Fog Blocks Aviators On Both Sides Of Atlantic

TAIL SKIDS OF SHIP DAMAGED

Old Glory May Hop Off For Rome Today

(By The Associated Press.)
OTTAWA, Sept. 2.—Negative reports from ships and wireless stations today convinced official circles that tragedy had befallen Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim and her attendants, Colonel Minchen and Captain Hamilton, in their England to Canada plane, Raphael. The opinion prevails that the plane never reached the shores of the North American continent after starting from Upavon, England. The government wireless stations however were continuing a broadcast for information in the hope that the fliers fell in the ocean and were rescued by a vessel unequipped with wireless.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 2. (AP)—The American round-the-world plane, Pride of Detroit, hopped off from here this morning. The airmen, William Brock and Edward Schlee, hoped to reach Bagdad, about 1,000 miles from here, this afternoon.

CARIBOU, Me., Sept. 2. (AP)—The plane, Sir John Carling, which landed in a field in the town of Washburn near here last night, probably will remain until tomorrow before attempting to resume its flight from London, Ontario to Harbor Grace, Newfoundland and thence to London, England.

Captain Terry Tully and Lieut. James Medcalf found it raining when they arose this morning. They said they feared that they would run into the same fog that forced them down.

LE BOURGET, France, Sept. 2. (AP)—A fog, hanging heavy over the French countryside, balked the biplane, Blue Bird's attempt to fly to New York today.

The giant plane, manned by Leon Olvon and Pierre Corbu, after a beautiful take-off was back over Le Bourget in less than two hours. The ship was landed gracefully, and her pilot and navigator were bitterly disappointed over their failure.

SAINT JOHNS, Sept. 2. (AP)—The monoplane, Royal Windsor, will not be able to hop-off before late today, owing to newly discovered damage to the tail skids, the pilots announced.

The plane was forced down here yesterday by motor trouble while on its non-stop flight from Windsor, Ontario to Windsor, England.

SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 2. (AP)—Captain Courtney hopped off this afternoon in his seaplane for Plymouth on the first jump of his proposed trans-Atlantic flight.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, Sept. 2. (AP)—The monoplane Old Glory will hop off this afternoon for Rome if the present weather conditions continue as announced.

STRAWN HEADS BAR
BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 2. (AP)—Silas Strawn, of Chicago, was elected president of the American Bar association today.

John Willis To Supervise Drilling Of Carson Well

John T. Willis, local man formerly connected with the American Refining company here, made application this morning to drill a well in Carson county. The well will be known as the John T. Willis et al No. 1 S. B. Barrett estate in section 111, block 5, I. and G. N. survey, Carson county.

A rotary rig will be used for drilling. The depth guaranteed is 3-150 feet. The rig will be erected immediately and drilling is to commence by September 10. Drilling will be in charge of Mr. Willis.

The Pollard and others' No. 1 Bowers in section 89, block B-2, was swabbed dry after standing with 1,800 feet of oil in the hole. The hole is bottomed at 3,060 feet. First pay was reached at from 2,965 to 2,970 feet.

Riley and Heck No. 1 Mrs. J. M. Hopkins in section 66, block B-2, is drilling ahead at 3,117 in granite wash. It was making 25 barrels a day after drilling past a dropped casing.

The Gray County Oil company No. 1 Chapman in section 70, block 25, Gray county south of LeFors, is making 250 barrels a day at 2-856 feet. It is 15 feet in the granite wash.

The Rensaul Petroleum company's No. 1 Huselby, in section 55, block 25, is making 25 barrels a day after a third shot of 250 quarts from 2,560 to 2,620 feet.

Pecos County Oil May Be Restricted In Lease Production

(By The Associated Press.)
FORT WORTH, Sept. 2.—Producers of oil in the Yates pool in Pecos county met here today in an attempt to work out a plan of operation which it is felt will have an important bearing on the near future conditions of the oil industry.

The plan being considered involves fixing the allowed production for each lease supervised by an umpire.

NEGROES ELECTROCUTED

TESTIMONY IS BEGUN TODAY IN TYLER CASE

Judge Enters Plea Of Not Guilty For Anderson

DEFENSE HAS SURPRISE MOVE

Jurisdiction Challenge Is Unsuccessful In Trial

TYLER, Sept. 2. (AP)—Counsel for Cain Anderson, planter of Harrison county, on trial here for alleged violation of the state anti-mask law, sprung a surprise today by announcing that the defendant would not enter a plea.

The announcement was based on the fact that Anderson yesterday unsuccessfully challenged the jurisdiction of the court. Judge Warren immediately entered a plea of not guilty for Anderson, and instructed the taking of the testimony to begin.

It was brought out in a motion for continuance submitted by Nat Gentry, Sr., Tyler, for the defense, which was overruled by Judge J. P. Warren, who presided, and in questions asked veniremen by Anderson's counsel.

The jury was completed yesterday. Following is a list of those selected and in order taken:

T. A. McGill, Whitehouse, farmer, married; C. L. Howard, Lindale, electrician, married; M. L. Crone, Lindale, farmer, married; G. W. Longley, Winona, merchant, married; G. A. Carter, Tyler, farmer, married; J. V. Steager, Tyler, farmer, married; O. F. Davis, Tyler, farmer, married; L. W. Merrell, Mount Sylvan, farmer, married; W. A. Carter, farmer, married; E. J. Roberts, Tyler, farmer, married; W. T. Kenton, Tyler, retired merchant, married; R. M. Cook, Tyler, farmer, married.

Anderson is charged in 14 counts with being a member of a party which on the night of last June 8 administered a flogging with a knotted rope to J. R. Richardson, 50; his wife, 45, and their daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. A. Strapps, who were tenants on the Anderson farm.

The indictments fall into two classes. Briefly they charge approaching a house while masked and assault upon a person while masked. Penalty for the first offense is two to 10 years in the penitentiary and for the second, five to 99 years' imprisonment. Counsel for both sides expressed the opinion that a jury would be obtained from the 75 veniremen summoned and that the case might be in the hands of the jury by Saturday night.

