Rusk Contends Secrets Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk contended today the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was trying to force him to testify publicly on information that would help the Communists in Vietnam.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the committee, rejected Rusk's assertion during a sometimes heated exchange with the secretary.

Fulbright insisted he is not interested in tactics but in the possibility of major changes in the administration's Vietnam policy.

The embattled secretary and the Arkansas Democrat clashed on the issue at the second day of committee interrogation of Rusk on the wisdom of Vietnam policy and possible future action.

Fulbright demanded again that his committee be fully consulted before any major new deployment of troops to Vietnam is undertaken.

He referred to reports that Gen. William C. Westmoreland has asked for up to 206,000 more men than the current authorized ceiling of 525,000.

Rusk replied that he was not going to go into what units would be sent at any particular time. And he pointed out that during the Korean War and World War II "we did not hold public hearings to give the enemy information on what we were going to do."

The secretary said President Johnson had attempted to consult with Congress "more than any recent President on these matters." Rusk added that he thought there was a good deal more consultation going on now. And he said he felt that during Monday's hearing, the views of the committee members had been "set forth very clearly."

Rusk observed that he told the committee Monday that the President had made no decisions yet on a possible new troop commitment and that this was still the case.

He added that Johnson is

Primary In Political Spotlight

By United Press International

The year's first presidential primary was being decided in New Hampshire today in an atmosphere clouded by the prospects of deepening war and another summer of ghetto revolt.

The Vietnam War overshadowed all other issues in the brief but heated campaign, and attention focused today on the Democratic contest between peace-minded Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota and write-in supporters of President Johnson.

The Republican contest lost much of its excitement when Michigan Gov. George Romney withdrew late last month, making former vice president Richard M. Nixon a certain winner. Interest in the GOP outcome revived in recent days as New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller edged toward active candidacy and New Hampshire write-in efforts in his behalf assumed greater importance.

Nixon said he thought Rockefeller would get 30 per cent of the GOP vote. Most observers estimated half that or less.

Aides indicated late Monday that a decent showing might persuade Rockefeller to campaign actively in the Oregon Primary.

In Mississippi's 3rd Congressional District, voters were choosing today between a Negro civil rights leader and a white segregationist to fill the seat vacated by Gov. John Bell Williams.

New Delayed-Action Bomb Hits Tunnels

By EUGENE V. RISHER

SAIGON (UPI) — U. S. Air Force B52 Stratofortresses today pounded North Vietnamese ringed the Marine fort of Khe Sanh on the northern border of South Vietnam. Military sources said the jets dropped a new type-delayed action bomb capable of smashing Communist attack tunnels.

U.S. spokesmen said the Strategic Air Command bombers struck six times in the past 24 hours. The sources said each wave used the bomb fitted with fuses to explode after landing and destroy tunnels 20 feet below ground.

In Khe Sanh, intelligence sources said Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, North Vietnam's defense minister and mastermind of the landmark French defeat at Dien Bien Phu 14 years ago, is in next door Laos directing the assault on the Marine bastion.

Giap launched his battle against Dien Bien Phu on March 13, 1954, and Khe Sanh's Leathernecks were braced for the possibility of the long-anticipated attack against them would begin Wednesday because the Communists have a tradition of kicking off campaigns on anniversary dates.

Tunnel Warfare

Khe Sanh, western anchor of the allied anti-invasion line facing 70,000 North Vietnamese troops according to intelligence estimates, is itself surrounded by about 36,000 Communists. The Communists have dug zig-zag trenches to within 100 yards of the base perimeter. The 6,000-man Leatherneck garrison has been using staves and even listening devices to ferret out attack tunnels dug by the Communists.

The military sources said the U.S. command had withheld use of the delayed-action bombs until now, to get the best use of the new type at Khe Sanh. They said the bombs weigh 750 tons and bore 15 to 20 feet into the ground before their main explosive charge is triggered.

Smaller jets used delayed-fuse bombs in the Vietnam War earlier. But the sources said a new model was developed for use by the B52s which in the past simply dumped tons of high explosives for saturation bombing.

Air War

In other action, U.S. jets flew 76 missions against North Vietnam Monday, striking six targets within 85 miles of Hanoi. U.S. spokesmen said one prime target was Hanoi Radio, nerve center for the nation's military communications. Other targets include airfields, radar sites and train lines. U.S. officials also reported the end of two long operations, Saratoga and Enterprise, that killed 5,970 guerrillas in the Saigon area.

In Monday's major fighting, troops of the U.S. Army 196th Light Infantry Brigade said they killed 78 Communists in a five-hour fight near Tam Ky, (See ACTION, Page 9)

Soldiers Drown Aboard Vehicle In Lake Larned

FT. HOOD, Tex. (UPI) — An armored personnel carrier with five soldiers from North Ft. Hood in it sank in Lake Larned Monday and three of the men were drowned.

The Army withheld the names of the victims pending notification of next of kin.

The vehicle, which belonged to the 46th Infantry of the 1st Armored Division, was fording the lake in a routine maneuver when it sank.

One body was recovered immediately after the carrier went down and scuba divers later found the other five.

The two men who escaped were treated in Darnell Hospital at Ft. Hood for exposure but their conditions were good.

An Army spokesman said personnel carriers of the type the men were in are supposed to float, but for some undetermined reason, this one did not.

The Army was investigating to determine what happened.

Votes Needed For Passage Of Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Democratic leaders searched today for the votes to pass the Senate's sweeping civil rights bill that would ban discrimination in the sale or rental of homes and apartments by 1970.

The leaders were uncertain whether they could find the votes or how to go about trying. House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, Mich., held a key, and he remained studiously uncommitted.

"We're like a boat on an uncharted sea," said Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee, after a meeting during which he, Speaker John W. McCormack, and Democratic Leader Carl Albert, Okla., failed to settle on a strategy for the bill.

"Just preliminary talks," was all Albert would say.

Celler said they still were considering the possibility of putting the measure unchanged to a House vote in hopes of sending it directly to the White House. For this course, Ford's support was considered crucial.

The other main alternatives were to send it either to a House-Senate negotiating committee or to Celler's committee for modifications to make it more palatable to the House. These courses carried the dual risks of returning it to the Senate again to face a possible filibuster and of prolonging action into the summer when rioting could deliver a swift death blow to the bill.

President Johnson lauded the Senate for passing the bill Monday and said "every American" could be proud of the action.

City Studies Request To Fly Flag Half Mast Honoring War Dead

A request that the American flag be lowered to half-staff at public buildings during funeral rites for local servicemen who have died in Vietnam was filed today with the City Commission by Mrs. Virginia McDonald, president of the Pampa Council of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. McDonald read to commissioners a resolution recently adopted by the council recommending that such honor be bestowed each time a local serviceman gives his life for his country.

Uncertainty regarding the rules and regulations relating to occasions when flags may be ordered to half-staff has been a matter for discussion in a number of cities recently. A similar request has been made in Amarillo.

Mayor Jim Nation told Mrs. McDonald and commissioners he thought possibly there could also be a community effort for wider observance of holidays—especially Memorial Day—when special honor could be given to local servicemen who had died during the previous year in the service of their country.

Guerrillas In Malaysia, Thailand Show Strength and Will to Fight

By RAY F. HERNDON

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI) — Communist guerrillas working from secret hideouts along the Thai-Malaysia border showed an increase in strength and willingness to fight during the past year, authoritative Malaysian sources said today.

The sources said 1967 brought twice as many clashes between the guerrillas and Malaysian or Thai forces than the previous year.

They did not say how many guerrillas were fighting from the hideouts but they described the increase as "slight." Previous official government figures said the outlawed Communist party was believed to have "between five and six hundred well trained guerrillas and a reserve of about 1,000 men who are available for full time service if required."

The border divides the narrow Malay Peninsula at a point about 300 miles across the Gulf of Siam from the southern tip of South Vietnam.

In the 1950s before Malaysia won its independence from Britain colonial troops fought a bitter but successful war against Communist insurgents and left the small nation relatively free of guerrilla activity.

The sources said increased recruitment probably was not (See GUERRILLAS, Page 9)

Final passage was given to an ordinance accepting the bid of the Lewis Construction Co. of Dumas for the paving of 75 to 80 residential blocks in the city's summer paving program. The half-million dollar project is expected to get under way in late spring. A special meeting was called for 8:30 a.m. next Tuesday to adopt an ordinance setting a date for a public hearing on the overall street improvement program.

An ordinance was passed on first reading prohibiting the parking of junked autos and dilapidated vehicles on residential streets and lots.

Commissioners approved payment of city bills totaling $21,384.02, library bills for $700, and bond fund bills amounting to $6,879.61.

Unrest Bothering Reds Across Eastern Europe

By WALTER LOGAN

United Press International

A wave of unrest tingled the spine of communism across Eastern Europe today.

In Warsaw, riot police manned water cannon and clutched tear gas grenades after youths stormed in the streets, shouting for "freedom" outside party headquarters.

In Prague, the new and younger party leaders were expected to hold a Politburo session today to decide just how far they dare publicly condemn their former chiefs without ruining the image of communism.

In Bucharest, the Romanians again were saying "nyet" to the Russians, and doing it to their faces in Geneva where the Romanian delegates to the disarmament conference openly opposed the Soviet-American plan for a treaty banning the spread of nuclear weapons.

ern Europe, once part of a Stalinist empire, had felt no such winds of change since Hungarians staged a doomed anti-Communist revolt in 1956.

There was no sure sign of any rising so jolting today. But the events underway were unexpected, noisy and public and, thus, exciting in a sector of the world where silent obedience is discipline. Things were stirring.

A westerner drove through the snowy streets of Warsaw this morning and found the capital hard at work. The police were watchful.

Hundreds of civilian workers, militiamen and auxiliary police joined the helmeted officers on guard against a fourth day of riot in the streets. They appeared to look for trouble not from the university students who rioted last weekend but from the teen-agers who hurled stones and shouted "Gestapo, Gestapo" at the police Monday.

Bright Sunshine Melting Snow Dumped By Storm

A bright sun shone on the Top O' Texas today as snow began to melt and the near-blizzard conditions of the last two days swept eastward.

