Initiation Attracts Odd Fellows Of 26 Area Counties

Members of the International Order of Odd Fellows from 26 Texas counties gathered here last night to honor Texas' Odd Fellows grand master Dewitt L. Baber with a special initiation class.

The initiation of candidates was one of 16 such meetings which were held simultaneously across the state last night.

More than 120 members of the 56 lodges in the area attended the meeting.

Texas is the first state to conduct a statewide class such as the one held here Saturday, according to R. B. Brummett, area district deputy grand master.

"We feel honored that Pampa was selected as one of 16 cities for degree work," Brummett said.

Vice grand master Jim Radcliff presided over the initiation in the absence of ailing noble grand master Carl H. Baer.

Other meetings were held in Beaumont, Weslaco, Wichita Falls, Kilgore, Denver City, Sulphur Springs, Dallas, Mt. Pleasant, Waco, Quemado, Midland, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Houston.

Each of the more than 400 Texas lodges was expected to be represented at one of the area meetings, Brummett said.

Six candidates were inducted into the order at the meeting here.

Members of Pampa's Rebekah Lodge served the visiting Odd Fellows a banquet before the initiation.

Strangler In Cincinnati Claims Sixth

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Lula Kerrick, 81, genuflected, blessed herself and walked out of the church into the misty half-light of dawn.

Within an hour she was dead, the likely victim of a killer who has struck five times previously here, a killer who has won the name of the Cincinnati Strangler.

Miss Kerrick's body was found at 8:20 a.m. Friday, garroted with her own stocking a few feet from the fifth floor apartment where she lived alone, within hailing distance of the central police station.

Police picked up a probation violator for questioning, then later charged him with assault on a complaint filed by a young woman who claimed he had followed her in a car seven hours before the Kerrick slaying.

The suspect, Postel Laskey, 29, was to be arraigned on the assault charge today. Police said he was still being held for investigation in Miss Kerrick's death.

The pattern of Miss Kerrick's death differed from the five previous slayings ascribed to the strangler. All had been beaten and raped. Miss Kerrick was not.

Ruby Suffering From Cancer

DALLAS (UPI) — Doctors at Parkland Hospital Saturday confirmed Jack Ruby, charged slayer of presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, is suffering from cancer.

Doctor Jay Sanford and Watts Webb of the Southwest Medical School in Dallas, said Ruby had been operated on early Saturday and that cancer had been found in Ruby's lymph node. They said it had spread from some other part of his body.

Sanford and Webb told newsmen the lymph node surgery provided them tissue for extensive tests that will start next week to find out how serious the malignant growth is and how much of the cancer has spread.

A tube was inserted in Ruby's chest Saturday under local anesthetic so that more fluid could be removed from Ruby's lungs. At the same time the lymph node, a gland near the right collarbone, was removed in a 45-minute operation.

Doctors Sanford and Webb said whether the cancerous growth can be stopped depends on where it started. They pointed out that Arthur Godfred had an extensive tumor removed years ago and is going well.

"His immediate condition is good but his long term outlook is guarded," Webb said. Webb performed the biopsy.

The tests that will begin Monday will determine if more surgery is needed now and will pinpoint the source of the cancer.

Doctors at the hospital gave Ruby a preliminary diagnosis of pneumonia when he first entered the hospital Friday. But hospital spokesmen Saturday had hinted Ruby suffered from something far more serious than pneumonia.

Ruby's sister, Eva Grant, contended he had been ill for weeks and indicated she did not think Ruby was "ared for properly in jail."

Dr. J. M. Pickard, county health officer, examined him Friday and decided Ruby should go to the hospital. At Parkland, Ruby was given an admitting diagnosis of pneumonia, just to get him officially admitted.

But one source said tests gave indications other than pneumonia.

The Defense Department said officially that it had "no comment" on these reports.

Informed sources were unable to confirm or deny that the Soviet trawlers, which are well equipped with electronic gear, are being used for this purpose.

Observers speculated, however, that if the reports are true the warnings from the trawlers would be of little use to the Viet Cong, since the Soviet vessels presumably would have no way of knowing where the B52s were going to strike.

Such warnings might even be a negative morale factor for the Viet Cong, tending to produce jitters in many enemy encampments when only one was to be hit.

There are three Soviet trawlers to patrol in the Far East. One is constantly off Viet Nam. Another watches Guam, where the B52s take off. The third shifts between these areas and the waters farther north around Okinawa.

The trawlers are careful to stay within their rights. It is assumed that U.S. vessels monitor their broadcasts, but these could be in untranslatable code. If they reported the presence of bombers in the sky it would not violate international law, officials said.

Observers suggested, however, that the trawlers probably have larger interest than aiding resupply point for Polaris missile submarines as well as the Pacific base for B52 bombers.

Vessels Submits Request To Have Probe of Sanity

Convicted rapist Tom R. Vessels, 29, filed a handwritten request here Friday asking that he be granted a sanity examination in the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital at Fort Worth.

Vessels, convicted Oct. 29 for the rape of a Pampa housewife last April 28, is awaiting formal sentencing in Judge Lewis M. Goodrich's 31st Judicial Court here.

Accompanied by Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan, Vessels appeared in District Clerk Helen Sprinkle's office Friday and presented two identical handwritten requests. One was to be filed in the clerk's office. The other was for Judge Goodrich who presided at the week-long trial in which a 12-man jury found Vessels guilty and assessed a penalty of death in the electric chair.

Vessels wrote the request in his Gray County cell and asked to be taken to the district clerk's office to file it. As of Friday, the family of the convicted man had been unable to secure a lawyer to handle legal matters for him.

The request for a sanity hearing states in part that during the trial Vessels was unable to correspond or assist his attorney (court-appointed James M. Bowers) and that he (Vessels) was under medication by order of a Potter County jail doctor.

Vessels claims his mental disorder began in June, 1955, when he was committed to a USAF hospital for mental observation. He further claims that "my records prove no confusion prior to that commitment."

The request states, "Tom Ball, chief U. S. attorney, has said he will make immediate arrangements free of charge, with no obligation to the court, county or state for my full examination by the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital in Fort Worth to determine my sanity."

Vessels charges his attorney with incompetence "for not bringing out my mental disorder since the district attorney (Bill Waters) brought out my (See VESSELS, Page 3)

Russian Trawlers Off Viet Nam May Be Warning V.C. of Bombers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Military observers are taking a light view of reports that Russian trawlers off Guam and Viet Nam may be warning the Communist Viet Cong when B52 bombers take off or approach the Vietnamese coast.

The Defense Department said officially that it had "no comment" on these reports.

Informed sources were unable to confirm or deny that the Soviet trawlers, which are well equipped with electronic gear, are being used for this purpose.

Observers speculated, however, that if the reports are true the warnings from the trawlers would be of little use to the Viet Cong, since the Soviet vessels presumably would have no way of knowing where the B52s were going to strike.

Such warnings might even be a negative morale factor for the Viet Cong, tending to produce jitters in many enemy encampments when only one was to be hit.

The trawlers are careful to stay within their rights. It is assumed that U.S. vessels monitor their broadcasts, but these could be in untranslatable code. If they reported the presence of bombers in the sky it would not violate international law, officials said.

Air Strike Called; Bombs Miss Target

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. Marine planes Saturday accidentally dropped two 250-pound bombs on a company of Marine troops in a "one in a million" tragedy that killed 16 Americans and wounded 11 others near the demilitarized zone separating North and South Viet Nam.

Spokesmen said the bombs either bounced back off the rocks of "Razorback Ridge" or fell on the Marines about 300 yards away from the planes' intended target. It was the worst single incident of its kind involving U.S. troops in the Viet Nam war.

The tragedy occurred as 4,000 more U.S. troops landed in Viet Nam to bring the American armed strength in the war to more than 366,000 men and 18 supersonic supersonic jets flew in to boost American air power.

In Saigon, Viet Cong guerrillas were thwarted a second straight time in an attempt to blow up a Saigon river bridge after the Communists set off two explosions at a huge U.S. ammunition dump in an apparent coordinated bid to cripple the flow of U.S. arms and supplies to the battlefields.

The Marine bombing accident occurred as the Leatherneck company called in an air strike against North Vietnamese forces during heavy new fighting in the rugged jungle country south of the demilitarized zone border strip.

Two Marine planes answered the call and dropped a total of six 250-pound bombs in the Razorback Ridge area near Thon Son Lam, and four miles south of the zone.

U.S. spokesmen said two of the bombs went over the top of a ridge and exploded in the positions of a company of the 3rd Battalion, 3rd Marines.

According to spokesmen, the bombs either bounced or fell on the Marines about 300 yards from the target zone.

A Marine official called the mishap a "one in a million" accident. It occurred as U.S. planes launched 29 strikes against Communist troops around the demilitarized zone in the wake of a new flareup of fighting in the Marines Operation Prairie.

The heavy fighting broke out Friday when a company of the 3rd Marines ran into heavy small arms fire from North Vietnamese troops. The Americans battled back and called in artillery and air strikes.

Marine reinforcements moved into the area Saturday morning, but there was no report of Communist casualties. Marine casualties were described as light.

Officials said at least 1,285 Communist troops have been killed so far in the month-old Operation Prairie.

CITY'S OLDEST TRADITION

Ritual Re-Creates Holy Significance

By DORIS E. WILSON News Staff Writer

The mood of the Christmas season with all its religious significance will be brought into sharp focus Thursday night with the traditional lighting of the seven life-size Nativity scenes in Central Park.

The tradition, which had its beginning in 1947 with only one scene on the courthouse lawn, has grown in the number of scenes and in the hearts of Pampans and area citizens who visit the tableau throughout the holiday season.

The lighting ceremony program this year is being arranged by the Tru-Teens with Mar-

Smog Again Covers East

NEW YORK (UPI) — Smog blanketed the metropolitan area Saturday in New York City's second air pollution crisis since Thanksgiving, but this time relief came quickly.

The U.S. Weather Bureau issued a high air pollution potential advisory, warning that the pall of smoke and fog should linger over the densely populated area until Sunday morning. Mayor John V. Lindsay pleaded for public support to fight the pollution problem.

Within hours, however, the twin effects of strong sun and brisk wind aloft cleared away much of the pollution-laden fog and circulated fresh air. The temperature, which reached a record 66 degrees Friday, began dropping from a still unusually high reading of 60 at mid-day Saturday. It was 58 at 2 p.m. CST.

The city's air pollution index fell from more than twice the normal of 12 to only 11.9 at 2 p.m. but experts were wary.

"The pollution is dropping rapidly but how long it will be doing that we don't know," a spokesman at the air pollution laboratory said at mid-afternoon. "The Weather Bureau is still a little pessimistic."

Lindsay, in New Haven, Conn., during the morning to attend a meeting of the Yale Corporation, was in constant touch with city Air Pollution Commissioner Austin N. Heller. "Maybe this will help to get public support for some of the things we're trying to do to dropping from a still unusually CITY SALES TAX?

That Reopening Set For Decision Tuesday

A decision on the reopening of Thut St., consideration of a request to support efforts to enable local option sales tax elections, and the opening of bids on Pampa's overall street paving program are among major items on the agenda at Tuesday's meeting of the Pampa City Commission.

Decision on a request to reopen Thut St. as an arterial cross-town thoroughfare is expected to be made.

The street has been closed between Russell and Somerville for nearly two years. It was closed to permit proposed expansion of an industry.

When the expansion plan was dropped, another petition was submitted last August asking that the street be reopened.

Since then city officials have been studying physical aspects and the petition asking for the reopening.

The city manager is expected to make a report to the commission Tuesday on the findings.

Another top item on Tuesday's agenda will be the opening of bids on the first phase of Pampa's proposed 200-block street paving program authorized by the voters.

Commissioners also will consider feasibility of adopting a resolution supporting the Texas Municipal League plan to ask the Texas Legislature to enact enabling legislation to allow cities to call a local option election on levying a city sales tax.

City Manager Jim White said Saturday the proposal will be placed before the city commissioners only for consideration. They can support it or reject it, White said.

The Municipal League is seeking the legislative action as a means of providing a new source of municipal revenue without further property tax increases.

Final reading will be given to two traffic ordinances — one to remove the stop sign and make N. Somerville a through street at Cook and another authorizing the erection of a traffic light at the intersection of N. Somerville and Hobart streets.

Britain Pushing S. Africa To Agree With UN

LONDON (UPI) — Britain exerted pressure on South Africa Saturday to cooperate with other United Nations members in enforcing mandatory sanctions against rebellious Rhodesia.

In an apparent attempt to sway South African Premier John Vorster, Foreign Secretary George Brown said, "South Africa is involved. She is a member state. Mandatory sanctions are mandatory upon every member state."

Brown spoke at a news conference on his return from New York, where he presented Britain's sanctions demand against Rhodesia to the U.N. Security Council.

"This is a mandatory call upon all members states to do certain things. We would not assume South Africa will place herself in a situation where she is in conflict with the world organization," he said.

Brown's words appeared designed to pressure South Africa into joining other U.N. members in enforcing sanctions, particularly an oil embargo.

During the past year of voluntary sanctions, South Africa and Portuguese Africa have been Rhodesia's two main sources of oil and other vital supplies.

Until recently, Britain resisted including an oil embargo in sanctions against Rhodesia in fear of an economic and (See BRITAIN, Page 3)

Eisenhower To Undergo Surgery Monday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will undergo an hour and a half operation Monday for removal of his gall bladder.

Doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital set the operation for 7 a.m. CST after extensive medical checks that showed the 76-year-old five star general had "multiple" gall stones.

Despite Eisenhower's age and recent medical history, doctors termed the operation "low risk."

A hospital announcement Saturday said that Eisenhower probably would remain in the hospital for 10 days to two weeks after surgery.

Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower will stay with him at the hospital for at least part of his convalescence. Their son, John, will be there during the surgery.

The surgical team will consist of Lt. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, Army surgeon general; Maj. Gen. Douglas B. Hendrick, commander of Walter Reed; Col. W. Hughes, chief of the department of surgery at the hospital; and Col. Joseph H. Baugh, chief of general surgery at the hospital.

The decision to go ahead with the surgery came after the medical examinations and consultation between several leading doctors, including cardiology experts.

Eisenhower has had two major heart attacks, one in 1955 and another in 1961. He also has suffered a mild stroke, arthritis and ileitis.

The former president entered the hospital Thursday after a brief ride in a jet helicopter from his Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

He was in good spirits and apparently suffered no pain from the gallstones. He said then that he hoped to be playing golf again by late February in the California desert where he has spent the last several winters.

Peace Corps And Draft Boards In Head-On Clash

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Peace Corps, acting in the face of "increased pressure," is advising conscripts on how best to cope with local draft boards that call them up from overseas or military service.

Peace Corps Director Jack Hood Vaughn, in a speech Thursday at Utah State University in Logan, took sharp issue with the policy of some local draft boards, declaring that conscripts were "second to no other American"—including soldiers in Viet Nam.

"I am ready to dispute anyone on that point, including 4,600 draft boards if it comes to that," Vaughn said.

"Perhaps I am leading the question, but I believe that if I could ask our young men in combat a single question about the Peace Corps, it would be this:

"If it were in your power to defer, for two years, a qualified man whose service elsewhere might in some very small way lessen the chances of this kind of thing happening again . . . would you do so?"

"I believe the answer would be 'yes,'" Vaughn said.

To date, only Phillip J. Wagner, 24, of Felton, Calif., a Peace Corps volunteer in Peru, has been inducted. Ten others have been granted deferments, four are facing callup, and twenty-one are in an "unresolved" category.

One other volunteer—Fred Lonidier, 24, of Oroville, Calif.—has been recalled for induction. It was he who focused attention on the Peace Corps-draft conflict when he complained in a letter to the editor of the Manila Times before he was sent home from the Philippines.

Both Wagner and Lonidier came under the jurisdiction of the Butte County, Calif., draft board at Oroville. Board Chairman Robert O'Brien has said he opposes a policy that permits the Peace Corps to "keep boys out of the draft."

Income Tax Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE—This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Pampa office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published by the Pampa News as a public service to taxpayers.

Q—My wife and I are both college students who are supported by our parents. Each of us earned less than $600 last summer and think we should get a refund of the withheld income tax. Can we file for a refund without endangering the exemption our parents take for us?

A—Yes. Both of you can file a return to get your refund. Your parents can still claim exemptions for you and your wife if they provided more than half the support for each of you.

Q—I owe some taxes for last year. When I was called into your office about this, they said they would attach my salary unless I agreed to settle up. Could you really attach my salary?

A—Under the law, IRS may attach salaries and other property when it is necessary to protect the revenue. These measures are taken only when a taxpayer refuses or neglects to satisfy a tax liability.

Q—I came into a small inheritance. Do I have to declare that as income when I file my federal income tax return?

A—No. There is no federal income tax on inheritances. There is a federal estate tax, however, which is levied on the total inheritance before it is distributed to the beneficiaries. Income from your inherited property is taxable income.

Q—How soon will the new tax forms be ready? I want to get my refund as soon as I can.

A—Tax forms will be available at IRS offices as well as at many post offices and banks the first of the year. Most taxpayers will receive either a 1040 or 1040A tax package in the mail.

Q—Every Christmas I help one of our local charities with their fund-raising drive. Can I take a deduction for the time I devote to this?

A—No, the value of your time or services is not deductible. Any out of pocket expenses you incur as a result of the charitable work may be deducted as a charitable contribution.

MOVING WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—"Westward Ho" is still the cry among Americans but the census bureau says the rush West has slowed in recent years.

A bureau report Friday said that from 1960 to 1964, the western United States was gaining an average of 500,000 population a year while in the 1964-66 period, the annual rate slipped to 150,000.

Coordinator Named To DE Hall Of Fame

Clinton W. Forbes, distributive education coordinator for Pampa High School, was inducted into the Distributive Education Teachers Hall of Fame at the national convention in Denver, Colo.

The Pampa teacher, who returned Thursday from the four-day convention, was one of D.E. teachers named for the honor this year, bringing the total to 88 for the past seven years since the program was started nationwide.

Hall of Fame members are chosen on the basis of their participation as a distributive education student in high school, high college academic average, successful career in retail management, and record of achievements as a D.E. teacher.

Civil Defense Warning Signals Redefined by Army Department

The Department of the Army's Office of Civil Defense has released a memorandum for state and local civil defense directors which redefines the meaning and application of civil defense warning signals.

Bill Leonard, Gray County civil defense director, said the effective date for the new warning procedures in event of an actual attack against the country will be March 1.

The directive received by Leonard from William P. Durkee, national civil defense director, follows:

"Upon determination by appropriate national authorities at the North American Air Defense Command that an actual attack against the country has been detected, the attack warning message will be disseminated over the National Warning System (NAWAS).

"This is an attack warning, repeat this is an attack warning. Time 1420 hours Zulu, date."

"Immediately upon receipt of this message the attack warning signal will be sounded on all public warning devices. The attack warning signal shall be a three to five minute wailing tone on sirens or short blasts on horns or other devices repeated as deemed necessary. The attack signal shall mean that an actual attack against this country has been detected and that protective action should be taken immediately.

"As a matter of national civil defense policy the attack warning signal shall be used for no other purposes and have no other meanings. The attack warning signal shall be repeated as often as indicated by the national warning system or as

GILDED GOVERNORS

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—Governors of the Grand Old Party were to ride in high style today in 15 gold-painted Cadillacs equipped with all kinds of accessories, including automatic seat warmers.

The $7,800 cars, requested by the office of Colorado Gov. John Love for the annual Republican Governors Conference Friday and Saturday, were supplied by General Motors, which plans to sell them after the convention to Denver-area dealers.

OVER ABUNDANCE

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Two men named Joe Rodrigue were summoned for jury duty Tuesday. One of them discovered, after testimony began, that his namesake was sitting in the jury box.

Joe Rodrigue No. 1 complained to the judge about the Joe Rodrigue No. 2 and a mistrial was declared. Both Joes went home.

LBJ Lines Up Budget Conferences

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson lined up budget study sessions and conferences with several department heads for today, his first day back at the White House since his surgery last month.

Mid-day appointments were scheduled with Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, Budget Director Charles L. Schultz and Eugene Black of the Asian Bank, but Johnson also planned to work in budget reviews of at least four departments.

These were State, Treasury, Veterans Administration and the U.S. Information Agency, some of the more important bureaus whose budgets for the fiscal year 1968 must be ready for presentation of the overall budget message to Congress next month.

Wildcat Gas Well Found

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company et al have an apparent gas discovery at a wildcat some 61 miles northeast of Pampa.

A drillstem test of a granite wash at 5166-5196 feet in the No. Spearman Unit, C NE SE Sec. 23, Blk. 3, 1&GN Survey, Gray County, had gas to the surface in two minutes. In eight minutes volume reached 4,260,000 cubic feet per day with a good spray of distillate. Recovery was 522 feet of distillate. Initial and final shut-in pressures were 1,524 pounds.

The Spearman Unit is being drilled as a 9,300-foot Ellenberger test on a four-section block held by Sinclair Oil & Gas, Cabot Corporation, Ni-Gas Supply, Inc., and C. F. Braun & Co. with Sinclair as operator.

The site is about one mile southeast of deeper production and some seven miles south of the nearest granite wash production. Drilling continued during the weekend.

Judge Goodrich said Wednesday, prior to the filing of the request for a sanity hearing, that he had planned to give the family until Dec. 15 to hire an attorney, but that if additional time was needed he would grant it.

SANTA'S HELPERS — In order that some children less fortunate than others may have a merry Christmas, city firemen this week delivered the first truckload of new toys to the Salvation Army's office in time for a Children's Christmas party. The new toys were purchased by the firemen with proceeds from the annual Firemen's Ball. Acting as Santa's intermediaries are, from the left, Fire Chief Ernest Winborne, Assistant Chief J. V. Pirkle and Salvation Army Captain Robert J. Tritton.

Salvation Army Resembles North Pole Toy Shop

Salvation Army Headquarters, 611 E. Albert, is beginning to look like Santa's Toy Shop at the North Pole with the arrival of the first truckload of toys purchased by city firemen with proceeds from their annual Firemen's Ball.

Salvation Army Captain Robert J. Tritton said toys will be given to deserving children at a community Christmas party planned for 7 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 21. The party will be held in the former Montgomery Ward building on N. Cuyler.

In order for children to attend the party, parents must contact the Salvation Army office, 611 E. Albert, and have their children's names put on the invitation list.

Salvation Army workers will begin making up the invitation list tomorrow and will accept names between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. daily until Monday, Dec. 19.

Starting tomorrow, also, applications will be taken for Christmas baskets with Dec. 21 set as the deadline.

Civic groups, church groups and other organizations wishing to sponsor a family for a basket can call MO 9-9921 or MO 9-9631, according to Captain Tritton.

Britain

Under heavy pressure from African commonwealth states, Brown backed down in New York. But he also made it clear that the oil embargo would be applied only against Rhodesia and not against South Africa as well.

Brown indicated Britain will refuse further peace talks with Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith. He said Smith was told by Prime Minister Harold Wilson last weekend that this was his "final decisive chance" and that "certain consequences would follow" if he did not take it.

"The consequences are following," Brown said.

Brown reported to Wilson Saturday about his New York talks and prospects of getting the sanctions resolution adopted.

Ritual

(Continued From Page 1) additional scenes and other artists, including Mrs. Claudine Vail, Miss Florence Jackson, Mrs. A. D. Hills, and Roger Long, contributed their talents to establishing what has become a 19-year tradition and an event that attracts many area citizens throughout the Christmas holidays.

The nativity scenes became a community effort, sponsored by the chamber of commerce and the Pampa Parks Department.

In addition to the artistic efforts, practical needs such as construction, cutouts and wiring were contributed by the late E. V. Ward, Homer Schere, Jim and Harry Garrett, A. D. Henry, and Lee Rogers.

The passage of time and weather elements had almost destroyed the religious tableau.

This summer, while Pampa's populace sweltered in 90-plus temperature, Pampa artists, directed by Mrs. Hills and Mrs. Thelma Gray, set up a restoration workshop in the old Culbertson Bldg., Ballard and Francis. They repainted and refurbished this city's most beloved tradition.

On those stifling July days, they were thinking ahead to a chilly December evening when results of their "labor of love" would be evident.

That evening will be Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in Central Park.

Smog

The mayor was vacationing in Bermuda during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend pollution emergency when the first in a series of alerts was issued for the city and the neighboring states of New Jersey and Connecticut.

There was little fog problem in the earlier crisis, which was blamed on a cap of warm air that prevented cooler air from rising to dissipate its load of pollutants.

Obituaries

Mrs. Vera Mae Bankston, Mrs. Vera Mae Bankston, 61, of Arkansas City, Ark., former resident of Pampa and Lefors, died Friday morning in her home.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow in Carmichael-Whately Colonial Chapel with Rev. Clifford Parker, pastor of North Amarillo Christian Church officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery under direction of Carmichael-Whately Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Bankston was born April 16, 1905, in Boston, Ark. She moved to Arkansas City ten years ago from Pampa. Mrs. Bankston was a member of Lefors Bible Baptist Church of Shamrock, Okla., Order of the Eastern Star.

Survivors include her husband, Dewey Bankston of the home; five sons, Arlie Burchfield of Amarillo, W. T. Burchfield of Corona, Calif., Clifford L. Burchfield of Sand Springs, Okla., Roy E. Burchfield of Arkansas City, Ark., and Bob Burchfield of Farmington, N. M.; two brothers, Ralph Ward of Tala, Okla., and Willie Ward of Mound, Okla.; four sisters, Mrs. Ruth Cannady of Wheatland, Mo., Mrs. Mattie Gibbs of Jinks, Okla., Mrs. Myrtle Price of Rose, Okla., and Mrs. Vida Coker of Chactaw, Okla.; two step-sons, Tommy Bankston of Wichita, Kan., and Chuck Bankston of Fort Worth; a step-daughter, Mrs. Mariah Tussenberg of Ellensburg Wash., 24 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Carlos Wilhite, David Williams, Albert Tamm, Kenneth Duncan, Homer King, Gus Hampton and Walter Lay.

Price said that he had been told by Air Force officials that no bases scheduled for closing in the past five years have had the orders for phaseout revoked.

Price, in a pessimistic statement on any future use of the base by the Air Force after the scheduled phaseout, urged Amarillo "to continue to search for an industry to take over base facilities." He pledged his assistance in any way possible.

Discussing the undergraduate school for pilots, Price said, "While the exact location has not been announced, I was able to learn that the base selected is not one of those designated for closing."

