Loyalists Claim Win At Saigon

SAIGON (UPI)—The government Saturday reported new successes against the Communists southwest of Saigon and in the Do Xa region of central Viet Nam where army forces were chopping up Communist training camps and supply dumps.

The government said its troops killed 21 Communist guerrillas and captured 10 more in a two-day sweep through the Cau Lay district 50 miles southwest of Saigon. The announcement said the government forces suffered no casualties.

It said two of the captives were wounded before being taken by government troops and that 25 persons were held for questioning as possible Viet Cong guerrillas.

Seize Weapons
The Defense Ministry said its forces also brought back enemy explosives including 11 antitank mines, 340 casings for hand grenades, 350 detonators, 26 hand grenades, 35 land mines and 22 grenade launchers. They also captured 77 pounds of documents, explosives and metal scrap which could have been used for enemy weapons.

Reports from the Do Xa region 320 miles north of Saigon said the week-old operation was proceeding as planned, with attacks concentrated on training camps and supply dumps. A spokesman said Friday the operation had set back Communist operations six months.

A spokesman again denied as unfounded reports that the Communists had trapped a large portion of the government forces in the mountains.

MPs Arrive
In Saigon, a company of U.S. Military Police arrived to strengthen the protection of Americans against Viet Cong terrorists.

The 66th Military Police Company arrived from Fort Chaffee, Ark., to replace another company which was pulled out last November. Since then Communist terrorists have killed or wounded Americans in a rash of bombings of homes and bars and in a movie theater and baseball park.

FISHING CAR—Pampa Chamber of Commerce members will be beating the bushes for new and renewal members this week and the best recruiter will receive this fishing car as a reward. All set to go fishing is Jerry Sims, chamber finance director, and his two sons Barry, left, and Jerry.

C-C Member Drive Kicks Off Tomorrow

The annual membership roundup of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will kickoff Monday with a luncheon of all workers on the drive at 12 noon in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn.

Chamber directors will serve as captains of teams who will call on business concerns who have not renewed 1964 memberships and new concerns that have opened businesses in Pampa since the last campaign.

Teams will be competing for prizes, and individuals will be vying for the top individual prize, "a hunting and fishing car" which has been donated for the campaign by First National Bank.

Pistol 'Discipline' Termed Harsh By Pampa Police

A 42-year old Pampa negro man is in city jail today awaiting police charges today after he tried to "discipline" his stepson last night.

Police thought his manner of discipline was just a little too harsh. The man took a .38 caliber pistol and chased his 20-year old stepson down the street. He fired at the boy three times, missing each time.

Police carted the man off to city jail where charges are expected to be filed Monday morning.

United Fund Chairmen Set For Campaign

The Pampa-Lefors United Fund campaign announced that Bill Power, business manager of the Pampa Daily News, and Roy Sparkman, executive vice president of Security Federal Savings and Loan, have accepted committee chairmanships.

Power will head up the promotion and publicity division and Sparkman will be general audit chairman.

Five more committee chairmen are expected to be named next week. This will complete the preliminary organization.

Norman Henry and Mack Hatt were recently selected as general drive chairman and vice chairman, respectively.

The United Fund Board recently voted to adopt a plan calling for the complete reorganization of the annual drive. Under the plan the local campaign will follow a much similar plan to the one recommended by the national organization and used by hundreds of cities across the country.

It was pointed out during a recent board meeting that if the appeal doesn't reach its goal during 1964 it could well become extinct.

US Ex-Envoy Dies In Plane Crash

Anti-Red Hit Slows Laos Fight

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Neutralist forces launched a counter-attack Saturday on the Plain of Jars to ease Communist Pathet Lao pressure on a trapped armored regiment, neutralist military sources reported.

The move coincided with disclosure that anti-Communist Meo tribesmen had captured two Chinese Communist soldiers — an officer and a non-commissioned officer — in northern Laos, the first definite evidence of a Chinese presence in Laos.

Neutralist military sources said a force of unknown size drove two miles westward toward Gen. Kong Le's former headquarters at Muong Phan from the village of Muong Kheung where a force of about 1,200 men had been trapped since last week's Communist offensive.

The towns are on Route 7, which cuts across Laos from east to west about 100 miles north of Vientiane, and has been used as a Communist supply route from North Viet Nam. Saturday's counter-offensive was aimed at opening the road should the armored force dash to safety.

Regroups Forces

Kong Le himself was swept off the Plain of Jars by the Communist offensive and has been reported regrouping at Ba Na, a village just southwest of the plain. The counter-attack was reported to have secured the point where Route 7 leaves the plain in the west.

Otherwise Western military sources reported that all was quiet in the other crucial fighting sectors — Vang Vieng, 60 air miles north of Vientiane, and in the Pakxane area 80 miles east of Vientiane. It was understood that Pathet Lao was consolidating its gains in those areas.

Reliable sources in Vientiane said the Meo tribesmen captured the two Communist Chinese May 8 near Muong Singa, close to the Chinese border and took them to Pakxane for questioning at the nationalist army headquarters.

Infiltrate Red Lines

The sources said the tribesmen infiltrated the Pathet Lao lines to capture the prisoners and bring them more than 200 miles to the south. The sources said the Chinese were handcuffed and bound with ropes around their legs but showed no signs of rough treatment.

There have been unconfirmed reports for months of Chinese Communist advisers aiding the Pathet Lao, but this was the first evidence they actually were with the pro-Communist forces. There had been evidence of Communist North Vietnamese participation.

Reliable sources said both men, in their 20s, were wearing Communist Chinese uniforms when captured. Their papers were taken and they later were clad in uniforms of American manufacture.

The same sources said many weapons bearing Chinese marks were captured in fighting around Tha Thom, northeast of Pakxane.

Bodies of 6 Found On Mexico Hillside

By JAMES T. YOUNG

CIUDAD VICTORIA, Mexico (UPI) — Searchers Saturday found the bodies of former U. S. Ambassador DeLesseps S. Morrison, his young son and five other persons in the shredded wreckage of a private plane that crashed into a rock-strewn mountainside in a blinding rainstorm.

The victims included Mrs. Carolyn Vandergrift, a prominent Palm Beach, Fla., divorcee, her son, two businessmen from Houma, La., and the pilot. Search teams on foot and using horse-drawn carts brought the bodies in gunny sacks from the sea of mud on Tamulipas Mountain an "airplane graveyard" to a hospital in Ciudad Victoria 25 miles away.

The bodies were being flown to Corpus Christi, Tex., by two planes from the U.S. Naval Air Station there.

The twin-engine Piper Aztec plane slammed into the mountain nose first with such force it was shredded. Police at first thought there were nine persons aboard; so great was the violence of the crash.

The plane had been reported missing at dawn, on a flight Friday night from Corpus Christi to Santa Clara Ranch near Tampico, Mex., with a stop at Matamoros, Mexico, just across the border from Brownsville, Tex. It left Matamoros after sundown on a flight that should have taken an hour.

Peasants Report Crash
Peasants reported it crashed at 7 p.m. during a severe thunderstorm on the mountain where several planes have crashed in years past.

The wreckage of the brown-and-white Piper Aztec was scattered for 1,200 feet. The bodies were hurled 600 feet.

Louisiana mourned Morrison, who had helped polish the image of New Orleans as a four-term mayor and who had plunged into governmental affairs most recently as ambassador to the Organization of American States. He had resigned last year to run unsuccessfully for governor.

Rain, low clouds and poor visibility hampered the search for the plane and first reports by searchers gave hope of survivors.

But clouds lifted and planes circling closer saw there was no hope.

A foreman at the ranch where the twin-engine Piper Aztec plane was to have landed Friday night telephoned the Morrison family in New Orleans: "Bad crash. No survivors. They are all dead," quoting a ground search party.

The Soviet press carefully refrained from expressing a direct opinion to question the official American version.

But it has reprinted what lawyer Lane, who once represented Oswald's mother until she fired him, and Buchanan have said and written to create an apparent conviction among Soviet readers that American authorities are concealing essential facts.

ly was responsible for what he called "smeared" and "hate literature."

Goldwater, who held staff conferences here Saturday afternoon before flying to his Phoenix home for the night, said he "wouldn't go so far" as to say victory in California would assure him the GOP nomination. "I would put California on top. If a man didn't win it, he would have rough going," Goldwater added.

Regarding Nixon, the Arizona senator said he was called on telephone by the former vice president about two weeks ago and related they "discussed convention arrangements" such as who the speakers would be.

PLANS STATE VISITS
ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (UPI)—Emperor Haile Selassie will pay a state visit to the Republic of Tanganyika and Zanzibar June 12-17, it was announced Saturday.

A Foreign Ministry communiqué said a visit would be paid to Uganda June 17-21.

Europeans Skeptical About Assassination

LONDON (UPI) — Widespread skepticism persists in Europe — on both sides of the Iron Curtain — whether the "pure facts" have been or will ever be revealed on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Scarcely a day passes, six months after the event, that some new version or theory is advanced in a European newspaper, magazine, lecture or broadcast.

Except for the activities of two Americans who actively promote the now-it-can't-be-told hypotheses on Kennedy's death, the confusion and perplexity do not seem to be centrally organized.

The two Americans, on a seeming perpetual lecture and writing tour of Europe, are New York lawyer Mark Lane and ex-Communist Thomas Buchanan, now working for a consultative engineering firm in Paris. They maintain that the Kennedy assassination was part of the story.

Publish Photo

This weekend, virtually every newspaper in Europe published an American photograph taken on the day of Kennedy's assassination purporting to show that a man looking like Oswald was on the street in a Dallas crowd the moment Kennedy was shot.

Buried in the story accompanying the photograph was the statement that the picture had

Barry Says Nixon To Be His 'Final Hurdle'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said Saturday he thinks former Vice President Richard M. Nixon will be the "final hurdle" in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination, regardless of how he fares in the California primary.

"If I didn't win in the first go-round, Nixon would be the hurdle to get over," said Goldwater, referring to the National Republican Convention in San Francisco.

In what he called his last formal news conference before the June 2 primary, Goldwater also disclosed that Nixon had telephoned him about two weeks ago to discuss general convention matters.

Goldwater flew here Saturday to open a state-wide saturation campaign in his critical joust with Gov. Nelson Rockefeller for the state's 86 votes at the GOP convention. He attacked some of the "henchmen and hatchmen in this 'stop Goldwater' movement."

But under questioning by newsmen, Goldwater said he did not believe Rockefeller personal-

Bush Asks FBI for Reports on 'Gift'

HOUSTON (UPI) — Republican senatorial candidate George Bush said Saturday he has asked the U.S. Justice Department for its reports on the alleged Billie Sol Estes gift to U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, but has received no answer.

The Justice Department is checking the reports of two men who said they saw the farm hand financier give Yarborough $50,000. Since then, one of the men has retracted his statement and said he had been pressured into making it in the first place.

Bush, involved in a GOP runoff for the senatorial nomination with Jack Cox of Houston, said he wired the Justice Department two weeks ago "asking them for a complete report on their investigation."

"We have received nothing," Bush said. "My interest is strictly one of being able to bring to the voters in the November election (in which Yarborough will be the Democratic nominee) the truth. It became so obscured during the end of the (primary) race."

Bush said he is interested in finding out if Yarborough and Estes were close acquaintances at the time Estes was riding high financially and afterward, when Estes' farm empire collapsed.

"It is time to get a full revelation of the facts," Bush said. "We need a full chronology of this thing, and I would just like to know the facts on it, that's all."

Chaing Kai Shek Aide in Houston

HOUSTON (UPI) — Chiang Kai Shek's righthand man, Tsung T'Ang, arrived Saturday for a five-day visit to Houston sponsored by the U.S. State Department.

T'Ang is secretary-general of the central committee of the Kuomintang (ruling party) in Nationalist China.

Death, Relief and Grief Went Together

"Some day they'll go down together. They'll bury them side-by-side."

"To few it'll be grief. To the law a relief. But it's death for Bonnie and Clyde."

—Bonnie Parker—

By PRESTON MCGRAW DALLAS (UPI)— Saturday was the 36th anniversary of the day Bonnie Parker was half hanged.

Six Louisiana and Texas peace officers ambushed and killed Bonnie and her murdering sweetheart, Clyde Barrow, southwest of Gibsland, La., on May 23, 1934.

They died together as Bonnie had predicted in her poem. But she was wrong about their being buried side-by-side. They were buried miles apart in different cemeteries.

Deputy Sheriff Robert F. Alcorn, one of the men who killed Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow, thinks it also is time to bury the legend that Bonnie was a cigar smoker.

Smoked Lucky Strike
"I knew them most of their lives," Alcorn said. "Bonnie smoked Lucky Strikes. Clyde smoked Bull Durham. It was W. D. Jones who smoked cigars."

"The way the story got started that she smoked cigars was from some undeveloped film they left behind in a hideout at Joplin, Mo., after they shot it out with police."

"Bonnie put one of W. D.'s cigars in her mouth and had a picture taken as a joke."

In addition to the undeveloped film, the Parker-Barrow gang left two policemen dead at Joplin. They were two of at least 12 killings blamed on Barrow while he was with Bonnie or various friends.

Another of the men who helped kill Bonnie and Barrow also lives in Dallas. He is Ted Hinton, now a motel owner, then a deputy sheriff.

Officers on Trail
Alcorn, now 66, and Hinton, 57, had been assigned for months to trail Bonnie and Barrow. Gov. Miriam (Ma) Ferguson of Texas had personally interested herself in seeing that they were run down.

Alcorn, Hinton, former Texas Ranger Frank Hamer and M.T. Gault of the Texas Department of Public Safety followed the trail to Shreveport, La.

All of the then-small Shreveport police department knew what the Texans were in town for. One night a patrolman came in with a strange story. He said he had seen two men and a woman in a car stop at a restaurant. One man got out, went into the restaurant and ordered sandwiches to take out.

When the policeman came up, the two in the automobile took off and the man in the restaurant ran through a back door. The descriptions he gave sounded like those of Bonnie, Barrow and Henry Methvin.

