Red Guards Confront 'Anti-Mao' Peasants

Shanghai is Scene Of Political Turmoil

HONG KONG (UPI) —Hordes of militant Red Guards are battling an anti-Maoist "peasant army" for control of the southeastern Chinese province of Kiangsi, news reports here said Saturday.

The reports followed an admission by Radio Peking Friday that peasants were pouring into Shanghai from the countryside to attack workers and other city dwellers supporting Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung. Other reports told of clashes in other major cities.

Price Corrects Premature Story On Appointment

Bob Price, of Pampa, the new Republican congressman for the Texas Panhandle, said Saturday in Washington he had not been definitely assigned to the House Agriculture Committee although a Friday news release from Washington said he had been.

"The story that I was on the Agriculture Committee was inadvertently released after I had been nominated for that committee," Price said. "However, the prospects are very good that I will be named on that committee when final assignments are made early next week."

"In the meantime," Price added, "I am doing all I can to help my colleague, George Bush of Houston, to get a seat on the powerful Ways and Means Committee."

"Since the Democrats failed to nominate a Texan on this committee, I feel it most important that the state be represented as it traditionally has been on the tax-writing committee that is so vital to the oil and gas industry," Price concluded.

EDITOR'S NOTE — The Pampa News story Friday stated Price had been recommended for the Agriculture Committee post, but did not state he had been appointed.

Firing of U. of C. Prexy Creates Furor for Reagar

BERKELEY Calif. (UPI) —The firing of Clark Kerr as president of the huge and prestigious University of California ignited the first big political furor of the new administration of Gov. Ronald Reagan Saturday.

Kerr's abrupt dismissal was widely interpreted not only as a victory for Reagan but also as a triumph for the student new left of firebrand orator Mario Savio.

On the political front, former Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who lost to Reagan in the November election, called the firing a "counter-revolutionary criminals."

The Hong Kong newspaper Truth Daily, quoting newly arrived travelers from Kiangsi's capital city of Nanchang, said the entire province had been plunged into utter confusion by the power struggle.

It said "peasant army" was organized by a huge group of dissident Red Guards called the "August 1st Battle Corps." The corps was ordered by Peking to disband when it was disclosed to be under the control of anti-Mao leaders.

The newspaper said the dissidents then organized into the "peasant army" and dared the Red Guards to try and oust them from territory it controlled. The dissident forces suffered some reverses at first, the newspaper said, but began recruiting local peasants from the countryside and built up a large force with effective fighting power of two armies.

Tens of thousands of Red Guard reinforcements were moved into the province to take over the territory occupied by (See RED CHINA, Page 3) acted in a responsible manner." During his election campaign, Reagan attacked Kerr for being "soft" on Savio's demonstrators, but never publicly called for his ouster.

But one of his supporters, Assemblyman Don C. Mulford, expressed hope that the governor now will "keep up his momentum." Mulford interpreted the election as meaning the voters want discipline restored.

On the campus — scene in 1964 of a Free Speech Movement sit-in that ended with nearly 800 arrests—there was little visible reaction. A heavy, chilling rain kept most students indoors.

But the day before the firing, Kerr had been denounced at a rally organized by new left leaders near the regents' meeting place. At the same time Reagan's effigy hung from the platform.

The editor of the student newspaper, John Oppendahl, reported, "Campus radicals are overjoyed."

Other student leaders, such as the student body president and head of the Inter-Fraternity Council, expressed shock. They noted that there was some animosity against Kerr, but said he was generally supported by the majority of students.

In addition to the controversy over the manner of handling the protest demonstrations that have broken out on the Berkeley campus of the university for the last three years, Kerr and Reagan differed on the governor's plans to cut university spending by 10 per cent and his proposal that students for the first time be charged a tuition fee.

Commenting on his dismissal Kerr predicted that new "thousands will stand in my place" if opposing Reagan's plan to impose tuition and slash the budget.

High School Groups Double Amount In MOD Collection

Pampa High School students collected approximately $250 in contributions for the March of Dimes in a one day solicitation of business establishments Friday.

Mrs. Georgia Mack, chairman of the youth groups, said this doubled the amount collected by teenagers last year.

The Junior Order of the Knights of Pythias were tardy volunteers to the solicitation campaign, but "they more than made up for their last-minute volunteering by working very hard," Mrs. Mack said.

Students groups calling on businesses downtown, in Coronado Center, and in other areas also included the High School Chapter of the American Red Cross, Future Homemakers of America, Tri-Hi-Y, Truteans, and Key Club.

Clyde Carruth, chairman of the Gray County Chapter of the National Foundation for the March of Dimes Saturday expressed appreciation to the Pampa youths for the efforts and energies they contributed to the current drive.

He said the amount collected in the MOD general drive here last year totaled $6,488.

Every year, he said, 25 per cent of the campaign proceeds is sent to national headquarters for a fund which finances grants for research institutions, the operation of clinical study centers and contributions to the construction maintenance costs of the Salk Institute. The remaining 75 per cent is divided evenly between national headquarters and the individual chapters to be spent on medical care programs, professional education, public education and other community services.

Cabot Machinery Division Gets New General Manager

The appointment of Henry P. Donohue Jr., as general manager of Cabot's Machinery Division in Pampa, effective immediately, was announced Saturday by Louis W. Cabot, president of Cabot Corp.

Donohue will succeed R. A. Baker who is retiring after 25 years as division manager. According to Cabot, Donohue, as general manager, will report directly to the corporation president's office.

The appointment, Cabot stated, is a reflection of the increasingly important part the corporation hopes the division can play in its overall program of planned diversification and expansion.

Donohue has been with Cabot since 1952 and most recently served as manager of Sales and Marketing for Cabot Titavia Corp. He is a graduate of Tufts University and also attended Northeastern University Center for Management Development. Cabot's Machinery Division is one of Pampa's largest employers. When asked about the future of the Division, Donohue told the Pampa News:

"I think the Machinery Division is in a position to grow and prosper. However, this growth is going to depend largely on our ability to develop new products, lines and new markets."

Donohue started at Cabot in 1952 as a pilot plant engineer just out of college. In 1955 he was transferred to the sales department to do market development work on Cab-O-Sil, Cabot Corporation's silicon dioxide pigment. Later he became Cab-O-Sil production manager, then manager of Market Development in the Corporate Development Department and finally in 1962 went with the Titania Corp. As a 1950 graduate in chemical engineering at Tufts University (See CABOT, Page 3)

Chamber To Salute Oil, Gas Groups

Employees of the oil and gas industry will be guests of Pampa Chamber of Commerce at a membership luncheon at 12 noon, Jan. 30, according to Fred Neslage, chairman of the chamber's oil and gas committee.

Invitations have gone out to approximately 52 companies, who are actively engaged in the production of oil and gas in the Top o' Texas area, Neslage said.

"Since oil and gas has played a major role in the development of our community during the past 40 years, this will be an opportunity for Pampans to salute an industry that has meant so much to our economy," Neslage said.

The program will be presented by a panel from the oil and gas industry discussing the past, present and future potential of activity in this area, Neslage stated.

Reservations are now being made for the luncheon at chamber offices in the Hughes building.

Two Students Win Positions In State Band

Two Pampa High School bandmen qualified for All-State Band at area tryouts held yesterday in Lubbock.

Richard Tarrant, baritone, and Andy Wilks, cornetist, will perform with the band in concert before the Texas Music Educators Association convention at Houston in February.

Also attending the tryouts Saturday were Jerry Lambright, drummer, Prudence Skelly, flute and piccolo, and Harris Brinson, high school band instructor.

Brinson said winning a spot in the All-State Band is "just about the highest honor a band student can attain. They really have to have something to qualify."

Beginning Monday, and continuing for the next two weeks, Tarrant and Wilks will rehearse numbers to be played when they join 173 other bandmen from over the state of Texas for the February concert.

Brinson said there will be another audition in Houston to determine which chair they will qualify for in the concert.

North Vietnam Missile Zooms Back to City

SAIGON (UPI) —U.S. pilots reported Saturday that a Soviet-built surface-to-air missile (SAM) fired at an American jet fighter-bomber went out of control, zoomed back to earth and exploded in a populated area of North Vietnam during an air raid Friday.

A military spokesman said the "accident" — one of the type U.S. authorities say may be responsible for many of the civilian deaths the Hanoi regime is seeking to blame on American air raids — occurred near the North Vietnamese industrial city of Thanh Hoa. He said the explosion may have caused some civilian casualties.

In the sea of Thanh Hoa, U.S. Navy destroyers shot up a fleet of junkies trying to smuggle arms to the South and silenced four Red shore batteries that fired on them.

In Saigon, informed military sources said Russia has "more than replaced" the nine North Vietnamese MIG jets shot down by U.S. pilots this month and has given the Hanoi government a blank check to order more of the sleek interceptors.

A U.S. spokesman in Saigon said Saturday the United States has lost a total of 610 planes in the war — 462 of them over North Vietnam and 148 in South Vietnam. He said the total includes only "combat strike" aircraft.

As the air and sea was dealt new blows to Communist facilities in the North, allied authorities counted the Communist dead following a furious hand-to-hand battle on the outskirts of Saigon.

In the battle—the largest ever fought so close to Saigon—South Vietnamese paratroopers supported by American helicopter gunships attacked a Viet Cong battalion outside the capital Friday killing at least 114 and capturing nine.

TWO INJURED

Non-Stop Auto Hit By Police Patrol Car

P. O. Sanders, 70, of 316 N. Gray, was listed in serious condition last Saturday night from injuries sustained when he allegedly ran a stop sign and his car was struck by a city police car shortly before 10 p.m. at N. Gray and W. Francis Sts.

Sgt. Preston Bailey, driver of the police car, also suffered injuries to his right leg and chest. Bailey was treated at Highland General Hospital and released. Sanders reportedly suffered several broken ribs and possible internal injuries. He was first treated by a doctor at Highland General and later removed to Worley Hospital.

Police said the injured man drove away after the accident, but was found a few minutes later by Highway Patrolman Stanley Schneider after driving his damaged auto into a dead-end at the Santa Fe Railway tracks south of W. Atchison St.

Both cars were heavily damaged. Total damage was estimated by police at $2,000.

Police Lt. Bob Crouch, who investigated the accident at the scene, said Bailey was pursuing a car whose teenage occupants were suspected of vandalism and depredations in front of the home of Joe Fischer, Pampa realtor, 1429 Charles St.

Police said the youths were suspected of scattering toilet tissue over the tree and bushes in the front yard of the Fischer residence and an automobile parked there was soaped and defaced.

Fischer obtained the license number of the car in which he said the vandals sped away and reported it to police. Sergeant Bailey spotted it later on W. Francis St. It was while Bailey was chasing this car that his patrol car struck the auto driven by Sanders.

Ship Steams Out But Runs Aground 800 Yards Offshore

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) —Five puffing tugs heaved with all their might Saturday to pull the cruise ship Atlantic off a sandbar while her 313 passengers munched canapés and shorebound onlookers cheered.

The gleaming ship refused to budge, and the passengers, who set sail in search of the Caribbean sun, were consigned to another night off the Florida coast.

The 593-foot Atlantic ran aground with more than 800 persons aboard on a sandbar 800 yards offshore Friday night moments after it hoisted anchor.

Tugboats made two attempts during the night to free the boat and a third late Saturday. The vessel was in no danger of sinking but it draws 30 feet of water and the sandbar in which its bow was lodged lies 20 feet under water.

All Was Fine

Capt. Charles F. Troxel reported by ship-to-shore telephone that all was fine aboard the Atlantic. Passengers were playing shuffleboard, dancing and eating delicacies.

Jerry Zornow, a spokesman for the owners, American Export Isbrandtsen Lines, said the passengers, who paid up to $400 each for the cruise, were apparently not unhappy.

"It is very surprising. There has been no report of any dissatisfaction." The only grumbling came when officers ordered the ship's swimming pool drained to try to lighten the vessel.

Zornow said barges would be taken up to the Atlantic to drain off some of its 2,000 tons of oil to get it lightened for another attempt to free it—at about 4 a.m. Sunday, the next high tide.

Zornow said no attempt would be made to take the passengers off Saturday night. "Actually if we took them off we'd have to find hotel rooms. They are comfortable there. There is no danger."

There are also very few hotel rooms empty in Fort Lauderdale during the winter season. "Once free, the ship must come back to dockside here to have divers check her hull before trying for the Caribbean again."

The Atlantic was bound on a seven-day cruise to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands and then San Juan, Puerto Rico, when she left Port Everglades with Harbor Pilot W. E. Jackson at the helm.

Social Security Q & A

EDITOR'S NOTE - The following questions and answers on Social Security and Medicare benefits were prepared by the Pampa Social Security Office in the Hughes Bldg. and are published by The Pampa News as a public service.

Q-Am I required to file any report of earnings with the Social Security Administration? A-You must file a report after Dec. 31 and before April 15 if you earned over $1,500 between Jan. 1 and Dec. 31, unless you were age 72 all months of 1966.

Q-What earnings are to be counted to determine if I earn more than $1,500 in a year? A-Count all wages (before deductions) you earn from work as an employee and all earnings from self-employment. Any bonus, commission, fee, vacation pay, etc., you get from your employer must also be counted. Q-My father passed away when I was 14, and I have been receiving social security checks since then. How long will they continue? Q-They can continue until you reach age 22 if you are a full-time student until then and do not marry.

Q-Should I start my social security benefits at age 62 or age 65? A-This is something you should discuss with a social security representative three months before you reach age 62 (age 60 for widows). Failure to do so may result in loss of benefits by you. Unless you are working steadily for high wages, it may be better to file at age 62, but this is a decision you should make after discussion with a social security representative.

Time is growing short for veterans of World War II to use their eligibility for guaranteed loans for homes, farms or businesses. A. W. Stratton, Chief Benefits Director of the Veterans Administration warned Saturday. The final deadline for application for a VA guaranteed loan is July 21, 1967.

Stratton said that while over 1-million veterans had used their eligibility to purchase homes, farms or start businesses, there were many still eligible who had not taken advantage of this provision.

The Veterans Administration has guaranteed 4,378,886 home loans to veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict. There have been a total of 236,782 business loans and 71,854 farm loans guaranteed under the program. Loans insured by the VA total $2-billion.

In addition to the guaranteed loans, the Veterans Administration has made 256,962 direct loans totalling $2.3-billion. These loans are made in areas where local financing is not available.

Stratton advised veterans of World War II planning on utilizing this privilege guaranteed to them by public law not to wait until the last minute before selecting their home, farm or business. Loans are arranged for by the builder in most instances, but the guarantee can be used to purchase existing homes as well as new homes.

With less than eight months remaining for veterans to use their eligibility, Stratton said.

there had been a upsurge in veteran loan activity. The July 25, 1967, deadline does not apply to veterans of the Korean Conflict or veterans who have been included in the new legislation who have served since Jan. 31, 1955. The expiration date for Korea veterans is 1975, and for veterans of the Vietnam era, ten years plus an extension for time served, from the date of their discharge.

In 1961, Queen Victoria of England died, ending a 64-year-old reign, the longest of any sovereign over a civilized nation.

Income Tax Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE - This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Pampa office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published by the Pampa News as a public service to taxpayers.

Q-Is it true that IRS will figure out your tax for you when you file the short form? A-Yes. If your income is less than $5,000 and Form 1040A is filed then IRS will compute your tax if you wish. We will refund any overpayment or bill you for any additional tax due.

Q-I married a widow, with two young children last summer. Can I claim the children as dependents? A-If you provided more than half the children's support for the year then you may claim them as dependents. If your wife provided over half their support, she can claim the children as dependents on her separate return or they may be claimed on a joint return.

Q-I won a prize in the contest run by the local filling station. It was cash. Do I have to report it as income? A-Yes. Prizes such as yours as well as money or merchandise won in lucky number drawings, radio and television quizzes or from any sales promotional program are taxable and must be declared as income.

Q-I changed jobs last year and now find myself driving about 30 miles a day to get back and forth to work. Can I deduct 10 cents a mile for this driving? A-No. Commuting to and from work is a personal expense and is not deductible.

Q-Can I claim two exemptions for a dependent over 65? A-No. You may only claim one exemption regardless of the dependent's age. The additional exemption for being 65 or over may only be taken by a taxpayer filing his own return.

Q-Why do I have to put a social security number on my tax return? A-The law requires persons filing returns to furnish a tax account number. Since the majority of taxpayers already have Social Security numbers, these numbers are also used for tax identification purposes. Taxpayers who forget to list their number will have refunds delayed until the number is supplied.

Q-Do you have to be married to get the head of household income tax rates? A-No you don't. On page 3 of the 1966 instructions you will find an explanation of whether you qualify for these rates. Head of household tax rates cannot be used if you are married and can file a joint return.

