DEMONSTRATION — More than 200 oil men representing nine states attended a demonstration Tuesday afternoon in the Top O' Texas rodeo arena of a revolutionary gate valve that can be installed without interrupting the flow or operation of a pipe line. The valve was designed and built by C. L. Thompson, 435 Starkweather, who is standing nearest the valve and telling oil men about his invention. Thompson told the spectators that no production date has been established for the new valve but that it will be marketed by the Thompson Mark A-1 Valve company.

Workers Back on Job As Rail Strike Ends

Stranded Travelers Board Trains Again

ATLANTA (UPI) — Southern Railway resumed passenger and freight service today after a one-day strike which left holiday travelers stranded in a 13-state area.

Southern officials reported members of the striking firemen's union began showing up for work here at about 2 a.m. CST in compliance with a federal court order halting the strike.

"We have a regular complement and regular service has been resumed," said Atlanta division Superintendent H. L. Stuart. "As their schedules appear they are turning up for work."

Railway officials in North Carolina said freight trains will be running five to eight hours late most of today, but they expected to get normal service restored by Thursday.

Officials estimated it would take approximately 12 hours before passenger service got back to normal schedules.

"Pickets have been removed and we are working to restore normal passenger service this morning," said terminal Manager Tom Martin in Chattanooga, Tenn.

The temporary restraining order was served at the headquarters of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen in Washington.

Union Vice President J. W. Jennings said in Washington early today he had received a copy of the order and after reviewing it with the union's lawyers in Cleveland had "instructed our local chairmen at all points on the Southern Railway system to remove their picket lines and to notify members to return to service."

Issued late Tuesday by federal Judge Robert Elliott in Columbus, Ga., the order said the sudden strike that stranded holiday passengers in 13 states was a "serious and substantial disruption" of the railway's duty under the Interstate Commerce Act. Elliott set a hearing on the order for Jan. 7 at Columbus.

Southern firemen went on strike at 5 a.m. CST Tuesday over the long-debated issue of whether they should be retained on diesel locomotives. Picket lines were thrown up around key Southern terminals and freight and passenger trains stopped running.

Some trainmen left their trains the moment they received word of the strike. Crews on two passenger trains in Salisbury, N.C., abandoned their locomotives at downtown crossings, blocking traffic until the fire department ordered one train removed as a fire hazard.

Southern serves 13 states — Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Ohio, Tennessee and Virginia — and the District of Columbia.

Commie Guerrillas Take Six Americans

SAIGON (UPI) — Six more Americans have been killed, wounded or captured in separate clashes with Communist guerrillas, it was revealed today.

The U.S. military headquarters here reported that two enlisted advisers to the Vietnamese army's 33rd Ranger Battalion are "missing." But eyewitnesses to the clash between the rangers and an estimated two battalions of Communist troops said the two men were captured.

A spokesman for the U.S. military said two other enlisted members of the U.S. Army Special Forces were killed this morning when Communists overran an American camp near Lai Khe, some 35 miles north of Saigon.

Meanwhile, American military sources at the site of a three-day battle for control of the town of Binh Gia, 40 miles southeast of here, said another two American helicoptermen were wounded today by Communist groundfire.

The reports increased the number of American combat casualties thus far in December to 167. It was the bloodiest month for Americans since the United States decided to build up its forces in South Viet Nam in 1961.

With one day left of December, American combat casualties thus far numbered 16 killed, 149 wounded and two known missing and reported captured by Communist guerrillas.

The highest number of American casualties previously recorded in a single month was 155, of which 11 were killed and 144 wounded, in November of this year.

Fierce fighting was still raging today around Binh Gia. Six Americans have been wounded in the three-day battle for Binh Gia, which began when the Reds seized the village Monday. Eight South Vietnamese soldiers and at least 32 Communists have been killed and 34 government troops have been wounded.

At latest reports, the Reds still held part of the village.

The fight for the village turned to the sky Tuesday when Communist machine guns shot down three U.S. helicopters which were ferrying Vietnamese soldiers into the battle.

Six American helicopter crewmen were wounded, one seriously, a U.S. spokesman said. They were taken to military hospitals.

Steel Industry Warned Against Calling Strike

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The nation's steel industry and the steelworkers union were cautioned today that higher steel prices or a strike threat could damage the nation's economy.

A government official issued the warning on prices while a Michigan State University professor cited the dangers to the economy that a strike threat could create.

The industry was told that if its policy of "creeping selectivity" in price increases continued unchecked and led to a wage-price spiral, the economy would face the threat of inflation.

The warning to the United Steelworkers of America (USWA) said that stockpiling of steel supplies due to a strike threat would cause a false spurt in the industry and thus falsely stimulate business trends. This could lead to a recession later, the union was told.

J&L Boosts Prices

Jones & Laughlin-Steel Corp., the fourth leading producer, today became the 10th major steel company to raise prices on galvanized sheet by $6 per ton. This type of steel is used widely in the automobile and construction industries.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Robert V. Roosa told the steelmakers these selective increases were not inflationary at this point but could become so if they carried into the whole range of steel products.

A steel strike threat was seen as a possibility following the USWA's official notification to the industry Tuesday that the current three-year labor contract is formally opened as of Jan. 1. This meant that the union would be free to strike as of May 1, if no agreement is reached.

Feared "Crisis Atmosphere"

The steel companies had urged the union not to issue such formal notification, arguing it would create a "crisis atmosphere" in the negotiations for a new wage contract. In their year-end statements, industry executives expressed the fear this would lead to large-scale stockpiling and a false spurt in steel production.

This same fear was voiced at (See STEEL, Page 3)

Weather Still Hampers Flood Rescue Operations

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Federal state and local officials mapped plans for extensive recovery programs in the flood-battered Far West today — but it was crosswinds and swirling snow, as usual, for dare devil helicopter pilots on rescue missions.

The overall picture in the five-state area after 10 consecutive stormy days was much clearer than the weather in the mountainous areas near the California-Oregon border where helicopters were attempting to provide supplies to some 2,500 persons marooned by the Christmas floods.

The pilots, flying in rapidly changing weather conditions completed some missions Tuesday to Happy Camp, where 1,300 persons had been cut off from the outside. Three homes were destroyed there and 50 others damaged, but Mrs. Bob Wright felt the town's residents were lucky.

"A lot of people have colds," she said, "but fortunately we had no casualties."

Attempts to reach other isolated communities on the Klamath and Salmon rivers were turned back by the fury of the snow, which was expected to continue through today.

The snowstorm was an aftermath of the torrential floods that took at least 41 lives and caused damage estimated at nearly $700 million in the five-state area of California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Nevada.

