

Johnson Emphasizes Water Shortage On Eastern Swing

DALLASTOWN, Pa. (UPI) — President Johnson made a quick "non-political" swing into West Virginia and Pennsylvania Saturday with fervent praise for his administration's achievements and promises to do still more to guarantee adequate water resources and improve rural life.

"I don't know of a single nation in the world and a single people in the world that we are ready to change places with, do you?" he asked his Dallastown audience.

A loud chorus of "no" came back from a throng estimated by police at 10,000 to 12,000. The president had come to help the town of 3,700 celebrate its 100th birthday.

From all around this south-central Pennsylvania area, Dallastown was invaded by crowds which gave the chief executive and Mrs. Johnson a warm welcome.

Johnson flew here from West Virginia where he spoke at Charleston Airport in praise of what "a Democratic president and a Democratic government" were doing. Then, at Summersville, in the remote West Virginia hills, he dedicated a big new dam and called for vast new efforts to increase the world's water resources.

Earlier, at Summersville, W.Va., (pop. 2,500), the President warned that the world is "in a race with disaster" to keep up with the demand for water supplies. He announced full U.S. participation in a global water for peace program.

Dedicating a dam which completed a three-reservoir system for the Kanawha River basin, Johnson stressed that by the year 2000 the world's water will be doubled.

"It should be clear now that we are in a race with disaster," he told his Summersville audience. "Either the world's water needs will be met or the inevitable result will be mass starvation, mass epidemics and mass poverty greater than anything we know today."

"If we fail, I can assure you that not even America's unprecedented military might will be able to preserve the peace for long," he said.

He announced that an international conference on water for peace will be held in Washington next May and that he had invited the Soviet Union to cooperate in a broad program to cope with the growing water shortage problem.

The chief executive said that plans for action were presented to him during the past week, including development of entire river basins for flood control and water conservation and intensified efforts to convert sea water to "fresh" through atomic reactors or other scientific methods.

Recalling his boyhood in arid south central Texas, he told the throng of 10,000 West Virginians who came from the mountain country towns and crossroads: "That story is not unique. It has happened in California and India, in Kentucky and Israel. It is the story of man's ageless quest to make the waters of the earth serve him — to escape the despotism of flood and drought."

LIVING PROOF that Gray County farmers can grow cotton profitably is a 50-acre cotton patch five miles east of Pampa owned by Leon Daugherty, shown above examining a green cotton boll which is about to blossom. The cotton crop should be ready for harvesting by mid-October.

NO LONGER LAUGHING MATTER

Cotton Farming In County Is Now a Serious Business

By DORIS E. WILSON
News Staff Writer

Ten years ago raising cotton was a big joke in Gray County. But it is no longer funny. In fact, it is becoming downright profitable.

Because of cooler temperatures and a higher altitude, which caused a too-short growing period, Gray County offered no competition in the cotton market to counties farther south. The picture is changing, slowly but surely.

While it may be a few years before Gray County becomes a cotton center of repute, it is taking giant strides in that direction. The progress is due in part to improvements in irrigation, developments in fertilizing and strengthening of cotton plants to stand the cooler weather and higher altitudes.

A case in point is the success story of Leon Daugherty, who has 50-acres of cotton planted five miles east of Pampa. This is one of the largest cotton allotments in the county, according to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office in Pampa.

Daugherty planted the acreage on May 19th. The lush green growth of the plants and the bulging bolls this week indicate that it will be ready for harvesting about mid-October.

Cotton experts around the county are predicting the 50-acre will produce about 75 bales of cotton.

Daugherty said he had pre-watered the cotton section one time before planting and had watered it only twice after planting.

"There has not been a plow in that field since the cotton was (See COTTON, Page 3)

Red Guard Ordered To 'Destroy Old World and Construct New'

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China's militant teen-age Red Guards, have been ordered to support the Vietnamese fight against "American imperialism," reports reaching here Saturday said.

There was no mention of how the youths were to aid the Vietnamese Communists.

The Peking-based correspondent of the Japanese newspaper Sankei said the students were also told "to construct a new world by destroying the old world," in an ordinance published Friday by the Peking People's Committee.

The document said the duty of the Red Guards is "first to fight, second to criticize and third to renovate."

It was made clear that the movement is to be "placed under the leadership of the Cultural Revolutionary Committee" — a group currently commanded by loyal friends and supporters of Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-Tung.

Euphemism for Purge

The "cultural revolution" is the Chinese euphemism for purge.

The ordinance indicated that the Red Guards and the committee would hold discussions, but left no doubt which of the two groups was in charge.

"Directions and decisions of the committee must be carried out faithfully," it said.

The ordinance stated that the Red Guard movement has the responsibility to "become successor of the proletariat class armed with Mao Tse-Tung's thought and to defend the Central Communist Party and Chairman Mao."

It added that the movement would be composed of the "sons and daughters of the workers, farmers, soldiers and leaders of the revolution."

In Hong Kong, travelers arriving from the southern city of Canton said bloody fighting broke out between two groups of Red Guards over whether or not to pull down a statue of the late revolutionary leader Sun Yat-Sen, who led the revolution that toppled the Manchu dynasty.

Two Pampa Men Die In Memphis

Two Pampa men were killed early Saturday morning in a one-car accident 10 miles southeast of Memphis on U.S. Highway 287.

Willie Harper, 30, 600 S. Somerville and Leonard V. Vaughn, 20, died in the accident, when the car in which they were riding failed to make a curve, went out of control, and turned over, throwing the men out of the car.

Both men were taken to the Spicer Funeral Home in Memphis, where funeral arrangements were pending at press time.

Harper and Vaughn were employees of the Pampa Foundry Co.

Navy Favors Billion Dollar Research Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy has recommended to the Defense Department a rapid expansion of ocean research that could mean $1 billion a year for such projects by 1970.

This would more than triple the $305 million now being spent annually on experiments designed to conquer and exploit the vast ocean depths.

The Navy recommendation was submitted in budget proposals that require Defense Department approval before they are submitted to the next Congress.

They include a new program labeled "deep ocean technology" which is expected to be larger than the present "deep submergence" project, which will also expand. The aim of the new program is to solve the problems of underwater construction.

To date, the Navy's five-year, $332 million "deep submergence" or "search and rescue" program has proceeded more slowly than was expected at the time the nuclear-powered submarine Thresher was lost with 129 men in 1963.

Armed Criminals Seize Airplane, Head Toward US

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI) — Four armed and desperate jailbreakers—described as an insane killer, a rapist and two robbers—seized a private plane Saturday and took off toward the western United States.

The plane was believed piloted by Kenneth Leishman, 34, a suspect in a $383,000 gold bullion robbery last March at Winnipeg International Airport and the alleged leader of the jailbreak. Authorities said he was an experienced flier.

The Royal Canadian Air Force was alerted and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police notified U.S. authorities to be on the lookout for a low-winged, red and beige four-seater with the identification letters CFRYN on its wings and fuselage. Mounties said several farmers reported spotting the plane heading south toward the U.S. border.

"There's no telling how far they'll get," a police officer said. Even before the plane theft the largest manhunt in the history of Manitoba had been extended to the provinces of Saskatchewan and Ontario and into North Dakota, Minnesota and Montana.

With Leishman were Barry Kay Duke, 21, who had been acquitted of a murder charge on grounds of insanity; Joseph W. Dale, 25, awaiting trial for rape; and George Leclerk, serving a theft sentence.

Guerrillas Stage Surprise Attack

SAIGON (UPI) — Viet Cong guerrillas Saturday staged a surprise nighttime mortar attack on the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division headquarters in the central highlands while the "flying horsemen" were celebrating the unit's first year in Viet Nam. Some Americans were reported killed.

American military spokesmen said a guerrilla band of unknown size lobbed about 27 rounds of mortar shells into the headquarters area at An Khe, about 260 miles northeast of Saigon. They said they had no immediate reports on casualties or damages.

But a first sergeant at the scene reported: "Some of the guys in the ceremony are dead right now."

The 1st Division polices the strategic central highlands of South Viet Nam and it has pioneered and developed the helicopter concept of war — hunting the enemy in choppers and using others to fly in troops when they are found.

In the air war against North Viet Nam, a spokesman reported two more planes shot down Friday and Saturday. The pilots of both were rescued; one in a daring operation carried out under the muzzles of Communist guns near heavily defended

March Scheduled To Go Through Cicero

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two thousand Illinois National Guardsmen began assembling at armories Saturday to protect Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) marchers during a scheduled Sunday trek through the tense suburb of Cicero.

Maj. Gen. Francis P. Kane, commander of the Guard's 33rd Infantry Division, said his men would move into "strategic locations" in the all-white suburb at 8 a.m. today from which they will be called if needed.

Guardsmen will have orders to return fire if they or the marchers are fired upon during their demonstration for open housing for Negroes.

"I don't know any other way to train soldiers than to shoot to kill," Kane said.

A parade permit for up to 1,000 marchers was issued Saturday afternoon to Robert Lucas, Chicago CORE leader. After it was issued, Lucas shook hands with Cicero Town officials and said, "See you Sunday." He said he expected no trouble during the march.

Christy Berkos, Cicero town attorney, who had balked at issuing the permit earlier, said he agreed to issue it because CORE threatened to march with or without a permit.

"Because they're stupid enough to march without a permit, I'm not stupid enough to deny it to them," Berkos said.

Lucas claims Cicero, once notorious as the fiefdom of gang czar Al Capone, has become the symbol of segregated housing in the Chicago area. The community of 70,000, most of them of Central European origin, was the scene of a race riot in 1951.

Lucas told newsmen he expected only 400 to 500 marchers. Kane indicated that his intelligence sources predicted only 100 to 200 marchers. A CORE pre-march rally Friday night drew only 25 persons.

Dr. Martin Luther King, whose Chicago freedom movement indefinitely suspended plans for a Cicero march, said he understood that CORE had "only 12 to 15 members" here.

Kane said, "If an organization can only mass 100 marchers, it's completely outrageous to inconvenience so many people. Local police are more than sufficient to protect 100 marchers."

He estimated the Guard mobilization cost Illinois taxpayers $50,000. However, he admitted the smaller number would be "less of a target and less trouble."

The 30-block line of march will be guarded by 96 Cicero police, 350 state police and 90 Cook County police when the marchers step off eight abreast at 2 p.m. CDT today.

King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) and Chicago freedom movement are not taking part in the Cicero march. King was concentrating his efforts in support of a rent strike on Chicago's near North Side.

DeGaulle Gets Warm Welcome At Latest Stop

NOUMEA, New Caledonia (UPI) — Mobs of curly-haired natives broke through police barriers to shake hands with President Charles de Gaulle Saturday as he placed a wreath on a memorial to New Caledonia's war dead.

De Gaulle is resting here before visiting Tahiti and the French atomic proving grounds in the Pacific where he will watch a nuclear explosion, possibly next Saturday.

De Gaulle's warm welcome here was a far cry from the reception he received in another colony, French Somaliland, where crowds rioted and turned their backs on him.

But despite Noumea's happy atmosphere, De Gaulle has problems to face.

Like the French Somalis, some New Caledonians want out from French rule. Most would prefer autonomy under the Union Caledonienne opposition party, maintaining some links with France. A minority wants full independence.

Ironically, the demands for autonomy come as much from French residents as from the Melanesian natives, most of whom are said to be content with their life of full employment and booming wages.

Those seeking autonomy claim that the present semi-colonial regime is stifling the mineral-rich island's development.

During consultations with local businessmen and politicians, De Gaulle is certain to run into demands to allow American mining companies to exploit New Caledonia's vast nickel deposits.

A powerful French company, Le Nickel, and a few small private firms at present run all the vast open-cast mines. In an attempt to break the near monopoly of Le Nickel, politicians here have pressed French authorities to lift their ban on the American International Nickel Co. as a means of insuring further economic growth.

A meeting of the territory's opposition leaders and businessmen Friday night reportedly agreed that the continuation of the ban might prompt the Territorial Assembly to push for autonomy.

KEY TO FREEDOM

Banker Tells Kiwanis Club Government Can't Produce

Relating how he got his first lessons in free enterprise as a newspaper carrier at the age of ten, Floyd Watson, Pampa banker, told members of the Downtown Kiwanis Club Friday noon he learned in the years to follow that the key to wealth is productivity.

Speaking at the civic club's observance of Freedom Enterprise Week, being marked nationally by Kiwanis International, Watson said:

"The right of an individual to seek out that which he prefers to do in the free market is the best system of government and economics."

Watson said that was his definition of "free enterprise."

"Productivity is the key to wealth for an individual and for a nation," he said.

He pointed to the fruitless efforts of the Pilgrims in 1607 when it was decided the best way of life would be communal living by casting their lot together with the products of all being distributed equally among each member of the community.

"There was no incentive to produce individually," he said, "and the system finally broke down. When they were placed on an individual basis and each was allowed to keep what he produced, there was abundance and the community prospered."

Watson stated that taking from one man according to his (See BANKER, Page 3)

Announcement Of Commissions To Conclude CME Conference Today

The concluding session of the Northwest Texas Annual Conference of the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church will be held today in St. Mark CME Church, 408 Elm, and designated as Commission Sunday.

Highlighting today's session will be the announcement of pastorate appointments by Bishop Norris S. Curry of Dallas.

The conference has been in session here since Wednesday. Youth Day was observed by the conference yesterday with Raymond Nance as guest speaker. Nance is a pre-ministerial student and vice president of the Wesley Foundation at Texas Technological College, Lubbock.

Speaking on "The Strange World In Which We Live," Nance pointed out, "Man has three basic relationships: with God, with others and with self. Finding a meaning for our lives is more than just making goals. Only when these thoughts are put into action do our goals mean something."

Youth Day activities were under the direction of Miss June E. Porter of Abilene, president of the Christian Youth Fellowship for the conference.

Mrs. Rosie L. Patterson of planted," he said with justifiable pride. Weeds were negligible because of the pre-emergent weed spray used before the plants came up.

Amos Harris, a Gray County farmer, stated that there is a total of 1,348 acres planted in cotton on 63 farms in Gray County this year.

"Of this total," he said, "423 acres on 25 farms are under irrigation with the remainder being dryland cotton."

Gray County farmers should keep a weather-eye out for frost-killing dates if they are cotton-planting-minded.

There's a minimum of about 200 frost-free days in the county with a mean summer temperature of 77 degrees Fahrenheit necessary or satisfactory cotton production in this area, according to an article on "Cotton Production on the Texas High Plains" in the Texas A&M's pamphlet on "Soil - Temperature." Cotton should be planted as early as possible because of the short growing season. The last average frost-killing date is April 6.

Cool nights and frequent thunderstorms keep the soil temperature too low for satisfactory germination for about one month after this date, according to the article.

Gray County farmers can be assured of the most success if they set their cotton-planting time between the first and the middle of May.

Price To Hit Fair Circuit

Republican congressional candidate Bob Price has scheduled seven campaign speaking engagements Monday through Friday, according to an announcement from his Pampa headquarters.

Price will attend the Old Settlers Reunion at Mobeetie from noon to 3 p.m. tomorrow. At 8:30 p.m. he speaks at a Cowboy's Cookout in Canadian.

Friday the candidate will attend the Collingsworth County Fair at Wellington. Next Saturday he will visit the Stratford and Clarendon fairs.

Saturday evening from 4:30 to 8 p.m. Price will be at the annual fall festival and barbecue in Panhandle and then will go to Borger for a 7 p.m. Republican rally at the Hal Stoelzel residence.

Football Fans Are Invited To Pancake Supper

CANADIAN—Miamians planning to attend the first football game of the season at Canadian Friday night, Sept. 9, are invited by the Canadian Rotary club to drive, over early enough, to enjoy a pre-game, pancake supper to be served by the Rotarians at the W.C.T.U. Building, 5th and Main.

Grid fans are offered "all the pancakes they can eat" plus bacon, syrup, butter, milk or coffee and the cost is $1 per person for adults and 75 cents for children 12 years of age and under.

The Rotary Club pancake supper has been popular events with Canadians for several years. Usually planned for home-game dates on two- or three occasions during each football season, they also provide a quick and tasty pregame meal for out-of-town visitors.

Rotarians will begin serving at 5 p.m. and continue until 8 p.m. Gametime at Wildcat stadium, which is only four blocks away, is at 7:30 p.m.

The Pancake suppers are served in the dining room at the W.C.T.U. building. In use for the first time will be a brand new rotary-type pancake griddle which Canadian Rotarians expect will speed up service for game-bound diners.

Profits from the pancake supper go to club-sponsored community improvements projects.

Pharmacists Form Committee In Support of Carr

Joe W. Miller, 2500 Christine, has joined a statewide steering committee of Texas pharmacists in support of Attorney General Waggoner Carr in his race for the U. S. Senate. Carr's state campaign headquarters in Austin has announced.

The "Pharmacists for Carr" committee is headed by Sam Wood of Killeen.

Miller is co-owner of the Miller-Hood Pharmacy, 1122 Alcock.

Other committee members are Roy Wiese of Brenham, Bill Wood of Midland, Ed Baker of Arlington, Emory Glass of Odessa, Barry Colman of El Paso, Joe D. Hinson of Fort Stockton, N. M., "Jimmy" Brittain of Littlefield and T. H. Cleveland of Dublin.

Most Doors Will Be Closed Monday

Labor Day in Pampa will find most businesses closed in observance of the workman's holiday. All schools, banks, county, and state and federal offices will observe the national holiday by remaining closed all day Monday.

There will be no mail delivery, but the Post Office will be open to boxholders.

A majority of business places, commercial and those offering services, will be closed, but a few will be open for business.

For some, such as the Pampa Police Department, the Sheriff's Department, the Highway Patrol and the Pampa Daily News, it will be "business as usual."

Bicycle Taken

Mrs. Tommie Richardson, 1819 Evergreen, reported to city police that her son's bicycle had been taken from their front yard sometime after 9 p.m. Friday.

The green and white, 26 inch bicycle has a luggage rack and a light that doesn't work, according to the police report.

GRADUATE ASSISTANT—Larry Duke, son of Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Duke, received a graduate assistantship of $2,500 at the University of Missouri, where he is a senior majoring in physiological psychology. He was also awarded a "Victor Wilson" scholarship of $300. Larry is visiting in Pampa with his parents before returning to college.