The new pilot training base is planned to meet the stepped-up demand for qualified Air Force pilots brought on by the increase in the fighting in Viet Nam. The additional training was authorized by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

FW&D Rail Discontinues Two Trains

Following approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission this week, the Fort Worth and Denver Railway has announced discontinuance of passenger trains, Nos. 1 and 8 between Dallas-Fort Worth and Denver, effective with the trains leaving these terminals on Dec. 15, according to B. G. Mongingo, Burlington Lines agent. The trains are operated jointly by the FW&D and its Denver-based affiliate, the Colorado and Southern and run through Amarillo.

Since Pampa is not on the railway's main line, this discontinuance will not affect traffic here, Mongingo said.

This change will leave one passenger train in each direction daily between Dallas-Fort Worth and Denver, designated as the Texas Zephyr. The north-bound train will leave Dallas at 1:35 p.m., Fort Worth at 2:50 p.m., and arrive Denver at 7 a.m. Southbound, the train will leave Denver at 8 p.m. and arrive Fort Worth 3:55 p.m. and Dallas 5 p.m.

In announcing the cut in service, FW&D officials emphasized that the remaining trains will be operated with modern stainless steel equipment, providing chair car, Pullman and dining car service.

In recent hearings held by the Interstate Commerce Commission, railroad witnesses testified that trains 1 and 8 lost $266,758 during the first six months of 1966.

In its decision released Tuesday, the Commission said "We find that operation by the Colorado and Southern Railway Co. and Fort Worth and Denver, Railway Co., of passenger trains Nos. 1 and 8, between Dallas, Texas and Denver, Colorado, is not required by the public convenience and necessity and that continued operation thereof would unduly burden interstate or foreign commerce."

Yule Festival Set At Harrah Methodist

A Christmas festival titled "The Little Drummer Boy" will be presented at 8:30 this evening in Harrah Methodist Church, 629 S. Barnes.

The festival is under the direction of Mrs. Peggy Patrick with her daughter, Susan, as accompanist.

"The Little Drummer Boy" is a medley of Christmas songs, old and new, sung by children and the Chancel Choir.

Jerry Lambright will be featured in the title role as "drummer boy" with Johnny Schmidt of the Church of the Brethren as guest soloist and narrator.

Scripture reading and the nativity scenes will be depicted by members of the Juniors' Sunday School class.

Rev. Walter White, church pastor, extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend.

Thomas Still In Critical Condition

The Jerry Thomas family, all but the father, beaten, have been released from hospitals in Amarillo and Pampa.

Only the father, Jerry Thomas, remains in critical condition in Amarillo's St. Anthony's Hospital.

Thomas shot himself in the head after beating his wife, two daughters and a son with a claw hammer.

One daughter, Joan, 10, was in critical condition at Amarillo but has since gone home. The mother, who later underwent surgery in Amarillo, along with another daughter, Jeanne, 11, and a son, Robert, 14, were taken to Highland General in Pampa.

The incident occurred December 1.

The Family Lawyer

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

Five-year-old Billy, on his own at the supermarket, took energetic command of a shopping cart. For about 15 minutes he trotted along joyfully, pushing the cart in front of him. But at last, veering around a corner, he rammed the cart into an unsuspecting woman shopper.

Painfully injured, the woman sued the management and won a substantial judgment. The court said there was plenty of time for store employees to have noticed Billy's antics and brought him to a halt.

Case No. Two:
A woman shopper was standing at the checkout counter, her arms laden with groceries, when a heavy can of peaches slipped from her grasp, it landed squarely on the toe of a man behind her. And he too sought to collect from the management for his pain and anguish.

But this time, the victim's claim was denied. The court said this was the kind of accident that not even careful supervision by the market would have prevented.

It is not rare, on a store's premises, for one customer to carelessly cause injury to another. For assorted reasons, the victim may sue not the customer who injured him but the management.

As the above cases illustrate, the store may indeed be held liable—but only when the danger could have been reasonably foreseen and reasonably prevented.

What if there is some inherent danger in the merchandise itself? That is an extra dimension to the store's policing responsibilities. Thus:

A gun shop that allowed a patron to manipulate a loaded shotgun was held liable when he accidentally shot another man's head.

Suppose the customer is not merely careless but reckless or even vicious. As a rule that is not considered foreseeable, so the store is not to blame.

For example, a store was held not liable when a man suddenly and deliberately shoved a woman through a plate glass window. The court said the man-

EASY AS ABC — News Circulation Manager Tommie Nichols watches as Audit Bureau of Circulation auditor J. W. Leiser, finishes the final tabulation of the annual Pampa Daily News circulation audit.

Daily News Circulation To Get Bureau's Certification

Providing accurate information and protection for advertising space buyers and not just estimates of coverage and number of "viewers" or "listeners" as offered by most media, The Pampa Daily News, like the majority of daily newspapers has a circulation audit by traveling auditors employed by the Audit Bureau of Circulation, Chicago.

J. W. Leiser has just completed this year's audit of the circulation of the Pampa News. After checking circulation books and other records for accuracy, Leiser has forwarded this report to the bureau's Chicago headquarters where it will be further checked before acceptance and printing. Copies of these reports will be available to all advertisers after final approval.

Tommie Nichols, in charge of the News' circulation department, explained that the auditor checks everything. "He goes over records, receipts, circulation reports, ledgers," she said. His job, which we welcome, is to verify the circulation and issue a just and fair report on the paper's net paid circulation. The audit provides an honest appraisal of circulation that guarantees the advertiser that he is getting full value for his advertising dollar.

Auditors are hired and directed by the Audit Bureau of Circulation and are not on the payroll of newspapers although newspapers are assessed for the cost of audits.

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—A housewife, swearing out a complaint of assault and battery against her husband, told police she planned to stay married to him although she doesn't love him. "I intend to make the next six years as miserable for him as the past six have been for me," she explained.

Pentagon Plan Gives Guardsmen Active Training

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Pentagon's new plan to give 150,000 National Guardsmen and reservists active duty training the first half of 1967 was apparently made to forestall another wave of congressional criticism.

There is a backlog of 120,000 men in these two branches who enlisted under the so-called six-month program but have never gone on active duty for their initial training.

Congressmen in both houses charged earlier this year that the Pentagon had created a situation where youths could duck into a six-month reserve program, effectively avoiding both active duty training as reservists and regular service under the draft.

The six-month option permits draft eligibles to enlist in the Army Reserve or National Guard, take from four to 10 months active duty training depending on their specialty, and serve out the remainder of their military obligation as civilians in units which drill weekly and spend several weeks at summer camp.

The Pentagon's counter to the congressional criticism was that the greatly increased monthly draft calls required by the Viet Nam buildup had crowded six-month trainees out of the overburdened training camps. Officials pointed to October's post-Korea draft high of 49,200. But Friday, a draft call of only 10,900 men for February was announced, the lowest monthly quota since May, 1965.

This, the Pentagon said, was a result of an "attendant reduction in active Army training requirements during the first half of 1967," and would permit the active duty training of 150,000 six-month reservists during that period.

About 60 per cent of the untrained men are in the National Guard, the Army said. About 7,600 are in the Guard-reserve "select force" prepared for possible quick mobilization. The rest are in other units of the organized army reserve.

Officials predicted that by next June there would be only 15,000 to 20,000 reservists awaiting training. In addition to absorbing the present backlog, the new plan is also expected to allow new six-month enlistees to serve as soon as they sign up.

This Week In Business

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pessimistic forecasts and caution marked this week's business news. Perhaps most discouraging was a Dun & Bradstreet report that Christmas shopping is not at expected levels.

Stocks in the Midwest discouraged shoppers and retail sales in the Pacific Coast, Rocky Mountain and South Atlantic states trailed last year's pace. Only in New England and the Middle Atlantic states did retailers report good gains.

The National Association of Purchasing Agents said its members are more bearish about the outlook for the new year than at anytime in the past six years. However, a Commerce Department survey said most manufacturers expect sales to improve a little in 1967. The department anticipated a manufacturers' sales gain of $2.2 billion in the first quarter of the new year compared with a gain of $1.5 billion in the current quarter.

The Federal Reserve Board said installment credit grew by only $380 million in October, the second consecutive monthly decline. Back in August, installment credit jumped by $602 million.

November manufacturers' orders turned down from October's pace, which is normal, but the proportion of firms reporting substantial downturns was higher than usual.

Domestic automobile production this week again lagged behind last year's pace by about 6 per cent.

Cutbacks caused layoffs in some auto assembly plants although not on a big scale.

TURKEY IMPROVEMENTS COMING — The head of Texas A&M University's Poultry Science Department, Dr. John H. Quisenberry, told the annual Turkey Industry Day conference that during the next 10 years the rate of gain should rise three or more pounds body weight on hens at market age and five pounds on toms. Breeders should and are striving to develop a smaller, smoother, faster growing, higher producing hen and a large, sturdy, fast growing, reasonably balanced vigorous, high sperm-producing tom, he said.

The first automatic gas water heater was made in 1839 developed in 1909.

New Books In Pampa Jr. High

Mrs. Ruth Watson, librarian, lists the following new books in Pampa Junior High School library:

"The Sly One" — By Lockhart Jonathan Flower and his father manage to outwit a leading foreign criminal who has extended his operations to the Philadelphia area and Long Island.

"The Mystery Clock" — By Jean Bothwell; This story involves a young boy, and elderly woman, and an antique clock containing a hidden message.

"Land, Sea and Sky" — by George Grobo; Explains the natural phenomena of our planet and its surrounding atmosphere — the movement of glaciers, the Aurora Borealis, volcanic eruptions, and many other wonders. A special section is devoted to American landmarks.

"The Treasure and the Song" — By Mildred Lawrence; Her parent's divorce throws a young girl into a state of nearly total self-concern and her restoration is a hard-fought struggle.

"Buffalo Grass" — by Steven Laury; A fourteen-year-old boy from Boston is saved from the Indians by a buffalo hunter. Until reunited with his family, he lives the hard and exciting life of the hunters, which has a maturing effect on his sense of values.

"William the Conqueror" — by Elizabeth Luckock; Dramatic and exciting account of the man responsible for the conquest of England, detailing events from his birth to the famous battle of Hastings.

"America Laughs; a Treasury of Great Humor" — by Seymour Reit, ed.; An anthology of prose and poetry from the writings of more than twenty American humorists from Oliver Wendell Holmes to Art Buchwald.

"Freckled and Furtive" — by Viola Rowe; The girl in this story, Rusty, is one of the most lovable tomboys to be characterized in fiction in recent years. Her adventures and misadventures with her four brothers makes for a truly heart-warming story.

"Hold Yourself Dear" — by Pauline Smith; This Merel Conklin's own story, told by herself and revealing through her eyes and emotions the joy and pain of every girl's search for true values and a way of life.

"Science Beneath the Sea" — by William Stephens; An account of the weird life of the deep sea and some of its important discoveries, with projections of how future man will use the sea and its resources.

"Meet the Orchestra" — by William Sagg; An introduction to the concert orchestra — the instruments, the players, and the conductor — and how it developed through the age.

New Books on Shelves At Public Library

New books at the Lovett Memorial Library December 12, 1966 are:

"They Also Ran" — Irving Stone; first written in 1943, this tells about the people who lost the race for the Presidency of the United States, and has a transitional section on Stevenson, Nixon and Goldwater, which brings it up to date.

"The Passover Plot" — Hugh J. Schonfield; the author's approach to the life of Jesus Christ is historical, not theological.

"Isles of the Caribbees" — Carleton Mitchell; the third in a series of National Geographic books from the Special Publications Division.

"The Wedding Bargain" — Agnes Sligh Turnbull; parallel to the suspense story is the story of a man and a woman who entered into a unique bargain that sounded harsh but proved to be the prelude to true happiness.

"Another Spring" — Louisa Grace Erdman; a novel of the incredible struggle of three Midwestern families caught in the back wash of conflict and devastation.

"The Mask of Apollo" — Mary Renault; the Greek actor Nikeratos is the observer and narrator of this story of rivalry and ambition, set during the 4th century B.C.

"The Iron Orchard" — Tom Pendleton; an epic novel of the early oil boom in Texas and the Southwest — the story of a man who progresses through many colorful episodes to become one of the kings of the oil industry.

"Moss on the North Side" — Sylvia Wilkinson; the story of Cary, a half-Indian girl who grows up in a pocket of southern backwoods poverty. It is also the story of the indomitable spirit of a child, who, by any standards but her own, would have been labelled "deprived."

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director
Pampa Youth and Community Center

HOLIDAY TEEN DANCES — During the month of December several special teen dances have been scheduled. On Dec. 27 following the Perryton-Harvester basketball game the Cards from Amarillo will play for a dance from 9-11 p.m. This dance is our Christmas Dance and is sponsored by the Tru-Teens.

Then on Dec. 30 a very special attraction is coming to the center. Patti Seymour and the 21 Centuries will play for a dance from 8-11 p.m. Patti is a female vocalist and performed in the movie "The Silencers." This is the first vocalist the Center has promoted and will be a very special occasion.

Other dances during Dec. are: Dec. 16 the Essex from 8-11; Dec. 17 The Manchillo's Jr. Hi Dance from 7:30 to 10:30; Dec. 23 Essex from 8-11;

SWIM LESSON SCHEDULE — The new swim lesson schedule for 1967 has been finalized and is as follows: Jan. 9-25 4:00 Beginners and 5:00 Adv. Beg.; Jan. 30-Feb. 15 4:00 Beginners and 5:00 Intermediates; Feb. 20-March 8 4:00 Beginners and 5:00 Swimmers then on March 13-29 4:00 Beg. and 5:00 Adv. Beg.

Enrollment is free to center members and 13.00 per child for non-members. Each class lasts for 10 days meeting on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Fridays. If a child does not pass in one session, they may enroll again in the next session that their class is offered. Mrs. Jackie Marlar is the instructor.

CENTER MEMBERSHIPS AVAILABLE — Memberships to the Community Center are always available at the front office. They run for a full year from date of purchase so you receive full benefit of its use. Memberships are the most economical given as an add-on to the center's facilities. Free swim, tennis courts, volleyball, badminton, trampolining, tumbling, pool tables, ping pong tables, shuffleboard and other quiet games are available in addition to the indoor heated pool.

Family memberships for the whole household no matter how many is only $20 per year or $12 for six months. Individual memberships for persons 8 years of age or older are only $3 per year or $5 for six months. Children under eight must purchase membership through the family plan.

WOMEN'S SWIM TIME — The Center is trying an experiment to see if enough women would be interested in a twice weekly swim time just for them. The pool is available for women to swim on Mondays and Fridays from 10:00 to 11:30 a.m. Swimming is the best form of exercise there is so you women take advantage of this program. You need only be a center member to participate.

BASKETBALL LEAGUES — The Centers basketball leagues have started and games are scheduled for Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. The public is invited to watch. Two leagues are playing — the Pro and Novice — with 10 teams entered.

DEMOCRAT CAUCUS

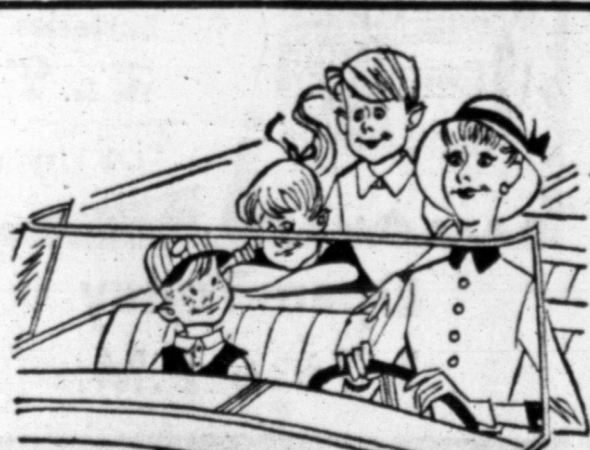

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Democrats were summoned Friday to a caucus on Jan. 9 to organize their diminished majority ranks for the 90th Congress that convenes the next day.

The gathering could be the scene of contests for some key power posts as well as a testing ground for a possible challenge to the seating of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y.

Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., secretary of the Democratic caucus, sent out notices calling the 248 Democrats to the caucus to organize, nominate House leaders and consider House rules.

GUARD COLLEGE

CALCUTTA (UPI) — Police Saturday guarded the government-operated Presidency College, closed indefinitely because students ransacked part of the building. The students were protesting expulsion of some program. You need only be a center member to participate.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL, Executive Secretary ARC
There will be no Red Cross Board meeting Tuesday morning due to the board's decision at the November meeting. All board members will enjoy the holiday and be ready to meet Jan. 10. We regret that we have lost board member, Phillip Stovall, who has moved to Borger where he will be assigned to a Baptist Church. We wish him every good thing in the new year to come.

The following children have completed their Red Cross courses at the Youth Center in Pampa with Mrs. Gerald Marlar, Red Cross Water Safety Instructor, beginner swimming: Twila Trimble, Mark Stovall, Cary Smith, Teresa Glasscock, Terry Trimble, James Wiggins and Ricky Hoyer. Intermediate swimmer: Lynn Laycock, Frank Davis, Rodger Haskings, Brenda Haskings, Rory Manning, Scott Smith, Jerry Sims, and Barry Sims. Swimmer: Lynn Laycock, Frank Davis, Jerry Sims and Rory Manning.

Television in Review

By RICK DU BROW, United Press International
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notes to watch television by:

The Headliners: The Christmas Eve broadcast of ABC-TV's "Hollywood Palace" will have Bing Crosby as host and Kate Smith, Cyd Charisse and Bob Newhart as guests. Morey Amsterdam appears on CBS-TV's "Daktari" Dec. 27 as a comedian who throws a jungle compound into turmoil when he tries to record animal sounds for his act. Ralph Bellamy is featured on ABC-TV's "The FBI" Christmas Day as the master of a freighter who claims his ship was sunk by a derelict Japanese vessel. NBC-TV's Jack Benny special of last week drew a strong spot rating.

Jimmy Durante, Jimmy Dean and The Supremes are added starters on NBC-TV's "Ice Capades of 1967" hour Feb. 13. Same Network's Andy Williams show of Christmas Day includes an ice skating theme, as well as Edgar Bergen and his dummies, Charlie McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd. The "ABC Stage 67" drama "The Trap of Solid Gold," in which Cliff Robertson and Dina Merrill appear in a tale of a young couple caught in the executive rat race, is scheduled for Jan. 4. For those who enjoy the suffering school of acting, John Cassavetes and Ben Gazzara star on NBC-TV's Bob Hope Theatre Dec. 28 in a story of two musicians at war with the rock 'n' roll world.

The famous Rockettes are in the cast of NBC-TV's special program "Christmas at the Radio City Music Hall," which is planned for next year's yule season—and the broadcast will originate from the actual theatre, and will include the celebrated pageant, "The Nativity." John Chancellor, the former NBC-TV newsmen who once was host of the "Today" show and now is director of the Voice of America, is winning Lefors Elementary School enrolled with $182 and Hopkins School with $290. The Junior Red Cross News has been ordered for these schools. Mrs. Johnny Spert is the teacher sponsor for both schools.

Standard First Aid is being taught at the Duenkel Funeral Home so that all ambulance drivers will be authorized and will carry a Standard First Aid card. This is one of the requirements for all ambulance drivers in the state of Texas. Lewis Gallimore is the FA Instructor for Red Cross who is teaching the class.

Clifford Hill will teach the National Guard Sunday afternoon in a Standard course. There are 90 men in this unit who will receive their certificates.

The Red Cross is working with Mrs. Georgia Mack in trying to see that every needy family in Pampa has a good Christmas this year. If you know of a family who will not be able to provide their Christmas dinner call Mrs. Mack, MO 5-2216, and let us help with this work. Pampa clubs and organizations have been so generous this year with their Thanksgiving cheer and grocery baskets. Let us not forget that this is one way to serve Christ's birthday.

much praise for the new trend of the agency's radio broadcasts — more informal, contemporary and enjoyable rather than heavy handed propaganda. George Sanders is interviewed on "Today" next Friday. British hairdresser Vidal Sassoon guests on the same series Tuesday.

The programs: ABC-TV's "Directions," which has been examining the subject "The Church in Transition," has a Dec. 18 broadcast entitled "The Bishop and His Responsibilities." CBS-TV has a half-hour Christmas Eve program entitled "Let The Desert Be Joyful," featuring the Tucson Boys Chorus performing in and around a 17th Century Spanish mission near the Arizona City. "Christmas in the Marketplace," and hour story of the Nativity in modern idiom and an old world setting, is a Sunday afternoon special on "Directions" series Dec. 25. ABC-TV's "Year-End Review," in which reporters discuss the top events of 1966, will emanate from Howard K. Smith's Home Dec. 28.

CBS-TV visits New York City's Spanish Harlem in a half hour Dec. 25 broadcast, "Christmas in El Barrio." A repeat ABC-TV Christmas Eve special, "The Gift," is a true story of a New York City man who dons a Santa Claus costume each year and makes the rounds of well-known Manhattan landmarks to chat with children. "Rabbit Hill" is an "NBC Children's Theatre" program March 5 that deals with "small animals and how they view the world of man." "Thoroughbred," an NBC-TV documentary Jan. 22 follows a race horse from birth through competition.

Capt. Ayres Honored

Capt. James H. Ayres, instructor pilot of the 3500th Pilot Training Squadron, who earned many awards through a year's service in Vietnam, has been named the Distinguished Junior Officer of the Year at Reese Air Force Base.

Ayres is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ayres, of 923 E. Browning.

Resident of Pampa, and graduate of Pampa High School and Texas Tech, he was selected from nominees of various units on the base and after consideration of qualifications. He received his award during graduation exercises Saturday for Class 67-D from undergraduate pilot training at Reese. Col. Ernest T. Cragg, Reese Wing Commander, made the presentation.

"Captain James H. Ayres, by virtue of his moral character, self-improvement efforts, outstanding service to Reese Air Force Base and community, is hereby designated Distinguished Junior Officer of the Year for 1966," said the citation given him at Saturday's graduation ceremonies for Class 67-D from undergraduate pilot training at Reese.

"During the period June 1965 to June 1966, Captain Ayres distinguished himself in the performance of his military duties and his contribution to the community.

"In a matter of months after his arrival at Reese, Captain Ayres assumed the difficult and responsible positions of Flight Senior Scheduling Officer and Senior Mobile Controller. These demanding duties normally require considerable upgrading time and at least one year of experience as an Instructor Pilot.

Captain Ayres has been recognized for his outstanding work as Wing Boy Scout Project Office and as a member of the Reese AFB Small Bore Rifle Team. As Boy Scout Project Officer, he has introduced hundreds of area Scouts to Reese activities.

"While on the Rifle Team, he won the All-Air Training Command prone position championship for 1966.

"During his off-duty hours Captain Ayres has spoken to a variety of youth and civic organizations on the role of the U. S. in Southeast Asia.

"Captain Ayres' outstanding achievements and devotion to duty reflect great credit upon himself, the 3500 Pilot Training Wing, and the United States Air Force."

The captain, who lives at 318 Harmon Drive, was assigned to Reese last June following a year's service with the 309th Air Commando Squadron at Tan Son Nhut Air Base, Saigon, Vietnam. He entered service on graduation from Texas Tech in 1960 and was an instructor pilot at James Connally AFB, Waco, two-and-one-half years prior to going overseas.

For his service in Vietnam, he earned the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medals with 13 oak leaf clusters and the Air Force Commendation Medal. He was commissioned through Air Force ROTC at Tech.

Captain Ayres is married to the former Brenda J. Stephenson of Tracy, Calif. They have three children, Steve 6, Jimmy 4 and Allison 1.

The captain has spoken before numerous organizations on the South Plains.

7 Rhoades Gets Cross Serving Aboard Saratoga Promotion

SHERMAN, Tex. — James E. Rhoades, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Rhoades of Rt. 2, Winstboro, Tex., has been promoted to technical sergeant in the U.S. Air Force.

Sergeant Rhoades is a supply computer systems technician at Perrin AFB, Tex. He is a member of the Air Defense Command which protects the U. S.

Spence Awarded Bronze Star

Specialist 4 Derald R. Spence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex D. Spence of 1209 Duncan, has been awarded the Bronze Star for valor in Viet Nam.

Spence helped turn back a human wave attack with a machinegun that had been left unmanned when the original gunner was hit by an enemy bullet. Spence's actions took place on Nov. 8, during an attack on his battalion by a regiment of North Vietnamese Regulars.

Gen. William Westmoreland has recommended Spence's unit for a Presidential Unit Citation. He is a member of the 28th Infantry.

Aboard the USS Saratoga, at Sea — Airman Maurice Cross, has just returned to the U. S. after a seven and one half month cruise of the Mediterranean while serving aboard the attack carrier USS Saratoga. The ship is home ported in Florida. During the cruise Cross visited seven foreign countries and twelve ports including Istanbul, Turkey; Barcelona, Spain; and Athens, Greece.

Cross is currently working in the air department which has charge of launching and recovery of aircraft aboard the giant carrier.

Cross' primary duty is working with the arresting gear which makes possible the landing of aircraft.

Landing aircraft approach the flight deck at speeds of about 150 miles per hour. Each plane is equipped with a steel hook which is attached to its tail section. The hook is lowered when the plane makes its approach to land.

The pilot cuts down the power of his plane and the craft glides down for a landing. As the planes touch the deck, the tail hook catches on one of the four wire cables which are stretched across the flight deck.

Each cable, about the thickness of a man's wrist, is connected with hydraulic equipment located below the flight deck.

Once the plane hooks up with discharged he plans to return to Pampa.

The Saratoga, fifth largest of America's warships, is an integral part of America's role in controlling the sea. In past years Saratoga has fulfilled this mainly by upholding the United States obligation to NATO and by promoting good will with the foreign countries she visits on her cruises.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bradbury K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohn & Stetson believes that during the "restoration period" following the "Johnson bear market," speculative money almost exclusively will be attracted to "performance stocks" which can be expected to have sharply improved earnings in 1967. The analyst believes institutions will come to share these views and make the "performance" issues "respectable" again since it is not true that all are high risk speculative stocks.

The view that an anti-inflationary tax hike will not be requested by President Johnson. The company feels that market has been strengthened by easing of tax-loss selling and more gains seem in store. However, a tax hike could turn the market around and the company advises a cautious selection of new commitments.

Standard & Poor's says the market has acted well in view of the dismal economic background. It says near-term trends may be distorted by year-end considerations but it feels current market appraisals afford good opportunities for long term commitments.

