Seven Persons Killed By Fire In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Seven persons died and eight were injured when fire raced through a downtown hotel Tuesday night.

The dead included the wives and infant daughters of two performers in the road company of the rock musical "Hair."

Damage to the 52-year-old Pick Carter Hotel, which underwent a $1 million remodeling two years ago, was estimated at well over $100,000 by fire officials.

Thirteen members of the touring company of "Hair" were staying at the hotel, many of them with their families. About 200 guests, many of them permanent residents, were registered in the 11-story, 600-room hotel.

The victims were Robin Johnson, 18, of Renton, Wash.; her daughter Melissa, 1; Carroll Crison, 23, and her daughter Corina, 1, of St. Louis; Gaston Le Blanc, 69, of Pittsburgh; Robert J. Loftus, 66, of Youngstown, Ohio, and Arthur Thomas, 26, of Ft. Sill, Okla.

Hotel General Manager Andrew T. Ginnan said the blaze started in a lower lobby ballroom.

"It happened so quickly we didn't know what to do. It spread faster than you would expect a fire to spread," he said.

Firemen arriving at the scene found many guests hanging from third, fourth and fifth-floor windows, shouting for help. Many climbed down ladders. Firemen groped through the thick smoke to lead others to safety.

"When are they going to get a ladder?" screamed one of the guests.

5 Men Offer Themselves In Exchange For POWs

Muskie Criticizes Activities Of FBI

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Edmund S. Muskie said today the FBI spied on last year's Earth Day rallies, including one he was involved in. He said this kind of thing threatens to smother freedom with fear, and suggested the FBI's activities be made subject to review by an independent board.

The Maine Democrat in a speech prepared for the Senate, released a document on official FBI stationery which detailed Earth Day activities in Washington April 22. He said there were 40 to 60 similar intelligence reports filed on other Earth Day observances across the nation.

"If antipollution rallies are a subject of intelligence concern, is anything immune?" Muskie asked. "Is there any citizen involved in politics who is not a potential subject for an FBI dossier?"

Muskie did not say where he obtained the FBI document, but said it was not among those stolen recently from the FBI office in Media, Pa.

He said the Earth Day rallies were not billed in such a way as to warrant surveillance, and certainly did not require a report afterwards. The fact that reports were filed, he said, leads to an uneasiness which is intolerable in a free society.

"Surveillance is more than excessive zeal by the FBI. It is a threat to our freedom."

If Mission Succeeds, More Will Follow Suit

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An insurance salesman, a minister, an auto mechanic, a young conscientious objector and a retired fireman leave for Laos today to offer themselves in exchange for American war prisoners in North Vietnam.

"We're going over there with one thing in mind—life sake of humanity," said Dominic "Bud" Cimino, 45, a Marine in World War II and the father of three children.

"I'm confident we're going to be successful because they can't say no to us. You see, what we're asking for is just a human thing to do," said Cimino, an insurance salesman who heads the group.

"POWs' Families Suffer Most"

"I don't know now we can possibly sit back here and enjoy ourselves while there's men rotting in POW camps, some of them for eight years," he said.

"I'm not doing anything spectacular, the courageous people are the mothers, wives and children of the POWs in North Vietnam."

The other members of the group are the Rev. Gene Trouche, 59, a French-speaking Methodist minister; Stan Bagwell, 50, a retired Navy petty officer and an auto mechanic; Patrick MacDonald, 21, a conscientious objector; and Ed Newmyer, 70, a retired fireman.

Humanitarian Appeal

After their arrival in Laos, Cimino said the group plans to go to the North Vietnamese embassy and "present our idea to them. We're going to go with dignity and peacefully."

Gray County Waiting Word On Drouth Aid

By ALETHA DAVIS

Sixty Texas counties were awaiting expected word today concerning allotment of federal funds earmarked for relief in drought-stricken agriculture and ranching areas of the state.

An April 1 resolution passed by Gray County Commissioners Court, asking that Gov. Preston Smith recommend a federal application for benefits to the county due to the driest conditions on record, has been acknowledged by the governor's office. However, County Judge Don Cain pointed out today, the letter only acknowledged the resolution, and thanked the court for the information. No word has been received in Gray County concerning action on the resolution.

On March 30, Gov. Smith and U.S. Senators John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen requested President Nixon to designate parts of Texas a drought-disaster area. Disaster relief would make farmers and ranches eligible for low interest loans and other assistance.

When Foster Whaley, Gray County agent, presented the drought resolution to the Gray County Commissioners, he outlined drought conditions within the county, stating that the dry years began in the fall of 1969 and continued to worsen in the spring of 1970.

Whaley reported the bulk of moisture for 1970 came with the April tornado which also produced hail and extensive damage, off-setting benefits of the rain. Moisture for the spring of 1970 was the driest on record and only ineffective spot showers were recorded. An absence of all-over general rain has been a contributing factor to the extremely serious conditions of pasture lands and agriculture areas. The 24 inches of snow reported in February of this year was more damaging than beneficial, according to the report presented to the commissioners' court.

A lack of reserve grass on rangeland, and less than normal stocks of hay and forage crops adds to the grim picture. Subsoil moisture is gone.

The Emergency Drought Committee, comprised of Farm Bureau, ASC representatives and the agricultural agent, as a result of the overall March survey, made the recommendation that Gray County apply for recognition as a drought stricken area in order to sustain assurance that any aid designated for drought areas in the future could be shared by Gray County. Diverted acres of grassland were objects of grazing during March.

The picture presented to the governor outlined the conditions in the county and asked that in the event aid was channeled to areas, Gray County be considered.

The most effective way to solve the problem, according to Whaley, "is to receive a two-inch slow rain to be followed by a two-month wet spell."

Texas Senate To Debate Most Liberal Abortion Bill

AUSTIN (UPI)—The most liberal abortion law in the nation has come before the Texas Senate.

But the sponsors of the bill say they are going to wait until "we have the votes" before bringing the bill up for a vote in the Senate.

The bill permits any married woman and any single woman 16 years of age or older to obtain an abortion. The only restriction is that the operation must be performed by a licensed physician and single girls, under the age of 16, would have to get the consent of their parents to have an abortion.

One of the bill's sponsors, Sen. Tom Crighton, D-Mineral Wells, called it "the most liberal reform bill ever proposed."

Unlike abortion laws recently passed in Hawaii and New York, the Texas bill approved Tuesday by the Senate Health Committee does not require the operation to be performed in a hospital nor does it limit the time period for terminating pregnancy.

But the bill will probably be amended in the Senate because its sponsors doubt it can pass in its present form. The two amendments most likely to be attached during the Senate debate would require an abortion after the fourth month of pregnancy to be performed in a hospital and prohibit an abortion after the sixth month unless the woman's health is threatened.

Texas' current law prohibits an abortion unless the woman's life is threatened by the pregnancy. But a federal law has declared this law unconstitutional. The sponsors of the current bill say their legislation is the only means by which to save women from quack abortionists in Texas.

The bill barely passed the Senate committee and is expected to face an even rougher time in the full Senate. Sen. Don Kennard, D-Fort Worth, cosponsored the bill with Crighton. He is also chairman of the Health Committee. Only seven of the 13 committee members were present when Kennard called for a vote on the bill Tuesday. The bill was approved 5-2 but two senators came in later and voted against it.

SP-CI Announces 'Rotary' Number

Announcement of a centrally located "rotary" number has been disclosed by Suicide Prevention-Crisis Information in Pampa.

The central number, 665-3771 is set up on a computer basis, according to advisory board chairman, Don Losher.

By dialing 665-3771, persons seeking information and counseling during crisis situations, will be able to reach a volunteer counselor automatically.

SP-CI has been designed to offer aid in the areas of drug abuse or situations, where a person is seeking information and to offer aid in situations of mental depression which indicate suicidal tendencies.

Trained volunteers will be on 24-hour call beginning at 7 p.m. today.

Reds, Texans Discuss U.S. POW Problems

PARIS (UPI)—The North Vietnamese mission in Paris, in precedent-breaking move suddenly summoned a delegation of Texans to discuss the U.S. War prisoner situation Tuesday, a member of the American group disclosed today.

The spokesman for the Hanoi mission telephoned the Americans at their hotel to answer their request for a meeting, a break from the usual procedure of visiting Americans receiving replies to their requests only by repeated telephone calls themselves.

Veteran observers to the peace talks believed the two hour and 10 meeting with the group from Waco marked the first time in many months the Hanoi diplomats have replied virtually immediately to a request from American laymen for a meeting on the prisoner problem.

The Texas delegation was not allowed by the North Vietnamese to hand over the $0.000 letters and petitions from the citizens of Waco demanding humane treatment from the North Vietnamese for American prisoners. The Texans said the North Vietnamese also refused to accept a photograph album showing how the Red Cross organized the letter campaign.

"They told us to come immediately to their headquarters, but told us no cameras, no press, no petitions, no lists, no letters," said the vice chairman of the delegation, Harry Provenance, editor-in-chief of the Waco News-Tribune and Times-Herald. "We were astonished."

The Texas delegation of 12 arrived Sunday but was unable to reach the Hanoi mission because it was closed for Easter and Monday, a legal holiday in France. Thus they only could begin telephoning to seek an appointment Tuesday morning, Provenance said.

Israel's Counterproposal On Suez Canal Hits Snag

By United Press International

Israel's counterproposal for reopening the Suez Canal ran into a snag today and there were warnings in Israel and Egypt that the Middle East war might break out again unless Israel comes up with a plan acceptable to Egypt.

