FBI Quiz Asked in Shooting by Woman

Writer-Heiress Held After Airport Shots

By HENRY SMITH

DALLAS (UPI) — A free lance writer-heiress, blabbering charges of "Communist" and "Mafia," Wednesday night fired a gun wildly at an airline passenger she believed was Gordon McLendon, a candidate for the U.S. Senate.

McLendon, who was not near the airport, asked U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy for a federal investigation "into an attempt upon the life of a federal candidate."

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Stone, 47, was knocked to the ground and disarmed. Police said charges of assault with intent to kill would be filed today. Police Lt. E. L. Cunningham said she was "pretty well emotionally disturbed."

W.W. Dyer, 48, of Dallas was about 15 feet from the woman when the shot was fired. The .32 caliber weapon jammed when she tried to shoot again. The bullet went wild and Dyer, whom she had mistaken for McLendon, boarded his flight for Chicago.

McLendon, of Dallas, faces Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate. McLendon owns several broadcast stations across the nation and has oil, real estate and theater interests.

Mrs. Stone told police she had never seen McLendon, but that she understood he was "head of the Mafia and the Cosa Nostra" in Dallas. Detective Harvey Totten said the woman told him she wanted to shoot McLendon because "he is a Communist."

McLendon said the bizarre event was "fantastic." He said "I am so happy the gentleman she shot at was not hurt."

The candidate said the woman had been to his downtown Dallas office earlier in the day, but he didn't know why she had called. He said she had appeared at the office several times, but each time he was gone.

Denver Executive Addresses Congressional Action Group

By TEX DEWESE

Government encroachment on private enterprise and rights of individuals was hit hard in a speech here this morning by Robert E. Riley, district manager of the Denver office of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Riley pulled no punches as he addressed an audience attending a breakfast meeting sponsored by the local chamber's legislative and national affairs committee in Coronado Inn.

The speaker challenged government for its ever-increasing activities in the field of welfare programs, civil rights, forced taxation, increased spending and charged the politicians with continually searching for new avenues of revenue.

"Our government ought to act more as a referee than a player," Riley said.

He stated that he and his organization, the national chamber of commerce, believes in limited government, individual freedom and free economic growth in a competitive market. "The government should not overdo the welfare business," he said. "What is needed is individual dignity. Instead, we are creating a non-working unemployment group, the members of which find it easier to accept government doles than to go to work."

Riley declared that there are 7.3 million persons now in that category in the United States.

"We are in the third generation of public welfare and relief," he said. "There are many high school students today who know little but relief."

Riley told of a question period where high school students, when asked what they planned to do after graduation, some said they wanted to get out of school and get on relief.

Pointing out that this was the wrong kind of atmosphere being created over the nation, Riley said:

"The only thing we should guarantee to anyone is the opportunity to the right of success."

"Another thing — right of choice is a basic part of our everyday life and should be weighed against some of the present legislation. This is true of the right of private property which is slipping away."

Riley attacked the civil rights bill and charged that its passage will signal more disturbances in that field than the country ever has seen.

The speaker also stated that the tax bill near passage by Congress was not what most people thought it to be.

"This tax bill is not going to be what you think it is," Riley said. "And the civil rights bill is going to take away many of your rights to manage your own affairs and control your own property."

"We should have the right to control our own property and businesses within the concept where it does not interfere with the rights of others."

"I believe government should exist for the people — not people exist for the government."

Riley also slapped at government attempts to place further restrictions on foreign trade, which he said stifles the competitive market and free trade.

Returning to the welfare programs sponsored by government, Riley pointed out that during the last 10 years 70 per cent of the people on social security are also covered by their own insurance.

"If you earn more than $3,000 a year," he said, "you are paying taxes to take care of all the rest of the people who earn less than that."

Riley made an indirect reference to the recent statement of President Johnson that "we are going to take money we think is being unnecessarily spent and take it from the haves and give it to the have-nots that need it so much."

"That seems to be the theme," Riley said. "Take from the haves and give to the have-nots."

"In the end," he concluded, "our free enterprise system produces profits, and 'profit' is an honorable word because it pays all the taxes which the government uses to do these things."

The breakfast speaker was introduced by Don Lane, chairman of the chamber's legislative and national affairs committee. The committee's next breakfast meeting is scheduled for Thursday, March 5.

Ruby Speaks Up For First Time, 'Yes, Your Honor'

DALLAS (UPI) — Accused killer Jack Ruby, who ordinarily sits quietly and watches the fireworks at his murder trial, Wednesday got in three words. "Yes, your honor," Ruby said.

It was the first time he addressed the court. He consented to the release of 430 veniremen who were believed in excess of those needed to form a jury for Ruby's trial.

Record High Amount Sought for Defense

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House was asked today to approve a record $18.9 billion defense authorization bill which includes millions for design of a new bomber which the administration has not sought and may not spend.

Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., of the House Armed Services Committee was set to lead the fight on the House floor for the new bomber, which would replace aging B52s and B58s in the 1970s.

The annual legislation is the authorization to provide the

Pampa CofC Sets Joint Panel Parley

A joint meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, members of the industrial committee and members of the merchants activities committee has been called for 10 a.m. Friday.

The session will be in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn and will be for the purpose of discussing the organization of an Industrial Foundation in Pampa, Aubrey Steele, Chamber president, said today.

Steele declared that no one would be asked for a contribution or investment in the foundation at this time, but the meeting is for informational purposes only.

Steele urged the public to attend and said the affair should not last more than 45 minutes to an hour.

Need for such a foundation was discussed last Saturday during the announcement that a new industry was to be constructed here.

At that time, chamber officials said the foundation idea was still in the planning stages, but as much information as possible would be presented within the next few days.

The industrial committee held a meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Chamber offices to determine what plans and ideas could be presented at the public session set for Friday.

The Chamber president and other officials have called the foundation "what Pampa needs to continue to move forward."

IT'S TALENT TIME AGAIN — Jim Edminister shuffles away with a song and dance number from the 1963 edition of the Pampa Lions Club Minstrel show as rehearsals for the 27th annual talent show continue to grow. This year's program will be based on action aboard a Mississippi River steamer from which the great musical "Showboat" was born. The minstrel show is set for March 12-13 at the Pampa Junior High auditorium. Rehearsals are being held Tuesday and Thursday nights at the music room of Pampa High School. (See story on Page 3).

Warmer Weather Due on Heels of Blowing Snow

Today's snow flurries should mean just that... flurries, with more expected and warmer weather tomorrow figured to be it away.

The Amarillo Weather Bureau reported that today's cool front of cloudiness, which brought a reported inch of snow in the area this morning and a drizzle in the rest of the area, was slated to stop, and the weather, although cold, would be near 40 tomorrow.

Pampa police and Gray County Sheriff's departments reported no dangerous conditions in the area, although advising motorists to drive with caution because of slippery spots, and occasional icy patches. Clouds also covered extreme South Texas, but elsewhere it was fair and cool.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the front had little immediate effect on temperatures. It was expected to trigger light snow or rain in Northwest Texas throughout the day and showers along the coast tonight as it moved southward.

Overnight low temperatures ranged from 22 degrees at Dalhart to 32 at Corpus Christi. The cloud cover kept Panhandle readings about five degrees warmer than Wednesday's lows. Gusty winds whipped Central and East Texas Wednesday. Laredo had the day's highest reading of 72 degrees, compared with a maximum of 51 at Amarillo.

On the national front, winter's latest tempest blew out over the Atlantic today but its backwash sent light snow drifting down the Ohio Valley. The storm stacked up 20-inch snows and 8-foot drifts in Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Another storm center started to move across the Northern Plains today after dropping 2 inches of new snow at Trinidad, Colo.

Seven persons were injured Wednesday when a bus spun out of control on a slushy highway near Deer Lodge, Mont., during a blizzard-force storm.

Today's lowest temperature reported to the U.S. Weather Bureau was 7 below zero at Bemidji, Minn. Wednesday's high was 85 at Thermal and Palm Springs, Calif.