Masonic District Deputy Selected

Woodrow A. Sims of Shamrock has been named district deputy grand master of Masons for Masonic District No. 98, which includes six Masonic Lodges in Wheeler and Gray Counties.

Sims, who is business manager of the City Secretary School, is a past master of Shamrock Lodge 929.

He is currently serving as an elder and as treasurer of the First Christian Church in Shamrock. Sims is a member of the Boosters' Club of Shamrock and is a past commander of the Shamrock American Legion. He was treasurer for the Salvation Army from 1963 to 1966.

The appointment was made by the newly-elected grand master of Masons in Texas, J. D. Tomme, Jr., of Fort Worth at the 131st annual communication of the Grand Lodge of Texas as concluded in Waco December 8.

District deputy grand masters are appointed for each of the 137 Masonic Districts of Texas. They are the personal representatives of the grand master, head of the state's largest fraternal organization with

TPA Head Encouraged by Public's Reaction to Proposed Code Changes

AUSTIN (Spl)—Texas Police Association President W. E. (Pat) Speir said today he is "most encouraged" by public response to the association's statement of position recommending removal of unnecessary restrictions on law enforcement from the new Texas Code of Criminal Procedure.

"Since our statement was adopted at the annual conference last June, urging certain revisions in the code of procedure, it has been most encouraging to hear and read public statements being made by many members of the Texas Legislature and others indicating that the people are expressing themselves against the trend to afford the criminal undue protection from justice," Speir said.

"Confronted as we are today with a steadily increasing crime rate, it is our position that the law-abiding public needs better protection against crime, and since it is our job to provide that protection, we need the tools with which to do it."

"We feel that our approach to certain problems presented by enactment of the new Code of Criminal Procedure in Texas is a reasonable one. The vast majority of the provisions of the new Code are sound and well developed by those who drafted it. However, as with all things new and untested, experience often shows the way toward improvements."

The TPA president said the organization is operating through to major committees in seeking to bring to the attention of all members of the Legislature and other responsible Texas Citizens the urgent need for clarification and relief from the undesirable provisions of the Code. The Legislative Committee is headed by C. C. Benson, Southwestern Division Manager of the National Automobile Theft Bureau.

The four main points of concern by the police association are:

1. The Texas code requires the arrested person to be taken "immediately" before a magistrate, while "without unnecessary delay" is the terminology of the federal rule of procedure. It is felt that some investigative time is necessary if for no other reason than to eliminate the innocent.

2. The code requires defense attorneys the right of "discovery" (to examine the state evidence and witnesses)—the state should be afforded the same opportunity.

3. The code requires that a warrant be "in hand" to arrest, whereas federal rules provide legal arrest can be made when the officer has knowledge that his warrant has been issued. A copy can then be furnished as soon as possible.

4. The new code does not provide for arrest for misdemeanors when committed in view of an officer. It should so provide.

You, Your Child And School

By DAVID NYDICK
UP Education Specialist

Where is your child headed? Is he going to college? Not every child belongs in college. Unrealistic pressures can result in emotional upset and unhappy students.

An unsuccessful college student might well consider himself a failure. He could lose his ambition and become a burden to himself as well as society.

Surely everyone who wants and has the ability to succeed in the academic pursuits of a college education should have the opportunity. However if a student wants to enter a trade or seek a career in business, he should not be made to feel that he is a second rate citizen. His interest and ability in other than academic areas is perfectly respectable and dignified.

Education is important but this does not necessarily mean a college degree. There are trade schools, on-the-job training, and apprenticeships. There is education by experience and self education. There are special courses covering all kinds of careers.

Education through high school is important for everyone. Why? It provides the training in basic skills which are important in every career. Some specialization in specific areas of interest is available. High school graduation is not dependent upon only academic interests. There are vocational business and trade courses that are offered.

College requires a high degree of ability and interest in academic areas. One doesn't pursue business management, medicine and other similar careers in college. He can also pursue general cultural interests or obtain a broad background in academic areas in college.

What determines whether or not a child should attend college? He should make that decision. Hopefully by the time he graduates from high school he has matured to decide what direction his future will take. Naturally, he should seek and receive guidance from parents and school counselors or teachers.

His interests and abilities are major factors which must be considered in making such a decision. Above all, the decision should be one which helps him broaden and improve upon his talents.

Remember that a college education has value but it is not the only road to success. An individual has the best opportunity for success when he is pursuing his interests and talent.

Fourth Quarter TD Gives Miami 'Liberty'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Quarterback Bill Miller hit James Cox on a 38-yard final period pass Saturday to set up the winning touchdown that gave Miami a 14-7 victory over valiant Virginia Tech in the Liberty Bowl.

The lean and hungry Tech Gobblers held the ninth-ranked Hurricanes scoreless in the first half, but in the second half, Miller, fullback Doug McGee and running back Joe Miramano managed to squelch the razzle-dazzle.

McGee plunged from the one to break a 7-7 tie for plays after the Miller-Cox aerial.

Miami's first touchdown came on a seven-yard Miller-to-Mirama pass in the third period to cap a drive that started on Miami's 47. Ray Harris kicked both extra points.

Tech scored midway through the second quarter, with workhorse tailback Tony Francisco running over from the one after a five-play drive that started on the Miami 21 when Gobbler Jimmy Richards blocked a Bobby Stokes punt attempt and recovered.

John Utin kicked the extra point.

The scrambling Gobblers, who entered the game as 10-point underdogs, passed from their own 13 on the first scrimmage play of the game and then they got wild.

Before the contest ended, the 25,012 fans and a nationwide television audience had seen such rarities as a quick kick, a Statue of Liberty play attempt and Gobblers because the eager line was ruled offside.

Miami played conservative ball, content to wait for the breaks.

Tech dominated the first half, smothering the potent Miami attack which had beaten Orange-Bowl bound Florida, Southern California and Georgia during the regular season.

Miami had a 7-2-1 record entering the bowl. Tech was 8-1-1, including a victory over Sun Bowl entry Florida State.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—The statistics of the Liberty Bowl game:

Fumble by Unitas Gives Green Bay Scary 14-10 Win

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Elijah Pitts, a 205-pound substitute for golden boy Paul Hornung scored two touchdowns Saturday to give the Green Bay Packers a 14-10 victory over the Baltimore Colts and their second consecutive Western Conference title in the National Football League.

The 27-year-old halfback from Philader Smith College scored in the first period on a 42-yard pass reception from Bart Starr to give the Packers a 7-0 lead. He scored again in the fourth period on a two-yard plunge after the Colts had taken a 10-7 halftime lead.

The Colts scored all their points in the second period on a two-yard plunge by Tony Loric and a 26-yard field goal by Lou Michaels. Loric's touchdown was set up by a pass from Johnny Unitas to Tom Matte that took the ball to the two-yard line.

The Colts almost won the game in the closing minutes when Unitas led a drive to the Packers' 15-yard line and then left his protective pass pocket to run the ball inside the 10-yard line. He fumbled when tackled, however, and corner linebacker Dave Robinson recovered for the Packers on the five. Green Bay easily ran out the minute remaining on the clock.

The Western Conference title is the second straight for the Packers and their fifth in the last seven years under the leadership of Vince Lombardi, who took over the team in 1959.

The Packers will meet the winner of the Eastern Conference title in the National Football League's championship in the home city of the eastern winner. The winner of that game will play the American Football League's champion in the first Super Bowl Game at Los Angeles on a date yet to be announced.

Unitas, who was suffering from a shoulder injury, almost was knocked out of the game in the first period when he was blitzed by the Green Bay linebackers. The brilliant quarterback was out of the game for a series of downs as Gary Cuozzo took over but then returned and played the remainder of the game.

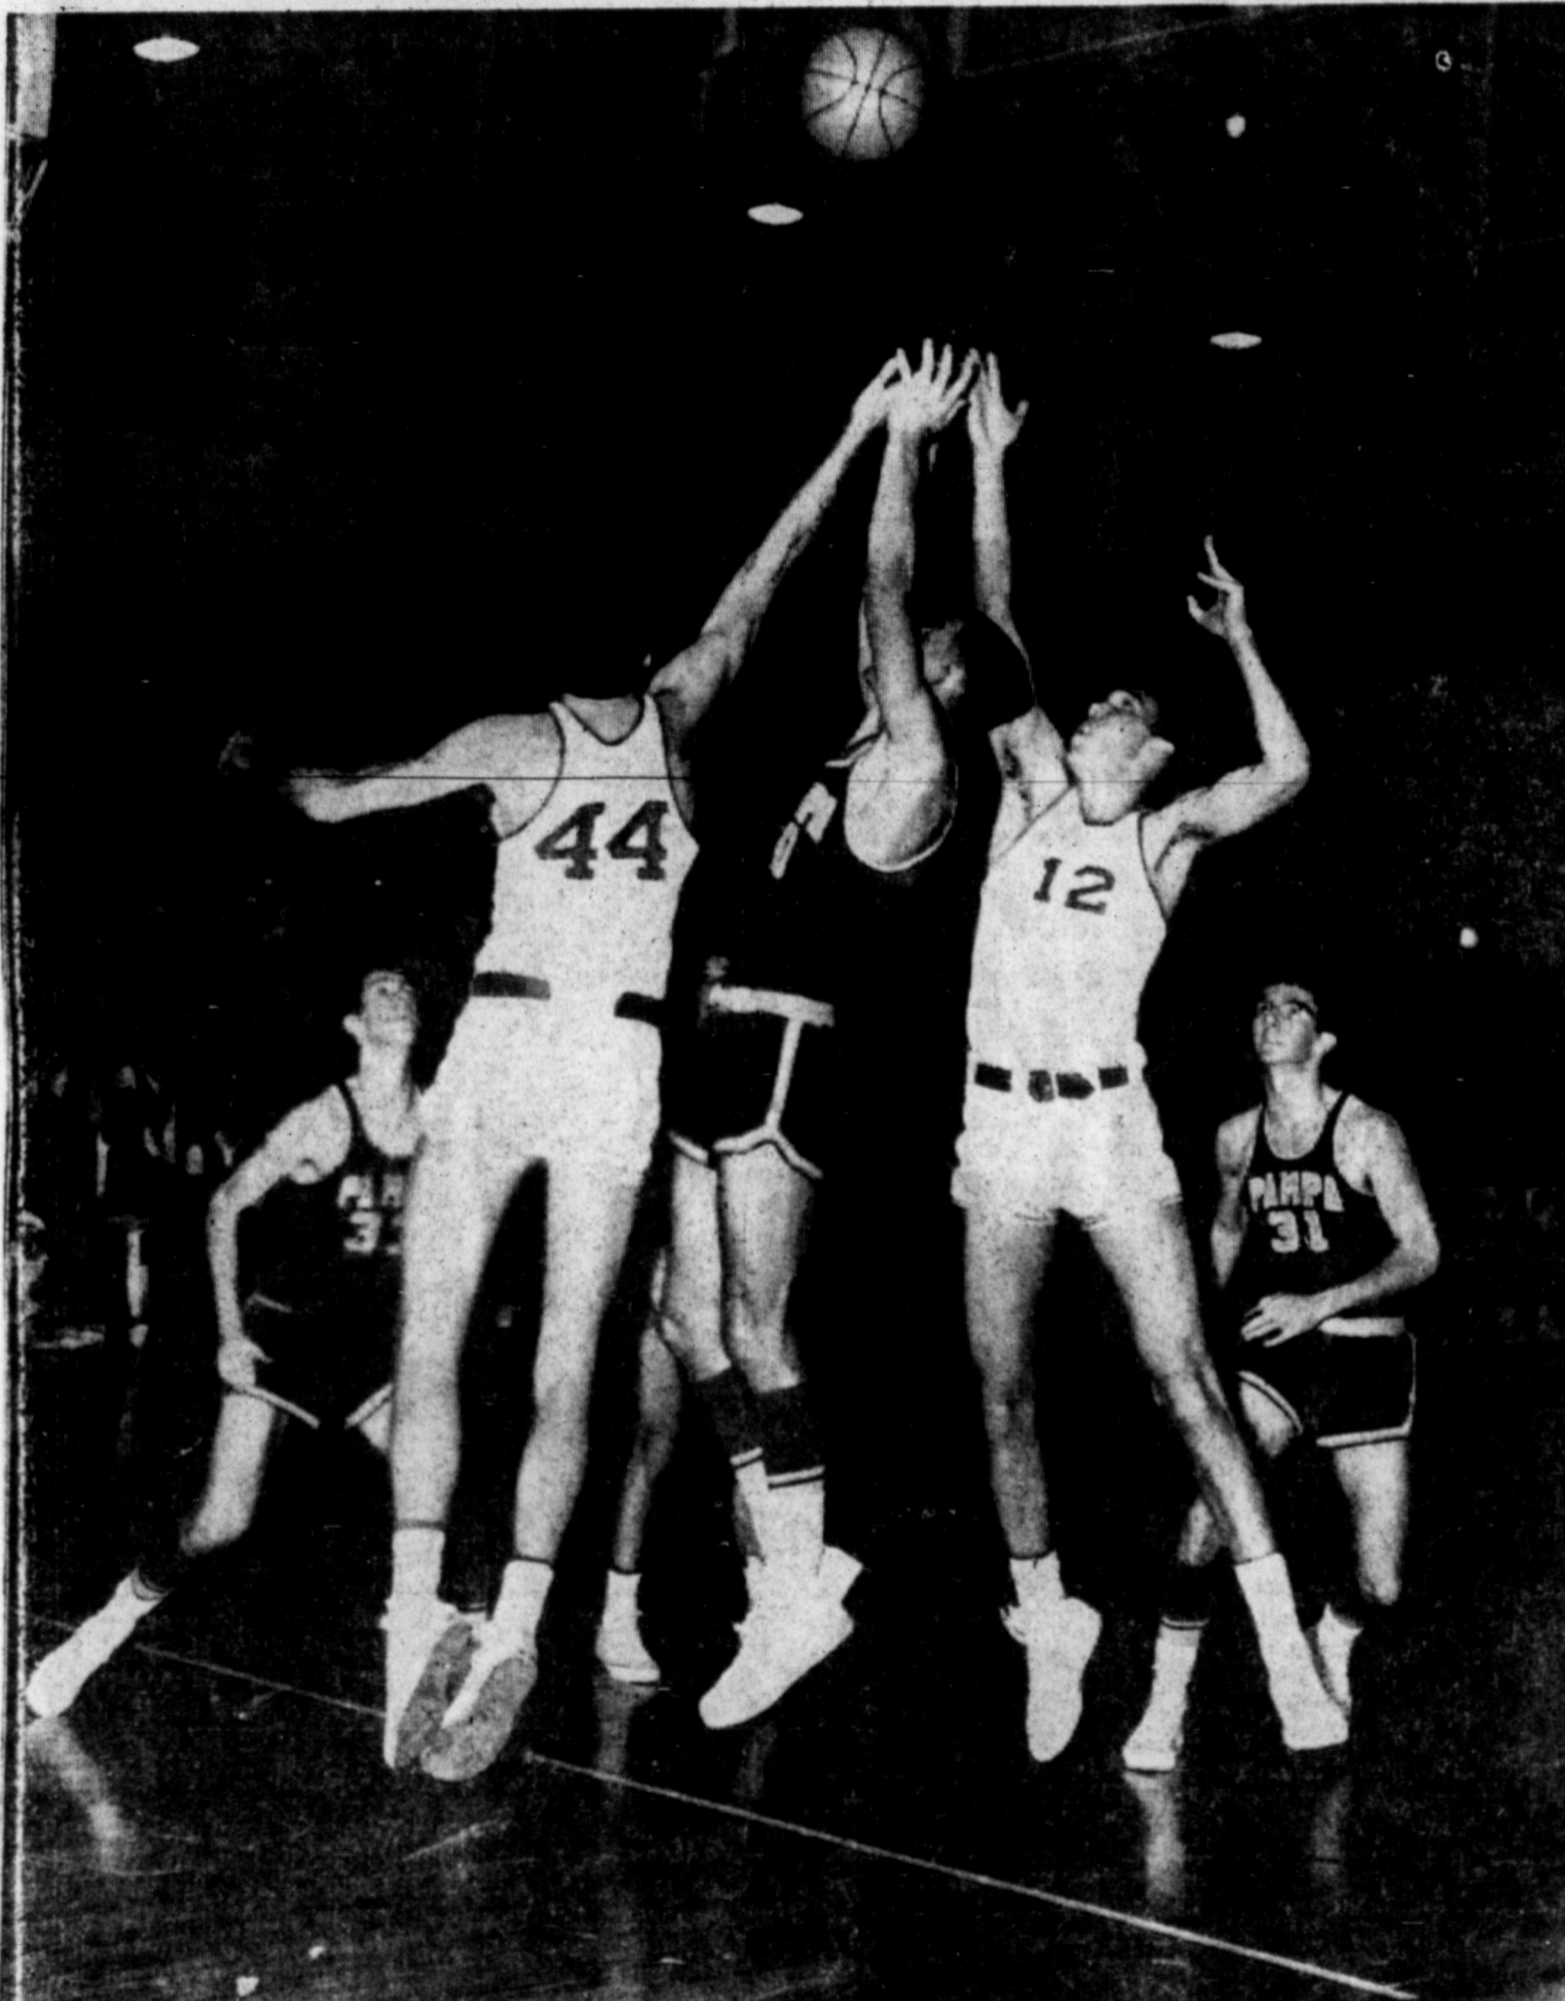

Reserve quarterback Zeke Bratkowski, who took over for Bart Starr when the Green Bay starter was injured in the third period, began the Packers' winning drive from the 20-yard line after the Colts missed a field goal attempt from the 37 yard line.

Bratkowski opened the march with a 28-yard pass to Pitts and then Jim Taylor, the Packers' explosive 215-pound fullback, tunneled through for four to the Colts' 48. Bratkowski bulleted a 14-yard pass to Marv Fleming and then hit Taylor on the Baltimore 22 to keep the drive alive.

From the 18, Bratkowski then connected with Max McGee to the Colts' four. Pitt plunged to the Baltimore two and on his second plunge—a slant to his right—the Packers opened up a gaping hole on the left side of the Colts' forward wall and Pitts went into the end zone untouched.

Pitts' first touchdown was set up by Willie Wood's interception of Unitas' first pass of the game on the Baltimore 47. From the Colt 42, Pitts broke off to his left and took a short cut 37. He faked out right linebacker Don Schinnick, moved to the inside and went between two Baltimore defenders into the end zone.

ON THE RISE — Pampa and Palo Duro battled hard for this loose ball Friday night and Pampa's Robert Karr (31) got it. Rick Foster (caught between Palo Duro's Larry Kiser (44) and David Mahon (12) couldn't get to the ball and even Pampa's George Bailey (33) tried for it without success. This action came in the fourth quarter and the Harvesters won a thriller, 57-56 to go 1-0 in district play. (See other pictures, story, pages 11-12).

Aggies Taken Off NCAA Meeting Probation at

DALLAS (UPI)—The Southwest Conference voted Texas A&M University off probation, liberalized its junior college transfer rule and authorized a proposed amendment to the NCAA's 1.6 grade point rule in a generally quiet session Saturday.

The action involving Texas A&M, generally expected, becomes effective Jan. 16, 1967 which had been placed against post-season competition by the school's football team.

The conference said the school has "satisfactorily revised its practices" which had brought on the disciplinary action—removal of athletes from scholarships and an off-season physical education classes devoted to strongly to football for its players.

On the transfer rule, an athlete will become eligible for varsity competition if he has 48 semester hours of "transferrable and acceptable" credits (roughly three semesters) of junior college work. Heretofore, immediate eligibility was available only to junior college graduates.

While the rule falls more in line with NCAA regulations, the faculty group did not adopt the NCAA wording that also says a transfer may be eligible if he has 24 hours (two semesters) with a B average.

Conference commissioner Howard Grubbs said the deans and athletic directors of 41 junior colleges in Texas and Arkansas were paged as to the effect the change would have on their programs.

"Of 55 replies," Grubbs said "all but 14 said it would either work no hardship or have no effect at all."

The conference authorized an amendment to the NCAA by-laws which would eliminate the second part of the 1.6 grade requirement dealing with the athlete having to maintain that average (between a C-minus and a D-plus) to remain eligible.

Grubbs explained that it was not designed to liberalize the rule in favor of the athletes, but to leave that matter up to schools to set their own grade requirements and schools to set their own grade limitations, some of which

Bobcats Claw Carrollton in Playoffs, 41-15

SAN ANGELO (UPI) — San Angelo's angry Bobcats blitzed Carrollton's defense for 27 points in the second quarter Saturday and sailed on to a 41-15 victory that moved them into the Class AAAA finals against Spring Branch.

Quarterback Gary Mullins directed the Bobcats ground attack to a 347-yard total on the ground, and scored two touchdowns himself. The Bobcats piledriving fullback Terry Collins scored three times on runs of 10, 4 and 2 yards.

While San Angelo rolled up 413 yards total offense, the Lions could gain only 193 yards.

Carrollton scored first in the initial quarter when fullback Charles Sadler plunged over from the one, and again in the final period on a 29-yard pass from Bill Montgomery to end Preshire Hodge.

Arnie, Nicklaus Win Team Title

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus enhanced their position as co-rulers of the world of golf Saturday by putting together a string of birdies to win the $275,000 PGA National Team Championship—richest golf tournament ever staged.

Palmer and Nicklaus shot a best ball eight under par 64 Saturday for a 72 hole total of 32-under-par 256 and a three stroke victory over the runner-up team of Doug Sanders and Al Besselnik.

The winners had six birdies on the last seven holes and in the process shaved three strokes from the previous tournament record.

The victory was worth $25,000 apiece to the winners. That gives Palmer nearly $155,000 for the year and vaults him into the No. 1 spot in total winnings ahead of U. S. Open champion Billy Casper, who sat this one out. Nicklaus wound up with nearly $140,000—only $5,000 less than Casper. Sanders, the only other golfer to win over $100,000 this year, and Besselnik got $13,500 each from the huge purse for their second place effort. They shot a 65 Saturday for a 259 total.

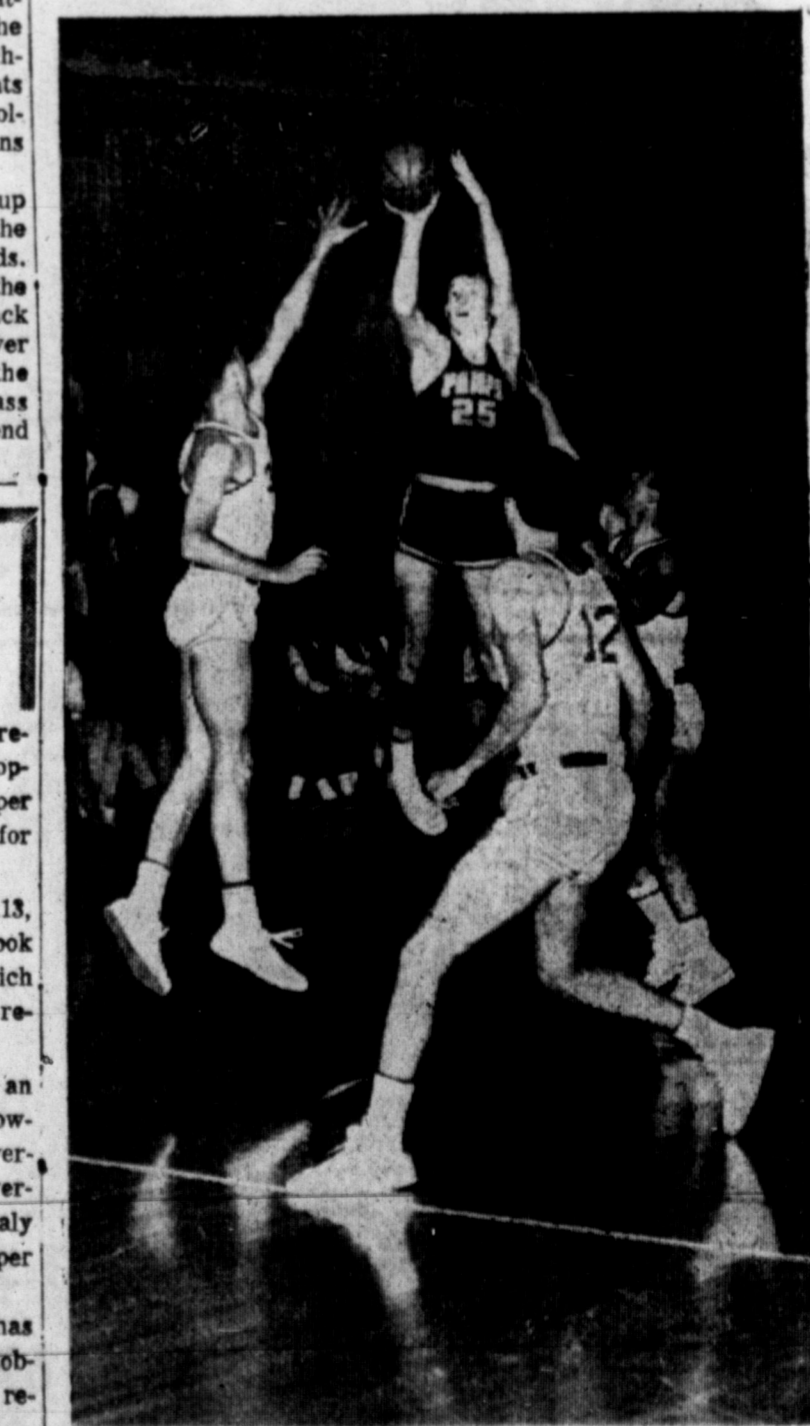

There were still 28 teams in the 70-team field out on the course when Palmer and Nicklaus finished. But in order to accommodate television, the leaders went out early in the final round and no team closer than 13 strokes went out behind them.

Palmer and Nicklaus, the favorites from the start led after the first round with a best ball 63 but yielded the halfway lead to Sanders and Besselnik, who went 17-under-par with a 62-127.

The winners regained the lead, by two strokes, at the end of the third round Friday when racing against darkness, they scored a 63-192.

Sanders and Besselnik were in the four some immediately ahead of Palmer and Nicklaus Saturday and forged into a one-stroke lead after 63 holes. But Palmer and Nicklaus quickly regained the lead after they made the turn and pulled away coming down the stretch.

