Hundred Delegates Urged For Wellington Convention

PAMPA IS OUT FOR THE 1928 WTCC MEETING

Local People Will Leave Here Early Tomorrow

ENTHUSIASM AT C. OF C. HERE

C. C. Cook Delegated To Make Address Of Invitation

One hundred delegates, half a bushel of "Boost Pampa" whistles, and spirited work in telling of this city's advantages will bring the 1928 convention of the Panhandle-North Plains Chamber of Commerce to this city, in the opinion of the directors of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

At last night's meeting much enthusiasm was displayed and a committee of five was appointed to urge local citizens to attend the district meeting at Wellington tomorrow. The committee is composed of B. E. Finley, W. A. Bratton, W. E. Taylor, F. P. Reid and Olin E. Hinkle.

The Pampa delegates will gather in front of the Chamber of Commerce building at about 6:30 a. m. tomorrow and receive banners and instructions. The trip will require between three and four hours.

Reports to the Daily News from Wellington this morning indicated that Pampa thus far is the only city to announce for the 1928 meeting, although Panhandle, an unsuccessful candidate last year, has declared her intention to land the 1929 session.

Tomorrow morning a session will open at the Rialto theatre at 9 o'clock with a band concert. At 10 o'clock Judge C. C. Small, presiding officer, will formally open the convention. The address of welcome will be by S. R. Pinkerton, and the response by J. W. Debenport of Childress. Addresses of the morning will be "Object of District Conventions," B. M. Whitaker; "Hops and Hominy," Col. C. C. French, Fort Worth Stockyards company; and "Our Biggest Problem," Judge C. Y. Welch, Quanah.

Homer D. Wade will be toastmaster of the luncheon. Addresses will be made by R. E. Sheppard, mayor of Wichita Falls; R. H. Haynie, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon. Delegates will make two-minute addresses.

In the afternoon the convention will hear the reports of committees and select the next meeting place before adjournment.

Delegates will register at the Rialto theatre upon arrival.

President Charles C. Cook of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce was selected last night to make the address inviting the next meeting to this city. It is urged that local people make sacrifices, if necessary, to attend the convention and help bring the following session to Pampa.

Politics Charged By Sheriff Who Scores Governor

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 24.—Sheriff L. A. Mersaux of Saint Bernard parish today replied to Governor Simpson's demands that gambling be stopped. In a letter he denied there was any gambling and accused the governor of writing the letter "to injure me politically and hold me up to public scorn and ridicule."

Sea Slayer

Mrs. Mary Waite, stewardess on the S. S. American Trader, photoed as she was arrested on a charge of murder upon her arrival in New York. It is alleged that she slew Louis Fisher, refrigeration engineer of the vessel, by pouring acid down his throat.

RADICALS DO MORE DAMAGE

Paris Trouble Caused By Criminals, Say Police

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Reports received here today told of continued Sacco and Vanzetti demonstrations in many foreign countries. The most serious outbreak occurred last night in Paris when police were forced to throw up temporary barricades to protect themselves from the mobs.

Several policemen were injured and many arrests made before order was restored.

The bodies of the two radicals will be cremated Sunday at Boston after a brief ceremony.

PARIS, Aug. 24 (AP)—Sacco and Vanzetti unrest for the past few days quieted down today and the city was normal. Last night's disturbances which caused considerable property damage, was regarded in police circles as the work of criminals bent on stealing expeditions, instead of ordinary working men.

T. D. Hobart Gives History of White Deer Land Firm

The local Rotary club luncheon today at the Schneider hotel was featured by several selections by the quartet from the Moody Bible institute which is to conduct meetings at the Methodist church.

The quartet is composed of Edwin Guber, George Weppler, George Chenot, and Ivan Allbutt. The young men were introduced by the Rev. Tom Brabham, pastor of the Methodist church.

T. D. Hobart gave an interesting address on the history of the White Deer Land company. He stressed the history of Pampa and the plains.

Visiting Rotarians were Fred Hobart and Jap Todd of Canadian.

