimes prison in a convoy of British military police. The move, about 7 p.m., was not announced in advance.

Scientists Losing Their Ice Island
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Ten Navy scientists who have been drifting southward on an arctic ice island probably will have to be taken off in April.

The Defense Department said Thursday that the two-mile-long floe, known as "Aris II," is beginning to disintegrate as it enters warmer waters.

U.S. Rocket Makes Fifth Flight in Row
CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The new Air Force Minuteman-2 missile, the intercontinental rocket that has a major role in U. S. strategic forces, scored its fifth success Thursday night in five test flights.

The 60-foot rocket was launched from an underground silo and streaked 4,000 miles to an Atlantic target area. It was the first "short" test for the three - stage rocket that has a range of more than 8,000 miles.

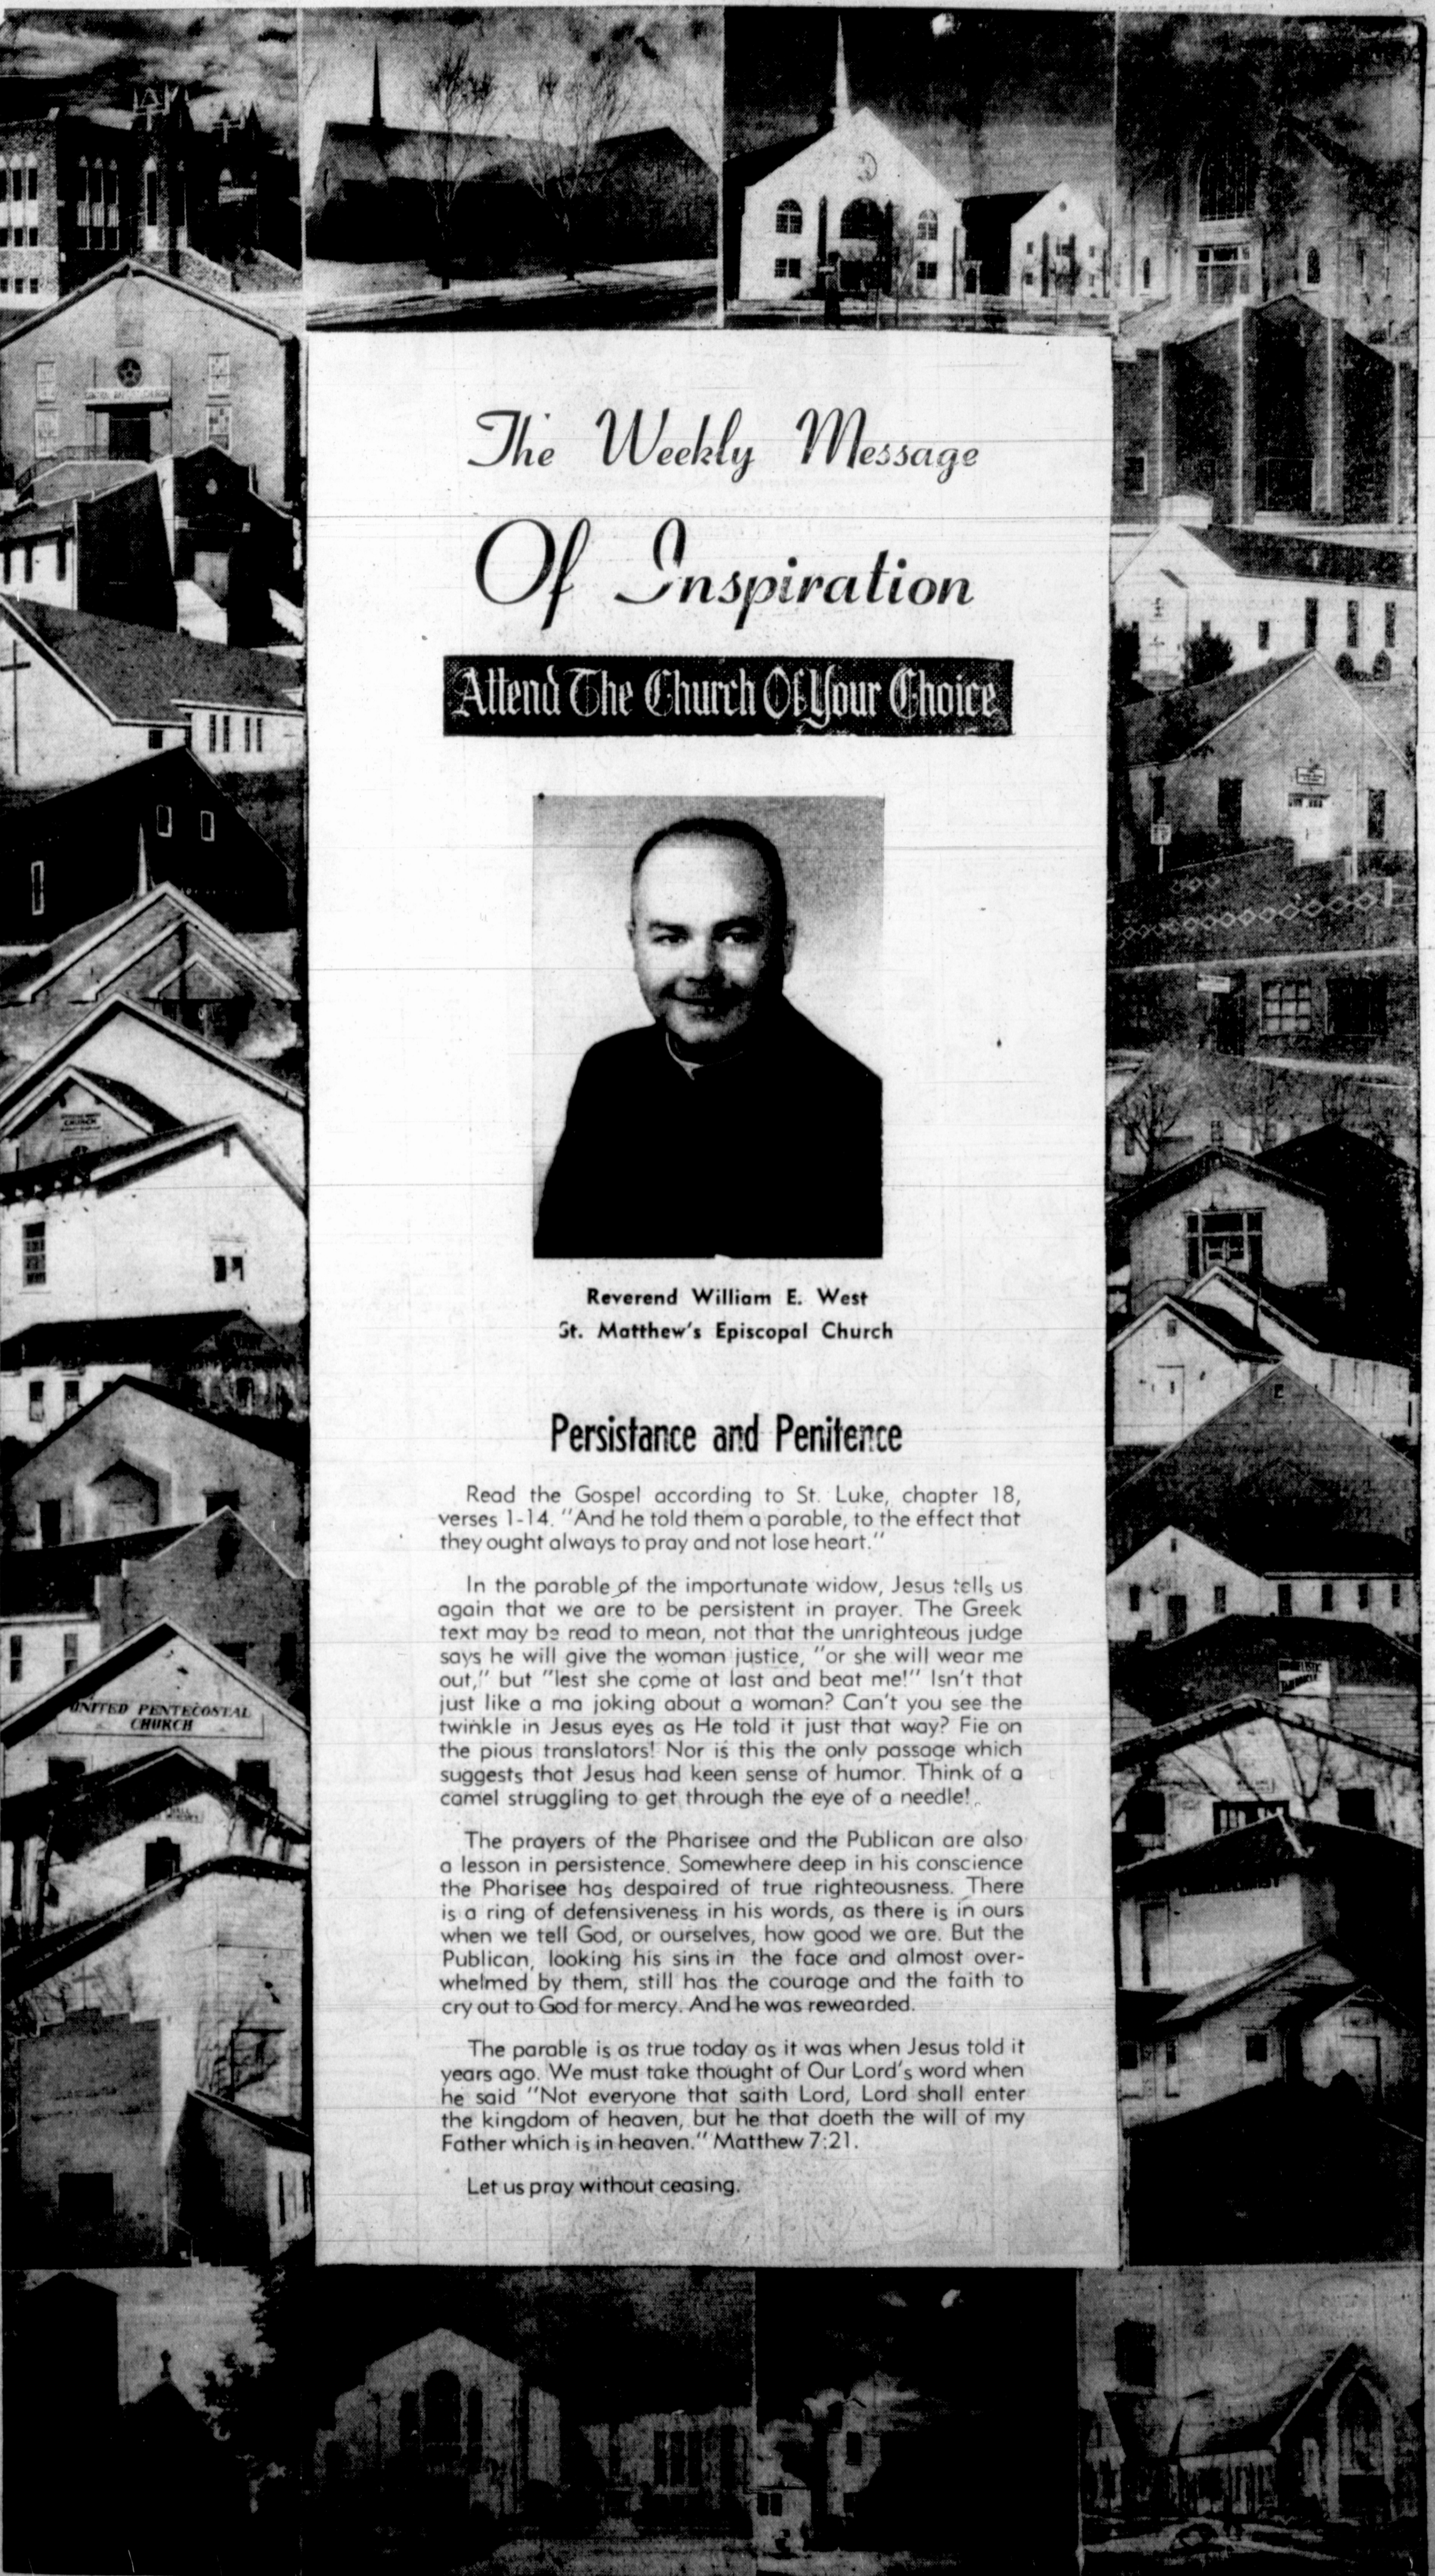

PAY STUDY
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson has named a 10-man panel to make a study of government civilian and military pay scales. He wants a report by April 1.

