Texas Legislators Eyeing Tax Needs

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas lawmakers finished the first week of their 60th legislative session with the knowledge today that they will have to raise a minimum of $65 million in new tax levies.

And, this figure will shoot to the $200 million bracket if legislators lend a sympathetic ear to demands of public school teachers for a substantial pay raise. Most lawmakers are relatively sensitive to the teachers.

The Texas State Teachers Association already is on record with its call for an additional $138 million over the next two years to put Texas school teachers up with what the TSTA says is the national average.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert notified lawmakers Thursday before they went home for the long weekend that estimated state income in general revenue for the 1967-69 biennium will be $846,906,559.

This is short by about $65 million of Gov. John Connally's preliminary budget, which calls for the spending of $911.5 million for general revenue. But Connally listed only an extra $10 million to give school teachers merit pay hikes, and has not yet made a recommendation on a general teacher pay raise.

The House, as usual, wound up opening week by getting the jump on the Senate. Speaker Ben Barnes, showing one of the firmest hands in the House in recent years, pushed through without dissent the session's first bill—the House rules and the joint House-Senate rules.

He also made committee assignments Thursday. But it was a different picture in the Senate. On opening day, Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston stirred up considerable ire when he tried to end the Senate's secret policy of considering gubernatorial appointments. He lost, as expected.

The Senate always is slower starting because Lt. Gov. Preston Smith cannot make his committee appointments until after he and Connally are inaugurated on Jan. 17.

Legislators will put aside most of their lawmaking functions next week for the inauguration. They are scheduled to meet in a joint session Monday at 11 a.m. to canvass the votes for governor and lieutenant governor in the Nov. 8 election.

Monday night, most of the lawmakers will attend a big "victory dinner" in honor of Connally and Smith. Tuesday they will be involved all day and that night with the inauguration ceremonies and the inaugural ball.

Wednesday, Connally is due to come before a joint session and lay out a major portion of his program for the next two years. This leaves only one working day for the entire week.

Oil Format Due For Discussion At Austin Meet

A group of oilmen representing the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association will go to Austin week after next to meet with members of the Texas Railroad Commission for discussion of a proposed change in format for the state's oil allowable schedule.

Jack O. Miller, district director of the Railroad Commission's Pampa office, will accompany the Panhandle group to the conference which tentatively has been set for Wednesday, Jan. 25.

The proposed change in submitting proration lease schedules would lump oil wells which produce less than 20 barrels a day so they could be listed as one total instead of being listed separately.

The proposal, which is more or less a mutual plan of the commission and producers, first was explained in detail last week by Miller at a meeting of the PPROA in Amarillo.

Since then a subcommittee of the PPROA has delved further into the matter and come up with the proposal which will be taken to Austin.

Miller stated the proposal deals only with the allowable schedule format and does not call for any change in rules or regulations or for any change in the allowable policy.

Members of the group which will go to Austin with Miller for discussion of the proposal are Dick Herrmann, president of PPROA; W. W. Carter, president of Yucca Petroleum Co., and E. L. Rogers, vice president in charge of production for Shamrock Oil Co.

Appropriations Rule May Slow LBJ Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans now hold the balance of power on the crucial House Appropriations Committee — and it bodes ill for President Johnson's Great Society program.

After a series of opening day triumphs — engineered with the help of defecting Democrats — conservative forces have dealt yet another blow to administration prospects in the 90th Congress.

With new social welfare legislation virtually ruled out by GOP election gains last Nov. 8, the Great Society battles ahead are expected to be fought mainly over money. The House Appropriations Committee is where the main money decisions are made.

Conservative forces took first control of the committee Thursday with an agreement between Democratic and GOP leaders on committee ratios.

In general, the ratios followed closely the new 246 to 187 party breakdown in the house. But liberals had expected that the appropriations ratio would be set at the 30-20 breakdown that traditionally prevailed prior to the 89th Congress.

Instead, this key committee was enlarged by one man to a membership of 39 Democrats and 21 Republicans. The extra GOP vote promised more trouble for Johnson administration spending requests.

Even at the expected 30-10 ratio the appropriations panel would have been heavily weighted on the conservative side. In addition, a key liberal member, Rep. John E. Fogarty, D-Rd., died Tuesday.

The new lineup means that Democrats will have two seats to fill on the Appropriations Committee; the Republicans five.

There are no surprises in the other committee ratios agreed upon by Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., and GOP leader Gerald R. Ford, Mich. The Ways & Means Committee, (See COMMITTEE, Page 2)

Three Ex-Peking Officials Dead

HONG KONG (UPI) — A Hong Kong newspaper reported today that Peng Chen, the former mayor of Peking who was ousted during the current power struggle in Communist China, was assassinated by a gunman in the Chinese capital on Monday.

The South China Morning Post also said that Tao Chu, the party propaganda chief, has been arrested by Red Guards and that two former Peking officials committed suicide by jumping from a building in Peking, the capital.

The newspaper quoted a traveler recently arrived from China who said he got the information from a handbill in Canton, South China's largest city. There was no confirmation of the report.

Peng, once considered a leading figure in the Peking hierarchy, became the first major official to fall in the current purge when he was ousted from his post last fall. He was later reported arrested by Red Guards.

Tao, head of propaganda who had risen to No. 4 in the Communist party hierarchy since Mao's purge began, had been under fire in recent weeks from militant Red Guard youths for failing to follow the line of Mao Tse-tung.

MASS EVACUATION of villages in the "Iron Triangle," Viet Cong stronghold north of Saigon, takes place under guard of U.S. troops as American and South Vietnamese forces sweep through the area, main staging group for Communist attacks on Saigon and its outskirts. Some 10,000 peasants will be moved into refugee centers.

Artillery Shells Fall Short; Hit U.S. Infantrymen

SAIGON (UPI) — American artillery blasting Viet Cong positions in the Iron Triangle in a creeping barrage hit a company of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division by mistake today, killing eight soldiers and wounding 34.

The tragedy in the biggest operation of the Vietnamese war came shortly after the Army announced the opening of a new phase of the war in the Mekong Delta—establishment of the first permanent American camp in the Communist stronghold.

Ten rounds of high explosives hit a company of the 1st Battalion, 28th Infantry Regiment at 3:30 p.m. as the Big Red One swept forward in Operation Cedar Falls which already has killed or captured more than 400 Communists with only light losses.

It was the first such incident of the operation involving 30,000 or more troops although B52 Strategic bombers hit Communist positions only a mile ahead of the advancing troops and jet fighter-bombers struck as close as a few hundred yards.

The company was advancing today behind a creeping barrage which moves gradually forward toward the Communist positions as the infantry men follow. But the ten rounds fell short through some miscalculation and inflicted almost as many casualties as the Viet Cong have been able to.

Contact with the Communists has been sporadic in the operation but a spokesman today said the big sweep had killed 237 Communists, captured 51, detained hundreds of suspects and captured more than 2,100 tons of rice plus vast supplies of war materiel.

B52 bombers returned to the Iron Triangle today and blasted four Viet Cong base camps in the heart of the Iron Triangle about 30 miles north of Saigon.

A spokesman said about 1,000 U.S. troops including engineers, signal elements and security forces had established the first U.S. Mekong base at Dong Tan on the My Thi River five miles southwest of My Tho. It is a swampy, snake infested area that has been a Viet Cong lair for 20 years.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND Panhandle Group Returns From Congressional Trip

Washington was a bit of a mad house merry-go-round during the past few days as events in the nation's capital wove themselves around the convening of Congress, hub-hub over the Adam Clayton Powell defrocking and name-dropping in the Bob Baker fraud and income tax evasion case.

That's the impression of Warren Fatheree, one of the members of the Panhandle delegation which went to Washington for the swearing in of Congressman Bob Price of Pampa and Sen. John Tower of Wichita Falls.