A fleet of 50 helicopters — military and civilian — were engaged in the rescue operations in northern California.

The overall picture in the flood area showed a staggering loss.

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown said the loss in his state was conservatively estimated at $300 million. He declared 21 counties disaster areas and has asked the federal government for grain to feed starving livestock in Humboldt County.

Federal officials who toured Oregon Tuesday estimated the damage in that state at $315 million "at least." The figure included $55 million for roads, streets and bridges; $55 million in agricultural damage; $190 million for transportation and public utilities; and $11.3 million in residential damage.

In Washington, flood damage was estimated at more than $1 million in Columbia County, where 13 bridges were completely destroyed. Gov. Albert D. Rosellini has asked President Johnson to declare the county and 13 other disaster areas.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho said a preliminary estimate of damage in his state was $5 million to public property. He said there was no estimate on private damage as yet, but "it'll be extensive."

Flood damage in Nevada was minor, but one of the disaster's 41 victims died there — an 11-year-old boy who drowned while attempting to save the life of his dog.

Russell Warns U.S. on Congo Involvement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said today it would be "nothing less than a tragedy" and "a monument to poor statesmanship" if the United States gets involved in the Congo as it has in Viet Nam.

The chairman of the powerful Senate Armed Services Committee told newsmen: "If there is any place in the world we haven't any business it is the Congo."

Russell said there were "a half-dozen countries in Europe that have a greater stake in the Congo and a greater historical association there than we do."

"If we let them dump this on us, we have lost all pretense of statesmanship," he added.

Russell said he had hopes that President Johnson would not make such a mistake. However, he said, "there are some people" in the government "who apparently are anxious to get us involved everywhere."

The veteran lawmaker, who toured U.S. military installations in Europe this fall, said he always had felt the United States made a mistake by becoming involved in Viet Nam, but he conceded that getting out now would be difficult.

Maiden Flight of Vertical Plane Outstanding Success

DALLAS (UPI) — A 36,000-pound transport plane that may have great long-range impact on military and commercial flying made an "outstanding" maiden flight of five feet Tuesday.

What made it outstanding was that the plane flew straight up like a helicopter, and then hung there for several minutes.

"There's no question in my mind that we have a fine vertical-performance airplane here," said test pilot Joe Konrad after flying the XC142A at the Ling-Temco-Vought plant.

The transport has tilting wings designed to enable it to take off straight up like a helicopter, with the wings tilted back to face the engines straight up.

Once in the air, its builders say, the wings tilt forward, the engines line up with the fuselage and the plane can be flown like any other transport.

Plans call for the plane to reach a speed of 430 miles an hour and it can carry 32 fully-equipped troops or 8,000 pounds of cargo for up to 470 miles.

The plane could be used by the military to deliver troops and supplies to small clearings and open spots, the way a helicopter can, but with the speed, maneuverability and capacity of a larger transport.

Commercially, it holds the promise of direct inter-city transportation, avoiding long drives from an airport and opening up airline service to small cities which cannot afford the expense of large airports.

Pampa Youth Jailed After Wild Car Chase

A 15-year-old Pampa youth was in Amarillo jail today after a wild chase last night that ended when highway patrolmen opened fire on the stolen car he was driving. The car careened into a ditch.

Identified and jailed as the driver of the vehicle was Kenneth Flippo of Pampa. Authorities said the boy's parents live in Pampa, but recently he has been living with a relative in Amarillo.

The youth, who has a long record of previous arrests, was turned over to juvenile authorities for questioning this morning.

The boy, according to officers, stole a 1960 model Chevrolet, owned by Pampa police officer Lee R. Corley, from the 300 block of Browning about 9:45 last night. The car was left unlocked with the keys in the ignition.

Soon after the theft, Corley discovered the auto missing and a description of the stolen car was broadcast over the police short wave.

An Amarillo Highway Patrolman, Bill Cody, observed the auto about 30 minutes later driving toward Amarillo. He related that when he attempted to stop the vehicle Flippo refused to pull over and sped away down the highway.

He said he radioed to another patrol car down the highway to set up a roadblock.

Officers said when the boy approached the roadblock he crossed over on the wrong side of the highway and attempted to drive through it.

They said when he passed them they opened fire with a 12 gauge shotgun and carbine rifle.

Patrolmen said one of the bullets struck the front tire of the car, causing it to careen into the ditch.

They said the unharmed boy jumped from the vehicle and ran into a pasture. They minutes later found him face down in the field trying to hide.

Flippo was arrested and placed in the Potter County Jail where he was to undergo questioning today for possible court action.

The bullet-ridden automobile of Corley was driven back to Pampa last night.

Stores to Close at 5:30 p.m. Thursday

Most Pampa stores will close at the regular daily 5:30 p.m. time on New Year's Eve.

This is a change from the usual 9 p.m. closing time on Thursday nights.

Officials of the Downtown Merchants and Coronado Center the Thursday night open until 9 p.m. Merchants associations said the Thursday night open until 9 hours will be resumed after the holidays.

United Press International was today that of a Midwest smut merchant who advertises in the mail that he has an inventory of 10,000 names of teenage girls complete with addresses and telephone numbers.

Investigators said he sells the names and numbers for $2 for 50 names. The names are grouped by cities and states, according to the Senate group.

One investigator sent for and received names from Connecticut and the Washington-Baltimore areas. He checked 15 or 16 and discovered most were girls from prominent families

Senate Probes Nationwide Mail Racket

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators said today they had uncovered a vicious nationwide mail-order racket that peddles names of alleged teenage "party girls."

Many of the names checked by investigators turned out to be those of unsuspecting daughters of prominent persons — innocent victims of a Chicago smut dealer.

Staff members of the Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee, headed by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., are preparing for a hearing early next year on efforts to peddle sex through the mails.

SMUT MAIL STILL AROUND

Among the cases cited to who had no knowledge they were on the lists.

One girl named on the list had just entered a convent.

In the preliminary investigation, it was discovered that three of the girls had been contacted by a Boston businessman who said he was coming to Washington on business and wanted some nighttime female companionship.

The investigators said they would focus their inquiry on the compilation of mailing lists and how they get into the hands of shady operators who prey on teenagers.

Rights Trial Called Again

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — A 23-member, biracial federal grand jury has been called to reconvene Jan. 11 to consider for a second time the government's evidence against 21 men arrested in the slaying of three young civil rights workers.

The jurors earlier heard what the government considered a strong case, but returned no indictments. But since that time, FBI agents have secured a purported confession and other new evidence.

Justice Department sources were optimistic of gaining indictments on civil rights charges against the suspects.

The order filed Tuesday did not specify what cases would be presented, but noted a request made by U.S. Atty. Robert Hauberg in which Hauberg asked specifically for new consideration of the case.