Q-If I provided more than half the children's support for the year then you may claim them as dependents. If your wife provided over half their support, she can claim the children as dependents on her separate return or they may be claimed on a joint return.

Groom School Census Now in Progress

GROOM — The annual census of school-age children in the Groom Independent School District is now in progress and will close Jan. 31.

Parents are reminded they are required to register all school-age children with the enumerator.

Parents of pre-school children, who will be six years old before Sept. 1, are asked to contact Mrs. Carrie Bichsel at the school tax office.

New York Professionals To Perform Here In 'Hamlet'

Pampa Fine Arts Association will sponsor a production of The National Shakespeare Co. in "Hamlet" on Feb. 11 in Pampa Junior High School auditorium.

The company is the most widely traveled Shakespearean repertory ever to tour the United States. Heading the cast of "Hamlet" are several New York professionals.

Six months were devoted to a nation-wide search for acting talent. The process involved interviewing over 3,000 applications and then auditioning 750 actors. The task was doubly difficult because actors sought not only had to have talent but knowledge of production and theatrical history.

Last March, the company's producer, Elaine Sulka, and director, Philip Meister, began casting for three new productions, "Hamlet," "Julius Caesar" and "Much Ado About Nothing." From 3,000 applications, a group of 700 were selected for audition.

First preference was given to experienced actors, although relatively new talent, with appropriate academic training, was also seen. On an average day, readings would begin at 10 o'clock in the morning and continue until 8 p.m.

First audition consisted of two contrasting scenes from Shakespeare of the actor's own choice; for example, an actress would do a scene from Juliet and then one of Lady Macbeth; or an actor would follow "to be or not to be..." with a speech of Falstaff's.

Next, the number of potential actors was narrowed to 322. In early August, the final decision was made. Eleven actors were chosen out of the original 3,000 applications. At this time, they assembled for a first reading of the three plays.

The process which had begun six months before had finally come to an end and a company was selected that would work together for nine months, giving over 200 performances and traveling 30,000 miles.

Kiwanians Observe 52nd Anniversary

Pampa's Downtown Kiwanis Club hosted former members and a Top O' Texas Kiwanis Club delegation of the 52nd anniversary of Kiwanis International.

Fred Thompson, longtime member of the club and a past district governor of the Texas-Oklahoma Kiwanis district, and Arthur Aftergut, past lieutenant governor of Division VI, were the principal speakers.

Thompson outlined many of the local projects of community service sponsored by the Pampa Club through the years and Aftergut dwelt on the importance of Kiwanis service to individual members.

"Kiwanis in Pampa has established a definite public image," Thompson said. "Service is the only product Kiwanis has and the record of our club in the community through the years is evidence that we always have been long on service."

Malcolm Denson, chairman of the Kiwanis Inter-Club Committee, honored at the recent winter district Kiwanis conference in Dallas, was presented with an award for the established record of having the Pampa Club make an inter-club visit to every Kiwanis group in Division VI.

Ann Sheridan Dies at 52

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Ann Sheridan, a Texas-born beauty contest winner who gained movie stardom a generation ago with the title of "Oomph Girl" because of her sex appeal, died Saturday. She would have been 52 on Feb. 21.

The red-haired shapely gal who played in many Westerns and was a maverick type in real life because of her tiffs with studios succumbed at her Hollywood Hills home.

Death was attributed to a lingering illness. Doctors would say no more.

Miss Sheridan was the star of the current television series "Pistols to Petticoats."

There was nothing in the letter to substantiate reports of hard feelings between the Kennedys and Johnson stemming from William Manchester's book, "The Death of a President."

Registering To Vote Is Simple

Registering to vote is one of the simplest procedures in the governmental scheme of things. All that is required is the name and age of person, length of time in state and county, occupation and signature of person registering.

The registration certificate is free to every one of voting age. Deadline for registering to vote in this year's elections is Jan. 31.

Jack Back, county tax assessor, said Saturday about 5,500 or about one half of last year's registrants had put in an appearance at the courthouse office or had mailed in applications.

Persons over 60 years of age do not have to register, but the new law provides that they may if they wish. If they do, it will save questions and signing of affidavits at the polls.

A school board election is scheduled for April 1 and a city election for mayor and four commissioners is slated for April 4.

County Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL
Executive Secretary ARC
Thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Victor Keyes for the 45 paper back novels given us this week, to be taken to the Amarillo Air Force Base Hospital Library. These books will furnish many hours of enjoyment to the servicemen who are ill at the hospital. If there are other persons in our community who have old records, paperback books, funnypuzzles or puzzles (with all of the pieces intact), please bring them to the Red Cross office for the servicemen.

The High School Red Cross will take a party to the Convalescence Home in Pampa Jan. 27. Roena Ruddick is in charge of the refreshments and games. The High School Red Cross Council members will assist her in making the arrangements.

An unusual honor came to our High School Red Cross Youth President, Barbara Holt, this week. She was mentioned in Teen Magazine as one of the outstanding young people in high school in the United States. Robert Hutcheson from Tulosa, Miss., nominated Barbara and she is wondering how he knew of the high school from Pampa's activities. Small world, isn't it!

Mrs. Harley Lewis from LeFors took a large bundle of children's clothing to the Welfare Index storeroom recently. These will come in handy for the small children in Pampa who need warm clothing. There is no charge for these articles. The parents must contact the Red Cross or the County Welfare office to make arrangements for getting articles from the storeroom.

Ted Gikas, volunteer consultant for funds, visited Miami and Canadian this week and took their fund supplies to them. Each chapter should begin to get ready to solicit for funds during the month of March this year. Pampa has been assured of their funds subscribed by the United Fund although this does not cover our total goal. Persons who did not give to the United Fund should keep their membership in our organization by sending their $1 to our organization. Persons who gave through the United Fund and would like to have their membership card may come by the Red Cross office and a card will be given to them.

The Combined Service Territory meeting will be held in Pampa Tuesday morning, Jan. 24, at the Jackson's Cafeteria with all of the chapters in the Panhandle represented. Wes Langham will preside at the meeting and lunch will be had at the cafeteria on an individual basis. All Red Cross Volunteers are invited to come to the meeting. Marshall Moore from the Veterans Administration office at Waco will be guest speaker for the meeting.

We have four new Red Cross Hospital Volunteers who are working serving juice at the Highland General Hospital on Saturday morning and Saturday afternoon and Sunday afternoon. They are Velma Horton, Georgia Jenkins, Marsha Dunham and Sherry Jones. They wear the blue and white pinafore and may be seen on the above mentioned days at Highland General Hospital. These girls must be 14 years old and must be recommended by some one who knows the Red Cross program.

I am here as your representative. It is important that I hear from you as an individual. I am going to represent all 400,000 people in the district and to do this I must know how you feel on the issues which come before the Congress. I welcome your letters. If you ever need any help in dealing with the Federal government I stand ready and willing to do so. This is usually complicated and I can often help expedite matters. As you know, Congress makes the laws which are then administered by the Executive Branch — the various departments, agencies, and bureaus — in other words, the "bureaucracy." Sometimes the bureaucracy's interpretation of these laws is somewhat different than was intended by Congress. So when you have problems with the Federal "bureaucracy" don't hesitate to call on me. ### Letters Sought On Issues in Congress

This is my first weekly news-letter of the 90th Congress and I am looking forward to visiting with the residents of the 18th District by this means regularly.

My principal function as your Congressman is to be your legislative spokesman. It is certainly my duty as set forth in the Constitution. I have already exercised this duty several times. From the mail I have received I believe that I represented your wishes in voting to have Adam Clayton Powell barred from taking his seat until allegations against him can be investigated.

Editor Predicts N. Vietnam May Send Peace Group

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A former Pulitzer Prize winning editor just returned from Hanoi says he thinks North Vietnam may send a delegation to an unofficial peace conference but doubts formal negotiations to end the war could start until the United States stops bombing the north.

James Ashmore, long-time editor of the Arkansas Gazette, personally invited North Vietnamese Premier Ho Chi Minh to the proposed world peace meeting next spring and said he was "encouraged" by the reaction.

Ashmore, now associated with the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, re-ago. He told a news conference Thursday he believed the North Vietnamese never would agree to formal peace negotiations until the United States first stops bombing raids on their nation.

Formal announcement of the projects peace conference was made Thursday night at a Beverly Hilton Hotel dinner by center President Robert M. Hutchins. The center is an educational organization headquartered at Santa Barbara, Calif., and operated by the Fund for the Republic Inc.

Hutchins said it was hoped that representatives of both North Vietnam and Communist China would attend the peace convention scheduled for May 23-28 at Geneva, Switzerland. Russia already has indicated it will send emissaries.

Ashmore, reporting on his trip, said he agreed with reports by other Western observers that American bombers have hit nonmilitary targets, including schools, in raids on North Vietnam.

"It is my considered judgment that this would not be anything I would characterize as accidental bombing," he said.

The former editor, now the center's executive vice president, emphasized that his role was strictly unofficial and he said he told the North Vietnamese he was not a representative of the U.S. government.

Questioned at a news conference about the bombing, he said:

"I think they see the war as a stalemate. But they will fight it as long as they have to. They believe honestly they cannot be defeated and therefore they are disposed to make no major concessions. All the persons we talked to said there could be no peace talk until the bombing stops."

Jeffrey Siegel, Leventritt Foundation award winning pianist, will be presented in recital Feb. 8 at 8:15 p.m.

In 1966, President Johnson submitted a record $112.8 billion budget. Also 117 persons were killed in the crash of an Air India jet 707 on Mont Blanc in France.

In 1938, units of General Franco's Nationalist Air Force bombed Barcelona and Valencia in Spain, killing 700 civilians and wounding hundreds more.

In 1948, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower claimed he would not accept the nomination for president from either party. In 1952 he ran and won on the Republican ticket.

Pampan Is Former Wrestling Champ For Marine Base

By MIKE GERALD
City Editor

Yes sports fans, believe it or not, here in the middle of the Texas Panhandle, where, despite such assets as growing wheat and flowing oil, the sport of amateur wrestling remains conspicuously absent, an honest-to-goodness ex-wrestler has chosen to make his home.

Moreover, this wrestler chose to remain with the "amateur" variety (several holds barred) despite being a top-notch matman in the heavier weights.

Gene Judkins, 2125 N. Wells, also an ex-Oklahoma Citian, may well look back upon his grappling career with pride. Being a 1955 graduate of Oklahoma City's Putnam City High School, Judkins sparred with such top names in the wrestling world as Stanley Abel, two-time NCAA champion at 137 lbs.; Dewayne Miller, NCAA king at 191 lbs., and Bill Watts, a top Oklahoma University wrestler and now in the pro spotlight.

"I never wrestled at OU although I had a scholarship to go there," Judkins explained. "Many people think I went there probably because I wrestled with the OU Olympic Club twice."

The still, formidable looking grappler followed up a good high school career in the sport with an outstanding performance on the U.S. Marine team in 1956.

While continuing his 174 lb. mat career at Camp Pendleton, Calif., he was chosen as a member of the All-Marine team which represented the best wrestlers of all Marine bases across the nation. Ironically, this team included several of his old high school foes.

In addition, the coach of this successful team, which swept to top place in the military services competition and placed second in the national AAU tournament, was also a transplanted "Okie." Bud Beltz, who climaxed an excellent career with OU at 147 lbs.

"After completing my military obligation, I entered the University of Wyoming (1962) where I redshirted with the Cowboys for one year," Judkins said.

Here Judkins sparred with assistant coach Ron Clinton, a former NCAA champion from Oklahoma State.

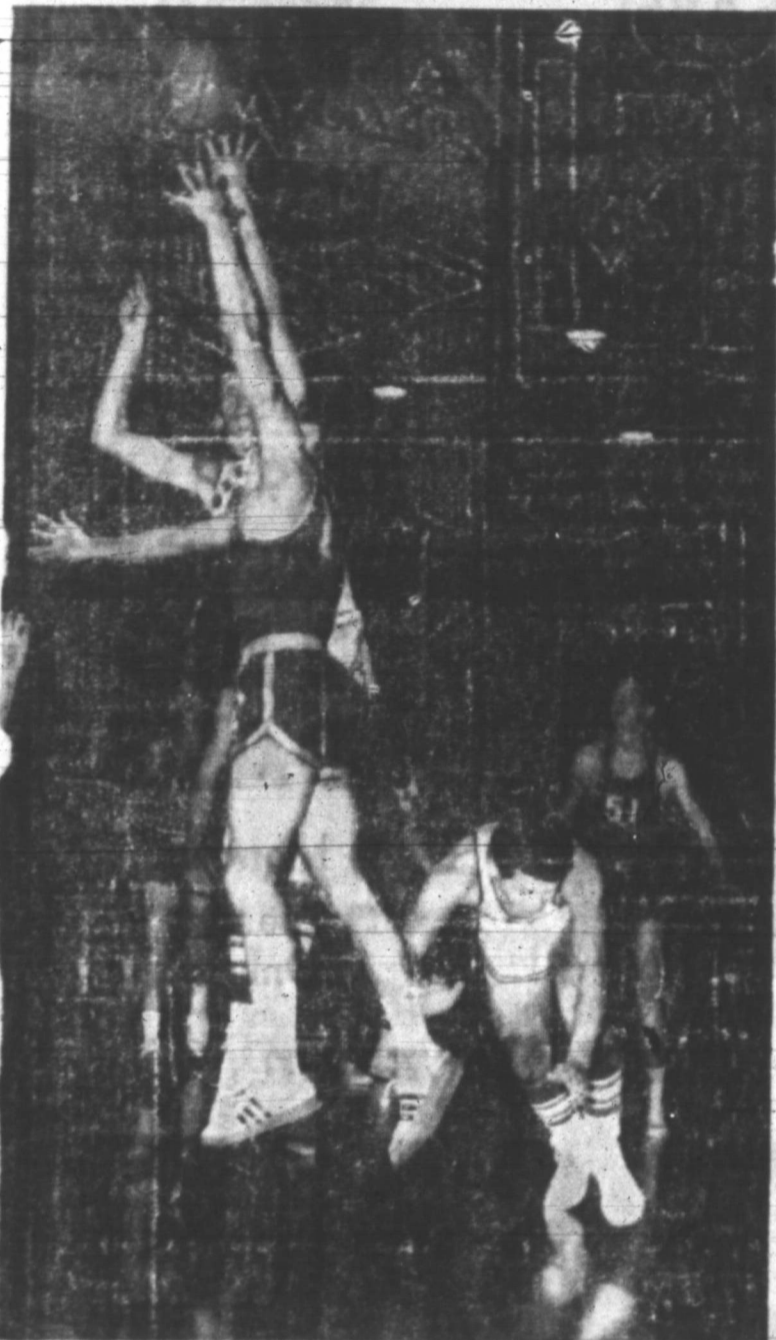

Judkins left Wyoming the next year, regrettably missing the NCAA tournament held at Laramie the next spring, and shortly afterwards was transferred from Oklahoma to Pampa.

"I didn't do too bad at Olympic style, (taking second place twice in the annual AAU competition) but I never got to try Greco-Roman, although it looked interesting."

In the one AAU tournament, Judkins beat Greg Burns, a Putnam City product who later became an Oklahoma state champion.

The former Marine mat king continues his interest in wrestling despite its absence here, by driving to Elk City, Okla., to watch collegiate matches whenever they are televised.

His brother Ray, is presently a wrestling coach in Colorado.

Nothing Phony About Bout Between Champ, Terrell

HOUSTON (UPI)—A Houston Chronicle sports columnist says the Feb. 6 Cassius Clay-Emile Terrell fight is good enough to stand on its own without what he called the "phony" buildup the principals have been engaged in.

Chronicle executive sports editor Dick Peebles deplored the three "rehearsed" scuffles Clay and Terrell have staged in recent weeks and Terrell's threats to pull out of the bout in the Astrodome unless he got "equal billing" with Clay in promotional advertising.

"The strange thing about the Clay-Terrell fight is that the bout is good enough to stand on its own merits," Peebles wrote. "It needs no phony buildup."

"For the first time in history, the heavyweight titleholders recognized by two different organizations are going to decide who is king."

Clay, stripped of his title by the World Boxing Association but generally recognized as the world's No. 1 heavyweight, and Terrell, the WBA-recognized tilist, staged their third and latest scuffle earlier this week when they met at a joint training quarters.

No blows have been struck in any of the incidents and Peebles said the scuffles were "probably the most rehearsed act since Fred Astaire and his sister Adele hung up their dancing pumps."