The latest warning came from Lt. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, commanding general of the Israeli army, who said Israel should not underestimate the strength of the Egyptian and Syrian armies in a new round of combat. He added his men were confident of victory with the help of new U.S. arms shipments.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv, chief of Israeli intelligence, speaking on an American television interview (CBS-TV's "60 Minutes"), also held out the possibility of war should the impasse not be solved.

In Egypt, Dia Eddin Dawood, a ranking member of Egypt's political leadership, said Tuesday night the Middle East was "approaching the moment of an inevitable military confrontation" and that peace efforts had reached a dead end. Dawood, member of the Arab Socialist Union's Supreme Executive Committee, told a Cairo television program:

"We are approaching the moment of an inevitable military confrontation to regain the land and defeat the dangers which threaten our existence on this land peace efforts have reached a dead end because of the Israeli attitude which is based on military arrogance and the backing of world imperialism."

Diplomatic reports in Tel Aviv and Jerusalem said the Israeli reply to the Egyptian plan for reopening the Suez Canal called for an Israeli withdrawal of about six miles, with no Egyptian or Soviet troops to cross the canal, and American guarantees against such a crossing.

Every major Israeli newspaper said today the content of the government's proposal for reopening the canal in agreement with Egypt hinged on the U.S. reply to Israel's safeguard questions, submitted two weeks ago, and that there had been no American reply.

DETERIORATING DROUGHT SITUATION

Wind And Dust Storm Hits West Texas

By United Press International

A dust storm blasted West Texas for more than a half a day Tuesday, turning the sky red, cutting visibility to the width of a four-lane highway and causing at least one monumental automobile smashup in the drought-stricken area of the state.

Winnie Redin, 70, walked outside to get her morning newspapers and the 45-mile per hour winds blew her off the front porch. She fractured her hip.

Kathryn Whitfield called the fire department to report a patio awning had blown into her backyard.

The winds, which reached 60 miles per hour by noon Tuesday, caved in a corner of the Heath Furniture Co. warehouse. The warehouse was rebuilt in January after being destroyed May 11 by a tornado. In Amarillo, the winds filled the air with dust so thick pedestrians could not see across the street. Blinded motorists on the city's interstate highway plowed into each other, causing a 21-car accident.

The blowing dust and sand jammed the traffic lights in Lubbock.

Dean Nichols, the tip of his baseball cap pulled down over his forehead to protect him from the blowing dust, walked around his 10-room brick farmhouse and said he was plowing up the grass in the backyard and replacing it was rocks and gravel. Water is scarce in drought-crippled West Texas and grass needs water.

"If I had an airplane today, I could go up about 1,000 feet and homestead one of the best farms in Lubbock County," Nichols said. "On real bad days like today, crops lose up to one inch of topsoil and it takes seven years to replace that one inch."

The dust and dirt filled the air when west Texas awakened Tuesday morning. It reached its peak by noon and then slackened. By 5 p.m. the skies were spotless.

The Southwest United States desperately needs rain to avoid a disaster not seen in this area since the Dust Bowl days in the 1930s. Parts of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Colorado have had no rain to speak of in seven months.

"I'm scared to death," said cattle company owner T. B. Simmons. "It's not just today's wind, but the whole situation. We can't tough it out until May, and then we are all used up. We can get by with very little moisture, however, because we know how to make the most of what we get. But we have to feel it (the rain) start soon."

Gov. Preston Smith has asked President Nixon to declare 60 West Texas counties a federal disaster area.

"We had 150 acres in 1956 (last time a major drought hit Texas) and made only seven bales of cotton all year," Nichols said. "This could be the start of another disaster."

His wife has spent the last three days trying to sweep the dust off their farmhouse floor. "It gets worse, I don't know what I'll do," she said.

"There's no need to running the wells in this weather," Nichols said. "The water runs slower, it jumps the ditches and on an average it takes four more hours to irrigate the same land. Also, if we continue to irrigate it will pull sand into the irrigation motors."

In Houston, officials said Lake Houston, one of the city's primary water sources, has reached its lowest April level in history. "On the basis of present uses Lake Houston will dry up in about 100 days," said city water director R. A. Thompson.

CITY HALL PUZZLED

Dead Fish Mystery Still Goes Unsolved

Two mysteries puzzled officials at City Hall today where only one had existed before.

First of all, they have been mystified over what caused the death of thousands of fish in City Lake out of Recreation Park.

That mystery has been unsolved since mid-March when the wholesale killings took place and James Wilson of the Water Quality Control Board came over from Amarillo to take water samples.

The second mystery popped up today when it was reported in an Amarillo newspaper that Wilson said he "doesn't have enough information to say what was the cause."

City Manager Mack Wofford said today he had not heard from Wilson since the day he came to Pampa to take the water samples.

"We have had no information officially or unofficially from anyone," Wofford said.

The Amarillo newspaper quoted Wilson as saying "sudden temperature changes could have caused the kill, but the cause would have to be listed as unknown."

Wofford said when the story and pictures of the dead fish on the lake shores first appeared in The Pampa News in March, several calls were received from ranchers that fish had been killed by the sudden weather change from warm to freezing temperatures.

"One Pampan reported all fish in tanks on his ranch were killed," the city manager said. "A deputy sheriff said the same thing and we had similar reports from ranchers around Miami and Lefors."

But Wofford added that, up until noon today, nothing had been heard from the Water Quality Control Board.

State House Votes Down Senate-Passed Ethics Bill

AUSTIN (UPI)—The House refused by one vote to consider a Senate-passed ethics bill and passed its own strong ethics legislation and sent it to the upper chamber.

The House bill, sponsored by Rep. Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville, requires complete, yearly public disclosure of sources of income and other personal financial details by all top state officials and many local officials.

An attempt was made to substitute a federal income tax form for a full disclosure statement. The move failed to receive the required two-thirds vote. Rep. Neil Caldwell, D-Austin, said the amendment would remove the financial disclosure provision from the bill completely. He also said the amendment would "undoubtedly be rendered unconstitutional."

Predicts Rejection

Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, tried to convince the House to pass the Senate's version of the ethics bill. He said the House bill is unconstitutional and will not be approved by the Senate.

"I would hope the House would accept reality and pass an ethics bill that will pass the Senate," Kubiak said. He said the Senate bill sponsored by Sen. Ralph Hall, D-Rockwall, is almost as strong as the House version and "is something all of us could live with."

Nugent is the sponsor of four other ethics bills, all of which have been ignored by the Senate. "We should not get down on our knees and accept the Senate version without giving the Senate a chance to consider a better bill."

Gives Large Vote

The House passed its version of the bill by a 133-6 vote.

The situation therefore looks like this: The Senate bill is currently languishing in a House committee and the House bill is expected to get absolutely nowhere in the Senate.

Rep. Lane Denton, D-Waco, tried to amend the bill to allow any House member to be granted an investigation into alleged ethics violations simply by asking for such an investigation. But the House also rejected this amendment.

What It Does

The House-passed bill prohibits any legislator or state official from investing in any business which would create a substantial conflict of interest; limits appearances of legislators before state agencies on behalf of paying clients; prohibits legislators from introducing legislation directly affecting any client or employer to the legislator; or any person or firm from which the legislator receives a retainer; prohibits any legislator from receiving any compensation from any registered lobbyist, or any firm or corporation which has a lobbyist; sets up a procedure by which a majority vote of either house could initiate an investigation into alleged ethics violations; requires all state officials to file annual financial statements showing the gross income of the official and his spouse, his sources of income, business enterprises, property purchases and sales, interest income, all gifts of more than $100, total assets and debts.

Senate OK's Proposed Amendment To Lengthen State Officials' Term

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Senate has given tentative approval to a proposed constitutional amendment to lengthen the term of the governor and other officials elected statewide from two to four years.

The measure, which passed on the first vote 21-7, is similar to a proposed amendment rejected at the polls in 1966.

The proposal is expected to pass without difficulty on the final vote and then go to the House for action. If the House approves it, it will be submitted to voters in the 1972 general elections.

Sponsor Sen. Tom Creighton, D-Mineral Wells, said the business of running for office every two years is too expensive.

"You can't make a statewide race without a ton of money," he said.

Sen. Henry Grover, R-

Houston, argued against the measure.

"I think people would be pretty chagrined if they didn't get an opportunity in two years to be voting on some of our present incumbents in office," he said.

Barnes, a strong advocate of the proposed amendment, coached Creighton during the debate. He told an aide, "Go tell Creighton this is the only urban state in the nation that doesn't have four-year terms. The Republicans are all against it because they have money, and it's easy for them to run."

Two amendments were defeated. One would have stipulated that the top state officials be elected in presidential election years. The other would have limited top officials to two four-year terms.

Senate Plans To Vote Friday On Record Budget Of State

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Senate votes Friday on a record $6.99 billion state budget requiring Texans to pay $662.9 million in new taxes.

The Senate planned to take its first look at the mammoth bill today.

If the budget and tax problems aren't enough, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes says welfare officials underestimated the needs of the department for medical assistance insurance next year, and lawmakers may have to come up with an additional $82 million in new taxes.

Barnes announced plans to go to Washington to try to convince federal officials Texas cannot afford to continue paying a $67 a month for medical insurance for each welfare recipient in the state.

The Senate Finance Committee unveiled the record appropriation bill late Tuesday, just two days before the House Appropriations panel has indicated it will bring out its version of the fiscal 1972-73 budget.

Neither bill includes funding for the Welfare Department for the second year of the biennium—which will require legislators to come back in special session in 1972 to find another $250 million in revenue to meet added welfare needs.

Oklahoma City Has Woman Mayor

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Patience Latting, sworn in with a Bible and a kiss, is the first woman mayor of Oklahoma City and Oklahoma City is now the largest city in the United States with a woman mayor.

