Chinese Embassy Staff in Moscow Fears Siege Red Chinese Rally Told Russia And U.S. Should Be Destroyed

Tons of Extra Food Is Being Stockpiled

MOSCOW (UPI) — Communist China's trimmed-down embassy staff here, apparently fearing a siege like the 17-day Red Guard blockade of Russia's Peking mission, is laying in tons of extra food, it was reported Saturday.

The embassy building—Moscow's largest—is being stocked with canned goods, meat, flour, beer and other groceries, reliable sources said.

The stockpiling is going on, they said, despite the fact that the Russians have given no sign they intend to retaliate for the Peking riots with a non-stop embassy demonstration of their own.

Four half-hearted demonstrations outside the embassy this week were pale imitations of past Soviet riots around Western embassies here, let alone the Peking siege which has made 65 Russian diplomats virtual prisoners, dependent on deliveries by courageous friendly foreigners for their food.

These foreign friends include Englishmen and Frenchmen but

Tibet Seized By Opposition Of Tse-Tung

HONG KONG (UPI) — Nationalist China's official news agency reported Saturday that army units opposed to Chinese Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung had forcibly seized control of Tibet, the once-autonomous mountain state on China's southwestern border.

Central News Agency (CNA) reported from Taipei it obtained the information from an intercepted document, sent by Maoists in Tibet to Defense Minister Lin Piao, considered Mao's right-hand man. CNA said "related sources" provided further verification.

According to CNA, army factions opposed to Mao have placed Tibet under military control. It said scores of pro-Mao revolutionaries were injured in a battle Wednesday.

CNA said 13 top Maoists of the "joint revolution and rebellion headquarters" had been arrested and all communications with the outside world were cut off.

Tibet is situated between China and India. It has a population of three million.

It is bordered on the north by Sinkiang province, site of Red China's nuclear-test facilities, Tibet, with an average altitude between 13,000 and 15,000 feet, is the highest region in the world.

Traditionally ruled by the Dalai Lama, it was seized by Communist China in 1950 and since has been a "national autonomous province" of China ruled by a Peking-appointed military-administrative commission.

MODERN-DAY LINCOLN — One hundred and fifty-eight years ago a young man, whose birthday is commemorated today, was born in a log cabin in Kentucky. During his school days, he studied by the flickering light of a log fire while sprawled on the floor in front of the fireplace. The quest for knowledge continues much the same today though more modern conveniences have been installed as illustrated here by Eddie Williams, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williams, 1827 N. Banks and a fifth grade student at Travis Elementary School. The other young man, Abraham Lincoln, became president of his country... and 24 years from now, who knows Eddie just might, too!

Teacher Salary Hike May Become Bitter Issue

AUSTIN (UPI) — Behind the current maneuvering in the legislature lurks an issue that could become the most bitter of the session—a mammoth $147 million pay raise for school teachers.

Gov. John Connally has recommended an increase of only $63.8 million. It would give all teachers 5 per cent increase averaging $278 a year. He admits it is only an interim raise pending the recommendations of his public school committee in 1968.

In the eyes of the Texas State Teachers Association, Connally's proposal is woefully inadequate. The TSTA seeks raises averaging $775 a year.

Demonstrators March Against Reagan Cuts

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Thousands of demonstrators marched to the state capitol Saturday in a second mass protest to dramatize their opposition to Gov. Ronald Reagan's higher education budget cuts.

They trekked in a long line for a mile up the city's Capitol Mall, a wide street leading from the city's riverfront, to gather on the tree-studded lawns of the capitol.

Reagan appeared before 3,500 University of California students and faculty members who made a similar march Thursday. He told them his policies might delay progress but that the state faced a "serious temporary problem" with a potential budget deficit.

The dress of participants in Saturday's march contrasted with the neatly suited students and faculty in Thursday's protest. The crowd wore sports clothes in the chilly 40-degree weather and included a number of people from outside the academic community.

One group represented the National Farm Workers Union, which staged a march from

Red Army at Soviet Border Put on Alert

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist China has alerted army units on the border with Russia and placed the capitol city of Peking under military control, Japanese correspondents reported from Peking Sunday.

The correspondents said Chairman Mao Tse-tung had alerted army units on the Russian frontier because of "brisk Soviet military action in that area."

The Tokyo newspaper Mainichi said the decision to place Peking under military control was taken under a three-point proclamation issued by the Central Committee of the Chinese Communist Party and the state council (cabinet).

Kyodo, the Japanese news agency, said Mao's order moving troops to the border was specifically directed at units in Sinkiang province, where Red China's nuclear testing grounds are situated.

Kyodo quoted Red Guard leaflets distributed in Peking Saturday.

Disclosure of the border alert followed speeches Saturday by Premier Chou En-lai and Foreign Minister Chen Yi charging that the United States and Soviet Union were two of a kind and should be destroyed. They spoke at a rally in Peking attended by 100,000 persons.

According to Kyodo, Mao's directive said "front armies" should be ready for action in such military districts as Tsinan, Nanking, Fochow, Kwangchow and Kunming.

Fochow is situated opposite Formosa. Kwangchow includes the Canton area in the southeast. Kunming is in the far west.

Mao was quoted as saying if action is needed the "cultural revolution" now sweeping China may temporarily be delayed.

Army commanders in Shanghai hours earlier had declared their readiness to move into battle against the Soviet Union.

Intelligence reports in West Berlin said two days ago the Soviet Union was pulling troops out of Communist East Germany and planning to recall from three to five divisions, presumably to beef up its border guard.

A Soviet division is made up of more than 20,000 men.

Kyodo's correspondent said the situation on the Sino-Soviet border must be extremely tense if Mao could release Liberation Army troops from duties connected with the revolution to serve along the front.

The speeches Saturday by Chou and Chen Yi said the United States and Soviet Union must be considered allies.

"We must destroy American imperialism," Peking radio quoted Chou. "We must destroy Russian revisionism!"

Chou and Chen Yi spoke to throngs gathered in the vast Tien An Mien (Gate of Heavenly Peace) Square in the

City Will Call Public Hearing On Assessments

The Pampa City Commission at its meeting Tuesday will call a public hearing for 8:30 a.m. March 14 on the city's overall paving assessment program.

City Manager Jim White said the paving assessment ordinance will be introduced Tuesday and will include streets in the first phase of city-wide paving projects set up under the $950,000 paving bond issue adopted by voters last March 8.

The $95,000 figure will be the city's approximate share of the long-range paving program. It was estimated the property owners' share would be around $500,000.

City Manager White said it is planned to hold a special commission meeting Wednesday morning to give the legislation for the public hearing second and final reading.

Several other matters including setting of bid dates on two police cars and opening of bids on a mower-tractor are scheduled.

The commission will be asked to authorize payment of $100,000 from street bonds for right of way purchased for the widening of N. Duncan St.

The commission also is scheduled to adopt a resolution calling for a city election on Tuesday, April 4, to elect a mayor and four city commissioners.

"The Messiah" Slated For April

Officials of the Pampa Fine Arts Association and the Pampa Ministerial Alliance today extended an invitation to all singers in the Panhandle area to participate in the 1967 performance of Handel's "The Messiah" scheduled for Sunday, April 16.

First rehearsal is set for 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 19, in the sanctuary of the Central Baptist Church, Starkweather St., at East Browning Ave. Tracy D. Cary, chairman of the music division of the association announced. Remaining rehearsals are scheduled for 2 p.m. each Sunday (exclusive of Palm Sunday).

Dr. Richard P. Condie, noted choirmaster-organist of St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church.

Cary said a special invitation is extended to all singers who have participated in past performances of "The Messiah" to join the 1967 chorus. The invitation also includes persons who have never before sung the oratorio. Members of church choirs in the area also are particularly urged to participate, according to Cary.

The April 16 program will mark the return of a long-standing tradition begun in the early 1930's by Mrs. Mae Foreman Carr of Pampa and the late Emil F. Myers of Amarillo when a Pampa Oratorio Chorus joined with similar groups from Borger, Amarillo, and Hereford to present "The Messiah" (See MESSIAH, Page 2)

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
"Whatever happened to the oldtime 'vinegar Valentines' they used to make? The ones that threw brickbats instead of bougats?"
These questions are asked in a press release put out by the Hallmark Card people, who then go on to assert that comic Valentines are not as insulting as they once were.
Hallmark reached this conclusion by comparing some of the 1967 comic valentines with the so-called "penny dreadfuls" that flourished in the 1800's, and the early part of this century.
The comparison, however, is a bit misleading. Hallmark apparently used its own Valentines which normally tend to be a bit on the gentle side.
Hearts and Skewers
Sample: "Valentine, I haven't been able to sleep for days.
You've just got to answer my question before the 14th! I won't be able to rest until I have your answer... Can frogs really catch athlete's foot?"
That is indeed milder than such 19th century Valentines rhymes as "You ugly, low and artful witch, with lies upon your tongue—I wish that you and all your tribe were in the kennel flung."
But it is not true that the
"penny dreadful" tradition has entirely disappeared.
I made a survey of the Valentine displays in a couple of stores and ran across gems like these:
"You claim that TV's
broadening, and so it would improve the Ogbkkgkwg&k
proof of that — it's broadening
broadening, and so it would
proof of that—it's broadening
your rear!"
"Everything's just wonderful and all the world's in tune."
"You claim that TV's
broadening, and so it would appear—For you're the living
proof of that—it's broadening
your rear!"

Price To Join Educators At Naval Academy

WASHINGTON (SpI) — Panhandle educators attending a three-day briefing at the United States Naval Academy Monday Tuesday, and Wednesday will be joined during one of the days
by 18th District Congressman Bob Price.
"Barring unforeseen activities on the floor of the House on Feb.
14, I'm looking forward to touring the Academy grounds and the academic briefings with these school counselors from our area," Price stated. "I will have the privilege of nominating young men to attend this great institution in the future and I feel the briefing will be beneficial to me in making these choices."
Price also expressed an interest in visiting with the high school teachers from the Panhandle about various pieces of legislation expected to come before Congress this session. The Naval Academy is located at Annapolis, Md., about 40 miles from Washington.
The Panhandle congressman will make the trip to Annapolis upon his return from a Lincoln Day speech in Houston on Monday. Price will be main speaker at a Harris county Republican banquet honoring former Na-

Commissioners To Consider Airport Survey

Opening bids for county and school depository and discussion of hiring an engineering firm to make a survey of county airport requirements are among the agenda items listed for the Monday morning meeting of the Gray County Commissioners.
County Judge S. R. Lenning
Jr. said the commissioner's court will also consider an insurance program for county buildings, name election judges for 1966 and discuss hiring an accountant to audit county records.
The judge said there may be a few other items added to the agenda Monday.
In 1945 Russian soldiers took Budapest in Hungary after 49 days of fighting in which more than 50,000 German troops were killed and 133,000 captured.

Veterans Eye Congress Action

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Veterans' organizations, charging discrimination, indicated Saturday they would go to Congress
if necessary to revoke the Army's order limiting burials at Arlington National Cemetery.
Spokesmen said they were surprised and dismayed at the order which limited Arlington burials to professional military men and the nation's most prestigious veterans.
National Commander Leslie
M. Fry of the Veterans of Foreign Wars said it was "an obvious case of discrimination.
It means one man is better than another and we don't like that one bit."
William F. Hauck, executive director of the American Legion Headquarters in Washington, said, "We have a long-standing policy against burials on the basis of rank or prestige."
A. Leo Anderson, national commander of the American veterans of World War II (AMVETS), said the order was "both ill advised and unnecessary at this time."
Because of overcrowding, the Army said Friday that starting next Friday Arlington burials would be limited to Medal of Honor winners, servicemen who die while on active duty, and veterans who held high government positions. This excludes the average war veteran.
Fry, in a statement issued at Reno, Nev., said "It's our intention to talk to the Secretary of Defense to get this order rescinded. Arlington should be on a first come, first served basis."

Among Pampa students making the fall semester honor roll at West Texas State University were Pamela Meeker, Delores Martin, Robert Finley, Katherine Gray, Sharron Hall and Raymond Johnson.
Others on the list included
Beverly Clark of Wheeler, Evely-

The American Red Cross is the instrument chosen by Congress to help carry out the obligations assumed by the United States under certain international treaties known as the Geneva or Red Cross Conventions.
Specifically, its Congressional charter imposes on the American Red Cross the duties to act as the medium of voluntary relief and communication between the American people and their armed forces, and to carry on a system of national and international relief to prevent and mitigate suffering caused by disasters. All the activities of the American Red Cross and its chapters support these duties. Nationally and locally the American Red Cross is govern-duties are performed by volun-

Production Forms Symposium Eyed For Oil, Gas

A question and answer forum for oil and gas producers in the Panhandle is scheduled for 9 a.m. Wednesday in the Pampa offices of the Texas Railroad Commission, according to Jack
O. Miller, Panhandle district supervisor for the commission.
Miller said the symposium has been scheduled for interested producers desiring to learn more about new forms recently adopted by the Railroad Commission for reporting oil and gas production.

Use of the new statewide forms becomes effective with reports for the month of January, Miller stated.

Wednesday morning's meeting will be opened by Miller in the Palm Room of City Hall and then will be turned over to Mrs.
Helen Danner, chief clerk, and Bob Blakeny, chief inspector, in the Pampa Railroad Commission office.
Miller said 22 to 30 oil and gas producers from Amarillo, Pampa and the Panhandle area will attend the session for further briefing on the new forms.

The Oil and Gas Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will assist in hosting the session and will serve refreshments, Miller said.

