Citizens Urged to Get Poll Taxes

With little more than a week remaining to pay poll taxes, it behooves every citizen to obtain at least one poll tax every day this week, said Ivey Duncan, chairman of the "Pay Your Poll Tax Committee," this morning. Committees are at work, but they receive many promises which should be followed up through individual effort. It will require a united community effort to reach the goal before the time limit is up. Every citizen is urged to bring in poll taxes may be paid at the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, a number of poll tax payers at once.

Child's Slayer Gets Life Sentence

The picture shows Adolph Hotelling, of Qwosso, Mich., as he received a sentence of life in prison, the maximum penalty for murder in Michigan. Judge Fred W. Brennan of Flint, Mich., in pronouncing sentence, expressed the regret that he could not mete out capital punishment to the man who killed five-year-old Dorothy Schneider of Mount Morris and mutilated her body. In the foreground above stands Sheriff G. P. Lawcock of Shiawassee county, who obtained the man's confession, while the arrow points to Hotelling.

Independent Oil Operators Urging Special Session

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 23.—Governor Moody has under advisement an urgent request from numerous independent oil operators that he call a special session of the legislature to seek out remedies for the present low crude oil prices, he said today.

The independents advocate a passage act requiring pipe line companies to furnish storage facilities at rates to be fixed by the railroad commission.

Phillips Buys Land For Loading Rack

The Phillips Petroleum company has purchased a two-acre tract of land from the White Deer Land company and is erecting a loading rack to handle the supply of gasoline from the south field refinery, which will be completed and in operation by April 1.

Nine hundred feet of spur track is being laid by the Santa Fe to accommodate twenty cars at one time. This rack is located in the southwest part of the city and runs south from the end of the "Y" to Wilks street. The track will be ready within a month's time.

Material is still arriving for the large gasoline plant which is being erected in the Bowers pool.

Drinkers of Home Brew Would Lose Appetite If They Could See Places Where Filthy Beverages Are Made

Most drinkers of bootleg whisky and so-called beer in Pampa do not realize what they are imbibing, and the process it goes through before being bottled and placed in their hands.

The whisky is not made in Gray county and much not in Texas, Sheriff E. S. Graves says. He and his officers, assisted by federal men, have made a thorough search of this county and report no whisky stills. Beer of course is being made, and will continue to be made as long as the ingredients remain, he states.

Some of the places which have been raided were in such a condition that a person could hardly realize a beverage was being brewed. Usually in some out of the way place, the still is hidden away where it is difficult to find unless the odor coming from the mash and filth reveals the location.

In one particular raid made by local officers, several barrels of mash and finished product were discovered. The mash was kept in an open barrel and was mixed with flies, bugs, and even rats—that is some of the stuff being consumed here in Pampa.

FUNDS TO BE SOLICITED NOT YET ESTIMATED

Surplus Will Be Returned in Prorata Shares

RIGHT-OF-WAY GROUP NEEDED

Final Papers Must Be Signed Here by March 1st

Contracts between the local railroad committee and Pampa citizens have been formulated by local attorneys, assisted by Dan Boone, attorney for Frank Kell.

These forms provide for the payment on demand of proceeds to be solicited from local people to purchase a right-of-way and terminal, and to pay the $5,000 in cash as provided in an agreement approved Saturday.

The funds will be used by B. E. Finley, Mr. K. Brown, and J. M. Dodson, and if all the money is not needed the surplus will be returned to donors in proportion to their payments. The contracts obligate the signers only to the sum to be specified in the documents.

The local committee will sign the contract with the Clinton, Oklahoma Western railroad as soon as the individual contracts aggregate enough to safeguard the liability. The final contract is to be signed by March 1, and construction must be under way by May 1. A standard type of road bed will be built from Pampa to Cheyenne, Okla. Pampa must obtain about 30 miles of this right-of-way.

Committees will be appointed here to obtain individual contracts and to get the right-of-way and terminal. Mr. Kell's engineers and legal department will soon furnish deed forms and field notes for the use of these committees.

Those familiar with railroad building declare Pampa has one of the best propositions ever offered a city in the Panhandle.