In the Panhandle group which attended the various affairs connected with Washington activities this week were Mr. and Mrs. Fatheree, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Campbell of Pampa, Dr. and Mrs. Bill Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Baird of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hart of Gruver, and Mr. and Mrs. Ned Burson of Channing.

All returned to Texas last night. Campbell, district committeeman, and Mrs. Fatheree, district committee woman, stopped off in Austin to attend a meeting of the Republican State Executive Committee today and tomorrow.

Campbell managed Bob Price's successful campaign for Congress from the 18th Congressional District, and Fatheree was Gray County campaign manager for Senator Tower who was re-elected.

The Panhandle group members were guests Monday night at a reception given by Senator and Mrs. Price and Congressman and Mrs. George Bush. Guests at the reception included most members of the Texas congressional delegation and senators and representatives from both parties.

Fatheree said one of the highlights was the Tuesday swearing-in ceremony. (See TRIP, Page 2)

NEW CURRICULUM

School Trustees Approve Classes

By DORIS E. WILSON News Staff Writer

In a six-hour school board meeting yesterday, Pampa Independent School District trustees approved plans for adding vocational courses to the junior and senior high school curriculum; approved centralization of purchasing, management and operation of the school lunch program; and waived a decision to select an architectural firm for the capital improvement program.

Trustees gave approval to the administrative staff's proposal to add automobile mechanics to the curriculum of Pampa High School and vocational occupational training and related homemaking courses at Pampa and Lee Junior Highs beginning with the second semester.

Grady Oldham of Grapevine has been employed to teach one-half day in Pampa High School and to teach a three-hour block of time in automobile mechanics. The remainder of the day, he will teach pre-vocational occupational training courses in the two junior high schools.

Auto mechanic classes will be held at 116 N. Frost, in a building leased from Ross Cornelius. Curriculum reports were given by Mrs. Elaine Ledbetter, head of Pampa High School Science Department, and Mrs. C. O. Mangold, science instructor for grades one through 12; and by Eural W. Ramsey, Pampa High School head football coach and Pete Irwin, director of the physical education program for grades one through 12.

Board Agrees On Damron Contract, $500 Salary Hike

Pampa Independent School District trustees today gave tentative approval to the contract of the superintendent of schools, Dr. John Damron, and recommended a salary increase of $500, bringing his salary from $17,750 to $18,250 annually.

The action was taken at a breakfast meeting this morning in the Coronado Inn. Official approval is expected to be given at the board's regular meeting in February.

News media were not invited to attend the discussion meeting.

Trustees and the superintendent conferred on future guidelines and a framework for a working relationship between the board and the superintendent's office.

E. E. Shelhamer, school board president, told the News this morning the tentative renewal of the contract and a raise in salary was a vote of confidence to the superintendent for the work he is doing for Pampa schools.

It is the board's policy to reconsider the superintendent's contract in January; principals' contracts in February and teachers' contracts in March. Consideration of the superintendent's contract, (See CONTRACT, Page 2)

Gas Explosion Rips N.Y. Residential Area

NEW YORK (UPI) — A rolling wall of flame, triggered by a gas main explosion that a witness said resembled an "atomic" bomb, ripped through a residential area of Queens today, burning houses "like paper boxes."

But quick thinking by two city patrolmen apparently prevented a major loss of life.

Officers Francis Keating and Jack O'Connor spotted leaking gas "glowing gold" from a manhole. They turned in the alarm, then began rousing residents from their beds and evacuating houses on the street. Fifteen minutes later a series of underground explosions ripped through the street, touching off the flames which periled a 12-block area of Jamaica.

As the wall of flame raced up the street, firemen and police officers ran to safety, leaving a hook and ladder that was quickly consumed by the flames and searing heat.

There were no immediate reports of injuries. Thirteen alarms were sounded for the fire. Brilliant pillars of orange flames belched 400 feet into the air. Utility companies were unable to shut off gas lines ruptured by the blast, and the fumes continued to feed the spiraling flames.

More than 1,000 city firemen battled the blaze, helped by 200 policemen who cordoned off the 12-block area to traffic. One police lieutenant said the homes of "literally hundreds and hundreds of people" were involved, the houses "burning like paper boxes."

Lawrence Doyle, another patrolman, said the quick thinking of O'Connor and Keating "saved a lot of lives." Doyle said the pre-dawn darkness was shattered by the blast, which singed the hair on the back of his neck. "When it went up, it was like the sun suddenly starting to shine."

The officers were rocked by the blast, but kept their feet and outraced the "surging flames."

Salaries Set For County Employees

Payment of salaries, totaling over $28,000 per month for 54 county employees, was approved by Gray County Commissioners Thursday in their regular monthly meeting.

The salaries for 1967 had been set at the October commissioners meeting. Jean Scott, chief deputy in County Treasurer Ola Gregory's office, was given an extra $50 a month for duties she has assumed for doing paper work on the county employees hospitalization plan. Judge Sherman Lenning said this was the only raise for county employees.

Commissioners also approved the hiring of a jailer for the county jail.

No Counteraction Seen For Defiant Aluminum Firms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Johnson administration appears to be contemplating no counteraction against defiant aluminum companies who followed other metals producers in raising prices.

Gardner Ackley, President Johnson's top economic adviser, met a round of aluminum price increase announcements Thursday with strong words, but significantly no threats.

"The national interest was poorly served when the aluminum industry jumped on the bandwagon of metals price increases," Gardner admitted to the producers in a statement.

But he did not invoke the Vietnam war in an appeal to patriotism, nor did he threaten government retaliation by manipulation of federal buying policies or national stockpiles.

All have figured in previous confrontations between government and various industries on price increases.

Ackley's remarks were specifically aimed at the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. of St. Louis, which touched off the increases early Thursday.

Mathieson said it was raising its price on primary aluminum to 25 1/2 cents a pound, an increase of one cent, and raising the price per pound on a long list of aluminum mill products by one-half cent.

Sen. Kennedy Angers Guard With Charge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Guard Association was up in arms today over Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's charge that some guard units "neither train nor guard."

The 34-year-old Massachusetts Democrat, calling for major revisions in the nation's draft laws, told a National Press Club luncheon Thursday that Congress should change "a system which allows professional athletes to join National Guard units which neither train nor guard."

Maj. Gen. James F. Cantwell, President of the National Guard Association, labeled Kennedy's charge "inaccurate, uninformed and insulting."

"National Guardsmen across the nation are damn mad," Cantwell said.

and operation of the school lunch program.

Dr. John Damron, superintendent of schools, said school board members will consider applications for the position of director for the school lunch program.

Trustees made plans to tour additional schools, before deciding on one of the three architectural firms under consideration.

In other business in the afternoon session, which concluded at 3:30 p.m., trustees approved a tax-collection contract with the City of Pampa for this year at an annual cost of $3,600; a three-year school plant insurance policy presented jointly by three insurance agencies in Pampa: Fatheree, Duncan, and Fraser Insurance firms.

Approval was also given to the Lewis Construction Co. to park construction equipment on school-owned property located on Kentucky St. near Coronado Center; to the evaluation Teaching Service form presently being utilized by building principals.

Tabled for future discussion was the purchase of maintenance equipment for school lawns.

Trustees okayed the purchase of ten water vacuums for cleaning schoolroom floors at an approximate cost of $1,500; and the construction of 60 mobile library carts for elementary and junior high schools.

Big Names On List At Baker Trial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The first big Washington names—Republicans as well as Democrats—have turned up at the Bobby Baker trial.

Light members of Congress appeared in U.S. District Court Thursday at the invitation of the Justice Department to give evidence on whether they had received any 1962 campaign contributions from Baker, the former Senate Democratic secretary.

All said they received nothing from Baker from the $66,900 in cash two California savings and loan officials testified they had given him for such purposes.

Only Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., actually had to testify. The other six—all senators—did not.