Pampa Voters To Name Two School Trustees

Pampa voters will go to the polls on April 1 to elect two trustees for the Pampa Independent School District board to fill the expiring terms of current board members John Gikas and E. E. Shelhamer.

March 1 is the final date for placing names on ballots. Candidates may file in the school business manager's office in Pampa Junior High School. Qualifications of a school trustee are that he must be a qualified voter; live in the school district for at least a year; and be over 21 years of age. There is no filing fee, but a candidate must sign an affidavit of candidacy for public office.

Two Pampans filed Friday for the school board post. Gikas will be a candidate seeking a fourth term and Mrs. Pernie Fallon, 2236 Charles, will campaign for one of the two posts to be open on April 1.

Shelhamer, who is serving on the board as president and completing a three-year term, has not indicated if he will again be a candidate.

At a school board meeting Thursday, N. Park Brown was named election manager to serve April 1 with W. A. Rankin and Ralph Dunbar as election judges.

The public is invited to attend the 11 a.m. worship service at the Salvation Army, 613 E. Albert, where Lt. Colonel and Mrs. Thronburg, Major and Mrs. Evans will be special guests of Captain and Mrs. Robert J. Tritton, the local commanders. Major Evans will give the morning sermon.

Mrs. Fallon has lived in Pampa-13 years. She resides with her husband, Ben, who is an independent consulting petroleum engineer, and their three children, Pernie 11, a sixth grade student; Matilda (Teddy), 9, a fourth grade student and Ben, second grade student. They attend Stephen F. Austin Elementary School.

Mrs. Fallon said, "I have no issue with anyone in the school district; neither the teaching personnel, the administrative staff, nor the school board. And I am not running against anyone."

She was born in Lubbock and attended Amarillo Junior College and West Texas State University. During the 13 years she did clerical work, she was employed by Melvin Belli, a San Francisco attorney and at Pan-Tex.

Grand Jury To Consider Harlan Case on Monday

A grand jury summoned for the 100th Judicial District Court will hold a hearing Monday into charges against Gene Harlan, 42-year-old owner of a Skellytown oil field supply company.

The hearing is slated to begin at 10 o'clock in Panhandle.

Harlan is charged with murder with malice aforethought in the Jan. 23 shooting of Gene Thomas Hudspeth of Borger, a 44-year-old independent oil operator. Hudspeth died of a 300-magnum rifle wound just above the heart.

The shooting occurred near Harlan's oil field supply yard in Skellytown. He has been free on $10,000 personal recognizance bond since Jan. 23.

District Attorney John Gilliam of Clarendon said Saturday night the Harlan case is one of several cases to be heard by the grand jury Monday.

Oklahoma Man Arraigned On Robbery Charge

Henry D. Burton of Oklahoma was arraigned in 31st Judicial Court Friday on a charge of armed robbery.

Burton, acting with Zane Leonard Evans of Pampa, is charged with the June 18, 1955, armed robbery of Ideal Grocery No. 3, 801 W. Francis.

District Attorney Bill Waters said Friday the trial date has been set for March 14.

Boy Scout Camp Is Step Nearer To Realization

A proposed Boy Scout reservation near Mobeetie was nearer to realization following a special meeting of about 20 scout officials from a 15-county area in Pampa Friday night.

Frank W. Atkinson, assistant director of the Engineering Service of the National Boy Scout Council in New Jersey, toured the 480-acre site Friday afternoon and had encouraging words for the group.

"I was quite impressed with the property," Atkinson said. The proposed camp will serve scouts from the entire Adobe Walls Council, made up of several districts including cities as far away as Guymon, Okla. Currently, Camp Kiowa, near Canadian, must meet the needs of the council.

The site is located approximately six miles east of Mobeetie and two miles off the Wheeler Highway and includes a small lake.

The first phases of development, including laying out of campsites, activity areas, roads, buildings and facilities, were discussed in preliminary degrees by the group.

Atkinson offered the scouts the services of the engineering service as well as presenting several tips in the planning of the camp layout.

The reservation's facilities will include a mess hall, council ring, chapel, troop activity area and field sport area, with hopes to eventually include a swimming pool and amphitheater.

Atkinson urged the group to refrain from laying out too many roads and buildings in order to more nearly meet a promise to Boy Scouts—"a great outdoor adventure."

The council's camping committee will begin active development of the new camp right away, according to George Newberry, council chairman.

Folk Singers To Appear Feb. 23 In Skellytown

The Skellytown Fire Department will sponsor the appearance of The Wilborn Brothers, a country-singing duo, on Feb. 23 in the Skellytown school auditorium.

The show will start at eight o'clock.

Proceeds from the sale of tickets will be used for a payment due on a new fire truck, purchased last year.

The Wilborn Brothers are regular stars on the Grand Ole Opry and have been featured on radio, in the movies, and on television shows of Arthur Godfrey, American Bandstand, and the Jubilee USA. In Australia, they performed in a television production, "Roy Acuff's Open House."

Tickets may be purchased from Jackson's Cafeteria in Pampa or at the Corner Cafe in Skellytown. Pre-show tickets are $1.25 adults and 50 cents for students. Tickets advance to $1.50 if purchased at the door on the evening of the performance.

Prock Promoted To CAP Captain

Commander Ralph Prock has been promoted to the rank of captain in the Civil Air Patrol, according to word from national headquarters of the CAP.

Captain Prock helped organize the Civil Air Patrol squadron in Pampa and has been instrumental in promoting general aviation in the community.

Prock was graduated from high school in Alameda and attended San Marcus Teachers College for two years.

Captain Prock started flying in 1934. After working with the Federal Land Bank in 1939, he joined the Air Force Reserve in 1940 and was graduated with a commission through the Cadet training program. In 1943 he went to work for Cabot Corp. in Pampa.

In December of 1944, Captain Prock was an instructor in advance instrument training at the U. S. Air Force Base in Enid, Okla. He returned to Cabot as aviation manager and chief pilot in 1946.

Since then Prock acquired his Air Transport rating, which is the top certificate issued by the Federal Aviation Agency. Captain Prock is also an FAA inspector. He has been with Cabot Corp. for 24 years.

11 Rural Accidents Are Listed in County

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 11 accidents on rural highways in Gray County during January, according to Sgt. J. W. Wilson, Highway Patrol supervisor in the Pampa area.

The crashes resulted in eleven persons injured and an estimated property damage of $8,335.

April 15 is the deadline to have motor vehicles inspected. During the past five and one-half months 230,000 or 33 per cent of the approximately 700,000 registered vehicles in this region have been inspected. This leaves 47,000 vehicles to be inspected between now and the April 15 deadline.

Sergeant Wilson urged motorists to have their vehicles inspected without delay to avoid the inconvenience of waiting lines. There will be no extension of the April 15 safety inspection deadline, he stated.

Safety Clinic Set March 2 in Amarillo

The Texas Safety Association and the Panhandle Chapter of the American Society of Safety Engineers will co-sponsor a one-day Safety Clinic on Thursday, March 2 in Amarillo.

Discussions and demonstrations dealing with the prevention of personal and vehicular accidents and the control of their costs will be presented.

"Every effort has been made to make these programs useful to the smaller business organization which does not have a safety department; but we feel the program will be equally as valuable to safety personnel," E. D. Persons, chapter chairman said.

The one-day Safety Clinic will be held in the Reddy-room of Southwestern Public Service Company's southwest service center 608 W. 48th, in Amarillo. Registration, at $5.00 per person, will be from 8:30 to 9:00 a.m., March 2, with the program to be concluded by 3 p.m.

Abraham Pledges To Still Support Agriculture Act

AUSTIN (Sp) - State Rep. Malouf Abraham of Canadian Friday pledged continued support for the Colson-Briscoe Act, stating he is convinced "we need to encourage agriculture, one of our most important industries."

"There seems to be a new drive in the Legislature to emphasize big cities and their problems," Abraham said. "We need a strong farm-to-market road system to encourage farmers and ranchers."

"The agricultural industry deserves every consideration since it provides so many essential things for our well-being in addition to its economic importance to many of our cities and towns."

Light Snow, Rain Falls in Pampa

A cold front moved across the Texas Panhandle Friday evening and night and dumped .08 of an inch of moisture on Pampa.

The Pampa high Saturday was 46 after an overnight low Friday of 32 in which snow and rain fell with only a little snow sticking on the ground.

Temperatures behind the front dropped sharply, and the northerly breezes made it seem even colder. After an overnight low of 33 degrees in Amarillo, the mercury had a hard time struggling out of the 30s.

Below-freezing temperatures were forecast for the northern half of Texas early Sunday, and a low of 18 was expected in the Panhandle. An end to the shower activity was called for by Sunday.

Colder weather was forecast for the southern section of the state Sunday, when the full effects of the front move in. But the skies were expected to clear over North Texas and the Weather Bureau said temperatures would begin to rise slightly.

Washington Report

From Congressman BOB PRICE 15TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

I was very happy to introduce my third bill of the session on February 2. It was given the number House Resolution 4655 and is entitled the Human Investment Act.

During the campaign I suggested several ways in which the Federal Government could give some powers back to local governments and to individuals. One suggestion I made was a tax credit to industry for training workers. This is the Human Investment Act.

The thought behind this bill is that the most effective job trainer in the Nation has always been the free enterprise system. Business and labor working together have consistently been able to develop and train programs, superior to inefficient government programs such as the Job Corps.

The Human Investment Act offers employees a 10 percent tax credit toward certain expenses of programs designed to train prospective employees for jobs in the community or to train current employees for more demanding jobs.

More than 120 other members of the House have introduced similar bills. With this great number of Representatives already supporting the idea I am hopeful we can pass the bill and get rid of the Job Corps as soon as possible.

Along the same lines, during the campaign I talked about giving property owners a credit on their income tax for local taxes aid. The logic behind this being that these local governments could then raise their taxes by the amount of the credit in their community and perform the needed services without grants from Washington.

However, the majority of the members of Congress seem to have the opinion that only the Federal Government knows how to collect and distribute tax money. These same members also want to "equalize" by taking money collected in one community or state and giving it to other states and communities.

It appears that the best thing we can hope for this session to start getting decision-making powers back to local governments is a "tax-sharing" plan introduced by several Republicans in the House and Senate. This is possibly a step in the right direction to decentralize the handling of our tax money but is a long way from what needs to be done.

The "tax-sharing" proposal simply means the Federal Government would return a flat percentage of the taxes collected within each state to that state with no strings attached. I question the wisdom of this plan when the Federal Government could simply reduce taxes by the amount they could afford to return to the states. Why bring the money to Washington, take out a handling charge, and then send it back to the states? The answer is simple. It goes back to those members who believe in the old socialist theory of redistribution of the wealth.

Under the present plans the 17 poorest states would receive supplementary grants. The 33 richest states would have to contribute to a "kitty" to give these 17 states something extra. I just don't consider this fair to the residents of the other 33 states.

However, I believe this tax-sharing program is an improvement over the Great Society programs which increase Federal controls and are designed to destroy any incentive one might have to accumulate any property or savings for the future of himself or his children.

House Group Says Party Made Up of 'Kooks'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities says the American Nazi party is made up of "crackpots and kooks" who thrive on hate "as though it were the bread of life."

Chairman Edwin E. Willis of Louisiana said a preliminary inquiry indicated American Nazi leader George Lincoln Rockwell and "his handful of followers are of little significance to the security of the United States."

Willis, in a report made public Thursday, also disclosed that Rockwell plans to change the party's name to the "National Socialist White People's Party."

He said Rockwell indicated the party's rallying cry would be changed from Hitler's "siege" to "white power."

Willis said the committee does not intend to launch a full-scale investigation of Rockwell's Nazis, but will continue to keep the group under surveillance.

He said the committee agrees that holding public hearings would dignify Rockwell "far beyond his importance."

Willis said the American Nazi party presently has 50 active members. He said it is "doubtful" the party's active membership has ever exceeded 100.

Missing W-2 Is Cause of Delay In Tax Refunds

DALLAS — Among the early income tax filers, missing W-2 forms is the major reason for holding up tax refunds this year. This form is the withholding statement on salaries and taxes employers are required to give their employees. This was also a major reason why thousands of Texas taxpayers were late in getting federal tax refunds last year.

Ellis Campbell, Jr., district director for the Dallas Internal Revenue District, said a return cannot be processed unless required W-2 forms are attached. "A missing W-2 will hold up a refund just as a missing signature or Social Security number will," he said.

Copy B of Form W-2 is the one to be filed with Federal tax returns. The other copies are for the taxpayer's records and for state and local purposes if so required.

Taxpayers who held more than one job last year should be sure to enclose a W-2 for each job, Campbell said. On joint returns, W-2 forms for both husband and wife should be attached.

CENTER MEMBERSHIPS — The Center is run on a membership basis and receives its total operating capital from memberships and donations. The Center does not and never will be tax supported. The Center was built by Pampans for Pampa and surrounding areas to enjoy a place where they can find leisure time activities.

There are two types of memberships to the Center — family and individual. Family memberships are for those families who have more than two in the family. This membership is only $20 per year or $12 for six months and does include every last member of the family. An individual membership is available for $8 per year or $5 for six months. This is sold only to persons 8 years of age or older. If a child is under 8, he or she must be carried on a family plan. This is prompted by the Centers rule that children must be 8 years of age or older to swim in the pool without a chaperon.

SWIM LESSONS — The Center is the only place in town which teaches swim lessons the year around. The pool is indoor and heated so there need not be any break in swimming activities for Pampans. All lessons given are approved by the American Red Cross and are given by a qualified Water Safety Instructor. Our instructor is Mrs. Jackie Marlar who does a wonderful job with the children and adults.

