CONCERT DRIVE—Mrs. Malcolm McDaniel, 865 W. Foster, was the first person to buy a membership as the Pampa Community Concert Association headquarters office opened this forenoon for the final week of the membership campaign in its 1967-68 concert season. Mrs. Bruce Riehart, left, chairman of this year's campaign, and Mrs. J. Kirk Duncan, right, headquarters chairman, look on as Mrs. McDaniel signs up. Campaign workers will meet at a kickoff banquet at 7 p.m. today in Coronado Inn.

Concert Member Drive Launched

Campaign headquarters for the Pampa Community Concert Association's final week membership drive opened this forenoon in the lobby of the Southwestern Public Service Co., 315 N. Ballard.

The headquarters office, from which more than 100 volunteer workers will operate this week, is in charge of Mrs. J. Kirk Duncan.

Mrs. Bruce Riehart, drive chairman, today urged workers to attend the association's annual kickoff banquet at 7 p.m. today in Coronado Inn.

Mrs. Lillian Kilgarriff, Columbia Artists, Inc., representative, will address the workers.

Renewal memberships from past subscribers were accepted last week and this week new members will be enrolled for the concert series to be presented during the 1967-68 season.

Three attractions already have been booked. They include The Washington National Symphony Orchestra, the Roger Wagner Choral and the Lee Evans Trio. Another attraction will be added at the close of the membership drive.

Adult memberships are available at $10 and student memberships at $5 for the entire concert series.

Attendance at the concerts is by membership only, it was pointed out by Mrs. Riehart. While a canvass will be made, both in the city and surrounding area the campaign headquarters will be open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. this week to accept memberships there. The headquarters telephone number is MO 5-3092.

FBI Investigating Explosion, Fire

By United Press International
A Project Headstart center in Liberty, Miss., was heavily damaged by an explosion early today and fire destroyed headquarters of the Hayneville, Ala., anti-poverty program on Sunday.

The FBI joined local authorities in investigation of both incidents to determine whether they were related to a series of sporadic firebombings in Mississippi in recent weeks.

There were no injuries in either incident.

The Project Headstart center in Liberty was extensively damaged by the 3 a.m. blast. Jimmy Sharp, a local appliance dealer who owned the small building, said the front of the structure was "blown out."

In Hayneville, Lowndes County Deputy Sheriff John Jackson said the fire which destroyed offices of the anti-poverty program center "could have been arson."

The fire broke out early Sunday and swept through the building housing the Lowndes County Christian Association for Human Rights Inc. The group, which administers $241,604 in

US Troops Trap Red Battalions

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. troops trapped and battled two Communist battalions in jungles near the Cambodian border after the guerrillas staged a "night of the long knives" throughout South Vietnam, military spokesmen said today.

U.S. Army 4th Infantry Division soldiers reported killing 29 of the Communists they ran into and pinned down with air and artillery strikes near the border, raising to at least 535 the number of Communists slain during the weekend.

Americans suffered 5 men killed, 38 wounded and 5 missing in the fight that climaxed a night of terror as guerrilla bands struck four Vietnamese towns, American military posts and medical centers.

Bomb Industrial Targets
The fighting in the South Sunday came as U.S. warplanes pressed their assault against North Vietnam's industrial attack. Today, U.S. Air Force B52 Stratofortresses followed up the attack by dumping scores of tons of bombs on Viet Cong strongholds in the South fed by the ravaged North Vietnamese war machine.

In a sneak attack Sunday the Communists hit the South Vietnamese outpost of Hieu Nhon, 15 miles south of the U.S. Marines' base of Da Nang.

Government spokesmen acknowledged three defending platoons of South Vietnamese troops took "heavy" casualties. One U.S. military advisor was killed and four others wounded as the guerrillas swarmed into the compound.

Children Killed
Spokesmen said the guerrillas shot the two children of the Vietnamese sub-sector chief who helped lead the defense and then killed him.

At the South Vietnamese outpost towns of Kien Hoa and Ben Tri, 50 miles southwest of Saigon, the guerrillas tried the same thing. But the U.S. led Vietnamese held. They killed 43 of the attacks.

But the shelling damaged U.S. military and public affairs headquarters buildings and an Iranian military surgical team center. Twenty Vietnamese defenders were reported wounded. The guerrilla attacks failed to dent the big U.S. air and ground assault.

Bomb Power Plant
U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs and F4C Phantoms Sunday streaked out of Thailand and bombed the great Viet Tri power plant 37 miles west-northwest of Hanoi. The raid carried on the air war against North Vietnam's war machine industrial targets, and pilots reported seeing thick brown smoke churn 3,000 feet up from their exploding bombs.

Tuesday the same three judges will hear from both preliminary hearing to decide if Garrison has enough evidence to bring Shaw to trial on conspiracy.

There now seems to be no reasonable likelihood that hostilities will cease by June 30, the committee told the House in recommending the defense money bill for certain House passage Tuesday.

In approving the first appropriation bill of the congressional session, the committee gave President Johnson just about all he asked in supplemental funds to cover rising war costs between now and July 1.

The money is in addition to $59 billion previously provided by Congress for the current 12 months for general defense and military purposes including prosecution of the Vietnam war. Even more will be needed, the committee warned, to offset military and civilian pay raises voted by Congress last year.

The biggest allotments in today's money bill were for replacement of planes, helicopters, missiles and ammunition that have been expended in Vietnam at faster rates than were contemplated when the war's likely course was projected more than a year ago.

Also included was $109 million for stepped-up research and development related to the war, including work on night-sight devices, a new searchlight, and a "low light-level television system" designed to help U.S. forces combat enemy infiltration under cover of dark.

The committee in most areas gave the military what was asked but in the matter of civilian employment it delivered a mild economy lecture.

Of the 39,764 extra civilians sought to be hired by the Army, the committee allowed funds for around 30,000 and said there was only "dubious need" shown for the rest. The Navy's extra civilian personnel request was cut from about 9,000 to about 7,000.

Dodd Admits Use Of Gift Funds on Home

Senator Concedes To Group's Charge

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Thomas J. Dodd acknowledged today he used testimonial gifts to pay for improvements on his Connecticut home and to pay income taxes. He also said he gave his son, Jeremy, $4,900 from the testimonial receipts.

As the Senate opened public hearings into the Connecticut Democrat's finances, he conceded for the first time that he used some of $170,000 collected at four events for him between 1961 and 1965 for personal expenses.

But the senator said his lawyers told him beforehand that the money, which his critics said, was intended for political purposes, could be used any way he saw fit. Nevertheless, he said in a statement most of it went for political debts.

Dodd also acknowledged he had been furnished exclusive use of three automobiles by a Connecticut contractor whom he is charged with helping get government business.

The information was contained in 162 pages of "stipulations" agreed to by Dodd and the Senate ethics committee as the group opened the second round of hearings into charges of conflict of interest against him, and also that he pocketed campaign funds and double and triple charged for air fares.

The stipulations — statements of fact agreed to by lawyers for the committee and for Dodd — also included acknowledgement by Dodd of multiple billings for many trips he took.

He said last week that such billings had occurred but blamed it on alleged ineptness of one of his office employees, denying any deliberate intent to collect more than once for expenses.

The stipulations also contained agreement by lawyers for both sides that Dodd did not collect payments for 21 round trips between Washington and Connecticut that were due him.

These amounts for which he was said to be due payment, but had not collected from the Senate as travel allowance, would run $52 for an air trip and $87.50, plus highway tolls, for a car trip.

The committee traced $94,869.57 of testimonial gifts to an account which Dodd had opened with the Federation Bank and Trust Co. of New York under the name of Grace M. Dodd or Thomas J. Dodd.

It then showed that $9,479.40 was paid from the Federation account for improvements on Dodd's Stonington, Conn., home. In April and May, 1965, $4,900 was transferred by the senator to a bank account in the name of his son, Jeremy. (See Dodd, Page 3)

Switzerland Grants 3-Month Visa To Stalin's Defecting Daughter

BERN, Switzerland (UPI)—Switzerland has given a three-month tourist visa to Josef Stalin's daughter Svetlana who defected from the Soviet Union, government spokesmen said today. They said she asked for "complete seclusion" and has been given the "necessary protection."

Justice Minister Ludwig von Moos told newsmen Swiss federal police were guarding the 41-year-old Svetlana, whose request for U.S. asylum was refused on the reported grounds it might disturb crucial American-Soviet relations.