When defense attorney Edward Bennett Williams sought to ask Mills if he had ever

V MAYOR — Election results this morning at Pampa Junior High School revealed Jimmy Reeder (left) had been elected vice-mayor and Tim Duke had been elected mayor of the school. Their term of office begins with the spring term.

In 1961, 28 men died when a "Texas tower" radar station sank in the Atlantic 8 miles southeast of New York City.

In 1920, saloons closed their doors as the Volstead Act to enforce prohibition went into effect.

In 1833, the United States Civil Service was established.

Small Churches Are Surviving

By LOUIS CASSELS
 United Press International
 Among the 250 Protestant denominations in the United States are several small bodies which have demonstrated a remarkable capacity for survival.

They are sometimes referred to as "fossil churches," but that is an unfair appellation because they are still very much alive.

A good example is the Schwenkfelder Church.

According to Dr. Frank S. Mead, authoritative "Handbook of Denominations," the Schwenkfelder church has a total membership of 2,300 in five congregations, all located within a 50-mile radius of Philadelphia.

It is not a new sect, but one of the most ancient Protestant denominations, tracing its ancestry back to the early 16th century. It was founded by a Silesian nobleman, Kaspar Schwenkfeld von Ossig, who broke away from the Catholic Church just two years after Martin Luther.

Separate Beliefs
 Although they have many points of doctrine in common with Lutherans, Schwenkfelders have always insisted (as Luther did not) on complete separation of church and state.

The first group of Schwenkfelders immigrated to the United States in 1734, and settled in Pennsylvania. The denomination disappeared in Europe many years ago, but it shows no signs of giving up the ghost in America. One of its current members is a congressman, Rep. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa.

Another small but venerable group are the Swedenborgians, who were accepted last month into the National Council of Churches.

There are about 6,000 Swedenborgians in the United States. Their congregations are called churches of the New Jerusalem.

The movement grew out of the teachings of Emanuel Swedenborg, a Swedish scientist born in 1688. He was a mystic, and claimed to have received divine revelations through "direct communication with the other world."

Although Swedenborgians hold to a number of beliefs which are distinctively their own, they share with other Christians the affirmation that Jesus Christ is the divine son of God and "saving faith is to believe in Him."

Small But Vigorous
 Even smaller, but fully as vigorous, is the Amana Church Society.

It was founded in Germany in 1734. When it encountered persecution there, the society moved to America, settling near Buffalo, N.Y., in 1842. Its first settlements were completely Communist—in the original sense of the word. All property was owned in common. Each person did the work for which he was appointed and shared equally in the corporation in which each member owns a share.

The society moved to Iowa in 1855, and founded several villages including Amana, West Amana and Homestead, which are still the center of its life. In recent years, it has abandoned some of its communal property practices and has organized as a corporation in which each member owns a share.

The society owns 25,000 acres of rich Iowa soil and is engaged in manufacturing and processing business. Its worth has been estimated at several million dollars. There were, at last report, 754 members of the society.

'Go-Go' Windows Go Out of Church

By JAIME PLENN
 United Press International
 MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Modernistic stained glass windows installed in the 300-year-old Mexico City Metropolitan Cathedral have been ordered taken out.

The directive came from the Federal National Property Department which under law is entrusted with conservation of all structures and areas regarded as national monuments.

Action of the government office followed a protest in the daily newspaper, "Novedades," which described the additions to the massive Spanish colonial structure as "a go-go windows" and "horrible absurdities."

Ardirect Carlos Castelan, director general of the government department's Bureau of Urbanism, Engineering and Architecture, said the church authorities have until Sept. 30, 1967 to comply.

Castelan said the basic architectural style of the building, located on Mexico City's main square, had been corrupted by the changes made. Under Mexican law, any changes in national monuments—which include all churches—must first be approved by the designated authorities.

Largest Church
 The Mexico City cathedral, one of the major points of interest for tourists here, is the largest church structure in Mexico, and probably in the hemisphere.

It was started in 1573 and completed in 1667, on a site cathedral which had been put up in 1525 on the ruins of the major Aztec religious temple.

More detailed objections to the work carried out at the cathedral were contained in a letter sent by Castelan to Juan Laine, president of the Diocesan Commission of Order and Decoration of the Mexico City Cathedral.

The functional purpose of colonial windows was to provide ventilation, with protection, and to permit light to pass into the interior so that it would illuminate the paintings inside, Castelan declared.

The changes "basically altered the interior composition, disintegrated the all-over harmony and its traditional setting, distracting attention toward new and alien ornamental elements," his letter said.

Furthermore, Castelan explained, restoration to the original patterns was ordered because "this is a monument of outstanding artistic and historical interest, considered as one of the best exponents of religious architecture in the western hemisphere, thus part of universal patrimony and worthy of all respect."

'Life' Subject For Scientists
 "Life" is the subject of this week's Lesson—Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday.

"Seek good, and not evil, that ye may live; and so the Lord, the God of hosts, shall be with you, as ye have spoken." This reference from Amos will be the Golden Text.

Infant Baptism Planned Sunday In Presbyterian

The Sacrament of Baptism for infants is planned for this Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church. "Paul's Prayer for You" is the Reverend Donald S. Hauck's sermon topic, taken from Ephesians 1:16. Ruling Elder J. Kirk Duncan will assist with the Worship Services. The Sanctuary Choir, under the direction of Mr. Tommy Neugent will present "O Come and Sing Unto the Lord" by Nichols, as the Offertory Anthem.

The Youth Fellowships will be held at their regular times. The Junior Highs will meet at 5:30 p.m. and the Senior Highs, at 6:00 p.m. at the Gene Fatheree home, 818 N. Nelson.

Meet Sister Mary, An Unusual Nun

NEW YORK—Sister Mary Computer is almost a living legend here, except that she has never paused to take a breath.

She works 24 hours a day considering the sick, the infirm and the aged. Daily she lends a helping hand to the staff and doctors in six different hospitals.

For the last year or so Sister Mary Computer has been amazing all in the Catholic Medical Center of Brooklyn, captured the attention of medical men around the world.

Sister Mary Computer does not look like an ordinary nun. She wears a pale blue habit made of forged steel and has innards of complex wiring systems, a mechanical brain and neither heart nor soul.

For Sister Mary Computer is an electronic marvel whose real name is RCA 301. Doctors and nuns at the $60 million medical center being developed by Brooklyn's Catholic Charities affectionately named their computer center Sister Mary when the complex was installed.

Sister Mary is destined to provide doctors and nurses with immediate access to medical precedents about everything from the common cold to cancer. She'll also be a library crammed replete of magnetic tape to provide instant reference. She'll help plan special menus, assist accountants with clerical work and—perhaps most important—release doctors and nursing nuns for other needed work.

Rev. Dan B. Cameron
 Arkansas Pastor To Preach Here

Rev. Dan B. Cameron, prospective pastor for the First Baptist Church will preach a weekend revival beginning Friday, Jan. 13 at 7 p.m. Services will continue Saturday evening at 7 p.m. and the regular Sunday worship services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Rev. Cameron is presently the pastor of the First Baptist Church in Fort Smith, Ar. He has pastored the Fort Smith Church since Dec., 1963. Prior to his pastorate there, he was pastor of the First Baptist Church in Borger from 1957 to 1963. He is a graduate of Mississippi College and Southern Seminary. Rev. Cameron and his wife, Sarah, have five children: Bill, Wayne, Bob, Donna, and Candy.

Sam Allen, minister of music, will be in-charge of the music for the revival and he will direct the Chancel Choir in singing the anthem, "Thou Hast Said, Exalted Jesus" arranged by Lyall in the eleven o'clock Sunday morning worship service. Miss Eloise Lane, organist, will play "Jesus, Guide Me" by Bach for the offertory.

At the six o'clock evening worship, the Chancel Choir will occupy the choir loft and sing "Jesus is Coming Again" by Peterson and the organ of offertory will be "The Lord Is My Shepherd" by Koschat.