The former record of 259, equalled by Sanders and Besselnik Saturday, was set last year by Gay Brewer and Butch Baird when this tournament was held for the first time. Brewer and Baird were never a threat this year and wound up 16 strokes off the pace at 272 after shooting a 69 Saturday.

HIGH JUMPER — Pampa's Steve Williams (25) is a high jumper here and makes his shot despite the defensive attempts by Palo Duro's Pat McKean (34) and Larry Kiser and David Mahon. Pampa won the district 3-4A game, 57-56. (See story, other pictures pages 11-12).

Harvesters Kept Their Cool

By RON CROSS

Pampa's predominately young Harvesters cagers proved several things at Palo Duro Friday night.

They first proved they know how to keep their cool and do not panic in a tight situation such as losing a 10-point lead, trailing by one with less than a minute to go.

They showed they have the stuff to come back and not let the little things bother them like poor eyesighted officials and many mistakes.

Any time you can win on the road, anywhere, you've done a pretty good job, especially at Palo Duro, and coach Terry Cully will be the first to tell you the same.

These juniors with a sprinkling of seniors have a fine ball club, a good clutch ball club, as they so aptly proved Friday night.

They held a 10-point margin at one time in the third quarter Friday, but found themselves trailing by one, twice in less than a minute in the final stanza.

But they kept their cool and pulled it out to join four other clubs with 1-0 records at the top of the heap in the district 3-4A race.

It may not seem like much at this stage in the game getting off on the right foot can be quite a morale booster.

Pampa catches Plainview, who clipped Borger, Friday night, at home Tuesday, then sets sail for Lubbock to meet the pre-season conference favorite Monterey, who has started out 0-1 in league play.

There were several key plays Friday night but probably the keyest of the keys was Rick Foster's steal, and what a thief he made, with less than a minute to go.

Rick waited, made his move, got the ball and raced down the court for allayup to put Pampa in front 55-54.

The Dons came back for a bucket but that steal was quite a moral booster.

"Rick's steal gave us quite a lift," Cully said, adding, "We broke their delay game."

Cully was a happy man after the game.

"It's great to win on the road, especially at Palo Duro," he said.

But the Pampa coach hopes his squad doesn't look ahead any further than Tuesday's game with the Bulldogs.

"We've got to play 'em one at a time we can't start thinking about Monterey until after we play Plainview," Cully allowed.

The Harvesters have had a well-balanced scoring attack with four players averaging in double figures and the rebounding has been better than a lot of people think.

Pampa's two seniors Foster and Steve Williams are averaging in double figures, along with juniors Bo Lang and George Bailey. Lang also leads the club in rebounding.

Bailey is the leading scorer with 183 points and a 20.5 average while Lang has totaled 160 points and a 17.7 per game average. Foster is next with 122 points and a 13.5 average and Williams, probably the best defensive player on the club has 113 points and a 12.5 mark.

The fifth starter has been hard to find but Cully has been using John Braly most of the time and the 5'8 junior, who and that's an average of 71.2 Johnny Carlos, Jim Cornutt per game and have been tough defensively, giving up only 477, an average of 53 per contest.

The Harvesters have hit well from the free throw line, where a lot of games are won, but have come on strong in their last three games.

For the season Pampa has hit 50 of 218 attempts for a 68.7 average.

In the early going it seemed the Harvesters were being out-rebounded every time they turned around but such has not been the case.

Pampa has taken off 370 rebounds to only 271 for the opponents, an average of 41.1 per game for Pampa and 30.1 for foes.

Lang is the leader with 113, an average of 12.5 and he took 16 against Palo Duro, in which Pampa won the battle of the rebounds, 42-29.

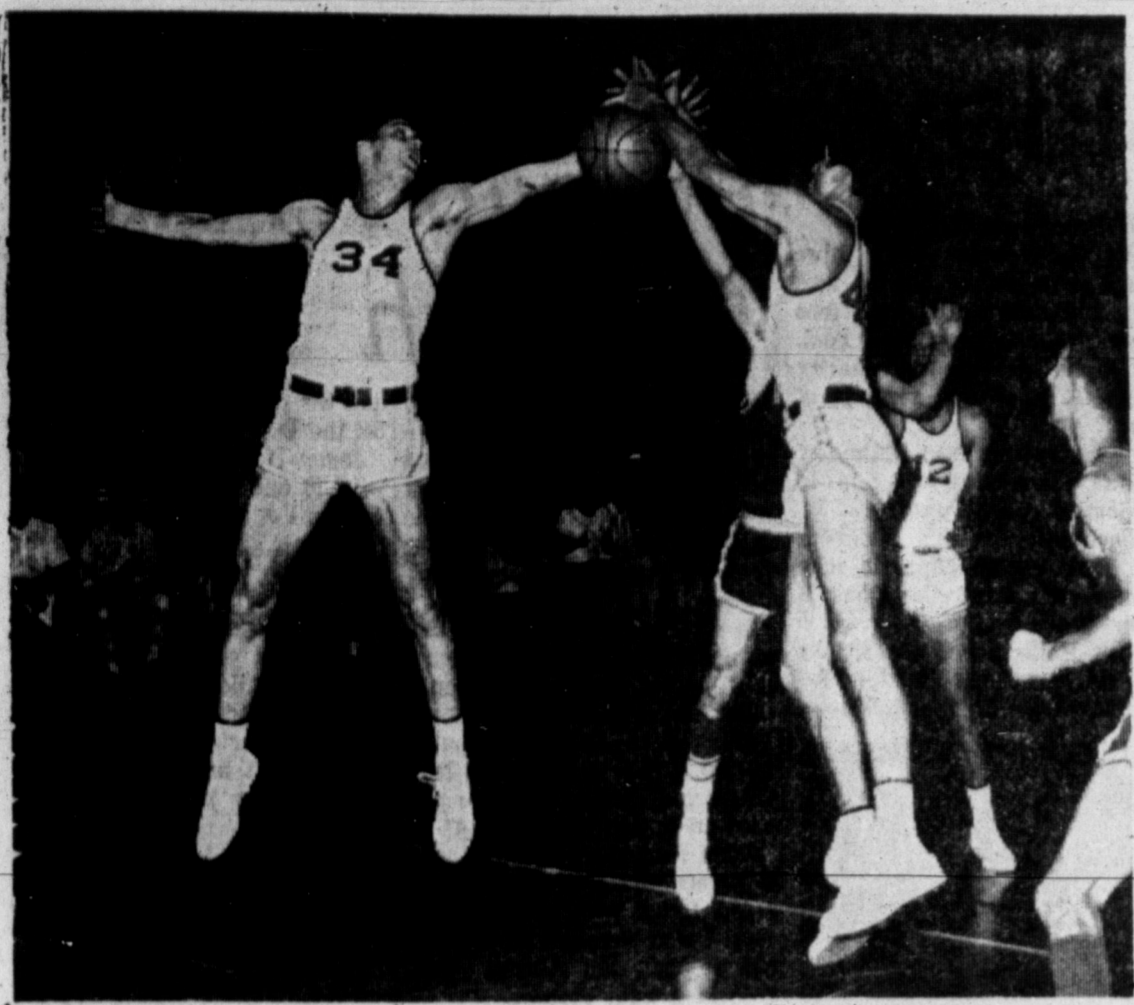

Foster has graved off 76, an average of 8.4 per game followed by Bailey with 64, a 7.1 average, Williams has 54, an average of six per game and Braly has 19, an average of 2.1 per contest.

In the few minutes he has played this season senior Robert Karr has taken off 19 rebounds.

The Harvesters were voted third place in the conference in a pre-season poll and it may be about right, but then, it may be just a little low too.

IN A CROWD — Hidden away in a crowd during the Pampa-Palo Duro basketball game Friday night is Pampa's Steve Williams. Gathered around William's Pat McKean (34), Larry Kiser (44) and David Mahon (12) while the Harvesters' Rick Foster (41) tries to get in on the action. Pampa won, 57-56. ALCINDOR HELD TO NINE

UCLA Simply Divine

By United Press International
The college basketball world has discovered its chagrin that although Lew Alcindor may be only human, the rest of the UCLA team is simply divine.

That lesson was drummed home to one and all Friday night when nationally ranked Duke, an NCAA semi-finalist in two of the past three years, smothered the already legendary 7-foot-1 Alcindor with a three-man blanket only to have the giant's four playmates kick off the covers.

Duke's wily coach Vic Bubas concocted a brilliant defense against Alcindor, who scored 56 points in his varsity debut against Southern California last week. He stationed three men in the middle and they successfully managed to separate the sophomore star from the ball and held him to 19 points.

But while the Blue Devils concentrated on Alcindor, quick guards Mike Warren and Lucius Allen and forward Lynn Shackelford had a field day popping in jumpers from the outside. The result was an overwhelming 88-34 victory for UCLA, which completely justified its role at the top of the national ratings.

Bubas, rest his soul, has to go through the same thing tonight when the two teams meet once again at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion.

Eighth-ranked Brigham Young blitzed Denver 87-64 and ninth-ranked North Carolina trounced Tulane 92-69 in the only other games involving teams in the top 10. In other key games, Kansas whipped Florida State 62-48 and Kansas State took Baylor 77-70 in the Sunflower Classic and Syracuse drubbed Army 86-63.

Early Lead
UCLA exploded for a 16-2 spurt midway through the first half enroute to a 40-27 halftime lead and breezed home. Warren, a 5-11 junior, pumped in 26 points and Allen, one of Alcindor's teammates on the Bruins' great freshman club last year, contributed 19. Shackelford, another 'soph, added 13.

For Duke, rated a strong contender for national honors this year, it was the second defeat in three games. Guard Bob Verga paced the Blue Devils with 17 points. Mike Lewis, Duke's fine 6-7 junior center, was thoroughly contained by Alcindor, scoring only nine points.

Forwards Neil Roberts and Gary Hill scored 23 points apiece to lift Brigham Young past Denver. Craig Raymond, the Cougars' 6-11 center, demoralized Denver, which stayed with BYU for the first 17 minutes of the game, by bawling away numerous Pioneer shots.

Larry Miller, a 6-3 junior strong man, scored 28 points as North Carolina opened up on Tulane for its third straight victory. Four men scored in double figures for the Tar Heels who recovered from a ragged first half to run the Green Wave off the court after intermission.

Rusty Clark, Carolina's 6-11 pivot, pulled down 19 rebounds while playing only part of the game.

Four Straight
Roger Bohnstiel, a 6-6 forward, scored 12 of his 22 points in the second half and Jo Jo White contributed 11 after intermission to boost Kansas to its fourth successive victory after a sluggish start. The Jayhawkers led 29-27 at halftime.

Kansas State ran its record to 3-1 by pounding Baylor as three Wildcats, including high scorer Earl Syfert with 15, scored in double figures. Darrell Hardy had 26 points for Baylor.

George Hicker's 33 points, 25 of them in the first half, propelled high-powered Syracuse to its third win in as many games. Vaughn Harper chipped in 15 for the Orangemen while Bill Shusky was high for Army with 23.

Elsewhere, sophomore guard Eldridge Webb scored eight points in overtime to give Tulsa a 91-78 triumph over Wyoming.

Joe Allen tossed in 45 as Bradley overcame Southern Cal 102-97. Soph forward John Tolmie scored 29 to help Navy sink Manhattan 73-68.

Arizona gunned down Texas Tech 64-49 for its third win in four outings. Local boys Pat Smith and George Thompson made their New York college debuts successful by pushing undefeated Marquette past New York University 79-63.

Princeton plastered Colgate 110-72 and Columbia whipped Pittsburgh 69-57 and Indiana State vanquished Duquesne 90-84 in the first round of the Steel Bowl.

76ers Lead Pro Cagers at 25-2

By United Press International
The Philadelphia 76ers are going at an incredible pace in the National Basketball Association this season.

But the 76ers still can't afford to take a look back—for the Boston Celtics would be gaining on them.

The 76ers boosted their record

Torres to Risk Crown Friday
NEW YORK (UPI)—Jose Torres, who became a champion after deserting the middleweight ranks for the light heavyweight division, risks his title for the fourth time this year Friday night against another former middleweight, Dick Tiger of Nigeria.

The 15-round bout between the hard-punching Torres and the game Nigerian, who has held the world middleweight crown on two separate occasions, will be nationally televised by Madison Square Garden-RKO sports Presentations.

Torres, a native of Playa Ponce, P.R., now living in Brooklyn, N.Y., will be making his first appearance in the Garden since winning the 175-pound title from Willie Pastrano on March 30, 1965. He has made three successful defenses, all this year, the last on Oct. 15 against the late Chic Calderwood of Scotland.

A solid body puncher with the natural body of a light heavyweight and the power of a heavyweight, Torres will be in marked contrast to Tiger, who never before has fought as a light heavyweight. He is expected to scale somewhere in the neighborhood of 164 pounds, since he feels any more weight would just slow him down.

to 25-2 with a 112-107 triumph over the New York Knicks. But Boston kept within shouting distance by beating Cincinnati 117-99. Boston is now 19-5 in the Eastern Division.

Philadelphia goes to St. Louis and Boston hosts Chicago Sunday night and the 76ers and Celtics will play in Boston for their third meeting of the season. Philadelphia and Boston have played two games this season and the clubs split.

In Friday night's other game, San Francisco padded its lead in the Western Division by nipping Los Angeles, 119-118, on Fred Hetzel's off-balance-15-foot shot as the buzzer sounded.

Chet Walker and Hal Greer each scored 23 points to pace the easy 76er victory, the 10th straight victory for the club. Walt Chamberlain, who's scoring less and enjoying it more in his "feeder" role, added 20 points.

The 76ers held a comfortable 104-96 lead with 4:11 remaining but New York rallied to cut the deficit to 108-105 with 2:12 left. Wally Jones and Walker then connected to put the game away.

Philadelphia led 60-54 at halftime and 89-83 at the end of three quarters.

Walt Bellamy scored 26 for the Knicks and Willis Reed added 22.

Sam Jones scored 31 points, 20 in the first half, to lead the Celts to their victory over the Royals. It was the Royals fifth straight loss—the largest for the club since 1962-63—as even the return of Oscar Robertson couldn't make the difference. Robertson, who's been injured, scored 22 points.

Cards Will Try To Hang Tough in Eastern Division

By United Press International
Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts was the man standing between the Green Bay Packers and another Western Conference title in the National Football League.

The Packers (10-2) are guaranteed at least a tie with Baltimore (8-4) for the Western crown, and the Colts hope to keep Green Bay from clinching the title when the two teams met yesterday. For the two teams to tie for first place, Green Bay must lose both its remaining games while the Colts win both of theirs.

Unitas, the pride of quarterbacks, has been hampered by a shoulder injury this season, but he should be in top shape for the showdown with Green Bay. However, the Packers

Bart Starr might steal the passing show.

Top Passer
Starr is the league's top passer with 149 completions in 236 attempts for 2,161 yards while Unitas' injury has held him to 164 completions in 294 passes for 2,269 yards.

The edge lies with Green Bay favored by four points to clinch their fifth Western pennant in the past seven years.

Pats Smelling Division Title

Gino Cappelletti's right toe has provided the difference for Boston often in the past but Patriots hopes for a second AFL Eastern Division title may now rest on his right knee.

Cappelletti four-time AFL scoring champion suffered a wrenched knee and thigh in the first period of the Pats 14-3 triumph over the Buffalo Bills last Sunday and although he managed two extra point conversions he missed one field goal attempt and had another blocked.

Buffalo second place in the East with an 8-4 record is idle this week and closes out at home with Denver next Sunday. The Patriots (7-3-2) finish on the road at Houston this week and in Shea Stadium against the New York Jets next Saturday.

Cappelletti doubles as one of quarterback Babe Parilli's favorite targets from his flanker post. But sweet Kentucky Babe has other fine receivers in Art Graham, Jim Whalen, Larry Garron, Jim Colclough and Joe Bellino.

In other AFL games, Kansas City (9-2-1) is at Miami (2-10), New York (5-5-2) at San Diego (6-5-1), and Denver (4-8) at Oakland (7-5-1).

No discussion of the Patriots this season is complete without mentioning Jim Nance. The bruising fullback has gained a league leading 1,234 yards and the Dallas Cowboys (9-2-1) are 13-point favorites to gain a tie for the Eastern Conference title Sunday when they meet the Washington Redskins (6-6). The St. Louis Cardinals (8-3-1) try to keep their Eastern Title hopes alive as eight-point favorites over the Atlanta Falcons (2-10).

In other NFL games, the Detroit Lions (4-8-1) are given a one-point edge over the Minnesota Vikings (3-8-1), the Pittsburgh over the New York Giants (1-10-1), the Cleveland Browns (8-4) are seven over the Philadelphia Eagles (4-6) are rated even with the San Francisco 49ers (5-5-2).

Another passing duel should be in store for fans at Dallas with the Cowboys' Don Meredith taking on Sonny Jurgensen of the Redskins.

The Cardinals must win against Atlanta to stay alive in the Eastern race. The Falcons just completed a successful road trip, winning two of their three games, and would like to move into sixth place in the standings.

Cleveland also has a mathematical chance to win the Eastern title when it goes against Philadelphia. The runner in Leroy Kelly, who has gained 1,071 yards on 185 tries, and one of the best passers in Frank Ryan, who has completed 167 of 313 for 2,378 yards.

JUSTLY PROUD — West Texas State University is justly proud of Gary Sikes. Sikes, a 6-3 sophomore guard, averaged 13.8 points a game as a member of the Buff Freshman basketball team last fall. This season, Buff varsity mentor Jimmy Viramontes believes Sikes will be a valuable addition to the 1966-67 varsity. Gary is the first Pampa player recruited by West Texas since Viramontes became varsity basketball coach here in 1963. "We hope the string of Pampa players on the Buff varsity won't end with Sikes," says Viramontes. "Pampa High School always fields strong basketball teams and we feel fortunate to have our first Harvester." Gary should see considerable action Monday night when the Buffs play their first regular season game of the year against Tulsa University.

BAILEY CONNECTS — Pampa's George Bailey (33) is about to let fly with a two-pointer in Pampa's 57-56 victory over Palo Duro Friday night. George scored 16 points in the game. Palo Duro's Don Pierson (24) makes a vain attempt to stop Bailey while Leland Pitts (20) watches the action. (See other pictures, story, pages 10-12).

Pampa Goes One Up in League Play

By RON CROSS Sports Editor

AMARILLO — Pampa was truly the 'Fighting Harvesters' Friday night as they joined Amarillo, Tascosa, Plainview and Lubbock Coronado at the top of the heap in district 3-4 A Friday night.

In a district contest, delayed almost an hour for repairs to the scoreboard clock, the Harvesters staggered Palo Duro, 57-56 on a bucket by junior center Bo Lang with 25 seconds showing on the clock.

The Harvesters shot 50 per cent from the field, quite a difference from Tuesday's performance when they shot only 32 per cent, canning 23 of 46 shots, and they had to do it.

In a game that saw the lead change hands more times than a clock factory, 10 times to be exact, Pampa had to fight for every bucket they made and Bo Lang probably felt like he'd been run through a meat grinder.

The 6' 4" center paced both teams in scoring with 20 points on eight of 11 from the field and four of six from the charity line. Poor old Bo should have been there 60 times with his arm being hacked every time he went up to shoot.

George Bailey hit 16 and Rick Foster 13 for the Harvesters while the Dons had four players in double figures.

Pampa ran their season record to 9-0 and are now 1-0 in league play, same as Amarillo, Tascosa, Coronado and Plainview. Palo Duro is now 6-2 and 0-1. The Harvesters actually had the game salted away several times over the cold-shooting Dons, who hit only 22 of 65 shots, leading by five, 30-25 at halftime, and by 10 points once in the third quarter, 37-27 with 5:50 left.

Palo Duro trailed 47-45 when the final period opened and Bailey's jumper made it 49-45 but Palo Duro scored three straight to narrow it to 49-48.

The Dons finally pulled in front at 54-53 on a set shot by Larry Kiser with 2:58 left in the game.

The Dons went into a delay game but senior Foster stole the ball and drove in for a layup with 1:48 to go to put Pampa in front, 55-54.

But George Reeves goaled just 1:36 from the end to make it 56-55 and the Harvesters went straight down to score, Lang got open and hit from under the bucket with 27 seconds left.

The Dons had another chance, blew it, Pampa rebounded with 10 seconds left and that was the game.

After the first quarter, in which the lead changed hands eight times and the game was knocked out of the game, it didn't appear it was going to be a close contest.

Pampa took their final lead in the first period at 11-10 just 40 seconds from the end on Bailey's jumper and that's the way the quarter ended.

Pampa went from the 7:30 mark to 4:49 before connecting from the field in the first period and only 2:13 was left when Foster goaled again for the Pampans.

But Palo Duro was colder hitting only four of 19 shots in the first period while Pampa was connecting on four of 12.

Pampa warmed up in the second period, hitting seven of 12 while the Dons hit four of 16.

Pampa led by seven points several times in the second period, at 17-10, 27-20, 28-21 and 30-23 with 34 seconds left. But Palo Duro pulled to within five, 30-25 at halftime.

The Harvesters continued to build their lead in the third stanza leading 37-27 with 5:50 showing on the clock.

But the Dons continued to peek away and pulled to within three, 46-43 with 55 seconds left in the period, both teams exchanged goals and the quarter ended with Pampa on top, 47-45. The Harvesters did three things they had to do, hit well from the field and the free throw line and keep their cool.

Pampa went to the charity stripe 16 times and sank 11 of them.

The Harvesters host Plainview Tuesday, beginning at 8 p.m. in the league game Tuesday.

Coach Bill Brown's Shockers won their eighth game in nine outings, trimming the Dons B team, 59-40.

Larry Hollis paced the Shockers with 23 and Beau Bond added 15. Pampa led 31-10 at halftime.

Perryton Takes Quannah Meet

Pampa area teams fared only so-so in tournament action Friday night with Perryton winning the Quannah meet, White Deer's girls, Canadian's boys and the Groom girls advancing to the finals of the Panhandle tournament.

In non-tournament action Allison split with Erick, Oklahoma in a pair of games at Allison.

The Allison girls shot down the Oklahoma's, 41-7 after building up a 7-1 first period lead Allison led 16-10 at halftime and went on to win the game, 41-17.

Diann Kelly paced Allison with 29 points while Darendra West paced Erick with seven points.

The Erick boys led all the way and stopped the Allison lads, 46-43 in a tight game.

Erick led 23-20 at the half and widened the lead to 35-29 at the three-quarter mark.

Howard Lohberger paced Allison with 19 points while Mike Mills hit 16 for the Sooners.

In the Quannah tournament Perryton built up a 21-14 first quarter lead and sailed by host Quannah, 60-53 in the finals.

Mike Hargrove paced the Rangers with 22 points and Jack Srader hit 12 for Quannah.

In the Panhandle tournament Canadian's boys led 28-4 at the end of the first quarter, 47-6 at halftime and ripped Lefors, 69-21.

Johnny Walker paced the Wildcats with 14 points and Weldon Reed hit eight for the Pirates, who had by far their coldest night of the season.

White Deer's girls trailed almost all the way but put up quite a stretch drive to nudge Sanford-Fritch, 45-43.

Sanford-Fritch led 8-5 at the first quarter mark, 22-16 at halftime and 36-20 at the three-quarter mark, but couldn't hold off the Does.

Jenny Hawpe paced the Does with 18 and Linda Moore hit 25 for the Eaglets.

Groom's girls trailed 8-5 at the end of the first period but a 21-13 halftime margin roared past Lefors, 40-29.

Pat Hunt paced Groom with 17 points while Judy Barnes was high for Lefors with 12 points.

White Deer's boys were cold at the start and couldn't overcome it and lost to Sanford-Fritch, 46-29.

White Deer trailed only 12-7 after one period but fell behind 26-17 at the half and 36-20 at the three-quarter mark.

Mike Hawpe paced the Bucks scoring with 13 points while George Kime hit 14 for the Eagles.

Panhandle's gals pulled steadily away from Canadian and won going away, 55-28.

The Panhandle crew led 13-7 at the quarter mark, 22-13 at halftime and upped it to 33-18 at the end of three-quarters of play.

Sheba Williams paced the winners with 22 points while Mary Jo Porter hit 17 for Canadian.

Panhandle's boys hit the finals with a hard-fought, 40-31 victory over Groom's lads.

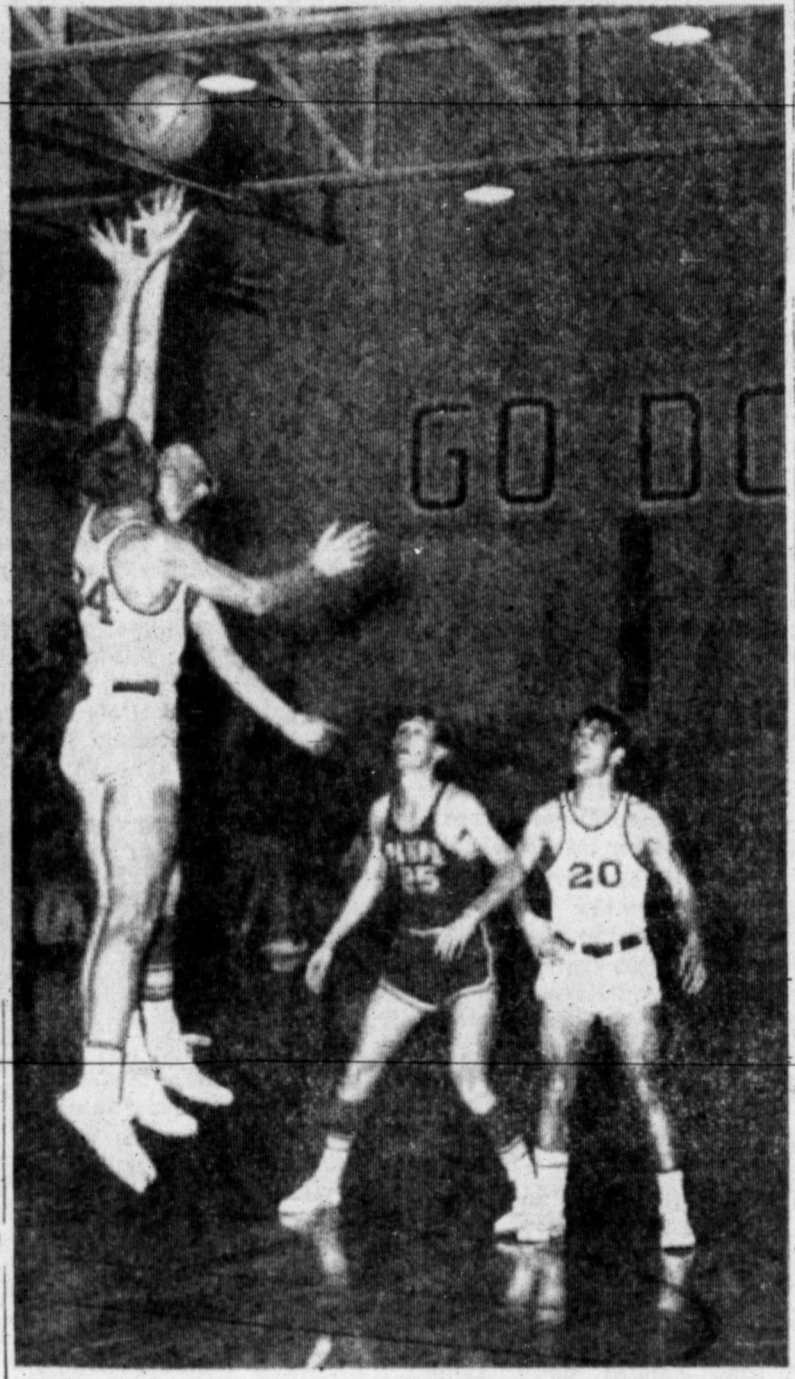

Groom led 11-4 after one period of play and 18-17 at halftime but had fallen behind, 29-20 after three quarters of action.