Methvin was a convict Bonnie and Barrow had helped deliver from the Eastland prison farm in Texas.

Methvin's father lived 14 miles southeast of Gibsland, a town east of Shreveport. Alcorn said he and Hinton surmised that the man in the restaurant was Methvin and the two in the car Bonnie and Barrow.

They also guessed that Bonnie and Barrow would try to join forces with Methvin, probably at the home of Methvin's father. Somebody helped set Bonnie and Barrow up for ambush and the story is that it was Methvin, for a promise to escape prosecution in Texas.

Methvin's father played the decoy. Alcorn and Hinton will not say who also helped.

"We learned," Alcorn said, "that Bonnie and Clyde had come to the Methvin farm and made arrangements with Methvin's father to meet Methvin (the son) the next morning, if he showed up."

Trap Set
Six men laid the trap. They hid behind weeds at the top of an embankment along a gravelled road the night of May 22, 1934. They put a tree branch on the side of the road.

"The old man drove up and took the right front wheel off his truck," Alcorn said. "Next morning about 9 o'clock, we could hear Bonnie and Clyde coming. We knew what their car sounded like and how he drove."

"They drove up and stopped by the old man, maybe eight or 10 feet from us. There were a lot of log trucks on that road and one passed by them."

Lawman Fires
"Clyde said something to old man Methvin about moving over so the truck could get by. As Clyde moved out of the way of the log truck, one of our men got nervous and accidentally fired."

The battle was on. Bonnie and Barrow never got in a shot. The six peace officers shot until their guns were empty and they all had several guns each.

The car Bonnie and Barrow were in veered to the side of the road and turned over. Bonnie was dead with 52 bullet holes in her body. She had a .45 caliber pistol over the sun visor of the car.

Dead Sweetheart

Barrow, a runt of a man, was 25 when he was killed. His sweetheart, whose hair had turned from gold to Auburn in 18 months of running from the law, was 23. She was born in the Oak Cliff section of Dallas and he in West Dallas, a run-down section that still provides many of the city's criminals.

Hamilton Executed
Hamilton was executed in the Texas penitentiary. Jones served part of a 25-year prison sentence, was paroled and, at last report, lives in Houston.

Methvin was not prosecuted in Texas, although he could have been for helping Barrow kill two highway patrolmen. He was tried in Oklahoma and sentenced to death for killing Cal Campbell, a constable, near Commerce.

His death sentence was com-mutated and he eventually was paroled. A train killed him in Sulphur, La., in 1942.

Body Moved

Bonnie was buried in Eishtrap Cemetery but in the 1940s her body was moved to Crown Hill, a more pretentious burying ground. An epitaph on her grave marker says:

"As the flowers are all made sweeter by the sunshine and dew, so this old world is made brighter by the likes of you." Barrow is buried in West Dallas Cemetery on the other end of town beside his brother, Marvin. A four-word epitaph on a marker takes care of them both.

It says "Gone but not forgotten."

British Argue Over Rising Beef Prices

LONDON (UPI) — Political leaders argued Saturday over the sharply rising cost of beef while practical British housewives shopped for pork or lamb to take the place of the traditional roast beef Sunday dinner.

Beef prices were nearly 50 per cent higher than those of a year ago prompting Labor MP George Wigg to say, "Before long the consumption of a steak will take its place with the ownership of a Rolls Royce or a mink coat as a status symbol."

Roasting beef was selling for 96 cents a pound and steak was $1.40, a price few budgets could afford. Lamb was at its normal price of about 56 cents.

The government and the opposition Labor party both saw the price increases as a campaign issue for the fall general elections.

Labor party leader Harold Wilson, opposition candidate to unseat Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home, charged that the Conservatives' "meat policy is in total disarray."

Defense Minister Peter Thorneycroft defended the government and blamed the price rises on a world shortage of beef. He said Britain, as a trading nation, would be wrong to stop its exports to the Continent and said British housewives still were getting their beef cheaper than those on the Continent.

That price difference is the key to the shortage here. Buyers in Europe have been going to the British market because of their own rising prices, caused by the world shortage. This demand has pushed up British prices.

Fighter Aces Honor 4 U. S. Astronauts

DALLAS (UPI) — The American Fighter Aces Association Saturday made astronaut Walter Schirra and three other astronauts honorary members of their organization at the second day of their annual meeting.

The group is composed of fighter pilots from all services and both world wars, and Korea, who have shot down at least five enemy planes in combat.

Schirra, who shot down two enemy planes over Korea, recently returned from Arizona, where he and several other astronauts looked at the moon from Kitt Peak Observatory and examined rocks in terrain believed to be similar to that on the moon.

He was the only astronaut present, accepting honors for Maj. Gus Grissom, Donald K. (Deke) Slayton, and Comm. Alan Shepard. Adm. Jimmy Thach, deputy chief of naval operations for air and newly elected president of the association, spoke at the luncheon.

Schirra, who lives in Seabrook, Tex. near the Manned Spacecraft Center, called the space program in general "an open ended business right now."

He said there was plenty of room in the space program of the future for new blood.

Especially encouraging, he said, was the fact that young people from 9 to 17 "are better briefed" on the space program right now than their elders.

Crash

"Apparently no survivors." Toni Morrison, 19-year-old son of the former ambassador to the Organization of American States, got word in New Orleans from Roy Reed, assistant foreman of the Santa Clara Ranch. Toni was dazed. He clung to hope through conflicting reports, but initial dispatches indicating survivors quickly turned grim as planes reached the scene in a lifting overcast.

The Air Force C54 pilot radioed that the biggest piece of wreckage was only three to four feet long.

Nearly Impassable Roads

A police brigade from Ciudad Victoria was making its way over muddy, nearly impassable roads to the scene, about 25 miles south-southeast of the Ciudad Victoria Airport.

The brown and white Piper plane had left Corpus Christi, Tex., Friday and stopped off in Matamoros, Mexico, across the Rio Grande from Brownsville, Tex. The flight from Matamoros to the Santa Clara Ranch near Tampico should have taken about one hour.

At dawn, Saturday morning, the plane was reported missing but heavy weather, rain and low clouds grounded search planes for hours.

Texas To Lead Nation In Growth Rate by '80

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas will be the fastest-growing state in the country by 1980 and the nation's largest state by 2000, predicts Harry W. Clark, executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission.

Clark, a veteran of 26 years in industry-luring, bases his prediction on the present rate of industrialization in Texas and on the fact that Texas, while far behind California and New York in population, is further from the "saturation point."

Total value of manufacturing construction in Texas in the first quarter of this year was more than $38 million, up 72 per cent over the same period last year, Clark said.

Last year 317 new plants were located in Texas, the second-best year on record.

A recent magazine survey indicated Texas is tied for third — with New Jersey — in top executives' preferences for new plant sites. Of the executives pooled, 26 per cent said they would consider building new plants in California, 16 per cent indicated Illinois and 14 per cent named Texas and New Jersey.

All these figures indicate Texas is rapidly gaining ground on the more industrialized states, Clark said.

Although Texas trails far behind New York and California in nearly every index of industrialization, Clark believes this will help Texas' growth in the long run.

California is growing faster than Texas "because of the tremendous markets there," Clark said. "But eventually they are going to reach the saturation point and their momentum will slow down, as it has in New York."

Clark predicts this saturation point will come about 1960 for California — just when Texas is reaching the peak of its growth.

Witness Recalls Horror Of JFK's Assassination

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Six months have passed since President Kennedy's assassination in Dallas. They have been months filled with investigation, a murder trial, heartsickness. The end is not in sight. This is an accounting of the first half-year of events that followed the world-shaking crime.)

By PRESTON MCGRAW
DALLAS (UPI) — The nightmare happened six months ago Friday. Charles Brehm saw it from 15 feet away. It was 12:31 p.m. CST (1:31 p.m. EST) last Nov. 22. The sun was hot as President Kennedy led a triumphant motorcade through cheering Dallas crowds.

"He was waving and the first shot hit him and that awful loud crossed his face," Brehm said.

Kennedy, shot through the shoulder and throat, slumped toward his wife. Gov. John Connally of Texas, riding in the seat ahead of Kennedy in the White House car, turned and a second shot rang out.

Connally collapsed, shot through the body. A third shot cracked sharply and a bullet struck the President in the back of his drooping head.

The assassination was completed little more than five seconds after the first shot. A news cameraman saw a gun barrel being pulled back through a sixth floor window of the Texas School Book Depository above and to the right of the President.

The President was pronounced dead as of 1 p.m. CST in emergency operating room No. 1 of Parkland Memorial Hospital.

Citizen Calls Police
Eighteen minutes later and even before Kennedy's death was announced, a citizen called in from a police squad car in the Oak Cliff section of Dallas.

The citizen reported that the policeman who drove the car had been shot to death. The policeman was J.D. Tippit, a patrolman.

Fifty-seven minutes after Tippit's death was reported, four policemen surrounded a young man with thinning hair in the Texas Theater nearby.

The young man leaped from his seat, shouting, "This is it," and pulled a snub-nosed revolver. He tried to shoot Patrolman M. N. McDonald, but the pistol misfired and McDonald and the other policemen subdued the man.

He was Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, a Marxist who had vainly tried to become a citizen of Russia and had come home with a Russian wife and a baby daughter.

Police Homicide Capt. Will Fritz quickly traced to Oswald the carbine that killed the President and the pistol that killed Tippit. Oswald denied both crimes, but Fritz charged him with two murders.

Police Chief Jesse Curry ordered Oswald transferred from city jail to county jail, eight blocks away, Nov. 24. At 11:21 a.m. CST, (12:21 p.m. EST) as Oswald was led through the basement of city hall toward a waiting car, Jack Ruby, 53, a nightclub operator, leaped out of the crowd.

As millions watched on television, Ruby jammed a snub-nosed, .38 revolver into Oswald's side and fired. Oswald's mouth flew open in agony and he slumped. Forty - six minutes later, Oswald died in the same hospital - though not the same operating room as the one in which the President died.

A presidential commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, is expected to release this year an official account of the assassination written after one of the most intensive and thorough investigations in history. It is not expected to vary substantially from what already is public knowledge.

Rumors Persist
But the commission's report will not still rumors about the assassination. FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover said after testifying before the commission that the investigation may be going on seven or eight years from now. At the murder-trial of Ruby, which ended March 14 with a verdict of guilty and a sentence of death in the electric chair, Dist. Atty. Henry Wade noted that if Oswald were alive there probably would be no reason for the rumors.

Ruby does not face imminent execution. It will take two years or more for his lawyers to run through all appeals open to them. And Ruby, 54, stands a chance of being sent to a hospital for the criminally insane.

LET'S SUPPORT

THE NEW INDUSTRIAL FOUNDATION WITH A STRONG

Chamber of Commerce

WHAT IT IS HOW IT FUNCTIONS

What Is The Pampa Chamber of Commerce?

It is a voluntary organization of business and professional people who are investing their time and money in a community development program to promote the business, agricultural, industrial, and civic well-being of this community and its trade area.

What Are The Purposes Of The Chamber of Commerce?

To sponsor and encourage any activity that will lead toward the creation of more dollars for more people and improve the overall economic and civic welfare of the community. To provide a clearing house for community ideas, activities, and information; to translate community improvement ideas into action and always to be of the most service to the most people in the community.

How Is The Chamber Financed?

Through membership dues only.

Who Can Belong To The Chamber?

Any responsible citizen who is interested in the improvement of the community and is willing to make a financial investment in support of the organization. Dues vary according to ability and willingness to participate.

What Is The Money Used For?

To maintain an office and to finance the Chamber's Program of Work.

Are The Officers And Directors Paid For Their Work?

The only paid employees are the manager and office staff, who devote their full time to Chamber of Commerce activities. Officers, directors, committee chairmen, and committee members all serve without pay.

Who Is Responsible For The Chamber's Operation?

A Board of Directors, consisting of 24 members, determine the policies of the Chamber. Twenty-one members are elected by popular vote of the membership for three-year terms and three are appointed by the President, with the approval of the Board for one-year terms.

The Board of Directors appoint a manager, who is the executive officer of the organization. He is responsible for carrying out the policies of the Board.

How Does The Chamber of Commerce Work?

Primarily through committees. The needs of the community are listed in the form of a Program of Work, and committees are named to carry out the various projects. Some projects may be completed in a short time, while others may require several years of sustained effort.

fort. The Chamber of Commerce should not be mistaken for a social club. It is an action organization - a business institution dedicated to those projects that will provide a more abundant life for all the people of Pampa and its trade area.

What Actual Benefits Do Members Receive?

Numerous services are available to members; however, the real benefits come indirectly through continuous development of the area. An active, well-supported Chamber of Commerce program provides increased incomes for farmers, more business for merchants and professional people, better workers and greater production for industry and more job opportunities for the working people.

A Place For Everyone

There is a place in the Chamber of Commerce for every type of member - some like to be active in the program through service on committees - others prefer to pay dues and not be active. In either instance, you are needed.

President No Longer Has to Tiptoe in Shadow of Kennedy

EDITOR'S NOTE: Half a year has now passed since those gunshots exploded in Dallas, paralyzing the nation, stunning an unbelieving world. America suddenly had a new President, with the enormous task of preventing it from faltering badly in the face of such tragedy. This is a study of that man — six months after Dallas — by the dean of White House reporters, who won the Pulitzer Prize for his coverage of the Kennedy assassination.

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson in six months has emerged as a powerful national leader and colorful personality in his own right, no longer having to tiptoe delicately in the shadow of his fallen predecessor, the late President John F. Kennedy.

It was six months ago Friday in Dallas, Tex., that Johnson, then the vice president, was catapulted suddenly into the top spot by the assassination of Kennedy.

At first, the new Chief Executive virtually was compelled by national mourning, the smallness of his own staff and — to put it bluntly — political expediency to operate what amounted to a carbon copy of the Kennedy administration.

In those early weeks, Johnson's every public utterance was heavily interlarded with references to and quotations from the late President. Johnson quite sincerely clung to the cabinet and the Kennedy staff at the White House, urging one and all to stay on the job.