The Sunday Morning eleven o'clock worship service will be broadcast over radio station KPDN. The citizenry of Pampa is extended a cordial invitation to attend any or all of the services in the First Baptist Church, "Where the Visitor is Never a Stranger."

Rev. Doka Tells Sunday Sermon Topic

Rev. J. W. Doka will be in the Pulpit of the First Christian Church Sunday for the morning worship. He has chosen as his sermon topic "Respectable Thieves."

He will be assisted by Rev. C. M. Grow.

The choir, directed by Miss Rosemary Lawlor accompanied by Mrs. John Gill, will do as their Anthem "My Shepherd will Supply My Need" (Psalm 23) which is an old Southern Tune arranged by Randel Thompson.

The remainder of the Sunday Calendar will remain the same with the Youth Choir - at 4:30 p.m.; Snack Supper 5:30 p.m.; Youth Groups 6 p.m. and Evening Worship 7 p.m.

Rev. Doka will attend the annual TCU Minister's Week in Fort Worth next week. This year the lectures will be given by Robert Raines, author of the book "New Life in the Church" Harold Linger of Brite Divinity School; and by Roy Pearson, president of Andover Newton Theological School.

ROARING TIME
 MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Police were dispatched Thursday to investigate a report that a young man was shouting in a foreign language, causing the lions in Vilas Park Zoo to get into an uproar.

James C. Orr, 21, explained he was a student of Buddha and was practicing chants.

FROZEN FINGERS
 LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—State Rep. Richard A. Young said Thursday he will ask the Michigan legislature to push back the deadline for purchase of auto license plates from Feb. 28 to March 31.

Young said it is too cold in February to change car plates.

A Credibility Gap?

Luke 18:8 — shall he find faith on the earth?

One of the relatively new things to begin to dominate the conversations of our day is the "Credibility Gap." It has always been in existence, but it seems that now it is coming to the forefront, and gaining more recognition and status in our conversation.

"I read this but don't know whether to believe it or not." "What do make of this?" "Could this possibly be true?" "I know for a fact that this could not be true, because my son was there and he told me."

These are all things we have heard that pertain to a Credibility Gap in our government's statements.

I do not condone lying, but at the same time our government could not afford to publish all our activity as it would jeopardise our national security.

What does need to be investigated and corrected is any Credibility Gap that exists in our Churches.

Could it be, that we advertise our churches in such a manner that a Credibility Gap could exist between the advertised and the actual? Could it be, that we claim to be a church of the Bible when we will openly deny the Bible its Holy Inspiration, and dispute the fact that it must be destroyed. II Tim 3:16. Could it be, that while we preach satisfaction of the soul and mind, souls are unsatisfied?

If this could be true, then there is a Credibility Gap that is in existence that is far more dangerous to man than one in the government of any land.

Will God find faith on earth when He comes, or will a Credibility Gap have destroyed their faith in God?

Ski in Hand-Knit Styles

By HELEN HENESSY
Women's Editor

Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n. NEW YORK (NEA) - The girl whose fingers fly will be in good fashion shape on the ski slopes. There's no limit to the colorful knit-it-yourself beauties she can turn out for her skiing weekends.

In many instances ski sweaters owe their design inspirations to Scandinavia, the home of the Ski. Patterned yokes, multicolor geometrics and bright florals worked across the front and novel border treatments all make their appearance.

To insure warmth, many of the hand-knit ski "coosies" have high, bulky, turtle necklines. Others offer room for scarfing or to tuck in the tails of a fur ski helmet.

The National Hand Knitting Yarn Association suggests that knitters turn their indoor hobby into a slick and savvy wardrobe for after-ski as well.

The long pull, placed with vertical cabling up the front, is a great companion piece to bell-bottom trousers. A dashing top to lounge - about trouser so authentically reproduced that it even wears a knitted sailor tie. And for top coverage with more feminine pants, such as evening culottes, there are fluffy mohair sweaters to knit, sometimes worked in lacy peek-a-boo pattern stitches. Other times the femininity is achieved via the fluffiness of the yarn even though it is knit in classic plump cables.

If you can knit you can spend your winter weekends in fashions designed just for you. You won't meet yourself coming and going to the slopes.

SKI BUFFS WILL LOOK THEIR BEST when they take to the slopes well-sweated. Here, suggested by the National Hand Knitting Yarn Association, is a long, lean sweater, perfectly in tune with skinny ski pants. It's a tri-colored pull with mock turtleneck. Snappy sweater to knit yourself (inset) is in three colors of knitting worsted.

Dear Abby... Confusing Perhaps But Here Goes

DEAR ABBY: This may sound dumb coming from a 24-year-old man, but I have to have to have the answers, so here goes. What is the correct procedure for getting engaged. Does the man ask the girl first and then ask her father? What if the girl says yes and her father says no? And if he asks the father first, what if the father says yes and the girl says no? Now, let's say the girl says yes and her father says yes. Does the man pick out the ring and give it to the girl? Or should he have the ring in his pocket when he asks the girl? What if he has the ring in his pocket and the girl says no?

"IN LOVE"
DEAR "IN": Ask the girl first and if she says no, don't bother her father. If he says yes, ask her father. If he says yes, ask the girl to help you pick out the ring. Makes sense, no?

DEAR ABBY: The other day a friend of mine (I will call her Josephine) told me how cool she thought my brother was and that she would give anything to go out with him.

Well, I told my brother about Josephine and what she said and he didn't think the same about her. In fact he thought she was a creep. I even offered him money to take her out just once, but he wouldn't do it. I know Josephine is going to ask me about my brother again. What shall I tell her?

"ON THE SPOT"
DEAR ON: If Josephine inquires about your "cool" brother again, tell her that he frequents at the suggestion of dating a friend of yours, and unless she can attract him on her own, it's not tonight, Josephine—or any other night.

DEAR ABBY: I read your column and usually concur with your advice, but I believe you could have done more for "Out of Ideas" whose wife was hooked on cigarettes, tried everything and couldn't quit. There are thousands of people who are "hooked" and try as they may, seem unable to quit smoking. There is a solution, however, and it is more than just a doctor.

Seventh-day Adventists the world over have been helping hundreds of thousands of people break the tobacco habit. They have devised a five-day stop-smoking clinic which provides the free counseling services of a medical physician for the physical side of the problem, plus the pastoral counseling on will-power from a minister. In five short days people who never thought they could stop smoking have done so and are on the road to better health. Tell "Out of Ideas" to telephone his nearest Seventh-Day Adventist minister and find out when the next free five-day stop-smoking clinic will be put on in his area.

SINCERELY,
J. J. G., LINCOLN, NEBR.

The Panma Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP OF TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Panma News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

No More 'Free Rider' Claim

One of the big objections to proposals for right-to-work or voluntary unionism legislation has been that by law unions having a contract are required to represent non-union workers as well as union members in a bargaining unit. Union promoters accuse the non-union workers of being "free riders," although some who oppose compulsory membership in a union consider they are forced riders, and anything but free.

The National Right-to-Work initiative is a series of legislative proposals which it seeks to have introduced in the new Congress. One of these would amend the National Labor Relations Act to eliminate the requirement that unions must serve as exclusive bargaining representatives for all employees. Thus, they would be obliged to represent only their own members.

Other proposals would end compulsory union shop agreements unless expressly authorized by state law; return the principle of voluntary unionism to the Railway Labor Act, and amend the Internal Revenue Code to provide income tax exemption to voluntary as well as compulsory unions.

All of these proposals have merit, but we believe the plan to eliminate requirement that unions represent non-members is an excellent one. It knocks in the head the "free-rider" argument.

Bribed With Our Own Money

The con artists are at it again. The appeal is to human greed. "Everybody else is stealing," the rationale goes, "so why shouldn't we?" It is the philosophy of thieves.