Miami Schools Start New Year

The Miami Public Schools began the 1966-67 term Monday morning with an enrollment of 205, a decrease of 10 students compared with the enrollment a year ago.

Most of the loss is in high school which enrolled 62 students—seven less than the 1965 enrollment. The Junior High enrollment of 30 is a gain of one over last year, while the grade school enrollment of 113 shows a decrease of four from last year.

The fifth grade, taught by Mrs. Eura Saul, has the largest enrollment with 23, while the sophomores have the smallest number, 13.

Texas Patrol Works 5-Days

The Texas Department of Public Safety announced Saturday that all of its uniformed patrol personnel are going on a five-day week, effective immediately, in an effort to attract and retain adequate personnel, thus providing better law enforcement coverage and service over the state.

Sgt. J. W. Wilson, in charge of the Highway Patrol in the Pampa area, said Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director, announced at the same time that there are some 125 vacancies in the patrol services, including Highway Patrol, License and Weight, Motor Vehicle Inspection and Driver Licensing.

"Applications for these career positions are now being accepted, with an October 17 deadline for the next statewide examination on Oct. 22," Garrison said. "The next training school will begin Jan. 3."

"The five-day week will apply during the training period also, and the training period has been extended from 16 to 18 weeks to cover the shorter school week."

Personal Damage Suits Are Settled

Two damage suits for personal-injuries were settled in the Friday afternoon session of 31st Judicial District Court here.

Dexter Parker, acting for Lonnie Parker, a minor, was awarded $175 from Gelanese Corp. for personal injuries incurred by his son on Aug. 9.

The petition charged the corporation failed to repair a road in Carson County where it had been doing construction work. The negligence caused the accident which injured the youth, the petition stated.

Nine hundred and thirty-eight dollars was awarded to Ray Dudley, acting for a minor, Gary David Dudley, in judgment against the Houston Lumber Co.

Dudley charged a driver for the Houston Lumber Co., Cecil W. Dalton, with negligence which caused personal injury to young Dudley in a motor bike-truck accident on June 30 at the intersection of Gray and Francis.

(Continued From Page 1) ability and giving to another according to his needs is a theory that never has worked.

"Only an individual can produce," Watson said. "A government cannot produce. The reason free enterprise has created for us the greatest wealth of any nation is because of what you and I produce individually."

Watson said the word "freedom" today is being twisted to mean something other than its original meaning.

"We understand the word 'freedom' to mean freedom from tyranny, freedom from religion," he said, "but there are those at work today who are trying to change the definition to mean freedom from want, freedom from unpleasantness, freedom from hardship and freedom from discipline."

"To combat the forces at work to 'destroy the type of government you and I feel we should have,' Watson urged Americans to be vigilant at the polls. "We should vote and we should be informed as to the background of candidates and how they stand on the vital issues," Watson said. "We should always be looking to what is good for our country."

The speaker related the story of "The Lark and the Feather," a tale of the lark who bartered away his plumage "a feather a day for a worm a day."

"He thought this was easy living," the speaker stated, "but the day finally came when his feathers were all gone and he could neither fly nor buy more worms."

"That's the way freedom is lost," Watson said, "a feather at a time."

Author, Publisher Speak In Local Reading Series Meet

An informative session covering new developments in basal reading was presented to approximately 300 teachers in the Gray County area by an author and a publisher on Friday afternoon in Robert E. Lee Junior High School.

Dr. William K. Durr of Michigan State University, co-author of the "Reading For Meaning" series, and Arthur M. Clark of Boston, Mass., chief elementary editor of Houghton Mifflin Co., publishers of the reading series, were in Pampa Friday afternoon to conduct workshop sessions for the primary reading level, grades one through three; and the intermediate level, grades four through six.

Dr. Durr discussed "What the child has when he comes to school that we can build on" and "How we can develop what he needs."

Clark pointed out that the purpose of the reading series, McKee-Durr Readers, "is to develop independent reading power and to create a lifetime interest in good reading."

The McKee-Durr Reader series have been in use in Pampa's public schools for several years, McHenry Lane, curriculum director, said.

Durr and Clark were assisted in the workshop sessions by Miss Dolores Rowe and Mrs. Grace Mason, educational consultants.

Arrangements for the workshop were under the direction of Lane and Mrs. Marjorie Gaut, elementary curriculum consultant.

Driver Cited In Collision

A car driven by Everett Thomas Scott, 904 E. Frederic and a car driven by Clayton Roy Mathis, 507 N. Nelson, were in collision at the intersection of Frederic and S. Henry around 3:35 p.m. Saturday, according to a police report.

A passenger in the Scott car, Donald Tomaszewska, was slightly injured in the collision, police said.

Scott was cited for failure to yield right of way from a private driveway.

Four hundred dollars damage was sustained by the Scott car with the Mathis auto incurring approximately $75 damage.

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director Pampa Youth Center
The Center in conjunction with the American Red Cross will offer a Senior Life Saving for all persons interested starting September 6. This Class will meet in the mornings from 9:30 until around 11:30. A $3 registration fee is the only requirement as far as payment for lessons is concerned. Everyone taking the course must be at least 18 years of age.

If you are interested in securing your Water Safety Instructor rating, you must have passed Senior Life Saving. The Red Cross will be giving part I of the Instructor Course at the Youth Center starting Sept. 19. Center memberships are always available at the front office of the Center. There is no limit to the number of members that the Center may enlist. The Center is open the year round with an indoor heated pool in the cooler months. A membership entitles you to full use of the Center facilities as well as a free swim lesson. We have basketball, volleyball, swimming, tumbling, trampolining, shuffleboard, pool, ping pong, weights, wrestling and T.V. watching as well as several quiet games.

A family membership which includes all members of the present family living at home or at college and who is not married. Family memberships are $20 per year or $12 for six months. An individual membership is for those persons who are 8 years of age or older and costs $8 per year or $5 for six months. All memberships run for a full six or 12 months according to the purchase.

The Center will continue to sponsor the Teen-age dances on weekends especially after the home football games. Dances are well chaperoned and run from 8-11 p.m. The Essex will be your host band each week. There is a plan to have dances for the younger school teens including sophomores down through Jr. High on Friday or through Jr. High on Friday or Saturday night opposite the Essex. If you think you would be interested in this dance for the younger set, give us a call.

The 1966 Fall Volleyball season will be getting underway very soon. Plans are for starting off with tournaments for both men and women. The Women's tourn. will be Sept. 11 and Sept. 8 for Men. The full leagues will start Sept. 12 for women, Sept. 14 for mixed league, and Sept. 15 for the Men's League.

The organizational meeting of the leagues and tournaments will be held Sept. 7 at the Center beginning at 8 p.m. All entry fees for league and tournaments must be in by that time and date. Entry fee for tournaments are $5 while entry fee for leagues is $15. Contact director, George Smith, for further details.

RECEIVES SENTENCE
VIENNA (UPI)—A Jehovah's Witness drafted for compulsory military service has been sentenced to six months in prison for breach of discipline after refusing to wear a uniform or carry weapons.
Johann Uhlmann, 19, also declined to take the customary oath of allegiance administered to all inductees. "This is against my belief," he said.
An Austrian court told Uhlmann he should have reported himself as a conscientious objector before his draft notice arrived July 4.

Collegiate Grabs Shot Lead in Top O' Texas

By RON CROSS
Sports Editor

Ras Allen, a 22-year-old collegiate from North Texas State assaulted the Pampa Country Club course for a sizzling five-under par 66 Saturday for medalist honors and the first round lead in the 29th annual Top O' Texas golf affair.

Allen, who resides in Dallas when he isn't in school shot 32-34 to lead two-time champ John Farquhar by a single stroke. Farquhar toured the 6,010 yards in 33-34-67 while Roy Bays, a comer on Oklahoma State University golf team shot 35-34-69. A 1964 winner and runner-up last year, Bobby Greenwood of Cookeville, Tenn. found the going rough, without benefit of a practice round and came in at one over with rounds of 37-35-72.

Only six of the field of 36 golfers beat par while six more tied it.

Grouped at 70's were James Herring, Max Hickey and Jim Wilcoxson while shooting pars Jeff Voss, Duff Stammer, two-time champ Malcolm Douglas, Dickie Dyer, Buster Carter and Housty Brewer.

One of the pre-tournament favorites, Don Prigmore skied to a 76 with round of 37-39.

In the first flight C. F. McGinnis, who has won this tournament before, fired a hot round of 37-32-69 to lead by two strokes over two other golfers.

In his round Allen had five birdies and the rest in pars. Allan started well, birding the 580-yard par 5 first hole, then went par for the next four holes before knocking in a six-footer on No. 6 for a birdie 3. Another birdie came on the 335-yard eighth hole and Allen then parred the next six holes before birding No. 15 and closing xwith a bird on the par 5,440 yard 18th.

Farquhar went par-par then ran into trouble on the 322-yard third hole and wound up with a bogie five before settling down and going birdie, par, birdie, birdie.

The 1963-'65 winner of this tournament took another bogie, this one on the 197-yard 12th hole but scored an eagle 2 on the 275-yard 15th, then bogied the 16th with a four and closed out with two birdies.

Bays had a birdie and bogie on the front side and three birdies and two bogies on the back side.

On his round Greenwood started badly by bogging the first hole and took a double bogie five on the par 3 seventh and followed that with a bogie five on No. 8. He had to settle for two bogies on the back nine compared with three birdies.

1 Golfers started teeing off at 6:30 a.m. today with the championship flight expected to begin about 11:30 a.m.

At one over par for the first day, which ended about 7:45 p.m., were Ladd Larson, Roy Johnson, Greenwood, Jack Foster, Hack Cogburn, Richard Cozby, Steve LeCrone and Bobby Sanders.

Another pre-tournament favorite, Richard Ellis found the course not to his liking and skied to a 39-37-76, one of the worse rounds he has ever shot on his home course.

Championship and first flight golfers shoot 18 holes of medal play again today and first flight golfers have 18 more Monday while the championship winds up with 36 holes on Monday.

Flights two through 11, play 18 holes match play today and survivors shoot 18 holes of medal play on Monday.

SHOCKERS BEATEN

Harvesters Rip Hornets, 24-18

By A Staff Writer

Pampa nailed Tulia, 4-3 in touchdowns or 24-18, score-wise, in a scrimmage session Saturday afternoon at Harvester Field.

The Harvesters started sluggishly but didn't stay that way long as they served notice 1966 will be 'F' year in Pampa. That is F for football.

"Lightening" Sherman Mitchell, "Freight Train" Ted Heiskell, quarterback Gary Hyatt, halfback Dickie Henley and Gary McCarroll provided the offensive fireworks for the Harvesters.

Mitchell, who weighs in at 165 on a 57 frame tallied two of Pampa's markers, one on a 65-yard pass interception and the other when he scampered 35 yards to the one, then carried over on the next play.

Heiskell, who left tacklers strung out all over the field most every time he carried, plunged over from the one for his marker and McCarroll scored.

ERROL RAMSEY happy?

ed on a 40-yard pass from Hyatt.

L. D. Rowden, still recovering from a cut shin, picked up 47 yards on six carries and was a standout on defense.

Hyatt and Phil Long attempted 17 passes, completed 11 and had three intercepted. By the same token Pampa intercepted three of Tulia's throws.

As was the case last year Pampa looked weakest on pass defense with all Tulia's scoring coming as the result of passing.

But Pampa got some good passing and receiving from the likes of James Matney, Daivid Martindale and McCarroll.

The scrimmage was played with a team having three downs to pick up 10 yards and if they didn't then the ball was moved up 10 yards.

The first time Tulia scored Pampa had recovered a fumble and the ball went back to the Hornets. The second Tulia score came after the Harvesters had recovered a fumble.

Only twice was Pampa stopped the first time they got the ball and before they scored their third touchdown they had an interception.

Head coach Errol Ramsey wasn't happy, but he wasn't unhappy either.

"I wasn't disappointed," Ramsey said, "adding, "we started pretty bad and didn't react too well at first."

Ramsey said he felt that the slow start Pampa got will never win with the type teams the Harvesters have to play.

"We finally came back and moved with consistency but in a game it would have been too late," the coach said.

Ramsey said, "We were especially pleased with our running backs. Our passing was a little weak but it picked up after we got started."

How did the line perform on offense?

"It was hard to tell and we probably won't know until we see the films but Matney (James) and Cornutt (Doc) gave us good downfield blocking. Our receiving was good and we were finally able to catch the ball."

Defensively, line-wise, Ramsey was happy.

"Our whole defensive line looked pretty good, we were spotty at times but still pretty good. Our pass defense is not what we want but we just have to get an amount of speed to put back there and try to hold 'em with."

Hyatt and Phil Long attempted 17 passes, completed 11 and had three intercepted. By the same token Pampa intercepted three of Tulia's throws.

Beman, bidding to become the first golfer since Bobby Jones to win more than two U.S. Amateur titles, blew a four-stroke lead in the third round Friday when he came in with a 76, and fell into a tie with Downing Gray of Pensacola, Fla. But he started the final round with the same confident consistency that characterized his first two rounds.

Pulls Ahead
Beman birdied the third and pulled ahead of Gray. He then withstood a challenge by Ron Cerrudo of San Rafael, Calif., and bunt up a three-stroke lead over the already finished Cowan.

Here Beman began losing his advantage. He drove into a trap on the par 3 17th hole and took a bogey four.

Beman, who won this title in 1960 and 1963, then hit his second shot on 18 into another trap and also hit over the green on the third shot. His fourth shot was short and landed on the fringe. He hit to within two feet of the cup and sank for a bogey six.

Cerrudo, who bogeyed his last two holes, dropped into a tie for third at 286 with Wake Forest sophomore Jack Lewis of Florence, S.C., and Gray, who shot 71 and 72, respectively over the demanding 6,500-yard, par 70 Merion Country Club course.

Cowan, Beman In National Tie

ARDMORE, Pa. (UPI) — Deane Beman, who appeared to have his third title in the bag, lost three strokes on the final two holes Saturday to throw the U.S. Amateur golf tournament into a two-way tie with Gary Cowan of Canada and force an 18-hole playoff on Sunday.

Beman, a 28-year-old crewcut insurance executive from Bethesda, Md., bogeyed the 17th and double-bogeyed the 18th to blow his chances and wound up with a one-over-par 71 and a 72-hole total of five-over-par 285.

Cowan, meanwhile, shot a three-under-par 67 to also end with a 285, and was watching in the clubhouse when Beman made his blow-up.

Beman, bidding to become the first golfer since Bobby Jones to win more than two U.S. Amateur titles, blew a four-stroke lead in the third round Friday when he came in with a 76, and fell into a tie with Downing Gray of Pensacola, Fla. Cowan, a 29-year-old competitor in his fourth Amateur, from Kitchener, Ontario, birdied his third and fourth holes.

He bogeyed the sixth and made the turn in one-under-par 35. He slipped back on the 11th when he three-putted, but had birdies on the 12th, 14th, 16th and 17th.

The handsome, slender Canadian missed what could have given him the title when he bogeyed the 18th when his second shot went off the green.

Cerrudo was one-under-par 35 and then birdied the 10th hole to put him even with Beman.

But the muscular Californian fell back as he bogeyed the 14th, 17th and 18th for a 71 and a 286.

Tied at 287, two strokes off the pace, were Don Allen of Rochester, N.Y., and Richard Siderow of Westport, Conn., both of whom had 71s.

Mike Morley of Minot, N.D., who started the fourth round tied with Cerrudo one stroke back of Beman and Gray, shot a 73 which included one birdie and four bogeys — one of them a penalty stroke when he hit into the water. That left him at 89, tied with Jim Grant of Wethersfield, Conn.

Defending champion Bob Murphy of Nichols, Fla., had a 73 and finished at 295.

Rafael Osuna To Enter Tennis Play
FORT WORTH (UPI) — Rafael Osuna, Mexican Davis Cup star who holds one singles title and two doubles crowns here, Saturday, became the eighth prominent entry in the fifth-annual Colonial National Invitation Tennis Tournament, Sep. 14-18. He will join Manuel Santana of Spain, Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, Harald Eischenbroich and Ingo Buding of Germany, Ronnie Barnes of Brazil and Ham Richardson and Vic Seixas of the U.S. in the singles field. Eight other players are yet to be named.

It also was announced Saturday that the 43-year-old Seixas and 35-year-old Richardson would team in doubles.

Cardinals Trim San Francisco, 3-2

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The National League leading Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Chicago Cubs 9-1 Saturday behind the four-hit pitching of Tom Sisk and the extra-bas hitting of Gene Alley, Bob Bailey, Roberto Clemente, and Willie Stargell.

Alley tripled and scored a run in the first and bouted home Matty Alou in the fifth while Bailey clubbed his 11th homer of the season and singled home Bill Mazerowski who had tripled, in the eighth.

Cards 3, Giants 2

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Rookie Larry Jaster held the second-place San Francisco Giants to seven hits and drove in a run with a sacrifice fly Saturday in a 3-2 St. Louis Cardinal victory.

The defeat—the Giants' third straight and seventh in 10 games—dropped them two full games behind the Pittsburgh Pirates. Lou Brock drove in the winning run in the fourth inning with his 14th home run of the year.

Tigers 8, Tribe 1

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Earl Wilson scattered six hits and aided his own cause with a two-run homer in the second as the Detroit Tigers defeated the Cleveland Indians 8-1 Saturday night.

It was Wilson's eighth straight victory and his 17 of the season against nine losses. He fanned six and walked none. Wilson's record since being traded to Detroit by the Boston Red Sox June 13, is now 12-4.

Baltimore 4, Chisox 1

CHICAGO (UPI) — Wally Bunker, starting his first game since July 20, pitched seven innings of four-hit ball and Russ Snyder hit a two-run double Saturday as Baltimore beat the Chicago White Sox 4-1.

Bunker, a 21-year-old right hander who had pitched only three innings since coming off the disabled list Aug. 15, held the White Sox scoreless until the seventh inning when Jerry Adair's sacrifice fly scored Pete Ward.

Red Sox 7, Kan. 0

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Jim Lonborg pitched a two-hitter and his Boston Red Sox teammates pounded out 14 hits in defeating the Kansas City Athletics 7-0 Saturday.

The win evened Lonborg at 8-8 and the loss went to Jim Hunter, his 10th against 8 wins.

After the Sox jumped on Hunter for five runs in the first two innings Tony Conigliaro wrapped it up in the fifth with his 26th homer of the year with a man on.