Prosecuting attorneys are John E. Taylor, district attorney of Harrison county; M. G. Blalock, Marshall; Duncan Maynor, Tyler; Walter Russell, district attorney of Smith, Upshur and Wood counties, and Galloway Calhoun, Austin, assistant attorney general of Texas.

(By The Associated Press.)

Survive Mexican Bandit Attack

Chamber of Commerce Meeting Is Called to Discuss Road Election On Bonds to Pave Roads From City

A membership meeting of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, to be in the form of a dinner at the New Schneider hotel, August 8, was announced this morning by Charles C. Cook, president of the organization.

The outstanding subject of the dinner meeting will be the proposed bond issue to pave the principal highways in the Pampa special district.

The district was created a few months ago, and on petition the county commissioners called an election on a $400,000 bond issue and set the date of the election as September 10. The bond issue contemplates hard-surfacing of approximately 42 miles of highway.

If the bond issue receives a two-thirds majority, paved roads will be built to give 365-day efficiency in traffic to all parts of the Pampa oil field. One of the roads would connect with the Carson county paving near Kingsmill, and would make Pampa easily reached from Amarillo or Borger.

Texas Treasury Holds $50,000,000 But Robbers Are Not Interested; Vault One of Six Best In Nation

(By The Associated Press.)
AUSTIN, Sept. 2.—The Texas state treasury holds more than $50,000,000 in cash and securities, but would-be robbers could get only about $1,000 or so for their pains, even if a hold-up should be successful.

In the first place, the treasury is only a few steps from headquarters of the state rangers, some of whom are usually about the capital corridor, while the treasury is well equipped with pistols.

In the second place, the average of $1,000 cash kept by the chief clerk to pay off warrants, is all the money that would be "available." The remainder is locked in a formidable vault, built in the "eighties," but still one of the six best in the United States.

Behind the inner vault door, 11 inches thick and weighing five tons, is $1,000,000 in cash, including four $10,000 bills and one $5,000. This money is the remainder of the state guaranty fund, still unappropriated after repeal of the guaranty act, and does not belong to the state.

That is all the cash. The inner vault, however, also contains $15,000,000 in negotiable paper put up as security by banks with whom state funds are deposited, and $6,000,000 government bonds bought by Texas university with its oil royalty funds.

In the outer vault is $32,000,000 state school bonds, non-negotiable.

The inner vault is perpetually locked with an intricate combination. Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher rarely has an occasion to open the inner vault. It would be out of the question to cut into it, say as a "night job."

Even if there were no night-watchmen in the capital, robbers would have a mountainous task confronting them. There are two walls, each 18 inches thick, concrete reinforced with steel, and sheathed with half inch solid steel layers. The six inches space between the walls is filled with old cannon balls. Even if robbers succeeded in cutting through the outer wall, they hardly could get to the inner one. For every cannon ball removed, another would roll into its place, at least until long after daylight.

Jinx Seems to Follow Careers Of Valuable Major Leaguers

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK—Like a medalist in golf, a major leaguer receiving the most valuable player award usually seems to be followed by a jinx, such at least, with a very few cases of exception, has been the case in the big circuits.
 In 1922 George Sisler was voted the much coveted honor in the American league. That year the Brown's star hit .420, tying Cobb's mark for the Johnsonian wheel, made in 1911. George poled out 246 hits, scored 134 runs and stole 51 bases. It was his greatest season.
 The next campaign, however, found Sisler not even in uniform. Eye trouble not only kept him out of the game, but for a time appeared that George would never be able to play again. Sisler since has been far from the stellar all-around performer he was in 1922.

In 1923 Babe Ruth was given the most valuable player diploma. Ruth batted .393 leading the league. The next campaign the Bamb fell down a bit, though not as much as he did in 1925, when illness forced him out of the game for several weeks and brought his batting mark to a paltry .290. Last year he got back to .372, still a few hops behind that .393 of three years before.

In 1925 Roger Peckinpaugh, then with Washington, gained the laurels. Peck did much to bring the Senators their second consecutive pennant. But he was a big disappointment in the world series with the Pirates, setting a new record for errors in the classic. Every thing Peck did seemed to go wrong. His play was pathetic, also disastrous to Washington's hopes.

Last year Peck played in only 57 games. Last winter he was shunted to the White Sox in a trade. That's how the veteran shortstop followed up his fine 1925 chase.

The 1926 honor went to George Burns of the Cleveland Indians. Burns, despite his long major league service, turned in a great season. He hit .358 and also set a new record for two-base hits, getting 64. Along with Uhle, Burns was one of the outstanding reasons why the Indians surprised the multitude by finishing second after the majority of the experts couldn't see them better than fifth.

This season, however, Burns is not the Burns of a year ago. His hitting has slumped. He hasn't the aggressiveness and pep that marked his efforts in 1926. In a recent game in the east George was yanked from the lineup.

It's been much the same in the National league. Old Man Jinx appears to be on the job.

Two years ago Rogers Hornsby won the award. Last year a bad crop of boils and managerial responsibilities put a crimp in the Rajah's batting average, which fell off 96 points. Hornsby, the greatest right-handed clubber since the halcyon days of Larry Lajoie, and batting champion of the National league six straight campaigns turned in a mark of .317.