The weather bureau was predicting a high near 40 for today with the mercury climbing in the 50s for tomorrow with generally fair weather in the offing.

Hazardous driving conditions and bitterly-cold winds kept Top O' Texans indoors for the most part yesterday as the storm dumped up to seven inches of snow in the Panhandle.

A late winter storm lashed Texas Monday and today, locking travelers indoors, smashing signs and dumping up to seven inches of snow in the Panhandle.

Heavy rains further south threatened flooding on several rivers.

The storm blew into the state from New Mexico where it had dropped up to a foot of snow Sunday and by late Monday the same weather system was threatening tornadoes in portions of Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia.

A spokesman at the Fort Worth Weather Bureau said it looked as if Texas would not receive a great amount of more snow with the possible exception of the Wichita Falls area which already had about two inches on the ground.

Cold Front Due
And weather stations through the Panhandle reported little snow activity. A spokesman at Dalhart, however, said a cold front was due to move into the state this afternoon and it could possibly bring some snow with it.

Elsewhere, the winds that plagued much of Texas Monday were reported diminishing and the rain was gradually slackening off.

Snow was generally two to three inches deep west of a line from Junction to Fort Worth to Sherman but some flurries fell as far south as San Angelo and Temple.

Seven inches at Vega
Vega received seven inches of snow and accumulations of four or five inches were common in the Panhandle. Drifts of up to four feet closed schools and businesses throughout that area.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol closed all Interstate highways to traffic and drifting in the Wichita Falls area blocked all but emergency travel there.

Blowing snow blinded traffic in Wichita Falls for a time Monday afternoon and school and bus service in the city was canceled today.

More than 100 cars snarled the expressway from Wichita Falls to Burk Burnett before police closed it to traffic.

Measurement Difficult
More than two inches of snow was on the ground early today

Eastern Texas were filled by snow and heavy rain and showed sharp rises Monday. The Trinity was expected to crest about two feet above flood stage at Dallas today and the Sulphur was to go about seven feet above the flood mark at Hagensport.

Amarillo had a high of 29 degrees Monday and it was 31 at Dalhart. But the temperature climbed to 81 in the Beaumont-Fort Arthur area.

Fort Worth and Dallas got more than two inches of rain and more than an inch fell at Austin, Lufkin, Mineral Wells, Tyler and Wichita Falls.

Vatican Scraps Law Concerning Joining Masons

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican has virtually scrapped an old church law excommunicating Catholics who join the Order of Free Masons, Vatican sources report.

The sources said Catholics are now free to join the Masons in the United States, Britain and most other countries of the world.

But the European Grand Orient Lodge form of Masonry, established primarily in Italy and France, is still considered anti-Catholic or atheistic, they said.

Free Masonry, which dates back to medieval times, describes itself as a non-political, nonsectarian movement dedicated to the ideal of universal brotherhood.

There are more than five million Masons in the world, most of them in English-speaking lands. The United States alone accounts for nearly four million members.

Pope Clement XII condemned the order in 1738 as atheistic and anti-Catholic, and his action has been affirmed by seven other popes in 16 different pronouncements.

The Eastern Orthodox church and some protestant bodies also have opposed Free Masonry. Vatican sources said there has been no official revocation of the excommunication law but the Vatican's Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith "has let it be known Catholics joining Free Masons orders are no longer automatically excommunicated."

"The church's new attitude has been in effect for more than a year," they said.

Marine Military School To Award 11 Scholarships

HARLINGEN (SpI) — A scholarship program for the Marine Military Academy, a private preparatory school here, has been approved by the executive committee of the board of directors at the recent quarterly meeting in Harlingen.

Eleven scholarships, to be known as the Marine Military Academy Foundation Scholarships, will be awarded for 1968-69 to academically outstanding students of good character without regard to financial need. One will be a full scholarship of $2,500 and ten will be for $1,000 each.

In announcing the board action, the committee chairman, Brig. General Walter S. McIlhenny, USMC (Ret.), said, "By approving these foundation scholarships, the board emphasizes the importance it places upon academic achievement. The Academy's standards are high and its curriculum is challenging. The candidates who are awarded these particular scholarships will be honor students who will be expected to graduate from the Marine Academy and bring prestige to its name."

The committee also approved the "Holland M. Smith Scholarship" to be awarded annually in accordance with the provisions of the late General Smith's will. This scholarship, of $2,500 each year, will be awarded to a candidate of high all-around achievement and potential and will be considered the highest honor that can be awarded to a prospective cadet.

The committee accepted the offer of the New York Marine Corps Scholarship Foundation to provide two scholarships of $1,000 each to qualified candidates who are sons of Marines and in need of financial assistance.

The Lt. Louis D. Dobbin Memorial Scholarship of $500, established last year in memory of the son of Brig. General John F. Dobbin, former superintendent of the Academy, will also be available.

These scholarships are in addition to those awarded each year from the scholarship funds provided by generous and staunch supporters of the Academy. General McIlhenny said, "The board of directors, by concerning itself with the criteria of academic achievement rather than financial need, is adding to the number of cadets who will benefit from the program of education and military training offered by the Academy. The Marine Military Academy is training young men to be the leaders of the future and there is no investment which can be more rewarding."

Full details of the scholarship are available through the director of admissions of the Marine Military Academy, Harlingen, Texas. 78550.

In The Market For A Resort Home? Government Is Selling Twenty-Six

ZEPATA, Tex. (UPI)—Some one in the market for a resort home can buy one April 3 in a warm climate, just a few miles from a lake and next door to a school—providing he doesn't mind buying 26 other houses to go with it.

The U.S. government is selling by bid April 3 a 27-building housing development in Zapata in the Rio Grande Valley. Falcon Lake, built in 1950, can be seen from the development and the Rio Grand itself is not far away.

John Walton, a realtor handling the sale for the General Services Administration in Fort Worth, said the houses were originally built along with the Zapata radar installation next door to the development. The radar installation became obsolete in the early 1960s and wants closed down.

Back to Government "The houses were built for the personnel at the radar station because there weren't many houses down there," Walton said.

"Then the station became obsolete in 1961 or 1962. The property was sold once but there was a surveying error so the government got it back."

The rest of the radar station was turned over to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, who will in turn give it to the area school district. The housing development consists of one four-bedroom house with two baths, six three-bedroom houses with dining and one bath each and 20 three-bedroom houses having one bath each.

Walton said four of the houses were presently rented and two others were occupied by maintenance and protective personnel. The leases of the four rented houses would be turned over to the new owner.

"The most attractive feature of the development is it is near Falcon Lake," Walton said. "People can fish and boat. Of course the town is not very big (2,500) but they have a good climate in the winter."

Another advantage for families with children will be the new school at the radar station.

Antonio Molina, Zapata school superintendent, said 200 students in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades will be moved into the station in September. "We plan to move a vocational training class into auto mechanics over there and the school district bus shop and some administrative offices," plan to do at the beginning.

"It has not been conveyed to us formally yet. We have it on a temporary permit. The legal end of it is being worked out but we hope to move in next September."

Molina said the district was getting the station free for HEW and the extra space would relieve the district's overcrowded schools.

The station consists of three barracks, a cafeteria, a recreational building and a large building of about 6,000 square feet which eventually might be turned into a gymnasium.

Price Urging Collection Of French Debt

WASHINGTON, D. C. (SpI)—A resolution urging the President to begin collecting the 60-year-old French debt has been introduced in the House by Congressman Bob Price.

Price said in introducing the measure "that the American people should no longer be forced to subsidize a foreign debt of almost $7 billion when French President DeGaulle had, in effect, declared economic warfare on the United States." The French debt dates back to World War I and is a legal and binding debt, Price said.

Commission Blames Whites For Creating And Maintaining Ghettos

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In white institutions maintain it, and white society condones it. The National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders had this to say about racism as a factor in ghetto rioting:

"White racism is essentially responsible for the explosive mixture which has been accumulating in our cities since the end of World War II."

"What white Americans have never fully understood—but what the Negro can never forget—is that white society is deeply implicated in the ghetto. White institutions created it, white society condones it. Pervasive discrimination and education and housing have resulted in the continuing exclusion of great numbers of Negroes from the benefits of economic progress. . . . at the same time, most whites and many Negroes outside the ghetto have prospered to a degree unparalleled in the history of civilization.

"Through television and other media, this affluence has been endlessly flaunted before the jobless ghetto youth."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wiesnerberger Investment Report says it is difficult to postulate a major market advance with anxiety continuing to dominate the market. But, it says, there are some encouraging signs. "We may have seen a breadth climax, a prelude to a sharp rally. Moreover, the markdown in prices has reduced the confidence element in the market equation." The investors sense that "certain groups and specific stocks are demonstrating an ability to advance regardless of the movement of the market averages."

Reynolds & Co. feels pessimism of an extreme nature was evident near the bottom in past trading sessions, and the firm feels the "pendulum now has swung far enough in the direction of bearishness for us to adopt a positive attitude."

The Alexander Hamilton Institute's Investment Bulletin comments a major problem faced by the market is the "depressing effects of profits which could stem from the possibility of wage and price controls. Either the present administration or the next probably will have to take these steps to cure the country's economic ills, if the Vietnam war continues."

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Maybe you and your gourmet friends already are familiar with the current trend in cookbooks. But when I dropped in a bookstore the other day to pick out one for a wedding present, it came as a revelation to me. I can't remember having been so culturally uplifted.

Since all receipts for, say, cucumber soup are basically the same, publishers are going to great lengths to bring out cookbooks that are "different."

One way they do this is by garnishing the recipes with dissertations on the geographical, historical, literary, poetical or philosophical aspects of cucumber soup.

Which may explain why so many modern housewives have trouble getting dinner ready on time.

While chuckling over an amusing essay on existentialism, which argued a recipe for spoonbread, I got the idea for a different cookbook to end all different cookbooks—a cookbook without any recipes at all.

It will be a detective story with culinary information blended into the narrative. The chapter on blackeyed peas starts like this:

"Mike Sledge, private eye, awoke to the thunder of a thousand buffalo stampeding across his medulla oblongata. Daylight was streaming obliquely through the broken slat in the window blind, from which Sledge's keen, analytical mind deduced that the sun had risen.