Phils 8, Mets 4

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dick Groat collected three hits and three RBI's Saturday night and Richie Allen drove in two runs with his 36th homer to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to an 8-4 victory over the New York Mets.

Rick Wise limited the Mets to six hits in raising his record to 4-6.

The Phils erased a 1-0 deficit in the sixth inning with three runs. Bill White walked, went to second on a balk by Bob Shaw (10-12) with Clay Dalrymple at bat. Dalrymple walked and Groat singled home White. When Ron Swoboda misplayed Groat's single Dalrymple scored. Groat came home on Tony Taylor's single.

Twins, NY Split

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (UPI) — Tom Tresh drove in four runs with two homers and reliever Steve Hamilton choked a Minnesota rally as New York defeated the wins 7-4 in the second game of the day-night double header.

The Twins took the first game 6-1.

Tresh drove in a run in the first inning on a sacrifice fly, and homered in two successive trips to the plate. He led off the fourth inning with his 22nd of the season, and brought Joe Pepitone home in the seventh.

Skins Win, 35-20

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sonny Jurgenson and his standin, Dick Shiner, each threw to scoring passes and Rick Harris raced back a punt for an 85-yard touchdown Saturday night to lead the Washington Redskins to a 35-20 National Football League pre-season victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

Koy to Report For Induction

COLUMBUS, TEX. (UPI) — Ernie Koy, a running back with the New York Giants of the National Football League, must report for induction into the Army Oct. 6.

Sam K. Seymour Jr., chairman of Koy's draft board, said Koy has been notified of the induction call and will be given the prerogative of reporting to LaGrange, Tex., or requesting induction in New York.

Koy was a football standout at Beville, Tex., in high school, and at the University of Texas during college.

Koy has been classified 1A since last November, Seymour said, "but we could not induct him until we got the results of his examination."

Devlin Slips Title From Casper To Win Carling Golf

BIRKDALE, England (UPI)—Bruce Devlin, the slender Australian, shot a four under par 69 Saturday to beat out favored Billy Casper by one stroke for the $35,000 first place money in the Carling World Golf Championship.

Casper barely missed a 35 foot chip shot by a yard on the final hole which would have given him a title in the world's richest golf tournament.

Devlin, two strokes off the lead and a stroke behind Casper going into the final round, birdied four holes, including the final one, to win. His 35-34 over the 7,037-yard Royal Birkdale course gave him a winning total of 286, six strokes under par.

Casper finished with a 35-36-71 for 287 which was worth $17,000 second place money. Playing the 18th hole, a par five, 531-yarder, the U.S. Open champion and the year's leading money winner, knew he had to have an eagle to tie.

He had a long drive down the middle, but pulled his second wide of the green. Grinning and shrugging his shoulders, he marched quickly to his ball and pitched it at the pin. A big cheer of anticipation was stifled as the ball stopped short.

Neil Coles of England shot a three under par 70 which gave him 288 for third place and $8,500.

Kel Nagle of Australia, who led by a stroke going into Saturday's play, shot a three over par 76 for 291 and was tied for fourth with Harold Henning of South Africa and Roberto de Vincenzo of Argentina at that figure.

Bert Yancey with a final round 75 was the top U.S. golfer after Casper with 292. A stroke behind were U.S. pros George Archer and Terry Dill. Australians Peter Thomson and Barry Coxon, New Zealand's Bob Charles and Sewsunker Sewgoolam of South Africa.

Kermit Zarley of the U.S. and three Brits—Dave Talbot, Peter Butler and Fred Boobyer—were at 295.

Devlin went out in even par 35, starting with a birdie putt of 14 feet on the first hole, but bogeying the seventh when he missed the green. But those four birdies on the back nine for a 34 gave him the jackpot.

Devlin used a three wood off the tee Saturday, because he had been wild with his driver. But it was his approaching which paid off with those four birdies on the back nine.

Casper also went out in par 35, carding two birdies and two bogeys. He birdied the fifth with a six foot putt and the 35, carding two birdies and two bogeys. He birdied the fifth with a six foot putt and the eighth with a 30-footer. But he trapped his approach to bogey the sixth and three-putted for a bogey on the seventh.

Coming home in 36, Casper started with a bogey on the 10th when he bunkered his approach. He birdied the 13th when he put his second shot on the green and two-putted.

Casper wasn't too upset with his failure to live up to his favorite's pre-tourney billing.

"I played a good game," Billy said, "and I have no regrets. I missed only three greens—the 6th, 7th and 10th—and my putting wasn't bad."

MEDALIST — Raz Allan, North Texas State golfer, won medalist honors Saturday in the 29th annual Top O' Texas Golf Tournament. Allan shot 32-34—66, five under regulation figures. He holds a stroke lead over John Farquhar. (See story page 8.)

Boxers Feel German Can Battle Cassius

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—Joe Louis and Max Schmeling, a pair of old ring adversaries, agreed Saturday that German Karl Mildenberger has a better chance to beat Cassius Clay than any of the other contenders who have faced the heavyweight champion.

Louis, said Clay may have the toughest fight of his career against Mildenberger.

"So far Clay has fought only old men like Sonny Liston, Floyd Patterson, Henry Cooper and Brian London," said Louis. "But Mildenberger is a southpaw, and if he makes Clay fight his style, he's got the hitting advantage."

"I watched a film of the Zora Folley-Mildenberger fight in New York last week, and anybody who can go the full distance with Folley can do the same against Clay because I regard Folley a better fighter than Clay," Louis said.

Folley and Mildenberger fought a 10-round draw here two years ago, and Folley, who suffered a broken nose, turned down a chance for a rematch. Schmeling, the former heavyweight champion who headed Louis his first professional defeat, said Clay undoubtedly is the best but added that his compatriot has a chance for an upset.

"Karl Mildenberger, take your heart in your hands and try to get everything you can, everything, out of the 15 rounds given you on Sept. 10th in Frankfurt against Cassius Clay," Schmeling said in a letter to the European heavyweight champ.

"You're not going in the right without a chance. Your chances are better than Max Schmeling had before he knocked out Joe Louis in 1936. And don't forget, this is your big chance for the world championship."

Schmeling wasn't given much of a chance of lasting the distance against Louis when they met in 1936. Schmeling had lost the title and was considered a has-been.

Ralston Advances In Tennis Championships

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Third seeded Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and defending champion Manuel Santana of Spain led three other seeded stars into the third round of the U.S. men's tennis championship Saturday before rain washed out nearly a third of the 40 scheduled matches.

Sixth-seeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa and seventh-seeded Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, joined the winners before the rain let down at 4:08 p.m. EDT and fifth-seeded Art Ashe of Richmond, Va., interrupted for 40 minutes in the third set of a center court match, came back to win after dropping a set to Ron Holmberg of Highland Falls, N.Y.

The center court is the only one with a rain tarpaulin and all matches outside the main arena were washed out. Second seeded Roy Emerson of Australia, fourth-seeded Aussie Tony Roche and eighth-seeded Cliff Richey of Dallas were among those who failed to get on a court.

Gets Revenge
 Ralston, a Wimbledon finalist and America's top hope for regaining a title which has gone to a foreigner every year since Tony Trabert's 1955 victory, avenged a defeat earlier in the year by walloping Marty Mulligan of Australia 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

Santana, holder of both the Wimbledon and American crowns, drubbed Frank Tutvin of Hollywood, Fla., 6-1, 6-1, 6-3; Drysdale knocked out Gene Cantin of Berkeley, Calif., 6-3, 6-2, 6-3, and Graebner ousted Vic Leach of Elmont, Calif., 6-2, 6-2, 6-3.

Ashe, caught by rain with a 3-1 lead in the third set, returned when the showers let up to beat the balding 28-year-old Holmberg in a slugging match, 6-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

In women's singles, fourth-seeded Francoise Durr of France and fifth-seeded Rosemary Casals of San Francisco each dropped a set, but managed to get into the second round.

Miss Casals, 17-year-old phenom who holds two victories this year over Wimbledon champ Billie Jean King, scored two service breaks while winning the last three games of the final set in a 3-6, 6-3, 7-5 victory over British Wightman Cooper. Winnie Shaw of Scotland, Miss Durr showed Marilyn Ashner of Hollis Wood, N.Y., 6-1, 5-7, 6-0.

Mexico's Rafael Osuna, winner in 1963, advanced with a 7-5, 6-2, 7-5 victory over Lief Beck of King of Prussia, Penn., and lefty Mark Cox of England ousted 43-year-old Vic Seixas of Villanova, Pa., 6-3, 8-6, 6-3.

Winners included Sergio Tacchini of Italy, who advanced by default over Bob McKinley of St. Louis, 16-year-old brother of former Wimbledon champion Chuck McKinley. McKinley fell and pulled a ligament in his right ankle while leading Tacchini 2-1 in the first set and was unable to continue.

Graham Stilwell of England defeated Mexico's Josquin Loyo Mayo 6-3, 6-2, 8-6 and Daniel Contet of France ousted Keith Carpenter of Canada 6-4, 8-6, 6-2.

Ladybug Choice In Futurity Run

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. (UPI)—Top Ladybug, a chestnut filly who has won nine of her 11 starts while earning $82,387, likely will go to the post a prohibitive 3-to-5 favorite Monday in the $40,600 All-American Quarterhorse Futurity at Ruidoso Downs.

The fleet filly from the Barnes and Spier Stables of Ada, Okla., posted the top qualifying time in the trials when she covered the 400-yard straightaway course in 20.3 seconds.

A daughter of the great Top Deck, the filly likes to break on top and stay there. If she does, it will mean the record winner's purse of $198,300, Jockey Boyd Morris, who has been her pilot in all her previous races, again will be up this time.

Go Dick Go Second Choice
 Second choice at about 7-to-2 in the parimutuel betting likely will be Go Dick Go, who has two wins, three places and a show in six starts for owner Joe Leitner of Brandon, Fla. The son of Little Pick covered the trials in 20.74 and is a strong finisher.

Off Limits, sired by famous Go Man Go and purchased recently by G. D. Turnbo of Piedmont, Calif., for a reported $100,000, will probably be the third choice at 4-1 despite the fact he finished 11th among the 12 qualifiers.

Royal Super Boy, the unbeaten (two starts) son of Royal Bar and carrying the colors of Wilbur Wilson of Purcell, Okla., probably will be next in line at 9 to 2, followed by Bright Rebel, owned by C. L. Maddon of Willard, N.M., at 5 to 1; Dream Rocket, owned by Sam Henderson of Odessa, Tex., at 6 to 1, and Chicamona, owned by Walter Merrick of Crawford, Okla., at 8 to 1.

400 High School Games Slated For Opening of State Football

By United Press International Some of the opening week pairings include Alamo Heights at San Angelo, Dallas Kimball at Spring Branch Memorial, Permian at Amarillo Tascosa, Palo Duro at Dumas, Bridge City at Jacksonville, McKinney at Weatherford, Donna at Pharr, San Juan - Alamo, Cleburne at Brownwood, Plano at Decatur, Sweeny at Columbia, Henrietta at Iowa Park and Elgin at Round Rock.

There will be 163 games in the two major divisions — Classes AAAA and AAA, while the Class AA schools have 151 games and Class A 164 games. There will be other contests in Class B and the six- and eight-man classes.

Odessa Permian in AAAA, Brownwood in AAA, Plano in AA and Willis Point in A are the defending champions and all but Willis Point are given a good chance to have a big say about this year's races. In fact, Plano is the pre-season favorite and Brownwood is picked as a possible semifinalist.

San Angelo, in Permian's district, has been singled out as the AAAA title favorite to meet Spring Branch Memorial in the championship game; Dumas has been set up as the AAA favorite against Bridge City, last year's finalist, and Sweeny is picked to meet Plano in the AA finals.

Rambling With Red RON CROSS

Scouting the Top O' Texas golf front... Several of the past champions have turned pro, including Jerry Abbott, Charles Coody, Don Seamster, Rex Baxter and Don Kaplan. Kaplan and Baxter and amateur John Farquhar are the only players to ever win the tournament twice and Farquhar, if he can hold off Bobby Greenwood and Don Prigmore, could become the first to make it three times. Baxter won in 1953-54 and Kaplan in 1955-56. Farquhar's victories have come in 1963-65, while Coody won in 1962.

4 at National

The tournament has been hurt this year, but not badly so, by the conflict in dates with the National Amateur, now in progress in Ardmore, Pa. Marty Fleckman, who finished third last year, Bill Harvey, Bob Astleford, who finished seventh and Bob Dickson are all in the National tournament. The tournament (first started in 1938, and figure this one out if you can, and the 1966 tournament is the 29th. The red-head that writes this column was born in 1938 and is only 27 years old. Maybe there is something my mother forgot to tell me. Bobby Greenwood and Farquhar have had quite a duel the past two tournaments with Greenwood dethroning Farquhar in 1964 and John returning the compliment in 1965. Greenwood won with a 276 in '64 while Farquhar shot 277 and last year John fired a 270 and Greenwood a 275. This is the rubber match. Dick Storie won the first tournament, match play through 1954, by downing Grover Austin Jr. of Pampa. A golfer, who is playing in this year's tournament, C. F. McGinnis, won in 1945, when the tournament was media, one year, with a 266 while J. R. Brown of Amarillo was runner up with a 227.

Douglas A Threat

Malcolm Douglass, a bridesmaid three times in this tournament, is in the championship flight again. Malcolm was runner-up in 1952 when he fell to Doug Thornton in match play, then again in 1955 when he trailed by seven shots to Kaplan and again in 1961 when Les Howard of Pampa shot a 210 and Douglass and Don Seamster fired 212. There were several sub-par rounds shot Friday in the practice session and favorite John Farquhar didn't have one of them. But when the chips are down his game gets better. John feels, too, that the golf situation in Amarillo is about to improve at Ross Rogers golf course where his dad is host pro. "A couple of things written in the Amarillo paper about the course was not true," John said Friday, adding, "The course itself is in good shape but there is a need for more room and above all better club house facilities." Farquhar feels improvements will be made. The man to watch in the first flight in the Top O' Texas is banker HOLT, that's Holt, from Wheeler. Word comes from Holt himself, who is funnier than a lot of people on TV. He allows that either he or 'Magoo' that's short for C. F. McGinnis, could be the No. 1 man in the first flight. Most all the golfers agreed that the course is playing longer this year and better with more grass.

Clemente Collects His 2,000th Hit

By United Press International Roberto Clemente has 2,000 lifetime hits today only because Pittsburgh fans wouldn't get off his back.

During the 1957 season, Clemente experienced severe back trouble and considered quitting. Sympathetic fans, however, wrote him hundreds of letters about the injury and kept reminding him to continue doing his best no matter how bad the back became.

"But my back got worse," Clemente recollected Friday night after stroking No. 2,000, a three-run homer to spark the Pirates to a 7-3 victory over Chicago. "After a game at Cincinnati, I said to myself I would quit when the team returned to Pittsburgh."

"I called my father in Puerto Rico and he encouraged me to stay," Clemente added. "But I was still undecided until I remembered what the fans wrote. That clinched it. I wound up staying."

"If it wasn't for the fans I wouldn't be playing today. They told me to keep trying and said they understood," he recalled. "That's why it was a big thrill to get No. 2,000 at home."

The Pirates' victory enabled them to regain sole possession of first place in the National League. San Francisco, tied for the top spot with Pittsburgh prior to Friday's action, dropped a 6-5 12-inning decision to St. Louis.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles whipped Cincinnati 6-1, Philadelphia blanked New York 6-0, and Atlanta swept a pair from Houston 6-5 and 2-1.

In the American League, Chicago shaded frontrunning Baltimore 9-8 in 11 innings. Detroit won a twin bill from Cleveland 4-2 and 7-5, Minnesota downed New York 8-5, Kansas City beat Boston 5-1 and California nipped Washington 6-5.

Clemente, whose 23rd homer equalled his previous high in 1961, raised his RBI total to 101, the first time in his 12-year big league career he has surpassed the century mark.

"With two men on base I was more concerned with driving in a run than getting No. 2,000," said Clemente, the ninth active player to reach the milestone. "I set a goal of 100 RBIs and 25 home runs at the start of the season."

"Usually I'm not a home run hitter but I've been swinging more for home runs this season than ever before," added the two-time N.L. batting king.

COWBOYS GET REVENGE

Dolphins Are No Patsy

United Press International MIAMI (UPI) —The Oakland Raiders have news today for the rest of the American Football League: The new Miami Dolphins are no patsy. Oakland scrambled with all its might to emerge with a 23-14 victory Friday night.

The game, before 26,776 fans in the Orange Bowl, was the first regular season contest of the professional football season. In other games this weekend, — Buffalo meets San Diego at San Diego Sunday afternoon.

In their last meeting, Buffalo beat the Chargers and won the league championship. This time, San Diego is the three-point favorite. Buffalo lost only one of four exhibition games, to the New York Jets, and San Diego was two for two.

It took the passing of Tom Flores and some spectacular catching by ends Art Powell and Tom Mitchell in the second half for Oakland to win even after Miami coughed up 10 "gift points" in the second period.

Sorely wounded playing dormant in four pre-season exhibitions, Miami delivered its rude shot with the opening gun. Halfback Joe Auer, one time hometown high school hero, sped the first kickoff 95 yards through the Oakland team for a Miami touchdown. Halfway through the final period the Dolphins pulled to within three points by recovering a fumble on the Oakland five and turning it into a touchdown by Rick Casares on a two-yard toss from Rick Norton.

For the first 20 glorious minutes, Miami looked like a 90-day wonder as the AFL's brand new team. Then quarterback Dick Wood threw four passes which were intercepted.

They were short circuited by Howie Williams, who set up a 16-yard field goal by Mike Mercer, and by Dave Grayson, whose catch put Oakland into position for Newrutt Dixon's two-yard touchdown run.

Oakland built on its halftime 10-7 lead in the third period when Flores' passes covered most of 90 yards, including the final 16 to Powell for a score.

Even though Craig Morton prefers football to baseball, he looked like quite a relief pitcher Friday night.

Morton, who was the No. 1 draft choice of Dallas last year and spurned a baseball bonus, came off the bench to throw a strike and lead the Cowboys to a 28-24 exhibition victory over the Minnesota Vikings. The victory before 58,316 delighted fans in the Cotton Bowl and a national television audience gave the Cowboys a perfect 5-0 record for the exhibition season. Minnesota finished a 3-1-1.