Judge Phillip Lambert swore in Mrs. Latting Tuesday as head of the municipal government. She held the Bible and he held the city charter during the ceremony. As soon as he completed the short ceremony, he leaned over and kissed Mrs. Latting on the cheek.

Mrs. Latting handily won a runoff election eight days ago to succeed Jim Norick who decided not to seek re-election.

Mrs. Latting served four years as the first woman elected to the City Council. She is one of the mayors who have been invited to talk about urban problems during congressional hearings on President Nixon's revenue sharing proposals.

SUSPICIONS GONE AWRY

CINCINNATI (UPI)—A restaurant patron eavesdropping on the conversation of a couple at a nearby table heard a discussion of plans for "a $100,000 bank job."

He quickly called the police. Officers took the young man, an Indiana physician, and his woman friend into custody for questioning.

The suspects were quickly released. They explained they fabricated the tale for the benefit of the snoop man sitting near them in the restaurant.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Being slow on the draw landed William Riels, 23, of Pomona, Calif., in jail on charges of trying to rob a small grocery.

Clerk Steve Banister told police Riels tried to reach in his pocket to pull a gun and got his hand caught in the pocket.

Banister had time to pull out a pistol of his own. He held Riels for the police.

INCOME TAX RETURNS Firms Barred From Disclosing Or Selling Tax Data Of Clients

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Firms that prepare income tax returns for wealthier Americans are barred from selling or disclosing personal data. Firms catering to the less affluent are not.

In separate interviews, this situation was acknowledged by Officials of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS), the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) and by tax profession leaders.

The lack of controls on the largest and fastest growing segment of the tax preparation business has prompted an FTC investigation of allegations that some firms sell their clients' names, income figures and other personal information to mailing list houses, stores, insurance companies and others.

Disclosure Ban Possible

Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., has introduced legislation to ban such practices.

"It is both ludicrous and alarming to have the IRS holding a tax return in the strictest secrecy while private firms are shipping and selling the same information all over the country without the taxpayer's knowledge and consent," Mathias said.

However, Richard O. Foster, heading the FTC investigation, said the agency discovered it did not need to check law and accounting firms that prepare tax forms for thousands of corporations, executives and others with high incomes.

Effective Self-Policing

Headed by lawyers or certified public accountants, these firms are bound by strict ethical codes barring any use or disclosure of a client's tax data. Violators can be punished by their peers or lose their licenses.

IRS and FTC officials said this self-policing system has been in effect for decades and works effectively. But these firms are little known to the general public because their work includes tax appeals and other negotiations with IRS. The IRS prohibits advertising by any firm which practices before it.

Tax preparation firms appealing to the mass market are not under the same restraints, although Foster emphasized the FTC has no evidence that misuse of taxpayers' data is widespread.

With no law or professional code barring these firms from disclosing clients' data, the FTC would have to interpret such practices as inherently unfair or deceptive before it could take action. Foster said no such decision has been made pending completion of the investigation.

New Rodeo Stock Contracted For This Year's Show

Stock for the annual Top O' Texas Rodeo Aug. 4-7 at Recreation Park will be supplied by Tommy Steiner of Austin, one of the leading stock contractors in the Southwest.

Holly Gray, president of the Top O' Texas Rodeo Association, said all new stock will be performing in this year's rodeo.

Detailed plans for the four-day rodeo were worked out at a meeting of association directors last night in the Chamber of Commerce offices.

It was reported that rebuilding of the grandstand, destroyed in last year's tornado, is progressing on schedule and the stands will be ready by rodeo time.

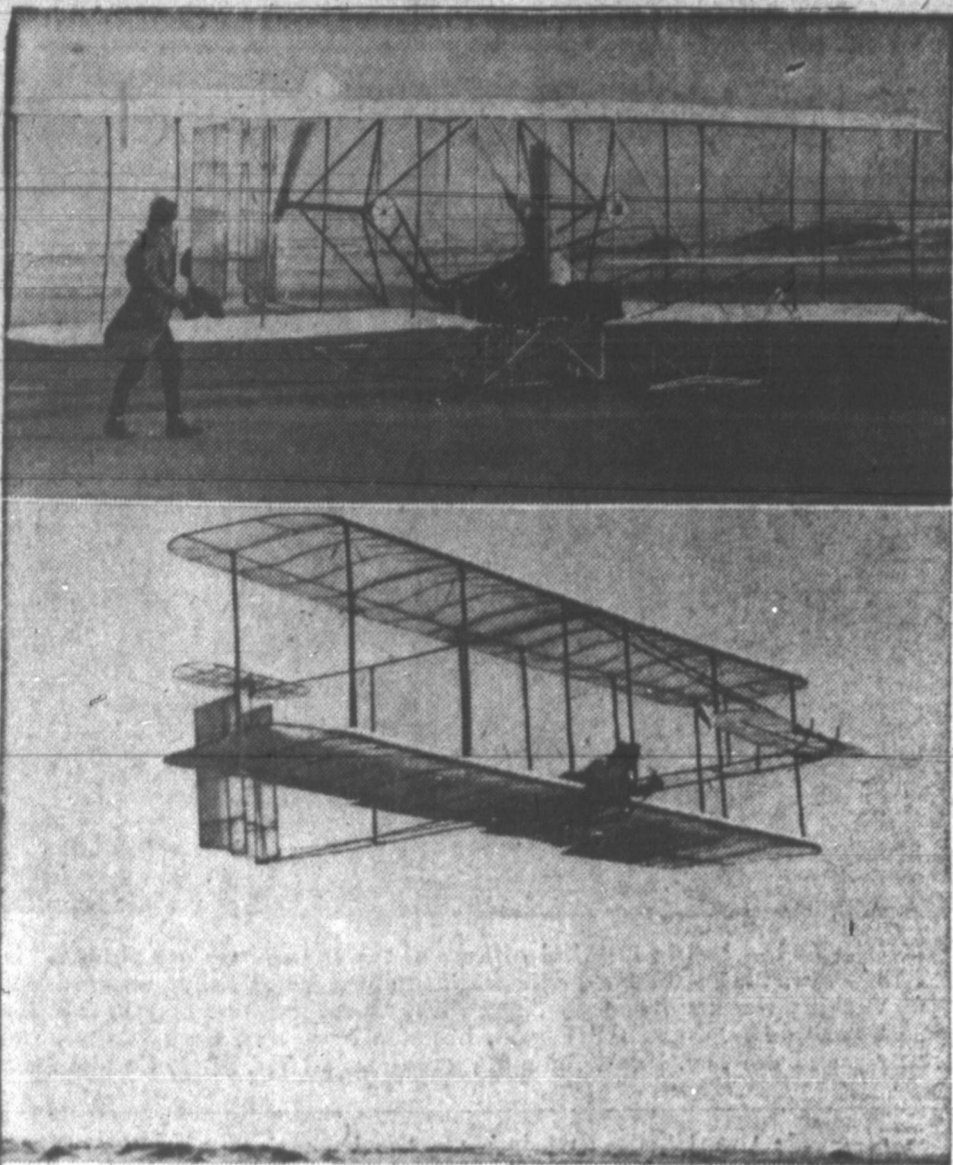

Tires Slashed On Parked Car

Another report of vandalism to cars is being investigated by Pampa police.

John Gill notified officers yesterday that a tire had been slashed while his car was parked at the curb of his residence at 1613 Hamilton.

He said it would require $40 to replace the damaged tire.

Smith Says He Gets More Mail On Viet War Than Anything Else

Austin (UPI) — Gov. Preston Smith said today his mail is running heavier on the Vietnam War and taxes than on any other subject.

"We're getting more mail on the Vietnam War than anything else," Smith said at an impromptu news conference in his reception room.

"Nearly all of them are wanting the war to end," he said. "People who write letters generally are unhappy about something, and most of them are unhappy with the Vietnam War."

Pleased With Progress

The governor said he was pleased with the progress of the current legislative session, especially in the area of traffic safety laws.

"I think the session is going fine," he said. Smith said he could see no reason why the legislature would fail to finish its work by the May 31 deadline.

On other subjects, Smith said: — He supports the proposed amendment to the U.S. Constitution to allow 18-year-olds the right to vote in all elections. The proposal has been approved by the Texas Senate, but is still pending in the House.

— He believes Dr. Elmer Baum, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, has done a good job and will continue doing a good job as long as he remains party chairman.

Gunmen Posing As Detectives Rob Bank In New York City

NEW YORK (UPI)—Three gunmen posing as detectives robbed a commercial bank on the Ft. Hamilton military reservation in Brooklyn of an estimated $250,000 today after holding the bank manager and about 15 other persons hostage overnight.

Police said the three men gained entrance to the home of Charles Disogra, 58, by claiming they were detectives and their automobile had broken down. They requested permission to use the telephone and Disogra, who was assisting a woman acquaintance with her income tax returns at the time, admitted them.

Once inside they quietly ordered Disogra, manager of the Ft. Hamilton branch of the Community National Bank and Trust Co., to tell the woman to leave.

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—Bob Foster, four pounds over the 175-pound division limit, scheduled sparring sessions with Willie Wilson and Gene Idefette today in preparation for his April 24 light heavyweight title defense here against Ray Anderson.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—When paper currency is worn out by excessive circulation, the government replaces it with crisp new bills.

It's a pity we can't devise some such system for words.

Our penchant for fads, which enables a novel, song, entertainer or toy to achieve instant nationwide popularity, also extends to verbal expression. A word or a phrase that once belonged to the private jargon of a few specialists may become, almost overnight, part of everyone's vocabulary.

You doubtless have your own list of words you're sick of hearing. Here are my nominations for retirement from circulation:

Ecology. According to the American Heritage dictionary, this word is properly applied only to a special branch of science concerned with "the relationships between organisms and their environment." Today it is being banded about as a catch-all term for any project to combat pollution.

