N. Viet, U.S. Squabble Over Peace Talks Site

US Air Strikes Clobber Enemy

By RICHARD V. OLIVER
SAIGON (UPI)—A series of heavy American air strikes and artillery barrages Saturday killed 238 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong around Khe Sanh and in the Mekong Delta ricebowl, the U.S. Command reported.

At Khe Sanh, a U.S. Air Force C-130 transport plane exploded in flames Saturday as it was touching down to pick up a battalion of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division. None of the GIs crowding along the air strip at the valley fortress was hurt, but the unexplained disaster killed an American civilian and injured five U.S. Marines aboard the giant craft.

As Easter dawned over this nation which has been torn by war for more than 20 years, North Vietnam said the United States must stop "creating problems" if it wants to begin peace talks. Hanoi said President Johnson was trying to delay negotiations to intensify air raids on North Vietnam's pánhandle.

Air Missions
Saigon headquarters said American raiders flew 90 missions into the North Friday, but briefing officers said "no significant targets" were hit. All of the strikes were south of the 19th Parallel.

In one of the strange turns of this strange war, the clandestine radio of the National Liberation Front announced Saturday Viet Cong troops were observing a three-day truce in four Mekong Delta provinces in (See US, Page 2)

Unusual Prize Offered By Bar

CLEAR, Alaska (UPI)—A bar in this small community has had its license suspended for 45 days for operating a well-formed lottery.

The State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board charged that the lottery prize offered by the club was a young woman.

Thant Issues Appeal For Speedy Accord

TOYKO (UPI)—North Vietnam Saturday accused the United States of deliberately delaying talks on peace and warned Washington to "stop creating problems" over a site.

The Hanoi regime said it had noted Washington's objections to Phnom Penh and has suggested Warsaw while the United States had proposed a number of places which are not acceptable to North Vietnam.

In two separate statements broadcast by Hanoi Radio it charged that President Johnson was reneging on his promise to meet with the Communists anywhere and at any time.

Thant Appeals
(In New York, U.N. Secretary General Thant appealed "fervently" to both sides to reach a speedy agreement on a site for the discussions. The appeal came in his first public statement since returning from an eight-day visit to Europe during which he said he was in contact with both Hanoi and Washington.)

Both Hanoi broadcasts, one a Foreign Ministry statement and the other an editorial in the official newspaper Nhan Dan, accused the United States of intensifying air raids on the southern pánhandle of North Vietnam and other "bellicose acts."

The ministry statement said North Vietnam suggested on April 8 that Phnom Penh be the site "for preliminary contacts on the ambassadorial level... with a view to preparing for the formal talks."

On April 10, it said the United States "came out with the claim that Phnom Penh presents difficulties... because of problems arising from the absence of a U.S. mission at that location."

"At the same time, they proposed a number of places

Washington Is Still Waiting for Response

WASHINGTON (UP)—U.S. officials remained hopeful Saturday of agreement with Hanoi on a site for preliminary talks, but they cautioned that the current hard bargaining is only a foretaste of the difficulty in any future peace negotiations.

The United States was still waiting for a response to new site proposals forwarded to North Vietnam Thursday night after President Johnson balked at a meeting in Warsaw, Poland.

Officials said the North Vietnamese willingness to work out a "mutually agreeable site" gave President Johnson some elbow room in light of his previous statements he would send U.S. representatives to "any spot on this earth."

It is now clear that the President is holding out for the most "suitable" location—primarily one that is neutral in the war and where both sides already have diplomatic representation and access to adequate communications.

Entertainment will be provided by Randall Purvis, director of music at the First Baptist Church.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made until 10 a. m. Tuesday.

Germans Use Water Cannon Against Mob

By JOSEPH B. FLEMING
BERLIN (UPI)—West Berlin police swinging nightsticks and firing blasts from high pressure water cannon broke up a mob of about 1,500 youths blocking traffic on the city's main street Saturday to protest the shooting of Rudi (Red Rudi) Dutschke.

Riot squads arrested about 200 youths, including Peter Brandt, the 19-year-old son of West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt.

Dutschke, a 28-year-old leftist youth leader, was critically wounded Thursday by Josef Bachmann, a 23-year-old house-painter and admirer of Adolf Hitler. Bachmann said the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. gave him the idea of killing the "Communist" Dutschke.

In the West German port city of Bremerhaven, youths tore down the American flag from a pole in front of U.S. headquarters and draped a red banner over the headquarters entrance.

West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger warned the students in a nationwide television and radio speech the nation would not tolerate violence. He advised youths to turn their backs on "radical gang leaders."

Nation Returns To Racial Calm

By United Press International
National Guard troops were withdrawn from the streets of Chicago Saturday as were all but a few of the 13,000 GIs on duty in Washington. Racial calm prevailed over most of the nation and authorities were hopeful that Easter would bring a return to normalcy.

Kansas City, Mo., where 3,000 guardsmen and police were protecting the peace, experienced scattered sniper fire and sporadic arson early Saturday but the violence was not on a par with previous nights.

In Youngstown, Ohio, about 200 guardsmen patrolled the city's predominantly Negro South Side. In Cincinnati, however, Guard units were withdrawn from the Negro section of Avondale and police returned to normal work shifts.

The last of about 6,900 federal troops were removed from Baltimore Saturday but another 5,700 guardsmen were kept on duty. It was expected the guardsmen would be pulled out Sunday if the city remains quiet.

Guardsmen in Chicago and nearby Joliet, Ill., were sent home Saturday. Officials allowed Jewish troops to depart early so they could be home for Passover by sundown.

Police Captain Says Leftists Pushed Riots

NEW YORK (UPI)—A New York police captain said Friday he had submitted a report to his superiors that charges leftists using information "right from Peking" helped foment the rioting in Newark last July that left 26 dead and caused $15 million in property damage.

Detective Capt. Charles Kinney said he had recommended to his superiors that his findings be presented to a county grand jury or federal grand jury, or both.

Kinney said the same leftists group have been trying to start racial unrest this year but had been unsuccessful because of the cooperation of militant whites and Black Power advocates, including Negro playwright Leroi Jones.

Kinney made this charge on a radio program (WCBS) where he appeared with Jones and Anthony Imperiale, leader of a Newark vigilante group whose members have armed themselves and sworn to protect their homes.

The police official, who headed a group that compiled a 100-page report on the causes of the rioting, blamed the violence on leftists using information "coming right from Peking, and

Easter Is Observed Throughout World

Christians throughout the Top O' Texas area were expected to attend the churches of their choice in record numbers today in observance of the Christian belief in the resurrection of Jesus Christ 2,000 years ago.

Traditional Commemorative Easter day services started this morning with a 6:15 a.m. sunrise service at Aspen Park. The Rev. Martin Hager, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, delivered the sermon.

Most Pampa and area churches will have special Easter themes for their morning worship services.

Many area churches also commemorated Good Friday—the day observed as the one on which Christ was crucified—with services Friday night.

The traditional Easter egg hunts were also held throughout the area. Approximately 2,000 youngsters turned out for a Friday afternoon egg hunt in Aspen Park while an estimated 115 turned out for the hunt at Carver School Friday.

Another kind of observance—unofficial first day of Spring—was also expected to be reflected today in the traditional Easter "finery" worn by many, and Pampa merchants said their sales reflected an increase in purchases.

By United Press International
Easter Sunday. Men turned to prayer today because the need was great.

About 2,000 years ago, says Christian tradition, Jesus Christ was crucified. Friday, Good Friday, the Christian world went to church, prayed and fasted to mark the Lord's suffering.

Sunday Christians were going to church to celebrate His rising. But behind the hymns of gladness could be heard the roar of guns overseas and the echoes of a week of racial strife in the United States.

Twenty-five thousand persons were expected to attend the third annual Interdenominational Easter service in Atlanta, Ga., the home of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the slain Nobel Peace Prize winner. The service was to begin at 6:30 a.m., with more than 100 churches represented.

In a cathedral of surpassing beauty, thousands were expected to attend the 34th annual sunrise services in the Grand Canyon despite probable cold, windy weather.

Climb Mountains
In San Francisco, hundreds of persons were to climb to the top of 981-foot Mt. Davidson—the highest point in the city—for the 46th annual sunrise service at the foot of a 103-foot cross.

Eastward, another cross will be the site of sunrise services. Three-thousand persons from up to 10 states were expected to drive up the wildflower decorated slopes of Bald Knob Mountain near Alto Pass, Ill., to the famous "Cross of Peace."

Seated on a slope beneath the 111-foot-high cross, the congregation will hear a sermon by the Rev. Lynn Sprague of Chicago, who will be dressed in the garb of circuit riders who preached (See EASTER, Page 2)

Mandatory School Attendance For Parents, As Well As Children, Seen

By ANN WATSON
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—School attendance may be mandatory for parents as well as their children in the future, according to a University of Texas at Austin educator.

Dr. Yvonne Lofthouse, assistant professor of curriculum and instruction in the college of education, said schools "could show very superior results in teaching anything to children if they worked with parents."

"I foresee the day when parents attending classes may even be a requirement, especially in private schools," she said.

Mothers already are required to come to school one day a week in many of the head start programs and thousands of parents voluntarily attend modern math classes in Texas schools to keep up with their youngsters she pointed out.

"The contribution of parents to a child's education is just boundless and just has endless possibilities that we haven't tapped yet," she said.

"We've had enough of this concealing of IQ and achievement test scores as if there's some great mystery. The mystic approach is ridiculous in a day and age when we're working with so many college educated parents."

Parents and teachers need "to join hands" in the task of educating their children, she said.

"We need to capitalize on the intelligence and interest of willing parents... we have quite a few—but we have destroyed a lot of it."

"These open house—visit the school nights—can be the most sterile kind of experience," she said. "Plenty of parents come with their first-graders but after that it drops off—and most come only to please their children."

"These parents stand in line for 30 minutes to have one minute with their child's teacher—and lots of times the teacher doesn't even know the child or her comment is innocuous."

Educators, Dr. Lofthouse suggests, are passing up "a great opportunity" to enlist parents in the task of developing the minds of their children.

"Parents today are very much on the ball. So many of them are college educated. And sometimes we're getting into funny situations where the parents (See MANDATORY, Page 2)

'Requiem' Rehearsals Go Into Final Week

Dr. Richard P. Condie, director of Mormon Tabernacle Choir of Salt Lake City, Utah, will arrive in Pampa Monday to direct the final week's rehearsals of "The Requiem," an annual concert presented by Pampa's Oratorio Chorus.

Dr. Condie will conduct the chorus in its performance of Brahms' "Requiem" at 3 p.m. next Sunday in Pampa High School "Harvester Field House."

He will rehearse with the chorus Monday at Harvester Field House, and Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at First Baptist Church. Rehearsals are 7 p.m. No Wednesday rehearsal is planned, according to Curt Beck, chairman of Fine Arts Association music committee.

The final rehearsal is set for 2 p.m. Saturday at First Baptist Church.

The 120-voice chorus includes the PHS A Cappella Choir and members of church choirs in Pampa, Borger, Phillips, White Deer, Groom, Spearman and Skellytown.

It will be accompanied by a 36-piece orchestra from the PHS band and the Amarillo Symphony. Rehearsals have been held the past four months, with several Pampa church and school choir and band directors assisting with direction.

Soloists for Brahms' German "Requiem," which will be sung in English, are Mrs. John Garcia, soprano; Fred Watkins, baritone; and Mrs. Edelean Reed, alternate soprano.

Folksinger To Withhold Her '67 Income Tax

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Folksinger Joan Baez will withhold her entire income tax this year because "83 per cent of the tax money goes for armaments."

Miss Baez acknowledged at a news conference Friday that the government will take the money from the bank and that she will wind up paying more because of penalties.

But she said her stand, "is turning a tax collector into a tax collector. There's a difference in my paying and their taking. It's called confiscation."

Miss Baez and her husband, David Harris, arrived here for a concert Friday night at Washington University and a lecture on draft resistance Easter Sunday in the university chapel.

Revue Has Spots For Local Actors

Pampans still have a chance to sing and dance in the fifth annual Beta Sigma Phi Sorority's Red Stocking Revue by attending rehearsals next week at Pampa High School auditorium and Highland Christian Church.

Proceeds from this year's show will be used for scholarships to a university of the winner's choice.

Last year, the sorority offered a $1,000 and a $500 scholarship, Mrs. James Schaffer, a chairman, stated.

"Rehearsal time starts at 7:15 p.m. and since we have specific times for each number to rehearse, performers do not have to be at rehearsal more than 30 minutes at a time," Jud Davis, director, said.

"We have 47 performers. To put on a good show, we need at least 75. The more performers we have to work with the better the production will be. It's open to anyone who wants to participate and help a worthy cause — college scholarships," Davis said.

Baby sitters and transportation are available. Evening rehearsals are at the high school and morning rehearsals at Highland Christian Church. Those interested in rehearsing, morning or evening, may contact Mrs. Schaffer, at 4-7531 and Mrs. Don Fox at 9-9432.

"We need dancers for the charleston, waltz, tango, and can-can, men whistlers, and men to perform in a comedy dance number," Davis said.

Tickets are available from Beta Sigma Phi members and at Richard Drug.

Germans

West Berlin's main Kurfurterstamm marked the third consecutive day of student protests against the wounding of Dutschke, and the police were ready for trouble.

Part of the protests was directed against the Axel Springer Publishing House, the big newspaper group which has facilities in both West Berlin and West Germany.

Extremist students tried to shut down the Springer firm and stop distribution of its newspapers, charging the publisher was responsible for the Dutschke shooting by denouncing non-conformists and thus creating a "fascist climate."

Forty-nine persons were arrested and 32 policemen injured Friday night and early Saturday.

Other West German youths protesting the Dutschke shooting battled police outside Springer offices in Frankfurt, Hamburg, Essen and Munich.

'Mystery Man' Sought In Slaying

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—In the dingy flophouse the bath room window is still jammed open, and across the street the wreaths are wailing on the balcony of the Lorraine Hotel.

Tourists can see it all, the place where Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. died.

The tears have dried and the eulogies echoed away, the violence is subsiding and the flowers are dying, but the man who killed King still is free.

Within hours after King fell dying, the FBI launched the greatest manhunt of the century for a shadowy sailor named Eric Starvo Galt. It searched for Galt in utter secrecy, and those few police departments asked to look out for him were asked only to locate him—not to arrest him. No warrant was issued for him.

Officially the FBI will not even concede that it wants a man named Eric Starvo Galt. The name became known only after the FBI issued—and later hastily withdrew—a "locate and notify" order for him.

No such bulletin was issued in Memphis, where King died. No such bulletin was issued in Birmingham, Galt's last known residence.

Eric Galt is an enigma. In fact there is some official suspicion that Eric Galt may not exist, for it is very hard for a man to leave so few traces of himself. As far as can be determined, his trail grows cold in Atlanta, where agents found his white Mustang Thursday. It had been abandoned there the morning of April 5, one day after the killing.

He was traced to a rooming house in Birmingham where no one has seen him since Nov. 1967, although a duplicate driver's license was mailed to him there last month.

Where he came from, where he has gone—they are mysteries. The death of Martin Luther King Jr. is a hodgepodge of mysteries.

On Friday, the day after the killing, and on Sunday and Monday on television programs, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark talked freely and optimistically. The attorney general now avoids reporters.

"Very Hopeful"
The day after the slaying, Clark said "we are very hopeful that we can have an early and successful conclusion" and lately he said "our evidence points very strongly" toward only one man being involved in the assassination.

But the FBI did not want Eric Galt touched, bothered or chased. Even though it had not found him, it apparently did not want him to know he was hot. Did it, perhaps, hope that Galt might lead agents to someone else?

Senators Deplore Rioting, Looting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Texas' two U. S. senators Saturday both deplored the rioting and looting which followed the death of Dr. Martin Luther King, and called for action to eliminate causes of racial unrest.

Republican Sen. John Tower said "lawless elements made a mockery of Dr. King's death."

Democratic Sen. Ralph Yarborough said, "certainly this rioting and looting was not done by followers of Dr. King, who preached non-violence like Mahatma Gandhi."

"Many of the looters and troublemakers seemed unaware that Dr. King's tragic death should be a cause for silence and mourning out of respect for the martyr," he said.

Tower said looters "in an almost festive mood grabbed up what they could while the grabbing was good." He said the assassination of Dr. King, "monstrous as that crime was, is only remotely connected with the massive waves of looting, burning and killing which followed in such cities as Washington."

Two Fire Calls Are Answered

Firemen answered calls to two house fires Friday afternoon and early Saturday morning, but damage from the fires was light in both cases.

A 4:47 p.m. fire Friday afternoon caused only light damage to a house at 1052 Varnon Drive. Fire officials say the blaze was caused by the negligence of children who were playing there.

A fire at 526 Elm St. caused light damage to the walls and floor of a house. Firemen, who answered the alarm at 2:25 a.m. Saturday, said cause of the fire was unknown.

Pampans Watch Total Eclipse

Sky-gazers in Pampa had a good look at Friday night's total eclipse of the moon.

It was not until 1:24 a.m. Saturday that the shadow moved completely away and the moon returned to full brightness. There will not be another full lunar eclipse until 1971.

Bobby Says He'll Bring Troops Home If Elected

By United Press International

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy promised Saturday that if elected president he would try to bring American troops home from Vietnam and let the Vietnamese fight their own war.

Kennedy's promise came shortly after disclosure of political support for him by former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, who helped send to Vietnam the troops Kennedy would try to bring home.