In the only other National Football League pre-season game Friday night, the Chicago Bears rallied in the second half for a 22-20 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The NFL season starts to count next Saturday night, Sept. 10, when Baltimore meets Green Bay before a sellout crowd in Milwaukee and a national TV audience.

Morton, a 6-foot-4 220-pounder who starred at the University of California before signing with Dallas, was spending a leisurely evening on the bench when he was suddenly rushed into action.

It was a see-saw contest with Dallas holding a 21-17 lead when injury-prone quarterback Don Meredith slightly injured his wrist with a little over five minutes to go in the contest.

Sent into the game by coach Tom Landry, Morton showed he didn't need any time to warm up. He immediately tossed a 44-yard touchdown pass to Bob Hayes to put the Cowboys ahead 28-17 and provide the winning margin since Fran Tarkenton tossed a 16-yard TD pass to Paul Flatley in the final minute.

Chisox First In Getting Hit

By CURT BLOCK UPI Sports Writer The Chicago White Sox rank ninth in the American League at getting hits but first at getting hit.

The weak batting Pale Hose, whose team average is better than only the California Angels, used their unique talent, perhaps learned from manager Eddie Stanky, Friday night to edge Baltimore 9-8 in 11 innings and squeeze into fourth place.

Baltimore relief pitcher Stu Miller, who has never been accused of throwing at a batter and probably wouldn't hurt anyone if he nailed them, had an unusual spell of wildness in the 11th frame and it wound up costing the Orioles 1 1/2 games in the standings.

Fully aware of Miller's reputation as a control artist and his tantalizing slow deliveries, Chicago opened its winning rally with a double to right-center by Tommy McCraw and an intentional walk to Don Buford.

Never Realized Oriole pilot Hank Bauer had set up the double play possibility but it was never realized when Miller hit Al Weis with a pitch to fill the bases and moments later forced the winning run across by plunking Tommie Agee.

The hit batsmen were the 38th and 39th of the season for the White Sox, who lead the A.L. in that distinctive category, while Miller, who had hit only two batters all season before the game, wound up doubling his total.

The defeat coupled with Detroit's doubleheader sweep of Cleveland, 4-2 and 7-5 in 10 innings, left the Tigers 9 1/2 back, the slimmest game deficit since July 19. In other action, Minnesota whipped New York 8-5, California edged Washington 6-5, and Kansas City bested Boston 5-1.

White Sox reliever Dennis Higgins hurled hitless ball over the final two frames to win his first major league decision after 37 appearances, Miller is now 8-3.

Baltimore tied the score 8-8 on Boog Powell's two out single in the ninth, Powell, who slammed his 34th home run earlier, drove in three runs and tied teammate Frank Robinson for the league lead with 102.

Dennis McLain won his 17th game with a four-hitter as Detroit took the opener from Cleveland. Willie Horton's 23rd homer followed sixth inning singles by Norm Cash and Gates Brown and offset solo Cleveland homers by Max Alvis and Duke Sims. In the second game, the Indians scored five times in the first but the Tigers pecked away and finally tied the game on Brown's pinch-hit homer in the sixth. In the 10th, singles by Mickey Stanley, Dick McAuliffe and Don Wert and Larry Brown's throwing error gave the Tigers their two winning runs.

LeW Krausse won his 11th game against eight setbacks with a six-hitter over Boston. Larry Stahl's sixth inning single broke a 1-1 tie and another run scored for Kansas City when centerfielder Don Demeter bobbled Danny Cater's hit.

Pinchhitter Joe Adcock slugged a two-run homer, his 17th, in the eighth inning to lead California past Washington, Bobby Knoop had a perfect

Stallings Unhappy Aggies Aren't Rated in League

By United Press International Texas A&M Coach Gene Stallings doesn't believe what he hears when the reports are that his Aggies aren't among the Southwest Conference's top five.

"I don't believe that," Stallings told newsmen Friday. "But it doesn't matter what I believe. It matters what my players believe and I think they believe it."

Stallings put his squad through a hard drill late Friday after the press session and he moved sophomore Tom Buckman from defensive end to center.

Baylor's Bears drilled without Roy McDearmon of McKinney. He sprained an ankle in Thursday's Green and White game.

He is expected to play against Syracuse Sept. 10. Coach Abe Martin of Texas Christian said he was pleased by his team's practice Friday despite intense heat.

It was 94 degrees for the Frog's second day of drills. Sophomore quarterback Robert Terry of Fort-Worth suffered a leg injury Friday. It was not known how long he would be sidelined.

Texas Tech's punting and passing encouraged Coach J. T. King Friday.

night with two triples and his 17th homer to drive in three runs. Fred Valentine, Dick Nen and Frank Howard connected for the Senators.

Earl Battey drove in three runs with a first inning double to pace Minnesota's triumph. Jim Grant (11-13), the Twins' winner, broke a 4-4 tie in the fourth with a single that scored Ted Uhlender, who singled and moved to second on an infield (8-3) was the Yankee loser.

Antelope Hunt Is October 1

AMARILLO — The temporary downward trend in antelope permits affects the Texas Panhandle as well as the Trans-Pecos, reports the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, which has declared 1223 head surplus in three regulatory authority areas.

Surplus head available for harvest in the Panhandle number 301 compared with 432 in 1965 when 342 head were harvested.

In the Trans-Pecos, 534 buck permits are being issued compared with 580 in 1965 when 449 pronghorns were taken. The Panhandle population was set at 2,167 this fall compared with 3,014 last year.

The Trans-Pecos head count was 5,630 this summer. In 1965 it was 6,259, contrasted with 4,963 head in 1964.

In the Permian Basin area, 338 permits were authorized, including 308 bucks and 80 does. Antelope season dates are: Trans-Pecos and Permian Basin, October 1 through October 9; Panhandle, October 1 through October 4.

GAME SCHEDULED CHICAGO (UPI) —The Notre Dame-Northwestern football game, scheduled for Oct. 1 at the 55,000-seat Dyche Stadium in Evanston, Ill., has been sold out. Northwestern officials reported Friday.

Panhandle Water District News

By FELIX W. RYALS

During the past week, I talked with a person close to the Texas Board of Water Development. He was puzzled by what he called the "vague statement," read into the record by K. Bert Watson representing the Water Chamber of Commerce. He pointed out that some other sections of the state had developed concrete plans for their areas. He went on to say that these areas had mapped out detailed plans to make use of all streams crossing their areas. He felt that West Texas criticism of the Texas Water Plan was not going to help our efforts to secure more water for us unless we come up with some specific proposals for specific areas of West Texas. West Texas is a big area and just generalizing about the problem will not solve it. He went on to suggest that individual areas of West Texas make up their minds as to what they want and then go after it.

The Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority has obtained a $76,500 Housing and Urban Development grant to finance a preliminary engineering study on its proposed Tule Creek Reservoir. The authority includes Lockney, Silverton, Tulla and Floydada. It proposes a 54,000-acre foot reservoir between Silverton and Tulla for municipal supply. The project will also include plans for the possibility of recreation.

Ochiltree countians are very enthusiastic about the plans for the Optima Reservoir on Beaver and Coldwater Creeks. The reservoir will have a 200,000-acre foot capacity. This project is under the supervision of the Corps of Engineers in Oklahoma. It will be developed as a Panhandle recreation center.

During the past 12 years, certain business leaders and political leadership in Hale County have blocked the entry of Hale County into the High Plains Water Conservation District. Hale County is a portion of High Plains Underground Water Reservoir. The fact that water tax depletion data is not now available has resulted in new petitions being filed with the Board of Directors of the High Plains Water Conservation District. A public hearing will be called by the District this fall to act on the petitions. If the petitions are favorably received by the Board, the matter will then be placed on the ballot in a special election or at the time of the regular election in January. The voters in the existing district as well as the county applying for entrance into the District must vote favorably on the proposal.

The final opportunity for West Texans to appear before the Texas Board of Water Development will be on Sept. 9 in Lubbock. The Board will hold its final hearing on the preliminary Texas 2020 Water Plan on that date. The hearing will begin at 9 a.m. in the Lubbock City Auditorium. The Board has scheduled a meeting of its own in Austin on Sept. 19 in Austin.

Some ironic twists have occurred during the current period of hearings by the Water Development Board. The newspapers, radio and TV media have carried many stories and pictures of flooding in West Texas during recent weeks. If all this rainfall had been impounded behind dams our problem of water shortage would have been eliminated for a time.

Various political leaders over the state are throwing strong support behind the proposed constitutional amendment coming up in November that would increase the water development bonding power from $2 to $4 hundred million.

TEMPLE — "Texas is not yet a land of 10,000 lakes and a fisherman's paradise but hundreds of Texans are working on it," said State Conservationist H. N. Smith of the Soil Conservation Service in commenting on a recent statewide survey of flood prevention structures and outdoor recreation.

Smith went on to point out that about 1,100 such structures have been completed and almost 800 of these have been stocked with game fish in accordance with Texas Parks and Wildlife Department specifications. About 400 of these structures are open to the public on a free or daily fee basis. Thirty-six are being used by groups of families or other organizations on a club-lease basis. Recreational facilities such as beaches, restrooms, picnic tables and boat docks have been installed on 144 of the lakes. An estimated 637,300 recreation man-days have been spent on these structures since completion.

"These dams, designed and built primarily for flood control and soil conservation, are helping absorb the outdoor recreational pressure generated by a shortened work and a steadily rising standard of living," Smith concluded.

The McClellan Creek Watershed, when completed, will furnish many places for the people of Gray County to enjoy away from the busy schedule at home.

COLLEGE STATION — This column was written from the campus of Texas A&M. Texas A&M is the land grant college of the State and also headquarters for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

On the even numbered years all County Extension Agents are called to the headquarters for a week's conference. The theme of this year's conference is "Mobilizing Our Potential in a Changing World." The title is very appropriate for the times. The most prominent paying we can think of today is change. The campus of A&M is no exception. On every side new buildings are going up. New air-conditioned dormitories have been completed. Vast education programs are evident in many ways. It appears that higher education has orders for full speed ahead. This State Extension Conference has been by far the most informative to me and the best planned conference I've attended since my beginning with the Extension service in 1949.

We were highly impressed and inspired by the talk of Governor Connally on Monday. Gov. Connally made a most challenging talk. He had a deep ring of sincerity and full knowledge of the problems facing Texas. We were highly impressed with his concern for the welfare of agriculture in the State. He fully realizes the importance of agriculture through the economy of Texas. Gov. Connally mentioned the fact that in 1940 twenty-six percent of the consumer food dollar reached the farmer; in 1950 this had dropped to twenty-three percent of each dollar. In 1966 the farmer actually gets only 18.3 cents of each dollar the consumer spends for food. He commended the farmer and ranch people for their efficiency.

Another excellent presentation was given by Dr. Bryce Ratchford, vice president for Extension, University of Missouri.

In addition to the many fine speakers, we are meeting in special training sessions on communications, measurable programs, youth development and planning, and preparing for meetings. On Wednesday we were in a meeting of Agents in District 1 (21 Panhandle Counties).

Mr. James Murphrey, Farm Management Specialist of Amarillo, met with us to discuss the recently published Panhandle Economic Program report. We were highly pleased with the printed result of Mr. Murphrey's one-year study. The information contained in this 2-volume report is the finest ever put together on any area. One volume is devoted to an interview of the vast resources of the Panhandle of Texas; the other volume is devoted to production and management guide lines for the Panhandle Area. Look for big things to happen in the Panhandle of Texas as a result of this study.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Dr. Robert Berry, a plant pathologist, said Saturday 17 per cent of South Plains cotton potential will be lost to disease this year, three times as high as the loss rate of recent years, Berry said farmers will have to acquire as much knowledge as they can about cotton diseases as they know about fertilizer and water management. The major disease threat is from ailments that stunt plant growth.

Gardening for Money Ventured by Farmer

PERRYTON — Vegetables grow well in Ochiltree county soil, as witnessed by the many farm and city gardens that produce all manner of vegetables each year, but until now there has been no venture into the commercial vegetable area of farm income.

However, this year, W. T. (Rusty) Miller put out a 10 acre garden on the Bud Brainerd farm in the southwest corner of Ochiltree county and has been busily selling produce from it in Perryton, Canadian, Borger and Spearman.

Miller, who also put out a similar garden plot at the Beck farm a few miles north of the Brainerd place, put this in more or less as an experiment to see what he could do with it.

Insects Lure Farm Youths

Despite widespread use of control measures, insects cause about $12 billion damage annually to U. S. livestock and crops. Moreover, the damage is done by only one percent of 700,000 different insects known to man.

To help lessen this destruction are 4-H youngsters who are fascinated by bugs, worms and butterflies. They are busy learning about insects through entomology projects set up by the Cooperative Extension Service and carried on with the assistance of local 4-H Club leaders, conservationists and other specialists.

Future career opportunities are virtually limitless. Girls with butterfly nets and boys with glass jars in which to snare their catch may one day be scientists, teachers, researchers, manufacturers, accountants, or salesmen. Scores of different jobs are to be found in the entomological field.

Past performance of 4-H'ers has disclosed remarkable progress in a few short years devoted to the project. Studying insect life cycles, making displays, giving demonstrations on safe use of insecticides, and assisting local agencies in pest control are but a few examples of what the young bug hunters may do.

For their efforts, awards are given by Hercules Incorporated, sponsor of the national 4-H Entomology program for 15 years. This year about 5,000 outstanding club members will receive the county medal of honor.

The entomology project judged best in the state will send a 4-H'er to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago as guest of the sponsor. From the 50 state champions, six will be selected for national honors and a $500 scholarship.

Same Bushelage Wheat To Earn '67 Certificates

Wheat growers who participate in the 1967 wheat program will be eligible for domestic marketing certificates for about the same amount of wheat as in 1966 but the percentage of allotted acres is less because of the increased allotment, according to Orval Christopher, chairman of the Roberts County Conservation Committee. The percentage is 35 compared with 45 in 1966.

The expected domestic food use for 1967 is 520 million bushels. The law requires domestic certificates to be issued for no more than the expected domestic food use. The 520 million bushels is 35 percent of the projected production of the 88.2 million acre national allotment.

In the 1966 program, the 45 percent of the farm projected yield for which program cooperators earned certificates was estimated to equal 500 million bushels. Thus, cooperators in the 1967 program will be eligible for certificates on 20 million more bushels.

Domestic certificates, which are issued to help maintain farm income, will be valued in the 1967 program at the difference between the national average loan rate of $1.25 and parity next July 1. The certificates are valued at $1.32 in the 1966 program.

Details of the 1967 Wheat Program may be obtained at the Roberts County ASCS Office.

pounds of tomatoes per acre, and Miller believes the soil and climate here is just as good as that in Muleshoe.

At 60,000 pounds, if a grower could get 10 cents a pound, he could gross $6,000.00 per acre, which puts tomatoes in the high cash crop category.

N.Y. Free University A Result Of Revolts

By MEREDITH MOSS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA)—Those who label the Berkeley revolt as "all talk and no action" had better take a second look, because at least one concrete educational alternative can trace

FUNY has announced that it aims to develop "the concepts needed to comprehend the events of this century and the meaning of one's life within it. It seeks to examine artistic expression beyond the scope of the usual academy and pro-its origin to California's much-publicized student rebellion.

The Free University idea was initiated by a few students at Berkeley who joined together during a student strike to hold informal classes, creating a school within a school. Spreading throughout the country, current national enrollment in free university is a creation of "student rebellion."

According to Dr. Allen Krebs, director of the Free University of New York (FUNY), the free university is a creation of "students who have been systematically dehumanized and deemed incompetent to regulate their own lives, sexually, politically, academically."

It is an attempt to come to grips with the detrimental effects of the multiversity by setting up a protest school, an educational establishment which "truly exemplifies the serious aims of education."

There are no lectures as such, merely seminars conducted on a personal and free-wheeling basis. Students receive neither grades nor credit, the assumption being that they are learning solely for the sake of learning. Professors do not "preach" but meet students on a personal level, attempting to encourage creative and serious thought and expression.

Course titles illustrate the highlighting of controversial issues not dealt with in standard curriculum: "Viet Nam, China, and the War," "Cuba and the United States," "The God Question," "The Psychotic Experience as an Archetype of Paradise Lost."

Many professors teach without pay; others contribute personal monies to keep the universities going. With headquarters in a coffee house loft on New York's East 15th Street, the Free University of New York is furnished with secondhand furniture and plenty of leftist spirit. Currently students pay $25 for an eight-week course, and $8 for each additional course. Now in its third term, FUNY claims 300 students.

Such notable faculty members as Staughton Lynd (the Yale professor who returned recently from an illegal trip to North Viet Nam), Paul Krassner (editor of the Realist), poet A. B. Spellman, James Mellen (fired pro-Viet Nam sentiments), and other "disenchanting pro-Viet Nam sentiments" comprise the instructors' Roster.

notes the social integration and commitment from which scholars usually stand aloof."

Other newly formed free universities exist in Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, and Boulder, Colo. Others are being planned for Stanford, Ann Arbor and Austin. At controversial St. John's College in New York, faculty members have formed a "university in exile" in order to continue student-faculty contact.

In an effort to include seeds of revolution within the walls of an existing institution, the students of San Francisco State University are hiring their own teachers through the use of student fees. Paul Goodman, well-known educational philosopher who first described the free university environment in his "Community of Scholars," was the first professor signed up.

Folk singer Joan Baez formed her own school in Pacific Grove, Calif., calling it the Institute for the Study of Non-Violence. Her purpose: "To purge violence from the personalities of those who attend, through the use of exercise, meditation, and seminars."

But there are many who see danger signs.

Critics claim that it will soon fall into more traditional patterns, and that many free universities have already begun to operate on the familiar "class assignment, attendance record, seating arrangement" principles. Harvey Wheeler, co-author of Fall Safe, fears "the schools may become depressingly Marxist." Most courses at FUNY, for example, are decidedly socialistic in viewpoint.

John Everett, president of the New School of Social Research, summarizes the attitude of many educators toward the free universities: "I doubt that the free universities serve any academic purpose. It is protest without a clear understanding of what they (the students) are protesting against."

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—L. O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton & Co., says current price fluctuations are being determined more by "happencence of passing supply and demand," often entirely unconnected with investment logic, than by real investment decisions.