Visitors at the luncheon were T. D. Hobart, Rev. Brabham, of Pampa, Clinton Henry of Palo Duro; and Edwin Guber, George Weppler, George Chenot, and Ivan Allbutt, all of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

HUGE PIPELINE PROJECT SEEN BY BIG PARTY

Representatives of Four Counties Guests Of Empire

BARBECUE IS SERVED AT NOON

Speakers Praise Work Of Company; Capital Welcomed

The magic of millions, transformed into the giant project of building the 20-inch gas line from Pampa to Kansas City, became familiar knowledge yesterday to representatives of Gray, Wheeler, Roberts, and Hemphill counties who were guests of the Empire Gas and Fuel company on a tour of inspection.

Through the courtesy of the Booth and Flinn Construction company, pipeline contractor, the party was served an oldtime barbecue lunch at the construction camp on the J. B. Williams ranch 7 miles southwest of Canadian.

In the absence of Ray Willings, superintendent of the camp, Austin Manuel, timekeeper, welcomed the guests. Great credit was given T. B. Matney, chief chef of the camp, for the lunch which was applauded by those present.

Mayor Reid Speaks

Mayor F. P. Reid of Pampa was chairman of the occasion, and in a short talk thanked the companies for their invitation. He asked the guests to visit Pampa and the Empire Gas and Fuel company's booster station now being installed. Mayor Reid also mentioned the Tri-State fair in Amarillo as a way to advertise a community by exhibits, and told of the proposed Oil Exchange building at Pampa.

Homer D. Wade, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was a chance visitor. He congratulated the companies on their great work.

"The making of a community or a country is the mixing of good will of great companies with that of the people interested in their enterprise," Mr. Wade said. "I am delighted to see the interest the people of these counties take in this project, which means so much to them, and the attitude of the companies toward the people of the territory through which they go. This is a great work and a wonderful help to the country."

Mr. Wade invited all present to Wellington Thursday for the district convention.

Praises Capital

Judge H. E. Hoover of Canadian, in a witty address told about Canadian, its sand, and his exhibit to be shown at the Canadian fair next month. He stressed the fact that capital makes country, and that the small companies need the great companies.

"Nature is a great thing to develop a country, but it would be no good without capital that these companies are bringing to the greatest country in the world, the Panhandle."

Chamber of Commerce Directors Endorse Oil Exchange Plans And Will Invite Companies to City

After hearing complete plans for the proposed Oil Exchange here, the Pampa Chamber of Commerce last night endorsed the proposition and authorized C. C. Cook, president, to work out means of attracting oil companies here.

Chas. H. Sharp, local contractor, displayed a large drawing of the building and explained progress on the proposal. It is possible, he declared to lease to outside firms or individuals every office before the building is started. He and several other local men went to Amarillo today to confer with prospective investors and firms desiring office space.

Mr. Sharp explained that there is no promotion cost, and that he and M. C. Parker of Amarillo, architect, will take stock for their work if they should be chosen by the directors. About half of the necessary amount has been subscribed. The rest must be raised at once. After the building is half completed, a substantial loan may be obtained.

It was shown by Mr. Sharp that immediate completion of the subscription work is necessary in order to assure big companies that they may find desirable offices here in large groups. The Empire Gas and Fuel company, it was stated, would take much space in the Oil Exchange if it were assured, but now plans are under way to erect office buildings at the booster plant 2 miles southeast of the city.

With the oil field conditions quiet, there is a tendency to combine district and field offices, giving Pampa an excellent opportunity to become the center of activities.

Mr. Parker said that his interest was aroused largely by his faith in Pampa, and that he would take his fee in stock in the Oil Exchange, just as he did in the New Schneider hotel. He told of his efforts to interest local people in a big hotel, and how many said such a feat could not be done. Now the building is finished and running full all most every night.

J. N. Duncan expressed the opinion that as a sound business investment the Oil Exchange could not be beaten, and said the location at the Rose corner is a good one.

"If Pampa does not make progress such a building is unnecessary, but the city can't go ahead without it," Mr. Duncan said. "The investment of the individual would be sounder than in a single building of smaller size."

Texas Company To Drill New Test

The Texas company plans to drill a well in the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of the J. C. McConnell property in section 185, block 3, Gray county. The well will be known as the Texas company's No. 13 McConnell.

