19 Americans Killed In Plane Crash

Doctors Say Senator Kennedy Will Recover

SOUTHAMPTON, Mass. (UPI)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who suffered a broken back in a plane crash that killed two men Friday night, probably will make a complete recovery, his doctors said Saturday.

Dr. Paul Russell, chief of surgery at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, told newsmen the 32-year-old senator was in no way paralyzed and had complete use of his limbs.

Dr. Russell said, however, that complete recovery would take at least six months and possibly as much as 10 months.

Two other men, the pilot of the plane and Sen. Kennedy's close friend and aide, Edward Moss, 41, of Andover, were fatally injured in the accident which occurred as the twin-engine plane prepared to land in a heavy fog.

Kennedy was en route to the Massachusetts Democratic State Convention. He was accompanied by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., who was to be keynote speaker at the convention. Sen. Bayh and his wife, Marvella, who also was on the plane, suffered minor injuries. They were reported doing "extremely well" at Cooley Dickinson Hospital in nearby Northampton.

Kennedy's doctors held a joint news conference and explained the senator's injuries. Dr. Thomas F. Corridan, head of Cooley-Dickinson, said that when Kennedy was brought in following the crash "his pulse was varying a great deal and his blood pressure was almost negligible."

He said Kennedy at that time was in "deep shock" but his condition has now substantially improved.

Dr. Russell, who was asked to enter the case by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, said the third vertebra of the senator's back sustained the most serious injury.

Dr. Russell said he found the vertebra was broken in the middle and twisted. "But there was no nerve damage and he has quite normal use of the legs and arms."

The physician said that at first the doctors were "worried about the displacement of nerves but this later proved groundless."

They were also concerned about severe abdominal pains the senator was experiencing but an examination turned up no evidence of damage to internal organs.

Dr. Charles W. Metz of Walter Reed Army Hospital, who flew here to help in the case, said, "There might be a few long range problems that will be dealt with later. The fractured vertebra is unstable and may need surgery."

He said it was too early to determine this definitely, however.

According to Dr. Russell, complete recovery will take from 6 to 10 months but the senator will not necessarily be hospitalized for all of this time.

"I think I can expect a full recovery," the doctor said. He said Kennedy is "bright and cheerful" and not in a cast of any kind. The senator is on a special metal frame designed to support his injured spine. He has required very little sedation and his head is clear, the doctors said.

The state convention adjourned when news of the plane crash came Friday night. At Saturday's session, Kennedy was renominated by acclamation for a full six-year term.

Killed along with Moss was the plane's pilot, Edwin T. Zimny, 48, of Lawrence, Mass., who died in the wreckage of the plane when it slammed into an apple orchard in this western Massachusetts community.

Felt Says U.S. Will Risk War To Halt Reds

TAIPEI (UPI)—Adm. Harry D. Felt said Saturday the United States is willing to risk an all-out war to check Communist aggression in Southeast Asia.

Felt, outgoing commander of U. S. forces in the Pacific, spoke at a news conference before boarding a plane for a flight back to Honolulu.

His blunt warning to Peking appeared to be part of administration policy to warn Communist China in the strongest possible terms that it means business in Laos, South Viet Nam and other Southeast Asian nations.

Only Friday a series of highly reliable Washington dispatches said the United States is prepared to risk all-out war with Red China to prevent further Communist gains in Southeast Asia.

Washington dispatches Saturday said a fleet of five U. S. cargo-carrying ships is en route to Bangkok, Thailand, with tanks and other heavy military equipment.

The Defense Department termed the fleet movement a resupply and replacement mission for stocks of military equipment left in Thailand in 1962 when the late President Kennedy sent in some 5,000 U. S. troops because of the Communist threat in Laos.

Felt declined to comment on any possible change in the U. S. military posture in the Pacific in the near future but left no doubt it would continue to be strong.

Queen Contest Scheduled for Community Fair

Plans for a Queen Contest in conjunction with the upcoming Top O' Texas Community Fair were outlined Friday during a Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon in the Coronado Inn.

Representatives of 23 civic clubs and organizations were present at the meeting.

Jake Webb, contest chairman, outlined a plan to the clubs by which those entering a queen contestant will be allowed to place a concession stand on the fair's midway.

The Community Fair, sponsored by the Jaycees, will be held July 22-26 at the corner of Hobart and Gwendolyn.

Events scheduled for the five day affair include a two ring circus, midway, industrial exhibit, hobby show, cake and pie baking contest and a special kids day.

Eddie Polnac, general chairman for the fair, said any club or organization interested in entering a contestant in the contest should contact him or Webb.

U.S. Ships Carry Tanks To Thailand

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A fleet of four U.S. cargo vessels steamed toward Bangkok, Thailand, Saturday with tanks, armored personnel carriers and other heavy military equipment to be stationed in that country.

While downgrading speculation that the operation might presage a movement of U.S. forces through Thailand toward Communist - threatened Laos, officials conceded that it was connected with long-term preparations against such a possibility.

The Defense Department described the operation as a "routine resupply and replacement" mission for stocks of military equipment left in Thailand when more than 5,000 U.S. troops and Marine and Air Force units were sent there in another Laotian crisis in 1962.

A spokesman said quantities of fresh ammunition also were aboard the ships. The vessels, all due to reach Bangkok early next week, include three LSTs — for landing ship, tank—and one freighter. The unnamed LSTs bear the hull numbers 600, 607 and 623. The freighter is the Navy-chartered Fentress.

Most of the U.S. military equipment in Thailand is at Korat, which is connected by road with a terminal across from Vientiane on the Thailand-Laos border.

William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, said in testimony released by Congress earlier this week that if the Communists seized power in Laos the United States would have no alternative but to move forces into that country.

It has long been recognized that friendly Thailand offers the only practical route for reaching land-locked Laos. The late President John F. Kennedy sent the troops to Thailand in 1962.

City Woman Is Injured in 2-Car Crash

A two car collision early Saturday morning slightly injured a Pampa woman and caused approximately $450 damage to two automobiles.

Injured was Mrs. Otis F. Blackmon, 36, a passenger in an auto driven by her husband. She was taken to a local doctors clinic and treated and released for minor injuries to the neck.

The accident occurred about 7:20 a.m. near the intersection of Cuyler and Tyng streets.

According to police, the accident occurred when a car driven by Otis Rex Tyler, 36, Daltart, rammed into the rear of an auto driven by Benjamin Blackmon, 38, of 1124 Neel Rd. Tyler was given a police citation for following too close.

Gray County Employment Hits New High

Employment in Gray County for the first six months of 1964 is at an all-time high, according to William J. Ragsdale, manager of the Pampa office of the Texas Employment Commission.

Ragsdale, who has kept an employment chart for the past four years, said that more jobs have been filled in Gray County this month than for any June during the past four years.

The chart also indicates that in the first six months of 1964 more jobs were filled than for any other comparable period in the past four years.

Unemployment claims were also at a comparable low rate, said Ragsdale.

The employment rate generally is good business conditions, Ragsdale said, when there is the right balance of job openings and the right number of people to fill these jobs.

This is true for Pampa, he said, which indicates a "good business climate."

On Trial Basis

Free Parking Offered Downtown Shoppers

A three day process of removing nearly 300 parking meters from Pampa's downtown area was started yesterday.

In place of the meter a sign is placed which reads "Free parking until July 25."

The meters are being removed by the police department on a 30-day trial basis following a request of the Downtown Business Association.

First Day Of Summer May Sizzle

Summer arrived at 2:57 a.m. today with every indication the first day would run true to form in the sizzler bracket.

Saturday's last day of spring set the pace for summer's entry with the mercury in the 100-plus degree area most of the afternoon. It hit 102 here at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Prospects were for more of the same this afternoon.

The weatherman had no outlook for rain with the possible exception of some widely scattered thundershowers of the hop and skip variety.

Father's Day was expected to be sunny and hot and an excellent day for drag race fans, picknickers and boating enthusiasts.

Today's weather also was expected to be made to order for those who seek relief from the heat in city swimming pools.

Pool operators were anticipating the largest crowd of the year.

Junior College Delegation to Attend Hearing

A delegation will be named Monday to attend a July 6 hearing in Austin on Pampa's petition for a junior college.

E. I. Henderson, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Junior College committee, said Saturday the group will meet at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the Chamber of Commerce offices to finalize plans for supporting the application at the Austin hearing.

Petitions to establish the Gray County junior college already are in the hands of the State Education Commissioner. They have been reviewed and approved and will go to the state school board for final hearing Monday, July 6.

Members of the Junior College Committee are optimistic about chances for state approval for the college.

Henderson said if the final okay comes from the state board, it is hoped to put the matter to a vote of the people of Gray County in the fall.

A wide bond election would have to win voter approval before the junior college plan could be realized.

Authority Asked

On City Contract

The City Commission will be asked at its regular meeting Tuesday to authorize the mayor to sign a contract for a pipeline across the Fort Worth & Denver Rv. spur tracks on S. Somerville.

The agenda released Saturday by City Manager Harold Schmitzer also calls for approval of a $10,000 bond for the assistant city secretary.

Other business slated includes reports and recommendations from the city manager.

53 Dead in Airliner Blast Over Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—A Nationalist Chinese airliner carrying 53 persons, including 19 Americans, crashed into a rice paddy Saturday after what Chinese police said was a mid-air explosion. There were no survivors.

A U. S. military spokesman said the victims included 10 American servicemen or dependents. Chinese police reports said the twin-engine American-built C46 plane exploded in the air about five minutes after taking off from Taichung Airport, 100 miles south of Taipei.

Witnesses reported seeing one engine of the Civil Air Transport (CAT) airliner appear to explode in flight.

Villagers near Taichung said wreckage was scattered over an area of more than a mile and some of the bodies were mangled.

In Hong Kong, American actor William Holden said he had been on the first leg of the CAT flight but had left the group. He said some of his friends were among the dead.

Some of the passengers included delegates to the Asian Film Festival which ended in Taipei on Friday, including movie leaders from Hong Kong. The Americans included Miss Lucia Lehman, a secretary in the U.S. Embassy in Taipei, and her mother. The Americans had toured the Pescadore Islands in the Formosa Strait as a tourist group from Hospitality House, a Taipei club.

There was some confusion as to the exact number of Americans aboard. Officials said there were 21 but admitted later they knew for sure of 19 and that the two others were "non-Orientals."

LBJ Winds Up Tour in California

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—President Johnson, in a pep talk to Democrats in one of Barry Goldwater's Republican primary strongholds, called Saturday for an end "to rancor and reproach" and a solid national front to achieve American goals.

Johnson mentioned neither the Arizona senator, now the most likely Republican to oppose him in November, nor the GOP. And his prepared text for a Democratic fund-raising dinner used a soft-sell approach in mentioning that party, too.

"We must now work to show the American people that our test of greatness will come not from open conflicts between fellow citizens," Johnson said, "but from facing the forces of poverty and racial injustice—not from the ambitions of our neighbors but from the abundance we must use to enrich the life of our nation."

But while sounding this "national unity" appeal to about 2,500 Democrats who paid $100 a plate at the Hollywood Palladium for dinner and speeches by party leaders, Johnson also got in some partisan licks by asserting:

"Our party has always been the special agent of the American aim toward compassion. To us, the old, the sick, the hungry, the helpless have represented not failures to be forsaken but human beings to be helped."

City Declares War on Flies And Mosquitoes

Pampa's department of public works has declared unrelenting war on mosquitoes and flies.

R. B. Cooke, public works director, said Saturday a two-shift "fogging" attack has been launched against the pests.

The city is taking the double precaution following an outbreak of encephalitis in children. A youth has been hospitalized there with the sleeping sickness disease. Health authorities said they believed it was brought on by a mosquito bite.

The municipal fogging machine, Cooke stated, is in operation daily from 8 a.m. until 12 midnight.

Streets and alleys in every section of the city will be covered in a continuous three-day cycle throughout the summer, he said.

City park areas will be fogged daily for protection of picnickers. Cooke said the fogging machine has been in operation eight hours a day since June 11, but was stepped up to the 16-hour schedule yesterday.

The double attack on flies and mosquitoes went into effect, Cooke stated, after a new invasion by insects due to recent rains and the wheat harvest where insects are stirred out of wheat fields by activity of the combines.

Retired Cabot Official Dies

Earl James O'Brien, 66, retired superintendent of the Cabot Carbon Co. here, died suddenly at his home 823 N. Somerville at 12:45 p.m. yesterday.

He had been a resident of Pampa for 23 years and had been employed with the Henry L. Doherty Co., before it was purchased by the Cabot Corp. He was retired in Feb., 1963. He was a member and ruling elder of the Presbyterian Church; the AF and AM of Toledo, Ohio; the Scottish bodies and Shrine of Toledo; and the Lions Club.