His State of the Union message to Congress in January was largely a replay or restatement of Kennedy policies, but a shift away from a blind follow-the-leader conduct of the presidency was beginning to manifest itself.

Tore Into Budget
For one thing, Johnson literally tore into the new budget as it had been prepared under Kennedy appointees. Economy, frugality and prudence became watchwords. Johnson was attempting to beat some of Kennedy's severest critics on Capitol Hill to the punch, cutting before they could cry "waste."

He picked up enthusiastic allies within the hold-over cabinet, notably Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara who plunged with apparent relish into cutting dead branches from the defense tree — outmoded and unneeded military installations which had been kept going beyond true utility largely as a sop to congressmen and voters of districts in which these old installations were situated.

Perhaps Kennedy was no less an economy advocate than Johnson. Perhaps these close-downs had been in the works for a long time. But the twofisted, almost shouting manner in which Johnson clamored for cuts made economy in government sound almost like a new policy.

The President went around the White House, snapping out what he considered to be unnecessary lights. This led to a nationwide rash of wisecracks about "Lightbulb Johnson" and his daughters having to do their homework by firelight.

Johnson apparently read the public temperature accurately. He knew perfectly well that cutting out even a hundred lightbulbs would not save any staggering amount of federal money, but his action was symbolic.

Kennedy Staff Departs
With first - of - the - year messages and the budget safely delivered to Congress, some of the key Kennedy staff members began to leave for other pastures — Theodore C. Sorensen, Arthur Schlesinger Jr., Pierre Salinger and quite a few others on lower or secretarial echelons.

And Johnson also began to bring into the government men and women he had known in the past. The cabinet remained the same during the first six months, but some substantial changes on this level are expected after the November election should Johnson win — and at this point he is an odds-on favorite.

His first six months should be regarded as a period of transition. Politically, he could not be put in the position of rejecting Kennedy policies. As the national political season neared, however, he had to emerge before the country as a leader with his own thoughts and policies.

To his economy drive he added a "war on poverty" and ranged the land, particularly the Appalachia area, expounding ideas and promises for the eradication of sub-marginal living in a land of plenty. Although his numerous speeches and public appearances in Appalachia were billed as non-political, the Republicans bristled and fumed. They began coming up with anti - poverty programs of their own. Their pitch was for greater state responsibility and participation than the federal centralism which they accused Johnson of advocating.

Emerges From Gloom
As the country came out of the gloom following the Dallas tragedy, Johnson's personality and colorful nature lit the front pages and television screens.

During the Christmas holidays at his ranch outside Johnson City, Tex., a day seldom passed that he was not in personal contact with reporters and photographers. He entertained West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in a folksy, broad-brimmed manner that made the papers all over the world.

Gradually the country began to know Johnson as a driving, almost hyper-active but incredibly human person as he danced long hours in the White House East Room at some of the first post-mourning parties, tweaked his beagles by the ears to the annoyance of certain sensitive dog-lovers, held press conferences at an amazing variety of locations ranging from hay bales beside the Pedernales River in Texas to the White House driveway and hunted deer from a Lincoln Continental.

Fights For Bill
As his first six months ended, he was fighting for an undiluted civil rights bill. He was using every tool acquired in his long career on Capitol Hill to resurrect the farm bill and save the foreign aid appropriation from emasculation.

Johnson's legislative accomplishments must await late June for proper assessment, but he was determined to call Congress back into session after the nominating conventions — and possibly between them — should the House and Senate fail to complete action on what he regards as basic and necessary legislation.

The extent to which he participates personally in the fall campaign will depend largely on two things: The identity and tactics of his Republican opponent, and the progress of his program in Congress.

Price called the action "an attempt to remove the last remaining barrier to run away inflation." He said the latest Treasury Department information shows only $15.6 billion in gold reserves as of the end of 1963.

"Under the 25 per cent reserve requirement," Price said, "we must have $13 billion to back up our present currency. That leaves only $2.6 billion in free gold to back up our foreign-held dollars. So long as we retain the 25 per cent factor there is, at least, some stability to our dollar, despite its ever-decreasing purchasing power. Removal of this safeguard would be a signal to nations holding American dollars that our domestic money policies are in danger. Like an old-fashioned 'run' on a bank, we would be inviting foreign countries holding dollars to exercise the right we offer them to demand gold in redeeming dollars."

Price said in his opinion 25 cents on the dollar is "an absolute minimum reserve for any reasonable guarantee of our currency." He referred to the current shift from the "Silver Certificate" to the "Federal Reserve Note" dollar bill, saying, "When the federal government starts to monkey around with the people's money, questions start popping up. Why was this change made? Is the Treasury Department launching a new kind of money backed up only by a printing press? More than any of us, public officials in Washington must surely know the risk involved when the American citizen begins to lose confidence in his money." The Bureau of Labor Statistics recently announced that today's dollar is worth 44.9 cents by 1939 standards.

Price said, "If BLS figures were projected from 1933 or even earlier, today's dollar would buy only about as much as 20 cents bought 30 years ago. The real test of the value of money is in what it will buy. When more and more dollars buys less and less in goods and services the country is involved with inflation. If inflation is allowed to get out of control, our people will have to have a wheelbarrow full of money to buy one loaf of bread, as did the Chinese just after World War II."

Attacking the fiscal policies of the federal government, Price said "Irresponsibility in tax money management is one of the deadliest of human mistakes. The U.S. has scattered its dollars through no less than 104 of the some 120 organized nations in the world in the form of Foreign Aid. It has dissipated its gold from a reserve of $24.8 billion in 1949 to the current level of $15.6 billion. It wastes hundreds of millions of dollars in loans, gifts and grants on thousands of domestic projects. It drives private firms out of business with public money financing lavish units of competition, and federal funds guarantee loans in every conceivable field of free enterprise.

"With an obligation estimated at over $300 billion in future Social Security benefits; a national debt of $317 billion; a one-year budget of almost $96 billion, and projected annual expenditures of well over $110 billion; and a tax structure that amounts to near - confiscation despite the ill - conceived tax cut, Congress would be far wiser to increase rather than decrease its reserve requirements of gold."

Candidate Price Sounds Warning On Money Policy

Pampa rancher Bob Price, Republican candidate for Congress, took issue Saturday with efforts to repeal the requirement that 25 per cent of Federal Reserve deposits and currency in circulation be supported by gold.

The Joint Congressional Economic Committee has recommended removal of the 25 per cent reserve limitation in order that all U.S. gold would be available to support foreign obligations.

Price called the action "an attempt to remove the last remaining barrier to run away inflation." He said the latest Treasury Department information shows only $15.6 billion in gold reserves as of the end of 1963.

"Under the 25 per cent reserve requirement," Price said, "we must have $13 billion to back up our present currency. That leaves only $2.6 billion in free gold to back up our foreign-held dollars. Conservation Top Subject at School

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI) — Conservation of natural resources might sound like just another classroom subject, duller than most. But to many sixth graders in Washington state, it is high adventure. Children from 15 of the state's school districts spend a week every year at a camp in the woods learning about trees, wildlife, water, soil and the world around them. The kids say they love it. Their teachers say they learn more in the week at camp than they could in a year in the classroom. Conservation is an important subject in timber-rich Washington. So important that state law requires all schools to teach the subject in the sixth grade. Most school districts which do not send their children to camp provide a one-day nature excursion to nearby forests or lakes. An estimated 25,000 students participate in the field trips every year. But to children in the Highline district near Seattle, a one-day trip would be pale fare compared with the week they spend at Camp Waskowitz about 25 miles east of the city. When the Camp Waskowitz was inaugurated eight years ago it was the first of its kind in the state. Today there are similar camps in Pierce, King, Snohomish, Walla Walla, Okanogan and Kittitas counties. The course of study at Camp Waskowitz includes tree pruning, fish planting, identification of types of moss and species of trees and general information about nature and the wise use of its gifts.

Lone Star Gets OK on Gas Storage

DALLAS (Spl) — Lone Star Gas Company has received Railroad Commission of Texas approval to operate an underground natural gas storage project 10 miles south of San Angelo in Tom Green County beginning July 1, according to Carl M. Hill, Lone Star's exploration and gas supply vice president. Construction of above-ground facilities is scheduled to begin August 1. Designated the Pecan Station Storage project and scheduled for completion in early 1965, the project will have a storage capacity of 2.2 billion cubic feet of natural gas in the Canyon Lime formation at a depth of 4,400 feet. Gas storage is expected to begin during the fall of 1964, Mr. Hill said. Mr. Hill indicated that maximum injection will approach 10 million cubic feet of natural gas per day during the summer months, and maximum withdrawal potential will be 50 to 70 million cubic feet of gas during any given 24-hour period. The company also hopes to recover more than 600,000 barrels of oil from the storage reservoir during its active life. Initially, Pecan Station primarily will serve the company's San Angelo distribution system. However, the company plans to join its RH pipeline system with its R pipeline system north of San Angelo and thereby in-

Colts Open Play On Road Today

A mixed bag of youngsters and oldsters will take the field this afternoon at 2 p.m. when the Pampa Colts open their 1961 baseball season with a practice game at Stinnett.

Shorthanded, as many of his regulars are still playing for their college teams and not yet home for the summer, manager Tom Glover has literally scoured the city for a lineup, including himself and Dave Turcotte as utility men!

Glover, a fine catcher more years ago than he likes to remember, and Turcotte, long retired from an active role to take over a Babe Ruth team successfully, have literally dug themselves out of retirement for the occasion. Glover says that the pair will play anywhere they are needed, but hopes that the occasion will not arise.

All but one of his pitching staff are back and will see action in the practice game. Mike Clark, former Pampa High all-district who has returned to the diamond wars, will be the probable starter. Jerry Glover, his ace last year, will be home for the week end from Amarillo College, where he was named all-conference, and will hurl an inning or two.

Blazin' Bobby Price, big left-hander up from the Pampa Rebels, is slated to go several innings, as is Wallace Matthew from Sweetwater, Okla. Bill Tele Troggen, Kansas American Legion pitcher, is not scheduled to throw, but will see outfield or infield duty, as will Ned Patterson, another of last season's hurlers.

Only Colt hurler not available for duty is Royce Harnsberger, still at Wayland College. Other collegians who will miss the game are third baseman Keith Gregory and catcher Mike Stewart at TCU; with Roy Don Stephens and Chuck Brookshire, also expected later in the season.

Glover, Clark and Patterson will cover first base. Merle Terrell, former PHS baseball and catcher, will play second. Matthew and Cotton Hargrove will be at short, with Gary Hill at third base.

Jerry Layne of Odessa will be the only regular outfielder at the game, with all the pitchers slated to split the other two berths. Hargrove is expected to do most of the catching with the "oldtimers" in reserve.

This will be Stinnett's first game of the season also. Seventh in the Tri-State League last year, they should be much improved, promises manager Jim Anderson. Among a host of new players on the team is Texas Tech catcher Larry Anderson. The two teams will play a return pre-district game at Pampa at 8:15 Wednesday night.

Jerry Layne of Odessa will be the only regular outfielder at the game, with all the pitchers slated to split the other two berths. Hargrove is expected to do most of the catching with the "oldtimers" in reserve.

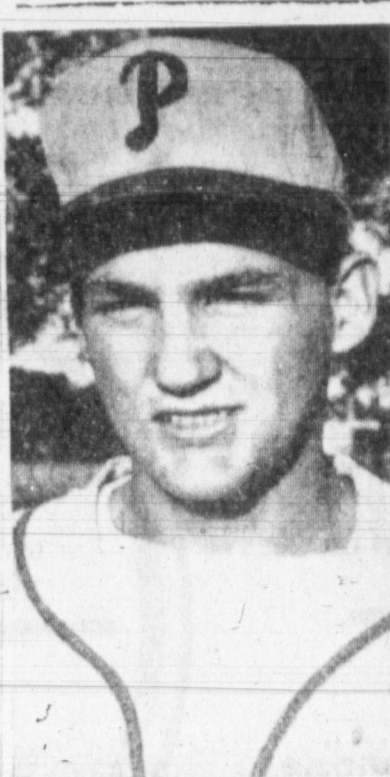

When he crashed on the third lap, paced eight qualifiers for the Memorial Day "500" auto race Saturday. All but four spots were filled in the 33-car lineup.

The time trials will be concluded with a six-hour session Sunday. Police estimated Saturday's crowd at 40,000 and the temperature was in the 80s.

Unser, a blond six-footer from Albuquerque, N. M., drove a new four-wheel drive Novi at an average speed of 154.865 miles per hour, the fifth fastest in three days of qualifications, giving him the inside position in the eighth row.

GOOD START

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sammy Baugh, fresh from the Texas Christian University campus, completed 11 of 16 passes in his first pro football game in 1937 while leading the Washington Redskins to a 13-3 victory over the New York Giants.

When he crashed on the third lap, paced eight qualifiers for the Memorial Day "500" auto race Saturday. All but four spots were filled in the 33-car lineup.

Other drivers, in order of their speeds, were: Bob Vith, Fort Bragg, Calif., 153.381; Eddie Johnson, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, 152.905; Australia's Jack Brabham, 152.504; Bob Harkey, Indianapolis, 151.573; Bob Matheson, Omaha, Neb., 151.451; and Chuck Stevenson, Garden Grove, Calif., 150.830.

NEW YORK (UPI)—There have been four southpaw middleweight champions: Al McCoy, Johnny Wilson, Tiger Flowers and Lou Brouillard.

Bowling

Not too many years ago the bowling lanes, bowling alleys then, went into hibernation during the summer because you could find few pin boys and it was just too darn hot.

With the advent of those mechanical marvels, automatic pin-setters and refrigerated air conditioning, that picture along with the name has changed. Throughout the country all the lanes are busy organizing summer leagues and putting on classes for beginners and advanced bowlers to get a start for next fall.

Summer leagues are fun too, because they are short, ideally timed and those bowling are all out to have a lot of fun. I'm sure anyone interested can find a spot at either of the alleys, pardon me, the lanes.