Peebles went on to add, "If the fight is as phony as the buildup, then not even the 6,000 tons of air conditioning (in the Astrodome) will be sufficient to remove the stink...in time for opening of the baseball season."

Miners Smash Utah St., 72-38

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—Fifth ranked Texas Western tore normally high-scoring Weber (Utah) State apart Saturday, smashing the Wildcats 72-38 in a regionally televised basketball game.

The Miners played an aggressive, pressing defensive game, and in turn, the Wildcats were ice cold all day from the floor. Weber State hit only 20 per cent of its shots in the first half and finished by sin'ing a mere 24 per cent. The Wildcats had been averaging 90 points a game.

The win brought Texas Western's record to 12-2 and Weber State is now 12-3.

David Lattin, the Miners' 8-7 strongman, scored 17 points to pace both clubs. Willie Cager scored 13 and Willie Worsley

Parilli Passes Send East by West All Stars

First Win Ever In History of AFL Game

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Vito (Babe) Parilli, 36-year-old dean of the pros, fired a pair of touchdown passes Saturday during a second half rally which carried the East to a 30-23 victory over the West in the American Football League's All-Star game.

It marked the first win in the five game series for the East, which went into the game a 7-point underdog and was trailing 23-2 with about 23 minutes left in the contest. But then the East broke loose for four straight touchdowns with the go-ahead tally coming on a 17-yard pass from the veteran Boston Patriots' quarterback to Charley Frazier of Houston. Frazier caught the ball in a small lake close to the goal line, fell on the seat of his pants, then got up and mushed in to break all 2-23 tie.

Gino Cappelletti's third conversion gave the East their 30-23 margin and the West never could make it back. Parilli had narrowed the West's lead to 23-16 with 0:49 left in the third period on a 4-yard scoring toss to Ray Carlton of Buffalo, then as the western defenses fell apart, rookie Bob Burnett of Buffalo went 12 yards for a touchdown on a handoff from teammate Jack Kemp and Cappelletti converted to tie the score at 23-23.

Parilli's winning toss was set up after linebacker Mike Stratton of the Bills intercepted a pass by the Oakland Raiders' Tom Flores. An announced turnout of 17,876 watched the game on the Oakland Coliseum gridiron which steady rains had turned into a bog despite a tarpaulin on the field. During his afternoon's work, Parilli also got off nine punts to establish an All-Star game record.

The longest touchdown runs of the day were scored by defenders. Buck Buchanan, the West's 287-pound tackle from Kansas City, went 39 yards with a recovered fumble that helped the favorites build a 23-2 lead in the third period.

Then Verlon Biggs, the New York Jets' 253-pound defensive end, rumbled 50 yards after picking off a feeble pass by quarterback Len Dawson of the West.

The victory meant $1,000 per man winners share for the East, while the West players collected $800 each.

West coach George Allen of the Rams plans to start Baltimore's Johnny Unitas at quarterback but indicated he will give equal playing time to Green Bay's Bart Starr, the NFL player of the year.

Unitas has played in nine Pro Bowls and was voted outstanding player in three games. The West defense will have a strong Packer flavor—tackle Henry Jordan, end Willie Davis, linebacker Dave Robinson and backs Herb Adderley and Willie Wood.

Offensively the West has Packer tackles Bob Skoronski and Forrest Gregg in addition to Starr.

Starr and Davis were chosen co-captains of the 35-man squad. East Leaders

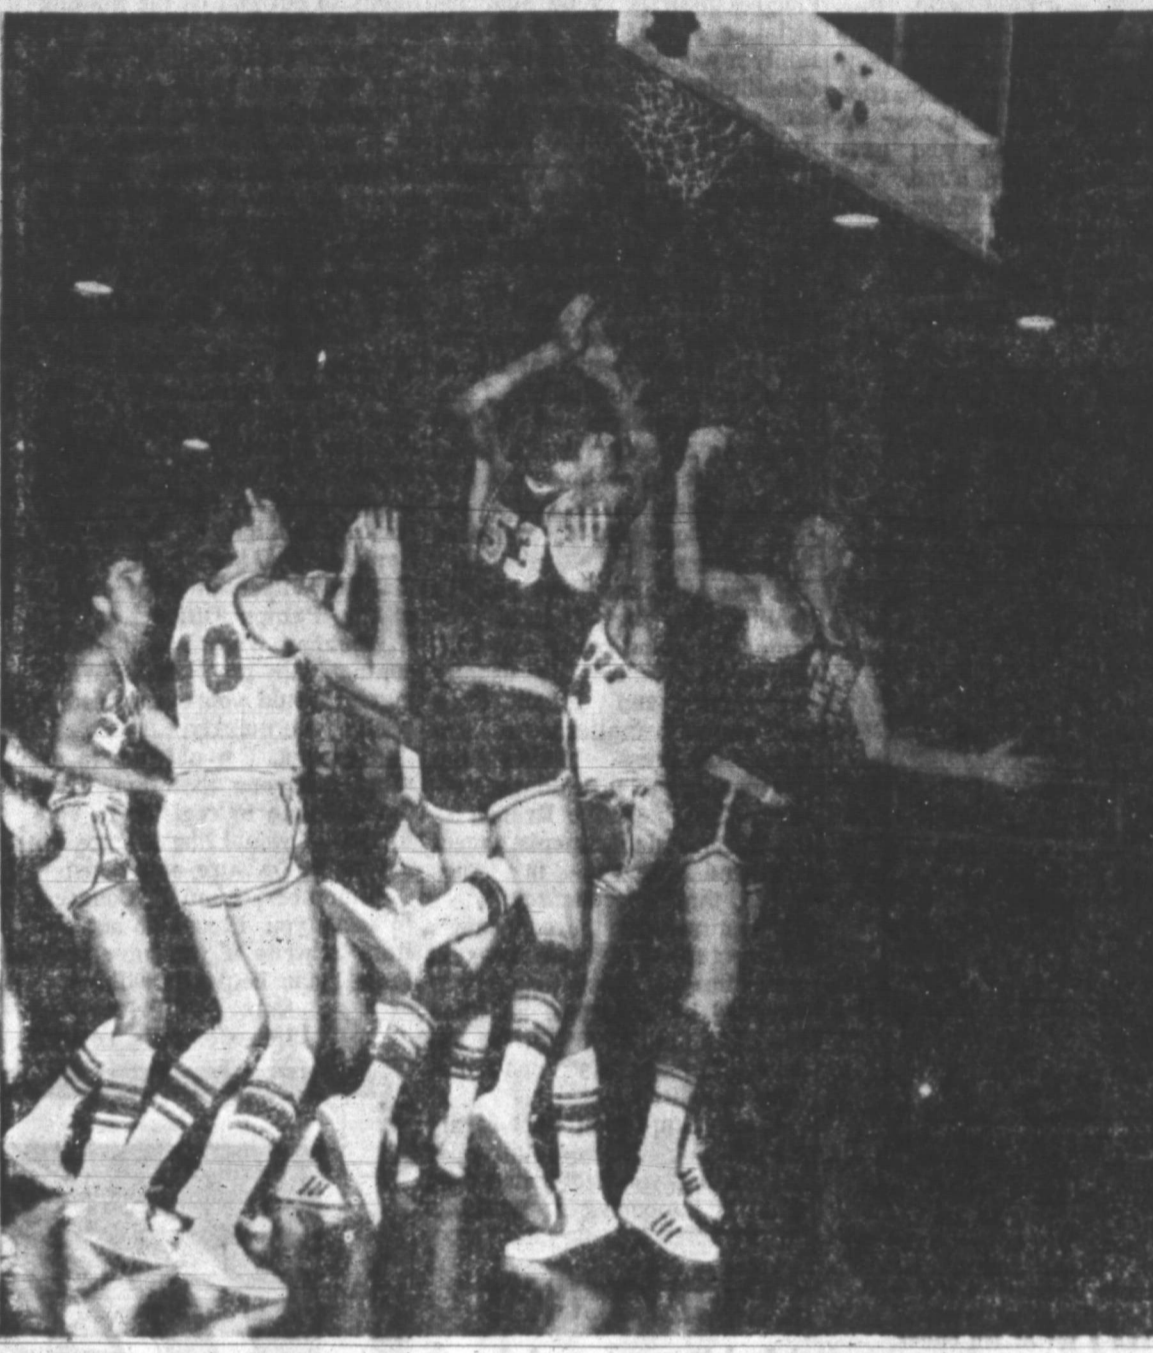

The East elected Dallas quarterback Don Meredith and St. Louis safety Larry Wilson as leaders.

East coach Tom Landry of Dallas has a strong nucleus from his Cowboys, champions of the NFL Eastern Conference.

The others, offensively, are center Dave Manders, flanker Bob Hayes, and fullback Don Perkins. Defensively, Cowboys present are: backs Mel Renfro and Cornell Green; linebacker Chuck Howley; tackle Bob Lilly; and end George Andrie.

These Cowboys are getting a second crack at the Packers who beat them for the NFL title, 34-27, in a close one and they might have extra motivation.

BAD WEATHER AGAIN

Crosby Meet Extended

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—The $100,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Tournament, which through the years has been plagued by bad weather, suffered its third one-day postponement in 27 years Saturday when gale winds and rain sent players, spectators and officials running for cover.

The winds, clocked at times at 50 to 60 miles per hour, and accompanied by slanting rain, unmercifully throughout Friday night and Saturday morning and finally forced PGA Tournament Committee chairman Jack Tuthill to call a halt to all play at 1:15 a.m. PST.

The tournament, which was postponed a day in 1952 because of rain and again a day in 1962 because of snow, in all likelihood will be extended through Monday with Saturday's third round being played on Sunday and the low 70 and ties moving on to the final round on Monday.

A meeting of PGA officials, players' representatives and tourney committee members later in the day would decide the exact course to be taken.

"It's pretty safe to assume we'll go through Monday," said one tourney official, although Bing Crosby, hosting his 26th picked up 11 for Texas Western. Nolan Archibald and Larry Bergh scored 7 each for the Wildcats.

annual Clambake, quipped, "I've seen worse weather than this and we kept on playing, but I've got to admit it's pretty bad."

Jack Nicklaus held a slim two-stroke lead at the start of Saturday's third round and turned the front nine at Spyglass Hill—one of the three courses over which the Crosby is played—in three-over-par 39.

Only three pros, among the third-round starting field of 169 turned in cards by the time play was suspended.

Bill Ezinicki had a 15-over-par 87 at Pebble Beach, Manuel de la Torre had a similar 87 at Cypress Point and Alex Antonio had an even higher 21-over-par 93 at Cypress. A fourth pro, Kyle Burton, quit after two holes at Pebble.

But in two years Fry built a Southwest Conference champion at SMU. The Mustangs wound up with an 8-2 season this year before losing to Georgia in the Cotton Bowl game Dec. 31.

"Winning that very elusive title was very gratifying to me personally and to the whole SMU community including our thousands of alumni scattered all across the globe," said Tate.

"As gratifying to me as the results was the way our boys played—their courage and their determination not to give up, even when they were behind with only seconds remaining in the game."

Southern Methodist Gives Hayden Fry New Grid Pact

DALLAS (UPI)—Hayden Fry, who brought Southern Methodist University's football team from the bottom to the top of the Southwest Conference, has been given a five-year extension to his contract, school president Willis M. Tate announced Saturday.

Although Fry's salary was not mentioned in the announcement, Tate said "an appropriate salary increase was accorded Fry upon recommendation of SMU's faculty athletic committee."

"Hayden deserves high commendation both for his accomplishments as head football coach and an athletic director," Tate said.

Fry came to SMU in 1962 from Arkansas, where he had served as an assistant to coach Frank Broyles. After compiling

Griffith Agrees...Movies Better Than Ever

Emile Griffith

NEW YORK (NEA)—The insiders found the first Emile Griffith-Joey Archer fight tough to figure because the two men were of such different temperament and style.

Griffith: fast, furious, reckless and emotional.

Archer: quick, slick, calculating and cool.

Now the insiders have it all sized up and it has little to do with temperament and style.

Griffith all the way. "Emile has looked very good against opponents he's studied in movies," said John Condon, boxing publicity man at Madison Square Garden, where Griffith and Archer meet again for the middle-weight cham-ship Monday, Jan. 23. "Gil Clancy (Griffith's co-manager) thinks Emile must have an artist's eye because he sees things in movies of fights nobody else sees."

"He's been watching movies of his first fight with Archer like crazy. He says he's found something. Naturally, Griffith isn't talking. But the insiders are impressed anyway. To go with what they hear about Griffith's artistic eye, boxing people know he has a habit of coming through handsomely against men he fights for the second time.

The first fight was close only because Griffith was puzzled. The two judges gave it to Griffit 9-5-1 and 8-7 and the referee had it a draw, 7-7-1. Archer was ferocious on defense, slipping punches and counterpunching neatly.

That's Archer's style — a throwback to yesterday's Irish fighters — and that's how he wins. Judges and referees know that boxing isn't all breaking a guy into bits, if the fans don't.

"I'll make a promise, mon," said Griffith in his excited Virgin Islands (St. Thomas) accent. "If I beat Joey Archer again, this time I tell what he does wrong."

"I only tell you this much now. It's really such a simple mistake, he'd be embarrassed if I point it out to him. He could correct it on the first try."

Clancy said his camp took the cue from a mistake Archer made in the first fight but he would say no more. If it had anything to do with the fight's best punch, a right-hand to Archer's stomach which doubled him and sent an "oomph" bouncing off the Garden's rafters, thumping Joey the Boxer's body all evening.

For all his science, his expert handling, his incredible physique and his varied boxing skills, Griffith still leaves room for hope for Archer.

"Archer is Irish," he said, "and the Irish are lucky." In training and on the night of a fight, the most important of rituals involves putting on the gloves. Clancy must put on the left one first.

Against Don Fuller in August 1965, Griffith put his hand into the right glove first and then drew back, screaming. Fuller won and Griffith wouldn't speak to Clancy for two weeks. When he finally did speak, he wondered how Clancy ever got to be Irish.

From another training camp on another mountain in another swank hotel in New York's Catskills, dapper, articulate Joey Archer had something to say.

"No, I'm not superstitious and my being Irish has nothing to do with anything. Pound-for-pound, Griffith is what Ray Robinson used to be — the best fighter anywhere. To beat him is to outthink him, to process which begins the minute the bell rings.

"Besides, do Griffith and Clancy think they're the only ones who watch movies?"

Packers: The Look of a Super Champion

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. LOS ANGELES (NEA) — At halftime in Super Bowl coach Vince Lombardi stood before the green-shirted gladiators who represented Green Bay and reminded them they had a super-seding obligation.

The Packers led, 14-10, from their exertions but didn't need to be told the Kansas City Chiefs had outgained them, 181 yards to 164, and looked menacing enough to achieve an upset.

"We," said Lombardi, "are representing the whole National Football League."

The feeling really hit home to defensive tackle Henry Jordan, a veteran of 10 years in the NFL.

"It made us queasy," said Henry, in recalling the moment. "I mean guys who had played against us all these years — from teams like the Browns and the Cardinals — came up and wished us good luck before the game. It was a new experience. Lombardi had told us that before, about representing the league, but we needed a little reminder."

Henry went off singing, "We are in the money."

Phil Bengtson, defensive coach of the Packers, is in his 50s and has been coaching more than a quarter of a century. At halftime, Phil was more concerned with Green Bay representing a football team. Quarterback Lenny Dawson of the Kansas City Chiefs, operating from a moving pocket, had the Packers looking like befuddled ducks. "We weren't getting a real good pass rush in the first half," said Phil. "When we got at Dawson, we grabbed instead of tackled. So it resulted in a bit of uncertainty on the part of our individuals. In the second half we improved our tackling a little bit and got to the quarterback. That, basically, is what happened."

What also happened was that when Kansas City took the second half kickoff and advanced near midfield, with a third-down and five situation, Bengtson from the sidelines signaled a blitz by his linebackers. It was the first time they blitzed in the game. With linebackers Lee Roy Caffey and Dave Robinson, plus Jordan, putting extreme pressure on Dawson, he threw a wobbly pass that Willie Wood picked off and returned 50 yds. to the four-yard line.

Elijah Pitts covered for a touchdown on the next play, and Green Bay had firm charge of the game. "The blitz," said Bengtson of his unit, "relaxed them and got them playing their own game and not worrying too much."

Max McGee, the 34-year-old split end of the Packers, had already told friends before the game that he was retiring after 13 years of competition. On the field before the game, Max was primarily concerned with representing himself. Max had not played much during the season.

But he made a brilliant one-hand grab for one touchdown, a juggling catch in the end zone for another and altogether caught seven passes.

"I can't think of a better way to go out," said Max. "I caught more passes than I caught all year. So I think it's about time to quit."