The argument goes something like this. Some cities may be denied several million dollars in federal funds because there is no regional planning agency. All the goodies being passed out by the federal bureaucracy, the handouts, available from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) and various other agencies, will bypass the communities if they don't get on the ball and set up a regional planning agency which will meet federal standards.

The argument conveniently neglects to take into cognizance, several self-evident truths, among which are:

1. The federal government (or any government) has nothing which it does not first take from those individuals who it produces and earned it. Every dollar received from the government is a dollar which the government has stolen, legally, of course, but nevertheless stolen, from some individual. That some of those dollars may have been taken from the person receiving the government handout does not alter the fact that the person accepting the handout is a receiver of stolen goods.

2. Every dollar accepted at the local level in the form of federal "aid" is a dollar which was earned at a local level somewhere and which having made the trip to Washington, where a good portion of its value (estimates differ) was skimmed off to support non-productive bureaucratic agencies and foreign governments, is then returned, in its reduced state of value, to the local community.

Had the full dollar remained in the local community where it was earned, in the hands and under the control of those who earned it, the productive and beneficial uses to which it could have been put would have been considerably increased. Stated in other and perhaps simpler terms, we are sending (tax) dollars to Washington and get Step-Phen Foster died in New York City.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Many years ago O. O. McIntyre called our attention to the unique way the streets were named in Erie, Pennsylvania. On a recent visit we checked and found the fruit family well represented with Peach, Plum, Cherry, Raspberry, etc. on some thoroughfares in addition to the common tree names of Chestnut, Maple, Walnut and Pine. The nations were represented by French German, English and Holland and the Indians with Iroquois, Mohawk and Cherokee streets. They also have Love and Candy Lanes. Parade and Legion were spotted in other areas. Of course like most United States cities we located Main, Broadway, Grand, State, Liberty and Church streets. Erie also uses the conventional number system of thoroughfares such as First, Second, etc. Philadelphia was the first city in the country to use tree names in designating streets. Legion became popular in American street names after World War I.

Today's smile: A college student asked a professor: "What was that you wrote at the top of my examination paper?" The prof replied: "I suggested you write plainer. I couldn't read your writing."

Washington, D.C., the nation's capital draws more than 9 million visitors each year. Most folks think the best time to visit there is the spring and summer, but we can attest that it is equally delightful in the fall and winter. Heavy snowfalls are rare there and during the winter months there are plenty of places to visit and sights to see. Besides, there are fewer tourists at those seasons.

Thoughts while shaving: Everyone has heard about the Irish Sweepstakes and the huge money prizes awarded to the lucky ones, but South America is trying to put the Hibernian gamble in second place. Argentina is promoting a lottery where the major prize will be $1 million in U.S. dollars. Tickets, however, sell for $500 each. We don't know anyone who can afford to buy one.

3. Acceptance of our own reduced dollars, in the form of federal "assistance" programs, is encouragement to expand their agencies and activities and the take of our dollars required to support them. Thus while, on the one hand, we cry out against rising taxes, escalating inflation, increasing prices, the wastes of foreign aid and war, increasing governmental arrogance and controls, on the other hand, when we accept the federal programs, we are encouraging the very things we cry out against.

4. Planning by constituted authority precludes planning by individuals of their own lives and funds. This is a lesson too many people never seem to learn.

To use the argument that "everybody else is stealing, so why shouldn't we get our share?" is tantamount to saying "the nazi received from the government is a dollar which the government has stolen, legally, of course, but nevertheless stolen, from some individual. That some of those dollars may have been taken from the person receiving the government handout does not alter the fact that the person accepting the handout is a receiver of stolen goods."

If we in this country have any intentions or hopes of reducing power and scope of government and its plunder of the results of our productive energies, it is long past time to begin refusing the bribes in the form of our own money which it uses to corrupt and enslave us.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: Can anything worthwhile be achieved from the activities of those who resort to the following much-too-common explanations for what they do: (1) "I'm only doing my job"; (2) "Everybody else is doing it"; (3) "It's legal"? Can mankind progress beyond the puppet-stage with this type of vindication for its coercive, unfair or suppressive actions? — Mrs. E.M.

ANSWER: We would say that individuals who use such statements to vindicate coercive, unfair or aggressive actions against others are weak and seeking excuses to evade their own responsibility for their acts. An individual who knows something is wrong, yet does it because it is "legal" or because others are doing it cannot bring progress toward individual freedom, since freedom means self-responsibility. These individuals may gain temporary financial benefits for themselves or power over others at the expense of long-term losses to all others. We believe mankind cannot "progress beyond the puppet-stage" with this sort of excuse-making.

A thought for the day — poet Carl Sandburg said: "Sometimes an expert is only a damned fool a long way from home."

"Don't Just Stand There, Make the Sun Come Out!"

Your Dental Health

By DR. WM. LAWRENCE

Care of Baby Teeth Pays Off on Permanent Set
Don't neglect your child's teeth! Baby teeth should be as well-cared for as permanent teeth. Extensive decay and premature loss of baby teeth may reduce your child to a dental cripple for the rest of his life. It's parents' responsibility to begin proper dental care early.

Regular visits to the dentist should begin about age 2, when all baby teeth have come into place. If you start early with preventive care you'll save yourself and your child much grief and much money.

If baby teeth are lost too soon, permanent teeth that replace them grow in crooked.

Why does this happen? Because teeth next to the extracted areas shift into the space. When permanent ones try to come in, there's not enough room for them; they grow in crooked; sometimes find no room at all and are impacted, becoming embedded in bone and gums. Correction may involve straightening and surgery.

Decay may be an early problem. If allowed to go unattended it will cause discomfort, sometimes a great deal of pain and reduction in efficiency in chewing apparatus. It may be the main reason your child won't eat solid foods, or take food that's extreme in temperature, such as cold milk or hot cereal.

It also forces your child to undergo extensive dental treatment, such as extraction, at a time when he is not mature enough to stand it. This can ruin him as a dental patient for the rest of his life. Many grownups blame their reluctance on bad experiences and extensive dentistry when they were young. Of course, this excuse is used sometimes to hide fear of dentistry which may be part of a larger pattern of emotional instability.

Your children will have a much better chance of having fine teeth for their entire lives if you take good care of their baby teeth: brush after every meal with fluoride toothpaste; frequent and regular visits to your dentist for repair of decayed teeth and to paint teeth with tin fluoride at least once a year. AND fight for fluoridation of community drinking water.

Desiring to obtain the same shock effect without actually violating the law, some agitators have tried publicly burning only their old, out-of-date draft cards, no longer applicable.

Obviously they are very well aware of the law on this point and very reluctant to break it. This is an excellent example of the effectiveness of strongly and specifically worded laws against criminal acts, rigorously enforced. It is a lesson that could profitably be applied to the prevention of many other crimes. Deterrence does work, in criminal law just as in international relations.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Maturity Requires Control of Impulses
For a well-adjusted life and an optimistic outlook, mental and emotional maturity are essential. Such maturity helps a person to control his impulses and direct his energies into constructive channels — in other words, to make the most of his natural endowments.

Immaturity, on the other hand, is what makes the psychiatrist's job possible and gives him a superhuman workload. The underlying cause of immaturity is a failure to face up to the responsibilities and frustrations of each stage of development as it appears.

As a child the immature person may have sucked his thumb or wet his bed long after such behavior was appropriate to his age. To such a person each of life's hurdles is too big to overcome and anything that causes more than the faintest ripple in his life causes severe anxiety and neurotic reactions. One of the cardinal symptoms of immaturity is the feeling that

Hunt for Truth

By M. L. HUNT

DRAFT CARD BURNINGS
What happened to that pastime so popular among the young revolutionaries of the far left last year, the burning of their draft cards? We haven't heard much about it lately, and for a very good reason.

Congress passed Public Law 89-152 which prohibits the willful mutilation and destruction of draft cards and provides heavy penalties for disobedience. Despite their widely advertised contempt for the law, the young demonstrators against the Vietnam War have been paying attention to this one.