Leaders Confident On Tax Cut Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional leaders were confident today the $11.5 billion tax bill would be on President Nixon's desk by the middle of next week to provide an early March pay-check boost for millions of wage earners.

The final compromise version of the biggest tax cut in U.S. history was cleared by a House-Senate conference committee Wednesday — almost 13 months after the late President in F. Kennedy proposed to move the brakes "of high time federal tax rates, House leaders planned to allow an hour of debate and pass a bill next Tuesday. The date was to follow suit the day or Wednesday. Final approval by both chambers assured.

When fully effective in 1965, average taxpayer will enjoy about a 19 per cent tax cut — the first major reduction in federal income taxes since 1913, the take-home pay of earners will increase an average of $4.50 a week eight months after the bill is signed.

into law when payroll withholding rates drop from 18 to 14 per cent.

Johnson is anxious to see this $27 billion a day in greater consumer spending start flowing into the economy as early as possible this election year.

The compromise bill which emerged from the House-Senate conference group after four days of bargaining gave the new Chief Executive about all that he wanted.

It provides top-to-bottom cuts in tax rates for about 51 million taxpayers in all income brackets. Another 1.5 million would be removed from the tax rolls altogether through more liberal tax treatment of low-income persons.

A single taxpayer, for example, earning $5,000 a year will pay $147 less taxes when the program is fully effective. A married couple with two children, $10,000 a year income and typical itemized deductions, will have the tax bill reduced by $233 a year.

Two-thirds of the tax reduction bill will be effective this year, retroactive to Jan. 1. The remainder will go into effect Jan. 1, 1965. The cuts do not apply to taxes due now on 1963 income.

Slender Hopes Held For Ocean Survivors

NEW YORK (UPI) — A pinpoint of light sighted by a search plane near the foundering British freighter Ambassador held out slender hope today that some of the missing crewmen who took to life rafts two days ago may yet be alive in the stormy North Atlantic.

Twenty other crew members were rescued from the flooded and heavily listing Ambassador Wednesday, and the body of the freighter's captain was recovered.

The U. S. Coast Guard cutter Coos Bay continued to search the sea 600 miles off Halifax, N. S. for the missing seamen. They were presumed drowned before a Canadian plane reported seeing a blip of light on the ink-black sea Wednesday night.

Called Off Search "Final disposition of all life rafts now prime importance," Coast Guard headquarters in New York radioed the Coos Bay.

U. S. and Canadian aircraft were called off the search early today because of unfavorable weather conditions. Rain and lightning lashed the area with visibility reduced to one mile. Wind was at 22 knots and waves were 10 to 15 feet — considerably diminished from when the sea men abandoned the freighter.

The cutter concentrated its search pattern six miles north of the Ambassador's abandoned hull where the flashing light was seen.

Before the light was sighted, the Coos Bay had released three commercial vessels from the search.

In Good Condition The 20 survivors from the Ambassador, which flooded and lost power Tuesday while en route to Britain with a cargo of wheat, were rescued Wednesday by daring Norwegian merchant seamen and U. S. Coast Guardsmen. All were reported in good condition today — nine aboard the Norwegian freighter Fruen and 12 on the Coos Bay.

Pampa in Final Stretch for Two Deathless Years Forty days to go. Pampa today went into the final stretch of "sweating" out a two-year period in which no one has died on city streets.

And Police Chief Jim Conner is counting the days, hours and minutes on his fingers and toes as the time flies along.

The last traffic death in the city occurred March 21, 1962. Conner is worried, however, because instead of having to wait a normal two-year (730-day) period, a Leap Year is involved, forcing the safety record to be an additional 24 hours off.

The big red circle around March 31 is getting closer and Conner is getting happier, but he hasn't uncrossed his fingers yet.

Museum Experts Say Masterpiece of Hurt in Theft

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — Museum experts today examined a priceless 17th century painting by Flemish master Peter Paul Rubens to see if it was damaged during the two days it was held by a thief.

Andre Beugnies, 19, an unemployed youth who failed to complete high school, was arrested Wednesday and police said he confessed stealing the painting early Monday morning and trying to obtain $17,000 ransom for it.

The painting, "Negro and Slave," which appears on Belgian 50-franc notes, was recovered Wednesday night at home of Beugnies' grandfather, where the youth lived, appeared to be undamaged.

Oil Allowable Held Steady

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Texas Railroad Commission today held the March allowable for Texas crude oil steady at 29 per cent of potential production.

The action, leaving the allowable the same as this month's, sets the March allowable at 2,893,222 barrels daily. The March percentage maintains Texas' proration level at its highest point in a year.

The commission estimated the allowable would result in actual production of 2,531,822 barrels daily after allowing for normal under-production.

Nine of the 12 companies making purchase nominations recommended a factor allowable of 28 or 29 per cent.

Chase Blues with New Hairdo

Dear Abby...

It All Depends on the Answers You Can Give!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Would you get mad if someone asked you if you were wearing something false?

DEAR ABBY: Only if I were.

DEAR ABBY: I am on the verge of losing my senses. A neighbor of ours has become a pigeon fancier and he is literally driving me insane. Those birds are so dirty I can't even hang my laundry outside. And I am forever hosing down my sidewalk. Parking my car in my own driveway is out of the question. There must be 50 or 60 pigeons, and this man and his wife feed them popcorn and bread all day long. I just can't take it any more. I have heard that pigeons carry disease. Is this true? Is there anything I can do? I hate to be a poor neighbor, but this is too much.

special breeding ground where pigeons are kept under control. Call your local health department.

DEAR ABBY: My brother and his wife are the world's biggest tightwads. They have no children and are both holding down good paying jobs. They pulled a few strings and got a heating system for their home—wholesale. Then they talked my husband, who is a crack furnace and air-conditioning man, into installing it for them. When he finished the job, they said, "Thanks a lot." Don't you think my husband was entitled to something for his time? He wouldn't have charged them his regular price, but he wasn't given one dime! How's that for cheap? I would give them a piece of my mind, but we aren't speaking.

MAD AS HOPS
DEAR MAD: Before anyone performs a service (be it for a relative or his best friend), there should be an agreement on price. Your brother is cheap—but your husband should have learned a cheap lesson.

Got the midwinter blues? How about a changeabout coiffure, one you can do yourself? You will be surprised how much a new hairdo can brighten your spirits.

All you need are a few rollers and clips and a self-styling hair spray. Once you get the hang of it, you can change your hairdo in a few minutes.

To start, spray your hair, holding the container about seven inches away from your head. Change the line of your coil with a brush and comb. You can reset a few sections to add a wave or a curve. The spray will dampen your hair enough for this and will dry in 15 minutes.

Want to change your long, straight hairstyle to a high-rise hairdo for a more formal look? To do this, brush your hair thoroughly and spray it lightly. With comb and brush, pull all your hair to the crown and gather it securely with a rubber band. Separate the ends into strands and set each on a shortie roller. Spray each strand before winding. Place the rollers vertically like spoons in a circle. When dry, remove the rollers. With hair still tightly held by the rubber band, comb each strand and gently twist it into a loopy curve. Pin into place for your up-do.

If your hair is short or medium length, don't despair. You can change it, too. If you now have a smooth cap style, spray your hair and set on rollers all over the head. In the brushout, lift the hair from underneath your brush. With the handle of a rat-tail comb, lift out the strands and petal them down.

Changing hairdos lifts the spirits during gloomy winter days. Using self-styling hairspray, rollers, brush and comb, the model here shows change from long, casual hairstyle to a flattering up-do. She begins by spraying (top left) and then gathers all her hair to the crown. It is held by a rubber band and then she sets the ends (top right) on shortie rollers placed vertically like spoons in a circle. When dry, she combs through each strand (bottom left) and twists it into a loopy curve. Each strand is pinned in place and voilà! (bottom right) a sleek new coiffure.

A medium-length page-boy gains a flippant look when you wind the ends of your hair on rollers—all turning up.

Or you can spray and brush all the front hair to be back, pin it in place and set the ends on medium rollers. When dry, brush out a bustle back of curls.

The changes are endless and will give you and your friends something to talk about besides the weather, these end-of-winter weeks.