"Cat-like, Sledge raised his muscular, albeit throbbing, head from the pillow and stumbled into the tiny kitchen adjoining the bedroom. He didn't need to look at the grease-stained Playboy calendar hanging over the stove to know it was New Year's Day. The stabbing pains in his temples told him that.

"Instinctively, he removed two pints of blackeyed peas from the refrigerator. It would serve four to six, and he would be eating alone. But Sledge was in no condition to quibble.

"He lifted a one-pound salted hog jaw from the breadbox and, feeling more steady now, neatly quartered it. This, along with the peas, he dumped into a saucepan, adding one cup of water before shoving it on the medium burner.

"Sledge knew from experience that his New Year's repast, a southern dish supposed to bring peace and plenty throughout the year, would achieve maximum sapidity in precisely 35 minutes. Time enough to reflect upon the events of the past evening, which had brought him the biggest case of his career."

Four Million Registered Voters In Texas This Year, Report Indicates

By DAVID ANDERSON
AUSTIN (UPI) — Reports from county tax assessors have indicated Texas has at least four million registered voters this year, a phenomenal one million increase over any previous year.

Such an influx of new voters normally is expected to benefit liberal candidates in the Democratic primary and Democrats in the general election.

In the 189 counties that have reported to the secretary of state, registrations are running 46 per cent ahead of 1967, when there were just under three million registered voters in the last presidential years, 1964, there were 2,984,766.

Still Processing
All counties were supposed to report to the secretary of state by March 1, but many tax assessors have not finished processing voter applications.

Those not reporting include the four biggest counties, where tax assessors say the increases are sizeable but not as large as those in the 189 counties that have filed reports.

Harris County tax assessor Carl Smith now estimates there are 550,000 registered voters in his county, up about 9 per cent from last year.

In San Antonio, assessor Hedy Beard estimates 239,000, up 20 per cent.

In Tarrant County the latest estimate is 224,000, a 25 per cent increase.

Dallas Gain Large
The new estimate for Dallas County is 450,000, up 30 per cent.

These estimates reduce the projected statewide increase to 35 or 40 per cent — still enough to add one million new voters to the rolls.

A change in the election law makes it somewhat hazardous to compare this year's voter registration total to those of previous years.

Voters over 60 years of age who live in towns under 10,000 population are required to register this year for the first time.

Thus this year's registration totals include some who were not registered before but were voters nonetheless.

According to the 1960 census, there were 250,000 Texans over 60 living in the county or in towns under 10,000.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

William Driver is believed to have been the first man to call the American flag Old Glory. The World Almanac reports. Driver hoisted the Stars and Stripes above his brig, the Charles Doggett, on March 17, 1824, saying: "I name thee Old Glory." He is also credited with having said: "My ship, my country, my flag—Old Glory."

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst
After the "bread and freedom" riots in Poznan in 1956 and Wladyslaw Gomulka's confrontation with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, Poland seemed well on the way toward leading others among the Soviet satellites to new freedoms.

They were heady days for the Poles.

Gomulka, only recently restored to party good graces after imprisonment as a Tito-style revisionist, defied a Khrushchev threat of Soviet military intervention, and upon Khrushchev's angry departure went on Warsaw Radio to declare that "every country has the right to be sovereign and independent. I would say it begins to be so."

In those early days a return of the Catechism to Polish schools signaled an improvement in church-state relations.

The newspaper Nowa Kultura called for closer relations with the West.

But the new freedoms were short-lived and by 1964 had, except for farmers who retained their private lands, all but disappeared.

Po Prosto (Forward Youth), a fighting newspaper in 1956, disappeared in 1957.

Nowa Kultura held on until 1963.

In 1959, the state removed the Catechism from the schools, closed seminaries and began levying heavy taxes against church properties.

The secret police reappeared and neighbors were set to spying against neighbors.

As other nations of the Eastern Communist bloc eased border controls, Polish controls remained as strict as ever.

There never had been real independence of the Soviet Union.

There were a number of explanations.

Soviet troops remained on Polish soil, although presumably Gomulka had won a veto right over their movements.

Poland remained economically dependent upon the Soviet Union.

Within the Polish Communist party a three-way fight for power raged, with Gomulka and his followers in the center, ranged against old-line Stalinist conservatives on the right and the partisans on the left. The latter had remained at home during the war, fighting in the underground while others went to Moscow. They were nationalists, anti-semitic and anti-American. The fight still goes on.

Determined Girl Back For Classes

LUBECK (UPI)—Peggy Wey a persistent Texas Tech Junior from Quanah, Tex., was to return to classes Monday—on crutches—and she's not likely to stop by any candy machines.

She put a dime in one such machine in her dormitory last week and got nothing in return. She beat on the machine, and when that failed to dislodge the coin, she tried what she thought was the next most logical thing. She tried to tip it just enough to let the money fall out.

The 500-pound machine tipped too easily. It fell on her.

A male student pulled the machine away and she was rushed to a hospital, where doctors spent 2½ hours removing glass from her leg and stopping the bleeding.

A nurse asked her if she wanted a soft drink.

"No," Miss Wey replied. "I'd like a piece of candy. That's what I was after in the first place."

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—ABC-TV's tentative new fall schedule has been released, and one of the few interesting things about it is that three of the listed regular series are expected to be filmed in England.

One of the shows is the long-time substitute that has become a favorite, "The Avengers," tongue-in-cheek secret agent stuff. Whether this series actually stays on the starting schedule, however, remains to be seen.

Then there's a new weekly half-hour, "The Ugliest Girl in Town," which will attempt to be a comedy. The network describes it like this:

"The Ugliest Girl in Town is believed to be or not—Peter Kastner, who plays the dual roles of Timothy and Timmy. Timothy is a boy in love with a girl. But circumstances transform him into 'Timmy'—the model of the mod, mod world—with an assist from a beetle-ish wig and a super-mini outfit."

Suspense Series
The third of the scheduled British series is "Tales of the Unknown," an anthology of hour-long suspense stories.

Another one-hour ABC-TV series on the new schedule is an interracial western, "The Outcasts." According to the network, its basic theme is "the relationship between two men—one white and one black—during the raw days of the post-Civil War west."

The stars are Don Murray and Otis Young, and AEC-TV elaborates on their parts as follows.

"Murray is Virginia aristocracy embittered by a pride-shattering war, while Young's role is that of a slave who becomes a bounty hunter after obtaining his war-won freedom. Though the two men frequently ride and battle side by side, a sense of estrangement continually underlies their relationship."

Perhaps the most exhaustive study of the marijuana problem ever attempted by television begins tonight on Los Angeles' educational station, KCET. Over a period of four consecutive nights, a total of 12 prime time hours will be devoted to the subject by the station. It is the most ambitious local production in KCET's three-and-a-half-year history and other stations around the country might be well advised to examine the results for possible wider national distribution.

According to KCET, its point of view is "the middle ground—a bringing together of the two extremes of the problem for a careful, reasoned inspection. Probably no other issue today forces such a polarization of the younger and older generations."

HOW'S BUSINESS?

Future Upsurge Seen For Consumer Buying

By THE BABSON STAFF

One of the reasons for the slowdown in business early in 1967 was the leveling off in consumer spending. Indeed, the retail trade from the early portion of 1966 was definitely laggard, altho in the months since the spring of 1967 retail sales have held in a peak range, on a seasonally adjusted basis. Fortunately, the economy during this period was bolstered by government military spending.

At this juncture, retail trade still lacks real upward impetus. A very crucial need is for consumers to loosen their purse strings. There is a danger that the stimulus of military spending may soon wane, altho this source of business strength could be prolonged if American involvement in Vietnam is escalated. If defense outlays are restrained along with other economy moves by the federal government, it will be up to the consumer sector to take up the slack.

Fortunately, the fundamentals do favor higher consumer spending as the year progresses. At least until midyear, business should enjoy a high degree of vitality, thus employment conditions should remain very favorable and personal income should trend higher. New wage hikes also should encourage spending.

However, an important consideration is the high rate of consumer savings in 1967. Usually, consumers tend to save a larger percentage of current income when economic conditions are unfavorable. Hence the fantastic savings rate last year was quite surprising. Consumers set aside 7.1 per cent of income after tax and related payments in 1967. In the previous year, personal savings represented about 5.9 per cent of take-home pay.

Not all of savings were channeled into savings accounts. Investments and life insurance were increased, and payments were made on installment debt. While the many major uncertainties now existing tend to dampen confidence and the desire to spend, at least a base is being laid for a future upsurge in consumer buying.

SHOES FOR RUSSIA

LONDON (UPI)—The Soviet Union has ordered $5 million in shoe manufacturing equipment from the British United Shoe Company, a firm controlled by a group of U.S. businessmen, officials announced Monday.

The first flag for the united regiments of the American colonies, under Gen. George Washington, was unfurled Jan. 1, 1776. It was the Grand Union flag with the British cross of St. George and St. Andrew on a blue field in the canton and 13 red and white stripes.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: For the last few years I have been the secretary to an unmarried man, almost young enough to be my son, but not quite. Because he lives alone, I do many personal things for him in addition to my regular secretarial duties.

Last summer we took a European vacation at the same time, and since he is well-acquainted there, I was entertained royally by his friends, along with him. Believe me, all of this was perfectly innocent, and it was with my husband's knowledge and approval. But I know there is talk among my co-workers, and little understanding on the part of my friends. Should I ignore the talk, and go on as I have?

DEAR TROUBLED: If everything is on the up-and-up, and your husband understands and approves, it appears that your only problem is the "talk." If this is the case, just make sure you aren't inflating the talk — by talking too much yourself.

DEAR ABBY: I just had to write when I read about the "creepy" girl nobody wanted to bother with. Did they ever stop to think why she was that way? I was a girl like that. I had an alcoholic father and a mother who didn't care. I was never taught to wash and keep myself clean and neat. The only room in the house with any heat was the kitchen, and we didn't have hot running water, so I wasn't about to take a bath in the kitchen with the whole family looking on.

I didn't have any friends because of my dirty appearance. But two girls in my class took me under their wing. They taught me how to dress and fix myself up. They even helped me get baby-sitting jobs.