Born Jan. 9, 1898 in Durham, N.C. he was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1917. He married Miss Jessie Edwards Sept. 19, 1925 in Washington, D.C.

Survivors include his wife of the home; two sons, Earl James Jr., Danver, Mass., and David W. of Houston; six grandchildren; one brother and two half-brothers, Lex of Durham, N.C., Calvin of Greenville, S.C., and Willard of Ashborough, N.C.; two sisters, Mrs. C. E. Hozendoff of Eldorado, Ark., and Mrs. Archie Mills, Fayetteville, N.C.

Funeral services are scheduled for 10 a.m. Tuesday in the First Presbyterian Church. Rev. Donald S. Hauck, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery under direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

The body will lie in state until service time at the funeral home. The casket will not be opened at the church. Friends may contribute memories to Boys Ranch or the Book of Remembrance of the First Presbyterian.

A Living Legacy

Book, Tape Recorder Will Bring It to You

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Not long ago I saw an advertisement for a new publication titled "A Living Legacy: How to Make a Tape Recording of Your Life Story." Naturally I sent for a copy.

The author and publisher, Lester C. Worden, promised "a kind of immortality" for as little as $33, which is the best offer I've had in months.

It is not, alas, the kind of immortality I would have chosen if I had had a choice. I would have preferred having my statue erected in front of Wozy's Cate in Merkel, Tex., my old home town. But time is moving on and thus far the folks back home have shown very little inclination to pedestalize my likeness. As things now stand, I will have to settle for any kind of immortality I can get.

Book is Script
Worden's brand calls for a minimum outlay of $30 for a tape recorder and $3 for his book, which was written in the form of a script.

Merely by turning on the machine, picking up the microphone and following the script, people can "tell their story in a form which can be preserved indefinitely and passed on from one generation to another." According to Worden, those who have tried it "agree that it gives them a sense of fulfillment they have never before experienced."

I can hardly wait to get started. I have already acquired a review copy of the book and the only thing presently standing between me and immortality is the price of the tape recorder.

While waiting for $30 to turn up, I have been trying to visualize how my descendants will use the tape. The scene comes in like this:

My great great great grandson and his wife are having a dinner party. The host, true to his heritage, has quaffed a few more cocktails than is considered prudent.

Knocking over a floor lamp to get everyone's attention, he puts the lamp shade on his head, stands upon the coffee table and says, "I've got a great idea. Let's play my ancestor."

"What's that?" the guests inquire. "A New game?"

"No, it's a tape recording that was made by my great great grandfather. Should be good for a lotta laughs."

Before his wife can stop him,

TOKYO MOB RIOTS
TOKYO (UPI) — Police clashed with leftist-led student demonstrators today on the fourth anniversary of the wild anti-American riots that forced cancellation of President Eisenhower's scheduled visit in 1960.

Police said there were "quite a few casualties" when they used clubs to break up a stone-throwing student mob. Five students were arrested.

he switches on the amplifier and for the next five hours the assemblage is regaled by a nasal monotone recounting the high points of an eventful life. . . . The night I won $7.80 at bingo . . . The summer I grew a three-pound squash . . . The day I shook hands with Alf London . . .

If "Living Legacy" catches on, it has tremendous potential. It can become the most effective party-pooper since the invention of home movies.

Three People Injured In Florida Race Fight

By AL KUETTNER
ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (UPI) — A gang of whites attacked integrationists romping in the Atlantic surf Saturday, injuring three of them before state police waded in to break up the mele.

A white integrationist was badly mauled, a Negro girl's nose was broken and a Negro woman received a head wound in the watery battle.

Just as the violence erupted in St. Augustine, Gov. Farris Bryant ordered a halt to demonstrations after dark in this tense city. Negroes said his order violated a federal injunction against interfering with their marches.

Twice before integrationists have used the public beach without incident.

A car of white segregationists waited all day at the beach for the Negroes to show up. When they did, the whites, using a radio, called in reinforcements. Six more cars of segregationists roared down the beach, Confederate flags flapping from their aerials, in answer to the call.

When the approximately 10 Negroes, including several small children, and two white youths reached the water, about 20 of the segregationists charged them.

The whites, most of them in bathing suits, stormed into the water and concentrated their attack on Al Lingo, a husky white integrationist from Summit, N.J.

Four of them pounced on Lingo in waist-deep water. Several of the Negroes were slugged before half a dozen state troopers, waving their clubs, waded into the water and chased the attackers away.

Lingo, his face bleeding and one eye puffed, was arrested.

Police Equip Cars With Seat Belts

In an effort to avoid possible serious injury five Pampa Police cars were equipped with seat belts Saturday afternoon.

City Manager Harold Schmitzer said the seat belts were installed to better protect patrolmen who spend the majority of time in patrol cars.

The seat belts were purchased from the Pampa JC's who are conducting a seat belt campaign on the parking lot of Furr Food Store.

City Firemen Called To Burning Garage

Pampa firemen were called to a burning garage shortly after 11 a.m. Saturday in the only activity over the weekend.

The garage was owned by Emmett Teakell, 315 Baer.

The blaze started from an unknown cause and inflicted heavy damage to the wood frame building.

No estimate of the amount of damage was made, however, the garage was vacant at the time of the fire.

Johnson Praised At Press Meet

HOUSTON (UPI) — President Johnson was praised today in a resolution adopted by the Texas Press Association convention.

Convention delegates approved a resolution expressing "united admiration and support of President Lyndon Johnson."

The resolution added that Johnson is "giving the nation the same outstanding service as president as he has given during his years as congressman, U.S. senator and as vice president."

In other resolutions, the delegates praised Gov. John Connally for "dynamic leadership" and thanked outgoing TPA president William E. Berger, editor of the Hondo Anvil Herald for his work with the organization.

Alabama Governor To Address Jaycees

DALLAS (UPI) — Alabama Gov. George Wallace will be keynote speaker at the annual convention of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce opening Tuesday.

Squally Weather Hits West Texas

By United Press International
Thunderstorms that carried tornadoes, high-velocity winds, hail and flood-threatening rains boomed across West Texas Saturday.

It also was a day of blistering 100-degree-plus heat and the final day of spring.

The South Plains and southern Panhandle took the brunt of the squally weather.

Hail accompanied driving rains that fell on the Turkey-Memphis area in the eastern Panhandle and the U.S. Weather Bureau warned that some tributaries of the Red River, notably the Prairie Dog Town Fork, might surge from their banks if the rains continued.

TAKING IT EASY—Apparently, American girls rarely buy properly fitting shoes for, when they relax, they always take them off. ### Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director
Pampa Youth and Community Center

In the near future two new activities will be offered at the Center. They will be Fish Casting and Golf Tips and techniques for beginners. For fish casting we will have several tires spaced around where would-be anglers can test their skill at casting accuracy. Some veteran local fishermen who are skilled in the art of casting will give lectures and exhibitions from time to time. This will follow through for golfers who are just learning how to play the game. Several of the Board of Directors who are veteran golf players will give tips and pointers on golf.

The Center Competitive swim team, The Dolphins, are now working out for upcoming meets. Membership is still open and coach Bobby Bybee would like to see several more swimmers out to fill some positions. Workouts are from 7-9 a.m. daily except Sunday. The Dolphins will attend meets in San Angelo, Lubbock, Amarillo and Midland this summer. Qualifications for joining the club is to be a Center member and be able to swim five lengths of the pool without stopping.

The Center is the home of another fine activity here in Pampa, Square Dancing. The Calico Capers Square Dancers meet at the Center every Saturday night except fifth Saturdays and attend several jamborees in this area. They also stage four big jamborees of their own each year with top callers coming in. Membership is still available upon application to the Capers. Contact Bill Eads or any Capers for further details.

Membership to the Center is still available also. Geographical boundaries were removed recently and everyone is eligible for membership. Individual memberships are $5 for six months and $8 per year while Family memberships are $12 and $20 respectively. Sustaining memberships are $25 and up while an individual membership for college students during the summer is $3. Making application for membership is very simple and takes only a few minutes.

The Center would like to see everyone out at the benefit softball game today at 2 p.m. The Fabulous Five, the World's original 4 1/2 man softball team will oppose the Pampa Industrial League All-Stars. This Fabulous Five group is the same set-up as the King and his Court recently seen on TV. A child's bicycle will be given away at a drawing during the ball game. This team is made up of players from last year's World Tournament. They play one man only half the time. The Industrial League All-Stars will be paced by pitcher Raymond McKinney who pitched a perfect no-hitter only Friday night.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International
It is not necessary to take one side or the other in the civil rights dispute to understand that the U. S. Senate voted against reason and common sense in establishing a sixth grade education as evidence of literacy in voter qualification.

A sixth grade education is not evidence of literacy in any circumstances, nor can a Senate vote make it so. The question arose this week on an amendment proposed by Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C. Johnston proposed to delete from the bill the provision establishing a sixth grade education as evidence of literacy. To be literate is to be able to read and to write.

The available evidence is that too many American kids are not properly literate when they leave high school and that too many universities and colleges have been compelled to establish remedial reading courses for entering freshmen.

Voted Down
When Johnston offered his amendment last Monday in the Senate he arrived in its support that for the federal government to establish voter qualifications would be an unconstitutional exercise of power. On that argument the Senate smacked him down by a vote of 74 to 18. The Senate was in no mood to hear about constitutional obstacles to the civil rights bill.

Johnston might have obtained better attention if he had argued that, constitutional or not, the sixth grade provision was preposterous on its face if it presumed to deal with literacy. The reading reform Foundation estimates that three quarters of American school children are being subjected to primitive teaching methods in which the child bypasses the alphabet on his way to read.

Blamed For Rejections
"This has proved ruinous in practice in the last 40 years and is largely responsible for the alarming fact that over one-quarter of our draftees are now rejected as illiterate," the foundation has said.

The U.S. Senate's shame and astonishment might be complete if the idea got around that a lopsided majority of senators believed illiterates who could not qualify for the infantry or a service battalion still were literates and qualified to vote.

Pocahontas was the first convert to the English Church in Virginia.

GOLIAD — Presidio La Bahia, where the Goliad Declaration of Independence was drawn in 1835. Sunday mass is still celebrated here. Nearby is a monument to Col. Fannin and his men who were massacred in 1836.

Goliad State Park Forms One Of Texas' Historical Thrills

Are you thrilled by Texas history? If so, you will enjoy visiting some of the scores of historic spots that mark the challenging episodes of Texas frontier land.

The battle cry that spurred the Texans on at San Jacinto was "Remember the Alamo; Remember Goliad," and it is quite fitting that the state, many years ago, established a state park at Goliad in Southeast Texas. It was here that Colonel Fannin and his men were massacred on Palm Sunday, March 27, 1836.

Goliad is situated on U. S. Highways 59, 183 and alternate 77; and can also be reached on State Highway 239 from the west.

In Goliad State Park there is a small museum of early Texas relics and the Mission Espiritu Santo de Zuniga. In 1749, this mission was moved to Goliad by the Franciscan padres to Christianize the Indians and civilize the frontier. It is open to the public.

Nearby is the Presidio La Bahia where the Goliad Declaration of Independence was drawn in 1835. Sunday mass is still celebrated there. Near La Bahia stands a monument to Colonel Fannin and his men.

Goliad became the county seat of Goliad County in 1837. On the courthouse grounds is the famous "Hanging Tree."

City Park has a monument to the men who lost their lives at Goliad, erected in April, 1885, surmounted by two cannons found on the streets of the town after the Texas Revolution.

Twenty-five miles northeast of Goliad on U. S. 59 is Victoria, one of the first three towns of the Republic. Here you will find a number of beautiful antebellum homes, still in good condition, as well as the famed Dutch Windmill in Memorial Square.

If you'd like a bit of fishing to finish off your trip, drive on another 27 miles on U. S. 87 to Port Lavaca, where redfish and speckled trout abound.

Non-Fiction

"Hey, I'm Alive!" — Helen Klaben; when the small airplane on which a young Brooklyn girl was traveling crashed last January in the Canadian Yukon the incident made headlines. Here is the whole story of her incredible survival and rescue.

"One Hundred Years of Negro Freedom" — Arna Bontemps; describes the struggle of the Negro through the last century to realize the promise of the Emancipation Proclamation, in terms of the men who led their cause.

"The American Way of Death" — Jessica Mitford; here is the whole complex of commercial operations that result in funerals whose expense, display and nymbo-jumbo are unrelated to any Christian or Jewish tradition or virtually unheard of in any other country.

Mysteries

"The Missing Man" — Hilary Waugh; a girl has been murdered — her killer was at large — and Police Chief Fred C. Fellows had only the slightest of clues to start his search.

"Up For Grabs" — A. A. Fair; a new Bertha Cool — Donald Lam story, in which the acquisitive Bertha's partner finds insurance work anything but safe, and that he is the one up for grabs.