Confrontation. This used to be a fairly useful sociological term for situations in which individuals or groups find themselves in immediate and direct opposition. In its present threadbare state, it is loosely applied to any kind of protest gesture or act of noisy defiance.

Alienation. Accurately used, this fashionable noun refers to a state of estrangement between a person and his family, friends or society. But it has become an all-purpose descrip-

Scouting Scoops

The Council cookie sale was brought to a successful conclusion with a number of troops reporting on the sale and other troop activities. Celia Fowler, Executive Director, would like to express her appreciation to all the girls and volunteer adults who helped make the sale so very successful.

Mrs. Glen Knight's Junior Troop 18 reported a successful sale on cookies. Top sellers in the troop included Kristie Rapstine, 55 boxes, and Cheryl Knight, 50 boxes. Several other girls in the troop sold their minimum number of 24 boxes.

Junior Troop 60, Mrs. Huey Prater, recently held a patrol leaders' installation and Court of Awards. New patrol leaders are Pam Prater and Cathy Arledge. Girls presented with their Skaters Badge were: Kathy Arledge, Peyton Baldridge, Robbye Cunningham, Mary Ann King, Leslie Lovell, Dana Kinde, Lillian Reynolds, Terry Richardson, Pamela Prater, Shelee Stinson, Jana Sharp, Brenda Johnson, Denise Scott, and Cindy Quattlebaum.

Senior Scout, Paula Homer has been busy teaching this troop of girls their outdoor camping skills in preparation for the Junior Camporee. In May they will begin art lessons under the instruction of Mrs. Frank Wilson.

As a service project, Mrs. Gage Robertson's Brownie Troop 118 has been busy collecting children's books to be placed in the waiting room at the hospital. They are also making a scrap book of Christmas cards and all occasion cards. They have decorated a box in which to place these items and have duly identified it as coming from Brownie Troop 118.

Mrs. Walter Hill enthusiastically reported that Brownie Troop 83 sold all their cookies in one week. These happy little Brownies made Easter baskets from bleach bottles and colored eggs to go in them. Easter surprises were bought from cookie money proceeds. They are currently learning new songs in preparation for the Brownie Revel and Day Camp.

Brownie Troops planning to attend the District II and III Brownie Revel should be certain to register on or before April 26, the final deadline for this event, according to Mrs. J. B. Maguire. Registration forms are in the April issue of Coronado Trails.

Mrs. Hill has also been assisting Mrs. Donald Gandy and Brownie Troop 79. This troop also sold all their cookies. The girls decorated blown-out eggs prior to Easter, and now are busy learning new songs and new skills for Day Camp.

Mrs. Dub Adkins is the busy leader of Junior Troop 108 at Baker School. She was also cookie Chairman for Sunrise Neighborhood and reported all cookies sold. Top cookie sellers in her troop were: Lela Kay McCaskill, four cartons; Cheryl Hensley, five cartons; Teresa Kirk, four cartons; Pamela Newman, four cartons; and Katherine Morgan, four cartons. They recently had a weiner roast with their mothers as invited guests. The purpose of this activity was not only to invite the mothers, but to give the girls an opportunity to practice proper firebuilding techniques. They plan to attend the Junior Camporee.

Cadette Troop 41 sold cookies at both banks in Pampa. One of this troop's interesting activities was a trip to Amarillo to go ice skating. Cosmologist Mrs. Charles Everett has taught the girls the care of their nails and hair as a requirement toward their Good Grooming Badge.

Mrs. Cloyd Hon reported that Junior Troop 35 also sold all their cookies and the girls will receive an "I Did It" patch. They visited Mrs. Denny Roan's Ceramic Shop and selected a project for May. They also planned their menus for the Junior Camporee.

Brownie Troop 8 made hand puppets and then each patrol gave a puppet show. They presented "Pegoria," "Little Red Riding Hood," and an original fairy tale based on "Queen Mary and Prince Arthur, and with the scene laid in Buckingham Palace," their leader, Mrs. Joe T. Rogers reported. Mrs. Bob Boyd assisted with this project. Other activities of this troop include a Penny Hike and picture collages made from odds and ends. Some of these pictures were presented to Mrs. Virgil Beard who had been ill.

Girls recently elected to offices in Junior Troop 90 were Diana Helm, troop scribe, Sherri Free, troop treasurer, and Leigh Ann Szemela, troop telephone chairman.

Brownie Troop 72 reported they sold all their cookies and that each girl will receive a Brownie patch. This busy troop recently took a field trip to a farm west of the city to visit the animals and learn about them. At their next meeting they went on a hike and concluded with an Easter Egg Hunt at the park.

Mrs. J. W. Gist also reported a sell-out on their cookies. These busy Brownies worked for several meetings on an unusual project. They made beaded sachet bags for their mothers for Easter. At their last meeting, they had an Easter party climaxed by an Easter Egg Hunt. Mrs. Gist is working with this troop and she is assisted by Mrs. Barney Luke.

Mrs. Tom Collins, leader of Junior Troop 136, commented that all her girls also sold their twenty-four boxes of cookies each. They are taking skating lessons.

Mrs. Wayne Jones' Junior Troop 61 has been assisting Troop 32 with their meetings. Several girls from this troop also visited Brownie Troop 44 and explained to them about Junior Girl Scouting.

Las Pampas DAR Chapter Meets

Mrs. W. S. Dixon, vice-regent, presided over a meeting of Las Pampas Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution which was held recently.

Mrs. Katie Vincent, chaplain, gave the invocation and Mrs. John Skelly gave the defense committee report. She mentioned that there are powerful forces at work to control those wonderful impressionable years of childhood to lead to a new style of living. To create a new world that accepts new types of families such as a communal group marriages, single unwed parent families and even homosexual families with children.

This was revealed at a recent White House Conference on Children. Plans drafted within HEW propose a variety of federally financed child care programs. Day care centers will concentrate on the full child development from six months to his sixth year. Bringing all children together at an early age is one of the best ways to achieve socio-economic integration, so says HEW.

Mrs. J. B. White, registrar, introduced John T. Loekke who spoke on the Blood Bank program of the Lion's Club. He explained that this Blood Bank is an organization formed to collect human eyes and to distribute hospitals where or when they are needed for grafting or transplanting of the needed parts. It also stores the vitreous fluid for use in retinal detachment or transplantation. Many people can see now because some one generously authorized the use of their eyes after death, he said.

He closed by saying that any member of the Lions Club will be glad to explain the program and that there was a great need for donors.

Mrs. A. L. Barnes was a guest and members present were Mmes. Katie Vincent, John McKnerney, Doyle Osborne, Lois Young, George Friauf, Turner Kirby, Twila Daugherty, W. S. Dixon, J.B. White, John Skelly, Siler Hopkins, Jeannie Cunningham, Elbert Walker, and A. D. Hills.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Enclosed is a clipping from your column as it appeared in the New Orleans States Item:

"CONFIDENTIAL TO AT WITS' END: It seems inconceivable to me that a registered nurse would be 'ashamed' to take her child to a doctor with recurring pinworms. Quit treating the boy with over-the-counter drugs and get that child to a doctor!"

Abby, shouldn't it be equally inconceivable to you, as it is to me, that a physician should have recurring pinworms?

PHILIP C. SPERIER, EDITOR DIXIE ROTO MAGAZINE
DEAR MR. SPERIER: I goofed and there is no worming my way out of it! Of the hundreds of editors and proofreaders who saw that item, few caught the error before it went to press, and you are the only editor to have called it to my attention afterward. Only two readers, Mrs. J.L. Harris of Portland, Ore., and Art Meyer of Albany, Ore., wrote to remark on it. Mea culpa.

DEAR ABBY: Can you please settle an argument between me and my husband? Our supervisor at the office tells us that it is rude to ask anyone who has been ill what was wrong with him. She says if the persons volunteers the information, fine, but it is in poor taste to inquire. I say it's all right to ask because it shows you are really interested, and if they don't want to answer, they don't have to.

I will admit I have seen a couple of people blush when they were asked what was wrong with them. One was a lady who had had a female operation, and the other was a man who had had painful rectal surgery.

My husband says the supervisor is right, and she is probably the supervisor and I am working for her because she knows what to say and what not to say. I'd like your opinion.

DEAR WILLING TO LEARN WITH your husband.

DEAR ABBY: You advised "Best Friend" to tell her girl friend that cross eyes can be corrected by surgery. You even suggested that the cross-eyed girl may not be "aware" of how she looks.

Abby, in the first place, if she is over three years old she knows how she looks. She will have heard nice older people say time and again, "Such a pretty child. Too bad about her eyes."

And from kindergarten on she will have heard cruel remarks from other children to remind her that her eyes are "different." And if her eyes are like mine, and do not focus properly, people will keep asking her, "What are you looking at?"

Surgery doesn't always help. I have had two operations on my eyes. Neither one worked. I used to be handicapped. But I'm not anymore, simply because I refuse to allow my defect to be the most important thing in my life. I do the best I can with what I have. My husband thinks I'm beautiful. And because he does, I am. Sign me,

AWARE
DEAR AWARE: A thousand apologies. Others wrote to tell me that not all crossed eyes can be corrected with surgery. Please forgive me.

DEAR ABBY: Please, keep on telling young girls to never give in to a guy no matter what he says or how hard he begs. A guy who really loves a girl will never leave her, regardless. I talked a girl out of her virginity. I am ashamed to say that she was only 14. (I was 18.) I caused her a lot of trouble, and now she won't even speak to me. But that's my fault, not hers.