Max got in the game only because Boyd Dowler was hurt early in the first quarter. "You get a little spirit," said Max, "when you get to play. I didn't expect to play much and then, bam, it happened. And that makes a new man out of you, getting on that field."

Max, therefore, represented the pride that makes up a championship athlete and a championship team.

The Kansas City Chiefs carrying the banner of the American Football League, really had nothing to be ashamed about. They were excellent for one half and obviously have good personnel. The Packers were simply superb.

"I'd say any time we lose a game by even one point," said Chief owner Lamar Hunt, "it's damaging to a team's prestige and, in this case, the league's prestige but one game such as this is not going to make or break the AFL."

None, it just made the individual players on the losing team $7,500 poorer. Henry Jordan of the Packers showed what the pros really represent when he contemplated the $14,000 pay-off.

"I'm going to cash it all in $1 bills," said Henry, "and put it in the bathtub."

Eventually, he might spend it.

YCC Results

The Pampa Youth and Community Independent Basketball Leagues gave some scares to the league leaders this week with Berger and Cock O Walk still coming out tied in the Pro League and First National retaining the lead in the Novice League.

The Village extended Cock O Walk all the way in the high-light game of the Pro League this week before falling 35-30. Cock O Walk led slightly at each quarter mark 12-10, 21-15, 29-26 and 35-30 but were threatened by the Villagers each minute of the contest. Berger had an easy romp over KPND 81-29 to remain tied with Cock O Walk at 6-1.

In the Pro League it looked like Utility Oil would pull off the upset of the week by bumping off league leading First National Bank. With 45 seconds remaining in the contest Gib Winton hit a jump shot to put the Oilers on top 43-42 after they had trailed by 10 points 34-24 at the end of the third quarter. However the Bankers Max Patton stepped to the free throw line four times in that remaining 45 seconds and forged leads of 45-44 and 47-44 to ice the game. The Bankers led at the quarter marks from the second period on after a 6-6 first quarter tie.

This victory left First National on top in the Novice league with a 7-0 record followed by Curtis Well Service at 6-1. In both leagues the leaders and challengers meet this week. On Monday night Berger plays Cock O Walk at 8:30 and on Thursday night Curtis Well Service plays First National Bank at 8:30.

The Fourth Annual Top O' Texas Independent Basketball Tournament will be played this year on Feb. 20-24. Teams from everywhere are invited to enter including Church, Independents, Club, etc. Games will be played at night with teams coming from out-of-town given preference for the late games.

Entry fee will be $15 per team which is due with your entry. Entry deadline is Feb. 6 at 12 Noon. Send entries to Box 1164, Pampa, Texas.

Scores for this weeks action: Cock O Walk 35 The Village 30; Berger 81 KPND 29; First National Bank 47 Utility Oil 44; Curtis Well Service 92 Richard Drug 40; Jaycees 45 Webco 41.

New York Wants 1976 Olympics

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York City took the role of the proverbial postman Friday.

Apparently neither a lack of facilities, nor the need for $500 million, nor a nine-year wait will stay Fun-City from the hope that its appointed rounds will include being host to the 1976 summer olympics.

Mayor John V. Lindsay announced that New York officials will send in the necessary papers to the United States Olympics Committee and then begin work on a presentation to be made before that body in the hope of becoming the first American city in over 40 years to land the summer games.

The only U.S. metropolis ever to host the event was Los Angeles in 1932 and that city, with its stunning facilities, is New York's major American threat for the '76 affair.

Barry Gottheiner, the Mayor's assistant on athletic matters, said that L.A. boasts the same fine facilities built for the '32 Olympics including the coliseum and swimming pools and dorms on the UCLA campus.

'Milk Run' Now Calm

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI)—The "milk run" Monte Carlo rally which suddenly turned savage was over in an atmosphere of unexpected calm and good will today.

The 3,000-mile event was decided over 15 miles of a pass in the mountains behind Monaco by unforeseeable weather changes, by a gamble on tires, and finally by just 13 seconds.

It was the fractionally superior behavior of the Mini Coopers which gave Rauno Aaltonen of Finland his victory, but it was certain there would be discussions for a long time to come over what gave him the lead over Ove Anderson's Lancia.

Vic Elford, leading the rally up to the final stages in a Porsche, knew what his trouble was. He spun several times in the snow coming down the Turini pass and right out of contention.

Result won the team prize in the race and the ladies' cup was won by the Swedes, Mrs. Silvia Osterberg, and Mrs. I. Edering, after the favorite, Ireland's Rosemary Smith, was eliminated on the final difficult stage.

Chamberlain Has Another Scoring Masterpiece Going

By United Press International

Wilt Chamberlain's 100-point masterpiece of March 2, 1962 has a rival for all-time brilliance today — the closest thing to perfection yet achieved by a basketball player.

The author, of course, is Chamberlain, 7-foot, 1-inch scoring giant of the National Basketball Association.

Chamberlain turned in a performance Friday night that rivaled his famous game in Hershey, Pa., five years ago — 15-for-15 in field goal shooting, 30 rebounds and nine assists — as the Philadelphia 76ers beat the Los Angeles Lakers 119-108. Chamberlain's perfect night of field goal shooting gave him a record string of 27 straight successful tries from the floor. Wilt made 36 of 63 shots from the floor when he scored his 100 points against the New York Knicks in '62. His still-alive string of 27 consecutive successful field goal tries — he had made 12 in a row going into Friday night's game — bettered his own previous mark of 19 straight.

The Boston Celtics beat the Baltimore Bullets 129-117, the Chicago Bulls defeated the Detroit Pistons 125-124 in overtime and the San Francisco Warriors topped the St. Louis Hawks 142-115 in other games.

John Havlicek scored six straight points in the final period and wound up with a game high 33-point total to lead the Celtics. Bailey Howell added 26 points for the Celtics while John Egan had 22 for the Bullets.

KEEP THE FAITH BABY Things Will Be Alright

By MILTON RICHMAN

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI)—Victory-acustomed Adolph Rupp, in the throes of his worst year ever, says keep the faith baby, because everything's going to turn out all right for ol' Kain-tuck.

During his 36 years as head man of Kentucky's basketball forces, no team of Rupp's ever has lost more than 10 games in any one season.

This one might, though, because the suddenly bogged down Wildcats already have dropped seven of their first 12. Their No. 1 boy, Pat Riley, is tortured by a bad back and there are whispers that this could be the decline and fall of what once was basketball's proudest empire.

Rupp won't be party to any such notion, though.

"Look, this is no great national disaster," he said, sitting in at his heavily cluttered office desk and looking as relaxed as possible under the circumstances.

players by graduation (Larry Conley and Tommy Kron) and now Riley has this trouble on top of that.

Rupp apologized for the interruption when his secretary came in to tell him there was a phone call for him.

Needs Student-Athletes

It was from his son, Herky, who coaches the Lafayette High School basketball team here. The son wanted to know about a boy who obviously wished to play basketball.

"Find out what kind of a student he is," the older Rupp bellowed into the mouthpiece loud enough to shake them up in the next county.

"That's important. Doesn't make any difference how good an athlete he is, you gotta find out what kind of a student he is."

Later, after he hung up, Rupp shook his head and talked about some prospects Kentucky had to pass up.

"People say 'why don't you get that guy?'" he imitated the critic. "You can't come out in the paper and say we couldn't get the guy because he's so dumb."

Aims To Win Most

Rupp turned 65 last September, has 757 victories to his credit already and intends to keep going until he's 70.

"Basketball is my life and I want to live it this way. If I quit I wouldn't know what else to do. How many victories has Phog Allen got? How many you say, 770? I'm 13 behind him about it down at the filling station but I think people know what happened. They understand we lost two outstanding oughta have around 900 when I'm through."

The Baron of the Bluegrass laughed.

Like he said, it was no great national disaster. The sun keeps coming up every morning.

Pennel to Miss Millrose Games Due to Injury

NEW YORK (UPI)—John Pennel won't be back to defend his Millrose Games crown in the pole vault Thursday — but it's still likely the 60th annual edition of the celebrated games will feature the first 17-foot vault ever in Madison Square Garden.

Pennel, who set a Millrose Games record of 16-5 last year while winning the event and then cleared 16-6 in the NYAC meet for a Garden record, is sidelined this season with a shoulder separation suffered in an auto crash.

But Pennel's roommate, 20-year-old Bob Seagren, is ready to pick up in the Millrose Games where Pennel left off.

Seagren, making his Millrose Games debut, hopes to clear the 17-foot mark in the meet. This probably will be the last Millrose meet in the old Garden since a new garden is being erected above Pennsylvania Station.

Seagren came up with the world's first indoor 17-foot vault last year and also holds the outdoor mark of 17-5 1/2. Pennel subsequently did 17-6 1/2 but Seagren's performance still stands as the world standard.

Beside Seagren's assault on the vault records, there will also be many other highlights including the debut of distance ace Ron Clarke, who will run the two mile.

Charlie Greene, the speedster from Nebraska, will also make his game debut and run the 60-yard dash.

Among the veterans who are returning to the Millrose Games are Willie Davenport, who will defend his 60-yard high hurdle crown after tying the meet record of 7.0 seconds last year.

AREA BASKETBALL ROUNDUP

Area Games are Split

It was a rough old time for most area teams Friday night and even rougher for the ones playing conference games, like White-Deer.
 The Bucks and Does played Sunray a pair of league games and lost them both while Canadian played Gruver two conference tilts and did the same.
 Sunray's boys fought back from a 12-7 first period deficit to lead 19-18 at halftime, then 26-25 after three periods and finally won, 37-35.
 Roy Simmons paced the Bucks with 13 points while Jimmy Hoyle led Sunray with 10 points.
 In the girls contest Sunray led 12-4 after one period, then trailed 17-14 at halftime before taking a 25-20 third period only to see the Does come back for a 33-33 tie at the end of regulation. But Sunray finally won, 41-35 in overtime.
 Jenny Hawpe's 16 points was high for the Does and Sharon Holland paced Gruver with 32. Gruver's girls jumped in front of Canadian 14-3 after one period and stretched it to 35-13 at halftime and 38-17 after three periods to sack up a 42-26 victory Friday night.
 Mary Jo Lerner had seven points for Canadian's high and Francis Wood hit 12 for Gruver.
 In the boys contest Canadian led 37-35 at halftime after trailing 19-12 at the first quarter mark but fell behind 63-47 after three periods and lost, 75-66.
 Bobby Adcock led Canadian with 15 points and Benny Wilson was high for Gruver with 21.
 Mobeettie and Miami played to a one overtime with Mobeettie edging the Warriors, 37-35. Miami led 11-6 after one period, 22-14 at halftime, 28-21 after three periods but Mobeettie came back to deadlock the game 34-34 at the end of regulation.
 Jack Evans paced the Warriors with 12 while Jerry Dunn had 17 for the Tigers.

Briscoe led all the way to rip Kelton in a single game, 60-49. Briscoe led 14-6 after the end of one period, 26-20 at halftime and 41-32 after three periods in their game.

Melvin Hunt led Kelton with 14 points and Bill Walker was high for Briscoe with 22 points.
 Lefors and Allison split a pair of games with the Lefors girls winning a close one in overtime, 43-42.
 Lefors led 10-8 at the quarter, then 18-16 at the half, the game was tied 30-30 after three periods and 38-38 at the end of regulation.
 Vincent led Lefors with 16 points and Diann Kelly had 27 for the losers.

Allison's boys didn't have much trouble after the first period, which they led, 6-2, then 22-12 at halftime, 39-17 after three periods and won the game, 60-29.

D. Keith led Lefors with eight points and John Richardson had 33 for Allison.
 Perryton lost a 56-44 league game to Tulia with Mike Hargrove getting 16 for Perryton and Johnny Goodwin pacing Tulia with 22 points.
 Tulia led 9-7 after one period but Perryton took a 26-21 halftime lead but had fallen behind 39-38 after three periods.

UCLA Keeps Mark Safe With Victory

By United Press International
 A quipster once said that basketball would be a great game if it could be played.

That's the way opponents of Lew Alcindor and the No. 1 ranked UCLA Bruins have felt all season and it's unanimous today with members of the Portland University team swapped 122-57 Friday night by Alcindor & Company. UCLA's 122 points broke the school single-game scoring mark of 121 set against Washington State in 1964.

Alcindor's octopus-like presence under both baskets completely upset the Pilots. Unable to drive inside, they tried to hit from the outside and, of course, gave away the ball to the 7-foot, 1-inch Alcindor after almost every shot they missed.

The results was a joke of a game as UCLA moved to a 10-0 lead and then boosted it to 26-10. The reserves took over for UCLA before the end of the first half but the Bruins' lead was still 59-27 at intermission. Alcindor and two other regulars went to the bench with 9:50 remaining and a complete reserve unit was on the floor for UCLA for the last eight and one half minutes of the game. Alcindor, who played only 30 minutes, had 27 points compared with his 29.8-point-per-game scoring average in UCLA's first 12 games. The Bruins reached the halfway of their season with a 13-0 record with no victory by fewer than nine points.

Eight-ranked New Mexico was upset by Utah 66-64 and Oklahoma University routed West Texas State 128-103 in two other Friday night games of national importance.

Utah achieved its victory when guard Walt Simon connected with a layup with one second remaining, dealing New Mexico its fourth defeat in 15 games. It was the third consecutive loss for the slumping Lobos, who sank deeper into the Western Athletic cellar despite their high national ranking. Jeff Ockel led the winners with 16 points, 12 in the second half.

Gary Gray's 55 points paced Oklahoma City to its victory. Gray made 23 of 40 field goal attempts and nine of 10 free throws in a brilliant shooting exhibition while Mike Mitchell had 19 for West Texas. Oklahoma City, which led 67-45 at halftime, made 53 per cent of its shots while West Texas made 50 per cent but lost the ball in turnovers 29 times to 12.

Pampa Eyes Monterey After Plainview Loss

By RON CROSS Sports Editor

PLAINVIEW — You can't win 'em all but the Pampa Harvesters are probably trying to figure out just what you have to do to win one at Plainview.
 Pampa went to Plainview Friday for three games, a C contest, then the Shockers game, followed by the district varsity contest and the Bulldogs played the rude host in all three games. Plainview broke a four-game Pampa winning streak but more than that knocked the Harvesters out of a first place tie for the district lead.
 The Bulldogs rallied time and again and upset Pampa, 57-53 in a game tighter than a fat woman's girdle. The Harvesters are 1-1 in second half district play and 19-4 for the season.

The Bulldogs, now 1-1 in league play, also won the C game, 44-36 and the B game, 51-46, handing coach Bill Brown's 4-2 record a 1-1 district record.
 The Harvesters host Monterey Tuesday and know they have to win their remaining seven games to tie for the last-half title.

Both teams staged rallies with the Harvesters down by as much as eight, 31-23 early in the third period and hold a three point margin, 20-17 in the second period.

After trailing by the eight pts. Pampa closed to within one several times in the period and trailed only 43-41 when it ended.
 The Harvesters knotted the score at 43-43 with 5:51 left in the game on free shots by Bo Lang and Rick Foster but Plainview pulled out front again and with 1:40 left in the game Pampa found themselves trailing 51-47, then fell behind 55-49 before rallying to 55-53 with 15 seconds left when Steve Williams stole the ball and drove down for a layup.

But Plainview scored on Tim Lane's easy set up to end it all.
 Pampa could have done without Kenny Redin but Plainview couldn't and the senior guard kept the Bulldogs in the game in the third period.

Pampa outscored the Dogs, 18-14 in the period and Redin scored 12 of the Bulldogs points and wound up the night as the leading scorer with 19 points, 14 coming in the second half. Tim Lane and Colen-Coe added 11 each.

Pampa was paced by Williams and Bailey with 16 points each while Bo Lang settled with 11.

The Harvesters hit 43 per cent from the floor with 19 of 44 while the Bulldogs hit 46 per cent on 23 of 50.

