

Highlights and Sidelights From Capitol

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — W.E. Hutton & Co. believes some of the steam has gone out of the advance in stocks for the time being, but only an intermediate correction, "and a highly selective one at that," is in prospect.

Hutton said the market is struggling with an assortment of restraining factors that include: expectations of some "decidedly poor" first quarter earnings reports; the fact that prices are back up in an area where the supply of shares in the past has been substantial; and signs that prices of glamour stocks "have advanced to levels at which even their partisans think they are liberally appraised."

Eastman Dillon, Union Securities, said the market should be able to move gradually higher through most of the year, with a number of factors contributing to a possible spring advance.

One favorable factor, Eastman Dillon said, is the large amount of money still available among institutional investors. Another possible support factor, it mentioned, is the new dual

Ralph E. Samuel & Co., looking for forces behind heavy trading volume of recent weeks, found one answer in "the familiar thesis that investors are convinced inflation lies ahead and they are anxious to swap their dollars for equities."

In 1775 Patrick Henry, speaking before the Virginia Convention, made his immortal statement: "I know not what course others may take, but for me, give me liberty or give me death."

The motto of the state of Maryland is Fatti maschil, parole femine (manly deeds, womanly words).

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex. — Texas cities now have won at least half of their battle for authority to levy a one per cent sales tax.

Both houses of the Legislature passed the bill. It's now ready for the Governor's signature. Final step is approval by local voters.

Failure of the bill to obtain a two-thirds majority vote of the Legislature means that the law cannot go into effect until 90 days after adjournment. This means that it probably will be September before any city can hold an election on the subject.

Approval over heavy opposition was a major victory for Gov. John Connally and officials of the Texas Municipal League. Legislative presiding officers Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and House Speaker Ben Barnes also strongly backed the controversial measure.

These are important features of the bill: —Tax can be levied only on those items covered by the present two per cent state sales tax. (It will not fall on auto-purchases.)

—City governing bodies can submit the issue to election on their own motion or by petition of voters.

—Voters also can petition to get rid of the levy after two years.

—State comptroller will supervise collection (along with state sales tax) and refund one per cent, less administration costs, to the cities.

—Passage of this bill, sponsored by Rep. John Traeger of Sequin and Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso, is viewed as having one effect not intended by some of the strongest backers: it likely will make any increase in state sales tax this year more difficult if alternate revenue programs fail.

FEED LOT BILL RIPPED, PASSED — A "version" of the bill by Rep. Tom Holmes of Granbury to license cattle feed-lot operations cleared the House. But it was hardly recognizable.

Led by Reps. Bill Finck of San Antonio, Felix McDonald of Edinburg and Jim Nugent of Kerrville, opponents tacked on amendments which would make licensing strictly voluntary and would remove the protection against nuisance suits on findings of inspectors.

Provisions in Holmes' original bill would have made the law mandatory for feed lots having capacities of 1,000 or more, but smaller feed lots would be covered only if they asked to be, individually.

Holmes moved the bill to final passage, even though it had been rendered virtually meaningless. Apparently he's hoping for a better fate in the Senate, then beefing up by a conference committee.

WILDLIFE WEEK — Bills strictly for the birds and the bee-keepers have been passed by the House.

One would remove pelicans and peregrine falcons from the unprotected bird list. Another would provide for branding registration of bee-keeping equipment.

A Senate committee followed up by approving a ban on commercial exploitation of Texas tortoises and horned toads.

ANTI WIRETAPPING — Telephone wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping were frowned upon by the House which passed (116-29) a control bill recommended by the Governor.

Wiretapping could be authorized on court order if evidence expected to be gained might save human life, or prevent extortion, kidnapping, armed robbery, rape or arson. Evidence thus obtained would be admissible in court.

Buggin by law enforcement officers would be permissible without court order for a one-day period where the procedure conceivably might save a life.

PARKS BILL PASSED — A resolution that would authorize the state to issue $75,000,000 in bonds to finance acquisition of land for state park sites was unanimously passed by the House.

A proposed constitutional amendment by Rep. Gene Hendryx of Alpine passed 149-9. It had been amended twice by the House Constitutional Amendments Committee. One amendment was minor. But the other cut from six per cent to four and a half per cent the maximum interest rate to be paid on the bonds.

Measure now goes to the Senate.

COURTS SPEAK — A divided State Supreme Court reversed an important Taylor County oil and gas lease case. It ruled invalid a lease which it upheld three years ago. Leasing of oil and gas rights under seven million acres or more was at stake in the decision.

High courts also said a Tarrant County woman judge was wrong in refusing a legislator's request for postponement of a divorce case during legislative session. It ordered a new trial.

Court overruled a $60,815 award to a Houstonian who complained that his expensive new auto jumped the road due to faulty brakes and steering mechanism. Decision was that neither the dealer nor the manufacturer was legally responsible.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has asked the U.S. Supreme Court to grant a full hearing on its recent decision invalidating the 1965 redistricting of the Texas House of Representatives. Martin said the court's ruling dissolved the Texas Legislature, STANDARDS HEARINGS SET — Texas Water Pollution Control Board has set April 12 for the last in its series of scheduled public hearings on water quality requirements.