Changes have been made—a single league, the Peterson Point system, new methods of handicap pins and already some exceptionally good bowling.

Wylene Patrick heating up to a cool 186 average, nice games of 207, 177, 176 and 260. Florence Mounce right behind on the same team with a 499 and Agnes Cox warming up from a first game of 96 to last of 197.

Gwen Carter also setting an average with a 500 series. Wylene Patrick starting in another league with a 525.

Here is an unusual sequence of high, even, games in one league, the singles.

Red Payne, 182, 197, 183—572. Charlie Sinclair, 230, 162, 193—591. John Snuggs, 194, 178, 186—552. Red Herring, 191, 185, 213 and 589.

In for some nice high games: Agnes Cox, 197. Wylene Patrick, 207.

High game: Charlie Sinclair, 230. Gil Burgund, 224. John Pe-

CONSECUTIVE WINS
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Jockey John Sellers rode the last three winners on the Oct. 3, 1961 racing program and the first five the following day at Atlantic City to equal the record of eight consecutive victories set by Howard Craig at Waterford Park, July 2-3, 1961.

STEALERS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Washington Senators stole eight bases in the first inning of a game against the Cleveland Indians on July 19, 1915.

Chisox Move in Front Of Baltimore In AL

Chicago Coasts Over Senators

CHICAGO (UPI)—The league-leading Chicago White Sox scored nine runs in the second inning Saturday and coasted to a 14-2 win over the Washington Senators.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Sox and moved them a half a game ahead of Baltimore in the standings. Every man in the starting White Sox lineup except right-fielder Floyd Robinson hit safely. The White Sox collected 17 hits off four Washington pitchers, equalling their hit total made against Kansas City May 6.

The 14 runs topped their previous high run output of 11 made against Kansas City in the same game.

Braves Batter Cardinals, 8-4

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The Milwaukee Braves slammed four home runs, two of them by rookie Rico Carty, to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals and Roger Craig 8-4 Saturday.

Carty's homers, his third and fourth since being inserted into the starting lineup less than two weeks ago, accounted for five runs and pulled the Braves from a 2-0 deficit to a lead they never relinquished.

The other homers, one on inside the park blast by Felipe Alou in the sixth, and the other a solo clout by Henry Aaron in the eighth, were just insurance as reliever Billy Hoelt took over in the sixth inning to stop the Cardinals cold.

Bill White's sixth homer of the year in the second scored the first Cardinal run and the second came in on a single by Craig, a sacrifice by Curt Flood and a double by Dick Groat in the third.

START OF DAVIS CUP
NEW YORK (UPI)—Davis Cup tennis matches, tops in international men's team competition, were inaugurated in 1900.

NEW YORK (UPI)—No U.S. player has held our national men's singles tennis championship since Tony Trabert in 1955.

Grand Slammer Defeats Yankees

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rookie second baseman Bobby Knoop's bases-filled home run in the sixth inning tagged Al Downing with his first defeat of the season Saturday when the Los Angeles Angels defeated the New York Yankees, 9-5.

It wasn't Downing, however, who served up the gopher pitch, to Knoop. The Yankees were leading, 5-4, when Downing filled the bases on a single and two walks with one down in the sixth. Bill Stafford replaced him and Knoop, who had drawn a walk with the bases full in the Angels' three-run second inning, belted the ball into the left field stands for his first major league grand slam.

Bob Dilliba, who replaced starter Bo Belinsky in the fourth, gained credit for his first victory of the year. Bob Lee protected Dilliba's victory with a strong four-inning relief job.

Mickey Mantle rapped Belinsky for a two-run homer in the first inning, a 450-foot rap into the right field bleachers just under the scoreboard.

DOUBLE DOSE
CHICAGO (UPI)—Ed Reulbach pitched a doubleheader shutout for the Chicago Cubs against the Brooklyn Dodgers on Sept. 26, 1908, winning by scores of 5-0 and 3-0.

Sport Chutist Dives to Death

HOUSTON (UPI)—A Houston sports parachutist plummeted to his death Saturday when his parachute failed to open properly. Among horrified spectators of the fatal jump was the victim's daughter.

The victim was Carroll Gene Saunders, 27, of Houston. Officials said he was jumping with other members of the Houston Parachute Club, near an airfield northeast of Houston, near Crosby, Tex.

Saunders and Harry Kuhn of Sugar Land jumped out of a single-engine airplane at altitude of around 4,500 feet. They intended to have free fall until around 2,500 feet. When they were to open their parachutes, Saunders' main chute did not open correctly, officials said. The parachute opened only partially and Saunders went into a spin. When he tried to open the reserve parachute, it fouled with the other into a cordlike tangle and would not open. He fell to earth near the sound end of a runway.

He lived only shortly afterward.

ERRORLESS
HOUSTON (UPI)—Bob Aspromonte of the Houston Colts set a National League record by playing 57 consecutive errorless games at third base from July 17 through September 19, 1962.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Washington Senators stole eight bases in the first inning of a game against the Cleveland Indians on July 19, 1915.

Four extremely healthy and eager young men dropped into the office Friday ready to run. They composed the state champion Booker High mile relay team of Shayne Slovacek, Larry Trooper, Bill Hughes and Jim Meier who set a Class B record in 3:23.9. Trooper will also replace graduating Bill Stone on the sprint relay team, also state champs in a record time of 43.9.

The quartet, and several of their teammates, are hungry to get set for action for the Pampa Track Club this summer, and also reported that former state champ sprinter Leslie Lee, now at Texas Tech., is looking forward to competition in the open class.

Red-headed Hughes, spokesman for the group, said the quartet also had ambitions to run in the open class to improve their time, as well as the five junior high and high school meets that coach Norman Phillips tentatively had scheduled in June and July. A goal of 3:20 this summer and of 3:14 next season is what the quartet have set for themselves and coach Ray Robinson.

The crew are also hungry for competition in individual events. Slovacek, state quarter-mile champ with a best time of 49.2, was unsure that he could run the open quarter as well as both relays, but allowed that he might have breath left for the 100-yard dash, in which he has scampered 59.9. Meier was doubtful he could run the high hurdles, but Hughes would like to take a crack at the 220, in which he has clocked 22.2 as well as the broadjump, where he has cleared 21 feet. Trooper, an ambitious youngster, also wanted to improve his broadjump of 19-11 3/4.

Miller Rex Hoover reportedly wants to take a leaf from Mark Westbrook's book and switch to the 800. Since several of the meets will not have the mile run, Westy will also compete in the 800.

Although we were admittedly rooting for Wheeler in the state meet, if anyone had to beat them, you couldn't find a nicer bunch of young men, or a more dedicated crew, than the Booker Klöwas. It will be nice to have them running with us instead of in front of us, this summer.

Lee Junior High coach John Hale, assisting Phillips with the PTC this summer, has "recruited" state shot put and discus champ Howard Van Loon of Rotan. Although a Rotan native, Hale had to actually do very little recruiting, as the boy who has come closest to Randy Matson's high school records plans to emulate him in college as well, being Texas A&M bound.

SPEAKING OF TRACK, a number of phone calls have been received from people rather unhappy because the state Jaycee Junior Champ meet will not be taking either girls or pee-wee class, although the Pampa Jaycees had been under the impression they would. Jaycee chairman James "Red" Weathered explained that last year both girls and pee-wees (10-11 year olds) had competed at state meet, Debbie Bennett being an example, and the local club had assumed that it would be the same way this year. At the last minute, complete instructions for state meet qualifiers came in which did not have either girls or pee-wee classes.

A little confusion also ensued because little information was given on the senior (16-17) division. It is still not sure whether the Irving meet will have an 800-yard or mile run for Mark Westbrook to compete in. The Pampa Track Club may send Little Butch Crossland in the broad jump and Randy Elliott in the pole vault and broad jump, and also in the low hurdles, although it is not sure whether they will have 120 or 180-yard lows.

STINETT AMERICAN LEAGION coach Bobby Cooper is an unhappy man. Bobby, as many of you know, was the seventh member of the Stinnett School Board, who was in the hospital when the move to fire the football coach ensued. Upon the infuriated response of outraged students and parents, the cut-throats backed water and held another vote upon Cooper's return, which reinstated the coach. Bobby, calling about a Legion baseball game, said he was embarrassed about the whole thing because of the bad publicity the school had received.

In the mailbag: Several years ago when I was teaching the fourth grade at Sam Houston School in Pampa, (my first year of teaching and incidentally the school I attended as a child) I had nineteen very active, sports-minded boys in my room, one of whom was Randy Matson. After two years of teaching,

REUNION — Pampa's Olympic candidate, Randy Matson, has a happy reunion with his old grade school teacher in California. (See 'Sporting Sidelines')

we moved to Bakersfield, California where I am now the television teacher for the Bakersfield City Schools. Last week when Randy was at the Coliseum, my husband Ken Ross and I went down to see Randy perform. We visited with him briefly after the shot-put event, and I must say I haven't heard such a pleasant "Yes, m'am" since I moved to California. Except for the added height and weight, he seemed like the same well-mannered fourth grader that I taught.

Those nineteen fourth grade boys I mentioned earlier named themselves the Ross Mustangs and were real 'terrors' on the softball field. It has been such a delight following the sports activities of Randy and the other boys in that first class through the Pampa News.

Twins Lack HRs, Still Take Win

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — Lee Stange scattered seven hits to give the Minnesota Twins a 5-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Saturday even though muscular home run-hitters took an unaccustomed day off. Stange went all the way to pick up his first victory of the year against two losses. Three of his 12 wins last year were at the expense of the Orioles.

The Twins scored three runs in the second when Oriole starter Dave McNally had a streak of wildness. A walk, Jimmie Hall's single and Earl Battey's sacrifice fly accounted for one run. After two more walks, Zolo Versailles singled in two runs.

Rebels No Longer in Amarillo District

American Legion Loop Slate Set

By JEFF COHANE
Pampa News Sports Editor
AMARILLO — Amarillo American Legion baseball teams have finally gotten rid of Pampa... after eight years of trying.

For the past eight years, the Pampa Rebels have finished either first or second in the district made up primarily of Amarillo teams. A district meeting Friday night solved the problem for the Amarilloans... by placing Pampa and Borger in another district entirely.

At the meeting called by Justice of the Peace Cliff Roberts, a meeting interrupted several times by anxious young couples desiring to get married, the Amarillo teams were placed in a district by themselves, and Pampa and Borger in the south zone of a 12-team district scattered from the Oklahoma border to the boundaries of New Mexico.

Reason for the switch, explained Roberts, is that Amarillo, as the host city for the state American Legion Tournament this year, is automatically entitled to have a team representing them, and the city teams will play among themselves for the honor. The rest of the teams in District 18 will play in two six-team divisions, the top two teams to meet in district playoffs in mid-July, after which the winner will play the Lubbock area winner for the right to compete in the state tournament.

The new south zone will have Pampa, Borger, Vega, Canyon, Perryton and Dumas. The north zone will have Childress, Hereford, Friona, Dimmitt, Nazareth and Light.

Pampa and Borger are the only returnees from the old south zone. Dumas and Canyon were formerly in the north zone and Vega and Perryton will be playing baseball for the first time.

Pampa will have the heaviest Legion schedule of its history, playing ten district games, ten games with Oklahoma teams, two games with longtime foe Amarillo Sandies and a game with Stinnett, as well as a pre-district game with Borger.

Bosox Edge Past Kansas City A's

BOSTON (UPI) — Pinch hitter Felix Mantilla belted a two-run homer with one out in the last of the ninth Saturday to give the Boston Red Sox a comeback 5-4 win over the Kansas City Athletics.

The Mantilla homer, his second of the season, came off ace Athletic reliever John Wyatt and after Kansas City had scored in the top of the ninth. Kansas City's Jim Gentile slugged his seventh and eighth homers, both with the bases empty and drove in an unearned run with a fifth-inning sacrifice fly. The A's took a short lived lead in the ninth on a double by Dick Green and a single by Ed Charles.

Santo Leads Cubs Over Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Ron Santo pounded three hits and drove home three runs Saturday to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 5-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Chicago southpaw Dick Ellsworth, getting a helping hand from Lindy McDaniel in the seventh, posted his fourth victory against four losses. Red right hander Jim Maloney, Ellsworth's high school teammate in Fresno, Calif., was the loser. He was rapped for four runs and eight hits before bowing out for a pinchhitter in the third inning. Bill Henry hit Dick Bertell with a pitched ball with the bases loaded to force home the Cubs' final run in the eighth inning.

Wagner Wallops Way for Tribe

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Leon Wagner hammered out his eighth home run and two singles to drive in five runs and lead Jim Grant and the Cleveland Indians to an 11-9 victory over the Detroit Tigers Saturday in a game delayed by rain for an hour.

The outburst enabled Wagner to take over the American League lead with 32 runs batted in and presented Grant with his third win against three losses. Phil Regan, the first of five Detroit pitchers, was tagged with his fourth loss against three wins.

Grant took over in the fifth inning from rookie Tommy John with the Tribe trailing, 4-3. The Indians jumped on three Detroit pitchers for eight runs to help Grant to his victory.

Important Role of Insurance To Be Emphasized in Pampa

Underwriters Mark Special Observance

The importance of life insurance as a vital thrift and protection medium for the American family, the vital role played by life insurance underwriters as family financial advisers, and the contribution made by the life insurance business to the American economy will be dramatized this week in Pampa during Life Insurance Week.

Life Insurance Week is sponsored by the Pampa Association of Life Underwriters, one of 800 affiliates of The National Association of Life Underwriters, Washington. The Pampa association carries on an extensive program of life insurance education, public service, and public relations designed to advance the standards of conduct, professional stature and job skills of career life insurance salesmen.

The local life insurance celebration will be "kicked-off" on May 25 with the signing of a special proclamation by Mayor

H. R. Thompson. Highlights of the Life Insurance Week observance will be display of posters, distribution of materials relating to life insurance and the work of life underwriters, showing of films on life insurance, inflation, and social security, speaking appearances of association members before local civic and business groups, newspaper articles, radio and TV interviews, etc.