They let me come to their houses to take a bath and wash my hair, and they didn't care what people thought. They told me they knew I was a nice girl that needed help. That gave me an incentive to never do anything wrong to make them sorry they gave me their friendship.

I have been married for 20 years to a good man, and I have always taught my children never to make fun of anybody because of their appearance. BEFRIENDED IN BERKSHIRE

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "The Troubled Trio," who did not want that "queer, homely, creepy" girl hanging around, trying to be friends with them, prompted me to write this:

A "homely, creepy" girl needs more than anything else to be taken in, given friendship and taught how to dress, to fix her hair, and to use make-up, if her religion and the school allow it.

And I would ask "The Troubled Trio" — the popular girls at school "in" with the crowd — to read Christ's words in the 25th chapter of Matthew, verse 40:

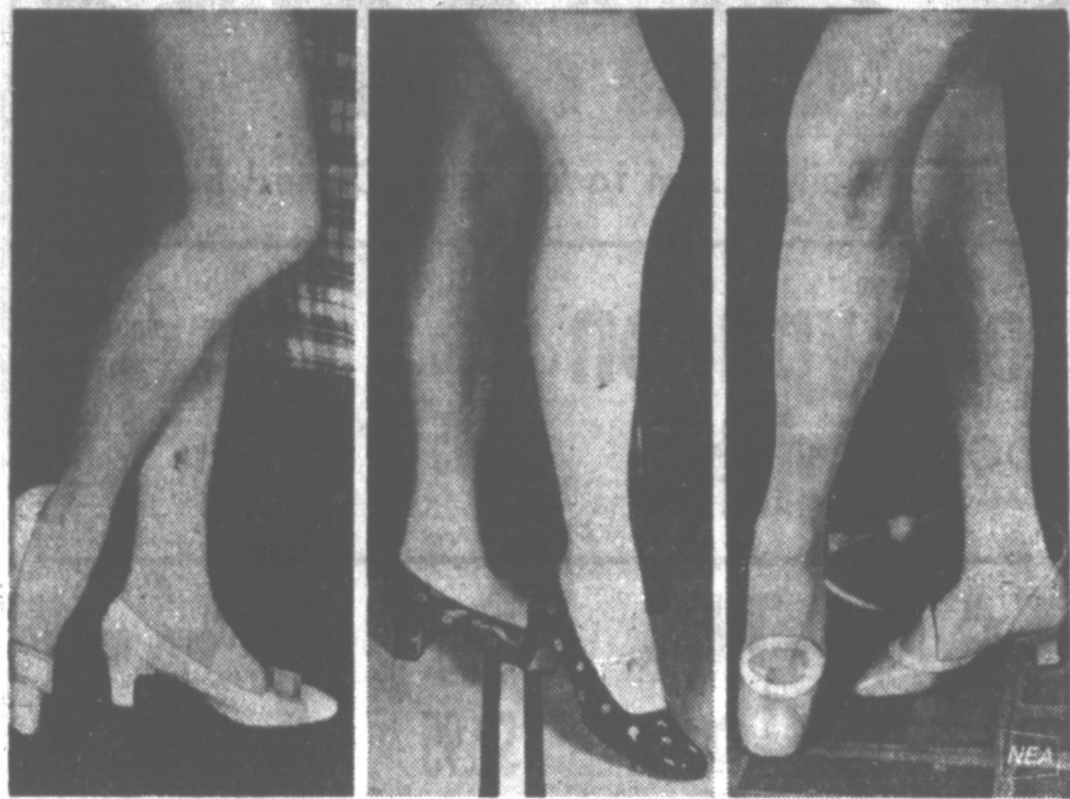

"And the King shall answer and say unto them, 'Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren ye have done it unto me.'"

Sincerely yours,

CONFIDENTIAL TO MOTHER of a 15-year-old girl: Tell your daughter this: "I don't care what other mothers let their daughters do, but no 15-year-old daughter of mine is going on an overnight ski trip with her 17-year-old boyfriend, and if HE doesn't like it, he can go jump."

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69709, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Blind Teen-Agers Attend Style Show

DALLAS (UPI)—Anita Freudenreich, 14, looked up from chatting with friends and turned slightly to the side in her chair. A model stood there with a fresh new outfit.

Anita's hand reached out and tentatively touched the ruffled dress, then her fingers slipped over the costume, checking the texture and cut of it.

"Oh, I think this dress is beautiful," she said, "it feels like a baby's cap." Her companions at the table smiled and knew what the dress must be like. They were all guests at a fa-

Mental Health Seminars Slated to Study Children

The first in a series of seminar training meetings on Mental Health of Children was held recently at the Kilgore Children's Psychiatric Center and Hospital in Amarillo.

The next meeting will be at 1 p.m. Monday, and will continue at this time on the first and third Mondays of April and May. According to Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott, these meetings are sponsored by the Family Living Committee of the Agricultural Extension Service.

Those who attended were Mrs. T. T. Givens, Beta Sigma Phi City Council; Sister Alice Holden, Sister Helen Ann Collier, Saint Vincent's Catholic School; Mrs. Paul Bowers, Family Living Committee; Mrs. Bruce W. Riehart, Mrs. Mack Hiatt, Jr., Mrs. N. L. Nichol, Pampa City Council of PTA; Mrs. John Spearman, Mrs. Ray Robertson, Family Living Committee and Home Demonstration Clubs; Rev. Sam B. Hulsey, St. Vincent's Catholic Church; Miss Jeannie Ford, assistant county home demonstration agent, and Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Gray County home demonstration agent.

Cal W. Yokum, chief psychiatric social worker with the center, explained facilities and the team approach of their treatment. Yokum said symptoms of emotional problems in children were bedwetting, rebellion, lying, disrespect, and destructiveness.

After the supper a devotional was given by Mrs. J. C. Jarvis, taken from Romans 8th Chapter and verses 14-17.

The next class meeting will be March 29 with Mrs. Bill Price as hostess in her home. The meeting ended with a prayer by Mrs. Bill Price.

Attending were Mrs. M. L. Mills, J. C. Jarvis, W. A. Thompson, Emma Gores, Bill Price, Cecil Pearce and one guest, Miss Billie Price.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The coming Full Moon brings many difficulties unless you are now prepared to be very conscientious to carry through with the promises that you have made. To refrain from criticizing others and do your job with the care that you put into the things that really do matter is a great deal to you. Avoid outbursts.

GENIUM (May 21 to June 21) Showing gentility and thoughtfulness at home will bring some very fine results. Show that you are really devoted. Begin that new project in all of your affairs but do so quietly and don't take any risks.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Avoid traveling at such a rapid rate of speed that you could get into a bad accident and be laid up for some time to come. Further could make an uncalculated remark. Ignore it.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Instead of trying to buy your way out of some present problem, find a more easy, ethical and logical way. Don't trust a business expert who today could give the wrong advice. Use your own good judgment.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) Strive for self-control instead of ranting and raving about something that cannot be helped right now. Be loyal to associates. Doing for others is important; don't expect so much help.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21) There is much private work for you to do that you are afraid you will not be able to get ahead so fast as you had anticipated. Take time for health treatments. Do something about your appearance, too.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21) Others are very much in the mood to assist you in gaining aims, but it behooves you not to be demanding. However, avoid attending some social affair that could mean trouble in p.m. Study instead.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Whatever you have to do in the world of activity, do it, so follow through with the order of highest-priority. Some new piece of machinery can be very helpful in your work. Be more efficient in the future.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You would like to jump right into some new outlet, but this requires further study for best results. Corresponding with outer-towners can bring fine results. Show appreciation for their efforts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Follow that intuitive hunch that can help you to add much to your present routine that makes them more efficient operative. Be sure you get your bills paid. Then do what you expect of you in p.m.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't argue with an associate who does not care to follow through with your ideas right now. Get busy with others and improve harmony everywhere. Do whatever is of a constructive, helpful nature.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she, will be one of those individuals who will do well in personal work, getting others into the right groove in life. Therefore, stand the education along such lines. The field of psychology would also be fine here. Teach early not to be so critical of others. Give religious training very early in life.

The models were all teen-agers from the "Young Texan Board" of the department store.

Debbie Saunders, a 13-year-old from Garland, gave hostesses and guests alike a surprise. She got up from her lunch table, borrowed an electric guitar from a rock combo playing at the show, and played a big beat solo or two of her own.

Members present were Appha Elliott, LaWausa Ring, Vickie Cochran, and Paula Hartman.

Her Beauty Secret
When actor Richard Burton named 70-year-old Dame Edith Evans as one of the 10 most beautiful women in the world, she was inevitably asked for her secret of eternal youth. Said the British actress: "I guess it's simply soap and water, and learning not to fret."

PERRY FRANKLIN ... heads organization

Pampans In Chevrolet Honor Group

It has been announced by J. H. Halbrook, zone service manager for Chevrolet Motor Division, Oklahoma City, Okla., that Perry Franklin, service manager for Culberson-Stowers Chevrolet Co., Inc., 805 N. Hopt, has been named president of a Chevrolet Service Department honor group.

Halbrook said, "Franklin has, on the merits of his service management, earned the title of 'President' of the 'Only the Best Club for Service Managers' of the Oklahoma City zone."

Franklin is the first service manager to earn the honor to attend Chevrolet's first "Only the Best Club" national convention to be held in Las Vegas, Nev., May 18-21.

The convention will include business sessions for Chevrolet wholesale and retail personnel to jointly plan and study how to improve service to Chevrolet owners. Evenings will include organized activities with some of the finest entertainment in the world available, Halbrook said.

Franklin has been a member of the "Only the Best Club" since it was first organized by Chevrolet Motor Division. He earned the position of secretary-treasurer in 1964. The Pampans, who resides at 513 Magnolia, has been employed at Culberson-Stowers Chevrolet for 28 years.

Commission To Study Bond Bids

Gray County commissioners will meet tomorrow to accept bids on $850,000 in bonds voted Nov. 11 for improvements at Highland General Hospital.