Swim lesson schedule: Feb. 20-March 8 at 4 p.m. Beginners and 5 p.m. Swimmers; March 13-31 (No lessons on Good Friday or the following Monday) at 4 p.m. Beg. and 5 p.m. Adv. Beg.; April 3-19 at 4 p.m. Polywogs and 5 p.m. Beg.; April 24-May 10 at 4 p.m. Polywogs and 5 p.m. Beg. while on May 15-31 at 4 p.m. Beg. and 5 p.m. Intermediates will be taught.

All lessons are free to Center members while non-members may pay a $3 instructional fee. The polywog classes noted above are for those children 4-6 years of age not in school who measure 33 inches to the chin (the depth of the pool in the shallow water). Classes meet on Monday, Wed., Thurs. and Friday unless otherwise noted.

DOLPHIN SWIM TEAM — The Center houses Pampans competitive swim team, the Dolphins. They swim week days from 6-7 and on Saturday from 10-12. If you are interested in competitive swimming, come by the Center during one of the workouts and Scott George, coach of the Dolphins, will meet with you and explain the details for your admittance to the team. The Dolphins attend several winter meets and numerous summer meets around the area. CALICO CAPERS SQUARE DANCERS — If you are interested in square dancing in general, the Center can supply your need. Each Saturday night except 5th Saturday nights of the month, the Calico Capers Square Dancers meet in the recreation hall. They give lessons twice a year, attend several jamborees in the Panhandle area and stage several big jamborees of their own during the year. They meet from 8-11 p.m. and would welcome visitors to come out and meet them.

CURRICULUM REPORT TO SCHOOL BOARD

Ungraded System Removes Bars

Dan Johnson, principal at William B. Travis Elementary School in a curriculum report Thursday morning to trustees of Pampa Independent School District, outlined tentative plans for a continuous development program in Pampa Schools.

Dr. John Damron, superintendent of schools, said faculty members at Travis had been studying and conferring on the merits of the innovation in the elementary school program. He said some parts of the non-graded plan were already in effect and being carried out successfully at Travis.

Johnson's report to trustees brought out that "Today's elementary schools are classified, generally speaking, by grades. The work of a grade, a year's progress or a chronological year in a student's life are considered the same for school purposes. The traditional elementary school program is divided into units of equal length (nine months), with textbooks and curriculum guides geared for this type of school. The teacher and parent set demands for each of these units. This program of instruction is designed for the average student as to time and content. Each grade is a group of skills to be mastered in a nine month period of time. It is completely unrealistic to expect all children to master the content of a given grade in the same amount of time."

"If we are to believe and recognize individual differences in children, many forms of grouping within the class must be employed. Basically the ungraded program is an extension and expansion of the grouping program with grade barriers removed. It will provide for a pupil to travel and perform at his own level in sequential steps, rather than trying to reach a predetermined goal for all students of the class. Each level is given a basic number of skills to be mastered at his own rate of speed. Promotion or retention is not a concern at the end of nine months. The non-graded structure provides for a continuing developmental program of learning, through which the pupil will progress. Therefore a school year is not divided into units of equal length, but into levels with its own content and requirements to be met. There are no predetermined other as a dependent. However, Texas is a community property state and your wife is required by law to file a tax return on 1/2 of your earnings.

Q—Our daughter graduated from college last year and has been working for some months. Since she still lives at home with us can we claim her as a dependent?

Q—It depends on several factors. To be eligible to claim her as a dependent you must have provided more than half her support for the year. However, if she earned $600 or more during the year then she must either be under 19 at the end of the year or a full-time student for some part of each of five months for her to still qualify as a dependent.

Q—Is my wife's Social Security number required on a joint return? Practically all of our income comes from my salary.

A—In some cases your wife's Social Security Number would not be required on your joint return. Her number would be required, however, if any of the following conditions are met:

- 1—She had wages subject to withholding
- 2—She had income subject to self-employment tax
- 3—She had separate income from dividends or interest of $10 or more.

If any of these conditions apply, a joint return without her Social Security number will hold up the processing of the return. You will then have to be contacted to obtain the missing information. This naturally delays processing and the issuance of any refund you have coming.

Q—I have inherited $2,000 from my father's estate. Will I have to report this on my return?

A—No, inheritances are not taxable income.

Q—I paid up the mortgage on my home early and was charged a pre-payment penalty. Is that deductible?

A—Yes it is deductible as interest if you itemize deductions.

Income Tax Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE — This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Pampa office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published by the Pampa News as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked.

A—Does the President's tax proposal have any effect on the return I have to prepare for 1966 income?

A—No, the proposal does not concern 1966 income.

Q—I'm a housewife but do some work in an office on a part-time basis. Are my earnings taxable if they are under $600?

A—Since Texas is a community property state, you will probably be required to file a joint return with your husband. If you file a separate return you will have to include 1/2 of your husband's income on your return. On the other hand, your husband will also have to include 1/2 of your earnings on his return.

Q—What figure on my W-2 should I report as income?

A—In most cases it is the amount identified as "wages paid subject to withholding in 1966." If there is also a figure in the space identified as "other compensation paid in 1966," then the two figures must be added and the total reported on your return as income from that employer. Don't forget that if you had more than one employer in 1966 a W-2 is required for each job.

Q—A neighbor of mine had some hard luck last year and I paid a few of his bills. Can I deduct this on my return?

A—Although your actions were humanitarian, the law does not consider gifts to individuals as tax-deductible contributions.

Q—If I file a separate return can I claim my wife as a dependent? She doesn't earn enough to support herself.

A—No. The law does not permit one spouse to claim the be responsible for all subject matter taught during the year. There will be no restrictions other than ability, in children changing Levels at anytime. The jumping of traditional grade lines will be allowed in reading and math. At the beginning of school a second year student reading on Level 7 (traditional 3rd grade) will receive instruction at this Level. This will operate in reverse just as well. Whatever is necessary to keep the reading group within any given Level will be done. Students entering Travis for the first time will be given the Gates Reading Test, or a comparable test, for Level placement.

MATH PROGRAM: The Level operation in math will respond greatly to the reading program. The students will be placed on a Level that may or may not be the same as their reading level. The evaluative materials will be text, test, teacher made test, achievement test and teacher valuation. The progression through different Levels will have the same flexibility as we will enjoy in the reading program.

We do not do any grouping in math at the present time, but we will never plan on grouping any subject area using the reading level as a basis for this group.

Johnson stated the outward appearance of our program will not be changed a great deal. We now group by ability using percentiles in the 2-3 grades.

Benny Kubelsky was born on this day in 1894. He is between known as Jack Benny.

Pampa's 'Superman' Break World Mark

Randy Has 70-7 1-2 For New Standard

DALLAS (UPI) — Muscular Randy Matson broke his own world outdoor shot put record Saturday night on the dirt floor of the Livestock Coliseum with a sixth and final toss of 70 feet 7-1/2 inches.

The 21-year-old Texas A&M junior from Pampa, thus busted by one-fourth inch his best effort ever—70-7-1/4 in the Southwest Conference meet at College Station, Tex., in May, 1965.

The record will not count as an indoor mark since he set it with his outdoor shot without the usual rubber protective which are used on board surfaces.

The tremendous heave came 24 hours after he had posted a toss of 69-2 in the Will Rogers games in Fort Worth on the same dirt surface and with the same outdoor shot.

Matson's performance was the one the crowd of nearly 7,000 had been waiting for all night in the Sixth Annual Dallas Invitational Track and Field Meet.

They had been rewarded earlier with a bunch of meet and state records, but all of these were overshadowed by Matson's great toss which brought a standing ovation from the crowd as soon as it toed up.

PHS Golfers Finish Third

LUBBOCK — Pampa High School golfers got a preview of what the district will be like this season and finished third behind Lubbock Monterey and Lubbock Coronado in a six-team tournament in Lubbock.

Only three teams stuck it out Saturday with a light rain and cold winds taking out three other teams after nine holes had been completed.

Only six teams were allowed to qualify Friday with Pampa finishing fifth.

Monterey, who was the medalist team Friday with a one-under par 283 team total, won the tournament with a 313 Saturday add 596 total. Coronado was second with a 291-319-610.

Pampa shot a 315 Friday and 319 Saturday for a two day total of 634.

Tournament medalist was Wayne Beasley of Monterey with rounds of 68-73-141. Beasley's 68 Friday was three under par.

Tommy Rose paced Pampa golfers with a 79 Friday and 38-37-75 Saturday for a 154 total. Ricky Roach had a 76-42-40-82-158 for second.

Frank Kelly shot an 82 Friday and had rounds of 40-40-80 Saturday for a 162 total same as Dave Kinneman who shot an 80 Friday and had 42-40-82 and a 162. Steve Grady shot an 80 Friday but slipped to a 41-42-83, a two day total of 163.

Funseth Still On Top at Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Rod Funseth, faltering with a double bogey on the 18th hole, still managed to grab a one stroke lead Saturday after three rounds of the 72-hole, $70,000 Phoenix Open.

The 33-year-old pro from Spokane, Wash., who won the tournament in 1965, had a 54-hole total of 202, 11-under-par. One stroke back at 203 was Dean Refram, a chunky 5-foot-6 pro from Boca Raton, Fla., who hits a long ball. Refram shot a third round 65, 6-under-par. Par at the Arizona County Club Course is 35-36-71.

Funseth, who had a six-stroke lead over Refram going into the third round, went out in 1-over-par-36. On the back nine, at one point, Funseth was 13-under-par for the tournament. He ran into trouble, however, on the 18th when he hit his tee shot out of bounds and had to take a stroke penalty. After teeing off again

Red Raiders Tumble Horned Frogs, 77-72

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas Tech Red Raiders penetrated Texas Tech's vaunted zone press in the game Saturday to build up a giant lead and then held on to stun the Frogs 77-72.

The loss shoved TCU two full games behind league-leading Southern Methodist, a 94-88 winner over Baylor Saturday in Dallas.

The turning point in the contest came early, with the game tied 10-10. TCU suddenly saw its zone press collapse, and Tech began running through it at will taking a 34-16 lead in a matter of minutes.

The Frogs closed the gap to 44-33 at the half, and came within six points with about five minutes left in the game. But Tech began stalling, and when TCU was forced to foul the Red Raiders proved deadly from the line.

Texas Tech hit 56 per cent of their shots from the field, an excellent percentage for the non-conference game.

Van Brocklin Quits Vikings

MINNEAPOLIS (S. P. A. U.) — Norm Van Brocklin resigned as head coach of the Minnesota Vikings Saturday a post he held since the team's admission into the National Football League six years ago.

It was the second time in two years that Van Brocklin a former NFL quarterback with the Los Angeles Rams and Philadelphia Eagles, announced his resignation.

The first time, in the middle of the 1965 season, he changed his mind 24 hours later and rejoined the team.

Hot Mustangs Trim Baylor

DALLAS (UPI)—Southern Methodist University squeezed outstanding performances out of two veterans and two sophomores Saturday, hit a red-hot 64.4 per cent of its shots from the field, and took a stranglehold on the Southwest Conference basketball race by beating Baylor 94-88.

The Mustangs now lead Baylor by three games and Texas Christian by two games, with six games left in the conference race. Texas Tech helped out SMU by upsetting TCU in Lubbock 77-72.

SMU jumped well out in front in the first half, but then had to hold off a late Baylor rally. Darrell Hardy and Gary Turner, the two top scorers in the conference, hit 22 and 30 pts, respectively, but the rest of the team could not pull up the slack.

SMU sophomores Bill Voight and Lynn Phillips, along with senior Denny Holman, scored 20 points each. Captain Bob Begert tossed in 19 points for the Mustangs, who now own a 7-1 conference record. TCU and Baylor are 5-2 in league play.

The game was close in its early stages, but SMU broke the contest open late in the first half and raced to a 54-41 halftime lead.

The Mustangs kept a 10 point or better advantage most of the second half, and only in the final stages, when it was too late, could Baylor close the margin.

BLUM SUSPENDED — ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI)—A five-day suspension will prevent jockey Walter Blum from riding favored mira femme in the Santa Susana stakes at Santa Anita.

RAISE PURSE — DELAWARE, Ohio (UPI)—The purse for the 1967 Little Brown Jug pacing classic at the Delaware County Fair Sept. 21 will be approximately $85,000, surpassing the previous high purse of $78,582 in 1959. The Little Brown Jug is the second race in the Triple Crown for 3-year-old pacers.

WRESTLING MATCH — Miami's Sharon Dedman (40) tries to wrestle away the ball from a Lefors guard during Miami's Friday night victory. The Warriettes advanced to the finals of the district 2-B tournament. (See related story, other pictures, page 9).

Briscoe Girls, Boys Win Tourney

WHEELER — Briscoe's boys and girls made it a clean sweep in the district 2-B tournament final Saturday night.

The Briscoe boys and Allison will meet in the district playoff game at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Wheeler Fieldhouse. Allison was the round robin winner and Briscoe the tournament winner.

Briscoe's girls hit a cold shooting Miami team, 36-26. Diane Dodd scored 14 and Melody Zybach and Helen Puryear, 11 each for Briscoe. Beverly Weiss paced Miami with 11 and Debbie Thompson added 10.

Briscoe led 11-7 after one period and 19-13 at the half and broke the game open in third quarter with a 34-17 lead.

In the boys game Allison took a 9-5 first period margin, but trailed 13-12 at halftime and 22-18 after three quarters.

Allison missed three layups in the final minute of play.