Austin hearing will be open to all interested parties. Water quality requirements will be set for rivers, lakes, bays and estuaries and portions of the Gulf of Mexico within the territorial limits of the state.

Evidence gathered will be considered by the Board in establishing standards for permits and applications for discharges of wastes into public waters. Witnesses should contact the Austin office of the Pollution Control Board at 1001 W. 49th St., at least 10 days before hearing.

DISTRICT ENLARGED — Middle Sabine River Navigation District will add Upshur, Van Zandt, Smith and Wood counties under legislation just signed into law.

District formed two years ago to promote moving barge traffic from the Gulf of Mexico up the Sabine River included Gregg, Rusk, Harrison and Panola counties.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED — Alfred W. Negley, San Antonio businessman and rancher, was named by Governor Connally to the Texas Liquor Control Board. He succeeds Wilson Heard Jr. of Refugio.

Connally also selected Wayne Gibbons of Breckenridge as Director of the Division of State-Federal Relations in Washington. Gibbons has been performing the duties of director, while serving as administrative assistant to the governor.

T. Autrey Smith of Winters and Fred Conn of San Angelo were designated Directors of the Upper Colorado River Authority and G. C. Allen of Robert Lee was re-appointed as a director.

Connally announced these additional re-appointments: Asher J. Thompson of Lubbock and Mrs. Alfred A. Ratner of El Paso to the State Commission for the Blind; Dempsey Henley of Liberty, to the Commission for Indian Affairs; Hudson Davis of Borger as Canadian River Compact Commissioner; and James Bozka and Robert Pesek of Hallettsville as directors of Lavaca County Flood Control District No. 3.

CRIME RATE AT NEW HIGH — Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, reports that major crime in Texas reached an all-time high in 1966.

Total was 297,810, compared with 284,249 the year before. Murder and homicide went up 17.5 per cent, robbery 10.4 per cent, burglary 9.2 per cent, theft 3.2 per cent and auto theft 11.2 per cent.

Local, state and national efforts to curb crime, said Garrison, "will be meaningless until each person determines to make crime prevention a personal issue and lend his support to law enforcement activities."

CONCENTRATING on her work at a Red Chinese machine tool plant in Shenyang is worker-engineer Wei Feng-Ying, according to an official Communist source. The source stated that Wei "has remolded herself into a proletarian fighter devoted wholeheartedly to the public and to the revolution."

STOCKERS MANEUVER through the hairy asses at California's Riverside Raceway during the Motor Trend 500, proving that Detroit "barges" don't do badly on the turns.

American 'Barges' Are Behaving Like Real, Veteran Sports Cars

By BOB COCHNAR and DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
RIVERSIDE, Calif. (NEA) — Detroit "barges," as snobby sports car fans love to call American production cars, can run a pretty fair road race.

Plymouths, Mercurys and Chevies behave almost like Formula 1 racers. Pokey Prothero of "The Group" had the phrase for it: "Who would have thought it?" Of course, as Motor Trend editor Don MacDonald points out, the 44 cars entered in the fifth annual 500 are not exactly Seeing a Ford Fairlane or a Dodge Charger run a reasonably decent line around the winding, 2.7-mile course at 90 m.p.h.-plus speeds sends vicarious thrills down the spine of the owner of an ordinary Fairlane or Charger.

Some of the veteran stock car drivers who usually run on oval tracks found the looping circuit a new kind of game. Yet Oren Prosser, winner of the Permatex 200, the 500's preliminary, said Riverside is "just another race track."

And Jerry Titus, a top sports car driver and an editor of Sports Car Graphic who never before raced stockers, led the pack in the Permatex until valve trouble stopped him. Titus admitted he was impressed with the handling qualities of his Ford sedan.

All of this would tend to prove that just because a family sedan happens to be planned and built in Detroit doesn't mean it's capable only of fast, straight-line driving.

Among the fans at the Motor Trend event were several top executives from Ford, Mercury and Chrysler, including Leo Beebe, Lincoln-Mercury's general marketing manager, and Donald Frey, the Ford Division's head man. Both Chrysler and FoMoCo fielded factory teams, underlining their decision to back all forms of racing.

General Motors, regrettably wasn't there although several Chevrolets, entered by independent groups, acquitted themselves reasonably well. GM has this thing about refusing to participate officially in racing events. Perhaps, after analyzing the recent, rapid growth of Ford, it may one day change its corporate mind.

Robert E. Petersen, president of Petersen Publishing Co. (parent of Motor Trend) and chairman of the executive committee of Riverside, feels that racing, particularly production car road racing, does much to help build safer cars. "The 500 is really a kind of grueling test," he explains. "And automotive engineers and designers can learn a lot from it. Besides that, it's a heck of a lot of fun."

SPINOFFS: Riverside is about 80 miles from Los Angeles, but 61,000 Greater Los Angelenos braved rain and impossible traffic to see the Motor Trend 500. The Los Angeles Coliseum is within the city limits — 15,000 turned up to see the NFL Pro Bowl held the same day. The Pro Bowl was televised nationally; the 500 was not. It could be, of course, that people were just plain tired of seeing football but the great gap between attendance figures should indicate (1) the popularity of racing and (2) an untapped area for network television.