Kennedy, campaigning in West Virginia where his late brother won overwhelming support in the 1960 presidential race, said the war effort "has to be carried by the people of South Vietnam." He said the United States can help the South Vietnamese, but "we cannot win for them."

The New York senator, speaking to a cheering crowd at the Logan County Courthouse, in the West Virginia coal fields, outlined a Vietnam policy that also included protecting population centers and discontinuance

This was in direct contradiction of Johnson's repeated statements that the United States desired "prompt talks . . . and that they are ready to go anywhere, at any time for talks," it said.

"It is clear that the U.S. government is deliberately trying to delay the preliminary talks . . ." the Foreign Ministry charged.

"If the United States government really wants talks . . . it must stop creating difficulties in the choice of a place for preliminary contacts, which only delay the talks between the two sides."

Tomorrow is the last day of grace for that old inspection sticker on your automobile.

The 1968 stickers must be on windshields by Tuesday morning to escape police citation and penalty.

Six Arrested On Liquor Complaint

Six Pampa youths, ranging in ages from 14 to 19, were released to the custody of their parents shortly after midnight Friday following a complaint from a woman to police that one of the youths had attempted to buy liquor from her. The youth attempting to buy the liquor told police he had purchased liquor from the woman before, the police report said.

Sunny Weather Easter Promise

Sunshine and mild weather were predicted to favor Easter bonnets and Spring finery throughout the Panhandle today.

But in other sections of the state, Easter paraders were warned that bonnets could be soaked and finery sopped.

Temperatures here dipped into the 40s early Sunday morning but were predicted to climb into the 70s today. A strong southerly flow from the Gulf of Mexico touched off a round of showers to the south of the Panhandle.

Most of the heavy rain Saturday was concentrated in Southeast and East Texas. But most of South, West and North Central Texas also got a taste of showers Saturday.

Forecasts of light and scattered showers were issued for all sections of the state except the Panhandle early this forenoon.

Youths Released To Oklahoma Juvenile Agents

A 14-year-old boy and a 16-year-old girl, both from Del City, Okla., were released to the custody of juvenile authorities in that city after they were apprehended near Sayre, Okla. Friday for theft of a car in Pampa.

They were caught by the Oklahoma Highway Patrol around 10:30 a.m. following a high-speed chase.

The pair fled on foot after a tire had blown out on the auto they had stolen from a Pampa used car lot earlier in the morning, but they were apprehended a short distance away.

The car was taken from the lot of Select Auto, 112 W. Crane St., sometime around 9 a.m. Delbert Daniels, owner of the lot, reported the theft to Pampa police at 9:15 a.m. when he returned to the firm from a trip to a local bank.

The youths took a 1961 Chevy sedan and left a 1961 Chevrolet convertible, minus tags and serial number, at the lot.

The two youths picked up a hitchhiking Hobart, Okla., man just outside the Pampa city limits.

The high-speed chase started near Wheeler when Sheriff Bus Dorman of Wheeler County spotted the youths following a dispatch alert from the Pampa Police Department and the Gray County sheriff's office. They were traveling east on Highway 152.

Dorman gave chase to the auto and alerted Oklahoma law enforcement authorities who caught the youths near Sayre.

Texas' Political Leverage May Reach 30-Year Low

By DAVID ANDERSON
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas' political leverage in Washington may reach a 30-year low next year when President Johnson retires, but several economic development experts said today they foresee no dire consequences for the state's growth.

"It just means we probably will have to do a harder selling job," said Dr. John Stockton, director of the University of Texas Business Research Bureau. "In all but four of the last 37 years, Texas has had someone in Washington at the level of House speaker or higher."

From 1933 to 1940, Texas John Nance Garner was vice president. Before that he was House speaker for two years. In 1940, Sam Rayburn became speaker of the House and looked out for Texas' interests until his death in 1961.

Lyndon Johnson became Senate majority leader in 1955 and gave Texas a powerful voice in the federal government through the vice presidency and the presidency.

Texas were out of power only during the four years Republicans controlled Congress, and during those years Rayburn and Johnson were still powerful figures as congressional minority leaders. "During the years Garner, Rayburn and Johnson were in power, Texas got 22 air bases, five major army bases, dozens of dams and reservoirs, the manned spacecraft at Houston and billions of dollars in federal contracts."

The assumption is almost universal that political muscle helped bring those and other bonanzas to Texas, but Stockton said he is not sure that assumption is correct. "I'm inclined to subscribe to the idea that most of the things we got in the last 30 years in industrial development have been gotten pretty much because we made a good case for it," he said.

"However, it certainly helped to have people in power who knew and recognized the advantages that we have here. It would seem almost automatic that we would have less influence now."

Dr. J. K. Williams, commissioner of higher education, said Texas colleges and universities "have had excellent spokesmen in Washington, but their assistance to higher education has been nationwide. It has not been directly focused on Texas." "The federal aid programs to colleges and universities are based on objective formulas that do not leave much room for political influence, he noted. James J. Kelly, acting executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission said "there is no question that we're going to have less leverage. But the effect will not be immediate."

US Astronauts Enjoy Their Line Of Work

By CHARLES RICHARDS
LUBBOCK (UPI) — Two of the latest astronauts to be selected in the U. S. space program have recommended their new occupation for all budding scientists and dispelled any notion that it is hard work.

"Call it hard work if you like, we call it hard fun," said Story Musgrave, 32, of Lexington, Ky. "If there are any inconveniences, they're awful small and the advantages tremendously outweigh them."

John Anthony Llewellyn, 34, of Tallahassee, Fla., added: "You're too excited and too humped up with what's going on to notice any shortcomings, even if they were any. It's hard to believe they're paying us for it, because we'd do it anyway."

Musgrave and Llewellyn, both PH D's, begin a 53-week jet flying course Friday at Reese Air Force Base, five miles west of Lubbock. Nine other scientist-astronauts chosen with them last August begin similar training simultaneously at other Air Force bases across the nation.

More Long Training — After further training that will last at least two years, they will be in line for a voyage in space.

They were picked last year from an original list of 949 applicants, and that was whittled down to 70, then finally to 11. It was the sixth selection of astronaut groups and the second aimed at obtaining scientists.

The other four sought experienced pilots. In the beginning, the principal thing in the space program was the flying aspect of it, or "will the vehicle fly?" Musgrave said, but now the emphasis is on "will we accomplish all the things we want done?"—Thus the need for scientists.

Musgrave was all set to become a general surgeon and Llewellyn had a job as an associate professor in chemical research at Florida State University when they joined the National Aeronautics and Space Administration last year.

"The major themes of the series will be history—how the place of the Negro in America is related to his past, and the involvement of black American learning about himself," the networks said.

Two truly splendid specials aired on the networks Tuesday night, unfortunately opposite each other, and also somewhat inevitably the day's secondary viewing as a result of the funeral and racial coverage.

ABC-TV offered "The Comedy of Ernie Kovacs," an hour compilation of excerpts from the late humorist's television shows, illustrating beautifully his wildly individual attitude toward the world, and his adventurous use of sight and sound.

CBS-TV meanwhile, added an exciting dimension to documentary art with "The Great American Novel," in which producer Arthur Barron, using the words of "The Grapes of Wrath" and "Babbitt" as narrative, explored their relevance today. For "The Grapes of Wrath," he followed a farmer's migration to the big city. For "Babbitt," he went back to the business community of Duluth, Minn. The fact that things haven't changed much for some people isn't news. But the way Barron presented it was.

All Specialists — The other nine astronauts chosen last year were selected to provide representation from other specialized fields.

The process of elimination involved a period last spring at San Antonio where, Llewellyn said, "we spent a week being prodded and poked, water squirted in our ears, everything you can imagine. But that was an exciting time."

Before joining the astronaut program, Llewellyn said his image of astronauts was that they were "just a bunch of hot pilots, spending their time hot-flying it around, but that was incorrect. They are all skilled technicians, as well."

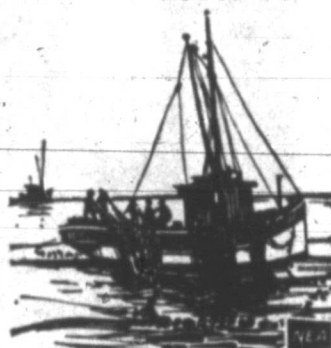

Salary for astronauts is comparable to an assistant or associate professor or a professional engineer, ranging from $12,000 to $18,000 annually.

You, Your Child And School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist
Children often ask questions which parents find difficult to answer. In order to avoid facing the problem parents sometimes give false information or respond with telling the child he is too young.
Other parents in attempting to give correct answers become too involved. They explain with unnecessary details.
Answers to children's questions should be accurate, simple and honest. The details should depend upon the child's age and ability to understand. Parents often make the mistake of thinking a child is seeking complicated answers. The child usually is asking a simple question and wants a simple answer.

A 3-year-old boy asked why his little playmate had long hair. His mother became all upset thinking she would have to get into an explanation of sex. The young boy would probably have been happy with explanation that girls wear their hair long.
Questions regarding sex seem to upset many parents. As children grow older they will ask more detailed questions. They should receive proper answers. False statements can cause confusion and emotional problems in later life. Parents will find questions regarding sex less disturbing if they give simple and direct answers.

Scholars Report Christ Was 5 Feet, 4 Inches Tall

ROME (UPI)—Jesus Christ was of comparatively small stature—not more than five feet, four inches.
This conclusion, made public today, was reached by two leading Roman Catholic scholars after careful study.
The findings of Msgr. Giulio Ricci and Prof. D. Miani contradicted a report by Prof. Lorenzo Ferri, an Italian scientist, last year that Christ was six feet, one inch tall.
Ferri, a sculptor and a scholar of anatomy, had based his conclusion on 35 years of studies in Vatican archives, the holy land and at Rurin, in whose Basilica the holy shroud—reputed to be the cloth in which the crucified Jesus was wrapped—is kept.
The cloth, brought to Europe by Crusaders in the 13th century, bears the imprint of a man who was crucified. One scientific theory is that the linen was impregnated with fragrant stuff—myrrh and aloë—according to Hebrew burial practice and that the substances reacted chemically against the body.
Measuring the imprint and making a number of comparisons with living models, Ferri reached the conclusion that Jesus' stature was a highly unusual six feet, one inch.
But Ricci, an archivist at the Congregation for Bishops, and Miani, an anatomy professor at the University of the Sacred Heart, examined the same shroud and reached quite different conclusions.
The shroud gave a deformed image of Christ's body, Ricci said.

"The cloth was folded at several points and tightened around the heart wound and around the mesogastrium (upper abdomen)," he said.
"Hence, the interruption of the imprint and the resulting measurement errors."
As a result, he said, direct measurement was impossible and he and Miani resorted to indirect systems.
A measurement of the ulna or forearm bone, of which there was an uninterrupted imprint, showed it was one foot, one inch long. From this, using normal anatomical proportion tables, they concluded Jesus' stature was five feet, four inches, or the average stature of Palestinians in his time.
Three American plants are carnivorous—the sundew, the pitcher plant and the Venus-flytrap.
Call money is money lent "on call," which means it must be paid on demand.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Weiss, Voisin, Cannon, Inc. says the recent dramatic change of events has signaled what "could possibly be the first stage in a reversal of the downtrend in effect since the September top." Further developments on the international and domestic fronts, the firm comments, will continue to be the motivating market influences for the near term.

Hayden, Stone Inc. thinks that "despite the far more favorable and hopeful atmosphere in which the market is now operating there is not enough fundamental or technical evidence yet to project that a longer term sustained upswing has commenced, even though there can be little doubt now about the private bull market status of many individual stocks."

Wright Advisory Reports observes that the first quarter of 1968 saw almost unprecedented uncertainty, frustration, and divided opinion. Although none of the problems is entirely behind us, the firm notes there is no doubt that 1968 will turn out to be a year not only for survival but also of progress for investors whose holdings are in prime, investment grade common stocks which continue to merit retention.

Group Gathering Information For Gray County Historical Piece

The Gray County Historical Survey Committee launched this week a three month drive to contact the direct kin of pioneers who settled the Gray County area from 1874 through 1926, urging them to compile the histories of their families for inclusion in the publication of Gray County's first official history... focusing upon the story of the families who came here during the first 50 years, and also the history to date of the county's churches, schools, civic and fraternal organizations.

While Gray County was not created until 1876, Indian depredations such as the Battle of Adobe Walls in neighboring Hutchinson County and the capture of the German sisters by Chief Grey Beard's Cheyennes had brought large companies of soldiers into the area two years earlier. The county was organized in 1902 by 152 qualified voters with the first county seat at Lefors, later moved to Pampa in 1928.

Spearheading the project are the following members of the Gray County Historical Survey Committee, from whom further information or assistance may be obtained: Tracy D. Cary, chairman; Mrs. Marvin Hall and James O. McCracken (Alamogordo-Grandview); Mrs. W. C. Breining and Joe K. Clarke (Lefors);

John Haynes, Truitt Johnson, Mrs. Vera F. Back and Mrs. Alice Short Smith (McLean); and Mrs. Fred Thompson, Mrs. George Ingram, John B. Hessey, Clyde C. Organ, Mrs. Emmett Osborne, Mrs. J. C. Patillo, Mrs. A. D. Hills, Mrs. Katie Vincent, Joe W. Shelton, and Judge Sherman R. Lenning, Jr. (all of Pampa).

The Committee has set a deadline of July 1 for submitting of material for the history and are also anxious to obtain any early day photographs of Gray County citizens and scenes which pioneer families have preserved.

Letters outlining suggested topics and information are being mailed to some 400 family representatives as their current addresses are obtained by the committee.

All material submitted for the history should be mailed to The Gray County Historical Survey Committee, Box 776, Pampa, Texas, 79065.

Panhandle Water District News

By FELIX W. RYALS

Agricultural experiment stations, agricultural colleges and state industry are carrying on continuous study to come up with grasses and plants that have a high resistance to salt. A great deal of progress has been made.

Proceed With Caution

All scientists advise that one should proceed with caution when using salty water for irrigation. Ecologists for the water conservation districts have prepared guidelines for irrigation farmers. We are passing them on to irrigation farmers for their simple explanation of the danger that salt will kill or injure plants and that the plant absorbs water and nutrients from the soil by a process known as osmosis.

Webster's dictionary defines osmosis as a diffusion through a semipermeable membrane separating a solvent from a solution that tends to equalize their concentrations. In this definition, when applied to a plant, it would indicate that the plant would have to have a salt concentration within its root system higher than the salt concentration of the soil solution to absorb or take in the necessary water and nutrients to grow and produce as it should.

The danger in using salty water for irrigation is that as the solution concentration of salt builds up, the processes of osmosis slow down, resulting in stunted plants. The greater the salt solution of the soil, the greater the damage to the plant.

Toxic effects which interfere with plant metabolism occur in as much as 2 percent of sodium chloride (or 8000 pounds per acre foot of soil) is found in a soil. Sodium sulfate would require a 4 percent concentration (16,000 pounds per acre foot of soil) to produce an equal toxic effect.

High concentrations of calcium in a soil may have a tendency to lessen the toxic effects of sodium chloride in a soil, but do not nullify the harmful effects of excessive amounts of sodium chloride in a soil.

Sodium chloride in a medium fine textured soil will tend to destroy the normal granular structure of the soil with the result that the salty soil becomes sticky when wet, poorly permeable, poorly aerated, and difficult to till. Organic matter decomposition is limited because microbial activity is retarded by lack of air and the poor physical condition of the soil.

Crop tolerances to salt accumulations in a soil are affected by the amount of salt accumulation, the profile, and the soil temperature. The changing of one or more of these factors may change the tolerance of a plant to the salinity.

By all means, the first thing you should do if you know your water contains salt is to have a complete chemical analysis made of the water. Your chemist will furnish you a report giving you the amounts of chemicals found in the water in parts per million.

The following information may help you estimate the amounts of salt per million in water analysis with your irrigation water.

The first figure indicates parts of salt per million in water analysis; the second figure indicates approximate pounds of salt in one acre inch of water; and the last figure indicates approximate pounds of salt in one acre foot of water:

100 - 25 - 300;	150 - 37.5 - 450;
200 - 50 - 600;	300 - 75 - 900;
400 - 100 - 1,200;	500 - 125 - 1,500;
1000 - 250 - 3,000;	200 - 500 - 6,000;
3000 - 750 - 9,000;	4000 - 1000 - 12,000;
5000 - 1250 - 15,000.

—An acre inch is enough water to cover the acre an inch deep with water or 27,154 gallons.

—An acre foot is enough water to cover one acre a foot deep with water or 325,851 gallons.

Caution should be exercised if the water contains in excess of 2000 parts per million of total salts, or 200 or more parts per million of chlorides.

Sweet Smell Of Success And Sweet Taste Of Sugar Go Together At Hereford

By CHARLES RICHARDS

HEREFORD, Tex. (UPI) — Civic leaders, told there was "not a chance" a major sugar company would build a refinery in the Hereford area because of federal laws that allowed too much importing of sugar from other countries, did the natural thing.

"We got the law changed," said Henry Sears, president of the First National Bank in Hereford and a leader in a movement that has brought in numerous new industry and pushed up growth of the South Plains city steadily the past eight years.

Hereford citizens — working through Walter Rogers, then a U. S. Congressman — got the sugar quota regulations changed about three years ago after two years of work and then put the question to the company again.