In commenting on the local Life Insurance Week, John McCausland, president of the Pampa Association, declared that "there are two main reasons for our sponsorship of this project. We hope to bring about (1) a greater appreciation and understanding of life insurance, and (2) it is our aim to stimulate interest among the general public in seeking the professional counsel of career life underwriters in making sure that life insurance programs are up-to-date and attuned to every family and business need."

STORE STRIKE SPREADS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A five-week strike of food market clerks in the Baltimore area spilled over Saturday into the Washington area. The strikers set up picket lines at a number of Safeway stores here.

The Washington Food Store Clerks Union local said its members would not cross the picket lines set up by the Baltimore local members. The Baltimore strike affected all chain supermarkets although it was directed primarily at Safeway.

FINDS PARTTIME JOB

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Luci Baines Johnson, the President's 16-year-old daughter, has found herself a parttime summer job—like millions of other American youngsters.

Starting June 15 she will work as an assistant to an optometrist, Dr. Robert A. Krasnik. She will work three days a week.

Luci already has qualified for the job. Krasnik trained her for it himself.

Pampa Insurance Man Finds Surprises on Trip to Mexico

Mark Buzzard, in Mexico recently to attend an insurance conference in Mexico City and Acapulco, found our next door neighbor a country of great and colorful contrasts.

"I was most impressed with the business climate in Mexico," the Pampa insurance man said. "Industrial Production and Manufacturing are continuing to grow. I am told Mexico's Automobile Industry, for example, expects to turn out 80,000 automobiles and 35,000 trucks a year by 1970. Agricultural production is rising. Investments in new highways, power plants, housing, irrigation systems and other long term projects are continuing to boom.

"Two things that take a visitor by surprise are the fast pace of life and the many, many activities that are carried on in Mexico. The city literally bustles day and night with activity."

"Some of the most beautiful tree lined streets and boulevards, I have ever seen cross Mexico City. The pleasant squares with their fountains and statues are old world influences still reflected in modern Mexico. Sidewalk cafes are a welcome convenience, especially as stops on sightseeing tours," he said.

The one most important impression of the current trip, Buzzard reports is "The friendliness, dignity and charm of the Mexican people."

Buzzard was selected by Allstate Insurance Companies as one of 100 outstanding Agents from a Sales Force of more than 5,000 to attend the International Conference in Mexico. At the meetings, Buzzard conferred with Judson B. Branch, Allstate's President, and other top officers of the company.

Buzzard was accompanied by his wife, Mary. After flying to Mexico City, the couple drove over superhighways to Acapulco with stops along the way at Cuernavaca and Taxco.

WHEAT NEED

NINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — At the present rate of world wheat consumption and population growth, the United States will need to increase its wheat production by 300 per cent in the next 35 years — even if American farmers are to provide only a fourth of the world's needs, according to H. Robert Diercks, an official of Cargill, Inc., grain exporter.

The Smithsonian Institution was founded through a gift made by James Smithson, an Englishman who never even visited the United States.

The Top O' Texas Association of Life Underwriters, covering the whole Eastern half of the Texas Panhandle, has led the State of Texas in membership activities since January of 1964. The association's president, John P. McCausland, stated that the group now has 151 per cent of the quota allotted them by the National Association and rank in the top 10 in the nation. The purpose of the association is to promote ethical practice to protect both the policyholder and the Underwriter throughout the Insurance Industry and to bring a closer and professional understanding between the underwriter and the

Insurance Men Are Experts on Plans

There are more than 200,000 life insurance agents in the United States. These men and women — for nearly 7,000 of them are women — are experts on family financial planning. They are helping American families to put their plans in sound shape and build up a wall of protection against the financial repercussions which follow the death of the income producer.

Today's life insurance agents are far different from those of a generation ago. The old agent was primarily a seller of policies. Today's agent is an advisor on family finances; he has to know the details concerning a broad array of policy types and how they relate to many things, including taxes, estate distribution, the laws of inheritance.

Because life insurance is so universally owned and in a large number of cases is the sole wealth of the family, it is vitally important that the services of the life insurance agent be used to the utmost in working out the insurance and whole financial plan for the family. The life insurance agent should be taken into the family's confidence on the financial planning just as effectively as the doctor is brought in on matters of health. When this is done, the agent, knowing the whole picture can prescribe the most effective and most economical life insurance plan within the means of the family.

The life insurance agent can often save a family much money and heartache by careful giving of pointers as to its protection. By setting up the most effective form of payment for the policy benefits, for instance, a family can often draw much more than otherwise from a policy. This is where the agent can be especially helpful.

While the services of an agent are needed by all policyholders, they are strikingly valuable in the case of family programs

Surety Men Schedule Installation Banquet

The Top O' Texas Association of Life Underwriters will hold their installation of newly elected officers and directors at the annual banquet scheduled for May 28 at the Pampa Country Club.

Principal speaker for the affair will be James V. Story of Wichita Falls. Story is immediate past president of the Texas Association of Life Underwriters.

Other officers to be installed are Frank Smith of Borger as vice president and W. B. Johnson of Pampa as secretary-treasurer.

Directors to serve for the coming year are Fred Thompson, Jack Rose and E. E. Sheldhamer of Pampa and Weldon Lewis of Borger.

Another highlight of the banquet will be the selection of the Life Underwriter of the Year.

Modern Technique Different

Years Alter Insurance Agent

If you haven't been around long enough to make this observation — ask your elders for their opinion. Chances are that they have noticed the big change that's come over that second most important man in your family's affairs. . . . the life insurance agent.

Fifty years ago, a new agent was given a rate book, some basic policies and the admonition "Go out and sell!" Today, with 86 per cent of America's families already owning life insurance. . . . the agent has set aside most of his glib, convincing techniques and no longer relies mainly on salesmanship and emotional appeals.

He has risen to a new position of trust and confidence because of a new emphasis on intelligent analysis of human problems. Often he plays the role of "budget maker," sharing a family's hopes and plans for making dreams come true.

Isn't it true you expect the agent to know which type of life insurance plan you and your family will need most at various milestones in your life? Because you have come to regard the agent as a family financial adviser, don't you also count on him to share with you his basic understanding of bank interest, income tax, government bonds, the stock market, social security provisions, estate conservation, retirement benefits, as they relate to your particular situation?

Your agent's knowledge of complex financial planning would be ineffective, though, if he weren't also versed in the price of groceries and clothing, school expenses and medical costs.

In the days before life insurance "grew up," chances are you wouldn't have gotten any of these professional services from your agent.

In fact, there was a time long ago, when you couldn't be sure of getting ANY money back on your investment in life insurance! Underwriters of the 17th and 18th centuries, for example, often had their office "in their hat" . . . by the time a claim for settlement was made, these wily operators might have vanished!

People in those times bought insurance in the form of wagers. Would the ailing Bishop Live past January 1st? Will the notorious Countess go to the guillotine? When George II rode off to war, 25 per cent was paid against his return!

The Gambling Act of 1774 purged life insurance of the gambling evils that made a mockery of its main purpose. This purpose, of course, being protection.

We've come a long way in life insurance since then. Today more than 120 million American policyholders rely on this protection. Why? Because they have CONFIDENCE, both in the companies issuing their policies. . . . and in the life insurance agents who sell this essential product.

It is only through this country's estimated 240,000 full-time agents that most families know what life insurance is. . . . and what it can do for them.

Take, for example, the case of a young married couple. The "other man in their life," helps them lay the foundations of future financial security. First he will consider the wage earner's potential income.

If the husband is a grade school graduate, he may be expected to earn $179,000 in his lifetime. A high school graduate, $243,000. When there's a college diploma on the wall of the newlyweds' apartment, the husband can consider himself good for $343,000!

How much life insurance should he carry? There are a number of things to consider before deciding.

The insurance, primarily, should be enough to provide a substantial income for his wife and dependent children in the event of the husband's death.

But life insurance is for the living, too! More and more people invest in life insurance as a form of savings and security. Nowadays, in fact, much more money is being paid out to living policyholders than to beneficiaries of deceased policyholders!

The reasons for savings through life insurance are obvious.

The birth of a child poses the problem of meeting the future high cost of education. College in 1962 cost about $2,000 a year. . . . and the cost of living tends to rise about 2 per cent a year. . . . how large an educational fund will baby need 17 or 18 years from now?

The family might want to buy a home some day. With mortgages carried for periods up to 30 years, the "cost" of that dream cottage can easily climb to TWICE its purchase price.

"Haven't we met?"

... at the hardware store? Around the neighborhood? Or maybe at the Allstate office where I am an Agent helping folks get low insurance rates. By the way, how's your protection? Your life insurance for instance? Auto? Homeowners? Business? Health insurance? Let's talk about it sometime.

Mark Buzzard, Agent

large enough to be affected by taxes. Here, important economies in both time and dollars can often be effected through the careful planning of the agents.

The agent's services should be used continuously throughout the life of the policy for re-checking it year after year so that it will always be up to date. Needs change and the conditions under which payment would be made change and the policy often has to be changed to fit properly into the new conditions. A man may change his job, move his residence, have an increase in income, marry, have children or in some other way alter the needs for insurance and call for some revision in policy provisions.

All this requires the re-checking know-how of the agent, and his services should be called upon automatically every year or two, whether there is any apparent change or not. The new circumstances may have developed without the policyholder being aware of them.

This re-checking costs the policyholder nothing. It is a part of the service which comes with his policy. The agent is glad to come in every year or so and go over the insurance program. And if the agent who sold the policy is no longer alive or living in the community, some other agent of that company will give this service.

Above all, if the policyholder is to get the most out of his life insurance, he should keep a close relationship with his life insurance agent and take him into full confidence on matters relating to the family financial program.

The reasons for savings through life insurance are obvious.

The birth of a child poses the problem of meeting the future high cost of education. College in 1962 cost about $2,000 a year. . . . and the cost of living tends to rise about 2 per cent a year. . . . how large an educational fund will baby need 17 or 18 years from now?

The family might want to buy a home some day. With mortgages carried for periods up to 30 years, the "cost" of that dream cottage can easily climb to TWICE its purchase price.

and 18th centuries, for example, often had their office "in their hat" . . . by the time a claim for settlement was made, these wily operators might have vanished!

People in those times bought insurance in the form of wagers. Would the ailing Bishop Live past January 1st? Will the notorious Countess go to the guillotine? When George II rode off to war, 25 per cent was paid against his return!

The Gambling Act of 1774 purged life insurance of the gambling evils that made a mockery of its main purpose. This purpose, of course, being protection.

We've come a long way in life insurance since then. Today more than 120 million American policyholders rely on this protection. Why? Because they have CONFIDENCE, both in the companies issuing their policies. . . . and in the life insurance agents who sell this essential product.

It is only through this country's estimated 240,000 full-time agents that most families know what life insurance is. . . . and what it can do for them.

Take, for example, the case of a young married couple. The "other man in their life," helps them lay the foundations of future financial security. First he will consider the wage earner's potential income.

If the husband is a grade school graduate, he may be expected to earn $179,000 in his lifetime. A high school graduate, $243,000. When there's a college diploma on the wall of the newlyweds' apartment, the husband can consider himself good for $343,000!

How much life insurance should he carry? There are a number of things to consider before deciding.

The insurance, primarily, should be enough to provide a substantial income for his wife and dependent children in the event of the husband's death.

But life insurance is for the living, too! More and more people invest in life insurance as a form of savings and security. Nowadays, in fact, much more money is being paid out to living policyholders than to beneficiaries of deceased policyholders!

Insurance Becomes Necessity for Family

Life insurance has come to be almost a custom-built form of family protection. In the early days of the business, there were merely three or four types of policies and the choice was simple. The effectiveness was also somewhat limited.

Today, however, there are scores of different kinds of policies, each designed to fit a specific need and special program for the insured.

While the selection of the specific policy should be on the recommendation of a life insurance agent, who is a technical expert on the many varied types, the life insurance buyer could profitably understand in advance the chief types and the primary uses.

To begin with, of course, there are participating and non-participating policies. The participating policies have a fixed premium somewhat larger than what will probably be needed under normal conditions, but dividends are payable annually to the policyholder to refund any amounts not required to meet actual costs of the policies.

The non-participating policies have a set premium which holds for the life of the policy. These policies have smaller premiums than charged on the participating ones since the costs are anticipated. Although the premiums are smaller, there are no refunds.

Then there are the basic types of policies — ordinary, industrial and group. Ordinary insurance is the larger-size, individually bought type, usually in multiples of $1,000 and with premiums usually payable annually, semi-annually, quarterly or monthly. Industrial insurance averaging somewhat smaller is the type where weekly or monthly premiums are collected at the door. Group life insurance is that written on a number of people, usually an employer-employee group, covering the individual for the duration of his belonging to that group.

Within each of the main types of insurance, there are several kinds of policies. Ordinary insurance has the largest number of such varying kinds. A very popular kind is the straight life, which provides protection for the entire lifetime, with premiums payable throughout life. Then there is the limited-payment life policy — 20-payment, 15-payment or such — which gives lifetime protection, but requires premium payments only over a specified number of years.

Endowment policies are those which, while affording protection during the time they are in force, provide that the face amount of the policy will be paid to the policyholder himself after a specified number of years. Retirement income policies are a variation of endowments, providing that the amount payable will come in the form of an income for life.

There are also policies designed for the extra protection needed in the early years of greater family responsibility, providing, in the event of death of the policyholder, an income for a period like fifteen or twenty

Because they don't know what you're about to learn over half these men will be permanently broke...will you?

Statistics prove that the typical breadwinner earns more than $240,000 during his working years. Surprising, isn't it, that the figures also prove that 54% of these men are some broke at retirement age? Who are these men who are broke? To whom did they entrust the planning for their financial future?

You probably know people who are always out of cash by two days before payday. Maybe you're one of them.

Perhaps this is the best indication that real trouble will begin when steady income stops. . . . when the "happy" years of retirement begin.

