Dear Abby....
Never Too Busy To Make That Call

DEAR ABBY: What are you trying to do to us newly married young girls by saying you see no reason why a young bride should not keep in daily touch with her mother?
One of the reasons a girl leaves home is to get out from under her mother's domination. I am a bride and I work 8 hours a day. I cook supper and my husband does the dishes and vacuums. In the evenings, I do my hair, our washing and ironing and mending. We go out with friends once a week or have friends over. We see my mother once every other week. I call her once a week—yet, I got your column in my mailbox.
Abby, who am I to please? Myself, my mother, or my husband?
I am very busy and I get tired. I just don't have time for a 15 or 20-minute phone call with my mother everyday, and I can't cut her off any sooner.
Please, for us who don't have time but want to keep peace in the family say a kind word. And until you do, I am an—
EX ABBY FAN
DEAR ABBY: I will miss you, but before you depart may I say that I have never known a person who was too busy to do the things he really wanted to do. And I did not say that a married woman should be in touch with her mother daily. I said, I saw nothing wrong with it.

DEAR ABBY: When I come home after my night out with the girls, my husband always kisses me hello to see if I've been drinking. I resent this. I never kiss him to see if he's been drinking when he comes home from his night out with the boys because I know he has. I say, what's good for the goose is good for the gander. Right?
GANDER: DEAR ABBY: That's a lot of goosefathers. What's good for the goose has never been good for the gander. And never will be.

DEAR ABBY: We have a son who has been in the service for a year. He is now stationed in Hawaii. After not hearing one line from him in two months, we received a telephone call from Hawaii at 2 o'clock in the morning. It was our son informing us that he is getting married and needs our consent and signature as he is only 19 years old.
Well, Abby, you could have knocked us over with a feather. Of course we knew nothing of this girl. He said he met her six weeks ago and he loves her "deeply." We have been through all this with him before. He has fallen in and out of love half a dozen times at-

Shamrock Boy Found Unharmed In Dallas Home

SHAMROCK — A 30-year-old woman of Latin-American descent was arrested in Dallas yesterday on charges of kidnaping a 2½-year-old boy from his grandfather's home in Shamrock.

Danny Ray Wright, son of Mrs. L. C. Brown of Albuquerque, N.M., was found unharmed Sunday in a Dallas home, where they had been staying.

The woman, identified as Virginia Higgins Martin, claims to be from San Antonio and Los Angeles.

Wheeler County sheriff's deputies said the boy was taken Sept. 5 from the home of Luther Tucker, who had been caring for the boy about a year.

Deputy John Topper said the boy was seen with a woman the day he was reported missing. The woman reportedly was seen getting into a cattle truck leaving town.

Wheeler County officials issued a warrant for the woman's arrest last Monday.

J. Gordon Shanklin, special agent in charge of the Dallas Division said there was no motive for the abduction.

The boy's mother, Deputy Topper, and Shamrock chief of police Bill Rushing left Sunday night for Dallas. Mrs. Martin is expected to be returned to Shamrock.

SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENT — Miss Grace NeCase, left, president of the local Licensed Vocational Nurses Assn., is shown presenting Mrs. Faye Hardy with the LVN's $150 scholarship. Mrs. Hardy, who began training Aug. 29 in classes conducted at Highland General Hospital, was chosen to receive the scholarship loan at the group's August meeting. The association sells candy each fall to help secure funds for the non-interest loan fund which goes to a deserving woman each year and is repaid when the student completes her training.

Police Cite Two Drivers For Violations

A car driven by Jeff D. Truly, 2122 N. Banks, and one driven by Patricia Williams, 229 Miami, were in collision shortly after 8:30 a.m. today in the 800 block S. Hobart, according to a police report.

City police cited Mrs. Williams for failure to yield the right of way to avoid an accident.

Police reported minor damage to the Williams car with the Truly car incurring approximately $125 damage.

A collision shortly before 5 p.m. Sunday resulted in a citation being issued to Anthony G. Hernandez, 1213 Ripley, for alleged violation of driving on the left of center of the street.

The Hernandez car was in collision with a car driven by Richard Don Jones, 912 N. Gray, near the intersection of W. Francis and Hobart, police said.

Both cars were heavily damaged according to the police report.

Primaries

(Continued From Page 1) pears to have little hope of unseating Gov. John W. King and Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, who are unopposed in the Democratic primary. The six GOP primary senatorial candidates include former Govs. Wesley Powell, Lane Dwinnell and Doloris Bridges, widow of the late Sen. Styles Bridges. There are also six Republican candidates for governor.

MINNESOTA — There is heavy in-fighting among Democrats in Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's home state over the nomination for governor.

The state convention refused to endorse Gov. Karl Rolvaag for a second term and backed Lt. Gov. A.M. Keith instead.

Rolvaag entered the primary anyway, one in a field of six. Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., is expected to win renomination and re-election in November.

There also are contests to be decided Tuesday in Colorado, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Utah.

Economics

(Continued From Page 1) that higher taxes were needed to pay for the war or to keep the budget from going farther into the red — as he might have.

"The steps I have taken and recommended today are needed to keep the American economy on the safe course of stable prosperity it has enjoyed for the past 5½ years," Johnson said.

Kennedy's tax cut proposal in 1963 was a breakthrough, since it was the first time a President had recommended further unbalancing the budget in a time of prosperity in order to make the economy do even better.

Up To Johnson But everybody likes to have his taxes cut, Kennedy's was the happy mask. It was left to Johnson, as the war in Viet Nam got worse, to put on the unhappy mask and ask for a tax increase.

He took a little step in January when he proposed a speedup in payroll withholding and business tax collections — not really a tax increase — as well as suspension of last year's excise tax cuts in autos and phone calls.

But the emphasis was still on paying for the war rather than restraining the economy.

Now, by asking Congress to suspend the 7 per cent investment tax credit and to do it solely to fight inflation, Johnson has gone another step — and a big one — toward the new economics.