Persistence and Penitence

Read the Gospel according to St. Luke, chapter 18, verses 1-14. "And he told them a parable, to the effect that they ought always to pray and not lose heart."

In the parable of the importunate widow, Jesus tells us again that we are to be persistent in prayer. The Greek text may be read to mean, not that the unrighteous judge says he will give the woman justice, "or she will wear me out," but "lest she come at last and beat me!" Isn't that just like a man joking about a woman? Can't you see the twinkle in Jesus eyes as He told it just that way? Fie on the pious translators! Nor is this the only passage which suggests that Jesus had keen sense of humor. Think of a camel struggling to get through the eye of a needle!

The prayers of the Pharisee and the Publican are also a lesson in persistence. Somewhere deep in his conscience the Pharisee has despaired of true righteousness. There is a ring of defensiveness in his words, as there is in ours when we tell God, or ourselves, how good we are. But the Publican, looking his sins in the face and almost overwhelmed by them, still has the courage and the faith to cry out to God for mercy. And he was rewarded.

The parable is as true today as it was when Jesus told it years ago. We must take thought of Our Lord's word when he said "Not everyone that saith Lord, Lord shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." Matthew 7:21.

Let us pray without ceasing.

Friars Nip St. B. To Stay Unbeaten

By LEONARD A. GRANATO
UPI Sports Writer

Memo to those basketball teams that will be playing Providence: When winning by one point in the last few seconds, do not, under any circumstances, foul Bill Blair. He'll kill you.

For the second time this season, Thursday at Providence, Blair stepped to the free throw line with the Friars down by one point and time running out. Providence is now 16-0 on the season, the only undefeated major college team in the nation, ranked No. 5 in the UPI coaches' ratings.

Blair's two free throws gave the Friars a 77-76 victory over

St. Bonaventure in a game that saw youthful Providence blow a 13-point halftime lead. Against Iowa, Blair did the same thing for another Providence one-point victory.

Providence was led by sophomore Jim Walker's 20 points, while George Carter, also a soph, paced the Bonnies with 18.

Other Action

In other collegiate cage action, seventh-ranked Davidson got no competition from East Carolina College, romping to an 82-68 homecourt victory. East Carolina got that close because Davidson took out the regulars early after building up a 25-point lead.

Fred Hetzel led Davidson with 28 points, followed by Don Davidson's 19 and Dick Snyder's 18. Bobby Kinnard's 20 points were high for East Carolina.

Jim Jones made a layup with one second left to boost the University of Houston past Baylor 80-78 at Houston. At one point in the first half, Houston trailed by 13 points, 35-22, but outscored the Bears 16-6 to close the gap.

Dons Humiliated
The nation's No. 6 team, San Francisco, was humiliated by Arizona 71-56 at Tucson. Guard Warren Rustand paced the Wildcats with 18 points but gave up game scoring honors to Ollie Johnson of San Francisco, who had 22.

Arizona fired 56 per cent of its first half field goal attempts through the hoop and wound up with a 45 per cent shooting percentage for the game. The Wildcats are now 13-4, while San Francisco is 12-2.

Joe Hamood, a Houston guard, led all scorers with 32 points, while Tommy Hatfield and Darrell Hardy each had 20 to pace Baylor.

South Carolina held Richmond to one point in the final five and one-half minutes while romping to a 73-60 victory on the homecourt. Jim Fox of the Gamecocks led all scorers with 28 points, while Richmond was paced by Tom Tenwick's 17 points. Richmond led at the half 32-28.