Sealed bids for the handling of the bonds will be opened between 10 and 11 a.m. Other business on the agenda will be routine paying of bills and the appearance before the commissioners of an insurance representative who will present his company's hospitalization and insurance plan for county employees.

DIES FROM INJURIES
SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Martin Guerrero, 17, of Boerne, injured Sunday in an auto smash-up north of San Antonio, died Monday.

Boy Dies In Aftermath Of Mishap Here

Funeral services for Chuck Dwayne Hagerman, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale H. Hagerman, 1136 Sandeview, will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Carmichael-Whitley Colonial Chapel, Rev. William V. Brennan, C. M., of St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Memory Gardens Cemetery.

The boy died after undergoing surgery Sunday in an Amarillo Hospital. He was taken to Highland General Hospital Friday after his mother said she found him on the floor at home, where he had apparently fallen and struck his head. He was later transferred to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo. An autopsy was performed today to determine the cause of death.

Survivors are his parents; a sister, Angela; a brother, Jimmy; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Hagerman, Pampans, and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Mack, Borger.

Palbearers will be Luke Dyer, Ronnie Gaffin, John McCaskill and Bob Cornell.

Workshop Is Slated For CoC Execs

E. O. (Red) Wedgeworth, Pampa Chamber of Commerce manager, will head the chamber executives session at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Leaders' Workshop March 19 in Amarillo.

The workshop will be divided into sessions for presidents, officers and directors, and chamber executives. Frank Mueller of the United States Chamber of Commerce will be the guest speaker. Several other Pampans will attend the workshop, Wedgeworth said. Their names will be announced later.

Cold Weather Keeps City Quiet

An unusually quiet night prevailed in Pampa. Not one single incident report was filed last night. No domestic quarrels, no complaint of howling dogs or scrapping cats, no burglaries, no car thefts — nothing.

Three accidents were reported, all minor. Two of the accidents occurred on W. Wilks St. this morning because of the icy condition of the street. The other mishap occurred last night when an auto struck a construction barricade on Alcock St. No injuries were reported in any of the accidents.

Schools were closed at Burk Burnett, Holiday, City View, and Iowa Park in the Wichita Falls area and at Amarillo, Plainview, Dumas, Canyon, Hereford and other smaller towns throughout Northwest Texas.

Roads in the Lubbock area were reported clear of snow but there were patches of ice in places. About two inches of snow was on the ground and there were numerous minor traffic accidents reported.

Highway 287 was also blocked between Amarillo and Dumas when 82 cars stalled on the highway after several trucks slewed across the roadway Monday.

Furries in Dallas Several roads in Dallas were closed late Monday by high water and the Weather Bureau said furries of snow pelted the city during the night. Paul Buseck, 68, of New York, was fatally injured in Dallas when a masonry and brick wall fell into a Dallas parking lot, trapping him in his car.

Patrolman Wayne Brandon, 28, was injured at that accident when he stepped on a power line. Mrs. Mary Wells Jinter, 45, of Dallas was also fatally injured Monday while she walked during falling rain. A woman identified as Mrs. Mary D. Apple of Haltom City was fatally injured in a three-car collision Monday during a rainstorm in Eules.

And Mrs. Judy Stafford of Gainesville, the step-sister of singer Anita Bryant, was killed in a two-car collision on a rain slick road near Cooper. The wall of a burned out building in Arlington was pushed down by the high winds Monday and fell on nine automobiles, but there were no injuries.

Rusk

(Continued From Page 1) achieving its objectives in Southeast Asia. He attempted to assure Fulbright and other members of the committee—which includes some of his most outspoken critics—Johnson had "come to no fresh conclusions or decisions" on sending more troops to Vietnam beyond the present ceiling.

"The situation is under review from A to Z," he said. Rusk testified in a crowded Senate caucus room before a battery of six live television cameras, 25 movie cameras and 150 newsmen and photographers. His words were carried around the world by the Voice of America and throughout the nation by radio and television.

The long awaited confrontation brought out nothing really new on either side of the issue. But it did disclose in dramatic fashion—and on the eve of a New Hampshire primary test of Johnson's war policy—the vastly increased disillusionment of committee members with the administration's course in Vietnam.

Fulbright made it plain that the purpose of the confrontation, so far as he was concerned, was to try to force the administration to agree to consult with his committee before it decided on any significant increase in U.S. troop strength.

The Arkansas Democrat gave an example of what the alternative would be when he threatened to hold up the administration's $2.9 billion foreign aid request if Rusk did not return to testify today. Rusk had understood that he could finish his public testimony before the committee on Monday, even if it went into the night. He implied that he had been doublecrossed but gave in and agreed to appear again after a 10-minute wrangle with Fulbright.

Citing reports that Gen. William C. Westmoreland wants up to 205,000 more men, Fulbright said "the Senate should share the responsibility" of any big new troop buildup and his committee should be consulted before Johnson makes a final decision even if its advice is rejected.

The committee's questioning of Rusk disclosed how deeply members had been affected by the reverses suffered by the allies during the recent Communist TET offensive in Vietnam. The general impression left by the senators' questions and statements was that they were laboring under a deep pall of gloom with regard to the future in Southeast Asia.

Top News In Brief

By United Press International The state executive committees of the Democratic and Republican parties met Monday and agreed to place a referendum question on liquor by the drink on the May 4 Texas primary ballot.

The Republican committee, meeting in Dallas, also agreed to put referendum questions on pari-mutuel horse race betting and the establishment of a Texas Milk Control Commission on the ballot.

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Three U.S. soldiers who fled from West Germany to Sweden in opposition to the Vietnam War have returned to their old units in Germany to face the music, it was disclosed today.

Only one of them was identified: The U.S. Embassy said Ray Jones, 21, of Detroit Mich., who fled to Sweden in January, 1967, on "moral grounds" flew back to Germany today.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A breakthrough in the 242-day copper strike appeared near today as union representatives prepared to make a decision on new contract offers by major copper companies.

Representatives of the 26 unions involved in the strike were to resume studying late today a new contract offer by the Phelps-Dodge CBOR.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson confers the Medal of Honor today on two U.S. Marine Corps officers cited for heroism in Vietnam during 1966 fighting.

The men receiving the nation's highest military award for valor in a White House ceremony are Maj. Robert J. Modrzewski, Annapolis, Md., and 2nd Lt. John J. McGinty III, Laurel Bay, S.C.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler was called before the Senate Finance Committee today to explain how the administration planned to meet the costs of any sudden and significant increase in Vietnam War spending.

Committee consideration of a House-passed bill to extend current federal auto and telephone excise taxes at their present levels beyond April 1 was the nominal reason for the hearing.

Jurors Dismissed

Seventy-two prospective jurors were dismissed by District Judge Grainger Melihany in 31st Judicial District Court yesterday after three civil cases on the docket had been settled out of court.

The next docket has been called for April 8. Jack Malon, a student of extra-sensory perception, will be the speaker today at the Top O' Texas Knife & Fork Club meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the Coronado Inn.

Malon's address is billed as "A New Slant on Comedy" in which there is a great deal of audience participation.

Noted Artist To Appear In Concert Here Monday Night

Yi-Kwei Sze, one of the first singers to emerge from China and establish himself in the western world, will appear at 8 p.m. Monday night in concert at the Pampa Junior High School auditorium under sponsorship of the Pampa Community Concert Association.

Mr. Sze, a bass baritone, will be the third in the association's 1967-68 series of concerts. His appearance here also coincides with the opening of the concert group's open membership drive for the 1969 season which opens Monday and runs until the membership quota is sold out.

Current members were being given the opportunity this week to renew memberships for the 1968-69 season. The fourth and final number of the present season will be the Washington National Symphony Orchestra, scheduled for April 30.

Yi-Kwei Sze, who will be here Monday, has a combination of impeccable musicianship, a velvety voice and magnetic personality that has made him one of the most respected artists in his field.

According to advance reports, his concert here promises to be one of the most auspicious of this season's events in Pampa.

Mr. Sze's 1967-68 season is a typical concert year. He and his wife, Nancy, spent much of last summer on the faculty of the school of music at the Aspen Festival in Aspen, Colo.

As a soloist with most of America's leading orchestras, he has sung repeatedly with the Boston Symphony, Philadelphia orchestra, Cleveland orchestra, as well as those in Dallas, Houston, Pittsburgh, Minneapolis, San Francisco, Detroit, Chicago and many other U.S. cities.

During a recent season when he sang with the Houston Symphony, the Houston Post reported: "He is to be compared for eloquence of declamation and compelling projection with the model Feodor Chaliapin set before the American public 40 years ago. The audience did what was thoroughly indicated by honoring this remarkable artist with a standing ovation."

Mom, Baby Care Class Set Tonight

There will be a "Mother and Baby Care Class" beginning today at 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Highland General Hospital OB Ward with Mrs. Forrest Hills, instructor in charge of the class, according to Libby Shotwell, Red Cross Executive Secretary.

There will be no charge and several free pamphlets will be given those who attend the class. "Couples who are expecting their first child and even grandparents are invited to take this important class," Mrs. Shotwell said.

There will be a make-up class for those who miss a regular class. The class is in full cooperation with local doctors and with the hospital board, Mrs. Shotwell added.

Concert association officials stated there will be no box office sale of tickets for Yi-Kwei Sze's concert here Monday night. Admission will be by membership card only.

Changes in Bill Hoped For By Martin's Office

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Texas attorney-general's office will present its recommendations for changes in the state's liquor laws to a House committee studying such revisions March 18, Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria, chairman of the committee, said Monday.

The March 18 date was set as the last public meeting before the committee began working on law revisions. Cory said any other groups wanting to appear before the committee should appear at that meeting.

The committee Monday heard recommendations from both "wets" and "drys." Texas Alcohol and Narcotic Agency (TANE) Monday presented the committee a list of 18 recommendations which generally would tighten sales of liquor in the state.

The group said it was "unalterably opposed" to the legalized sale of mixed drinks and recommended that the name of the Texas Liquor Control Board be changed to the state licensed club system.

Attorney Don Cates of Dallas represented TANE and outlined the organization's recommendations. Attorney Shannon Jones of the Citizens' Committee for Tourism and the Regulated Sale of Mixed Drinks, recommended that the sale of mixed drinks be legalized.