The real test will come later this year or early in 1967 when he sends Congress a big supplemental money request for Viet Nam. At that point Johnson will probably have to ask for higher taxes not only on business but on individuals as well.

FRED GOAD
... back of week

Hedgecock, Goad Garner Honors

FRED HEDGECOCK
... coach of week

By A Staff Writer
Fred Hedgecock and his McLean Tigers wasted no time in picking off one honor for the season and making sports 'experts' scratch their heads.
Hedgecock's Tigers, who were expected to do no more than show up for their games this season, earned their mentor 'Coach of the Week' honors after drubbing Shamrock's supposedly potent Irish, 6-0 Friday night.
The McLean coach, in his third season at the Tiger helm, had his troubles before practice ever started with two boys, both of whom probably would have started, moving away.

The Tigers returned only 11 boys with any experience at all and that wasn't much. But the Tigers are small although that proved no handicap.
McLean had but four players weighing over 165-pounds, three of them linemen. Hedgecock said before the season started the Tigers would have to do it on defense and they did.
Another area town and player to draw first week honors is Wheeler and fullback Fred Goad, who gave the hometown something to cheer about Friday night.

The Mustangs, behind Goad, opened their season successfully with Goad tugging three times to earn 'Back of The Week' honors.
Wheeler faced a tough opening game foe in Lefors, expected unseated Groom for the 5-B title. But the Wheeler defense and Goad proved more than the Pirates could handle and the Mustangs rolled to a relatively easy, 26-0 victory.

Goad, a 170-pound junior, who started last year for Wheeler, scored only four times all of last season and is well on his way to becoming one of the better fullbacks in the Panhandle area.
The two-year letterman scored on runs of 8, 11, and three yards.
There'll be no letup this Friday as, the area teams go into their second week of action.
Perryton, a 20-14 loser to Pampa journeys to Oklahoma where they tangle Woodward and Dumas, a 14-0 winner over Palo Duro, hosts a tough Phillips 11.

Canadian, a 52-0 winner over Miami, gets a stiff test when they visit Lefors. White Deer, an easy 49-6 winner over Boys Ranch, hosts a tough Panhandle team; Wheeler plays at home again, hosting a weak Erick, Okla. team, a 12-0 winner over Sayre. McLean tests their defense again going to Boys Ranch. Groom who tied Vega, 6-6, hosts Claude and Miami hosts Vega.

'Outside' Clubs Do Well Against AAAA League

By RON CROSS
Sports Editor
District 3-4A teams didn't fare well in opening games with outside opposition Friday and Saturday, winning only three of seven and one game ending in a tie.
Pampa, Tascosa, and Caprock were the only winners with Borger earning a tie with Lawton, Okla. while Amarillo, Palo Duro, Plainview, Lubbock lost and Monterey played cross-town rival Coronado and won.
All teams will see action again this weekend with several Saturday games on tap.
A rugged Pampa team journeys to Wichita Falls where they play the sixth ranked team in the state, Rider, a 6-0 winner over Wichita Falls Hirschi Saturday. Pampa scored with four seconds showing on the clock to down Perryton, 20-14.