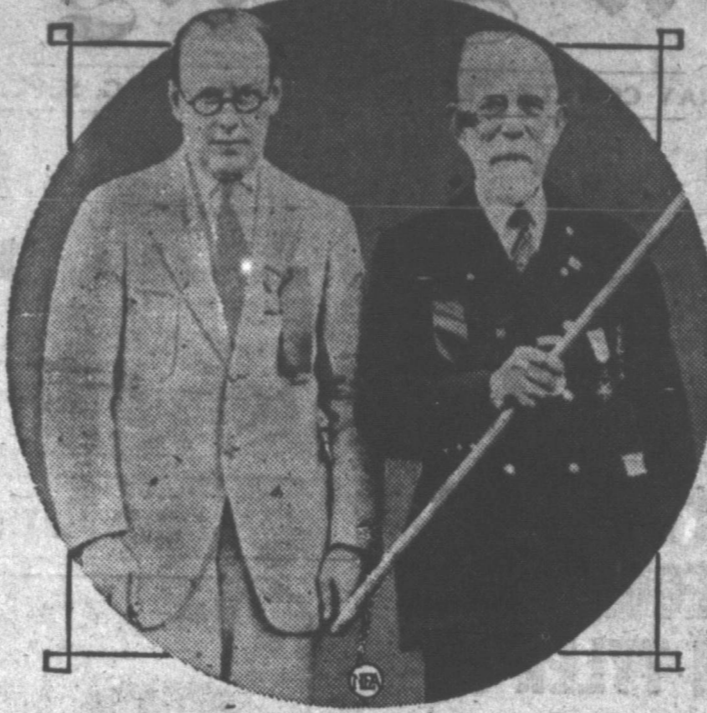

Last fall Bob O'Farrell, Card's catcher, won the player prize. Bob did a great deal to bring St. Louis its first pennant and world title. He was later made manager.

This year O'Farrell has been in the club's battlefront only at various times. A lame arm handicapped him for the first few months of the campaign.

Two of these "most valuable players" haven't been hit quite so hard by the old bugaboo. They are Walter Johnson and Dazzy Vance. Johnson received the honor in 1924. He won 23 games that year and lost seven. He came back the following season with 20 victories and seven defeats. Last year, however, Walter won only 15, dropping 16.

Vance gained the National league award in 1924, too. He chalked up 28 victories against but six defeats. He fanned 262. The next campaign he turned in 22 wins to nine reverses, fanning 221. Last season, though, Vance could not but nine games, while losing 10.

Meets War Buddy's Grandson

On June 3, 1864, Major Leroy Williams of Cleveland, O., braved enemy fire to rescue the body of Col. Peter A. Porter, killed in action during the battle of Cold Harbor. At the annual reunion of New York's old "Bloody Eighth" this year at Batavia, N. Y., Major Williams met C. B. Porter, grandson of the officer whose body he recovered. The two, pictured above, were elected to head the "Bloody Eighth" as president and vice president.

AMERICAN CIVILIZATION WINS PRAISE OF EGYPTIAN FEMINIST

(By The Associated Press.)
NEWPORT, R. I.—Admiration for American civilization and for the liberty it gives to women in everything in life, was expressed by Madame Hoda Charaoui Pasha, a leading Egyptian feminist, when she came to Newport this summer.

"My own feeling as a servant in the feminist movement in Egypt," she says, "is that I have never yet seen a country in which women share with men the liberty as they do in the United States."

"Despite the fact that relations between the United States and the Near East are comparatively new, the feeling of the people of Egypt, as well as Turkey, Syria and other countries of the Near East toward you is one of a growing feeling of affection. The many institutions established by Americans in the Near East, with no other object than to educate, have further cemented that feeling among our people."

Madame Hoda Charaoui has been visiting here with her daughter, Madame Mahmoud Samy Pasha, wife of the Egyptian minister to the United

SPORT TALK

Members of the Pampa Grays squad commenced practice yesterday for their strenuous games against the Erick team, led by the mangled Sam Douglas, noted for his hitting and agility as a big man. The American legion is sponsoring the big celebration over the holiday.

Pat Shelby and Fred Whittington have been matched for the big event at the Pampa Athletic club show Monday night and this bout promise to be better than the Varner-Whittington bout of last Monday.

Denver and Des Moines played one of the best games of the season yesterday and Denver came out on top with a 1 to 0 win. The Texans lost another to Wichita after having an early lead.

The tightest race in big league history is on and four teams are within a few points of one another for the lead. The Pittsburgh Pirates are .001 in the lead over Chicago who in turn are .003 ahead of St. Louis. The Giants have hit a winning streak and are just .006 behind the Cardinals. If any of the teams hits a slump, it is just too bad, for the pennant is for the team that plays the most consistent ball.

Midland, playing four of the men the Grays had signed, are at the top of the Denver tournament, and is picked to win.

NAMES FLOWERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Friends and historic figures receive tribute in the garden surrounding the new home here of Mrs. V. E. Parker.

There is a Lindbergh Lombardy as well as Mikkelsen cedars, Bohl ender pines, Charles Lathrop Pack maples, and a Woodrow Wilson elm. A George Washington elm to commemorate the 200th anniversary of his birth in 1932 has already been planted.

Hollyhocks from Wales are nam-six defeats. A bad arm has handicapped him all season. Add 20 victories to Cleveland's present average and it would mean a first division berth for the Indians.

That sums up the difference between Uhle's work of this year and last. Granting Uhle will win only two more game this year, his mark would be 20 short of his 1926 showing.

Rhem Shy 1926 Mark

Last season Flint Rhem with 20 victories against seven defeats, ranked second in the National. Ray Kremen of Pittsburgh won the same number of games and lost one less, giving a few points the better of Rhem.

This spring a salary difference caused Rhem to remain away from the training camp. He missed all of his spring work, since the dispute wasn't adjusted until after the season opened. That hurt.

Later in the season, he drew a suspension of some alleged or real infraction of the club's rules. That didn't help. In addition, he just couldn't get the breaks.

While Rhem has pitched well enough, he hasn't been favored with the same good luck that came his way last year. His record, as I write these lines, is nine wins against ten defeats. If he wins five more games, he will still be shy of his 20 victories of 1926. Six additional wins would mean much to the Cardinals' right now.

One winning pitcher able to turn in 20 or more victories in a season often means the difference between a pennant winner and just a good ball club.

Spanish Film Stars Get Meager Salaries

(By The Associated Press.)