The last string of 6 5-8 inch casing was set in the Gulf Production company's No. 2 Saunders in section 40, block 3, this morning and cleaning out is expected to commence this afternoon. The well blew in while the casing was being drawn after a shot had bridged the hole. It is making about 500 barrels a day, natural flow.

Campbell Chosen Division Chairman Of Canyon Institute

Supt. R. C. Campbell of the Pampa school system has been chosen chairman of the superintendents and principals division of the Panhandle teachers institute, according to information from Canyon, where the institute will be held.

The session will begin September 5 and last through September 9. Teachers from all parts of the North Panhandle will assemble there to hear distinguished educators and discuss school problems.

CRANE, UPTON AREA HARD HIT BY NEW PRICE

Crude Is Lowered To 60 Cents by Two Companies

PANHANDLE ON 75-CENT BASIS

New Schedule May React Favorable On Pampa Field

(By The Associated Press.)

DALLAS, Aug. 24.—Crude oil in Crane, Upton and Crockett counties has been reduced in price to 60 cents per barrel for all grades by the Humble Oil Refining company.

The same price was posted by the Magnolia Petroleum company Tuesday for Pecos, Crockett, Crane and Upton counties. Both companies announced a flat rate of 75c a barrel for Panhandle crude.

(Editor's Note: Gray county has not yet been affected by the crude slash, according to Paul S. Hedrick, veteran oil writer of Amarillo, with whom the Pampa Daily News has a news exchange agreement. The Noel pool in the northwest Pampa area also was excepted. The market break was a direct slap at the Crane-Upton fields, which are showing danger of heavily increased production. With Seminole suffering from water encroachment, the new price scale may slow up the West Texas area and restrict the Mid-Continent territory to the advantage of the Panhandle.)

AUSTIN, Aug. 24. (AP)—An amendment to the crude oil freight rate scheduled in Texas was ordered today by the State railroad commission, which will establish new rates between North Texas points. Upon application of the railroad, to Fort Worth from Midland, the rate will be 15 cents per hundred pounds.

BOY PROBLEM - Approach of school brings up the subject of truancy and general juvenile delinquency. Speaking before the Sweetwater Rotary club, Sheriff Jack Yarbrough, a veteran peace officer, said: "In nearly every instance, we find the parents are to blame originally for the wrong doing of children."

"I often find in cases where parents are working, that they do not know for two or three days at a time where their children have been. We grown folks, too, pay too little attention to boys. I have found that if a man will take time to talk to boys on the street now and then and show an interest in the boy's activities, he will soon gain the boy's confidence and have a staunch friend."

Much stress has been put lately on the Boy Scout movement in Pampa, and organization of troops is under way, but there are many boys and girls who will not be reached in that work. It will require the careful interest of the parents of Pampa to make the coming school term beneficial to all. Children who are to enter school soon should be prepared for the occasion. This means attention to the physical welfare - eyes, throat, teeth, and ears, especially - the clothing that should be comfortable but not necessarily expensive, and the proper supervision of home work under favorable conditions.

ONE WAY - Failure has attended most efforts to help the cotton farmer. Loan associations very largely failed to operate in the way originally planned. In most cases the cotton was already mortgaged and not subject to use as collateral. The government did little to regulate the industry.

Present conditions are more hopeful, due partly to the ravages of the boll weevil, which hurts localities but helps the industry as a whole. Cotton consumption is the greatest in history, or a little above that of last year. This country alone has in some years used 16,000,000 bales, or nearly the estimated present crop. Recently the cotton market has hiked upward on publication of bullish reports on boll weevil infestation. This means, in effect, that if production can be held - or accidentally will remain - low, and if consumption can be increased, the prices will automatically rise. The department of commerce at Washington has just issued an announcement that it proposes to start an investigation to develop new uses for cotton. Acting under congressional authorization, the department will check on old uses and then have experts study the industries, arts and professions to ascertain new ways to employ the great southern product.

While the immediate result will probably not be recognizable, the ultimate effect may be gratifying. If the present high consumption can be maintained, even, and exports encouraged, the industry will be stabilized. Safety, however, can be had only through general diversification.

UNREST - Hanford MacNider, assistant secretary of war and former commander of the American Legion, has christened his airplane the "Spirit of Unrest." The secretary has more than a finely drawn sense of humor; his ship pretty well characterizes the industry and the activity. This was almost tragically demonstrated to the official when he narrowly escaped harm in a crash last week. During July, MacNider made 48 air trips and covered 11,905 miles.