"The Shrunken Head" — Robert L. Fish; there are a few places left as unknown and as deadly as the jungles of the upper Amazon. Somewhere in their depths, off the edge of any map, something was happening that the Brazilian Foreign Office had to know more about.

"The Dead Can't Love" — Judson Phillips; behind the curtain of a glamorous past, a frightened girl fights to escape from a trap which has destroyed her life and threatens her with death if she makes a single move to save herself.

Fiction

"The Kite in the Sea" — Claude Koch; a lyrical, brooding novel of a young girl's nostalgia for the past and for the innocence of childhood, and her transition to awareness.

"Buddwing" — Evan Hunter; through the byways of a great city a man who has lost his identity and memory searches for knowledge of who he was and what had happened. He discovers fragment after fragment of information until the whole picture fits in an electrifying revelation.

"A Fair Day's Work" — by Nicholas Monsarrat; the author returns to the sea in this novel about a great ocean liner at dockside — her sailing held up by the threat of a strike.

"The Higher They Fly" — Christopher Hodder-Williams; hours after departure, a trans-Atlantic jet-liner discovers that the plane's landing gear is inoperable. The only man who can save the plane from a disastrous crash is a discredited test pilot who has been grounded for emotional instability.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
Gray County Agent

We plan to put a dryland milo variety test on the H. E. McCarty place this week. There will be three different varieties tested. Other varieties are being tested on the Roy Tinsley Farm, Elmer Balch Farm, and the Gary Doss Farm. On the Gary Doss Farm we have irrigated milo that has been double rowed on top of 40 inch beds and triple rowed. These demonstrations should prove interesting.

Labor Saving

I was by the Johnny Johnson farm last Friday and saw a very unusual hookup that eliminated the necessity of having three extra men. Johnny was riding one tractor; another was attached to the rear of the tractor he was riding. The front wheels from the second tractor had been removed and the front

Crossbreeds Are Heavier Cattle

BEEVILLE (Sp.)—Recent purchase of a group of 72 crossbred and straightbred steers by Texas Agricultural Experiment Substation No. 1 located here, gives an indication of the advantages of crossbreeding beef cattle.

The local rancher who raised the cattle told Edward M. Neal, substation superintendent, that all the steers were managed identically. Yet when the substation made the purchase, the crossbreeds weighed 110 pounds more than their straightbred cousins.

In this case the crossbreeds were  $\frac{3}{4}$  Hereford -  $\frac{1}{4}$  Brahman. The straightbreds were good, commercial steers of a popular English breed.

The crossbreeds weighed 461 pounds and cost the substation $21.70 per cwt. The 351-pound straightbreds cost $24. per cwt. Even though the crossbreeds brought less per pound, their greater weight made them worth about $16. more per head than the straightbreds.

"Not only did the rancher benefit because he pocketed an extra $16," Neal said, "but we benefited because we got an extra 110 pounds of steer for the small extra cost."

Crossbreeding has long been recognized by Texas A&M University livestock specialists as one way to increase efficiency of beef cattle production. At the Livestock and Forage Research Center at McGregor, crossbred steers (nicknamed "Hurricane") have weighed more than 1,000 pounds when only 12 months old.

The steers bought by the Beeville substation are to be used in a feeding experiment to find how summer climatic conditions in different parts of Texas affect cattle on feed.

Soon the steers are to be divided into similar groups and shipped to experiment substations around the state. The climatic environment will be the only variable in the test. All groups will be fed a ration shipped from Texas A&M University.

A similar test, conducted between the cooler months of October and March of 1962-63, indicated that steers develop and fatten almost identically in all parts of Texas.

Chambers of the U.S. House and Senate may not be used for purposes other than legislative.

end of the second tractor was carried by the front tractor, thus increasing the traction of the first. Attached to the second tractor were two rod weeders, an implement designed to kill undesirable vegetation and prepare a seed bed. Following the rod weeders were two dempster drills, used to plant his maize. If you are confused by now why not take a run down the farm to market road south of Celanese about 6 miles and take a look for yourself.

Wrap-up on the Wheat Harvest

Farmers have just about completed the dryland wheat harvest. Combines will finish all the dryland wheat this week if pretty weather holds out.

There was more variation in yields on different farms in the county than I have ever seen. Some farmers abandoned their wheat earlier. Some harvested 4 bu. per acre. A crop of this kind will barely pay the cutting and hauling. A good many farmers in the Grandview Community reported 10-12 bu. yields per acre. One farmer who requested his name not be published made 21 bu. per acre.

The unconfirmed report on the Leon Daugherty farm I mentioned last week turned out to be even better than reported. On one farm Leon beat 16 bu. per acre.

Some of the best irrigated wheat that has ever been produced in Gray County was on the Morley Doss farm southwest of Pampa. Paul and Jim Eakin were the farmers. Their overall average will exceed 40 bu. per acre. One particular block was expected to exceed 50 bu. per acre.

Busy Week

As one farmer put it, "This is the time of year when every farmer is in a hurry and has a short temper." All the wheat stubble is to be plowed, maize ground to plow and plant, weeds to spray, cotton to rotary hoe and a dozen other jobs that must be done within the next two weeks. With high speed tractors and implements that take a bigger bite than ever, you can bet that most of these chores will be done on schedule.

Commission Reports Harvest Near Over

Wheat production in Texas is estimated at 50,544,000 bushels, according to Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. This is the same as last month's forecast but nearly 10 million bushels larger than last year's crop, says the Texas Employment Commission.

McKinney: Wheat harvest complete and oats 95 per cent complete.

Denton and Gainsville: Harvest 83 per cent complete. Wheat is averaging 25 bushels per acre, oats 50 bushels and barley 40 bushels per acre.

Dallas: Harvest 90 per cent complete. Wheat is averaging 28 bushels per acre and oats 45 bushels per acre. Some loss of grain as a result of the recent rains.

Mineral Wells, Eastland, Olney and Breckenridge: Harvest complete with good yields reported.

Texas Cattlemen Fear Screwworms

MISSION (Sp.) — Screwworms penetrated into central and west Texas during May for the first time this year and are now in an excellent position to swoop into any area of the state where farmers and ranchers are not watching and treating animal wounds.

Screwworm eradication officials warned that infestations have been reported as far north as Coryell County in Central Texas and as far west as Presidio County in the Big Bend.

The number of cases has remained relatively low, with only 36 cases reported in May as compared to 451 a year ago. However, with many livestock producers failing to take adequate precautions in handling their animals and weather conditions favorable for screwworm development, prevailing over most of the state, the insect could easily spread into any area of Texas, eradication workers said.

Emergency eradication measures initiated wherever a screwworm infestation is reported are credited with keeping the native fly population down. Large numbers of flies, reared and sexually sterilized in the Mission plant, are dispersed in areas where infestations are discovered. Sterile flies mating with fertile female flies prevent offspring from being produced. Campaign workers also spray livestock in infested herds and flocks to prevent further infestations.

These measures are started only after a sample collected by a producer has been positively identified as screwworms at the Mission laboratory. Handy collection kits are available through county agricultural agents' offices for producers to use in collecting and mailing larvae specimens.

Farm Bureau to Look At Broiler Problems

WACO (Sp.) — Texas Farm Bureau President C. H. DeVaney has announced that the TFB, along with other state Farm Bureaus and the American Farm Bureau Federation, is focusing its attention on production problems and unfavorable prices in the broiler industry.

At a recent meeting of Farm Bureau state officials and staff personnel in Atlanta, Ga., it was decided that the Farm Bureau organization in each major broiler producing state would assign a staff member the responsibility of coordinating improvement activities within the state, and the AFBF would designate a staff member to coordinate the activities of state Farm Bureaus.

"These designated staff members will begin work immediately with all segments of the broiler industry on a price improvement program," DeVaney said. He added that the coordinator for Texas would be named soon.

Purpose of the Atlanta meeting was to discuss ways and means of implementing the official policy of the American Farm Bureau Federation, adopted by voting delegates at the annual meeting last December, on broilers.

The AFBF policy points out "drastic changes in recent years" in the poultry industry and modern "business coordination" which "has often left egg and poultry meat producers with little or no bargaining power." The policy resolution recommended the development by Farm Bureau of "programs to assist producers in negotiating with their suppliers and marketing organizations for equitable contract provisions."

Major current problems of broiler producers pinpointed by state farm leaders at the special conference were: Low prices due to current oversupply; continued intensification of vertical integration; difficulty in securing favorable contracts with processors; and inadequate financing.

"Voluntary supply management" was suggested as one means of possibly increasing broiler prices. Others were new market development, quality improvement, better merchandising and promotion to increase domestic consumption, and improved methods of distribution.

It was noted that increased production efficiency through new technology has about reached its peak, leaving little hope for relief through reduced costs of production, and that current price levels do not allow sufficient margins for producers to growers.

Chemicals Can Be Used to Control Tomato Disease

Gardeners who are having trouble with blossom-end-rot on tomatoes can curb the problems here in Gray County with a small application of calcium chloride, according to County Agent Foster Whaley.

Blossom-end-rot appears as dark, sunken, leathery spots on the blossom-end of green tomatoes.

Although nothing can be done for affected tomatoes, an application of calcium chloride will usually stop the problem in later-developing fruit, he said.

Home gardeners growing tomatoes on sandy soil can stop blossom-end-rot by applying one heaping tablespoon of calcium chloride in a two-foot diameter area around each plant and then by wetting this with about one gallon of water.

COMIN' THRU THE RYE—Prospects for a bumper crop of small grains in the Midwest this year is confirmed by the heavy stand of rye in this Knox County, Indiana, field where Bobbie Stultz, 6, has to part the grain to get through. ## Airline Officials Concerned Over Pilot Shortage Problem

By ROBERT J. SERLING
UPI Aviation Editor
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The airlines are getting concerned over a problem that hasn't existed since the dawn of commercial aviation — a shortage of pilots.

United and Trans World, to cite two examples, are recruiting actively. And the Federal Aviation Agency has a special aviation manpower commission at work determining exact industry labor needs, with pilots one of the most troublesome areas.

The shortage, which is spotty at present but threatens to become a serious problem in relatively few years, stems from these factors:

—The airlines' chief source of pilot material, the military, seems to be drying up. The increasing emphasis on unmanned missiles is one reason. The fact that 75 per cent of military pilots are choosing to stay in uniform is another.

—The airlines themselves have lacked an aggressive recruiting and employment program among the nation's youth. In fact, one top United official said bluntly: "The airlines have failed to promote flying as a worthwhile career."

—The airlines require a student pilot to have at least a commercial pilot's license when he applies. At present, it costs about $2,500 to obtain a commercial "ticket" from a private flying school and this is an expense which undoubtedly has been a deterrent.

—Almost unnoticed, the average age level of airline pilot has been creeping upward. It was 37 in 1959. It now is over 40. The Air Line Pilots Association (ALPA) says more than 25 per cent of its 14,000 members will reach the mandatory retirement age of 60 within the next 15 years. ALPA's records show that more than 8,000 pilots will have to leave the cockpit in the next two decades.

Situation Is Critical
The situation is considered critical enough for some airlines to be talking about starting their own primary flight schools. This is a frank admission that economics is a major reason why good pilot material hasn't been coming into commercial aviation. It takes at least 165 hours — at a cost of

Pigeon Plucker In Air Force

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — The U. S. Air Force has an expigeeon plucker on the payroll, all in the interest of science.

He is Lee R. G. Snyder of Huron, S. D., a recent high school graduate honored as a presidential scholar. His exhibit on why pigeon feathers turned white after repeated plucking won honors at the National Science Fair-International.

The study, which took Snyder three years of plucking more than 6,000 feathers from 120 pigeons, got him the summer job at the School of Aerospace Medicine at Brooks AFB.

Snyder tentatively concluded that genetic factors reduced the number of pigment cells in the feather sockets of certain types of pigeons.

Skip Warren Champion In Jaycee Open Division

By KARL O'QUINN
Daily News Sports Editor

Skip Warren birdied four of the last six holes at Pampa Country Club Friday afternoon and came in with a two-over-par 73 to win the open division of the Regional Junior Jaycee golf tournament.

In second place was Tom Porter of Amarillo, with 75.

Charles McKinney shot an 81 to take the novice division title by one stroke over Tommy Rose. Both are from Pampa, as is Warren.

In striking contrast to the touring pros who approach the last green with grim visage, Warren came skipping up the 18th unable to contain his joy, tapped in a three-foot putt for his fifth birdie of the day, and went into the pro shop to go to work for his father, club pro Hart Warren.

Had it not been for a double bogey on the tenth hole, Warren's round would have been even more remarkable.

Warren was using a new putter and his father's clubs, none of which he had ever used before.

The winner and runner-up in each division are eligible for the state tournament in Harlingen July 9-11.

The novice division was divided into two age groups by the Pampa Jaycees to stimulate entries from younger players, but the younger ones showed the more advanced novices a thing or two about golf.