Svetlana flew into Switzerland from Rome Saturday after a flight from India where she had gone to bury the ashes of her late third husband, an Indian. She had previously been living in Moscow.

Von Moos said Svetlana wanted asylum in the United States but this was "not possible."

She then decided to come here and "American authorities" got in touch with the Swiss government.

In Washington Sunday, U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said, "we did not actually get to the question of whether she be accorded political asylum in this country. She is a private citizen of another country, in Switzerland, and I do not think it is up to me to complicate her life by any comment I might make."

Von Moos' statement she applied for U.S. asylum was the first official confirmation of it.

The justice minister said Svetlana wants to rest in Switzerland "for several weeks" although she signed an application for a three-month visa.

"She is a free person. If she wishes to leave Switzerland she can go where she wants and if Soviet authorities wish to contact her, they will be allowed to do so — providing she so wishes," Con-Moos said.

DeGaulle Forces Blasted by Returns

PARIS (UPI)—A stunning French-dominated European Common Market.

In pre-election speeches De Gaulle said he would continue his policies no matter what happened.

What did happen must have been a bitter blow to the general who remained secluded in his Colombey country estate. Observers laid his near disaster to growing voter opposition to the general's "strongman" rule.

The Communists and the more moderate leftists formed the first successful leftist "united front" movement since 1936. After the first round of parliamentary elections March 5, they picked out only one candidate to run against each Gaullist man in Sunday runoffs. Their combined vote rose from 41 to 46 per cent from one Sunday to the next.

A big winner was an arch De Gaulle foe, Socialist former Premier Pierre Mendes-France, the man who yanked France out of Indochina and who is a likely candidate to succeed De Gaulle in 1972. He came out of the political wilderness after nine years and won election a "united front" movement since 1936.

The near defeat was not expected to change the proud general's policies. But it was going to make his "strongman" rule more difficult.

One of the Gaullists' 244 seats was the Corsican district of Bastia. De Gaulle's Interior Ministry "provisionally" awarded victory to the general's candidate there. But vote fraud charges, including a ballot box being hurled into the sea and another stuffed with 200 more ballots than the number of voters, set a recount.

Leftist federation leader Francois Mitterrand, whom De Gaulle defeated for a seven-year, presidential term two years ago, flew to Bastia for the recount.

Besides Bastia, Gaullist hopes for a formal parliamentary majority the next five years lay in Polynesia where French south seas voters poll next Sunday for a seat. Gaullists also said they expected to get the support of six or seven small party middle-of-the-road members.

The general's lieutenants had predicted massive victory. But four cabinet members including Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and Defense Minister Pierre Messmer were defeated.

However no one doubted De Gaulle will carry on as before—opposing U.S. Vietnam policy, being an odd-man-out ally, pressing for French nuclear arms might and remaining cool to British membership in the

Gray County Commission OKs Payment

Gray County commissioners this morning approved payment of $3,958 to Southwestern Public Service for moving utility lines on Highway 60 west of Pampa and $9,370 to the Texas Pipeline Co. for moving pipe lines on Highway 60.

Commissioners gave final approval to the First National Bank as a depository for county and school funds.

Newt Secret and Fred Thompson, representatives of the Great Western Life Insurance Co. attended this morning's session to request consideration for the county employees' independent coverage now under consideration by the court.

A special meeting has been called for 2 p.m. Thursday to open bids for two two-ton trucks for Precinct 2.

Main business this morning was payment of bills for county operation. Included was one bill for welding in the amount of $770 to repair the county jail door, where a "break" thwarted by County Sheriff Rufe Jordan, was attempted by Tom R. Vessels, Zane Leonard Evans, Terry Nichols and Charles R. Blumerich.

Senate Committee Nears Completion Of New Budget Bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The Senate Finance Committee was expected to complete work today on a state budget that would require far less taxes than Gov. John Connally's budget.

A legislative leader said the Senate appropriations bill would be only $9 million above expected 1968-69 revenues. Connally's budget would require $187 million in new taxes.

The source said the Senate might act on the spending measure before the week is out.

Also before the Senate this week are the local option city sales tax and legislation that would have the effect of ending Sunday operations of discount stores.

The city sales tax, already passed by the House, is due for a Senate vote Wednesday. Mayors who support the bill say Lt. Gov. Preston Smith promised them the bill would come up without the need for a two-thirds vote to suspend rules.

If proponents can avoid a vote requiring two-thirds, prospects for passage are considered good.

The Sunday closing law also has passed the House. It eliminates the "emergency clause" in the present Sunday closing law. That clause permits Sunday sales if the buyer signs a certificate proclaiming his purchase an "emergency."

The week's committee schedule is one of the heaviest of the session.

Rep. Gene Fondren's bill to require re-registration of voters every year is set for hearing Monday night.

Tuesday afternoon the House Tax Committee will hear Connally's proposal to raise the state gasoline tax from 5 to 6 cents a gallon. Plenty of opposition is expected.

Johnson Meets With Advisers To Prepare for Talk
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson meets with key diplomatic and military advisers today in preparation for the forthcoming Vietnam strategy talks on the Pacific island of Guam.

The Chief Executive, who returned Sunday night from a quiet weekend at Camp David, scheduled a White House luncheon session with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, Walt W. Rostow, presidential adviser on national security affairs, and Press Secretary George Christian.

All are to accompany Johnson to Guam this weekend for the talks with Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. military commander in Vietnam, and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

The Guam conference was scheduled for last week but was postponed because of a typhoon. (See JOHNSON, Page 3)

Meredith Withdraws From Election Race With Powell
NEW YORK (UPI)—James Meredith, suddenly and without explanation today, withdrew from the special congressional election against Adam Clayton Powell.

Meredith's announcement was as startling as his entrance last Tuesday into the race for the House seat Powell has held with just token opposition for 23 years. Powell, a Democrat, last month was excluded from the House by vote of its members for alleged misdeeds in office.

Meredith, who braved savage racial violence to become the first Negro to enroll at the University of Mississippi, refused to say why he suddenly withdrew as a Republican party candidate.

He admitted a UPI reporter to his apartment after making the terse post-midnight announcement but said little else. Pressed for a reason, Meredith smiled wanly and said: "Sometimes you have to make decisions." His voice trailed off and he resumed reading a newspaper spread on his dining room table.

After expressing initial shock at Meredith's entry onto the Harlem political scene, Negro civil rights leaders criticized his decision to oppose Powell, who

GOP Leader Has Suggestion For Powell Penalty

By GEORGE J. MARDER
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford suggests that the House seat Adam Clayton Powell if the Harlem Democrat is re-elected in a special election April 11, but then fine him $40,000, censure him, and remove his seniority.

Such action would have the House back-pedal on the exclusion of Powell which it voted, 307 to 116, on March 1st. But it would avoid an historic wrangle with the federal courts to which Powell has taken his case, charging that the House trampled on 14 provisions of the Constitution.

Ford told UPI that the Republican Congressional Committee would help finance the campaign of James Meredith against Powell to the limit of its financial resources, because of the importance of the special election called by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to fill the vacancy created when the House refused to seat Powell.

However, if the Harlem voters sent Powell back with the new election credentials, Ford said, he would hope that the House would reconsider its exclusion of the ousted chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee and "perhaps adopt the recommendations of the select committee" which provided that Powell be punished but seated.

It would mean that after taking the oath, Powell would be publicly censured by speaker John McCormack (D-Mass.) in a ceremony much like a court martial.