Sign Commitments

To relieve further doubts, area farmers signed commitments they would provide sufficient production of sugar beets to make a refinery profitable.

"So we moved in," an official of the company recalled recently. "They carried through with their part of the bargain. They performed beautifully."

Further, construction of the $21 million refinery and its operation beginning in 1964 touched off a wave of new industrial activity in Hereford that has kept the city constantly in the news.

"In all respect, I think we are just beginning. I'm sure we have the brightest future of any place in the world," Sears said. For the past several years Hereford has ranked among the top cities in the state in population increase and is anticipating it will have 20,000 residents in the near future.

"The main reason for our success is our people," Sears added. "We have a lot of natural resources, but the biggest thing is the people. Around here, they work for their town. I bet you could get a dozen men to catch a plane at 4 p.m. today for Chicago and pay their own expenses if there was the prospect of a new industry."

The philosophy behind the industrial acquisition program in Hereford, Sears said, is simple.

List Conquests

"We just pick out what we want and go after them. We don't always get what we want, but we get a lot of them."

Among the conquests in the past months are:

—A giant feed yard, in which 20,000 head of cattle can be handled at one time.

—A $1 million beef processing plant in which up to 100,000 head of cattle can be slaughtered each year.

—$300,000 salt mining plant capable of producing 3,000 tons of salt monthly, for use in cattle feeding, feed mixing and meat packing operations.

A plant capable of producing 30,000 tons of liquid feed supplement for cattle each year.

—A multi-million-dollar beef processing plant, first in Texas, utilizing highly mechanized equipment on a 400-acre tract.

—A processing and manufacturing plant for lettuce-leaf, tobaccoless cigarettes.

—A $1.2 million, air conditioned, 160,000 square feet shopping center mall.

12 Scholarships Will Be Offered To Top 4-H Youth

Scholarships worth $6,000 will be awarded again this year by The Sears-Roebuck Foundation to 12 of the nation's most outstanding 4-H Club members. They will be the 1968 national 4-H Leadership program award winners, and will be guests of the Foundation at the National 4-H Congress held in Chicago the first week in December.

Learning how to be a leader is an opportunity 4-H offers any youngster who is willing to assume responsibilities and has the time to carry them out, says Emmie Nelson, program services associate, the National 4-H Service Committee.

She said that the 4-H Leadership program helps members "assume real-life, adult-like roles." Where the situation permits, the members 16 to 19 years of age have a more sophisticated program, and are called "4-H teen leaders," she stated. The younger members are "junior leaders."

Early training revolves around 4-H Club and school activities. The potential leader may help plan the club's program, lead a small project, assist with exhibits, rallies, visit parents and

USDA Releases Texas Citrus Crop Estimate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department Wednesday estimated the 1967-68 citrus crop in Texas at 2 million boxes of oranges and 2.9 million boxes of grapefruit.

The orange estimate included one million boxes of valencias. The estimate for the entire country included 124.1 million boxes of oranges, 42.4 million boxes of grapefruit and 17.2 million boxes of lemons.

The predicted crops for the country were below the 1966-67 production. The orange estimate was 34 per cent below last season's record but 4 per cent above the average for the past five years.

Tapeworm Infested Cattle Are Given USDA Quarantine

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal quarantine has been ordered to prevent the spread of tapeworms from infested cattle, the Agriculture Department announced.

Under the quarantine order, cattle from any infested farms or feedlots will not be allowed to cross state lines except for immediate slaughter in federally inspected plants, or for shipment to slaughter via public stockyards.

The order was put into effect April 5 after 40 infested cattle, slaughtered in several states last month, were discovered to have come from feedlots in Sherman and Deaf Smith Counties, Texas, officials said.

Winter Wheat Production Up Over Last Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Winter wheat production in Texas was estimated Wednesday at 97,508,000 bushels in 1968, up 44,292,000 bushels from last year.

The Agriculture Department said in its monthly report the U.S. winter wheat crop would total a record 1,218,648,000 bushels.

The predicted crop is 1 per cent above the 1967 national crop of 1,212,111,000 bushels, also a record. The yield per acre was forecast at 24.5 bushels, a jump upwards from 22.3 bushels a year ago.

Oklahoma's 1968 winter wheat crop was established as 132,572,000 bushels, up from the 1967 crop of 88,683,000 bushels. Kansas, No. 1 wheat producer, was forecast at 215,334,000 bushels this year down some from the 1967 crop of 221,620,000 bushels.

FARM PAGE THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS SUNDAY, APRIL 14, 1968

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
County Agriculture Agent

Last week we made a slight error concerning the date of the annual Canadian Production Credit Association meeting. It will be held at the high school in Canadian Saturday, April 20, starting at 10 a.m. It will end at noon with a barbecue served by the Pampa Shriners.

Reagan Brown, rural sociologist, Texas A&M College, will be the guest speaker. Brown is a much sought-after speaker. He has been described as a top flight humorist with an excellent message.

Someone suggested that we should give a little bit of the history of this organization that made over 10 million dollars of loans out of the Pampa office in 1967 to farmers and ranchers if this area. Over 20 million was loaned in the six-county CA area.

I visited with Ralph Thomas, who served from 1930 to 1960 as County Agricultural Agent of Gray County, to find out what the history of the organization was like. Ralph said money was even tighter on Jan. 3, 1934 when the initial meetings were held at Canadian than it is today.

Bankers all over the state helped to get the PCA's established in hopes it would relieve the tight money situation. Representatives from the Pampa area were Thomas, Gray County; Leaman Andrews, a farmer in the McLean area, the late Charlie Thomas of Pampa; and the late L. L. Palmer of Alanreed.

The organizational meeting was held in Canadian on Jan. 3, 1934 for the purpose of making loans to farmers and ranchers in Gray, Hemphill, Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Roberts, and Wheeler Counties.

It was capitalized by nine men who bought one share of stock each at $5 per share and by the Production Credit Corp. of Houston which invested $75,000.

There were many skeptics that predicted failures for farmer-owned lending institutions that made loans to themselves. Many of them thought farmers and ranchers didn't have enough business savvy to keep a lending institution on a sound basis.

But they could not have been more wrong. Member stockholders in the six-county Canadian PCA area increased their holdings from the purchase of stock and accumulated earnings until in Dec., 1948 when they purchased the last of the stock held by the Production Credit Corp. and became totally member-owned.

From the original member owned capital of $45, the association has grown in 34 years to a total member owned capital and reserves of over $1,700,000. The association now loans over 20 million a year to farmers and ranchers.

C. W. Allen managed the association from its organization until Dec. 31, 1950. Erbin Crowell, president of the association, has since managed the organization up to present.

H. H. Kealey, who resides southwest of Pampa, is chairman of the board and has held this position for over 20 years.

The association owns modern office buildings in Canadian, Pampa, and Wheeler. An office is maintained at Perryton, also.

Lynn Futch, vice president, is the local loan representative. Mrs. Merdela Chapman is the local secretary and loan assistant.

Food For Needy Being Distributed In Places by USDA

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department said Friday it is moving directly to provide food for the needy in areas where local authorities refuse to provide distribution programs.

As a first step, the department announced plans to begin distributing surplus foods to poor families — largely Negroes — in Elmore County, Ala. April 15 despite refusal of county officials to administer the program.

The department said two-thirds of the "no program" low income counties remaining in the nation are in Virginia, Missouri, Texas and Florida.

Cattleman Magazine Names Paul Horn As Acting Editor

Paul W. Horn has been named administrative assistant & acting editor of The Cattleman Magazine, official publication of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, succeeding Dick Wilson. The promotion was effective April 3, 1968.

Horn brings 22 years of editorial and advertising experience to his new post. A native of Kansas City, Missouri, he received a BA in Journalism from the University of Missouri at Kansas City and served as a naval officer in World War II. Following his discharge from the Navy, he joined the editorial department of The American Hereford Journal in Kansas City, where he served for six years. He was named editor of The Texas Hereford Magazine in 1952 and served in that position for seven years. Horn joined The Cattleman staff in 1959 as a head of advertising production and was named advertising manager in 1964.

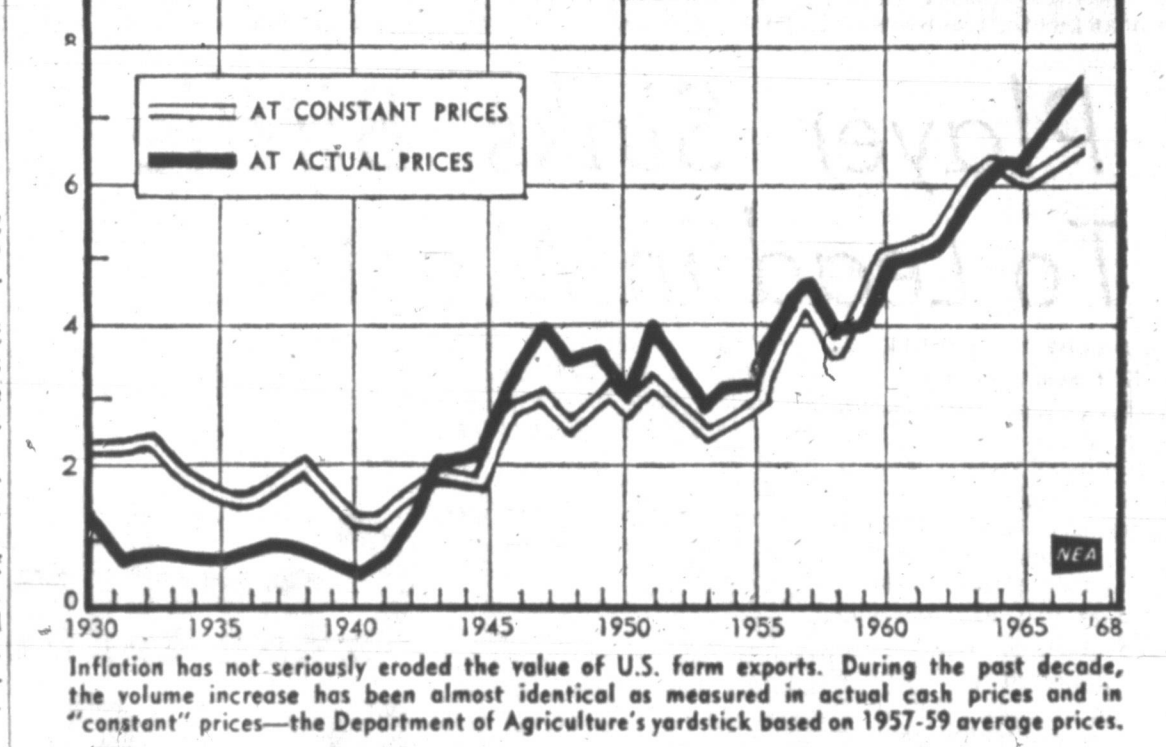

Horn and his wife Georgia make their home in Fort Worth. They have four children; Christine, 22, Kathleen, 20, Steven, 13, and Andrew, 2.

Pampa's Randy Matson Ready For Mexico City

By CURTIS MONTGOMERY Daily News Sports Editor

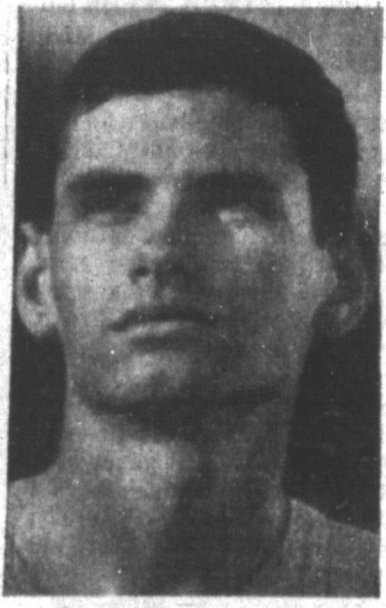

Randy Matson is readying for the trip to Mexico City but with a "cautious" stick beating away any "overconfidence bugs" working on him overtime.

Randy said Friday while visiting his parents here in Pampa that he was not assuming he already has a ticket to the games in Mexico City.

The folks here in Pampa who know Randy can understand this is not just the same old talk you hear from champions. Randy is dead serious.

LIFTING NOW

He wants to work hard so that he can qualify for the Olympics in October, Randy commented: "I'm lifting (weights) real hard now. I have one hard workout every week. If I don't have a meet, I work three times per week.

"I want to continue to build up my strength during July, August and September. After the first trials, I plan to lay off the shot," Randy said.

Randy is now heavier than he has ever been. "I'm up to 265, maybe a little more. That's more than I've ever been.

I've got seven more meets scheduled. The 20th of April I go to Kansas for the Kansas Relays. That's in Lawrence, Jim Ryun, world champion miler and also a winner of the coveted Sullivan Award as the Nation's Outstanding Amateur Athlete which the Pampa native won this year over a bunch of women, will vie for top billing at the Relays.

ON RYUN

Speaking about Ryun, Randy said, "He's a nice guy, a real competitor." He ran the world's best mile in history which was okayed as a world record along with Randy's throw with the shot this year in England. Ryun seldom runs more than a four-minute mile, which once was considered impossible before Dr. Roger Bannister broke the barrier in England slightly more than a decade ago.

Randy's mark of 71-5 1/2 was recognized by the London officials along with Ryun's record and both are livin' legends. There's a table of comparative efforts which I think the Portugese put out that says a 70-foot effort in the shot which Randy has done more than once is equivalent to a 3:45.0 mile and a 17-5 pole vault. Something like that.

Randy has a good attitude. No, he doesn't have a good attitude. It's more than that. He has a great attitude. He has something which distinguishes him from the good athlete. He is dedicated.

DEDICATED TO THE ONE I LOVE

Speaking of dedication, I told Randy I was fixin' to marry the nicest young lady in the world on June 1 in Fort Worth.

He's throwing in the Compton Relays in the coliseum in LA that day. He said he would dedicate the gold medal to my bride, Christine, that is if he won. Randy always says, "If not 'When...'" like a certain former boxing champion not to mention any names—It was Ali-Cat or something like that.

Randy knows a former classmate and friend of mine from Arlington Heights in Fort Worth who attends the University of A&M now. He is Jeff Warren, Jeff and Randy are good friends. Randy said, I played Little League Baseball and Junior Amateur Baseball with him and his older brother, Kirby, also an A&M graduate. JAB is like the Babe Ruth League here.

CAGE TEAMS WANT HIM

Randy was an all around athlete at Pampa High where his picture hangs in the hall. Randy played basketball well enough to interest both pro leagues in his talents. The ABA's Dallas team wants him as does Seattle in the NBA.

"I don't know if I'm good enough to play in the NBA, but I'm going to talk to both clubs and also the Atlanta Falcons in football." Randy's father told me several weeks ago that the Falcons wanted Randy on the jet back to the states right after the gold medal was his at Mexico.

On this subject Randy said, "Well, I've got to get there (Mexico City) first." Randy has a meet in California at the Mt. San Antonio relays which the Pampa great says will include most of the top track and field names. George Woods, who defeated Randy when Randy had a sprained wrist in California in a meet earlier in the spring, will be present.

NO WORD ON WRIST

Randy never said anything about the bad wrist which caused him to lose to Woods. It's a good thing that Randy has some competition. That is what makes a good record holder a great record holder. As in free enterprise, competition is what makes the United States great and for Randy, Woods makes him super-great. He was great when he was in high school.

I think it was Jim Trinkle who wrote about Randy a couple of years ago. "He'll climb up on that stand to get his gold medal, peel off his sweat suit and a big 'S' will be revealed and he'll fly off into the sunset and we'll wonder if he really ever happened."

KRYPTONITE

The "Kryptonite" which keeps Superman down in the comics has no effect on Randy. Pampa's Superman, but what would be the equivalent for the Panhandle Hall of Fame's Athlete of the Decade would be for him to assume that he has it made. As we stated before, this is not going to happen. Randy worked out yesterday at the high school, not wanting to miss a minute on his schedule.

May 11 Randy will be in Houston for a meet which will see Randy going against Woods again.

Then there's the gold medal to be won June 1, which I personally predict, along with a world record of 72-3 1/2. Put that one down on your calendar. After a week off Randy goes to the San Diego Invitational with Woods more than likely to be invited also.

NATIONAL MEET

The National AAU meet is the one before the trials the week following.

Randy says, "I'm healthy. My strength is up now." He will be training along with the Olympic team (if he makes the team) in the California mountains on the other side of the resort at Lake Tahoe. Randy says there is a track there and good facilities. The elevation there is about 7,000 feet and has similar weather to Mexico City.

On the boycott by a number of Negroes Randy just said that it seemed to him they were just hurting themselves. "Anyway there can be no boycott until they make the team. Nobody's on the team yet."

Randy was 23 on March 5 and has received more recognition in a short time than most folks do in a life-time for himself, but more than any personal glory—he has put the name of Pampa, Texas on the map. For that reason, the Pampa Daily News Sports Department proclaims Randy Matson the first winner of the "Ivyn' Legend Award" for superior accomplishments in the field of athletics and for bringing honor to the city, state and country which he will represent with a spirit of Christian humbleness when he throws outside the boundaries of the USA.

Player Sinks Birdie To Lead in Masters

By DAVID M. MOFFIT UPI Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—South Africa's Gary Player, the physical fitness faddist who is the only foreigner ever to win here, bounced back with a birdie on the final hole Saturday to grab the third round lead in the Masters golf championship with a 6-under-par 210.