Watchman's Shanty Placed at Cuyler

Santa Fe workmen are setting up a watchman's shanty at the crossing at Cuyler street. The watchman will be on duty from noon until 8 o'clock every day, during this time of heaviest traffic. A house for engineers and switchmen is also being set up near the engine house.

Other improvements will be made immediately, L. W. Klein, local agent, states. Chief of these will be the installation of the interlocking system, which will mean that trains can be sidetracked from the operating room without stopping to throw the switch by hand.

SERVICE—The school teacher exhorts and is often herself exhorted to service. The word is best defined in the lives of those who live the definition.

Mrs. Mable Watkins Lang of Canyon Teachers college, who died last week after a short illness, was such a teacher. At the time of her death she was acting head of the English department.

A native Texan, she followed the destinies of Trinity university in getting her education, and later studied in Eastern universities. Her life was dedicated, along with that of her husband to work among young people of the schools and churches. She was one of those remarkable women who combined the sympathy and gentleness of her sex with the keenest of grasp for ideas and details.

Her family will miss her little less than the school she served, and the students she taught pause thoughtfully in contemplation of a grateful memory of her work.

OUR WEATHER—We are proud of our weather—most of the time. No storm or cold spell can last long in our minds when a typical spring day arrives in January.

An ambitious young Pampa cartoonist exhibited this week a clever pencil sketch of the fully equipped Panhandle resident from the standpoint of clothing. The strange attire he presented included a patented hailproof umbrella, dust goggles, emergency fan, sombrero, snow shoes, rain-proof hat, combination dress skirt and sheepskin coat, lightning conductor, dress shoes, and wind sheet—the latter evidently to aid propulsion.

The sketch showed the necessity for being prepared for quick temperature changes. Native Panhandle folks know these peculiarities, and have learned to regard the sudden changes as "stimulating." And 'tis so. Our changing weather, with a high average of pleasant days in winter, is something to defend, even if we jest about it.

say, that someone pushes a button and then the Republican candidate is nominated. If so, Republican guessing becomes all the harder unless one is so extremely fortunate as to know the button-pushers and learn just what is on their minds.

At this moment, some guessers think the button will be pushed for Hoover and others that it will be pushed for Gen. Dawes. Some of the Hoover folks seem to be frothing at the mouth in their anxiety to have the button pushed right now, but the button-pushers are in no hurry, and the longer they delay the more guessers will there be to figure that the button won't ever be pushed for Mr. Hoover.

The double-crossing season hasn't arrived yet. Being out in front as to be without serious competition, Mr. Hoover may be the principal casualty when it comes. Every political year, it should be borne in mind, has its double-crossing season.

In the Republican party, it isn't as if nearly all the smart politicians thought Mr. Hoover would be nominated or as if they thought General Dawes would be nominated. A complete canvas of minds is impossible and wouldn't mean anything any way, but some of the wise money, if any, is placed on Mr. Hoover and some of the wise money, again if any, is placed on Dawes.

The anti-Hoover attack, designed to slow up what Hooverites like to think of as their bandwagon, has begun, emanating from more or less mysterious sources. He has been assailed in gumshoe fashion both through raising question as to his constitutional eligibility and his partisan record.

You have read all about that, but you haven't read who started it. No one attempted to spread the anti-Hoover propaganda through the medium of this writer and he hasn't inquired as to where it came from, but it is funny how stories will get into the newspapers. There's sure to be more of the same.

Recently an eight-page weekly political sheet appeared here whose outstanding characteristic has been an anti-Hoover slant. Whether this new anti-Hoover campaign gets anywhere will depend on who's behind it all.

THE STORY THUS FAR

It was the jewel case that puzzled Vance. It was found in the apartment not far from the strangled body of Margaret Odell, the beautiful stage star known as the "Canary." The case looked as if someone had first tried to open it with a poker and then had succeeded in opening it with a chisel. Vance, Markham's friend, and a student of crime psychology, thinks it most peculiar.

CHAPTER VI

Deputy-Inspector Conrad Brenner was one of that small army of obscure, but highly capable experts who are connected with the New York police department, and who are constantly being consulted on abstruse technical problems, but whose names and achievements rarely get into the public prints.