YCC Basketball

Two one-sided games in YCC play last night saw the First National Bank romp over Hilland Pharmacy, 70-41 and Stinnett pulverize Celanese 59-26.

Roy Don Stephens canned 22 and Cousin George Smith 20 points for the Bankers. Larry Stroud had 19 in defeat. Fred Thompson led Stinnett with 20. Marlin Mills had 10 for the losers.

'Seven' Show at Las Vegas

CANYON — "The Magnificent Seven" show under the direction of James R. Miramontes opens in Las Vegas (New Mexico) this weekend. Kirby Pugh of Abilene, George Scott of McAdoo, Joe McWilliams of Lubbock, Gail Simpson of Borger, and Calvin Taylor of Pittsburgh are the stars with Marvin Mitchell of Detroit and Mickey Fitts of Canyon in supporting roles.

These, of course, are all that remain on the West Texas State varsity basketball squad after two members were declared scholastically ineligible and a third left school for personal reasons. Latest victim of the book is Ben Finley, 6-7 center from Denton, who averaged 5.6 points and 3.3 rebound for the 13 games he played.

Actually, the Seven have been the only participants in the Buffs' last three games, although Viramontes had others at his disposal. In their last three appearances, the Buffs dropped decisions to Seattle and Oklahoma City and upset Texas Western, 56-54, on the strength of Simpson's three points in the final minute and three seconds.

Facing the Seven this Saturday is New Mexico Highlands, a 113-96 victim in Canyon in the season's opener for both schools. The Cowboys have lost Bill Dinwiddie, 6-5 junior center who scored 27 points against WTSU on grades, but guards Bill Cochran (19.1) and Martin Nava (18.6) are the main cogs in a high-geared offense that is turning out more than 91 points per game. In addition, Highlands 7-3 for the season, has lost only once in its last 14 games in Las Vegas. Since the Buffs are only 3-4 on the road this season, it could be a long night for Viramontes and Company.

Viramontes does not have plans for a complete slow down in his offense, despite his lack of reserve strength.

Harvesters Play Caprock Tonight

"This is going to be a lot tougher than everyone thinks, including even the Harvesters," observed basketball Coach Terry Culley of tonight's district 3-A game at Caprock.

"There are four teams right behind us, each with one loss, just waiting for us to fall. . . and it could happen, just as it did to Lubbock. Caprock is a vastly improved team, as witnessed by their win over Lubbock and their one-point loss to Tascosa the other night. They work that ball in to 6-2 1/2 Gary Day, their big boy, and he really hits that basket. He had 22 against Tascosa Tuesday.

However, if we aren't overconfident and we play the way we've been doing, we should win. We've been playing fine team ball and we've been hitting well from the floor and from the foul line. Of course, one bad shooting night could kill us, but if we keep on shooting, rebounding and defending like we are, we can go a long way.

"Almost every starter is hitting in double figures and the reserves are doing very well too. The bench outscored the Palo Duro regulars in last Tuesday's game. We have one of the best benches in the district, not experienced, but all hustlers with fine potential. In addition to Carl Harnsberger, Mike Wise has earned a regular post if McDaniel or McWilliams gets into trouble. Little Butch Crossland did a fine job, and so did "Sugar" Cain.

The Harvesters will be looking to make their second-half record 4-0, their overall loop record 9-1 and their season mark 23-3 tonight. The Pampa Shockers will attempt to break their losing streak in the 6:15 p.m. opener.

New Commissioner For SEC, Will Blast Pro Ball

ATLANTA (UPI)—The Southeastern Conference was expected today to name a new commissioner, change its recruiting policy, make it easier for its teams to accept bowl bids and take a slap at the pros.

Veteran Commissioner Bernie Moore, who will reach the compulsory retirement age of 70 this spring, was expected to serve one more year in the post he has held since 1948 with his successor serving as his assistant until next January.

Louisiana State Athletic Director Jim Corbett, a key figure in the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), is reported to be the leading candidate for the commissioner's post. If Corbett, who was publicist director at LSU when Moore was athletic director there, gets the job it will be on a long-term contract with an increased salary and strengthened authority.