The House Judiciary Committee has issued a report on the effect of Public Law 89-152 which states that there were only 30 incidents of willful burning of draft cards in the first five months of 1966, as compared with 78 such incidents in the first five months of 1965, before the law was enacted. Nor was this the result of any slow-down in the pace of anti-war demonstrations, which were being carried out at colleges and universities all over the country in the winter and spring of 1966.

Desiring to obtain the same shock effect without actually violating the law, some agitators have tried publicly burning only their old, out-of-date draft cards, no longer applicable. Obviously they are very well aware of the law on this point and very reluctant to break it. This is an excellent example of the effectiveness of strongly and specifically worded laws against criminal acts, rigorously enforced. It is a lesson that could profitably be applied to the prevention of many other crimes. Deterrence does work, in criminal law just as in international relations.

Race for Space Goes on Apax
NEW YORK (NEA) — What with all the traditional year-end festivities, it was not until our Tax Form arrived in the mail the other day that we finally realized it is now 1967.

So, that makes it a decade since Russia launched Sputnik I, and opened what is familiarly known in tax-paying circles as the Race For Space.

Well, who is winning the Race For Space after these 10 years of contest?

Having a vested interest in this matter we embarked on a bit of research, and were rewarded by a communication from Washington with the Space Race score to date.

We must confess that it has been a long time since we covered any news on this subject. But it is very encouraging to find that the handling of space age data has not changed at all during our absence.

Consequently, set down below is the score card on the Race For Space according to the official tabulation.

If there is any difficulty in finding out who is winning, please remember that space is a very large place and must be viewed from an infinite number of points.

To begin with, there is the race in rocketry and satellite construction.

Russia appears to be leading in both thrust and payload. But the United States is leading mass production of both items, and is 3,401,133 total orbits ahead as of this writing.

Now, as to the race in manned orbital flights:

On the one hand, the United States has made 6415 manned orbits, while Russia has made only 298.3. The U.S. astronauts have stayed aloft for a total of 1,022 hours and 56 minutes, whereas Russian cosmonauts have stayed up for only 431 hours and 44 minutes.

In the matter of animals in orbit, there is no doubt that Russia leads by seven dogs to zero. However, the United States is ahead by six monkeys.

As to orbiting fruit flies and other insects, that race is apparently a tie.

Both nations have sent bugs up — Russia electing to bring hers back.

Without any question, the Russians are leading in human skin samples in orbit. But on the other hand, the United States leads in the number of lieutenant commanders, captains and majors launched.

Russia is well ahead in the size and weight of manned capsule that can be launched—a 16,000-pound vehicle compared with a U.S. 8,000-pound vehicle.

On the other hand, the U.S. spacecraft have flown 596 miles higher than the Russian. Moreover, U.S. astronauts are 27 minutes ahead of the Russians in space walks.

Russia, of course, is ahead in soft landings on the moon by 2.1. But the United States holds the undisputed lead in sending television programs via satellite around the world to underprivileged and uncommitted nations.

The United States is also way ahead in spacecraft maneuvers and re-entry precision, whereas Russia holds a 2-0 lead in women and doctors in orbit.

The United States, of course, is far and away ahead in total weight of astronauts launched 4,776 pounds of Americans, compared with 921 pounds of Russians.

Japan Reds Plan Power Drive in '70

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington, Co-respondent
TOKYO (NEA) — The small vigorous Japanese Communist party is now making a major tactical shift in preparation for a power drive in 1970.

In that year, it is certain Japan's Communists and socialists will make renewal of the U.S. - Japan security treaty a major political issue.

That 1970 security pact struggle will give the Communists opportunities to seek leadership for a united front movement aimed at dragging down the present conservative government and replacing it with a leftist coalition.

Premier Nobusuke Kishi, and most of his cabinet resigned in July, 1960, after left-wing and neutralist groups, stirred up vociferous opposition to his pushing through ratification of the U.S. Japan security treaty earlier that year.

There is a strong antiwar feeling in many Japanese circles. This security treaty enables the United States to station military forces in Japan. The Communists hope to whip a wide number of Japanese to the belief that this stationing of America troops in Japan could mean that Japan would be drawn into another war. They hope through an emotional propaganda drive and through a coalition front with many non-Communists that they can overthrow the present pro-business, pro-American government which favors continuation of the treaty.

This objective explains the Japanese Communist party's recent break with Red China, even though major Japanese Communist leaders are emotionally sympathetic to Peking.

It's a simple split over tactics. If the Japanese party followed the violent Peking line, it would isolate itself from the non-Communist left and miss this 1970 bid for power.

Japanese Communist chief Nuzaka Sanzo has decided that complete tactical subservience to Moscow or Peking has got to end. Robotlike obedience has meant in ability to adjust to local opportunities and has enabled the socialists to capture leadership of Japan's left.

In 1949, 38 Communists were elected to Japan's House of Representatives. In 1950, the full tactics by which the Japanese Communists had made these gains. The party obediently shifted and obeyed this foreign order. It began widespread violence. This antagonized the Japanese public. In the next few years the Communists lost all their Diet seats.

Recently, Nuzaka and his Communists have flirted with new techniques. The results have been outstanding:

—In the past two years, party membership has leaped from 100,000 to 200,000. Youth Communist groups have jumped from 90,000 members to 180,000.

—Over a million Japanese subscribe to the Communist Red Flag newspaper. In the last two elections the Reds captured between 1.7 million and 2.6 million votes. They now have five seats in the lower house and four in the upper house.

—The party exercises an influence in Japanese politics out of proportion to its size.

—Many of its professed views, such as opposition to nuclear arms and to U.S. bases in Japan are consonant with postwar pacifist trends in the country.

—Marxism and Leninism as theories are accepted among considerable numbers of intellectuals and non-Communist left-wing politicians.

—It has shown considerable ability to muster agitators and street demonstrators in the major cities.

—It has an extensive network of front organizations.

—It has infiltrated many schools and colleges.

Japanese Communist growth could endanger U.S. Japanese relations and prevent Japan from becoming a strong leader for freedom in Asia. A strong Communist-socialist front could put a damper on positive moves even assuming a conservative government remains in power.

There are reforms the Japanese government could institute now which would steal thunder from the Communist line. There are steps the United States could take to help Tokyo in this problem. These things should be done now. They will be outlined in another column.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Cassius Clay Is Still 1-A, That's No Hay

Cassius Clay would sing this song, "I got no quarrel with them Viet Cong." But his local draft board has had the last say, Cassius Clay is still 1-A.

By JOHN T. KADY
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—The Louisville draft board has counted ten over Cassius Clay but the heavyweight champion's attorney says he will fight all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court to reverse the decision.

Clay's draft board refused Thursday to consider his request for an exemption as a Black Muslim minister. "As of now, Cassius Clay is still 1-A," said draft board Chairman J. Allen Sherman, after a one-hour meeting.

Clay's only recourse now is an appeal to federal courts. Appeal to He'shey But Hayden Covington of New York, attorney for the 24-year-old heavyweight boxing champion and an expert on draft laws, said he would ask Gen. Lewis Hershey, head of the U.S. Selective Service System, and Everett Stephenson chairman of the Kentucky Selective Service System, to order the case re-opened.

Falling this, Covington said, he would take Clay's appeal as far as the Supreme Court. "We're not making any threats," Covington said, "but if they try to steamroller us then we have to move out of the way."

The rebuff was the second for Clay in three days. The Kentucky Selective Service Appeals Board Tuesday denied him a classification as a conscientious objector.

Included in Revision Clay was twice classified 1-Y after failing to pass the Army's aptitude tests. He was reclassified 1-A—fit for the draft—when military needs in Vietnam forced a downward revision in the Army's standards.

Spurrer to Get Award

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Heisman Trophy winner Steve Spurrer and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen were named today to receive major awards at a banquet Saturday night.