His specialty was locks and burglars' tools; and I doubt if, even among those exhaustively painstaking criminologists of the University of Lausanne, there was a more accurate reader of the evidential signs left by the implements of house-breakers. In appearance and bearing he was like a withered little college professor. His black, unpressed suit was old-fashioned in cut; and he wore a very high stiff collar, with a narrow black string tie. His gold-rimmed spectacles were so thick-lensed that the pupils of his eyes gave the impression of acute belladonna poisoning.

When Heath had spoken to him, he merely stood staring with a sort of utterly unaware that there was any one else in the room. The sergeant, evidently familiar with the little man's idiosyncrasies of manner, did not wait for a response, but started at once for the bedroom.

"This way, please, Professor," he directed, cajolingly, going to the dressing table and picking up the jewel-case. "Take a squint at this, and tell me what you see."

Inspector Brenner followed Heath, without looking to right or left, and, taking the jewel-case, went silently to the window and began to examine it. Vance, whose interest seemed suddenly to be reawakened, came forward and stood watching him.

For fully five minutes the little expert inspected the case, holding it within a few inches of his myopic eyes. Then he lifted his glance to Heath and winked several times rapidly.

"Two instruments were used in opening this case." His voice was small and high-pitched, but there was in it an undeniable quality of authority. "One bent the lid and made several fractures on the baked enamel. The other was, I should say, a steel chisel of some kind, and was used to break the lock."

"The first instrument, which was blunt, was employed amateurishly, at the wrong angle of leverage; and the effort resulted only in twisting the overhang of the lid. But the steel chisel was inserted with a knowledge of the correct point of oscillation, where a minimum of leverage would produce the counter-acting stress necessary to displace the lockbolts."

"A professional job?" suggested Heath.

"Highly so," answered the inspector, again blinking. "That is to say, the forcing of the lock was professional. And I would even go so far as to advance the opinion that the instrument used was one especially constructed for such illegal purposes."

"Could this have done the job?" Heath held out the poker.

"It is an interesting fact that for the sixteen years he had been connected with the New York police department, he had been referred to, by his superiors and subordinates, alike, as 'the Professor.'"

There appeared the impression of a human hand distinctly registered in saffron

The other looked at it closely, and turned it over several times.

"It might have been the instrument that bent the cover, but it was not the one used for prying open the lock. This poker is cast iron and would have snapped under any great pressure, whereas this box is of plate, with an inset cylinder pin-tumbler lock taking a paracentric key. The leverage force necessary to distort the flange sufficiently to lift the lid could have been made only by a steel chisel."

"Well, that's that," Heath seemed well satisfied with Inspector Brenner's conclusion. "I'll send the box down to you, Professor, and you can let me know what else you find out."

"I'll take it along, if you have no objection." And the little man tucked it under his arm and shuffled off without another word.

Heath grinned at Markham. "Queer bird. He ain't happy unless he's measuring jimmy marks on doors and windows and things. He couldn't wait till I sent him the box. He'll hold it lovingly on his lap all the way down in the subway, like a mother with a baby."

Vance was still standing near the dressing-table, gazing perplexedly into space.

"Markham," he said, "the condition of that jewel-case is positively astounding. It's unreasonable, illogical—insane. It complicates the situation most damnably. That steel box simply couldn't have been chiselled open by a professional burglar. . . . and yet, don't y' know, it actually was."

Before Markham could reply, a satisfied grunt from Captain Dubois attracted our attention.

"I've got something for you, Sergeant," he announced.

We moved expectantly into the living-room. Dubois was bending over the end of the library-table almost directly behind the place where Margaret Odell's body had been found.

He took out an insufflator, which was like a very small hand-bellows, and blew a fine light-yellow powder evenly over about a square foot of the polished rosewood surface of the table-top. Then he gently blew away the surplus powder, and there appeared the impression of a human hand distinctly registered in saffron.

The bulb of the thumb and each fleshy hummock between the joints of the fingers and around the palm stood out like tiny circular islands. All the papillary ridges were clearly discernible. The photographer then hooded his camera to a peculiar adjustable tripod and, carefully focusing his lens, took two flash-light pictures of the handmark.

"This ought to do," Dubois was pleased with his find. "It's the right hand—a clear print—and the guy who made it was standing right behind the dame. . . . And it's the newest print in the place."

"What about this box?" Heath pointed to the black document-box on the table near the overturned lamp.