MADRID—Even an ordinary movie actor from Hollywood would go hungry in Spanish films. Five hundred pesetas, equal to $100, is the highest sum ever yet paid to the leading artist for his or her part in a film, while the "auxiliaries," or extras, receive the equivalent of one to two dollars for a full day's work, ranging from eight to twelve hours.

There are no real producers of films in Spain. Several firms with high sounding names have studios for hire to anybody who wishes to

"USE ROD" ON GIRLS URGES SOCIAL WORKER

LONDON (AP)—Mothers should spank their daughters who have become too "modern," believes Miss A. S. Porter, secretary of the City Young Women's Protection Society.

"Many mothers," she said, "have appealed to me to assist them. As their daughters, who have been spoilt and over-indulged, are frequenting the streets until late hours and have now got out of control.

"The only way to prevent spoilt girls from parading the streets at night is to thrash them. Mothers are partly to blame. They give their daughters too much freedom nowadays."

A new angle on the increasingly popular theme of an Irish-Jewish feud is introduced in F. E. O.'s latest Gold Bond production to be shown at the Crescent theatre on Sunday and Monday.

There are two pairs of sweethearts in the story, Kitty and her Irish cop and Rosie who loves a Jewish doctor. The trouble starts when Kitty decides to punish her lover and annexes a new beau in the person of the Jewish doctor. This is the call to arms for the entire Irish and Jew-reel off a film. These studios are just glass roofed sheds erected on vacant lots. The biggest of them is 65 feet long, with fifteen narc lamps and a big reflector.

The directors usually are the producers or the owners of the studios, most of whom have a very limited acquaintance with acting or screen work, and the capitalist who backs a picture thinks from the beginning about his profits and continually suggests economies in production.

The Spanish film which has produced the most profits in this country is "Nobleza Baturra," which cost about $8,500 to shoot and advertise. Other film have cost more, but probably the sum of $14,000 has never been passed.

The maximum salary ever received by a film star was 5,000 pesetas for a month's contract, about $1,000, and the artist was called on to perform in a dozen films.

OIL RESERVE—While much of the country is wondering how the price of oil may be raised without pinching any particular field excessively, Hubert Work comes forward with the declaration that present over-production of about a million barrels of oil daily amounts to gambling with future national safety.

The Seminole field, instead of being the menace it formerly was, now looks like "the morning after" and offers a good example of misuse of natural resources. It is no longer being advised in the Mid-Continent field that the state or national government attempt to regulate production.

But Work, looking at oil from the standpoint of its future importance to the nation, says there is a great need for conservation of the product in the ground. And, says Work, "If Federal or additional state legislation is essential as a corrective, the sooner such enactment the better."

"If the remedy rests with the oil companies themselves, through voluntary and whole-hearted cooperation, or through compulsory unit pool operation, or some other method, the time is preeminently ripe for action.

"What is needed is not government interfering with business or business meddling with government, but government helping industry for its own and the public good."

These statements are of some importance to students of the oil industry, inasmuch as Secretary Work is chairman of the Federal Oil Conservation Board. Work wants more authority for his committee. He cites unofficial statistics which show that the industry's oil stocks since the peak of 1926 have declined more than half a billion dollars in value—a loss which affects the whole country.

An attempt at explanation, but without discussion of a course of action, was made recently by Edward Prizer, chairman of the board of the Vacuum Oil company, who says:

The First and Second A. E. F.

"Nearly all industries at times have to go through the uncomfortable and unprofitable experience of deflation following periods of over-production. In general, these experiences are remarkably alike, no matter how different the industries may be.

"When the 'combine' first came, most wheat was being raised at a loss, but where the climate is dry, land cheap, and fields large, the combine has proved profitable. Consequently wheat growers in areas where the combine is practicable are apt to be confronted with over-production, low prices, losses.

"Petroleum's experience is precisely parallel to this. In both cases, the excess beyond requirements has been comparatively small, but sufficient to break prices."

BALLOONING — Airplane enthusiasts should not forget the balloon, even though the day has passed when one of the big bags would thrill a picnic crowd.

The reliable Associated Press carried recently an account of a New Jersey man who flew 350 miles in a "vest pocket" balloon and could have gone 250 miles further.

The midget flying machine weighed but 50 pounds, and the car was so tiny the pilot had to stand up while on the ground. The flyer was in the air 11 hours and 22 minutes. After landing, he picked up the ship, threw it over his shoulder and walked to a hotel. He was demonstrating that a balloon small enough to carry on the back is capable of transporting a single person a long distance.

The experiment is interesting. The modern bad boy could leave home in great style if he had one of the things for his own use. The lad going off to college could wait for a favorable wind and float to alma mater in great style. Knights of the road, scenting the first "norther," could inflate their tiny ships and be blown to the utmost southerly limits of our cool breezes.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON. — If the Democratic presidential nomination goes to either Senator James A. Reed or Governor Alfred E. Smith, the 1928 sentiments of the brass industry will be easy to predict.

For if either of these gents comes to live in the White House, there is going to be a demand for a large supply of such brass receptacles as are seen most often in male smoking rooms and male barber barber shops.

Reed and Smith are two rugged, fighting he-guys. One of them peddled fish and newspapers on city streets in his youth and the other hoed corn and pulled weeds on a farm.

Thus it is no cause for astonishment to find them today the two foremost exponents in national politics of the manly art of exhortation. Each has an enviable private, rather than public, reputation for salivary achievement.

Some impulsive persons will promptly suggest that here lies an excellent method of choosing a presidential candidate, which otherwise is going to be a messy and heart-breaking task. Let Reed and Smith shoot it out, and may the best man win.

But, quite aside from the fact that William G. McAdoo is altogether too dry ever to have any ammunition and that Governor Ritchie's ability is totally unknown, there is another objection to this plan.

Smith and Reed represent two different schools in this art. While Smith has always Gliders are popular abroad, and ballooning is apt to become popular in this country as aviation progresses. It would be a good way to see the country, and if there should be a sudden puncture a parachute would remove most of the danger.

gone in for distance work, Reed has been content with the short strokes. Although none questions Reed's endurance powers, it is altogether likely that he would require years of earnest effort before he could acquire Smith's vastly superior range.