Spurrer, who quarterbacked the University of Florida to a 27-12 victory over Georgia Tech in the Orange Bowl last week, will be presented the Walter Camp Memorial Trophy as the nation's outstanding college back.

Dirksen will receive the Mr. Sam Award presented annually to a government figure who has fostered and contributed to sports. The Illinois Republican will be presented the award by his homestate colleague, Sen. Charles Percy.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., will present the Camp trophy to Spurrer.

Previous winners of the Mr. Sam award, which honors the late Speaker Sam Rayburn, were President John F. Kennedy, former Rep. Oren E. Harris, D-Ark, Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr., R-Mass., and Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark and Byron R. (Whizzer) White.

Also named to receive awards Saturday night were linebacker Jim Lynch of Notre Dame, who will receive the Knute Rockney Memorial Trophy as the nation's outstanding college lineman, and 9-year-old Jimmy Heneghan, who named the "Living Timmie"—symbol of the Touchdown Club.

Lee, Pampa Jr. Highs Divide

Seventh grade cage teams from Lee and Pampa Junior High battled today after eighth and ninth grade teams from the two schools went to the maples Thursday afternoon.

Pampa Junior High ninth rode the shooting of Mike Warren, Cliff Gage and Johnson for a 58-43 victory over Lee.

Pampa Junior High led 16-10 at the first quarter mark, upped it to 33-21 at halftime and 41-33 after three quarters.

The Reapers led by as much as 19 early in the fourth quarter and as little as six at one point, but poured it on in the stretch. Lee hit 15 from the floor and 13 of 31 free throws and had 23 fouls called while the Reapers hit 23 from the floor, 12 of 29 charity tosses and also had 23 fouls called.

Brantley led the Lee scoring with 13 points and was the only Rebel to hit in double figures.

Lee eighth pushed to a 7-4 first period lead, then led 19-14 at halftime before racing to a 27-17 victory over Pampa Junior High.

Thompson paced Lee with six points while Ood, Foster and Sims all tallied four. Yearwood and Marsh were high for the Reapers with five each.

Lee hit nine field goal shots and only eight of 21 from the foul line and committed 14 fouls while Pampa Junior High goalied only four times, hit nine of 25 from the charity stripe and committed 20 fouls.

For the afternoon a total of 80 fouls were called.

Pampa Junior High ninth is now 4-4, Lee ninth is 5-4. Lee eighth is 4-3 and Pampa eighth, 2-6.

Both seventh grades went into today's game with perfect records. Lee at 6-0 and PJH, 5-0.

Pampa, Bulldogs End First Half Of District Play

By RON CROSS
Sports Editor

BORGER — Pampa went after a share of second place in district 3-4A tonight, when Borger's always dangerous Bulldogs played host to the Harvesters in a 7:30 p.m. affair.

The B teams from the two schools got together at 6 p.m. and the C teams played a 5 p.m. contest. The Shockers are 17-3 and tied for the conference lead with only one loss.

Pampa, 6-2 in league play, and Borger, 3-5, end first half district play tonight. The Harvesters, at the start of the game were in sole possession of third place with Amarillo and Tascosa tied for first at 7-1 and playing for first place tonight.

A Pampa win would give Pampa a second place tie with the Sandie-Rebel loser.

The Bulldogs, 9-8 for the season, promised to be a big hurdle for Pampa to clear, improving every game, since Pampa won a 68-50 decision earlier this season in the Top of Texas tournament.

The Bulldogs returned three starters this season but one of them, 5'8 senior and floorleader George Hanna, is injured and will not play.

The nucleus of the Bulldogs come from 5'10 returnee guard Wayne Frayar and 6'4 center Rick Williams, a starter a year ago and 6'0 forward Don Pila-

GARY SIKES
... top Buff

Sikes is averaging 18.2 points in district competition and 16.3 for the season while Williams has a 17.6 conference average and 19.6 season average. Pilaud is 8.2 in league play and 10 for the season.

New coach Dwayne Hunt will probably call on 5'8 junior Nelson Boyd to fill the other guard spot. Boyd is averaging 9.1 points in conference play and 9.3 for the season.

The Bulldogs trail Pampa in both offense and defense averages for the season and in district 3-4A.

Borger, in league play, has a 58.9 offensive mark and 60.1 defensive record. For the season the 'Dogs have scored 59.2 pts. per game and given up 56.3.

Pampa has a two game winning streak going, along with a 17-3 season record and district offensive average of 61.8 and defensive set of 54.7. For the season Pampa has a 68.7 average on offense and 56.1 defensive average.

Seniors Steve Williams and Rick Foster and juniors Bo Lang and George Bailey are still averaging in double figures for Pampa.

Anyone Interested? The telephone Pioneers, a group of civic-minded ladies, each with 21 or more years of service with Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, have discussed helping charter a bus for Pampa students to attend out-of-town games of the Harvesters.

The Pioneers would like to know if another Pampa club or business firm would be willing to help them finance the bus for the high school students.

Anyone interested may contact Velma Sutton at the telephone office.

MAGIC TOUCH

Cousy Has Find In Bill Evans

United Press International

The most famous scorer in basketball history has discovered an apprentice with the magic touch.

Bob Cousy, the great backcourt wizard of the Boston Celtics who now teaches the undergraduates at Boston College his bag of tricks, has come up with a dandy student in sophomore Billy Evans, a quicksilver guard who has turned BC's opponents into a mass of quivering jelly.

Evans, a 5-foot-11 native of New Haven, Conn., isn't a big scorer but his playmaking and defensive skills have transformed the Eagles into tigers this season and earned them the ranking of 13th best team in the nation in the United Press International ratings.

The slick southpaw dribbled, passed and shot BC to 83-66 rout of Duquesne Thursday night, marking the Eagles' 11th victory in 12 games.

In other major games, Tulsa judged North-Texas State 65-59, Colorado clouted Iowa State 64-5, Oklahoma City overpowered Jacksonville 97-92, Fordham flipped Columbia 56-2 and Canisius clobbered Niagara 90-76.

Evans, a pinpoint passer, has eight assists to go with his 16 points and made four steal as the Eagles ran Duquesne off the court in the second half.

Soph Bob Washington poured in 18 points in the second half to lift Tulsa to its 13th victory against three losses and its second in three Missouri Valley Conference contests.

Dubbed the Super Bowl, the game between the Kansas City Chiefs of the AFL and the Green Bay Packers of the NFL has been given all the trappings of a world championship down to a fancy trophy.

For the Chiefs it was a long awaited opportunity to test the caliber of AFL football against the top team in the older circuit. The Green Bay Packers, however, are not taking the contest lightly. Consistently they have said that victory means more to them than the money.

But the rewards are rich for both the winners and losers. Pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle sought to outdo baseball's World Series by offering members of the winning team $1,000 each and the losers $7,500.

To achieve that goal as well as putting some money into the players' pension funds, Rozelle scaled the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum from $6 to $12 and predicted a 9,000-seat sellout. He also sold the television rights to two networks (NBC and CBS) for $2 million.

But the television blackout of the Los Angeles area for a distance of 72 miles brought forward a torrent of protests and unquestionably hurt the gate. Despite advertisements in newspapers and a large-scale promotional program, about 60,000 seats were sold by Thursday night.

Bill John, borrowed from the Los Angeles Rams as ticket manager, said there was no way of predicting day of the game sales at the Coliseum but the total could be upwards of 65,000.

"Why, no, dear! I don't think anyone would blame you for spending FRIDAY THE 13th IN BED!"

Foreign Commentary

"We have the duty to slow down the arms race between us, in both conventional and nuclear weapons and defenses. Any additional race would impose on our peoples, and on all mankind, an additional waste of resources with no gain in security to either side."

President Johnson in his state of the union address.

special irony that the United States and the Soviet Union, the only two nations at this moment between whom agreement is essential, can agree to ban arms on disarmament on earth.

