Rights Backers Receive Boost After House OK

Supporters Now Hope to Push Measure Past Senate Filibuster

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Overwhelming House approval of a sweeping civil rights bill gave backers new confidence today that they could get the measure safely past a certain senate filibuster.

After nine days of debate and action on 138 amendments, the House passed the bill Monday night by a vote of 290 to 130. It is designed to wipe out discrimination in voting, public accommodations, employment, education and use of federal funds.

The bill now goes to the Senate where it faces a determined Southern effort to talk it to death. No attempt to start debate is expected until late this month, however.

President Johnson hailed the House vote as "an historic step forward for the cause of human dignity in America." In a White House statement he added:

"Now the task is for the Senate. I hope the same spirit of bipartisanship will prevail here to assure passage of this bill, guaranteeing the fundamental rights of all Americans."

Voting for the bill were 152 Democrats and 138 Republicans. Opposed were 96 Democrats and 34 Republicans. Before the last House member answered the showdown question, civil rights leaders were getting ready for the Senate struggle. And they plainly did not expect to lose.

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and chairman of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, had this to say:

"We are aware of the dire predictions that have been made about what the Senate will do to the bill when it gets there. We do not believe them. The same voices, we remember, prophesied last year that only a very weak bill could win House approval."

The House-passed bill could not be described as weak in any respect. With the possible exception of housing, the measuring attempts to meet Negro demands for equality in nearly every field of national life.

Aspects of Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Here is a section-by-section explanation of the civil rights bill passed by the House:

Voting: For voting in federal elections, outlaws discriminatory registration tests or standards; requires literacy tests, if used, to be written examinations; establishes a sixth-grade education as a legal "presumption of literacy"; allows either the Justice Department or voting officials to demand trial of voting suits by three-judge federal courts; directs courts to expedite voting cases.

Public Accommodations: Outlaws discrimination based on race, color, religion or national origin against customers of hotels and other lodgings, restaurants and other eating places, theaters, sports arenas and other places of entertainment. Specified businesses covered if activities "affect" interstate commerce, or practice discrimination under protection of state or local law, custom or tradition. Private clubs; small rooming houses and retail stores, unless connected with covered establishments, are exempted.

Federal Funds: Repeals all provisions permitting "separate but equal" use of federal aid funds; requires federal agencies to see that state and local governments do not discriminate with government aid; permits funds to be cut off if discrimination does not stop.

Desegregation: Authorizes the Justice Department to initiate (See ASPECTS, Page 3)

Ruby's Lawyers Deny Cuba Trip

DALLAS (UPI)—Jack Ruby's defense lawyers, searching today for evidence that the killer of Lee Harvey Oswald may not get a fair trial in Dallas, denied a report that Ruby visited Communist Cuba last year.

The lawyers said Monday night the FBI had fully checked Ruby's travels but found he had not left the country since 1959, when he admittedly visited Havana. A Cuban exile in New Orleans said he had received word from an anti-Fidel Castro agent about the alleged second trip.

Dallas Times Herald and Dallas Morning News stories about the assassination of President Kennedy and events that followed were to be presented in evidence today by the defense team.

The change of venue hearing in criminal Dist. Judge Joe Brown's court Monday featured flare-ups between Dist. Atty. Henry Wade and Melvin Belli.

Defense Move
The battle is over a defense move to change the location of Ruby's trial for killing Oswald last Nov. 24, just two days after Oswald was charged with murdering President Kennedy. Ruby's murder trial is scheduled to begin in Brown's courtroom Feb. 17.

Belli of San Francisco, heading a team of four defense attorneys, said he hopes to wind up the pre-trial hearing on a change of venue by Wednesday afternoon. He has subpoenaed 175 persons.

Seven witnesses, including four newsmen, testified in the stuffy courtroom Monday. Defense attorneys questioned them about the general mood of citizens of Dallas. They attempted to show that the Ruby case has been so thoroughly discussed that he should be tried elsewhere.

Little Hope Remains For Destroyer Crew

SYDNEY (UPI) — Australia today virtually gave up hope for the 85 crewmen of the destroyer Voyager missing since the aircraft carrier Melbourne sliced the smaller vessel in two in a collision Monday night.

Navy Minister Alexander J. Forbes said there now is "only slight hope" of finding any of the officers and crewmen alive. Most were believed to have gone down with the forward section of the destroyer.

There were 324 men aboard the destroyer when the Melbourne rammed it during night maneuvers. The Voyager, blacked out except for mast lights, apparently cut across the carrier's path. Both ships were traveling at about 34 m.p.h. in the Pacific about 20 miles off Australia's southeast coast.

An immediate inquiry was ordered by the captain of the Voyager, Duncan Stevens, on the bridge during the fatal turn, was feared dead.

There were no casualties among the 1,000 men on the Melbourne, the flagship of the Australian navy. The carrier, although damaged, helped in the rescue work.

Gray County GOPs Endorse Goldwater

The Gray County Republican executive committee endorsed Senator Barry Goldwater for president at a meeting Monday.

Meeting in Pampa, the Republican leaders passed a resolution praising Senator Goldwater as "the foremost exponent of the principles of personal freedom and individual responsibility set forth in the Constitution of the United States." The resolution went on to state that Goldwater "exemplifies the principles of the Republican party of Texas."

Bill Arrington, Gray county Goldwater for President Committee chairman, praised the action of the executive committee as "reflecting the true sentiments of all conservatives in Gray county. We have taken a significant step toward a delegation to the Republican national convention pledged to Senator Goldwater."

Republican county chairman, Clayton Husted, stated that he personally favored the nomination of Senator Goldwater and expressed his pleasure at the action of the executive committee.

This was the decision made Monday night by the GOP county committee. Pampa rancher Bob Price is being opposed by a Farmer county resident, Frank Hinkson, who filed at the last minute last Tuesday.

Clayton Husted, county secretary for the GOP, said the primary will be conducted "just like the Democrats" on the same day with boxes in all 13 precincts.

The Pampa Republican spokesman said the entire area would probably follow suit since the Congressional race includes 26 counties in the district.

15-Foot Python Loose From Zoo

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — A 15-foot python described as "potentially dangerous" was being hunted today.

Peter Batten, 45, keeper of the Child Estate Zoo at Cabrillo Beach here, reported the snake missing Monday from its heated glass enclosure.

The zoo keeper said the snake was not poisonous, but that it could inflict injury from biting or constriction.

Pampa Counts Losses

The 17-inch snowfall that buried Pampa last week will cost the city an estimated $100,000.

The figure was advanced by City Manager Harold Schmitzer today. The amount was qualified by the city manager with the statement that it was "purely a rough estimate."

The damage will come mostly from streets that have deteriorated under the intense moisture of the snow and the grinding of tire chains and weight of heavy equipment used to clear away the snow.

Streets in every section of the city have been damaged. The black top surface has begun to crumble and the constant vehicular traffic continues to make the holes bigger.

Worst damage, according to Schmitzer, has been done on 23rd St. east and west of Duncan. But scarcely a street in Pampa has escaped damage.

The city manager said that the huge repair bill will be spread over a period of two years.

"It looks as if 23rd St. would almost entirely," Schmitzer said.

Another expense growing out of the storm will be the increased city payroll necessitated by extra time put in by city employees around the clock for the past five or six days. There was no estimate yet available on this item.

The city manager said a crew of 50 or 60 men from the street and parks department has been used in the work of clearing off the streets.

"We are still working nights," Schmitzer said.

City crews were out last night spreading the snow that has been piled in the middle of streets in order to give it a better chance to thaw out and melt away under the afternoon sun.

Yesterday was a good thawing day, city officials said, and the snow melting was expected to continue this afternoon.