Player appeared headed for a six-way tie in what would have been the worst traffic jam in the 34-year history of the Masters after he missed a four-foot putt at No. 17.

But he came back to sink a 30-foot putt on his last chance to pull ahead.

Locked in that tie for second at 5-under-par 211 were PGA champion Don January, who shared the second round lead with the muscular little South African; Australian Bruce Devlin; Frank Beard, Bob Goaly, and Ray Floyd.

January and Beard both had golden opportunities to share the third-round lead with Player. But January rimmed the cup with a four-footer on the final hole and Beard, who was tied with Player through 16 holes, suffered a bogey on No. 17.

Floyd and Devlin each had a 3-under-par 69 for the day while Player, Beard and Goaly had 71s and the poker-faced January, his collar turned up to shield his neck from the hot Georgia sun, had a 72.

Only one stroke back at 212 were British Open champion Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina with a 70, stocky Texan Lee Trevino with a 69 and Miller Barber who had a 68.

Player and Beard both birdied the par-5 15th hole to go 16 under and stayed neck-to-neck up to that final hole.

January was two strokes ahead of the field after 45 holes after birdies at No. 7 and No. 9, but back-to-back bogeys at No. 12 and No. 13 dropped the Texan behind the field. Although he pulled within a stroke with a birdie at No. 15, he never got that one more he needed to keep up with Player.

Tommy Aaron, the Georgian who has often been second but never first in a pro golf tournament, had a 72 Saturday to tie with Jerry Pittman, who had a 70, at 213.

Another stroke back stood three-times Masters champion Jack Nicklaus, only man to win this tournament two times running. Nicklaus had a 74-214 after an erratic round that included six bogeys, an eagle and two birdies.

Also in at 214 were Tom Weiskopf, leading official money winner so far this year, with a 69, 48-year-old Julius Boros with a 70; Lionel Hebert; and South Africa's Harold Henning with 71s. Bert Yancey, one of the tri-headers after the third round last year, had a 72.

The only other golfers still under par after 54 holes were colorfully-dressed Doug Sanders who had a 70-215 and low racial discrimination at EYU. Only two Negro athletes on the UTEP squad showed up for practice here Friday afternoon.

first-round leader Billy Casper who had a 73, New Zealand lefthander Bob Charney with a 70 and Jay Hebert and Dave Marr with 72s.

Tied with Tony Jacklin of England at even-par 216 were amateur Marvin Giles, who had a 72-215.

"I'm very surprised to be leading," Player said. As for that 30-footer that jumped him into the lead, he said, "It was a lucky putt. I was just trying to get down in two."

Player said the greens were "perfect" but that he was "horrible—especially on second putts." He three-putted four greens and missed two five-foot second putts.

"I wasn't trying to play safe," Player said. "I was going to give it go. I'm trying to cut corners finer this year."

Sandies Cool PHS Hopes

By CURTIS MONTGOMERY Sports Editor

A sandstorm from Amarillo hit Pampa yesterday afternoon. When it was gone and pitcher Don Montgomery with it, Pampa had lost a sixth District 3-AAAA baseball game by 2-1.

The sandstorm we're speaking about is that one which hails from Amarillo High. Montgomery (no relation to News sports scribe) allowed five scattered hits, but was never really in serious trouble.

Montgomery's win was his first of the year in league play, but he is now 2-1 for the season. The Sandies are 7-1 for conference play. PHS is 3-6.

It was really a heartbreaking outing for Coach Bobby Stephens team which the day before had outlasted an up-and-coming Palo Duro Don outfit.

John Jenkins scored the only run for Pampa in the second inning. The sophomore first sacker got on on a fielders choice and moved to second when Mike Stephens was passed.

Gary Parrish fanned, but Larry Turcotte then banged one into the outfield to score Jenkins.

Montgomery hit his homer in the third inning in his first trip to the plate. That was one of only four hits allowed by a strong-armed Hal Claubough.

Bill Wiegand got a double off Claubough in the sixth but the other two base knocks were just singles. Wiegand batted clean-up for the Sandies.

"It was a tough game to lose," Stephens said.

Lewis Learns From Houston Veterans

HOUSTON (Sp1) — Just prior to football season big sports magazines invariably publish stories of the proverbial plight of the rookie in pro football.

Great human interest is aroused from the stories about how the crusty old veterans give rookies the silent treatment, embarrass them at the training table, and generally make life hard for them until they make the team and are accepted.

But Glen Lewis, a sophomore to-be at the University of Houston, is finding out in spring training at UH that the attitude of seasoned lettermen to first year varsity men in college football is significantly different than veterans to rookies in pro football.

The husky defensive line candidate from Pampa says, "The varsity guys have really been helpful to me this spring. I'm playing behind Jerry Gardner (senior 2 year letterman tackle) and he's been especially helpful. He's showed me little things like stance, initial blow, and moving down the line once a line starts.

"I think defense is harder to play than offense, because on offense all you do is execute a play, but the defensive players have to lay back first and read the play."

Obviously, Lewis is picking up pointers from veterans on the UH club. But then, the seniors on this year's UH football team have been on the best two UH teams in history.

The UH team in 1965 was 8-2, and last year's team was 7-3. This year should be just as productive as the last two, and especially for the defense which will start seven seniors in 1968.

Depth on this defensive unit is why promising players like Glen Lewis must wait in the wings for their chance.

Defensive line coach Ben Hurt comments on Lewis, "Glen probably won't start this year, because we've just got everybody back. At 6-3 230 pounds he's just a growing kid, and he will start two years for us. He's running second string right now. The way he hits he reminds me a lot of Robert Hall, one of last year's starting defensive ends."

Glen says, "Coach Hurt stresses quickness, desire, and enthusiasm in everything we do. Even in agility drills he likes us to show a lot of spirit. Maybe that's why the defensive unit is so good."

Two other Pampans Larry Rowden, halfback, and Ted Heiskell, fullback, are competing for jobs on the offensive unit, and if they receive the same help from the vets that Glen Lewis has it, won't be long before the roster of the best team on the Gulf Coast will read like a West Texas Who's Who.

UNDERWOOD TIES HOUSTON'S Hal Underwood was Houston's Hal Underwood was tied today with New Mexico State's Ben Kern for individual honors after two rounds of the New Mexico State University Intercollegiate Golf Tournament. Houston and Arizona State were tied for the team lead with scores of 588.

Cardinals Chosen Tops By Sports Illustrated

NEW YORK (Sp1) — The St. Louis Cardinals, as they enter the 1968 season, are the most impressive team in all of baseball, says the Sports Illustrated annual baseball season preview, out this week.

In the American League, Detroit, Minnesota and Chicago are considered a virtual standoff for the top place; Cleveland is considered the dark horse candidate, and it is "no way once more" for Boston.

The memoirs of Sal Maglie, who was pitching coach for the Red Sox in the year of the impossible dream, also begin in this issue of SI. He agrees with the magazine's assessment of Boston, and says the Red Sox don't have a chance this year. Maglie details his conflict with Boston Manager Dick Williams, and is outspoken about other personality clashes in his baseball life.

He thinks a good pitcher must throw at hitters — and he says the Angels' Jack Hamilton throws a spitter three quarters of the time and that he hit Tony Conigliaro with one. Maglie himself never threw a spitter, he says, but used to pick a target just under the batter's chin.

"Coming inside on a hitter is just as valuable a pitch as a good change-up or a curve low and outside," he says.

1968 Scouting Reports

With 35 coaches shifted around, over half a million dollars in the Cards' starting lineup alone, trades, changes in bats, expansion, team "psyching" and some crucial injuries, SI says there's lots for the worriwart baseball fan to worry about in the 1968 season ahead.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

In the National League, says the scouting reports, the gap between the clubs is narrowing, the running game is still used more aggressively, the sliding is sterner and the hitting more prolific.

Since the end of last season, the trading has been heavy and may have a profound effect on the season.

St. Louis, says SI, remains a very strong team and seems the only one in the league capable of winning consistently with speed, defense, pitching, power, overall hitting. Although Manager Schoendienst will need pitching after the all-star break and will have to fight team complacency, the conclusion is "enough talent and spirit to put them back up above St. Louis Gateway Arch once again, with in jumping distance of McGraw's 1921-22 Giants," the last National Club to win consecutive world series.

report, made one of the trade coups in landing Jim Bunning, who can do for the Pirates what Koufax did for the Dodgers. But new Manager Larry Shepard's main problem, outside of pitching, will be defense, particularly if shortstop Gene Alley is not sufficiently recovered from the shoulder ailment that restricted his throwing during spring training. With the exception of Roberto Clemente, the outfield will give away some games on defense. But the report terms bats "frightening" and notes further improvement should result from the improvement in Maturys' legs and Shepard's new system of firm pitcher rotation.

San Francisco's Giants have won more games (887) than any other team in the league in the ten years since they moved to the west coast in California but the fans are losing patience. But they have Ron Hunt from L.A. now. If Mays comes back like Musial did, they'll have all the hits they need. And Marichal is off to his earliest training start.

The Giants have a solid front three in Gaylord Perry, Mike McCormick and Marichal. If left-hitting Ray Sadecki has a good year the Giants could have the best and most balanced corps in the league, with tow lefties and two righties.

Los Angeles looked strong in spring training, according to SI. The pitching of Star Don Drysdale together with Claude Osteen, Jim Grant, Bill Singer and young Alan Foster should help move the team up, as should the addition to the club of Grant and spectacular Shortstop Zolito Versalles. The outfield's hitting is strengthened by the addition of Rocky Colavito.

Cincinnati, reduced to fourth place by injuries last year, faces a critical year — as does General Manager Bob Howsam who has changed the team drastically. Gone are Deron Johnson, Tommy Harper, Art Schamsky and John Edwards; added are Roger Maris and Orlando Cepeda. They DO have the players, the infield is adequate defensively and adequate offensively and the outfield is excellent, says SI, but it is an angry team since spring contract negotiations. "The Reds, as enigmatic as a Kremlin caper could, if happy and healthy, finish first. They have it within themselves, too, to finish as low as seventh."

Chicago, after last season's meteoric rise under Durocher, has fire — and a fine starting infield of Banks, Beckert, Kesinger and Ron Santo. Hundley is a very underrated catcher, right fielder Lou Johnson is a hustler and Billy Williams might be even better than his great hitting record of last season. Ken Holtzman could eventually be one of baseball's finest pitchers. "If," says SI, "center fielder Adolfo Phillips can put two good halves together this year, the Cubs will again contend for the title." But the pitching is young and relatively short on major league experience.

Atlanta has a good chance to be straightened out by Paul Richards and could come in surprisingly strong, says SI. Shortstop Sammy Jackson and second baseman Felix Millan now give the Braves overall defense. Lots of work will be needed to get this confused staff into winning form.

Philadelphia is building while trying to continue as a pennant contender. Bunning is gone and the Phillies are confused entering the season. To make the showing, Bill White and Richie Allen both have to come back this year," says SI.

New York, together with Houston, will suffer most by the absence of youngsters serving their military obligations. But the Mets should be a more interesting team than before because the young players are beginning to surface. The addition of 25-year-old Tommy Agee from the White Sox will at last make center field respectable. SI sees him as potentially the most exciting player the Mets have ever had. The new Manager Gil Hodges is rated another plus. The team did not win many games in the spring but it made fewer fundamental mistakes. With the young pitching and a different attitude, the Mets could get off to a quick start.

Houston, according to SI, has three good young players — in Jim Wynn, Rusty Staub and Joe Morgan, plus some hopefuls in Norm Miller, Doug Rader and Ron Davis. Astro pitching became the worst in the majors last year; now relief pitchers Larry Sherry and Fred Gladding, both from Detroit, will try to save them.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

The fans are believing in the American League once more and excitement has grown with four different cities taking the pennant in the last four years. Off season developments have imposed a fateful effect on the year's prospects. Look, says SI, for two dark horses: the 8th-place Indians and the Angels. Detroit, says SI, is the least changed club in the league and maybe this time "they won't find a way to lose it." The front line pitching is not equal to Chicago's, but it is very good. With improvements from the bullpen, the other elements, particularly defense, are there for the big win. The question, says the report, has to be if they WANT it enough.

Chicago had the most desire and the least talent last year. The White Sox have retained most of their splendid pitching and now miracle worker Eddie Stanky finally has some hitters and some stability on his roster. They were not a good defensive team last year, but this is now much improved, especially the infield with Aparicio at shortstop, and outfielders Buddy Bradford, Bill Voss and Walt Williams giving Stanky some speed and fluidity.

Boston's biggest troubles are the serious physical injuries to Jim Lonborg's all-important left leg and Tony Conigliaro's eye. Russ Gibson's appendectomy during spring training did not help matters. Also, says SI, the miraculous Yaz is not going to get too much to hit at this year. The lineup is solid and young but there are doubts over Manager Williams' rapport with his players and the catching and pitching are weak. If the Red Sox are to stay afloat, the pitching will have to be this side of wonderful, says the report, and the easiest thing to say is no way, but "there was no way last year either."

Baltimore could be any kind of team this year, says SI. With Aparicio and Snyder gone, manager Hank Bauer has lost some lineup balance and bench strength. If the Orioles are to contend, Paul Blair's ankle must be recovered and Boog Powell and both Robinsons, Frank and Brooks, must have good years. The pitching, of for the last two years, was much better in spring practice. Twenty-three-year-old ex-White Soxer Roger Nelson could be a sleeper.

Minnesota's fielding and throwing have been its downfall but Griffith has begun to trade effectively for the Twin's needs. He got catcher John Roseboro — who can hit — and relief pitchers Ron Perranoski and Bob Miller. But, reports SI, the left side of the infield is still a puzzlement and Cesar Tovar will have to play a lot of positions again this year. The most disturbing news is the

Henley Has Good Friday As Pampa Clips Dons

By CURTIS MONTGOMERY Sports Editor

Hot-shot pitcher Dick Henley combined a hot arm on the mound and an exceptionally good Friday leading the Pampa Harvesters over the visiting Palo Duro Dons by 3-2 in Pampa Friday.

The win for Pampa stopped a skein which was going on to number six. Henley's job was described by Pampa Coach Bobby Stephens as "beautiful." Stephens couldn't say enough for the job which Henley did for him on Good Friday. The game was originally slated for 4 p.m., but since school was out, the time was moved up to 1 p.m.

"He's a great competitor," stated Stephens talking about the senior hurler Henley. Stephens was "tickled to death" to beat the tough Don team, which is coached by a good friend of Stephens.

Another Chance
The Harvesters don't have a chance to win the first half, but next Friday the Pampa team gets another chance to start over. They take on a team from Lubbock High whom the Pampans defeated in the first game of the season in Lubbock.

Next Saturday the Harvesters play game number two in the conference second round of play. District 3-AAAA's crown is still up for grabs.

Stephens talked in superior phrases about his whole team—not just Henley. "We've been playing pretty good ball, except that we could not hit well enough. Achord (Alvin) played an outstanding game for us. He doubled.

"Young Hopkins (Eddie) did a bang-up job behind the plate handling those five strike outs and letting the Dons get only one walk and that one questionable," commented Stephens shortly after his team had stopped the five-game losing streak against a contending team in the district.

Pampa committed only two errors but the Dons didn't make a mistake. Their center fielder missed one in the sixth inning but the man did not advance to second because of an extra effort by the right fielder and therefore it was not counted as an error.

The umpire behind the plate was "bood and hissed" for his call which could very easily cost the Pampa boys the ball game.

The decision was in the second to last inning. PHS had a man on second by virtue of a two-base knock by Mike Stephens (no relation to coach). Stephens could have advanced to third, if Gary Parrish's bunt had been called fair.

But he called it foul. Coach Stephens had strong feelings that the umpire was wrong and told him so. Of course, it didn't change the official's mind, but it showed, perhaps that he could not make such a call again without being questioned.

The next man for Pampa, Larry Turcotte, flew out to left field, but if Stephens had been on third and not on second—where he was because of the call by the umpire—he could have gone home on the sacrifice.

Henley came through like Alex the Great with a homer over the left field fence with one man on in the bottom of the eighth inning. Steve Summers' triple in the seventh made the last inning heroics possible.

"I had a feeling he (Henley) was gonna knock that ball out of the park. I told the boys, 'He's gonna knock it out,'" Stephens declared.

Dino Jones hit a solo homer for the Dons in the top of the second extra inning—the eighth. That gave the visitors a 2-1 advantage over Pampa. The ball sailed over the right field fence and the hopes of victory for Pampa fell.

A baserunner for PD tried to run over Hopkins—Harvester back stop—but Hopkins was not going to be run over, and put the man out after a brief run-down 20 feet from the third base. It appeared as if there might be a small fight started, but tempers cooled quickly. The Don just ducked his head and tried to ram Hopkins out of the way. He probably won't try it again.

In the bottom of the eighth, Summers struck out. Hal Clabaugh slugged one into center field for a solid single. Henley slammed the ole pill right out of the park over the left field fence to win his own ball game.

The ball game was short, if you consider it went two extra innings. The time was one hour and 50 minutes, according to Warren Hasse, former sports editor of the Daily News—and current sportscaster for a local radio station.

Little League Tryouts Scheduled This Week Here

The two presidents of the Optimist Club Little Leagues have announced that starting Monday tryouts will be held at 5:30 p.m. for all boys wanting to play baseball this summer from ages nine through 12.

President of the American League Charlie Hammons emphasized he did not want any boy out there who was already on a team. The National League President Ed Henley echoed this wish.