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex.— Serious financial business faced the Legislators on their return to the capitol after spending the Easter holiday with the homelink.

balance the upper house version of the budget — from a smorgasbord of proposals already aired.
Both the House and the Senate are due to take up and pass their respective appropriations bills, already drafted and move the issue of budgeting into a 10-member conference committee of top legislators.
Big battle in the Senate, over revenue-raising, may be on a liberal-backed proposal to levy a new corporation income tax. More than a dozen votes are regarded as firm for the corporate profits tax, with three or four more senators rated as "possibles."

Senators are cool toward the $492.5 million tax package sent over earlier from the House — first, because they regard it as inadequate and, second, because it places the bulk of the load on consumers and students. Bill would raise the sales tax three-fourth of one percent to four percent, hike college tuitions and mark up the corporate franchise tax 50 cents per $1,000.

Earlier, and for the first time, the Senate voted against permitting floor amendments on tax proposals which have not been subject to public hearing. Here are some of the major tax proposals which have been made to the Senate State Affairs Committee:
A corporate profits tax of six per cent, which would produce an estimated $600 million in two years.
A corporate profits tax boost, to gross about $39.5 million.
Increase the sales tax to four per cent, to bring in $279.8 million.
Two cents a gallon gasoline tax increase, to promote $92 million to the state and $30 million to cities and counties for highway matters.
A beer tax boost to $10 a barrel, $95 million.
Pipeline tax, $30 million.

APPOINTMENTS—Rep. Menton J. Murray of Harlingen was named to head the new five-member House general investigation committee.
House Speaker Gus Mutscher designated Murray as chairman and the following representatives as members of the panel: DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi, James Nugent of Kerrville, Jim Silder of Naples and Clyde Haynes Jr. of Vidoc.
Gov. Preston Smith appointed appointments of J.C. Chatman Jr., of Marlin, Clarence Gaskamp of Brenham, Bruce Campbell Jr. of Knox City and Burford L. King of Fort Worth to the Board of Directors of the Brazos River Authority. Reappointed were P.E. (Gene) Chambers of Wichita Falls, Albert Brannon of Comanche and Glynn A. Williams of Bryan to the same board.
Reps. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth and Phil Cates of Ledor will serve on a committee to select an official Texas State Artist. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes will designate two Senators and Governor Smith will appoint the fifth member.

A MENDMENT FIGHT
LOOMS—Battle lines are forming for the May 18 constitutional amendments election. Conservation leaders and Texas AFL-CIO executive board have declared war on Proposition 4, which would create a $100 million bond fund to assist local governmental units with sewage treatment plant construction.
AFL-CIO also announced opposition to an amendment creating a state commission to set legislators' pay and ethical standards for officials. Support was given to raising the welfare ceiling and the amendment which would allow constitutional changes to be proposed in special sessions as well as regular legislative sessions.
Governor Smith announced appointment of Richard D. Brown, executive director of Texas Municipal League, to head a Committee on Clean Water, promoting passage of the water bond amendment which would also raise the maximum interest rate on Water Development Board bonds from four to six per cent. A committee of 12 will serve as the coordinators of Texas Citizens for Welfare Reform, promoting passage of Amendment 3 to raise the aid ceiling.

COURTS SPEAK—State has given notice of appeal in an historic federal court case at Corpus Christi where a three-judge panel held that Texas' annual voter registration requirement is unconstitutional. State Supreme Court reversed the decision of a Dallas civil appeals court, directing a new hearing in the civil breach of contract action against Texas Rubber Supply Inc.
Court of Criminal Appeals ordered a new trial for a Texarkana man convicted of murder on grounds that the trial court did not rule correctly on whether a statement by the defendant was voluntary and that the man should be heard on the issue of accidental shooting.
Fifty-sixth district court of Galveston County has enjoined the Gulf Chemical and Metallurgical Corporation near Texas City, directing it to install specified air pollution abatement equipment by September 10.
Third Court of Civil Appeals was told, in arguments by attorneys, that the defunct Sharpstown State Bank did not adequately check the identity of a man who gave it $470,000 in surety bonds.
BONDS FAIL TO SELL — A $25 million offer of Texas Water Development Bonds failed to draw bidders. It was felt that the four per cent ceiling on interest discouraged buyers.
Board members said another offer will be made later in the month if a "favorable" market develops.
A representative of a Dallas bank was about to offer a bid, but moments before the opening he announced he had changed his mind. Board succeeded in selling $15.1 million worth of bonds late in February at 3.9984 per cent.

AG OPINIONS — Several domestic relations and juvenile court judges stand to lose retirement benefits if their courts are converted into state district courts of general jurisdiction. Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.
"In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:
A bill providing for a county civil service system in counties over 300,000 in population.
Legislation seeking to prohibit State Board of Insurance members or employees from receiving compensation from any insurance company within six years after they leave their state posts is unconstitutional.
Grayson County commissioners court may legally employ an attorney to make investigation for a grand jury.
Petroleum products shipped out of state from F.O.B. loading points in Texas do not constitute receipts from business done in Texas under the franchise tax law, because physical possession occurs outside the state.
Texas Fine Arts Commission may publish in its newsletter the text of legislation relating to fine arts and solicit comments; but it may not argue the merits of a bill, tell who supports it nor can a list of legislators be printed in their publication.

Hollywood In Review

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A torrent of water cascaded down a little Mexican street toward a pair of tram cars filled with horrified tourists who ducked to avoid being crushed beneath a falling tree.
Fortunately, the floodwaters subsided and turned away from the tram at the last second. The tree righted itself just in time.
The relieved passengers trundled on past a large lake only to discover a submarine conning tower paralleling their route. Without warning the half-submerged submarine fired a torpedo.
Tourists didn't know whether to use their cameras or bail out.
"Boom!" went the torpedo a few feet short of the tram as a geyser of water spouted 25 feet in the air.
Additions to Tours
Both adventures are additions to Universal studios tours an adjunct of the motion picture and television giant which produced "Airport" and will be providing 15 1/2 hours of prime time television next season.
Last year 11 million swarmed over the Universal lot. This year the studios expects 12 million tourists, making the second largest attraction in California. Disneyland is tops with 9 million visitors last year.
Jay Stein, vice president in charge of outdoor recreation at Universal, said "we aren't trying to compete with Disneyland."
"Everything on our tour which lasts about four hours, shows the techniques, crafts and creativity of film work. We actually take visitors behind the scenes and show them what makes movies tick."
"There's no question that people around the country are fascinated by movies and TV. They have a high regard for what we're doing, and a curiously protective attitude. Any anti-Hollywood jokes are greeted with silence."
There's an Ark Park
In addition to the tour of sound stages, special effects demonstrations, makeup, wardrobe, props and all the rest, the studio has an ark park where youngsters may play with some 300 baby animals.
New this year is Stage 32 which includes a working set from "The Andromeda Strain," the futuristic science laboratory.
Tourist probably will enjoy Stage 70 most. They can "act" themselves on the "Airport" set via videotape.
Once the scene is shot it is replayed instantly on television monitors with scenes from the picture — hostly Dean Martin — spliced into the action. It allows a visitor to see himself reading lines and responding to Martin's dialogue.

Requirement of a bill that no county may alter, damage, destroy, sell or lease its courthouse without six months' notice to the Texas State Historical Survey Committee is not comprehended in the Antiquities Code.
A bill to create a State Budget Commission of executive and legislative branch members violates the constitution in seeking to grant legislative power to the executive department of government and executive power to the legislative branch.
CAR DEALER LICENSING DUE — Governor Smith signed into law legislation establishing a six-member Texas Motor Vehicle Commission to license major new car dealers and manufacturers.
Consumers are assured by law that warranties will be performed by dealers and manufacturers. False advertising and misrepresentation of products and services are also prohibited.

JEANE DIXON Your Horoscope

THURSDAY, APRIL 15 YOUR BIRTHDAY THURSDAY: What seems to be a normal year's growth works up instead of down, so that you are steadily more active and into more critical situations as you go along. Resolve not to divide your main effort among too many specialties. ARIES (March 21-April 19): The same old questions and issues come back again and again. Skip giving the same old answers; learn something new. TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Take the most burdensome task first, dispose of it, then drift through the day with the tidying up chores. GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Find out more about what's going on and who's planning it before you start shouting about what you are going to do. CANCER (June 21-July 21): You can have all the fun in the world as long as you realize that you will eventually get it somewhere, somewhere. LEO (July 22-Aug. 22): Much that you lead is incorrect, some of it out of context. You owe it to your friends to reject criticism until you know all sides of the story. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Free advice doesn't have the necessary competence or wisdom behind it. Do your own thinking without making a fuss. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Have your facts and figures straight and on the record. The season for maneuver is over, for the moment. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): It may be time now for some connections to lapse. Records are to be filed, turning points established. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Questions deserve simple, direct answer, but no elaboration once you've laid the facts on the line. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You now have relief from material concerns, old debates. Give the day a holiday spirit. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Alert, you learn of some unsuspected merit in your possessions. Make better use of them, now that you've seen the idea. PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Paying attention to advice only complicates matters. Nothing is going well on schedule, so make a picnic of the day's complications.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

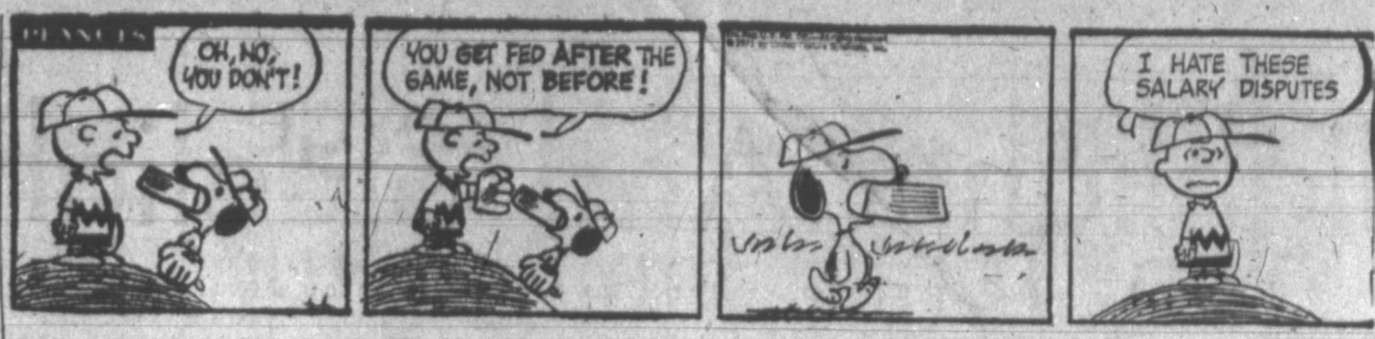

During the Spanish-American War of 1898 the U.S. battleship Oregon made one of the most remarkable voyages ever made by a steamship. The World Almanac says that the Oregon completed a 16,000-mile voyage from San Francisco via Cape Horn, and arrived in Santiago, Cuba, where it served in a decisive naval battle. This trip dramatized the need to build the Panama Canal.