That was the damage side of the "Big Snow of '64." The bright side comes in the million dollar benefits that will come to wheat and other crops and grazes lands throughout the (See LOSSES, Page 3)

Retirement Plan Adopted By Council

A definite retirement policy for city employees was adopted today by the Pampa city commission.

It will follow the state law set down for Texas municipal employees.

The policy states that a city employe will be retired on Dec. 31 of the year in which he becomes 65 years old.

It is up to the city to decide whether it finds the man's services essential and wishes to retain him.

If so, the man can be rehired for one-year periods until he is 70 years old. This, officials declared, probably would not happen unless the employe was one who could not be replaced immediately by a younger man.

The commission today granted an 8-month retirement extension to William O. Patton, parks department employe, who was 65 last Dec. 20. The action was taken in line with the 8-month extensions given to four other 65-year-old employes in November. It was this action that prompted the city to adopt a definite policy on retirement.

In the future all 65-year-old employes will be retired on the last day of the year following their 65th birthday.

In other business today, the commission heard a report from the city manager that the city is cracking down on filling station operators who violate a city ordinance governing sand and grease traps on their wash racks.

The commissioners were told that many station operators were in violation and that the practice of allowing grease and sand to wash into the streets (See RETIREMENT, Page 3)

More Snow in City Forecast

Pampans beware! Amarillo Weather Bureau experts reported today that snow was expected to reach Pampa during the early morning hours Wednesday.

The chances for the return of snow, forecasters said, were very good, but the snow was not expected to be severe.

Some rain is expected to hit the area as well.

AT HIGH SCHOOL TOMORROW

Clinic to Accent Training Need

By GLENN McCASLAND
Importance of proper education and a direct approach to the problem of finding the right field will be key objectives Wednesday as the sixth annual Career Clinic opens at Pampa High School.

Two roundtable discussions will highlight the day's events, but the uppermost target in the minds of those sponsoring the program is hitting the need for training in various professions.

The efforts of the Altrusa Club, Junior Chamber of Commerce and Chamber of Commerce will be combined with the high school student council to make the day a success.

AND FROM the interest being shown by both students and adult counselors, the clinic will be successful.

Over 85 experts in professions ranging from accounting to bus driving will visit with the 1,200 students, answer their questions and attempt to explain a little bit about their jobs, why they are in their fields and generally help the students in selection of possible professions.

The clinic's somber tone will be broken in part when an informal coffee opens the day's activities, followed by a general assembly at which time Dr. DeWitt Reddick, head of the department of Journalism at the University of Texas, will speak.

THE ASSEMBLY will break following his address with students attending their first roundtable at 10 a.m. The second roundtable will be held at 11 a.m. Classes resume after noon, but the students will meet in homeroom groups to evaluate their roundtable discussions and report to teachers.

Cameron Marsh, both high school principal and one of the adult sponsors of the clinic, said the program was being conducted this year to allow students to take a much more active part in the clinic. STUDENTS WILL assist the consultant at each roundtable while a teacher observes. Marsh said that an example of this would be found if a person visited the vocational agriculture room while Jim Campbell of Pampa discusses farming.

Assisting him in the question and answer portion of the roundtable will be Fred Vanderberg, one of the leading Future Farmers of America members and an outstanding VA student. FFA sponsor Bob Skaggs will also be on hand to assist.

"This is done for several reasons," Marsh explained. "It gives students a chance to ask questions of the consultant through a student as well as a teacher."

HOWEVER, MARSH indicated teachers would be urged to act as an observer more than an assistant in the discussions.

MAKING THE FINAL PLANS — Pampa High School President Don Rexroad and Larry Johnson, student body vice-president, listen as Mrs. Marian Osborne, one of the Career Clinic sponsors, gives final instructions regarding introduction of the main speaker at the student assembly which opens the event. Over 85 professional advisors will assist students in two roundtable discussions about various careers.

Report About Gold Strike Stirs Town

SMYRNA, S.C. (UPI)—Residents of this tiny town in the South Carolina hill country today were hopeful, but wary, about a reported rich gold strike that sparked a "curiosity rush" into the area.

"There's been a good many times when folks insisted they found the real thing, but the gold strike hasn't been found in 90 years of mining," said Mayor W. M. Faulkner Jr.

Canadian prospectors Frank Mills and Frank Cockburn, working for Natto Corp., of Toronto, claimed Monday they had found an "extremely rich" gold vein in an old mine near here. Mills said his discovery has the potential to be one of the biggest gold mining ventures in the country.

Only hours after the announcement, cars began rolling into the area to view the mine-shaft. By nightfall, Faulkner estimated that more than 100 cars, from as far as Tennessee and Virginia, had traveled through the town.

Located in northwestern South Carolina, Smyrna, with a population of 52, is near the textile cities of Rock Hill and Charlotte and Gastonia, N.C. A few miles to the northwest are the Revolutionary War battle-grounds of Kings Mountain and Cowpens and in the opposite direction, not far away, is the birthplace of Andrew Jackson.

Charm Expert to Hold Roundtable Discussion

At Career Clinic

Career-minded Pampa High School girls will be given ample opportunity to select the individual career ideal during the clinic scheduled for Wednesday.

Beauticians, nurses, decorators, models, teachers, youth directors, business field experts and models are among those who will give facts and explanation of their fields during roundtable sessions slated for the morning meetings.

Mrs. Mickey McDonald, director of the American Beauty Charm School in Amarillo, will outline the aspects of a career in the field of modeling.

Mrs. McDonald was formerly associated with John Robert Powers in Dallas and New York City and was the 1962 Texas director of the Miss World Beauty Pageant final in London. She is Texas-director of the Modeling Association of America which meets semi-annually in New York City and has appeared weekly as a guest on KGNC-TV for four years.

Dear Abby

By Abigail

Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What is wrong with you? First you advise a young married couple, who ask if it's proper to "tip" their minister for helpful counseling, to give a "donation" to the church instead. Then some preacher's wife writes in crying poor mouth and says, "No giving the church a donation for services performed by the minister makes about as much sense as sending a tip to Conrad Hilton because you got good service in his hotel." And you agreed with her! You must know that no self-respecting clergyman would accept money for performing a service that is part of his job. And another thing, most churches today are so rich they don't know what to do with their money next.

BURNED UP IN ST. PAUL - DEAR BURNED: It's difficult to speak for all clergymen, and most churches. But according to my mail, "most" clergymen have a struggle making ends meet. And "most" churches know only too well what to do with their money.

DEAR ABBY: Since when should the people who belong to a church pay the preacher extra if they call on him to perform a service? If the preacher should be paid for counseling or marrying, or burying, then by all means let's pay the teacher for holding special conferences with parents, and let's tip the dime store clerk who looks under the counter for something, and the mailman for delivering the mail.

FROM A TEACHER MARRIED TO A PREACHER

DEAR ABBY: To say that the letter from "A Clergyman's Wife" infuriated my husband is putting it mildly. Granted, the clergyman and his family can use money. Who can't? But to expect payment for a service that is part of one's training in the service of God — this is insane. My husband would rather live on beans and rice, and wear turned collars on his shirts than take money for himself for baptisms, marriages, funerals and counseling.

Pampa Garden Club Conducts Business Meet

Announcement of the District I convention to be conducted in Lubbock, March 16-17, was made during a meeting of the Pampa Garden Club conducted in the home of Mrs. Fred Cary, 1922 Fir, recently.

A donation of $25 by Gene Sidwell for the Civic Beautification Fund was noted, and R. L. Studebaker's survey of unusual plants and trees in the Panhandle was announced. He attended the meeting to collect names of such plants from the garden club members.

Mrs. Thomas Patton, member of the Top O' Texas Garden Club, reviewed birds of our area as the program.

The refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of dried flowers and coffee was served by the hostess from a silver service.

The next meeting scheduled for Feb. 17, is to be held in the home of Mrs. E. W. Hogan, 2007 Williston.

Rebekahs Plan Officer Banquet

Pampa Rebekah Lodge No. 355 conducted a meeting recently in the lodge hall to make plans for the coming officers banquet which is scheduled for Feb. 15. Mrs. W. F. Williams, past Noble Grand, appointed the committee to be in charge of arrangements with Mrs. Humphry Matthey and Mrs. Eunice Maddox, vice grand, as chairmen. Mrs. Marnie Jordan was special guest of the group and attended for the installation of Theta Rho members which was conducted following the lodge meeting.

During the social hour, hostesses, Mrs. Jimmy Killian, Mrs. Robert Hollis and Mrs. Thurman Stapleton, served refreshments of coffee and cake.

Take It From Kathy

By KATHY PETERSON
Dear Kathy: My friends and I are in a real bind. One of our group recently had a baby. She had to leave school because she was pregnant.

We are high school seniors and should have some freedom by now, but our parents bound us constantly because of what happened. We would like to visit her and see the baby. She is married now, and they have a cute apartment. What harm would it do to see her occasionally?—Susie

Dear Susie: The marked increase in illegitimate births and teen-age pregnancies that are later legitimized have more people than your parents worried. Such marriages often end in two unhappy, wrecked lives.

Often, in another two or three years the parties involved wouldn't consider marrying each other.

Your parents probably fear that you will be influenced by this couple. They also worry about what the neighbors might say. Perhaps you could point out that the young couple needs friends. Isolating them is no solution.

Schmitzer said they were not being used at present.

Commissioner MacField McDaniell said he had checked with some members of the police department and that he had found a divided opinion on the matter.

Some officers say seat belts make it impossible for them to make a quick exit from the patrol car in the event of a chase.

Commissioner Holmes said he felt the seat belts might save a life in case of a serious accident.

The city manager said he would again discuss the matter of seat belts with the police chief.

oil to go into the sewer traps was causing much trouble at the city sanitation plant.

More than 40 inspections were made in recent days, it was stated, and some 16 violations were discovered.

The city manager has sent letters to all violators and they have been told to remedy the situation in preparation for a re-inspection.

"The penalty for non-compliance with the city ordinance is severe," the city manager wrote. "Please help us to keep sand and oil out of our sewer system."

Fifteen bids on a 2½-ton truck with refuse packer body and an air compressor were opened at today's meeting. City officials will study the bids and the contract will be awarded at next week's meeting.

The commission also authorized the city secretary to advertise for bids for a depository for city funds. Bids will be opened March 3.

January bills totaling $19,584.41 were approved for payment.

Man Hurt in Auto Accident

A Pampa resident suffered loss of two front teeth when the automobile he was driving slammed into the rear of a parked car in the 1000 block of S. Barnes Monday night. Arnold C. Boren, 40, of 1238 S. Dwight was treated for minor injuries and released following the mishap.

City police said a total of $625 damage was done in the collision. The parked automobile was being driven by Linda Stanley of Pampa. The accident was one of seven investigated by Pampa officers during the day and brought injury totals to 14 for the year.

Education Business Expense

By CHARLES W. SCHOENEMAN
 Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
 (Sixth of 10 Articles)

In addition to the expenses for which you are not reimbursed by your employer, you can claim certain other business expense deductions simply because you are in the trade or business of being an employee. These are entered under "other deductions" on Page 2 of your return.

An employee may also carry on his own separate business and qualify for business expense deductions in his own right. In one recent case, the Tax Court ruled that a full-time supervisory employee of an aircraft company was engaged in conducting a separate business in his basement as a free lance inventor of fish lures. In fact, the court allowed the employee a business loss deduction.

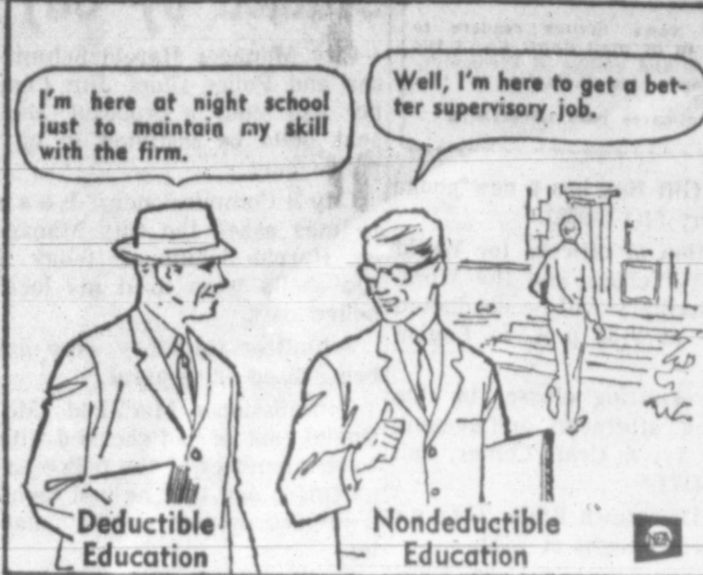

But suppose a taxpayer is only an employee and conducts no separate business. What is he entitled to deduct other than (a) maintaining or improving skills required in his employment, or (b) meeting the express requirements of his employer, or other legal conditions to the retention by the employee of his salary, status or employment. (However, the education cannot be required as a minimum requirement for the employee's being employed.)

The key factor in application of these tests for many persons is that under the "maintaining or improving" test, the employee presumably must show only that the education was required by him in his employment. The education need not be required by his employer.

A recent case recognized this factor in allowing an employee (engineering aide) to deduct his night school tuition in view of the fact he did not go to school with the intention of obtaining a new or better position.

Must such education be customary for a person in the employee's position or among his associates to be deductible? A recent Tax Court case said "no" even though the IRS argued that such a factor was important. However, there must be some connection between the education and the employee's job to be deductible.

Furthermore, the IRS rules that you must be currently employed (or engaged in a business or profession) to deduct education expenses. If not, you may not deduct the cost of schooling to prepare to resume employment, etc. If you go to school during a vacation or temporary leave of absence from your employment, you can deduct the expense of school only if there is a firm understanding that you will return to your employment at the end of

Macmillan Ends Long Career

LONDON (UPI) — Former Prime Minister Harold Macmillan Monday announced the end of a parliamentary career of nearly 40 years. He said he will not run for a House of Commons seat in the coming general elections.

Macmillan's announcement, made on his 70th birthday, came four months after his retirement as prime minister. A prostate gland operation caused him to give up the office after six years, and in his letter announcing he is quitting Parliament he said he can no longer carry out the full duties "of a conscientious member."

Macmillan first won election to Commons in 1924 and represented the Conservatives in the house from that time on, except for brief periods. His present

Ghana Attacks US Negro as 'Judas' After Incident

ACCRA, Ghana (UPI) — A Ghana government newspaper charged Monday that the American Negro diplomat who raised the U.S. flag after Accra demonstrators hauled it down was a "Judas" who performed a "disgraceful, shameful act."

But President Johnson sent a personal message to the diplomat, Emerson Playe, of Denver, Colo., commending him for "your bravery in protesting the American flag."

When a mob of government-incited Ghanaians demonstrated outside the embassy last week and pulled down the flag, Playe rushed out, seized the flag and ran it back up the staff. When he received Johnson's message today, the Negro embassy attaché said only: "I am proud to be an American."

But the Ghanaian Times, organ of President Kwame Nkrumah's Convention People's Party (CPP), attacked all American Negro diplomats as "skunks and Judases" and said "we in Africa are prepared to fix them proper (sic)."