McKinney was a Class A novice (15 and older) but Rose was in Class B (14 and younger). Eddie Windom of McLean was runner-up in A with 84 and Johnny Fuller of McLean was third with 85.

Then came Ricky Roach of Pampa with 85 and Terry Hugg and Pat Windom of McLean, both with 86. All were in Class B.

A number of the novices beat some of the open entries. Roach went out in 38, the same first nine score as Skip Warren, but had trouble with the back nine.

8 SUNDAY, JUNE 21, 1964 57TH YEAR

Panhandle Outdoor Life

Perhaps none of our feathered friends are more devoted to family life than the bobwhite quail. Even so, many of the males remain bachelors during their life span simply because they aren't as many hens as males during the courtship time of the year. Usually in April of the courtship season arrives. The bobwhite male gives forth his whistling mating call, and if a hen answers, the male goes flying and then running.

Many times there are two or more that take to the air mate-seeking. Then they do battle. The losers go wife-seeking all over again. They seem to understand that it is now or never. For many of the males, it is never, for the life span is less than two years. If they don't succeed the first year, probably they will die of old age or other reasons.

The bachelors are desperate for companionship. It is a simple matter to go into a quail range, whistle the female call notes, and whistle up a male, or perhaps three, at one place. It is very amusing, then, to observe the cock attempting to locate the hen. Many have whistled up cocks each spring so it isn't something new.

Housekeeping

After quail pair off, they soon set up housekeeping. The male birds set regularly on the nest and have been observed on the nest while the birds were hatching. Quail are different from some birds in that they attempt to move the newly hatched birds as far as they can from the nesting site. While moving the birds out and away, both mama and papa quail are in diligent attention to the ones that can't keep pace with the family, and encourage the cheeping chicks back into the group.

Papa and mama catch bugs and other insects of high water content and encourage the children to dine. The first few days are the crucial ones. After that, the chicks grow stronger quickly and begin to catch their own food.

Turkey Different

While the bob is most attentive, the wild turkey isn't. As soon as the turkey hen hatches her brood, she likewise moves them out in a hurry. Papa turkey isn't around. Ma turkey has the sole responsibility of raising the family. She is frantic with her new brood, knowing well that the scent of newly hatched young will attract enemies. When a young turkey falls behind, he is soon deserted for the general welfare of the others.

Yesterday A. S. Jackson remarked that he had already seen two broods of young turkeys this spring. Seven or eight were in the first brood, and an undetermined number in the other.

Three Pampans In Tournament

One and a half teams of Pampa golfers are entered in the sixth annual Amarillo Country Club Women's Invitational Partnership golf tournament which opens tomorrow.

Mrs. Clayton Husted and Mrs. Tom Kitchens form one entry. Mary Myatt is teamed with Mrs. Kathleen Marchman of Dallas.

Almost 50 teams had entered the match play event as of yesterday. There will be two points per hole, one for low ball and one for low total.

Defending champions and three-time winners Mrs. Wanda Sowell Hendrix and Barbara Fay White of Shreveport, La., are not entered this year.

JAYCEE WINNERS — George Smith presents the open division first place trophy to Skip Warren as runner-up Tom Porter looks on. Porter also holds the trophy he won in the driving contest. Bud McVicker, right, admires novice division winner Charles McKinney's trophy. On McKinney's right is Tommy Rose, who finished one stroke behind him.

Venturi Wins Open, Arnie Folds

By STEVE SNIDER
UPI Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ken Venturi, a heart-broken golfer through three injury-plagued years, survived a case of near exhaustion from the intense heat Saturday and won the U. S. Open championship by four shots with a two under par total of 278 which blasted Arnold Palmer's bid for a grand slam.

The 33-year-old Venturi, who hadn't won a tournament since Milwaukee in 1960, staggered off the 18th green of his morning off the 18th green of his morning round nearly stunned by the heat and two shots out of the lead after firing a 66. But he battled courageously through the steaming afternoon in even par 35-35-70 to romp away from 29-year-old Tommy Jacobs, who finished second with 70-76-282.

Palmer wound up with 75-74-286 in one of the worst collapses in golf history. The all-time money winning champ opened the day only one shot out of the lead but lost nine shots to par on his two troubled tours over the par 70 Congressional Country Club course.

Southpaw Bob Charles of New Zealand, British Open Champ and the only lefty ever to win a major title, finished third with 71-68-283 passing Palmer in the stretch.

And far back came tournament favorite Jack Nicklaus, whose putting touch faded in the sun and left burly Jack with 77-73-295. Jacky Cupit, who finished second to Julius Boros in a three-way playoff with Palmer last year, had 75-76 for 297.

Venturi started the day six shots back of Jacobs, who had tied the Open record with a 64 Friday and led with a record 206 at the end of the morning round. Tommy's 206 cracked the 1948 mark of 207 set by Ben Hogan.

For a time it was doubtful Ken could tee off on his final round. At the intermission he was ordered to rest and skip lunch. He sipped iced tea and lemon and hoarded his strength for the long struggle ahead.

Jacobs and Palmer both said they "felt fine" after the torturous morning trial but it was they—not the partially dehy-

A. J. Foyt Plans Car

By KENNETH CARR
United Press International

HOUSTON (UPI) — Indianapolis 500 winner A. J. Foyt Jr., called one of the advocates of the "old style" front-engine race cars, may enter next year's "500" with a streamlined enclosed rear-engine racer.

Foyt said at his Houston home that plans for his 1965 Indy entry are still incomplete, but there is a good chance it will be a rear-engine vehicle.

"If we can work out the fuel problems, I'm all for it," Foyt said. He would not elaborate on his planned car, but said it probably would be an enclosed-cockpit model.

Foyt said he definitely would not drive the same front-engine Offenhauser that won the recent 500 race in record time.

Something New

"We'll be trying out something different next year because we're always checking out different cars and approaches to racing," said the two-time winner of the Indianapolis race.

The "we" stands for Foyt and his dad, A. J. Sr., who owns a Houston garage and works on his son's cars.

Foyt stopped by his Houston home the past week for the first time in a month and a half. He talked racing with friends and relatives, spent a little time with his wife and three kids, then got ready to leave for Indianapolis to prepare his sprint car for Sunday's 30-lap race at Terre Haute, Ind.

Foyt seemed to bristle when the recent furor over the two deaths at the "500" was mentioned.

He claims auto racing is no more dangerous than boxing, football, boating or other sports that claim an occasional life.

Shattuck Slips By Rebels 8-7

By KARL O'QUINN
Daily News Sports Editor
The Pampa Rebels rallied for four runs in the bottom of the seventh inning yesterday afternoon but didn't quite make it as Shattuck, Okla., pulled out an 8-7 win.

The visiting Braves, defending Oklahoma state champions, scored seven runs in the fifth inning off a tiring Carl Harnsberger to put the game just out of reach of the Rebels.

Shattuck had taken a one-run lead in the third on singles by Pete Pearson, Harold Imke and Butch Schoenhals.

In the bottom of the third James Matney doubled and came home on an error by second baseman Pearson which put Harnsberger on base. Harnsberger scored on Rick Stewart's single to left and put Pampa ahead 2-1.

The Rebels pushed their lead to 3-1 in the fourth when Ricky Goodwin and Matney doubled back to back.

Harnsberger struck out seven batters in the first four innings and walked none, but he ran out of gas in the fifth. He walked Pearson, Imke and Ben Hussey to load the bases with none out. Schoenhals forced the lead runner at the plate but Stuart's single sent in two runs.

Rex Boudreau lined a ball to center field which Ronnie Oler misjudged and two more runs scored. Harnsberger got K. Columbia out but walked Mel Greer. Dick Johnston doubled to score two more runs. Pearson walked and Hussey singled in the final Shattuck run.

Stuart looked like an easy winner through the fifth and sixth innings, which were hitless for Pampa, but he weakened seriously in the seventh.

Matney and Oler singled to open the inning. Harper and Garrison fled out but Stewart, Maynard, Steve Malberg and Larry Daniels singled in succession to drive in four runs.

Stuart came out of it alive when he got Goodwin to tap a grounder back to him to end the game.

The same two teams go again tonight at 7:30. Buddy Hammons (2-0) will be the likely pitching choice for the Rebels. Shortstop Kyle Vann should be back in the lineup, also. He had to work yesterday.

Cowboys Expecting Good Year

DALLAS (UPI)—Coach Tom Landry said Saturday he is confident his Dallas Cowboys will be among the contenders in the National Football League this fall but "just as last year, defense is our main concern."

"Mel Renfro of Oregon and the other rookies represent what I think will be our finest rookie crop to date," Landry said.

The coach said most of the defensive players enter their third season as a unit—a season in which they'll have to reach their potential."

His comments on 1964 prospects were made with the release of the team roster and statistics in preparation for training camp which begins at Thousand Oaks, Calif. July 11.

Top Draft Choice
Landry termed draft choice Perry Lee Dunn of Mississippi and Billy Lothridge of Georgia Tech "top-quality prospects" and added up to an "exceptional group of newcomers" along with Renfro, Tommy McDonald, Buddy Dial and Whaley Hall.

McDonald and Dial were obtained in trades from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, respectively, causing a lot of off-season comment. As a result, Landry said "we now have one of the strongest groups of receivers, if not the strongest, in the NFL."

"Don Meredith took over as quarterback last year and his development substantiated the feeling that he could be one of pro football's greats," Landry said.

"I think our strong crop of receivers will help our running game as much as our passing game," he added. "We expect Amos Marsh to remain his 1962 form, when he ranked seventh among NFL rushers and we expect Don Perkins to be fully recovered from the injuries that caused him to either miss or play sparingly in half our 1963 games."

Lothridge to Kick off
Landry said he looks for Lothridge to handle kicking chores, because Sam Baker was given up for McDonald, and Hall and Don Talbert to replace Lynn Hovem in the line. Hovem also went for McDonald. Talbert is due to be released from the U.S. Army in the fall.

The coach said Jim Ray Smith will move to tackle and Raymond Schoenke could also help in the line as the second team center behind Mike Connelly and also as a guard.

Key defenders the coach is counting on are Bob Lilly at tackle, Larry Stephens and George Andrie at ends, linebackers Lee Roy Jordan, Chuck Howley and Jerry Tubbs and deep men Cornell Green, Mike Gaechter and Don Bishop.

Bowling

How many people have ever witnessed the City Association Secretary inspecting and certifying the lanes in a bowling establishment?

How many realize the exactness of all the measurements that must be taken each year to earn the A.B.C. sanction approval? Each lane is measured in a number of places from the front to the back — for tilt and levelness.

Nowhere may there be a difference of more than 40 thousandths of an inch.

A very accurate level and gauge is used. The length of the lanes, the width and depth of the gutters, the width of the lanes and dozens of other measurements assure you that the lanes bearing A.B.C. certification everywhere in the world are exactly the same within fractions of an inch.

This is one of the things that help make bowling the sport that it is.

Electricity also contributes greatly to the pleasures of bowling as was found out at one of the local lanes when the last storm burned out a feeder line and the current was off for a couple of hours.

Boy is it ever quiet in a bowling lane with nothing working, not even the clock.

How dependent we are on electricity for our conveniences, no lights, no pinsetters, no coffee, no soft drinks, no TV — no nothing. Oh boy, the pleasures of a bowling business.

Ask Agnes Cox, she drove in from way up in Oklahoma before breakfast just to be on time for her early morning league.

While settling her nerves she bowled a 99 but calmed down to bowl a 177 her last game.

The Rays and Terry Electric of McLean certainly dominated the HIs and Hers league this week.

Wylene Patrick sneaked in for ladies hi series with a 542 but Roy Ray had hi game and series with 208 and 555.

Of course Mary Rav had to spoil his fun with a 209 for hi game.

No one works harder at bowling than Nick Kadings but patience pays off because hi little he raises his average nearly each week.

One of the smoothest bowlers in town came up with a hefty series of 658 on games of 226, 223, and 209 this week. It's a real pleasure watching Charles Sinclair lay that ball down right into the pocket.

Some of these juniors and bantams aren't so bad either. Roger Flowers, with games of 200 and 215 and series of 514 and 548 the same week is going to be toos some day, along with Danny Mecher who is also an exceptionally smooth bowler.

There are some fine young bantams, too. Bruce Murchison had a 172 and 476. Ronny Parsley a nice 453, and Tiny Randy all of sixty pounds dripping wet, rolling 88, 87, and 88.

Talking of Juniors, a new league of Juniors, coupled with a father or mother, started last Sunday and it was a wonderful sight watching Bobbie Johnson almost beating her handsome son Tommy; Hansford Owsley coming out of retirement and beating his son Bobby 11 pins; Bob McKinney showing up his off-

BABE RUTH LEAGUE

It was a night for the underdogs Friday.