"Not a mark—wiped clean."

Dubois began putting away his paraphernalia.

"I say, Captain Dubois," interposed Vance, "did you take a good look at the inside door-knob of that clothes-dress?"

The man swung about abruptly, and gave Vance a glowering look.

"People ain't in the habit of handling the inside knobs of closet doors. They open and shut closets from the outside."

Vance raised his eyebrows in simulated astonishment.

"Do they, now, really?—Fancy that! . . . till, don't y' know, if one were inside the closet, one couldn't reach the outside knob."

"The people I know don't shut themselves in clothes-closets." Dubois's tone was penderously sarcastic.

"You positively amaze me!" declared Vance. "All the people I know are addicted to the habit—a sort of daily pastime, don't y' know."

Markham, always diplomatic, intervened.

"What idea have you about that closet, Vance?"

"Alas! I wish I had one," was the dolorous answer. "It's because I can't, for the life of me, make sense of its neat and orderly appearance that I'm so interested in it. Really, y' know, it should have been artistically looted."

Heath was not entirely free from the same vague misgivings that were disturbing Vance, for he turned to Dubois and said:

"You might go over the knob, Captain. As this gentleman says, there's something funny about the condition of that closet."

Dubois, silent and surly, went to the closet door and sprayed his yellow powder over the inside knob. When he had blown the loose particles away, he bent over it with his magnifying-glass. At length he straightened up, and gave Vance a look of ill-natured appraisal.

"There's fresh prints on it, all right," he grudgingly admitted; "and unless I'm mistaken they were made by the same hand as those on the table. Both thumb-marks are ulnar loops, and the index-fingers are both whorl patterns. . . . Here, Pete," he ordered the photographer, "make some shots of that knob."

When this had been done, Dubois, Bellamy, and the photographer left us.

Teachers College Furnishes County Demonstration Agents

CANYON, Jan. 23—Graduates and ex-students of the West Texas State Teachers college are establishing favorable records as county home demonstration agents in widely scattered points in Texas.

Miss Myrtle Miller, a student whose former home was at Shamrock, is county demonstration agent for Hunt county. Her work with the women of the county has been outstanding.

Miss Veda Swafford, who is agent in Collingsworth county with headquarters at Wellington, is doing splendid club work of all kinds there. Recently the Wellington Leader devoted an entire issue to the work of the girls and women's home economics club of that county.

Canning, sewing, poultry projects, are stressed in that county.

Miss Margie Lyon, of the class of '26, is agent in Nacogdoches county and one of her club girls, Lorene Lawson, won the $200 State Fair scholarship for 1927.

Only a few of the Home Economics majors of the West Texas State Teachers college go into the home demonstration work, but they have made excellent records. Miss Sallie Hill, who received her foundation work at Canyon, is now in charge of one of the largest districts in Texas. Mrs. Hazel Kelly, who has returned to Canyon for her senior work this year, was successful agent in Baylor county.

Several of the members of the Home Economics club of 1923 expect to go into the type of work.

Miss Falba Foote is head of the Home Economics department at the Canyon college.

Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Nicholas spent Thursday in Amarillo, where Dr. Nicholas attended a clinic and lecture on plate work given by Dr. Dunbar Campbell of Kansas City, one of the most prominent dentists in the United States, which was given under the auspices of the Amarillo Dental association.

Dr. Dunbar told and demonstrated the latest findings in dentistry research and especially stressed plate work. The lecture was given in the Herring hotel and was followed by a banquet.

The first man to put Shuffel Calahan down for a count of ten and the boy who recently won a decision over Chief Jack Elkhart will feature the ten-round main event at the Pampa Athletic Club tonight. Warnie Smith, 165 pounds, who beat Calahan, and Tommy O'Brien, 165 pounds, who beat Elkhart, are two of the fastest in their class and have never been kayoed.

Smith is a veteran of the ring, crafty, hard-hitting, and fast, as his record in Madison Square and Chicago show. He has met the best and is by no means at the end of his career, as he has engagements to box contenders during 1928.

The boy O'Brien has a career before him. He is a speed artist and classed as one of the hardest right-hand hitters in the game. In his last 100 fights he has had 50 knockouts. The wise birds are looking for the youngster to win the decision from the veteran.