The president announced the Dad's Night date as March 5. Room visitation will be from 7-8 p.m. and the Baker choir will present the program in the auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Mrs. Willa McDaniel led the group in the meditation.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Los Angeles—Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It feels like nothing on but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available in our area at

Zoo Keeper's

Death Poses

Dalhart Worry

Dalhart, Tex. (UPI) —

What to do about the zoo? — that is the question.

This Panhandle city has been left with a zoo and unless someone turns up fast the animals will have to move.

W. P. Gumper started the menagerie five years ago. He collected more than 100 birds, animals and reptiles. The zoo is now the largest between Fort Worth and Colorado Springs, Colo.

Gumper died Feb. 7. His wife is unable to care for the animals.

His son, Forrest Gumper, the new owner of the zoo said "I have my own business and I'm unable to help."

The younger Gumper said he hopes the zoo can stay in Dalhart.

The Chamber of Commerce is hoping too.

"We've had about 10 applications for the job of caretaker," said David Noble, chamber president.

Offers to buy the animals have come in from the Dallas and Fort Worth zoos but local animal lovers are trying to keep them in Dalhart.

Smith Discusses Education Funds

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Texas may in the near future have a $1 billion annual budget for education, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith has predicted.

Smith spoke to some 300 members of the annual County Judges and Commissioners Conference at Texas A & M University Tuesday.

He said "The very foundation of sound government is in the courthouses of our 254 counties — and not in the halls of Congress along the Potomac River."

MORE BILLS

MARKET HARBOROUGH, England (UPI) — Twelve hours after the bill arrived for the re-decoration of Mrs. Barbara Kimpton's kitchen, fire destroyed the room.

TO ACQUIRE ASSETS

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Agreement for the acquisition of the assets of Standard Magnesium & Chemical Co. by Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. has been reached it was announced Tuesday. The move is subject to ratification by Standard stockholders.

WHAT'S DOWN UNDERNEATH—Part of what may be the "hottest" communications system anywhere, these underground cables and switching stations at California's Pacific Missile Range shiver and shake under the shattering force of each blast-off. The communications cables, lying in shelves arranged along the walls of a long tunnel that connects the control blockhouse with the rocket launch pad, are specially braced against shocks and insulated to withstand the tremendous heat.

— Quotes In The News —

DALLAS — Melvin Bell, defense attorney for Jack Ruby, confident that Ruby's murder trial will be moved from Dallas after the first round of selecting a jury ended: "I'm as sanguine as I was originally that the case will be proved and should be moved."

LOS ANGELES — Federal Court Judge William G. East, answering a defense attorney who strongly protested the flight to Europe of Frank Sinatra Jr. while the trial of his three accused kidnapers was going on: "Mr. (Morris) Lavine, I can put a stop to all this show on your part."

MADISON, Wis. — Alabama Gov. George Wallace, commenting on civil rights pickets who chanted and sang hymns where he spoke at the University of Wisconsin:

"I enjoyed the singing."

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers, explaining why AFL-CIO leaders favor Sen. Stephen Young, D-Ohio, in his coming primary duel with astronaut John Glenn: "The choice is simple. Young's a helluva good senator and Glenn's a helluva good astronaut."

TITUSVILLE, Fla. — Florida East Coast Railway Vice President Winfred L. Thornton, commending four young boys who disarmed a dynamite bomb on the tracks seconds before a freight train passed: "Whatever we do to show our appreciation for their heroic feat will be entirely inadequate."

OIL SEARCH COSTLY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Looking for new supplies of oil and gas can be a costly venture long before a single well is drilled, according to the American Petroleum Institute. The work of oil industry geologists and geophysicists costs about $300 million a year, it says.

Bandit Robs Houston Bank of $7,000 Cash

HOUSTON (UPI) — A bandit robbed the First City National Bank of Houston of approximately $7,000 Wednesday, while a parade of Western-Clad Houstonians crowded the sidewalk to watch the annual parade.

The FBI said the man, wearing dark glasses and described "average in every way," fled into the bank from the sidewalk, approached a teller and pulled a .32 revolver. He demanded money, and the teller handed over a roll of bills believed to total $7,000.

When he turned and walked away, pushing his way through a crowd for a getaway on the sidewalk, a police officer described the gunman as a white man, 29 to 35 years old and around five feet, six inches tall, with dark brown hair. He wore dark clothing — a blue or black shirt with a white collar, dark pants.

Police were not notified of the robbery at the city's biggest parade for more than an hour after it was reported, but they got a quick call on the radio.

The Lighter Side

Togetherness A-OK; Altogetherness Nixed

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A U. S. president automatically becomes a style setter. When the president does something, it usually starts a fashion, a fad or a trend.

President Johnson has made the hat people happy not only by wearing a hat but by giving them away to distinguished guests at his ranch. The hat people figure that this is bound to stimulate sales. The theory is that a lot of men who haven't been wearing hats will now go out and buy one. One hat maker has even brought out an LBJ model, which is a three-gallon version of the Texas 10-gallon hat.

Delights Dance People. By the same token, the President has delighted the dance people by dancing at White House social functions, on one occasion gliding around the floor with 30 different partners. The theory is that this will inculcate a desire to trip the light fantastic in a lot of men who have previously done nothing more graceful than trip over light cords.

I expect that some enterprising dance studio will shortly come forth with an LBJ Waltz, an LBJ fox trot or an LBJ twist. It also has been reported that President Johnson occasionally swims in the White House pool "au naturel," as the French say. It will be interesting to see what the effect of that will be. Presumably, it will cause the bathing suit people to start sending up distress signals the way the hat people used to do when President Kennedy neglected to wear a head piece.

Yields To Pressure. Kennedy yielded to the pressure from the hat people to the extent of carrying a hat in his hand. Perhaps Johnson can mollify the bathing suit people by keeping a pair of trunks under his arm when he takes a dip. It is, of course, entirely possible that this particular presidential practice will fail to develop into a nationwide trend. At least, I fervently hope so.

Not all of us have private pools, like the one at the White House. For instance, I get my aquatic exercise in one of the so-called community pools that have been springing up in the suburbs in recent years. If fashion so dictates, I might buy a three-gallon hat for evening wear. I might even, under extreme duress, get out on the dance floor. But spare me the sight of a bunch of suburbanites splashing around in their birthday bikinis. Togetherness, yes. Altogetherness, no.

French Singers Due in Pampa Saturday

One of Europe's finest young singing groups, eight Frenchmen, will present their wares at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Pampa Junior High School auditorium.

The Varel and Bailly Chanters de Paris singing group will appear under sponsorship of the Pampa Community Concert Association.

Admission will be by membership only, Mrs. M. McDaniel, association publicity chairman said today.

The Varel and Bailly group is currently conducting a tour across the United States and Canada and has rolled up "terrific raves" in most show business papers and trade magazines.

The group will be offering the second concert of the current season in Pampa. The third, and final, concert will be presented on April 13 with the artist to be named.

The Friday night concert will present an entertaining act which was conceived and produced by the internationally famous song-writing team, Andre Varel and Charly Bailly, who are referred to as "Rodgers and Hammerstein of France."

The pair has written more than 200 songs, not only for their own company, but for such stars as Lena Horne, Edith Piaf, Patachou, Jacqueline Francois, Genevieve, Lucienne Boyer and others.

Bailly appears with this company of eight ebullient young Frenchmen and keeps the festivities going at a pace designed to permeate the audience with a feeling of joy and satisfaction. Their formula is quite simple on the surface — they thoroughly enjoy what they are doing — and manage to transmit their enthusiasm, whether they are singing a nostalgic ballad about tulip-time ("When You Wore A Tulip") or cavorting melodically with a stuffed dummy of the Charleston era ("La Grande Coco").

Their first North American concert tour took place in 1957-58 and each season has extended in time and number of engagements. Last season they were booked for 65 concerts in a 13 week tour commencing January 6, 1963. This season the tour begins on February 1 and their bookings so far carry them to May 6, 1964.