Lowly Enco pushed Cree to the limit before falling 8-7 in nine innings and Ideal knocked off league - leading Fannon 4-3.

Cree had to rally twice to stay in the ball game. The Drillers scored twice in the bottom of the seventh to tie the game and then had to score three runs in the bottom of the ninth to offset Enco's two in the top.

Enco accomplished all this on three hits off winner Don Whitney. Chuck Albus lost the heart-breaker.

Glyn Abbott outhit the entire Enco team with four safeties in five at bats.

Ideal, champions of the league the past two years, returned to its old-time form in defeating Fannon.

Reliever and winner Danny Harris allowed one run in the last of the seventh but closed the door in Fannon's face after that. He gave up two hits, Larry Stephens was handed the loss.

The errorless game was decided by hitting and pitching. Ideal's Larry Keyser had the game's outstanding hit, a triple to left field in the third inning, but there were none on at the time. Johnny Marsh of Ideal and Stephens of Fannon each hit two for three.

Cards Whacked

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants walloped the St. Louis Cardinals 14-3 Saturday with 20 base hits including four home runs. Willie Mays' 21st, Harvey Kuenn's 3rd and Orlando Cepeda's 9th and 10th.

Manager Alvin Dark of San Francisco and first baseman Bill White of St. Louis were ejected during heated argument on plays at first base.

FACE FABULOUS FIVE — Here are six more of the Industrial League All-Stars which will play the Fabulous Five team from Arlington in a benefit game this afternoon at 2 in Optimist Park. On the front row are pitcher Delbert Daniels, outfielder Roy Stephens and third baseman Jerry Wright, all of Humble. In the back are first baseman Lloyd Stephens of Humble and catcher Arlen Kaiser and pitcher Raymond McKinney of Panhandle Packing.

South San Dominates Star Team

AUSTIN (UPI) — Champion South San Antonio dominated the state Class AAA all-tournament team picked by sports writers covering the annual event, it was announced Saturday. The South Texans placed six members on the mythical team.

In AAAA competition, champion Brazosport placed only two members on that all-star squad while San Antonio Lee and Midland Lee each placed three men on the team.

South San Antonio's six members included pitcher Johnny Guzman and second baseman Bobby Jorgenson, both unanimous choices; outfielders Larry Black and Bill Marki; shortstop Marvin Davis and catcher Meddie Lomas.

Others named to the AAA all-star team were unanimous choices Danny Kowalski, Deer Park first-sacker and pitcher Amalio Garcia of Brownfield; catcher Ronnie White of Deer Park; outfielder Mike Wood of Deer Park and third baseman Ernest McAnally of Mt. Pleasant.

Louis Mexia, Sherman third baseman, was the only unanimous choice in AAAA. Brazosport placed second sacker Richard Rimato and outfielder Jimmy Larson on the all-star squad.

Others on the AAAA team included outfielder Kim Hammon, first baseman Terry Schreiner and pitcher Bobby Weber of Midland Lee; outfielder Gary Kempf, shortstop James Hartwell and catcher Tony Brown of San Antonio Lee and pitcher Ken Perrin of Sherman.

Industrial Softball

Raymond McKinney pitched a perfect game for five innings as Panhandle Packing shut out Miami 10-0 and Humble edged the Pampa All-Stars 2-1 in Industrial League action Friday.

Besides completely frustrating Miami batters, McKinney had two for two at the plate, including a home run in the Packers' four-run first inning.

Larry Rider was the loser. Weathered Humble scored once each in the first and third innings, then choked off an All-Star rally in the bottom of the seventh to take the win.

Both Delbert Daniels and Charlie Vaughan pitched five-hitters but Daniels got the victory.

Roy Stephens paced the game's hitters with two hits in three tries.

TODAY'S GAME
A dozen of the league's best players take on the Fabulous Five team from Arlington this afternoon at 2 in Optimist Park. Proceeds go to the Youth Center and the Optimist boys' program.

The Five feature former Cincinnati Redleg Bob Smith, who is in his second year in softball but is already one of the game's best, and Gordon Salsman, who is billed as the fastest man in softball.

The All-Stars list Raymond McKinney of Panhandle Packing, Delbert Daniels of Humble and Charlie Vaughan of the Pampa All-Stars as pitchers; Gene Brown of the Stars and Arlen Kaiser of the Packers as catchers; Lloyd Stephens of

Mets Knock Off Phillies With Pair of Homers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Christopher and Bob Taylor each hit a pair of homers and together drove in six runs to spark the New York Mets to a 7-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Saturday.

Taylor, who got into the game only after plate umpire Ken Burkhardt banished catcher Chris Cannizzaro in the second inning, had two singles in addition to his two homers and drove in four runs. His two homers doubled his previous major league home run total.

Ford Wins 10

CHICAGO (UPI) — Southpaw Whitey Ford continued his mastery over the Chicago White Sox Saturday by pitching the New York Yankees to a 1-0 victory in 11 innings.

It was the sixth straight time that Ford had beaten the Sox and gave him a lifetime mark of 33 wins and 19 losses against Chicago.

Ford, in becoming the American League's first 10 game winner, has now pitched 43 consecutive scoreless innings against the White Sox since last August 16th. It was his third shutout over the Pale Hose this year.

Webfoots Winners

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — The Western Hemisphere's college athletes, warming for the Olympic trials, cracked seven meet records Saturday and the University of Oregon ran away with the team crown for the second time in three years in the NCAA Track and Field Championships.

New NCAA marks were set in the broad jump, 100 meters, 500 meters, 1,500 meters 800 meters, 1,000 meters and steeplechase.

Records also fell in the 200 meters and triple jump events but were not allowed because of too much following wind.

The finest show of the meet came in the 1,500 meter race where Morgan Groth, wearing a borrowed shoe, won in 3:40.4, to break the collegiate mark of 3:40.9 and the NCAA record of 3:44.2 set by Droyr Burleson of Oregon in 1960.

This event, 120 yards short of the mile, is called the "metric mile." Either 17 or 18 seconds should be added to the clocking to get the time for the mile. Archie San Romani of Oregon was second in 3:40.8; and John Camien of Emporia State third in 3:41.

Oregon won the team title with 70 points with San Jose State far back with 40 for second place.

Cubs Blanked

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Southpaw Joe Gibbon and the Pirates ruined Ernie Broglio's debut with the Chicago Cubs Saturday with a 2-0 shutout that extended Pittsburgh's winning streak to four games.

Gibbon, who needed relief from Al McBean in the ninth, helped his own cause by snapping a scoreless pitching duel in the eighth with a single that scored Bill Mazerowski, who had tripled. Then Gibbon scored on Dick Schofield's triple to right.

Lindy McDaniel relieved Broglio and ended the rally with the help of a double play.

Houston Wins

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The Houston Colts squeezed home a run in the third inning and added two more on sacrifice flies in the seventh to hand the Milwaukee Braves their fourth consecutive defeat 3-2 Saturday.

Don Nottebart scattered eight hits to beat his former teammates in a pitching duel with Tony Cloninger, who went the distance for the fifth time this season—one more than he completed all of 1963. He gave up only four hits in losing his sixth game against five wins.

Matson Goes To AAU Meet

Randy Matson will leave for New Brunswick, N.J., Wednesday to compete in the AAU championships on the Rutgers University campus Saturday and Sunday.

Matson has been working out daily at Pampa High School and has been getting distances of 63 feet consistently. He has been over 64 feet in meets this year and must be rated as one of the favorites Saturday.

'Happy Father's Day'

Dads sometimes think that kids are just instruments of worry that hold a great ability to soften the heart, turn men into mice and hit the old pocketbook where it hurts. Little girls with giggles become big girls with beaux and little boys on tricycles graduate too quickly to hot rods. Father's road is long and hard until he hears, "I love you, Daddy. Happy Father's Day!" This is the punch line that makes a Dad glad he's a father and shows what youngsters really think of the most important man in their lives.

LIKE IT? — Jack Allen, 725 Bradley Dr., gives daughter Pam, 14, an admiring, and questioning look as she asks his opinion on a real "grown-up" ensemble. He now joins the ranks of fathers that wonder "where did the pig tails go" in the lower right photo.

GOOD STORY — Do kids or dads have more fun at story-time? It's hard to tell when Army Sgt. Bill Blackburn, 1213 E. Kingsmill, is doing the lines. In the center left photo, Cheryl, 5; Mark, 1; and Laura, 6, are fascinated at Daddy's rendition of "Three Pigs".

SOUNDS GOOD — Earl Miller, 1120 Garland points out to son Butch, 14, in the lower left photo that with just a little more adjustment, his car will be in good shape.

These are a few of the fathers in Pampa that woke up this morning with a special feeling of contentment and joy they are the friend of boys and girls that are like no others. Because as a father, his are the most outstanding, lovable kids in the world and to every boy and girl, theirs is the best dad on the block, in town, or across the world.

Girl Scout Pin Has Deep Meaning

Diamonds may be a girl's best friend, but sometimes a simple inexpensive piece of jewelry can be worth more than its weight in gold.

Such is the case with a small, cloverleaf-shaped pin worn by 3,500,000 young girls and adults in this country. The pin is the Girl Scout trefoil, the official emblem of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

All members of Girl Scouts — 2,836,000 girls, ages seven through 17, and 720,000 adults — currently wear the trefoil. Since the founding of Girl Scouts in the United States in 1912, almost 21,000,000 have been privileged to do so.

The Girl Scout trefoil has deep significance for every one of its wearers. Its three broad leaves stand for the three parts of the Girl Scout Promise: duty to God and country, helpfulness, obedience to the Girl Scout Laws. Symbolizing a Girl Scout's readiness to serve her country, the pin is emblazoned with the American eagle and shield, above which appear the initials "G.S."

The trefoil may not sparkle like a diamond, but for Girl Scouts its luster has endured for 52 years.

A professional finish to suits, pleated skirts, dresses, shirts and draperies comes with a new electric portable "press ironer" that does the trick in the home. The lightweight, thermostatically controlled unit eliminates line-drying because it can iron wet wash, converting dampness to steam.

Dale LeCount, Birmingham, Ala., Thursday afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church in Oklahoma City. Dr. C. Mrs. Donald F. Jensen, organist, presented traditional wedding selections and accompanied the vocalist, Miss Betty Ann Wright as she sang, "I Love Thee" and "Entr'acte Me Not to Leave Thee".

BRIDE
The bride entered the church on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She chose a formal gown featuring a Viennese lace moulded bodice with a square-cut neckline and elbow-length sleeves. The softly-pleated skirt of silk organza terminated in a chapel train and was banded with Viennese lace. Her pill box hat of Viennese lace secured a veil of bridal illusion and she carried a white Bible crested with white roses and stephanotis.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Jan Sponhalt, San Antonio, attended the bride as maid of honor. Her floor-length gown of white organza over pink taffeta was complemented by a wide-brim picture hat. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and stephanotis.

Dressed identically to the honor attendant were Miss Sue Goodin, Topeka, Kan., and Mrs. Don Harder, Alexander City, Ala., sister of the bridegroom, bridesmaids. Bill Wright attended the bridegroom as best man. Ushering guests at the wedding were Bruce Nutt, brother of the bride, Pampa; Rod Bur-

Mrs. LeCount wore a tea-length dress of pure silk ashes of roses with a flowered hat of the same hue. Her corsage was also a white glamelia.

RECEPTION
Mrs. Dan Cheatham, Edmond, Okla., registered guests attending a reception following the service. Mrs. Jerry Crabs, Oklahoma City served the traditional wedding cake, and Mrs. Daryl Simmons, Edmond, Okla., presided at the punch bowl.

Couple Makes Vows In Formal Wedding Service

CANADIAN (Spl) — An impressive double ring ceremony Saturday evening united in marriage Miss Janie Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Walker, and Pvt. Harley Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Robertson of Perryton. The vows were exchanged in the home of the bride's parents before an arch of white satin entwined with greenery and blue carnations. The vows were read by the Rev. Sanford Cole.

Wearing a street length dress of white Chantilly lace over bridal satin, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her dress was styled with a fitted bodice featuring a bateau neckline and lowered waistline coming to points in front and back. The long sleeves came to a point over the hands. A pearl and sequin tiara held her veil of French illusion. She carried a white Bible topped with white roses and blue streamers. The Bible was borrowed, and her "something old" was a cameo necklace belonging to her great-grandmother. Her dress and accessories were new and she wore a blue garter for "something blue". She completed the tradition by having a penny made in the year of her birth in her shoe. Mrs. Jerry Green served her niece as matron of honor and Jack Smith of Farmington, N. M. was best man. Jo Ann Smith played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Dora Mae Hext who sang, "Oh Promise Me" and "The Wedding Prayer."