The semi-final, an eight-round bout, features two head-liners. Country Boy Lantz, 147 pounds, and Doggie Lawhead, 145 pounds, have long records and are both out to win a decision.

Lantz has fought draws with Fred Whittington and Hamp Brown while Lawhead has beaten Kid Young, Billy Pelts and Pat Heiby.

An added six-round attraction

Helps Youth

Here's Izy Zarakov, former Harvard athletic star, who, with the backing of Irving G. McColl, New York multi-millionaire, plans to open a chain of summer camps for boys. Zarakov conducted a camp of his own for boys last year.

THE RISING YOUNG MR. HOMANS

His studious demeanor, aided by the horn-rimmed spectacles, is quite in keeping with the dignity of his game!

When everybody began talking about Homans at Minnikahda last summer—Mr. Homans had got out in front of the field in the first qualifying round of the national amateur championship—I must admit I didn't know who Mr. Homans was, and by an association of ideas, or at least of names, I began thinking about "Chubby" Hooman, the English amateur who played at the National Links in the first of the Walker Cup matches, in 1922, and later at Brookline, in the national amateur of that year.

Subconsciously, I got a picture of Gene Homans which looked like Chubby Hooman, which he does not in the least. Mr. Homans is tall and slender and very quiet and wears horn-rimmed spectacles and looks studious. Mr. Mooman is short and stocky and has a high color and is one of the best and most continuous places Rusty Cahill and Guy Beard. This is a challenge match, Beard, a well known boy from White Deer, thinking he can beat the pride of Pampa. If Cahill fights like he did two weeks ago he should win the bout.

Kid Andrews and Bat Sikes, two 150-pound boys, are matched to go four rounds in a special event, while the youngsters will provide the entertainment in the curtain raiser.

talkers I know. I suppose Mr. Homans is about 20 years old, too.

Anyway, both Mr. Homans and Mrs. Phillips Finlay made quite a splash in the Minnikahda championship. Mr. Jones stopping one and Mr. Quinmet stopping the other; but, judging by their showing the last of last year at Pinehurst, each of them will take a deal of stopping from now on.

Homans went to the final round and lost on the twentieth green to George Dunlap, who never seems to beat anybody away from Pinehurst, or lose to anybody at that wonderful resort. George has won the mid-winter show three times in succession, now. The last two times he beat Mr. Homans.

However that may be, I shall later discuss the phase of Mr. Dunlap's game at Pinehurst which renders him singularly drastic. Mr. Homans plays a good, sound, conventional game, with plenty of range from the tee, and apparently a steady competitive temperament. His studious demeanor, aided by the horn-rimmed spectacles, is quite in keeping with the dignity of his game, which is a very good game indeed.

We shall look for Mr. Homans with interest at Braeburn next summer.

Buffaloes Bidding Strong for T.I.A.A. 1928 Championship

CANYON, Jan. 23—So far this season the West Texas State Teachers college basketball team has met Texas university, Baylor university Oklahoma Southwestern Teachers, and Texas Tech; playing a total of seven games to date, winning five and losing one game each to Texas and Baylor.

The Oklahoma Teachers, while not showing the class of their entry last season, seem to have a fine team in the making. Most of their men this year are freshmen. They were defeated decisively by the Buffaloes, but the Buffaloes were stepping at top speed both nights.

The Texas Tech team, which is coached this year by a new man, "Vic" Payne, is much better than the teams which formerly represented the Matador school. They held the Buffs to a 25 to 27 score, the first night and 20 to 25 in the second game.

Just now the Buffaloes are running at top form trying to get in the best possible condition for the Abilene Christian College Wild Cats, who will come to the Buffalo range for two games on January 27 and 28. These games will no doubt be the most hotly contested of any played on the Buffalo court for a long time. Both teams are contending for the T. I. A. A. championship, and these games will have a decisive bearing on the final outcome.

WILL FIGHT

Here is Tommy O'Brien, the boy whom Harold Ripple has trained into one of the best-165-pound boys in the South-west. He will meet Warnie Smith, an oldtimer of the ring, in the main event at the Pampa Athletic club tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sawyer have returned from Midlothian, Texas, where they have been visiting Mr. Sawyer's grandmother, who has been seriously ill.