In their introduction to America in 1956-57 the Varel and Bailly Chanters De Paris triumphed in all fields of entertainment. They have had two four-week engagements at the Waldorf-Astoria's Empire Room, three weeks at the Plaza Hotel's Persian Room, 11 weeks at the Tropicana in Las Vegas, weeks and weeks in the most important hotels in Palm Beach, Chicago, Miami, Puerto Rico, Montreal, New Orleans, etc. and guest appearances on television with the Ed Sullivan, Patrice Munsell and Gary Moore shows.

Their magnificent voices, the highly imaginative and intense rhythmic approach to music, their wonderful stage effects — these are the things responsible for bringing this French singing group to Pampa.

Hats, gloves, tri-colored handkerchiefs give each song its particular surprise — but the Chanters' greatest appeal lies in their imitable joie de vivre which has inspired both critics and public alike to acclaim them as "one of the best singing groups to be heard in America in years."

Hootenanny at PHS Breaks Out Tomorrow

It's hootenanny time at Pampa High School Friday night and two groups of local folk music "experts" will spotlight the windup of TWIRP week at the school.

The Rejects and the Hassell Trio will get things off to a "foot-stomping" good time at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the school cafeteria as the student body puts the finishing touches to "The Woman Is Requested To Pay" week.

The six youths will entertain at the Hootenanny style dance which is open to all high school students and dates — in this case, the girls' bringing the boys.

The Rejects is a trio composed of Hank Henry, Larry Johnson and Phil Smith while the Hassell Trio is composed of Raymond Hassell, Keith Reimer and Mike Russell.

Richard Fatheree, chairman of TWIRP Week events, said a small charge of 25 cents per person would be made at the door of the dance.

The high school student urged fellow students to "turn out for the dance and help make the end of TWIRP Week as big a success as the rest of the week has been this year.

East Germans Stirring Old Berlin Stew

BERLIN (UPI) — West Berlin newspapers said today the Communist East German government was "stirring the same old stew" with its offer to open the anti-refugee wall to West Berliners on a regular basis.

Acting East German Premier Willy Stoph offered in a television broadcast Tuesday night to issue passes to West Berliners to visit relatives in East Berlin at Christmas, New Year, Easter and Pentecost and in cases of family urgency.

He made it clear the passes would have to be issued by East German officials operating in West Berlin. This setup was used during the Christmas season when 1.2 million West Berliners visited relatives behind the wall but the West German government and Western Allies considered it a mistake which undermined the legal position of West Berlin.

Stoph appealed to West Berliners to assert their "right of self-determination against the massive interference from Bonn." He placed the blame for the current deadlock in pass negotiations on "the embittered enmity" of Christian Democratic leaders in Bonn.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, whose administration accepted the Christmas pass offer, conferred with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in Bonn Tuesday and then said he would not permit Communist pass officials in West Berlin again.

NOTHING FOR FREE
MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—University of Wisconsin students are going to learn at least one thing in college — nothing is for free.

A spokesman for the telephone company said it was checking more than 2,000 long distance phone calls made when the campus telephone system went out of kilter. Students who thought they were getting "free" long distance calls will be billed.

READY FOR PAMPA CONCERT — Showing off the ebullient Chanters de Paris singers is Charley Bailly, center, who is one of the founders of the latest singing rage in Europe. The seven other young men and Bailly will appear at 8 p.m. Friday at the Pampa Junior High Auditorium under sponsorship of the Pampa Community Concert Association. The event is the second concert of the current season and admittance is by membership only.

INDIAN ROLE

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Director Raoul Walsh has cast a Navajo Indian, John Shoniney of New Mexico, for the role of "White Cloud" in "A Distant Trumpet."

Troy Donohue and Suzanne Pleshette co-star in the movie.

MADE GOOD

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Because of its rousing success as a movie, "Flipper," the story of a boy and his pet dolphin, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will convert the film into a half-hour television series for the 1964-65 season.

TRUCK VS. COPTER—One of the oddest accidents of recent days took place in Lydd, Kent. One of the helicopters taking part in a construction steel lift collided with a parked cement mixer.

House Members Unshaken Over Supreme Court Ruling on Seats

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House members declined to panic this week at a Supreme Court ruling which by implication could jeopardize most of their seats. Some reform backers even called it a welcome decision.

In a landmark 6-3 decision Monday the high court said congressional districts had to be "as nearly as practicable" equal in population. Specifically, it said those in Georgia were not and ordered a three-judge court in Atlanta to take steps to bring them in balance.

The Georgia Legislature already is hard at work on this question, under pressure of a citizens suit that claimed the ballots of voters in Atlanta are worth only a third as much as those in the state's least populous congressional district.

So the order may not have to be carried out there. But dissenting Justice John M. Harlan noted that 37 of the 50 states, with 398 of the 435 House seats, also are open to action on the ground their districts are not evenly drawn.

It was the court's first decision directly affecting the makeup of congressional districts. The first reaction of many House members who might be affected was to wait and see what, if anything, happens.

One Democratic leader said he believed nothing much could take place before this year's congressional elections and that the effect two years from now could be merely to put a few more states on an "at-large" election basis.

Eight states currently elect their House members from the state at large, either where there is only one member or where the legislature has not divided the state into districts. Members generally view with distaste the prospect of state-wide campaigns and elections.

Justice Potter Stewart joined Harlan in his dissent on the court's ruling. Justice Tom C. Clark filed a separate dissenting opinion.

Harlan said that the majority decision written by Justice Hugo L. Black, could "put in jeopardy if not invalidate" 398 present House seats. He noted that only 22 congressmen were elected at large in 1962, and only in five other states, which elected 15 House members, was the population difference between the largest and smallest districts less than 100,000.

"I had not expected to witness the day when the Supreme Court of the United States would render a decision which casts grave doubt on the constitutionality of the composition of the House of Representatives," Harlan said.

Black said it might not be possible to set up congressional districts with "mathematical precision" as to population. But he said that was "no excuse for ignoring our Constitution's plain objective of making equal representation for equal numbers of people the fundamental goal for the House of Representatives."

The Black decision was based solely on the part of the Constitution relating to election of the U.S. House of Representatives. He did not go into arguments dealing with malapportionment of state legislatures.

The court is expected to set guidelines in this area in cases now under advisement from New York, Alabama, Virginia, Maryland and Delaware. Decisions are not expected until after arguments on a Colorado case scheduled for March.

Wilkinson Alters Name To Just Bud

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Charles Burman Wilkinson had his name legally changed Tuesday to just plain Bud.

Most folks already called him Bud Wilkinson, the name he used while becoming the nation's most successful college football coach at the University of Oklahoma. Bud's aim now is to get voters to mark an "X" behind his name.

Wilkinson, who quit coaching and announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate, was expected to file formally next week. His tenure as soccer athletic director ends Saturday.

The coach also resigned from the position of special consultant to President Johnson on the national physical fitness program.

The final step, before formally entering politics, was to change the famous nickname into a legal name that can appear on the ballot.

'64 Corvair Monza by Chevrolet

It's got a frisky new engine

(that puts superior traction under you)

Some cars do their best out on the highway. Others seem tailor-made for driving on city streets.

Then there's Corvair—that gets along just great most anywhere. Swishing along a highway. Scouring around in traffic. Or wading through a soggy trail.

Take highway driving. Corvair's got a bigger new engine with horsepower up nearly 19% in the standard version. But in case figures don't impress you, just wait until you head a Corvair for some faraway places. You'll get the message.

Take city driving. Corvair's trim size, light steering (because the engine weight's in the rear) and flat cornering make anything from rush-hour driving to parking a cinch. Take back-road driving. The weight of Corvair's engine bearing down on the rear wheels gives them remarkable gripping power on most any kind of surface, whether it's loose, solid, dry, wet—or even snow covered.

Something else you can take note of, too: There's no radiator to overheat or run dry. No hoses to check or replace. No need for antifreeze. The engine's air cooled, the brakes self-adjusting. Beginning to sound like a car you can really warm up to? Then there's only one thing left to take: a ride in one at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Pampa Continues Cage Season At Hobbs Meet

Pampa basketball players will play in three more games this season, playing at the Hobbs, N. Mex. Junior Varsity Basketball Tournament.