There is a way for such people to keep a sizeable portion of their $240,000. There is a way for them to keep money working to make more money. And this program works. . . . even for men who have tried to save money other ways and failed. The new Franklin Insured Savings Program shows you how to accumulate money fast. . . . money that you can't steal from yourself. Learn how. Write today for the free booklet, "The Secret of the Top 5%."

Who are we? The Franklin is the largest legal reserve stock life insurance company in the world devoted exclusively to the underwriting of Ordinary and Annuity plans. In just 22 years, this 78-year-old company has grown from $177 million to over $4.4 billion insurance in force.

Cattlemen Make Five Day Tour

Spectacular and advanced developments in feed production, cattle feeding and cattle marketing in the Texas Panhandle and adjacent areas have drawn more than 100 cattlemen, feedlot operators and packers to Amarillo this week for the five-day Texas - New Mexico-Oklahoma Feedlot and Ranch Study Tour.

The visiting men and women, from throughout the West, South and the Corn Belt, will gather today at Amarillo's Ramada Inn. Monday morning chartered buses will take them to the first tour call. This will be at 8:15 at the Amarillo Livestock Auction, the world's largest auction market center for feeder and stocker cattle.

The auction's J. R. Taylor and Ed Johnson will be hosts in the sale pavilion to a discussion of the kinds of cattle sold and the movement of these and from the vast wheat pasture areas nearby, and to and from the region's new and expanding feedlots.

Taylor and other tour hosts make it clear that local people are strongly invited to each stop. The tour is being conducted by Western Livestock Journal, Denver, Colorado. Forrest Bassford, that publication's executive editor, who is in charge, explains that not only are all livestock interested people invited to each and all stops, but that members of 4-H Clubs and FFA Chapters are cordially welcome, too.

Two other morning calls will be made Monday prior to the lunch stop at Stratford.

First, at 10:30, the party of buses and private automobiles will pull into the Dietrichsen & Son Feed Yard, Dumas, Texas. George P. Dietrichsen and his son, Howard, are transplanted Nebraska feeders who selected Dumas for this operation because of the tremendous local production of milo and silage. They have capacity for 6,500 cattle and do custom feeding for ranchers and packers.

Scientific feed formulation and mechanized equipment for delivery of it to the cattle will be two discussion features during this call.

A change of pace will come later in the morning when visitors will see a huge, modern sprinkler system irrigating crops and pasture on the Buckles Angus Ranch south of Stratford. There they also will examine the Buckles planting of Midland Bermudagrass, a hybrid with fantastic carrying capacity. It was originally feared that this grass would not survive northern Texas winters, but the Buckles stand is five years old and showing further improvement with each year.

After a catered lunch at the Sherman County facilities in Stratford, the caravan turns eastward to the Bivins Coldwater Cattle Co. Coldwater ranch for a look at a commercial Hereford operation. At this call, Manager R. F. "Bob" Brandenburg and his crew will explain their handling of cows to be culled. Those in calf are wintered on silage and some grain. When they calve, the calves are weaned immediately, the cows are dried up and sold. They will also show how they background (grow on roughage and some grain) short yearling cattle for spring sale.

The day's last call has Dean Cluck as host at his Dean Cluck Feed Yards, Gruver. This is one of the newest custom feeding lots in the Panhandle. Cluck has the farm land, the irrigation and the big farming equipment to produce much of the feed he uses. His feed mill and roughage handling equipment will come in for much discussion.

Nightfall that first day will find the visitors at the Dale Hotel, Guymon, Oklahoma. Tuesday's travel will take them to the Panhandle Livestock Commission Co. at the Guymon Stock Yards (the yards are a community enterprise), then to the Henry C. Hitch Ranch and feedlot with extensive crop production adjacent with advanced tillage methods. Panhandle A & M College, Goodwell, Oklahoma, will display for discussion experiments in straight concentrate feeding of cattle and lunch will be in the college cafeteria, according to Prof. Milton England.

Back into Texas, the group will see Gooch Feed Yards at Dalhart and the O. G. Hill Jr. Quarter Horses at Hereford, with the night in Hereford.

Wednesday's visits will be at Hereford Feed Yard, Inc., and the 10,000 - capacity feedlot being built for Holly Sugar Co. at Hereford; Friona Feed Yard, Inc. Friona; lunch at Clovis, N. M., followed by visits to the Ranchers & Farmers Livestock Auction Co. and Clovis Cattle Commission Co. yards, with the final call on Hammond Ranch near Clovis where commercial Herefords and Quarter Horses will be spotlighted.

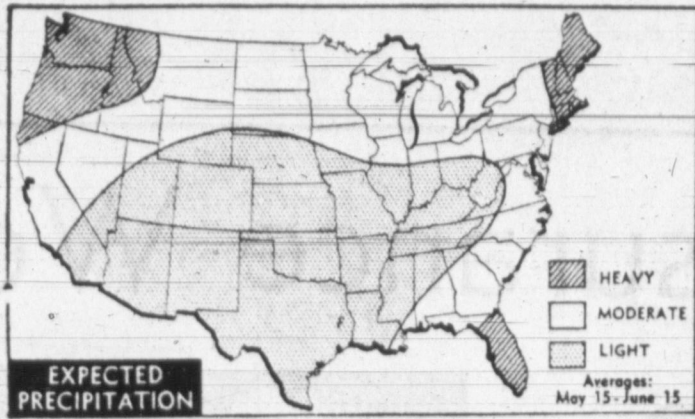

First thing Thursday the Swift & Co. plant, Clovis, will be toured, followed by a stop at King's Feed Lots, Muleshoe, Texas; lunch in Sudan, and afternoon visits with Sudan Livestock and Feeding Co., Sudan, and the Simmons Feed Yard, Lubbock.

After the night in Lubbock, the tour's final day opens with two hours on experimental work and in the meats laboratory at Texas Tech. Then comes the highly automated small feedlot of Bill Finkner at Petersburg; lunch in Plainview and the tour's final call on Parker Cattle Co., Canyon, before returning to the Ramada Inn at Amarillo at 4:30 for disbanding.

A vast area of the U.S. will see sprinklers do yeoman duty till mid-June if Weather Bureau estimate is correct.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
(Gray County Agricultural Agent)

Last week was a busy one with us. We are attempting to get some field crop demonstrations on the ground over a wide area of the county. On Monday we assisted Gary Doss, a young farmer in the Grandview Community, set a grain drill. Gary will have a variety of demonstrations on three different varieties of milo. We set his drill to plant 12 lbs. per acre in double rows spaced eight inches apart in the top of 40 inch beds. According to Billy Gunter, Agronomy Specialist, Extension Service, Lubbock, double rowed milo will yield single rowed milo by a 1000 lbs. per acre providing you supply all the water and fertilizer needed.

Pre-Emergent Cotton Spray
Hank and Irvin Cole used a pre-emergent spray on approximately 12 acres located 14 miles south of Pampa on Highway 70, last Tuesday. To my knowledge this is the first such demonstration in the county. Farming is becoming very scientific. Immediately after the Coles planted their cotton they sprayed a 12 inch bank of chemical over the drill row. If everything works according to plan, it will keep all weeds down but not hurt the cotton. Regular mechanical equipment on the tractor can keep the middle clean. Nothing short of a hand hoeing operation can take weeds out of untreated cotton. Cost of treating an acre with the chemical runs less than $3.00. Hand hoeing can run as high as $15.00 to $20.00.

A chemical somewhat similar works on maize ground. It is practical on irrigated land in some cases but is not recommended on dryland because of the cost factor.

Grandview Picnic
We enjoyed the barbecue and picnic at the Grandview Community last Thursday. It was one of the largest attendance I have seen in many years. Mr. and Mrs. John Baggerman furnished the barbecue as they have done for many years.

Irrigated Wheat
Our irrigation farmers are making considerable progress in producing high yielding irrigated wheat. Most farmers have not turned their irrigation wells off until recently. When they finished irrigating on one side they turned right back on the other. I have seen some irrigated fields that will beat 50 bu.

Roy Tinsley, who farms just east of Pampa has some of the best irrigated wheat I have ever seen him produce. Last fall he put down 60 lbs. of Nitrogen. He wasn't satisfied with the way his wheat was doing early this spring and asked our help. We recommended an additional 60 lbs. of Nitrogen. Tinsley added the additional fertilizer and has been highly pleased with the results.

Paul and Jim Eakin have one of the best irrigated wheat crops that I've seen. They farm about five miles south of the Celanese Plant.

Dryland wheat will do much better than the average person would think. There will be some producers that will make between 15-20 bu. I told a fellow from McLean this a few days back and he thought I had gone off my rooker. He said, "You haven't had any moisture since the snow." This is very true but when you get a snow such as we had in February you can't keep from making some wheat this country.

We could have made a 40 bu. crop with nothing more than a normal weather pattern for March, April and May.

Cotton Insects
Early season cotton insects such as thrips have been noted in large numbers on cotton that is just coming up on the Roy Tinsley farm. Bill Rich also has had trouble.

We recommended the use of deltrin in a spray. This should be done at weekly intervals for three consecutive sprayings.

4-H Work

Several 4-H club members in the county with beef cattle projects have begun giving shots of Vitamin A, D & E. This is to stimulate the calves appetite. Results have been noticed by Brenda and J. T. Winters at Kingsmill.

Gary Richardson has started working with a show stick on his calf. There is no doubt that his calf will be ready for next years show.

Leonard Taylor has an excellent garden started, but claims he needs a rain.

Bill Skaggs and Stephen Maddox presented their 4-H Field Crops Demonstration, entitled "Keys to Growing High Yielding Dryland Milo" to the adult farmers meeting held in the Court House Annex, Friday night. Also presenting their demonstration at this meeting was Jim Craig and Lee Pulse. The title of their demonstration is "Is Vitamin A Deficiency Robbing Your Profits?"

SCS News

By VAN MILLS
C. C. Organ seeded approximately 40 acres of native grass on his farm south of Pampa. The land he seeded consists of old cultivated fields that are low in production due to the undesirable vegetation. Establishing desirable grasses and a sound management program will improve productivity of this land.

Midland Bermudagrass—John Haynes sprigged 20 acres of Midland Bermudagrass on the M. G. Mullanax farm west of McLean. This grass will produce a large amount of grazing if properly managed. It is very important to rotate grazing, fertilize and irrigate the grass regularly.

Tommy Smitherman, Cecil Seaney, D. W. Swain, Elmer Balch and T. D. Anderwald plan to sprig Bermudagrass this year.

Brush Control — Billy Davis plans to start spraying sand-sage brush this week. He has sprayed several acres in the past few years and has had excellent results. Billy said that by killing competitive brush the more desirable forage plants will have a chance to grow. He recommends a three to five month deferment of the grass following spraying.

SPACE AGE MEDICINE WILL EFFECT YOU

There are nearly as many physicians and medical researchers involved in the flight of an astronaut as there are engineers and technicians. The effect on the astronaut's body is studied very closely and the data collected is already used in the development of new and more effective medicines.

Someday soon we will start to get these new medicines in our pharmacy and physicians will be writing prescriptions for them. When we see a spectacular space feat we know that it also represents a big step in the conquest of disease and the maintenance of good health.

Dear Abby...

If She's 70 and You're 68, What's Your Problem?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: So a 76-year-old "playboy" runs after girls at a convention eh? Well, a 70-year-old widow is running after my husband right here at home. She lives next door and is ever here almost every day asking my husband's advice on something. He is a retired banker and is flattered by her attentions. He tries to answer her questions seriously while she sneers at him admiringly and just oozes charm. I am told that the minute I leave the house she is over here either "borrowing" something or bringing back something she has borrowed. How can I let my husband know that she is after him? I don't want him to think I am jealous at 68! I am all upset over this.

ST. PETERSBURG

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with telling your husband that you suspect that the "girl" next door has a teen-age crush on him? If she can "ooze" charm at 70, you can ooze just as much at 68. Tell the old boy you are jealous, and if he casts any evil-eyes at her, you'll have his hide. And hers, too.

DEAR ABBY: Last Christmas I became engaged to a Navy man. Something must have happened while he was on a cruise because I just received a letter from him saying he had a change of heart and it was all over between us. (It must have been a foreign girl.) I have a large oil painting of him and also an engagement ring which he told me to have insured for $800. He has asked for the picture and the ring back. I wrote him immediately and told him I wasn't returning anything. Don't get me wrong, Abby. I don't want to keep these things for their monetary value. I want them for sentimental reasons only. Would it be wrong to stick to my original decision? My uncle is a lawyer and he said I didn't have to return anything because the man broke the engagement.

SENTIMENTAL

DEAR SENTIMENTAL: The quickest way to get a man off your mind is to clean house of all tangible souvenirs. Since you MUST forget it, return everything! One-sided "sentimentality" is painful, punishing, and childish.

DEAR ABBY: I have read a lot of letters about teenagers, but I need some information on 5th graders. Many of the little boys and girls in my daughter's class have exchanged rings. My daughter came home with one a boy had given her, and now she thinks maybe she should give him one. On Saturdays a bunch of little girls go to the movies and pair off with a bunch of little boys who have also come in a group. Do you see anything wrong with this? My daughter is not boy crazy, but she says, "Everybody else does." Should I tell her to give the boy's ring back and that she can't sit in a movie with him?

BETWIXT AND BETWEEN

DEAR BETWIXT: In my opinion, your daughter is too young to exchange rings with a boy. And only when she is old enough to accept a movie date with a boy should she sit with him. A good answer to "Everybody else does" is, "No they don't. YOU are somebody, and YOU don't."

DEAR ABBY: When I read the letter from "CURIOUS,"

Neutral Look

Beige, like many olive greens, once were considered fashioned dynamite as a background for most complexions. However, beige and many neutral shades are becoming important in the fashion world. You can wear these colors if you accentuate your make-up rather than play it down.