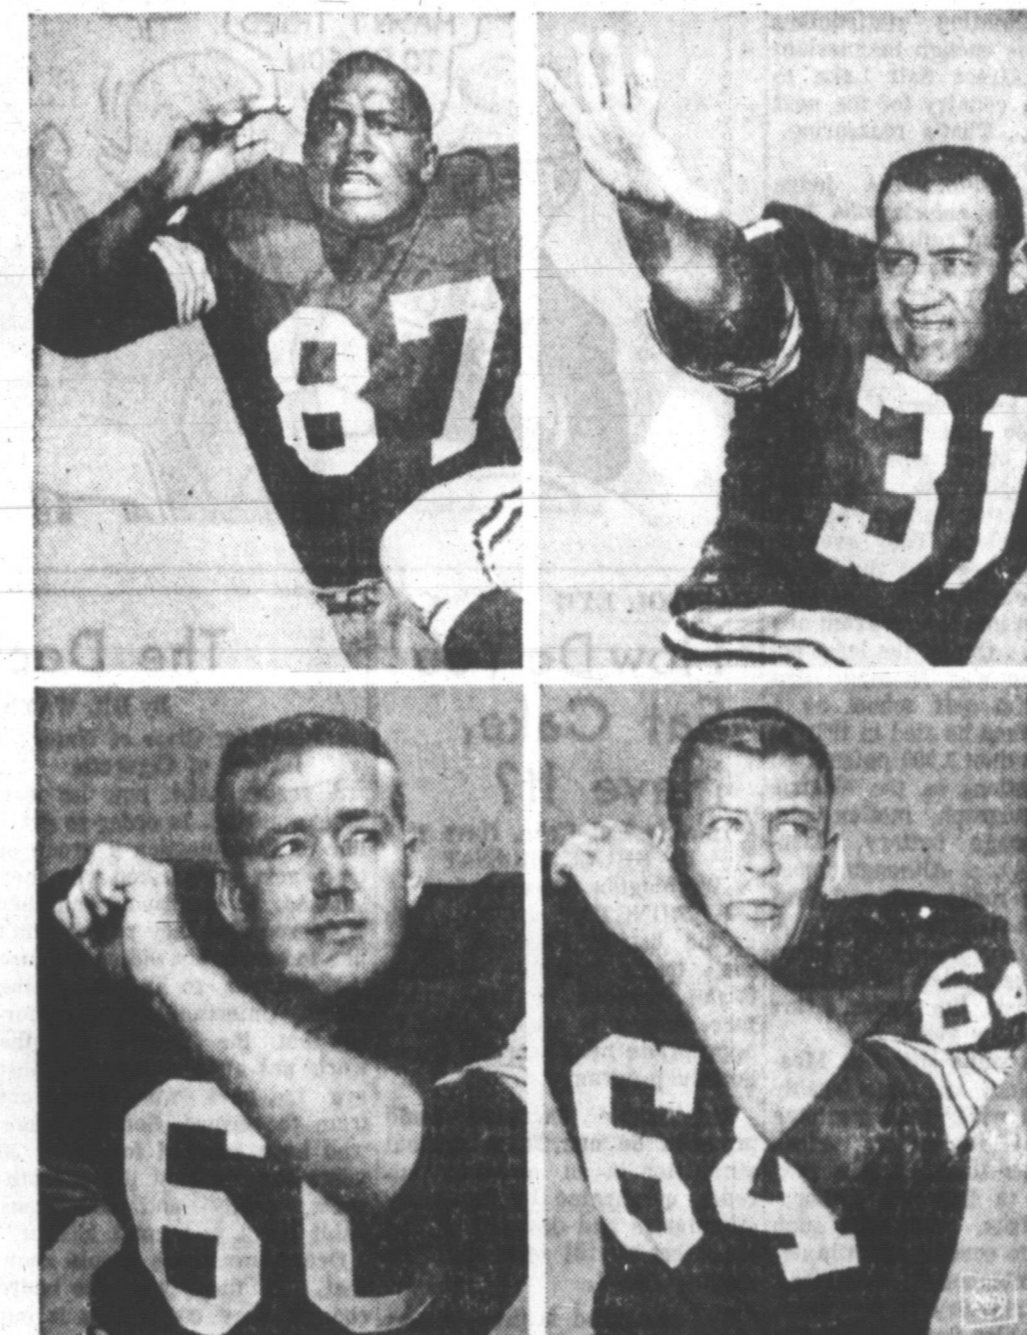

In other Friday night games, Amarillo, a 16-7 loser to Odessa, hosts Wichita Falls, Borger, who tied Lawton, Okla. 13-13, plays host to El Paso Irving, Monterey, an easy 14-8 winner over Lubbock Coronado, plays Permian, Plainview, a 13-12 loser to Littlefield, hosts Big Spring and Tascosa, a surprise, 6-0 winner over Permian plays Midland Lee at Midland. Saturday's games finds Caprock, a surprise 14-8 winner over El Paso Burges, playing at El Paso Coronado; Coronado hosts Roswell, N.M.; Lubbock hosts Odessa and Palo Duro, a 14-0 loser to Dumas, hosts Midland Lee.
Several things were apparent from Friday's openers, Tascosa is definitely the team to beat in the 3-4A South zone, both Caprock and Coronado are stronger than expected, Amarillo and Monterey are not as strong as the 'experts' thought and Pampa will have to be reconed with for a change.
If the opening games are any indication, then the North zone champion could well be the team with the best schedule.
Pampa should get a notion rillo and Monterey away from home while the Sandies catch Monterey at Amarillo.
Pampa should get a notion just how good they really are in the next two weeks with the Rider game Friday and the Harvester's catching always dangerous Dumas the following week in the Demons' home ground.
Pampa showed only one weakness Friday night and that was on Pass defense but the Harvesters were back in action Saturday morning working on just that thing.
Coach Eural Ramsey was happy over the fact Saturday that there were no serious injuries Friday night except for the usual minor cuts and bruises.

San Diego, Houston Blank Opposition in AFL Games

By United Press International
San Diego and Houston have already accomplished something no AFL team had been able to do during the regular season since 1963—blank the opposition.
The Chargers, the AFL's Western Division defending champions, and the Oilers, the East's last-place club in 1965, applied their whitewashes Saturday night while running their records to 2-0.
Although Buffalo blanked San Diego 23-0 in last year's title contest, the last regular season shutout dates back to the final week of the 1963 campaign when the Chiefs defeated New York 48-0.
San Diego gave Boston the brush 24-0 Saturday while Houston was handling Oakland 31-0. Sunday Kansas City walloped Buffalo 42-20 and Friday night New York stopped Miami 19-14. Denver did not play over the weekend.
Intercept Four Passes
San Diego, the league's highest scoring outfit, used four interceptions to get past the Patriots. Linebacker Ken Graham picked one off early in the second period and ran it back seven yards for a TD after Dick Van Raaphorst had booted a 10-yard field goal. The Chargers had opened the season the previous weekend with a 27-7 victory over Buffalo.
The Oilers, who won only four games all last season, made it two in a row under new Coach Walvoord behind the passing of George Blanda who threw two scoring aeriols to Ode Burrell.
The Oilers overwhelmed Denver 45-7 in the first game of the season and took advantage of three fumble recoveries and two interceptions to down the Raiders. Burrell, a third year back from Mississippi State, took a 23-yard toss into the end zone.
Biggest Surprise
The biggest surprise of the infant AFL season is the two straight losses of defending champion Buffalo. The Bills, picked by most experts to dominate in the East for the third year in a row, couldn't keep up with Kansas City's well-rounded attack.
The Chiefs started to a 21-0 lead in the first quarter as former Kansas University star Bert Coan scored twice. Coan's first touchdown came on a 12 yard pass from Len Dawson and the second on a four yard slant off tackle. Curtis McClinton, another ex-KU back, also scored twice, on a 17-yard pass shared the quarterback chores with Dawson a one yard plunge in the final period.
Rookie Mike Garrett, last year's Helmsman Trophy winner from USC, made an auspicious professional debut when he scampered 79 yards with a punt for a touchdown.
Friday night, Joe Namath entered the game in the second half after an ineffective Mike Taliaferro quarterbacked the Jets for the first 20 minutes, and completed eight of 18 passes for 100 yards. A key interception by Johnny Sample thwarted Miami's last-period drive.
UNDERGOES SURGERY
NEW YORK (UPI)—Shortstop Roy McMillan will undergo surgery on his right shoulder Thursday, the New York Mets announced Sunday.