A reception followed the ceremony. The serving table was draped with an ecru cloth of Quaker lace over blue. The centerpiece of blue daisies and white stock in a crystal bowl was flanked by double candleholders of crystal with blue tapers. Blue punch, white mints and nuts were served. Lois Robertson, cousin of the bridegroom, presided over the punch bowl and Lynis Davis, cousin of the bride, served the wedding cake.

The couple will make their home at Ft. Riley, Kan. where the bridegroom is stationed with the Army.

Friday Shopping Is Favored by Ladies

UNIVERSITY PARK PA. (UPI) — A survey conducted at the Pennsylvania State University shows homemakers do more than three-fourths of the family food buying and that Friday is the most popular food shopping day in chain stores.

H. Bruce Bylund, an economist at the university said non-chain store customers are more inclined to shop at the beginning and end of the week than chain store customers.

If neighborhood stores are convenient, homemakers indulge in more frequent shopping with about 11 per cent of this group making daily trips to food stores.

The survey indicated chain and non-chain stores could increase sales of eggs, fresh produce such as vegetables, and baked products and dairy items. Most shoppers purchase these products elsewhere.

It's a curious paradox that man is afraid of color in his clothing, but runs the gamut of the rainbow in his cars, his furniture, his house and his garden, says Ron Postal, director of the National Council of Men's Fashions.

Bandana Proves Valuable During Camping Trips

Did you ever realize that a bandana can be one of the most valuable pieces of equipment on an outing or camping trip? Everyone knows, of course, that a kerchief can shield your head from the sun or rain. Girl Scouts always have it handy to be used as a pot holder, a trail marker, a signal flag, a placemat, or on apron, too. For emergencies, it can be put to work as a bandage or sling. It also serves as a carryall for what Girl Scouts call a "nose-bag" lunch.

In the early days of Girl Scouting the official tie was actually a large bandana just because of its all-purpose use. Today's Girl Scouts wear

Dear Abby....

Father's Day Brings Up
Opposite Views of Sons

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR READERS: We are celebrating FATHER'S DAY, and it is a most appropriate time to share with you these letters which I received from readers. The first was sent to me from a proud father in Norwalk, Ohio. It was the first letter he received from his G. I. son — one of seven to serve our country, with two more to go." He wrote:

Verdun, France

"Hi, Dad:
"I received your letter the other day, but have been too tired to answer until now. I still am, but here goes:
"Dad, you have no idea what it means to get a letter from you. I know you think of me, but it is good to see it in writing. I want you to know that I think of you as well as Mom and my wife, all the time. I pray for you all every night. The only thing that keeps me going is knowing that we will all be together again.
"I guess the reason your letters mean so much to me is because they are so few and far between. I just can't explain the feeling I get when I read a letter from you, Dad. It just tears me apart.
"I guess I am just sentimental. Or maybe it's because we never said much to each other before. I feel that your letters bring us closer together. Anyway, I want you to know that I think you are O. K. and I am proud that you are my dad. When anybody would ask me, 'Are you Ed Brutsche's boy?' I'd say, 'Yea, I sure am.'"
"This is my first letter to you and you alone, Dad. I am even putting it in a separate envelope because it is worth eight cents to let my father know that I love him and miss him very much.
"And that's it.
"Your Sentimental Son, Pink"

someone to shoot me. Do you realize that I have actually lived in the same house with a man for 19 years and he never once sat down and talked to me, or took me anywhere, or showed any interest in me, except for football my last year in high school, and that was very short-lived? You should see the letters some of these boys get from their fathers. You should hear them talk about the places they've gone, and the things they've done with their fathers. How am I supposed to know how to treat a son if I ever get married? I've never been shown any love by my father. I don't even know how a father is supposed to act. Do you realize that I have missed half the fun of growing up because my father never looked at me? If he had been dead for the past 15 years it wouldn't have made any difference. There are some things a mother can't give her children. Especially if they are boys. I've missed all that and I'll never forgive my father for it. Maybe you should have pushed him a little harder, Mom. I don't know. I only know that it's too late for me, but it's not too late for my brother. See if you can't talk to him, Mom. I don't want Johnny to grow up wondering what it's like to have a father's love. That's half a boy's education. Don't let Johnny miss it, Mom. PLEASE."

And another letter:
DEAR ABBY: Please do me a favor and print the enclosed portion of a letter I received from my son, a wonderful boy who has been neglected by his father for all of his 19 years. My son is away at college. His father reads your column. Maybe he will see it and recognize himself as I could not bring myself to show him his son's letter.

A double ring ceremony read at 8 o'clock in the evening June 12, united in marriage Janet Diane Joyce and Glen Ray Henderson.

Dr. Douglas Carver read the ceremony before a floral and greenery bedecked altar flanked by candelabra. The cathedral tapers were lighted by Randy Webb, Cocoa, Fla., nephew of the bride, and Gary Stelzer, Guyton, Okla., cousin of the bridegroom.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Joyce, 2505 Christine and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Henderson, 1925 Christy.

Traditional selections were presented by Miss Eloise Lane, organist, and Joe Whitten presented the vocal selections, "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

BRIDE
Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie fashioned with a scooped neckline and long tapered sleeves. The fitted bodice of alencon lace was enhanced by a floor-length softly pleated skirt ending in a chapel train. Her elbow-length veil of illusion was secured by a seed pearl tiara. The bride's bouquet of white carnations centered with an orchid, was carried on a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS

Sister of the bride, Mrs. W. M. Webb, Cocoa, Fla., matron of honor, wore a formal gown of pale pink silk organza and carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

Dressed identically to the honor attendant and carrying white carnation nosegays were the bridesmaids, Miss Lynne Moore, Amarillo and Miss Ruby Coats, Amarillo.

J. W. Henderson Jr. served as best man and ushering duties were shared by Robert Garrett, Pampa; and Jerry Fulton, Amarillo.

Mrs. Joyce was attired in a rose silk shantung suit accented with beige accessories and complemented with a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. Henderson chose a beige dress with matching accessories and a corsage of blue carnations for her son's wedding.

RECEPTION

Miss Diane Tidwell, Pampa, was guest book attendant at a reception held immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table, set in the church parlor, was covered with pink linen and net and centered with an arrangement of white mums and pink carnations. A three-tiered wedding cake and punch were served by Mrs. J. W. Henderson, Pampa and Miss Judy Gordon, Amarillo. Other members of the house party were Mrs. Russ Orvis, Mrs. Wilford Branson and Mrs. Lon Nickens.

For a wedding trip to Colorado, the new Mrs. Henderson donned a suit of pink linen and white accessories. The orchid in her bridal bouquet was lifted and used as a shoulder corsage.

The couple is now at home in Amarillo where the bride is employed at First Federal Savings and Loan.

Mr. Henderson is employed with Culligan Soft Water and is a pre-veterinary medicine major at West Texas State University. He is a graduate of Pampa High School.

Mrs. Henderson is a graduate of Pampa High School and Draughon's Business College.

Royal Neighbors Make Presentation

A covered dish supper highlighted the meeting which was attended by Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Stapleton, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Braxton, Mr. and Mrs. Galloway, and Mmes. So You Really Want To Be A Companion?

So you want to be a real companion to your husband? Most wives think they do. But not all wives are willing to make the effort. If you ARE willing, none of these suggestions will seem like too much trouble to you: Give your husband's favorite pastimes a real try. Don't refuse to go hunting because you're "scared to death of guns" or veto fishing because you think you'd be bored sitting in a boat all day. Always have ideas of your own of something to do, so that when your husband asks "What would you like to do..." you don't give some such dispirited reply as "Nothing special, I guess." Be a good sport. No one is a good companion who doesn't know how to make light of inconveniences, or how to fall in happily with new plans when the original ones don't work out.

DEAR POLLY — I was so disgusted with the way my trash cans were abused by the trash collectors every week that I decided to paint my new ones a pastel color. ## Continuity Gets New Attention

Presidents, Congressmen, lawyers, editors and the general public have argued for years over what the Founding Fathers intended be done in the event of a President's inability to carry out the duties of his office. Constitutional language on the subject is vague and Congress has never acted in the matter. A Senate subcommittee came up recently with a proposed constitutional amendment which spells out the procedures to be followed if the President is disabled. It also ensures that the country would never be without a Vice President.

On May 27 the Senate Constitutional Amendments Subcommittee reported to the full Judiciary Committee a bill (S. J. Res. 139), sponsored by Subcommittee Chairman Birch Bayh (D Ind.), which fills in the gaps of Article II, Section 1, Clause 6 of the Constitution on Presidential disability.

Under Bayh's constitutional amendment, if there were a vacancy in the Vice Presidency, the President would nominate a Vice President and a majority of Congress would approve the selection.

If the President were unable to carry out his duties, but did not so declare in writing, S. J. Res. 139 permits the Vice President to take over the duties of the Presidency with the approval of a majority of the Cabinet or some other body designated by Congress.

To regain his duties, the President would have only to declare in writing his intention to do so. If the Vice President and Cabinet majority disagreed on the President's ability to resume his functions, Congress would settle the issue. A two-thirds vote would be necessary for the Vice President to continue as Acting President.

S. J. Res. 139 also settles the question of whether a Vice President taking over in the event of a president's disability assumes the "office" or the "powers and duties." There is general agreement that he as-

GOP Splits As Scranton, Barry Fight

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — As Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania tears around the country in his last-minute presidential bid against Sen. Barry Goldwater, he is providing the sharpest irony of the 1964 Republican scene.

For this deceptively casual, mild-mannered governor is on his way to putting the Goldwater camp in a permanent state of rage. And in so doing, he may assure the worst intraparty carnage since the Bull Moose days of 1912.

Only a few days ago, in a little-noticed gesture, a national party official put his hand on Arizona Gov. Paul Fannin's shoulder as the latter walked to a platform to speak for Goldwater. It was symbolic, a beginning sign of accommodation in high party circles to the idea of a Goldwater triumph at San Francisco.

But the gesture was premature. For out of the humilities of the Governors Conference at Cleveland rose Scranton.

The irony in his candidacy lies in these things:

— Until this month he had always indicated his only interest was in being drafted as a "unity" candidate after Goldwater and perhaps others might have failed.

Yet he is now entered as a purely factional candidate, the thrusting wedge of the Republican moderates, at an hour in the race when Goldwaters are being taken into view as a prize already won.

— The gentlemanly Scranton, so reluctant to be pulled into this fight, is delivering against Goldwater and his views the most stinging blows the senator has felt since he entered the lists six months ago. To Goldwater this has been unexpected — and personally wounding. He ought to have remembered how Scranton two years ago reduced to stuttering incoherence his Democratic opponent for governor, Richardson Dilworth, ex-Marine and veteran of the political wars.

So now Scranton, the man who talked only of unity, may by force of circumstance be the final spur to bitter Republican warfare from now through San Francisco to November and beyond.

Still it is not he who put this party in a state where war may now be touched off. The cleavages are old. They are both regional and ideological. In some places they exist between upper and lower party echelons. Contributors of money and the professionals who use it do not see eye to eye in many instances.

All this conflict has reached a peak of rancor in 1964. Between the conservative and moderate party forces there is today little mutual respect, little friendship, little wish for common understanding.

Goldwater people often exhibit open contempt for their rivals. Caught in the mood of ugly interchange, Goldwater himself, a naturally friendly man, is busy crossing top party figures off his list.

On the other side, the senator would be stunned if he knew the names of two respected party men — both calling themselves his friends — who have in recent weeks labeled Goldwater a "party deserter."

What led them to this devastating charge was the mountainous array of complaints that Goldwater forces in state after state have crushed "good party people" whose only sin was that they "would not write in blood for Barry."

If any slim hope existed that these deep divisions could be papered over, it was probably dashed altogether when William Scranton came out of Harrisburg and began swinging for Goldwater's chin.

One preacher told a friend of this writer that he didn't see how honoring thy father and thy mother had anything to do with the longevity of life. Evidently he didn't understand the commandment. Another preacher said that the commandments had been superseded by the Love Commandment. Evidently a lot of the men of the cloth do not really understand the meaning of the Human Relations Commandments.

Some claim that if people respected private property and did not steal, either individually or collectively, that people would not murder, would not bear false witness, and would not commit adultery.

Repealing of Income Tax Law Will Be Major Issue by 1966

By SAM CAMPBELL

The trouble with a presidential contest as an indicator of men's opinions is that the personalities involved tend to obscure the issues involved.

A candidate, committed to winning, cannot also be committed to following a course that is right if that course leads to defeat at the polls.

A better barometer, therefore, of political moods that influence the business climate are those issues in which doctrine is paramount and personalities are largely absent.

What Progress?

The pending Liberty Amendment that would take the federal government out of competition with private business and repeal the personal income tax is one such indicator. How is it doing?

This reporter had some direct knowledge both of the grassroots movement that culminated in the recent California presidential primary and the early efforts on behalf of the Liberty Amendment.