"There will be so many boys out there, we won't have time to watch the boys who are already on a team," Henley said.

In order for a boy to be able to play, he must attend the work outs or call one of the presidents and tell him why he can not be there. The numbers to call: Henley at MO 4-2942 or Hammons at MO 5-5637.

The Monday work out is for boys of ages nine and 10 and also Wednesday and for boys of 11 and 12 on Tuesday and Thursday.

Fishin' Roundup

By MELVIN CLARK

The fishing season is on us and the various lakes in this area are reporting steady catches.

Bob Martin of Pampa reported catching five large mouth bass on a Rapalla lure in the Earl Mitchell Lake south of Shamrock.

At Lake Altus in Oklahoma Bill Cotts of Pampa reported the sand bass are moving in shallow water now and people are having good luck by wading out. When Bill was there some walleye—up to five pounds—were biting. Any walleye is a keeper over 15 inches. They used mostly minnows as bait.

At Taylor Lake near Wellington Herman Harris of down that way caught five bass, one to three pounds each. Harris' son caught four bass about the same weight. They used Mr. Champ lures.

At Lake Skip-Out in Oklahoma, a lady from Wheeler caught a seven and a quarter pound bass on a Mr. Champ lure.

Alvin Day of Pampa caught all the crappie he wanted, he told me at Lake Meredith in two and a half days. Alvin caught 'em on minnows. Most everyone is using minnows at Meredith. Bass and channel cat (that is one at the top of my column) are being caught at Meredith, but mostly crappie right now.

Lake McClellan, 23 miles south of Pampa, was the lake Pampa's Glen Moon visited recently. Glen caught 14 catfish on worms and he says "Fishin' fair. It could stand a little water. They bite pretty good as it is, but even after the rain (it went up four feet in the past week) it's still low."

Glen spoke of Lake Meredith—that he had visited up there and said it had a good future ahead. Warner Phillips at Meredith reported the four foot rise in the past week.

Warner said they were biting before the rain, cooled off; on Friday a three-pound bass was caught in the lake. The bass have been biting on Bombers, Hell Benders and plastic worms. A few crappie are being caught on minnows and jigs. Warner says he has more trees on his lake than any around these parts, and I think he might be right. It's a beautiful spot to spend a weekend.

Greenbelt Lake is going to open up for fishing May 29. It's located five miles north of Clarendon. It's well stocked with northern pike, crappie, bass, channel cat, blue cat and several varieties of sun fish.

A few bass are biting at Lake Conchas in New Mexico and also in New Mexico there's Ute Lake. Crappie are biting at both lakes. They are biting on Doil Piles.

At Lake McClellan there is a fee of 50 cents per person—or $1.50 for a car load of five.

Watch the Daily News for more news during the summer about fishing in the Panhandle area.

NICKLAUS TO PLAY
DALLAS (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus, last season's leading money winner, announced Friday he will play in the Byron Nelson Classic in Dallas April 22-28. It will be the first time Nicklaus has played in Dallas since he won the PGA championship here in 1963.

Monterey Wins District Title

Monterey ran off with the District Golf Crown for 3-AAAA with Borger and Monterey having the top individual medalists in Monterey's John Conine with a 369 for five rounds and Ronnie Moxom of Borger with a 376. Borger was Number Two finisher.

Tim New won the league medalist honors for the day Friday. In the last round with an outstanding 70 at Ross Rogers Municipal Golf Course in Amarillo.

Pampa finished in seventh place for the year behind third place Tascosa, Coronado in fourth, Plainview in fifth, Amarillo High in sixth.

After PHS there was Palo Duro, Lubbock High, and last and "most" (strokes) was Caprock.

Pampa played tremendously for the final round and PHS Coach Eural Ramsey applauded the team's closing success. "They all did extremely well. I was pleased with the final showing."

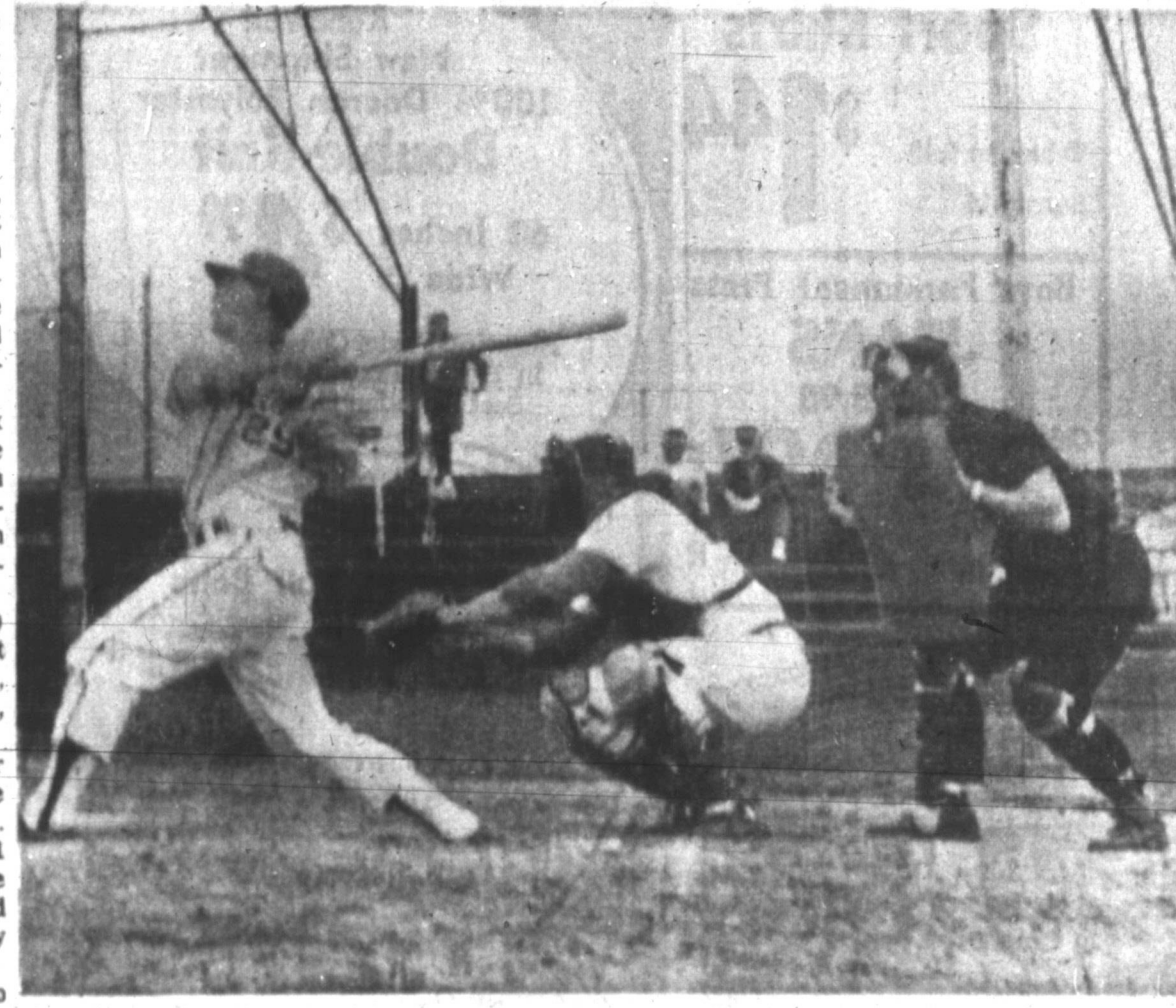

For PHS Steve Grady was elected this year's golf team captain. Ten lettermen will be announced next week, said Ramsey.

PHS finished the day Friday in fourth place for just that final round only five strokes off the second place total of 301 shot by Borger. Monterey shot 294 and ended the year with 1510 for five rounds. PHS shot 306. Tascosa was third with 305.

After New's 70, Grady had 77, Steve Wall shot 79, Tommy Rose shot 80 and Harry Aureli had an 81. All of the varsity members are seniors except Aureli who is a junior.

On the "B" team Lee Waters, a junior, shot an 84, Jackie Gindorf, 83; Sherwin Cox, a sophomore, shot 87; Greg Gunter, a senior shot a 78; Chris Gamblin, a junior, shot an 83; Dick Donaldson, a junior, shot an 85 and Doug Carmichael shot a 95.

will probably not be seen for a couple of seasons. Any hopes for '66 will have to center on the pitching being good again. Jim Bouton's spring was encouraging and the bullpen is good. But look in vain for the fielding.

PAMPA WINS — Dick Henley blasted this one out of the ball park Friday with one on to give the Pampa pitcher the win by 3-2 over the Palo Duro Dons. Henley went eight innings for the Harvesters.

will open the season on the disabled list.

Washington's new Manager Jim Lemon is going to try to get the Senators to use daring on the bases. Mike Epstein is an exciting player again and, if he can continue to act like this old self, both the league and the Senators will profit greatly. The team is blessed with good relief pitching and has a fine catcher in Paul Casanova. Hitters Sam Bowens, Frank Howard and Epstein give Washington good power.

Cleveland traded well and is a running club under new Manager Alvin Dark. "Though its reach could exceed its grasp," SI cautions. "beware." If 25-year-old left hander Sam McDowell has truly matured, then the Indians, with Sonny Siebert, Steve Hargan, Luis Tiant and Stan Williams, have formidable front line pitching. Catching is good but the infield is suspect.

California's Angels, the second potential surprise club, may have matured as Manager Bill Rigney is claiming. They have an excellent doubleplay combination in shortstop Jim Fregosi and Bobby Knoop, good home-run hitters and good catching. But, according to SI, third baseman Aurelio Rodriguez did not hit in the exhibition games, and the promising pitching is full of question marks still. It will be up to Rigney to show himself a master manipulator.

Oakland's A's have a lot of good new people in the organization and the team has excellent young talent in the pitching staff and in the outfield with Rick Monday, says SI. Look for Sal Bando and Reggie Jackson to blossom. Bank on enthusiasm as their most important asset.

New York's Yankees are heading in the right direction, says SI, but the fruits of their work

Easter --- A Season To Remember Christ with Lilies, Prayers and Music

rel, David, and Mr. Cory. The communion tray holds the liquid for observance of the Lord's Supper, which is taken in commemoration of the death and resurrection of Christ.

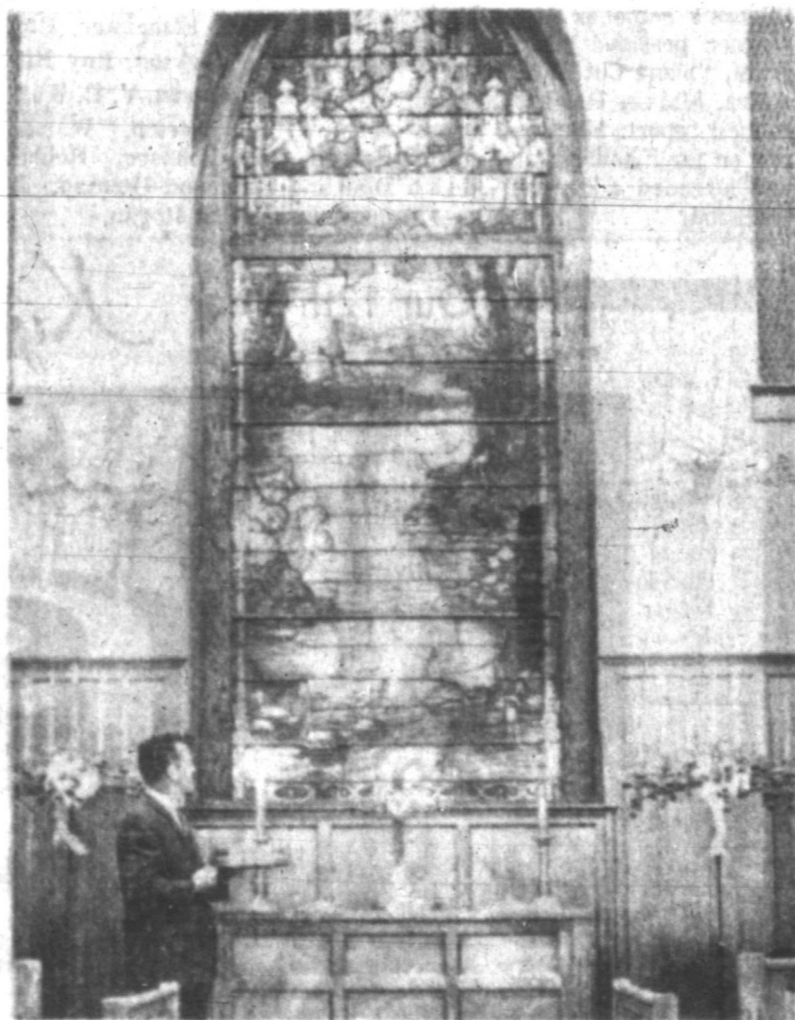

FAMILY PRAYER DURING HOLY WEEK — Mr. and Mrs. George McCarroll, and two of their three sons, James Dennis and John, kneel before the crucifix in St. Matthew's Episcopal Church as they say their prayers in a Holy Week observance. During Holy Week, the chalice and candles, signifying the life of Christ and the cross signifying His crucifixion, are covered with veils to signify mourning. Veils are removed for Easter Sunday in commemoration of Christ's resurrection and ascension.

WELCOME TO EASTER SUNDAY SERVICES — Dr. H. DeWitt Seago, pastor of First Methodist Church, welcomes Mr. and Mrs. Don Lane and their children into the church's services for Easter Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Lane, and Susan and Richard Lane are members of the church, and are four of several Pampans who are attending church services today to remember the significance of Christ's crucifixion, resurrection and ascension as recorded in the New Testament.

PASTOR AT COMMUNION TABLE — Rev. J. W. Doke, pastor of First Christian Church, checks preparation for his church's communion service during Holy Week. The Maundy Thursday service was in memoriam of Christ's crucifixion. During the Thursday service, Rev. Doke baptized 24 new members who observed their first communion with their families after the baptism. The baptismal stained glass window depicts a scene on the Galilee River of New Testament days.

SEASON OF PENITENCE BEFORE RESURRECTION — Mrs. Bruce Riehart, chairman of Lutheran Church altar committee, prepares the altar for Easter Sunday services. The black cloth covering the single communion candles represents sorrow, the darkness of Good Friday when Christ as the "Light of the World" was extinguished at the crucifixion. Violet cloth on the altar signifies sorrow and the season of penitence of Lent. For Easter Sunday the single candles and black cloths are exchanged for two full candleabras and white cloths symbolizing the joy of the resurrection.

WINDOW OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD — Three youthful workers in St. Vincent's Catholic Church, Allen Kamp, left, Dan Morrison, and Joel Hickey, stand with their candles and cross before a stained glass window of The Good Shepherd. The boys are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Kamp, Albert H. Morrison and T. Max Hickey, and are students at St. Vincent's Catholic School. Allen and Joel are acolytes and Dan a cross bearer for mass at St. Vincent's Church. The new sanctuary for mass is expected to be finished in May.

FLOWERS FOR MARY, MOTHER OF CHRIST — Three students of St. Vincent's Catholic School, Nancy Burnham, left, Meg Ann Walsh and Debbie Griffin, place Easter lilies at the feet of a statue of Mary, mother of Christ. The girls are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Burnham, 1927 Evergreen; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walsh, 2233 Evergreen and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Griffin, west of city. The flower of Easter is traditionally the white lily, a symbol of peace and tranquility.

CHRIST IN THE GARDEN OF GETHSEMANE — Daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Sims, Lisa, 4, and Kim, 8, look at a stained glass window in First Baptist Church which depicts Christ praying in the Garden of Gethsemane before His crucifixion. The window is one of a series in the church which depict scenes of the life of Christ, starting with His birth and ending with His ascension. The redecorated sanctuary with its new windows was open for the first time today. Mr. and Mrs. Sims, members of First Baptist, live at 2319 Navajo.

Couple Exchanges Double-Ring Vows

Miss Kathy Beekman became the bride of Edwin K. Schneider Saturday April 6 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in the sanctuary of the First Christian Church in Iowa Park. Rev. Claude McDonald, pastor, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Beekman long-time residents of Wichita Falls. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schneider, 612 Red Deer.

Baker PTA Has Special Speaker

In a recent meeting of B. M. Baker Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association, those on the program were Otto Mangold, speaker on the mentally retarded children; and Rev. Joe Hawn, Calvary Baptist Church pastor, who gave the devotional.

Others were Mrs. J. T. Lambright, Webelos Cub Scouts, who presented the colors; Mrs. W. H. Watson, minutes; Mrs. Tony Bennett, treasurer's report; Mary McKamy, winner of room count and Mrs. Freda Ross, winner of door prize provided by Mrs. B. R. Milligan.

Time was when the designer's label went inside the garment. But today, the "in" thing is the label or a hint of it anyway on the outside. Name designers such as Adele Simpson, Donald Brooks and Bill Blass put their signatures on scarves as part of the over-all pattern. This spring, the firm of Originals used belt buckles in the shape of a large "O" on its vest suit jackets.

Club Members Study Sewing Short Cuts

Goodwill Home Demonstration Club met recently in Mrs. Roy Kilgore's home as Mrs. V. E. Wagner presided for the program, "Short Cut in Sewing."

Mrs. Marvin Rowan gave the council report. Members practiced on their hobbies and crafts, and attended a covered dish luncheon.