ARMAMENT IN PRO FOOTBALL is not restricted to pads and headgear. The arm, as in forearm, is put to good use to fend off blockers and tacklers. These four Green Bay Packers (Willie Davis and Jim Taylor, top; Lee Roy Caffey and Jerry Kramer, bottom) come well-equipped.

CARNEGIE COURSE HELPED Plum Becomes a Leader

By United Press International
Milt Plum is a prize graduate of the Dale Carnegie school, but Bob Jencks would have to rank as a dropout.
Plum, a 31-year-old veteran of nine National Football League campaigns, has suffered from lack of leadership during his pro career and so the Detroit Lions sent him to the famed Carnegie school last winter to help the quarterback learn how to build up his confidence.
The course, which deals basically with the art of winning friends and influencing people, didn't look as if it had done Plum any good during the exhibition games as the Lions failed to win a single one. But Sunday Plum began to display the leadership the Lions sorely need as he passed for one touchdown and set up another while leading his team to a 14-3 upset of the highly-touted Chicago Bears.
Jencks, on the other hand, was accused of betrayal by his former Coach Nord Hecker for giving Atlanta game plans to Los Angeles which helped the Rams defeat the Falcons 19-14.
Disappointed By Cut
Jencks, who was dropped by the Falcons last week, was disappointed about being cut and allegedly divulged the information to Rams' Coach George Allen. Allen admitted receiving such information but denied it was any use to his team. Hecker thought differently and no doubt thinks little of Jencks.
In other NFL action, St. Louis edged Philadelphia 16-13, Cleveland defeated Washington 38-14, New York and Pittsburgh played to a 34-34 tie and Minnesota and San Francisco played to a 20-20 tie. Green Bay walloped Baltimore 24-3 in the NFL season opener Saturday night.
Plum's 25-yard touchdown pass to Pat Studstill and Tom Nowatzke's six-yard TD run both came in the second quarter and erased a 3-0 Chicago lead, and the Lions' tenacious defense made the two touchdowns stand up.
The Bears drove inside the Detroit 30-yard line twice in the third quarter, but Alex Karras recovered a fumble to stop the first drive and Wayne Rasmussen intercepted a pass on the 15 to stop the second.
Kicks Four FGs
Bruce Gossett kicked four field goals and Roman Gabriel passed for 294 yards as the Rams handed the Falcons a loss in their first regular season game ever.
The Rams' defense played as if it knew every one of the Atlanta plays as the Falcons' offense sputtered for most of the game. Quarterback Randy Johnson had a hand in both Atlanta touchdowns, connecting on a 53-yard scoring toss to Gary Barnes and scoring dricks, 208, himself on a three-yard run.
Jim Bakken kicked a 27-yard field goal with five seconds remaining to give the Cardinals their slim margin of victory. The boot was Bakken's third successful attempt of the day and came just one minute, and 51 seconds after the Eagles' Sam Baker had tied the game at 13-13.

59TH YEAR MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1966 9

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Dodger Hurlers Throw Blanks

By United Press International
The Los Angeles Dodgers are able to whiff that sweet smell of success today because Maury Wills cleared the air.
Twice in two seasons Wills has been involved in verbal exchanges with Los Angeles teammates and each time the incident served to air differences and relax tension instead of creating dissension.
In September of 1965 when Los Angeles was fighting for the National League pennant, Wills and Jim Gilliam engaged in a shouting and shoving match following a tough game. With everything then in the open, the Dodgers won 15 of their last 16 games and captured the flag.
Last Wednesday night, Wills and Tommy Davis nearly came to blows in the dugout preceding Los Angeles 3-2 loss in 12-innings to San Francisco. As in 1965, the incident released steam and the Dodgers began pulling together.
Move Into First
Los Angeles hasn't lost since winning a doubleheader 4-0 and 1-0 from Houston Sunday and moving into first place for the first time since Aug. 8. Prior to the two shutouts, the Dodgers blanked the Astros 7-0 Friday and 1-0 Saturday.
Elsewhere, St. Louis shaded Pittsburgh 4-3, San Francisco blanked Chicago 2-0 after losing 4-3, Philadelphia topped Cincinnati 9-3 and Atlanta whipped New York 8-3.

Littler Takes Series Golf

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Gene Littler had thank you's today for Jack Nicklaus, Billy Casper, Canada, his chip shots and his putter, and also enough money to buy a new Rolls Royce.
The thanks were all because he won the $50,000 jackpot in the World Series of Golf, doing it with a 22-foot birdie putt in the first hole of a sudden death playoff.
So these were his thanks in order:
—He was here only because Nicklaus and Casper had won two tournaments each.
—Because he won the Canadian Open golf championship back in July of 1965.
—And because his chipping and his putter saved him.
Dramatic Finish
They all added up to a one-stroke victory over Nicklaus and PGA champion Al Geiberger Sunday in a dramatic windup over one of the most exciting golf courses in the world—the 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club course.
Littler came here through the back door. The World Series of Golf is for the winners of the British and U.S. Opens, the Masters and the PGA. If there are duplicate winners, the first alternate is the Western Open champion, the second, the winner of the Canadian Open. Nicklaus won the Masters and the British Open; Casper, the U.S. Open and Geiberger the PGA. When Casper added the Western Open title to his U.S. Open crown, it meant the Canadian Open champion got in.
That was Littler—and he won it back in 1965—his last tournament.
Proves He Belongs
But the methodical golfer from California—not often a winner—proved he belonged.