In a separate editorial commenting on the expulsion of four American and two other university teachers from Ghana over the weekend, the Ghanaian Times warned that other "spurious" Americans here must get out—a warning which could foreshadow new expulsions.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When the British withdrew from Suez, they were left only with Cyprus as an Eastern Mediterranean base from which to move either toward the Middle Eastern oil fields or to protect the eastern flank of NATO.

Thus, the British air and army bases on Cyprus took on a position of major importance in NATO strategic planning, along with the U.S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean and the defensive forces of Greece and Turkey.

In Cyprus's current internal difficulties, the British bear a further responsibility inasmuch as prior to Cypriot independence in 1960, the island for 82 years had been under British rule.

The United States is drawn into it as the leading power of NATO.

As in the years preceding Cypriot independence the central figure of the controversy is the bearded Greek Orthodox Archbishop Makarios who became the first president of Cyprus.

Generates Own Trouble

Given an island sharply divided between a Turkish Moslem minority and a Greek Orthodox population in four-to-one majority, plus a constitution which from the beginning was unworkable, Makarios nonetheless has succeeded in generating much of his own trouble.

The constitution worked out by British, Greek, Turkish and Cypriot representatives gave both the Greek majority and the Turkish minority the right of veto over such matters as taxes, defense and foreign policy and almost was a guarantee that government soon would fall into a state of paralysis, which it did.

Makarios quite rightly declared that the constitution needed some changes, but he inflamed the Turkish minority by moving to remove their veto and to abolish divided Turkish and Greek municipalities.

He further complicated the situation by declaring that enosis (union with Greece) was not dead, clearly indicating that he would revive the traditional ambition of Greek Orthodox leaders as quickly as he thought he could.

Cypriots, never averse to violence, brought out their guns and the shooting started.

Won't Stand By

Greece, anxious that there should be no split within NATO, has preferred to remain aloof as possible from the dispute. The Turks have warned that they will not stand by and see Turkish Cypriots slaughtered.

This is the maelstrom into which the United States now has been drawn.

Contingent upon approval of Makarios, the U.S. has agreed to join other NATO nations in supplying troops to police the peace in Cyprus pending arbitration.

Makarios has agreed in principle but on the condition that the peace force should be answerable to the United Nations Security Council wherein the Soviet Union possesses a veto—a condition unacceptable either to the United States or Britain.

FACES THE GRIM FACT— Marina Oswald, 22-year-old widow of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused of assassinating President Kennedy, says that facts tell her Oswald did the shooting. The Russian-born woman hopes to become an American citizen, and says she wants to make home in Texas for her two children.

Goldwater Stand

LEEDS, England (UPI)—The Yorkshire Post, one of the most solidly conservative newspapers in Britain, attacked Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) Monday as "Senator Firewater." The Post said "extreme American views" expressed by Goldwater "ignore the fact that communism has changed and is changing, and that the populations of these countries already exert a growing influence which the regimes can no longer wholly ignore."

"If the Americans do not want to revive the cold war," it said, "they will stop taking their cue from Senator Goldwater."

Monterey Edges Past Harvesters By 68-60

LUBBOCK (Sp) — Junior Charles Whitt came off the bench last night to hit four straight free throws and a pair of field goals in the fourth quarter and give the Monterey Plainsmen a 68-60 victory over the Pampa Harvesters.

Monterey led throughout the second half despite tremendous play by the Harvesters, who rallied again and again, only to have Gary Hughes, Ernie Gilkerson and Whitt come back to break the rally each time. Hughes led the surge that opened up the game, as he broke up a tie with five points late in the second quarter.

Monterey grabbed an early lead as Monty Landers and Big Bob Schmid teamed up to dominate the backboards, with Charlie Price and Kenny Hebert keeping it close as the Plainsmen took a 15-12 quarter lead.

The lead switched from one to five points in the second quarter as Hebert kept hitting for the Harvesters, and Rick Stewart tied the game, 24-24, on free throws. Schmid and Ropes Roper traded buckets, but with 2:45 to go, Monterey ran off nine straight points. Hughes, leading the way, made a one-and-one to break the string and Davy MacDaniel hit a layup just before the buzzer to cut the edge to 35-30.

In a slow third quarter, Monterey moved the lead up to seven, but Hebert's steady sniping chopped it down to four and the Plainsmen worked the ball slowly against Pampa's zone press. Landers broke through for two quick buckets in the final minutes and Jerry Haggard hit for a charity to build it back to 50-43 at the three-quarter mark.

Landers from the floor and Haggard went into a stall with 2:25 left and the 6-3 Whitt then came through in the clutch as he made four straight one-pointers and "snowbirded" two layups all alone as Monterey got the ball past the Pampa press.

The win gives Monterey a half-game lead in the red-hot district 3-AAAA race, with an 11-4 mark. Plainview and Lubbock are tied for second with 10-4 records. Lubbock having edged the Sandies last night, 68-65, while Plainview plays at Borger this evening. The district showdown comes Friday

HUSTLING HARVESTER — Rick Stewart was named Harvester of the Week for his outstanding defensive play and all-around skill this week and was introduced at the Pampa Jaycee luncheon, as was Kerry Roper, last week's Hustling Harvester, night when Monterey and Lubbock met.

The Pampa Shockers were stunned by the Monterey Cowhands in the B team game, 79-45. The Shockers entered the game with a 24-1 record and the district championship already wrapped up, but couldn't find the basket against the Monterey press. The hosts led all the way, 13-9, 33-23, 50-31. Teddy Bird headed the Shocker scoring with 16 points. Little Butch Crossland had 13 and Mac McWilliams eight.

SMU in Trouble Over Recruiting

DALLAS (UPI) — Southern Methodist coach Hayden Fry confirmed today that rumors that SMU was in trouble with the Southwest Conference over alleged recruiting violations had struck a heavy blow at SMU recruiting.

"I have lost at least six prospective athletes since yesterday," Fry told United Press International. "And I don't know how many more it may cost us."

The rumors, Fry said, allege that SMU is "either on probation or going to be" because of violations of recruiting rules.

Today is the first day for conference schools to sign athletes to binding pre-enrollment applications that would keep rival schools from trying to persuade an athlete to change his mind.

Howard Grubbs, conference commissioner, told UPI that "none of our people" are on probation.

Fry, who said similar rumors a year ago also cost SMU several athletes, said the rumors this year didn't start showing up until "just a day or two ago—leaving us little time in which to combat them."

Iron Man Wins Regional Bantamweight Crown

By Phil Duncan
AMARILLO — Johnny Ironmonger, the Pampa "Iron Man," beat the state bantamweight champion last night with his power punching to win the right to compete in the state Golden Gloves Tournament which begins Thursday.

Ironmonger, former Pampa Optimist Clubber, now fighting unattached, defeated defending champ Eddie Gonzales of Plainview in last night's finals of the regional Golden Gloves pairings. Using a one-two combination and a power-packed right hand, Ironmonger staggered Gonzales twice in the first round and once in the second. Gonzales came back to take the third round on boxing, but the punching margin was too big.

George Arredondo of Amarillo upset Manuel Gonzales of Plainview in the 135-pound open final, winning on the strength of a second-round knockdown. Plainview fighters won the remaining open bouts unopposed, fighting exhibitions with Clovis fighters. Highlight in that was the beating handed to 147-pound champ Manny Perez by Pete Esquibel, who won on a second-round TKO after cutting Perez badly over the eye and in the mouth.

Charles King of Pampa and Danny Chapin of Skellytown fought to a draw in an exhibition after they had won the high school and novice heavyweight titles respectively.

Avery Thrasher of Amarillo outboxed Butch Lassater of Pampa to take a unanimous decision in the 126-pound high school class.