Phil Jones led Groom's scoring with 13 points and Steve Williams hit nine for Panhandle.

Several games over the Panhandle were called off because of bad weather, among them the Miami-Higgins contest, slated Friday night in Miami.

NICE TRY — Palo Duro's Larry Kiser (44) made an attempt to block this shot by Bo Lang, but failed and fouled the Pampa center instead. The Dons Leland Pitts (20), Leonard Majors (10) and Pat McKean, watch the action. Pampa won the district 3-4 A contest, 57-56. (See other pictures pages 10-11).

BO SHOOT — Pampa's Bo Lang goes up for a shot, and made it, Friday night as Pampa nudged Palo Duro, 57-56 in a district 3-4 A contest. Bo paced the Pampa scoring with 20 points. Trying to guard Lang is Palo Duro's Pat McKean (34) as Steve Williams (25) for Pampa Leland Pitts (20) for Palo Duro, watch. (See other pictures, pages 10-11).

Superstar Syndrome Now Prevails in Pro Football

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

NEW YORK (NEA) — The superstar syndrome now pervades professional football.

It's not enough for the pros to have two well-stocked platoons, offense and defense, and a coaching staff that knows how to deploy them.

One nonpareil performer makes the difference. The point was never illustrated better than this weekend both the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League and Boston of the American League nudged into commanding spots for their division titles. Superstars lead to super bowls.

The Cowboys were trailing the St. Louis Cardinals in their fog-shrouded showdown at the Cotton Bowl until Bob Hayes, the fastest runner in the world, got beyond the Cardinal secondary for a 25-yard touchdown pass that gave the Cowboys a 14-10 edge. Then later in that same second quarter he out-ran defender Abe Woodson to tuck in a 51-yard pass which set up a third Dallas touchdown and put the Cowboys out of reach the rest of the afternoon.

When a team plays Dallas it worries about Hayes first and then starts thinking about the rest of the Cowboys. Coach Tom Landry admitted as much in this bit of inverted praise: "Our biggest problem on offense every week is seeing how the other team is going to defend Hayes. Until we see that, we cannot know exactly how to attack them."

Life has become much simpler for Irv Cross, a fine defensive back, since he was traded out of the Eastern Conference, from Philadelphia to Los Angeles, and doesn't have to guard Hayes. "There are three things you can do with him," said Irv. "You can jolt him; you can crowd him out of his route groove; and — you can pray."

From his split end post Hayes has caught 11 touchdowns this season, but his presence has pressured defenses into leaving other avenues open for quarterback Don Meredith to explore and exploit.

In the AFL Nance exerts the same kind of influence for the Boston Patriots although his approach is entirely different. Nance drives a wedge up the middle. The 235-pound fullback has already set league records for rushing attempts and yards gained. He'll probably surpass Jim Brown's pro mark of 305 carries in one season. Against the Buffalo Bills he achieved his fourth straight 100-plus yardage gain.

A minute before the end of the first quarter in the pivotal game with the bills, the Patriots trailed, 3-0, and faced a third down and two situation on their own 35-yard line. The Buffalo front wall is one of the toughest in pro football. They massed for the obvious — a power dive by Nance — with the linebackers and secondary defenders also moving in close to clog all lanes.

Nance squeezed inside his left tackle, battered into a pile of poplars, danced off, broke a couple of clutches and zipped 65 yards for a touchdown to turn the game around. The Patriots were in charge the rest of the afternoon.

And Nance, like Hayes, is only in his second pro season and still assimilating the little niceties of being a pro. He doesn't run wide very often and he's not used very much as a receiver. He just runs over people. A year ago he was an over-weight rookie, and coach Mike Holovak muttered vaguely that someone who weighed 258 pounds and could block could also learn to play guard. "I lost 14 pounds quick," recalls Nance, "— in one week."

He gained only 321 yards as a rookie, and this year might reach 1,500. He's also destroying the whole image of the Patriots, who have been known as a team of nobodies. Nance represents a bonafide superstar. And they ought to appreciate it.

Jim Brown carried Cleveland for years with his phenomenal ground-gaining. The Green Bay Packers rose to the top of pro football with Paul Hornung as their igniting force, and they still have a spark in Jim Taylor.

Ed Lopat would continue on as executive vice president...

Gary Player gradually is cutting down his appearances on the professional golf circuit and at 31 he already has set a target date for quitting it altogether.

"Age 40 is the absolute maximum for me," says the former U.S. Open and Masters titlist. "You will not see me on the tour after 40."

Funny how everyone suddenly is quitting these days. It almost seems like a general epidemic.

First Sandy Koufax did and then Roger Maris, Milt Pappas and Maury Wills all said they might. Big Will Chamberlain, of course, said it before all of them, unless you count Jim (Mudcat) Grant, who insisted he'd stay in show business exclusively unless the Twins came up with $50,000 last season.

They didn't and he didn't. The Mets must be doing something right! For some reason, all the players they trade away say they're reluctant to go — even to pennant contenders.

If you think Ron Hunt took it hard when informed he had been traded to the Dodgers, you should've heard Dennis Ribant when they told him he would now get his paycheck from the Pirates.

Pretty near ruined the boy's Christmas.

Funny Game
Baseball is a funny game. Coach Billy Martin, the guy everyone said was knifing Sam Mele in the back, turned out to be his greatest defender when the Minnesota manager was catching it from pitcher Jim Kaat not so long ago.

Mele, by the way, says the Kaat incident is "closed" and forgotten.

I'm still a little confused about who wound up No. 1 in the nation.

Was it Notre Dame, Michigan State or that auto rental agency?

Colts May Be Up For Sale

NEW YORK (UPI) — Owner Carroll Rosenbloom denies it up and down, but reports persist he already has a blueprint for selling his Baltimore Colts for $12,000,000 to — now get this — three of his one-time stars.

The prospective buyers are said to be A-G Foods, Inc., a chain of drive-in restaurants owned by such familiar Baltimore footballers as Alan (The Horse) Ameche, Gino Marchetti and Joe Campanella.

Campanella, a middle guard on the Colts' great teams of 1958 and 1959, was the "surprise choice as Baltimore general manager recently and his being named by Rosenbloom might not be the big surprise now it first seemed. The boys derived the name of their firm by using A for Ameche and G for Gino and in case you're wondering how they're doing, their sales were over $12,000,000 this year only through Oct. 31.

Lotia Hamburgers That's a lotta hamburgers and soda pop, even enough to buy a ball club like the Colts it appears.

Charlie Finley is believed to be readying a big announcement.

The A's are operating without a general manager and Charlie plans to name one. All through guessing? Okay, the new GM probably will be Charlie Finley.

Ed Lopat would continue on as executive vice president...

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WEALEY

We sincerely appreciate the many, many responses to our last week's news column. Roy Kretzmeier called and said we need more articles like it. His wife was to send several copies to friends. Fred Vanderburg said it should be printed in bold type on the front page. Fred had a reason for flattering me. I swallowed hook, line, and sinker. Milton Carpenter said the housewife strikers needed a copy. Bill Stockstill had some most encouraging remarks. Many, many others agreed. A big surprise however... the housewives didn't read it, or we convinced them the food stores and farmers aren't getting rich. We had only two calls from housewives. Both of them, whom we knew well, faked their voice, but we recognized them. They agreed with us.

Income Tax School

Next Thursday, Dec. 15 starting at 10 a.m. and ending at 3:15 p.m. there will be a farm income school of interest to farmers, ranchers and farm income tax accountants. The meeting will be held in the agricultural building on the Miami highway east.

The morning session has been planned primarily for accountants and others that make out farm income tax returns. We have some of the top area income tax people on the program. Mr. Frank Daugherty, internal revenue service, Pampa; Wayne Brown, certified public accountant, Pampa; Felix Ryals, manager Panhandle underground water district, White Deer; and Paul Brown, certified public accountant, Pampa.

The afternoon session has been planned primarily for those farmers and ranchers that depend on accountants to make out their returns. The same speakers that appear on the morning session will also appear on the afternoon session. Some of the afternoon topics will include:

1. Minimum records a farmer must keep;
2. How can a professional accountant help you?
3. How can you help the accountant in preparing your return?
4. Income Tax Savings Tips.
5. General Income Tax discussion, and
6. A question and answer session.

We have a limited supply of 1967 Income Tax Guides that will be available locally. All farmers in Gray and surrounding counties are cordially invited and urged to attend. I firmly believe a farmer's attendance at the next Thursday afternoon session could be his most profitable half day in 1966.

I can name you several individual farmers that have remarked after attending one of these schools, "It was worth thousands to me today." Because many farmers do not make out their own returns, they feel there is no need to improve their knowledge of income tax. Actually a farmer that does not make out his own return could profit more in the afternoon session than a farmer that does his own return.

If you received a letter inviting you to the Kiwanis Farmer-Rancher Day for Friday, Dec. 16, disregard the reference to the ticket being enclosed. The factory.

Panhandle Water Conservation News

By FELIX W. RYALS
On Saturday Dec. 3, I attended the Institute on Water Rights held by the Northeast Panhandle Bar Association. The institute was held in the spacious library of the Spearman High School.

Some very fine addresses were made at the institute. Judge J. H. Starley of the 143rd Judicial District at Pecos was one of the featured speakers. For the past three years Judge Starley has been solving the legal wrangle over water rights in the Pecos Valley area.

We are quoting a portion of the speech concerning water and water rights:

"It has been suggested that legislative relief might be appropriate in Texas to obtain some control over use of ground water, as to areas not already under Article 7880-3c Districts. See 'Proration of Ground Water' by Casebier and Starley in 1956 Water Law Conference proceedings at pp. 159-170. The authorities and reasoning for such a conclusion are more fully discussed in the article. There might be some merit in this approach.

As stated before, Texas is in a hydrological strait jacket as far as water law in Texas is concerned. We need to move into world of reality as far as geology and hydrology are vital factors.

Associate Justice Wilson, joined by Justices Griffin and Culver, in the dissent in the City of Corpus case, says: 'I am convinced that the rationale of Frazier vs Brown has been rebutted and the entire trend of our jurisprudence since that decision and since the East case. Although this court can close eyes to the advancement of scientific and legal knowledge and governmental techniques by reaffirming this rationale as the majority do here, I do not believe that this court will always do so...'

"The movement of water from the ocean through clouds to fall on land as rain and its trip back to the ocean is called the hydrological cycle. It's not within the power of man to destroy water in any appreciable quantities but only to divert and control water as it flows toward the ocean. (citing Montana case). For this reason, the legal term WASTE does not mean the destruction of water but rather its escape from beneficial use."

Where are we to begin to find our answers to the dilemma in which we in Texas find ourselves? Without going into the various cases as to surface water rights on the streams of Texas, may I assure you that we do have a dilemma? MOTL vs BOYD was an honest attempt by the Supreme Court of Texas in 1926 to segregate the "normal flow and underflow" of a stream and apply the common law of riparian rights, and then say that all water above that in the stream shall be subject to doctrine of appropriate rights. Unfortunately neither the hydrologists nor the legal profession can identify "normal flow" as defined in MOTL vs BOYD, and have left the application of that decision wholly impractical in this State. The Supreme Court attempted to wed two systems of water law that are physically and philosophically incompatible. You can not breed two mules, or a horse to a cow.

Under the riparian system you have hanging over the head of the present beneficial user the potential claim of a new riparian non-user coming forward sometime in the future and asserting some quantity of water for consumptive use that was theretofore indefinable. When you multiply this by two times the length of a river, you are facing impossible probabilities. The same is true as to your clients' ground water. Today he may have one adjoining neighbor making reasonable use of his well. Tomorrow he may have four or a dozen adjoining owners extracting excessive quantities of ground water to be transported afar.

All-Out Support Requested For Broiler-Buying

WACO — The Texas Farm Bureau is lending its support to a nationwide broiler promotion campaign that is designed to help offset an estimated 10 per cent oversupply of broilers during the winter months.

The promotion was instituted recently when Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, requested retail and wholesale organizations to give all-out support to a merchandising program to aid in moving the abundant supply of broilers which will be marketed during the next several weeks and months.

In his message to retail organizations, Shuman said broilers are a good buy for consumers, offering them a highly nutritious food at reasonable prices. He added that broiler producers have "performed miracles" in cutting costs to the housewives, noting that farmers' prices have come down from about 33 cents a pound 18 years ago to less than 15 cents a pound now.

Chamber To Be Honored With Special Day

FORT WORTH — The Pampa Chamber of Commerce has been invited to select a "Special Day" to be honored by the 1967 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, Jan. 27 through Feb. 5.

Included in the invitation is a reservation for a block of rodeo tickets to be sold locally. The seats are in a block to insure all residents will be sitting together for their spotlighted introduction at the Rodeo. A Cowgirl Sweetheart can be selected to ride in the Grand Entry and introduced during the "Special Day" Rodeo performance. The local riding club may go with the "Special Day" delegation and ride in the Rodeo Grand Entry.

Good soil has made America a land where plenty of good food is taken for granted. We must continue to keep this soil productive and protect it from further erosion. Americans spend about 1/4 of their income on food. Englishmen spend about 30 per cent for food, while Italians spend about 40 per cent. In India and China, where severe erosion has taken place, they spend 80 per cent of income on food.

About two-thirds of the nation's factories use materials that come from the farms, ranches and forests. From the same places come 70 per cent or nearly three-fourths, of the goods which merchants sell and almost 70 percent of the freight hauled by railroads, trucks and airlines.

Thus, the soil affects each of us in all parts of the country. Industries closely linked to the soil include all of the food processing plants, canneries, packing plants, shoe factories, tanneries, cotton and woolen mills, garment makers, paper and cardboard manufacturers of automobiles, railway cars, and various mechanical and electrical appliances get a large portion of their raw materials from farms, ranches and forests.

Thousands of towns exist only because they are business centers for surrounding farms or ranches. As the soil around any of these trading centers becomes depleted, the area becomes a poor market for the goods we produce and the services we sell.

Sorghum Producers Push Plan

The most aggressive program and the largest budget in the ten year history of the organization was proposed for the Grain Sorghum Producers Association in a special meeting of the farmer-elected Board of Directors in Amarillo, Friday, December 2. Eighty two directors and farm leaders from the Tri-State grain sorghum area of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma appraised the area situation for grain sorghum producers expected farm income, market potential, changing government and industry relations as production is expanded in the coming years. Throughout the day, discussion was "active" and even "spirited" at times as a possible "profitless prosperity" was described unless concerted organized efforts on the part of producers are made to keep grain sorghum accepted and moving in the market at home and abroad, and to affect administrative decisions in the various phases of government policy related to the production, use and marketing of feed grains.

Abernathy farmer and GSPA President Elbert Harp pointed out that "it is ironic that this great and obvious need for Association expanded activities and leadership has come at a time when it is least able to do so because of apparent farmer complacency and non-payment or renewal of membership dues through its normal collection procedure of 2 lbs. per thousand from farm deliveries at elevators this fall." He summed up by saying, "That even though we have proposed the strongest and most costly program ever — a minimum $30,000 increase over last year's $55,000 budget — it still is just a proposal and no expanded activity will get under way until a membership and budget expansion effort is successfully initiated and completed. In fact, without additional farmer and agri-business support, much of the existing association programs will be curtailed or completely discontinued."

Directors present enthusiastically accepted the role of leadership for membership expansion efforts in their individual county organizations to be initiated immediately and completed by January 15. At the regular quarterly meeting of the GSPA in February, an official program of work will be adopted and action on exact activities to be expanded or curtailed will be taken in keeping with demonstrated interest of grain sorghum farmers by their response to the membership expansion efforts.

In other business, GSPA Executive V. President Bill Nelson reported on Association efforts to have barley re-instated in the 1967 feed grain program after it was removed by USDA, or at least allow grain sorghum to be grown on former barley acres and concluded that no change is likely to be made by USDA on grounds of "lack of legal authority".

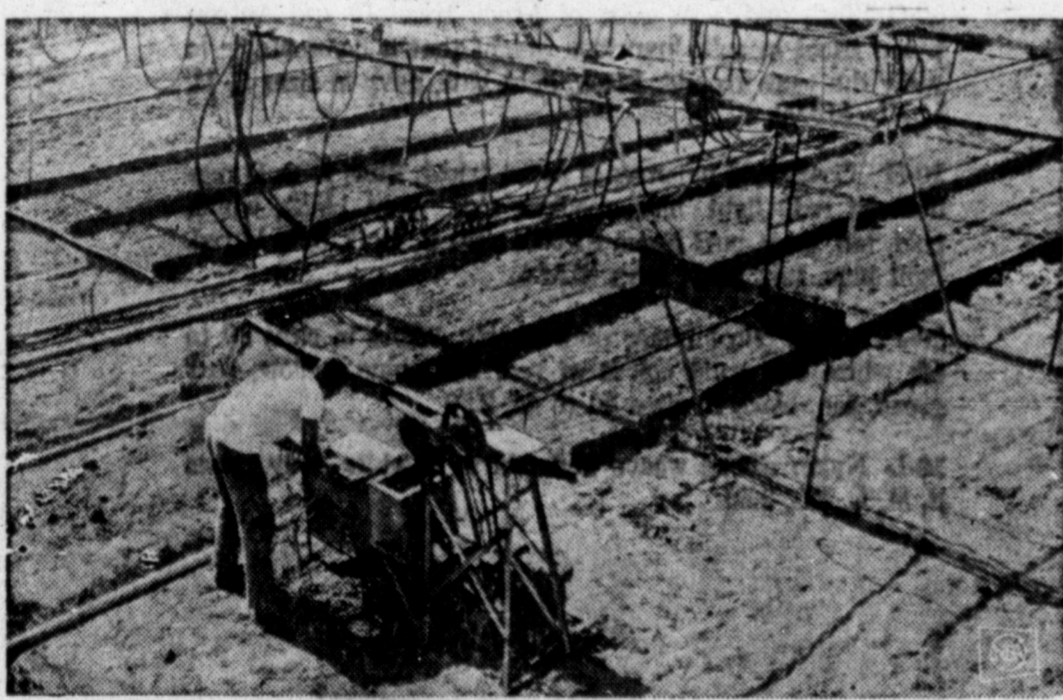

On a more positive note Nelson reported that the 3 million tons of grain sorghum which went to India from CCC stocks this past year would likely be expanded to 4 million tons during the coming year and would be purchased from farmer and grain trade owned stocks strengthening local demand and pouring some $50 million into the grain sorghum economy.

The rapid expansion of grain sorghum shipments to India can continue only as long as it is accepted and used in food by the people in India. There have been some real problems with substituting orghum for local millets, wheat and other cereals because it is a new and different grain. Arrangements are being completed with the U.S. Feed Grains Council and the Foreign Agricultural Service to employ on a two year contract, an expert Food Nutritionist to assist with grain sorghum food use development in India.

Another very positive advance in both grain and fed-cattle income is expected due to the recent USDA announcement that "in the future only choice grain-fed beef will be purchased for the national school lunch programs". GSPA has continuously objected to past policies of grass-fed, imported, or cow beef accounting for most school lunch purchases. "The demand for grain sorghum area feed-lot cattle and in turn demand for grain sorghum by federal will obviously be strengthened", Nelson said.

Members of the Research, Market Development and Service organization's executive committee in addition to Harp and Nelson are: Frank Moore, Plainview; R. G. Peeler, Hereford; Pat Northcutt, Silverton; and A. W. Anthony, Jr. of Friona; and State Director include Albert Matlock, New Mexico of Clovis; Mabry Foreman, Oklahoma of Felt; and Warren Otto, Nebraska of York.

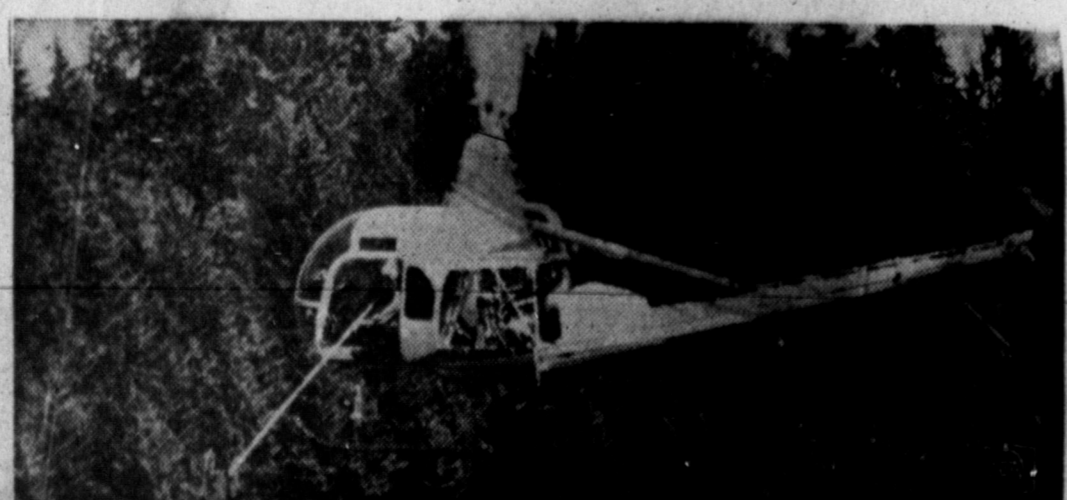

ARTIFICIAL RAINFALL is created at the Agriculture Department's Watkinsville, Ga., Experiment Station to determine how much pesticide runs off a given plot of ground and how much stays in the soil to kill weeds. Scientists have found that the chemical form in which pesticide is applied to fields may greatly influence the wash-off rate. More is retained of types that form a solution with water, penetrating the soil.

Visitors To 'Rec' Area Passes Million

Travel to Sanford Recreation Area and Lake Meredith has surpassed the one million mark according to Superintendent M. J. Becker. The counted travel of 1,004,657 visitor days through the end of November exceeds original expectations.

Becker stated that the original visitor projections had shown a potential yearly travel of 806,400 visitor days per year after basic recreation facilities were installed.

TREETOP TRIMMING and testing became much easier when Dept. of Agriculture officials began attacking their problem from above, instead of below. A new helicopter-mounted tool with a scissors on the end has replaced old methods of climbing the trees or shooting off the top with a rifle. By collecting and analyzing treetop foliage, scientists hope to develop new methods of aerial photography or imagery to determine insect and disease damage to forests.

The United States is coasting blindly toward another nasty little war in Southeast Asia. This one would be in Thailand which borders Viet Nam on the west.

If American doves and American hawks could disengage from each other, now would be the time for all Americans to decide whether they want to accompany President Johnson into another sleazy war to make Southeast Asia safe for democracy as defined by the Great Society. All in favor of more war, say "Ferdinands!" All against more war, say "Stop!"

Conservative Americans who glory in the label of hawks need to take another look at where the United States is going, where it has been and what kind of a mess the country is likely to be in if the present uncertain management of foreign affairs is continued. All hands are under the enormously expensive management of LBJ's Great Society. Down that road somewhere awaits bad trouble.

The Johnson administration can be depended upon to claim as good legal authority to conduct war against Communist guerrillas in Thailand the same legal authority advanced for conducting war against Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam. The legal authority depends in some degree on the time and place the authority is cited and by whom.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, for instance caught Secretary of State Dean Rusk with his legal citations snafued. The consored record of the 1964 committee hearings on a resolution to authorize armed action in Southeast Asia was published about a fortnight ago. When compared with other Rusk testimony, it shows the administration was uncertain whether or not it was acting in Southeast Asia under the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. If Rusk did not know the legal authorities being invoked by the United States, it must be assumed that there has been within the administration much confusion.

The 1964 testimony was taken in connection with LBJ's request for blanket authority to use force if necessary in Southeast Asia. This was after North Vietnamese PT boats twice attacked U.S. naval Congress voted the so-called Tonkin Gulf resolution Aug. 10, 1964, giving LBJ advance authority to assist any Southeast Asian nation in defense of its freedom. North Viet Nam already was protesting the use of Thailand bases for U.S. aircraft. That use has been greatly expanded.

The United States now has nearly 35,000 military personnel in Thailand. U.S.-manned helicopters are ferrying Thai forces to the northeastern section to oppose Communist guerrillas. The United States is training, advising and helping to equip the Thai army. American military personnel are forbidden to fire at the enemy unless fired upon. Does that sound familiar? Foreboding? It surely does.

The Thai picture is precisely as it was in South Viet Nam when the United States was training, advising and equipping the anti-Communist Vietnamese. All of this is being reported from Bangkok in a low key so as to attract minimum attention. The time has come to find out who is doing what in Thailand and what happens next.

It may not be fair to call Viet Nam Mr. Johnson's war. But a new, dirty, deadly little war in Thailand will be Mr. Johnson's war and he will have to answer for it. If the United States is maneuvered by LBJ into Mr. Johnson's war in Thailand, the Republicans should be able to run him right out of Washington in 1968.

PRISONERS EXCHANGE?
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States has asked North Viet Nam to reconsider its refusal to participate in Red Cross-sponsored talks on the possible exchange of prisoners of war.

The State Department said Friday "we regret the unwillingness" of the Hanoi government to agree to the International Red Cross proposal for such a meeting. It added: "We urge Hanoi to reconsider her position."