On the other hand, the senator can give a much better imitation of a machine-gun than the governor.

If the contest were to be based on mere marksmanship, it is to be feared that the proceedings would be more unfair than ever. The Smith partisans insist that their man can deliver with unerring aim from a point 18 feet away. He is such a perfect sharpshooter, in fact, that he long ago abandoned the simple idea of merely hitting the customary bull's-eye and has since taken great delight in just clearing the brass rim on the far side, making a hurdle out of the receptacle. Reed, one is led to fear, can lay claim to no such control.

PRESS FORUM

THE RAGE FOR BEAUTY

The cult of beauty in the business world today is described by Ernest Elmo Calkins in the Atlantic. The maker of the first wheel, the first jar, the first bench, thought of usefulness, not beauty, but those who followed found that beautiful shapes would not detract from the usefulness of their creations, but would even increase it. So with modern inventions.

The first automobile had only one purpose, to propel itself. But when its success in this high ambition had been attained, beauty began to be the watchword, appearing first only in high-priced cars, and then descending to those of more modest prices. The first phonographs were hideous affairs but soon it became necessary to cause the great horn to disappear inside while the case took on some semblance of form and line. Radios, born in an age of beautiful phonographs, more speedily attempting to harmonize themselves with schemes of interior decoration.

Kitchens have emerged from the whiteness of operating rooms, and are now decked with color, while bathrooms are works of modern art. Even the furnace and cellar have had their ugliness eliminated as far as possible in the newest homes.

Factories are now built with some regard to the laws of architecture, and many possess landscape grounds. An eastern railway has put into service 20 locomotives which are gay in green and gold, with maroon trimmings. These will speed across the country, proclaiming to all along the route that color may brighten the most utilitarian objects. The General Electric company maintains a committee on beauty, with a representative from each department.

Perhaps many of these efforts fail of the goal they seek, but, at any rate, they aspire in the right direction. Mr. Calkins is undeniably right when he says that "beauty is a greater force in human affairs than steam or electricity, than economics or engineering, and the meeting place of all can be found."

Reed, one is led to fear, can lay claim to no such control.

TWINKLES

Just to prove this is not a stormy country, we cite the fact that most people called Panhandle's little twister a cyclone, instead of a tornado.

Well, customers, we have about everything these other Panhandle towns are bragging about but a fair, and if we don't resurrect our own by next fall it will be because of what we ain't got much of—laziness.

Some of our state valuations are like Amarillo's dogs, who number but five on the official records and are assessed at $255. And some of those Amarillo matrons would sue anyone for $10,000 if he should accidentally — or otherwise — run over one of their dear Fidos.

The skillet and broom as training equipment for Pampa's flapper school kids are not very popular this season, according to reports, and it's too bad that the men of the city get all the breaks—and coaches. It is.

We do hope this smokeless carbon black principle may be applied to other smoke-makers before winter. It is exasperating to feel a flake of something on the nose and not know whether it is snow or soot.

BREAKFAST—Baked apples, cereal, cream, salmon in cream sauce on toast, corn muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Cheese, soufflé, cabbage and celery salad, brown bread and butter sandwiches, pineapple delight, milk, tea.

DINNER—Southern ham, twice baked sweet potatoes, cauliflower in cream sauce, fresh fruit salad, meringues filled with sliced peaches and whipped cream, milk, coffee.

There is a charm about the cooking of the south that is most appealing. Imagination and art in combining flavors makes many of their dishes something to conjure with.

The southern ham recipe is a nice example of this. One center slice of ham cut 1 inch thick, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons boiling water, 1 teaspoon sugar, 2 oranges, 2 lumps sugar, 1 lemon, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper.

Use seedless oranges if possible. Peel oranges cut in very thin slices crosswise and divide each slice in quarters. Wash lemon and rub lumps of sugar over rind. Squeeze juice from lemon and dissolve sugar in juice. Add salt and pepper and pour over prepared oranges. Let stand while preparing ham. Parboil ham fifteen minutes. Drain and wipe dry. Trim to one inch border of fat and broil to a delicate brown. Cook first one side and then the other. Remove from broiler to hot platter and pour over lemon juice mixed with hot water and sugar. Let stand in a warm oven for five minutes and turn ham in sauce. Surround with prepared oranges and serve.

WOMAN SHOPS FOR "FAMILY" OF THOUSANDS

(By The Associated Press.)
ROCHESTER, N. Y.—When Mrs. Lillian R. Jones goes shopping, she buys meat by the ton, material by bolts and toothpaste by the carton. She is the housewife extraordinary of Monroe County, N. Y., purchasing for a "family" that ranges from 2,500 to 2,600 persons.

Her duties as purchasing agent include buying for the county hospital, the penitentiary, the almshouse, the jail, the county home for children, the county laboratory and a sanitarium.

"We buy everything from kitchen pans to threshing machines," Mrs. Jones explained. "This includes uniforms for the prisoners, materials for children's clothing, drugs and medicines for the hospital and sanitarium. The biggest part of the job is 'shopping around', keeping in touch with market quotations, knowing values, and keeping a sharp eye on all the merchants to make sure they are dealing squarely with us.

"We buy no second rate food-stuffs, a fact which certain wholesalers learn with great difficulty."

Gypsies Prosper In Spanish Towns

(By The Associated Press.)
VALANCIA, Spain—Witches and fortune tellers ply a profitable trade in Madrid and other big cities of Spain.

The great majority of them are Gypsies or mock gypsies with their swarthy skins. They confine their operations to acousting well-dressed women on the streets and promising them a fortune in their love affairs in return for a piece of silver.

Others frequent the better portions of the city and insinuate themselves into the graces of the maid-servants. Most of these are illiterate peasant girls. The gypsies give them love-potions to strengthen the affections of recalcitrant beaux. They tell the maids with certainty that great nobles will "fall in love and marry them, endowing them with riches.