FREE PICK-UP AND DELIVERY IN PAMPA

Sun Shining on Baseballers

By RON CROSS

They haven't come out with a pre-season baseball poll for district 3-4A yet, but when they do (whoever does it) Pampa should be rated near the top of the class.

I'm sure Bobby Stephens, who will again direct the Harvesters baseball team, has just returned over in his class room.

Stephens, who is one of the finest coaches in the Pampa system, will be in his second season as head baseball coach and heliooking forward to it a lot more than he was last season.

Last year the Harvesters had their worst season in longer than anyone can remember, going 4-14 in district play and 7-21 for the season.

Most of this was due to the fact the Harvesters failed to give pitchers any support at all from the field, averaging something like four errors per game.

An excellent season, which the Harvesters are pointing to this year depends almost solely on the pitching, which at this time is a question mark.

Stephens handled the American Legion team last summer, having the same group of boys who were his high schoolers and they showed a marked improvement, losing only four games.

The pitching will revolve around returnees Dickie Henley, Gary Molberg, Don Whitney, Jim Lang (if the doctor says okay), Fran McGahn and probably a sophomore or two.

Stephens has welcomed over 35 youngsters to practice with several sophomores on the basketball squad and a couple on the varsity yet to come out.

Jim Hollis, Gary Parrish, Johnny Epperson and Dan Carlton will be just a few of the sophomore cagers to try out (we hope) plus last year's regulars Alvin Achord and Rick Foster.

Henley is the biggest question mark on the pitching staff, having suffered a broken arm during football. Dick, if he's well, will be the best on the staff, he proved his ability during the Legion season. Now if he can just control that temper.

There are two other question marks in catcher Larry Stephens, who's arm hasn't healed right yet and Jim Lang, knee injury, both of whom are still waiting an okay from the doctor.

Lang started the season last year but had knee trouble and was forced to quit with an 63 record, but a year can make a big difference.

For power why go past Gary Molberg who can hit twice his weight, sock the long ball and

One new face will be that of Al Gomez, who did not play last season, going out for track instead, then the Pony League.

This is another youngster with a temper problem, who, if he can control it, could help the Harvesters on the mound and at bat. He has speed, also.

Veterans returning are Achord, who should have a banner year, he hit 258 last season at ter a slow start. Larry Jones, a lefty, who was by far the best fielder on the squad, Stephens, Ronnie Sanders, who began to hit during the Legion season, Steve Summers, Barry Price, both of whom got in some good licks during the summer. Gary Hyatt, Larry Turcotte, McGahn,

Harvesters Slay Coronado, 53-48

By RON CROSS
Sports Editor

LUBBOCK — Steve Williams proved several things Friday night. Among them, he doesn't fold under pressure, he's probably the most valuable player in district 3-4A and don't give him an inch or he'll take a mile. Steve also probably assured himself of four tuition-free years of college with his performance Friday against the Coronado Mustangs, whom the Harvesters beat for the second time this season, 53-48.

All Williams did was lead Pampa in scoring for the fourth straight game, he scored 24 Friday night on 10 of 15 field goal attempts and four of five free shots, he neared his 200th assist, he's got 193, he also scored nine of Pampa's 13 third-quarter points to keep the Harvesters in the ball game.

Several college coaches, among them ones from Texas Tech, Texas and Texas Christian, were on hand to see the Williams performance and all went away wanting him at their schools the next four years.

The Harvesters, in running their second half district record to 4-4 and season mark to 22-7, had their second straight great night from the field and free throw line. Pampa hit 22 of 39 field goal attempts for 56.4 per cent and put in nine of 12 charity tosses, hitting their first eight in a row, plus playing a pretty good defensive game.

Pampa hit nine of 22 fielders in the first half and warmed up in the second half with 13 of 17 including seven of seven in the final quarter.

The Mustangs, now 3-5 in league play and 13-16 for the year, hit only 42 per cent, 22 of 52 and had nine of 26 at halftime.

The game was almost four-free with the Harvesters being whittled down only six times to Coronado's nine. The Harvesters didn't get to the charity line until the second quarter.

The Mustangs insisted Pampa be at its best and the game was in doubt until Rick Foster grabbed a missed Bo Lang free toss with 10 seconds left and put it in for a 53-48 lead.

The lead changed hands 10 times in this one and was tied four times with the Harvesters going in front to stay at 26-27 on a Williams basket with 5:41 left in the third quarter.

The game was tied with five minutes to go in the first quarter at 4-4 but Pampa had forged to a six-point margin, the biggest lead they held all night, 14-8 at the 1:06 mark. Coronado began to hit and the first period ended in a 14-12 Pampa lead.

Goals by Bailey and Williams sent the Harvesters winging to a 17-12 lead two minutes deep in the second quarter but again Coronado struggled back and d es with two seconds left in the half to send Pampa to the dressing room with a 24-21 lead.

The Mustangs scored two quick third-quarter baskets and took a 25-24 lead but Williams, who had only eight points at halftime, then scored Pampa's next seven points and outscored the Mustangs, 7-4 for a 31-30 Pampa lead, then Bailey hit a basket, then Williams and with 3:13 left in the period the Harvesters had another five-point lead, 35-30.

The period closed with the Harvesters on top at 37-34.

The Harvesters again outscored the Mustangs by the 7-4 margin on two baskets by Williams and three points by Bailey in the first three minutes of play for a 43-38 lead but Coronado put the margin to 43-42 with 4:16 to go.

Then things rocked back and forth with Coronado trailing only 49-48 with 1:12 to go before Williams bucketed and it was 51-48.

The Mustangs Lynn Shuttlesworth stepped to the charity line with 34 seconds left, missed, the Harvesters cleared the boards with Bo Lang being fouled with 12 seconds left.

But Lang missed. It didn't make any difference, however, as Foster snared the rebound and didn't miss.

Pampa closes out the season at home Tuesday when they host Borger.

Things didn't go well for assistant cage coach Bill Brown as he saw his C team lose 36-34 and the Shockers were dealt a 58-57 loss.

In other district 3-4A games Friday night league-leading Tascosa set the stage for a show-down battle with Amarillo Tuesday night by downing Monterey, 47-46. The Plainsmen were tied with Amarillo at 6-1 while Tascosa is 8-0. The Sandies whipped Caprock, 77-67 and should they beat Tascosa can claim the last half title outright without a playoff. In other games Borger waxed Palo Duro, 56-49 and Lubbock won their first district game of the season with a 61-48 verdict over Plainview.

Knicks, Celtics Win Close Ones

By United Press International

It's only necessary to win by a single point in basketball and both the Knicks and Celtics decided to do nothing more than was absolutely necessary Friday night.

Each team pulled off single-point victories in a National header, with Boston waiting overcomer San Francisco, 137-136, while New York also finished without room to spare in a 122-121 decision over the Chicago Bulls.

In Friday's other NBA action things weren't nearly as close as Cincinnati ran over Detroit 133-104 and Philadelphia scored an effortless 148-131 win over Los Angeles. The Celtics needed a hook shot from Tom Sanders with 18 seconds left after tying the game at 115-115 with only 12 seconds left in regulation time and then battling the Warriors to a 14-all tie in the first overtime.

The Knicks needed less time—but not much.

Stratford led 13-3 after one

Butch Van Breda Kolf owns the 300th victory of his coaching career today because he has taught his Princeton Tigers that little things win big games. "Little things like accurate foul shooting, the ability to control the ball in a stall and 5-foot, 10-inch backcourt stars like Gary Walters.

record which includes an 8-0 Ivy League slate. Techniques Pay Off Van Breda Kolf's exacting coaching techniques paid off as the Tigers battled back to win after trailing 79-76 with 2:13 to go. Chris Stomforde's layup cut the margin to 79-78 with 2:02 to go but Yale Capt. Rick Johnson sank a free throw to make it 80-78. A jump shot by Joe Heister tied the score with 1:46 to go and Princeton went into a stall after regaining possession of the ball. The Tigers stalled for a minute and 20 seconds and then sent Walters in to attempt a driving layup. He was fouled and made the second of his two shots to win the game. In all, Princeton made 21 of 24 free throws in beating Yale for the second straight time this season. The loss was the seventh in 15 games for Yale which stands fourth in the Ivy League. UCLA, the nation's first-ranked team, defeated Oregon State 76-44, LaSalle walloped Oklahoma City 108-97 and Pennsylvania nipped Brown 78-77 in other major Friday night games.

Hornung Ponders Trade to Saints

NEW YORK (UPI) — Paul Hornung and Steve Stonebreaker were at odds today over their priority selections in the stockpiling of the newly-arrived New Orleans Saints from a National Football League draft list. Hornung was delighted over a second life in the NFL after serving as a Green Bay Packers bench-warmer for most of the last two seasons. Stonebreaker is depressed because he would have to leave Baltimore and has said he would retire rather than join the Saints. "It's gratifying that they thought enough of my condition to select me," said Hornung, the blond halfback who played on four championship Packer teams. His left arm, withered by an injury, kept him sidelined a great deal in 1965 and 1966 and his joining the Saints depends upon his ability to recover from the disability of a pinched neck nerve.

Angels Facing Many Problems

By SANDY PADWE

PITCHING — Lew Burdette (7-2), Jack Sanford (13-7) stole extra year from the clock in 1966. Lew is 40, Jack 38. Whether they repeat is vital question for Angels. Fred Newman (4-7) had arm problems in '66, Marcelino Lopez (7-14) slumped. Two years before they were among AL's most promising youngsters. George Brunet (13-13) had best year in majors, lefty Clyde Wright (4-7) showed promise. Minnie Rojas (7-4), Pete Cimino (2-5, 2.91 ERA), Burette the bullpen crew, Nick Willhite, former Dodger, gets shot at starting job, Jim Coates getting last major league chance. RATING — C Plus.

INFIELD — Don Mincher, obtained in trade with Twins, adds power at first base, Bobby Knopp, second base, Jim Fregosi, shortstop, established double-play combo. Knopp hit 17 HR, had 70 RBI last year, but hit just 232. Paul Schaaf, 244 hitter, at third base. Infield reserves will come from rookie corps. RATING — B.

OUTFIELD — Rick Reichardt (.288, 16 HR) had fantastic start last year, then missed last half of season due to kidney operation. Rick says he feels fine now. Jose Cardenal adds speed, .276 batting average. Jimmie Hall, former Twin, brings long-ball threat to Anaheim. Hit 20 HR for Twins last year. RATING — B.

CATCHING — Switchhitter Bob Rodger (.236) has never played up to potential. Even so, he's still one of league's finest catchers. Could be one of game's best if he raises his batting average. Tom Satriano (.239) his backup. Young Tom Egan hoping for a chance. RATING — B.

BENCH — Outfielder Jay Johnstone impressed in half

year with club last season, hitting .264. Len Gabrielson, formerly with Giants, a capable pinch-hitter. Al Spangler, bouncing back to majors, had some good years in NL. Ed Kirkpatrick still trying to make it. Hit only 192 last year. All are lefty swingers. Angels need some balance. Don Wallace, a rookie, may be infield sub. RATING — C Plus.

SUMMARY — Angels went for power when they traded Dean Chance to Twins for Mincher, Hall. It's the old question. Can power offset lack of pitching? Too many questions about Angel pitching. Can Burdette, Sanford repeat? Is Newman healthy? PREDICTION — Far from a vintage year, 7TH.

Walt Alston is Silence

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Alston-ologists generally agree that what the man doesn't say often is more important than what he does say.

Walter Alston confirms it. When asked if he thought it was true, Alston merely smiled. Asked if he thought the Dodgers got the better of the trades which brought them Bob Bailey (Pirates), Ron Hunt and Jim Hickman (Mets) in exchange for Maury Wills and Tommy Davis, Alston shrugged, hesitated, smiled and said, "We'll see, won't we?"

Ask him about Sandy Koufax's retirement (How many times this winter, Smokey?) and Alston will ramble on for two or three sentences about how important the great left-hander was to the Dodgers.

The key word in Alston's dissertation on the wonders of Koufax is "was." Press him about the absence of Sandy in 1967, and Alston answers, "You never miss what you don't have. . . better that way."

Then he volunteered, "People ask me if we're going to miss Sandy, and I have to answer yes."

In other words, Alston personally is not going to fret about Koufax's departure, but he has to admit publicly the Dodgers will be hurt by it.

If he said, "No, we won't miss him," half of southern California's psychiatry would be on him. Right, Walter?

Silence. Now all the Dodger manager has to do is con his players into thinking that Koufax alone does not a pennant winner make.

"Not con," he said, "convince is a better word." At the suggestion that the two trades were conceived in the mind of owner Walter O'Malley instead of by the usual general manager-manager skull session method (with Buzzy Bavasi), Alston exploded a long silence to say:

"I think many people have missed an important point in the trades. Sandy's leaving (the Dodger front office knew about it by the time the World Series was over) creates a void — you might not be able to fill with five other pitchers.

Now may John Kennedy, who can certainly use his glove, will pick up his hitting with the chance to play shortstop regularly. He'll have that chance now.

"Hunt can field and hit, no doubt about that. We'd like to get Bailey's long ball in there as often as we can, probably at first base, or at least we'll try him there."

In other words, Walter, so far as you, the manager, are concerned, there's little sense rehashing possibilities that O'Malley wanted to get rid of Mills because he was getting older. . . or because he left the Japan tour. . . or the possibility that everybody, you included, was disenchanted with the play and general attitude of Tommy Davis?

Silence, accompanied by a smile.

Panhandle Water Conservation News

By FELIX W. RYALS
The Water Resources Symposium held Feb. 4 at Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, drew some of the most important water resource people in the United States.