Aviation has not been proven safe by the fate of the three American Pacific planes. Flying in such endurance tests is comparable to student flying, for all factors are not equal as in ordinary aviation. The student is defective in skill, the long distance flyer, often, in circumstance. Overloading a plane with gasoline and shoving it over space not offering suitable landings harks back to early days in the industry. Commercial trans-continental flying will have more favorable conditions, with the seaplane favored by frequent opportunities to stop for fuel or service. But not so flights like those to Honolulu. Erwin's tailspin may have meant only engine trouble with an overloaded ship. It has not been recorded what his plane would have done landing heavily with nearly a ton of gas aboard.

The "unrest" of aviation takes a heavy toll, but conservative flying is a proven industry. It has been so in regard to all kinds of motorized transportation.

MUSICAL DEBT - It is encouraging to read that American chamber music, lately developed to a truly artistic point, is going to be carried to Europe in the form of a series of concerts which may reach large proportions. The solo and ensemble work which has been proven before American audiences may be expected to arouse some criticism, but considerable praise. Europe long contributed heavily to America in music and musicians, but the debt is being repaid. America is ascending to a place of leadership in production, if not in composition. Her artists have been successful in foreign lands in concert work, and now her entertainers are going to meet the masses abroad. Such progress is conducive to better relations, and music is truly a universal language. And even the American opera is becoming more American. Perhaps after Europe accepts our musical interpretation even our lordly highbrows will do so.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON.—The War Department tells one of the cavalry's favorite horse stories which, in case you haven't heard it, is about the rookie who was assigned to a horse as soon as he had reached camp.

The rookie hastily explained that he had never ridden a horse in his life.

"That's all right," the sergeant said. "The horse has never been ridden in his life, either. The two of you can work it out together."

Just as the cavalry officers are horse-minded, so everyone engaged in aviation should be air-minded, to use a more or less new expression. It is often hoped here that the American people will also become air-minded, to the glory and benefit of aeronautics.

The National Aeronautic association, for instance, is as air-minded as the ordinary dog is flea-minded.

The N. A. A. first demonstrated its complete air-mindedness when it became a pioneer of the air mail service. There is no elevator in its three-story building and time was when the weary postman had to climb up two flights of stairs with N. A. A. mail.

But that was a long time ago. The association rigged up a contraption by which it pulls up its mail box from the first floor, empties it and sends it back down. All the postman has to do is to ring a bell alongside the box. The thing is operated with pulleys, molecules, but we would prefer rain when "it looks like it" and sunshine when it isn't raining.

The worm turned. A farm hand was killed last week by a kick from a 32-year-old mare he was starting to shoot.

Diplomats, one discovers, are automobile-minded. Your correspondent cannot say off-hand just what would happen to an ambassador who walked to another embassy to pay a call, but it probably would be something pretty horrible. A diplomat on foot is as rare as a male member of the House of David in a beauty contest.

Suppose the Mexican ambassador, Senor Dr. Don Manuel Tellez, desires to pay a personal or business call on Ambassador Martino in the Italian embassy directly across Sixteenth street. Does he risk his diplomatic dignity waiting for a hole in the traffic to hoof his way across? Like heck he does. He calls for his chauffeur, sticks his tongue in his cheek and rides.

SPORT TALK

The Amarillo Texans took another yesterday when the Wichita team booted three and let in enough runs to win. Every member of the Texan team got one hit, while Storti helped himself to two. Pitcher Lyons of the Texans poled out a triple which was good for a run.

Blaeholder, league leading pitcher, allowed the Oklahoma City team only four hits yesterday, but errors lost the game for him. At that, Tulsa only got five safe blows off Craig.

The Beaumont Exporters lost their eleventh straight game yesterday. Rookie baserunning and fielding had a lot to do with the loss. The club is trying out several rookies for next year's team.

The Harvesters, local high school football team, are rarin' to get at their fall practice on the Canadian. Several members of the team are out several evenings each week, kicking the ball around.