Slow Spiral

This week the President launched another major effort to at least slow the spiral.

He said he would seek agreement with the Soviet Union to halt the deployment of anti-missile defense system which could only be erected at enormous cost and which the United States believes even then could not prevent the death of tens of millions in any nuclear war.

It is a shocking thing that in man's persistent efforts to stay alive, he spends more on a moment than he does on health and education combined.

An official United States estimate showed that in 1964 the nations of the world spent more than $130 billion on arms and $125 billion on education and health.

In doing so, he seems certain to touch off another round in the argument over the sword and the shield.

For more than a year it has been known the Russians were building an anti-missile system, notably around Moscow.

Several years ago Nikita Khrushchev boasted the Russians had a missile that could knock a fly out of the sky, and they obviously believe they have something that will be at least partially effective.

On that basis, the arms race came to $40 for every man, woman and child alive.

Last year the United States budgeted more than half its income for defense, or close to $60 billion. This year it is expected to be closer to $75 billion.

This knowledge led to demands that the United States erect a similar system lest it suddenly find its nuclear and conventional arms superiority vanished and itself laid wide open to attack.

And as defense costs continue their upward spiral, it seems a

The most dynamic take-charge guy in modern American political history had lost control of political events as the new 90th Congress convened this week to take a cold second look at Johnson administration policies.

The 90th is an unfriendly Congress. It does not love Lyndon B. Johnson. There is no man alive in the United States at this moment who more urgently wants to be loved than does the President.

President Johnson's foreign policies have become a handful of loose, dry sand which he cannot firmly grasp. LBJ home front policies are as elusively out of control as a cup of quicksilver splashed and allowed to spread on a marble floor.

Good luck and good breaks could restore take-charge guy Johnson to arm-twisting command. But the good luck and good breaks are not at this moment in sight. LBJ most desperately needs some good luck on the Asian war front. His system of government by consensus does not protect the administration against political trouble arising out of the dispute between the Hawks and the Doves.

Government by consensus, in fact, is more a deceptive system of all-things-to-all-men than it is anything else. A good deal of political hypocrisy is built into any policy based on the idea that it can offer something to satisfy everybody. So it is that the President finds himself unhappily stuck with an unmanageable war in Southeast Asia. The President or someone painted LBJ into a corner on that one. He must escape to survive.

That is the star spangled problem of foreign affairs. But Johnson's election record 1964-68, may even match Herbert Hoover's spectacularly gorgeous political sunrise in 1928 and his dismal, chill sunset in 1932. It probably will be a repeat unless LBJ's luck changes and he again takes charge with courage to carry on.

LBJ also invited himself into a painted corner in the United Nations. Johnson directed United States support for the United Nations economic boycott of the white man's government of Rhodesia in southwest Africa. The boycott was sought by Britain under pressure from black African members of the wobbly, make-believe British Commonwealth of nations.

Black African pressure and American Negro votes combined to jostle Johnson to a typically political solution of this policy problem. The United States voted for a U.N. economic boycott. Now Britain refuses to join the United States in economic boycott of Communist Cuba. Instead, the British extend to Cuba enormous private credits. LBJ's foreign policy collaboration with the wobbly United Kingdom is a one-way street. It will be difficult for 1968 Democratic campaigners to explain that to the voters.

President Johnson also has lost control over government spending. Consensus won't work there either. The left wingers of the Great Society political coalition demand more money for the war on poverty at home at the expense of less money for the war on Communism in Southeast Asia.

LBJ cannot satisfy all hands on that one without budgeting for a shocking increase of government spending. Johnson has lacked the political courage or political decision so far to levy sufficient taxes to pay for his already gaudy spending programs.

New spending simply will aggravate that situation, create more public debt and greater deficits. This, of course, adds up to more currency inflation, higher prices at the supermarket checkout counter and bad, bad trouble for LBJ.

Johnson's election record 1964-68, may even match Herbert Hoover's spectacularly gorgeous political sunrise in 1928 and his dismal, chill sunset in 1932. It probably will be a repeat unless LBJ's luck changes and he again takes charge with courage to carry on.

The Family Lawyer

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written By Will Bernard.

John, alone with Edward in an elevator, says to him: "You are a crook."
Assuming that Edward is not a crook, could he collect damages for defamation of character? No, because nobody else heard what John said.

Generally speaking, to "defame" someone is to injure his reputation. If no one hears the accusation except the accused person himself, then his reputation has not suffered at all. While a private, face-to-face insult might occasionally amount to a criminal offense, it is not grounds for a defamation suit unless there is a third party in the picture.

This applies not only to oral defamation (slander) but also to written defamation (libel).

For example: A man wrote a bristling letter to the widow next door, accusing her of stealing his lawn mower. He happened to be wrong, and she sued him for defamation of character. But the court denied her claim; because the man had not made the charge known to anyone else but her.

Suppose that such a letter, although mailed to one particular individual, is also read by a third party. If the writer should have foreseen that eventuality, then he may indeed be held responsible for making his accusation public. Thus: A wholesale grocery salesman, irked at one of his customers, wrote him a scurrilous letter. But the customer's secretary opened the letter and read it before passing it along to her boss.

Was the salesman liable for defamation? The court said yes, because he was familiar with the secretary's habit of checking the mail. The court said he should have foreseen that his accusations would become public just the way they did.

But there is no liability if the third party, even though he BROMLEY, England (UPI)—Students at a technical school have been asked not to stand around in groups of more than five. Officials are afraid the floor of one of the buildings will collapse because of ravaging by termites.

FLEMING, Colo. (UPI)—Elinor Cool will have her fingers crossed Friday for two reasons. Not only is it Friday the 13th, but it's her 13th birthday.

TEMPT FATE
PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The 13th members of the Friday, the 13th Club plan to spend today walking under ladders, breaking mirrors, opening umbrellas indoors and looking for black cats to cross their paths.

Harry Kodinsky, vice president in charge of vice presidents, (the club has no president) said each Friday the 13th the group sets out to tempt the fates by defying ancient superstitions.

Convict Who Reformed To Wait Again

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Leaman E. Lemley, 57, who called the 20 years since he walked off an Alabama prison farm a "nagging burden," found out Wednesday he must live with that burden for about two more weeks.

Texas Secretary of State John L. Hill told Lemley at a hearing that a motion against extradition would be taken under advisement. Hill said Gov. John Connally would announce a decision in about two weeks. Lemley was a trustee at Almore prison in 1946 when he escaped by hitching a ride with two guards who failed to recognize him. He had served three year term for shooting a man.

He took his wife and four children to Plains, Tex. to begin a new life. "It has been a nagging burden, never knowing all these years when I might be separated from my family," he said.

His past was discovered four months ago when he was arrested on a drunkenness charge. If Lemley is returned to Alabama, he will have to serve 17 years in prison.

The citizens of Plains rallied behind Lemley. They sent petitions to the governors of Texas and Alabama asking that Lemley not be sent back to prison. Defense Attorney Calloway Huffaker of Tahoka, Tex., said at the extradition hearing, "If ever there is a time a man has been punished and rehabilitated, this is it."

In 1914, Henry Ford began making automobiles by the assembly line method.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Walston G Co. says the market could catch fire if some of the enormous sums of idle cash hugging the sidelines should suddenly flow back into stocks. The company says there must be billions of dollars of such idle funds now held by institutions mutual funds, individuals, pension funds and others. The analysts say the easing of money is good news because it helps both stock and bonds.

The Janeway letter says copper values are worth more than they have been and will be worth still more regardless of the general trend. The company believes copper values now enjoy insurance against a recession in demand throughout the economy as a whole and against any easing of political tensions calculated to remove pressures responsible for present fears of shortage.

Goodbody & Co. says the penetration of the 820 level on the Dow Jones Industrial Average on heavy volume carries favorable implications and should do much to draw the fence-sitters back into the market on the buy side. It recommends a constructive attitude towards equities.