Pampa Bounces Borger With Tenth Inning Run

The Pampa Harvesters outlasted the Borger Bulldogs yesterday for a 4-3 victory in the 10th inning in Optimist Park. The two teams entered play tied for district honors with identical 2 win no loss district marks. The Harvesters winning run came on a base-loaded walk by Borger relief pitcher Derrell Werther to Gary Haynes.

Pampa was first on the board in the second inning only to have Borger bounce back in the third to tie the score at 1-1. In the fourth both teams had a runner cross home plate and going into the fifth the score was tied at two all.

Neither team scored again until the top of the eighth inning when Borger drew into the lead three to two. The lead was short lived as the Pampa crew tied the game in the bottom of the eighth.

Going into the ninth inning neither team could score the winning run so a tenth inning was started. Borger's Werther walked Hayes after Dan Hood, Al Ferguson and Ricky Musgrave worked over Borger's Jeff Maxwell setting up the game winning walk.

Pampa's winning pitcher, Jeff Hogan went the distance by striking out eleven and allowing no walks. Borger tagged the winner with eleven hits while Pampa could manage only seven.

Errors seemed to be the key to success for the Harvesters as only one mistake was made by the Pampa squad while the Bulldogs tallied five.

The loss by the Bulldogs brought their season mark to 12-5 and their district mark to 2-1. Pampa is now registering an 11-6 season mark with three wins and no losses in district play.

The Harvesters will be meeting Palo Duro Friday at 4 p.m. as the Dons hope to extend their winning streak. Palo Duro defeated the Amarillo Sandies 8 to 2 under the guidance of pitcher Tim Vachon.

In other 3-AAAA action the Tascosa Rebels downed the Caprock Longhorns on a one hitter by Dale Tipton six to nothing. Tascosa is presently tied with Borger for second place in district play.

Officially Spring Has Arrived With Baseball On Its Deathbed

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Spring is officially here.

Baseball is reported to be on its deathbed. That's right, afraid... Only this time the awful news comes like it never has before, amply documented with impressive figures and with expert opinions from some of the heavyweight thinkers of our time.

Bearer of the sad tidings this time around is Forbes Magazine.

Forbes indisputably is one of the more influential financial magazines and its accuracy generally leaves little room for question but it bobbled the ball any number of times this trip.

'Beat Up' Sport?

On the cover of its April issue Forbes shows a picture of the kind of baseball you'd be

Tonight Bullets Find Out Whether They Win or Lose

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Tonight's the night the Baltimore Bullets find out which are the real Bullets.

Will they be the same Bullets who ran out of gas in the last period of the first two Eastern Conference losses to New York or will they be the Bullets who ran the Knicks out of the Baltimore Civic Center Sunday afternoon?

The injury-riddled Bullets faltered in the end and lost both games in New York but looked like a different team Sunday in humiliating the Knicks 114-88 in the third game of their best-of-seven series.

The Bullets again will be without the services of star forward Gus Johnson, sidelined with a knee injury, and Kevin Loughery is listed as questionable guard. Loughery is suffering from a foot injury but Fred Carter has been impressive as a replacement.

Earl Monroe, the Bullets' leading scorer, had some ankle problems to go with his chronic knee troubles, but he poured in 31 points Sunday and looked like nothing in the world was bothering him.

The Knicks, obviously humiliated by their lackluster performance on Sunday, are healthy for Game No. 4.

Michel Briere Dies In Montreal

MONTREAL (UPI)—Michel Briere, who led the Pittsburgh Penguins to the 1970 Stanley Cup semifinals and was critically injured in an auto accident two weeks later, died Tuesday, nearly 11 months after the accident.

Briere, 21, had been hospitalized since his auto ran off a road near Malartic, Quebec, last May 15 and he was thrown from the vehicle. He underwent four brain operations and was in a coma most of the time. "It is hard to say it this way, but we have been expecting it, so that when it came it was with a feeling of relief. Mike is better off and so is his family," said Red Kelly, the Penguins' general manager-coach in Pittsburgh.

ashamed to let your kid play with. The cover of the ball is ripped, the stitching has long since come apart and some of the yarn already is hanging out. Only six words are on the magazine cover and those six words say: Baseball—The Beat Up National Sport.

Then when you turn to the feature article inside the heading reads: "Who says baseball is like ballet? Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, that's who. Which may be why baseball is losing out as the great national sport."

A little further along there's a table listing all the major league clubs and such other information as the key owner of each club, what other business he's in besides baseball, how much of a profit or loss his club showed last year, and any change in the value of his franchise since he acquired it.

Dubious Experts
There also are opinions pertaining to how long baseball has yet to go from such experts as Thomas Dockerty, a gentleman from Scotland whose real bag is soccer, and Dr. Joyce Brothers, the eminent psychologist who can also tell you what's causing your daughter's pimples.

The only expert really missing is Howard Cosell and I'm a little surprised Forbes didn't check with him because I never feel I have the definitive opinion on anything, especially pertaining to baseball, until I've heard from Howard Cosell.

Thomas Dockerty says flatly, "Baseball will be dead in 20 years," and if the name Thomas Dockerty escapes you maybe it's only because you don't follow soccer that closely. Dockerty came over here from Scotland a few years ago trying to make big-time soccer go in the U.S. You saw how far it went. Before returning to Scotland, Dockerty took time out to make his prediction about baseball. Suddenly he's an expert, too.

The Reasoning, Briefly
But let's look at some of the other things Forbes has to say about that funeral coming up.

Quote: "The grand old game has been groaning, but it really seemed to come apart at the seams last year."

Comment: It sure came apart, all right. Major league baseball drew 28.6 million people last year—more than the National Football Conference, the American Football Conference, the National Basketball Association, the American Basketball Association, and the National Hockey League combined.

Quote: "The Louis Harris organization ran a nationwide sports popularity poll last year which showed baseball trailed football in popularity for the second year in a row."

Comment: What about the Sindlinger poll which showed that among all adults in the U.S., baseball still is the No. 1 sport? The exact figures were baseball 27.1, football 24.4, and basketball 6.2. Maybe it depends on what poll you wish to climb.

Baseball As Business
Quote: "Ewing M. Kauffman, owner of the Kansas City Royals, says, 'Anyone would be idiotic to go into baseball as an investment.'"

Comment: So how come New Orleans, Dallas, Toronto and Buffalo keep clamoring for a major league baseball franchise? I've met those people and they don't look like 'knots to me.

Quote: "Where are the heroes? The fans loved Babe Ruth, Bob Feller and Jo Dimaggio. Now team ball dominates."

Comment: I dunno. It seems to me a lot of kids still go gaga about such ballplayers as Willie Mays, Hank Aaron, Johnny Bench, Brooks Robinson, Carl Yastrzemski, Tom Seaver, Bob Gibson, Frank Robinson and Al Kaline, to name only a few. Cesar Cedeño and Nate Colbert keep picking up followers every day, too.

I look at it this way—even religion has made some changes, which should tell baseball something. My faith in the game is such though I have every confidence it won't.

SIDE ACTION ON ICE MEET

MONTREAL (UPI)—Mayor Kevin White of Boston and Mayor Jean Drapeau have made a wager on the outcome of the current Stanley Cup playoff series between the Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens. White has wagered a jar of Boston baked beans and three lobsters against Drapeau's gallon of Quebec maple syrup and a pound of Oka cheese.

Philadelphia 76ers Think Dana Lewis Can Fill Shoes

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Philadelphia 76ers think Dana Lewis can fill some large shoes. Lewis seems pretty confident about it himself.

Don DeJardin, general manager of the National Basketball Association team, announced the signing of the 6-foot-10, 240-pound Tulsa University star to a six-year contract Tuesday. The price tag was not revealed. "We have been hurting at center since the departure of Wilt Chamberlain," said 76ers President Irv Kosloff. He said Lewis, the club's top draft pick, was "a good center and a good talent."

Lewis did not seem awed at the challenge. Someone asked him which of the current NBA centers he most resembles in his style of play. He didn't hesitate. "Low Alcinder," he said—naming the man who supplanted Chamberlain in the All-Star teams.

Record Fines Levied By National Hockey League

NEW YORK (UPI)—Emile Francis, coach and general manager of the New York Rangers, was still seething today upon learning that his club and the Toronto Maple Leafs had been fined a record total of $16,550 by National League Clarence Campbell.