There is strong suspicion that the blame for various robberies may be laid to some of these itinerant purveyors of good fortune, for they learn from the servants the customs of the householders.

A higher class of fortune teller exists also. These calling themselves astrologers and occultists. They have offices which are frequently changed owing to police action. There they are surrounded by the usual paraphernalia of terrestrial globes, cauldrons and crystals with which they convince even women of the higher class that they can foretell the future.

Visiting Legionnaires Renew Friendships

(By The Associated Press.)
PARIS — American Legionnaires will find Mrs. Herbert Adams Gibbons among the wartime friends who greet them in Paris. She intends to desert a Normandy villa to look up some of her "buddies" of the Little Gray Home which kept open house on the Savenay road to St. Lazaire in 1918.

Army trucks on their way to St. Lazaire drew up at the Little Gray House. There old socks were exchanged for new and footbaths, warm fires and cheerfulness offered.

Mrs. Gibbons, with her children, received hundreds of soldiers into her home. Scores of them since have called on her at her residence in Princeton, N. J. Each man who looks her up there is presented with a clay pipe. Once he has smoked it, the pipe goes back into a rack bearing his name to be kept for him until his next visit.

Pecan Grower Calls Trees Money Makers

(By The Associated Press.)
SAN ANGELO—Owners of pecan timber have quite an edge on cattlemen in this district in the size of profits, says Frank J. Willman, pecan tree specialist.

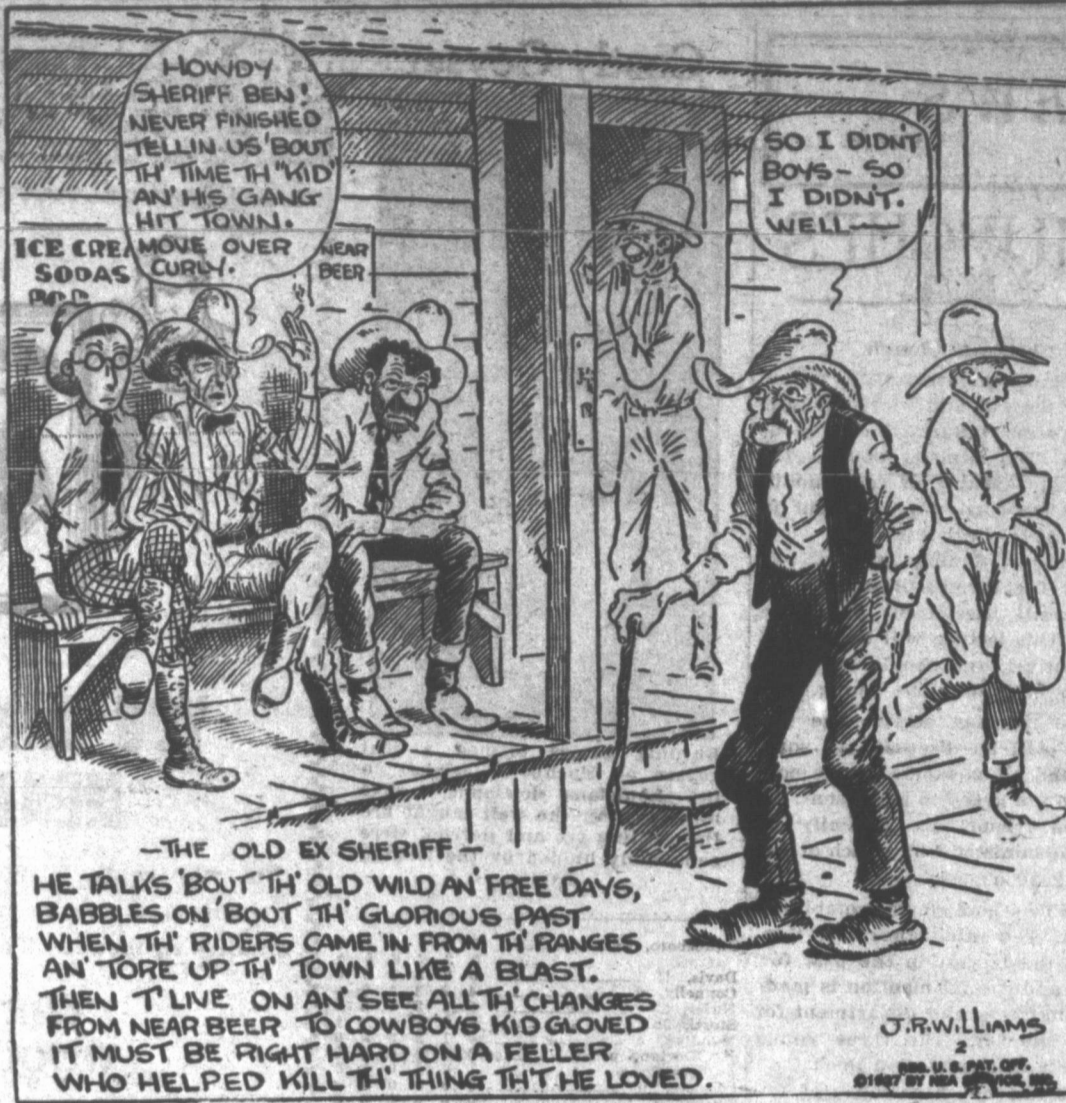

Here are Willman's figures: A big pecan tree will produce 100 pounds of native pecans yearly. An acre will stand ten big trees and the nuts should be worth about $15, of which $10 should be profit. That means $100 a acre yearly, making the acre worth—at ten per cent—$1,000. For a cow or steer 10 acres are required, which would, under ordinary conditions, bring a net profit of $10.

DRAWS DEAD FATHER'S PENSION FOR TWENTY YEARS

PARIS (P)—Jean-Baptiste Tourenne, 60 years old, has for 20 years been drawing the pension of his dead father.