Newton D. Ziner of E. F. Hutton & Co., Inc., says the first objective on the upside would seem to be the peak of the one-day rally last Wednesday of 799.55 and 200.88 in the Dow Jones industrial and rail averages respectively.

'Crying Tree' Is At It Once Again

LA FERIA, Tex. (UPI)—Sam Morse's "crying tree" started "weeping" again today. Morse noticed his acacia tree started weeping water in mid-July. Water would pour out of a knot hole about 20 feet above the ground at a rate of 14 to 20 gallons a day.

ONE MORE YEAR

WASHINGTON (UPI)—There's a story going around that when the clock struck 8 p.m. EDT (00:00 Greenwich Meridian Time) Wednesday night two-thirds of the 20th century had elapsed.

Well, call off the party gang. It's not so.

Dr. R. I. Duncombe, director of the Nautical Almanac Office of the U.S. Naval Observatory, said Thursday that the 20th century didn't officially begin until midnight Dec. 31, 1901—after all, there was no year zero A.D. on the calendar. Thus the two-thirds mark won't come up until 8 p.m. EDT, Aug. 31, 1967.

This Year, More Than 60 Per Cent of Growth Ad Dollars Go Into Print

INCREASED USE OF NEWSPAPERS by advertisers is establishing a trend toward print media and newspapers in particular, an analysis of growth data for newspapers, radio, television and magazines by the Bureau of Advertising has revealed. This year an estimated 62 per cent of growth dollars—money representing increased advertising expenditures—will go into print, with newspapers getting the major share. This compares with only 29 per cent in 1962. Television's share of growth advertising dollars has shown a steady decline for the past five years, from 56 per cent in 1962 to an estimated 27 per cent in 1966. Major factors in the trend have been the development of new creative uses of newspapers and research which has defined the effectiveness of newspaper advertising in reaching all segments of the consumer audience.

HOW TO COOPERATE WITH A PHYSICIAN.
Since your life may depend on his skill, choose your Doctor carefully. Select one whose office hours and location are convenient. Make certain you like him enough to have complete confidence in him.

DON'T BE LATE FOR APPOINTMENTS.
Doctors appreciate this, for lateness inconveniences other patients. Accurately answer all questions.

DON'T LET EXAMINATIONS EMBARRASS.
Often personal parts of your body show symptoms of great importance. If a tender part is touched and the Doctor asks if it hurts, tell the truth. Showing your bravery by a false answer will confuse him.

BELIEVE ONLY WHAT THE DOCTOR SAYS.
Don't be alarmed if your family physician refers you to a specialist or to a hospital for tests. This usually does not imply a serious trouble but a desire to more accurately diagnose your problem. Good physicians often use this help.

DON'T DELAY TOO LONG.
The proper time to get a physician's help is as soon as even apparently minor symptoms persist more than a few days. Or, if pains and aches are relieved by home remedies, but keep repeating, consult your Doctor before a serious condition may develop. Get a checkup at least one each year, follow advice exactly and the odds are you will live a longer, healthier life.

WORKING ON a schedule of 24-hours on and 24-hours off duty, every other night must be spent at the fire station... and it follows as day follows night, beds must be made in the morning. Each fireman is responsible for keeping his own bed in perfect order. Pictured here, staging a bed-making scene strictly to please the photographer, is Lieutenant Kenneth Kerby.

Fire Chief Ernest Winborne
...18 years, a fire chief

BEING A COOK, and a good one, is one of the basic requirements in becoming a fireman. Cooks do their own shopping with menus planned around "what's on sale." At the end of the week's period, each fireman divvies up his share of the grocery bill. Leo Tyrrell is pictured here slicing turkey for an evening meal.

ANOTHER behind-the-scenes duty of firemen is keeping all demand-type apparatus ready for use at a moment's notice. Because his fellow firemen's life could depend on receiving clean, pure air at just the right time to prevent asphyxiation, Captain Bob Young checks the Scott Air Pack. The pack is carried in a harness on a fireman's back and will provide 15-minutes of life-saving air through a tube that fits onto a smoke mask.

DISPATCH CENTER — A red telephone mounted on the wall is the nerve center for all fire and emergency operations. It is here that dispatches at Central, North and South Fire Stations keep an around-the-clock vigil. Fireman Bob Husey is pictured here in a state of "relaxed tension", which is the mood and manner of all on-duty firemen.

Behind The Scenes With

Pampa's Fire Fighters

What the News' photographer and I really had in mind when we called at Central Fire Station this week was to get a behind-the-scenes impression of firemen's cooking and house-keeping skills... and we accomplished this. But we got a little more, too!

We received the VIP treatment from Fire Chief Ernest Winborne and firemen on duty. If our mind was capable of assimilating all the fire apparatus technicalities, right now we could qualify as a Rookie Fireman.

Alas, such is not the case. Sorry, fellas, in spite of all the info about water stream pressures, 2½ and 1½ inch water lines and nozzles, pressure vacuum, governor and primer gauges, we still know from nothing.

This we do know, we gained a new insight and a new admiration for the fire fellas who man those five-ton red trucks and who keep an around-the-clock vigil on the health and wealth of citizens in the 937 square mile area of Gray County.

While on duty, firemen live in a state of relaxed tension... never knowing when the phone will ring summoning their services... In saving lives, homes, or businesses. They seem relaxed, but a sudden noise or unaccustomed sound puts them immediately on the alert.

A fireman's workday begins at 7 a.m., when he is on the "on duty" shift. In addition to the Fire Alarm Watch, training sessions are given in first aid, emergency rescue instruction, drill instruction in firefighting, memory drill of Pampa streets and locations of 500 fire hydrants. In addition, fire apparatus and motorized vehicles are maintained in first-class condition. Living quarters are swept, mopped, dusted daily; and two meals are cooked.

"Firemen now are not just watersquirters," Fire Chief Winborne said. "They are highly-trained so they can act in any emergency."

Every fire is fought not once, but many times over coffee cups around the fire station. "In my 18 years as chief," Winborne said, "The worse fire, money-wise, was the Lanora Theater, The fire that destroyed the most lives, three I believe it was, was the Gilking Apartments, formerly on the corner of Kingsmill and Gillespie."

Pampa can take pride in its firemen, fire equipment and water available, which are the determining factors in the low key rate of 17 cents for fire insurance set by the State Board of Insurance of Texas.

"It's the lowest rate for a city of this size, but then we have the best equipment for any city our size in the state of Texas," Winborne pointed out.

"Our fire losses in 1965 amounted to $120,492. The amount of premiums paid in was $154,000, which kept Pampa in the low key-rate fire insurance rate category."

NOTHING IS left to chance. Every motorized vehicle at all three stations is kept in perfect running order by firemen on duty. Nothing is left to chance... when Shift A goes off duty, Shift B re-checks all equipment to see that it is ready to run. Putting a bright shine on an already shiny surface of a red fire truck is Fireman Robert Kitchens.

Sunday Passing Show

By PEGGY JO ORMSON

ENTERING A child in school for the first time brings mixed emotions to mothers. Take the conversation between two mothers of first graders as they left their children's classroom at William B. Travis elementary school Tuesday morning. One was holding a younger son by the hand. The other held the hand of a younger daughter. Said one to the other, "Why are YOU crying, I'M not crying." The other mother said, "Then, why are your eyes so red?" The first replied, "At least we still have our younger ones at home to keep us company." There probably are quite a few Pampa mothers who haven't yet recovered from the sudden realization that a first grade teacher has taken over top spot in her child's life. It seems as if a youngster the mother has cherished as her very own for six years, all of a sudden has stepped out of her daily routine. Perhaps it is a bit depressing and lonely for the mother who for the very first time turns little Johnny or Mary over to another person charged with moulding their future. However, rest assured that what seems like a sense of loss right now is only temporary. Mother love and love for mother cannot be replaced. A child in school for the first time just naturally is overwhelmed with the vast new vista of life. It takes him or her into uncharted adventure so different that, for the time being, teacher becomes queen bee. Mother needs only to remember that when the newness and novelty of those first few days in school wear off — teacher will be respected, but mother still will be loved. Although entering a child in the first grade stirs a certain feeling of loneliness, one of the proudest moments parents can ever experience is on that night, 12 school terms later when they hear Johnny's or Mary's name called to receive a high school diploma. So, cheer up, mom. Have you ever thought what a chasm of quietude a house can become when the FIRST-born enrolls in college the same year the LAST-born enters the first grade? Anyway you look at it—whether their children are entering school for the first time or simply moving to a higher grade—Pampa mothers are breathing a sigh of relief, now that all records of past grades have been taken to school, the children are enrolled, dancing or music lessons have been scheduled and needed school supplies have been purchased.

AUDITIONS ARE now being held for membership in the Amarillo Symphony Chorus. The chorus will celebrate the opening of its third season with the premiere performance of Houston Bright's "Isaiah in the Temple." The performance of this epic work for chorus and orchestra will be a tribute to the talents of the Texas Panhandle's most often performed composer. Dr. Bright is composer-in-residence at West Texas State University. In the final concert of the symphony season, the chorus will perform Francis Paulenc's "Gloria In G Major for Soprano, Chorus and Orchestra." This great religious work won the Pulitzer Prize in 1961 as the best composition of the year. Joining with the chorus will be the famous Metropolitan Opera soprano, Gianna D'Angelo. The schedule for rehearsals will be each Monday night, 7:30 to 9:30, at Amarillo College from Sept. 19 through Oct. 31 and from Jan. 30 through Mar. 20. The performances will take place on Nov. 1 and Mar. 21. Auditions will be held Sept. 12 from 7 to 10 p.m. in the music building (24th and Van Buren) at Amarillo College. Contact chorus manager Gloria Denko for any additional information. Professional voices are not, necessarily, a requirement. The Amarillo Symphony Chorus is comprised, basically, of amateur singers who have pleasant voices, reasonable reading abilities and strong desires for the promotion of choral singing in the Panhandle. The Henry Butlers have returned from a trip through Michigan, Canada and the Southern States. The D. W. Bonds enjoyed a California vacation in August. Sue Jarvis arrived last Sunday evening from Washington, D.C., to spend a week with her grandparents, the W. E. Jarvis.

CONGRATULATIONS go to A. J. Carubbi Jr. on his appointment as assistant Texas attorney general. The popular Pampa attorney will report Sept. 28 for his assignment in Austin in the office of Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr. The Carubbi family will be missed locally, especially by the Pampa Jaycees and Jaycee-Ettes. No one is busier these days than Mrs. W. W. Wells who is moving into the family's new home on N. Russell and making Spanish costumes for daughter Jane at the same time. Jane left for Lubbock yesterday where she will enter Texas Tech as a sophomore, in time to participate in rush week activities. The Spanish costumes will be used by her sorority sisters during rush week. Joan Lawson, daughter of the Kermit Lawsons left two weeks ago yesterday for OU. She is serving as house manager for Kappa Delta Sorority at OU this year and was in charge of many of the rush week activities that began Friday. Other Pampa students who have enrolled in OU are Andrea Buzzard, daughter of the Ross Buzzards, who will also participate in rush week activities, and Richard Fatheree, son of Gene Fatheree. Linda Meech, First Methodist Church secretary, flew to California recently to spend a week's vacation with relatives. A friend suggests that "babies are angels whose wings grow shorter as their legs grow longer."

FASHIONS ARE always predominant in mi-lady's mind and at the present hemlines are still causing a bit of concern. Those mini-skirts, some of them as high in hemline as middle thigh, are creating a number of problems, not the least of which involves the tiny set. Read a story recently telling of the harassed supermarket manager who kept retrieving a lost little boy and returning him to his mother as she wheeled a cart around doing the week's grocery shopping. Finally, the manager's patience wore thin and, when again the small boy got lost, he suggested, "sonny, why don't you just hang onto your mother's skirt? Said the fearful child, "I would, but I can't reach it." Seems as though walking has become a popular evening activity in Pampa. A few of the couples seen walking briskly during the "perfect for walking weather" lately have been the Roy McMillems, George Scotts, J. C. McWilliams, Bob Sidwells and B. J. Williamsons. Mrs. Charles Lanehart, Pampa P-TA City Council president, one of Pampa's friendliest and most cooperative women, was seen hurriedly going from one school to another Tuesday checking P-TA memberships. Speaking of P-TA, the Stephen F. Austin unit will miss Mrs. Jack Hall this year. The active P-TA member has moved from town with her husband and family. Another family that will be missed not only by their many friends but by First Methodist Church and Gray County Democratic Club members, will be the Bill Stegers who have moved to Iowa Park where Mr. Steger assumed the position of tax assessor-collector for the Iowa Park Independent School District.

Belmont-Vermillion Vows Pledged in Chickasha, Okla.

First Christian Church of Chickasha, Okla., was the scene of the Friday evening wedding uniting Miss Linda Lee Belmont, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Belmont of 309 N. Hobart, and Danny L. Vermillion, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Vermillion of Chickasha. Bridesmaids, dressed identically to the matron of honor, were Miss Carole Ann Belmont, sister of the bride, and Miss Peggy Marie Vermillion, bridegroom's sister. Each carried a cascading arrangement of yellow cymbidium orchids accented by gold velvet streamers and leaves embellished with seed pearls. Reception guests were greeted in Fellowship Hall of the church following the wedding ceremony. The bride's table, covered with a bouffant white net cloth over yellow satin with an overflounce of nylon flocked in gold caught with maize satin bows and bronze pom poms, was centered with pedestal three-cherub bowl

Treble Clef Club To Hear Guest Soprano Tuesday

Mrs. J. Stanley Hill will be guest soloist for the Treble Clef Club meeting Tuesday evening at 7:45 in City Club Room. The theme for the meeting is "Latin American Music." Members are urged to be present for this first meeting of the new club year. Patroness members are cordially invited to attend this meeting. Mrs. Hill has studied voice with Metropolitan baritone, Hubert Clyde Linscott and choral conducting with Viola Smith of Westminster. In California, her native state, she taught voice and was soloist for church and various social and civic organizations throughout the Monterey Bay area. Since moving to Texas, she has been director of music groups in Canyon, Borger, Perryton and Phillips. She is now living in Pampa and at present is directing the youth choir at the First Christian Church.

'Ten Commandments of Public Relations' Given to Council of Clubs Members

Pampa Council of Clubs met Thursday at 9:30 a.m. in the City Club Room.

Mrs. Fidella Yoder, president opened the meeting with a prayer and welcomed those present to the first fall meeting of the year.

Mrs. Yoder read the object of the Council. "The object of this organization shall be unification of efforts toward the promotion of the intellectual, artistic, civic, and moral interest of the City of Pampa, Texas."

She then gave these 10 Commandments for good Public Relations: Speak to people; Smile; Call people by their name; Be friendly; Be helpful; Be interested; Be generous; Be considerate; Be thoughtful and Be alert to give service.

Mrs. Georgia Mack presented the program on "Safety—Confidential for Women Only." She stressed ways for women to protect themselves, stating that only one policeman is available for each 40 criminals.

The resignations of Mrs. Frank Maher, secretary, and Mrs. Jack Ash, vice president, were accepted with regret. Mrs. J. J. Rance was nominated for secretary.

It was announced that all club presidents and representatives names should be given to Mrs. Yoder, if they have not been submitted and that dates for Club Room meetings should be confirmed with Mrs. James Quay. Dues for Council of Clubs are due and payable in Oct.

Mrs. Lyda Gilchrist and Mrs. Jack Ash carried out a musical theme in the table arrangement, in honor of the president, Mrs. Yoder.

Clubs represented were Altrusa, American Business Women, E. S. A., Delta Kappa Gamma, Gray Ladies, Jaycee-Ettes, Red Cross, Pampa Business and Professional Women, Pampa Credit Women, and the Pampa Music Teachers Assn.

Mothers' Society Slates Bake Sale

GROOM (Spl) — Christian Mothers' Society of St. Mary's Parish met recently in St. Mary's School Hall at which time plans were made to hold a food sale at Homer's Grocery on Sept. 17.

Father Arnold Carlson demonstrated the over-head projectors that have been purchased for classroom use.

Mrs. Leo Britton and Mrs. Amos Britton served as hostesses. Thirteen members and Rev. Carlson attended the meeting.

Ruth Class Enjoys Covered-Dish Meet

GROOM (Spl) — Ruth Class of First Baptist Church Sunday School, with Mrs. Beadie Brown and Mrs. Melvin Asberry acting as hostesses, had a covered-dish luncheon at the church recently.

Those attending included Rev. and Mrs. James Coffman, Janet and Debbie, Rev. Kenneth Carter of Amarillo, Messrs. Jimmie Sheffield of Lubbock, Rudolph Tucker, Charlie Fields, W. A. Cornett, guests, and members Mmes. Ermine Bray, Bertha Knight, Viola Harrell, Mattie McAdams, H. C. Swank, Les Driskill, Minard Henderson, Rudolph Tucker, W. A. Cornett, Charlie Fields, Melvin Asberry and Beadie Brown.

Mrs. Charlie Fields, president, conducted a business session and Mrs. Minard Henderson brought a devotional on "Revival."

The next meeting will be Oct. 6, at which time officers for the coming year will be installed.

Miss Sullivan Is Bride of Mr. Elsheimer

HIGGINS — Miss Cheryl Lynn Sullivan of Canadian and James Richard Elsheimer of Indianapolis, Ind., pledged double-ring vows the evening of Aug. 20 in First Methodist Church at Higgins.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted R. Sullivan of Canadian, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Elsheimer of Higgins are the parents of the bridegroom.

Rev. Klé Quesenberry officiated the ceremony at 7 p.m. while the couple stood beneath an archway garlanded with white satin and greenery, flanked by basket arrangements of white gladioli and candelabra bearing blue tapers.

Mrs. Roy Sansing, organist, provided a program of appropriate nuptial airs.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk taffeta and re-embroidered alencon lace featuring a scoop neckline, petal point sleeves, and a controlled A-line skirt with empire waistline. A removable coat, falling from the shoulders, swept to a chapel train, and was accented at each shoulder with a self-fabric bow. Her tiered veil of illusion fell from a double crown of seed pearls and crystals. She carried a cascading bouquet of white roses centered with a white orchid atop a white Rainbow Bible.