Richard Dismuke won the 112-pound high school title unopposed, fighting an exhibition with Alfred Brown of Pampa.

Novice and peewee bout decisions were hotly disputed and roundly booed as the officials seemed determined to give the team honors to Amarillo. Climax of the weird decisions came in the 118-pound novice class where Ronnie Campbell of Pampa knocked out his opponent, who was given the victory on a foul, after which Campbell was given the winners' trophy!

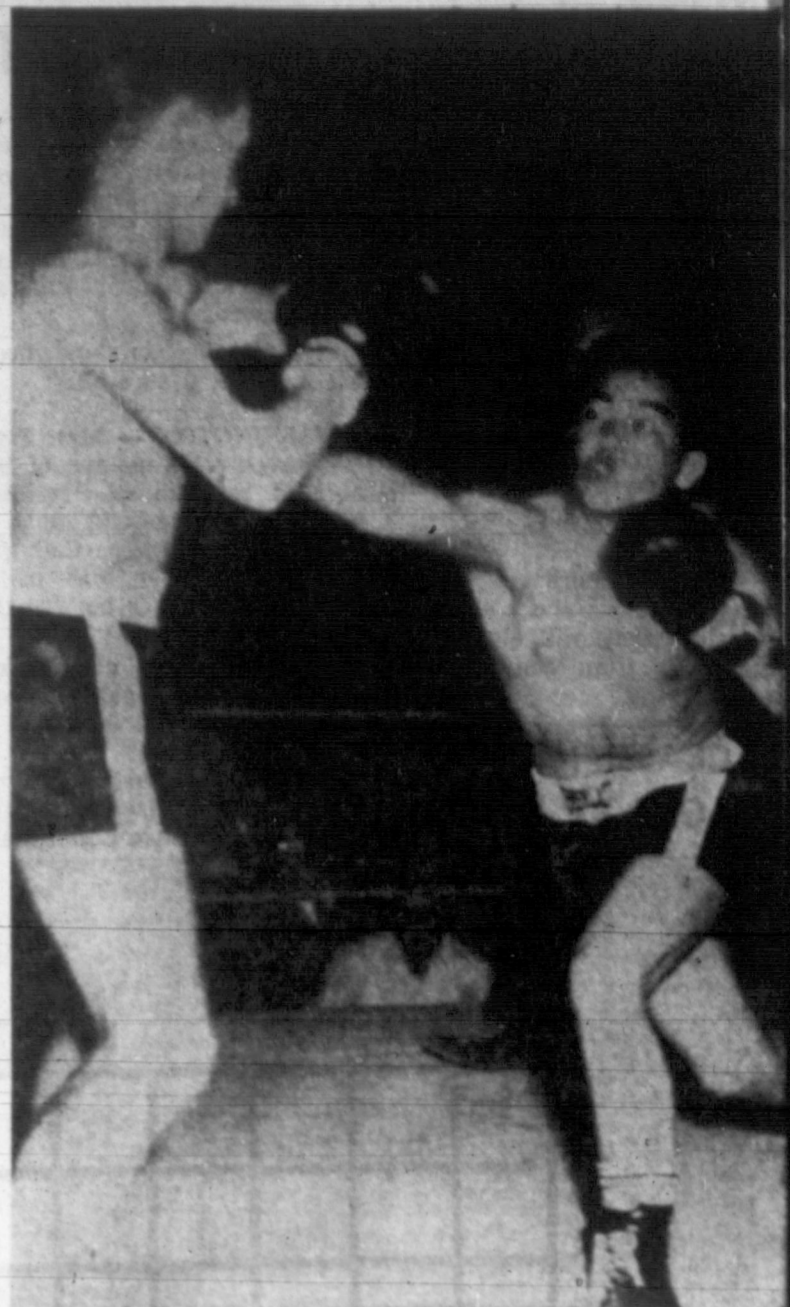

In the opening round, Campbell hit James Atkinson of Amarillo with a terrific right to the head and Atkinson was out on his feet. A second right sent Atkinson to the floor. The referee ruled that Campbell had hit on the break, gave Atkinson the win on a foul and Amarillo the team points, and then gave Campbell the individual trophy.

Dean LaRue of Pampa won a nip-and-tuck decision over Danny Boyd of Tri-City in the 105-pound high school class as both boys scored well with hard rights.

Bill Brooks of Amarillo won the most loudly-booed decision, a 147-pound novice bout over Andy Sanchez of Pampa.

Marion Guana Jr. of Amarillo took the 135-pound novice win over David Smith of Pampa in another hotly-disputed decision.

Ricky Martinez of Plainview, 126-pound novice, battered Von Eason of Pampa to the canvas at the end of the first round, with Eason unable to come out for the second canto.

LONG REACH—Little Ervey Garcia of Plainview stretches on a long right-aimed at Keyin Romines of Pampa. Garcia won the 95-pound peewee title last night as he defeated Romines and Pampa teammate John Garza.

Drake Takes First In MVC With Win Over Wheatshockers

By JOE GERGEN
UPI Sports Writer

There's a certain amount of "Iowa stubborn" on the Drake University basketball team, a fact which helps to explain why the Bulldogs never seem to know when they're beaten.

Take Monday night, for example. Drake trailed sixth-ranked Wichita 63-60 with but 45 seconds remaining in the game. But the Bulldogs pulled it out on two free throws by Gene West and a 20-foot jump shot at the final buzzer by captain Bill Foster to nip the Wheatshockers, 64-63.

What's even more surprising is that the win left Drake alone in first place in the Missouri Valley Conference although the Bulldogs were ticketed for the lower echelon in all pre-season predictions. Drake, which finished last in the MVC last year, has posted an amazing 15-4 record to date despite the absence of any individual stars.

OSU Crushes Illinois
The lack of a star is not the problem at Ohio State where All-America Gary Bradds almost singlehandedly crushed

Illinois, 110-92, with a 49-point performance. In other feature games, second-ranked Kentucky subdued grudging Mississippi State, 65-59, and fifth-ranked Duke overpowered Virginia, 80-59, for their 27th consecutive Atlantic Coast Conference win.

Bradds drilled 17 field goals and added 15 free throws in 16 attempts to break his own home court scoring record and shatter 40 points for the fifth consecutive game. The amazing 6-foot-8 center now has scored 226 points in those last five contests and has lifted the defending champion Buckeyes into strong contention in the Big Ten race, one full game behind Michigan.

Kentucky took over undisputed possession of first place in the Southeastern Conference after fighting off the tenacious Bulldogs. The Wildcats trailed throughout the first half and much of the second half. Florida State's slowdown tactics and defense held Cotton Nash to 13 points, his lowest total of the season, but Ted Deeken scored 19 for Kentucky.

Mullins Leads Duke
Duke harassed befuddled Virginia into 22 errors and Jeff Mullins scored 25 points in the Blue Devils romp. Duke, which is 10-0 in the ACC, raced off to a 40-25 halftime lead, and never was threatened for the rest of the game.

Nebraska, in the midst of a poor season, nipped Oklahoma State, 54-53, and knocked the Cowboys into a first-place tie in the Big Eight with idle Kansas State. Charley Jones scored 14 points for Nebraska, which hit 51 per cent of its shots in slicing the Cowboys' conference mark to 5-2.

In other games, Creighton crushed Miami (Fla.) with surprising ease, 124-94. Cincinnati defeated Houston in overtime, 66-59; Iowa whipped Indiana, 82-75; Virginia Tech struggled through two overtimes before edging William & Mary, 90-86; Tennessee thrashed Mississippi 92-54; Memphis State flogged Florida State, 84-71; Iowa State measured Missouri, 83-79; 10th-ranked Texas Western walloped Denver, 62-48, and Colorado crushed Oklahoma, 86-65.