When government railroad officials learned that one of their retired employes, pensioned 35 years ago, would celebrate his hundredth birthday this year, they began to arrange a public ceremony in his honor. In the course of arrangements officials found that Tourenne had collected his father's pension for so long that a new generation of cashiers took it for granted the man they paid was the pensioner himself. Tourenne, therefore, kept on getting paid and lived without working. A judge sentenced him to a year in jail.

DRESSMAKER HAS BAR FOR THIRSTY BUYERS

PARIS (P)—A wholesale dress-making house has added a refreshment bar and buffet to its establishment. Fatigued buyers may nourish and sustain themselves without quitting the premises and possibly falling into the hands of competitors.

Not only soft drinks but cocktails and "hard liquor" are available. A small grill room is run with the bar. American buyers are particularly enthusiastic in their approval of the innovation.

HEADLIGHTS AN ISSUE AMONG FRENCH DRIVERS

PARIS (P)—Blinding headlights on automobiles are again an issue in France.

The practice of shutting off the lights when passing another car at night is said to be responsible for many accidents. Leading drivers in the driving world suggest that it would be safer to let the lights glare rather than drive in comparative darkness for two or three seconds.

The law requires headlights to be so directed as not to blind other drivers, but this has been found difficult. One solution has been to direct the right light well to the right and to shut off the left light only when meeting other cars.

Professor de Lapersonne, of the Academy of Medicine, a noted expert on optics, says most people suffer a sort of blindness for several seconds when the brilliant headlights are shut off suddenly and during these seconds each car travels usually a dozen or more car lengths.

FRENCH COURT DECIDES WHAT ARE REAL PEARLS

PARIS (P)—"What are pearls?" has been decided in favor of the oyster by the French courts. The case was a test brought by defenders of the Japanese "cultivated" pearl.

These also are grown in oysters and so they are not "false," the court said but they are not "real" or "natural." The court ruled that they must be designated as "cultivated" or given some equivalent description.

The ruling, long awaited by jewel experts, was decided on appeal. A recent jewel experts' congress, representing thirteen countries, decided the French court's verdict would be accepted as a trade rule.

FRENCH TRY ALUMINUM IN MOTOR CAR CHASSIS

PARIS (P)—Aluminum alloy automobile chassis, which reduce the weight of cars almost by half are being experimented with by French makers.

A frame that weighs only 350 pounds was exhibited recently to the Academy of Sciences. This chassis, it was said, was for a six-cylinder car that would weigh, complete, only 1,760 pounds. With a normal steel construction such a car would weigh 3,300 pounds.

The light chassis was cast in one piece, eliminating bolts and rivets. The metal is similar to that used in certain types of alloy pistons.

SAY SMOOTH LEAVES SURVIVE AUTO POISON

PARIS (P)—Smooth-leaved trees, say experts, are the only ones that can live on the city boulevards in this day of automobiles.

Only those whose foliage is washed by the rain and dusted off by the breeze, will thrive. They have found that rough leaves of chestnuts and similar trees have their breathing pores burned by sulphuric acid.

Sulphurous dust, says Professor

Demolitions of the Agricultural Institute, is produced by the exhaust from automobiles. This, he says, becomes sulphuric acid in humid air and works into the pores of the leaves. Smooth leaves would be washed clean by occasional rains, or the dust would be blown off by the wind before it could damage the trees.

WORKED FOR TEN YEARS ON MINATURE ENGINE

PARIS (P)—A practical, miniature locomotive, six inches long but exactly like the standard engine built by the State Railroad, has been built by a French mechanic. He has built the engine in a scale of 1/80th of normal. It is 2 ounces and is made to run. Much of the work had to be done under a magnifying glass. He worked on it evenings for ten years. The boiler tubes are hardly larger than coarse hairs.

Wear Dainty Dresses,
Tip to Small Women

Women less than five feet three inches tall may obtain the best effects in dress by using simple patterns that suggest daintiness, advises Miss Daisy Deane Williamson, New Hampshire home demonstration leader.

"One color, at least for the greater part of the garment, will suggest height," she says. "The hair, if long, should be dressed high; if bobbed, close to the face. Hats should have narrow brims and high, rather pointed crowns, with a small amount of vertical trimming. Dress materials should be soft and clinging. Horizontal, contrasting bands around the bottom of the blouse should be avoided and belts should be narrow, of the same color of the dress. The dress should not be too short, and hose and shoes should harmonize in color. Jewelry and the purses should be dainty and not of a heavy type."

Wants to Cut Trees To Give Flood Room

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON—It is suggested in a letter to the United States Forestry service that all trees from Cairo, Ill., to Baton Rouge, La., be cut from between the Mississippi levees to "make room" for future floods.

The writer complains that 35 per cent of the land is taken up by "giant cottonwood forests and other kinds of tree growth of all sizes."

The Forestry service says the estimate is too high.

"Even if it were not," foresters explain, "tree growth on 35 per cent of the land surface in reality occupies only about one ninth of one per cent of the cubical area and its effect toward raising the flood level or retarding the movement of the water is wholly insignificant."

English Wheat Area
Declines; Wheat Rises

(By The Associated Press.)
ESSEX, Eng.—The day was once when England exported food to the Continent. Today it imports yearly $2,500,000,000 worth of food products. The wheat area has declined in the last seven years from 2,557,000 acres to 1,449,496 acres. In 1871 the total acreage was 3,438,884.

Another type of multiple farmer has specialized on grain, principally barley, and has got rid of most of the stock, which include cattle, pigs, sheep and poultry, which used to be kept by the farmers.

Says Tests Prove
2.75 Beer Harmful

NEW YORK (AP)—Prohibition is a real boon to the American Laboratory Theatre. The four-year-old organization, dedicated to experiment in the theater, had its most successful season last year in an auditorium which was once an old beer hall. This season it is to hold forth in a remodeled brewery.

The beer hall is coming down to make way for a movie house, and the theater has leased for six years the former brewery, which is to be converted into a theater seating 250 spectators, with classrooms, workshops and executive offices.