PARIS (UPI)—France's hopes to unfreeze the deadlocked problem of German unity through improved contacts with Moscow seemed to have received a jolt when Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin pronounced the East German frontier unapproachable.

Kosygin did so last week in an unscheduled speech at a city hall reception in which he attacked an alleged resurgence of Nazism in West Germany, France's ally.

Kosygin's attack was a deliberate violation of the diplomatic propriety which says that no visiting statesman should make an open attack on a third party.

President Charles de Gaulle is known to have tried hard to convince Kremlin leaders they had nothing to fear from the West German government.

Falls To Response
De Gaulle did so during his

Moscow visit last June, despite the fact that West Germany had failed to respond to France's wooing, remaining closely aligned to the United States.

High sources said De Gaulle made a new—but apparently vain—attempt to budge the Soviets from their mistrust of Bonn's policies in talks with Kosygin.

Allied diplomatic sources said Kosygin's attack on West Germany showed that Moscow did not expect the new government of Chancellor Kurt-George Kiesinger to become more amenable to Soviet foreign policy views.

Informants also saw Kosygin's attack as an attempt to disturb French-West German relations and give a helping hand to the current French Communist party campaign designed to rekindle the mistrust of the Germans dormant in French public opinion.

Mistrust Disappears
Thanks to postwar efforts both in Paris and in Bonn this mistrust has all but disappeared, especially since the conclusion of the 1963 French-German cooperation treaty.

This treaty, while failing to lead to a close political partnership, has sparked steady cooperation in the educational and cultural fields with tens of thousands of student crossing the Rhine in both directions each year to learn the two languages and cultures.

Although De Gaulle has failed to swing Bonn behind his foreign policy views, he is known to be determined to abide by the requirements of the pact to hold twice-yearly consultations with his Bonn partners. Diplomatic quarters said that Kiesinger and his Foreign Minister Willy Brandt would visit De Gaulle late this month.

For some Frenchmen Kosygin's public attack at West Germany was a blatant violation of hospitality rules. They wondered what would have been the Soviet leader's reaction if De Gaulle during his Kremlin

WASHINGTON (UPI)—I am writing this in a cubbyhole office on the top floor of the U.S. Capitol. The furnishings aren't much but the view is terrific.

It has a big double window overlooking a smog bank. In fact, it provides one of the best views of air pollution in the entire city.

At the moment the smoke and fumes rising from the streets below me have coagulated into a reddish sort of haze reminiscent of the way the Texas sky used to look back in the dust bowl days.

From this elevation it appears to extend from the tail of General Grant's horse upward to the tip of the Washington Monument. Which means the air is relatively clear.

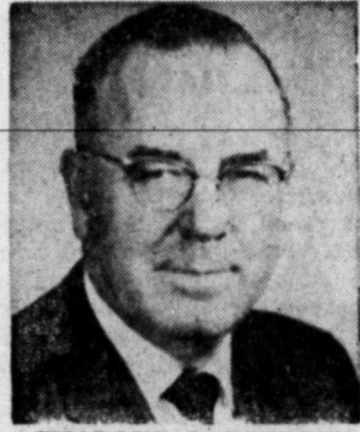

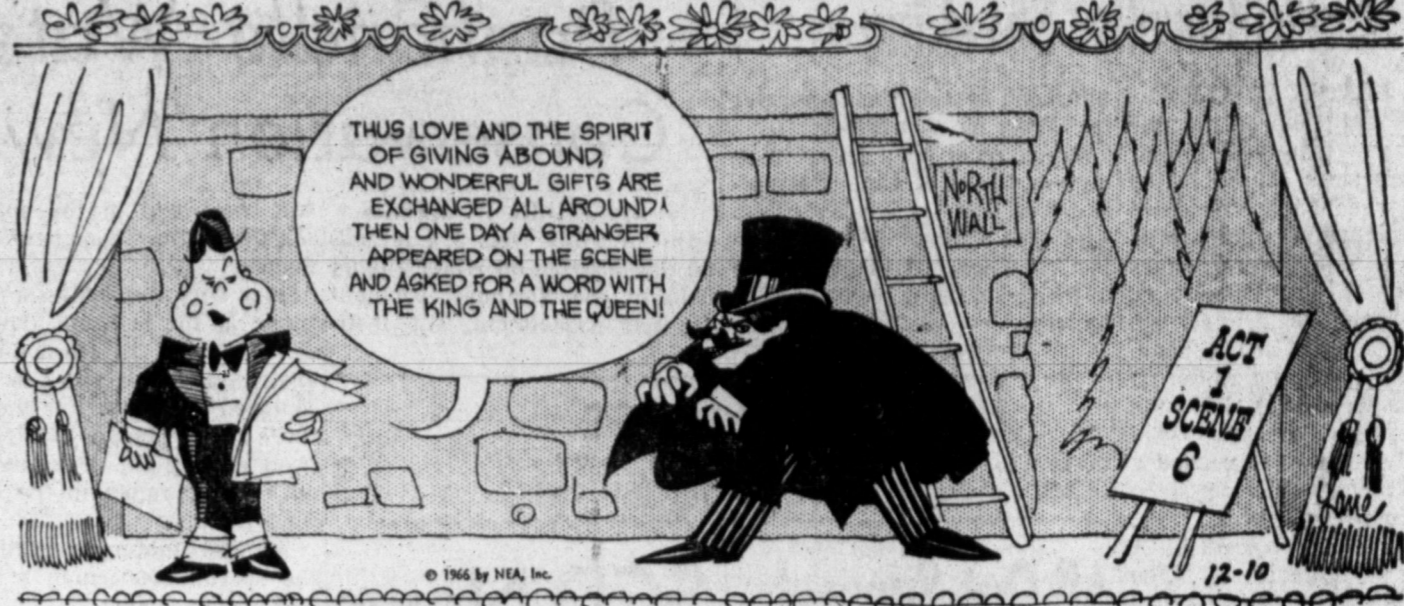

Ups And Downs
A week or so ago there were times when I couldn't see the monument at all.

I know it's selfish of me, but I have been so concerned about my own lungs I have scarcely given any thought to the effect the smog has on petunias.

Fortunately, the U.S. government has been more considerate.

Recognizing that petunias like to breathe, too, the government is building a "plant air pollution laboratory" to look into the matter and possible find a few solutions.

Scientists will study not only visit last summer had assailed Communist East Germany in public.

'Treasures From Shores of Israel' Program Heard by TC Cotillion Club

Mrs. Jack White presented the program, "Treasures From the Shores of Israel" which had been prepared and organized by Mrs. Thelma Bray to Twentieth Century Cotillion Club. The group met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Lee Fraser, 1424 Williston, with Mrs. Don Morrison, president, presiding. Announcement was made of the club's Christmas meeting and gift exchange to be held Dec. 20.

Mrs. White explained that Israel is a tiny country, only 265 miles long. "No country can surpass its contribution to the world as three great religions have organized here — Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. Mrs. White added that the overwhelming majority of its 2.2 million citizens are Jewish and call themselves the People of the Book, because their ancestors, after first settling in the area 3,500 years ago, wrote a compilation of law, history and prophecy that came to be known as the Bible. It is the only country in the world that employs the New Testament as its history textbook and does so with rightful pride," she said.

Mrs. McAdams was honored Monday evening with a baby shower in Fellowship Hall of Skellytown First Baptist Church. Hostesses were Mmes. Larry Brown, Gary Gortmaker, Irvin Brown, Ed Harmon, J. C. Jarvis, Bryan Coday, H. M. Coday, Calvin Duncan, John Richard Echols, Carroll Dean Russell, Howard Moore, Clifford Coleman, Bobbie Tatum, Ed Kleibrink, Edna Dunivin, Paulette Craig and Miss Juanna Jo Moore. Mrs. McAdams was presented a corsage fashioned from baby socks, lace trimmed pinned on by Mrs. Bryan Coday. Mrs. Carroll Dean Russell presided at the guest register. The serving table, covered with a white linen cut work cloth, was centered with a white miniature baby cradle encircled by pink roses. Favors were storks made from safety pins. Mrs. Larry Brown presided at the punch bowl and Miss Juanna Jo Moore served the cake. Attending or participating were Mmes. Carl McAdams, J. M. Bradley-Bettis Nuptial Vows Pledged

Mrs. Ira Dean Bettis ... nee Miss Deliah Gay Bradley

Rev. Donald S. Hauck performed double-ring wedding rites Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock in First Presbyterian Church uniting Miss Deliah Gay Bradley and Ira Dean Bettis in marriage. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Bradley of 1718 Christine St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira E. Bettis of 1308 E. Francis St. The sanctuary was centered with gold arched candelabra garlanded with smilax and holding lighted cathedral tapers. This was flanked by matching arrangements of white princess gladioli and snowball mums. The aisle was laid with a carpet of white bridal satin and the family pews were marked with white satin ribbon and white rope backed with palms. The couple knelt on a white satin bench for the wedding prayer. Mrs. John Garcia sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Oh, Perfect Love" accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Fidelia Yoder and "Trumpet Voluntary" was played for the wedding procession. R. J. Bradley gave his daughter in marriage. The bride was attired in a floor-length gown of white bridal satin, fitted bodice and natural waistline with an overlay of Venice lace. The fitted sheath was complimented by a full billowing overshirt, applied with lace medallions, which formed a sanctuary train, long fitted sleeves that fell into petal points over the hands and a sculptured neck of matching lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and forets with showers of satin pekoed streamers. The bride chose a tiered veil of imported illusion attached to a crown of seed pearls and pearl tear drops and carried out the tradition of "something old, borrowed and blue". Her father provided an English six-pence as something old for her shoe, a pictured cameo locket of her maternal great-grandmother's as something borrowed and a blue garter. Miss Patricia Ramsey, maid of honor, wore a floor-length gown of orchid chiffon with ring collar, flowing sleeve panels and a matching headdress of self fabric and silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white Fuji poms poms with showers of matching streamers. Harold Richard Cox served as best man. The bride's brother, Claude E. Bradley and the bridegroom's brother, Ronald Bettis of Amarillo served as ushers. A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the auditorium of the Presbyterian Educational Building. Varietas Members Enjoy Program On Facts and Packaging of Food

"Fact and Fantasy About Foods" and "Packaging and Labeling" were the program topics for Varietas Study Club when it met recently in the home of Mrs. W. A. Wagoner, 2224 Evergreen. Mrs. S. C. Evans, president, presided over a brief business session which was opened with the Club Collect. A report from the project committee was given concerning the Christmas box sent to Wichita Falls State Hospital. Mrs. Luther Pierson opened the program with "Fact and Fantasy About Foods" and began by saying "Many people suffer from malnutrition because food is not cooked right. Every year new food elements have been discovered. Synthetic foods and vitamins will not give adequate nutrition." She further stated that 98 percent of Americans have tooth decay because of eating too much sugar and that it is best to eat breakfast like a king, lunch like a prince and dinner like a pauper. Mrs. Pierson continued, "There are many more differing fancies about food and nutrition, but there also is a great deal of factual information available on the subject. In the first place, they say whether bread, sugar or eggs are white or brown makes no difference nutritionally. Most nutritionists agree a simple daily diet plan including four food groups will give all the nutrients needed for healthful eating. These are the groups: 1. The milk group which includes cheese, ice cream and other dairy products. 2. The meat groups which takes poultry, eggs, fish, beef, pork, lamb and veal. 3. The fruits and vegetable Group and the Bread and cereal groups. Authorities say that with the foods on our daily menu, there is no need for so-called supplements. She concluded by commenting on fresh foods as processed foods. "Canned or frozen fruits and vegetables are just as nutritious as fresh produce from the market, according to food experts. So unless you boil away the nutrients by improper cooking, there are many nutrients in canned or frozen foods as in the fresh varieties." Mrs. Sherman White spoke of "Packaging and Labeling". She began by calling attention to the importance of reading the labels saying getting the best value for what you spend is up to each individual. She asked "What does a label do? Basically identifies the product and gives the brand name; tells what is in the package; gives information about preparing and serving; gives clues to the flavor." "In addition to information which federal law requires Mrs. White continued, "such names of product, name of address of the manufacturer, packer or distributor, quantity of contents, statement of additives, statement of ingredients, and so forth — manufacturers often give recipes, details about quantity, description of the raw product and the processing method. All of this information helps you to buy wisely — if you read the label." Mrs. White mentioned that it is necessary to understand the vocabulary. For example, an important term is "standards of identity." If you cannot find listed the ingredients on mayonnaise or jelly or macaroni, this is not because the manufacturer is breaking the law because the Food and Drug Administration has set a "standard" for these and some 25 products. Another important term is "density" and thus we have fractional weights in packages to eliminate the necessity of so many different sizes of jars. "A final point regarding the importance of reading the labels on all products — is that of savings. By using the products properly, there is a saving in time and better results." Refreshments were served by Mmes. Cecil Dalton, Price Dier, S. C. Evans, Lee Harrah, John Kelly, J. E. Kirchner, C. L. McKinney, Luther Pierson and Sherman White. Shoes for little girls follow the adult fashion line this season. The pointed toe is giving in to the rounder, wider look for preteens and the sling backs and straps that appeal to their mothers is also available in the shoe store to them. Look especially for the strap — sometimes a single T, sometimes double, sometimes circling the ankle.

'No Christmas' Is P-TA Council Devotional Theme

Mrs. N. L. Nicholl presented a devotional "No Christmas" Tuesday morning at the P-TA City Council meeting at Lamar School. Mrs. Charles Lanehart, president, introduced Mrs. Georgia Mack, who reported on the March of Dimes in Gray County. Mrs. Mack emphasized the fact that P-TA members have always helped with the Mothers' March but that they do so as mothers and not for a P-TA project. The Mother's March will be held on Jan. 30. Jim White, city manager, spoke to the council concerning the traffic problems around the public schools. Brief reports on the convention held in Austin in November were given by D. V. Biggers and Joe Page. Mrs. W. T. Fain announced all units are invited to send in nominations to the district nominating committee by Jan. 15. They are to be sent in sealed envelopes to Arling Cordell, Box 38, Wheeler. Bob Parks presented a letter from the M. K. Brown Memorial Foundation. There will be no meeting in January. Rolls, cookies, coffee and punch were served by Mrs. H. R. Jennings, Mrs. Harilee Whitehead and Mrs. Lawrence Paronto. Joe Page was host principal. Thirty-four members attended.

AUTOGRAPH COFFEE Mrs. Diamia Franklin Wood, seated, is autographing a copy of her recently published book of poems, "Unto the Hills," for Mrs. Joe L. Wells, left and Mrs. Herman Jones. An autograph coffee was given in honor of Mrs. Wood Thursday morning in Mrs. Wells' home at which Mrs. Jones was co-hostess. The book, which contains a collection of 29 poems, was published by Naylor Co. of San Antonio and reached local dealers last week. Through the years Diamia Franklin Wood, 521 W. Montagu St., jotted down verse and even fragmentary ideas that came to her mind in the course of daily living. Now, after retirement gave her more leisure, she has gathered them together, polished and perfected them and brought them out in a volume of verse, "Unto the Hills." This is Mrs. Wood's first book, although she has been published in periodicals through the years. Much of the poetry in her new book has a spiritual significance. She also writes a number of poems on prayers and other Biblical subjects. Throughout all her verse she expresses a love of God, of na- ture and of her fellow man. Because her themes are those that are familiar to her readers, there is sure to be much reader identification, thus adding to the overall interest. Most of the poems in this book bring a message of hope and guidance, although some of them are merely pictorial and others focus attention on beauty such as that of the sweep of a West Texas landscape. "Unto the Hills" has just been published by the Naylor Company of San Antonio. Mrs. Wood was born in Arkansas. After the death of her mother when she was two years old, her father brought his family to Panhandle, Texas, where they were reared. He established a variety store in that place, and also served as mayor of Panhandle for some years. Mrs. Wood worked on the Panhandle Herald for two years. She was married to Albert Wood, after which she resided in Pampa, Amarillo, and Borger as well as in Panhandle. After Mr. Wood's death in 1941, she served as a church secretary in Pampa, and also as assistant superintendent of schools in Gray County. After her graduation from high school she received her education at California Business College, Berkeley. She has one daughter, Mrs. James Vernon of Tucson, Ariz.

Rebekah Officers Honored at Coffee

While making official visits to Denton and Paris IOOF Ladies Auxiliaries, Mrs. John Killian and Mrs. Thelma Gage, Rebekah president, were houseguests of the A. A. Whartons in Paris. Mrs. Wharton, with several other ladies helping, gave a coffee for Mrs. Killian and Mrs. Gage on Sunday afternoon at which a large number of guests registered. The Christmas theme was carried out in the decorations. The Rebekahs of one district, composed of Honey Grove, Mt. Pleasant, Clarksville and Paris honored the ladies with a banquet at the Nicolson House in Paris, after which there was a district meeting of these members and guests at the IOOF Hall in Paris. Pampan will remember the A. A. Whartons as living near Pampa in a Phillips Camp Mr. Wharton retired from Phillips several years ago.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. John S. Skelly Jr., 936 N. Somerville, announce the marriage of their daughter, Natalie, to Dennis Stephenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy West Spiller of Amarillo. Mrs. Stephenson is studying at Western Republic College, Amarillo. Mr. Stephenson is a senior at West Texas State University, Canyon.

Parents Aid Needed in Answering Yule Mail Received at 'Christ Child'

CHRIST CHILD, Austria — it out in the woods and returned every Sunday that year to pray before it. Slowly his sickness disappeared.

Later a small hut was built over the altar as word of the miracle spread, then a baroque church was erected. Even now the village consists of only a handful of houses, not enough to support a full-time post office.

On Christmas Eve Austrians and tourists flock to the shrine. Every year now since 1950 postmaster Lukas and a team of 20 clear the snow away from the entrance to the inn and set up shop to answer letters from children and parents all over the world.

Stamp collectors throughout the world also have taken an interest in the little post office, which closes down again for the year after its Christmas work is done.

Normal Austrian stamps are used but the post office has a special franking machine that puts twinkling angels on the children's letters.

Medicine Cabinet Is Recent Addition

No home should be without one; most homes have at least one.

What is it? A medicine cabinet, that metal box in the wall that serves most often as a catch-all for medicines, beauty aids, hair curlers and numerous other items considered essential by women.

No one knows how many medicine cabinets there are in this country, although a recent survey estimated the number at 80,000,000 in homes, apartments, hotels and motels. This estimate does not include those in doctors' offices, clinics, schools, institutions and business offices — which could run the total to well over 100 million.

Homes today would have difficulty functioning without the medicine chest. But this was not always true. In fact, according to architect Charles B. Lamar, expert in restorations and consultant to the Newport Historic Society, American homes 100 years or older had no bathroom medicine cabinets — if, in fact, they had rooms for bathing.

But people have always had medicine cabinets in one form or another, even though they did not have prepared medicines as we know them. A survey by the makers of Bayer Aspirin revealed that in primitive societies the medicine man kept his "cures" in an elaborately decorated bag, which was looked on with awe and great respect by all.

Egyptian doctors kept their medicines in jars, which in turn were stored in woven chests and placed on wicker stands to discourage accumulation of moisture. The Greeks kept their dried medicinals in containers consisting of several drawers.

Greek doctors also had a portable medicine kit made of hide, similar in appearance to a compartmented quiver. Herbs were stored in various sections, while surgical instruments protruded from the top like exotic-shaped arrows.

In colonial days, and until fairly recent times, medicines and materials for making them were stored in the home in chests, much like an ornate bread box. Somewhere along the line some unknown architect decided to place a compartment in the wall of a home.

What does the future hold for the home medicine cabinet? Even designers and builders of these useful compartments see little basic change in design and position in the home. One envisions a model suspended from the ceiling (although he admits that this would be practical only in certain homes), and another projects a model that rises from the floor at the touch of a button.

Until something better comes along, then, we must be content with the medicine cabinets we have... and continue to clean them out periodically. The Bayer survey learned that the average homemaker takes about 12 minutes to clean out her medicine cabinet — if she doesn't experiment with lipstick found behind the aspirin bottle. Though few do it, most homemakers agree it is a good idea to keep a small flashlight in the medicine cabinet in the event of power failure.

The content of these cabinets is an individual thing, but the following "basics" are recommended: an antiseptic, a good quality aspirin, adhesive and bandages, skin lotion, cough syrup, epsom salts, an antacid-laxative, medicine dropper, oral and rectal thermometer, tweezers and small scissors. Also recommended for inside the door: A poison-treatment chart and telephone numbers of hospital emergency and your family physician.

Instead of a stuffed tomato salad, serve cooked chilled artichokes filled with your favorite salad mixture — ham, egg, seafood or chicken. Before stuffing, remove the choke from the center of each artichoke with a metal spoon.

Jeffries of Evansville, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bettis of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Murray E. Boyd Jr., of Amarillo, Mrs. Virginia L. Body of Dallas, and Miss Kathy Anderson of Amarillo.

Who'll Remember Good New Days?

PAGES FROM catalogues show what makes the older generation have twinges of nostalgia. Doll (left) is from 1921; Billy-the-Lucky Pup tops wheel items from 1927. Out of the sports past, the football and basketball of 1926 and for a flyer, the aeroplane of 1931.

By AILEEN SNOODY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA)—The actions of the current generation make old folks wonder where our next bit of nostalgia will come from.

Heaving a sad sigh for the seeming demise of remembrance of things past is that half of our population over 25. Who, they ask the strutting peacocks on a slow TV night, will be choked up about the days of the Loving Spoonfuls, The Monkees, or the first date when a girl wore a miniskirt?

Will there be no treasured moments? Has nostalgia truly gone the way of the campus party raids?

Christmas is upon us which makes it important to tackle this question now.

Will the GI Joes, Potato Head, Poor Pitiful Pearl, the toy supermarket with edibles or the slot car racing track bring a twinge to the thoughts of a child turned adult 20 years hence?

Looking back to the toys of yesterday's Christmases, the hardy manufacturers and catalog experts say toys and times haven't changed that much. Old catalogs from the archives of The Sperry and Hutchinson Co. reveal that 40 to 50 years ago dolls and wagons were the favorites.

According to A. J. Biermer, toy buyer, dolls and wagons still are big favorites with the trading stamp firm expecting redemption of 350,000 dolls and 25,000 little red wagons this season.

Choices of toys were limited, say in 1910, which may explain how precious a Christmas gift could be. Of 400 items in a catalog, only two dolls were available. Boys had to be content with fishing poles and boxcars, homemade, if the family ordered from a stamp catalog.

By 1914 things picked up for the boys with the growing popularity of baseball meaning a selection of gloves, a catcher's mitt and mask. Boxing gloves, a tennis racket and roller skates also were offered. Today, nearly 100,000 roller skates also are redeemed.

As children's interests broadened so did the play items that found their way under the Christmas trees.

In 1921, for example, stuffed animals made a big splash as did a "duckydo," a rocking duck made of wood. Young boys could get an American Flyer mechanical train via catalog for the first time.

Soon toy air rifles and ice hockey skates made the scene.

In 1926, too, rolo-toys (stuffed animals on wheels) and tricycles showed the impact of the designs.

So the memories grow. And so do the costs to indulgent parents and grandparents. Some of the latter remember when money was tight because it was scarce, not from too much spending.

Toy buyers, though, hasten to say that a $10.50 wagon today is far superior to the one that cost $4.50 in 1935. Back in 1913 celluloid dolls were as little as 15 cents up to $5.95. Some dolls dressed were as high as $12. Compare these prices to the amount spent merely for doll accessories such as wig, hoes evening bags and new combat equipment.

In spite of better materials and production techniques, the "nostalgists" ask how many of the several hundred toys given this Christmas will be kept for years, like a German-made Teddy bear with a pink bow around his neck belonging to a woman in her fifties.

Well-remembered, too, are a

Beauty Mask Is Pre-Date Treat

NEW YORK — To bring your skin out of hiding, wear a mask! Beauty masks absorb oil and grime, help coax out blackheads, stimulate circulation, tighten pores (but only temporarily) — and reveal your skin at its best.

Many beauty masks are made with clay, even though the mixtures may be pink, lavender or white. To apply, fingertip it onto your face, where it will harden and form a little network of cracks. Clay-based masks do an excellent cleansing job because of their absorptive powers, helped along by the friction involved in the rubbing-on and rinsing-off process. As the mask dries it also shrinks, thereby more more

Watchful Supervision Spells Happier Holidays

UNDER THE WATCHFUL gaze of Santa and the supervision of mother, this little girl keeps out of harmful mischief during the Christmas holiday preparations. Let little children participate in the holiday activities, says the Council on Family Health. Properly supervised in safe activities, small children can be protected from injuries due to accidents in the home.

Signals for the holiday season are visible from coast to coast, and among them is one storm signal with a special warning for mothers: the price of a happy holiday season for the entire family is constant vigilance. More persons sustained fatal injuries due to accidents last December than in any other month of the year.

The holiday season might be aptly described as the season of the great upset. Routines and schedules for regular living are disrupted. This places an extra burden on the homemaker.

The Council of Family Health suggests some ways in which mothers can reduce the chances of accidents in the home, despite the hectic activity and the jolly distractions of the holiday season.

Maintain prompt mealtimes, advises the Council. Small children are more likely to eat non-food objects when they are hungry and tired.

Keep a vigilant eye on youngsters. When they seem tired, divert them with calmer activities. Put them in a safe play space. Even if you are certain the child is safe, check frequently.

According to one group of researchers, half the children involved in accidents in the home were completely unsupervised around the time of their accident.

When adult members of the family are engrossed in gift wrapping, gift making, or the creation of decorations for the home and the Christmas tree, little children can be made part of the group. They can be assigned safe little tasks, performed under the watchful eyes of adults.

Left to their own devices and unsupervised, small children may discover their own projects, such as lighting matches, playing with electrical equipment, or trying to investigate what's bubbling on top of the kitchen stove.

Older children on school vacation during the holidays need some extra supervision, too. If the weather is wet, make sure they change to dry clothes immediately upon arriving home. Be alert to the flushed skin, the dry hacking cough and the sniffles that may indicate the onset of illness. Some school age children try to hide these symptoms from their parents so that they will not be confined to home and bed while their friends are having holiday parties.

If your children are taking part in school, church, club or community programs which require costumes, make sure the costumes are made of flameproof material. Flimsy, fluffy or flowing costumes are a hazard. The most frequent victims of clothing fires are children, particularly little girls.