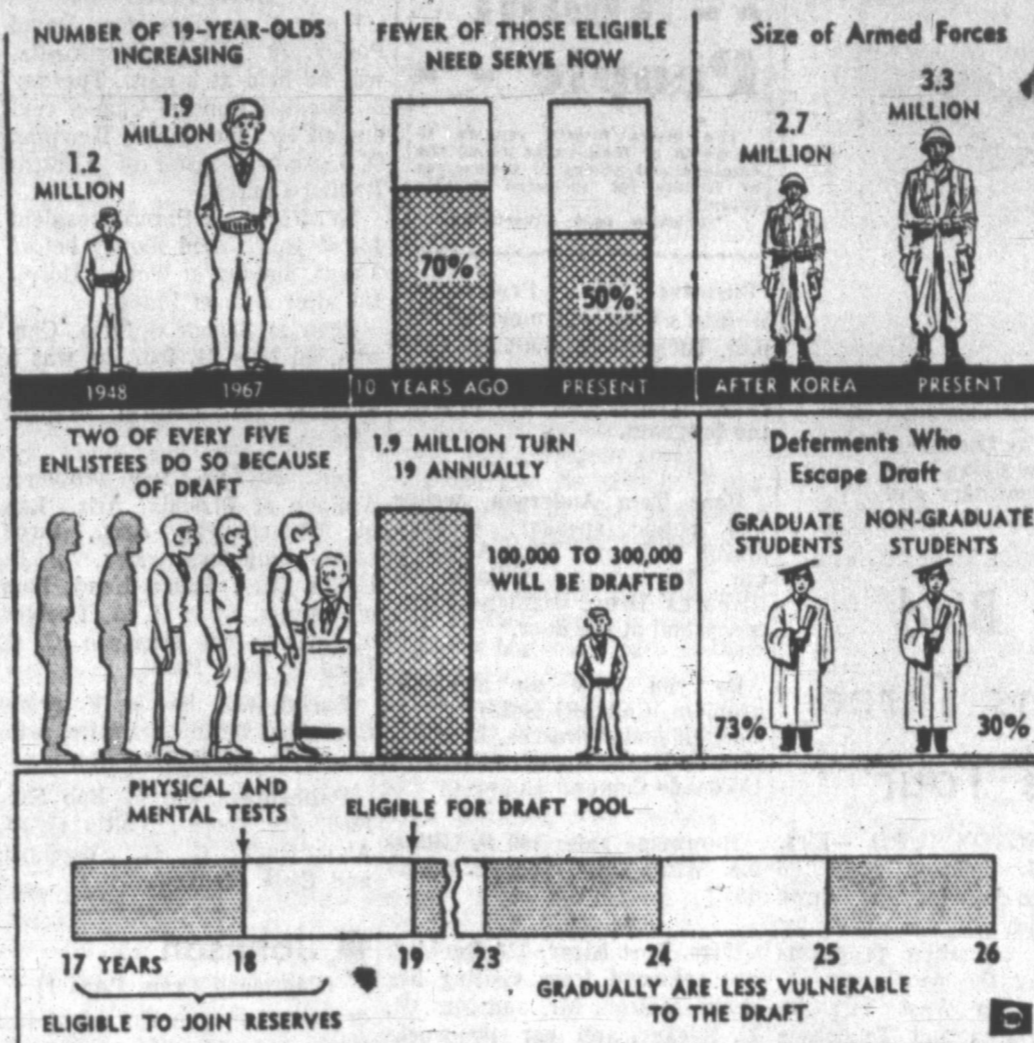

Ford acknowledged that the resolution excluding Powell specified that he should be kept out for the entire 90th Congress which expires January 3, 1969. However, the Michigan congressman said, "what the House does one day, it can always reconsider on a subsequent date."

But, he added, he would hope that "under no circumstances would the House let Mr. Powell get off scott free."

While refusing to predict what the House might do after the April 11th election, Ford expressed the belief that the seating and punishment procedure... which he supported... was "preferable" to exclusion.

Ford called upon the courts to exercise restraint and refuse to consider the Powell case. He denied that it was comparable to the situation in Georgia where the state House of Representatives refused to seat a Negro because of statements sympathizing with draft card burners. The Supreme Court did hear that case and ordered the Negro, Julian Bond, seated on the ground that his Constitutionally right to free speech was violated by the Georgia house.

New Plan for Selective Service

A presidential message to Congress in which new draft proposals were outlined shed new light on some old facts about selective service, including who actually serves and how much manpower is available. It also outlines a new plan of selection, as depicted in the bottom chart above, in which youths would become draft-eligible by lottery at the age of 19. After that until age 26 they would be gradually less subject to call.

'Axis Sally' Now Living Good Life

By HELENE ANNE SPICER
United Press International
COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—She is 66 years old, has the poise of an actress, and teaches music in a boarding school for girls interested in entering the religious life.

Her name is Mildred Gillars and her voice probably would be recognized by thousands of middle-aged Americans.

During World War II, she broadcast propaganda for the Axis. The GIs called her Axis Sally.

"Who am I to talk about war?" she asked. "No one would be interested in what I have to say."

But she still maintains—as she has since her 1949 trial—that she never used the name Axis Sally on the air.

"I never called myself that," she said. "The GIs made up that name."

Protested Rome's Sally
She said many statements attributed to her were actually made by a girl who called herself Axis Sally and broadcast from Rome.

However, her half-sister, Mrs. from Rome.

"I protested bitterly to the German Foreign Office to have her taken off the air," Miss Gillars said.

Miss Gillars was charged with 10 counts of treason, but convicted of only one. Now, seven years after serving a long prison term for treason, she has found some measurement of peace and contentment.

"There is no doubt in my mind that I received an unfair trial. It all happened so long ago," she mused while sitting in a simply furnished living room in the convent.

When she entered the room she walked very much like the actress she started out to be. She was dressed simply, wore just a touch of makeup, and her gray, upswept hair was kept in place with a comb. It was after a try at Broadway in the 1930's that she went to Europe.

A Good Influence
Miss Gillars, who attended Ohio Wesleyan College, served 10 years in the federal women's reformatory at Alderson, W.

Va., where she became a Catholic.

"Our sisters did some social work at Alderson," the school's principal explained.

Miss Gillars, who has not taken vows but lives on the school premises, is "an excellent teacher" and "definitely a good influence" on her pupils, the principal said.

Miss Gillars who asked that no pictures be taken of her and that the name of the school not be mentioned, declined to go into any further details either about her trial or her life. However, her half-sister, Mrs. E. E. Nieminen, did elaborate somewhat.

"She called herself Midge at the time," the Ashtabula, Ohio woman said, adding that Miss Gillars' attorney received dozens of letters, telephone calls, and telegrams from people willing to testify that she didn't aid and abet the enemy. She is convinced her half-sister did not receive a fair trial.

But those events took place long ago. A diocesan spokesman says of her now, "She has been living a very productive life since she came here."

Crazy Happenings At Washington Continue

By LEON BURNETT
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Odds and ends from the nation's capital—mostly odd:

The news release reported somewhat plaintively that Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey "was exposed today to a GOP brand of humor that he didn't find very funny."

"Mr. Bailey fired off a telegram to his Republican counterpart, Ray Bliss, to let him know that he wasn't laughing."

What wasn't he laughing about?

"Republicans on capitol hill were planning a mailing that made 'many happy returns' to the U.S. taxpayer and advised that the deadline for filing income tax returns should be known as 'April Fools' Day."

"The Democratic chairman got in his first licks by charging that the GOP was guilty of looking backward since they had mistakenly referred to last year's deadline of April 15th instead of the newly announced deadline for 1967, which is April 17."

Bailey, meanwhile, was told in a letter from Republican Sen. Gordon Allot of Colorado:

"Presiding over a party with so many different divisions and factions must be difficult. You have my sympathy. However, let me assure you that your letter, requesting that I contribute funds to the Democratic party was misdirected."

Wayward Words
House Republican Leader Gerald Ford distributed copies of a speech he was to make in Binghamton, N.Y., which started off:

"In Washington, ladies and gentlemen, there is a hint of spring in the air."

Stapled to the text was a note:

"Delivered over the telephone and not in person because of adverse flying conditions."

Baby Business
Rep. Nick Galifianakis, D-N.C., and his wife were so resigned to the probability of having a third daughter, that they picked out the name Elizabeth ahead of time.

The baby was born in Durham, N.C., and immediately afterward the father related:

"The f at nurse I saw said, 'I told you it was going to be a girl.' The second nurse said, 'I don't know what it is.' The doctor said, 'ask your wife.'"

REMEMBER THIS

If you work for a man, in Heaven's name, WORK for him. If he pays you wages which supply you bread and butter, work for him; speak well of him; stand by him and stand by the institution he represents. If put to a pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness. If you must vilify, condemn and eternally disparage... resign your position, and when you are outside, damn to your heart's content, but as long as you are a part of the institution, do not condemn it. If you do that, you are loosening the tendrils that are holding you to the institution, and at the first high wind that comes along, you will be uprooted and blown away, and probably will never know the reason why. — Elbert Hubbard

Britain's woes:
British Prime Minister Harold Wilson already has troubles with membership in his own Labor Party over his austerity program. British membership within the European Common Market might give him a big temporary boost. But here also he is in trouble. Paris diplomats are increasingly convinced French President Charles de Gaulle will cold-shoulder any formal British bid. De Gaulle is said to be unconvinced Wilson would accept the Common Market setup as it is—particularly the agricultural regulations which it took "the six" many months to work out. Without such unconditional acceptance, De Gaulle's reply is thought certain to be "no dice" again.