Hauberg's request came after U.S. Commissioner Esther Carter at Meridian refused to allow an FBI agent to testify about the alleged confession and dismissed the civil rights charges filed by the FBI.

Mrs. Carter ruled that FBI agent Henry Rask's statements about the confession be allegedly took from Horace Doyle Barnett, one of the defendants, would be hearsay.

The ruling startled the Justice Department, which called her action unprecedented. Federal attorneys who did not wish to reveal the contents of the confession at the preliminary hearing declined to present further evidence.

County Officers Arrest Suspects

Two persons wanted for felony crimes over the state and for federal parole violation were apprehended yesterday by the Gray County Sheriff's office.

The pair, Claude J. Wooten, 24, and Lana B. Osborne, 23, were taken into custody late yesterday afternoon.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan said the pair was accidentally located yesterday when officers went to their house at 519 S. Somerville to investigate a routine complaint by their landlord.

After talking to the pair, Jordan said, they were checked out through the state records where it was learned they were wanted.

Wooten is wanted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation for violation of his parole on charges of violating the Dyer Act and by the Vernon Police Department for burglary.

Miss Osborne is also wanted by Vernon authorities for burglary.

Jordan said there is a good possibility that they are wanted for other felony crimes by other cities in Texas.

He said they are also being questioned in connection with several recent burglaries around Pampa.

VISITS DWINDLE

BERLIN (UPI) — The number of West Berliners passing through the Communist wall to visit relatives in the Soviet sector dwindled to a trickle today.

Only about 1,500 persons made the trip before noon compared to an average of more than 90,000 a day during the weekend.

DEAR ABBY...

Habit Shows Emotional Upset

DEAR ABBY: I know this is going to sound ridiculous, but I am ashamed to ask anyone else. How can I break my husband of sucking his thumb? When he sleeps, reads the newspaper or settles down to watch TV, he sucks his left thumb. I know he isn't aware of it because when I tell him to quit it, he is always shocked to find his thumb in his mouth. We have two small children who also suck their thumbs when they're tired, and it is so hard to break them of it when they see their father doing it. Is it hereditary? It's such an unmanly habit for a 34-year-old man. It's caused many fights between us. Can you help me?

SUCKER'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: A psychiatrist would probably tell you that your husband is longing for the security of his baby days. They call it "regression." It isn't hereditary. Children are imitative, which is partly the reason your children suck their thumbs. Granted, it's not "manly," but it's not worth fighting about, so if it irritates him to be reminded — skip it.

DEAR ABBY: I recently visited my sister, who lives in another state. She is married to a quiet, well-to-do man. They have a 16-year-old daughter. I didn't realize how much tension my sister was living under until I stayed there. He is a dictator and no one dares to disagree with him on anything. My sister has no car and if she isn't home when he calls, he comes home, waits for her and makes her account for every minute. He handles all the money. She never sees a red cent. Everything is charged and he pays the bills. The daughter isn't allowed to date or to accept a phone call from a boy. At dinner he demands that the daughter finish every speck on her plate, so the child has to choke it down with tears running down her cheeks. My sister sits there trembling, afraid to say a word. Once she tried to take her daughter's part against him and he slapped her from one end of the kitchen to the other. Now I know why people kill each other. Is there something I can do, legally, to relieve the situation?

CONCERNED
DEAR CONCERNED: You can't — but your sister can if she wants to prefer charges against him. I doubt that she will, however, because a woman who puts up with the cruel and inhuman treatment is as "sick" as the husband who dishes it out. The most tragic victim is the daughter, who must be subjected to such a brutish tyrant. Try to persuade your sister to improve her situation or extricate herself and her daughter from it. But don't be surprised if she doesn't.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to offer a solution to inadequate mom. I am a 16-year-old high school junior. After dinner, I am expected to help with the dishes and then get my homework done. There is no television until all my homework is finished. If a "B" average is not maintained, I can't watch TV until after the next report cards come out. Phone conversations are limited to five minutes. (A timer which Mother uses in the kitchen is the reminder.) I have a 10 o'clock bedtime. If my hair isn't washed and rolled by that time, it's too bad. I have to go to bed anyway. I must be at school by 8:20 a.m., so I get up at 6:45, which gives me plenty of time to decide what to wear, dress, eat a good breakfast, fix my hair, put on my make-up and straighten my room before leaving for school.

KATHY K. IN AMARILLO
DEAR KATHY: Good for you. You're organized. And it sounds so easy when you write it.

$168 Million New Telephone Construction for Texas in 1965

Continuing improvements in telephone system will make your service even more dependable and valuable

Telephone service in Texas ranks with the world's best. It always has. Even so, in 1965 Southwestern Bell will spend another $168 million to make it better still. This construction program is the biggest in history. It is necessary to provide for the growing telephone needs of Texas.

But it's more than that.

It also is an intensified effort to make even better the service you already have, whether you live in a big city, a small town, or on a farm or ranch.

Our objective is to make your telephone service more useful, dependable, convenient and valuable than ever before.

Texans will also benefit economically from this telephone construction program. Because hundreds of individual projects reach into virtually every community served by Southwestern Bell, the economic impact will be significant and widespread.

New jobs will be created. We expect to add 500 new telephone jobs in Texas in 1965 — bringing to 25,000 the number of people on our payroll in Texas.

But more important will be the economic boost for the hundreds of Texas firms which sell supplies, services and materials to the telephone company.

Here are some of the things we'll do in 1965 to make your telephone service better

NEW STORMPROOFING

In 1965, we'll put more than 500 additional miles of telephone cable underground, because that's the safest place for it. Safe from wind, rain, hot weather, cold weather, stormy weather. This will add to the dependability of your long distance service.

DDD IMPROVEMENTS

For those customers who have Direct Distance Dialing, service will be faster and easier than ever before. Complex new testing and trouble-reporting equipment is being built into the system to help maintain the quality of transmission and quickly trace and remedy problems that might affect your service.

NEW BUILDINGS, WORK CENTERS

Southwestern Bell will erect 15 new buildings in Texas in 1965. The largest will be the new $13 million South Texas headquarters building in Houston. Other new telephone buildings will be erected in Amarillo, Midland, Dallas (two buildings), San Antonio, Beaumont, Rosenberg, Cleveland, Waco, Pasadena, and a three-building complex in northwest Houston. Additions are planned for telephone buildings at Fort Worth, Dallas, Amarillo, Forney, Monahan and Houston. Also, 16 new installation, repair and construction centers will be built across the state.