The planning that went into the primary began in 1960. It was kept alive by a skeleton state organization comprised of people of modest influence, but of intense dedication. One year ago last January, with more vision than practicality, the effort was shifted to the precincts by a petitioning process.

Early this year the movement began to snowball, and the most drastic, best-financed counterattack through the mass media could not stop it.

The history of the Liberty Amendment in its present form goes back to 1957. Progress has been slow. To date seven state legislatures have approved it, the last being Mississippi.

Without heavy financing, but with fervent dedication, a nationwide organization has been forged. Today Liberty Amendment committees are at work in all of the 50 states.

Once again California is the key state. A victory here would set the hinterlands afire with an outcry for tax reform. And once again the California contest focuses down to the Los Angeles basin comprising

By Frank J. Markey

The voters of the City of Pampa are entitled to more of the details on the coming bond election than were contained in Mayor Thompson's recent statement in the paper. He stated that we presently owe $1,292,000.00 in tax bonds. He did not include the interest that we owe on our tax bonds plus the principal and interest that we owe on water and sewer revenue bonds. Our last City audit reveals that we had a total bonded indebtedness of $4,389,447.36. The total interest on outstanding bonds as of that date was $1,022,447.36. The bond payments extend through the year 1983.

It has been the practice through the years to transfer funds from the Water and Sewer Department to other departments and the records show that there has been 1 1/2 million dollars taken from the Water and Sewer Department during the last nine years, for an average yearly transfer of approximately $175,000.00. When this was discovered by the previous commission it was recommended that at least $150,000.00 be retained each year in the Water and Sewer Department to be used for contingencies and improvements in this department. This is a common practice in other cities for capital improvements. This program would place the city on a pay as you go basis, dispense with large interest payments and place us in a strong financial position. The recommended program fell on deaf ears for the reason that the past practice had been one of manipulation and mismanagement of taxpayers funds. It was very evident that the day was fast approaching for the improvements now under consideration. So long as we have the tax inequities and free services provided for those outside our limits who do not choose to participate in city costs I would discourage a bond issue to saddle today's taxpayers and future generations. Mayor Thompson publicly stated that to saddle the next generation was the method used by the federal government, but even so it was wrong. Capital improvements on water and sewer can be better handled by a sound economy in city operations and can be financed on a pay as you go basis.

It is gratifying to know that within one week the recommended tax rate increase was reduced from 5 cents to 2 1/2 cents after a year of so-called exhaustive study of the subject. I would welcome the opportunity to have further discussion with the Mayor and City Commission.

We've heard of a lot of ways to lose weight and maintain a proper figure, but the latest advice from an eminent New York neurologist is really different. He says we should avoid worrying and adopt a serene attitude. He recently conducted a series of experiments which show that the body tends to pad itself with extra weight as a shield against life's stresses and strains, but when worry is "dispelled" the body then tends to rid itself of excess water with a subsequent loss of weight.

Today's smile: A Southern farmer was hitching up his mule for a trip into town when he was engaged in conversation by a city slicker, who asked: "Did that mule ever kick you?" "Not yet," said the farmer, "but he kicked the place I was standing many times."

Golf never had a more colorful champion than Walter Hagen, whose exploits have become legendary. During 29 years of play "The Haig" won 65 major tournaments, including several U.S. and four British Open crowns and five P.G.A. titles. When both were at their top form, he murdered Bobby Jones, who confessed afterward he was out of his element playing "The Haig." Goldform could use such a colorful competitor today. . . . The world's longest chorus line is New York Radio City Music Hall's Rockettes. At five shows a day 36 girls, all of whom appear to be the same height, dance precision routines across the giant 144-foot stage. However, the whole troupe consists of 46 chorines, but 10 girls are always on alternating vacation. It's the best dancing job in the country, and the hardest to land because there are seldom vacancies.

Thoughts while shaving: The current crop of June brides should feel lucky living at this time instead of in the Middle Ages. In those far-off days it was customary for fathers to give one of the bride's shoes to the bridegroom after the wedding as a token of the transfer of his authority to the groom, and the groom responded immediately by whacking the bride on the head with it, just to show her the transfer of authority was clear and definite. . . . Recent tests show that when liquor is consumed "straight" or in plain water, there is likely to occur an excess secretion of gastric acid in the stomach. The tests further showed that these after-effects were minimized if the liquor was mixed with a carbonated beverage. . . . The Roman Emperor Diocletian started the first postal system for ordinary mail in the 3rd Century. Its modus operandi consisted of fleet-footed young runners who carried the letters, or scrolls, from one relay station to the next. In some regions mounted horsemen carried the mail, not unlike the Pony Express system in this country 125 years ago. . . . Asked what they liked most about good coffee, 2500 customers of a chain of New York luncheonettes said they preferred "flavor" and "strength" as the two most essential qualities. . . . Headline in the Seattle (Washington) POST-INTELLIGENCER: "Striking Rome Firemen Fiddle Away Time." Seems as though someone's always fiddling with Roman fires and firemen.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: "Would the proper understanding of the commandment, 'Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long in the land that thy God has given thee,' improve the well-being of mankind on this earth?" "Would it not take the place of the welfare state?"

ANSWER: Some people are confused by this commandment. "Honor thy father and thy mother." It doesn't mean, necessarily, that one regard his parents as ideal, but it does mean that he has an obligation to take care of them if they become destitute. The reason that this would improve the longevity of one who honors his father and mother and takes care of them if they are destitute is that it is setting a good example for their children, and so if the parents become destitute then their children will take care of them as a moral obligation. This would, naturally, relieve the state of doing what should be done by the children for their parents and relatives.

If the public didn't believe in having the right to use force on strangers to take care of destitute people, who should be taken care of by their children, we wouldn't be in the mess that we are in today with the taxes going up and the dollar's value going down.

But some people will say, "but what would happen to those people who have no children?" If they have no children then they should be able to save, or to so live that someone will voluntarily want to help them if they should become destitute.

One preacher told a friend of this writer that he didn't see how honoring thy father and thy mother had anything to do with the longevity of life. Evidently he didn't understand the commandment. Another preacher said that the commandments had been superseded by the Love Commandment. Evidently a lot of the men of the cloth do not really understand the meaning of the Human Relations Commandments.

Some claim that if people respected private property and did not steal, either individually or collectively, that people would not murder, would not bear false witness, and would not commit adultery.

Look Behind Smoke Screen

"Such proponents of Federalized power as the Interior Department, the Rural Electrification Administration and the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association would have you think that a Federal power grid is imperative to fill a yawning gap in the nation's power requirements," says the Chestertown, Maryland, News. As the News observes, it is a matter of fact that "The investor-owned electric utility industry of America has been steadily inter-connecting its power lines for many years. At the same time its continuing research program has resulted in higher and higher transmission voltages."

On the same subject the authoritative Investor's Reader states, "By now nearly all major U.S. facilities are linked in the most advanced power complex in the world though still stronger ties are on schedule."

The investor-owned utility industry hasn't been asleep at the switch as some would have the public believe. The power grid is nothing new, but people do not know the degree to which it has already been developed by the investor-owned companies. Public power grids are being made a political issue by public power advocates at a time when private taxpayers investments in the electric field should be encouraged instead of retarded. It's a laugh to hear talk about federal economy when such goings on are tolerated in Washington and by the people who pay the tax bill.

Roddy McDowall Is Popular With Stars

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Roddy McDowall would be the greatest star in the business if he were as popular with the public as he is with other actors. He is one of the few individuals, for instance, who is a friend of both Elizabeth Taylor and Sybil Burton.

He is also a pal of Richard Burton, Sir Laurence Olivier, Ethel Merman and, well, believe me, everybody likes the English-born actor who has managed to survive his early years as a child star to become a busy and competent adult performer.

His sharp-featured face and British accent have made him an ideal character in such period epics as "Cleopatra" and "The Greatest Story Ever Told" in movies, and "Camelet" in the theater.

Roddy recently arrived in Hollywood for a guest shot in a segment of "The Alfred Hitchcock Show" at Revue Studios.

Roddy has made his many friendships pay off. In addition to being an actor, he has become an accomplished still photographer. He gets many magazine assignments which pay him almost as well as his acting chores.

The Week in Review

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The strongest racial rights bill since the North and South fought over slavery passed the Senate this week, with early House approval expected.

It was an epochal moment for the American Negro but a confusing one for the Republican party. Its front-running presidential candidate, Sen. Barry Goldwater, voted against it, thus thrusting the issue point blank into the general election campaign.

Goldwater told former President Eisenhower in advance how he was going to vote.

Many Republicans feared there would be an irreparable split between liberal and conservative wings when party unity is needed to oppose President Johnson. The latter is ready to sign the bill into law. Eisenhower, regarded as the only man who could break Goldwater, kept his counsel.

The blunt-spoken Goldwater described himself as unalterably opposed to discrimination. But he said that for the sake of national liberty he could not swallow the bill's two most important sections — public accommodations and fair employment. He charged they were unconstitutional. He also asserted they would "require for their effective execution the creation of a police state, with neighbor informing on neighbor."

"If my vote is misconstrued," he added, "let it be, and let me suffer the consequences."

These were immediate, Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, waging a last-minute blitz in an attempt to derail Goldwater's handwagon — but without Eisenhower's public benediction — called on the senator to repudiate his stand as against the "traditional Republican philosophy of equal opportunity for all." Goldwater retorted that Scranton wanted him to sell out his principles as the price of the nomination.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, Wis., chairman of the GOP national convention platform drafting committee, asserted the platform should endorse the bill and that the convention should refuse to nominate a candidate rejecting this or any other platform plank. He said that any president elected would have to enforce all federal laws, including racial rights.

With the national convention in the offing, Goldwater has now placed himself in a small minority in the Senate and House and among Republican governors. But it was conceded that his posture fits the views of many Americans outside the South not in full sympathy with the Negro's objectives.

The bill, a substitute for a House-passed version, would ban discrimination in voting, schools, employment, unions, public places, private enterprises offering public accommodations, and in dispensing federal funds. It was approved after the longest southern filibuster in history — a talkathon brought to a halt by a gag rule which Goldwater also opposed. The senator's greatest strength lies in the South while other top Republicans are committed in the other direction.

President Johnson — and the late President John F. Kennedy before him — helped lay down the bipartisan congressional line by appealing to both sides to help solve the racial crisis with no thought of politics.

National Negro leaders vowed to test the bill the minute it becomes law.

Goldwater meantime had piled up enough convention votes to win the nomination — if they stay hitched. Scranton's drive for delegates got a big lift when frustrated New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller threw from the race and ending his support. But Scranton still had to make inroads deep enough to keep Goldwater from getting the magic 655 votes required.

The latest state-by-state tabulation gave Goldwater 656. Scranton was campaigning hard in state after state, saying Goldwater's delegates were "fair game." He also hoped for defections in view of Goldwater's civil rights stand and noted that 230 of the senator's votes were unpledged.

Rockefeller got turned down when he urged Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon to come out for Scranton. Both claimed "neutrality" though each had sought to sidetrack Goldwater. Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the ex-president's brother, came out solidly for Scranton.

Goldwater was claiming 674 first ballot votes but was cautious. He said he wanted 50 to 100 more as a pad against possible defections.

The U.S. Supreme Court also rewrote American history by ordering that both houses of state legislatures must allot their seats on an equal population basis. This meant that in the future more political power will be deposited in cities and suburbs in states where geographical lines have given rural legislators control.

The legislative setup in 22 states will be affected at the outset though all 50 may eventually have to recast their representation.

In another far-reaching edict, the tribunal ruled 5 to 4 in a Connecticut case that the states — as well as the federal government — cannot abridge a man's right to take refuge in the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination. The decision overturned a 50-year-old constitutional precedent. It followed the recent trend of the bench in a safe guarding individual rights at the state level.

In other news spheres, it was disclosed that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy had offered to serve "in any capacity" in Communist-besieged South Viet Nam. But Johnson said he wanted him to stay in his present job during the current racial rights conflict.

The Warren Commission investigating the assassination of the late President Kennedy concluded examination of scheduled witnesses. Johnson meantime gave the Navy permission to name its newest Forrestal-class attack carrier the U.S.S. John F. Kennedy.

Visitors Can Strike Oil at Unique Display

Everybody can play "oil man" at a new exhibit at the Six Flags Over Texas opened Saturday by the American Association of Petroleum Landmen.

The electronic display in the Boom Town section of the theme park, has been set up to permit the man in the street to go through all the steps of finding oil.

He obtains a lease in a land office, becomes a member of an exploration team, either as an engineer, geologist or petroleum landman.

He conducts his own preliminary survey work, and stakes his own location for a well he thinks will "hit". He then moves to the controls of a drilling rig, learning the mechanics of drilling a hole in the ground.

Then he learns if he has found oil, becomes rich, or only has a souvenir, "a dry hole," that happens at least eight out of nine times in actual practice.