Members attending were Mmes. H. B. Cain, Pete Coombe, K. L. Elshimer, Roy Frazier, Lee Jackson, Roy Kilgore, Marvin Rowan, V. E. Wagner, W. L. Norton, W. L. Farrell, Paul Johnson, Robert Dial and Raymond Utzman. A guest was Helen Hogan.

Twentieth Century Culture Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Warren Hasse, 1704 Christine, who was assisted by Mrs. Paul Mitchell.

In continuing the club's study of "The Wonderful World of Women" Mrs. Dan Cameron discussed the life of Marguerite Higgins, newspaper columnist and Pulitzer-prize winning correspondent who covered three wars, World War II, the Korean War and the Vietnam War.

Born in Hong Kong, China, Maggie, as she was known to G.I.'s and generals alike, moved with her parents to California at the age of five and graduated with honors from the University of California, according to Mrs. Cameron.

"Odds were against Maggie in a man's world of reporting what wars are really like but once having set a goal for herself, Maggie never swerved and was as persistent as a bloodhound," Mrs. Cameron said.

She began her journalist career as a cub reporter for the California Times Herald. Later she joined the staff of the New York Herald Tribune and, according to Mrs. Cameron, Maggie's first foreign assignment, due to her fluent French, was the London and Paris Bureaus.

In covering WW II, Maggie received campaign ribbons for outstanding service under difficult conditions. In 1947 she was appointed Chief of the Tribune's Berlin Bureau at the age of 28, having been overseas three years, she had more front page stories than any other correspondent, according to Mrs. Cameron.

"In 1950 she was transferred to Tokyo. War broke out in Korea 25 days after her first dispatch, Maggie's crusade really began then, because of her descriptive news releases of refugees, hungry children, oldsters with huge bundles on their heads, and women with babies.

"Since she was the only woman correspondent, she encountered many problems, but she donned her G.I. shirt, trousers, fatigue cap and tennis shoes, slept on the ground and carried with her only a toothbrush, towel, lipstick, comb and typewriter. Her undaunted spirit and extra-ordinary durability in the face of monsoon downpours, jeep upsets, or enemy attacks, won her the respect of G.I. and general alike, who honored her as the queen of the trench as well as of the typewriter."

Mrs. Cameron related upon Maggie's return to the United States she was deluged with over 2,000 requests for public appearances and was recipient of more than 50 various prizes and awards. She wrote the book, "War in Korea" and made a 24-city lecture tour.

"Maggie married Major Gen. William E. Hall. Following the death of their infant daughter, Maggie again joined the Tribune staff. Her travels included: Spain, Paris, East Berlin, Yugoslavia, Siam, Switzerland, Iran, India, Indo-China, Formosa, Korea and Russia.

"In 1963, Maggie made her seventh visit to Saigon and traveled the length and breadth of the country, interviewing everyone from spear-carrying chieftains, American and Vietnamese soldiers in the field, peasants in their hamlets and monks in their temples. Maggie's comment on Vietnam summed up in one of her statements, according to Mrs. Cameron, was "Dangerous as such prophecies are, I believe America will in Vietnam somehow muddle through — with the accent on the muddle," Mrs. Cameron said. Maggie died in Washington (See TWENTIETH, Page 18)

The bride was wearing a ribbed imported cotton suit in shades of off-white and alabaster with matching crepe blouse. The long jacket was styled with belted back and pearl buttons.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have a 24-year-old son who is engaged to the girl next door. We have lived as neighbors to these people for over 20 years and have always been very friendly. My problem is known only to the lady next door. You see, I am the father of her daughter, which puts my son in the position of marrying his half sister.

The lady next door refuses to tell her daughter, and insists it is my place to tell our son. If I do, he will tell his mother, who is sure to raise Cain, although she herself, has left the trail a couple of times that I know of early in our marriage. Hurry your advice, as time is running out.

STUMPED: Tell your wife and be prepared for whatever follows. She might solve your problem by telling you that the boy is not YOUR son.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for a year and a half and I guess before another six months I will be pregnant. Not because I want a baby, but I am made to feel that it is my "duty" — and to keep putting it off just shows my "selfishness."

All I hear from my friends and relatives is, "Aren't you pregnant yet?" And my mother-in-law acts like I have been married and childless for 20 years.

Abby, the plain truth is that I am not ready to have a baby. Is it so awful of me to enjoy my freedom? To be perfectly honest about it, I would like to wait about 5 years before having my family. Once a baby comes, you are tied down and your life is never the same. Oh, I know there are many blessings, but there are lots of worries and headaches, and I am in no hurry for them.

ENGAGED

Miss Alvieta McKnight

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. McKnight of Borger, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Alvieta McKnight, to Gary Howell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Howell, 119 Kiekbuch St. Wedding vows will be exchanged June 8 in Calvary

Where are all those lovely flirtatious ladies who like to get the seat directly behind the bus driver so they can whisper sweet things in his ear, press their telephone numbers into his palm, and coquettishly blow on his neck?

I've been a bus driver for 8 years and I have never had that kind of luck. Our uniforms are good looking, and I wear mine with pride. But it seems that the person who invariably occupies the seat directly behind me, is one who has just consumed a hearty meal, well-seasoned with garlic, washed down with cheap wine.

Could I be driving in the wrong city?

GEORGE IN BOSTON CONFIDENTIAL TO BETSY: I would not wait too long for a 34-year-old fellow whose mother still waits up for him.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Save empty spray bottles for a mixture of liquid starch and water to have handy when ironing or for a solution of ammonia and water usable as a quick clean-up of woodwork fingerprints.

Varietas Study Club Slates Spring Luncheon Date in May

Mrs. Lee Harrah was speaker for Varietas Study Club at the recent meeting in the home of Mrs. H. Price Dosier Sr. The club president, Mrs. W.E. Abernathy, presided. Plans were made for the spring luncheon to be held May 14. Mrs. S. C. Evans gave a report on meat inspection, based on the Texas Clubwoman magazine.

The afternoon's program on conservation carried the subtitle, "What we sow today, we reap tomorrow." Mrs. F.A. Cary introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Harrah's topic was "Saving Panhandle Water." As an introduction, she stated two problems now worry economists more than any others: "The population explosion, and growing water shortage."

She said "because of the forecast of a world population of seven billion by the year 2000, our country must produce more food to feed more people—and more water to produce more food."

She gave statistics on the amount of water consumed by persons, by cities, and by nations—and the vast quantities wasted by each.

She stated "although the U.S. has an average rainfall of 30 inches, over half of this amount evaporates and much additional moisture sinks into the ground, leaving only a small amount for human use. With irrigation absorbing much of the underground supply, the country, and especially the Texas Panhandle, is consuming water faster than it is available."

She listed two things which must be done. "We must bring more water into the Panhandle and must conserve what water we have."

She said plans are being made by the state and by committees to transport water from other parts of the country—to de-salt sea water and pipe it where needed. The people of the Panhandle should water their lawns only as much as necessary, should level the land, should keep gardens and flower beds free of weeds, and should see that irrigation pumps use only as much water as is beneficial."

Mrs. Cary reported on recent district convention of federated clubs in Borger. She discussed topics, speakers, banquets, and other phases of the meetings and spoke especially of the four (See VARIETAS, Page 18)

Firm Expects Offshore Oil Production

BRYN MAWR, Pa.—Production is expected by next November on some of the Louisiana offshore oil leases in which Kewanee Oil Company has a 10 per cent to 15 per cent interest. Wm. Wikoff Smith, president, said in the companies' annual report.

Kewanee is a member of a group of companies which acquired the leases during 1967. Significant oil and gas discoveries have been made on several of the leases.

Smith said that price recovery has begun in some areas of the chemical industry and that he expected 1968 to be a more profitable year for the company's Harshaw Chemical Division. During 1967, the chemical division experienced difficulties that were also being encountered by a majority of the chemical companies in the nation, Mr. Smith said.

Sales declined approximately 3.4 per cent to $111.5 million in 1967 from $115.4 million in the previous year. Profits declined to $7.4 million from $8.3 million. Earnings per share were off about 15 per cent to $1.72 in 1967 compared with $2.01 in 1966.

Kerr-McGee Reports Record High Income During 1967

OKLAHOMA CITY — Kerr-McGee Corporation achieved record high income and earnings per share for 1967, according to its annual report released today.

Consolidated net income reached a high of $34,350,444, and earnings per common share increased to $4.54, the sixth consecutive year in which Kerr-McGee achieved record high income and earnings per share.

The earnings for 1967 include figures for the operations of American Potash & Chemical Corporation, a Los Angeles-based chemical firm which was merged into Kerr-McGee last December.

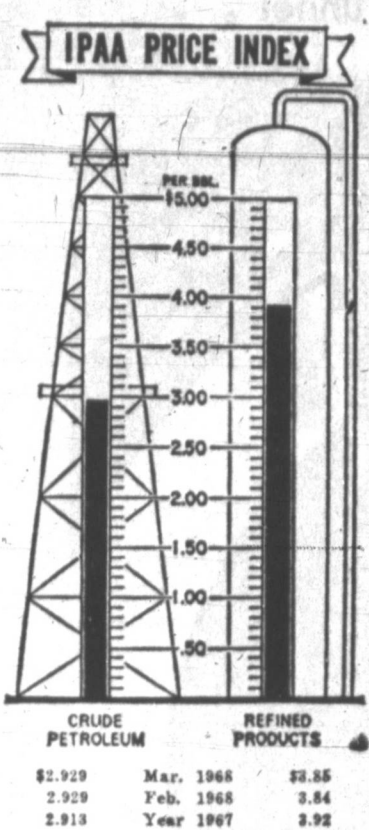

In a letter to stockholders, S. A. McGee, chairman, reported on the company's progress.

"Our continued success in finding new oil and gas reserves contributed importantly to the 1967 performance." This success was highlighted by the discovery and development of the Dineh bi Keyah oil field in the rugged Chuska Mountains of northeastern Arizona. Kerr-McGee reported that it had completed 13 wholly owned oil wells in this field which had pumped more than three million barrels of oil. Several of the wells encountered helium-bearing gas zones, and two wells were completed as shut-in gas wells.

Approximately 22 miles south-east of Dineh bi Keyah oil field, in San Juan County, New Mexico, Kerr-McGee discovered the Akah-Nez oil field in November, 1967.

The company's major drilling activity in 1967 was concentrated offshore Louisiana in the Gulf of Mexico. Eleven wells have now been completed in the various gas and oil reservoirs underlying the northeastern part of Block 214. Ship Shoal Oil is currently being produced from three multiple-well platforms on Block 214 and a contract for sales of gas from this block has been negotiated with sales to begin early in 1968. Three widely spaced exploratory wells discovered significant new oil reserves on the southern part of this 5,000-acre block. The southern part of Block 214 and the northern part of adjacent Block 233 will be developed from two 13-well self-contained platforms currently under construction. Kerr-McGee owns a 64.5 percent interest in Block 214, and a 50 percent interest in the offsetting Block 233. Kerr-McGee and partners were successful bidders on the 5,000-acre Block 233 at the offshore sale in June, 1967.

Kerr-McGee was recently awarded an exploratory oil and gas concession of 1,730,000 acres located offshore Argentina, 100 miles southeast of Buenos Aires. In the spring of 1968, seismic work will begin on this concession where water depths vary from 0 to 60 feet.

Wide Range of Papers Planned At Short Course

LUBBOCK — Papers to be delivered at the two-day 15th annual Southwestern Petroleum Short Course starting at Texas Tech April 18 range from "Common Causes of Failure in Sucker Rod String" to "Pumping Fundamentals," general chairman Robert W. Drake Jr. of Midland said Saturday.

E. E. DeMoss and Paul W. Orris, both of Merla-A. Tele-dyne Co. in Garland, will discuss "Liquid Removal from Gas Wells—Gas Lifting with Reservoir Gas." DeMoss, chief engineer for Merla, is a petroleum engineering graduate of the University of Texas and Orris holds the bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Denver.

Consulting engineer A. A. Hardy will discuss the four principle causes of failure in sucker rod strings—corrosion, improper joint make-up, poor operating and running procedures and improper string design. He is expected to suggest ways and means of preventing such failures.

Continental Oil production engineer Leonard J. Johnson of Hobbs will discuss "Selection of Artificial Lift for Waterflood Project," and is expected to evaluate the four basic types of artificial lift used—beam, sub-surface hydraulics, ubur-face centrifugal and gas-to minimize investment and operating costs in his organization's MCA unit waterflood project near Mallijamar, N.M.

"Gas Lift in Multiple Completed Wells" will be the topic of Merla district manager Robert O. Walton of Odessa and Mechanical engineer Darryl A. Lambie of Shell Oil in Midland.

Their paper will present a history of intermittent gas lift production practices in multiple completed wells in the TXL Field in Ector County, Tex., and the South Andrews Field in Andrews. The discussion will show the approach to multiple gas lift operations in the two areas cited over 10 years with emphasis on improvements based on experience with and evaluation of prior installations.

Louisiana Executives See Curtailment Of Oil Activities

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Oil industry executives, fearing a hike in severance taxes to meet Louisiana's ambitious spending plans, are quietly warning it could force curtailment of oil activity.

The gist of the warning is that any additional tax could force oil producers to move to Texas or Mississippi where they could get a larger return on their investment.

"Competition in the oil and gas industry causes operators to seek areas which combine the best prospect of production with the lowest overall costs," said Robert Brooksher, executive vice president of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association in Baton Rouge.

Cites Danger
"Additional costs imposed on the oil and gas industry at either state or national levels would put Louisiana's economy in a hazardous position," he said.

The warnings gain added weight from the fact that Louisiana takes about 25 cents in severance taxes from each barrel of crude oil produced in the state. The state collects about 2.3 cents on every 1,000 cubic feet of gas produced.

The figures are the highest in the nation.

By comparison, Texas collects a gross production tax of about 5 per cent on the sale value of crude oil. Mississippi's severance tax is six cents per barrel.

Last year, the petroleum industry poured $468 million into Louisiana's state treasury.

Other Texas members were OKC Corp. of Dallas and Compania Petroleum Costa, C.A., of Houston.

slightly more than 50 per cent of the state's total revenues.

Tied to Industry
The state's economic picture is so closely tied to oil and gas that the state would have finished the current fiscal year more than $10 million in the red if the Middle East war last summer had not boosted oil production.

This year, budget officials have said they need an additional $164 million to meet spending plans of Gov. John McKeithen's "program for excellence."

One of the first places they looked was the oil and gas industry, which has underwritten the state's spending plans since Huey Long decreed "share our wealth."

Foreign Aid Suggestions

The Citizens Foreign Aid Committee has some suggestions which could well be studied by the administration and Congress. As they consider the problems of inflation, the unfavorable balance of international trade and payments and the loss of U.S. gold stocks. Says the committee:

"Since 1946, every foreign aid dollar has been, or is obligated to be, spent either at home or abroad. During the years 1960-66, inclusive, 41 per cent of aid dollars were spent or obligated at home and 59 per cent were spent or obligated abroad."

"Foreign aid has been spending annually more than $3 billion in the U.S. to produce goods which are sent abroad gratis; this constitutes inflation in its purest form. And inflation always produces a rise in prices. Foreign aid sent abroad in dollar credits is the principal cause of our balance of payments deficits. Dollars in foreign hands, but not in American hands, are redeemable in gold from the U.S. gold reserve."

"Including interest on the money we have borrowed to give away, foreign aid can be calculated to have cost American taxpayers on the order of $164 billion. On Sept. 21, 1968, the U.S. gold reserve stood at $24.6 billion; our foreign aid dollar gifts have enabled foreigners to reduce our gold reserve by more than $15 billion. In foreign hands today remain $31 billion redeemable in U.S. gold—some $22 billion of which we do not have. With foreign aid dollars foreign central banks could buy our remaining gold stock. Then, we would have only paper currency, while many recipients of foreign aid would have gold backing for their currency."

"For two decades a fiscal mechanism, seemingly noble and benevolent in purpose, has been imposed on American taxpayers. This mechanism is our foreign aid program. It has bled heavily the U.S. economy. It has diminished our ability to meet foreign competition. It has changed the pattern of our exports from predominately industrial to predominately raw materials. It has contributed to our entry into the war in Vietnam. It has made many more enemies than friends. Foreign aid is the principal culprit in the debasement of our currency which in turn has caused the removal of gold cover on Federal Reserve notes.

"Nothing today is more important than to restore confidence in the dollar. But the corrective measures being taken by the administration to restore this confidence are insipid and will prove ineffective. Only bold and prompt measures can achieve success."

Specific programs recommended by the committee, include: A temporary embargo on gold sales until the fiscal position is resolved; abandonment of all foreign aid except that which "further the war effort"; a pull-back of all U.S. Ground forces in Europe except token forces in Berlin; winning the war in Vietnam by destroying all enemy military installations in North Vietnam, after warning civilians to abandon adjacent areas, then gradual assumption of a defensive stand there.

The committee claims savings possible by the end of 1969 could total 45 to 50 billion dollars, eliminating all thought of a surtax, while balancing the budget, eliminating the balance of payments deficits and restoring confidence in the dollar.

Importance of Press Freedom

Public scrutiny of the works of public officials is and always has been the great foe of tyranny and the great bulwark of a free society.

That is why it is so important that the public be alerted to the importance of a free press. It is only from the public and public opinion, that the press derives its power. And it is this power which all "public officials" fear the most.

Perhaps this is what former President Harry Truman had in mind when he said, "If you can't stand the heat, stay out of the kitchen."