NEW MICROWAVE MAGIC

The magic of microwave will provide thousands of new voice ways for long distance calling in Texas this year. For example, new systems will link Sweetwater and San Angelo, Fort Worth and Waco, Houston and Beaumont. Via a network of such microwave antenna towers and transmitting stations, your phone calls are relayed from point to point with the speed of light.

We are looking ahead to another year of telephone progress in Texas in 1965:

- Your telephone service will be a better buy, dollar for dollar.
- Texans everywhere will benefit from the surge of new dollars, created by our expansion program, into the state's economy.

Gardening News

By MAYBELLE CARLTON

This columnist's face was very red after writing the article on greenhouses recently. When listing families that have greenhouses, Mr. W. E. Riggan, the first to have a home greenhouse.

Mrs. Jess Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Whitten and Mrs. and Mrs. F. L. Hoiler (a recent one) were absentmindedly overlooked. If there are others it is not intentional. Please feel free to call MO 4-6108 and report.

Many seeds are very hard and need to be filed or cut very slightly and soaked 24 hours in luke warm water before planting, such as the bird of paradise (strelitzia regina) and the acacia, a tree or greenhouse shrub from California. Other seed need a cooling period before planting. The delphinium and columbine seed need to be refrigerated from two to four weeks before planting. Not frozen, but in the top of the refrigerator. It is advisable to get a good book and find out which seed needs such attention. It saves much disappointment, money and time.

A beautiful vine to be found in Carlton's house is the solanegra (golden challis). The boom is about six inches long, trumpet shaped, purple veined inside and turns from white to a pretty golden yellow outside. It is very fragrant and like the passion flower, has a religious significance. The challis represents the cup Christ drank from at the Crucifixion. This vine was a gift from Mrs. Jess Reeves and came from Florida. It may be obtained from cuttings or seed.

The new catalogs are coming out with the new year — much pleasure and many plans may be had with these on those cold blustery days not fit for raking leaves (for composting) or finishing the cleaning of old beds.

Those plants that were not pleasing in their places last season may be moved. Make plans on paper, in advance for next spring's landscape.

Those having a greenhouse may start perennials in January. With the cold frame it would be wise to wait until February.

We are interested in any plant that is unusual and would like to hear from persons having these.

In the greenhouse of Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Campbell, east of the city, are many beautiful orchids. To see the lovely corsages Mrs. Campbell wears and to hear Dr. Campbell talk on orchids really makes an enthusiast out of many. In fact the Doctor is hoping that enough people will get interested and grow orchids so that an orchid society can be formed. Also in this house are many cactus and succulents; most are grown from seed. A passion vine from seed has not bloomed, so the color isn't known as yet. The vine without thorns is a real treat to see. There are citrus plants, geraniums, and a bird of paradise plant is budded and will be in bloom soon. There are many other plants here too, but this spy only spent a few moments there and to remember them all is almost impossible.

Research League Pushes State Building Program

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Research League started pushing its plan for overseeing state construction Tuesday. The plan could curb or could strengthen the governor's veto power over the architects named to design state buildings.

The recommendation actually was in the budget Gov. John Connally proposed two weeks ago, but it was forgotten until after the dust settled over Connally's intentions about education spending.

The league wants all the state building programs except the highway department and state-supported schools to be placed under a single revised building commission. The league also suggested a constitutional amendment to remove ex officio members of the commission and replace them with persons appointed by the governor.

Furr Employes in New Orleans For Sugar Bowl

Thirty-five employes of Furr's Super Markets and their wives or husbands are in New Orleans this week for the Sugar Bowl festivities, the trip won through an in-stores contest during the past few weeks over Furr's three-state area.

The big "weekend" includes the basketball game between Texas Tech and either Georgia Tech or Louisville tonight, New Year's Eve in the French Quarter of the Louisiana city, and the Sugar Bowl game Friday between L.S.U. and Syracuse.

All expenses are being paid by Furr's, including tickets, air transportation, meals, hotel, buses to the games and even spending money. Winners were named the day after Christmas in each of seven divisions of Furr's in Colorado, New Mexico and Texas. The contest was based largely on courtesy and service to the customer, holiday decorations and merchandise displays and cleanliness of the departments, Don Furr, executive vice president of the company, said.

The trip is valued at well over $500 for each couple.

Congo Troops Plan Rescue

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Mercenary-led Congolese government troops today mapped new forays into rebel bastions of the northeastern Congo where more whites may be held hostage.

One hundred and twenty whites, mostly Greeks, were saved from possible massacre Tuesday when a government column took the village of Wamba, about 240 miles southwest of Stanleyville.

Reports reaching here said 25 to 30 whites had been slaughtered before the government forces reached the village.

From strongholds in Wamba and Watsa, the Communist-supported insurgents had been launching attacks against Paulis, an important government-held town 230 miles northeast of Stanleyville.

Government troops today contemplated new marches into rebel territory, to take Watsa, northeast of Paulis, and other important towns, including Faradje, near the Sudanese border.

The reports reaching here said that about 100 whites still were missing in the area. Some of them were believed held in towns such as Watsa and Faradje.

The whites rescued Tuesday were being taken from Wamba, where there is no airstrip, to Paulis, for removal to Leopoldville.

Some of the survivors claimed the rebels had killed and eaten about 10 whites on Christmas Day. There was no official confirmation of the report.

Missionary William McChesney, the last American unaccounted for in rebel territory, was believed to have been among the whites in Wamba. There was no immediate report on whether he was among those rescued.

Steel

The annual meeting of the American Statistical Association at Chicago Tuesday by Dr. John H. Hoagland, a Michigan State University economist. He noted that the steel strikes of 1952, 1956 and 1959 were followed by recessions.

PICKUP 4th pgh: Last Sept. - Last September steelmakers increased the price of steel bars and the following month they upped the price of steel pipe. These products make up about 12 per cent of the nation's steel production.

Roosa said the latest round of increases would give the United Steelworkers union (USW) "the basis for matching increases in steel wages."

Until now USW President David J. McDonald kept mum about the price rises. But now he has made it clear that his union wants to share in the increases which the industry will reap.

The USW and the "big 11" steel firms resume contract talks Jan. 5 after a holiday recess. The present three-year contract expires April 30 and the union wants substantial wage concessions in a new pact.

The union served official notice on industry Tuesday that it wants to reopen the contract Friday. Such action, according to the contract, will allow the union to strike April 30 if no agreement is reached.

Roosa, who leaves his government post this week, said at his final news conference that a general steel price increase would be a step towards inflation and harmful to the economy of the nation.

Cash Said Missing In Home Burglary

An undetermined amount of cash was reported missing today following a break-in at the home of David A. Caldwell, 2208 Aspen.

Entry to the home was gained, according to police, by prying open a storm door with a screw driver. The burglary occurred sometime since last Monday while the Caldwell's were out of town.