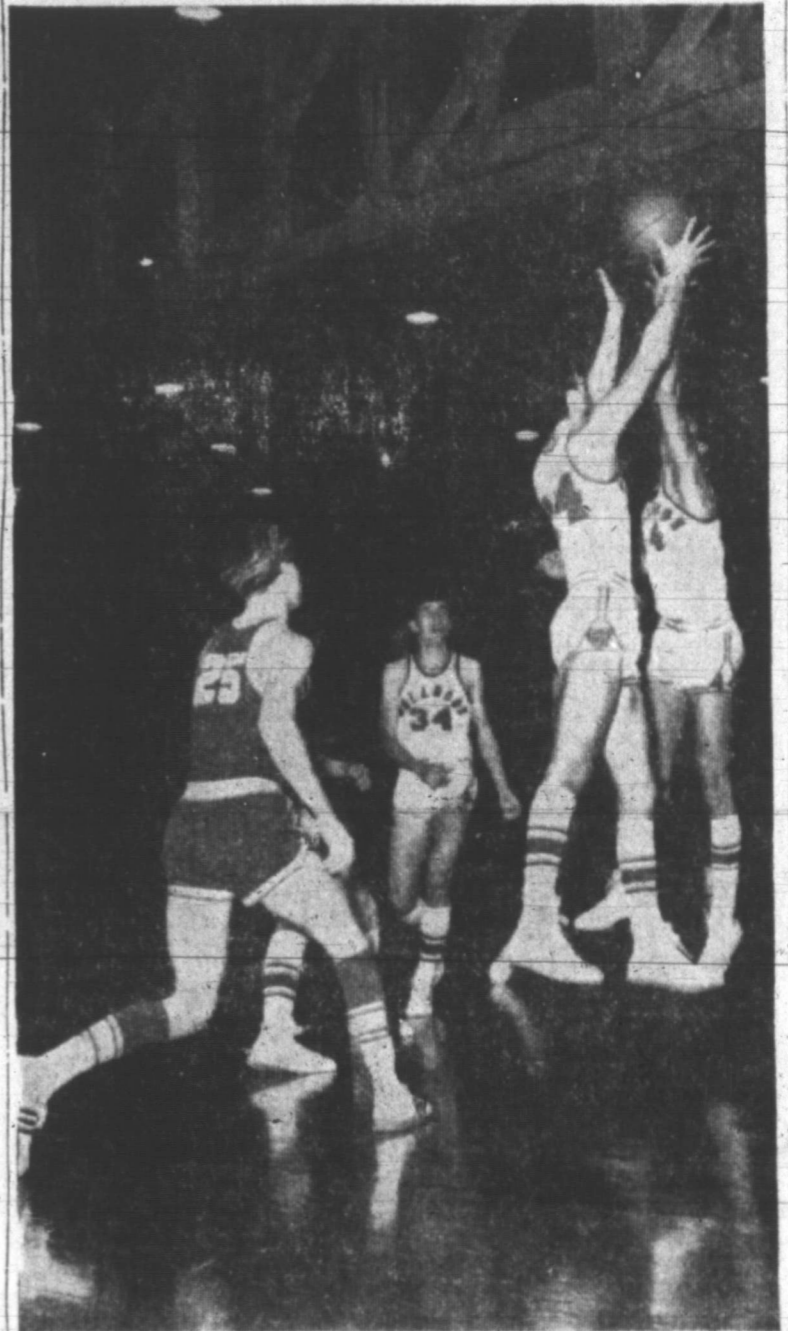

The game was tied only four times but the lead changed hands eight times with Plainview getting their last lead (and hanging on to it) with 5:06 left to go on a jumper by Lane that made the score 45-43.

The Bulldogs led 3-0 before Pampa could find the range with 4:53 left in the first period. The Harvesters took their first lead at 4-3 on a bucket by Bailey, fell behind and stayed that way until they tied it 12-12 and 14-14 near end of the period, in which they led 16-14 on a pair of free shots by Foster with 12 seconds left.

Plainview scored three quick points for a 17-16 lead before Lang bucketed and Bailey hit two free shots for a 20-17 lead with 6:53 left in the half.

But Plainview came right back for a 21-20 margin with 4:57 left and outscored the Harvesters, 10-4 and led 29-23 at halftime.

In other district 3-4A games Friday Amarillo took a close one from Lubbock Coronado 45-43 in overtime; Tascosa edged Palo Duro, 69-63; Caprock ripped Lubbock, 78-63 and Monterey clipped Borger 51-47.

Texas Farmers Must Pay For Self-Employment

DALLAS (SpI) — Most Texas farmers must pay federal self-employment tax for 1966, Ellis Campbell, Jr., district director of Internal Revenue Service for northern Texas, advised Saturday.

The rate of self-employment tax is 6.15 percent, or a maximum of $405.90, and is in addition to income tax.

By law a self-employed person is one who operates his own business or farm. He is considered to be self-employed if he employs others to operate or work the farm even though he does not live on it himself.

A farmer is subject to self-employment tax if net earnings from self-employment are $400 or more. The largest amount on which the tax applies is $6,600, whether it is a combination of self-employment income or wages from which social security was withheld.

Farmers must file a Federal income tax return and pay the self-employment tax due even though gross income is less than $600 and they owe no income tax.

A special optional provision in the law enables farmers to acquire social security credits even if they have a loss. It works like this:

- (1) If a farmer's gross income from farming is no more than $2,400, he may count two-thirds of the gross of such income as his net earnings from farm self-employment.
- (2) If gross income from farming exceeds $2,400 and actual net earnings from farm self-employment are less than $1,600, he may use $1,600 as his net

Panhandle Water Conservation News

By FELIX W. RYALS

Water levels are being taken in observation wells throughout the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District. The 1967 Water Decline Maps will be made up from these readings in time for irrigation land owners to use the depletion allowances on their 1966 federal income tax returns. The decline (depletion) maps should be ready and available at the district office in White Deer on or before Feb. 15.

The fifth annual West Texas Water Conference will be held at Texas Tech College in Lubbock on Feb. 3. The conference will be an all day affair.

The first session will be moderated by J. E. Sturrock of the Texas Water Conservation Association. Joe G. Moore Jr., director of the Texas Water Development Board, will talk on Texas Water Planning. He will be followed in the morning session by James H. Osborn, department of Agriculture Economics, Texas Tech College, earnings from farm self-employment.

Under the above provision a farmer with annual gross income from farming of $600 can declare his net earnings from farm self-employment to be $400, or two-thirds of his gross farm income, to get social security credit for that year.

"Farmer's Tax Guide," Publication No. 225, furnishes more detailed information on this subject. It is available upon request from your county agent, or from your IRS District Director by dropping him a postcard.

speaking on the "Importance of Irrigated Crops to Agricultural Input Suppliers of the Texas High Plains."

Dr. E. T. Smerdon of Texas A&M University will moderate the second session of the conference. The first speaker on the second session will be Roland Wells of the Soil Conservation Service on the subject, "Farm-Water Supply." Following his talk will be Floyd Dornay of the United States Department of Interior, who will show a film "Rivers in the Sky."

During the noon luncheon, Dr. Grover E. Murray, president of Texas Tech will address the group.

The schedule for the third session of the conference is listed as follows: Moderator: J. R. Johnston, Southern Plains Branch, USDA; Bushland; Groundwater Recharge Research — Southwestern Great Plains Research Center — Bushland, Victor Hauser, Research Agriculture Engineer, USDA, Southwestern Great Plains Research Center, Bushland; "Groundwater Recharge Research — High Plains Research Foundation — Halfway, Texas," James Valiant, Agri. Engineer, High Plains Research Foundation, Halfway, Texas; "Can Recharge Water be Recovered?" Kieth Marston, Head, Department of Civil Engineering, Texas Tech College, Lubbock; "Water Harvest Potentials in West Texas," Charles Wendt, Soil Physicist, South Plains Research and Extension Center, Lubbock.

The fourth session schedule is listed as follows: Moderator: Russell Bean,

Last week we inadvertently left out the names of two 4-H Club members that will be showing projects at the Amarillo Livestock Show this week. Ted Reeves will show an Angus calf. Kathy Taylor will be showing two Hereford steers. It's bad enough to overlook a 4-H boy but it's even worse to overlook a charming 4-H girl. Both of these youngsters are outstanding 4-H'ers.

Meetings of many of the subcommittees on the Extension Program Building Committee will be meeting this week to develop production guidelines on all the major farming and High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, Lubbock; "Groundwater Law in Texas," George McClesky, attorney; Nelson, McClesky, and Harriger, Lubbock; "Water Problems in Texas: Research Needs," Dan Wells, Director, Texas Water Center, Texas Tech College, Lubbock.

A bold attack to find the best way to make the Galveston Bay System serve recreational and fisheries needs with the minimum amount of fresh water inflows was launched with full fanfare by Gov. Connally. He held a press conference to release the work plan for the study, and Federal Water Pollution Control Adm. James Quigley came to Austin to sit by Connally's side and endorse the plan.

The work plan was developed by teams from the water institutes at Tech, A&M University and University of Texas with large advisory committees. It envisions a $2.4 million budget for research over three years, plus $175,000 a year for management by an over-all agency.

ranching enterprises in Gray County. These committees are very enthusiastic about getting the agricultural ball to rolling. We are especially fortunate to have some top notch resource people like Lynn McDaniels and Van Mills, Soil Conservation Service, to work with these committees as they develop these guidelines. When completed they should encompass the best known Experiment Station recommendations. There will be a lot of good local information included as well.

Rex McAnelly, manager, Moody Farms; John Haynes, manager Triangle Ranch and Feedlot, McLean and Charlie Webb, commercial cattle feeder, and rancher, Laketon, are some well-recognized authorities on cattle feeding. They will develop a guideline that should prove very popular for the cattle feeder. We hope to incorporate information on hedging procedures on the Live Beef Cattle Futures in this guideline. In our opinion the Live Beef Cattle Futures Market is becoming a dominant factor in the entire cattle business. Any factor that exerts an influence on finished cattle affects the entire cattle business.

In our opinion it will erase extreme highs and extreme lows from the market. It will act on the cattle feeding business as the governor of an engine does with a variable load. Sharp cattlemen will use it to hedge profits.

In our Jan. 6 news article, we injected a pessimistic note about the last half of 1967. Apparently there are others that agree with Rex McAnelly and others about housewives turning to other meats if beef does go too high. A little over a week ago, we worked with a few commercial cattle feeders on hedging cattle on June and August. One of these producers sold a sizeable package of contracts on August at $29. At the time of this writing this producer could buy his contract back on August at $27.77. He could

Three 4-H Youth To Show Stock

PERRYTON — Three Ochiltree county 4-H club members will be competing in the Junior show division of the 1967 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, January 27 through Feb. 5.

Bobby Githens and Dale Githens will each be showing an Angus steer and a Charolais steer, while Larry Swink will be exhibiting an Angus steer.

With entries still being counted, W. R. Watt, Stock Show president and manager, is cautiously optimistic about the possibility of the final total figure breaking the 1966 all-time entry record of over 11,000.

By VAN MILLS
A topography map is being completed on Ernest Wilkerson farm just southeast of Pampa. Ernest marked this 400-acre field off in 100-foot squares. Soil Conservation Service technicians are helping Wilkerson to take elevation readings at the corner of each square. This map will be used to determine the row direction for irrigation, and the amount of leveling needed to make the field irrigation properly.

Drew Word has completed some critical area shaping on his stock farm north of Alanreed A pond was staked for John Spearman on his place northeast of Pampa. A pond was staked for Red Easton on the W. H. Taylor Estate. Two seed-type ponds were staked for Johnny Haynes on his ranch north of McLean.

One West Texas conservation rancher had the following to say about successful ranching in this area: "Our basic production is grass and investments in improvement and restoration of grass are more important than investments in improved breeding sires, or any other investment on the ranch."

Restoration of our present acreage is more practical than trying to purchase additional acreage. Adjusting stocking rate to forage supply is basic to everything we do in planning. This adjustment must necessarily be made before either range or stock suffer. We recognize that the range always suffers first and that it can happen before we detect it. Above all, we do not want to get married to our livestock but rather to always keep at least a portion of this stock as expendables in critical drought periods.

An orderly system of marketing stock is most urgent rather than continually trying to "out guess" the market. There is no one poorer than a West Texas rancher who is always out of grass.

It is the rain you keep that counts; for unless we are efficient in this, we can't ever hope to succeed in the others.

Brush control, maximum water utilization, deferred grazing, and proper range management by adjusting grazing to available forage, have all proved to be the most profitable and practical investments that we have ever made in the ranch business."

A work plan is being developed for the McClellan Creek watershed. This plan will then be presented to the local sponsors for their approval. We hope to present this plan to the local sponsors in February.

John Spearman, Mrs. Vera Dial Dickey, John Haynes and Red Easton have constructed farm ponds for livestock water.

As usual, the leveling is starting. This is a practice which is very important on irrigated farms to get even water distribution and water penetration. Roy Kretzmeir, Tom Anderwald, and Ralph Britten have started leveling their irrigated land.

Floyd Franklin has installed underground irrigation pipeline. Stan Kretzmeir is planning to build a diversion terrace on his farm northwest of Pampa.

New District Agent Named

COLLEGE STATION, (SpI) — Mrs. Sue Farris, Harrison County home demonstration agent since 1957, on Feb. 1 will become district agent for Extension District I with headquarters at Amarillo.

In making the announcement, Extension Service Director John E. Hutchison said Mrs. Farris replaces Miss Edith Lois Wilson who retired on Dec. 31, 1966. In her new position, the director added that Mrs. Farris would supervise the Extension Service's programs in the 22-county Panhandle area relating to home economics, adult and 4-H, through the county home demonstration agents.

The new district agent is a native of Lamar County; a graduate of Blossom High School and Texas Woman's University with a B.S. degree in home economics education. She has also done graduate work at TWU and Colorado State University. During her youth, she was an outstanding 4-H Club member and a Gold Star award winner.

In 1965, Mrs. Farris received the National Association of Extension Home Economists' Distinguished Service Award in recognition for outstanding educational programs and leadership development over a period of 10 or more years. She has served as a district director and state committee chairman in her state association. Her programs were developed through the County Program Building Committee. She was also cited for her active work in the Texas Community Improvement Program.

MALOUF ABRAHAM REPORTS

Committee Work Set By State Legislator

As I mentioned in my last report, I am very much encouraged by the committee assignments that I have received. In this report I would like to discuss these committees and perhaps give you an idea of the issues that my committees will be concerned with. My committee assignments are Education, Urban Affairs, Livestock and Stockraising, and Motor Traffic.

EDUCATION: This Committee is one of the most important in the Legislature because it deals with an area in which the State in the 1966-67 biennium spent 48 cents of every dollar. Out of a total budget of 3.72 billion, 1.8 billion was spent on education. With increased spending in this area a definite possibility, you can see that we will be quite busy this session. One of the more controversial issues that we will be concerned with is the proposed tuition hike for all State supported colleges and universities in the State.

purpose of this Committee is to deal with matters relating to control, regulation, licensing and operation of commercial motor vehicles, both bus and truck. Governor Connally has suggested legislation dealing with traffic safety which I heartily endorse.

Again, I assure you that I will give careful consideration to all legislation before making a decision as to how to vote. In the meantime, let me hear from you on matters vital to our district and State.

Rep. Malouf Abraham
84th. District

Wall Street In Review

URBAN AFFAIRS: Formerly this Committee was called the Municipal and Private Corporation Committee. In this Committee we will be concerned with all matters concerning the cities and their problems. Perhaps the main issue in this session will be whether or not to grant to the cities permission to levy a one percent city sales tax providing the people of the city approve such a move by voting. The Governor recommended that the Legislature give the cities authority to enact such a tax. With the Governor lending his support, it is quite possible that the plan will be adopted by the Legislature.

The company feels the apparent broadening of trading as more quality issues are bought is a favorable note and says purchase of these equities should be rewarding.

The Pampa Daily News

Sunday, January 22, 1967

By PEGGY JO ORMSON

At the start of World War II, a group of aviation-minded citizens formed a national organization which they named Civil Air Patrol. During the next five years the remarkable achievements of Civil Air Patrol were of such benefit to the public welfare that governmental recognition provided for the incorporation and establishment of CAP as a volunteer auxiliary of the United States Air Force.

The Pampa Civil Air Patrol Senior Squadron, organized last Nov. 25 under the direction of Col. O. G. Minden, of Amarillo, Texas CAP Group One commander, was chartered on Dec. 1. The local squadron is a member of an organizational structure which consists of a national headquarters, eight regional offices and 52 wings. National Headquarters is located at Ellington Air Force Base, Texas. The national Board of CAP Corp. is the governing body. Each CAP region consists of a regional headquarters and the wings within its geographical boundaries. A CAP wing is located in each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. A group headquarters is formed when either the number of squadrons or the geographical area of the wing makes it difficult for wing headquarters to properly supervise its local units. Next, and most important, are the CAP squadrons. The Squadron is the basic operating unit.

Missions and purposes of the CAP are to encourage and aid American citizens in the contribution of their efforts, services and resources in the development of aviation and in the maintenance of aerospace supremacy; to encourage and develop by example the voluntary contributions of private citizens to the public welfare; to provide aerospace education and training, especially to its senior (adult) and cadet (teenager, 13-18 years) members; to encourage and foster civil aviation in local communities, and to provide an organization of private citizens with adequate facilities and training to assist in meeting local and national emergencies.