claims, "Jim Kaat, Jim Perry, Manager. Sam Mele claims Camilo Pascual, Jim Grant, his Minnesota Twins' pitching Dave Boswell and Jim Merritt staff is the best in the American League—at hitting."
The pitchers are making him Sunday with his double in his look right too. They've batted the Twins into second place in the American League standings.
Reliever Al Worthington became the latest Twins' pitcher to distinguish himself with the bat Sunday.
Worthington's two-run double in the midst of a nine-run eighth-inning scored the eventual winning runs in the club's 11-6 victory over the Baltimore Orioles and completed a three-game sweep of the league leaders. It moved the defending champs into second, one-half game ahead of Detroit.
And Worthington isn't even usually included in the Mele loss for the Orioles, who are limping into the World Series. Detroit's Earl Wilson had his best hitting pitching staff in the snapped when he gave up two runs in the first inning and then retired in the second with a back injury. The A's added three runs off Tiger relievers and Lew Krausse pitched a three-hitter to pin the loss on Wilson, who is 15-10. Krausse is now 13-8 for Kansas City.
California dumped Cleveland into the second division as Paul Schaal drove in two runs with two doubles and a single and Norm Siebern hit a two-run homer. The victory moved the Angels into fifth ahead of the Indians. Fred Newman pitched seven innings to get the victory while Gary Bell was tagged with his 12th defeat against 14 victories.
Like Old Times
It was like old times for the Yankees as they swept a "crucial" three-game series in September. Only this time, it wasn't first place at stake, but last. The sweep of Boston moved the Yanks out of last place into eighth as Bobby Richardson homered in the 10th inning off John Wofford to decide

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Crime Concern Prods Officials

Climbing at a pace that is nearly six times the rate of population growth, crime in the United States is fast becoming the nation's number one problem. Law-enforcement officials are calling it a national crisis, as riots erupt in city after city and crime rates soar. In the five years since 1960, crimes have increased 47 per cent, as reported by the FBI, and there is widespread fear among officials that the crime wave will get worse before it gets better.

U.S. News & World Report recently surveyed the scope of the crime problem in a long feature article. Among the conclusions reached were these: more and better police officers are needed, the courts are too lenient with offenders and public attitude breeds disrespect for the law.

One of the built-in difficulties of strengthening law enforcement is that many qualified men are not attracted to police work because of low pay and the lack of cooperation and respect by the community and the courts. The median pay last year ranged from $4,740 a year in small cities to $5,515 in large cities.

Likewise, the term "police brutality" has deterred good men from going into police work. The International Association of Chiefs of Police reports, "Many high-type men are reluctant to go into police work today because of the kicking around that police are getting."

The magazine observes that court leniency is widely criticized, and "Many law-enforcement officials complain that the police are hampered by Supreme Court rulings designed to protect the rights of criminals, and that local courts too often release guilty defendants on technicalities or punish them too lightly."

The crime problem is further aggravated by public attitudes. "A spirit of lawlessness" and a "contempt for law" are said to be growing among the American people. A breakdown in family life is cited as a cause and moral values are described as deteriorating. Civil-rights leaders are accused of contributing to contempt for law by telling Negroes they have a right to disobey laws they consider unjust. A chief assistant prosecuting attorney in Michigan says, "We are seeing more and more crimes of a violent nature," and noted there is also a drop in the number of people willing to press charges of such offenses as rape and assault. "The victims feel us they are afraid the man will go free and come after them and retaliate. So they will not try to prosecute," he said.

Despite an array of new sophisticated weapons to fight crime, many officials insist that there is little which can be done to curb the increase in crime until public attitudes change. But, David Lawrence, editor of U.S. News & World Report, raised several questions about the attitudes and inactions of public officials and declared, "Discontent is increasing largely because of a feeling that persons elected to public office have failed to take the steps necessary to maintain law and order. Congress seems hesitant to enact corrective laws for fear of offending Negro-voters."

But with all of the concern, few persons have yet recognized that one of the principal reasons for lawlessness is the multitude of laws which violate the rights of individuals to their own private property, their lives and the product of their lives. When laws are passed which designate peaceful acts as crimes, and when politicians continue to invade the rights of the individuals, it is no wonder that the people no longer pay attention to the rights of other individuals and crime grows apace.

Debate and disagreement over the cause, as well as the cure, of rising crime and violence that plagues the United States will go on. Ultimately, there may be no clear-cut solution except as will come from widespread public concern.

This is the force that will be reflected all the way from Congress to the local station house and neighborhood patrolman. Massive public disapproval of wrongdoing and disregard for the law and rights of others combined with greater certainty of punishment would seem to be the most effective forces to deter potential criminals.

Ask a Silly Question

Scientists, who have so many things to investigate they don't know where to begin, have discovered another hitherto unrecognized law of nature. It's called the "speech duration phenomenon."

As a result of about a decade of dedicated research, they've found that, in an interview-type situation, "the length of response by the interviewed individual is positively associated with the duration of the interviewer's speech unit."

Stated simply: The longer the questions, the longer the answers tend to be; the shorter the questions, the shorter the answers.

The phenomenon has been noted in communications between astronauts in orbit and personnel on the ground, in medical interviews, psychoanalytic interviews, civil service and department store job interviews and in free conversation between two persons.

Now reports a paper in Science magazine, it has turned up in unexpected places — the presidential news conference. It is unexpected because this is a situation where the answers, as well as the questions, are more or less prepared in advance.

Nevertheless, a statistical study of 61 of President Kennedy's press conferences in 1961-63 revealed that the longer the reporters talked, the longer the President talked back, and the more concisely they framed their queries, by golly, the briefer he was in reply.

Maybe after another 10 years of research, we will know what all this means.

Pull Up A Chair

Measurements of distance have not always been exact throughout the world. The ancient Chinese had an uphill mile and a downhill mile. Naturally, the uphill mile was shorter. It's frightening to contemplate that at the present rate of world population growth there will be standing room only on this earth 500 years from now. It's our guess that in that far-off time earthlings will be colonizing the moon, the planets and other estimating statisticians say there is enough magnesium in Utah's Great Salt Lake to supply this country for the next 2,000 years. That's reassuring.

Today's smile: The judge looked at the culprit who had just been found guilty and said: "I'll give you ten days or $20. Which do you prefer?" The culprit said: "If it's okay with you, I'll take the $20 and get out of here."