Police said an undetermined amount of money was taken taken from a rear bedroom dresser drawer. They said nothing else in the home was bothered and several guns in a closet were left untouched.

Education System Due Drastic Change

EDUCATION SYSTEM EDITORS — Education is going to be a hot topic in the new legislature. Gov. John Connally is particularly interested in it. What is the outlook? UPI capitol correspondent William Hamilton outlines them in this, the second of five dispatches about the new legislature.

By WILLIAM HAMILTON
United Press International
AUSTIN (UPI)—Education — that glowing subject of political maneuvering—will result in extensive debate, soul-searching and funds-shuffling during the 51st Legislature.

When the smoke clears and the session is over, chances are excellent that the state of Texas will spend more money than ever before in an effort to upgrade colleges and universities.

If Gov. John Connally gets his way, the state's higher education system will be drastically revised, with a new, all-encompassing governing board created to administer state colleges, universities and junior colleges.

The board would take powers from the present State Board of Education and would supersede the Texas Commission on Higher Education (TCHHE). Some legislators who oppose the plan say it would also rob the individual boards of regents of powers.

Urges Double Tuition
The governor has also asked for broad spending increases for colleges and universities. His committee of 25 on education beyond the high school urged that college tuition be doubled to help finance the improvements, but—Connally's budget did not include the increase.

Nevertheless, the tuition increase is likely to be approved. A United Press International survey of members of the House of Representatives and state Senate show a considerable decline in opposition to the tuition hike since 1963, when a similar proposal nearly passed.

And nearly all responding senators said they were willing to part with more money for higher education. But some had reservations on the proposed super-governing board.

State Rep. Dick Cherry of Waco said he would favor the new board "if it is elected rather than appointed." But Rep. George T. Hinson of Minocua was less agreeable. "I do not see anything to be gained by abolition of the Commission on Higher Education and the creation of another."

Favors Separate Panel
"Membership of the present commission could be changed and certainly more duties and powers could be extended," said Hinson. He said he favors a separate board to administer junior colleges, which presently fall under the Board of Education.

Some legislators who responded to the UPI questionnaire split about 50-50 on the board proposal, with no hard liberal-conservative lines drawn. Many expressed an interest in changing—but not abolishing—the present board.

"Apparently stronger coordination is needed for our system of colleges and junior colleges," said Sen. Walter Richter of Gonzales. "I am convinced," he added, "there are several proper ways to achieve it."

Sen. Grady Hazelwood of Canyon was more succinct. "Leave it as is," he said. "Though the governor has not urged out loud that tuition be doubled from its present $300 per semester to $100, his study group did make such a suggestion."

Increase Needed
A majority of the responding legislators seemed to feel the increase would be needed to finance higher education spending—which 10 per cent of those responding favored.

Midland Rep. Frank K. Cannon, lone Republican in the 36th Legislature, favors doubling tuition and increasing major expenditures for education in certain areas.

Frankly opposed to the tuition increase were Reps. Charles Wilson of Lufkin and Cherry. "It's hard to upgrade education by taxing the students," said Wilson.

Cherry, a Baylor University political science instructor, said the present tuition should be lowered $50 rather than raised $50.

The largest white diamond, the Cullinan (3.106 carats), was found in South Africa.

"Where you Always Buy The Best For Less"

2211 Perryton Parkway, Pampa, Texas

A Watchful Newspaper EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

Democrats Control Redistricting

The Republican Party lost 500 seats in the state legislatures of the nation in the Nov. 3 election, including seven in Texas. Based on preliminary unofficial figures which are subject to later revision, the survey indicated the Republicans had lost a net of 36 seats in the lower houses of the state legislatures.

Because of pending state legislative reapportionment and congressional redistricting in most of the states, the GOP losses may only be a taste of things to come after the Democratic legislatures have redrawn district lines.

With few exceptions, the heaviest Republican losses came in states where Republican Presidential candidate Barry Goldwater's defeat crippled GOP candidates down the line. The few Republican gains recorded were mostly in the South.

In 1965, Democrats will control both houses of the legislatures in 32 states, six more than they currently control. The states in which they extended their control to both chambers in this year's elections were Indiana, Iowa, Main, Michigan, New York and Utah.

In another seven states, the Democrats took control of the lower houses from the Republicans: Colorado, Illinois, Montana, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Republicans, on the other hand, took control of only one chamber: the lower house of Oregon.

Before the elections, the Republicans controlled both houses in 18 states. In 1965 they will control both houses in only six — Idaho, Kansas, New Hampshire, New Jersey, South Dakota and Vermont.

Control will be split, or there are ties in one house, in 10 states. Totals do not include Minnesota and Nebraska, which have technically nonpartisan legislatures.

The over-all state legislative totals for 1965 will be 1,235 Democrats to 548 Republicans in the upper bodies (the senates). In the lower bodies (normally called the house), the national total will be 3,805 Democrats to 1,946 Republicans.

Republicans were almost as badly off following the 1958 Democratic sweep but the long-term impact of the 1964 elections may be even more serious for the GOP. The vast majority of state legislatures will be forced, because of requirements like happiness, love, good will. The true Christmas was a general building up of enthusiasm for life and great expectations that culminated in this one special day when our love for friends and family overflowed onto all humanity and when every man had the right to be greeted with a cheery "Merry Christmas."

Then, after Christmas, came a feeling that there is less happiness in the world than there should be, that good will to men is still just the aim of the few. The decorations suddenly look tarnished and drooping.

It was fun, Christmas, but we were only kidding ourselves. The real world is 11 other months, not this one month or that one day. Christmas is for the kids.

Yet wise and disillusioned adults would not do away with Christmas, nor even the post-holiday reaction. For that, too, is part of Christmas.

It reminds us that even though our spirits may have overreached themselves, we did search for something better. Simply, we went out again in search of the Star of Bethlehem.

And while we may not have found it, or discovered that it was only tinsel, we know the fault was ours — that there is a real star, that we will look for again.

Sensing The News By THURMAN SENSING

The Attack On Conservatism Stirred by the narrow win of John F. Kennedy to the presidency in 1960, the liberals—that is to say, the blood brothers of the socialists and the communists—accommodated—began feverishly to determine how they might break down what they deemed the "conservative rebellion" that was going on in the country. They could envision an end to their ambitions if this were not done.

As an aside, let it be noted that by constant attack on the word "conservative" itself, they have since then convinced even some of sound conservative philosophy that the term should be dropped and some other word used in its stead, that it has now come about that the term "conservative" has a certain stigma attached to it and that it would be harmful to continue using it.