Floyd Dominy, commissioner of Reclamation, Department of the Interior was one of the principal speakers. He was right at home in this arid west of ours. Those who heard him speak came away with the feeling this man really understood our problem and was making every effort to do something to help us. John Vandertulip, chief engineer for the Texas Water Development Board was another speaker who left the impression that Texas was moving ahead in its overall water effort. He also warned of the deadline given to all states by the federal government to come up with a plan and solution for abating pollution of our waters. In those states where nothing has been done the federal government will move in.

Bob Price, the new Congressman to Washington for the Panhandle area, made a very good impression on those attending the Water Resources Symposium. He urged the entire area to do everything possible on the local level to solve the water problem before turning to the federal government.

Floyd Dominy of the Bureau of Reclamation gave a detailed account of what the Reclamation Bureau has done for Texas. We are quoting a portion of his remarks below:

"We have spent a number of years working up a plan for developing the water resources of Texas. These investigations resulted in the preparation of our Texas Basins Project Report, which we submitted to the Governor for consideration in May 1965. This preliminary report visualized moving about 4 million acre-feet annually of surplus water from deep east Texas along the coastal region to the lower Rio Grande area. Storage dams would be constructed on all the State's major rivers, and over 400 miles of canal ranging in capacity from 5,900 to 2,000 c.f.s. would be required. The water would be used for municipal and industrial purposes for supplemental irrigation to 225,000 acres, and a full irrigation supply to about 750,000 acres of new land.

Development of this project would bring substantial benefits to large areas of Texas, but there would remain large areas of the high plains country and western Texas — which a seed water badly — that would not be served. Therefore, Governor Connally made a fine move when he directed the Texas Water Commission to develop a comprehensive water plan for the State. He said to the Commission: "In the public interest and to aid the economic growth and general welfare of the State, I urge that you explore all reasonable alternatives for development and distribution of all our water resources to benefit the entire State including proposals contained in preliminary reports of the Federal agencies." The plan was begun by the Commission in August 1964. This planning function was subsequently assigned to the Texas Water Development Board, The Bureau of Reclamation is now working closely on a day-to-day basis with the Board and other State agencies and authorities in assisting in the development of the Texas Water Plan. It is expected that the water plan will substantially modify our original Texas Basins Project and come closer to meeting the goals of the State of Texas.

Investigations of water resource developments tend to stop at the point where a certain potential project is judged to be economically impractical under the existing ground rules governing project feasibility. In order to talk intelligently about these potential projects we are going to have to know just how infeasible a certain proposal is — how much it would cost to get water there from a given source, and how much the water would be worth once it was there. Then we would know under what conditions a project might become feasible in the future. Perhaps the problems of a certain area would have to await the further development of weather modification techniques, perhaps desalination would be the answer when the cost of desalting has been reduced to X dollars and cents per acre-foot, or perhaps large-scale imports from a distant area of water surplus will provide the solution."

Wheat Producing States Go Into Fifth Month of Dryness

In most of the Santa Fe-served wheat producing areas of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and Colorado, the dry period, which began in mid-September of 1966 is going into the fifth month, according to the Santa Fe Railway Agricultural Department in Amarillo.

While most of the winter wheat acreage came up to a good stand with abundant early top growth, many areas have received no moisture since the crop was planted.

This has resulted in little or no crown roots on the wheat plants and no regrowth since early top growth was either grazed off or frozen, leaving many fields very susceptible to damage from low temperatures and high winds.

In some parts of northern Oklahoma and southern Kansas infestations of greenbugs are reported. Some farmers were reseeded spots in their fields during mid-January where stands were not secured earlier due to the dry top soil.

Wheat pasture was fairly good early in the season but with no regrowth of wheat plants since being grazed off the only fields now providing grazing are those being irrigated and a few isolated areas where effective moisture has been received in the last few weeks. If the weather, pattern of the past few months, continues during the remainder of the 1967 winter wheat growing season the five states of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado and New Mexico may do well to produce as much wheat in 1967 as was harvested in 1966 in spite of an increase of over 21 per cent in the seeded acreage.

Farmers and commercial applicators have been busy applying various forms of nitrate fertilizer on wheat fields where moisture is available and also applying fertilizers and pre-emergence weed growth inhibitors on land to be used for spring planting.

Gary Doss plans to construct a pit type pond and a waterway on the farm he operates just southwest of Pampa.

Fertilize cut areas. It is very important to fertilize cut areas where the land has been leveled. A 4-inch cut removes practically all of the available phosphate. There was no reduction in yield where there was a 1-foot cut made and the cut areas were properly fertilized. The cut areas should receive from 150 to 200 pounds of phosphate initially per acre, or 80 pounds annually for 3 years. Where the cut areas is to be put in maize the area should receive 150 to 200 pounds of nitrogen per acre, and 100 pounds of nitrogen where the area is to be put in wheat.

The steady growth of Soil and Water Conservation Districts during the past quarter-century has been an impressive record of America's belief in democratic action at the grass-roots. There are now more than 3,000 conservation districts working to conserve land, water, forests, wildlife and other related resources.

Although conservation district leader do not foresee any immediate resource crisis on the horizon, they believe one consequence is certain: The conservation and development task in the years directly ahead is going to be formidable. For example, the population of the United States will grow over twice as much production from its agricultural land by the year 2000. By the year 2000 production of wood from the forest resources of the country will need to be doubled. America will need 600 billion gallons of water a day in 1980. We now use about 350 billion gallons daily. Each year more than a million acres are being taken out of agriculture, primarily for highways, housing, and other urban uses. Also by the end of the century, the demand for recreation will triple. We are still losing some 500,000 acres a year as a result of erosion and other land damage, rural and urban. Wasted hills and valleys, eroded, polluted waters and despoiled forests are not proud symbols of a free, responsible people.

HEAT TREATMENTS are proving an effective means of preserving fresh fruits in Agriculture Department experiments. Department marketing specialists Walter Redd and Wilson Smith Jr., above, dip peaches in hot water to kill spoilage-causing organisms. In photo at right, first box of peaches which did not receive heat treatment shows much greater decay over same period of time as second box, which went through hot-water bath. Researchers are experimenting with hot water and moist-air techniques on a wide range of vegetables. Potentially cheaper and safer than chemical methods which have been used by commercial packers, it also kills some decay organisms chemicals can't reach.

Herbicide Use Does Not Affect Sorghum Yield

Residual effects of herbicide applications on crops in rotation is included in the research program of the High Plains Research Foundation. Cotton received applications of three rates of Treflan and two of Dachal in 1965. Grain sorghum was planted on the same ground in 1966. Scientists at the Foundation found no significant increase or decrease in grain sorghum yields from the carry over of these herbicides. Cotton received a heavy application of Treflan in 1964. Grain sorghum was planted on the same plots in 1965. The previous years heavy application of Treflan resulted in a delay in growth. Plants under this heavy treatment were shorter until fully headed. They headed ten days later than those with lighter applications of Treflan. Plants under the heavy Treflan treatment wilted sooner than other applications after each irrigation. There was no significant decrease in yield of grain sorghum in 1965. Farmers report similar effects in the 1966 season.

James Vallant, Soil Scientist, who completed the 1966 herbicide test said, "This study will have to be continued for some time before a definite conclusion can be given as to the residual effects of these toxic herbicides on grain sorghum production."

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
Tomorrow night... Monday, Feb. 13 at 7:30 p.m. a meeting on Agricultural Chemicals will be held in the conference room at Recreation Park. Jack Price, leader in agricultural chemicals, Texas A&M University, will discuss pesticide safety and other developments in the field of Agricultural Chemicals. Harold Shannon, Estes Chemical Co. representative, Wichita Falls, will discuss the use of Treflan and other approved weed control chemicals.

A spray rig will be on display and will be demonstrated. It shows some fine custom features a farmer might want to incorporate in a spray rig. Everyone in the Tri-County Area is invited. Refreshments will be served.

Several people have called to see how they are affected by the new wage and hour law that became effective Jan. 1. We now have some new information on the subject in our office. Generally speaking a farmer is affected if he employs as much as 500-man days of labor in any quarter. This would be the equivalent of hiring about six or seven full time hands. If you want more details on the subject...

Grain sorghum producers interested in specific details of this herbicide study can obtain this in the 1966 Research Report of the High Plains Research Foundation. This report will be released to members of the Foundation in the near future.

ject, we will be happy for you to read what we have in the office.

Our Beef Cattle Committee has discussed the possibility of organizing a group to travel by train to Chicago where they can visit the Chicago Mercantile Exchange and study the Live Beef Cattle Future's Market in action. A side trip to the cattle feeding area of Iowa is also being considered. If you are interested, let me hear from you. We have made some contacts through a brokerage firm that seems very interested in hosting the group.

In a recent meeting in McLean a turnout of approximately 3 farmers from that area expressed keen interest in developing their irrigation potential and establishing several hundred acre of alfalfa. The alfalfa would be used later in a proposed backgrounding - type feed lot in that area. Backgrounding feedlots take calves in the 400-pound weight category and develop them on a growing ration to 600-pound cattle.

There is a great need for this type operation in this area to supply cattle for the larger lots.

Topper Named Inspector For Cattle Raisers

John E. Topper, 36, of Shamrock, has been named field inspector for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association. In making the announcement, Don C. King, secretary-general manager of the Association said Topper will be stationed at Clarendon, which is headquarters for District 2.

The counties in District 2, formerly served by Alan Jefferies who retired Jan. 1, are Carson, Gray, Wheeler, Collingsworth, Donley, Armstrong, Briscoe, Hall, and Childress in Texas, and Beckham, Greer, and Harmon in Oklahoma.

Topper, a former TSCRA market inspector has been a deputy sheriff in Wheeler County for the past 14 years. He has attended many law enforcement schools and crime seminars on criminal investigation. Included in the schools are the Texas Department of Public Safety's sheriff's schools and crime seminars sponsored by the F.B.I. Topper has had a lifetime of experience and interest in the livestock industry. King said he felt the association was fortunate to have a man with Topper's previous market inspection experience, cattly savvy, and law enforcement training join the Field Inspector force.

The new inspector will continue to live in Shamrock until school is out, at which time he and his wife, June, and their four children will move to Clarendon.

Pampa Bull Gains Most In 112 Days

A bull owned by Emmett LeFors of Pampa and sired by Royal Mischief II was named top gainer at the Texas Tech Research Farm, near Amarillo. It showed an average daily gain of 4.26 pounds, according to James A. Carpenter, assistant animal husbandman.

The average daily gain for 74 bulls being performance - fed at the farm was 3.08 pounds, Carpenter said.

The 112-day report was issued on Jan. 23.

The Tech Research Farm is operated in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Agricultural Research Service and Beef Cattle Breeders.

Salvation Army Asks Help In Building New Facilities

Through drought, disaster and the every day human emergencies of life, the Salvation Army has served Pampa and Gray County for almost 40 years. Its Red Shield is a beacon of hope for the hungry, the homeless, the ragged and the despairing of all races, creeds and colors.

"Meeting need at the time and point of need" is a Salvation Army creed. The Army's many services include providing food, shelter and clothing for the destitute; help in reuniting a broken family through counseling; medical care and sanctuary for an unwed mother and her unborn baby, and prevention of juvenile delinquency through interesting and effective programs for our youth.

The practical compassion of these men and women in blue is unlimited, but local facilities for carrying on their great work are. You can help the Salvation Army carry on its humane work in Pampa by generous financial support of the new building.

Although the Salvation Army is a member agency of the United Fund, monies received from the Fund can be used only for operating expenses. If the Army is to continue effective operation it must have adequate building facilities.

The Salvation Army has never failed to respond when called on for aid. Civic leaders have organized to help them with gifts to provide proper facilities to better our community and carry on the humanitarian work of the Salvation Army.

The Salvation Army Development Program seeks a total of $131,000 for capital improvements. In its 40 years in Pampa, this marks the first time the Army has asked Pampa people for funds to build facilities. As stated, the money it receives from the United Fund goes for operational expenses.

HELP COMES from the Salvation Army to families in desperate circumstances. The Army's objective is to meet the immediate need and then assist the families to become self-supporting.

HUNDREDS OF ITEMS of furniture were distributed to Pampa families in need last year by the local Salvation Army. Whether it is a result of a major disaster or family emergency many people call upon the Salvation Army for the necessities of home life.

WHEN DISASTER STRIKES the Salvation Army is the first on the scene to bring relief to the victims. Shelter, food and clothing, medical supplies or whatever the need the Army rises to the occasion. Silverton, Higgins and White Deer were aided by the Army when nature lashed out against them.

MEETING TANGIBLE NEEDS often opens the doors for counseling by workers who are spiritually motivated and trained in social work techniques. The girl in trouble, frustrated families, the alcoholic, the delinquent child, the aged and those without hope, all find their way to the Salvation Army.

NEW SHOES and new clothing are unknown luxuries to really poor families. Last year the Salvation Army provided more than 21,000 garments and 950 pair of shoes to the needy of Pampa.

EYE FOR EFFORT is made to strengthen the morals of the young people who come in contact with the Salvation Army. The Army's objective is to strengthen character and motivate them toward good citizenship, both boys and girls. Through different recreational and educational activities that meet weekly trained supervision, in addition to summer camping programs and seasonal activities.

Consular Treaty To Be Introduced In Congress Explained to DAR Chapter

Mrs. W. S. Dixon, reporting for the national defense committee, told Las Pampas DAR Chapter members at a recent meeting in Jackson's Cafeteria that chief among the bills to be introduced in Congress is the Consular Treaty which will allow Russia to establish a consulate in all major American cities.