Side-by-side but:
Although France has withdrawn militarily from the Atlantic Alliance (NATO), the French flag will be hoisted along with those of other NATO countries when Nato's Supreme Allied Headquarters (SHAPE) moves March 30-31 from near Paris to Mons in Belgium. Officials say this is because France is still a political member of the alliance. But no decision has been reached about whether to fly the French tricolor after the opening ceremony.

Accent on youth:
De Gaulle, already virtually certain of a majority in the new French parliament, is likely to reshuffle his cabinet to put new accent on youth and "social progress." Among those considered certain to remain are Premier Georges Pompidou, once thought to be on the skids, and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Changed line in Hanoi:
Diplomatic observers in Moscow are not ready to accept western speculation that the Kremlin has changed its line and is trying to exert more influence over Hanoi. The belief is that Hanoi may have changed its own approach somewhat and now might be asking the Russians to act as honest brokers to arrange talks. And when Soviet leaders, as Kosygin did in London, try to persuade the Americans to stop the bombing of North Vietnam, they do it only at Hanoi's bid.

Friends for Moscow:
Look for an increasingly intensive Soviet campaign to isolate Red China from world Communism. Speeches by Soviet leaders have taken a progressively sharper line, appealing to Chinese Communists to overthrow Mao Tse-tung. The Russians also have been busy trying to persuade some of their reluctant allies to approve a world meeting of Communist reluctant allies to approve a world meeting of Communist parties to outlaw Peking.

New Legislators Do A Lot of Wondering

Last week was a very interesting one. The Committee hearings are now getting into the major bills. The big rush of bills should slow down now. We have had around 900 and the Senate something over 400. After the first 60 days it takes a 4-5 vote to get permission to introduce bills.

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
The late President John F. Kennedy and President Johnson set a high standard of spending since taking over from the Republicans in January 1961. Now Johnson has obtained from Congress a $6 billion increase in the national debt limit to a new top of $326 billion.

The Johnson administration soon will be back requesting another increase and a spineless Congress will go along as usual. This is a tough break for the American people because sometime someone will be compelled to pay up on the national debt now being accumulated by big spending and short sighted politicians.

The Kennedy-Johnson administration took over on Jan. 20, 1961. JFK began then to shuffle the 1961 fiscal year spending program to spread the wealth wider toward the new horizons. He had been in office five months when fiscal 1961 ended on June 30 of that year. The national debt at that time was $286.6 billion.

The public debt today is about $330 billion and continuing to rise at an increasing annual rate. The annual increase since Kennedy and Johnson took over in 1961 has averaged approximately $7.2 billion. LBJ has budgeted for a $9.7 billion deficit in the current (1967) fiscal year and to overspend by $8.1 in fiscal 1968.

Some critics complain that even these deficit figures do not do justice to the scope of Johnson's plans to spend beyond income. As a matter of realistic politics it must be assumed by the voters that these deficit figures were intended to make LBJ's administration of government look good or, anyway, better than it might appear otherwise.

The average joe citizen with a wife and kids and a job would have it made if he could spend indefinitely each day, week or year a sum greatly in excess of his income for a like period. The average joe cannot get away with any such program as that, but U.S. presidents and Congresses can and do get away with it.

The difference is that the butcher, the banks and other business establishments would need only a few weeks or months to discover that the average joe was overspending. The butcher, the banker and the others would deal with joe instantly. With a great nation many years of irresponsible overspending are required to establish that nation as a bad credit risk.

On the certainty of such delay the politicians base their irresponsible policies of getting into and out of office before the storm breaks. Otherwise they couldn't care less although they are leading the nation toward disaster as surely as Hitler pipped Germany over the brink.

To overspend and borrow has become a way of life for U.S. politicians. Sometimes they talk about economy but rarely do they do anything about it. Responsibility for disgraceful and deliberate spend-and-borrow policies is divided between Congress and the White House. It is such division that confuses the hump backed taxpayers and enables the big spending politicians to get away with their dance toward disaster.

The sad tale is best told in a few figures: FDR spent $7.7 billion in fiscal 1937; HST spend $38.9 in fiscal 1947; Eisenhower spending was up to $68.9 billion in 1957; LBJ will spend about $126.7 billion in the current (1967) fiscal year.

Like tuberculosis and alcoholism, the spending disease is progressive and usually ultimately fatal.

County and district shows are held earlier in the year to determine the participants in the state show. It is sponsored this year by the Odessa Chamber of Commerce, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation.

Castro Auction Sale Is Bombed

MONTREAL (UPI)—Cuban refugees exploded a plastic bomb Saturday outside an auction house where an estimated $200,000 in goods confiscated by the Castro government were being sold. One man was injured as he tried to throw water on the burning wick which detonated the cigar box bomb. He was hurled 15 feet by the blast but his injuries were not believed serious.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—No one ever gave me a finer present than the record album of Beethoven's nine symphonies as conducted by Arturo Toscanini. The union of their genius is like a handclasp atop Mt. Olympus.

This is the 100th anniversary year of the late conductor's birth, and Sunday evening NBC-TV's "Telephone Hour" presented a tribute to him, including films of his telecasts, interviews with musicians who worked with him, home movies and still photographs. It was altogether fitting that the tribute should have been offered by NBC-TV, for it was his 17 years as conductor of the NBC Symphony Orchestra formed especially for him—that resulted, primarily through radio, in the spreading of symphonic music to the American public as probably never before. The album I mentioned above was, of course, recorded with the NBC Symphony.

The concise, pointed and excellent script for Sunday evening's hour was written by Harold C. Schonberg, music critic of the New York Times, who was also the narrator and on-camera interviewer. And the program quickly established the theme concerning the essential Toscanini: "He represented a force of nature." He had the ability to effect a burning focus, to get to the elementals of the music he conducted, and to strip away all irrelevancies. He tried to have the music performed as the composer would have wanted. "To Toscanini the notes were enough."

He was, of course, a personal genius of immense creativity within his framework. He was a musical architect rather than a professional romantic who found messages between the notes. In this there was a natural camaraderie with Beethoven, which is why the recordings of the symphonies are simply perfection. Like Beethoven, his outlook was aristocratic, not

Chisox Scoring and Winning

By United Press International
It may have taken a while, but apparently the Chicago White Sox are finally learning there's something useful you can do when you're not in the field—hit.

Long time cream puffs at the plate and dead last in batting in the American League last season, the Sox pounded eight runs on nine hits Sunday to beat Cincinnati 8-5 and become the only club in baseball besides Detroit to tow a 3-0 exhibition record.

The Tigers slammed Minnesota 10-3, while Atlanta, Pittsburgh and the New York all upped their records to 2-0. The Braves beat the Dodgers 4-2, the Pirates topped Philadelphia 6-4 and the Mets shellacked St. Louis 7-1.

The White Sox led only 20 going into the fifth but then began to show their new-found offensive talents in rapid order. Back-to-back singles by Lee Elia and Tom McCraw led to a run in the fifth, Pete Ward delivered his second hit of the day to score in the sixth and three hits, including a double by Buddy Bradford, resulted in four more runs in the eighth.

Detroit cracked four homers Sunday, including the second in three games by Jim Northrup and Jake Wood, to increase the team's spring total to nine, more than twice as many as any other club in the majors.

Atlanta used Cleve Boyer's third hit of the game to break a 2-2 seventh inning tie and defeat the Dodgers for the second day. The Pirates combined a 12-hit attack and six innings of shutout pitching by Bob Veale and Billy Short in their win over the Phillies. The Mets rapped out 15 hits, including three singles by Bart Shirley and a pair of doubles by Don Bosch, for their second win in two days over the Cards.

Baltimore scored for five runs in the first three innings off Mel Stottlemyre and went on to a 7-2 victory over the Yankees. In the day's only extra inning affair, rookie outfielder Dick Billings singled in a 10th inning run to give the Washington Senators a 4-3 victory over the Houston Astros in a 3 hour 15 minute game that saw 18 strikeouts and 9 walks.