The trouble is not with the word "conservative"—the trouble is that those who believe in the conservative philosophy simply haven't got what they mean by "conservative" across to the people generally. As far as I am concerned, I like the word conservative. Conservatism is patriotism. To be a conservative is to be one who wants to conserve what is best of the past and build on it for the future; is to be one who believes that the principles enunciated and adopted by the men who founded our government are just as true now as they were a thousand years from now as they are today.

A liberal, on the other hand, believes that there is nothing in the past worth conserving, that the principles on which our government was founded are now outmoded and outworn, and must be replaced by other principles. These other principles, as identified by the so-called liberals, always turn out to be the principles of socialism. They seem to think these socialistic principles are new, whereas they are actually, much older than conservative principles. They have been tried time and time again throughout history and always failed.

Organized labor, which worked hard for Democratic victories in the election, can expect dramatically increased influence in the state capitals. A first fruit may be repeal of "right-to-work" laws by newly Democratic legislatures in Iowa, Utah and Indiana.

Other labor-backed measures, such as increased state school aid, increased welfare payments, and increases in or enactment of state minimum wage laws, can expect to receive more support.

New York Democrats will seek to legalize off-track betting on horse races and Maine Democrats may seek repeal of a ban on Sunday liquor sales. Major reforms in state governmental structure may also be accomplished in several states.

The increase in state programs sought by Democrats in many states will be possible without boost in state revenues, already severely limited. Raising taxes has proved to be politically dangerous in recent years, a development which could help Republicans gain back control in the future.

Three of the Republican Party's most important Governors may find their programs more difficult to enact as a result of the election Michigan's Gov. George W. Romney (R) faces a newly Democratic Legislature as does New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller (R). The Democratic capture of the lower house in Pennsylvania will also cause problems for Gov. William Scranton (R).

Wellspring of Hope

For most people a certain letdown has followed Christmas, something that doesn't happen after any other holiday. They complain now that they went overboard on presents, that the card list got out of hand, that Aunt Harriet didn't like what she got, that the day just wasn't worth all the trouble that went into it.

They're thankful, they say, that it is over. It may be inevitable that this be so, for no other holiday is thought about so much, talked about so much and prepared for so far in advance. Indeed, it seems as if the importance of Christmas, having almost obscured Thanksgiving, is slowly creeping back on the calendar to cast its shadow even on Halloween.

Maybe Christmas has been getting too much ballyhoo. Still, it was not just the exploitation of Christmas that caused the letdown. In fact, this need not bother us if we don't let it. Nor was it the hustle and bustle, the social obligations, the emotional strain. These are shallow reasons.

A more basic explanation — at least for those who are affected by the true meaning of the season — may be that the very idea of the Christmas season revolves around intangible things

"The Season To Be Jolly Is Over!"

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

He Didn't Know City Hall Was Boss—He Found Out!

By SAM CAMPBELL The old man definitely was arrogant. He was pudgy. His shirt puffed out over a bulging midriff as he sprawled in a chair in the city council chambers.

He had a business, used furniture, or junk, or something like that — it's been a long time ago. But I remember the encounter between this uncouth individual and the civic fathers. I remember because of the way it ended. I was a witness to it.

The old man was giving the council a lot of lip. The city was asking something from him — a deed of frontal property or something like that. Just what is not important. The point is, the city wanted something from him that he didn't want to give.

Saucing Plenty Yes, he was saucing plenty. Who was the council to tell him how to run his property? He was in business. People came to his place and bought things. That showed the people thought his enterprise was all right. The people are the council's boss. So the council had better look again before it pushes a proprietor like him around.

The councilmen were pleased. They smiled as the old man waved his arms and rumbled away as to what he believed his rights to be. Obviously the old man was enjoying himself. Stained wrinkles in his fluffly face twitched as he suppressed exultation. He was having his day in court — before a big audience, too. Roy oh boy, he was really telling them.

The councilmen waited coolly. At last, the old fellow ran out of steam. A recess was called. The pudgy oldster rose from his chair of distinction and toddled outside.

Quickly, the building inspector rose from the audience. He shuffled outside the same door at a panting pace.

I was covering the meeting as a reporter. "That's curious," I thought. I picked up my notes and hurried out the same door. Outside I looked around. No one in sight. Both the old man and the building inspector had vanished — perhaps into one of the adjacent offices, can't make a federal case out of that. I turned around and went back to the meeting.

After a while, the building superintendent panted back to his seat in the audience. A little later, the old man came back in, too. He was different. The cockiness was gone. His fat little face sagged. He sagged. He sat down and said nothing.

Sudden Change When the meeting ended, he walked out the door. I never saw him again. But the incident sticks in my mind because I've often wondered what accounted for his sudden change in demeanor. What had the building superintendent told him, if anything? What was the pressure used to break him of impudence and disrespect to the civic fathers? I knew, of course, that the municipality has plenty of laws. I knew that it can always pull another regulation out of its rulebook to put the fear of council in the individual. But never before had I seen a dissenter become a believer in so short a time. Even in memory the episode is awesome.

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey Once upon a time we called them blizzards or snowstorms but now, with so many workers dependent upon automobile transportation, the highway people have thought up a new name for a heavy snowfall. They call it a "chemical storm" because in addition to using conventional plows to clear highways they also use great quantities of salt and other chemicals to keep the road surfaces clear of any ice.

Today's smile. The gals at a suburban bridge club were gossiping about the masquerade party at the country club and were cackling over what had happened to the Smiths. It seems Mrs. Smith came costumed as Carmen, even holding a rose in her teeth, and her husband was dressed as a bull-fighter. While dancing with one of their friends, Mrs. Smith saw her husband and threw him the rose. He picked up the rose and tossed her teeth back to her.

Editor: While it is important that our nation's problem of poverty and unemployment be resolved, I believe that at the same time precautions should be taken so that no one of our individual liberties in our democracy is threatened. The October edition of Reader's Digest contained an article by House Appropriations Committee member Rep. Frank T. Bow concerning the U. S. Employment Service's role in the war on poverty.

Rep. Bow states that almost unnoticed, the U. S. Employment Service is — undermining one of our basic freedoms — the right to choose one's life work, and that its ultimate goal, according to its director Louis Levine is to build the Employment Service into "the manpower agency for the nation, through which all job hiring would be funneled."

Rep. Bow concludes that unless steps are taken now by an aroused citizenry, we may well find that our most basic freedom, the right to decide our own life career for ourselves, will soon be the real battlefield victim of the war on poverty.

matter of fact

With careful preparation a man can survive on Mars. He would need a pressure suit with oxygen equipment and a helmet to preserve adequate pressure for breathing. But he would find it a cold, inert world monotonously uniform in aspect; flat dry soil as far as the eye can see and a gray blue sky above.