But the group also recommended stronger laws regulating sale to minors, stronger enforcement to prevent driving while intoxicated, and a redefinition of the term "open saloon" as used in the state constitution.

CRASH KILLS MAN

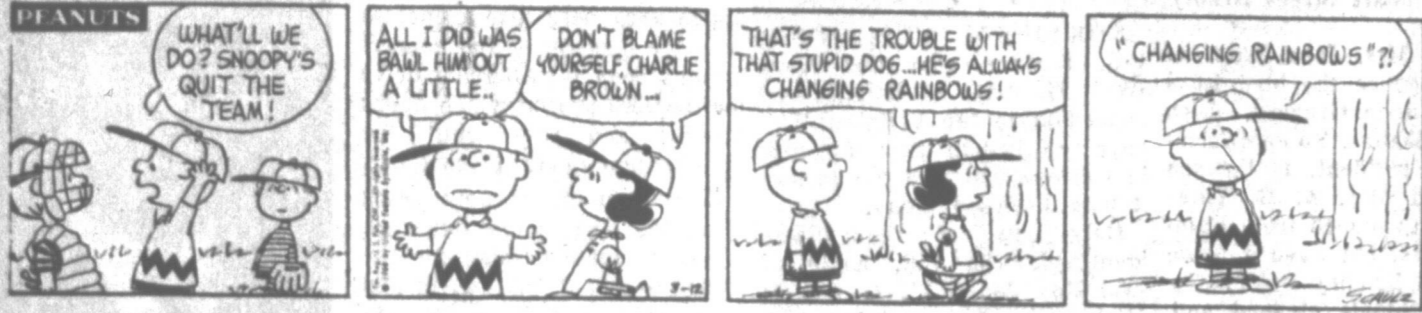

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — A foreign auto skidded into a traffic pole southwest of San Antonio Monday, killing Enrique A. Jimenez, 45, of San Antonio, and injuring his wife and two children.

MONTGOMERY WORD
UFC Spotted
In Panhandle
By Newsmen
 By CURTIS MONTGOMERY
 Daily News Sports Editor

"Wild Bill" Martin, staff photographer and I were whipping along the highway outside the highly publicized town of Wellington, Tex., early Sunday morning when we spotted a UFC.

There have been very few UFC's spotted in the country in the past three decades. UFO's are common now. That is the Unidentified Flying Object. But this was no ordinary object. It was an entire community; thus the "C" in UFC.

It just hovered over this big field about three quarters of a mile from the highway we were traveling en route to Fort Worth where they were holding a "love-in" Sunday. Anyway, this community, as near as we could tell, was about 500 yards in diameter and was spread as a watermelon. Florescent-like lights glowed at regular intervals around it. There were some green lights and reds ones on the bottom. It hovered about 20 feet from the ground.

To be honest, we didn't see any little green men or grey and white ones, for that matter. But there was a certain peculiarity about the whole thing. The floating city seemed to radiate some sort of warmth which gave you a feeling of being held closely by someone you love. Like maybe when it's just you and she and the sunshine out by the little dam in the country on a breezy Sunday afternoon in March. Surely anybody who has ever been in love knows what I mean.

Houston Takes Top Billing in UPI Poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — The University of Houston turned the near impossible dream into reality.

Back in December the Cougars were faced with the unlikely prospect of derailing the UCLA express, bound for its second straight national championship.

This was a UCLA team riding the second longest winning streak in major college basketball history; a squad which created the second longest dynasty in ratings history by holding the No. 1 spot through 22 straight ballots behind the efforts of All-America Lew Alcindor and three other players who gained All-America mention.

Four months and 23 victories later, however, the United Press International's Board of Coaches crowned Houston major college basketball's regular season national champions for 1967-68.

Houston rolled up 25 first place, the Cougars scored the points in the 16th and final ballot of the season taken of the UPI board. UCLA, which always remained within striking distance of the No. 1 spot, received 10 first place votes and 325 points.

The turning point was the mid-January confrontation between the two giants at the Astrodome in Houston. With UCLA holding an overwhelming ratings lead and Houston nestled comfortably in second place the Cougars scored the 71-69 triumph that propelled them to the top. They failed to shake loose from the Bruins, never holding leads of more than 17 points through the final six weeks of the campaign.

But behind Coach of the Year Guy Lewis and Player of the Year Elvin Hayes, the Cougars held the top rung by stretching their winning streak to 30, currently the longest among the nation's major colleges, and obliterating several opponents by scoring over 100 points in their final nine regular season outings.

Pampa Team Wins Motor Cycle Honors

Dennis Taylor and Alvin Sharp, both of Pampa, won top honors at the Amarillo Motorcycle Tag Team Races Sunday.

They both are members of The Pampa Two Wheelers Club. Taylor and Sharp won first in the Open Class with Taylor on a Montesa 250 and Sharp on a Honda 450.

Wayne Casswell on a Honda 150 and Junior Caswell on a Honda 90, teamed up to take second in the 125cc-325cc class. H. L. Meers of Pampa on a Bultaco 250 and Joe Brown of Dumas on the same type of cycle took third in that class.

Marvin Allison of Pampa and Gib Wilton of Pampa took second in the 0-125cc class.

Because of the rain and snow, it was thought the officials would call off the races but they went on with it. Sixty motorcycles struggled through snow, mud and rain and the Pampa team came out best.

Reds Beat Bucs

Bob Raudman's three-run homer and three hits each by Alex Johnson and Tony Perez paced the Cincinnati Reds to a 11-7 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Maury Wills had three hits and Donn Clendenon and Jerry May two each for the Pirates.

Angels Wolf

The California Angels scored their second victory in three games when they defeated the Cleveland Indians 2-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Sammy Ellis and Wally Wolf. Wolf, who is not even on the California roster, pitched the last six innings and held the Indians to one run.

Bob Bailey, a major disappointment when he drove in 28 runs for the Los Angeles Dodgers last spring, knocked in four in a 7-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Don Drysdale was shaky in his first three-inning stint of the spring but was aided by two double plays. Jim O'Toole walked across a run in a disappointing outing for the White Sox and suffered the defeat.

Pat House walked Jerry Morales with the bases filled and two out in the 11th inning, giving the New York Mets a 4-3 triumph over the Houston Astros; Bill McNulty's ninth-inning double drove in the winning run as the Oakland Athletics topped the Pirates' B squad 4-3; Mike Epstein's three-run homer and two-run doubles by Paul Casanova and Eddie Brinkman led the Washington Senators past the New York Yankees 11-7 and pitcher Rick Wise and outfielder John Briggs ended their holdouts with the Phillies.

Worsley Makes All-Small Team

NEW YORK (UPI)—Little Willie Worsley of the University of Texas at El Paso was on the second-team "Small America" college basketball team yesterday chosen by United Press International from the nation's players no taller than 5-10.

Worsley stands 5-7. He was the only Texan to make the two teams. Others from the Southwest chosen to the teams included Greg Carney (5-9) of Wichita and Gene Hawk (5-9) of Oklahoma State.

Worsley has been a star of the Texas El Paso team for three years and was one of the top hands in the Miners' NCAA championship game against Kentucky two seasons ago. Despite his lack of height, the little Miner has so much jumping ability he could "stuff" the ball in the basket—until the NCAA ruled out such tactics this season.

Ohio State Goes Against Iowa For Seat in NCAA

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI)—Ohio State tries for its ninth trip for an NCAA basketball tournament and Iowa for its third against each other tonight in an almost unprecedented playoff between the Big Ten's cage co-champions.

Once once previously has the Big Ten had a basketball playoff, in 1908, when Chicago staged Wisconsin 18-16 in a game that decided the conference title.

The Iowa-Ohio State game will not decide the league crown, since both go down in the records as 1968 co-champions. But the victor in the second game this season between the two schools will become the Big Ten's tournament representative and appear next against East Tennessee in the Lexington, Ky., regional Friday.

Ohio State, though beaten by Iowa 74-72 in overtime in their previous meeting, was a two-point favorite to win the return. The Buckeyes finished the season with a 17-7 mark compared to Iowa's 16-8, and both were 10-4 in Big Ten competition.

Each appeared once on the neutral floor on which their playoff game will be held, the new Purdue Fieldhouse, and each lost to the Boilermakers. In addition to Purdue and Iowa, Ohio State lost to Wisconsin and Minnesota, while Iowa also lost to Northwestern, Illinois and Michigan.

It was the 71-70 defeat by Michigan Saturday which forced the playoff since Iowa had the title wrapped up with only three losses. All arrangements for the playoff were made prior to the game, however.

There was little to choose between the two clubs for their payoff scrap. Ohio State was the Big Ten's second best offensive team and their most accurate field goal shooters. But Iowa was the league's second best defensive team. Iowa won its games by an average of six points and Ohio State by nine.

Iowa boasted the league's second best scorer in Sam Williams, averaging more than 25 points per game, but Ohio State has the sixth best in Bill Hosket with a 21.3 average plus Steve Howell 11th with 17.2 and Dave Sorenson 13th with 16.6. Iowa's only other representative in the top 20 scorers was sophomore Chad Calabria with 15.8.

Just as they have all season long, the two powerhouses outdistanced the rest of the field by a wide margin in the final balloting.

Unbeaten St. Bonaventure wound up in the third spot it took over a week ago, 68 points behind. Atlantic Coast Conference champion North Carolina remained fourth and Southeastern Conference titlist Kentucky held onto fifth.

In the biggest move among last week's top 10, surprising Columbia capped its best regular season in 17 years, vaulting three places to sixth and thereby gaining a spot in the final rankings for only the second time in Lion history.

New Mexico fell a notch to seventh in the voting based on games played through March 9. Louisville retained eighth and Davidson moved up two spots to ninth. Marquette climbed four places to finish 10th.

Leading the second 10 was Duke, a fixture in the top 10 for several weeks before being upset by North Carolina 12-10 in their infamous stalling session during the Atlantic Coast Conference playoffs.

New Mexico State moved up a notch to 12th, Vanderbilt slid out of the top 10 to 13th and Kansas State finished 14th.

Rounding out the select circle were Princeton, Army, Santa Clara, Utah, Bradley and Iowa.