Coaches Terry Culley and Royval are taking a mixture of seniors, sophomores and Shockers to play in the Friday tournament, which will open Friday afternoon and close with the championship finals at 8:30 Saturday afternoon.

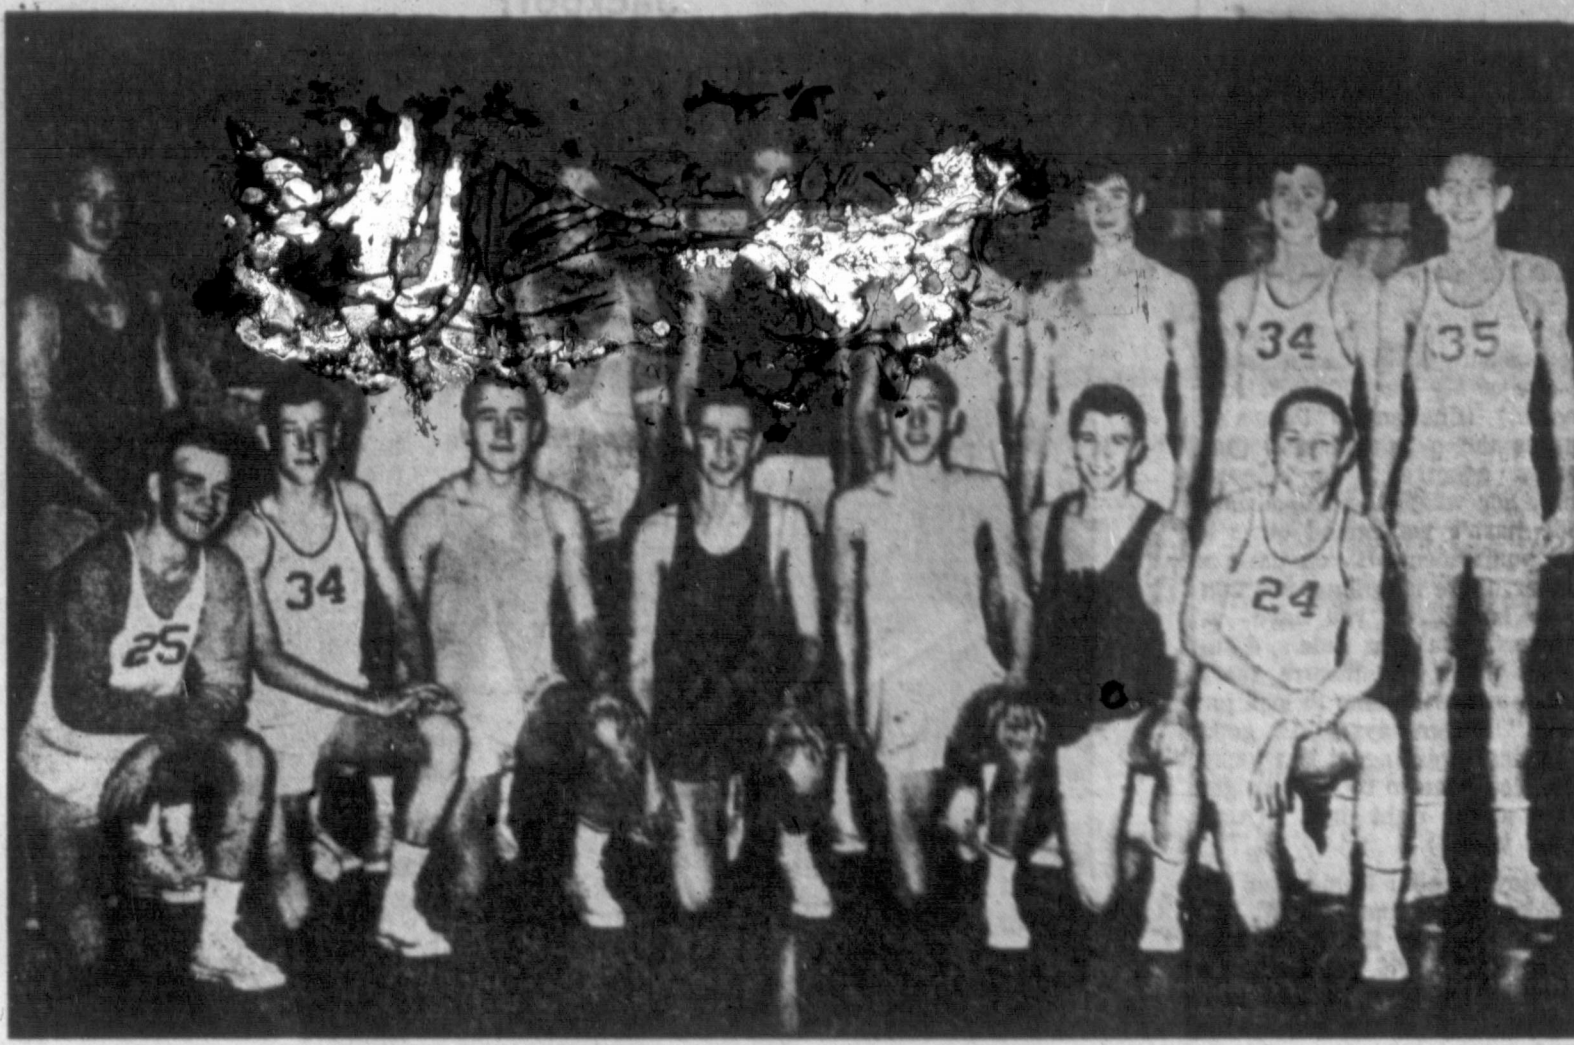

Culley said that he had not completely decided on his roster but would take about 12 players to the meet, "depending on who hustles the most in practice before we go."

At other Texas teams are competing in the meet, Borger's pups and Andrews. Borger has two hairbreadth games to Shockers this past season, then handed them their first defeat of the season in overtime. Andrews, a Triple-A school, is not expected to be much of a threat.

Host Hobbs will put two teams on the field, a Jayvee and a B team. "Hobbs is always tough and they're the host, they have to be considered the favorites. I don't know which of their two teams is the stronger, but we play the B team in our first game, we'll find out then."

Roswell has a very strong varsity, currently in the playoffs, and their Jayvees are expected to be highly-rated, as is Carlsbad, which is usually pretty tough, according to the Pampa coaches.

Opening games Friday pit Roswell against Andrews at 1 p.m., Pampa and Hobbs B at 2:45, Borger and Lovington at 4:15 and Hobbs JV and Carlsbad at 6:30. Losers play the first consolation round the following morning, with finals that afternoon. Winners play Saturday afternoon, the battle for third place is at 7 that night and the championship finals at 8:30.

Louisville Lip Blasts Sonny Liston Again

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Sonny Liston's sudden finish to his training preparations drew loud shouts today of "stale," "old man's gone," "from challenger Cassius" and his handlers.

Champion Liston had planned to box Wednesday and today, at least, in training for his second round of the heavyweight fight against Cassius Clay next Tuesday night at the Miami Beach Convention Hall against Cassius, the Kentucky braggart.

Instead, 30-year-old Sonny made a retroactive announcement Wednesday that he had finished his sparring chores on Tuesday.

That came as a surprise to the 600 spectators and about 70 sports writers and photographers at the Surfside Community Center.

Trainer Willie Reddish explained: "Sonny is right on edge now and we want to keep him sharp that way until time for the fight. He'll do just enough roadwork and gym exercises to hold the edge."

However, 22-year-old Clay declared: "A lotta worry and a little work made that ugly old bear go green-cheese stale. He didn't box enough to put a midge in shape — just 91 rounds. He was so scared of me — the greatest — he just turned into a tired old senior citizen, who'll be going around talkin' next Wednesday about what a great champion he wuz. I said wuz."

Angelo Dundee, challenger Clay's trainer, expressed amazement. He stated: "As long as I've been in boxing, I never heard of any man quitting his sparring a week before an important fight unless he was very stale or hurt in some way."