Profits of Football
The University of Pennsylvania recently published a financial report of the athletic association showing a profit of $363,000 on football, and Notre Dame is said to have cleared $500,000 over operating expenses. Other smaller institutions are reporting profits of from $10,000 upward.

Figures such as these offer material to critics who maintain that commerce is becoming too great a factor in college athletics. In the east, Pennsylvania has been accused of considering only the gate receipts in drawing up the football schedule, and Notre Dame has been criticized for too much patronage of the railroads in traveling around for big money games.

Pennsylvania, however, is trying to pay for one of the finest athletic plants in the country, situated near the heart of a great city, and Philadelphia looks upon Frankia Field as a civic monument.

Notre Dame also is preparing to build a big stadium at home, and anyone who does not know and who cares to investigate can find out with little trouble that athletics have to pay for themselves at every college.

If there is any doubt that profits from athletics do not go back into athletics, the financial reports can remove the doubt.

'SWEET RUNNING'

A feature of the NEW Maytag aluminum washer

THE remarkable absence of vibration that characterizes the movements of the New Maytag Washer, is silent but striking evidence of perfect engineering. As the automobile mechanic would say, it is "Sweet Running."

The Roller Water Remover of the New Maytag marks another advance in washing machine construction. Its never-crush roll thoroughly removes the surplus soap and water from the clothes with perfect safety to delicate buttons and filmy laces. It hugs the high and low spots without pressing wrinkles that are hard to remove. There is a new safety feed that starts the clothes through the rolls quickly. This is the safest, most effective method of water removal known. It is exclusively owned and controlled by Maytag.

See this marvelous New Maytag with its many advanced features which more than ever entitle the Maytag to its "position of World Leadership."

Menus for the Family

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Oranges, cereal, cream, creamed dried beef, popovers, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Veal and sausage rolls, creamed peas, tomato and banana salad, graham bread, milk, tea.

DINNER—Roast spareribs, scalloped sauerkraut and mashed potatoes, head lettuce with chiffonade dressing, canned green gages, filled cookies, milk, coffee.

A nice way to serve the spare-rib and kraut dinner is to pile the vegetable mixture in a mound in the center of a large platter and arrange the ribs in a border around the vegetable. If the platter is heat proof it should be slipped into a hot oven to cook for about ten minutes. The fat from the ribs will blend with the vegetable mixture and the kraut slightly flavor the meat.

Filled Cookies

One cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter and sugar and work in flour. A pastry mixer or the hand must be used for this work. Mix and sift baking powder with flour. Add eggs beaten until light. Add vanilla and stir to a smooth dough. Roll on a floured molding board, making a thin sheet. Cut out in rounds and from half the rounds cut out centers. Put the rings on the whole rounds. The centers are baked and frosted and garnished with a nut meat or raisin. Fill the cookies with hollow rings with the following filling and bake ten minutes in a moderate oven.

Pampa Branch of American Association of University Women Is Formed—First Local Project to Be Carnegie Library

Pampa was signally honored with the formal organization January 9 of the fourteenth branch in Texas of the American Association of University Women. Since the founding of the A. A. U. W. in 1882, the association has grown to number 27,185 national members, 37 state divisions, and 411 branches, with branches in Peking, Porto Rico, and several foreign cities.

The association has established a national headquarters in Washington, and is a consistent member of the International Federation of University Women. It offers annually graduate fellowships in various fields of the value of $1,200 to $1,500 apiece, and encourages all its branches to offer scholarships to its high school students. The projects of the A. A. U. W. are encouraging girls to go to college, raising undergraduate scholarships and loan funds, improving local schools, arranging foreign exchange of teachers and students, providing opportunities for study groups, encouraging the establishing of libraries, and making surveys and investigations in the field of education.

The association gives university women the opportunity of meeting each other, with whom they have much in common, and brings them in contact with distinguished women throughout the country, and also gives them the opportunity for using their influence for the maintenance of high standards in higher education for women.

During the past year, there has been raised $79,212.42 by the members of the A. A. U. W. to carry on the work.

Local organization, election of officers, plans and purposes outlines were conducted under the supervision of properly accredited officials of the Amarillo branch of the A. A. U. W. Those from Amarillo included Mrs. E. H. Reedy, president of the Amarillo branch; Mrs. Jack Wyatt, state treasurer of the Texas division, Mrs. John Maynard, Mrs. E. C. Ochsner, and Miss Oliver.