"This treaty was signed by the United States in Moscow in 1964. Now the Senate is being asked to ratify it," Mrs. Dixon stated.

"James J. Kilpatrick, writing in the National Defender, has this to say: 'Only 300 Russian tourists come to the United States each year. Why should a Soviet consul sit be needed in say, Los Angeles, to serve their needs?'"

"As J. Edgar Hoover has testified repeatedly, Soviet diplomacy and Soviet espionage are two words for identical functions. Any consulate that might be established in the United States under this agreement would be merely bases from which espionage could be conducted more efficiently. This agreement would exempt the Soviets from criminal prosecution, not only for espionage but for murder or rape as well," the speaker concluded.

Mrs. Dixon then urged all present to write or wire senators immediately opposing the bill's ratification.

Miss Benny White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben White of Lefors, DAR Good Citizen of the DAR Good Citizen award and Pin will be presented to Miss White. Miss Dale Cain, Pampa High School DAR Good Citizen, and Miss Mary Sue Ashford, DAR Good Citizen of Groom High School.

Miss White, Miss Cain and Miss Ashford were chosen for the award on qualities of dependability, leadership, service and patriotism by members of their school's faculty.

Dixon, vice regent; Mrs. Katie Vincent, chaplain; Mrs. Doyle Osborne, recording secretary; Mrs. John Skelly, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Turner Kirby, treasurer; Miss Ruth Huff, registrar; Mrs. John McKnerney, historian, and Miss Norma Lantz, librarian. These officers will be installed at the May meeting.

'Spring and Summer Bulbs' Discussed For Members of Pampa Garden Club

Mrs. C. J. McNaughton and Mrs. Owen Gee presented the program on "Spring and Summer Bulbs" to Pampa Garden Club when it met in the home of Mrs. Harry Vanderpool.

Mrs. McNaughton stated "Tubelless begonias are lots of fun to grow — because they are different, not difficult. They grow in the shade, north of the house or under trees. They can be started in the house and transplanted when the danger of freeze is past. They provide a bountiful supply of blooms through the summer months and until late fall."

Mrs. Gee discussed spring

bulbs such as daffodils, tulips, narcissus and hyacinth which should be planted in the fall. "When planting a large group of bulbs it is better to dig a ditch at the proper depth, put in bulb food and a small amount of sand under each bulb and be sure to label each variety. These bulbs are especially beautiful when planted with companion plants. Mrs. Gee continued the program by presenting slides of the Keukenhof Gardens in Holland showing the many plants of tulips in various colors and also the fields of tulips which are grown for commercial purposes," she said.

Mrs. H. H. Boynton gave the "Timely Tips," saying "The time to plant bulbs is from the See SPRING, Pg. 18"

Dear Abby... 'Friendly' Landlord Is Really a Wolf

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old wife and the mother of two small children. I live in a farmhouse far from neighbors. My husband is away at work all day 30 miles from here. Our elderly landlord comes to visit me almost every day. Until now his visits seemed harmless. He talked about the weather and news, etc.

But lately he's been putting his arms around me and he talks about sex all the time. I try changing the subject, but somehow he gets back on sex again. I'm afraid to tell my husband. Maybe I should tell the landlord's wife? I hate to come right out and make accusations because he's been so nice to us it may ruin our friendship. What should I do?

DEAR WORRIED: You need the friendship of an elderly man who puts his arms around you and talks about sex all the time like a moose needs a hat-rack. Tell him at the door that you are too busy to visit with him. Don't let him in. And if he gets bolder tell your husband.

DEAR ABBY: My grandmother died recently and left me her most prized possession (she thought) — a collection of 338 antique clocks from all over the world. All the clocks are in working order, and my grandmother was very proud of her collection, but it looked like a lot of clutter to me.

I hate to appear ungrateful, but I don't have any special interest in clocks, and I have had several good offers from clock collectors. Some members of my family have told others that we should keep the collection in the family, but no one in the family has offered to buy it from me. How should this be handled?

PREFERS CASH

DEAR PREFERS: Let the members of your family know that the collection is for sale, and offer it to them first, if you get no takers, sell the clocks to a dealer, and tell your family it took too long to wind up the estate.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow in my early fifties. I make my home with my sister and her husband because I am childless and do not like to live alone. I am financially independent and pay my fair share.

My problem. When my sister and her husband are invited to the home of a friend for a dinner party, this is the kind of invitation I get: "Molly and Max want us for dinner and they said to bring Zelda."

When I tell my sister that I don't consider that much of an invitation she says, "Don't be so formal — you know you're welcome." In your judgment is that an invitation?

DEAR ZELDA: A "bring Zelda" invitation is more than most widows who live with their sisters receive, but it's somewhat second-class. I understand your sensitivity, but don't indulge it. Go, and have a good time.

CONFIDENTIAL to S. N.: What one gives is of greater significance than "how much" he gives. No one said it better than Ella Wheeler Wilcox in "True Charity": "I gave to a beggar from my little store of well-earned gold. He spent the shilling ore and came again, still cold and hungry as before. I gave a thought, and through that thought of mine he found himself, the man supreme, divine; fed, clothed and crowned with blessings"

Jack Webb and Rod Taylor Give View on Their Television Series

By JOAN CROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — No one is sparing the Rod and spoiling the enjoyment of moviegoers when it comes to Rod Taylor. He's one of Hollywood's busiest actors who currently can be seen as a bumbling secret agent in MGM's "The Loudwater," and as hotelman in Warner Brothers' "Hotel." He is also a producer in the midst of working on details on "an anticliche western" called "Chuka."

It will star Ernest Borgnine, John Mills, Luciana Paluzzi," said Taylor. "Will I be in it? Yeah. We can't get Gregory Peck. The guy should look like Peck, and I have to do it—pudgy Taylor."

He's far from pudgy, but he is at times profane, profound and was propelled into movies mainly as a result of his popular but short-lived television series, "Hog Kong." "I liked the series. It was the beginning of the anti-hero," he said. "James Garner and Steve McQueen made the jump from TV to movies, but they were wiser than I. They left their shows. Mine stopped for me."

His series didn't have a high rating, but it had a loyal following among "more intelligent viewers to judge by the mail that poured in after its cancellation."

But if you call Taylor a movie star to his face, you're not doing him a favor.

"When you say movie stars you think of people like Gable and Garbo. It will take another 10 years for my generation of punks to prove we have earned the title. Let's not right. We feel it's closer now."

First ratings on the show were good but, as Webb says, first ratings are not a good indication of future ratings.

"It's premature to second-guess a trend. Speaking as a television viewer—I would like to see a little more variety. I think we're weary of spoofs on spoofs of spoofs."

"It's typical in this business. We get a hit tune and be it to death. Television and Hollywood set this and drive them into a rut."

As usual, Webb is meticulous in accurately presenting the Los Angeles Police Department. "We are truthful and honest in our stories, although we occasionally have to make slight changes for dramatic value. But the police end is always 100 per cent accurate."

FULLY RECOVERED now from the stroke that left her partially paralyzed months ago, actress Patricia Neal enjoys a visit to the London set of "The Quiller Memorandum," with star George Segal.

Knotts Prefers Situations to Gags for Laughs

When it comes to milking audiences for laughs Hollywood's newest comedian, Don Knotts, hews to the oldest tradition.

He eschews gags in favor of situations.

He says a sight piece of business—even a basic pratfall—is worth far more than any kind of dialogue, and offers his current title role in Universal's "The Reluctant Astronaut" as a technician case in point. Co-starring Leslie Nielsen, Joan Freeman, Jeanette Nolan and Arthur O'Connell, playing at the Capri Theatre.

Some of his most rib-ticking scenes, he believes, are those in which for all practical purposes he might as well be making an old-fashioned silent.

Knotts, whose role in "The Reluctant Astronaut" is that of a timid soul, afraid of heights, who finds himself embarked on a hazardous flight into outer space, explains that the gag has its rightful place as a comedy device but falls short in that it seldom contributes to characterization building.

As he demonstrated in his initial Universal feature, "The Ghost and Mr. Chicken," which turned boxoffice turndowns at a giddy pace, Knotts' forte is the credibility of his portrayal of a nervous bungler who somehow manages to overcome insuperable obstacles.

In "The Reluctant Astronaut" almost all that he touches turns out wrong, and it becomes believable, he thinks, because he so thoroughly establishes the impression that he's so unsure of himself.

If critics note a resemblance between Knotts' escapades in

This Year Should Decide Nichols' Fate as Director

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — This may be the year Mike Nichols falls on his face. If he does, it won't worry him. In fact, he gives the impression that he is almost looking forward to the experience.

In 1966, after he had established himself as one of Broadway's young directorial whizzes, he tried his first film. The result, "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" was a huge critical and box-office success. This year, he'll do his second movie, "The Graduate," then a revival of "The Little Foxes" at Lincoln Center in New York, and next his third movie, "Catch-22."

It is an ambitious schedule. Anybody would look forward to it with some fear. If he does, it is what he calls "legitimate fear," and it needs some explanation. "It is not a fear of failure," he says. "Show me a director who has had a long run of successes and I'll show you someone who only does sure things. I expect to fall on my face sometimes. I hope I do—but what I want to do is fall on my face from a high place."

Ex-Boxer in Film
HOLLYWOOD — Ex-heavyweight boxer Roland La Starza has signed for a role in Jerry Lewis' new movie, "The Big Mouth."

his current vehicle and those which usually befell Harold Lloyd in his films it is not, according to the comedian, solely by chance.

"Our story," he says, "is basically a Lloyd type vehicle, and if anyone should draw a comparison I would be enormously flattered."

have a little humility among actors instead of a grab-the-money-and-run attitude. But at least we are out of the era of the pretty gas station attendants."

The return of dragnet to NBC-TV after a seven-year absence makes you wonder if this could be the beginning of a trend towards reviving some popular television shows of the past such as "87th Precinct," "Hog Kong," "It's a Man's World," "The Rogues" — you name your favorite.

But NBC and Jack Webb agree that Dragnet 1967 is an exception. "We felt it was high time a good cop got exposure," says Grant Tinker, programming vice president.

"We have been talking about bringing back Dragnet for two years," Webb says, "but it was felt the timing

Duddy, Bresler Try Impossible

The year's it - can't-be-done job has been handed to Lynn Duddy and Jerry Bresler and, by golly, they are doing it.

Duddy and Bresler, two calm, pleasant and humorous men — and in their job they would have to be — write all the words and music for The Honeycombers on CBS-TV's The Jackie Gleason Show. Between September and January they will have composed around 100 original songs, roughly the equivalent of five Broadway musicals.

The hours the two gentlemen put in is "destined to break up Jerry's marriage and keep me single for the rest of my life," Duddy says. "Fortunately for Jerry, he has a very nice wife, she has a very understanding and flexible wife."

When Gleason decided to revive The Honeycombers (the original plan for 10 grew quickly to 20), he called Bresler and Duddy, who have been associated with him for years. If it hadn't been Gleason, he would have gotten a fast "no" from them.

Beverly Adams Coming On Strong in Hollywood

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — From time to time word gets out on a starlet that here, at last, is a corner, a girl who has a big chance at stardom.

The word is out on Beverly Adams, a beautiful dark-haired, green-eyed girl best known for taking a bubble bath with Dean Martin in "The Silencers."

She also got her feet wet in more than a dozen television shows, and under contract to Columbia appeared in such movies as "Kiss the Girls and Make Them Die," "Murder's Row" and "The Torture Garden."

Beverly, who says she is only 21, has all the physical equipment going for her, in addition to her enchanting face, she has a figure that is at once arresting without being obtrusive.

Now all that Beverly need do is prove she is an actress.

Must Prove Talent
It takes a few years to develop the knack, but Beverly has the years stretching out before her, despite the fact that she won't have much opportunity to prove her talent in her latest film, "Devil's Angels."

This American International classic is a sequel to "The Wild Angels," a motorcycle freak-out.

No matter what the future holds for Beverly, she should be the most fashionably coiffed woman in the world. That's right, the world.

On Feb. 18, this American beauty will become the bride of Vidal Sassoon, the English hair stylist whose word is law with chic women on three or four continents.

It will mean that Beverly must make her home in London, taking time out to star in movies.

Tryout Model

Vidal experiments on my hair," she explained, displaying a new, short cut, tightly curled hairdo. "But sometimes it gets to be a pain."

"When I was making a picture in London two months ago he would arrive to pick me up for a date. Then he'd whip out his scissors and comb and clip away, I'd end up with hair all over my dress."

"Vidal is all in favor of my continuing my acting career. I'm no longer under exclusive contract to Columbia so I'm free to make pictures for whoever I want."

"Vidal travels to this country for four or five months a year so it won't be difficult for me to make movies in Hollywood."

That comes as good news to Tinseltown producers who think Beverly has the qualifications for becoming a major star. But they won't know for sure until the young lady is cast in a top part in an important film.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The Issue Is The Same

We have always been attracted to the magnificent writings of Abraham Lincoln. There is no doubt that many of his statements, written or oral, are, in themselves, literature of a high calibre. As a literary figure, he ranks with the finest to have been produced in this hemisphere.

Today being Lincoln's birthday, we have been thinking of him not so much as the Civil War President, but as the man whose mind was so alert and whose tongue was so active, in causes which many a lesser person wrote off as "fanciful" or "impractical."

One of the reasons Lincoln inspires us is the recollection that his was a free mind untrammelled by the cloying and clinging errors of government schooling. Lincoln did not have to spend years of his life forgetting the dreadful conformity and mediocrity of government schooling. He was able, virtually from the beginning, to seek knowledge and wisdom with his own questing spirit as his guide rather than some lesser school master, intent upon his monthly pittance, his ferule and his scholastic norms.