First Combined Pro Draft Ready

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first combined collegian draft by the National and American Football Leagues — the main reason behind the leagues' merger — finally started Tuesday after months of delay, indecision and complication.

Although the Super Bowl last Jan. 15 was the result of the merger that interested the fans most, the real reason for the merger was to start a common draft which would end the price war for collegians.

The huge bonuses, which turned Joe Namath from just another good quarterback with a gimpy knee into a celebrated star and made Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski wealthy young businessmen, are now a thing of the past. The top picks may receive $100,000 bonuses but the ones of more than half-million dollars are now passe.

The draft would be held in late November but once the leagues agreed to merge, they pushed it back to January after the gowl games. It was then delayed another two months while the clubs wrangled over drafting redshirts.

The AFL wanted to continue its practice of having a separate redshirt draft and most of the NFL teams favored that method. But Green-Bay Coach Vince Lombardi, who has stocked seven extra choices by trading players for draft picks, wanted to continue to the NFL procedure of drafting redshirts along with the graduated players. That's how Lombardi got Donny Anderson.

But they finally compromised by agreeing not to draft redshirts. In the past, a player could be drafted once his original class had graduated. Now a player can't be drafted until his eligibility is used up.

Baltimore Picks First
Now that those details are cleared up, the draft starts at New York hotel Tuesday with Baltimore and Minnesota making the first two picks and

Injured Hand Hurt Randy

LAREDO (UPI) — The 35th Border Olympics proved that Texas Southern has no peer in Texas track and field circles and that the Rice Owls are definitely the team to beat in the Southwest Conference race. The meet produced eight new overall records, four of them by Texas Southern and two by Rice and one each by Texas A&M's world champion shot putter Randy Matson and Texas pole vaulter Mark King. Matson, however, was a major casualty of the meet and reinjured his throwing hand to such a degree that he will forego practice much of this week and have to pass up the West Texas Relays at Odessa next Saturday.

Sets Meet Record
Matson got off a meet record toss of 67 feet 11 1/2 inches, well under his world record of 70 7/8, which a large crowd gathered to see broken, before he hurt his fingers on the third throw and scratched. He tried three other times, for the crowd, but scratched on two of them and was well short on the one good one.

Texas Southern's Jim Hines, voted the meet's outstanding performer, collected two of the meet records with 9.3 and 20.5 blockings in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. He also ran on both winning relay teams as Texas Southern piled up 113 points to Texas A-I's runner-up 41 points. The Tigers' Arnold Bristol lowered the 120-yard high hurdles mark to 13.9 and teammate John Hartfield raised the high jump standard to 7 feet 1 inch.

The other two marks came from the flying heels of Rice's sprinters. Conley Brown, the sterling sophomore, got one with his 46.5 time in the quarter mile and he anchored the mile relay team that got the other one with a sterling 3:10.8 clocking.

Aggies Finish Fourth
Rice piled up 63 points to Houston's 45 and Baylor's 42, while defending champion Texas A-M was a distant fourth with 31. Texas Southern's triumph was its eighth in a row here. In the meet's other two divisions, Odessa Junior College pulled a surprise to dethrone Howard County and San Antonio Highlands easily rang up its fourth successive schoolboy title. Eleven new records were posted in these divisions.

The best was Highlands' 41.3 sprint relay, just one-tenth of a second off the national schoolboy mark held by Texas City, Highlands' Herb Ellison also tied the division's oldest records, a 9.6 100-yard dash which has stood since Olympian Bobby Morrow set it in 1954.

Spring Branch Memorial ran a fine 3:18.5 record mile relay Dave Morton, who also posted a record 1:50.2 half mile individually.

Robert Gonzales of Fairfurnas, the state's premier schoolboy miler, had no competition, but managed to lower his own mile record to 4:14.2, well below his all-time best of 4:08.

IN NCAA REGIONALS

UCLA Eyes Wyoming

By United Press International
It's UCLA against the field as the other 15 survivors in the NCAA college basketball tournament attempt to prevent the Bruins from winning their third national title in the last four seasons.

That's the story of the 1967 tournament which resumes Friday night in College Park, Md., Evanston, Ill., Lawrence, Kan. and Corvallis, Ore., after the seven first-round games Saturday cut the field from 23 to 16 clubs.

All the speculation about the tourney begins and ends with UCLA, which is 26-0 and meets upstart Wyoming at Corvallis Friday night. The Bruins will probably then play defending national champion Texas Western, which meets the University of Pacific Friday night, on Saturday night.

While the Bruins are unbeaten, they are still virtually untested—and they are certainly not unbeatable.

UCLA's splendid record has obscured two main facts. The Bruins have faced none of the teams in the final top 10 and they are still a young team with four sophomores starting—even though one of them is Lew Alcindor.

Rivals Lack Veterans
The Bruins are helped by the fact that their top rival, No. 2 Louisville, is also a young team with its top two stars, Wes Unseld and Butch Beard, both back next year. Also, Texas Western has lost four of the seven players who won last year's NCAA title game.

This is how the pairings look on Friday night:
East regional at College Park, Md.: North Carolina vs. Princeton and St. John's vs. Boston College.

Midwest regional at Evanston, Ill.: Dayton vs. Tennessee and Virginia Tech vs. Indiana.

Midwest regional at Lawrence, Kan.: Louisville vs. SMU and Kansas vs. Houston.

Far West regional at Corvallis, Ore.: UCLA vs. Wyoming and Texas Western vs. University of Pacific.

While the NCAA field was cut to 16 teams Saturday, the National Invitation Tournament field was sliced to eight.

It'll be Duke vs. Southern Illinois and Nebraska vs. Marshall tonight and it'll be Providence vs. Marquette and New Mexico vs. Rutgers on Tuesday night.

In the seven first-round NCAA games, five followed form as Boston College beat Connecticut, 48-42, Princeton topped West Virginia, 68-57, St. John's nipped Temple, 57-53, Houston topped New Mexico State, 59-58, and Texas Western whipped Seattle 62-54.

But there were also two upsets as seventh-ranked Western Kentucky, hampered by Clem Haskins' sprained wrist lost to Dayton 69-67 in overtime

Indiana, Wyoming and North Carolina also earned the final three NCAA berths in different types of action.

Indiana beat Purdue, 95-82, to gain a share of the Big Ten crown with Michigan State and earn the bid since MSU's last trip was more recent than Indiana's Wyoming upset Brigham Young in a playoff for the Western Athletic Conference crown 70-63 to earn the dubious honor of opening against UCLA. North Carolina whipped Duke in the finals of the Atlantic Coast Conference tourney 82-73 to gain the NCAA bid and leave Duke with an NIT bid.

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Florida Boros won the $115,000 Florida Citrus Open Golf Tournament with 72-hole total of 275.

Boros Finds Touch Again

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Don't let Julius Boros' age mislead you; the two-time U.S. Open champ still swings a mean club on the golf course.

Boros, 47-year-old father of seven, showed the youngsters a thing or two Sunday when he won the $115,000 Florida Citrus Open. It was his second win of the year (he also won at Phoenix) and moved him into the No. 2 spot behind Arnold Palmer on this year's money list.

Opening the final round in a three-way tie with Dean Refram and Kermit Zarley, Boros quickly moved into the lead and held on for a one-stroke victory over Palmer and Canadian George Knudson that was worth $23,000.

That gave him $44,595 so far this year, second only to the $52,292 accumulated by Palmer, who got $11,212 for his second place tie.

"I don't intend to gamble," Boros had said at the end of Saturday's round. When two great shots, on No. 6 and No. 7, gave him a three-stroke lead over the field Sunday, he "kept looking at the score board and kept trying to make pars."

Boros missed the green at No. 6 but chipped the ball into the cup from 100 feet out. That fired him up, so he sank a 30-foot putt on No. 7 for another birdie.

Boros held that three-stroke lead until No. 18 where he suffered a pogy while Palmer and Knudson were getting birdie to shave the final margin to that single stroke.

Boros had a 1-under-par 70 over the sun-baked Rio Pinar course Sunday for a 72-hole total of 10-under-par 274. Knudson, the Canada Cup champion, had a 66 Sunday and Palmer, who also has won two tournaments this year (Los Angeles and Tucson), had a 68 for their tie at 275. The croquet putting refram was alone in fourth at 72-276 and Zarley and Mason Rudolph were another stroke back at 277.