The local squadron's pride and joy is "The Much Discussed," its Beechcraft T-34 single engine military trainer, purchased the first of December. There are 21 licensed pilots in the squadron qualified to fly the plane.

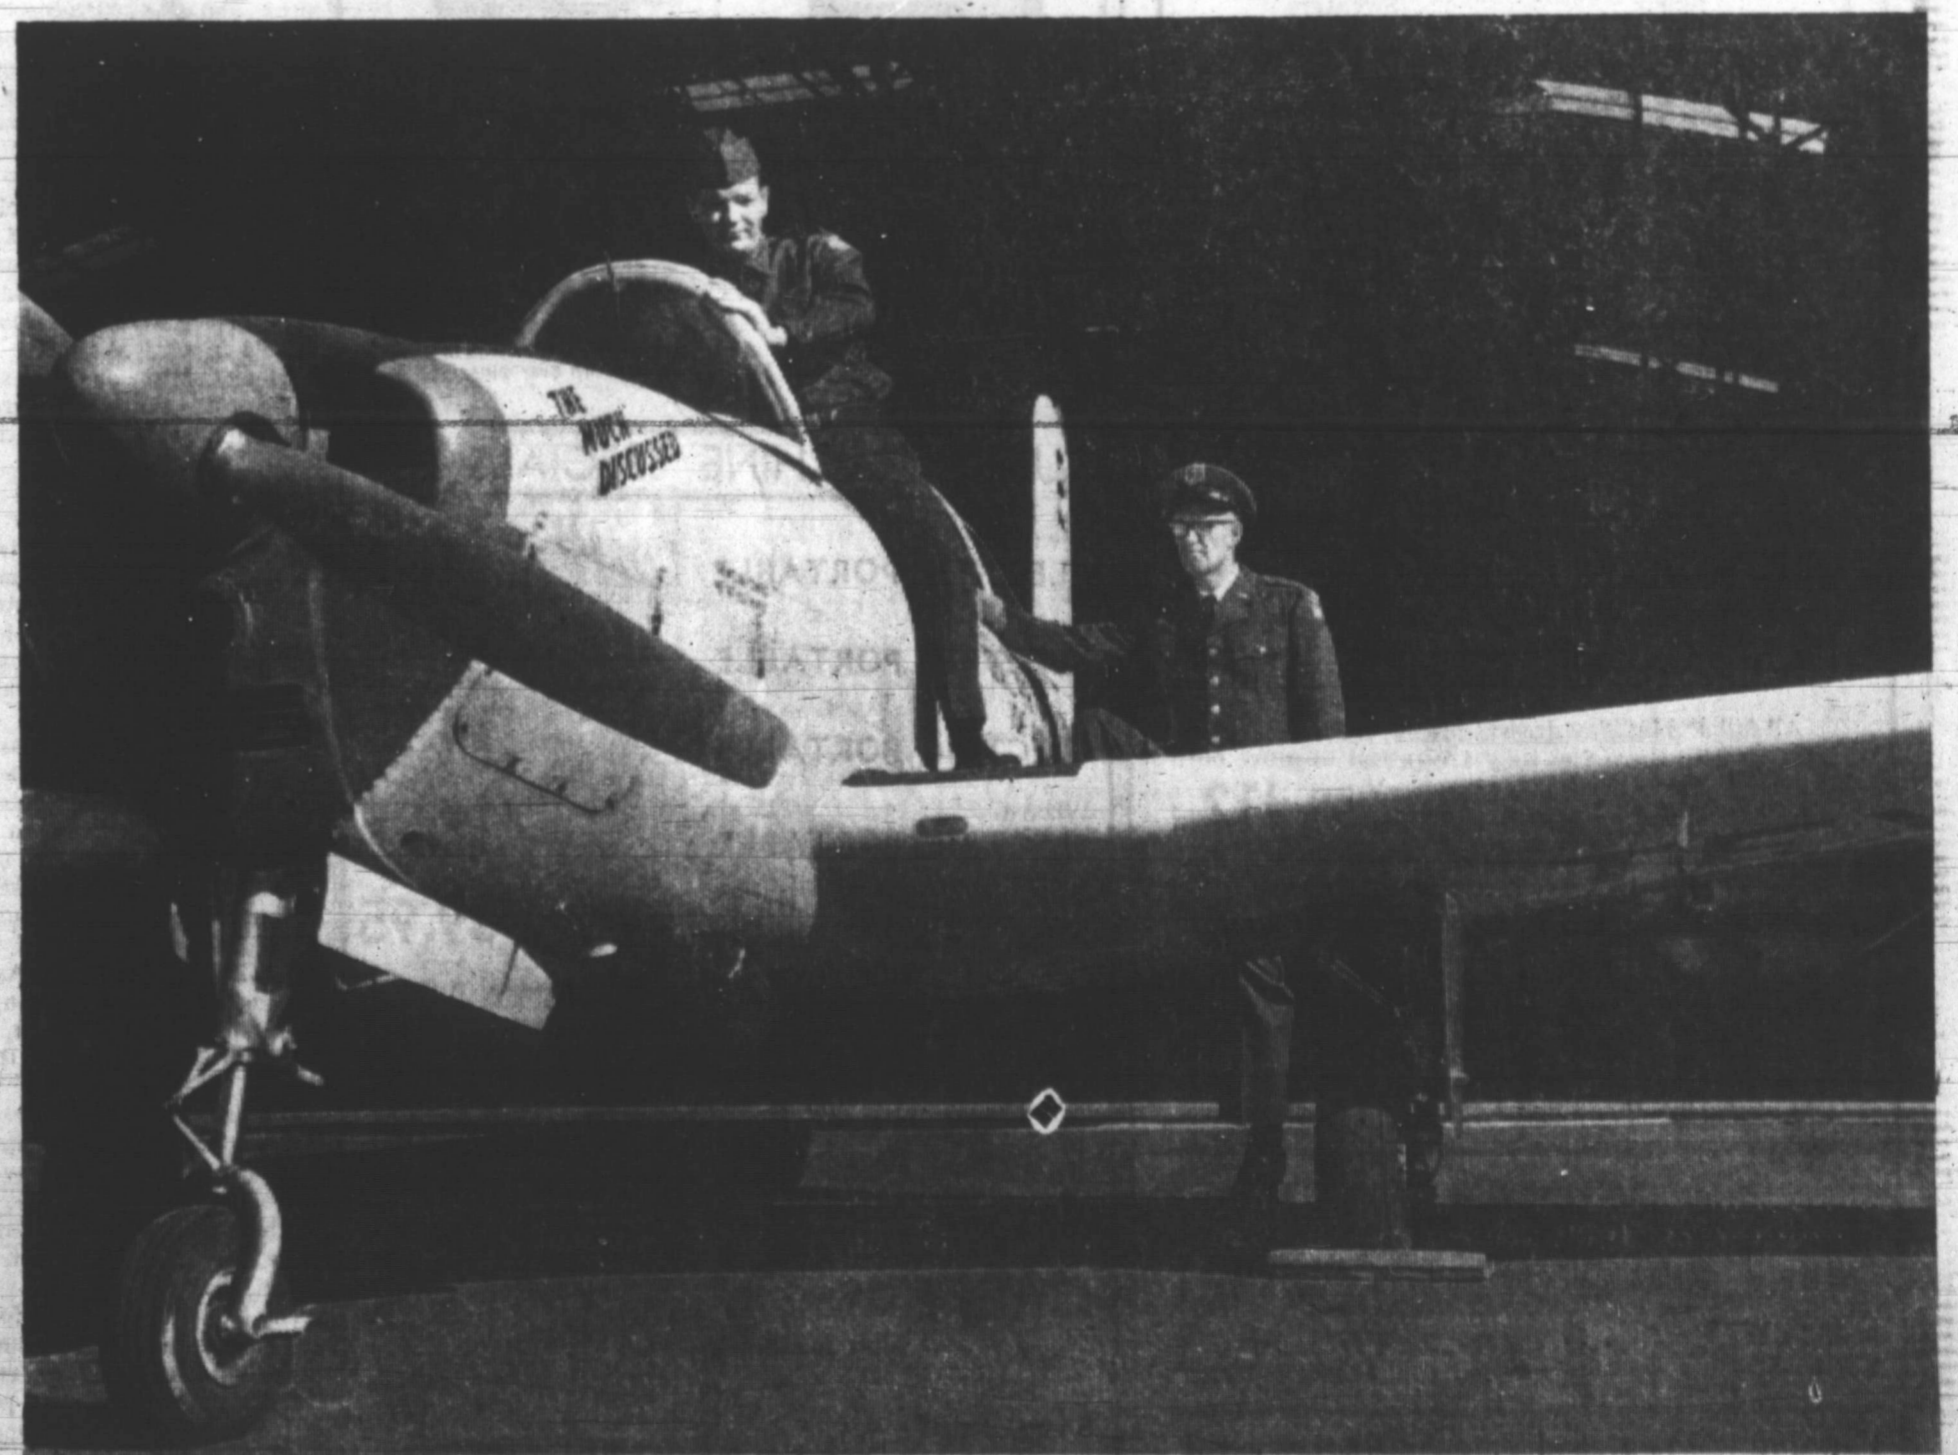

Officers of Pampa CAP Senior Squadron include Ralph W. Prock, commander; Jim Leverich, deputy commander; Dr. Bob Loerwald, adjutant; Mrs. Ernest B. Wilkinson, information officer; Ed Daugherty of Miami, finance officer; Dr. Ed Williams, medical officer; Andrew Smith, education and military training officer; William H. Heuston, operations officer; Kenneth Gray, supply officer; Paul Miller, transportation officer; Roy L. Smith, maintenance officer; Charles Duenkel Jr., emergency services officer; Don Chisum, communications officer, and Henry Gruben, missions training officer. Other squadron members are Joe Cree-Ercell, Chambers, L. B. Maddox of Miami, Ernest B. Wilkinson, Mrs. Kenneth Gray, Ronald Hawkins, Milo Carlson, James R. Bean, Joe M. Shelton, Mobeetie Joe Hawkins, Mrs. William H. Heuston, Benny McMullen, George Ingram and R. L. Galmor, Mobeetie.

Mrs. Malcolm Lee Carter II
...nee Miss Jacquelyn Sue Reese

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll L. Reese of Guymon. Mr. Carter is the son of Mrs. Malcolm L. Carter Sr. of 716 Doucette and the late Mr. Carter.

The bride's brother, Rev. James F. Reese, pastor of First Southern Baptist Church, Liberal, Kan., performed the ceremony

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white taffeta designed with a sabrina neckline which was enhanced by appliques of lace re-embroidered with seed pearls. The sheath skirt was overlaid with the chosen lace. A chapel train cascaded from a self-fabric bow at the back waistline. Her tiered elbow-length veil of illusion fell from an organza rose coil embellished with lace leaves and seed pearls.

Miss Patricia Presley of Galveston attended as maid of honor and Miss Claire Sheridan of Embudo, N.M., and Mrs. John Vanmeter of Fort Worth were bridesmaids. Attired in two-tone gowns of royal and light blue crepe and satin with empire waistlines, enhanced by a matching skirt panel falling from a large back bow, they carried a long-stemmed duchess rose.

Serving his brother as best man was Lyndol Carter of Amarillo. Groomsmen were Michael Ludeman and Robert Edwards of Lubbock. Seating the guests were ushers Eugene Lake of Dallas, Larry Carter of Lubbock, Andrew Kupper of Kaufman and James Simpson.

Beverly Cantwell and Bruce Carter of Amarillo lit the tapers. Ringbearer was Taylor Carter of Amarillo and flower-girls were Kellye and Kay Lynn Hardy of Oklahoma City.

Garden Club Hears 'Nature's Secrets In Glass Terrariums' Discussed

Mrs. Ira Carlton presented a program on "Nature's Secrets in Glass Terrariums" at a recent meeting of the Pampa Garden Club which met in the home of Mrs. Milo Carlton. Mrs. Carlton exhibited several terrariums which she had made. Nathaniel Ward, a London physician, first discovered the art of planting in glass containers when he found a bottle in the woods which contained a small amount of soil out of which moss was growing. Realizing the value of this discovery, he proceeded to plant different plants in glass containers and found they would grow a d flourish with very little moisture. Containers of this type were called Wardians after the founder and the name Terrarium is the modern classification. Tea and rubber plants were transported in Wardians to other countries.

Dear Abby....
Visit Your Parents And Love Them Now
DEAR ABBY: About seven months ago you printed a letter in your column signed "Too Late."
Abby, I must have read that letter a hundred times. I finally cut it out and framed it because I realized that I had been guilty of neglecting my own parents in their declining years. I made up my mind then and there that I would turn over a new leaf while there was still time, and I did.
Not only did I try to make up for the times I was "too busy" to go to see them, but I explained to my children how important it was to give their grandparents the pleasure of seeing them often. Now I know that I will never have to write a letter like the one I framed. Perhaps if you were to print that letter again, it would do for others what it did for me. God bless you.
GRATEFUL
DEAR GRATEFUL: Thank you for your letter. Curiously enough, the custodian of a cemetery wrote to tell me that "Too Late's" letter had been framed and was hanging in the chapel. What a pity that it would be read by those for whom it was also too late. How much more good might be accomplished were it posted on the bulletin board in a high school. Here it is:
DEAR ABBY: I am the most heartbroken person on earth. I always found time to go everywhere else but to see my old, gray-haired parents. They sat at home alone, loving me just the same. It is too late now to give them those few hours of happiness I was too selfish and too busy to give, and now when I go to visit their graves and look at the green grass above them, I wonder if God will ever forgive me for the heartaches I have caused them. I pray that you will print this, Abby to tell those who still have their parents to visit them and show their love and respect while there is still time. For it is later than you think.
TOO LATE
DEAR ABBY: I am single, in my early fifties, and have a good position. I live with my mother and we get along fine. Last winter a cousin (about my age) passed away. Her husband has been coming here

DEAR ABBY: My husband is not speaking to me and I think I had a perfect right to do what I did. Here is what happened. You be the judge. Every year my husband's company puts on a big Christmas party. There are drinks on the house (I don't drink) and a big feed, after which everybody gathers for the program. While we were eating I heard that as part of the program the boss was going to paint a picture of a dancing girl on my husband's stomach, tape a bow on his navel, and the girl would "dance" when my husband moved his stomach around. (I should have explained, my husband is fat and jolly) I told my husband I did not care to see that kind of entertainment, and I made him take me home. ## Double-Ring Vows Pledged in Canyon

Double-ring rites pronounced at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon united Miss Elyse Wolfe and Richard Dean Hearn in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edward Wolfe of San Antonio. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Spence F. Hearn of 600 N. Somerville.

Rev. Charles P. Meredith solemnized the ceremony in Joseph A. Hill Memorial Chapel, Canyon, where both the bride and bridegroom are students at West Texas State University.

Mrs. Charles Curtis Crowell, organist, and Gary T. Garner, flutist, presented appropriate nuptial selections which included "Minuet" and "Spirit Dance." Sprays of white gladioli in basket arrangements marked the wedding scene.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white satin brocade designed with modified empire styling featuring three-quarter length sleeves and boat neckline. Her veil of silk illusion was secured by a seed pearl tiara. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with gardenias.

Wearing light blue brocade gowns and carrying white pom pom corsages, bridal attendants were Miss Jean Kathryn Vargo of San Antonio, maid of honor, and Mrs. Charles Edward Johnston of Canyon and Miss Sue Ellen Kunetka of San Antonio, bridesmaids.

Serving as best man to the bridegroom was Charles Curtis Crowell while groomsmen were James Petty and Charles Edward Johnston. Attending as ushers were George Richard Rath, Cecil Curtis Darby Jr. and Gene A. O'Rear.

A reception was held following the ceremony in First Christian Church, Canyon. The bride's table was centered with a floral arrangement in blue and white and held the three-tiered wedding cake which was trimmed in blue. Miss Minnie McClendon presided at the punch bowl and Miss Nancy Rath served the cake. Miss Hel-

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities. We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. ## If War Is Worth Fighting, It Also Is Worth Winning

One of the most difficult discussions for those who seek to promote a moral society is that of discussing the war in Vietnam.

War is a natural act of politicians. They are always at war in some degree. It is always a "limited" war, conducted within the limits of the propaganda that presents their cause as just and the opposition as the aggressor.

Military conflict, which is the most common vision that comes to mind at the mention of "war," is the most wasteful expenditure of energy in which human beings can engage. It is so costly that it can be waged only by organizations with vast sums of money or else with power to run up huge indebtedness, hence political governments.