Cards Triumph

By United Press International
 The St. Louis Cardinals, who finished the 1967 season like a thunderclap, look like they're going to start the 1968 campaign in the same fashion.

The world champions' camp is one of the most relaxed on the spring training circuit with all the stars of 1967 sporting healthy contracts and waistlines and none worried about retaining his regular status.

Manager Red Schoendienst's only real concern at the start of spring training was whether some of his stars might have grown complacent during the winter. That concern now has been laid to rest. The Cardinals obviously feel that 1967 World Series melon tasted like more.

Schoendienst now has been almost everyone of his key men turn in a stellar performance. Bob Gibson, Steve Carlton and Nelson Briles collaborated in a shutout in the Cardinals' first exhibition game and Lou Brock, Tim McCarver, Mike Shannon and Curt Flood have hit solidly since the day they reported to camp.

Cepeda in Form

Orlando Cepeda, the National League's unanimous most valuable player selection last season, joined the fun Monday when the Cardinals scored a 6-5 10-inning victory over the American League champion Boston Red Sox.

Cepeda, who reported late because of an award he received as Puerto Rico's sportsman of the year, collected four hits, including a two-run homer that gave the Cardinals a 5-3 lead in the eighth inning winning run in the 10th. Cepeda's game-winning hit followed a double by Bobby Tolan and a wild pitch by Dick Hoban.

The Cardinals now stand 2-0-1 in exhibition games while the Red Sox have lost three of their four games.

Eddie Mathews, who believes he can win the Detroit Tigers' regular first base job from Norm Cash, doubled with the bases filled during a six-run outburst that paved the way for a 9-5 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies. Jim Price and Jim Northrup also drove in two runs each for the Tigers while Richie Allen delivered a three-run triple as a pinch-hitter.

Lewis Letters At Panhandle

Lanny Lewis, former Pampa basketball player, has received a basketball letter at Panhandle State College in Oklahoma. He was one of 11 lettermen announced by coach Jack Legley. Lewis is a 6-0 junior. Wayne Fryar of Borger, a 6-1 freshman, also lettered along with James Duckworth of Amarillo who is a 5-9 freshman. Roger Skelton of Channing was the only other Texan named for a letter.

Game Cancelled

The game between Pampa and Borger slated for the Optimist Club Park at 4 p.m. today has been cancelled according to coach Bobby Stephens of Pampa.

The game could be played tomorrow if the weather clears but that is the only time it could be rescheduled because the Harvesters are going to Ardmore, Okla. for a three-game stand this weekend, one game at 4 p.m. Friday and two starting at 1 p.m. Saturday against the same team.

Stephens said he could not reschedule the game after the non-conference games because he wants to give his boys time to rest before the first District 3-4A game between Lubbock and Pampa the 22nd of March.

Agreement Reached Between Golfers

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—The Professional Golfers Association and the tournament pros' two representatives announced Monday an agreement to explore ways which may prevent the disputes that rocked the pro tour in 1967.

The announcement at the end of Monday's meeting at PGA headquarters said the PGA's three-man executive committee and the representatives "agreed to take a fresh look at their relationship with a view to accommodating their divergent interests within the structure of the association."

The players argued last year that they did not have sufficient voice about the tour and threatened to boycott the PGA championship.

The players were represented by Jack Nicklaus and Frank Beard.

Daily News Chooses 4-A All-Star Team

The Pampa Daily News' correspondent attending the State Tournament in Austin last week end, George Smith, picked an All-Tournament team for Class 4-A. Smith said George Price, 6-1 senior guard from San Antonio Brackenridge who averaged 23.3 points per game, was the top college prospect in the tournament.

6-7 sophomore who averaged 13.4 points per game and Lawrence Johnson, 6-6 sophomore forward who averaged eight points per game. Our correspondent said Johnson came off the bench to win the game for Wheatley against T. J. as 7,900 watched in Gregory Gym in Austin.

The T. J. boys named to the honor team are guard Stan Ley, 5-11 senior who averaged 13.4 and Ted Melady, 6-5 senior center who averaged 18.1.

Price is number one on the six-man team comprised of three members from Houston Wheatley, who won the 4-A crown by beating Dallas Thomas Jefferson in the finals in overtime by 85-80, and two from T. J.

Smith said Pampa would have probably finished fourth in the state, but that they might have beaten Permian for third.

Houston Wheatley's three on the 4-A All-Tournament are forward Jerry Bonney, 6-3 senior who averaged 21.4 points per game; center Dwight Jones,

Tony Won't Kiss Jack Hamilton

By MILTON RICHMAN
 UPI Sports Writer

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI)—Tony Conigliaro has a good voice, makes records and is what they call a romantic figure. Particularly for a ball player.

Jack Hamilton needn't worry though.

This is to advise him Conigliaro won't run up and kiss him the next time they meet.

All things being equal, that should be May 1. The California Angels meet the Boston Red Sox in Boston that evening for the first time. That's when Hamilton will get to see Conigliaro.

The last time Hamilton tried to, they wouldn't let him.

That was last August. Conigliaro was flat on his back in a hospital room at the time and things got so sticky there for awhile that they hung a "no visitors" sign on the door.

Good To Be Alive
 "I'm glad I'm alive," Conigliaro said the other day in the Red Sox dressing room here without trying to make it sound dramatic.

There's a lot about last Aug. 18 Conigliaro has never talked about before. He knows that date almost as well as his birthday. It was the date Hamilton hit him on the temple with a fast ball fracturing his left cheekbone in three places and dislocating his jaw.

"The doctor told me later he didn't tell my mother and father at the time, but it was a 50-50 thing at first," said the Boston right fielder.

"They had a brain surgery team standing by for four days. That's another thing they never told me or my family. I was coughing up blood all that time.

They didn't have to tell me that. I knew that myself."

Conigliaro, the dark-haired, good-looking 23-year-old bachelor who turns on Boston's young "incrowd" with both his singing and hitting, doesn't encourage conversation about his injury.

Nor does he discourage it. He talks about his injury. He says "As hard as I was hit, I wasn't knocked out," he said. "I wish I was. It was agony. I still get headaches."

His Finest Year
 Conigliaro was having the finest year of his career when Hamilton kayoed him. He had 20 homers, 67 RBI's and a .281 average.

"I know I'll make it back," he said. "There's no doubt in my mind. I'm working doubly hard. Look at these callouses."

Conigliaro realizes he'll be meeting Hamilton again soon. When someone asks him about his feelings toward the California pitcher he doesn't say anything one way or another.

"Will you have anything to say to him?" he was asked.

"No," said Conigliaro. "I don't talk much on the field." Poor Hamilton. First they take away the spitball and now this.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper... EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government.

Teacher Strikes a Benefit?

While most of the editorialists around the country are singing the blues over the rash of teacher strikes...

If other states do like Florida and keep their schools open, using parents and others to augment the non-striking teaching staffs...

We note that the National Education Association which seemed to be behind the Florida teachers strike over the fact that the state didn't give the teachers all the tax money they wanted...

Perhaps it will be the first step toward establishing free education — free that is of the heavy hand of politics.

George Schuyler, the outstanding Negro newspaper writer and editor, recently had some comments about the growth of socialism and the need for improved schools.

"The iron-footed march of the socialist leviathan has done something to us, make no mistake about that; and thinking

Return to Business, George

Now that George Romney is out of the race for the presidential nomination, we would like to hear him say he also will bow out of politics.

For Mr. Romney has undeniable talents in business and in his church activities. We are not sure he has demonstrated the same capabilities in political office.

So, we suggest when Gov. Romney finishes his current term of governor of Michigan he return to business life and devote his talent to providing jobs.

But we rather suspect that once bitten by the political bug he's not likely to abandon his efforts in that field.

The Republicans who call themselves "Moderates" apparently are determined to push Gov. Nelson Rockefeller again, even though the New York governor says he's not a candidate.

But Rockefeller's knuckling under the labor unions in the recent garbage mess in New York City has dimmed that millionaire's glamor appreciably.

Some of the "conservatives" around the country are continuing to push Ronald Reagan, another "non-candidate."

Pay-TV Future Rests on Tryouts

How many Americans would be willing to pay to watch television, sans headache, deodorant and constipation "messages," if they were offered programs not available on commercial TV — a Broadway play, for instance, or a current movie or a Carnegie Hall concert that no commercial network would carry because of its limited appeal?

We will probably never know. The only way to find out, as with anything new that is offered the public, is to go into pro-people are disturbed. The clock needs to be turned forward, and one of the quickest and most effective ways to do it is to bring about a revolution in education: Something which can only be done by substituting private for public schooling; permitting each institution to have the Principal, teachers, and curriculum sought by those who are paying directly for it; deciding privately and individually such things as pay, tenure, and vacations; eliminating the necessity of holding an election at the polls to change the manner in which our children are instructed in 'sand table.' We need less faith in 'experts' and more in the common sense and love that brought our youngsters into the world."

At another point, he wrote: "The educationists need competition. It is good for them, good for the parents. There is no more reason why they should be frozen into their jobs by Civil Service than anybody else. Like other professional people, they should have to compete, their retention dependent upon the quality of their production. If, after they have been teaching a normal child eight or ten years, that youngster cannot write his name legibly, knows scant arithmetic and cannot locate Madagascar on the map, there is something wrong with whoever has been doing the teaching and parents ought to know why!"

If, when teachers go out on strike, parents will seize upon the opportunity to teach their own children, they will realize it can be done, and they will be taking a major step toward developing schools which will provide the kind of training they want for their youngsters.

conservative image seems to be getting tarnished when he picks "liberal" Casper Weinberger as finance director, and fights many attempts to cut back state taxes.

It's beginning to look more and more as if Nixon, who has been building his fences for quite a few years is likely to have his own way this time out. But that doesn't mean the Republican candidate will be a shoo-in. While the polls seem to indicate President Johnson is in trouble both in his own party and over the nation because of the Vietnam war, there are plenty of things which can happen between now and the November election.