Dick Motta Named Coach Of The Year

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dick Motta has had the last laugh on those who said he would not be able to make the transition from a college basketball coach to a professional one.

Motta, 39, was named coach of the year Tuesday in the National Basketball Association for guiding the Chicago Bulls to their first winning season.

Motta, who came to the Bulls three years ago from Weber State College, where he coached for eight years, received 30 votes in a balloting of three sports writers from each of the 17 NBA member cities.

Larry Costello, who directed the Milwaukee Bucks to the Midwest Division title, finished second with 11 votes. Al Attles of the San Francisco Warriors was third with three votes.

The Bulls, although eliminated in seven games by Los Angeles in the first round of the playoffs, finished second to Milwaukee in the tough Midwest division during the regular season with a 51-31 record.

"A guy gave me an envelope about five minutes before the game started," Francis said Tuesday night after the Rangers had whipped the Leafs, 3-1, to take a 3-2 edge in their Stanley Cup quarterfinal series. "I knew what was in it and there's no way I was going to open it up then. Not until I get home, relax and take my shoes off."

Each team was fined $5,000 for a pair of brawls near the end of last Thursday's game here. In addition individual Ranger players were fined a total of $3,300 and the Leafs

$3,250. Although no one was hurt in the brawling, Campbell termed it one of the most "derogatory spectacles which the league has produced in recent years."

Brad Park of New York and Darryl Sittler of Toronto received the highest individual fines—$450 each, including $200 for leaving the penalty box. Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin was assessed $400 for twice leaving the net to join the free-for-all, and Mike Plyke of Toronto also was fined $400 for being the first member of his team to leave the bench.

Green Machine Hopes To Lock Up Playoffs

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—The Big Green Machine from Wisconsin—otherwise known as the Milwaukee Bucks—can put one more nail in the coffin of the injury-depleted Los Angeles Lakers tonight.

The Lakers will be without Keith Erickson in addition to Jerry West and Elgin Baylor in the third game of the teams' best-of-seven semifinal playoff series. Pat Riley, a little-used guard, will replace Erickson.

The Bucks won by 21 and 18 points in the first two contests at Milwaukee with Erickson, the Lakers' standout forward-guard, missing Sunday's game, surgery for removal of his appendix Sunday night.

There doesn't appear much the Lakers can do against the team that lost only 16 NBA regular season games and then took four out of five from San Francisco in its initial playoff series.

In fact, coach Larry Costello has promised his Bucks, who won four of five regular season meetings with Los Angeles, will be even tougher here.

If Milwaukee wins tonight, the Bucks can wrap up the series and the Western Conference title Friday night.

A Destructive Inquisition

President Nixon has recommended a $100 million campaign to speed up cancer research as part of the Administration's plans to improve the nation's health services. Cancer is one of the few remaining dread afflictions that have yet to be conquered by science.

Clouds of paper work and regulatory restrictions have descended on every drug company laboratory. Drug firms are diversifying into other fields of endeavor. Today, the introduction of a new drug is a cumbersome, costly process requiring years and the submission of a mountain of reports.

Incentives Policy Needed

Many have been led to believe that the present threat of fuel shortages is caused by dwindling supplies in the earth. Although exploration is becoming more difficult, such a belief is wrong. Shortages are threatened because the importance of encouraging private initiative has been disregarded.

more than 50 per cent since 1960 and will probably increase by another 65 per cent during the next decade for the simple reason that "There are more of us now than ever before, and each of us is using more energy in our daily lives."

A Time For Reassessment

It has always been a dubious proposition to compare a small country with one that is more than 20 times larger, both in area and population, immensely more diverse and with an entirely different history.

instance: in the past two years there was a seven per cent decrease in buying power among state employees but a seven per cent increase in buying power for industrial workers.

This has not kept some Swedes from boasting, with justification, about how far their country has come in social progress and reminding the United States how far it has to go.

Moreover, to pay for a myriad of free welfare services, Swedes have seen the average income tax soar to 40 per cent. There is also a 47 per cent sales tax on most consumer items.

Yet while the two countries may not fairly be compared, the United States may have something to learn from the experience of Sweden — if not how to achieve perfection, perhaps how to avoid some of the pitfalls along the way to that desired state.

"The organized welfare state has gone mad," said world famous economist Gunnar Myrdal. "It's become a class struggle with academics and civil servants seeing the lower classes creeping up on them and not liking it at all."

H. L. Hunt Writes

THE GOOD FIGHT

In these days of national peril, both at home and abroad, the question often arises: "What can I do to save my country?" Well, there are several answers to that question and the paramount reason should be, "I can dedicate myself to being a patriotic citizen and spread the gospel about the grandeur of our republic and explain why it is worth saving against the communist threat."

Patriotism is not an ugly word. There are detractors in our midst who would try to make us believe that it is, but thoughtful men, women and teenagers know better and they are responding to the challenge of the worst enemy mankind has ever faced.

Communist encroachment has not been limited to official circles. The leeches of Marxist doctrine, which is one of tyranny and slavery, have crept into other phases of our lives, including the churches.

A long-time anti-communist instigated and carried out a protracted campaign to inform and warn the people of the Southern Baptist Convention that they were targets of the communist conspiracy. Printed matter detailing the communist threat was sent to the Convention.

The fight against the threat in the church must be continued. All peoples of all faiths in this country have an obligation to stand and be counted as patriots.

We must also counter the defeatist spirit of the likes of J. W. Fulbright and Birch Bayh who have long been prophets of doom as far as our Republic USA is concerned.

Question Box

QUESTION: Government could finance deficits by issuing U.S. notes directly and without debt, if it were not for the Federal Reserve Act of 1913 as amended, which prevents this. Should not the government serve the people with the least injury to their general welfare?

ANSWER: We believe government should serve the people with the least injury to their general welfare. But inflation is not with the least injury to their general welfare. It is one of the most harmful aspects of government.

Granted the United States could return to issuing U.S. notes (greenbacks) which are unbacked promises to pay by government. But to allow any agency of government to issue artificial currency which is not sound and which is not backed by anything of value is to allow unbridled inflation. It is as serious as it is with the Federal Reserve issuing banknotes in return for government securities.

Only a return to honest money and elimination of deficit spending can correct the inflationary trend. This would require backing of the currency with gold or silver or some other thing of intrinsic value. Repeal of any authorization to issue unbacked currency would be a first step toward honest money.

Then if there were found to be a need for deficit spending, the national government would be forced to borrow directly from its citizens of their earnings. Such borrowing would not be inflationary, since it would be no increase in the amount of "money" chasing after the same amount of goods and services. The government would have to bid in the open market for the savings of its citizens, and if the interest were sufficient, there would be no trouble obtaining the money in a temporary emergency.

But if the politicians are permitted to print as much unbacked currency as they desire whenever they want to spend more than they receive, we can see no way to eliminate inflation, which is described as the cruelest tax of all.

CAPITOL EYE

Today's Youth Is Seeking Politics Without Challenge

By BRUCE BOSSA'

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Not long ago I listened to a couple of dozen mature college students talk about the problems of the day. They were friendly, inquiring, alert — but astonishingly shallow in their perceptions of reality.

Though one or two were of the total antihero, antipolitics variety, most seemed anxious to find a candidate they could support for the presidency in 1972. Their bent, of course, was toward the Democratic party. But they complained that, with the exception of Sen. Henry M. Jackson's divergence on war and the SST, the presently visible choices were "all the same on the issues."

They did not appear to be faulting the "let's set a date and get out soon" posture of most Democratic candidates toward the Vietnam war. What several asked was: "When they all share this view, how do we choose among them?"

They were talking of course, about Sens. Edmund Muskie, Edward Kennedy, Hubert Humphrey, George McGovern, Harold Hughes and Birch Bayh. If I was hearing right, they were saying that the only thing they had to go by was the verbal or written utterance of these men on the issues.

Whatever became of the idea that when we choose a president, we are weighing not merely his proclaimed views, but his record of performance, his character, his capacity for judgment, his temperamental fitness for choice and his potential for growth and change?

These matters never came up that day. Faced with six leading figures who were perceived to be saying substantially the same things about the war, the students professed absolute helplessness in discriminating and selecting.

In deed, they wanted assistance. A few thought that the candidates should aid them by doing something "administrative," by not only conceiving but carrying out a program for two, to demonstrate the genuineness of their issue positions. (All of the candidates in question are legislators who do not ordinarily get administrative opportunities.)

Mind you, now, these young people were not cynical. They were not shouting "A plague on politics" but were searching for someone to rally around. Yet they were totally lacking in zeal for the quest.

They were advocating the responsibility they carry as citizens. They were looking at Muskie, Kennedy, McGovern, et al. as if they had blank faces with issue cards pasted over them, as if these men were all spiritless bearers of a common written message — and nothing more.

As a matter of fact, the six candidates do not even speak the same way about the war, even though they do come together on some key points.

Ugly Acne Scars Can Be Removed

Dear Dr. Lamb — I read your article every day, and I finally have a question. I am 16 years old and have a face full of scars. Can you please tell me how to quickly get rid of ugly scars from squeezing and picking pimples? Please don't tell me to see a doctor because my mother said I messed up my face, therefore it is my problem.

Dear Reader — You really should see a doctor. If you have a lot of pimples or acne in youth, they may produce scars whether you squeeze them or not. It is often difficult to prevent pimples. Soaking with warm water, mild soap and a clean cloth twice a day is helpful. Beyond this I think each person with this problem should see a skin specialist or dermatologist.

With Some Reservation

By INJUN WOODY

A "quiet" report, which is nestled amongst other tables of the new FAP Welfare bon-doggle, shows what a horrible nightmare it is . . .