Jack Nicklaus had a 69 Sunday and finished in a three-way tie at 278 with Bobby Nichols, who also had a 69, and Bert Yancey, who had a 71.

Harvesters Journey to Borger in Quest of No. 5

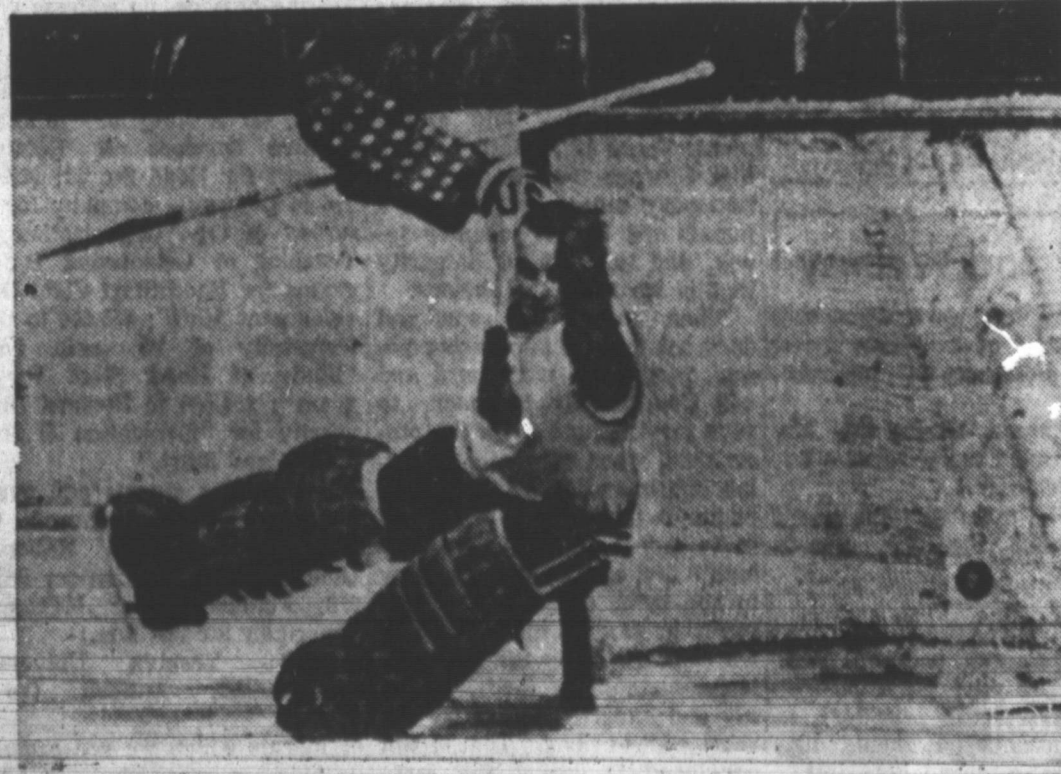

Pampa High School's baseball team journeys to Borger for a 4 p.m. Tuesday game in quest of their fifth victory in as many outings in pre-conference play. The Harvesters own an opening game, 5-0 victory over the Bulldogs. Dickie Henley is scheduled to hurl for the Harvesters.

Pampa's golf team enters the second round of district action Saturday at Plainview. The golfers are in fifth place after Friday's first round of competition at Lubbock.

The track team goes to Alice Friday for the annual Kimball Relays after finishing fifth last Saturday in the Dumas Invitational at Dumas.

Coach Bill Brown will take his PHS tennis team to Borger Wednesday for a duel meet with the Bulldogs. The Harvesters will be seeking their first duel win, having dropped their opener to Perryton last Thursday.

MISSING SOMETHING is Denis DeJordy of the Chicago Black Hawks who was just a bit out of position to stop this shot. But it was a good try.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Unemployment, Crime, War

Slowly but surely, a growing number of people are beginning to realize that the political-bureaucratic sector is not really interested in solving problems but rather in creating and perpetuating them while, at the same time, via contrived hustle and bustle managing to leave the impression of great activity and getting the job done.

Really, there is nothing surprising about it all; it is merely government acting true to its nature and expanding in accordance with Parkinson's Law, to consume the funds put at its disposal. Curtail the funds and government, of necessity, will shrink. It is as simple as that.

Three problem areas — all of which are either government created or to which it has been a primary contribution factor — in which the political-bureaucratic sector professes to be seeking solutions are unemployment, crime and war. There are others, many others, but these three will suffice to drive home our point.

Were unemployment eliminated tomorrow, there would be no excuse for further boondoggling government "employment agencies," wasteful and ineffective training programs and the swarms of make-work officials who administer them.

It is the same in the area of crime prevention. Were crime eliminated or appreciably reduced, it would become increasingly difficult to justify the growing expenditure of funds going to support the multiple agencies whose job, supposedly, it is to protect the citizenry from thug and thief. It is no mere accident that the growth of crime and the growth of government follow parallel courses. Their natures and methods of obtaining funds being alike, it would, indeed, be amazing were it otherwise the case.

And wars? How can government eliminate wars and bring about peace when the nature of perpetuating them while, at the same time, via contrived hustle and bustle managing to leave the impression of great activity and getting the job done.

Let us not be misunderstood. We do not mean to imply that there are not many sincere, good intentioned men and women holding government positions who are truly dedicated to wiping out unemployment, eliminating crime, and bringing about a true and lasting peace as well as solving other problems. Without a doubt, there are such people; many of them. Nevertheless, the very nature and drive of the system of political government itself will defeat their every effort. The nature of political government is to prey, spend, corrupt, expand and grow. More than 6,000 years of recorded history attests to the truth of the statement. The means being used are incapable of bringing about the ends we seek. Man, through the power of his mind, must find another way.

The answer we are utterly convinced, will be found in the market place.

Girl Scouts Mark Anniversary

In our youth-oriented world, a 55th birthday might be better left uncelebrated. Who wants to admit being more than 17-years-old these mod-mod-mod days?

Well, a 55th birthday is being celebrated in Pampa and all across the nation this week, not only with pride but with an eager anticipation of many more to come — the half-century-plus anniversary of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

There's been a long, long trail awinding from the 1912 era of the "middy-blouse" to that of the 1967 mini-skirt. Girl Scout hemlines aren't that far up, of course, nor are those of most young moderns. But the organization's mood is on-the-move — as it has been through each changing generation.

Consider the Girl Scouts' new triennial theme: "Values to Hold — Worlds to Explore." The values still are the solid values founder Juliette Gordon Low instilled in her original band of 12 girls: to seek and carry forth the highest ideals of character, conduct, patriotism and service. And the worlds to explore? — of home, community, nation, other cultures, other lands. But perhaps, more important, the worlds of Girl Scout values themselves.

There's a lot of questioning and questing going on among all of today's youngsters. Girl Scouts are no exception. And being more than three million strong they represent a mighty force among American youth. So when they explore yesterday's values in the light of today's needs, they may come up with some meaningful answers for all young people.

Can girls be Girl Scouts and still be with it? The girls and the two-third million adults, volunteers and professionals, who work with them believe they can. Pampa and the communities which encourage and support them believe they can. So do we.

And on this editorial birthday cake, we're lighting 55 candles for the Girl Scouts — plus one more to grow on.

Two Homes in Every

It's getting so that if someone invites you to visit his home, you'll do well to ask, "Which one?"

For two million families in the United States now own two homes and the number is increasing by 75,000 a year.

How come? Well, a second home can be a weekend or vacation recreational retreat — by the sea, by the lake, in the mountains.

Or it can assure year-round climate control — just leave the heat and live in the cool, and vice versa. It can provide new friends, new interests, break the monotony. And it's wonderful medicine for an itching foot.

Most two-homers live within easy distance of themselves — one home for the workaday life, and the other for the get-away-from-it-all days.

"These 'be-back-Monday' 'see you-again-next-summer' folks insist it doesn't cost as much to live both here and there as you might think.

If one of the two homes is strictly for recreational and "let's get-away-from-the-rat-race" purposes, it can be a mansion. The National Association of Home Builders predicts that by 1990 three out of four families in this country will be two-homers.

And every one of them with two yards to mow? Man, that's living!