Lincoln, we like to believe, achieved in great measure because he was able to set his own course. He didn't have to rid himself of the goals and dreams of others. He was an individualist, dreaming his own goals. His remarkable life gives evidence that others, too, granting they are free to make their own way, can achieve as he achieved.

We have been seeking among his treasured writings for some scrap of his literary endeavor which would rather well epitomize not only his noble personal character, but his grasp of the great fundamental issues which, in his day and in ours, play an identical role.

We have found something which serves rather well. Lincoln debated Judge Stephan A. Douglas seven times in Illinois. The debates concerned the great issue of that day, slavery and freedom. Specifically, the verbal contest related to the possible extension of slavery to the new territories of the United States then being opened to settlement.

While Lincoln spoke always in this context, the quotation below applies to the general subject of freedom and slavery and has, we believe, a unique implication in our time.

"That is the real issue. That is the issue which will continue in this country when these poor tongues of Judge Douglas and myself shall be silent. It is the eternal struggle between two principles — right and wrong — throughout the world. They are the two principles that have stood face to face from the beginning of time. The one is the common right of humanity, the other divine right of kings. It is the same principle in whatever shape it envelops itself. It is the same spirit that says, 'You toil and work and earn bread, and I will eat it. No matter what shape it comes, whether from the mouth of a king who bestrides the people of his own nation and who lives from the fruit of their labor, or from one of those men as an apology for enslaving another race, it is the same tyrannical principle.'"

If we apply Lincoln's thoughts on slavery to the burning issue of our own hour upon the global stage, we would say that his words apply equally to the concept of freedom versus regimentation and control by government.

In a very real sense, slavery, as an issue, has moved out of the market place and into the political arena. The evil which was once the mark of businessmen and government alike has largely been abandoned by the businessmen only to be found more deeply entrenched in government. The subtleties of taxation charity by means of force, are all carryovers from a sadder and a less wise day.

On today's anniversary of the emancipator's birth we might do worse than to remember that when some men set themselves up to control the energies of other men, this is slavery regardless of the excuses marshaled to alibi the practice.

THE GUEST PEN: Don't Give Away Secrets

By D. R. SEGAL, Editor, Brownsville Herald

A leading university in the Ivy League sends a three-page questionnaire to applicants for enrollment, suggesting the university's interest in the candidate's activities from the partition to present. But down at the bottom is his stern warning:

"Give no information which would disclose your race, creed, color or national origin."

"In an age where up is down and down is way out, this one is a classic."

One might soberly reflect on an autobiography which gives no clue as to race, religion, color or national origin. For example — if your name is San Leibowitz there is strong evidence of religious affiliation. Membership in the Knights of Columbus suggests certain religious propensities. May one safely advise the university that he belongs to the YWCA, the NAACP, the Polish-American Society or the Sons of Hermann?

Cool it, Dad. Don't give away secrets. No coaching, please.

Well, candidates for admission to Ivy League U. are going to be forced to identify themselves by number or symbol — something sexless, inanimate and with no clear or demonstrable connection with human associations.

A young man of our acquaintance, struggling to make a good impression, asked if I thought it was safe for him to put down he is President of the Young Republican Club. I said that courage is all well and good but why take a chance. I am not sure they let Republicans in college any more and,

besides, this might be a violation of the strictures.

The legalistic friend says the reason for this nervousness on the part of the university is the federal government's dedication to the creation of an Alee-Samee Society of newts. The particular university, down deep beneath the ivy, is consolidating on cold winter nights with tons of federal money contributed to its advanced science programs; and to violate the government's prejudices on prejudice might prejudice its chances of staying on the vein.

At least that is what my lawyer says.

Whatever the reason, it does challenge a young man to give an accounting of himself for 17 years without giving discerning admissions officer a small hint of his race, religion, color or national origin. Anybody who can work it ought to be invited to enroll.

Today is Sunday, Feb. 12, the 43rd day of 1967 with 322 to follow. This is Lincoln's birthday.

The moon is in its new phase. The morning stars Jupiter and Mars.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Venus. British scientist, Charles Darwin, author of "The Origin of the Species," was born on this day in 1809.

On this day in history: In 1963, 43 persons were killed when a jetliner crashed into the Everglades.

Congress Is Glaring At Space Costs

By RAY CROMLEY, Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The space program may face a rough road in Congress in the months ahead.

Rumblings already are being heard on Capitol Hill over continuing the Administration's $5 billion a year space expenditures while the Vietnam war costs are running so high.

For months the mood for a slowdown has been strong, even among some avid space supporters. A slash of almost $400 million has been predicted.

Signs are that the tragic accident in which astronauts Virgil Grissom, Edward White and Roger Chaffee died added strength to the "let's-go-slower" group's argument.

"The focus of its attack is likely to be the after-the-moon program budgeted for almost a half billion dollars in President Johnson's fiscal 1968 proposals.

These include: "Manned flights in earth orbit of up to one year's duration using a multiple rendezvous technique and reusing empty rocket tanks and other systems left in orbit."

"Manned exploration missions of up to 14 days on the surface of the moon."

It is a new program in which we have no major commitment. It does not at present have the glamor of the moon race.

A strong campaign against large space spending is credited with a major assist in winning John Cooper his large majority in the Kentucky Senator race last November.

This would be the wrong time, however, to cut back on future space development. It is exactly this long-time-ahead planning and development which will insure greater safety in space exploration.

By and large, the post-Apollo program as now worked out is a relatively cautious program, though dangerous, of course, as is any exploration into space. As has been mentioned, it would do better with a diversion of more funds to basic and state-of-the-art research.

But the big danger is that we will cut back on the program now, then later decide that we have to keep ahead of the Russians. This could lead to a crash program and the crash fever which goes with it. Such a rush program would mean greater chance-taking and therefore a greater risk of accidents.

What is called for is a new look at the space program with a view to improving the U.S. approach.

For one thing, full use has not been made of the tons of data gathered from the hundreds of manned and unmanned space shots, big and little, which the United States has conducted over the years.

The tendency has been to cream off the relatively easy-to-use data and pass on to the next shots.

Hidden in this data lie some of the answers to a number of space problems — including misfirings, malfunctions and accidents.

It would be well if the Congress would appropriate the modest sums necessary to cut research men digging deeper into

The Vitamin Family: What They Will Do or Won't Do
Q—I am 45 years old and have a low blood pressure (110-70). When my pressure goes down I take vitamin B-12. Is this harmful?

A—No, but neither will it raise your blood pressure. Incidentally, 110-70 is an excellent blood pressure for an adult of any age. Anything you can do, such as avoidance of nervous tension, to keep it from going any higher will pay dividends in health and longevity.

Q—Is vitamin B-12 required for nerves or blood building?

A—A deficiency of this vitamin causes pernicious anemia. The treatment of this disease is the only established clinical use for vitamin B-12.

Q—Will vitamin E strengthen resistance to viral infections? Is it of any help in relieving menstrual pain?

A—There is no evidence that vitamin E will do either of these things.

Q—Is it true that vitamin E is good for anyone with diabetes or symptoms caused by the menopause? Can you take too much of this vitamin?

A—Vitamin E has been tried for a great variety of conditions including the two mentioned, but there is no evidence that it will benefit them. This vitamin is found so abundantly in most foods that supplements are needed only in persons on a low-fat diet. Since vitamin poisoning occurs only with vita-

(Industrial News Review)

The head of the American Farm Bureau Federation, perhaps the largest farm organization in the country, has asked for an end to government farm controls. Forty years' experience with such controls, he said, has shown that "government supply management in agriculture does not work." He added that one of the chief causes of mass-starvation in India is price controls imposed by the Indian government. The theory of the government's program of controls in this country has been to protect farmers over abundance. Whatever justification there may have been for such controls in the past no longer exists. Rapid population increases in the U.S. and throughout the world have ended the age of surpluses. The Farm Bureau spokesman suggested, the government should now devote its attention to production, marketing research and promotion of international trade. The time is rapidly approaching when every available acre of tillable land will have to be used for food and fiber production. The inherent efficiency of the American farmer will be needed as never before. It should be recognized once and for all that a free market in agriculture, as elsewhere, is the most productive market.

Americans loved and honored them, for despite all false teachings and all modern confusions of value, Americans can still recognize fundamental virtue and dedication and heroism when it is so clearly put before the nation.

Virgil Grissom twice piloted an American ship through cosmic space. Edward White was the first American to walk in space and made the longest walk in space of any man to date. Roger Chaffee would have distinguished himself equally in the mighty void beyond the world. Their tragic death in a flash fire while testing their space-ship for their most ambitious venture should serve, first of all, to memorialize their courage. It should inspire all of us, in whatever walk of life, to be a little more like them and to honor the qualities they so well represented, whenever and wherever they appear. Our venture into space will go on "Gus" Grissom, Ed White and Roger Chaffee would have wanted it that way.

Although some say the custom of sending valentines originated with the martyrdom of St. Valentine in 270 A.D., other maintain it started in the Middle Ages and commemorates the day on which birds choose their mates. At any rate, the oldest valentine on record was penned by the Duke of Orleans while he was penned in the Tower of London in 1415 and is exhibited today in the British Museum. Elizabethans sent love tokens and Shakespeare's Ophelia utters a "Good morrow to my valentine," which indicates the beloved in those days presented himself instead of a lacy card. Samuel Papyrus recorded in his diary in 1667 that a valentine for his wife set him back 5 pounds (about $25). American colonists started sending them in 1684, but we doubt if they got them at a local card store. It was probably a homespun missive. Esther Howland, daughter of a Worcester, Mass., stationer, was the first to turn them out on production line, forerunner of today's multimillion dollar business. And in 1886 the U.S. Post Office Dept. suggested that all valentines be mailed on February 13 to insure their delivery on the Great Day. Maybe the service was better in those days, but in this jet age you should mail yours a week ahead and hope they'll get there on time.

'New Economics' Has Same Old Trouble

By OSCAR W. COOLEY, Assoc. Prof. Economics, Ohio Northern Univ.

According to the "new economics," government can check either booms or busts. You throw cold water on a boom by raising tax rates and restricting bank credit, and you remedy a bust by expanding bank credit, creating more spending money, and cutting taxes. It's easy enough to say what ought to be done but, it seems, not so easy to do it.

Consider the present situation. From 1960 to 1966, business was on a rising trend. Unemployment dropped from over 6 percent to 3.7 percent, which they say is about as far down as it can be pushed. Gross National Product rose steadily, reaching about $740,000,000 in 1966.

By 1965, business was really booming and it was clearly time for the Potomac drivers to put on the brakes, but they did not. The Federal Reserve kept on expanding the money supply and when in December, 1965 the Fed took a first timid step to damp the boom, raising its interest rate by a half of one percent, President Johnson gave it a scolding.

In early 1966 some cautious souls suggested it was time to raise taxes, but the administration spurned the idea and continued to borrow the extra funds needed to finance the affair in Vietnam. This expanded the money supply, fueling the boom.

Finally, in April the Fed — always more conservative than the Treasury — began to sell bonds to soak up the extra money. Eager to expand, business forms bid up the interest rate. Food prices rose. Inflation was in full swing.

In early fall, the reduced money supply began to take effect. The 1967 autos did not sell as readily as the 1966 models had. Steel makers reported their sales slipping. Housing starts in October were the lowest in any month since World War II. In December, auto sales were down 6 percent from the previous December. Inventories of goods were reported accumulating. We were in a recession.

Professor Milton Friedman of University of Chicago who is president of the American Economic Association, writing in "Newsweek," says the recession was precipitated by the Federal Reserve's reversal of its monetary policy in April 1966. So violent was the reversal that the money in circulation not only ceased growing but shrank more than two billion dollars in about seven months.

When in November the recession became apparent, certainly to those who are as well posted as the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, the board did not back water but continued — and may still be continuing, for it does not advertise its doings — to choke off bank credit. It may be converting what seemed to be a mild recession into a severe downturn.

In his state-of-the-union address, January 10, President Johnson called for a six percent increase in income taxes. This is just the opposite of what the new economics says should be done in a recession. How ill-timed the proposal was businessmen were quick to point out. "It is conceivable that if additional restraints are put on the economy, such as increased taxes, we will have a depression," said Edward Ball, chairmen, Florida East Coast Railway. "If we load a tax increase onto business next year (1967), we will certainly have a recession even if The Federal Reserve reverses its policy immediately," said Professor Yale Borzen, University of Chicago.

President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers is dominated by the "new" economists. They know the formulas for "counter-cyclical" policy. Why don't they put them into effect? Why, in the boom years of 1964-65, did they persist in advising the President and Congress to cut taxes, run the government at a deficit, and expand bank credit? And why do they now, as a recession takes shape, propose a tax increase, which will be like a millstone hung around the neck of a sinking swimmer?

Even if taxes are increased 6 percent, President Johnson expects the government to operate at a deficit of $9,700,000,000 in 1967 and $8,100,000,000 in 1968. This will tend to counteract the recession, but it's not being planned to do so. Rather, operating at a deficit has become a fixed habit; it cannot help being right sometimes!

Professor Friedman says our monetary history proves the U.S. money authorities never have been able to do the right thing at the right time. Either they have not known what to do, when, or the political necessities have kept them from putting their knowledge into practice. For example, how can the Treasury spend less and eliminate the deficit when politics demands that subsidies be ladled out liberally to this and that group?