Censorship and secrecy need but little encouragement to flourish. There is grave danger that our historical experience as a partially open society, in which the "ends of justice" are not cloaked in secrecy, could go for naught.

The press is a positive influence. It has a responsibility to inform and to dispel rumors by the publication of fact.

The secretary general of the International Commission of Jurists once said, "The surest sign of deterioration of the situation in any country is interference with freedom of the press."

Thomas Jefferson had this thought: "Our liberty depends on the freedom of the press and that cannot be limited without being lost."

The newspaper, by its diligence and dedication to a full and factual report of the news is the surest hope that the rights of the people in Panama or any other community will be upheld.

Corruption thrives in the dark. Freedom thrives in the light.

Riboflavin? We EAT IT?

Do you like plenty of riboflavin and ascorbic acid for breakfast?

And clap your hands in glee when you see thiamine on the dinner table?

Good! You're eating properly and may grow up to be Miss America or an all-American.

Provided, of course, you're also getting enough protein, calcium, iron and Vitamin A.

Those are the seven nutrients dietary experts say we must have in our food.

But, the experts report sadly, many of us aren't getting enough of them to make us as healthy as we should be.

O.K. So maybe we can't afford such fancy stuff.

No excuse. That isn't fancy stuff. It's just vitamins and things that are available in wholesome food that can be bought at reasonable prices.

Milk, lettuce, citrus fruits, meat and eggs, for example.

Besides, say the experts, too often diet isn't a matter of income at all. Many people who can afford anything they want aren't eating properly.

They aren't? Say, it's sort of comforting, isn't it, to know that some of us who have to watch our grocery bills are eating just as improperly as the rich folks.

It may not help our health, but think what it does to our ego!

Booklet on Financing Industry

The Texas Industrial Commission has announced publication of a new booklet titled "Financing Industrial Facilities."

Written by Don R. Rayburn, acting assistant executive director of the T.I.C., the new booklet will be available at no charge to chambers of commerce and industrial development organizations in Texas.

The 27-page booklet points out the trend by industry to lease rather than purchase their failities, and deals with questions about financing land, buildings and machinery.

Discussed in depth is the roll of the local industrial foundation, which in many cases must be able to offer a "package deal" in order to attract new industry in the face of competition from other communities.

Sources of funds for financing industry are discussed, such as mortgage companies, commercial banks, insurance compan-

CAN PREDICTIONS CAUSE EVENTS?

I've been reading a remarkable book by a man named Homer Lea called "The Valor of Ignorance." It is a book of predictions. In it, Mr. Lea predicted the war between the U.S. and Japan for domination of the Pacific. What is really fascinating is that Mr. Lea, who served with the Chinese army during the Boxer rebellion, predicted the Pacific war back in 1909. In his book Homer Lea, no mean strategist and tactician (he'd been a lieutenant general), explained what the Japanese strategy would be, described how they would attack various island strongholds, and even provided the charts showing invasion routes. The publishers boast that the book created a sensation in this country's military circles, and became optional reading at West Point. The Publishers also claim that 80,000 Japanese translations were sold, and that the book became required reading at the Japanese military training centers. And this set of assertions brings me to the question that has been puzzling me. How do we tell which was the cause and which was the effect?

Were the Japanese planning a military program against the U.S. as early as 1909? Or did Homer Lea outline their program, making it appear so logical that they couldn't resist the temptation? Certainly, the strategy he outlined is fundamentally the one followed by Japan's generals and admirals from 1941 until they began to experience reverses.

This business of predicting the future is tricky. It's always a temptation. Effect proceeds from cause. When we've studied the relationship, it becomes an almost irresistible urge to predict outcomes.

This may indicate that those who predict events may actually become partly responsible for those events, by creating an attitude of acceptability on the part of many. If men act on their decisions, then the process of influencing decisions is a decisive one. If opinions are influenced by predictions, then even the predictions of "uninformed and ignorant men may serve to shape the future. Some of the best-selling books, including the Bible, can trace some of their popularity to the prediction factors within them. Marx became believable to many because of his so-called historic inevitability. If he hadn't predicted the ultimate class struggle, there is a grave question as to whether or not one would have occurred. The apparent schism between labor and capital is a myth, since both serve the same customer. Yet Marx predicted the rift. Did his prediction help to shape the chasm? I don't know. But it's clear that there is a vast abyss between the positions of either side now.

Perhaps there is a human propensity to predict the very thing that is feared. Conservatives have been predicting a worldwide conspiracy and may well be a party to the formation of the very thing they fear.

It is essential, of course, that men be able to predict within limits. We live in an ordered universe and our continued existence relates inescapably to the predictability of tomorrows. When the physical sciences help reveal the true nature of things, their relationships could be determined and their interactions could be forecast.

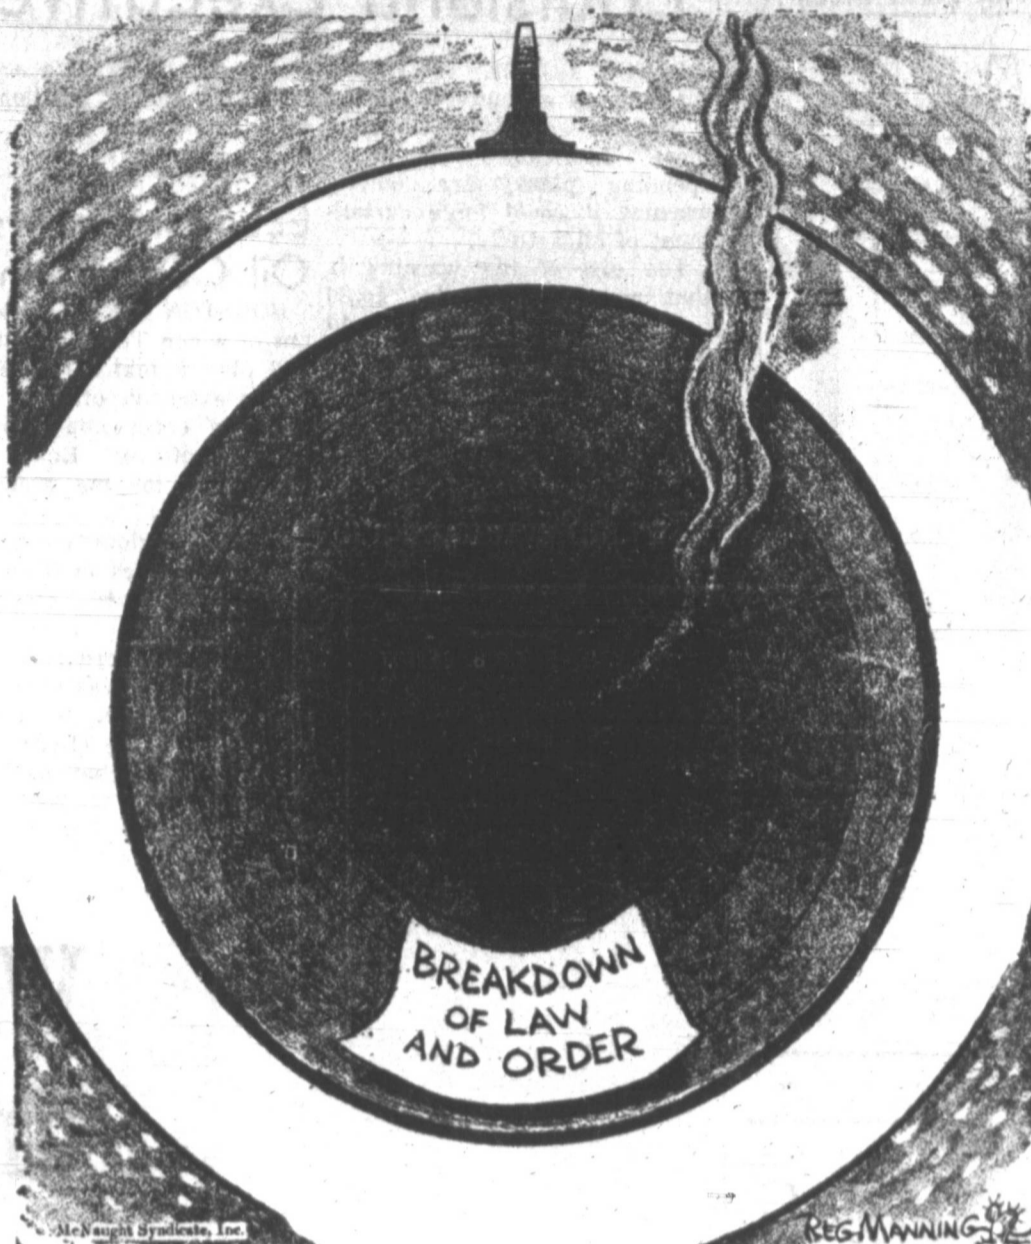

But man is a particularly sensitive and a peculiarly mysterious creature. Is it possible that men can foresee the actions of other men? Or is it, rather, that having communicated to men what their action is likely to be, credibility is gained and then men act out the predictions as an actor follows the lines in his script? I don't know. But I can't help feeling that Homer Lea may have been partly responsible for triggering a war in the Pacific by his brilliant prediction of just why and how it would be fought.

You can't ban smoking and drinking in any kind of restaurant and expect to make money. The latest such place to find that out is a posh New York restaurant that only wanted to enhance the eating pleasures of the patrons without the distraction of tastes through alcoholic beverages and the annoyance of cigar and cigarette smoke. Too many customers objected; the ban was quickly lifted, and the restaurant went back to making money.

Today's smile: A wife returned from downtown empty-handed and said she was fired from shopping. Her husband asked: "Why do you say you've been shopping when you didn't buy anything?" She answered: "Why do you say you've been fishing when you didn't catch anything?"

New York's Pan Am Building is the world's largest commercial office building with 2,400,000 square feet of rentable space and another 300,000 square feet of public area. Its 59 stories cater to 25,000 persons daily. And just to show you how construction costs have mounted in the past three decades it cost $100 million to build the Pan Am Building in 1962. Back in 1931 the Empire State, the world's tallest building, which also houses 25,000 persons daily, was erected for a mere $42 million.

Thoughts while shaving: The latest thing in business offices is the new typewriter and computer ribbon that improves copier reproduction. In other words Mrs. Jones no longer needs to type letter with a half dozen carbon copies in her typewriter. She just uses a single sheet of paper and then puts the finished letter in the copying machine and, presto, out comes exactly like the original. What next? ... Maybe someone can top this, but in our opinion the highest price ever paid for anything in history (far beyond its original value) was the $41,000 given the owner of an unused Hawaiian postage stamp, issued in 1851. The stamp was originally worth two cents. ... We wonder if the Russians tried the zip code and found it didn't work, just as we're doing? At any rate the Soviets now prefer to telegraph rather than write. Last year the Russians sent more than 273 million telegrams, the world's record for any country in a year. ... Prophetic words! Lenin once said: "The First World War gave us Russia while the Second World War will hand Europe to us." He was right both times. ... Never knew until now that the name "horse latitudes" had anything to do with horses. However, the region of calms in the Atlantic Ocean (between 30 and 35 degrees North latitude) was nicknamed the "horse latitudes" because ships carrying horses and cattle to America were often becalmed for so long that the horses died. ... Grapefruit Stimulates, Doesn't Curb; Appetite

Q—There is a new theory that grapefruit before each meal will not only curb the appetite but also burn up the fats and carbohydrates in the system. Is this true?
A—No, to both parts of the question. Grapefruit is often given as a first course to stimulate the appetite. It can't both curb and stimulate. Neither does it have any mysterious burning power, despite the claims of the fad-of-the-month club.

Q—Would you recommend tomato juice for arthritic patients? What foods are best for elderly people?
A—There is no specific diet for arthritis. Insofar as tomato juice may be a part of a well-balanced diet, it can be taken as a food, not as a treatment, for arthritis.

Elderly persons need a balanced diet just like everybody else. Unfortunately, a lot of them, for one reason or another, don't get it.

NUCLEAR PARITY OR NUCLEAR SUPERIORITY?

Most citizens would agree that it would be absurd for one government to say to its avowed enemy: "We will build up our defenses to a certain point and then we will stop." The enemy country would certainly make every effort to see that its offensive forces went beyond this point as soon as possible.

Yet this is exactly what has happened over the last several years as the United States Defense Department has pursued an announced policy of "nuclear parity" with the Soviet Union. As advanced by former Secretary of Defense McNamara, this policy means that we would never attempt to develop a nuclear force superior to that of the Soviets.

If Mr. McNamara expected the Soviet Union to settle for equality, he was mistaken. The Russian communists have given no indication that they intend to accept nuclear parity. Instead, all their efforts have been aimed toward achieving nuclear superiority over the United States.

Mr. McNamara has said that "there can be no victor in a nuclear war." He implied that because such a war would be very destructive, we should not build up a nuclear force. He did not seem to realize that the best way to prevent nuclear war is to have a superior nuclear force so that the enemy will be deterred from striking.

The new Secretary of Defense, Clark Clifford, has indicated some opposition to nuclear parity. Concerned citizens should strongly support any efforts by Mr. Clifford or others to build a strong deterrent force and end the dangerous policy of "nuclear parity," which is equivalent to unilateral disarmament.

Country Editor speaking: "The average woman is supposed to have a smaller vocabulary than the average man, but she uses her words more often."

Sensing The News

By THERMAN SENSING

The tumultuous days through which this nation has been passing make good Americans fear for the future of the Republic.

Assassination of Martin Luther King Jr., a deed shocking to believers in law and order, has been followed by an orgy of mob violence unprecedented in this country's history. Great cities, including the nation's capital, have been the scene of mass looting and fearful crimes of arson and violence. The protest leader, who espoused what he called a philosophy of "non-violence," has left behind a heritage of violence among his followers and admirers.

Innocent people, including young children, have been killed in the fire-bombings and in unprovoked attacks on the streets.

The nation has been shamed by savage rampaging such as good citizens never believed they would see in this proud nation. The murder of Dr. King was a dreadful deed. To be sure, the roots of the violence lie much deeper than the death of Dr. King. They lie in the philosophy of civil disobedience that has been encouraged for more than a decade. The people of the United States are paying a bitter price for the lawlessness that has been advocated and excused over so many years.

The bitter fruits of "civil rights" advocates can be seen in the burned-out homes and stores of America's cities.

Clear-thinking Americans also have reason for being deeply concerned about the orgy of emotionalism that preceded the riots and that actually may have helped set the stage for them. When faced with the ugly fact of crime, the way for public leaders to proceed is with steady calm and determination to apprehend the criminal.

It is imperative that a single crime, no matter how shocking and barbarous, not be overblown or that public statements about the victim not become a vehicle for incendiary emotionalism. Unfortunately, this sensible approach was not followed in recent days.

The first duty of all government bodies is to restore peace, to protect life and to guard property. The disorders that broke out in early April may recur again during the long, hot summer ahead. Every city and state, and chiefly the federal government, has a responsibility to enforce the law in a stern manner and to avoid emotional entanglements.

If riots recur, and God forbid that this will happen, the way to deal with them is with maximum firmness at the beginning. The Washington riots apparently got out of hand because police were not authorized to take strong measures at the beginning. Looters were not stopped when they broke into stores and stole whatever they pleased. It is true that tear gas was used after a time, but the looter who is trying to steal a milk coat doesn't mind a whiff of gas. Traditionally, looters have been shot if they failed to stop on orders. This procedure has been used in countless civic disorders and after neutral destruction caused by hurricanes and tornadoes. Shooting looters is the only way to stop riots, and stop them in a hurry.

Property as well as lives need a better defense than has been available in recent days. Every wrecked and gutted store is a personal disaster for its owners. Building up a mercantile establishment often takes years and decades. The goods placed on display in stores have to be paid for, even though looters take them away. Stores have to be rebuilt or repaired, often with cash. Thus it is intolerable that the institution of property not be fully protected by the agencies of government.

If rioters believe that they can engage in acts of savagery, including attacks on police and firemen, they will riot again and again. Only if rioters understand that they will be crushed by violent force and from burning and looting. The time is long overdue when rioters and potential rioters are made to understand that a "get tough" policy is the law of the land. The tragic death of Dr. King brought to the surface the savage instincts of many of our cities. All the power of public opinion must be harnessed to prevent America's towns and cities being turned into jungles by wild bands of lawbreakers.

Rise In Quantity of Money During the past six years the quantity of money in our country has been increasing at the rate of about eight percent a year. During the past year this has risen to more than twelve percent. Let it be clearly stated that the proper definition of inflation is an increase in the quantity of money. Many pressures are operating to bring about this increase, but it is actually done by the Federal Reserve Bank. Pushing wages up beyond the rise in productivity is an inflationary pressure, but it would not work if government did not respond by increasing the quantity of money. It would result in unemployment, but would not cause inflation. Inflation, let it be emphasized again, is an increase in the quantity of money, and that is done only by government.

While the quantity of money has been increasing about eight percent a year, prices during recent years have been going up only about two percent a year, accelerating to about 3 percent annually during the past two years. A rise in prices often lags behind a rise in the quantity of money because of increasing industrial efficiency, squeezing of profits and competition. There is a limit, however, to the ability of competition to neutralize inflation, and it is probable that we are on the point of a much larger annual increase in prices.