You can lose money if you bet a kangaroo can leap higher than any other animal. That distinction goes to the klipspringer, better known as the African antelope. They average about three feet long and weigh only 20 pounds, but they can leap 25 feet into the air from any position. . . . One of the least educated men was Thomas Alva Edison, who quit school as a boy. But when he died in 1931 he held more than 1,300 patents on such inventions as the electric light, phonograph, motion picture, storage battery, flashlight, etc. . . . Although most Americans make no great pretensions at seeking culture, it is somewhat surprising to learn that an estimated 55 million persons visit the nation's art galleries every year.

Thoughts while shaving: Masculine fingers are considerably longer and wider than feminine digits and masculine voices much louder than the fair sex, according to the Bell Laboratory scientists, who take such matters into consideration in designing telephone equipment. However, chivalry is not dead, since they also found that men speak more softly to women than to other men. That's nice to know. . . . Lou Smith, owner of New Hampshire's Rockingham Park racetrack, is one of the world's greatest inventors for a very simple reason. He invented some rubber, doughnut-shaped rings that prevent eye glasses from slipping down the nose of the wearer. Smith calls them "snugglers" and has presented them to such widely diverse personalities as P. P. Paul VI, former President Eisenhower, President Johnson, Ed Sullivan and Jack Paar. . . . Harry Paul of the Cigar Smokers of America tells us that an estimated 200 out of every 10,000 cigars sold are bought by female cheroot puffers. He says the percentage is even larger for the panetella and cigarillo type of cigar. . . . Automation is gradually taking over everything. The latest convenience is a battery-powered spaghetti fork that rotates the spaghetti into easily handled balls that fit easily into your mouth. What next? . . . The Schenectady (N. Y.) GAZETTE reported in a story: "She was blissfully unaware that death may lurk right around the corner." And often does.

Confronted with all this constant building pressure, the President will have to agonize over the immediate future of his cherished Great Society endeavors in education, housing, welfare, etc.

His budget message this January acknowledged that he was asking Congress to vote $2.1 billion more for these programs than in the previous year. Some sleuths thought a careful reading of the budget put the increase in requests closer to $3.5 billion.

However that may be, the House already has voted to spend some $500 million above the budget request for Great Society projects and others falling under the Labor-Health-Education-Welfare appropriation. Even a heavy Senate ax probably would not chop all of this increase.

Obviously Johnson will make no determination of his 1967-68 requests until he sees finally what Congress has done this year. But the same factors which led him to seek a Great Society fund hike this year will be working on him again.

The authorizing legislation for these programs contains formulas which prescribe year-by-year escalation in outlays, especially in education, to match rising population and other changes.

Neither the President nor Congress is compelled to provide the full amounts authorized in this climbing scale. But he has strong motivation for keeping that upward push going.

With the aid of the overwhelmingly Democratic 89th Congress, LBJ put these programs across with resounding emphasis. The weak Republican opposition

WASHINGTON (NEA) High on the list of President Johnson's tough economic decisions is the question of how much more money to ask Congress to appropriate next year for Great Society programs.

Any sizable increase could prove to be one more critical stimulant in an economy already overheated by too many stimulators and destined to feel the effect of still others in the months ahead.

Well-remarked is the prospect of an early presidential request for an extra $10-$15 billion in funds for the Viet Nam war. But that will not be the end of it. Next year's regular request for war funds is sure to be higher than the 1966-67 figure, even if the President again postpones asking for part of the need.

Equally well publicized is the outlook for a very heavy round of wage increases in late 1966 and 1967, involving such industries as electrical products, the telephone system, rubber, meat packing, trucking paper, farm equipment, automobiles and machinery.

Triggered by rising prices and the guideline-smashing August airline settlement, these major negotiations may initiate a wage-price spiral that will make 1966 look like the belt of calms.

Confronted with all this constant building pressure, the President will have to agonize over the immediate future of his cherished Great Society endeavors in education, housing, welfare, etc.

His budget message this January acknowledged that he was asking Congress to vote $2.1 billion more for these programs than in the previous year. Some sleuths thought a careful reading of the budget put the increase in requests closer to $3.5 billion.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Reach for Glass of Water Instead of Cigarette
A reader asks how he can quit smoking. In order to get a line on this question a group of teen-agers were asked why they smoked. A surprising number answered that they really didn't like to smoke but did so because they wanted to be one of the crowd. Unfortunately, they forget that the people that the world has always admired most are the ones who stand out from the crowd. Some persons who have smoked for 20 or 30 years say, "I know it is a loathsome, costly and dangerous habit but I just can't kick it."

Deep down these people know that, if they want to badly enough, they could kick it but they are the ones who never quite believe that nicotine poisoning will affect their heart or their lungs. It may kill some other guy but it won't kill them. I would say to them: Is it really necessary to have a heart attack or develop emphysema or lung cancer to make you decide to quit smoking?

One aid to stopping is to reach for a glass of water instead of a cigarette. During the first five or six days of going without smoking you should also avoid alcohol. Those who adopt this plan find themselves drinking seven or eight glasses of water a day. This helps to flush the nicotine and other by-products of smoking out of the system. Sweet drinks will help prevent the drop in blood sugar that occurs when you stop smoking. A cold shower and a brisk rub-down will tone up your circulation, which has been impeded by smoking.

When you feel that you just have to inhale, go outdoors and inhale a lungful of fresh air. This and a brisk walk of 10 minutes or longer after each meal are recommended substitutes for the usual postprandial cigarette. Remember, too, that adequate rest is essential. Fatigue and jittery nerves will increase your desire for a smoke and at the same time weaken your resistance.

Antismoking clinics promote a group spirit that may help some persons but experience shows that their relapse rate is high. There is no substitute for a strong desire to stop. Although we all know that life must come to an end sometime let's not hasten it by indulging in senseless habits.