Although Cassius already has sparred 143 rounds, to Sonny's 91, he will not complete his leather-tossing until Saturday, Dundee disclosed.

Slammin' Sammy Lays PGA Field

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI) — It's Slammin' Sammy Snead against a 407-man field today as they start their four-round chase for the PGA senior golf championship.

The sweet swinger who will turn 52 in May makes his debut in the new PGA National Senior Course after having a chance to birdie every hole — a six under par 33-33-66 — during his final tuneup for this and-over chase for the coveted Teacher's Trophy.

He is the winner of this $30,000 prize and also earns a trip to Britain to meet England's Senior Champion for the "world" Sen-ti-tle.

Slammin' Sam was almost everybody's favorite as he did it up with Jimmy Demars as the only "name" player scratch.

For Snead's rivals include defending champion Herman Baro of White Plains, N.Y. — who last year with a 16 under — 272 — and former winners Al Runyan, Gene Sarazen, E. Burke and Al Watrous in lists.

The field also includes such Dutch Harrison, big John Rumm, Ellsworth Vines, Sam Byrd, former U.S. Open winner Tony Manero and former A winners Jim Turnesa, My Shute and Vic Ghezzi. "Don't go pinnin' that favor-able tag on me," Snead com-plied. "There's a lot of guys who can play good golf, I don't you forget it. But, I playin' good and I'd sure like to win it."

Coach Lawrence Overcast of the district 2-B champions announced that March 3 at 8 p.m. had been set as the date for the meeting with the 1-B girls champions following a meeting of the two districts last night at Canadian.

The two teams met in bi-district last year, with F-1 lett taking the victory. The winner of the game, reported Overcast, will have to meet Roosevelt, rated the number one girls team in the state, in the opening round of regional play.

Miami Warriorettes Set Bi-District Tilt

MIAMI (Spl) — The Miami Warriorettes will meet F-1 lett in a girls bi-district game a week from Tuesday night at Canadian.

Coach Lawrence Overcast of the district 2-B champions announced that March 3 at 8 p.m. had been set as the date for the meeting with the 1-B girls champions following a meeting of the two districts last night at Canadian.

Bonaventure Joins NIT

NEW YORK (UPI)—St. Bonaventure has become the fifth team to be selected for the National Invitation Tournament next month.

The Bonnies join DePaul, New York University, Pittsburgh and Duquesne, previously named to the 12-team field.

St. Bonaventure is led by senior Fred Crawford, who is averaging 27.9 points per game. Crawford, a native of New York, anticipated help this season from Miles Aiken, also a product of the New York city playgrounds. Aiken however, suffered a knee injury in mid-season after averaging 23 points-per-game in his two previous years of varsity competition.

Groom To Take On Quail Again Tonight

GROOM (Spl) — It's out of the frying pan and back into the fire for the Groom Tigers this evening as they meet champion Quail for the second time in three nights, in the district tournament at Clarendon.

Quail won the district 14-B round-robin with a wild 78-73 win over the Tigers Tuesday night, clinching the honor in a game that changed hands constantly and was finally decided by the deadly jump shooting of little Dale Morris.

The win gave Quail an 8-2 record and broke up a three-way tie for second, giving Samnorwood and Hedley each a share of the honor with 7-3 marks and dropping the Tigers back to fourth with a 6-4 mark. The bracketing for the tournament pitted the first and fourth place teams in the opener, with Quail and Groom clashing again.

Action opens this afternoon at 4 when the Hedley girls meet Samnorwood, with the "Norwood and Hedley boys meeting at 5:30. Groom girls also get the "luck" of the draw as they have to tangle with powerful Claude, who won the girls honors, at 7, with the Groom-Quail final at 8:30.

The girls winners will meet

PLAYOFF AT LEFORS TOMORROW NIGHT

LEFORS (Spl) — Lefors will host the first game of the district 3-A girls playoff Friday night at 7:30.

Wellington and Clarendon girls, who tied for the loop crown with identical 9-1 records, will play the first of a best two-of-three game series at Lefors, with the other two games being home-and-home affairs. The winner will play the champion of district 1-A.

The nightcap will be a bi-district warmup for two boys teams, Wellington and Channing. Wellington, the district 2-A winner, also awaits the winner of 1-A, the Eagles won district 3-B and play the 4-B champion Nazareth Swifts in Amarillo Tuesday night.

Allison to Play At Miami Tuesday

ALLISON (Spl) — The Allison Antelopes, winners of district 2-B, meet the Darronezz Longhorns, winners of district 1-B, at Miami Tuesday night at 8 in a bi-district game.

Allison coach Everett Dollar reported the playoff setup following a meeting last night at Canadian. Allison has a 23-2 season record and was 9-1 in district play, Darronezz is 27-3 on the season, with two of the losses being at the hands of Allison in tournaments, and is undefeated in district play.

The winner must meet defending Class B state champion McAdoo in the first round of regional play at Canyon next month.

'Economists' Playing With Our Lives

The new one-dollar Federal Reserve Note has aroused much comment since it first appeared in circulation recently. Unfortunately, most of the comment has to do with the relatively unimportant artistry of the bill's design. If you read the "fine print," you'll discover it is the first currency in U.S. history that can accurately be labeled "fiat money." The new note simply states: "The United States of America — One Dollar." Older notes state: "The United States of America will pay to the bearer on demand XXX Dollars."

The latter at least offered some hope that there was enough gold at Fort Knox to back up the piece of paper in hand. The new note makes no pretense at such backing. True, the new issue is considered legal tender for all public and private debts — but makes no claim to being "redeemable in lawful money at the U.S. Treasury or at any Federal Reserve Bank," as does our other currency.

Attempts are being made to alleviate concern over the new "fiat" money (money that has no inherent value). A number of so-called "economists" claim the nation has survived fiat money before. And they point to the issues of paper currency in 1813 to 1814. But these issues were not legal tender. In addition, most were convertible into U.S. bonds, with interest and principal both payable in gold. Even so, these "greenbacks" depreciated from the beginning and, at one time, reached a gold value of less than 39 cents. Another contention by the "experts" is that since the new notes are included among the liabilities for which the Federal Reserve banks must maintain 25 per cent reserves in gold, the new dollars are, in a way, backed by gold. This balloon gets pricked by FRS Chairman McChesney Martin's past assertion that the Federal Reserve would use all its gold if necessary to meet foreign demand claims. Where would this leave our domestic dollars? We can arrive at a worthwhile and equitable solution by asking some pertinent questions and giving their answers.

First, why was it considered necessary to print fiat money? To further inflate the nation's currency, of course. Why was further inflation necessary? Because of the disappearance of dollars into foreign markets. What causes this flow of dollars and gold away from the U.S.? Among them, foreign-aid and the very inflation generated by fiat money.

What steps, then, can be taken to correct this dangerous situation? First, we could kill the foreign giveaway program and thereby drastically reduce this outflow of unproductive dollars. Secondly, there must be an immediate end to unbalanced budgets and a rapid start made toward paying off our national debt. This would withdraw from circulation a good share of the inflationary fiat money. Lastly, every American should have the right to own gold, if he chooses. This would protect the citizen against the politician's fiat money whims; and would force the government to adhere to a sane fiscal policy. The "economists" have been playing with our earnings and our lives long enough. Now let's return to reality.

'One Man's Meat Is Another's...'

Wiping out starvation and malnutrition in the world would be a difficult enough matter if it only involved spreading the knowledge of modern farming methods, improving distribution or curbing runaway population growth. The goal is made immeasurably more elusive because of a factor often overlooked — religious and superstitious taboos concerning food.

Half the children born in central Africa die before the age of five, writes Gwen Schultz in "Today's Health." In this same area of the continent, milk is looked on as a vile body waste. Some think it a sin to drink milk. Other groups believe milk will make women sterile. Many Latin-American mothers believe a sick child should not be given milk. Numerous peoples in eastern and southern Asia, where cattle are in abundance, also reject milk. In many places, cattle are status symbols and are seldom killed for food. India has one-fifth of the world's cattle. Not only are they sacred to the Hindus but so are all other animals. The pig is shunned by Moslems and Jews, as is well known. The latter also forbid the eating of shellfish or meat and dairy products at the same meal. In parts of Asia and Africa, eggs are considered to be excrement. Eating them will destroy one's fertility or potency or make one's wife unfaithful. Fish is one of the cheapest and best sources of protein, yet many starving people reject it. In some parts of Africa fish are considered unclean and possessed of evil spirits. Let Westerners shake their heads in disbelief, it should be recalled how the Irish during the 18th-century potato famine and Europeans after World War II rejected American corn because they thought it was fit only for animals.