After his success or failure, he moves to another exhibit showing the important role oil plays in his life and the barren existence before oil became an essential source of energy.

Another exhibit depicts the importance of oil in the nation's economy and the bright future for a young man looking for a career.

Visitors will receive a souvenir badge pointing out "I drilled for oil in Boom Town."

The display is one of the most elaborate arranged by any oil group and is unusual in that it permits the layman to learn how an oil man operates in real life in an entertaining fashion.

The exhibit was designed by a leading theatrical exhibits company. It occupies approximately 1,000 square feet and uses colored lights, sound recordings and moving pictures to portray an authentic atmosphere.

EXPLODE BOMBS

The blasts caused considerable property damage but no casualties. Three other bombs found unexploded were wrapped in issues of "The Proletariat Voice," Colombia's Communist newspaper.

Business Highlights

By United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Refusal of the House of Representatives to repeal about $530 million in excise taxes on cosmetics, furs, jewelry and handbags was a disappointment to those industries. Other excise taxes on liquor, cigarettes, phone calls, plane tickets and automobiles extended by the House will yield about $1.9 billion.

WASHINGTON: Factory orders for durable goods fell 3 per cent in May from April to a seasonally adjusted $19.9 billion, but the order backlog rose a little for the fifth month in a row.

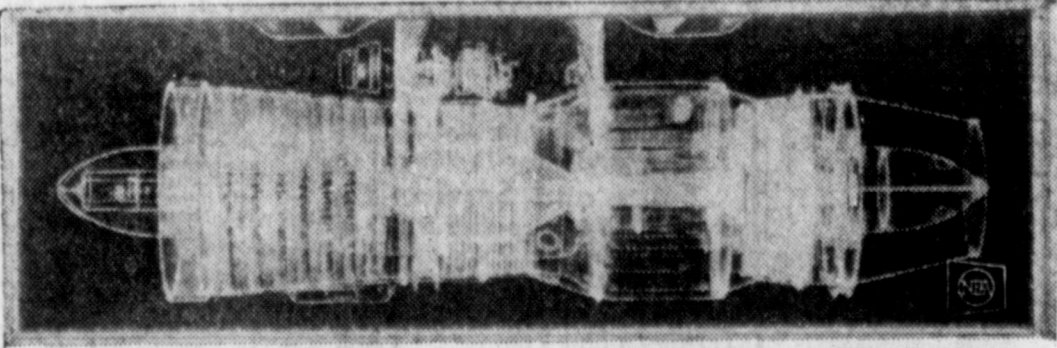

WASHINGTON: Labor Secretary Wirtz said his department is running a crash program to find jobs for teen-agers with 2,000 counsellors assigned to the task. The teen-age unemployment rate is 16 per cent in contrast to the general rate of under 5 per cent.

Dates Announced For 1965 LPGA Meet in Chicago

The 1965 annual convention and trade show of the National LP-Gas Association has been scheduled for May 2-5, 1965, according to William S. Brenckle, president of National LP-Gas Corporation, Waukesha, Wisconsin, and president of the association.

The meetings and trade exhibits will be held at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, Chicago. President Brenckle also announced that the convention chairman for 1965 will be Thomas H. Quail, president of Flame-Gas Wisconsin, Inc., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

NLPGA has also booked the Conrad Hilton for its 1966 convention and trade show which will be held May 1-4. NLPGA is the 3200-member international organization of dealers and suppliers of LP-gas and the appliances, containers, equipment and services used with the fuel gas.

WORLD'S LARGEST X-RAY—Run-of-the-mill X-rays are usually taken of chests, bones and other parts of the body. But the Eastman Kodak people have done something different. They've X-rayed a full-size Pratt & Whitney jet engine. The 15x8-foot radiograph was made by a high-voltage X-ray machine passing its beam through the jet engine onto strips of film, supported by plywood panels backed by lead shields. Objective of the big photo is to show the working parts of the engine. Both the X-ray and engine are on exhibit at the Kodak Pavilion of the New York World's Fair.

Security Plan Is Offered To City Service Employees

TULSA (SpI) — Cities Service Oil Co. will offer a three-fold guaranteed security package to its more than 15,000 dealers, distributors, consignees and their full-time employees July 1, containing a retirement plan, life insurance and disability coverage. It was announced here by Stanley D. Breitweiser, executive vice president.

Also to include Cities branded LP-Gas and fuel oil distributors, the new plan has been tailored by the company to fill a basic need of marketers and provide maximum benefits at minimum rates. The package will mean an income for him or his beneficiary whether the participant lives and works until retirement, is permanently disabled, or dies before or after retirement age.

Because the offer will be a group plan, mass enrollment power will keep costs low and benefit options numerous. In addition, money paid in as premiums may accumulate dividends, which will contribute substantially toward a larger monthly income or lump sum payment at retirement date, or an increased death or disability benefit.

The plan also will include severance benefits. If an insured wishes to terminate his plan, he may receive immediate cash value of his account, or take reduced paid-up life insurance protection until age 65 and receive lower monthly retirement payments at that time.

Participants in the plan must be between the ages of 18 and 65 and be actively at work on the effective date of the program. No medical examination will be necessary for those taking the plan during the original enrollment period.

Cities Service field personnel are currently briefing marketers on the availability of the plan, and retirement consultants will contact dealers, distributors and consignees shortly to further explain the program.

Auto Production Drops for Week

DETROIT (UPI)—Auto production last week was scheduled at 176,801 Units, down from the 179,821 assembled a week ago, according to Ward's Automotive Reports.

The statistical agency, however, said the production figure was up 3.7 per cent from the 170,543 units produced during the same period last year.

Ward's said the decline was caused by less overtime at General Motors plants, a scheduled week's closing of Ford's Lincoln - Thunderbird plant at Wisom, Mich., and a strike at Chrysler's St. Louis-Dodge Plymouth plant.

The auto industry has been rolling up its best year in history with 4,185,696 cars and 821,704 trucks assembled since Jan. 1, compared with the production of 3,854,967 cars and 713,409 trucks during the same period a year ago.

1964 Christmas Toys Try Parents' Sanity

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — If you have any arches in the doll-playing or bike-riding age bracket, beware! There is a conspiracy afoot to undermine both your solvency and your sanity.

I stumbled upon the plot one evening this week when I dropped in on an exhibit of 1964 Christmas toys that Mattel, Inc., was previewing for dealers in this area.

The things I saw and heard that night made my blood run cold. They're ganging up on us.

Priest Yields to Cardinal in Aged Church Ceremony

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A young priest who called for the removal of his cardinal for alleged failure to exert racial leadership has yielded to the church in an age-old ceremony of obeisance witnessed by about 200 fellow priests, sources indicated today.

The sources claimed that the Rev. William H. DuBay knelt before James Francis Cardinal McIntyre and kissed the prelate's ring in the presence of 200 priests.

There was no confirmation of the ceremony from the chancery of the Los Angeles Archdiocese or St. John's Seminary in nearby Camarillo where the cardinal had been on retreat earlier this week and where Father DuBay has begun a retreat, to be followed by a vacation. He probably then will be reassigned.

But Leon Aubry, director of Catholics United for Racial Equality (CURE), said, "Consider the feudalistic indignity suffered Thursday by Father DuBay when in front of 200 fellow priests he had to kneel down before the cardinal, kiss his ring, and solemnly profess allegiance to a man he continues to charge with gross malfeasance in office."

Another source indicated that "the case is being carried to Rome on advice of legal counsel."

fellow parents, and there's no place to hide.

Let us assume to snatch a figure out of thin air, that you have a young daughter who is costing you $100,000 a year for clothing. If your daughter is anything like mine, the money is allocated as follows: $40,000 for her and $60,000 for her Barbie dolls.

But ere another Yuletide rolls around that ratio, I fear, no longer will prevail. Next year's clothing budget likely will be something on the order of $40,000 for your daughter and $85,000 for Barbie.

Yes, friends, the Mattel people are bringing out an entire wardrobe for Barbie and her friends. Shoes, dresses, hats, furs, wigs, accessories. The works.

Also a new line of Barbie furniture with a new and larger "dream house" to put it in. Plus six travel outfits. Plus six "little theater" costumes. And that isn't all.

Barbie now has a little sister named Skipper who has a complete wardrobe of her own. Disaster impends unless you can persuade your daughter to open a nudist colony.

The plot against parents of young boys is even more diabolical. Mattel has stores this Christmas will feature a new line of bicycles and tricycles called "V-Rooms!"

These vehicles are equipped with a device that approximates the roar of a real motor. It entices even neighborhood children with some of the obvious qualities of hot-rodsters.

For these too young for tricycles there are toy trucks with "V-Rooms!" Bring the sound of the motor to the Snowway right into the home. And, worst of all, the device will be available separately for installation on old bikes and trikes.

I wish I could say there was some way to keep your kids from finding out about these things. Apparently there isn't. The conspirators are employing the "saturation" technique to reach them.

Every Saturday morning for 13 weeks before Christmas, Barbie and "V-Rooms!" commercials will be shown simultaneously on all three television networks. If that doesn't brainwash them, nothing will.

Bob Price Calls Deficit Spending 'Fiscal Suicide'

Republican Bob Price of Pampano, candidate for Congress from Texas' 18th Congressional District, took a dim view Saturday of several actions by Congress in recent days.

He said "deficit spending has become an uncontrollable habit with too many of our elected officials. The United States has failed to balance its budget in 26 of the last 32 years. Our national debt is greater than the combined debt of all other nations in the world."

"Our gold reserves decline so rapidly our currency is endangered by rising inflation," he said. "In face of all this, Congress and the Administration continue to dissipate the citizen's federal tax dollar on projects of debatable merit, and of no merit at all."

Price went on to say in his statement: "Despite welcome reductions in early requests Congress still authorized the distribution of another $3.5 billion in Foreign Aid. Since 1945, including interest and the latest new aid bill, the United States has spent over $120 billion on help to other countries. In the new bill such strange items appear as $10 million for London, e. i. a. even though her President Sukarno broke off relations and rejected any further aid from the U.S."

"We provide substantial assistance to nations who conduct their own foreign aid activities with still other nations. In several instances, a mong countries we aid, our interest-free funds are received, and promptly loaned to others with interest as high as 12 per cent!"

"Federal employees are entitled to a fair wage, and the weight of responsibility that falls on both elective and appointive high officials demands pay equal to talent and performance. Even so, it is never safe to increase your operating, and payroll costs when you are spending far more than you are taking in."

"There seems to be some form of addiction attached to our Federal monetary policies. The habit of spending and giving federal tax funds in excess of either anticipated or actual income has taken on the form of a fact of life. Unless this nation demands — and gets — a sane, balanced, and debt-paying financial policy, we will one day awaken to the reality of our fiscal suicide!"

Price, a youthful rancher and banker, in making his first race for public office, has pledged to work for reduced spending, a balanced budget, and reduction of what he terms "a tragic national debt that will rob future generations of their rightful heritage and wealth."

NO DECISION YET

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department has not yet reached a decision on whether to permit Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu, widow of the one-time strong man of South Viet Nam to visit the United States again.

The Conservative Party Club of Flushing, N.Y., has invited Mme. Nhu to speak at a rally July 7. Club officials quoted Frederick G. Dutton, State Department congressional liaison officer, as saying all clearances had been issued for her visa.

But department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said Thursday Mme. Nhu's application for a visa, filed in Paris, had not finally been acted upon yet.

Denver Parents Protesting Fraternity 'Stealing' Rites

DENVER (UPI)—Some 30 Denver parents are up in arms over secret high school fraternities and sororities which allegedly force pledges to steal initiation rites.

The worried parents signed protest petitions which were given Wednesday to the Denver school board. The petitions asked that the schools bolster extracurricular activities "to which everyone can belong... to gain popularity away from the fraternities and sororities."

The parents charged that the groups have gone underground to escape restrictions and had used refined campaign organizations to have several members elected to high positions in student government. The parents said fraternity and sorority members at three Denver high schools made overtures at several of the city's junior high schools for new recruits.

High school fraternities and sororities were banned by the Denver school board April 5, 1962.

DECISION WON'T HELP

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater's decision to vote against the civil rights bill "just won't help him" in Connecticut, a Goldwater spokesman said Thursday night.

Newman Marsilius of Trumbull, Connecticut leader of Goldwater forces, said: "Frankly, I had hoped he would vote for the bill. I sent him a telegram today urging him to support it. His decision will make it difficult, but not impossible, in this liberal state."

SOLUTION THROUGH U.N.

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — Greek Premier George Papandreou has told President Johnson that any Cyprus solution must come through the United Nations, authoritative sources said today.

The sources said Papandreou sent a message to Johnson Thursday in preparation for their meeting in Washington next week. Their talks will follow Turkish Premier Ismet Inonu's visit to Johnson.