The "laboratory theater" is designed to train young amateurs for the stage in a professional way.

KANSAS ATHLETES
BOW BEFORE "CSAR"

TOPEKA, Sept. 1. (AP)—Like major league ball players, athletes of 600 Kansas high schools will soon bow before a "csar."

E. A. Thomas, formerly superintendent of schools at Williamsburg, Kan., the first paid secretary of the Kansas High School Athletic association, has in his hands the power to pass on all eligibility problems and to place the district and state basketball tournaments and track meets. He is to answer to a board of six members.

Thomas, a graduate of the University of Kansas and the Kansas State Teachers College of Emporia, was chosen from among nearly 300 applicants.

WINS WOMEN'S CHESS CHAMPIONSHIP AT 21

LONDON, Sept. 1. (AP)—Miss Vera Menchik, 21, of Hastings, England, became the first woman chess champion of the world by winning the women's tournament at the international chess meet sponsored here by the British Chess Federation. She is a pupil of Maroczy, the Hungarian master.

Strangely enough, when asked how many moves she could see ahead in her games, Miss Menchik replied:

FRENCH WOMEN FIND FLYING INSPIRATION FOR BOOKS AND MUSIC

Women in France seem to believe that aviation as a profession can be combined with other work and writers and musicians are listed as those winning pilots' licenses.

Mme. Louise Faure-Favier (left) of Paris is as well known for her books as for her flying record, and Senorita Amalia de la Tapia, a young Bolivian who studied aviation in France, first achieved a reputation as a musician before she showed skill in flying.

PARIS, Sept. 2. (AP)—Novelists and musicians are seeking inspirations in the skies.

Among the latest women to be awarded pilots' licenses in France are two women whose reputations were first achieved in literature and music.

Frenchmen believe that if a woman can fly the Atlantic ocean, that woman is Madame Louise Faure-Favier, who is as well known for her books as she is for her flying. She holds the world's altitude record for women fliers with a 6,500 meter distance. Many of her novels have plots of air and aviation. Her latest novel is concerned with the conflict between the black and white races.

Mme. Faure-Favier flew the English Channel in 1919, the first woman to accomplish this feat. She was also first of her sex to fly the Mediterranean from Marseilles to Algiers, which she did in 1923.

France conferred the Legion of Honor upon her for her literary accomplishments as well as her daring air feats. She has a gold medal of the French Aviation club.

A South American musician, writer and lecturer, Senorita Amalia de la Tapia, has astonished veteran French air men by her skill in passing the pilot's tests in Paris.

Senorita Amalia, who comes from Bolivia, is still in her early twenties, but she handles a plane with daring and skill, although she believes that flying is not a woman's game as a rule.

"Flying takes too much sacrifice and cool-headedness to be a suitable profession for women," she explained. "There are many other matters more suited to them and in which they can be more useful than men."

The Bolivian girl first took to the air in Peru, and since then, she says, her one idea has been to become a pilot. When her family opposed her she went to the United States, where she secretly began to learn to fly. She finished her work in France and last spring was breveted pilot.

But women are out of luck as aviators in France. They have the legal and moral right to fly, but none of the airplane companies will employ them.

The decision of the International Commission of Aerial Navigation, recently, authorizing women to pilot commercial and passenger airplanes, opened the gates to airfields. But the men who own the air services, in France, say they have no intention of employing them as air-pilots.

All the principal French companies have said: "No women." Some of them admit that the rigid physical examination required of pilots would protect the public, but air work is a man's job, they say.

Future perfection of airplane mechanics and science, some suggest, may change their attitude.

Although Senorita de la Tapia therefore has no hope of practicing her profession as a commercial pilot in France. She may, however, take up piloting in Bolivia where the government, she says, is interested in developing air communications despite the difficulties posed by high altitudes.

EAGLE PREYS ON LAMBS

ALAMOSA, Colo. (AP)—A new peril has been found by sheep raisers of the San Luis valley. John Scheitle, trapper, bagged a giant golden eagle, with a new born lamb in its talons, revealing to sheepmen that bears, coyotes, and wolves have not been preying on their flocks. The eagle measured almost seven feet from tip to tip. Location of its mountain cry revealed that it had been preying steadily on sheep in the valley.

TWO GLIMPSES OF GENE TUNNEY AT HIS TRAINING CAMP

Hunting Licenses In Demand; But Few Reach Pampa

More than 80 hunting licenses were issued by the Pampa Hardware store Tuesday and Wednesday. The hardware is the only store in Pampa to receive licenses up to this time, but the Thompson Hardware, Dunaway Brothers, Clark and Clausen, and Wade Duncan expect their licenses any day. There has been some mix-up in Austin, and only one lot reached Pampa. Game Commissioner Will Tucker says that doves and quail are more plentiful in the state than at any time during the past four years. The dove season opened September 1 and continues to October 31. Tucker noticed a substantial increase in turkey and prairie chicken and in most sections a greater number of deer.

In the north zone, which includes the Panhandle, the quail season is from December 1 to January 15, turkey season is from November 16 to December 31, and the duck season from October 16 to January 31.

Several enthusiastic hunters from Pampa are on hunting trips and are expected back today. The majority of them went to Hemphill and Lipscomb counties. There is a closed season in Gray, Wheeler, Donley and Collingsworth counties on prairie chickens.

SON OF CALLES, AT MAINE CAMP, MISSES BULLS

(By The Associated Press.)
POLAND SPRING, Me.—Alfredo Calles, 15-year-old son of President Calles of Mexico, enjoys camp life in Maine, but misses "the bulls."

"Everything is fine here, very fine," says the young Mexican, who is spending the summer at a resort for boys in Waterford. "The camp and the canoeing, the swimming, everything is fine. But I miss the bulls."

Then he explained how he longed to be among the matadors again, dressed in the costume in which he played as a child on his father's ranches.

Alfredo does not speak English fluently, but is aided in expressing his opinions by Louis Molina, a tennis player from Yucatan.