Mrs. Max Satterwhite of Higgins attended her sister as matron of honor while Miss Linda Jean Elsheimer, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Dean Simmons of Hugoton, Kan., bride's sister, and Mrs. Leslie Riley of Canadian served as bridesmaids. Attired identically in sheath gowns fashioned of sapphire blue brocade and pale blue crepe featuring removable coats accented by Dior bow coils of sapphire blue brocade with bouffant face veils, each carried a bouquet of blue and white pom poms.

Golden Spread Dining Room in Higgins was the scene of the reception held following the ceremony. The bride's table, covered with a sapphire blue nylon net cloth over white, was centered with the bride attendants' bouquets. Miss Lou Doak of Canadian served the three-tiered wedding cake, which was topped by a miniature bride and groom. Miss Linda Wheeler of Canadian presided at the punch bowl and guests were registered by Mrs. Kay Allen of Canadian.

The newlyweds departed for a wedding trip to Lake Atus, Okla., following the reception. For traveling, Mrs. Elsheimer donned a sapphire blue sheath dress accented by white accessories and the orchid corsages from her bridal bouquet. They are now making their home at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., where the bridegroom is attending U. S. Marine Corps Journalism School.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Higgins High School. The bridegroom, a 1961 graduate of Higgins High School, attended West Texas State University before joining the U. S. Marine Corp.

Out-of-town wedding guests included Mrs. A. G. Riley, Mrs. Jess Steen, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Dickinson, Mr. and Mrs. Buster Walker and John, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Watson, Mrs. Carl Tuckness and daughters, Mrs. W. B. Andrews, Misses Loretta and Melba Lankford, Miss Noreen Carr and Miss Linda Matthews, all of Canadian; Mrs. Vernia Russell, Mr. and Mrs. George Hammerschmidt, Mr. and Mrs. David Lindley and daughters, all of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Elsheimer, Vickie and Nancy, Charles Frier, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elsheimer, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Elsheimer, all of Pampa; Mrs. Wendell Cochran of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Mrs. Kenneth L. Evans of Richardson.

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS — Pre-nuptial courtesies extended the bride included a personal shower given on Aug. 6 at Lake Marvin Recreation Hall and a shower given in Higgins City Hall on Aug. 18.

As women's fashions shift eye focus to the leg, men's fashions are doing the same. The probable cause, says "Gentlemen's Quarterly," is the predominance of the blazer. Given the traditional solid color blazer, designers have been concentrating on the area below the waist, and new trousers are striped, checked, or plaid. This fall there will be hounds tooth checks, blot checks, bold plaids, madras and patchwork effects. If there is no pattern, the slacks can be eye-catching white, bell-bottoms or knickers, worn for resort wear.

Warm water dampens clothes more quickly and evenly than cold water. Use it when sprinkling garments before ironing.

School And You

By SUSAN LIGHT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LIGHT: Our daughter will be a junior in high school this fall. She's signed up for third-year accelerated math, which, we understand, includes plane and solid geometry in the first semester and analytical geometry and trigonometry the second semester.

She's an honor student but not particularly interested in mathematics. As of now she plans to major in English in college with a view toward a teaching career.

Recently a college friend warned her not to take too much math in high school or she'd be stuck with a rough math course in college. Now she wants to drop math and take sociology instead. Is this wise?

—DEBBIE'S PARENTS
ANSWER: Perhaps. At first blush, advanced courses in high school appear to be the answer to a bright student's prayer. But they aren't necessarily so. To a boy who has his sights on a career in physics, chemistry, engineering, or electronics, a head start on college math offers obvious advantages. To a girl who plans to major in English, history, or foreign languages, too much high school math may bring problems.

In meeting the math requirement of the freshman and sophomore core curriculum, she may find courses below calculus closed to her. I suggest you examine several college catalogues and note the courses marked. "Not open to students with three (or four) years of high school mathematics." The competition in college calculus classes can be rough for freshman coeds who aren't mathematically inclined. And, math on this level may be of little use to them in their future careers.

A young friend of mine recently found herself in this predicament. Because Kathy had had trigonometry in high school, her freshman faculty adviser scheduled her for a math course designed (according to the textbook) for future scientists and engineers. She plans to be a primary teacher. The last I heard, Kathy and her parents were tearing their hair out to get the dean to permit her to fill the math requirement with a simpler, more appropriate course.

So, if your daughter is no Einstein — and can persuade the guidance counselor that her schedule should be changed — give her your blessings. It may save you both some future headaches.

GRADUATE — Mrs. Lynn McGee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Fife of 1705 Duncan, was graduated from Shannon West Texas School of Nursing of San Angelo Friday, a 1963 graduate of Pampa High School, Mrs. McGee received the Leo Lamb Nurses Scholarship from the Gray County Medical Assn. Mrs. McGee, ranked fourth in her class, has remained on Shannon's honor roll throughout her enrollment. She has been active in all school activities, has held several class offices, been active in student government and represented Shannon at the National Student Nurse Assn. Convention in 1965 in San Francisco, Calif.

Mrs. Eschle Feted At Birthday Party

GROOM (Spl) — Mrs. Pete Fields honored her mother, Mrs. J. C. Eschle, with a birthday party on her 79th birthday anniversary recently. Home-made ice cream and cake were served.

Helping mark the occasion were Mrs. Clive Cline and children of Claude, Mrs. Johnny Eschle of Amarillo, Miss Ave Naylor of Clarendon, Louis Fields Jr. of Longview and Mrs. Willie Ragsdale, Mrs. Jeff Gray, Mrs. Glynn D. Harrell, Mrs. Arletus Ruthardt and son, Mrs. George Eschle and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Fields and family, all of Groom.

Shelf Paper Saves Typists Time, Money
By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. DEAR POLLY — Had you realized that this letter is written on white shelf paper which is a wonderful time and money saver for student writers, typists or anyone having to do a lot of practice typing? I grew tired of sitting knee deep in wadded paper so now I buy an 18-inch wide, 25-foot long roll of white shelf paper, cut it in half, roll the two halves together and feed them into the typewriter. Place the roll in a small carton on the floor and type away without the bother of constant re-feeding. The surface of the paper is perfect for a typewriter, pen or pencil and all four sides can be used. This adds up to 100 feet of time-saving typing for a cost of just pennies.

One can be put under the bottom sheet if the cold seems to be coming from underneath. I did the same with sheets. This really works fine for camping. The children have their own sleeping bags.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — Does anyone know how to clean a white rafia bag?

—When carrying a nice sweater this summer, keep a plastic bag in your purse. When you are not wearing the sweater just slip it into the bag instead of laying it in the car seat or any place that may be dusty or not too clean. This certainly helps on the cleaning bills.

Mobeetie Church Rites Unite Couple

Mrs. Earnest Roy Corcoran ... nee Miss Mary Helen Gudgel

MOBETTIE — Rev. Charles J. Uzzel pronounced double-ring wedding vows Friday evening at 7 o'clock uniting Miss Mary Helen Gudgel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gudgel of Mobeetie, and Earnest Roy Corcoran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ariza Corcoran, also of Mobeetie.

First Methodist Church was appointed at the altar by two large baskets of gladioli flanked by two seven-branched candelabra entwined with greenery for the exchange of vows. A program of traditional nuptial selections was presented by Miss Judy Uzzel, pianist, who also accompanied Mrs. Billy Jo Trimmer and Wade Stracener as they sang "Because" and "Bless This House."

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I avowal," the bride wore a floor-length gown of white tulle, net and chantilly lace, designed with a bodice featuring a scalloped neckline and petal point sleeves. The bouffant skirt was of chantilly lace-covered tiers of tulle. Her finger-tip veil of tulle was secured by a queen's crown of seed pearls featuring chantilly lace edging. She carried a cascading bouquet of orchids atop a white Bible.

Attired in blue bonded crepe gowns with empire styling, featuring a rounded neckline and white lace trim, bridal attendants were Mrs. Anna Mae Lancaster, sister of the bride, matron of honor, and Mrs. Wanda Binnion, also a sister of the bride, and Mrs. Arca Lancaster, bridegroom's sister, bridesmaids. Each carried a nosegay of white pom pom mums edged in blue.

Serving as best man to the brother of the bride, Eddie Vowell of Clinton, Okla., and Garland Lancaster attended as groomsmen. Ushers were Rob- in Byrd and Robert Phelps.

Miss Carlenia Lancaster, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She was attired identically to the other feminine attendants and carried a lace basket filled with rose petals. Ringbearer was the bridegroom's nephew, Earnest Lancaster. The bride's brother, Ronald Wayne Gudgel, and Ronald Dean Stracener lit the cathedral tapers.

Fellowship Hall of First Methodist Church was the scene of the reception following the ceremony. The bride's table, covered with a blue satin cloth, was centered with an arrangement of blue flowers. Miss Judy Powell served the three-tiered wedding cake which was topped with two satin bells in the center of a heart of pearls. Miss Judy Uzzel presided at the punch bowl and Miss Judy Con nell attended the guest register.

Prior to departing on a wedding trip to points of interest in New Mexico and Colorado, the new Mrs. Corcoran donned a two-piece suit of orchid silk shantung. She lifted the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will make their home at 110 B Prospect, Amarillo.

Mrs. Corcoran, a graduate of Mobeetie High School, attended WTSU. She is currently employed by Southwestern Investment Co. in Amarillo. Mr. Corcoran, a graduate of Mobeetie High School, is attending West Texas State University and is

Guests Entertained By Altrusa Club at International Meet

Foreign-born women residing in the area were honored by Altrusa Club of Pampa recently at a covered-dish dinner. The event was held in the home of the club president, Mrs. Lzl Smith, with Mrs. Eli Elthridge, chairman of the international relations committee, in charge of arrangements. The meal consisted of dishes prepared by members and guests which were typical of the guests' homelands.

An around-the-world program in music was presented by Wayne Pitner, organist, and Ted James, vocalist.

Foreign-born guests and their native countries attending were Mmes. Gerdi Honaker, Ronata Diez, Dewain Minnick, Eva Cash, Maria Stein and Ann Aliese Mills, Germany; Mmes. Bub Fancher and Gene Barrett, Holland; Mmes. James Owsnby and John McCausland, England; Mrs. Vijay Murgai, India, and Mrs. H. L. Bailey, Japan.

Other guests attending included Mmes. Wanda Owen, Wilma Alexander and Lois Vaughn, all of Borger; Mmes. Neva Weeks, Genevieve Henderson, Geneva Tidwell, and Catherin Mytryk, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Pitner and Ted James, all of Pampa, and Mrs. M. W. Rafferty of New Orleans, La.

Twenty-seven members were also present.

Timely Beauty Hint

The beautiful difference between an adequate make-up and one that is complete flattery is attributed to the degree of skill and know-how evidenced in the application, says beauty authority, Max Factor.

Adherence to a few simple make-up tips will quickly provide you with the techniques that can change your appearance from an ordinary look to one that is exciting and packed with glamour. The use of a good lipstick brush is a must in the application of an attractive lip pattern that will last for hours. It will permit you to clearly outline the desired pattern and to apply the color evenly and beautifully.

Eyebrows will appear much more expressive and natural if eyebrow make-up is used, and, if the color harmonizes with your hair. Apply cake or fluid eye liner to a dry surface, if you wish the most excellent results. When you have used a creme eye shadow, lightly powder the eyelids with translucent powder, and the color will brush on evenly, smoothly and quickly.

An important beauty tip, in the use of foundation make-up, is to carefully diminish the color into the hairline, and not to stop it short at this strategic point. Also, carefully blend it over the jawline as well. Likewise, apply gel complexion cooling so there are no lines of demarcation. By following these few tips, your make-up will be dramatized, but will look wonderfully natural.

Astrological Forecast

FOR SUNDAY, SEPT. 4
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A Sunday to really live the Golden Rule and not to be so wrapped up in what you want that you do not let the other fellow have the benefit of doing things his way as well as in harmonious accord with you. The evening is an unusually good time for whatever has to do with social and general happiness. Expand.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — You are apt to have rather selfish leanings and if you curb such, you find that you have better results when dealing with others. Over-anxiety because finances are lacking is not wise. Show devotion.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — You have such high and impractical ideas now that others could be quite flabbergasted, so get down to the practical. Also, show that you are happy with your present allies. Do whatever makes you happy tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — You are not thinking very clearly today, so be sure to concentrate on the Verities, and then you elevate consciousness to accomplish greater things. Lose yourself in romance tonight. Forget worries.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — You find it difficult to get through to pals today because they are under some sort of pressure, but p.m. is o.k. There is very social get wardrobe, etc. in order during the morning hours to church.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Plan just how you are going to make the right impression on higher-ups after lunch so that they can assist you to gain your most cherished aims. Be sure you handle any civic work early. Fine evening socially.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) — Be ready for what has proven good in the past during a.m., but later look into new outlets, personal interests, etc. lateral hobbies. Get important letters written using care and caution in wording is necessary, though.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21) — Getting tasks handled judiciously during day will release time for more romantic endeavors in the p.m. Showing others that you are devoted is important as well. Don't take any unnecessary risks.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21) — Prove to loved one in some tangible way that you are highly devoted and then get out together to amusements that truly please. Keep your promises to others as well. Show others that you have penetrating insight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Better get going on those small tasks at hand before you get out for amusement. Visiting, etc. Make kin happy by doing what they have expected of you for some time. Listen to their aims; help them to gain theirs.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Concentrating on fun is all right, provided this makes the lives of those around you happier as well and you do not tread on the toes of others. They are apt to be a little difficult. Evening just the contrary.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — A compliment here or there to those around you during day can then make the evening a time for you to really be the cock of the walk. Do what pleases family also. Then you can ask for favors with a big smile.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Don't neglect going to church of your choice in a.m. and doing small errands that are important. Raise your level of thinking. Then off to the visits or fun events that make you a happier and more understanding person.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY — he or she will be one of those individuals who early has to learn everything by first testing personality, but later on family realizes that most of life had best be on the theoretical plane and plans then made for practical use thereof. Their life becomes really successful and much can be accomplished so that the old age is truly affluent, philanthropic. Wonderful family.

FOR MONDAY, SEPT. 5
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is an unusually good Labor Day for you to enjoy yourself and to let others see that you are endowed with good common sense where anything of a financial nature is concerned. This applies to both the day and evening although tonight it is essential you use more than average care on the highway.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Making plans for increasing your bank account is wise, since you can converse with experts socially today who are unavailable during work days. You get wonderful ideas on how to gain your objectives of an ethical nature. Show that you have ingenuity. Be alert tonight to one who opposes you in a most unrelenting way.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Certain clever angles must be used now if you are to gain your objectives of an ethical nature. Show that you have ingenuity. Be alert tonight to one who opposes you in a most unrelenting way.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — A good day to get ideas across very subtly with right persons today. An ideal evening for romance, also. Some kind favor to another will bring excellent support and profits in days to come.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — If you are loyal to your admirers on the whole, you may find that you get backing for your most vital outlets. Attendance at group meetings is wise. Get on your feet and have fun as well.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — If you listen carefully to what others are saying, you find that many a good idea can be gleaned which can be utilized to your advantage. Emulate fine system of another. Make life more interesting, at least.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) — A good day to plan to get out of some dull routine that is crippling you both mentally and physically. Make a point to see one in power who is not available at other times. State your aims concisely.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21) — Making plans for greater rapport with one of whom you are most fond can see them materializing before evening. Get your most cherished aims nicely thought out now. Life can be infinitely happier in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21) — A day for carrying through with whatever resolutions are mutually enjoyed with friends. Friends whose inclinations are similarly worthwhile. Clear up any possible misunderstandings. Be fair.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Carry through with expectations of others before dashing out for fun with good friends. Others can afford you certain new openings that bring greater success. Be on the alert for such good ideas.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Participation in some form of sport that will bring you into the limelight. A good idea will be happy to have your company. Get into the mood of things.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — If you take a more practical attitude to work your aims, you find that you are realized far more quickly and well. Be sure to take time for visiting parks and museums. Do whatever is pleasurable for your mate, children.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Visiting about with friends, family, etc. can gain you the good will that is so important at this particular time. You are thinking very clearly and fast. Wonderful new contacts can also be made.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY — he or she will be one of those practical persons who will understand the value of the Almighty's plan. All in good time you to early give enough spiritual and ethical training so that the energies will not be exclusively concentrated on making money, or much of the other great things in life suffer. The child becomes ideal and many persons will also benefit from efforts of your fine progeny.

Young Pampa Actor Completes Summer Performances at Montana Theater

Ron Gabriel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gabriel, 1836 N. Sumner, has begun to see the realization of his one main goal — that of becoming an acclaimed actor.

By the end of this summer, he will have completed four musicals for professional acting companies, with a lead role in all four plays.

Gabriel began the summer by auditioning for Valley Music Hall, known as the "world's most elaborate theater in-the-round" at Hollywood, Calif.

At an open audition conducted by Billy Matthews, director; Kenn Randall, producer; and Bob Brooks, casting director, Gabriel hoped to receive any role in the plays to be produced during the summer.

Impressed by the audition, the three offered him immediate casting for two of the company's shows — "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" and "Bye, Bye, Birdie."

In "Molly" he was offered — and took — the role of Aloysius Tobin, the brother of Molly, portrayed by Jane Powell. This was his first opportunity to perform opposite a known star.

"Birdie," though, gave him his first attention to the public with the role of Hugo Peabody. According to one critic, "the young actor received deserved extra applause each night."

This time he played opposite Carole Wells, who had the role of Kim. Carole will star in the new television series, "Pistols and Petticoats," to begin this fall.

Roger Smith, star of television's "Mr. Roberts" and "77 Sunset Strip," played Albert Peterson. Of Gabriel he said, "He is the perfect Hugo."

He later announced that he considered it a pleasure to work with such a "sensitive thoroughbred actor as Ron Gabriel." He added that he expected to see more of the young performer.

Because of the acclaim given his performance in "Birdie," Gabriel was given a major lead, the Artful Dodger, in "Oliver," Valley Hall's third musical of the season. Every actor has a "dream" role, and this was Gabriel's.

Fagin was played by Harvey Lembeck, known for his roles as leader of the "Rat Pack" in the "Beach Party" movies and one of the characters on the "Sergeant Bilco" television show and credits for eight Broadway musicals.

Bernice Massi, star of Broadway's "What Makes Sammie Run?" played the role of Nancy after touring with the National Company's production of the same show.