The conference now allows 40 football grants-in-aid yearly but has an over-all limit of 140 for the number of football and basketball players who can be in school at one time. It was this over-all limit that Georgia Tech cited last year as its reason for leaving the conference.

Regarding bowl bids, the conference was expected to allow its teams to accept bowl bids after the football season is nine weeks old. This would mean that some teams could accept bids even though they had two more games to play. Under present rules, a team cannot accept a bid until after it completes its regular season.

Moore set the stage Thursday for an attack against the pros when he warned SEC schools would bar American and Canadian football league scouts from their campuses unless they agreed not to sign players before they use up their college eligibility — including bowl games.

SWC Roundup

By United Press International
The University of Arkansas had what it took in the second half against Mississippi State Thursday night, but the Baylor Bears didn't, resulting in a win and a loss for Southwest Conference teams in a pair of non-conference games.

Arkansas, ahead by a narrow point against Mississippi State at the half, put on a rush in the final 20 minutes to come up with the win, 84-69. But Baylor blew a lead in the final half, and Houston's Jim Jones sank the winning basket with only one second left to beat the Bears 80-78.

John Talkington and Ricky Sugg paced the Porkers tallying 21 and 19 points respectively.

Peppery guard Joe Hamood led all scorers in the Baylor-Houston game, tossing in 32 for the Cougars. His efforts almost went for naught. The Bears ran up a 13-point lead at one time in the game.

Darrell Hardy led the Bears scoring with 21 points. In other Texas action Thursday night, McMurry hit a hot 67 per cent of its shots from the field and upset Pan American College 87-71.

The New Mexico Lobos held off the persistent Texas Western Miners to win a non-conference game 69-58. It was New Mexico's 13th win of the season.

Lefors Wins

LEFORS — The Lefors "Faculty" topped the Pampa Newsboys reserves on free throws last night, 53-44. Bubbles Golpenee had 30 points for Lefors, the Sikes brothers had 15 each for the Newsboys.

Unknowns Lead 1st Round Golf

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Five of pro golf's lesser lights led the way today into the second round of the $57,500 Lucky International open.

Bunched in a traffic jam for the top spot were Jack Montgomery, a 23-year-old tour rookie; George Archer, a six-foot-six sophomore; Rutch Baird, an also ran last year, and veteran Gardner Dickinson and pint-sized Jack McGowan.

All shot three-under-par 68 in the opening round while such stars as Billy Casper fell off the pace with a 72 and defending champion Juan (Chico) Rodriguez and British Open champion Tony Lema skied to 73.

16 Broke Par

Sixteen players in the field of 144 pros broke par on Harding Park's 6,722-yard layout in the opening round, but no one exactly tore the course apart — mainly because the greens were bumpy although the weather was almost perfect.

Some of the better known names in golf were in a good spot to make a run at the leaders. Bobby Nichols, PGA champion, turned in an even par 71 as a starter, a score matched by Australian Bruce Crampton, who won the Bing Crosby tournament last week, and Bob Charles, the left-hander from New Zealand.

Don January, who lost to Rodriguez in a playoff for the Lucky title a year ago, turned in a fine 70. He was four un-

Teen Drinkers Face Varied Forms of Punishment

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of five dispatches on teen-age drinking.

By PATRICIA McCORMAK
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — In Michigan, if a minor is convicted of transporting liquor in an automobile, the auto is impounded for not less than 15 days nor more than 30.
That's one way of curbing teen-age drinking. With a one-car family, the lesson sinks in—especially if dad must share in the punishment, walking to the store, taking the bus to work.
Other laws in other states aim to punish the minor who purchases or attempts to purchase liquor. Such a law, passed in Pennsylvania in 1963, imposes penalties—a fine of $25 to $100 or a jail sentence, 30 days, or both.

Members of the licensed beverage industries helped to put the laws on the books. The biggest thorn in their side—purchase by minors.
Begin Own Systems
In many parts of the country, liquor licensees have initiated their own system of identification cards, with the support and approval of law enforcement authorities in many instances.
In Rockland County, N.Y., for example, identification cards include a photograph. The card isn't issued until the age of 18, based on a birth or baptism certificate, has been certified by a notary public.