Your Dental Health

By DR. WM. LAWRENCE

Have a Beautiful Smile. But Expense Is Drawback
Dear Dr. Lawrence: I'm a girl of 17 and could be fairly attractive if it weren't for my front teeth. I never got my two lateral teeth and the eye-teeth came in where the laterals should be, right beside my front teeth. They look like fangs. What can be done about it and how much would it cost? I've been saving my money and want to know if I have nearly enough.

This anomaly can certainly be corrected, and in a routine manner. In this day and age of modern dentistry none need suffer from bad-looking teeth. Ideally, the eyeteeth should be moved back to their original position in the jaw. This can be done with orthodontic appliances. The spaces thus created would leave room enough to replace the missing laterals. This should be done by means of fixed bridges that are attached to eyeteeth and central incisors. The choice is dependent on conditions that exist and the evaluation and ability of the dentist.

Alas, it is expensive. It's hard to say how much since it differs in all parts of the country, and from dentist to dentist. But it's not expensive for the type of work required. It calls for many hours of detail and a delicate skill. And there is a continuing responsibility. A dentist's professional career is only as secure as the last bridge he has completed.

Ask your dentist. Most of them are very considerate of their regular patient's ability to pay. He might suggest an alternative, less expensive, which may suit your case almost as well.

In England, where most dentistry is paid for by the government, two important cases relating to teeth were recently settled in the following manner:

CASE 1. An old lady whose teeth were stolen from her bedside during the night by a rat, will have them replaced free of charge.

CASE 2. A man who lost his teeth while being chased and arrested by police, and subsequently jailed, will have to pay for his new set.

Minimum Wages

(Baltimore Sun)

As everybody knows, there are jobs going begging in some highly skilled lines while millions of non-skilled youngsters are jobless at the other end of the employment statistics. Some of those without jobs have failed to persuade prospective employers that they are worth the $1.25 an hour imposed in many industries by the federal minimum wage law. Now the House has passed and the Senate labor committee has approved an administration-backed measure which would boost to $1.60 a gain of 28 per cent the $1.25 minimum ultimately to $1.60, a gain of 28 per cent as against the late lamented guideline limit of 3.2 per cent. How many youngsters now unemployed at $1.25 an hour will find jobs at $1.60 an hour?

Yale Brozen of the University of Chicago economics faculty has a story in New Individualist Review about elevator operators in that troubled city. He says young men used to be employed to operate elevators at $1 or $1.25 an hour. This cost employers about $5,000 a year for two shifts, as against the $8,000 yearly for tax, insurance, depreciation and interest costs of automating an elevator. Then the hourly wage was pushed to $2.50 under trade union pressure, or beyond the expense of automation. Many building operators automated their elevators at once and another group of jobless teenagers was added to Chicago's social problems.

The humanitarian intent of minimum wage laws may be readily conceded, just as the exploitive propensities of many employers is a regrettable fact of economic life. It is also true that while Congress can fix wages, it is employers who actually hire people; and that a dollar an hour for 40 hours is worth more than $2 an hour for no hours. The debate in the Senate and in an inter-House conference on difference between Senate and House versions may well take account of the last as well as the first points outlined here.

Between the Bookends

THE SHEEPSKIN PSYCHOSIS

There is a disease rampant in society today, cutting down a lot of valuable people in their creative years and wasting a lot of productive human energy. It's the mania for a little piece of paper: a college diploma. Employers demand it; parents worry and pay for it; and young people spend years to get it without stopping to ask "Is this trip really necessary?"

Exactly what does a college education signify about a person? Is college really the only place (or even the best place) to acquire knowledge and skills? Does it mean growing and learning or is it just a necessary prerequisite to getting a job — any job?

At last there is a book that takes the time to pause and ponder this question. The author, John Keats, has titled it "The Sheepskin Psychosis" (published in cardcover by Dell Publishing Co., 750 Third Ave., New York 17, N.Y.; $1.85). The "sheepskin psychosis" is a term used to describe the frantic preoccupation in our time with "higher education" without any clearcut knowledge of what constitutes education or how to obtain it.

He suggests that "except in cases of our professional men — our doctors, lawyers, professors, and scientists in general — few of our college graduates can demonstrate the slightest connection between the daily demands of their jobs and what they studied in college."

It is particularly gratifying to see someone challenge a few "sacred cows" like: grading on the curve — the policy of grading according to a student's standing in the class; "publish or perish" — the concept that professors who have published works are more valuable to the school than those who know how to teach; and high school guidance counseling — an art practiced by far too few who have any knowledge whatever of the student or college in question.

The author makes another significant distinction "between the terms education and training. Both take place on a university campus. Education is concerned with concepts rather than with vocational techniques. It involves an ability to discriminate; it has to do with learning to learn. . . . On the other hand specific instruction in the mysteries of law, embalming, plumbing, medicine, holy orders, and business administration is vocational training."

If you're wondering why conformity and mediocrity increase while creativity and independence die of suffocation, consider "The Sheepskin Psychosis." You will find some important answers here.

As John Keats puts it, "When we come down to it, the only reason we believe that a man must have a college diploma to get a job nowadays is that everyone else seems to believe he should."

CRIMINALS STOP TALKING

A nationwide survey of law enforcement officers has revealed that recent Supreme Court rulings have prompted an increasing number of suspected criminals to reject questioning by the police. Most officials said that because there often is a long lapse between accusation and trial, it will be months before the full effects of the court decisions are felt. But many predicted far-reaching consequences.

In Philadelphia, for example, the police commissioner said confessions by criminals have dropped sharply in number. After suspects are advised of their "rights" as interpreted by the Supreme Court, he reported, "most times their answer is that they don't want to make any statement." The Los Angeles Police Department stated that the court rulings "have restricted our ability to prosecute successfully." As a result of the rulings said the head of the Boston Police homicide unit, "People are going to commit crimes and get away with it."