Friedman would have the government do two things: 1. Operate with a balanced budget, if necessary to incur a debt, it would be small and temporary. 2. Increase the nation's money supply at a fixed rate of about 4 percent per year and do so every year without regard to business conditions. This could supply the additional money needed for business growth but would not fuel inflation.

In short, the president of the American Economic Association says the "new economics" is a failure. It has tried to manipulate the dollar and the debt so as to counter the business cycle but has failed time after time. He proposes we return to the old, common-sense economics which is relatively automatic in its operation.

My next article will discuss the national debt — does it do more harm than good?

A man, full of excitement, telephoned the fire department: Man — Fire! Fire! Fireman — Where? Man — My House! Fireman — I mean the location of the fire. Man — My kitchen! Fireman — Yes, but how can we get to your place? Man — You've got a fire engine, haven't you?

Big-hearted Big Broth

A man goes down from a blow to the solar plexus and we say he's had the breath knocked out of him.

Every act of coercion in society—coercion being the forcible imposition of one's will on others—is like a damaging blow that knocks the breath out of humanity.

Nor does it make any difference whether the coercive act is accidental or deliberate, for a noble or an ignoble purpose it is not the intention behind the act, but the nature of the act itself, that does the injury.

Whether one be injured "for his own good" or "for the good of humanity" does not modify the extent of the injury.

This is strong language when acts of coercion are proudly and widely advocated from platform, classroom, pulpit, and the editorial page; but can such a reading of the issue be logically challenged?

Crowning Evil

Coercion imposed on others, whether to gain something for self or for those we love or pity, or to keep others from gaining for themselves by their own honest effort, is the crowning evil of our times.

Nor does it make any difference whether the coercion is inflicted directly or indirectly through one's agent, such as a personal accomplice, a labor union, a government, or whatever.

Regardless of pretensions to the contrary, only now and then can a person be found who does not advocate some coercion, for some laudable end.

After I had lectured recently in New Delhi, a reporter said to me, "Economic freedom is all right for you affluent Americans but not for an underdeveloped country such as India."

The coercive doctrine is highly publicized and accounts for much of the ideological noise we hear.

Facing the matter from another point of view, we see that man is an entity of radiant energies.

creative direction. For certainly the Design must call for human emergence in awareness perception, consciousness.

But man, with his power to choose, can and often does turn his energies in a destructive direction. His energy cannot "day put"; it has to expend itself.

But the lack of self-control is not all; there is another influence at work. Whenever coercive policies dominate the social situation, inhibiting and prohibiting energies from manifesting themselves creatively these energies, under the necessity of expending themselves, tend to turn destructive.

In the name of doing good! To illustrate my point, let us consider an educated electorate as an objective. But how is universal education to be achieved? Surely, not by relying on freedom, as we do with religion.

Yet, the application of coercion to education is turning out what a vast majority of us do not want: millions of "educated" coercionists, annually—exactly what any capable diagnostician would have predicted.

Universal education may be a worthy objective. But when coercion is applied, compelling universal attendance, it becomes necessary to "scrape the bottom of the barrel" to find teachers.

Granted that education ought to rank high in any rational hierarchy of values, it must also be conceded that there is no more difficult aim to achieve in the whole creative realm.

Just as dependent on the law of cause and effect was the moral development. Out of the inflation of prices grew a speculative class; and, in the complete uncertainty as to the future, all business became a game of chance.

Thus was the history of France logically developed in obedience to natural laws; such has, to a greater or less degree, always been the result of irredeemable paper, created or legislative assemblies rather than based upon standards of value permanent in their nature and agreed upon throughout the entire world.

Just as dependent on the law of cause and effect was the moral development. Out of the inflation of prices grew a speculative class; and, in the complete uncertainty as to the future, all business became a game of chance.

It is a simple, obvious, self-evident fact that ideas, understanding, wisdom cannot be coercively injected into the consciousness of another.

If human creativity is the goal, the reliance should be on freedom. And it matters not whether the antecedent area of growth or development be education, steel making, dress designing, or whatever.

Our human stars come from every walk of life—when not retarded by illusion or delusion or fear or coercion. They emerge from the oddest environments and circumstances, as if every

Flat Money Inflation In France

By ANDREW DICKSON WHITE (First President of Cornell University)

Whenever any nation intrusts to its legislators the issue of a currency not based on the idea of redemption in standard coin recognized in the commerce of civilized nations, it intrusts to them the power to raise or depress the value of every article in the possession of every citizen.

The question will naturally be asked: On whom did this vast depreciation mainly fall at last? When this currency had sunk to about one three-hundredth part of its nominal value and, after that, to nothing, in whose hands was the bulk of it? The answer is simple. I shall give it in the exact words of that thoughtful historian from whom I have already quoted: "Before the end of the year 1796, the paper money was almost exclusively in the hands of the working classes, employees and men of small means, whose property was not large enough to invest in stores of goods or national lands.

Thus was the history of France logically developed in obedience to natural laws; such has, to a greater or less degree, always been the result of irredeemable paper, created or legislative assemblies rather than based upon standards of value permanent in their nature and agreed upon throughout the entire world.

new-born babe were a potential star. These talented ones shine for a moment, help to light the way, and then are gone forever except as they remain in book or memory.

This human luminosity is as mysterious as life itself; indeed, it is life in its richest form. For any one of us in our proximity to absolute ignorance to attempt its controlled management, that is, the coerced coalescence of this infinitely intricate profusion of "minute energies, is to reactivate a system as nonsensical as "the divine right of kings"; it is to say in effect, "Only I can make a tree"; it is to ask for enthronement atop the Cosmos!

If we would improve ourselves, we will cast off our coercionist inclinations; we will look to the stars, which is to say, we will look to excellence in ourselves and others. This is what we do when we abandon our coercive way and put our reliance on freedom.

Airport Plan for the Jet Age

Airports, theorized a group of engineers and builders, are not geared to today's—and especially tomorrow's—times, involving massive passenger service via huge airliners as shown at right. Passengers are subjected to long hikes from terminal to plane, followed by airplane congestion on the runway.

Air travel promises fantastic speeds, but ground travel at the airport continues to bog down. Project Satell-Air, as depicted here, proposes to move planes faster on the ground, as well as speeding passengers to planes.

At left is a proposed plan for the New York area. New jetports could handle the giant airliners, while Kennedy and La Guardia would handle medium-range passenger service.

A Vietnam truce any time in the next 12 months would alter Presidential politics in the United States as to make the future seem almost unrelated to the past.

A truce would mend the broken fences for President Johnson. The major cause of dissent within the Democratic party would be removed.

LBJ would resume his role as the beloved leader of a national consensus in favor of raids on the U.S. Treasury in pursuit of the welfare state. The greatest medicine show since FDR would be on the road again in gaily painted wagons.

Huey might have made it had he not been gunned down in 1933. Huey's comedy was called "Everyman a King," a political version of the zany "Hellzapoppin'" that enriched the late Olson and Johnson team of comics in the 1930's. As Democratic dissatisfaction with Johnson and his administration faded in the warm glow of near-peace, there also would be a fade away of Republican zest for the 1968 presidential contest.

The ambition of New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to boost New York's left of center Sen. Jacob K. Javits to the Republican vice presidential nomination would cease to be the experiment in political nonsense which it seems now to be.

Javits would fit snugly into second place on a 1968 Republican ticket so committed. Michigan's Gov. George Romney is the pick of Rockefeller and the Eastern Republican establishment in general to head the ticket next year against LBJ and, presumably, Hubert H. Humphrey.

Mid-America Pipeline Notes Increase In Sales, Revenues

TULSA — A 10.4 per cent increase in sales and revenues for 1966 over 1965 was reported today by Mid-America Pipeline Co.

Robert E. Thomas, president, said sales and operating revenues for the year 1966 were estimated at $53,864,900, compared with $48,769,751 in 1965.

Thomas said increased costs including sharply higher prices for outside purchases of LP Gas and about $243,000 on non-recurring expenses combined to reduce net income slightly for 1966 to an estimated $3,002,000, or $1.25 per share of common stock compared with $3,029,695, or $1.28 per share of common stock, actually reported for 1965.

Barrel throughput of the company's LP Gas pipeline system increased 4.4 per cent, crude production was up 48.1 per cent reflecting initial success of a waterflood project, natural gas production increased 10.8 per cent and natural gas liquids production rose 9.6 per cent over 1965 to new record levels.

Pioneer Natural Gas Announces 1966 Net Income

AMARILLO — At a meeting of the Board of Directors of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. held in Amarillo recently, C. I. Wall, president, announced that consolidated net income of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. and subsidiaries for 1966 amounted to $6,572,220 from operating revenues of $52,872,663 compared to consolidated net income in 1965 of $7,167,285 from operating revenues of $50,996,318. Earnings per share amount to $.92 and $1.00 respectively on the 7,173,028 shares outstanding at the end of each year.

The board declared a regular quarterly dividend of 18 cents per share payable March 9, 1967, to stockholders of record at the close of business on Feb. 24, 1967.

The company's annual report to the stockholders and proxy statements will be mailed about March 15.

Pan American Petroleum Scores On Work Safety

TULSA — Employees of Pan American Petroleum Corp. made 1966 the safest work year in the company's history and chalked up a safety score significantly better than national industry averages.

The 7,809 employees of Pan American Petroleum worked more than 16.3 million hours and compiled their best accident frequency rate of 1.52. This means that for every million hours worked, there were only about 1 1/2 disabling injuries — injuries which require an employee to miss one day's work or more.

Pan American Petroleum's performance is especially significant when compared to the frequency rate in the petroleum industry and industry in general.

1966 figures aren't yet available but 1965 figures of the National Safety Council show why Pan American Petroleum can be proud of the 1966 results. In 1965 the petroleum industry had a frequency rate of 7.48 and all industry had a rate of 6.53.

With oil and gas production in 18 states and Canada, Pan American Petroleum is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana). The company's New Orleans division, with about 850 employees, set an example with no disabling injuries in 1966. With about 900 employees, the Denver division followed closely with only one after a perfect score in 1965.

The 1966 mark of 1.52 for Pan American Petroleum beat the company's 1965 frequency rate of 1.80 — a record at the time.

Ex-Pampan Piper Retires

HOUSTON — Tom A. Rowell of 2020 Dentfield Lane, Childress, welder in the Abilene district of Humble Pipe Line Co., recently retired from the company, after more than 25 years' service, under the company's normal retirement program.

Rowell was honored recently at a dinner in Childress by employees from Pampa and the Abilene District. H. H. Qualls, district manager of Abilene, presented Mr. Rowell with a retirement plaque and reviewed his quarter of a century service with the company.

He joined the company as a pipeliner in Pampa in 1941. In 1944 he was named a welder for the company at McCamey.

Most of his company career was spent as a welder in the West Texas-Panhandle area at Odessa and at Pampa. He served on four brief loan assignments as a welding inspector on pipeline companies.

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following questions and answers on Social Security and Medicare benefits were prepared by the Pampa Social Security Office in the Hughes Bldg. and are published by The Pampa News as a public service:

Q—I will be 65 in February. I have never worked under Social Security. My husband is 60 so he cannot get his Social Security payments yet. Do I have to wait until he can draw his Social Security to sign up for Medicare?

A—No, you should file an application for Medicare this month or next month so that your Medicare benefits will go into effect the month that you are 65.

Q—My wife is age 62. She has never worked under social security, but I have since it started in 1937. I am age 60 and do not plan to retire until I am age 65. I understand that I pay social security tax so my wife and I both receive benefits. Since my wife is already 62, can she start drawing her benefits now?

A—No, she has to wait until you begin receiving your benefits because your wife's benefit will be based on your social security account.

Q—I went into business for myself this year. Since I have no employer to report my earnings, how will I get credit for my earnings on my social security record?

A—You receive credit for self-employment earnings by filing a schedule C (Statement of Profit or Loss From Self-Employment) with your income tax return. This schedule shows the net profit from your business and the amount of social security tax due. This tax is sent to the Internal Revenue Service with your income tax return.

Q—I graduated from college five years ago and have two small children. What protection does social security provide for them?

A—If you were to die or become disabled, we could pay them monthly benefits until they reach age 22 providing they stay in school until then and do not marry before age 22. You also can count on monthly disability benefits for yourself if you are severely disabled. Your wife could plan on monthly benefits too, as long as she has a child under 18 in her care.

Q—I work for a school district which does not have social security. However, for the past 10 years I have had a small bookkeeping business. I have been paying social security tax on this self-employment income each year. A friend tells me I will not be able to receive both my teacher's retirement benefits and social security retirement. Is this correct?

A—No. You will be able to receive retirement benefits from both the state teacher's retirement system and social security. Neither interferes with the other.

Bacteria Are Refining Boon

Bacteria generally are thought of as bearers of disease. Not so in refinery operations. Here these wriggling microscopic organisms are put to work to help clean up millions of gallons of water daily after use in the plants. Bacteria which operate as "chemical factories" literally eat up impurities in waste water — impurities picked up while the water is used for cooling and process operations.

Other bacteria are put to work also to gobble up solid waste material on filter clays, in separator sediments, and in settlings on tank bottoms. In some cases oil wastes are mixed into the soil where bacteria consume the oil, changing the organic carbon in the waste into carbon dioxide which is required for plant growth.

SNOW CLOSES ROAD

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

"Why is it a man wakes up in the morning after sleeping under an advertised blanket on an advertised mattress, pulls off advertised pajamas, bathes with advertised soap, shaves with advertised cream and razor, eats a breakfast of advertised cereal and coffee, puts on an advertised suit and hat, rides to work in an advertised car and then refuses to advertise his business, saying advertising doesn't pay? And then, if business is really bad, he advertises his store for sale?"