Westerners have their own food taboos and often impose them on people they are trying to help. Monkeys, bats, rats, termites and other such things may be unpalatable to us but they provide valuable proteins whose loss the bringers of civilization do not always realize. Sophisticated cultures are also spreading the belief that breastfeeding is vulgar and just not done. Thus infants are being weaned earlier to the starchy diet of their elders, which eventually shortens their lives. "Do unto others" is not the uncomplicated rule it seems to be.

Colleges, Attention!

A five-year-old kindergarten pupil in Minnesota has come up with what just may be the most significant scholastic development since colleges discovered the coed. This young genius is astounding educators by being able to reel off any fact or figure about 300 big league baseball players.

How does he do it? By studying photo cards from packs of bubble gum! The possibilities of this cultural break-through are staggering. If this kid can do it with baseball, what's to keep everybody from doing it with everything? Think of an entire nation studying and learning and progressing from constant use of bubble gum. Consider the intellectual satisfaction of a law student learning law from bubble cards on Lincoln and Gladstone; of a medical student studying a card on Dr. Schweitzer — and of a student of the dramatic arts earnestly poring over a card on, say, Miss Jayne Mansfield. "Chews to Learn" is now more than a slogan. We are on our way to a better life, by gum.

Art Moger, famous movie press agent, in his latest book, "Some of My Best Friends Are People," (Challenge Press) refutes the popular notion that "press agency is a heinous crime for which the Napoleonic code hasn't yet meted out a just punishment. If you have a winner, there is nothing you can do to hurt it. If you have a 'stinker,' you can hide diamonds under the theatre seats and no one will come to look for them." Moger says: "A good theatrical press agent is a lucky one. You have to be at the right place at the right time." (Ain't it the truth?)

Today's smile: Remember the running fights the late W. C. Fields had in his films with waitresses? We get a chuckle recalling the time he said to a waitress: "I didn't say the steak was tough. I merely observed that the policeman's horse I saw outside this restaurant yesterday isn't there today."

We've always thought Montreal, Canada, was a pretty fair place, but now it's going to be one for real. The Canadian metropolis will be the site of the 1967 World Exposition, a date coinciding with Canada's anniversary as a Confederation. The site will be an island in the middle of the St. Lawrence River, a stone's throw from the financial district. Much of the island isn't there yet, but workmen are already building it to the required 400 acres. Everyone is getting into the act at New York's World's Fair. A Bible Society plans to give away more than 1,000,000 copies of a special World's Fair edition of the Gospel of St. John next summer as a souvenir.

Thoughts while shaving: Just 86 years ago this month Thomas Alva Edison received a patent on the phonograph, which he regarded as a toy. His early cylinder records were scratchy and only played a minute or two in comparison to the high-fidelity LP's of today, but his invention led to a multi-million dollar industry that accounted for the sale of more than 5 million record players in this country last year and many, many millions of records. Edison was this nation's most prolific inventor. He received upwards of 1,000 patents on such other inventions as the motion picture, incandescent lamp, carbon telephone transmitter, microphone, storage battery, and other appliances and improvements relating to electricity. All that from a man who quit school at 12.

Reported in the Maywood (N.J.) OUR TOWN: "He was charged with careless driving." Cops everywhere from that sort of thing. The first major industry of New York City was commerce in beaver pelts. That's why a picture of that animal adorns the municipal seal. The U.S. Mint turned out 24 billion pennies last year, an average of 12 cents for every person in the nation. The total output was 3.7 billion coins. Yet, any bank cashier will tell you there's a coin shortage.

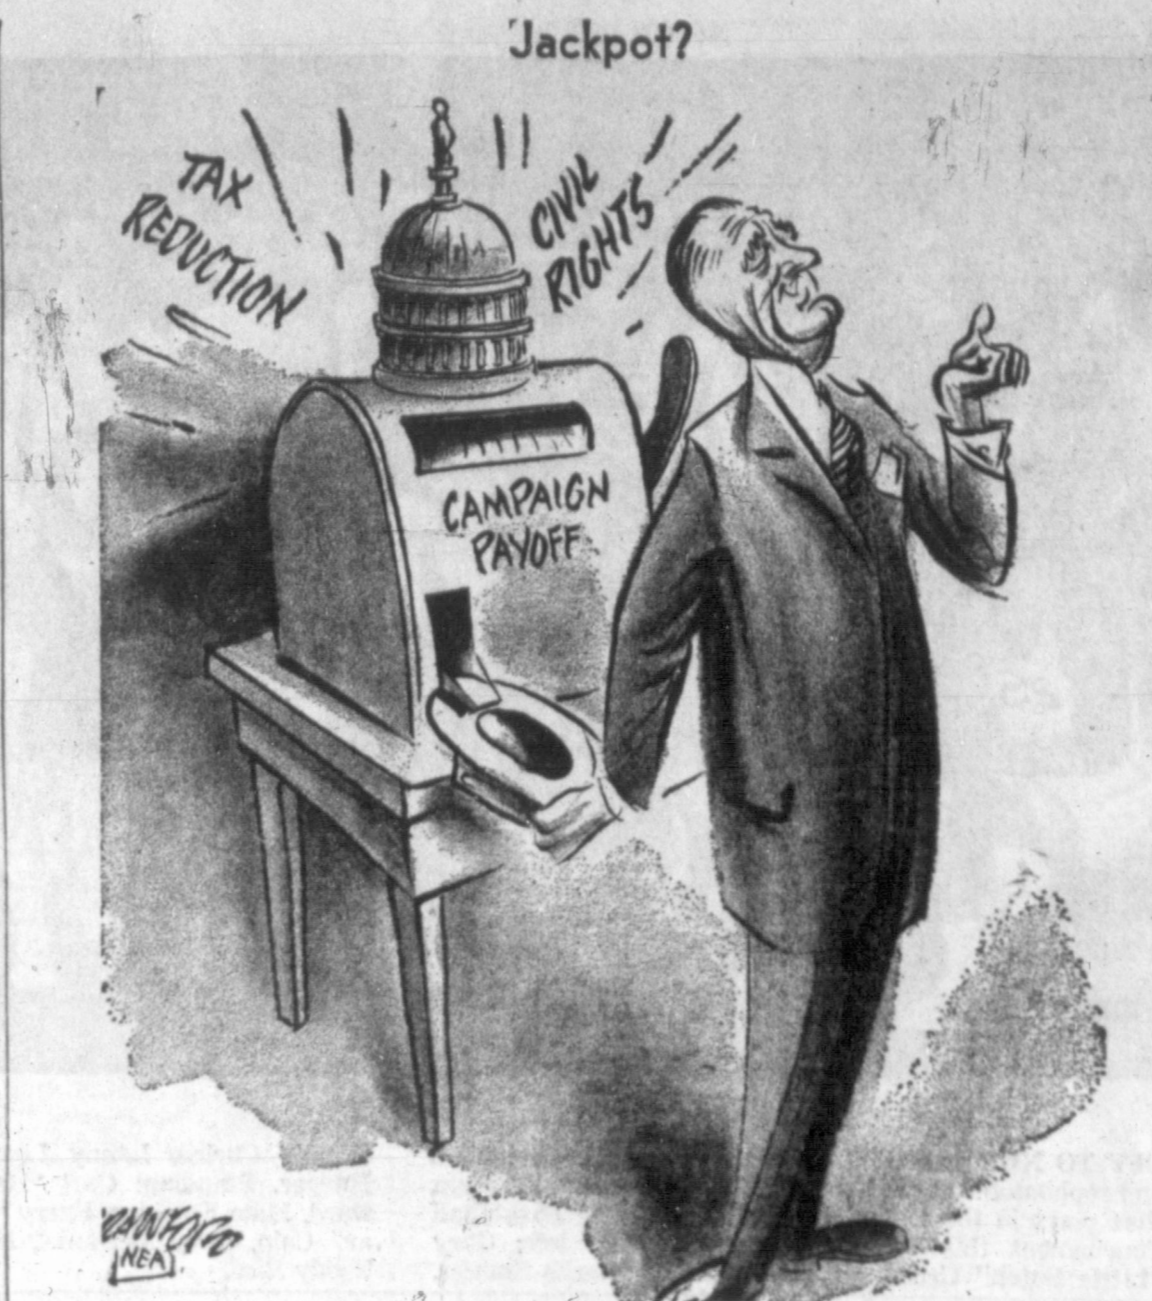

Country Editor speaking: "You can hardly engage in any kind of conversation these days without learning that your fellow participant is informed and you are uninformed."