Washrites Lose To Magnolia On Errors

Repeated errors caused the loss of the Washrites' efforts to the Magnolia baseball team in the city league last night, 7 to 6.

Hust, Bennett, and Howard were the worst offenders, but Hust's bat was working well.

Vincent pitched for the laundrymen and was stingy with hits but errors behind him lost the game. Sadler was hit freely but his support was good and got him out of tight places.

The Washrites got off to a good start in the first inning when Hunter drove in two runs and scored later. They got two in the third on Hust's triple and Hunter's second single, but the oil company men overcame the lead in the fourth when the laundry tea mblew up and made four errors.

Hunter and Hust were the heavy hitters for the Washrites while Byrd was the only man on the Magnolia team to get more than one hit.

Batteries: Washrites—Vincent, Gaither and Culpepper. Magnolia—Sadler and J. Deavers.

PRINCESS HAS LITTLE FAITH IN EXPERTS

BERLIN, (AP)—The expert in politics, business or society constitutes one of the greatest banes of humanity, believes Princess Mechthilde Lichnowsky, wife of German's last imperial ambassador to Great Britain.

So convinced is the princess that life would be quite tolerable except for the "ever-present specialist," that she has written a book, entitled, "Combatting the Expert."

Princess Lichnowsky has taken up the cudgels on behalf of the humble citizen. She tries to show that the horse sense of the unsophisticated layman often hits the mark far better than does the academic opinion of the professional.

The princess, who will lecture in the United States next year, is a conspicuous figure in the international social and diplomatic set. She first achieved literary prominence with a travel book, "Gods, Kings and Beasts in Egypt." Recently she published a book of humorous verse, "Half and Half," for which she made her own drawings.

OUT OUR WAY

—By Williams

BILLY EVANS Says

Taylor Seeks Divorce
"Bud" Taylor, generally regarded as the bantamweight champion, apparently is suffering from a rather peculiar complex.

In ring circles, Taylor is known as a fighting fool, the best at his weight. Yet the wires the other day carried the report that he was seeking divorce from his wife on the grounds of cruelty.

There is nothing unusual about divorce, and the charge of cruelty is a common one. However, it seems rather incongruous for a champion fighter to offer that as an alibi for cutting the family ties in twain.

Bantam challengers should take courage from the above admission of fear on the part of young Mr. Taylor.

Ball Regrets This
Every time Charley Root of the Chicago Cubs scores a victory, as I write these lines he has 22 to his credit, I can see Phil Ball, owner of the Browns gnashing his teeth and indulging in a few favorite words of profanity.

At present, Charley Root is the most efficient pitcher in the major leagues. He has a chance to win 30 ball games. And just think of it, for a period of three years he was the property of one Phil Ball, whose club was never worse off for pitchers.

George Sisler, when manager of the Browns, traded Root to Los Angeles with several other Browns for the battery of Lyons and Rego, neither of whom made the grade in the majors.

Maybe that is one of the reasons why George Sisler will not be one of the four players who are to be retained from the present St. Louis lineup, according to Phil Ball.

Moriarty Is Success
George Moriarty has definitely proved that umpires are able to manage major league ball clubs competently. His debut in the big show must be classed as a decided success.

The few umpires who took a whirl at the managerial game were none too successful and when Owner Frank Navin turned the Detroit club over to Moriarty the wisecracks agreed that one year would be about his limit.

Getting away to a bad start, due to a tough break in the weather as well as many injuries to his stars, things looked mighty blue for a time.

Moriarty frankly admitted managing was a tougher job than umpiring, explaining it by saying that an umpire worried only two hours daily while the manager had 24 hours of it.

Ten games below the .500 mark at the first of June, Moriarty finally got his system properly installed and the Tigers have been stepping fast ever since.

If Detroit can finish second—at has more than a fighting chance—Moriarty deserves to be classed as the outstanding new pilot in the American league.

Teaches Senoritas Dances of Gypsies

MADRID, Spain (AP)—More than 3,000 young "senoritas" have been taught to twinkle their toes and rattle the castagnettes by Roman, the Gypsy. During the past fifteen years at his academy in the vicinity of the Madrid University he earns such sums as have never been dreamed of by professors.