In the home, see that portable heaters have guards and are never placed near curtains or towel racks. If there is a fireplace, be sure the screen is firmly in place at all times. It may not be as gala or romantic as an open fire, but it is much safer for the entire family.

Vigilance during the holiday season includes a thorough check of toys for small children, says the Council of Family Health. Check them for loose construction, sharp edges, or small parts that might be pulled off and put in the mouth. As for the joyful Christmas tree, see that it is placed away from any source of heat, including the television set. And never permit the tree to be placed in the line of traffic in tree. Christmas Moods Can Be Enhanced by Love

NEW YORK —What's happening when you suddenly start enjoying Christmas shopping... feel like going to church on Christmas Eve even though you usually don't... decide to stay home for a family holiday dinner instead of accepting an invitation from your not-so-secret passion... spend time baking cookies for the neighborhood children?

"You're joining the human race," writes psychiatrist Dr. Robert Nixon in an article on "Your Christmas Moods" in the December Seventeen. "You need to celebrate with and as your community celebrates. And exactly what you are celebrating is much less important than the fact, the extent and the agreed-upon ritual of the celebration."

When you get the feeling that you want to DO something about Christmas, to give of YOURSELF rather than of your means, you've got hold of the very heart of the matter," Dr. Nixon continues. "If you feel that all your giving is too often centered around money and you have yet to act on your need to make the holiday more intimate, the psychiatrist says, why not..."

—Write a friendly letter to some underprivileged child overseas—and keep it up all year long.

—Make your own Christmas cards.

—Make Christmas last all year by giving pledges of your time as presents — 10 days of free babysitting, 10 Sunday breakfasts served to your mother in bed, a season of Saturday mornings weeding the garden, whatever you think will be most appreciated.

—Wrap the presents you give in a special way, using more imagination than money, to make the recipients smile even before they open their packages.

Another thing that may happen is that you've been asking for something special — a pink sewing machine, for example — and sure enough, there is one on Christmas morning. But you are crushed! "You're realizing that the FEELING of Christmas can't be bought," Dr. Nixon points out. "You're hankering for the same feeling you had when you were little — before you began to see the machinery behind the magic. Adults are too far away from it, but you still have a fair chance of re-experiencing that feeling if you realize how important this intangible IS — and only if you will allow yourself to be surprised."

"It is my personal view that anyone who TELLS what she wants for Christmas deserves what she gets; she need not ask my sympathy when one day her husband gives her a washing machine or a new hot water tank for her 'big' present of the year," the psychiatrist confides.

The teenager has the problem of being in the middle: she's neither young enough just to let

Custom Draperies And Bedspreads Will Be Displayed at Mart

CHICAGO, Ill. — Norman's of Salisbury will open new wholesale drapery showrooms in space 440 of the American Furniture Mart in time for the 1967 Winter International Home Furnishings Market, Jan. 8 to 14. The company is a manufacturer of custom draperies and custom styled bedspreads and a distributor of cut-order fabrics with dealers in all 50 states, the Virgin Islands and Canada as well as distributors in Hong Kong and Rome.

"The increasing importance of household fabrics with home fashion-conscious consumers, makes the Norman operation an important addition to American Furniture Mart home furnishings displays," Frank S. Whiting, vice chairman of the Mart, said.

The company inventories more than a thousand patterns of cloth from cottons to velvets in both prints and solids. Their quality program is carried by retail furniture stores and decorator shops.

It consists of hanger fabric samples in displays, bedspreads on racks and swatch books from which the customer can make her choice, working with the furniture dealer just as she would with any interior designer with custom workroom facilities. All drapery work is custom but custom-styled bedspreads are inventoried by Norman's for shipment same day orders are received. Dealers' drapery orders are normally filled within five days.

When sheets become worn in the centers, use the out-sides to make pillow cases. Trim them with pretty borders made on the zig-zag machine attachment.

Lefors Flea Market Is Termed Success

LEFORS — In a gay holiday atmosphere, amid Christmas decorations, the Art and Civic Club sponsored Flea Market was a notable success recently at the Civic Center. Twenty-five exhibitors were delighted with the sale of $226.10 worth of arts and crafts. Many beautiful displays furnished Christmas idea galore to the approximately 200 customers and visitors who also enjoyed the free coffee.

Exhibitors included the High School Choir, Football Mothers, Mrs. R. W. Beck, Mrs. Harold Sims, Mrs. Jack Thacker, Mrs. Wendall Akin, Mrs. Chester Hill, Mrs. Walter Elliott, Mrs. Jeff Davis, Miss Norma Lantz, Mrs. Edward Vincent, Mrs. G. N. Mounger, Mrs. Howard Archer, Aunt Jane Cates, Mrs. Herman Cates, Mrs. Clarence Robertson, Mrs. J. B. Duckworth, Mrs. O. O. Bishop, Mrs. Elmer Melton and Mrs. Emily Smith all of Lefors, and Mrs. Joe Ford and Mrs. Cecil Barnett of Pampa.

The success of this initial attempt at sponsoring a Flea Market has prompted the Art and Civic Club to adopt this as an annual project to be held the first Saturday of December. With the promise of even more exhibitors next year, the added space in the Civic Center will be well-filled with another display of Christmas Spirit.

Homemakers Enjoy Yule Salad Luncheon

SKELLYTOWN (Spl) — Skellytown Homemakers Club met Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. Bob Heaton for a regular meeting and annual Christmas salad luncheon.

Receiving rooms were appointed in the Yule motif with Christmas decorations. Tables were covered with red cloths and favors were white nut cups with a Santa Claus face filled with Christmas candies.

Invocation was given by Mrs. John Simmons.

After the meal a short business meeting was conducted by

Society Members Exchange Rocks At Yule Party

From a gaily decorated Christmas tree, members of Canadian River Gem and Mineral Society held a rock gift exchange at its recent meeting held in Gold Room of Panhandle Bank and Trust, Borger.

Tables were decorated with traditional yule colors and trimmings. During the social hour those present displayed the rocks received as gifts, as well as gems and polished rocks brought just to brag about.

During the business session, presided over by Orley Greene, president, officers for the coming year were elected. Named to serve were Milo Carlson of Pampa, president; E. W. Wright of Liberal, Kan., first vice president; Charley Burton

Luncheon Slated For PE Wives Society

Petroleum Engineers Wives Society will have a monthly meeting and luncheon Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. at Pampa Country Club.

Program will be given by Rev. Sam Allen, minister of music at the First Baptist Church.

For reservation call Mrs. Sally Davis at MO 5-3497.

Members from Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas were in attendance.

Next meeting of the group is slated for Jan. 3.

Children's Touch Adds to Season

THREE WISE MEN take shape as young boys and girls enjoy making own cards and gifts for holidays.

dia ink and cover it lightly when dry with white water color.

The black ink will show through the paper, transmitting a snowy appearance.

Simple ornaments for the tree, mantel or dining table centerpiece can start with a Styrofoam ball. Decorate the ball with velvet, sequins or cover with gold paper brads.

The traditional Three Wise Men make a perfect table centerpiece and children can design them with aluminum foil. Simply mold each figure over a piece of cardboard shaped like a cone. Use a foam ball for the head and pipe cleaners for the arms. Wrap in foil and add glitter for nose, eyes and mouth.

Ornaments take little effort although the young ones may do a lot of tongue biting during their work. For paper ornaments, have a child fold a sheet of construction paper once down the middle and then cut the outside edge to the toy shape he wants. He then unfolds it and decorates with glitter, other colored paper or whatever suits his imagination.

Pipe cleaners make excellent reindeers; just twist to shape. Several colored straws, put together to form a wheel, become a special star.

Another twist with Christmas decorations and wrappings is to cut paper strips, one to four inches wide and tape or staple these together as ears, whiskers, legs and tails of a rabbit or lamb to sit atop a gift.

The list of things young ones can do to help the family Christmas effort is endless.

Once started though' youngsters always come up with something new, something special... and this is the touch needed to recapture the meaning of the holiday.

NEW YORK (NEA) —Christmas is for children. This year, though, instead of letting the expectant ones sit back and wait to be inundated with gifts and goodies, put them to work.

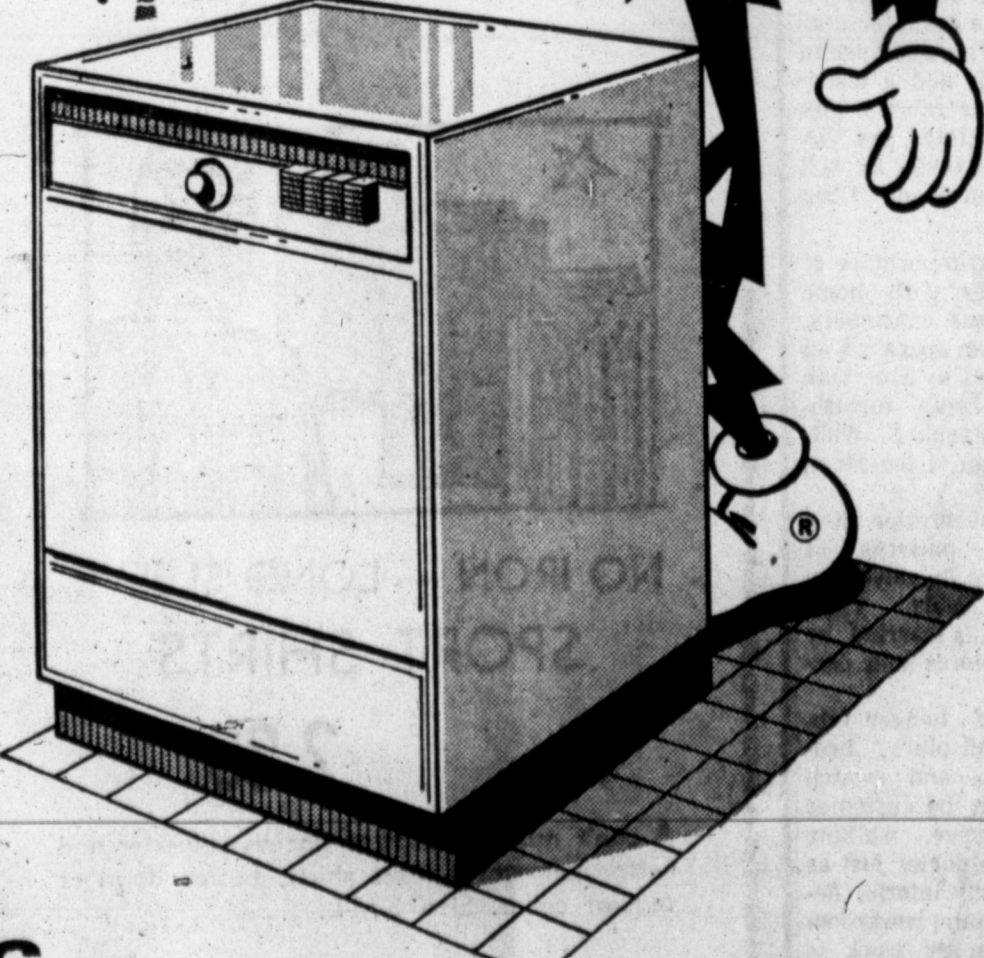

Children do enjoy being part of the holiday planning. Their personalized gifts and cards help retain the spirit of the holiday — something that each year appears to lose ground in a cash-register rush to outdoor who knows whom at this stage. The Joneses claim they went broke last Christmas. With this in mind we note that gifts, cards and decorations done by the children help save money.

Cards, for example, can be made, using potatoes and apples as stencils. Just cut the apple or the potato on one end in the design wanted, ink the design and stamp it onto white stock paper. Colored construction paper is ideal for cut-out trees and ornaments. Paste the colored designs on white paper and decorate with bits of colored paper. Those who are more advanced in their art work can draw a Nativity scene with

Officers Named By Rose Society

Mr. and Mrs. Milo Carlson were hosts to Pampa Rose Society at its regular meeting recently. Serving as co-hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Radcliff.

The president, Mrs. Raymond Darsey, led the group in reading the Club Collect and presiding over the business session. A report of the nominating committee, which was accepted by those present, was given by Mrs. H. H. Boynton.

Officers chosen to lead the group include Mrs. W. L. Campbell, president; Mrs. Boynton, vice president; Mrs. William Bennink, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Milo Carlson, historian; William A. Bennink, publicity; and Mrs. A. B. Carruth, yearbook.

Mrs. Darsey read a letter from the Chamber of Commerce and M. K. Brown Foundation regarding suggestions for the proposed civic auditorium. She announced that Mr. Caldwell was in the hospital and the Benninks were attending the funeral of Mrs. Bennink's brother. It was voted to have the Christmas dinner meeting at Jim's Steak House.

"Next Month in Our Rose Garden" was discussed collectively by the group.

Milo Carlson presented the program of three interesting

Tri-Delta Chapter Marks Start of Holiday Season

A recent meeting marked the start of the holiday season for the Pampa Alumnae Chapter of Delta Delta Delta when they gathered at the new home of Mrs. Ronnie Rice, southeast of city. Preceding the business meeting guests were served a light brunch from a table gaily decorated with a Santa centerpiece.

Mrs. John Bird presided as the new president, replacing Mrs. William Easley. She was assisted by Mrs. Richard Seawright, vice president; Mrs. Ronnie Rice, secretary, and Mrs. Myron Marx Jr., treasurer. Mrs. George Cree will continue as Panhellenic representative and Mrs. William Easley was appointed publicity chairman. All officers will serve two year terms.

Plans were made for a Holiday Coffee in honor of the chapter's four collegiates and their mothers on Dec. 28, and a forthcoming visit in January by the district president, Mrs. Donell Teaff, was discussed.

Four members, Mmes. John Bird, William Easley, Myron Marx Jr. and Tom Rose recently were the guests of the Amarillo Chapter for a Founders' Day dinner, shared their experiences with the local chapter.

Mrs. Paul Brown Jr., the former Marilyn Fite of Lindsay, Okla. was a guest. Others in attendance were Mmes. John Bird, Jim Chase, George Cree, William Easley, Myron Marx Jr., Ronnie Rice and Richard Seawright.

Christmas Party Set by TOPS Pound Pirates

Pampa Pound Pirates met Monday evening for a regular meeting. The meeting was called to order with the reciting of the TOPS Pledge. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Stacy Stubbs.

The 24 members present had a loss of 26½ pounds and a gain of 4½ pounds.

The club members sang "Hail to Our Queen" as Mrs. Anna Towry was crowned monthly queen. Mrs. Towry lost 10 pounds the month of November.

Mrs. Sue Moreland was awarded the fruit bowl with a loss of 5 pounds for the week. Plans were made for a Christmas party, which will be Dec. 19 in the Lutheran Fellowship Hall. A salad supper and revealing of secret pals are planned.

Women of the area interested in losing weight and joining a TOPS club should call MO 5-4063 or MO 5-2038. Meetings are held each Monday at 6:30 p.m. in Lutheran Fellowship Hall, 1200 Duncan.

1966: Year of The 'Psychedelic' Yule

Psychedelic is the hot new word in fashion these days, says fashion and beauty expert Max Factor. It's all inspired by the new kind of "total environment" entertainment in discotheques, the "new awareness" and happenings — with everything swinging, electronic, with flashing lights, revolving mirrors, movies, music, dance, and action all going on at once.

Curl-Free Style Is Possible

IF YOUR HAIR IS TOO CURLY for a smooth, straight hairstyle now is the time to do something about it. With a home curl relaxer kit (left) you can smooth away fluffy curls. Thanks to this easy to use relaxer you will suddenly be the girl with no curl (right).

By PATRICIA KING, Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Life would be terribly dull if you had to wear the same dress day after day and if you used the same shade of lipstick and perfume without change.

And, if you had no choice but to wear the same hairstyle year after year, life would be grim. If you're a girl who likes variety and change but is stuck with naturally curly hair, don't despair. Curly hair is stubborn and girls who have it are usually limited to one hairstyle because their hair won't go any other way.

Now you can banish curls with a new process that has been made especially for home use. And fortunately you don't have to be an expert hairdresser to get rid of unwanted curl.

This process is a lotion that relaxes natural curls yet retains body in the hair. Either the whole head of hair can be relaxed or only problem sections such as the nape, temples or bangs. The relaxing effect should last until the hair grows out.

The manufacturer tells us that even color-treated hair can take this relaxer without problems. Just as with any other hair-care product, you must be sure to follow the directions for color-treated hair carefully. That, of course, includes the strand test.

The process is simple and easy to do, requiring no special skill or equipment that doesn't come in this curl-free kit.

Follow the directions in the kit to the letter without eliminating or altering the procedure and you will have stylishly care-free hair.

Dear Abby... A Catching Phrase Won't Catch Dates

DEAR ABBY: All the boys confide in me like I was their mother or something. I don't mind listening because in the future I know I will have to do that quite often. (I plan to be a social worker or a nurse or something of that sort.) The boys always ask my advice on how to get dates with girls they have a crush on and so forth.

Is there some witty or catchy phrase I can throw out to let them know I am available? Also, my folks are taking me on a trip, and I would like to lose 30 pounds in three weeks. I'd sure like to look cute for the trip. Hurry your answer.

DEAR OUT: One problem at a time, starting with the one that is probably responsible for the others. You can "slin down" by going on a serious diet under a doctor's supervision. But don't expect to shed 30 pounds in 21 days. It took you longer than that to pile it on.

Boys treat you like their mothers because you probably remind them of theirs. When you look more like a girl they want to date, they'll realize that you are "available," and you won't need a catchy phrase with which to catch them.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl. When I was younger and still in school, my mother always said, "Make your bed." Sometimes I didn't have time, so I wouldn't. When my older sister married I got the room to myself and started taking more pride in it, so now I always make my bed. About two times a week I wake up to find my mother sleeping in the other twin bed.

She says she likes to have a break from my father's snoring so she comes in my room to sleep. I don't mind that, except she never makes her own bed so I'm stuck with it. She complains a lot about backaches and headaches, so if I don't do it, it doesn't get done. What do you suggest?

UNPAID MAID
DEAR UNPAID: I suggest you make her bed and don't look for any medals. Be grateful for the chance to remove wrinkles from your mother's bed. From the sound of your letter, you must have put a few in her brow.

DEAR ABBY: There is a certain lady in our neighborhood who calls me on the phone every afternoon and starts a nice long conversation. Now, Abby, I don't mind talking to this woman for a little while, but I can't spend two hours a day on the telephone with her.

When I say, "Well, dear, I'd better be going as I don't want to keep you from your work," she says, "O, that's okay. I don't have very much to do." And she goes right on talking. I hate to be rude, but how can I get off the phone without hurting her feelings?

NEEDS ADVICE
DEAR NEEDS: Instead of saying, "I'd better be going as I don't want to keep you from your work," say, "I'd better be going as I must get back to my work." Then all she can say is good-bye.

CONFIDENTIAL TO VERNON: Don't ask her any embarrassing questions, but if her kiss spoke "volumes" you can

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGNER

FOR SUNDAY, DEC. 11.
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a Sunday when you are highly aware of your prophetic intuition. You can greatly benefit and gain by looking into any and all educational, spiritual or scientific matters that interest you and get others to let you know what they desire also. This lofty and desirable in its nature, design.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Get out where you can have release from tensions and can elevate your consciousness by talking to persons of wisdom who have an open mind. Some short travel would be fine. Change is very good for you.

TAURUS: (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Your intuitive faculties are working very accurately now and you should use your ideas in a very clever and positive way. Your friends can be helped greatly, too. Show mate that you are highly devoted.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) — If you state simply what your aims and desires are, your associates and friends can be very helpful now. You can be successful with either business or amusement matters. Be very cooperative with others.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) — Taking time and making the effort to serve those who need you is wise and your duty on this free day. Show others that you are an affectionate person. Some place occurs to you later than can make your future far more brilliant.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Plan your afternoon entertainment early, after which get out to sections of your choice or do some work that is required of you, etc. You closest friends desire proof of your devotion. Don't be adamant.

VIRGO: (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Try not to bring up any topic that could start an altercation at home and be very practical about the future. Then you come to better understanding with kin. Plan some family entertainment for the evening.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Studying good books, attending lectures of a spiritual nature are fine as well as vital visits to such places, etc. Get caught up on correspondence. Work on some plan to be put in operation.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — You are able to concentrate upon having more than one idea at a time. Think out your ideas. Then sit down and plan the coming week.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — You are getting inspired ideas for the days ahead and should plan now what you are going to do. Be sure that you are taking the right direction. Think out your ideas. Then sit down and plan the coming week.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Think out early how to have satisfying and quiet pleasure during day and evening hours. There won't be any hitch later. Stake your claim now for the one you like the most.

PISCES: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — You have only to contact that person you feel you have slighted and come to better understanding. Some social affair could prove to be very delightful. Happiness is in the mind use it.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... You have an opportunity to do something of a kind today that will give you added prestige and much pleasure as well. Get together with a powerful individual and in a good way. Follow advice, suggestions given you.

FOR MONDAY, DEC. 12.
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is certainly a day and evening for you to live the spirit of the Prince of Peace, whose nativity we so soon celebrate. Most everyone is in a pretty difficult frame of mind which can show itself in speech of action, so be especially considerate as you now have the key to eliminating friction.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Running away from your obligations will not help at all, so face them bravely and objectively. They are not so difficult as you think. You are charming with others. They will then be very helpful to you.

TAURUS: (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Instead of harboring thoughts of getting even with others, think where and when you might have erred, and then be forgiving instead. Have a more steady attitude toward life in general. Don't jump to conclusions, act rationally.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) — Strive to be more harmonious with others instead of figuring out how to bring up subjects that are best avoided. If arguments do start up, be diplomatic. Then all is clarified in a nice way.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) — Instead of fussing about the work ahead of you, dive into it and you find that it is soon done and with true efficiency. Though you may have a little home to cheer loved one who may be in a blue fuddle. Show understanding, not dissatisfaction.

VIRGO: (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Be careful not to take the bait if one at home attempts to start some unnecessary argument. If you know that you are in the wrong in some suit, admit it, get rid of condition. Don't be stubborn.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Show patience in dealing with others and in driving if you want this to be a successful and safe day. Don't use critical words.

Christmas Breakfast

Plans for a Christmas breakfast to be held next Sunday morning at 7:45 o'clock in the C-bola Room of Coronado Inn, were made at the recent meeting of Pampa Credit Women's Club.

Mrs. Gordon Bayless, president, conducted the business session at which Mrs. Charlene Rich gave the secretary's report and Mrs. H. E. Crocker read the correspondence. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Ruth McQuary who reported on the group's upcoming fund raising project, a bridge tournament to be held in March.

Reservations for the Christmas breakfast at which Mrs. Horace S. Prince will be the guest speaker, should be made by contacting Mrs. Lydia Gilchrist at MO 4-3246.

An examination from the club's manual, "Key to Opportunity" was presented by Mrs. Edna Day.

Next regular meeting of the group is slated for Jan. 20, 1967, at which Mrs. Day will bring the program taken from the new manual, "Open Doors to Career Advancement."

High-Fi Stereo Receiver is Growing Trend Among Listeners Today

Hardly anyone argues any more with the growing trend toward the high fidelity stereo receiver — the integrated tuner, amplifier and preamplifier on one frame. The receiver is compact, compared with two or three components it replaces; with transistors solving heat problems it is as long-lived as separate components, and it is a little cheaper than buying separate components.

One of the reasons high fidelity receivers are so big in the market now is receivers like the new SR-900 B, which tunes the frequency modulation band only. The SR-900B is sensitive enough that if a listener lives within 35 miles of the FM station in his city, an 18-inch piece of single-strand wire tied to one antenna terminal is enough antenna. The sensitivity is enough, protracted home listening tests showed, that an outside antenna of much gain will overload it. For the test, the SR-900B was substituted for two high-powered tubed mono/home amplifiers and a tubed preamplifier. The tubed components are the best available. Furthermore, the job the receiver had to do was to drive two B-1000 speakers, superlative performers but most demanding speakers.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Panama News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Drive Responsibly — Enjoy Holidays

With the holiday season upon us and Christmas and the New Year coming up — with their expected increases in automobile travel on already congested highways — we can look forward to another year-end harvest of death, maimed bodies and broken families if individual driving habits and practices don't undergo sudden changes for the better in the forthcoming days and weeks.

Of course, your most effective means of cutting the holiday traffic toll and, perhaps, of saving your own life or the life of a member of your family, would be to park the family bus and spend the holidays in safety at home. But that won't be possible in all cases. And, in other instances, the desire to visit with loved ones, the yearning to see the old home place with its childhood memories, will prove too strong to resist.

Thus, valor, in a reversal of the old adage, will prove the better part of discretion and, in many instances, the price will be a terrible one to pay.

But, if you must, there are certain preliminary and enroute precautions one can take which will materially increase your chances of arriving at your destination and returning home in one piece. As our pre-holiday message, may we suggest:

Check the family car over carefully . . . NOW, before you start. Brakes, steering and suspension, lights (not forgetting tail lights, brake lights, and turn-signals), wipers, heater, tires (including snow treads or chains if snow or icy conditions can reasonably be expected, as they can in this part of the country at this time of the year), seat belts, exhaust, antifreeze . . . the works. And, of course, gas and oil. Another margin of safety, not to mention comfort, might be an extra can of gasoline (to keep that heater going) and several blankets for mountain driving in case of being marooned.

Get an early start and plan an early stop, thus avoiding the congested hours as much as possible and night driving when the chances of accidents increase.

Wait until arrival at your destination to imbibe in the cup that cheers. Alcohol and gasoline still don't mix . . . except in blood.

Drive responsibly. Give the other fellow the benefit of the doubt and the "right of way." If he wants to kill himself . . . let him; just be sure that he doesn't take you or a member of your family along with him while taking the "right" he claims. Observe the Golden Rule. It pays!

And, finally, don't get caught dead, SITTING ON your seat belts.

Happy holiday season and Merry Christmas to you. Here's hoping you'll be around to enjoy the New Year!

Marital Bliss Bugs Socialists

You and your mate are cozy compatible. A team. Togetherness. Blended personalities. Comfortable and congenial.

Well, then, what on earth do you do for fun and excitement? Don't you ever yearn for a good, lively spot to enrich the marital peace and serenity?

If you are startled by such suggestions, it's evident you haven't heard of the study made by Dr. Robert Ryder, a mental health researcher for the government, of 200 young middleclass couples.

Ryder reports with what seems to be a straight face that his studies have caused him to wonder if marital compatibility and stuff like that may not be strictly for the birds. Or at least not for humans.