Before the meeting, these ladies were entertained with a delightful lunch at the Schneider hotel, followed by a ride through the Pampa oil fields.

A group of about 60 women met at the home of Mrs. C. C. Cook with the women from Amarillo and perfected the organization of the Pampa branch. Two classes of members are admitted to membership in the A. A. U. W., national and associate. Any woman holding an approved degree from an eligible school may be a national member, and any woman with a year's work from the same list of schools may be an associate member, and any woman with a degree from a school on the probation list may be an associate member also. A college club was organized at Mrs. Cook's to cooperate with the local branch of A. A. U. W., and the same officers and committee will serve for both organizations.

To be eligible for membership in the college club, a woman must have completed one year of college work. Mrs. M. A. Finney is membership chairman, and she and her committee would like to have the names of all the women of the community who would be interested in belonging to the Pampa branch and college club. Each member is asked to present her credits to the committee as soon as possible.

The ladies voted that their first definite project would be to cooperate with the other local organizations in securing for Pampa a Carnegie library. The following committee was appointed to find out about such a library: Mrs. H. D. Lewis, Mrs. C. W. Stowell, Mrs. J. Byrd, Mrs. W. A. Bratton, Mrs. Tom Simmons, Mrs. Mack Graham, Mrs. Marion Howard, Miss Bernice Whiteley, and Miss Josephine Cariker.

The first regular meeting of the association will be at one o'clock, Saturday, February 4 at the Schneider hotel for luncheon, business and a study program. Dr. Tiedmann Hicks, chairman of the program committee, will be in charge and the subject will be "Carnegie Libraries." All who can attend the luncheon are asked to telephone Mrs. A. D. McNamara at 199-J by Friday, Feb. 3, so she may know how many to have reservations made for.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar; first vice-president and chairman of the membership committee, Mrs. M. A. Finney; second vice-president and chairman of the program committee Dr. Tiedmann Hicks; treasurer, Mrs. Clyde Fatheree; and secretary, Mrs. G. A. Holloway.

The constitution and by-laws will be discussed at the meeting February 4. The following committees were appointed: Membership, Mrs. M. A. Finney, Mrs. Esther Culberson, Mrs. T. E. Duncan, Mrs. Lee Harrah, Miss Irma Crowe, Lester Chiles, Mrs. G. C. Walstad, Miss Gladys Carter, and Miss Mary Nell.

Program: Dr. Tiedmann Hicks, Mrs. Bob Chafin, Mrs. W. A. Bratton, Mrs. W. F. Campbell, Mrs. Marvin Lewis, Mrs. R. A. Webb, Mrs. Sam Irwin, Mrs. A. B. Kirby, and Miss Wilma Chapman.

Entertainment: Miss Ruth Ann Mitchell, Mrs. Paul McNamara, Mrs. Lynn Boyd, Mrs. J. B. Dickey, Mrs. Hammond, Miss Margaret Schmidt, Miss Harriet Reeves, Miss Gene Campbell, Mrs. Tom Rose.

Publicity committee: Mrs. W. L. Woodward, Miss Ve Lora Reed, and Miss Wilma Pyron, and Miss Lucille Durrenberger.

The list of members is as follows: National members, Mrs. Esther Culberson, Mrs. Clyde Fatheree, Mrs. M. A. Finney, Mrs. G. A. Holloway, Mrs. Marvin Lewis, Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, Dr. Tiedmann Hicks, and Miss Ruth Ann Mitchell, Miss Josephine Cariker, Miss Gladys Carter, Miss Harriet Reeves, Miss Bernice Whiteley and Miss Gene Campbell. The associate members with degrees are Mrs. N. B. Ellis, Mrs. Lee Harrah, Mrs. W. L. Woodward, Mrs. W. C. Shamrock Irishmen, by a 40 to 27 score over Higgins, took first honors in the Miami All-Panhandle invitation basketball tournament Saturday night.

The Pampa Harvesters, playing classy ball, held the fast Miami Warriors 20 to 25 Saturday afternoon after getting off to a bad start Friday night with Mobeetle.