The most sinister aspect of such military conflict is that anyone who criticizes the governmental action is bombarded with charges from lacking patriotism to out and out treason. Yet to present support of military conflict is impossible for those who believe the world will realize its fullest promise only when aggression and compulsion are removed from human actions.

Thus the Vietnam war. Where do we stand? Since we cannot discuss it within the framework of a moral society, we must consider it within the limited dimension of the politician; the expediency angle.

And from this point of view it appears to be handled in a very foolish, even criminal manner. It has been estimated by those who compute such things that the United States is spending $322,000 for every Viet Cong killed. At this rate the nation will be bankrupt long before the last of the enemy is silenced. Criticism of the "limited" nature of the Vietnam war points out that our planes are taking off with only 1,000 pounds of bombs when they are capable of carrying 12,000 pounds.

This makes it necessary to fly more missions and thus increase the "statistics" of the conflict. There are many examples offered by these critics pointing to the limitations placed on the American fighting man in Vietnam and supporting the claim that the Vietnam war is being waged purely for political purposes. That is to take the attention of the American public off the domestic woes and political failures in other areas and to justify the increasing size and cost of our political government.

Within the framework of this discussion, we must place ourselves on the side of the so-called "hawks." If fight a war we must, then it should be fought in such a manner as to end it with all possible haste. The use of the atomic bomb in World War II is frequently now referred to as an inhuman act. Yet the bomb probably saved literally millions of lives. For had the war been fought to its conclusion through conventional weaponry, an invasion of Japan would have been necessary and the loss of life on both sides could be only imagined.

Vietnam already has required 50 per cent more American servicemen than the Korean war required. Its cost is soaring to $2 billion a month. The politicians justify this "limited" war by pointing out that further escalation might bring on another global conflict. The politicians seem to be willing to defend his "principles" only on limited scale. Yet it seems to us that unless war is justified at all costs, it is not justified at any cost.

THE GUEST PEN: A Time for Review

By MILDRED PROGAR. It may seem a bit too early in the new year to review some of those resolutions made at the beginning of 1967 — but is it? After the excitement of the celebrations wears off and we get on with the routine of living, those resolutions — or expressions of determination to improve conditions — have a way of slipping out of our awareness.

The genius of men's mind has invented systems of accounting for time and almost everything else in our lives. Minutes, days, weeks, months, years, and ultimately eons have evolved to give a sense of order to the life of man. They denote the beginning or the end of a cycle of time and serve a constructive purpose in the life of the individual.

Taking time to analyze the events of the year in terms of personal progress and accomplishment is desirable and can lead to a more purposeful life. The end of the calendar year is the commonly accepted time for analysis and the ensuing "new year's resolutions."

But let's remember that all life is individual. . . lived one moment at a time. . . that each person is a unique expression of life within the whole of the universe. And, as such, finds an individual meaning in all that he is aware of in his lifetime.

Time especially is unique to the individual. No two persons will grow, learn, or do anything else with exactly the same sense of time. Individuals naturally develop at different rates of growth and consequently place different values on things at different times. Even those with the same general values differ in degree.

The individual who is conscious of his own constructive and evolving nature knows that he is in a constant state of change. He is forever becoming. . .

coming what he will be . . . and then developing further from that point. There will be plateaus in his growth — his time for review and analysis — but his awareness of himself and his relationship to life is active and forward moving at all times.

The month, the year, the century or the day of the week does not really matter. He recognizes all that he is at any given moment as the effect of all the yesterdays that have gone by. . . There are the foundations upon which his present level of growth rests. He recognizes the natural effect of past actions and reactions as desirable or undesirable. . . natural effects of causes instituted by himself. They cannot be changed in any manner.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Since January is the only month when we're still conscious of "new" calendars, it's interesting to hear that one company which dominates the field printed 60 million calendars for 1967. They included pictures, pictorial, comic, institutional, etc., and were purchased by every kind of business firm, aviation to zipper manufacturers, to be given free to the public for advertising and promotion purposes. The firm is already working on its 1970 designs and is printing the 1968 date records now. Uncle Sam gets into the act, too, by turning out a calendar for the Commerce Dept. showing 1,000 holidays around the world. It might be of interest if you're a world traveler.

Today's smile: Two lawyers were haggling over a legal matter when one asked: "Have you ever heard my honesty questioned?" The other replied: "No; in fact I've never even heard it mentioned."

Maybe Los Angeles' smog is not a recent phenomenon after all. Richard Henry Dana, author of "Two Years Before the Mast," visited there in 1834 and recorded in his diary that he was forced to return to his ship for treatment because his eyes smarted. The pharmacist's mate, who had sailed there many times, told him it was not unusual for sailors to report the same ailment when they returned from shore leave at that port.

Thoughts while shaving: Meandering through Manhattan, we were surprised to discover so many specialty shops that really specialized. One place sells only watchbands, another buttons, still another umbrellas, and, golly day, there's still another that sells only items made of paper-mache. A federal surver showed the average factory worker today puts in about 10 hours a week less work and earns 12 times as much as his counterpart in 1909. We don't know exactly what that proves, but Uncle Sam has statistics on darn near everything. . . And something else came out with the startling info that, when ironing, a woman uses more energy than a bricklayer. . . Everything is growing bigger these days and that goes for the music business. The latest edition of the ASCAP Biographical Dictionary of Composers, Authors and Publishers reveals there are now more than 8,500 song writers and 2,800 music publishers holding membership in the organization. A dozen years ago there was only one-third that number listed. Incidentally, the ASCAP book is one of the best reference works on modern music you'll find anywhere. . . It should be in every public and school library. . . It's amazing what a college student will do for his dear old alma mater. We heard about a fellow at a Pennsylvania college who was a drum major in the band. One day last fall he marched several miles in a morning parade; later he ran five miles with the cross-country team; then he rejoined the band for more marching at the football game. We'll bet he didn't study that weekend.

The Hutchinson (Kansas) NEWS reported in a story: "The baby was born in a tent made from a sale." That was no bargain for the youngster because history relates only babies born in log cabins ever grow up to become President.

Country Editor speaking: "The three biggest problems known to man are blades, brunettes and redheads."

Serving The Public (The Wall Street Journal) The dry statistics that drift out of government agencies can at times provide surprises. Certainly that's true of the report on job trends that the Labor Dept. put out the other day. We were aware that quite a lot of people work for federal, state and local governments, allegedly serving the public in one way or another. But we would not have guessed that the total now has zoomed to 11 million, making it the third largest category of employment.

While manufacturing and wholesale and retail trade still lead the way, governmental employers are moving up fast. In the past five years, in fact, state and local governments alone have increased the numbers of their jobs by 3 per

House GOP Leaders To Block Debt Ceiling Boost Until They Get Detailed Accounting on Vietnam

ROBERT ALLEN      PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — House Republican leaders have decided to demand that the Johnson administration submit a detailed accounting of the cost of the Vietnam war.

Headed by Representative Melvin Laird, Wis., chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, the Republican leaders have served notice they will oppose a boost in the debt ceiling until full information on Vietnam expenditures is forthcoming.

Until they know whether the war is costing $1.5 billion, $2 billion or $3 billion monthly, the GOP say their members will not be in a position to make an "informed judgment" on whether the debt ceiling should be raised.

In this backstage ultimatum, delivered during heated discussions with Democratic leaders on the budget and national debt, the Republicans also demanded that Defense Secretary McNamara make the accounting.

They proposed that McNamara, who they charge has consistently underestimated the cost of the war, be summoned to testify before the Ways and Means Committee when it launches hearings later this month on the administration's proposal to hike the debt ceiling.

While there has been no response from the White House or the GOP demands, Representative Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman, has told them he will ask McNamara and the Joint Chiefs of Staff to appear at the debt hearings.

URGENTLY NEEDED — The administration's debt proposal, being prepared for submission next week, is expected to call for an $8 to $10 billion increase. The current temporary ceiling of $330 billion expires June 30. If Congress fails to act by that date, the ceiling automatically reverts to $285 billion — the so-called permanent ceiling.

The debt is now hovering between $325 and $329 billion. The White House is warning that if the ceiling isn't raised before the end of February, the Treasury will be forced to stop selling government securities. This could cause a financial crisis.

Due to soaring war outlays, President Johnson originally planned to ask Congress to do away with the ceiling. But this move was quickly shelved when soundings by Treasury Secretary Fowler indicated it had no chance of approval.

GOP STRATEGY — Republican insiders say the party's leaders decided to force an early showdown on the Vietnam costs for both legislative and political purposes.

The contemplated showdown cent, the steepest rise for any sector of the employment market. With one breadwinner in every seven already working for some form of government, perhaps it isn't wholly ridiculous to ask: If this trend continues, will we reach a point where all of those people have no public left to serve? Except, of course, themselves.

Question Box

QUESTION: A recent letter writer defined a traffic jam as "a collision between capitalism (mass producing automobiles) and socialism (state road monopoly)." Does it then follow that traffic accidents and deaths are really caused by our primitive, socialist road system and not by unsafe automobiles and drivers? If the state had permitted private enterprise to own and develop all roads according to market demand, is it logical to assume that the resulting competition would have led to the construction of highways which were nearly accident proof?

ANSWER: We think it is possible that if the road system were private enterprise, many of today's problems would not exist. However, we do not know that there would be virtually accident-proof highways.

Experience in other fields shows that where individual enterprise has little or no state interference, a great deal more progress results. And it is conceivable that such enterprise would have developed far safer highways.

As roads are presently conceived, we suspect there still would be some mishaps which would occur as result of faulty judgment by drivers, faulty equipment or even faulty roadways. All persons are subject to human errors. But it is likely that operators would find it to their own best interests to provide the safest possible highways and would take action to prevent drunken or otherwise reckless drivers from repeating their offenses. Since they would need to provide the best possible service at the lowest possible cost, it would be necessary that they keep poor risks off the roads.

As to accident-proof highways, engineers have long known how to put radar-like controls to regulate speed of vehicles in specific lanes and to prevent collisions. Thus far, those in control of the roads have considered the expense too great. It is conceivable that some capitalists would consider they had a chance to make a profit from building such a safe thoroughfare and that they would do so.

We believe there is no limit to what free men can do, if they set their minds to it and are not restricted from using their own initiative.

General William McKee, FAA administrator, asked for $130 million in the new budget to keep the SST program on schedule. The inside word is that the President has cut that request to $100 million.

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KERSHNER

When Will We Learn? According to the Latin American report for October 10th, "there are approximately two thousand citizens and their relatives still residing in Cuba, and the Castro regime refuses to let them leave." The Miami Herald places the number at twenty-seven hundred. When discussing this matter with the Cuban Foreign Minister, Ra u l Roa, the Swiss Ambassador, representing the United States, reports the Foreign Minister as saying:

"The revolutionary government of Cuba desires to clarify, in a final and definite manner, that it will not impede the exit of said North American citizens, but that they must wait until all of those have left who have the right to do so (meaning Cubans)."

The Foreign Minister declared that his statement was "in conformity with the memorandum of agreement subscribed to by the government of the United States," with reference to the repatriation of American citizens. Evidently the Cuban government has determined to hold American citizens as hostages in Cuba, until such time as it gets rid of all the Cubans it wishes to send to America.

In setting up the air-lift of Cubans to our country, apparently our government neglected to provide for the prior repatriation of our own citizens. Before going to the expense of airlifting Cubans to our shores, who have been stripped of all their property (excepting the clothing they wear), arrangements should have been made for every American who wished to do so, to return home. No doubt our negotiators did not think of the extremists to which the communists will go to gain their ends. And that is the basis of our troubles internationally speaking. We seem unable to learn that communists have no sense of right and wrong, and are not governed or even inhibited by any loyalty to recognized principles.

Q—Tests show that my thyroid activity is low and my doctor says I should take thyroid pills indefinitely. I read recently that "thyroid indiscriminately used can play havoc with the whole endocrine balance." What do you say?
A—To take thyroid pills to reduce can be dangerous but to take them to supplement a deficiency in your body under medical supervision is not "indiscriminate use."

Q—I had my thyroid removed and am taking Synthroid. What are my chances for a normal life? Are there any side effects from the drug?
A—The drug you are taking is a thyroid supplement. The dosage must be carefully adjusted to meet your needs. Too much would cause the symptoms of hyperthyroidism you may have had before your thyroid was removed.

Too little would cause the symptoms of a thyroid deficiency. Just enough would allow you to lead a normal life in the absence of any other abnormality.

Q—A doctor tells me I have a thyroid that must be removed. I went to another doctor who said that with medication I would not need an operation. What do I do now?
Q—Try the medical treatment. If this fails you can still have your thyroid removed.

Q—I am pregnant and my doctor says I have a fibroid tumor. Why doesn't he get an X ray to see whether the tumor is in the uterus or in the tube? Will my baby be normal?
A—An X ray would not tell your doctor anything about the tumor because it is made up of soft tissue which does not show up on X ray. The less X-ray exposure you have during pregnancy the better. If your doctor diagnosed a fibroid he knows that it is in the uterus and not in the ovary or tube. The tumor will not affect the baby, but, because it may complicate delivery, your doctor may want to perform a Caesarean section.

DISARMAMENT TREATY

The latest step toward nuclear disarmament, following the nuclear test-ban treaty, is a new treaty with Soviet Russia and other countries to be brought before the Senate this year. This treaty would ban any use of nuclear weapons in space or placing them in orbit around the earth.

Like every kind of disarmament, this sounds wonderful in theory. But in practice, as always, the Russians have refused to allow any effective inspection to verify that they are keeping their promise. Such verification is certainly needed in view of the Kremlin's record of breaking nearly every international agreement it has ever made.

Without inspection to insure compliance, the space disarmament treaty is worthless to us, but a big advantage for our enemy. They can count on our abiding by it, just as we have always kept agreements of this kind, while they can break it at their pleasure. That is exactly what happened as a result of the "moratorium" on nuclear testing during the last two years of Eisenhower's Presidency. We promised to stop testing, and kept our promise. The Russians began again as soon as they were ready, in 1961, with the biggest nuclear weapons ever exploded.

If we give up the principle of requiring verifiable inspection of nuclear disarmament agreements in this space treaty, it may be a precedent leading toward giving up that requirement in other agreements. This could lead to unilateral disarmament which would leave our nation helpless before the armed might of a treaty-breaking communist foe.

Disarmament can never work while any government remains which denies freedom to its people.

An ancient civilization once thrived some 6,000 years ago in an area that is now a desert between India and Pakistan, says The World Almanac. The cities also show evidence of a complex form of government, elaborate irrigation and drainage systems, well-laid-out streets and houses of several stories.

Westminster To Be Subject Of TV Special

NEW YORK — One facet of the English language is that the chap from Britain and the guy from Brooklyn both say they speak it. But put the British and Brooklyn versions together and the result is Babel.

English is distinguished by the variety of the ways in which it's used, but whether you prefer proper Oxford or early Ebbets Field, the one great repository of its most enduring words is Westminster Abbey in London.

There lie the shrines of many who have put into words the noblest feelings and most terrible events of the past 900 years. The Abbey, in its role as keeper of the legend of the English-tongue, is the subject of "Hall of Kings," which ABC will televise in color Tues., Feb. 14, from 10 to 11 p.m. (EST). The show is sponsored by the B. F. Goodrich Company.

The show will present James Mason, Lynn Redgrave, Stoban McKenna and Emyln Williams visiting these shrines and reading from the works of Kipling, Browning and Barrett.

The BFG special, one of eight the company will present in the 1967 television season, also will feature historical film footage of Queen Elizabeth—Princess Margaret and Winston Churchill, as well as an appearance by the Westminster Abbey Choir.

BALLET HEADLINERS — Two young Americans are the stars of the Ruth Page Company which appears here Saturday night under auspices of the Pampa Community Concert Association. They are Patricia Klekovic, lovely ballerina, and Kenneth Johnson. Both artists have been starred in ballet, musical shows and on television.

CONCERT SERIES Ruth Page Ballet To Appear Here Saturday

NEW YORK (UPI) — The date for the recording industry's Grammy Awards has been moved up from March 7 to March 2. The annual television special, "The Best on Record," which is built around the winners, will be aired early in May.

Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass, one of the top popular musical groups, will star in a one-hour special on the CBS network April 24.

Art Carney, Sheila MacRae and Jane Kean, mainstays in "The Honeymooners" episodes on Jackie Gleason's CBS series have been signed for the 1967-68 season.

ABC has scheduled "The Robe" as another of its "black-buster" motion picture programs for Easter Sunday night, March 26. The film will be aired at full length, and the 2 1/2 hour program will start at 7 p.m.