Country Editor speaking: "Egotists, like mummies, are all wrapped up in themselves."

Question Box

Question: "Is personal pride in equal proportion to self-discipline? If not, do you believe it should be?"

Answer: It pride is "inordinate self-esteem... and unrealistic conceit of superiority... (Webster!) we do not believe personal pride is or should be in equal proportion to self-discipline."

Personal self-respect in our view is good and necessary and in comparable proportion to self-discipline.

An individual who believes in and attempts to practice a single standard of right for all persons, including himself, will have self-respect, and will discipline himself.

But those who are filled with pride are inclined to believe they know more than their fellow men and that there must be a double standard, one of the individual, and one to control their fellow-men who are not so bright in the view of the prideful know-it-all.

Questions are limited to general human-relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

Reds Play Long-Shot Strategy

By RAY CROMLEY Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON (NEA) — Testimony given by Swedish Soviet agent Col. Stig Wennerstrom gives an insight into long-range Russian military strategy and the risks the Reds are willing to run.

A decade back, the Russians saw the United States pushing ahead with great numbers of intercontinental bombers armed with large nuclear bombs. The Reds decided there was no point in attempting to keep up. Instead, they chose a calculated gamble.

They let their intercontinental bomber force remain small. Thus they deliberately took the risk of committing themselves to being much weaker than their chief enemy, the United States, in strategic air power for at least a decade.

While leaving themselves partially naked strategically in the 1950s, they put their funds into what was then long-shot chancy research on 5,000-mile missiles in the belief that by the 1960s they would leapfrog past the United States with nuclear-tipped ICBMs. The United States could not match.

To realize what a long-shot gamble this decision was, it must be recalled that at the time no one had ever produced intercontinental missiles. The Russians had no assurance they could make practical nuclear warheads. At that time U.S. experts had decided the concept wasn't practical militarily.

Wennerstrom's testimony indicates the Russians calculated they could bluff the United States as to their might until the leapfrog gamble succeeded and they had missile superiority.

The Russians may now be producing a 1964 version of that same gamble. Moscow's military-scientific experts know as well as U. S. Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara that the United States is well ahead in Minutemen and Polaris-type ballistic missiles. It appears that the Soviet Union is not attempting to catch up in this particular race.

If there is any parallel with the 1950s, the Soviet Union will let the United States win this Minutemen-Polaris sweepstakes without a real contest.

Instead, Moscow will — in the 1964-1974 decade — take a long-shot research gamble on developing radical new types of strategic military weapons aimed at putting the Soviet Union ahead of the United States in the mid-1970s.

As noted in this column recently, there is considerable evidence that this is exactly what the Russians are doing.

Some U. S. military scientists, worried by this development, are pushing for expanded U. S. research in a wide array of way-out projects — radical new concepts for missile defense, missiles capable of zigging or zagging to evade enemy antimissile systems, planes able to operate both in the atmosphere and in space, missiles that could travel with two or three times the speed of today's ICBMs, multiple warhead ICBMs that would shoot off in different directions, and exploration of completely new ways in which to immobilize or destroy the enemy or his weapons either by some form of chemicals, electromagnetic force or atomic particles.

HOW TO ADDRESS OUR LAW MAKERS You may wish to write your senator and representative in Washington and Austin. Here are their addresses:

Cannel At Bay

By Ward Cannel Mae Gullis and Bobby Baker NEW YORK (NEA) (Because of developments in the Bobby Baker case, the column space by Ward Cannel will not appear today.)

(In its place is a news analysis by Cannel's landlady, Mrs. Mae Gullis, who not only toured Washington, D.C., April 6-8, 1959, but has also twice had to evict tenants named Baker.)

By MRS. MAE GULLIS My Ernie says he is not a tall surprised by this here Bobby Baker case. Ernie says it is just 1 more proof the U.S. of A. is in the throes of decay and moral torpedo tube. Ernie says you have not seen nothing yet. It is what comes without you have a Republic but only Socialism and mob rule.

Well if you ask me I say ha that is the trouble with people today. I say the weed of crime bears bitter fruit so what is the good if you toss in the towel and do not even try to do your share.

Now I have actually got nothing the-lease against this here Baker in theory. To me politics is a business just like any other such as being married or a landlady.

So what is the pet to going in if you cannot even get an apt. for yourself and then on top of it must pay the husband of some other party to take out the garbage and mop the halls.

But that is what you will get if you are always worrying about cleaning up the gov't. by taking away the fringe benefits. It will just get dirty again and where will you be? In jail that is where while the tenants take over the property and have dogs and children.

The only other way is running the gov't. via these electronic computers. But I would not give you $0.02 for that idea neither as I do not see how you can make any fast friendships with them automatic robards.

After all what good is having a clean gov't. place if you cannot get to nobody in city hall. That is what I do not like about this here Baker case. How does it look him being so successful and not yet old enough to be called Robert. The youth today is already bad enough without you give them the smart ideas they can get somewhere in politics.

But once you leave them into politics you will never again be able to get to nobody in city hall. Most especially these here series ones in the colleges who got to save the gov't. from each other.

Do not get me wrong I got nothing against the youth. I always say the future belongs to the youth. They will be older then and can enjoy it.

Meanwhile you got to draw the line somewhere. It is cutting your own throat to pay off a cop who is under 40 yrs. of age or a big inspector who is under 30 yrs. of age.

It is tough enough to fight creeping socialism in the gov't. But to all intense and purposes there is absolutely nothing you can do against creeping free enterprise.

An old farm laborer was employed to thin turnips on a farm owned by a woman who though wealthy, had a reputation for meanness. When dinner-time came, he noted with disgust that the only fare on the table, besides bread, butter, and tea, was a tiny spot of honey in the center of a large plate. After eating in silence for some moments, he looked hard at the honey and remarked: "I see, ma'am you keep a bee."

Rambling With Red

By RON CROSS

Pampa News sports editor Jeff Cohane stoutly refused to stick his neck out anymore, especially since he's on vacation.

He also refused to pick the New Year's day bowl winners, saying, "If you're so smart why don't you do it." Never being one to back away from a challenge and anyway who'll care if I miss one or two, I promptly took the little round coach of the Pampa Newsboys basketball team up on his stinging challenge.

To begin with the day after the night before bowl games prove exactly nothing, except who on that given day has the best team.

They provide entertainment, and cheaply at that, if you have a television set. Excuse me fellows, or a radio. If you don't just swallow a couple of aspirins and go back to bed.

So with the help of another fearless prognosticator, by the name of Hoople and the title Major, we set forth with these predictions:

Rose Bowl — Michigan 10, Oregon State 0. Parley the numbers. The Wolverines licked another OSU club (Ohio State University) by the same margin to get into the Rose Bowl.