THE DEPENDABLES: SUCCESS CARS OF '64

The fuel is regular. The performance is premium.

Premium performance doesn't cost a nickel extra in a '64 Dodge. Because under that handsome hood lurks the largest standard engine in the low-price field (318 cu. in., V8). It doesn't cost you extra at the gas pump, either! Regular grade fuel suits it just fine.

Dodge is as luxurious as it is lively. The Polara 2-door hardtop above, for instance, features a rich saddle-grain vinyl interior, a comfort-providing flip-down center armrest, foam seat padding, and thick wall-to-wall carpeting—all standard equipment. Yet it's priced right with comparable models of Ford and Chevrolet.

In all, there are twenty-two Dodge models to choose from. In three series. Each is a low-priced car. And each is backed by a long, strong 5-year/50,000-mile warranty.* You could easily pay more for such a fine automobile, but why should you? See your Dependable Dodge Dealer instead!

Miami Defeats Wheeler for Girls Round-Robin

By JEFF COHANE
Pampa News Sports Editor

MIAMI — Defense was the keynote of the evening as Miami Warriorettes won district 2-B playoff over the Wheeler Fillies last night, 36-30. The two teams, which had shown tremendous offensive ability as they split two-scoring previous meetings, all-out defensively as the Warriorettes won the playoff. The district round-robin tournament set up the loop's tournament bracketing of the tournament will have to await the outcome of the boys district game between Wheeler and Allison at Allison. The teams are tied with 8-1 records.

Freshman Judy Anderson was the torch for Miami's victory as she stole Wheeler passes time and again, and held high-scoring Lynda Batey to only two shots the entire evening. Judy backed by tall Martha Paris, who held Estelle Fillingim to 17 points, one of her low-totals of the season, and manned the defensive backboards, and Cindy Coffee, who kept Beverly Clark far from the key for 11 points.

HOOK SHOT — Estelle Fillingim of Wheeler spins a hook shot up and in past the defensive blocking of Miami's Martha Paris in last night's district 2-B girls playoff game at Shamrock.

defensive stand-out for the evening was Mozelle Fillingim, who completely dominated the boards, taking down at least four rebounds from Marilyn Murphy and Connie Mason, but it was Marilyn's rebounding and shooting in the final minutes that pulled Miami from behind to victory. Wheeler missed key field goals and free attempts in the three minutes.

The first quarter saw the lead teetering back and forth, with Miami getting the rebounds as she guarded Connie, but Warriorettes were unable to hit the bucket consistently as Barnes was hawking the ball. Trailing 8-7, Estelle came through with a hook shot with seconds left and added a throw for a 10-8 Wheeler lead.

Marilyn tied the game up as second frame opened, but she hit for a basket and two throws and a four-point lead. With Martha and Mozelle leading the defensive ends, while Cindy, Judy and Kie Walker tied up the ball defense, neither team dominated the scoring column with any agency. Lynda threw in a from near mid-court at buzzer for a 17-13 Wheeler lead.

Beryl Gill opened the second half by grabbing a piece of the ball in sight, and following a Dodson bucket with a free throw to cut the edge to one point. Miami put on a tight game and Judy stole the ball as she passed to Connie for a 21-20 Miami lead. Beverly tied it up in a charity, but Connie of the Warriorettes in the end as Judy continued her every, and Marilyn faked

UPI Sports Writer

MIAMI (UPI) — Joe Louis leaned languidly on a ring post today and observed with sleepy distaste that he had been born 25 years too soon.

That far back, the young "Brown Bomber" was the scourge of the heavyweight ranks. He had won the heavyweight title two years earlier and was busily compiling his "bum of the month" club.

"What I'd give to be that young again," he slurred in his low voice. "What a payday I could have with this here Liston."

Joe will be 50 in May and it's been 12 years since Rocky Marciano knocked him out in the eighth round to end his dreams of recapturing the heavyweight title. At 240 pounds he's a slow-moving memory of the shuffling sharpshooter who held the heavyweight crown longer than any other man.

Hard Puncher

But, as he watched Sonny train for his Feb. 25 title fight with Cassius Clay, it was evident that the Brown Bomber's memories gave neither Liston nor Clay the best of it. Nor the younger Marciano who blasted Louis to the deck in eight rounds when Louis was almost 38.

"Liston punches with his left hand about as hard as anybody I've ever seen," Louis analyzed while the current champion worked over his sparmate. "But he's a little clumsy yet and he doesn't use his right hand properly."

There are visible flaws in Liston's style, Louis declared, for a bout with Clay.

"I picture a running fight," he observed. "That Clay will get on his bicycle and the question is how Liston can catch up to him. It might be harder than some folks think."

"Liston throws a long right hand, he continued. "He don't quite judge just right when he throws it and he's not close enough when he does. That's what we're trying to work on. He uses it a little too soon, instead of waiting until he gets in close."

Not in Same Class

He doesn't put Clay in a class with two of the best boxers he faced — namely Billy Conn and Bob Pastor.

McCool Signs Up With OS Cowboys

LEFORS (Spi) — Don "Squash" McCool today signed a pre-enrollment application to Oklahoma State University, announced football coach Dunny Goode.

Goode reported that McCool signed with OSU coach Willie Zapalac this morning.

The 185-pound McCool was a two-year, two-way all-district football star, playing fullback offense and linebacker on defense. He was named to the Pampa Daily News All-Top O' Texas team as a senior and to the Amarillo News All-Super Team as a junior.

McCool is a three-sport varsity athlete. He was also an all-district basketball player as a junior and is a very strong possibility to also repeat that honor this year, averaging 16 points a game.

MISS FLEMING HONORED

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Peggy Fleming, U.S. women's figure skating champion, has been named Southern California athlete of the month for January by the Helms Foundation.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Snow Plows and Drainage

There has been discussion in recent days of why a city the size of Pampa does not even own one snow plow.

Perhaps it is because Pampa doesn't have a 17-inch snowfall very often. Of course, Pampa can get bogged down in a five or six-inch snowfall.

Most of those who say Pampa should have a snow plow contend that the city ought to be prepared. Perhaps it could cut down enough on something else to pay for a snow plow.

One also hears discussion on why a city the size of Pampa does not have a storm sewer system.

Well, that would require some million dollar bond issues, they say.

Million dollar bond issues kick up the tax rate. People are always hollering for tax reductions, not tax hikes.

So, there are problems connected with buying snow plows and installing sewers to drain off the water.

If anybody has any easy solutions, we suspect city officials are open for suggestions.

Remember February 17, 1944?

Dinner will be late, but it will be served — and by an unexpected host — if the guests can be found.

On the night of February 17, 1944, with their carrier, the USS Intrepid in action off the island of Truk, 25 Navy fliers of the VF (N) 101 night fighter detachment scrawled their names on the label of a bottle of whiskey, vowing to drink a toast from it at a dinner 20 years hence and turned it over for safekeeping to Aviation Machinist's Mate 1c Charles F. Brunke.

Soon their planes were roaring off the battle-scarred deck. And soon the Intrepid was torpedoed. The group became separated. After a while Brunke was made Chief. After a long while, the war was over. Life changed for the fighters, and somewhat for everyone. The years began marching along.

But Brunke still had the autographed bottle and the 20-year compact was very much in his mind as the anniversary date approached. But he had no addressees. He confided (as people are wont to do) in a tavern-keeper friend and showed him the historic bottle of Imperial whiskey. Somehow, word passed up the line to the distiller's front office — and a nationwide search for the Squadron members was on.