Reviewers, critics, and radio and television stations in the area applauded Gabriel for his interpretation of the role, made difficult because of the Cockney accent and dialect.

Lembeck gave him special

Ron Gabriel actor

mention to the audience on closing night, and one critic said he "still continues excellent in acting."

After the conclusion of the three musicals at Valley Hall, Gabriel received offers from other professional theater groups.

Now Gabriel is in his third week at the Montana Golden Theater at West Yellowstone in the role of Sir Harry in the production of "Once Upon a Mattress."

The talented young man's goal is "to go up and then higher and higher in the theater."

And his chances seem good. A graduate of Pampa High School, he plans to return to the University of Salt Lake City in Utah, where he will be a senior.

GORDZELIK - STEVENS — The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Janie Gordzelik and Jerry Stevens is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gordzelik Sr. of White Deer, parents of the bride-elect. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Jessie Stevens of Skellytown. Vows will be pledged on Oct. 1 in Sacred Heart Catholic Church in White Deer.

Jaycee-Ettes Fete Husbands

Husbands of Pampa Jaycee-Ettes were special guests at the group's meeting and covered-dish supper held recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Carubbi Jr.

Those enjoying the event included Messrs. and Mmes. John Warner, Morris Wilson, Jake Webb, Larry Wingert, Everett Blackwell, Nathan Lancaster, A. C. Higgins and Don Tinney.

Welcomed as guests were Messrs and Mmes. Ben Sturgeon, Benny Mullin, Jerry Coley, Ronald Graves and Joe Dickey.

Skellytown P-TA Slates Activities

SKELLYTOWN — Activities for the year were planned by Skellytown Elementary School P-TA Executive Board when the group met recently.

The District 19 Fall Workshop, to be held Oct. 13 in the school gymnasium, was discussed and announcement was made that the membership drive will be conducted Sept. 6 through Sept. 9.

Officers heading the unit are Buddy Biggers, president; Mrs. Dickie Shipley, vice president; Mrs. Leroy Allen, secretary; Mrs. Kirk Phillips, treasurer; Mrs. Ballard, historian; Mrs.

Bethany Class Has Watermelon Supper

Bethany Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church enjoyed a watermelon supper recently on the patio of Mrs. Lida Ramsay's home.

Invocation was given by Mrs. Margaret Wells. Gordon Bayless brought the devotional thought on "Prayer."

Members attending were Mmes. B. T. Clemens, teacher, Rachel Hutto, Myrtle McDaniel, D. R. Henry, Gussie Araba.

Leroy Snodgrass, parliamentarian; Mrs. Jimmie McCann, membership chairman, and M. L. Mercer, program chairman.

Watermelon Supper

Thorne, Doshia Anderson, Jess Reeves, Maude Smith, O. A. Davis, Clara Vandover, Mabel Winter, Ethel Evans, Ethel Vandenberg and the hostess.

Guests present included Messrs. A. N. Thorne, Jess Reeves, E. F. Vandenberg, Jay Evans, R. W. Tucker, Claude Wilson, Gordon Bayless, and Bill Reed; Mmes. Margaret Wells, Claude Wilson, D. B. Jameson and Misses Diane and Donna Newkirk.

The first general meeting of the association will be at 7:30 p.m., Sept. 20.

Designer Takes Look at Junior Sizes

By HELEN HENNESSY
Newspaper Enterprise
Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — "There are certain facts a fashion designer should repeat to herself daily," said attractive Lili, designer for Irvington Place. "Of the 12 million girls in the United States 75 per cent are junior and junior petite sizes. Their earnings or allowances come to approximately $10.95 a week. And they have very definite buying habits."

"You can see them if you look," she said. "They drop in to the local store, usually in the evening or on a Saturday with a few friends just to browse and see what's new. They put heads together, whisper, giggle, want to be left alone and will bridle at offers of sales help. They want to make up their own minds. And it is for this group that I tailor my collections."

One of the first designers to introduce junior petite sizes in sportswear about a year ago, Lili is gathering more and more of a following because of her scaled-down sports clothes.

In private life she is Mrs. Irving Rothman and her husband is also her employer. She designs regular junior sizes. But junior petites are fast proving an important new category — designs for the five-foot one-inch and-under miss who weighs between 85 and 100 pounds.

"We play directly to their needs," said Lili. We do not have just the traditional four season collections but always keep adding new collections monthly, sometimes four to six at a time. This way our young browser can always find a kooky (not kooky) new number. And the browser-gear buyer will space her orders in a way that will keep a continuous flow of new merchandise on the racks."

With the entire nation well into a youth kick, partly induced by London and Paris, but more scientifically by the fact that over half the 1966 population is under 30, the junior and junior-petite popularity has consistently followed an upward curve.

"Our continuous line is never unrelated. Although our young sportswear never stands still, we avoid kookie single-season blasts," Lili said. "We tie one season's designs carefully to the next so that the checked suit a girl finds in January will still look right with a skirt or sweater she wears in April."

Right now Lili is keen on pants suits for everything from dog walking to dating—classrooms, if the school permits. She prefers these with the straight stovetop leg and a frankly feminine, fitted shape.

"Teen-agers spend a good amount on clothes these days

TWO STUDENTS—one a junior petite, one a junior size, take a long look at back-to-school clothes in a New York department store. They both agree there is nothing more delicious than being left alone to shop and like to shop in stores where they are left alone until they make their final selections.

with parental approval but they still want the last word on their own wardrobes. So mothers appreciate our teaching the youngsters wiser fashion buying habits."

Mrs. Rothman points out that women, if they are tiny, as well as teen-agers should look for junior-petite sizes.

"Don't be misled by the name," she cautions. "This is a SIZE, not an AGE, category. Both the young girl and the tiny woman with youthful fashion enthusiasm can find exciting, wearable fashions that really fit her. For a change she won't have any alteration charges."

This kind of fashion thinking has resulted in a steady, healthy sales growth for the husband and wife team.

"So we must be doing something right," Irving Rothman concluded.

COOK'S TOUR

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK — Onion butter made with soup mix provides a basic ingredient for a variety of main courses and snacks.

Leftover butter can be stored, covered, in the refrigerator until needed. The following recipes were developed by the test kitchen of a soup mix manufacturer, Thomas J. Lip-ton, Inc.

To make 1 1/4 cups of onion butter, blend 1 (1 1/2 ounce) envelope of onion soup mix thoroughly with 1/2 pound of softened butter or margarine.

Cheese straws use 1/2 cup of onion butter. Combine it with 8 ounces of sharp cheddar, finely grated. Blend in 1 1/2 cups of sifted all-purpose flour and knead until smooth. Roll dough to 1/4-inch thickness on floured board. Cut into 1/2-by-3-inch strips. Place on two greased cookie sheets and bake 10 to 12 minutes, or until golden, in preheated 350-degree oven. Makes about 8 dozen.

Chicken Kiev uses about 1 cup of onion butter. Place between 2 sheets of waxed paper 3 chicken breasts that have been boned, skinned and halved. Pound thin with rolling pin.

Place a rounded tablespoon of cold onion butter in the center of each chicken piece. Wrap envelope fashion to enclose butter completely, and secure with toothpicks. Dip each cutlet first in all-purpose flour, then in beaten egg; roll in bread crumbs. Refrigerate 1 hour or more. Melt enough shortening to cover bottom of a deep saucepan or electric deep fat fryer to depth of 1 1/2 inches.

Heat to 370 degrees and fry chicken pieces, two or three at a time, for 5 to 7 minutes, or until brown and crisp. Do not fry all pieces at once, because the cold chicken will drop the temperature of the fat too

Dear Abby.... Skirts Can't Get Too Much Shorter

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would say something in your column about the short skirts girls and women are wearing these days. I ride the bus to work and I see women with their skirts hiked up so high you can see the tops of their nylons, their girdles, and even their underpanties. It's disgusting. And they act like they don't even care.

If girls must wear these short skirts to be in style, why can't they at least keep their knees tightly pressed together when they sit on a bus? I am not an old fuddy-duddy. I am a 23-year-old married working girl.

SHOCKED IN DETROIT
DEAR SHOCKED: I can't dictate fashion, but I can recommend that women who wear short skirts carry sweaters, jackets or coats to throw across their knees when they sit down.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell us waitresses why a man will come into a dining room where there is just one table messed up, and he will sit there everytime?

A WAITRESS
DEAR WAITRESS: Maybe he is just a slob who feels more "at home" at a messed up table.

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend (I'll call him Pinky) is in the navy and we correspond back and forth. Last week I got a letter from a navy buddy of Pinky's. His name is Irving. Well, Irving said Pinky showed him a picture of me and he just felt like writing to me. He sent me a snap of himself and, Abby, he is a doil. Maybe I shouldn't say this, but Irving is a lot cuter than Pinky and to be perfectly honest, I'd like to write to him.

He said I should write in care of his sister in Dover, N. J., and she'd send my letter in her envelope, that way Pinky wouldn't find out. I am tempted, but I don't know if I should, because if Pinky found out it might kill him. What should I do?

GLADLY
DEAR GLADLY: If Pinky found out it might not only kill him, it might also kill Irving. Wait until the boys are civilians, and if you are still interested in meeting Irving, let him present himself in person. The whole thing could be a booby trap.

CONFIDENTIAL TO H. G. B. IN HUNTSVILLE, ALA.: Yes, I have a booklet on How to best advice I can offer a bride is, "See your doctor (and preferably a gynecologist) for a physical checkup and authoritative answers to all your questions before marriage."

If birth control is desired, it should be planned before the wedding. This includes Catholic girls, too, as the rhythm method should be clearly understood to be successfully practiced. (Too many young wives, who had planned on working a few years while their husbands finished college, discover to their horror that they got pregnant on their honeymoon.)

Many couples experience shock and grief on learning that they are unable to consummate the marriage due to some slight physical abnormality which could have been easily corrected by minor surgery.

Motherly advice from Aunt Nellie or "tips" from one of the girls is fine, but before a bride keeps her date with the preacher, she should keep one with her doctor.

For a breakfast treat, melt 3 tablespoons of butter or margarine in a large fry pan. Lightly brown 6 round shredded wheat biscuits in butter, turning to brown both sides. Top each biscuit with a poached egg. Makes 6 servings.

Mashed jellied cranberry sauce and marmalade, beaten together with a fork, make a tasty topping for peanut butter sandwiches.

A quick chili sauce can be made by mixing equal parts of ketchup and pickle relish.

Let lettuce leaves and other leafy greens stand five or 10 minutes in a pan of cold water. Any sand will sink to the bottom of the pan. Then lift out greens and wash them under running water.

The Mature Parent

Recognize 'Poor Man' As Thirsty for Praise

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: As usual, we are spending my husband's vacation with his family. What gripes me about it is that it means no vacation for me. His mother cooks three big heavy meals a day and as I'm the only wife in the family, I'm expected to clean up after her. She wears herself out with heavy baking and roasting that turns the house into an oven and uses up every pot and pan she's got. I'm in her kitchen for more than an hour after every meal.

ANSWER: You don't have to allow her to so destroy your vacation.

From what you tell me, I expect that your mother-in-law is one of those "Poor Mom" cravers who must have their families' sympathetic admiration. By exhausting herself with cooking is the way she's been accustomed to getting it. So let's offer her another way to get it—one that will free you from all this kitchen after-meal labor.

Let's make a big collection of your husband's old shirts and ask her to turn their collars for him. It would give you your chance to say, "It's only fair for me to make the lunches and suppers if you're going to work so hard on Harry's shirts. Oh, I know I'm not in your class as a cook but he really needs them."

If you'll just stop being so angry at your mother-in-law, I bet you five bucks that she grabs at this new means of getting her daily quotas of "Poor Mom, there she is done for others again."

In movies when we see a desert-lost, thirst-crazed person collapse at the oasis pool to gulp and wallow in its water, we understand his extremity. We've felt heat and thirst ourselves. But when we come up against someone whose emotional thirst compels her to gulp and wallow in family sympathy, we do not see her extremity. We refuse to see that she must have wandered through hot stretches of many inward deserts to have acquired such thirst for those "Poor Moms."

We just see her as a pain in the neck. There's only one reason for our clouded vision. We are refusing to remember our own thirsts for sympathetic admiration. We are refusing to remember those hot little deserts in which we all occasionally wander in doubt of our value.

Give this mother-in-law of yours all the sympathetic admiration you've got for her superior sewing competence. She will be so grateful for this new means of acquiring her "Poor Moms" that she won't have to turn the house into an oven. Then you can produce your salads and sandwiches."

Glamor Gal Still Has All the Problems

Newsleader Enterprise Assn.

"Any girl who tries to make it just as a glamor girl is a loser," says a Hollywood actress.

That's true not only of the girl who is striving to make a living in the entertainment world—but of any girl.

To begin with, the interlude during which a girl is so glamorous she can get by on glamor alone is disappointingly brief.

After a few years of being the most-glamorous-looking thing in sight—her glamor begins to fade just a little in comparison with a crop of younger girls.

Also, styles in beauty change almost as rapidly as styles in clothes. So a girl whose particular brand of attractiveness is "in" this year may not be anything very special two or three years from now.

So a smart girl, while being grateful for being a beauty, and doing all that is necessary to make the most of what nature handed her never figures that looks are everything or that looks will get and keep for her whatever she wants out of life—whether that is a career or a husband.

If she wants to get to the top in a career, her looks will help her but she will also need talent or skill and she will also have to learn how to get along with other people.

If she wants to get and keep a husband, her beauty will certainly help in the "getting" but she can't depend on it for the "keeping."

She will need, just like the not-so-pretty wife, to work hard at the job of homemaking. She will need, just as much, to be companionable with her husband.

She certainly can't afford to think that just because she is beautiful she can get away with being bad-tempered or careless about helping to keep her husband's ego in good shape.

A loser is a girl who banks on beauty to get her by. A winner regards beauty as a lucky gift that needs a big assist from more lasting qualities of character and personality.

New School of Dance To Be Opened

Classes will begin Wednesday, Sept. 14, at the Madeline Graves School of Dance, Pampa's newest addition to the fine arts movement.

The studio, located in the Old Holy Souls Catholic School at the corner of Browning at West, will offer beginner, intermediate and advanced classes in ballet, pointe, jazz, tap and acrobatics as well as a junior ballroom class and an adult exercise class. The instructor will be Mrs. Graves, who brings to Pampa a long list of credits and qualifications. She has been a student of dance since the age of two, starting at the Isbell McKenna School of Dance in Galveston where she taught most of the classes during high school.

Mrs. Graves then went on to Texas Christian University where she majored in Ballet-Theatre. While at Texas Christian University she was lead dancer in "Shore Leave" an original ballet written by Texas Christian University's ballet master, the late David Preston, "Les Preludes," "L'Coq D'or," and "Sampson and Delila" with the San Antonio Symphony Orchestra.

Mrs. Graves was also a featured dancer in the Fort Worth Opera Association production of "Faust," "La Traviata," and "Lucia di Lammermoor" and was also a finalist in the Miss Fort Worth contest with dancing as her talent.

During her college years she was also active in Little Theatre and was a member of children's plays. Upon graduation, with a BFA degree in Ballet-Theatre in 1964, Mrs. Graves taught preparatory classes in dance at Texas North Central Texas presenting Christian University and was an instructor at the Headrick Studio of Dance in Fort Worth. For information about the school call 5-5904 or 5-2769.

Looking for A New Dishwasher?

By AILEEN SNODDY
Newsleader Enterprise Assn.

In this day of mechanical home servants, many women still wash dishes by hand. Things, though, are looking up and the automatic dishwasher is beginning its climb from the luxury category into the happy state of a home essential.

Surveys of the American home indicate that almost all households have refrigerators, ranges and ovens. Such a bit of news may sound strange to today's transistorized youth who feel everyone has everything.

(This is far from true. To digress a moment from the dishwasher, for example, there are still thousands of homes without indoor bathroom plumbing.)

But back to the kitchen sink. Dishwasher sales began to climb in 1959 when sales went over the half-million mark. It took until 1964 for portable and undercounter units to top a million units sold. Last year there was a 20 per cent gain. Of the units sold in 1964, 77.7 per cent were first-time sales. Compare this with the fact that only 26.1 per cent of refrigerators sold were first-time purchases and sales of electric ranges represented 35.9 per cent of new sales.

Twenty-nine per cent of the new housing units include an automatic dishwasher as a necessity. These often are included in the basic price of a new house, or offered as part of the appliance package. This means they can be paid off with the mortgage.

Builders know a dishwasher adds to the salability of development houses or new and renovated apartments. Husbands are finding out a dishwasher may save him time in the kitchen or cut down on his wife's complaints.

Whatever the reason to consider an automatic dishwasher, those in the market for a unit for the first time will want to look for the major improvements. These include random loading, lift-out and slide-out racks, detergent and rinsing agent dispensers, prerinse cycles, possibly pot pan and utensil cycles and heating cycles to warm plates and serving dishes before a meal.

Two-thirds of the dishwashers are built-in and there is more effort on the part of manufacturers to offer trim kits so the units will appear to be set in a cabinet unit and coordinated to the kitchen. This may or may not be an extra cost. To save money on service calls, read instructions thoroughly. Also ask for a manufacturer's representative to give an in-home demonstration of the unit. This should be free.

Kenneth Douglas of Splendid adds special stature to the casual life, combining white-on-black cotton mattress ticking with bold black-on-white awning stripes to give a new pants suit that wildly striped look. The pants, for at-home wear, are more than a foot wide.

Wears Us Out to Hear of It

It may come as a shock to those of us who are, well, more relaxed (would you believe last night?) but it seems there are more than enough in 24 hours for them to work as hard as they want to work.

So they are resorting to all sorts of weird tricks to eliminate wasted minutes. The Wall Street Journal has made an exhaustive study of these inexhaustible executives.

One young tycoon, for example, found that visitors to his office tended to admire some fine paintings which adorned the walls.

Another super-hustler has a telephone and a secretary in his car. En route to appointments, he dictates and phones, phones and dictates.

Urban Rehabilitation Project — The U.S. Gypsum Company is rehabilitating tenements in New York's East Harlem area and hopes to encourage other private investors to follow its example.

Teaching — The Diamond Alkali Company is teaching 50 illiterates to read, so they can train for better jobs.

Employment — Los Angeles businessman, Harold C. McClellan heads up a business group that has, since the Watts riots last summer, found jobs for almost 5,000 unemployed Negroes in private industry.