Sugar Bowl — Louisiana State 14, Syracuse 0. Who's Syracuse? The Bayou boys limited their opponents to a 7.9 per game average during the regular season.

Orange Bowl — Texas 7, Alabama 0. Never bet against Darrell Royal or you'll come up a loser. The best game of the night.

Cotton Bowl — Nebraska 13, Arkansas 7. An upset by Huskers. The Sooners simply had more desire. Nebraska will make up for that mistake.

Gator Bowl — Oklahoma 21, Florida State 10. The Seminoles will be scalped. You never bet against the Sooners either. Even without Bud Wilkerson and Joe Don Looney. Watch Jim Grisham.

WHILE WE'RE AT IT

A few things more

The late Fred Hutchinson has been named "Man Of The Year" by Sport magazine in its annual year-end "Top Performer" selections.

Hutch, who died November 12, was chosen for exhibiting unusual courage in facing his illness.

Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles was named the top performer in baseball and Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts was chosen the top performer in pro football.

Wonder what the Brown's Frank Ryan thinks about that? Jeff'll be back Monday so hang tight all you folk in Miami.

Tomorrow we'll have an interview with Minnesota Vikings fullback Bill McWatters.

WORKOUT — University of Arkansas defensive line coach, Jim McKinsey, left, works out with the Razorbacks in Houston, Tex., as the team prepares for its New Year's Day meeting with Nebraska in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. The Razorbacks will work out in Houston until Dec. 30.

AFL BOSS SAYS CONTRACT OK

Georgia Protest Signing

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — University of Georgia football officials were sharply critical of the professional Boston Patriots today for signing Bulldog tackle Jim Wilson before the 1964 season was over.

Coach Vince Dooley said the university would protest to American Football League Commissioner Joe Foss and that Patriots' officials would be barred at Georgia.

Dooley said, "If the Patriots were going to sign Jim, then the least they could have done would have been to notify us that they had done so."

Georgia Athletic Director Joel Eaves said he felt there were "extenuating and mitigating circumstances" to the situation.

He said the university, although not condoning Wilson's signing, "definitely considers the actions of the Boston Patriots in their negotiations with Wilson to be unethical and we resent the fact that Boston did not communicate with us on this matter."

In New York, Foss said the Boston contract with Wilson was filed with his office and dated Aug. 25, 1964.

"As far as we're concerned it's a perfectly legal contract," he said. "He (Wilson) shouldn't have been playing college ball after signing the contract, but that was his own doing."

The question of Georgia being called on to forfeit any games has not arisen. The matter probably would be left up to Georgia.

Mike Holovak, general manager aguer and coach of the Boston Patriots, defended the team's action in signing Wilson. He pointed out that Wilson did not play in his sophomore year at a year of college eligibility left.

President Johnson is giving the public another snow job on government economy. By the time LBJ sends his new fiscal 1966 budget to Congress in early January the snow job will be in drifts across the land.

When the citizens read about the new budget they will have been brainwashed to think only of how much the President reduced spending below the requests of spendthrift bureaucrats. This snow job is a repeat performance. It was done last year. It was done so well that it blurred the obvious meaning of LBJ's 1965 budget figures. Instead of being identified by his own budget as one of the top peacetime spenders of all time ($97.9 billion), LBJ was identified by artful public relations as a great economizer.

What the President proposed last January was to collect $93 billion in revenue this fiscal year, to spend about $96 billion and to rack up a deficit of nearly $3 billion. The figures have been variously revised since then. But there remain the usual excess of spending over revenue and the inevitable deficit, the fifth in a row. A legitimate economizer would hold government spending below revenue.

Making Headlines

LBJ is making headlines again as a budget trimmer. The bureaucrats asked him for about $108 billion. Back at the ranch, LBJ is cutting, trimming and slashing. The White House leaks budget facts and figures like a woven wire bucket. The leaks tell of the President's determination to avoid a $100 billion budget.

Political pulse feelers call $100 billion the danger mark. The danger is that a $100 billion spending budget might so shock the patient citizenry as to arouse a rebellion against big-time spenders. That would indeed be dangerous for President Johnson. So it is likely although not guaranteed that the new budget will sag a bit below $100 billion. Not much below.

The citizens then will applaud LBJ as a great economizer. The snow job will protect the citizenry from painful thoughts of the steadily increasing public debt. They will ignore the fact of another Treasury deficit and of the monumental cost of the public debt in terms of interest.

Laughed Debt Off

FDR laughed off the public debt with a slick statement: "We owe it to ourselves." Other wishful thinkers argue that there will be no need ever to pay off the debt.

No recent president has been both willing and able to cope with government spending. President Dwight D. Eisenhower was willing but unable. The others were unwilling. Since 1930 and through 1964 there have been six years of Treasury surplus and 28 years of Treasury deficit. A shocking record.

Rise of Hemlines Cause of Executive Tensions

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Earlier this month, the Society for Advancement of Management held a conference here on the subject "Living with Executive Tensions."

Its purpose was to discuss the various factors that cause strain on executives, and to explore ways of coping with them.

I am now convinced that none of the things mentioned at the conference is responsible for the rise in executive tensions in this country.

I believe that the real cause can be found in an article that subsequently appeared in the Wall Street Journal. It discussed the rise in hemlines of women office workers.

According to the journal, America's tycoons of business and captains of industry are caught up in a lively controversy over how short skirts can be at work "without seriously impairing the functioning of the American economy."

No wonder those poor chaps are riddled with tensions! I hardly qualify as an executive, but nothing makes me quite as tense as a woman office worker with her bare knees hanging out. It is bad enough when the woman is your co-worker. When you are her boss, the mental and nervous strain must be terrific.

As Dr. Francis J. Braceland, a prominent psychiatrist, pointed out in his address at the conference, persons on the management level must endure the "loneliness of command."

An executive who is continually confronted with one or more sets of female knees throughout the working day undoubtedly is the loneliest of all.

Outlaw Sitting

He must constantly be on guard to avoid saying things like "take a knee, Miss Jones," or "take a letter, Miss Knee." The situation doesn't become critical as long as women who wear short skirts to the office remain standing. But owing to a peculiarity of the feminine anatomy, when a woman sits down, her knees become twice as difficult to ignore.

If I were an executive and wanted to reduce my tensions,

I would remove all of the chairs from the office.

Although ascending hemlines generally are classified as a passing fashion, I strongly suspect they are more than that. The evidence indicates they are part of a female plot to wrest control of the business world from men.

Women obviously are trying to create conditions under which all male executives will either have complete breakdowns, or will have to go away on long sea voyages to forget about knees.