Thusfar, the commanding officer and one of the pilots have been located. Commander "Swede" Kullberg, now retired, lives in San Diego; and Ensign Charles R. Durban, now a businessman, lives in Plandome, L. I. One of the group is known to have died. But Paul P. Fischer of Hiram Walker is determined the others will be found in time for a reunion dinner in May or June — for which his firm will pick up the tab.

The moral of this still unfinished story, we think, is that there is still sentiment in business as well as in battle — even in these days of automation, electronic brains, scientific research and efficiency engineers. Men drawn together in common cause do not need to face physical peril to understand brotherly love or to recognize nobility in their fellows. The French have a phrase that fits — "on whatever front men find themselves shoulder to shoulder — ESPRIT DE CORPS."

And by the way, if you were a member of that USS Intrepid squadron on the night of February 17 twenty years ago, write Mr. Fischer at P. P. Box 3382, Detroit 14, Mich.

Growing Conversation

Americans, who have been admonished in the past for being cultural illiterates, are reading more now and liking it better.

Results of a nationwide survey by the American Library Association show that consumption of both fiction and non-fiction is rising — at least according to reports from 84 library systems in cities of 35,000 to 40,000 population.

"It is apparent that Americans not only are reading more each year, they are reading more seriously and are selecting more significant literature," says David H. Clift, executive director of the ALA. In fiction, there was a shift during 1963 away from westerns and light romances toward historical, biographical, psychological, political and mystery novels.

In nonfiction, science and technology, health, travel, education, business and international affairs were favorite topics. Significantly, rather than competing with libraries for people's time, the communications media — newspapers, magazines, radio, television — have generated much of this new interest in serious reading.

Librarians credited coverage by mass media for a growing awareness of and interest in the world about them on the part of library patrons. Not only news stories but book reviews in newspapers and magazines stimulated demand for library materials.

Footnote of interest in an election year: Out of 30 libraries, 23 said this interest reflected a growing conservatism in their communities. Seven claimed it reflected a growing liberalism.

CHARACTER

Editor: Most everyone who lived in the Spatanga sandhills feared my Uncle Benedict Impiety. There was not one redeeming virtue in his character. His heart was as bitter as gyp water. He kicked dogs, hated little children, beat his wife, lied, cheated, stole, cursed before ladies and the only time he ever came close to the church house he set it on fire. He was a mean man.

His voice sounded like a band saw running into a pine knot and he never in his life was known to smile. To top all of this off he inherited a face that was so ugly that it made little children cry, though it must be admitted that the way he looked was not his fault.

Uncle Benedict increased his animal herd by moonlight — requesting his neighbors' stock. He was an expert at cleaning a chicken house out without letting one of them squawk. He was an altogether sneaky man. No one ever tried to take him to court because he was a very cunning man and vicious enough to use underhanded methods in getting even with anyone who might try to bring him to justice.

If some neighbor crossed him, he would poison the man's hogs, or shoot a cow in the side so that she would swell up and die. Everyone in the Spatanga sandhills tried to appease him by turning the other cheek, with the hope that he might be affected by Christian charity. It had no effect whatsoever, except to make him become bolder and, if possible, more hateful, deceiving and a bigger thief.

This went on for years and it looked as if he might take the whole community because no one dared offend him. But finally a medium-sized average looking fellow by the name of Shallnot Retreat rented the farm joining Uncle Benedict's land.

The first meeting between these two men took place on Shallnot Retreat's farm. Uncle Benedict rasped at him, "Want to tell yer something, feller. Not to never give me no lip. I be tough as a pine knot." Shallnot Retreat was not impressed. He took off his coat and calmly said, "Yep, and I can cut through you like a buzz saw." He proceeded to do just that and Spatanga was never bothered with Uncle Benedict again.

Now it appears to me that Communism has about the same type of character that Uncle Benedict had, and that their reaction to appeasement will be about the same as Uncle Benedict's was. We are going to have to call their hand either now, or at some later date. Perhaps when they are standing on our own turn-row.

Hassie Brewing in Senate Rules Committee Over Republican Demand for Early Grilling of 'Bobby' Baker

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — A stormy showdown is brewing at the next meeting of the Senate Rules Committee investigating the numerous operations and manipulations of "Bobby" Baker.

The three Republican committeemen will demand that a definite time be fixed for the long-delayed interrogation of the one-time Senate Democratic secretary.

Senator B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., chairman, has been against that. Supported by the other Democratic committeemen, he has contended that the wide-ranging charges against Baker should be thoroughly explored before he is subjected to grilling. Jordan has held this is the "orderly and fair way to proceed."

The Republicans argue that much of the exploratory ground has been covered and the time has come to get Baker's story "on the record under oath."

They propose to force a test on this at the committee's next meeting.

It's a toss-up whether they will get any further than they did several months ago when Senator John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., urged at a backstage session that Baker be summoned to "tell his story." Cooper maintained Baker should be given that opportunity in view of the many critical reports regarding him.

Senator Jordan vigorously opposed that because "it was too early" for such a confrontation, and Cooper's proposal was pigeonholed.

Recently, this column reported committee members as saying that Baker's attorneys were endeavoring to impose limitations on his testimony when he does appear before the investigators. According to these accounts, the lawyers want to specify the matters on which Baker would be grilled.

Unless that is done, the one-time high-powered Senate secretary might refuse to answer. As one committeeman expressed it, "Presumably, he would take the Fifth."

Republican committeemen are emphatically against any restrictions on the questioning of Baker. They insist on full and unhampered scope to interrogate him on anything. They point out no other witness has sought or been given special treatment, and they will determinedly resist any for Baker.

"If he wants to take the Fifth," said one committeeman, "that's up to him. If he wants that on his official record, that's his business. But the committee must have complete freedom of action. All witnesses are being treated the same, and he is no exception."

When Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who led the long Senate battle last year that slashed $500 million from the foreign aid program, rose, the President and his lieutenants were stony-faced. They knew they were in for a rough time, and Morse didn't disappoint them.

al leader, the President did not call on Senator Russell.

In addition to being an old and close friend, the astute Georgian is also chairman of the powerful Armed Services Committee and second in rank on the equally potent Appropriations Committee. But inexplicably, his influential views were not sought. The reason was learned later.

Getting wind of what the President contemplated, Russell had warned him that, if asked to speak, he would flatly oppose the plan. So the President played it safe.

He proposed a toast to "my old and cherished friend, Dick Russell." The latter cordially returned the compliment with a toast, "To the President."

Another surprise of this eventful gathering was the support given the President by four Republican leaders — Senators Karl Mundt, S.D., of the Foreign Relations Committee; John Sherman Cooper, Ky., of the Rules Committee; Gordon Allott, Colo., of the Appropriations Committee; and Representative Gerald Ford, Mich., of the Appropriations Committee.

Senator Stuart Symington, D-Mo., also sided with the President.

The dinner, which began around 8 p.m., concluded at midnight — after the President had taken his guests on a personally conducted tour of the upstairs living quarters of the White House and the mural-decorated swimming pool in the basement.

Senator George Aiken, Vt., senior Republican member of the Foreign Relations Committee, wryly divides government spending into three categories, as follows:

"First, expenditures to meet the essential costs of the government. Two, expenditures for investments, such as loans and other outlays that are repaid with interest. Three, money that is poured down rat-holes, chiefly in foreign countries throughout the world."

Representative Thomas Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and usually a down-the-line administration backer, unexpectedly kicked over the traces. Pleasantly but firmly, he declared the President's proposal was unacceptable and he wanted no part of it.

MORE REBUFFS — With this bombshell still reverberating, the President called on Representative Wayne Hays, D-O., who was even more scathing. The acid-tongued midwesterner took a hasty swipe at both the President's plan and Senator Fulbright.

By this time, the atmosphere of the White House dining room was icy and taut, and the next speaker made it even more so.