Mrs. Black (the summer visitor to the milkman) — I do hope you keep your cows in pasture.

Mr. Gray (the milkman) — Yes, madam, of course we keep them in a pasture.

Mrs. Black (the summer visitor) — I'm so glad to hear that. I have been told that pasteurized milk is much the safest,

Lottery Plan Victim Of Complexity

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)—There is discussion of a lottery for selecting men for military service.

The first lottery of the World War II period was October 20, 1940. Each Selective Service local board shuffled its registration cards, then assigned each a serial or sequence number — 1, 2, 3.

Each local board then informed its state headquarters of the highest number it had assigned a registrant. This information was used by national headquarters to determine what numbers to include in the national lottery.

Then single numbers in capsules were brought from a U.S. Treasury vault, where they had been kept under guard.

The capsules were deposited in the "goldfish bowl" used in 1917. They were drawn, one at a time, by prominent officials and others.

Microfilm cameras recorded the sequence in which the numbers were selected. Another camera photographed sheets to which the serial numbers were attached as drawn.

The film was used to prepare plates for printing the official master list supplied local boards.

Using this national master list, local boards assigned each registrant an order number. The man whose serial number appeared nearest the top of the master list received order No. 1. He then became the first man to be classified by his local board as to liability for military service.

The second national lottery, July 17, 1941, applied to men who had turned 21 since the first registration. The new registrants were integrated with those of the first lottery as follows:

The order number of the last man inducted by a local board from the first registration (the "key number") was subtracted from the highest order number assigned under that registration prior to July 8, 1941. The remainder was divided by the largest sequence number given to a new registrant prior to midnight July 8.

This quotient was used to integrate the new registrants with the old. That is, assume a local board "key number" was 1,740. Assume also the largest order number assigned in the first registration was 4,329 and that 216 was the largest sequence number given registrants of the second registration. Subtracting 1,740 from 4,329 would leave 2,589. Dividing 2,589 by 216 would give 11.95 or 12. Twelve would be the quotient.

The new registrant assigned sequence order No. 1 as a result of the second national lottery would become No. 13 on the combined list (the integrated list which included registrants assigned order numbers in the first lottery). The next second-order man in order would become No. 26, and so on.

The third national lottery was held March 17, 1942, for men of the third group to register. A third national master list, worked out by the same lottery process, was used by local boards to assign order numbers. Integration of these men into the old lists wasn't attempted.

The fourth registration, April 27, 1942, applied to men 45 through 64. These men were not liable for military service and therefore were not given order numbers.

The fifth registration involved 2 million men between 18 and 20. With 25 million liable men registered, Selective Service took stock of its procedures. The lottery system had become so complicated, officials decided that from then on order numbers would be based on date of birth and not lot.

Wit and Whimsy

Two women were discussing the merits of a certain movie star's monumental measurements.

One woman, tossing the statistics around in her mind a bit, said dejectedly,

Lora — I just found out what's wrong with me — I'm upside down!

Judge Black — Have you anything to say before I pass sentence on you?

Mr. Brown (the prisoner) — Yes, your honor, I should like you to have your lunch first, and then we can discuss the reasons for the disintegration

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KERSHNER

Money and Morality

Some idea of the progress that has been made under capitalism can be gained from the fact that a pound of bacon can be purchased today with an average of 17 minutes' work by the typical factory employe, compared with 65 minutes a generation ago. Twenty-six minutes' work today will buy a pound of round steak, compared with 56 minutes fifty years ago. More than 10 hours of work by the average factory worker was required fifty years ago to purchase a pair of shoes. Today half that much labor will buy a comparable pair of shoes. This advance of real wages is largely due to the fact that increasing amounts of capital have been expended to purchase more efficient equipment. The savers who have accumulated the necessary capital deserve part of the gain that has been made.

Forty-five years ago the average family spent about 40 percent of its income for food. This percentage declined to 34.5 percent during the mid '30's and continued downward to 28.2 percent in the early '60's. Housewives are rightly concerned with rising food prices but they nevertheless are spending a much smaller part of the family income for food than they were 45 years ago. They are also spending a smaller portion of the family income for clothing and shelter than they were obliged to spend 45 years ago. This makes it possible for the family to have a larger portion of its income for health, cultural and recreational activities.

Unfortunately, material success has been accompanied by much evidence of moral crumbling. Today there is one divorce for every four marriages. Fifty years ago the ratio was one in ten. Today 7 per cent of all live-births are illegitimate, as compared with 2 per cent fifty years ago. Crime and juvenile delinquency are increasing at even more rapid rates. It is a curious fact that throughout history periods of unsound money have been periods of moral disintegration, whereas periods of sound, trusted money that did not lose its purchasing power, have been periods of moral advance and attainment. There is a close connection between the dishonest, inflationary money fostered and maintained by our country today, and the loss of integrity that is becoming so obvious.

When money is sound and does not lose its purchasing power, people will work hard and will live thriftily in order to save for the future. On the other hand, when they see the value of money depreciating, they begin to think there is nothing to be gained by living economically and saving dollars, only to see them depreciate. They begin to say to themselves, if we cannot win by the old-fashioned methods of thrift, economy and integrity, let us try the short cuts to riches. That I am convinced is one of the main reasons for the disintegration

OEO Spending Millions for Self-Examination—Congress Wants to Know What the Money's Buying

By ROBERT ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Anti-poverty director Sargent Shriver and his lieutenants are spending millions trying to find out what is wrong with the widely controversial program — apparently with few tangible results. According to the latest available official figures, as of June 30, 1966, the Office of Economic Opportunity, which administers the anti-poverty program, had spent $7,788,365 on scores of studies analyses, assessments, inquiries and various other surveys — none of which appear to get at the real problems of poverty, such as training the unemployed and providing jobs for them.

This $7,788,365 expenditure was out of approximately $2.3 billion voted by Congress for OEO up to that date. Illustrative of these projects are the following:

$183,666 to West Virginia University for an "Evaluation of the Community Action Program (CAP) for McDowell County"; $200,378 to the University of Kentucky for an "Evaluation of CAP"; $106,670 to International Research Assn., no address, for an "Evaluation of Programs for Migrant Farm Workers"; $40,000 to Kirschner Associates, no address, for an "Evaluation of Small Business Development Centers"; $19,626 to Surveys & Research Corp., no address, for "Study on Improving Role of Banks in Poverty Program";

HUNT FOR TRUTH

By H. L. HUNT

U. S. COMMUNISTS AND VIETNAM
Opposition to the war in Vietnam is a vital element in the communist party line. It is not surprising that the national committee of the Communist Party, USA, has developed a program for exploiting the conflict and weakening public support in America for resistance to the Viet Cong.

The first part of the program calls for collaboration with pacifist, student, church and other groups to stage "mass demonstrations" against the Vietnam war. Communists have no compunction about perverting and exploiting the misguided idealism of such groups.

The second part of the communist plot for agitating the war issue is to keep up a heavy propaganda barrage with respect to the three army privates who were court-martialed on charges of refusing to obey orders to go to Vietnam. The plan, according to the communist leadership, is to "seek to develop a mass crusade against the army for convicting the three men, and the United States, for being involved in Vietnam."

The third part of the program is a plan for American communists to join with pacifists and others to promote a third party "peace candidate" in the 1968 presidential race.

This program was formally agreed on at a recent meeting in New York City of the U.S. communist party's national committee. The meeting was run by Gus Hall, general secretary and boss of the American communist party. Hall had returned a short time before from a three-month visit to Russia and other communist countries. On this trip he no doubt received his orders about the war in Vietnam. He lost no time in carrying them out.

a "Review & Evaluation of Current Status of Welfare Operations"; $22,000 to the University of Florida for an "Evaluation of Effects of Unique Sequential Learning Program"; $89,897, to Bio-Dynamics, Inc., no address, for an "Analysis of Enroute Applicant Health Level"; $124,251, to Louisiana State University for an "Evaluation of VISTA Programs"; $46,000 to Computer Usage, no address, for an "OEO Communications Analysis Study"; $5,500 to the University of Nevada for a "Social Psychological Analysis of Transition from Home to School"; $341,308 to TRACOR, Inc., no address, for a "Study & Evaluation of CAP in Austin, Tex."