It shows, for instance, that in Iowa there were 92,300 welfare recipients in 1970. If the guaranteed annual income plan goes thru, that number will jump to 235,700 people — an increase of 155 per cent!

There will be an increase of 222 per cent in Arkansas, 161 per cent in Alabama and the number on the dole in Indiana will increase 204 per cent!

In Georgia the welfare rolls will jump from 328,400 to 1,025,500. Nebraska will undergo the agonies of a 285 per cent increase and those in North Carolina will jump by 394 per cent.

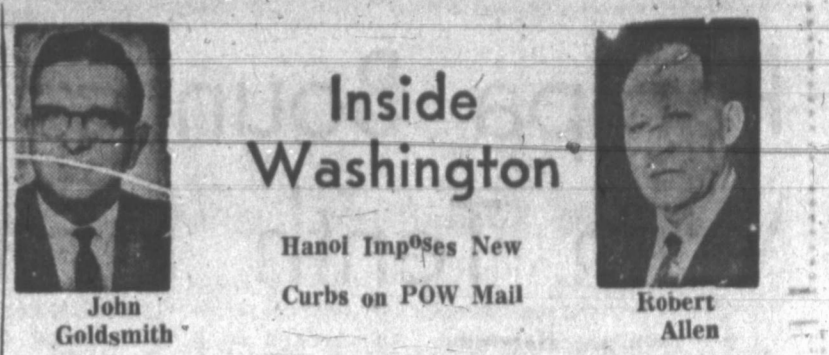

In all 23 of the United States, exactly half of them, there will be affected at least a 100 per cent increase in welfare recipients. Ten other states will see the welfare rolls climb by a minimum of 200 per cent!

And who will pay for the "indolent plan"? Why, the little workin' feller, tryin' to keep his head above water and raise his own family. . .

... a guaranteed annual income or a negative income tax would not end poverty, and while it might be a substitute for welfare, it would have a very detrimental effect on the productive capacity of the American people."

These words will be little noted, nor long remembered, by Mr. Richnix — probably because he said them himself — way back in 1968. . .

WASHINGTON — In what is shaping up as a grisly new ploy in its POW hostage game, Hanoi has apparently imposed new curbs on the flow of prisoner-of-war mail.

Protest mail, to North Vietnamese and Viet Cong missions in Paris, is involved, along with mail addressed to prisoners held in Vietnam. Many letters of both types are now being returned to the sender.

The return of letters from Paris, stamped "refused" by postal authorities there, is a new wrinkle. It is not particularly alarming, however, since the Communist missions in Paris have periodically refused to accept such letters and have sometimes left mail bags piled in the Paris streets.

The return of letters addressed to prisoners is something else again. It has reached proportions not previously experienced. In the past a sprinkling of mail for prisoners has been returned, but officials here have been advised that a flood of such correspondence has been rejected in the last month.

Of special concern is the fact that some letters have been returned to families who were previously in touch — if haphazardly — with men held in North Vietnamese camps. That has, of course, caused new anxieties for families here.

No public statement has been made about the restricted flow of mail. Officials who are concerned with POW problems have been trying to establish some pattern in the reported rejection of letters.

CHRISTMAS LIST? — Officials here think there is no necessary connection between the new gimmick for handling protest mail in Paris and the return of letters to POWs in Vietnam. The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have, as noted, often treated protest mail as a nuisance.

One of the veterans organizations which has been promoting the sending of such "humanitarian pleas" — The Disabled American Veterans — recently decreed the action of French postal authorities in turning back such letters and publicly urged that senders omit a return address on future mailings.

Officials who are trying to find a pattern in the return of letters addressed to POWs are now speculating that Hanoi may be refusing to recognize any prisoner whom it has not identified as held in North Vietnam. The idea is that letters may now be returned unless they are addressed to PWS on Hanoi's Christmas list — the official list of prisoners released at Christmastime to Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and J. William Fulbright, D-Ark.

That speculation fails to take into account the return of mail addressed to prisoners who have previously exchanged letters with their families here. Some officials suggest that Hanoi is now demanding that letter writers conform exactly with the format recommended for correspondence with prisoners.

No one really knows, at this point, why the flow of mail has been suddenly and materially curtailed.

INCOMING UNCHECKED — Families continue to get a trickle of mail from the prisoners held by Hanoi. That mail comes in by Hanoi's own chosen instrument — the Committee of Liaison with Families of Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam.

While officials have been trying to figure out the new curbs on outbound mail, the co-chairman of the Committee, Mrs. Cora Weiss, has been complaining that the Pentagon and the FBI have been harassing recipients of mail who have heard from POWs through the peace movement.

Mrs. Weiss recently described as "myths" the reports that prisoners are not allowed to communicate with their families — and vice versa. She said her Committee had helped deliver 3,568 incoming letters in the last 18 months.

As to outgoing mail, Mrs. Weiss suggested that POW families may have been ignoring Hanoi's insistence that such mail be routed through Moscow. That causes letters to be returned, Mrs. Weiss said.

However, her thesis would also fail to explain why letters, like those previously accepted for delivery to POWs, are now being returned.

So officials here are still studying the problem, and the continuing return of letters is causing new apprehension for a growing number of families which have already had more than their share.

Farm Front Where Nation Is Having Least Trouble

By PAUL HARVEY

It's spring planting time. Three months into a new year, the farmer is trying to decide if it's worth it. It is worth it.

The good farmer works hard, but he sleeps well. America's farmers benefited least from the prosperity of the soaring Sixties.

But they suffered less than many during the recession of the early Seventies.

Country bankers are careful which farmer gets how much, but the credit pinch is less this year than last.

Hogs which brought better than $25 a hundred last July were selling for $15 by December but.

They're butting again. Farm taxes are up, but farm land values are up more — averaging 5 per cent a year. Even last year, a recession year, your land value increased 3 per cent.

Net farm income is not going to soar this year; the cost of everything the farmer has to buy is too high but.

Farm exports are up. There's not yet enough blight-resistant seed for corn farmers. So this year's corn crop will be 20 per cent less but.

Average prices for corn are up 26 per cent from a year ago.

Soybeans up 16 per cent. Even wheat, despite the oversupply, is up 6 per cent.

There's a worrisome trend in American agriculture. Survival requires efficiency, efficiency requires mechanization, mechanization requires money.

That means fewer and bigger farms. Historically this leads to a counterrevolution. When the private land holdings get too gigantic, they invite social upheaval.

Then the mobs in the streets demand that we bust up the big spreads and give each poor peasant his own little parcel, and usually the poor peasant is poor because he's a poor farmer so there we are collectively, equally inefficient again.

And that is the trend. The number of farms right now is 2.9 million less than 11 years ago. And the average farm has increased in size 31 per cent.

But where we now have 211,000 really gigantic factory farms, we have 2.8 million farms that are not.

The average farm is 389 acres.

That's a long way from the monopolistic concentration of property which justifies revolution.

President Nixon's farm program is imperfect but.

It does give all farmers more freedom to decide what crops they can grow and still be eligible for government payments and price supports.

So of all the worrisome threats to us as a people and as a nation — crime, inflation, pollution — it's on the farm front that we're in the least trouble.

And I hesitate even to mention this next or government will figure some way to put a tax on it. But while no worker works harder, no worker enjoys more intangible, untaxed fringe benefits than the man with his feet in a furrow and his head in the sun.

He has air he can breathe, water he can drink — a vista like nobody's business — and a hunk of earth the value of which is more dependable than gold.

TV In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—There were howls of either laughter or anger when CBS-TV this year presented the debut of its new series, "All In The Family," about a middle-class husband-father with strong prejudices about controversial subjects.

The program was an adaptation of a sensationally successful British series, "Till Death Do Us Part," and CBS-TV's commitment to this new blunt kind of contemporary video comedy was as significant as its commitment to lump its long-running rural series — which it did.

Nevertheless, even some persons connected with "All In The Family" didn't give the series much of a chance to last beyond 13 weeks. The feeling in general was that the show would be either an all-out smash hit or a fast-fading change of pace. But the feeling was wrong, for "All In The Family," like any number of series, simply got itself a respectable rating, and hung in there.

Perhaps it showed that Americans are pretty blasé about most entertainment by now—and are willing, after all, to try just about anything, despite the fears of nervous executive types. In any case, not only did "All In The Family" get pretty good ratings—it also won a renewal on CBS-TV's new schedule for the fall while programs like "The Beverly Hillbillies" and "Mayberry R.F.D." bit the dust.

If you want to know why "All In The Family" caused all that fuss, tonight is a good night to tune it in, for the series begins its re-runs with the original debut episode.

But whereas the series was a very iffy proposition when it first showed this episode, it starts the re-runs with quite a different status—not merely as a renewed program, but as one that received seven Emmy nominations Monday.

Only one other weekly series received more Emmy nominations than "All In The Family," and that was CBS-TV's Mary Tyler Moore show also new. Miss Moore's program gathered eight nominations. And nine were earned by "The Senator" segments of NBC-TV's "The Bold Ones." Hal Holbrook, famous for his one-man show as Mark Twain, starred in "The Senator," which unfortunately has been canceled because of low ratings.

"All In The Family" was nominated for best comedy series, and also for best new series. In addition, Carroll O'Connor, who plays the prejudiced family man, earned a nomination for best leading man in a comedy series. And Jean Stapleton, who is marvelous as his wife, was nominated for best leading woman in a comedy series. The show also got two writing nominations (for two episodes). The seventh nomination came for direction of another episode.

Of the five shows nominated for best comedy series, four are new—"All In The Family," "Arnie," Miss Moore's program and "The Odd Couple." The fifth nominee, "Love, American Style,"