—Jack Gaver

With all the exciting dancing, colorful costumes and decor for which it has been noted in the past, Ruth Page's International Ballet will appear in Pampa Next Saturday night, Jan. 28, as the lead in the series of 1966-67 attractions presented by the Pampa Community Concert Association.

The ballet company will perform in the Pampa Junior High School Auditorium starting at 8 p.m. There will be no box office ticket sale and admission will be by association membership card only.

During the decade when it was known as the Chicago Opera Ballet, the famous ensemble made countless friends with Balletomanes throughout North America and in Europe as well. This season Miss Page is offering an entirely new to audiences across the land in some 60 cities.

Heading the ensemble will be the enchanting American ballerina, Patricia Klekovic. Her performances in Chicago and on tour have won her stunning notices and public acclaim in recent seasons. Sharing the spotlight opposite Miss Klekovic in Pampa will be Kenneth Johnson, another young American who has earned himself a Dancer Noble.

ists have performed in ballet, in musical shows as well as on major television programs.

One reason why Ruth Page can justifiably call her company "International" is her policy of offering audiences special guest artists. This season is no exception, and those who attend the program here will thrill to the dancing of three of Europe's most brilliant stars.

By courtesy of the Royal Danish Ballet, the blonde and lovely Kirsten Simone will dance opposite Henning Kronstam. Both artists were widely acclaimed when the Danish Ballet toured America in the fall of 1965.

In the interim, their some company has bestowed upon them the honor of Premier Danseuse and Premier Dancer.

Designated "Danseuse Etale" by the Paris Opera (through whose courtesy she is appearing in America this season), Josette Amiel must also be acknowledged one of the great ballerinas of the era. Her beautiful performances are applauded consistently at the Paris Opera, and she has also scored impressively at the Bolshoi in Moscow, and on the opera house stages of Leningrad, Berlin,

Foreign Films Ease Spanish Censorship

MADRID (UPI) — A minor revolution has been touched off in the Spanish film industry by the invasion of foreign movie producers, landing here in film is intended for international exhibition.

These co-productions also have given Spain a new international prestige for her actors.

Although censorship continues to haunt Spanish film directors, the pressure brought by foreign films and film companies on location here is helping relax it.

Many foreign companies star in the title role of the new come to Spain to make films for the world market and, for the local director, this frequently means co-production, leading to less censorship, as the producers, landing here in film is intended for international exhibition.

Public Problems Can Be Concern Of All Oilmen

DALLAS — Good public relations begins at the local level and is the responsibility of all persons in the oil and gas industry, speakers told state and area leaders of the Oil Information Committee of Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association here Thursday.

About 100 industry volunteer workers present for the annual Oil Information Committee state meeting were urged by James M. Patterson, Chicago, public relations director for American Oil Co., to take the initiative — on a local basis wherever possible — in identifying public problems and taking steps to correct them before government feels compelled to act.

“After identifying problems and acting locally where we can, we must recognize that some problems are just too widespread and too complex for local situations alone,” Patterson said. “In these cases, we have to be willing to cooperate with others — including appropriate levels of government — to find and carry out solutions that are reasonable, practical and in the public interest.”

Glenn M. Green, Houston, Southern Div. public relations director, Tidewater Oil Co., and OIC’s Know Your Industry program chairman, said that air and water conservation issues are among the most important now before the industry and

Schlumberger To Demonstrate New Perforating Unit

EDITOR’S NOTE — Schlumberger Well Services will field demonstrate the Hyper-Jet Jan. 24 in Pampa, and Jan. 25 in Great Bend, Kansas.

TULSA, Okla. — A new gun-shape charge perforating device that penetrates 15.2 inches, the Hyper-Jet, is being introduced in Kansas and Oklahoma by Schlumberger Well Services, according to Lester Heath, of Tulsa, central region manager for Schlumberger.

“Tests conducted under standard API RP-43 procedures produced an average penetration of 15.2 inches with no slug of debris of any kind,” Heath said. The Schlumberger Hyper-Jet is fired from a new 3/8-inch hollow steel carrier which may be used in casing as small as 4 1/2 inches in diameter.

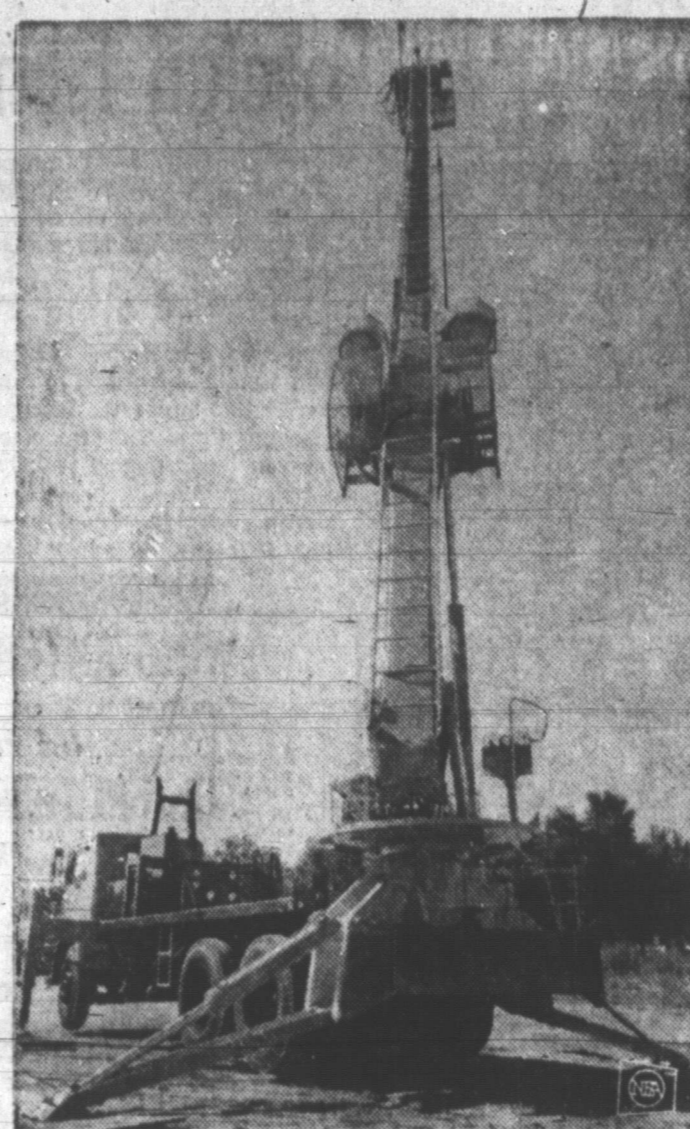

A flow index of 1.48 was reported in the laboratory tests where stimulation normally has with a 10-burr entrance hole averaging 45 inches.

“In some wells perforated with the Hyper-Jet, completions where stimulation normally has been natural in zones being necessary,” Heath added. “We believe such results indicate that the Hyper-Jet is getting behind the damaged zone. Appreciably higher than usual initial production is also universal in wells shot with the Hyper-Jet.”

In tests performed by several major operators, wells perforated with the Hyper-Jet have shown consistently lower breakdown pressure and higher injection rates. Results with ball selector application have been outstanding.

“The Hyper-Jet carrier is available in lengths from one foot to 15 feet,” Heath said. “Through selective adapters, several guns can be combined and fired individually on a single trip in the well.”

Field tests for the Schlumberger Hyper-Jet were conducted in Canada and the Schlumberger southern rocky mountain division.

MOBILE STAIRWAY designed for underground slope mining can extend itself 80 feet and rotate 360 degrees to pinpoint positioning of work crews. The stairway, built by Eaton Metal Products of Denver, can put operators and their equipment up near mine “face” areas to perform drilling, inspection, powder placement and various other mining and construction tasks.

Law, Tax Institute For Oil, Gas Slated

An institute on oil and gas law and taxation and one on police action in emergencies will be conducted by the Southwestern Legal Foundation on the campus of Southern Methodist University in Dallas during February according to Boyce Taylor, Pampa attorney.

Taylor, resident representative for the Foundation, announced that the institute on oil and gas law and taxation will be held Feb. 8-10 and the institute on police action in emergencies, Feb. 20-21.

Subjects to be discussed during the three-day oil and gas meeting and speakers will be: Significant federal power commission actions during 1966 affecting oil and gas industry; Sherman S. Poland, attorney, Washington, D.C.; problems relating to the accounting for gas royalties, including shut-in gas royalties, Clyde E. Willberg, Tidewater Oil Co., Houston; and mechanics of registered and unregistered investor drilling programs, Lewis G. Mosburg Jr., attorney, Oklahoma City.

Also, insurance and liability problems relating to drilling and servicing operations, Donald G. Canuteon, Mobile Oil Corp., Dallas; crude oil purchasing — its title opinions and division Permian Corp., Midland; a look at oil shale — as viewed by a practicing attorney, Roscoe Walker Jr., attorney, Denver; and effect of the uniform commercial code on oil and gas transactions, James R. Ryan, attorney, Tulsa.

A practitioner looks at pollution, W. B. Edwards, Gulf Oil Corp., Houston; capitalization of excess operating expenses in ABC transactions — fallacy and fall-out, John G. Heard, attorney, Houston; and determination of gross income from the property for oil and gas and hard minerals, James R. Rowen, attorney, New York.

Oil Discussion Slated Jan. 25

An information forum for Pahahandle Section members and their guests will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 25, at 7:30 p.m. at the Cabot Auditorium on the seventh floor of the Hughes Building in Pampa.

Jack Byrd, Kewanee Oil Co., will moderate a panel discussion on the general topic of “Analyzing Water Input Performance.” A formal discussion will be presented by the panel on the following subjects: pressure decline analysis, radioactive surveys, temperature surveys, injectivity improvement, and selective plugging. A question and reply session will follow the formal presentations by panel members. The panel members selected for this information forum are: Charles Ellis Kewanee Oil Co.; Dave Jodie, Texaco Inc.; Jim Moring, Skelly Oil Co.; and Carrol Webb, Cities Service Oil Co.

This meeting is presented in the interest of continuing education to the Pahahandle Section membership. There will be no charge for attendance. All interested persons are invited to attend.

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International
Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen is offering strong leadership to Republicans in or out of Congress who believe that the Supreme Court has reached too far in some areas, that organized labor in some areas tends to be arrogantly monopolistic and that there is an ever present danger of tyranny in absolute majority rule.

Dirksen will renew in this 90th Congress his effort to reverse the Supreme Court on the issue of prayer in the public schools. He tried last session, but under circumstances which probably did not provide a fair test of congressional sentiment. The senator also is prepared to lead a vain opposition to repeal of section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act. This section is merely permissive. It permits individual states to prohibit within their borders monopolistic labor contracts requiring membership in any union as a condition of employment. This is the right-to-work section of the Taft-Hartley Act. President Johnson and the 1964 Democratic platform promised repeal of section 14-B. LBJ asked in a weak, small voice last session that Congress honor the promise.

The repealer squeaked through the House by a vote of 221-203. Dirksen led a Senate filibuster which killed the repealer. In his annual message to Congress, last week, LBJ neglected, even to mention the issue later in this session. Dirksen is ready again on the opposition to compulsory unionism.

The senator cites last session’s right-to-work maneuvers in defense of the Senate’s Rule XXII which permits filibusters unless two-thirds of the Senate can be rallied to impose cloture — a closing of debate.

The 90th Congress opened its Senate life in earnest by crushing a liberal move to relax the chamber’s filibuster rule. Responding to the attacks of the liberals—Democratic and Republican—on Rule XXII, Dirksen said:

“I am opposed to the proposal. I do not wish to see these rules changed so lightly.”

Dirksen told the Senate it was only by filibuster last session that supporters of right-to-work could postpone a Senate vote on section 14-B long enough properly to inform the country of what was at stake. When the country had been informed adequately he said, the polls reflected a popular majority against repeal of the section. The administration surrendered and the filibuster came to a triumphant end.

Debate can be closed when it is necessary—in the public interest—to close it, Dirksen told the Senate. He cited cloture to obtain a vote on the 1964 civil rights bill.

“Why, then,” asked Dirksen, “go about lightly now changing rule XXII which is a safeguard of the minority against the tyranny of the majority? History is replete with classic examples of what a safeguard is Rule XXII in its present form.”

They qualified for the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board to be given March 4, after which final selection of 50 winners of the 150 qualified will be made early in May.

Each of the 50 scholarship awards provides $500 annually during four years of college attendance, subject to the maintenance of a satisfactory record by the awardee.

The scholarship fund was established in 1939 for the purpose of aiding children of employees of Phillips Petroleum Co. and its subsidiaries in obtaining a college or university education. Approximately 890 young people have received education as Phillips scholarship holders under awards totaling $17.75 million.

High school students from 72 towns in 21 states will take the 1967 Scholastic Aptitude Test. Qualifying students who do not receive scholarships may apply for loans for higher education from a separate educational loan fund.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—It is now common knowledge that Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., has a hit record in his credit and that Rep. Adam C. Powell, D-N.Y., hopes to click as a recording star.

Dirksen’s album includes recitations from historical documents. Powell’s contains “outstanding sermons and hard-hitting statements on politics, race relations, war and his recent unseating.”

I hardly need point out that there are 99 other senators and 434 other House members, several dozen other recording companies, and a rich storehouse of additional material available.

So what is all this leading to? Well, read on, MacDuff: “Ring a Ding Record Co. Good Morning.”

“Good morning, Senator Ear-banger here. I understand you’re looking for a member of Congress to cut a record for you.”

“That’s right, sir. We want something to compete with Senator Dirksen’s ‘Gallant Men’ and Congressman Powell’s ‘Keep the Faith Baby.’”

“How about an album of my 1962 campaign speeches? In stereo. We could call it ‘Speeches to Dream Before the Fireplace Bay.’”

“Not a bad idea, sir. But in order to have a best-seller, you’ve got to appeal to the young crowd. The kids who buy the most records nowadays weren’t even born in 1962.”

“Then how about an album of dramatic readings? I recite the 10 most important rulings by the Securities and Exchange Commission. With an organ background. We call it ‘The Sec’s Greatest Hits.’”

“That’s more like it. I’m afraid, however, it would be too sentimental for the popular market.”

“Okay. How does this strike you? I read selections from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation’s annual report set to an original score by Andre Previn and played by the modern jazz quartet?”

“It sounds too esoteric, senator. The jet set might like it, but they don’t buy many records. Usually a leader of the ‘in’ group buys a record and everybody else tapes it.”

“In that case, how about poetry? An album called ‘The Best Loved Poems from the Congressional Record?’”

“By George, I think you’ve got it! It’s intellectual and it’s camp. And for a romantic note, we superimpose your voice over the U.S. Marine Band.”

“Will the disk jockeys give it a ride?”

“Senator, if this doesn’t make the top 20, Marconi lived in vain!”

Beagles Steal Show at New York Philharmonic Hall Symphony

NEW YORK (UPI) — A contribution of $20,000 has been made by Pan American World Airways to the building fund of the Tri-Faith Chapels at John F. Kennedy International Airport. The three major faiths in the United States have built chapels, side by side, on a three-acre site at the airport.

In 1919, Polish pianist Ignace Paderewsky became the first premier of the Republic of Poland.

Chapels are now open and the Jewish Chapel is expected to be dedicated in April. The three faiths are engaged in a united campaign to raise at least $1 million to complete the Chapels program.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hoicks! Twenty yelping, tail-wagging beagles invaded New York's Philharmonic Hall Friday night. It was no accident. The dogs were supposed to be there as performers. They turned out to be hams.

The musical canines were the soloists in Leopold Mozart's Sinfonia di Caccia, or hunting symphony. Leopold was Wolfgang's father, and among other things, he composed music, too. The ultra-short symphony calls for the barking of dogs. The Festival Orchestra of New York not a group to be impeded by such odds, got them.

First conductor Thomas Dunn gave the cue and the backstage baying began. This delighted the near capacity audience, which was filled with an unusual quota of young faces.

The laughter that greeted the barking was nothing compared with the eruption which followed the dogs' entrance. A door on the side of the stage opened and, led on by two men in full hunting regalia, they came.

Twenty beagles. In informal formation they marched straight across the stage and out another door. But before you knew it, they were back again.

If the beagles seemed perplexed by the strange goings-on at first, by the second trip around they caught on and, like hams, seemed to be enjoying the applause. One beagle lagged behind the pack, his tail wagging madly. Another strayed close to the audiende, while a third sniffed the violin section.

By this point you could hear none of poor Leopold's music. The laughter and applause were deafening. The dogs were the stars and they knew it.

Then one nery hound headed straight for the first row. He was halted by a trainer. Another, more determined, got further, however, and had to be brought back by a gallant gent in the audience.

Since the score only calls for barking in the first movement, the beagles were not to be seen for the remaining two sections.