World War I Debts to U.S. Still Unpaid As Allies Offer Easy Credit to Red Nations

WASHINGTON — While Britain, France and other U. S. allies and huge aid beneficiaries are literally tripping over each other to proffer easy-term trade credits to Russia, Cuba and Red China, they are being extremely coy about doing anything to pay off the billions they still owe this country from World War I.

And curiously, White House, State Department and other key authorities, who are solemnly decrying this unseemly scramble to do business with the Communists, also are saying and doing nothing about collecting those 45-year-old debts. Although the existence of these $20 billion in long-standing obligations is virtually unknown to the American people, they are "live" and current. They are carried as such on the books of the U. S. Treasury. It issues a detailed report on them each June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

But the only recent reference to them was an unnoticed comment in a speech by Senator J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, several months ago denouncing President de Gaulle's indicated intention to recognize Red China. Fulbright caustically noted that while the imperious French ruler was haughtily pursuing a policy of flouting the U.S., he was blandly ignoring the fact that his country still owes more than $6 billion in World War I debts.

Britain, Italy, Belgium and other U. S. allies and aid beneficiaries, while more tactful and politic in their Communist trade operations, are just as silent and aloof as De Gaulle concerning their multi-billion dollar World War I debts. All are acting as if these obligations don't exist, and they have no intention of ever paying them.

But the last Treasury report, issued in July 1963, under the caption "Indebtedness of Foreign Governments to the United States Arising from World War I," lists the following due and unpaid:

	TOTAL Principal and Interest
Britain	$9,149,859,301
France	6,340,164,589
Italy	2,221,592,909
Germany	1,364,087,357
Belgium	653,267,077
Greece	44,718,655

COMPOUNDING THE GIVE-AWAY — Every one of these U.S. debtors is also a major beneficiary of economic, military and other aid since World War II.

As of 1946, when the stupendous aid program was initiated, these countries have received the following in various forms of U.S. aid:

Britain	$8,711,000,000
France	9,445,000,000
Italy	6,006,000,000
Germany	5,001,000,000
Belgium	1,988,000,000
Greece	3,516,000,000

It's Up To You

by HOWARD KERSHNER L. H. D.

In 1921 Lenin advised American Communists: To resort to all kinds of cunning, schemes and stratagems, employ illegal methods, evade and conceal the truth in order to penetrate (U.S.) labor unions, to remain in them and conduct Communist work in them at all cost.

At about the same time, Secretary of State Robert Lansing advised President Wilson: There cannot be any common ground upon which (the U.S.) can stand with a power whose conceptions of international relations are so entirely alien to our own, so utterly repugnant to its moral sense. There can be no mutual confidence or trust, no respect. We cannot recognize, hold official relations with, or give friendly reception to the agents of a government which is determined and bound to conspire against our institutions.

Four Presidents — Wilson, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover — and all their Secretaries of State continued to follow that policy. Had their successors done so, it is doubtful if communism would have survived to this day. In 1933, however, President Roosevelt recognized the Communist government. Since that time enormous quantities of money, strategic and bulk materials, scientific and technical information made available by many of our most skilled technicians who taught Russian engineers how to use it has been lavishly poured out within the Soviet Union. We saved them in time of war. We saved them not only with money and materials, but with prestige, recognition, and cultural exchanges. Such strength as communism has in the world today, has been derived from the help we have given it.

This policy, inaugurated by Franklin Delano Roosevelt, was followed by his three successors — Harry Truman, Dwight Eisenhower, and the late John F. Kennedy. Our new President, Lyndon B. Johnson, has announced that he will follow the policies of the late Mr. Kennedy. When President Kennedy was struck down by a Marxist who spent three years in Russia and married a Russian woman, and who was also a strong supporter of Fidel Castro, one might have thought that our government would have learned its lesson and at long last, after tragedy, suffering, and enormous expense, would have turned against the Marxist ideologues, who have so long shaped our policies in Washington, and had refused all further cooperation with the alien, atheistic philosophy of communism which is completely antithetical to all that our Western, Christian civilization prizes so highly.

If we cannot learn from the past 31 years of cooperation with the U.S.S.R., what is to save our country from final descent into the same black pit which has already engulfed about half of the world's people?

L. B. J. Finds Newspapers Prime Fare

By BRUCE GIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Lyndon Johnson's way with the printed word is something you still can't find agreement on even after a quarter of a year in office. There are those among his aides and friends who insist he is more a listener than a reader. Yet some who deal with him most say he prefers to see things in writing, and will plow through an incredible amount of written material.

One who puts the President in the second category nevertheless adds that he has "less idle intellectual curiosity and does less reading for its own sake" than the late John F. Kennedy. Comments of this order feed the notion that Johnson reads hard and long on those matters of importance which come before him — and stops right there.

This stress on his being an "action reader" annoys one friend, however, who sees in it the converse idea that he is "not an intellectual." But Johnson himself evidently has fretted at times over where he stands in the scale of things. A man who can look back on nearly two decades of association with him says that when he moved from the House to the Senate 15 years ago, he wondered how — with his teacher college background — he would fit in with colleagues who regularly spouted from the classics.

"After about four months," says this man, "The President found that he was just about as classical as he needed to be." If he is not full master of the classics, neither — obviously — is he simply a dogged reader of staff memoranda and official documents. Aide George Reedy says Johnson has read just about every known work that has anything to do with Texas history and politics, including the lives of such heroes as Sam Houston and Stephen Austin, one of the Texas republic's chief founders.

Other Johnson heroes are Andrew Jackson and Daniel Webster. He enjoys American biography and history, and devours any book he can find on current politics. In the foreign field, a favorite of his is British writer Barbara Ward. Johnson also consumes newspapers in staggering volume, starting at 6:30 or so in the morning. Those who thought they would never see another fine-tooth-comb newspaper reader like Kennedy have had to think again. One of the White House staff says: "The new President not only reads every newspaper he can get his hands on. He reads every edition!"

Johnson has already demonstrated, too, that he is at least as sensitive as was Kennedy to criticism or erroneous accounts of his activities which he finds in those papers. A few aides think that, if anything, the President — cr am-

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper function of government which will be answered in future installments.)
Question: "Is a gift or plundered wage obtained by the recipient in the long run or beneficial in the long run or recipient or the grantor of gift or plundered wage?"

Answer: The answer, of course, is no. The important clause, we feel, is "in the long run." It might be temporarily beneficial to the recipient of the gift wage, or plundered wage, but "in the long run" it disarms the recipient of the gift or plundered wage. He does not realize each man must produce own wages in order to be of a steady job and benefit fellow man, and reclaim self respect.

It is harmful to the giver a gift wage and the payer a plundered wage because it reduces his ability to serve customers. An employer-businessman should retrain himself as an agent for customers trying to give them the greatest value he is in order to grow the fast. He should set his wages prices with the idea of growing as rapidly as he can. The son for this is that a man is rendering service and grow and be able to reduce prices and thus raise the wages of the buyers and able to employ more men better wages.

When we get away from free market we are bound the long run to be in trouble. When all people are not paid to help establish wages values we have no true measure of wages or values.