Select a foundation that contains a greater amount of rose tone than you normally wear with other colors. Emphasize your eyes with green, blue and lilac eye shadow, use an eye-liner and mascara rather than leave your eyes untouched. When selecting a lipstick use a vibrant shade but one that complements your complexion and a slight touch of rouge.

who asked, "What makes a 57-year-old man suddenly take an interest in clothes and grooming?" and you replied, "A WOMAN." I laughed out loud. I have watched my 55-year-old husband go nuts over clothes. He never owned anything he didn't need because he is a penny pincher. Now it's a black suit, a blue suit, a gray suit and a brown suit. Sport jackets in stripes and checks, and hats to match each suit. He has fancy shirts and monogrammed handkerchiefs, cuff links and even cologne! He even uses hair oil to make the few remaining strands of hair lay down on his bald head. The reason? A married woman young enough to be his daughter. She works in the same office and doesn't know he's alive.

The Beta Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society commemorated the Society's thirtieth birthday with a luncheon Saturday at the Sam Houston Elementary School.

Mrs. Lula B. Owen gave the Founder's Day Tribute, "Symphony of Delta Kappa Gamma" with the chorus arranged by Mrs. Fay DeHillis Adams. The luncheon was adapted to the candle-lighting ceremony that is observed at the state level.

Delta Kappa Gamma, an international honor society for teachers, was organized May 11, 1929. Currently there are more than 85,000 members of some 1,850 chapters in the fifty states, District of Columbia, and six Canadian provinces. Beta Delta Chapter, which is representative of the Pampa-area was founded April 28, 1934. Two active charter members are Mrs. Sam Irwin and Miss Claudia Ever-versa. "The generation of women alive, the middle aged, are a new phenomenon since their life spans have been extended from forty-eight years at the turn of the century to seventy years today. Our society in today's world is to think young. Tyrannies of (1) What Will People Think? (2) Guilt

(3) Pettiness — all fade away as you live in tune with time."

Each generation, adolescence, young adult, the thirties, the forties, has its reward. When just past the chronological center of your life, fulfillment is the answer."

Scouting Scoops

By NANCY HOLT
Senior Troop 5
Hi, Scouts! Well, school is finally over and we are free to have some summer fun. Many troops have already had their year-end activities.

Troop 40 under the leadership of Mrs. Charles Davis and Mrs. Earl Winegart, went by train to Amarillo May 9. While in route to Amarillo the troop was given a tour of the train by the courier nurse and two porters. The girls received several gifts from the railroad.

When they arrived in Amarillo Brownie Troop 23 of Amarillo under the leadership of Mrs. Kay Sterrett, met them at the train station. The girls were given name tags and yarn dolls for welcoming gifts. The Amarillo troop provided a bus so that both troops could go to Thompson Park together. While at the park, they visited the zoo and exchanged games with each other. A Senior Girl Scout Troop taught both troops a game and in turn each troop had to teach the other a new game and song.

The troops had a picnic lunch together with troop 23 providing cokes for our lunches. After lunch both troops went to Wonderland Amusement Park.

Of course all the girls were very excited and thrilled over their trip. Several times during the day they were asked who they were and where they were from. When the girls returned home everyone was tired and sunburned, but it was a day the troops will never forget. Perhaps they will never see Troop 23 again, but Troop 40 will never forget their warm welcome and the day they spent together.

Troop 40 would also like to thank the parents who accompanied them to Amarillo: Mr. and Mrs. Ray Low, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gooch, Mr. and Mrs. Max Nickl, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis, Mrs. J. C. Mulanax, and Mrs. Earl Winegart.

Troop 40 had a hobo supper May 20 to end the year. They would like to say thank you to everyone and they hope they have as much fun next year.

Junior Troop 214 completed their Hospitality Badge by giving a tea in honor of their mothers on Monday afternoon at the St. Matthews Parish Hall.

As each girl introduced her mother, she presented her a pink and yellow carnation corsage, which she had made from kleenex tissues. Each mother also received a Mother's Day greeting card made by her daughter. The card contained coupons filled in by each girl for various household tasks to be performed for mother.

The flag ceremony was conducted by the Daisy Patrol. A program was presented on rules of etiquette, table manners, and overnight manners by panel discussion. A skit showing courteous telephone manners was put on by members of the Tulip Patrol.

During the past week, each girl in the Daisy Patrol had baked cookies for the tea. Members of the Buttercup and Tulip Patrols met on Saturday and made pink lemonade punch. Refreshments were served from a pink and yellow decorated table by the Buttercup Patrol.

While enjoying refreshments, the mothers looked at chalk sketch drawings the troop had made of a recent out-door outing.

Girl Scouts and mothers attending were: Debra and Mrs. L. R. Brumfield; Phyllis and Mrs. W. G. Clark; Cathy and Mrs. Ralph Collinsworth; Jeannie and Mrs. O. C. Cox; Lou Ann and Mrs. B. J. Fulcher; Cynthia and Mrs. B. J. Hatfield; Cindy and Mrs. Conner Hicks; Kathy and Mrs. Herman Ledbetter; Jeannine and Mrs. Archie Maness; Carol and Mrs. R. Marsteller; Beth and Mrs. R. B. Ragsdale; Darla and Mrs. Ray Robertson; Carol and Mrs. W. E. Rose; Virginia and Mrs. D. E. Schaefer; Juanita and Mrs. W. B. Smith; Rebecca and Mrs. Mildred Taylor; and Sharon and Mrs. T. M. Woodruff.

Well, that seems to be all for this week. I hope you have a lot of fun! So long.

Senior Troop 5 will leave for Carlsbad Caverns on May 27. They will stay in a motel at Carlsbad while touring the caverns and other things of interest. They will return May 29.

Troop 5 also had a salad supper honoring three graduating Seniors—Natalie Skelly, Judith Kitto, and Sandra Lindensmith. After eating the troop had a special ceremony in which each graduating Senior received a record of all her Scouting achievements from Brownies to Seniors. Troop 5 would like to say thank you to these three girls who contributed so much to their troop. Thank you girls. We will never forget you.

New officers installed for the biennium of 1964-66 were Mrs. Quentin Williams, president; Mrs. J. E. Gunn, first vice president; Mrs. L. R. Copeland, second vice president; Norma Lantz, secretary; Mrs. James L. Jackson, treasurer; Oleta Marlin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Aubrey Jones, parliamentarian.

The area graduating senior girl recipient of the $225 Josephine Thomas Grant-in-Aid given annually by Beta Delta Chapter will not be announced until commencement. The Grant-in-Aid is part of the chapter's program for selective recruitment of teachers.

Hostesses were Mmes. J. E. Gibson, James L. Jackson; Misses Betty Boswell, Bernice Larsh, Lillian Mullinax, Lelia Clifford, Melie Bird Rickey.

The cape, tiered, ruffled, in lace, is the prettiest covering for the décolletage wedding gown. Women's Wear Daily reports. One version is tiny enough to hide only the shoulders. Others are bolero length or down to the floor. Now — jewelry that's in the swim. It's jewelry made by a Florentine sportswear house and meant for wearing at the beach. The materials? Pebbles, sea shells and bits of pirate crystal from Elba.

Cleanser Fights Acne

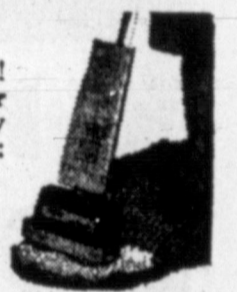

Deodorants and cologne are not substitutes for cleanliness. This is something teenagers must be aware of early. An antibacterial skin cleanser contains hexachlorophene, once used only by doctors for scrubbing, now is commercially available. The cleanser cuts down on germ growth and is said to be nonirritating and hypo-allergenic. It is recommended for personal hygiene and is helpful in easing the acne problem.

Community Aids Exceptional Children

VOLUNTEER INSTRUCTION — Left, Charlie Webb assists Denise Eslick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Eslick during the final bowling session of the year for the special education classes in Pampa.

JIMMY SPENCE — Jimmy Spence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Spence, makes a concentrated effort for a strike and comes out with satisfying results.

AIM AT THE SPOTS — Adapting to his own method, Gary Moore, son of Mrs. Jerry Moore, lines up the spots before trying for a spare.

Exceptional Children Aided by Community

Planned school year activities for exceptional children ended this week with a bowling party at Garden Lanes. The classes have met for bowling since November, 1963. Gil Burgund, Charlie Webb and Sue Reddell have contributed time to the children as instructors.

An evaluation was made in 1958 and classes formed at Woodrow Wilson School to train physically handicapped and mentally retarded children. In April, 1959 a general meeting of the public was held to institute more classes in special education. An Institution of Logopedic was formed and study made of exceptional children in the community. In the summer the first Vacation Bible School was held for the special education participants.

Mrs. E. B. Turner started teaching a class at Houston in October, 1959 and Travis provided a class taught by Stephen McDrady in 1960.

In December of 1960 an evaluation was made for pre-school and school-age children with a psychological test given by a team of trained personnel from Lubbock.

In February, 1961 at least 40 children were examined and in the fall of 1961 Mrs. Ernestine Elliott started a class at Travis for grade-school level and Mrs. Bernice Lorenz became instructor for 12 students at Pampa Junior High, providing physical education and shop class facilities with other students.

For five years Red Cross supervision has been provided to enable students to take part in swimming activities in the summer. This year's swim program at the Youth Center will begin in June.

A church school is conducted Saturday mornings at the First Christian Church and a Boy Scout Troop was organized by Dr. N. G. Kadingo in 1961. Members of the Key Club assist in this project.

Physically handicapped children were transferred in 1962 to Sam Houston where Miss Myrna Montgomery is teacher. Mrs. Turner at that time took over the class for mentally retarded students.

The Junior Service League started an art class in 1963 with Mrs. Harvey Nensteil and Mrs. David Gantz acting as volunteer instructors.

The combined efforts of parents, local organizations and interested persons have made it possible for the children requiring special attention in training and instruction to lead a full ability standard of education or training. Bowling tournaments and endeavors by other groups have raised funds to provide necessary special equipment for the classes in school and recreation centers.

High School Seniors to Get Diplomas Tomorrow Night

Vesper Services Set At Fieldhouse Today

Some 250 Pampa High School students are preparing for one of the big events of their life... high school graduation.

The religious part of graduation, vesper services, are scheduled for 5 p.m. today in the school field house.

Rev. Donald S. Hauck, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will deliver the vesper sermon. Rev. J. S. McMullen, pastor of First Assembly of God Church, will give the invocation. Scriptures will be read by Guy Caskey, minister of the Mary Ellen and Harvester Church of Christ.

The High School A Cappella choir and band will join together for the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Rev. Edward J. Cashman will give the benediction. Commencement exercises will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the school field house.

The traditional "Pomp and Circumstance" played by the Harvester Band will begin the ceremonies.

Martha Pattillo, valedictorian; Ann Christie, salutatorian, and senior class president Larry Gregory will each make short speeches.

Diplomas and special honors to students will be given by superintendent of school L. J. Edmondson.

Graduating ceremonies will then conclude with the singing of the school song "Dear Old Pampa High School" and then the recessional "Tannehauser March," played by the band.

Students will not attend classes on Monday. They will return to school Tuesday morning and receive their report cards.

MARTHA PATTILLO... valedictorian

ANN CHRISTIE... salutatorian

One of the highlights of the year-end activities is the all school Prom, held last night in the Coronado Inn.

St. Vincent's Catholic School completed all exams Friday, but will attend classes through next week.

A graduation mass will be held at 8 a.m. May 31. A graduation banquet is scheduled for 6 p.m.

Summer school at Pampa High begins June 1 with registration and the first days classes.

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

The school child's placement will be going on for the next few weeks. Parents can play an important part in this decision.

The school principal is usually responsible for assigning children to grades and classes. He makes his decision based upon staff recommendations, his knowledge of individual teachers and any other special information which is available.

Retention (non-promotion) and acceleration (advancement in grade) are parts of the placement procedure. Although the final decision is up to the school authorities, a parent should be involved in the evaluation which leads to the decision. The parent can supply much valuable information as to the child's attitudes, study habits, social relationships, etc. These must all be considered in any retention or acceleration.

Attitudes Important

In addition, the parent's attitudes and approach to the child will either help or hinder his adjustment and eventual success. A general rule to follow is that the child's placement is neither a reward nor punishment but simply an attempt to place him where he belongs and can be most successful.

Another important area of placement is the teacher to whom he will be assigned. Teachers vary in personality, interest, approach, and areas of strength. Normally the child's present teacher will be aware of his needs but a parent can often add much to this knowledge. It is the parent's responsibility to bring to the school's attention any factors which may affect the child's ability to learn. These factors might be physical problems, personal family plans, special interests, etc.

This school can then evaluate the information in relationship to the teacher. As an example a child whose father is away from home much of the time may benefit by being assigned to a male teacher. Another child who has a genuine interest in the study of nature might be assigned to a teacher with a similar interest.

'Gator Thieves Sought by Police In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Alligator warnings were posted at San Antonio swimming pools Saturday because of teen-ager "nappers."

The pranksters broke into the San Antonio Alligator Gardens Friday night and stole 14 alligators three to six feet long. Six of the alligators were found dog-paddling in a hotel swimming pool. The horrified manager called police.

Five boys were arrested and told police they planned to use the reptiles as "pranks" by putting them into swimming pools and fountains.

The rest of the alligators and several teen-agers were still at large.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

How Foreign Aid 'Helps'

One of the most palpable instances of mass deceit perpetrated by politicians is found in the current claim that "foreign aid helps domestic industry." Recently an article appeared which gained wide circulation in various news and feature media in which it was stated that "most foreign aid is now spent with U.S. firms." The theory is that money we send abroad is channelled back into America thereby stimulating business and encouraging boom conditions at home.

A precise analogy can be found if we imagine the following condition. A man has a department store. To spur business, he stands outside the door and hands out money to people on the street encouraging them to enter his portals and buy generously. Even if we assume that a majority of the recipients of these unexpected dollars do as directed, in what way will he not be just as well off if he abandoned the money route, took his merchandise out onto the street and gave it away?

At the start of the transaction, he has both money and merchandise. At the end of his giveaway cycle, he has only some of the money and none of the merchandise. But it is said that he has prospered. The bogus nature of the propaganda we are getting is even worse than this. For the fact is that only a relatively small percentage of the money we ship overseas comes home to roost. Rather it is employed to increase our competitors' competitive position in the creation of new factories and improved production techniques. So, in the end, we not only have subsidized the give away of our own products, we have subsidized the organization and implementation of foreign competition.