Girls usually start training at the age of twelve. When Roman turns them out after six months they have in their feet a large repertory of fandanguillos, gypsy dances, tangos, faucas and other typical steps. Some of his pupils have become famous on the continent. Among them are Minerva, Amparito, Medina, and Custodia Romero, known as the Bronze Venus.

Roman is a genuine gypsy. Before opening his academy, he was a dancer in the fairs and variety halls of Spain. He was nicknamed "The King of the Bolero," or Andalusian dance. Last year advantageous terms were offered him to join a Paris revue dancing troupe. But he could not leave the country where his gyp-

"Slum" Old Dish Of Illinois Indians

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Stew, the old army "slum," did not originate with the white man but was a common dish of Illinois Indians.

Georgia Osborne, librarian at the State Historical Library here, says she found the Indian recipe for "slum" in an old history book.

Mess sergeants who from time immemorial have been accused of throwing most anything into the stew kettle didn't have anything on the Indians.

"In preparing the meal," recounts the history, "the squaw often would throw fish, roots, meat and anything else at hand and edible, into the pot, boll the mixture and put it out for her family to eat."

Another Indian delicacy, the history said, was fowls boiled with only the larger feathers removed.

He," Judge Hoover said.

Short addresses were given by Judge E. F. Richards of Miami and Judge A. C. Wood of Wheeler. Judge Richards said that the people of Miami have united to welcome the company in the enterprise. Judge Wood stated that Wheeler county is uniting its stock, agriculture and oil and gas to make a great county.

Via Is Host

On behalf of the Empire Gas and Fuel company and the Booth and Finn company, Benjamin S. Via, resident agent of the Empire company and host on the occasion, thanked the assembled guests for their interest in the work of the Empire company. He said it is the policy of the company to work with the people of a community for the benefit of all. He stated that the Empire company will do extensive drilling in the Pampa field during the next year.

"As the largest lease holder in the Pampa field the company must prove up its territory before next August, when the leases expire. It must drill or lose its rights, and the company is going to drill," said Mr. Via.

Watch Welding Crews

After the meal at the field camp, the party left by motor for a trip along the pipe line to inspect the methods and equipment which are pushing the work towards its termination. Driving across country, the party reached the welding crew which is now about 30 miles from the booster station. The large pipes are joined in lengths of three by welding. The company makes its own gas. About 100 men are employed in that section of the work.

About three miles nearer Pampa the ditching machine is rapidly making the trench for the pipe. This machine makes from 3,000 to 4,000 feet a day. After the ditch digging machine comes gangs of men who place the large pipe and rivet the joints at the end of each welded string.

At the present time six separate gangs of men are at work between Pampa and Wichita, Kans. The gang leaving Pampa will go as far as the Canadian River, where the pipe is now being laid by a separate contingent. The line crosses the river about thirteen miles above Canadian. The section from Pampa to the river will be the first finished.

Early completion of the Pampa compressor station, the first unit of the Empire company's 20-inch gas pipe line from the Texas Panhandle to Wichita, is expected. Excavation work for the main building and the compressor units is finished and the forms for the first unit are in place, ready for the concrete. Much of the machinery, the main building steel and the 50,000-gallon elevated water storage tank are on the site. The tank will be erected immediately and one well has been drilled to supply water requirements for construction purposes. The station when complete will house three 1,000-horsepower, Cooper double-acting twin gas engines, driving 13-1/2 by 36-inch compressor cylinders.

Engineers are staking out the various facilities and active construction on the Mooreland compressor station will start August 22. A camp will be erected to house and board the workmen and the contract has been let for the construction of seven four-room cottages, one five-room and one 14-room two-story boarding house which will house the single employees. The station will house four 1,000-horsepower Cooper double acting twin tandem-gas engines driving 13-1/2 by 36-inch compressor cylinders.

Much of the preliminary construction work at the Wichita compressor station has been completed and crosses piling ranging from 40 to 50 feet in length has been driven, supporting foundations for the 50,000-gallon elevated water storage tank, the auxiliary generating units and the main engines. The nature of the soil encountered made it necessary to provide piling for all machinery before foundations could be built. Foundations for the regulator house, five-car garage and two five-room cottages are complete, while the large concrete basin for the after-coolers is receiving the finishing touches. Telephone service has been established between the Bartlesville office and this station.