Disaster Training — The Ampex Corporation, Redwood City, California, has trained people to help cope with any type of disaster.

Scholarships — The Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, like many other concerns, offers college scholarships to outstanding students.

This is only a sampling but enough, we think, to give ample proof that American industry is busy helping to solve community problems and that all of the "big heavens" aren't on some government payroll.

A thought for the day — American writer Irwin Shaw said: "I have a religion that wants to take heaven out of the clouds and plant it right here on the earth where most of us can get a slice of it."

That great old American institution, the nickel, is 100 years old this year. The Chase Manhattan Bank Money Museum in New York has 4000 of the coins on display, also some wooden nickels.

Today's sniffe: A youngster studying history in high school asked his father: "What's a liberal Republican?"

Looking at a copy of that famous painting of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown, Va., ending the Revolutionary War, reminded us that historical paintings are frequently inaccurate.

Justice Irving H. Saypol of the New York Supreme court has held Powell in criminal contempt of court and ordered the state's attorney to begin criminal proceedings.

Thoughts while shaving: The one thing that really bugs us when driving in traffic or on a super-highway is a motorcycle.

Powell is still treating the court with the utmost arrogance. At the time of Judge Saypol's latest ruling, Powell was vacationing in the Bahamas and could not be reached for comment.

Country Editor speaking: "George Washington never told a lie, but he never filled out an income tax form either."

The Nation's Press FREEMAN ON HOW TO WIN VOTES (Minneapolis Tribune)

A reporter for The Chicago Tribune was mistakenly ushered to a meeting where Agriculture Secretary Freeman advised Democratic candidates for Congress on campaign techniques.

Whether or not Freeman was conducting his class at the behest of the President, his statements indicate that the administration is beginning to worry about inflation, and probably chiefly because the voters are going to be put off in their questioning by the ducking that candidates for Congress try.

They'll want plain talk. Even better would be more effective action in Washington.

(Chicago Tribune)

The marathon prosecution of Adam Clayton Powell, congressman from Harlem, recently gained a bit of ground. If Powell lives long enough, he may sometime face some unpleasant consequences because of having been ordered by a jury, in 1963, to pay damages for defaming the character of Mrs. Esther James, whom he called on television a graft collector for corrupt policemen.

20 Americans Held as 'Political Prisoners' In Cuba; Castro Refuses to Discuss Release

WASHINGTON — Dictator Fidel Castro is flatly refusing to negotiate the release of at least 20 Americans who are being held as "political prisoners."

Despite eight months of persistent efforts by Swiss authorities, who represent the U.S. in Havana, these Americans, two of them women, are still being held in three prisons.

These "political prisoners" are in addition to the 600 American nationals and their dependents still in Cuba who have been held for months to leave.

Several of the "political prisoners," jailed since the abortive Bay of Pigs fiasco, don't even have charges filed against them. Others are elderly, ill and in need of medical care.

The list of these prisoners and the charges leveled against them, as compiled by Swiss Ambassador Emil Stadelhofer, is as follows:

Spiritto, John Milg, counter-revolutionary activities; Williams, Ramon, counter-revolutionary activities; Goodrich, Goble, R., counter-revolutionary activities; Cavdill, Rev. Herbert, espionage; Tur, Juan, espionage.

Emrick, Frank, counter-revolutionary activities; Poyle, Irving Richard, crimes against the state; Osle, Hector, trying to escape Cuba; Ramos, Edelmiro, illegally entering Cuba; Douglas, Juan, crimes against the state.

Ruiz, Ruben, unknown; Vega, Mildred (nee Williams), crimes against the state; Diaz, Elsa, unknown; Garcia & Crews, Antonio, crimes against the state; Beltran, Robert S., crimes against the state.

Del Pino, Rafael, crimes against the state; Fite, Rev. James David, espionage; Stulze, Frederick Carter, unknown; Fluentez, Pedro J., crimes against the state, and Lunt, Lawrence Kirby, counter-revolutionary activities.

Question Box

QUESTION: "Is it fair to run to Canada to escape the draft?" A. E. S. ANSWER: We are not attempting to pass moral judgment on those who use legal means to avoid something they consider to be immoral — the draft.

The draft is compulsory service, which is prohibited by the 13th amendment to the Constitution. As Daniel Webster put it: "The question of conscription is nothing less than whether the most essential rights of personal liberty shall be surrendered, and despotism embraced in its worst form."

The United States cannot contend it is fighting for freedom of the individuals, while it is depriving individuals of their freedom and compelling them to fight against their will in an undeclared war against an enemy which the same U.S. government is helping indirectly to support through various foreign aid programs and subsidized loans to communists who are in turn supplying the enemy.

Hunt for Truth

BY H. L. HUNT

MINORITIES

A feeling has existed in the minds of many citizens that minorities in this land of opportunity have been shortchanged. The effort to correct these unfortunate conditions have resulted in a reversal of circumstances to such extent that minorities are now favored.

In this country today we have certain minorities seeking privileges at the cost of other minorities, all consumers, and the great majority with no respect whatsoever for the national interest.

The principle of majority rule is completely disregarded in the frenzy to befriend high-pressure minorities. Laws that have been obeyed by generations of Americans are now being temporarily suspended for the accommodation of minorities.

Members of leftist minorities are placated by leaders in the entertainment field with programs "slanted only slightly toward the left."

If members of any minority feel the liberties surpass the opportunities in their vocation, so long as they have freedom of choice they can direct their endeavor in any direction they choose and apply their talents elsewhere among the vast majority. They can join forces with the majority rather than seeking special privileges and creating antagonism and violence toward the remainder of the American people.

The present trend of "minority rule" should not be permitted to destroy our Republic. The checks and balances afforded by distinctly separate executive, judicial and legislative departments is vital to safeguard minorities which, however powerful, would ultimately be destroyed but for our constitutional Republic.

BERRY'S WORLD

Your Dental Health

By DR. WM. LAWRENCE

'Short-Circuit' Sometimes Thwarts Oral Anesthetic

Dear Dr. Lawrence: Last time I went to the dentist he froze the right side of my lower jaw. Everything was numb, including my lip, but when he drilled I felt it in my upper teeth.

A—The true nature of anesthesia is not easily explained and this is one of its strange phenomena. It rarely happens, but you can see how it might, since both upper and lower teeth and jaws are supplied by branches of one main nerve (one on each side of jaw).

When "novocain" is injected around a nerve, stabilization of nerve membrane occurs. From point of injection to end of nerve, all tissue supplied by that nerve is "frozen." Apparently no sensation is transmitted from this frozen area. If any messages are sent to the brain, they are not consciously recorded.

In this particular case, a meso-sage, even though slightly garbled, was getting through and the brain was sending it back along another branch of the same nerve.

Dear Dr. Lawrence: When a nerve is taken out, why does the tooth get dark? With modern techniques, teeth don't usually stain after nerves are removed. Dentists who specialize in this work say that major reasons for staining are often poor technique and poor choice of filling material.

Most staining occurs long before root canal therapy is even begun. This discoloration is the first sign that a tooth needs treatment. It's usually due to hemorrhage of blood in the tiny dentinal tubules as happens when a tooth gets bumped, or otherwise traumatized.

When root canal therapy is completed, some of this discolored dentin can be removed as the tooth whitened with bleaching agents.

Of course, all so-called dead teeth have a characteristic opaque look. The just aren't as lustrous as vital teeth.

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW
 United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—When ever anyone tries to start a pay-TV operation, all the vested interests against it—mainly movie theatre exhibitors—suddenly find it practical to label the current broadcasting setup as "free TV."

This label is, depending on the degree of your skepticism, either specious or absurd. For commercial television is, after all, commercial. And you pay for your "free TV" by being bombarded in the privacy of your home with an endless barrage of advertisements that not only interrupt viewing but tend to insult and brutalize the mental sensitivities of the viewer, however subtly.

There is, however, a different form of "free TV" that is not spoken of quite as often, and is the subject of an enlightening article in the Aug. 15 issue of the respected publication, "Broadcasting."

As the lead sentence in the article puts it:

"Free films, some with subtle advertising messages and some not so subtle, are filling an estimated $15 million worth of television fringe time yearly and may be yielding their sponsors promotion worth many times that amount."

For instance, the magazine says, "Clairal Inc., distributor of hair-coloring products and a major TV advertiser, has a five-minute color film in distribution called 'Blondes Through The Ages.' Avon products has a five-minute film out—'Lessons in Loveliness'—that pictures some of the company's cosmetic products in use."

"Broadcasting," which is regarded as highly authoritative, says that one of the top distribution companies that supplies free footage has a subsidiary that "aids its clients in preparing news clips of their activities to TV stations."

The publication adds that "occasionally this free news may make it onto a network. A clip of the Navy's Blue Angel stunt fliers supplied by Grumman Aircraft (through a distributor) was shown on CBS-TV's June 11 Saturday night Roger Mudd news show. The clip was identified with a superimposed line of print saying 'Official Blue Angel Film,' but with no mention of Grumman."

According to the article, many of the top corporate names—and video sponsors—would make the list of firms that make free films available to video.

Some of those "identified as sponsors of these films," says the publication, are U.S. Steel, Frigidaire, General Motors, Union Carbide, Procter & Gamble, General Foods, Metropolitan Life and Johnson & Johnson.

For example, says Broadcasting, a film in distribution from GF (General Foods) titled "More Kick Out of Football" may have football as its theme but a GF product is its promotion object. A jar of instant Sanka is shown during the picture.

"Country and Lightfoot" is the closest anyone has come to describing his unique musical style.

"Canada inspires me... my songs are an assimilation of the things that happen to me and I translate them into song. I'm a wayfarer wandering footloose, singing about Canadians," says Lightfoot.

"Canadians are more objective about things and closer to nature. I'm particularly lucky in coming from a small town (Orillia, Ontario) because, although you might learn more in the city, you see the sights of nature in the country."

Lightfoot sings his songs about Canadiana in coffee houses in Toronto, Ottawa, New York, Detroit and Philadelphia and at folk concerts and festivals in Canada and the United States.

He has tentative film plans but meanwhile waits for that one big hit single (perhaps "Spin, Spin" a recently recorded folk-rock number) that can skyrocket him on to the pop music charts and make his name known to a majority of Americans.

"It'll be hard to catch the big ones, like Belafonte, but with a new approach I hope to be able to do it," says Lightfoot.

The American Revolution lasted from April 19, 1775, to Sept. 17, 1783.

"Ribbon of Darkness," recorded by Marty Robbins, won an ASCAP writer-publisher award and was on the country and western charts for seven months.

The 27-year-old Canadian's newest songs include a naughty ditty about Gerda Munsinger, the girl in Canada's sex-and-security scandal, and a song about the disastrous sinking of the Yarmouth Castle off Miami.

The great success of others with his songs has encouraged Lightfoot to try to capture the elusive American market with his own recordings.

His first single, "I'm Not Saying," although a success in Canada, failed to catch on with the American record buyers. His second, a recording of Bob Dylan's "Tom Thumb Blues," was a regional American hit but likewise failed to catapult Lightfoot to the national top 40 charts.

mother of fact

The raven, once a universal symbol of dark prophecy, is actually a clever bird of fearless habits which must survive by its wits since it has never been protected by law. The common raven looks like the crow in appearance but is much larger, with a wingspread of four feet. The raven is a hardy bird with an average life span of between 30 and 35 years. Ravens can be tamed when young and learn to imitate words.

Hollywood Report

By VERNON SCOTT
 UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The call sheet for the day's shooting on the set of "Don't Make Waves" called for five "topless waitresses."

Now a topless waitress is a dubious term. The girls were far from topless. In fact, they were splendidly topped. They simply wore no tops to their costumes.

Such attractions are commonplace in California restaurants and foreign movies. But this was the first time they were to be included in an American movie.

They were called upon to mill around in a complicated poolside party scene involving stars Tony Curtis, Claudia Cardinale and Sharon Tate—the latter performers fully clothed.

For whatever reason, probably modesty, director Sandy MacKendrick took great pains to insure the camera caught only the backs of the topless girls. Time and again he halted shooting to chastise a topless cutie for facing the camera or turning profile to it.

The girls themselves appeared unconcerned.

Crew members, on the other hand, and several dozen extras were fascinated by the presence of the topless ones and cared not one whit in which direction they faced.

The girls involved were China Lee, Paula Angelus, Haji Lamme, Candy Ward and Avenia Bentley.

All at one time or another had danced in topless joints in and around Hollywood. Between scenes they draped towels over themselves in what apparently was modesty.

But when MacKendrick called, "action," they discarded the towels and the assemblage came to animated attention.

Were they self-conscious in their state of undress while those around them were losing their heads?

"No," said Paula, a luscious blonde. "It's just a job. Like when I'm dancing in a club, I don't even see the audience."

China allowed as how a girl becomes accustomed to being stared at when in a state of dishabille: "A girl's a girl. And men like to look at them."

Between scenes the topless quintet repaired to a small dressing room where they gossiped a little bit and slept, resting up for the night of dancing that would keep them working until 2 a.m.

At lunch break Tony Curtis invited the topless group to his dressing room for lunch, a courtesy not usually extended to extras.

"They're awfully nice girls," said Tony. "And one should make an effort to know his fellow workers when possible."

Canadian Folksinger Protests Protest Songs

By PETER VAN HARTEN
 TORONTO (UPI)—Canadian folksinger Gordon Lightfoot has one big protest—against protest songs, especially ones aimed at national leaders.

"I think you should have faith in the leaders of the country," says Lightfoot. "You should let them agree about what should be done."

"Protest songs are not in good taste—everything is in such a mess that protesting isn't going to straighten it out."

Lightfoot now sings, and writes about everything else—"love, passion, greed, wanderlust and sex." His compositions have placed him among the top American folkwriters, writes like Bob Dylan, Phil Ochs, Tom Paxton and Hamilton Camp.

His songs have been recorded by many performers.

Peter, Paul and Mary took Lightfoot's "For Loving Me" in to the top 20 hit parade. They had equal success with "Early Morning Rain," which has also been recorded by Judy Collins, Johnny Cash, The Kingston Trio and fellow Canadians, Ian and Sylvia.

"Ribbon of Darkness," recorded by Marty Robbins, won an ASCAP writer-publisher award and was on the country and western charts for seven months.

The 27-year-old Canadian's newest songs include a naughty ditty about Gerda Munsinger, the girl in Canada's sex-and-security scandal, and a song about the disastrous sinking of the Yarmouth Castle off Miami.

Citgo Manager Issues Beautification Plea

PINE MOUNTAIN, Georgia — "Some marketers seem to be clinging to the naive belief that the current emphasis on service station beautification is a temporary fad. Let me assure you that beautification is no more a passing fancy than our national park system. There is only one sensible alternative for petroleum marketers—to move and to move now."

U.S. Oilmen Praised for Beautification

NEW YORK — Oil companies throughout the United States are receiving awards and praise for their leadership in air and water conservation and their cooperation in the nationwide beautification program. Oil Facts, published by the American Petroleum Institute, cites these examples:

Oilmen Drill 32 Gas Wells

AUSTIN (UPI)— Texas wildcaters drilled 7 oil and 32 gas wells last week, the Texas Railroad Commission said Saturday.
The discoveries gave wildcaters 275 oil and 312 gas completions thus far this year, compared with 213 and 547 for the same period in 1965.
Regular drillers had 185 oil finds and 93 gas discoveries during the week, for a year's total of 5,108 and 1,529 respectively. This compares with 1965 corresponding figures of 4,718 oil and 1,833 gas finds.

The event, scheduled for the opening day of the 11th Permian Basin Oil Show, will be in the Ector County Coliseum on the oil show grounds. Several hundred persons from Odessa, Midland and other area cities are expected to attend.

Retired Citgo Official Dies

NEW YORK — Edward L. Stauffer, a retired vice president and director of Cities Service Company, New York City, died Aug. 29 at his home in Chappaqua, New York, after a long illness. He would have been 65 on Sept. 25.
Widely known in petroleum industry circles, Stauffer retired from Cities Service in 1962 after 38 years of service with the company. He had been involved in marketing operations since 1937. He was elected a vice president in 1959.
Stauffer was born at St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 25, 1901. He was graduated from the University of Minnesota with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering. He joined Cities Service at Bartlesville, Oklahoma, in 1924. His early career was spent in various engineering positions in several phases of petroleum operations. He was a member of the American Petroleum Institute, National Petroleum Refiners Association, Oil Trades Association, and Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He was a Mason and Shriner. His widow, the former Pauline Hibbard, survives.

Oil Company Ups Price It Pays For Crude Oil

TULSA, OKLA. — Cities Service Oil Co. increased the price it pays for Kansas crude oil effective at 7 a.m., Tuesday, Aug. 30. Its new crude oil price bulletin increases the top posted price for 40-44.9 gravity crude from $3.00 per barrel to $3.08 per barrel. The gravity differential penalty for crude oil below 36 gravity is adjusted from 4 cents to 2 cents per degree. Approximately 25,000 barrels per day are affected.

No Easy Solution To End Water And Air Pollution Task

NEW YORK — No one has found any quick, easy or inexpensive solutions to the nation's complex air and water conservation problems, according to the president of the American Petroleum Institute.
In an article in the API publication Oil Facts, Frank N. Ikard points out that public health officials and industry leaders have been working on these problems for many years and that they have stepped up their efforts in the past few years.
"The nation's oilmen, Ikard said, are spending millions of dollars annually on research and on control equipment, and are cooperating with all levels of government in seeking ways to eliminate air and water pollution.
"The prize of clean air and water," he added, "will not be won dramatically, with a flourish of trumpets; rather, it will be won gradually, with the route marked by hundreds of small discoveries in the nation's laboratories."

Oil Parts Company In New Warehouse

HOUSTON—Stran-Steel Corp. and its subsidiary, Metallic Building Co., report completion of the first Houston area manufacturing, sales and warehouse facility for Panhandle Industrial Co. Located at 3205 Pasadena Blvd., Pasadena, the complete facility was built by Francis Construction Co., Pasadena area Franchised Builder, for Stran-Steel.
Panhandle Industrial, which has a home office and manufacturing plant in Pampa, manufactures replacement parts for gas compressor engines used in oil and gas refining and petrochemical industries. The steel building was designed to accommodate an overhead crane system.