Representative Passman, long-time militant critic of large-scale foreign aid spending, ran true to form despite the President's hospitality. Passman announced he was unalterably opposed to the President's proposal, and would do everything in his power to defeat it.

When Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who led the long Senate battle last year that slashed $500 million from the foreign aid program, rose, the President and his lieutenants were stony-faced. They knew they were in for a rough time, and Morse didn't disappoint them.

East African 'States' Upholding Predictions

By ED DELANEY

The manner in which the United States is not halting the cold war against communism and Soviet influence throughout the world, is observed plainly in East Africa. Only a few short weeks ago this column referred to the semi-civilized celebrations that were staged in Zanzibar and Kenya when Prince Philip of Britain, acting for his wife, Queen Elizabeth, officially terminated British rule over those pieces of African real estate. Prince Philip told the local headmen, in effect, that they were now on their own to sink, swim or be taken under the benign protection of the Soviet Union.

Our ambulating assistant sec. of state for African affairs, B. Mennen "Soapy" Williams was an active participant in the synthetic "independence" festivities which were supposed to record the birth of the new self-determining African states. On the Washington scene, persons such as Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, rhapsodized on the incalculable benefits that would accrue to the world from the treasure-laden spice isles of Zanzibar and Pemba, now that they had shaken off the shackles of British colonialism. He conveyed the impression that it was the archaic and retrogressive policies of Western European "masters" which had until now, prevented the people of Zanzibar, Kenya, Tanganyika and other tribal tracts in Africa from attaining their full culture, self-government and rightful place in the history books and the United Nations.

This column recorded at the time, that the population of Zanzibar and Pemba is a composite of Africans, Asians and Arabs who have engaged in bloody racial and tribal wars since time immemorial. Now that the restraining authority and armed forces of Britain were removed, it was very likely those semi-civilized inhabitants would revert to the customs and feuds of their ancestors, to the peril of Europeans or Americans who remained there.

Within about a month that prediction was fulfilled. The Sultan Sir Bin Khalifa, who assumed the office of chief executive in Zanzibar was quickly deposed. A communist-conceived revolution took over what was euphemistically referred to as the government. Reports vary as to whether that takeover resulted in the slaying of 1,000 or 3,000 Arabs, Africans and Asians. The Peoples Republic of Zanzibar was proclaimed with the benediction of the Soviet. Diplomatic recognition was immediately accorded by Moscow, Red China, North Korea, Yugoslavia, East Germany as well as Kenya, Ghana, Ethiopia and other of the communist collaborating countries.

Americans and British were evacuated from Zanzibar, Tanganyika where another revolution flared into the shooting stage. The alacrity with which these new African "states" — pardon the word — are immediately officially recognized by the Soviet, leaves little doubt as to what subversive forces had been working there. Over six months ago this column reported from Europe, that authentic sources among the anti-communists in Munich, told of Red agents operating in virtually all East African areas. The main financial support for such a transition came from Yugoslavia. That is one of the countries highly regarded by our State Department and to which called "foreign aid" to the tent of hundreds of millions has been given. Much foreign means communist aid.

The rash of revolutions among the African tribes — let us be the sham of referring to them as "states" — may be charged to Soviet and Yugoslav agitators. Immediately Kenya proclaimed itself a "republic" also was announced that a Soviet agency had taken charge of the facilities for disseminating news. In Zanzibar the former member of the terror "Mau Mau" group, John Okelo named himself "field marshal" and immediately banned all American and British press representatives. Zanzibar and the other East African trouble spots are now part of the Red Network. This expansion Moscow's influence is due, no small measure, to the foreign policies of present and previous Washington administrations. They brought pressure bear on Belgium to end its colonial administration in the Congo. We are still paying through the U.N. for that tragedy. The State Department helped deprive the Netherlands of East India possessions and entrenched Red-collaborator karno. We have supported agitators who denounce Portuguese administration in Angola and Mozambique. Masking its designs under the slogan "Africa for the Africans," Moscow has successfully undermined European and American influence in most of Africa south of the Sahara. The Union of South Africa is the remaining tower of strength and hope for those who refuse to be deceived by the deliberate distortion of fact.

Wine Expert Found On University Staff

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — I recently learned that the University of California has on its faculty a professor of enology. "What is enology? I was hoping you would ask. It is defined in my dictionary as "knowledge or study of wines."

In California, I suppose, enology is regarded as a routine academic subject. For all I know, Californians begin learning enology at their mothers' knees.

But in other parts of the country, at least those parts I have inhabited, an enology professor is a bit out of the ordinary. So when one turned up here, I made it a point to meet him.

Chemical Warfare
The savant of the vineyards is Dr. Maynard A. Amerine, who, as an Army reserve officer, was putting in a two-week tour of duty at the Pentagon. His military specialty, as might be expected of a wine expert, is chemical warfare.

I asked the good doctor to tell me a bit about enology and he explained that the wine industry, like everything else, is rapidly becoming automated.

For instance, he said, Portugal is about the only wine-producing region in the world where they still jump on grapes. And even there the stompers will soon be replaced by mechanical crushers.

In order to keep abreast of the times, grape growers and wine makers in California require the services of university trained scientists, Amerine said. Which is where his department comes in.

If offers food science majors specialized instruction in the Russian Wheat Shipments Draw Heavy Protests

HOUSTON (UPI) — Pickets with signs saying "Starve Communism" and "Don't Feed Killers" paraded again Monday at the Port of Houston, protesting a shipment of wheat for Russia.

Longshoremen continued to work without interruption.

The pickets, 40 strong Sunday but numbering around 25 this morning, appeared at dawn at the old Manchester Dock No. 2, where the British freighter Inverve loaded wheat from the Continental Grain Co. sale to Russia. Many pickets had to leave to go to their jobs and by 8 a.m. there were only around a half-dozen left.

winery, arts, including a course in tasting.

Wine Appreciation
Amerine also teaches a course in wine appreciation as part of the university's adult education program. The tuition for that is $25, which includes the wine.

Although wine consumption in the United States is increasing, it has not kept pace with the population growth, Amerine noted. I could tell that he deplored it, too.

The wine industry can't possibly compete with the whisky industry on an alcohol basis, he said, because liquor is quicker. Also cheaper.

Therefore, he said, wine producers must appeal to those who "find in wine a sort of civilized relaxation."

My interview with the enology professor took place during lunch and I trust I am not telling tales out of school when I report what beverage he ordered.

If it wasn't beer, it was the first wine I ever saw with a head of foam.

THERE AUTO BE MUSIC—James Tamburini of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra has his trumpet oiled before playing "Concerto for Autoharp in Four Flats—All Punctures" at a tune-up session. His and a number of other instruments were made entirely of auto parts and will be used at the Ford Motor Company's Pavilion at the New York World's Fair. They were designed by Walt Disney associates and will show the relationship of one auto component to another, as compared to the interplay of musical instruments. They make "music," too.

Roberts Sees Import Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Ray Roberts, D-Tex., said Monday he had assurances the administration "is hopeful of announcing in the near future" a reduction of beef imports from Australia and New Zealand.

Roberts reported in a statement that if such an announcement was made it would be the result of voluntary action following negotiations with the two countries.

The Texan noted that protective tariff duties or import quotas would be extremely difficult to obtain because of urban fears of a rise in meat prices. He added that in recognition of efforts by the United States to obtain lower tariffs on its own agriculture products, "there is little hope our cattlemen can find relief from this source."

MONKEY BUSINESS
GOTHENBURG, Sweden (UPI) — An exhibit of blue-toned paintings by artist Pierre Brassau received considerable praise from art critics here, Sunday, the critics received some bad news — they learned that Brassau really is Peter, a chimpanzee in the local zoo.