It may be possible, Ryder concedes, for compatible couples to live happily together.

But it's also possible, he seems to fear, for such a marriage to be deadly dull, monotonous and just plain ugly.

Is the doctor suggesting that marital bliss be deliberately induced to spice things up and bring a little sunshine into lives jaded by harmony?

Not at all. He just wonders if too much blandness isn't boring.

Confidentially, doctor, aren't you putting us on? But whether you are or whether you aren't, the least happily wedded couples can do is to wish you a long life of harmonious unexcitement and highly compatible dullness.

It's surprising how enduring such an uneventful existence can be, according to those who are managing to bear up under it.

My Christmas List

By D. R. SEGAL
Editor, Brownsville Herald
In case you were wondering what to send me for Christmas, I have taken up with the Abercrombie & Fitch catalog. Right there on page one is a machine called the Fitch Phoenix, which turns out to be what A&F call "wickedly beautiful" sports car made in Italy. It delivers at $8,700 the copy, and chances are there will not be too many in your block Christmas morning. I read Mr. H. L. Hunt's column; and on the off chance he reads mine and has been wondering what to give me this year, I thought I'd mention the Phoenix.

Deeply religious people I meet at cocktail parties are in the habit of deploring the "commercialization" of Christmas. Somehow I am not at all shook up at the idea of receiving a handsome gift on Dec. 25. It will not in the slightest diminish my regard for the giver or my respect for religion. As I recall, the first Christmas was concerned significantly with gifts brought from some distance by Wise Men. The precedent is immaculate.

Not all of us (I am not giving up entirely on Mr. Hunt) will get a Phoenix or those His 'n' Hers airplanes Neiman Marcus offered last year, but I suspect each of us has his hopes. If it were in my power to give everybody what he wanted, I'd give my friend in the White House Bobby Kennedy's announcement he was moving out of the country permanently. I'd give Bobby a big, fat scandal involving the LBJ Corporation. I'd give Hubert an LP album of every speech he's ever made. As a gift to the GOP, I'd persuade like to come out of retirement and run on a program Victory in Vietnam.

But I'd save my best gift for the nice old man who is the real granddaddy of today's Republican and Democratic parties — a courtly old customer who's never been able to muster a corporal's guard on election day but who has lived to see his platform adopted by the two major political parties who alternate in the White House.

What could I give Norman Thomas for Christmas? How about letting him have the Republican and Democratic parties for his tree?

Doctor (ecstatically) — Sir, yours is a case which will enrich medical science!

Patient — Oh, dear, and I thought I wouldn't have to pay more than five or ten dollars, but

Pull Up A Chair

Many states are now erecting highway signs that tell camera-carrying motorists they are approaching a photoscopic view or landmark. Such signs, travel officials say, point out the beauties of tourist areas and encourage motorists to linger and take pictures. The state tourist officials also say the signs have great value since amateur photographers are the best salesmen for tourism by showing their snapshots to the people back home. That stimulates the desire for travel amongst the stay-at-homes. . . . There have been a half-dozen or more movie actors who have portrayed Tarzan through the years, but the one most closely identified with the character by the general public is Johnny Weissmuller, who only made 12 films about the ape man.

Today's smile: A census taker encountered an irate woman, who said: "I'm not going to tell you my age. You have just come from the Hills house next door. Well, I'm the same age as they are." "That's okay, madam," the census taker replied. "I'll just put you down as being as old as the Hills."

A Vermont tells us the best preserved covered bridges are those that were never painted. He says the reason for covering bridges with a roof was a practical one since it protected the flooring against drying out from too much sun, which would ultimately force replacing the floor. In other words the early Yankee thrift through foresight.

He also relates that sleigh bells were used as a warning to other traffic. Bells were not needed when there was no snow because the steel rims of the wagon wheels made sufficient noise as they clattered over the pavement.

Thoughts while shaving: The first rodeo in this country's history was held at Santa Fe, New Mexico, back in 1847. Today it is one of the roughest of all sports. . . . Some of the funniest comedy on the stage, screen or TV is called "slapstick." It is rough, raucous and derives from the name of a device used by low comedians. It consisted of two pieces of wood loosely fastened together so that when wielded as a club, it produced a loud "whack." Comedians using such a device, which they called a "slapstick," always got a laugh from spanking each other. . . . Televised boxing matches on a closed circuit to theaters and arenas has produced multimillion-dollar gates for the promoters and participants. Years ago boxers increased their take-home pay by selling the movie rights to their bouts. Tex Rickard was the first promoter to hit upon that gimmick when he promoted the heavyweight title fight between James J. Corbett and Ruby Bob Fitzsimmons Carson City, Nevada, in 1897. . . . That recent shower of meteors that produced such a spectacular sky show in many parts of the country recalls the difference between a meteor and a meteorite. Meteors are destroyed as they fall through the earth's atmosphere. Meteorites are the ones that do not wholly disintegrate and hit the earth's surface. . . . The Wall Street JOURNAL headlined a story: "Conservative Group Lists Robert Kennedy in Mossback Category." Bobby's been called a lot of things, but never a mossback.

Country Editor speaking: "Sound advice is something you get from a music teacher."

GIs Give Christmas Spirit Real Meaning in Viet Nam

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent ON THE CAMBODIAN BORDER, South Viet Nam (NEA)— "What do I want for Christmas? My wife asked me the same thing.

"What I want is to be still around — alive — at Christmas. Other things seem secondary." The lieutenant went back to writing a letter. He'd heard from his wife that she's received no allotments for more than two months and had no money. He was trying to figure out how to straighten that bureaucratic foul-up.

You sit, as here, on the roof of a building with the flood water up to the eaves and rising. The men you're with expect a raid aimed at wiping out the post because the Viet Cong know the precarious position the flood has put the unit in — with much of the ammunition under 12 feet of water.

A couple or so miles out the area is under Viet Cong control. This VC territory is the land in which these few men live and operate and die by night.

In this situation, human life takes on more meaning. You think how you might make your own life more useful after this is over. You wonder if you've been a good son, husband, father.

But most of all these men talk about the Vietnamese child who should have an operation, the boys and girls who need a better chance at school and of the farmers who live with little hope of bettering their lot.

Their proudest talk was not of successful ambushes but of a new school they had helped build.

A few miles away I went unannounced to a primary school, broke unwittingly into the midst of a class session. In the corner, inconspicuously, was GI. He was helping out with the English teaching in his off hours.

"The teacher really teaches the class. I only help with the pronunciation," he said.

No one organized this. It was not official civic action. The private came because he wanted to come — as often as he could.

This is what Christmas is all about. The Jesus who was born in a manger spent most of his ministry telling men that they must help other men — in the best way they could.

The gift these GIs are bringing to South Viet Nam is their spirit of love for people in need. It's not the number of school buildings they've helped to build, but the fact that they want to help build schools. It's not the medicine they give to people or the candy they hand out to children but the thought in their hearts that makes them want to give the medicine and candy.

Jesus said no man hath greater love than to lay down his life for his friend. These men are laying their lives on the line.

If they were not doing this we would all be a little bit smaller, knowing that we had failed a people wanting freedom.

But they are also doing something more. They are giving of themselves. There is no greater Christmas gift that a man can give.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: "What remedy do you suggest to eliminate hardships resulting from strikes on employers, employees and the public?"

ANSWER: In order to find the answer, we have to find the cause, and then if we know the cause, we can eliminate that and get the results we want.

In our opinion, the cause of strikes is government interfering with a free and natural division of labor—that is, a free market where every person has an equal right to help establish values, where the seller and the buyer have an equal right to make the best bargain each can make that will be the most profitable to both of them. And the most profitable to both of them is to get production up, because what is produced has to be distributed in order to benefit its owner.

How has the government interfered in employee-employer relations to result in strikes?

They have interfered through actions of the National Labor Relations Board which contends that a man can stop working and still hold his job. It holds that it is a crime to tell a union man you won't hire him because he belongs to a union, but it is not a crime to tell a non-union man you can't hire him because he does not belong to the union.

They also make a ruling that if a majority makes a bargain, the individual cannot make an individual bargain. It deprives him of his right to advance without the consent of the labor union.

Collective bargaining is a form of socialism that deprives the individual of his right to make decisions. It dwarfs his growth and makes him a ward of the labor bosses. In fact, it makes him a slave to them.

Of course, the government's having protective tariffs and immigration restriction also interferes with all people having an equal right to help establish values. If all people had an equal right to help establish values, production would go up at least 50 per cent and people could live better by half than they are living now.

Most Ski Slope Injuries Result of Carelessness

All skiers ascend the ski mountain in a spirit of happy anticipation. The skillful ones come back down in a spirit of joyful exhilaration because they have mastered the rules of safe skiing. The others—numbering about 30,000 every year—suffer broken bones and other injuries. It is estimated that six of every 1,000 persons who spend a day on the ski slope incur preventable injuries.

Most of these accidents are the result of amateurs attempting feats for which they are not ready. It looks so easy to perform these feats when the experts do them that the temptation is naturally great. Excessive speed can be as dangerous on the slope as it is on the highways.

Most of the injuries involve the legs. These breaks are not due to the impact of striking hard snow or ice but to the shearing action that occurs when the tip of a ski strikes a place in the snow that causes it suddenly to rotate outward.

The factors that make novice skiers accident-prone include a failure to get into proper physical condition before an actual skiing trip, failure to adjust release bindings properly and to readjust them during the day and a lack of ability to evaluate the hazards of swift descent.

For example, few persons appreciate the fact that on a beginner's slope of only three degrees it is possible to attain a speed of 24 m.p.h.—fast enough to cause a damaging fall. A 10-degree slope will increase the speed attainable to 52 m.p.h. and the speed possible on a 45-degree slope may exceed 110 m.p.h.

For maximum safety, you should have your equipment fitted by an expert, study the trails you plan to use, always ski in groups (preferably of at least four), give way to faster skiers and anticipate the actions of other skiers near you.

Q—Where I work there are machines that allow ammonia fumes to escape into the offices. Is there any danger in breathing ammonia fumes continuously all day?

A—Although a heavy concentration of ammonia fumes following an industrial accident can cause severe poisoning, the worst that is likely to happen under the circumstances you describe would be irritation of the eyes and throat. Even so, a better ventilating system should be installed where you work for the sake of ordinary comfort.

commission to study the cause of inconvenience of the public is rather absurd, since they are the cause of the inconvenience and of the strikes.

In short, the remedy is simple: get the government out of all interference with production.

FBI Information Crucial In Preventing Red Coup During Dominican Crisis, House Subcommittee Hears

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Critics of the FBI's surveillance of the Dominican Republic embassy are assailing one of the most successful national security operations in years.

Intelligence developed by the FBI during the 1965 Dominican crisis is authoritatively credited with undermining the Communists' attempted seizure of control.

One high-placed official, who closely advised President Johnson at the time, termed the FBI's day-to-day reports the "lifeline of U.S. negotiations and policy." Throughout the tense Dominican crisis the FBI kept the White House fully informed of all the Communists' plans and movements.

The agency's information was so accurate and detailed that at the peak of the crisis, the President ordered Director J. Edgar Hoover to extend his intelligence operations to the Dominican Republic.

Twenty-one FBI agents, including 11 espionage specialists, were immediately flown to Santo Domingo. Other agents were dispatched to Puerto Rico to keep a close watch on former President Juan Bosch and his lieutenants.

Bosch's covert dealings and discussions with rebel leaders, among them known Communists, were reported to Washington almost as soon as they took place.

DOING A JOB — Details of this dramatically effective intelligence operation must remain secret for security reasons, but the crucial importance of the FBI role was revealed by Director Hoover.

Testifying behind closed doors before a House Appropriations Subcommittee, Hoover said:

"The role played by the FBI during the Dominican crisis has been most significant. We developed and disseminated to top officials of the government voluminous intelligence data of the highest quality, concerning activities of key Dominican personalities who had the potential to influence the outcome of the crisis which began April 24, 1965.

"Intelligence developed, which at the peak of the crisis was described by key U. S. officials as the 'lifeline' of U.S. negotiations and policy, has enabled us to keep the intelligence community well informed concerning a number of crucial points, thereby enhancing this country's efforts in the establishment of law and order in the Dominican Republic."

ON JOHNSON'S ORDERS — The extent to which the President personally participated in the FBI's activities was related by Hoover as follows:

"Following instructions of the President, FBI personnel arrived in the Dominican Republic on May 21, 1965, on a special assignment in connection with the crisis.

"As a result of our past experience and contacts in the Dominican field, our agents were able to become operational on a crash basis immediately upon arrival at Santo Domingo. Twenty-one employees, including 11 agents, were flown there."

Representative John Rooney, D-N.Y., committee chairman, raised the question of the FBI's use of wiretapping in national security cases.

"The use of wiretaps is highly restricted with a tight control," replied Hoover. "Each must be authorized in advance and in writing by the attorney general. All those in operation are in connection with matters in which the internal security of the country is involved."

Both Senator Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach, when they were attorney general, approved the FBI's surveillance of the Dominican embassy — although neither has volunteered this information either to the courts or the press.

Not only that, but the Rooney subcommittee has testimony that Katzenbach, since moving to the State Department, has attempted to curb the FBI's intelligence efforts abroad.

PRIVATE BOYCOTTS — The Johnson administration is taking two widely different positions on those private boycotts being organized against supermarkets around the country.

ported. Those against the sale of the boycotts against higher food prices are being supported by Communist food products are being vigorously opposed.

In encouraging the former, Esther Peterson, the President's adviser on Consumer Affairs, arranged for boycott leaders to come to Washington over the week-end for a briefing on the administration's position. It took place in the Executive Office Building, adjoining the White House.

The State Department is taking just the opposite position about the private boycotts being organized against the sale of Communist merchandise in U.S. supermarkets.

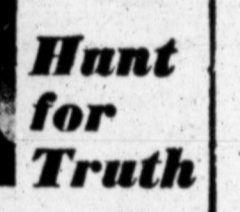

Several thousand booklets titled "Private Boycotts Vs. the National Interest" were printed this week for circulation throughout the country.

This 20-page booklet warns that "any organization, however patriotic in intention, that undertakes to boycott, any American business for engaging in peaceful trade with the Eastern European countries or the Soviet Union, is acting against the interest of the U.S."

It states that "the government of the U.S. does not believe that these boycotts are advancing the interest of this country and are vigorously opposed to them."

FEDERAL LAND OWNERSHIP

Land is the basic natural resource of the United States. Our nation embarked on the road to greatness through free land in vast quantity, coupled with freedom to develop its full potential under the personal enterprise system.

Today in our country there is no longer a wilderness frontier, an open range, or virgin land of value available for homesteading. But our land and its free use remain as important as ever. Our rapidly growing population and our expanding industry constantly demand more land. And land and the property located on it are a primary source of tax revenue to state and local governments.

In view of the enormous importance of land and its use, we have to be concerned by the fact that the Federal government now owns more than one-third of all the land in the United States; a total of 770 million acres. Thirty-nine Federal agencies are authorized to buy land.

Naturally, this land is purchased with the taxpayers' money. Once it is bought, no tax revenue to states and local communities come from the land, for their governments have no power to tax property belonging to the Federal government.

When the Federal government buys an acre of land, the taxpayer in the area where it is bought thus loses twice: first, in the Federal tax money used to buy the land; second, in higher state and local taxes he must pay because the Federal land is taken off the tax rolls. We are heading toward a monopoly of land ownership by the Federal government.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

There are 68 land-grant colleges and universities in the United States, says The World Almanac. They were established as a result of the first Morrill act of 1862. The name land-grant is applied to them because the federal government gave public lands to the states for their support.

'Great Changes In Store For ETV'

(First In A Series) By JOHN P. CUNNINGHAM

NEW YORK (NEA) — Some day you may be able to dial a series of numbers on your television set and tune into any one of thousands of programs.

One thing is fairly sure. We are not going to ignore much longer the great power of this amazing instrument to upgrade the national mind.

Television reaches homes where books are seldom read. It reaches homes where beauty is absent.

It sits in homes where there is barely any other furniture beyond a bed. It has the power to become the greatest cross-country classroom ever conceived.

It can teach illiterates to read and write and thus help wipe out illiteracy in America.

What's it waiting for? It's been waiting for more channels to be activated.

ONE OF THE DRAMATIC PROGRAMS offered by National Educational Television is "The Star Wagon," the Maxwell Anderson fantasy.

great s'ving in manPower, alike — promises much. There is many a program coming, all with the historic impact of the Churchill funeral.

The international satellite — that eye-in-the-sky that beams down on Europe and America in addition to its present entertainment functions, your set will also become an art museum, a concert hall, a lecture platform, a public library and a schoolroom.

The use of these new services will be greatly enhanced by the coming abundance of portable sets — second and third sets in millions of homes, just a radio has developed.

Other great changes lie ahead, now that we can go satellite into space and bounce television programs off them for great distances.

The champions of Broadway, of course, can point out, and with some justification, that the Sullivan Street Playhouse seats only about 150 persons, whereas the long-run Broadway shows played in theaters seating, variously, some 900 to 1,600.

And, while on the subject of long-run attractions, it should be pointed that the champ, any category, is in London where Agatha Christie's mystery drama, "The Mousetrap," continues an engagement that began on Nov. 25, 1952 — that's 8952!

The television stars, are swarming on Broadway this season.

The leads in the forthcoming musical, "Holly Golightly," are Mary Tyler Moore, so popular as the wife in the Dick Van Dyke series, and Richard Chamberlain, who was a long-run success in the title role of the "Dr. Kildare" skein.

Soupy Sales, the pie-in-the-face comic of video, is due in mid-January as star of "Come Live with Me," a comedy by Lee Minoff and Stanley Price that, incidentally, was tried out on the summer circuit earlier this year with Jack Carter, another television personality, in the lead.

A little later, Alan Young, the Canadian who goes back to the beginning of television and recently had a long run as the human hero of that talking horse series, "Mister Ed," is scheduled to make his Broadway debut as star of "The Girl in the Freudian Slip," a comedy by William F. Brown.

The first U.S. gas franchise was issued to a Baltimore light company in 1816.

Brando Stars In 'The Appaloosa'

Marlon Brando is living reputation of the now-classic definition of an actor:

To wit: "He's a guy who, if you ain't talkin' about him, he ain't listenin'."

Brando, starring in Universal's "The Appaloosa," in Technicolor currently on view at the Capri Theater, with Anjanette Comer and John Saxon as his co-stars, keeps an ear cocked for the interesting and unusual.

Observe him on a studio sound stage and you discover that when he's not needed before the camera he's generally to be found deep in palaver with the assorted technicians.

Partial explanation of Brando's penchant is found in the fact that the way some people collect stamps or coins, he collects "people."

"I've yet to find anyone," he says, "who doesn't have at least one more interesting story to tell. All that's needed is someone to elicit it from them, to show an interest."

Brando reports that his hobby helps him in his acting.

He says he studies a person's behavior habits, as well as his ideas, and that these often wind up on the screen in one of his assorted character portrayals.

Marlon Brando recently learned that he no longer any danger of disappearance of age-old Indian handicrafts.

PENSIVE — Marlon Brando carefully studies his adversaries led by John Saxon in Universal's Technicolor outdoor drama "The Appaloosa," which also co-stars Anjanette Comer.

Champ HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Julie Andrews may become the box office champ of all time with her first four movies — "Mary Poppins," "The Americanization of Emily," "The Sound of Music" and "Torn Curtain" — already grossing $85 million.

Mid-Continent Oil Backs Anti-Pollution Campaign

AUSTIN — Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association told the Texas Railroad Commission that it supports commission efforts to abate pollution and will not oppose a state-wide ban on salt water disposal pits if adequate safeguards are provided against unnecessary regulatory requirements.

W. A. Landreth, Fort Worth, independent oil producer and president of the Association, said his organization has "always supported public and private efforts to eliminate sources of water pollution."

Johnston Named To Oil Committee

DALLAS — John C. Johnston, vice president, director, and division manager, Pan American Petroleum Corp., Houston, has been named executive vice chairman of the Oil Information Committee of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn., state chairman Charles F. Heidrick, Dallas, has announced.

Johnston succeeds Robert J. Derby, vice president — administration, Texaco Inc., Houston, who was appointed chairman of the Association's reorganized Highway Policy Committee.

The new executive vice chairman is an OIC veteran, having served as Southern Regional chairman from 1961 to 1962. A graduate of the University of Wyoming with BA and MA degrees in geology, Johnston joined Pan American in 1940 at Shawnee, Okla. Following wartime service as a naval officer, he advanced through several positions with the company before being named Rocky Mountain division exploration superintendent in Houston in 1951.

He later served in a similar capacity in Pan American's Texas - Louisiana Gulf Coast division and in 1959 was appointed exploration manager in Tulsa. He assumed his present post in Houston in 1961.

Johnston is a member of both the Texas and Louisiana-Arkansas divisions of Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn., American Petroleum Institute, American Association of Petroleum Geologists, and is a director of the Bank of the Southwest, Houston.

Active in Houston civic affairs, he is first vice president of Junior Achievement of Houston and a member of the advisory board of the Salvation Army.

sociation represents about 4,000 members who account for more than 90 per cent of Texas oil production.

Landreth emphasized that jurisdiction over disposal of salt water resulting from oil production should be in the Railroad Commission.

"Fortunately, the Legislature recognized that conflicting controls over oil and gas production would jeopardize our whole system of oil and gas conservation, which is so essential to the economic wellbeing of Texas," Landreth said.

Landreth said improved liaison between the Commission and the Water Pollution Control Board has provided a step forward in "a workable and complete control system for the producing, transporting, refining and marketing of petroleum."

Citing progress made by the industry in establishment of underground salt water disposal systems and elimination of pits, Landreth said, "Based on the Commission's estimate, some 70 per cent of the produced salt water is now being injected into subsurface strata. The cost of this program to our Texas oil operators is estimated to be in the range of 30 to 40 million dollars per year."

"Much has been accomplished and more will be accomplished in the ensuing months," he said, "but an undertaking of this magnitude requires time and money."

Landreth also stressed the need for co-operation of landowners, other officials, agencies, and civic groups.

The Association spokesman said the Commission in drafting its plan "must be aware of the possible hardship and adverse economic consequences of a statewide no-pit order to operators, financial institutions, royalty owners, school districts and other state and local taxing entities."

He cited examples of some types of operations where meritious exceptions should be recognized. Landreth urged that the Commission have sufficient personnel to handle requests for exceptions and to give prompt attention to any public complaint alleging pollution resulting from oil field operations.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The United States Forest Service maintains 154 national forests, 19 national grasslands and a number of minor lands. The total area covered amounts to 186,000,000 acres in 41 states and Puerto Rico. According to The World Almanac, a national forest is within a day's drive of every major city in the United States.

OIL SCENE IN 1880'S — This rare photograph, appearing in an 1891 Texas Geological Survey report, shows workmen filling barrels in Texas' first commercial oil field near Nacogdoches. It was developed about 20 years after the Barret well. Visitors to field today collect souvenir samples of oil from these wells.

State Oil Production Tops Billion Barrels

Texas oil production reached the one billion barrel total in 1965 for the first time since 1957, figures compiled by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association show.

There were 1,000,749,000 barrels of crude oil, valued at more than $3 billion, produced in 200 of the 254 counties during 1965, statistics show.

Since production records began 70 years ago, the state has produced a total of 28,403,016,481 barrels of crude.

Andrews County continued to be the leading county in oil production, with 77,908,300 barrels, although all sections of the state have several high producing fields.

"The state's excellent oil and gas conservation system must be given credit for the widespread and continuing development of production throughout Texas," said W. A. Landreth, Fort Worth independent operator who is president of Texas Mid-Continent. "Under our state laws, administered ably by the Texas Railroad Commission, the state's petroleum resources development has been encouraged from the erdiller to the reiner."

In 1965, Texas had three counties that produced in excess of 40 million barrels. Besides Andrews, Ector County had a total of 81,266,600 barrels and Crane County produced 43,952,300 barrels.

In addition, five other counties produced more than 20 million barrels in 1965 and an additional 24 had production in excess of 10 million barrels.

Gregg remains the only county in the state that has produced more than two billion barrels — Rusk, Ector and Andrews — have produced more than one billion.

Petroleum Engineers To Meet Tuesday

Mr. H. M. Rollins, Vice President of Engineering for Drilco Oil Tools, Inc. of Midland, will discuss "Deep Hole Deviation Control" at the monthly meeting of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME. The meeting will be on Tuesday, Dec. 3, at 6:15 p.m. in the Coronado Inn at Pampa.

Members are requested to make reservations with John Gill, MO 4-4695 in Pampa and with Alan Evans of Huber in Borger. Guests are welcome.

IPAA Asks Suspension of Application's Processing

WASHINGTON — The Independent Petroleum Association of America has asked that processing of an application to establish a "foreign trade-zone" at Taft, La., for operation of a petrochemical plant by Union Carbide Corp., be "suspended" and reopened for further public hearings.

L. Dan Jones, general counsel for the national oil and gas producers organization, urged the action in a letter to Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor, who is chairman of the Foreign Trade-Zones Board.

Jones made the request on the basis that since a hearing on the application was held in December, 1964, "there have been several significant developments which materially alter the issues and present new considerations which were not then before the Board or interested parties."

Jones listed the following "developments" which he said should have consideration in the case:

- On Dec. 19, 1965, the President issued Presidential Proclamation No. 3693 modifying Proclamation No. 3279 which directly and specifically "treats with the relationship of foreign trade-zones and the Mandatory Oil Import Program."
- On Sept. 12, 1965, the Board authorized establishment of a tradezone in Jay County, Mich. which being the first such zone authorized since Presidential Proclamation 3693, will set precedent "with respect to the relationship of trade-zones to the Mandatory Oil Import Program."
- On Sept. 4, 1966, the Oil Import Administration issued 32,000 barrels daily of import allocations to some 65 petrochemical companies, including a quota of 6,600 barrels daily to Union Carbide Corp.
- To date, Secretary of the Interior Udall has not announced his decision with respect to the treatment of the Michigan trade-zone in relation to the Mandatory Oil Import Program.

Pampans Complete 40 Years Service

Glennard G. Tennant, a pumpjack for Sinclair Oil and Gas Co., and Nimrod E. Tennant, gang pusher for Sinclair, both of Pampa, recently were honored for completing 40 years of service with the company.

They were presented with an engraved gold watch and a service certificate.

"Milk is the children's wine and wine is the old man's milk," said Sir William Osler, 19th century physician.