BAFFLEGAB — One ornate report obtained by members of the House Labor & Education Committee, on an $82,522 "Analysis of Alternative Hypothetical Urban CAPs," has left them completely mystified. It's a conglomeration of unintelligible jargon, baffling references and citations, incomprehensible tables, charts, formulas and graphs, and pages and pages of mathematical equations — which would take an Einstein to fathom. Of the approximate 50 pages of the report, about the size of a telephone book, more than half consist of these bewildering hieroglyphics.

Graphically illustrative of the perplexing nature of this document are the "General Conclusion":

"The small area model's forecast of employment and the distribution of this employment among the occupational classes is certainly one area in which improvement is required. At present, basic employment is taken as exogenous input by the small area model. It then generates the households necessary to support this amount of basic employment. Then it generates the non-basic employment to provide goods and services to these households and the households to provide these additional employees."

"In conclusion, it should be noted that the SCANCAP system has been extensively modified and greatly improved. . . . SCANCAP is beginning to stimulate an urban community in a realistic way. It can be made into a useful tool for comparative program analysis in the near future."

Maybe so, but there is no sign it has done so — as far as OEO is concerned.

PREDICTIONS — President Johnson will shift gears on his two big tax moves. Within six months, he will restore the suspended 7 per cent investment tax credit, much desired by business, and shelve the 6 per cent individual and corporation surcharge he proposed in his State of the Union message. The increasingly uncertain state of the national economy will force these backdowns. . . . There will be another military pay raise this year — if the White House seeks a boost for civilian government employees. Representative L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the powerful Armed Services Committee, with its full backing, is prepared to vigorously press for a 4.5 per cent military pay hike if the President asks for a civilian increase. . . . William Murphy, former executive secretary to ex-Governor William Scranton, and one-time Representative Robert McIntosh, R-Mich., will join the Washington staff of the headquarters being opened for Governor Romney.

Pull Up A Chair

It's a sure sign of spring when the baseball teams head for their training camps. A little checking revealed that a problem in logistics is handled by every club in the major leagues when they start their pre-season conditioning sessions. Aside from rounding up the players and the candidates for the team, housing them, feeding them and providing a ball park for their daily workouts there are a multitude of other details.

The equipment of most clubs includes: 3,600 baseballs, 240 bats, 90 uniforms, 30 pairs of sunglasses, 720 pairs of white socks, whirlpool baths, bathing helmets, shoe polish, and at least 30 resin bags for the pitching staff. In addition, they need two bat bags and 50 duffel bags for use on road trips. The only thing a professional ball player provides, aside from his physical presence, is a "fielding glove" and baseball spikes.

Today's smile: A doctor awakened at 2 A.M. was hurriedly dressing when his wife woke up and asked: "Where are you going at this hour?" He said: "I have to make a house call at the Smiths. The little boy is ill." "What's the matter with him?" the wife demanded. "I don't know," said the M.D., "but I must go there. Mrs. Smith has one of those books on 'What to Do Until the Doctor Arrives' and I've got to get there before she does it."

Memories of Chicago 4-H Club Congress Linger

McClay Miss Dede Miss Wood Miss Longbottom

"Making the Best of It" has brought some of the best memories of their 4-H careers to four Texas teens.

The young people, all named winners in their 1966 4-H projects from the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, visited numerous tourist spots in the Windy City and enjoyed an evening as honored guests at the International Live Stock and Dairy Exposition.

They are LeNita Wood, 17, of O'Donnell; Diane Dede, 17, of Mobeley; Jaylie Longbottom, 16, of Monahan; and Doug McClay, 16, of Morse.

Another special treat, and a first for congress delegates, was an evening at the Chicago skyline, the Windy City's newest night spot for young people.

Miss Wood, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wood, won the clothing award sponsored by Coats & Clark Inc.

"Eight years, hundreds of yards of thread put in and tipped out and put in again—and a wardrobe I am proud to own. That is my 4-H clothing story," said Miss Wood. She contented and has been a junior leader in clothing workshop for the past four summers.

Miss Dede, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wood, won the community beautification award sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation. As a member of his club's community clean up committee, he organized resident participation in Saturday clean up—six sessions. McClay also participated in a successful effort to obtain a vacant building for use as a community center.

THEFTS INCREASE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government is launching a campaign against post office burglaries, which have almost doubled in the past five years.

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien said that last year nearly 1,000 burglaries and attempted burglaries were reported and losses amounted to more than $1.5 million in cash and stock and $6.7 million in orders with a potential value of $9.9 million.

O'Brien said his department was installing new burglary detection systems and improved security facilities in an effort to reduce such thefts.

"DURABLE, LOW MAINTENANCE, and the best you can have" was the comment by Elmer Fite, at Fite Food when asked about his installation of Torginol flooring. It was installed in his store several months ago.

Torginol is Proven Product of the Age

As you probably know by now the most fussy people in the world are doctors. This doesn't just include the general practitioner or the specialist, but doctor as a whole. They are particular when it comes to the right kind of surgical instruments, the proper operating procedure, and the cleanest operating room, and entire hospital and their own personal clinic and home. The welfare of their patients comes first. Like wise they do everything in a power to maintain a well staffed personnel, qualified nurses, and the best of everything that you and I have learned to expect.

But one of the few least known facts about hospital and administration care, is the kind of flooring installed. It has to be durable, easy-to-clean, easy to maintain, without high cost. During this decade, one particular flooring is being put to use more and more. At first it was tested, then tested again. When they found it would stand up in the operating rooms, then installed it in the hallways; then watched to see what would happen. It wasn't long until they noticed how easy it was to keep clean, resisted stains, and kept a remarkable shine. It pleased the nursing and administration staff, but the final test came with the doctor and the patient. Almost every physician eyed Torginol with distrust at first. But as time wore on they too realized it's potential, and was pleased with the results.

The general public, like doctors, examined Torginol under different conditions. They watched at the results when a neighbor installed it around his swimming pool. Much to their surprise it stood the test; without the wear and tear of the water and weather. When a drink was spilled, instead of staining, warping, and tearing, it showed little or no wear. Once installed, the owner just forgot about having to replace it. It was there to be enjoyed and used.

Torginol has made other advancements, too numerous to mention. It has given the average homeowner the chance to improve his home, at a low cost, and relieve him of the worry of up-keep. Saving money is important, and the folks at Towles Tile will show you how. Just give them a call, and you'll be pleasantly surprised at the low cost involved. Call MO 5-5075 for a free estimate.

Be like the doctors! Choose the best and you'll choose Torginol.

OLEN ANDERSON with Earl Champion, Alomite factory representative, are shown checking the caster and camber of the front end to get it back in proper alignment. This important function is often overlooked and consequently the car does not drive properly, tires wear unevenly and the front end shimmies and wanders. Have Olen check your car for proper front-end alignment.

Olen Anderson Offers Best Care For the Auto

Is your car one of the 7 out of 10 cars on the highway today with its front-end out of alignment? Don't guess, take it right now to Olen's Tune-Up, Brake and Electric, 310 N. Ward, where he can check it in a short time and tell you exactly how your front end shapes up. Out of aligned front-end causes excessive tire wear, which in turn causes excessive tire heating and heat is the number ONE CAUSE of tire blowouts. At Olen's cross-sight wheel aligner diagnoses the trouble which causes steering instability and excessive tire wear and shows just what amount of correction is required to eliminate excessive wheel caster, camber and toe-in.

While you are aligning your front-end, have Olen check your tires for perfect balance. With his Alomite "Electronic" wheel balancer, it provides true in-motion-on-the-car balance. This balancing really makes the road "smooth again". Is your car hard to start these cold mornings? Does it sputter and miss at highway speeds... then you need to stop in at Olen's Tune-Up Brake and Electric, 310 N. Ward, and have him test your engine on the Dyna-Vision Analyzer. This electronic test instrument will analyze your engine and show the problems on a TV screen. Olen can find out in no time at all what is wrong and make the corrections and a perfect tune-up will be the results. Old fashioned tune-up methods are out of date. The trial-and-error method has been replaced by this truer method and it saves you money, too. For a first class running car

IT'S DOUBTFUL it will ever become standard male fashion, but this one-shoulder netwear serves a purpose for Hawaiian fisherman Maas Toki. He's approaching the water on the Kona coast of the Big Island of Hawaii, to toss his nets out for a catch.

When bison roamed the prairie, buffalo skins cost $12 to $25; today they probably would sell for $500.