A Groundless Fear

Some little time ago there was talk about Russia overtaking us in the foreseeable future in electric power production. That fear, to understate the case, seems totally groundless.

For instance, Governor Bellmon of Oklahoma tells of an industrial leader from his state who made a trip to the Soviet Union to participate in a conference on domestic uses of electricity. He found, when he arrived there, that the conference had been called in the hope of devising methods to get Russian women to use less power. There just isn't enough to go around. So it is urged that housewives do their washing on different days of the week — and that they take care not to turn on a hotplate while the washing machine is in operation!

In the Governor's words, "What a difference between this program and the American system where free, enterprising industrialists are constantly developing new techniques of encouraging their customers to make more use of the abundance we produce. To me this points up again the fallacy of governments trying to run everything according to some plan. For in Russia everything is planned and controlled by the government and as a result there is chaos and scarcity."

Time and time again ambitious plans for materially expanding Russian production of all manner of goods and services have perished on the drawing board — they just couldn't be achieved under the Russian system. So, to quote Governor Bellmon once again, "Perhaps we should all pause once in awhile and be glad that in the United States it is not necessary to check with our neighbors to see if it's all right to wash a load of dirty clothes."

CAPITOL EYE:

Rocky Seen As Barry's 'Stop' Sign

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — A number of leading Republicans think that regardless of his fate in the season's closing primaries, New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller may hold the key to any effort to stop Sen. Barry Goldwater at San Francisco in July.

What these leaders have in mind is that Rockefeller's New York delegates — whatever proportion of the 92 he will be able to command in the convention — would serve well as a rallying nucleus for a moderate coalition aimed at giving the nomination to someone other than Goldwater.

Says one of these men: "Even if Nelson loses the California primary June 2, my first call on June 3 will be to Circle 7-3700 in New York (the office of George Hinman, top Rockefeller aide)."

Some politicians in the anti-Goldwater camp believe the senator's delegates total would be so close to a nominating majority of 655 with a California victory that only a quick dramatic move on the moderate side would offer any hope of halting him.

"It all depends," says a non-Goldwater governor, "on whether Rockefeller gets practical soon enough."

In this man's view, "getting practical" means giving up all hope of winning the nomination for himself and taking the lead for someone else — Richard Nixon, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania.

Clearly, this would not be an easy course for Rockefeller to follow. Hope dies hard when a man has invested as much as he has in time, money, energy and organization.

The Rockefeller people argue they are the only non-Goldwaterites who have a ready-made campaign setup, qualified by experience to make a run of it for the Republicans after the San Francisco convention. A few independent appraisers agree.

A further element: No matter how vehemently they may denounce Rockefeller publicly, substantial numbers of professionals at the state and county level have indicated privately they would love to have the governor's financial and organizational resources to draw upon.

Then, too, Rockefeller has carried the ball in key primary states as an avowed candidate, chopping at Goldwater, forcing him into mistakes that damaged his "image" even among the senator's own supporters.

While the governor has played this aggressive role, other potential candidates have hung back in the wings. A good many GOP leaders say if it were not for Rockefeller, Goldwater would have locked up the 1964 nomination months ago.

But the governor's activities up to this now-crucial juncture have not been sufficient to stem the big tide of delegates flowing Goldwater's way. So, in the judgment of some important Republicans, he may be asked to make the great sacrifice and put all that he has — and has done — at the disposal of another candidate.

No decision on these momentous proposals is likely until the middle of June, when the build-up in light bombers and other arms has been completed. THE PROS AND THE CONS — Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and the three service members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff strongly favor air strikes at the "privileged Communist sanctuaries" in Laos and North Viet Nam.

General Maxwell Taylor, Joint Chiefs Chairman, is withholding a recommendation pending additional intelligence reports on the strength and disposition of North Vietnamese forces massing on South Viet Nam's borders. Latest intelligence word is that they are now equivalent to two combat divisions.

U.S. commanders in South Viet Nam, fully supported by Ambassador Lodge, are warning these large Red forces foresee shadow imminent massive assaults against major South Vietnamese strongholds. They view the situation as "extremely foreboding."

In preparation for possible air strikes beyond South Viet Nam borders, President Johnson is having a study made of the need for congressional approval. Administration and congressional authorities have divided opinions on that. Some hold a congressional vote is not neces-

Opposite Policies Being Weighed by President For Viet Nam: Cross-Border Strikes or 'Neutralization'

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — At the same time President Johnson is asking Congress for $125 million additional economic and military aid for Communist-periled South Viet Nam, he also is deliberating two potentially far-reaching and diametrically opposite policies.

On one hand — the President is considering extending this gravely critical conflict with powerful air strikes at "privileged Communist sanctuaries" in adjoining Laos and North Viet Nam from which they are mounting their intensifying attacks.

Some 200 propeller-driven Air Force B-26s and Navy Skyraiders are being rushed to South Viet Nam for this possibility. This large reinforcement of light bombers is double the number officially announced. The planes will be piloted by Americans, with Vietnamese crewmen as they complete their training.

On the other hand — Secretary Rusk, with the President's approval, is sounding out Britain, France, Russia and Red China on a possible "political settlement" of the grim South Viet Nam problem.

Rusk is vigorously opposed to extending the war beyond South Viet Nam's borders. Supported by Undersecretary Averell Harriman, Rusk is advocating the convening of a Geneva-type conference to negotiate a "neutralization" agreement that would include Laos, Cambodia and South Viet Nam. The two State Department chiefs are willing to exclude Communist North Viet Nam from such an arrangement.

Note: Defense Secretary McNamara has been asked by the President to keep in close touch with both management and labor in the approaching automobile contract negotiations. McNamara, former Ford president, already has had private talks with Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers head, and has others slated with key motor manufacturers.

THE MAN TO SEE — If you want to be sure to get a message to President Johnson, the one man certain to do it is his special assistant Jack Valenti. Authority for that is none other than the President himself.

The President gave this inside tip to an old newspaper friend — an American foreign correspondent visiting Washington. He has known the President since his early days in Congress, and told him he had encountered difficulty in communicating with him since entering the White House.

"From time to time," said the newsmen, "I've sent you some things that I thought would be helpful. But since you've been President, these messages apparently haven't reached you."

"That's possible," replied the President. "Hereafter, if you want to communicate with me, do it through Jack Valenti. Any message you send him will get to me. You can be sure of that. George Reedy (press secretary) and some of the others keep things from me. But not Jack. He sees that I get everything."

The President urged the cor-

DO WE HAVE THE WILL TO SURVIVE?

This letter from a young Communist is an authentic document:

"What seems of first importance to you is to me either not desirable or impossible of realization. But there is one thing about which I am in dead earnest — and that is the socialist cause. It is my life, my business, my religion, my hobby, my sweetheart, wife, and mistress, my bread and meat. I work at it in the daytime and dream of it at night. Its hold on me grows, not lessens, as time goes on. I'll be in it the rest of my life. It is my alter-ego. When you think of me, it is necessary to think of socialism as well, because I'm inseparably bound to it.

"Therefore I can't carry on a friendship, a love affair, or even a conversation without relating it to this force which both drives and guides my life. I evaluate people, books, ideas, and notions according to how they affect the socialist cause and by their attitude toward it.

Martyrdom

"I have already been in jail because of my ideas, and if necessary I am ready to go before a firing squad. A certain percentage of us get killed or imprisoned. Even for those who escape harsher ends, life is no bed of roses. A genuine radical lives in virtual poverty. He turns back to the party every penny he makes above what is absolutely necessary to keep him alive. We constantly look for places where the class struggle is the sharpest, exploiting these situations to the limit of their possibilities. We lead strikes, we organize demonstrations. We speak on street corners. We fight cops. We go through trying experiences many times each year which the ordinary man has to face only once or twice in a lifetime.

"And when we're not doing those more exciting things, all our spare time is taken up with dull routine chores, endless leg work, errands, etc., which are inescapably connected with running a live organization.

"Radicals don't have the time or the money for many movies or concerts or T-bone steaks or decent homes and new cars.

respondent to keep him informed "of what our ambassadors are not telling me. Let me know the bad as well as the good," he urged.

During the hour-long discussion, the President evinced particular curiosity about President De Gaulle, asking, "What's bothering him? Why is he acting against the best interests of the West? None of the State Department people seem to know. I have yet to get a satisfactory answer from any of them."

"Maybe De Gaulle suspects that the U.S. and Russia are secretly working on terms on Europe and other key areas of the world," suggested the newsmen.

Question Box

QUESTION: "Would it improve the well-being of mankind if the U.S. government did not prevent private citizens from buying and selling to Russia, China or Cuba, at their own risk?"

ANSWER: No private individual or corporation would buy or sell to any of these communist countries if they did not think that it improved their well-being. If they made a profit on it, they would be richer and have more capital to use in this country. If they lost because they didn't get payment or the communistic country double-crossed them, they would learn that it is better to deal with responsible people rather than irresponsible communists who don't believe in private property. But they should have the right to learn by experience.

Trade is the best method of getting people to get along with each other. As Bastiat said, "Where goods do not cross border lines (because of protective tariffs or interference) soldiers will." You will have wars. But where goods and people can cross border lines without interference from either government, both parties prosper.

More than 100 years ago, England finally decided that even if the other countries wouldn't let down their tariffs that they would. Just because the other countries were short-sighted and foolish they saw there was no reason that they should continue to try to make things harder for the consumers in their own country by being able to keep prices up for their own citizens. The result was that England as long as it followed that policy made more progress than it had ever made in history. It continued to do it until Englishmen began to have the government interfere with freedom of exchange, locally and between nations.

Of course, when people in our own community believe that the governments — local, city, country, state, federal — have

We've been described as fanatics. We are. Our lives are dominated by one great, overshadowing factor — the struggle for socialism.

Cause

"Well, that's what my life is going to be. That's the black side of it. Then there is the other side of it. We Communists have a philosophy of life which no amount of money could buy. We have a cause to fight for, a definite purpose in life. We subordinate our petty personal selves into a great movement of humanity. We have a morale, an esprit de corps such as no capitalist army ever had; we have a code of conduct, a way of life; a devotion to our cause that no religious order can touch. And we are guided not by blind, fanatical faith but by logic and reason, by a never-ending education of study and a practice.

"And if our personal lives seem hard or our ego appears to suffer through subordination to the party, then we are adequately compensated by the thought that each of us is in his small way helping to contribute something new and true, something better to mankind."

The war for the world is a war between good and evil, freedom and slavery. Whether we win or whether we are enslaved by the criminal Communist conspiracy will be determined by which side has the courage, the morality, and the fanatical zeal necessary to prevail and survive.

a right to use force to confiscate the property of people who think they are not getting anything of value in return. It is only natural for them to believe in interfering with people exchanging from abroad.

Socialism, communism and wars start in each community in the minds of men.

QUESTION: "As the air around this earth is made of different gases like oxygen and carbon dioxide and others, would it ever be possible for our atomic scientists to invent some kind of bomb, which when detonated would start a chain reaction and set the air around this earth on fire?"

ANSWER: Since we are not atomic scientists, we are not qualified to say whether it would be possible to start a chain reaction which would set the air around the earth on fire.

But it does not seem as important whether it is possible for scientists to destroy the earth in such a manner as whether the politicians — with the people's approval — will destroy the opportunities for individuals to be self-reliant, self-responsible, free people. If these opportunities are destroyed, the question is whether there will be anything left worth destruction by fire.

Today is Sunday, May 24, the 145th day of 1964 with 221 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning star is Saturn. The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history: In 1626, Peter Minuit, a Dutch trader, bought the island of Manhattan from the Indians for the equivalent of $24.

In 1941, HMS "Hood" of the British Navy, the world's largest warship, was sunk by the German battleship "Bismarck."

In 1959, former U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles died of cancer.

In 1962, U.S. astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter successfully orbited the earth three times.

A thought for the day — German philosopher Schopenhauer said: "Every man takes the limits of his own field of vision for the limits of the world."

Baseball did not originate in America. Almost 100 years before the birth of Abner Doubleday, the game was being played in England during the first half of the eighteenth century. Doubleday's contribution to the game was to fix base locations and determine distances between them.

Boys Ranch Grew From Small Start

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI)—Others, another killed a play-darlingly, if you mixed bad apples with good, the whole barrel would spoil. But not at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch. Farley takes the bad with the good and almost always comes up with fine young men.

"The steady boys help us show the wild ones how to conduct themselves honorably," said Farley, founder of the ranch which will celebrate its 25th anniversary Sunday.

Farley, an ex-professional wrestler and minor league baseball player, started the ranch in 1939, with six homeless Amarillo boys.

The product of a broken home himself, he had always been interested in boys and saw a growing need in the Texas Panhandle for a place where youngsters could learn to live useful and decent lives.

When a wealthy rancher, Julian L. Bivins, offered land and a few buildings at Tascosa northwest of Amarillo, Farley jumped at the chance to build his dream.

Boys Ranch claims 96 per cent success in rehabilitating troubled boys who otherwise might have landed in reformatories or penitentiaries.

At least half the boys have had no trouble with the law. Two of them killed their fa-

In years past, he has been known to scold a hapless lensman who photographed him from the wrong (right profile) side, or didn't wait for him to get his glasses off.

Later, he not only has refrained from scoldings but has good-humoredly kidded the pants off the dozen or so cameramen for news agencies, newspapers and magazines and newsreels, who take his picture each day on official and social occasions.

His major gripe has been their presence outside church on Sundays. He has felt they disturbed other worshippers.

Rising Popularity

Aside from that, Johnson has done little complaining about his photographic "image" since entering the White House in November. His popularity has risen among members of the camera corps.

Johnson, for example, has been highly cooperative in standing still with large groups of visitors, or rearranging his own and other people's positions to accommodate picture takers.

He is aware that they are experts in their field and it is to his own advantage to improve the shots, for their sake. Complaints by the photogra-