Pontiac is about to premiere its sporty car, the Firebird. We'll be interested to see just how it affects Cougar sales.

what you'd find in the family garage. Suspensions are tightened, mills rebored, engines finely tuned — but the basic handling characteristics are not unlike the ordinary sedan. Racing a production car around an oval track is a test of endurance and speed but is otherwise no special feat. Maneuvering it around a road course — particularly the hairy asses and 90-degree turns of Riverside — is another matter.

Texans Must Consider Property Law In Filing Federal Income Tax

DALLAS (Spl) — The income tax instructions mailed to taxpayers do not tell the whole story for married taxpayers in Texas.

Since dividends are considered community property in Texas, the husband and wife may claim a $200 dividend exclusion rather than $100, no matter which spouse owns the stock. An estimated 160,531 Dallas District taxpayers filing joint returns report dividends on their tax return. Many of these taxpayers do not understand that the community property law gives them a double dividend exclusion.

Panhandle Region Has Long Long Indian Lore History

Interest in the archeological treasures and Indian lore of the Texas Panhandle region was heightened at the March meeting of the Pampa Genealogical and Historical Society at Lovett Memorial Library recently with members of the Canadian River Gem and Mineral Society as special guests.

Speaker for the "Texas History Month" program was Calvin Cummings, archeologist in residence of the National Park Service's Alibates National Monument located in the Sanford Recreational Area of Lake Meredith near Fritch.

He explained that the history of this National Monument began about 20,000 years ago, during the Permian period. The red clay beds and the white Dolomite rose out of an inland sea during the Glacier period.

It was thought that the Indians who settled here came from Siberia to Alaska by way of the Bering Strait. At one time there was a strip of land east of the Rockies that wasn't covered by the glaciers and it was used as a highway by these people.

The only thing that the Folsom and Clovis man had to hunt the pre-historic animals, such as the mastodon, was a stone spear made by hand. They later learned to make arrows and other artifacts out of the Alibates flint.

The next group of people that lived along the Canadian River were the inland, woodland people from the Mississippi Valley. These people built very crude pueblos of one story.

About 1450 all the Indians disappeared. Some of the theories about their disappearance are: They had no idea of sanitation, there was a great drought, and the Comanches and Kiowas roamed these lands between 1450 and the middle 1500s decimating the weaker tribes.

Later Coronado and other Spanish explorers made trips up and down the Canadian River Valley. The next group of people to move in were the U.S. soldiers who were sent to fight the Indians in the 1860's and 70's for whom a military fort was built. And many years later we had the gas and oil explorations.

The Alibates flint is now found as far north as Plum Creek and as far south as Buffalo Creek. A Folsom arrowhead point is longer and narrower than the Clovis point and the flint is much further up the point.

The Alibates Flint Monument was named for Mr. Allen Bates, a ranch foreman, who was often called Allie. Now Alibates is a National Monument and no artifacts can be picked up except in the recreation areas. They hope in two years to have paved roads through the Monument and several buildings including a museum.

All along the Canadian River are found many Indian sites. These Indian sites may be recognized by a pattern of stones outlining a rectangle or by terraces they built. It is quite expensive to excavate these Indian sites. For every day spent in excavating it is necessary to spend in the laboratory.

Mastodons and small horses roamed the Canadian River Valley as late as 7,000 years ago. The early men hunted the horse for food. These animals also disappeared. The horse was brought back in the 1500s by the Spanish explorers.

Of special interest to the group was a display of arrowheads made of flint from the Alibates quarry—belonging to the collection of Rolla V. Sailor of Pampa.

The most effective witness against Chief Justice Earl Warren and his Supreme Court majority which imposed the one-man-one-vote rule of legislative reapportionment on the states would be, of all people, Gov. Earl Warren of California.

This might embarrass the chief justice. No matter because it surely would help the common man understand how Warren came to be so mixed in his own mind on legislative reapportionment. The question arises because as of now 32 of the necessary 34 states have petitioned the U.S. Congress to summon a constitutional convention to undo the Supreme Court's reapportionment order.

The Constitution provides in Article 5 that the Congress must summon a constitutional convention when petitioned by two thirds of the states to do so. Petitions of 32 states attest the deep feeling among millions of citizens that the Supreme Court erred on reapportionment and requires to be set right on its responsibilities to the people of the United States and to the legislative branch of government.

Chief Justice Warren was among the court's 6 to 3 majority on Feb. 17, 1964 that imposed on the states legislative apportionment of both houses strictly on the basis of population, partly on geography and partly on general principles.

Chief Justice Warren and his court majority were very firm in outlawing this time-honored method of apportionment. Apportionment was vastly different in the eyes of Gov. Earl Warren of California during the 1948 political campaign. Here is what Warren said then: "Many California counties are far more important in the life of the state than (the ratio) their population bears to the entire population of the state. It is for this reason that I never have been in favor of restricting their representation in the (state) senate to a strictly population basis."