Whether the McCarthy campaign against Johnson for the Democratic nomination will get off the ground is still highly questionable. Indications are that only if Bobby Kennedy jumps in will the anti-war Democrats really go to work. Then there's the "Peace and Freedom" party which has qualified for the ballot in California, and George Wallace's American Independent party which expects to draw quite a few votes all over and probably will carry some of the Deep South states.

If the "Peace party" Wallace campaigners really cut into the votes of the Republican and Democratic parties, they just might throw the election into the House of Representatives for the first time since John Quincy Adams won over Andrew Jackson.

Since it has the politicians of both the Republican and Democratic parties so frightened, perhaps it would be a good thing ernment (it took seven years for the Hartford station just to get an operating license) — one would think it was a plot to undermine the free enterprise system.

But if pay-TV promoters think they can live with present government regulations, if they are willing to submit their scheme to the verdict of the public in the open market place and possibly go broke on a larger scale than they have already, what is this but the essence of free enterprise?

Evidently, that is a subversive question.

IS GOVERNMENT INCURABLE?

It may be that one of the major problems we all experience in trying to understand and promote the concept of free, competitive enterprise, is that the area has become laden with emotionally charged political theory.

So we have protagonists and antagonists who are ready to vilify any person or system which doesn't happen to fit into their own scale of values.

Cholera is easily as destructive to human well-being as communism. But when a cholera germ is discovered, doctors don't get together to spew out venom concerning it.

Today's smile: A long-haired hippie complained to his mother as they walked down the street: "Gee, Mom, none of the other boys are wearing lipstick."

Thoughts while shaving: "Boutique" is a new word in merchandising all over the country. Most of the big department stores feature these "shops" within a store that combine related items.

Since the Tet offensive when the Communists lost more than 45,000 killed, wounded, and captured, U. S. intelligence authorities have uncovered new signs of war weariness in North Vietnam and internal debate within Hanoi's leadership.

Although General Giap forcefully asserted Hanoi's determination to carry on the war, his message revealed that talks were underway to determine whether present strategy "meets new conditions in South Vietnam and the U.S."

According to Giap's own estimate, more than half of all North Vietnamese combat troops are now committed to the fighting in South Vietnam. About 60,000 are now in South Vietnam, he reported, with another 50,000 engaged in operations around the Demilitarized zone, including the deployment near Khe Sanh; and 45,000 others in Laos and Cambodia.

To sustain the fighting at the January-February level, General Giap estimated, "volunteers" and increased amounts of arms would be needed from other socialist countries.

Browsing in an off-beat area of our favorite bookstore we discovered there are dictionaries these days for every purpose.

U.S. intelligence authorities, who accurately forecast the Communist Tet holiday blitz against South Vietnamese urban centers and U. S. bases, are frankly saying that the North Vietnamese will have to adopt one of the following radical approaches:

1. Call for Chinese Communist and North Korean "volunteers" to fight in either South Vietnam or Laos and begin using larger and more powerful ground to ground rockets and China-based jet bombers.

2. Adopt a strategy of "negotiating while fighting" while returning to guerrilla-type warfare in the country-side supplemented by political and economic warfare in the urban centers.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT Follow Safety Measures During Electrical Storm

If you believe that lightning never strikes twice in the same place, you should try being as tall as the Empire State Building. It is struck about 68 times a year — largely because it is tall. If, during an electrical storm, you are in an open field or on a golf course, you may well be the tallest structure around, in which case lightning may single you out for special attention. In such a situation, you should run for cover or lie flat on the ground. You should not, however, seek cover under a lone tree or the tallest of a group of trees. You are usually safe indoors during an electrical storm and, according to the National Safety Council, you need not be afraid to use the telephone, despite the fact that a 6-year-old boy in Lexington, Ky., was electrocuted while talking on the telephone. Careful investigation showed that in this unusual accident lightning first struck an improperly grounded television antenna. It then traveled down to a window air conditioner that was running and entered the body of the boy, who was leaning against or seated very close to this device.

Well, I know you good people didn't want to go for Elbee Jay's Sir-Tax. And finally, the legislators got the message too and they wouldn't go for it either.

So now you don't need to worry about it being passed. Nossir, there ain't going to be any Sir-Tax. That was supposed to curb inflation caused by boondoggles and to support the Crepe Society.

But if you didn't want a Sir-Tax how about selling you on a nice, modern, up-to-date War Tax? It is the latest model out. It will be to support our forces in Viet Nam.

Congress might not support a tax to curb inflation. But they will rush in to get money to keep a war going. What they want to do now is raise the bracket on the rates of the income tax. They figure to raise 15 billion dollars that way.

Meanwhile, the states have set a record in new or increased taxes. Local property taxes and assessments are eating us up alive. Is there no help for the little feller? Not with the attitude in the eastern latitude.

Elbee Jay says, "No American president ever lost a war, and I'll be d— if I'll be the first." So there you are.

now have their hands full in just keeping supply routes open from China.

CHINESE IN LAOS — A small number of Chinese Communist troops took part in recent fighting in one section of Laos. This ominous development was spotlighted in a report rushed to Washington by Thailand's Deputy Premier Praphat.

The document, now being studied at the White House, warned: "Pathet Lao, North Vietnamese and number of Chinese from the Southern portion of Communist China used in recent attacks in province of Savannakhet and Luang Prabang, near the Mekong River with Thailand."

"Prisoners taken during the fighting estimated 100 Chinese took part in the attack. The attacking units, numbering more than 1,000 troops, were trained and equipped in Yunnan province."

General Praphat reported that part of the attacking force is believed destined for Thailand where Communist guerrillas have more than doubled in the past six months.

VIETNAM FALLOUT — U.S. bombing, despite its limitations, has had a devastating effect on the North Vietnamese economy, which combined with two bad rice harvests, makes Hanoi dependent for food almost completely on outside aid.

The North Vietnamese now count on Soviet wheat and flour, Chinese rice, and East European beans and grain, totaling about 45,000 tons monthly, to sustain a minimum diet.

Diplomats and travelers to North Vietnam report that meat, fish and textiles are impossible to obtain.

This group of specialists discount Chinese Communist intervention at this time claiming Peking's combat forces probably are less capable now of waging war than in the past as a result of the nation's inner turmoil.

The People's Liberation Army, because of this unrest, internal garrison, transportation and supply problems, and the far-flung nature of its border commitments, is much more limited in its availability for outside use than the 2.5 million size would indicate, they say.

If you are driving your car when an electrical storm occurs, your safest spot is inside the car. Unless the rain is so heavy as to interfere with visibility, there's no need to stop the car. Your tires are a poor conductor of electricity and will prevent any lightning that strikes your car from being grounded. If you must pull off the road, do not park under a tree or near a telephone pole because the lightning might cause it to fall on top of your car. If by some remote chance an overhead electric wire should fall on your car, your best bet is to remain inside it until help arrives. During this time, avoid touching any of the metal parts inside your car. If you want to summon help by sounding your horn you should use a wooden stick or piece of plastic to press the button.

Q—Could a bloody mucous discharge from the bowel in a 60-year-old man be caused by anything but cancer?

A—Yes — ulcerative colitis, bleeding piles or amebic dysentery, to name a few of the possibilities.

Hunt H. L. Writes

THREAT OF WAGE AND PRICE CONTROLS With the economic crises deepening the administration is considering several alternatives which, officials claim, would restore foreign confidence in the dollar and reduce the gold drain. The obvious solutions to the problem are to balance the budget by cutting back federal spending and to cut drastically the massive amounts of foreign aid which our government hands out. But these solutions have been ignored, and instead proposals are made which could dangerously restrict the freedom of Americans.

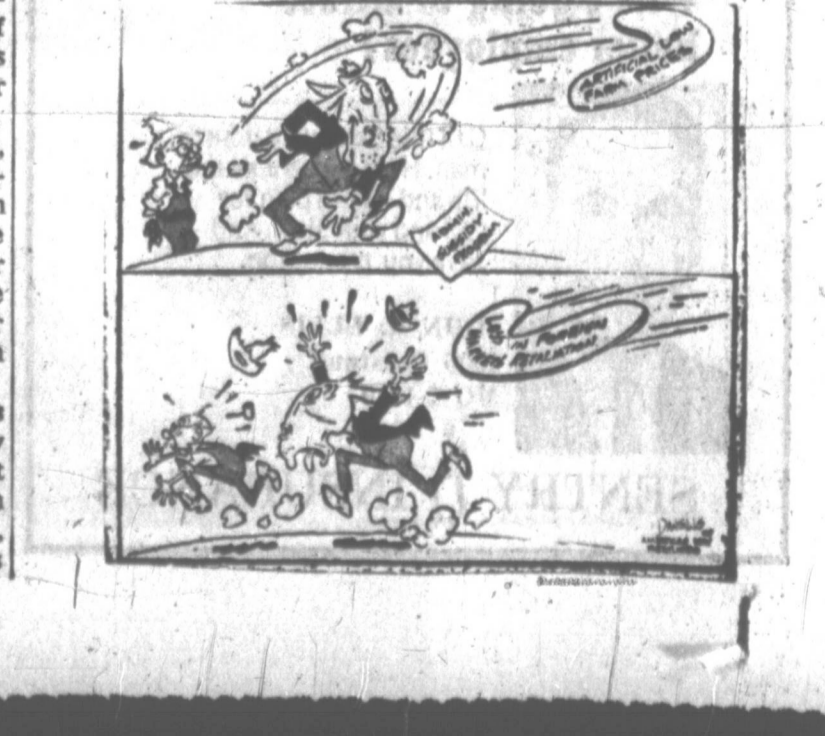

One plan under discussion is the imposition of price and wage controls. Government officials favoring controls say that they would slow inflation in this country and would make American goods more competitive in foreign markets, thereby helping improve our balance of payments.

But the real effort of price and wage controls would be the destruction of our economic system and the loss of freedom in the United States. Price and wage controls inevitably lead to shortages because of a loss of incentive to produce. The U. S. would have fewer goods to export and the balance of payments problem would steadily worsen. As the economy stagnated, foreign confidence in the dollar would steadily decline.

Only the free market economy can determine the correct levels of prices and wages.

The American people have never had to suffer price and wage controls except in the special circumstances of wartime. To institute these controls now would be a step toward dictatorship.