The key sections of the Supreme Court decisions held, by a 5 to 4 majority, that a suspect cannot be questioned about a crime if he declines the idea. As a result, said the New York City deputy police commissioner, there now is "very little questioning of suspects, practically none at all."

Our police forces, on the whole, are composed of men who, often underpaid and overworked, are dedicated to the suppression of crime and apprehension of criminals. They need all the help the people and the agencies of government — including the courts — can give them. It is regrettable that the Supreme Court has handicapped them in performing their duties.

LAWN CARE EQUIPMENT — George McConnell Jr., owner and operator of McConnell Materials, offers the latest in proper equipment to provide the finest lawn care. For full details and a free estimate, give him a call at MO 4-2969 or drop by the store at 314 S. Gray.

Penney Store To Observe Birthday

James Cash Penney, founder of the nationwide chain of department stores bearing his name, will observe his 91st birthday on Friday, Sept. 16.

Associates at the Penney store in Pampa will participate in the observance by sharing an appropriately decorated cake, according to R. M. Samples, local store manager.

While he has not been directly involved in the company's management for a number of years, Penney continues to serve on the board of directors. This makes him one of the last retailing pioneers still active in the businesses they founded.

Mr. Penney has an office on the top floor of the company's 45-story headquarters building in New York and comes in almost every day of the work week when in the city.

One of Mr. Penney's favorite topics these days is opportunity — opportunity for young people to achieve success in business, especially retailing. Among the requisites of a person entering retailing, he feels, are an interest in people, a capacity for

McConnell Materials Provides Home Pride

The housewife wants someone that can correctly prepare her flower bed, teach her how to care for it and add to the value and appearance of her home.

George McConnell Jr., 314 S. Gray, owner and operator of McConnell Materials, is backed by years of experience and pride in his work. He can be trusted! Whatever you want, he will do his best to complete a job made to order for even the most fashionable neighborhood.

Proper equipment is a number one factor. Know-how, experience, and pride combine with this equipment to give every customer the very best.

Want a better lawn? New grass? From now until October is the best time to start your lawn with blue grass. Call George McConnell at MO 4-2969. He'll be on his way. And you'll hard work and a sound education.

"There is in retailing almost unparalleled opportunity for advancement and access to top management positions with excellent salaries," Penney said.

come home to one of the finest possessions a man, or woman, could want. A beautiful attractive home surrounded by a gracious lawn and flowers.

Being a homeowner, brings a great deal of pride and enjoyment to everyone. It gives the man of the house a chance to plan and plot his yard, flowers, and garden the way he wants it to look. He likes to foresee the weeds cut down with green sprouting grass, beautifully kept, growing in its places. He can also visualize the bare spots covered. Like most homeowners, time doesn't allow him the opportunity to complete all the things he wished and dreamed of. His home is, in essence, his castle. His refuge from the daily routines that send him home weary and longing for a rest.

An important part of his psychological rest is having the privilege to drive into his driveway and see an expertly kept lawn waiting for his feet to tread upon, as soft as the most luxurious carpet. But, turning his yard over to just "anyone" does not quite please his taste. He wants to find someone who will take his time, show patience and demonstrate a knowledge

'No Roach' Gets Rid Of All Home Pests

We know we must be doing something right... That's why one housewife will tell another, "the only way — to keep your home free of cockroaches, and other crawling insects is with brush on Johnston's No-Roach." Imagine having an exterminator working for you 24 hours a day for weeks at a time, to keep your home free of cockroaches, ants, spiders, silverfish, etc., but that's just what happens with easy-to-use, long-acting brush-on, Johnston's No-Roach... the modern scientific formula that is proven effective in over a hundred thousand homes.

Simply brush this odorless, colorless liquid around baseboards, sinks, table legs... behind cabinets and appliances... on shelves and inside cabinet doors. Use Johnston's No-Roach in bathrooms and anywhere cockroaches may be found breeding. It dries fast to form an invisible path of death that kills cockroaches, ants, silverfish, spiders, all crawling insects... and best of all, continues to kill these pests for months.

No need to move dishes or food when you use Johnston's No-Roach... just brush this colorless, odorless coating exactly where you want it. Johnston's No-Roach eliminates the need for frequent applications of messy, unsafe sprays and powders... No-Roach is clean and easy to use; harmless to pets. Buy No-Roach today.

Available at: Ward's, Ideal's, Furr's, and many other stores.

Wall Street Chatter

By United Press International NEW YORK (UPI) — Goodbody & Co., says that from the long view, current price earnings relationships appear to present more the promise of reward than the involvement of risk. However, in the weeks ahead, the firm says the general credit squeeze and the possibility of a business slowdown accompanied by a tax hike seem likely to continue to restrain stock prices.

Stanley Heller & Co., says the overall picture for next year, exclusive of any sudden international monetary crisis, will be that of leveling off of the economy on a high plateau. In this regard, the firm says, the market may already have discounted much of the uncertainty which lies ahead.

William R. White of Hornblower Weeks - Hemphill, Noyes says prospects for a resumption of an intermediate recovery in financial market have been enhanced rather than diminished by last week's hesitant investor attitude.

Bache Co. says that while it does not envision a major downturn in interest rates now, it feels the immense pressures in the money market are in the process of being relieved and considers this a plus item for the stock market.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) — Anyone who spends much time in Washington, where the billion is the lowest common denominator, is seldom staggered by statistics.

But while having lunch at the Capitol this week I heard a congressman toss out a figure that sent my senses reeling.

Rep. Robert T. Secrest, D-Ohio, reported that in the past 40-odd years he had consumed 22,000 packages of chewing tobacco.

As everyone knows, the modern world is stacked against the tobacco chewer. Particularly indoors. The forces arrayed against him are awesome to behold.

I wouldn't have supposed there were any tobacco chewers left in Congress, specially one who still disposes of at least a package a day.

"You must be one of a dying breed," I said to Secrest. "Are there any other House members besides yourself who

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 279. At all drug counters.