Rockland County Liquor Dealers Association members have agreed not to sell anyone who cannot present this identification card.
But solving the problem of teen-age drinking isn't as simple as providing identification cards to keep them from illegally purchasing alcoholic beverages.
Alcohol education also must be improved and strengthened in the opinion of many authorities. The preferred time for this: In junior high school—before the children have had time to drink just because "all the kids are doing it."

Mrs. Jennelle Moorehead, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, told United Press International:
"Every young person has ultimately to make his own decision whether to drink or not. It is the business of the schools to give him the data on which he will base the decision."
"He should receive sound, scientific information about the effects of drinking and the dangers of alcoholism. This information should be bolstered by good example."
"Safety factors should be stressed. Since most young people drive cars, they must be warned that alcohol slows reflexes and impairs judgment."
Mrs. Moorehead, an educator from Eugene, Ore., maintains that parents must share the responsibility—and more.
"They must make sure their children know the facts, and they must make sensible rules for their children in the matter of drinking. Parental examples of sound attitudes and values are all-important."

It doesn't mean the parents must drink in secret.
Protect Young People
"Thousands of American families are able to serve liquor in moderation to adults in their homes and yet protect their young people from the dangers involved in the misuse of alcohol."
"Some fathers think nothing of driving if they have had a drink but are horrified at the thought of their sons doing so," A. D. Buchmueller, executive director of the Child Study Association of America said.
On the matter of teen-age drinking, Buchmueller maintains that each family must work out the solution for itself.

"Families differ in their cultural patterns and teen-agers differ in their ability to handle social situations at a given age," he said.
"Some parents feel it is all right for the college age youngster to have a drink at home; they believe it is 'better for young adults to learn to make use of drinking socially, without abusing it, in their own homes rather than to indulge behind their parents' backs."
"On the other hand, there are families who believe that at no time should liquor be served to young people. Not the least of their considerations is the flouting of existing alcoholic beverage control laws."

Buchmueller believes it is better simply to avoid serving alcoholic beverages at young people's gatherings.

"Parents will do well to exert both common sense and self-control in their own social lives," he added.

Operation Mohole Will Cost U.S. $68 Million

By WILLIAM CLAYTON
HOUSTON (UPI) — All systems are "go" for Project Mohole, which has about the same timetable as man's reach to the moon, project officials said Thursday.
The announcement Wednesday that a tentative site has been chosen in the Pacific near Hawaii to start drilling the world's deepest hole gave impetus to Mohole plans. Project managers hope to drill through the earth's crust to the 1,800-mile-thick mantle by 1970.
Mohole is an undertaking of the National Science Foundation and the Houston-based contracting firm of Brown and Root is prime contractor. The entire project is expected to cost the government at least $68 million.
When the special drill bit at the end of a "turbo-corer" turbine drill bites into the mantle and bares earth's secrets and vital statistics, scientists will already have some valuable data, they say. Information on ocean floor contents, the portrait of the earth's crust and its components and much guidance for future drilling techniques will come from just getting there, project officials said.

When Mohole starts getting information from the mantle, scientists expect to get at secrets of the origin and nature of planets and possibly of life itself.
Mammoth Drill Platform
The coming year will be one of the most intensive in Mohole development, concentrating on needed machinery and equipment. The biggest item is the drilling platform, which will make conventional platforms look puny by comparison.

Mohole hopes to award a contract for the 30-story-tall rig in April.
The machinery that will give the power for raising and lowering the tremendous string of drill pipe through 23,000 to 31,000 feet of ocean and crust will be started sometime this year. A design is virtually complete for a draw-works of around 4,000 horsepower, which would be nearly twice the power of the largest in use now.
The derrick and equipment mounted on it should be offered for bids in the next month or two and a bid is likely to be let in the spring.
A sophisticated computer guidance system, to keep the drilling equipment from straying from its hole thousands of feet below, will also be required and work is being done on that now.
Tested Near Uvalde
The turbocorer was checked out in test drilling last year in the Uvalde area of West Texas. The area contains some basalt rock, which is about what scientists expect Mohole drills will find when they drill through the crust.