The basic pressure which induces governments to resort to inflation is the desire of a very large portion of the people, as well as practically all government units, to spend more than their incomes. The fact that the federal budget has been balanced only six times in the past thirty-seven years proves it. It is very late and we are going to inflate out through the roof if government does not stop in creating the quantity of money, and if the people in general do not stop spending more than they earn.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not harm anyone.)

QUESTION: Is it equally immoral and unjust for two men to use initiated force upon a third to make him pay for something he does not want to use as it would be for two hundred million men to use initiated force to make a single man pay for something he does not want or use?

ANSWER: Of course, the principle is just the same whether it is two men using initiated force on one to make him pay for something he does not want or two hundred million people forcing an individual to pay for something he does not want. It is a violation of the commandment against stealing.

The principle is the same whether it is two men or a group of men or the state or the federal government or the United Nations forcing a man to support and pay for something he does not want to use.

The excuse given that the majority forces the individual "for his own good" or for the "good of society" is only an excuse, and a bad one at that. Initiated force is a violation of a moral absolute and it cannot, by its very nature, produce good. Instead it promotes retaliation and hinders the growth of good will. It distorts all of mankind's relationships with each other, turning them from productive, beneficial associations to destructive action against each other.

Just Takes Horse Sense, Actress Says

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Don't let this get around, but lovely Joan Hackett has fallen in love with a horse.

This will hardly go over big with her husband, actor Richard Widmark, or her new co-star, James Garner.

But there are those who think horses more lovable than actors anyhow.

Joan's affection for the equine began more than three years ago when she played a guest role on television's "Gunsmoke."

She reported for work and found herself assigned to ride a nag sidesaddle.

The horse's name was Peanuts.

"Peanuts taught me more about acting than anyone else in the business," Joan said on the set of "Support Your Local Sheriff" on the backlot of MGM.

"One morning I was sitting in the saddle and before the director could call for action, Peanuts heard the camera whir and he instantly became 10 years younger.

"He lifted his head, pulled in his stomach and walked straight for the camera. I do the same thing myself now.

"He stopped before the director yelled 'cut' and immediately he looked 10 years older. It was fantastic how Peanuts sensed when the film was taking and when it wasn't."

Joan, playing her first rough-and-tumble role after a series of and-wringing, tearful dramatic parts, is delighted to be thrown in with such hams and roughnecks as Peanuts once

Television Hollywood Correspondent Gives Opinions On Academy Awards

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—For sustained crisis coverage on television, it is difficult to remember a period to compare with the past several weeks.

During this period, which included President Johnson's withdrawal as a candidate, his de-escalation of the Vietnam war and the assassination of Martin Luther King—there has seemed so how trivial to pay much attention to video entertainment.

Reality is—in reality—what television is all about, and when it sweeps across the home screen, enabling the viewer to feel in the groove of history-making, video fulfills its ultimate purpose.

Awards Program Affected
Even Wednesday night's Academy Awards ceremony on AEC-TV was swept up in the reaction to the King murder, which affected the tone of Hollywood's annual prize-giving.

Until these past few weeks, surely the most sustained and dramatic television coverage was the involvement with the act and aftermath of President Kennedy's assassination. This period was certainly the one that affected television coverage the most, and the four days seemed an eternity.

But for the constant televisioner, the unceasing unrolling of events over the past few weeks has been an exhausting experience. And yet, like all such experiences, it becomes an unforgettable part of one's life.

What was most fascinating was to watch the forces of inevitability finally come to a head in the nation. After such pressures on the President over Vietnam, something was bound to give. And after such pressures on the country over the civil rights movement, something terrible was bound to happen.

More In-Depth
During these months of building tension, the thing one missed most on television was the weekly, network, prime time series of in-depth, timely reporting that we used to have.

Surely, until recently we had "ABC Scope" and its sole devotion to the subject of Vietnam—but this was in an odd prime time hour, and many stations simply didn't run it when the network wanted it run.

No—what was really missing was the kind of series like the old "Eyewitness" on CBS-TV or NBC-TV's "David Brinkley's Journal" and "Chet Huntley Reporting."

At any rate, television, though starting slowly in its reaction to President Johnson's actions, was utterly magnificent in its coverage of the King story. And the repercussions in the broadcasting industry to this historic event are only starting.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Now about last week's Academy Awards.

The show, as usual, ran too long.

Some of the celebrities appeared as if they were disguised as priests with white turtleneck shirts and black Nehru jackets.

Biggest surprise was Katharine Hepburn's winning best actress. She mostly cried through "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner."

Academy members were not stumped into voting for the modish, trend-setting "Bonnie and Clyde," which won only a single award.

That Oscar, incidentally, was awarded to Estelle Parsons, who was awarded the best supporting actress laurels. She was terrific as the moronic Blanche Barrow.

Unquestionably the best picture of the year, "In the Heat of the Night," was justifiably rewarded.

Just as surely, Rod Steiger has become one of America's foremost actors and earned his Oscar the hard way—through sheer talent and dedication.

Peculiar, wasn't it, that Mike Nichols won the best direction award although his film, "The Graduate," was also ran.

Equally strange that Norman Jewison did not win the directing award for his winning "In the Heat of the Night."

Like Walter Matthau and Peter Ustinov before him, character actor George Kennedy, who won best supporting honors for "Cool Hand Luke," is ticketed for major stardom in leading roles.

It was fitting that Gregory Peck, who lends great dignity and prestige to the motion picture colony, should also be awarded a tribute for humanitarian activities.

Sammy Davis loused up singing "Talk to the Animals," the award winning song. He gave it a hip inflection whereas it was written intentionally for children seeing "Doctor Dolittle."

Frank Sinatra Jr. To Be Show Host For Dean Martin

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—For 10 successive weeks this summer, Frank Sinatra will replace Dean Martin on the latter's hour show of fun and frolic.

Frank Sinatra Jr., that is.

Young Frank who gains maturity, savvy and confidence every year, is now 24 and will run the show "Dean Martin Presents the Gold Diggers" with the aid of Joey Heatherton, a strikingly beautiful singer-dancer.

"The 10 shows are all based on the 1930s," young Sinatra said during a quiet period between rehearsals.

"The music, costumes and jokes will spoof the old radio shows of that era; Fibber McGee and Molly, The Shadow, Jack Armstrong."

For the first time in more than five years Frank has found himself in one place for more than two or three weeks. Since he was 19, Jr. has been on the road, touring with the Dorsey orchestra, then playing clubs on his own.

Frankie said NBC-TV chose the 1930s theme because it holds interest for every age group from teen-agers to old folks.

"We're giving it a light feeling of young people enjoying themselves. That's something all generations can appreciate. The high point will be a duet every week with me and Joey."

Confident as he is young Frank will have producer-director Greg Garrison running the show, the very same man who gives the polish and knockabout spontaneity to Martin's weekly romp.

"He's the greatest," Frank said. "Greg knows where it's at."

Garrison has surrounded Frank and Joey with comedienne Barbara Heller and comedian Paul Lynde as regulars for the summer.

The "Goldiggers" are a group of a dozen 18 to 20-year-old beauties who sing songs of the 30s and lend a hand in the sketches.

"What's really great is that most of these girls are brand new to television. It'll give our show a fresh, new look," Frank said.

Television Hollywood Correspondent Gives Opinions On Academy Awards

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—For sustained crisis coverage on television, it is difficult to remember a period to compare with the past several weeks.

During this period, which included President Johnson's withdrawal as a candidate, his de-escalation of the Vietnam war and the assassination of Martin Luther King—there has seemed so how trivial to pay much attention to video entertainment.

Reality is—in reality—what television is all about, and when it sweeps across the home screen, enabling the viewer to feel in the groove of history-making, video fulfills its ultimate purpose.

Awards Program Affected
Even Wednesday night's Academy Awards ceremony on AEC-TV was swept up in the reaction to the King murder, which affected the tone of Hollywood's annual prize-giving.

Until these past few weeks, surely the most sustained and dramatic television coverage was the involvement with the act and aftermath of President Kennedy's assassination. This period was certainly the one that affected television coverage the most, and the four days seemed an eternity.

But for the constant televisioner, the unceasing unrolling of events over the past few weeks has been an exhausting experience. And yet, like all such experiences, it becomes an unforgettable part of one's life.

What was most fascinating was to watch the forces of inevitability finally come to a head in the nation. After such pressures on the President over Vietnam, something was bound to give. And after such pressures on the country over the civil rights movement, something terrible was bound to happen.

More In-Depth
During these months of building tension, the thing one missed most on television was the weekly, network, prime time series of in-depth, timely reporting that we used to have.

Surely, until recently we had "ABC Scope" and its sole devotion to the subject of Vietnam—but this was in an odd prime time hour, and many stations simply didn't run it when the network wanted it run.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL
Executive Secretary ARC
The Panhandle Association of Chapters will meet Monday at Berger at Miller's Grill, just off N. Main St., at 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Miss Bonnie McAfee, SMF worker from St. Louis, will be the main speaker. All Red Cross personnel and volunteers are invited to attend this meeting. Claud Payne, field representative, will preside at the meeting and Ina Thornton of Plainview will be the secretary for the association. John S. Skelly, chapter chairman, and Mrs. C. J. Killgo, chairman of volunteers, will represent our chapter at the meeting.

Sunday serving juice to the patients are invited to attend this important meeting.
Our First Aid Instructor Class fell flat on its face this week. Only one person attended the class offered by the Red Cross for those who hold an advanced card in first aid. It was decided to postpone the FAI Class until Sept. or Oct. and hold the class at night so that those who work during the day may attend. Make your plans to take the Standard and Advanced Course so that you may be ready to take this important course in the fall.

Fifteen members of the Red Cross board met April 9 at the Coronado Inn for their monthly breakfast meeting. It was voted to hold the annual meeting the evening of the 14th of May with a dinner meeting at the First Methodist Church. Judge J. G. Denton of Amarillo will be the guest speaker. Judge Denton has worked with Red Cross through the years and we feel that he will be able to present our work to the community this year. Persons who would like to attend the meeting may get their tickets from members of the board or from the Red Cross office.

Easter tray mats and tray favors were taken to the AAFB Hospital Friday and the patients were glad to receive them. Horace Mann Elementary School made the mats and nut cups for the Easter trays for this important holiday. The servicemen certainly appreciate the thoughtfulness of the children in Pampa.

The National Convention for the American Red Cross will be held in Denver, Colo., the 6, 7, and 8 of May. Delegates from Pampa will be the chairman, executive secretary, Mrs. V. J. Drew and two representatives from Pampa High School.

Ray Fisher, FAI for Red Cross, completed two classes in First Aid for Troop 14 for the Boy Scouts. W. O. (Dub) Adkins is leader of the group and took the Standard class with the boys. The following completed the course and received their cards: Raymond Bowles, Jessie Vick, Rusty Marlock, Kenneth Black, Clifford Adkins, Delmer Bowles, Eddie Adams, Ray Adamson and Robert Willis with D. Adkins. The Junior First Aid Class taught by Fisher included the following boys who were aged 12 and 13 years from Troop 14 also: John Power, Richard Stowers, Steve Holcomb, John McCarroll, Jim Daniel, Terry Neslage, Jeff Dunn, Curt Farmer, Dennis McCarroll, Steve Wesley and Bobby Ebenkamp.

De Gaulle Appreciation Jews In Poland

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—Now is the time for all good parents to dye the eggs, buy sweet goodies (sorry, dentists of America), feather the straw basket nest—and hid the Easter surprises.
There are some do's and don'ts about the hiding.
As every parent who's had the experience knows, you do not hide baskets of Easter munchies near a heat outlet—unless you're a dumb bunny. (Heat melts the chocolate and defeats the spirit of the season.)
Where To Hide
You hide baskets in somewhat cool and hard-to-find places. Namely:
—For wee little children, you put the baskets in corners. That way they're not bound to find the goodies until playing the "Little Jack Horner" (sat in a corner) game. Unless, of course, they're terribly smart.
—For bigger-than-that-size children, think of hanging places for baskets. That's the last place they'll think to look. (Hang the basket in a clothes closet, on the guest hooks near the front door or on the rafters.) Such places are the last to get the once-over, thus prolonging the suspense.
The previous advice applies only to those bunny-helpers who do not have dogs and cats sharing the premises.
Canines and felines, in Easter and their usual spirits, are given to chomping everything chomping when first their eyes spy same.

Spray Baskets
In such households, spray the baskets for kiddies with dog-off or cat-off chemicals. If you can't do that, hide the baskets from the child and the animals. (How about behind your prize beach towel on the top shelf of the linen closet?)
Just tuck away the baskets best you can and then settle down to open your Easter cards and think of the season's spirit.
Most of the cards this year are of the inspirational sort, according to spokesmen from Hallmark's Karen Beecraft, Easter religious editor at the firm.
'Rock the Boat,' Miller Urges
NEW YORK (UPI)—What the Protestant churches need most today is to get over their fear of "rocking the boat" on ecumenism and other issues, according to Dr. Samuel H. Miller, dean of Harvard Divinity School.
Addressing a special meeting at Broadway United Church of Christ, Dr. Miller compared present-day Protestantism and the Roman Catholic Church, which he said had been taken over by a "new spirit" unmatched elsewhere in Christendom. "It is the hardest thing to get Protestant churches to do anything against the status quo," Dr. Miller said.

Backstairs At The White House

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
It is hard to understand why residents do not make greater use of Camp David, the self-contained resort operated by the government in the Catocin Mountains of Maryland.
This is where President Johnson met last Tuesday with civilian and diplomatic experts on Vietnam. It was the first time he had used the place since early last summer.
The camp was conceived and pulled together by president Franklin D. Roosevelt during World War II when he wanted a weekend retreat away from Washington's summer humidity, but not too distant from the White House.
Under each resident since FDR, the camp has been modernized and improved. On the outside, it appears to be quite woody and plain, but inside the cabins particularly the resident's house, there are many touches of luxury and comfort.
Main House
The main house Aspen, is set aside for the Chief Executive and scattered through the woods are about dozen guest houses of varying sizes. There is a large swimming pool on the property, a recreation hall with bowling alley and motion picture theater. This hall is used primarily by sailors and marines who staff the place 12 months a year.
Attractive, comfortable and inexpensive to use the mountainous establishment has not seemed to appeal to Chief Executives and their families with one exception, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Celanese Sales Income Increase In First Quarter

NEW YORK (SpI)—Celanese Corporation preliminary net income was $16.5 million, equal to $1.16 a share, on sales of $309.9 million for the first three months of 1968. John W. Brooks, president and chief executive officer, told stockholders at the corporation's recent annual meeting.
The $1.16 figure is 14 per cent higher than the $1.02 per share reported for the same period of last year and higher than the $1.13 reported for the first quarter of 1966.
Brooks pointed out that this improvement was achieved despite losses incurred by a Canadian affiliate, Columbia Cellulose Co. Ltd., which caused a 15 cents a share drain on Celanese earnings for the first quarter of this year.
"This indicates the very real progress that has been made in the main areas of our business," Brooks said.
Celanese sales for the first quarter of 1968 were 21 per cent above 1967 first quarter sales of $255.7 million.
Summarizing Celanese 1967 performance by product line, Brooks said fiber operations did very well under particularly difficult circumstances; petroleum products made a satisfactory contribution; chemicals, plastics and coatings eased a bit with the economy but have since strengthened.
However, forest products experienced severe losses. Brooks said several steps have been taken to improve the forest product operations.
A panel of Celanese scientists, headed by Dr. W. B. Ligett, corporate vice president and technical director, gave the stockholders a comprehensive review of the corporation's 1967 research and development highlights.
Reporting that the corporation spent nearly $39 million for research and development last year, Dr. Ligett said that approximately 30 per cent of Celanese 1967 sales ($11.1 billion) came from products "introduced during the preceding ten year period, based upon our research or acquired technology."

Eisenhower and his family used Camp David a great deal when their Gettysburg house was under construction. After they began spending weekends at their farm home, when it was completed, Camp David still came in for frequent use as a meeting place and as a site for entertaining heads of the states and chiefs of governments.
President Harry S. Truman and his wife made little use of Camp David. They found it too isolated. There was a White House yacht, the USS Williamsburg, during the Truman days and the resident spent many of his free weekends afloat on the lower Potomac and Chesapeake Bay.
Few Visits
President John F. Kennedy and his family visited the camp only a relatively few times during their three White House years. Mrs. Kennedy preferred riding at Middleburg, Va., in the spring and fall. Most summer weekends during the Kennedy era found the first family either on Cape Cod or at Newport, Rhode Island.
The Johnsons have been spasmodic in their use of the camp where the resident can find as much, if not more privacy than he has at his Texas ranch. Sight seeing motorists can see virtually nothing of Camp David except the unimpressive entrance marked only by a sign saying "Camp III."

The Secret Service, of course, would be most happy to see a resident use Camp David as his private weekend hideaway. Security there is unmatched anywhere except at the White House itself.
The camp is bordered by a series of multiple protective arrangements including double electrified fencing, electric beams that can spot any intruder from the ground level up to 10 or 12 feet, plus around-the-clock Marine sentries.
This high degree of protection may be one of the reasons why first families made comparatively little use of Camp David. They may feel as imprisoned as such as protected.
The 10,000 lakes of Saskatchewan, Canada, yield 19 million pounds of fish a year.
The tangerine is often considered an orange but is, properly speaking, a mandarin rather than an orange.
Minnesota's chain of mountains known as the Mesabi Range probably contains more iron ore than any other region in the world.
There were about 3,000 Jews in the 13 colonies at the time of the Revolutionary War.
