The second engine hung on the edge of the embankment, while the combination baggage and club car also went over into the ravine.

Texas University Has Picture Of All Vegetation

AUSTIN, Aug. 29.—A complete library of pictures of every type of vegetation in Texas is now possessed by the University of Texas, according to Dr. B. C. Tharp, associate professor of botany, who has recently returned from a visit to central, north and east Texas during which he completed work he began in those sections last summer.

For the past three summers Dr. Tharp has been studying the types of vegetation in the state under the auspices of the Carnegie Institution of Washington and the University of Texas. With the completion of this summer's work he has completed the survey. There are over 600 pictures of types in the collection which Dr. Tharp has gathered.

Dr. Tharp spent the early part of the present summer along the Texas coast, studying particularly the vegetation on Padre Island and going from Brownsville as far up the coast as Point Bolivar, opposite Galveston. Dr. Tharp began his studies of Texas vegetation in 1921 in connection with the Texas-Oklahoma boundary dispute, when he was delegated to make a study of the vegetation of that area. In the summer of 1925 he resumed his work when the Carnegie Institution became interested in the project.

PASTOR SAYS DANCING FACTS CONDEMNATION

Rev. Brabham Declares Evidence Shows Evils

QUARTET HELPS IN REVIVAL HERE

Theme Tonight Is On "Biggest Fool In Pampa"

There were 2 large crowds at the Methodist church yesterday to hear the Moody Bible Institute quartet sing and the Rev. Tom W. Brabham bring the messages.

At the morning hour he brought a message from the theme, "Idlers."

Sunday night, in spite of the threatening weather, the church was filled to hear Rev. Brabham discuss the theme "The Narrowness of the Church on Dancing." Many people went to the platform after the services were dismissed and congratulated the minister for the way he handled the subject.

The minister said churches of every faith stand against the modern dance. He read from the discipline of the Methodist church, in which he showed that if a member dances he is subject to expulsion from that church.

The Baptist church stands against the dance. He read the report from the Southern Baptist convention.

The Presbyterian church is against it. There is no stronger condemnation from many churches than that of the Presbyterian church. He read their statement.

The Episcopal church is against it. The Catholic church is against it. Father Lochman's statement is that "if fathers and mothers could hear some of the things which I hear they would shed bitter tears."

The Rescue homes are against it. The Rescue home at Geneva, Ill., records that 87 per cent of all fallen girls that come into this home trace their first downward step to the round dance.

The dancing masters are against it. In their national convention the modern dances were condemned.

He closed the sermon by appealing to fathers and mothers and all to "throw off the cloak of darkness and put on the armor of light."

Tonight at 8:15 services will start promptly. The theme will be "The Biggest Fool in Pampa."—Reporter.

Editor of Kansas City Star Dies In New York

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 29.—Irwin Kirkwood, editor of the Kansas City Star, died at a hotel here today after an illness of only three days.

Kirkwood, who came here August 18 for the races, was stricken Friday with hemorrhages of the stomach.

He failed progressively until death.

Kirkwood, controlling genius of the Kansas City Star since the death of Col. W. R. Nelson, its founder, became head of the corporation after settlement of the latter's estate more than a year ago. Death of Mrs. Kirkwood, daughter of Col. Nelson, resulted in division of the estate, much of which was left to establish a huge art museum in Kansas City.

Kirkwood and associates bought the Star from the executors at a price reported in excess of $8,000,000.

MEXICANS ARE HOLDING FLIERS

Sam Houston Pilots Detained; Forced Down

(By The Associated Press.)
SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 29.—Belief that two army aviators, Captain C. H. Reynolds and Staff Sergeant Gus Newland of Fort Sam Houston have been captured by Mexicans was expressed by friend here today.

The men were forced down Saturday while returning from Phoenix, where they had been assisting in the search for Alfred Menard, shell-shocked war veteran lost in the desert.

A telegram signed "Babcock" was received here today, saying the fliers had been captured by the Mexicans and that Babcock was negotiating for their release.

The matter has been taken up with the Mexican consul here.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29. (AP)—Neither the state nor war department had been notified today of the reported capture by Mexicans of two American army fliers.

In the absence of official reports, the assumption was that the men had been taken into custody when they landed on Mexican soil. This is not an unusual procedure in such cases.

Bathing Suits Taken From LeFors Pool

The 20 or more cottages were scattered along the Pampa highway. No other damage was reported, but showers fell between Panhandle and Pampa during the afternoon.

Two Young and Brilliant Aces Again In National Limelight

By ALAN J. GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK—Two of America's youngest and most brilliant athletic aces, Bobby Jones and Helen Wills, whose conquests abroad have been among the year's main features, will step out simultaneously this month in bids for further honors on home soil.

While the "Queen of Tennis" encounters a formidable international field in the American women's championships at the West Side Club, Forest Hills, L. I., the "King of Golf" tackles his native rivals in the National Amateur Championship over the Minkahda links at Minneapolis. Both tournaments are scheduled the week of August 22.

As a result of the return to form that both Jones and Miss Wills showed in England—the former to capture the British Open for the second straight year and the latter in taking the women's crown at Wimbledon—they will start as favorites in the title quests at home.

Helen, at 21, and Bobby, at 25, are among the youngest in their fields, but rank as veterans, nevertheless. The California girl won her first national title at the age of seventeen. Since then she has lifted it twice more, besides scoring Olympic and Wimbledon triumphs.

Jones has been seasoned in national and international competition for ten years. He has twice held the American Open, the British Open and the American Amateur, the title he will shortly seek to regain.

Miss Wills has perhaps the easier assignment. She has already conquered this season most of her leading rivals at Forest Hills. Abroad Miss Wills defeated Kitty McKane Godfree and Joan Fry, the two ranking British stars. At home she easily disposed of her Berkeley rival, 18-year-old Helen Jacobs, who has divided two matches this season with the champion, Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory.

At Minneapolis, Jones will have his work cut out for him in his attempt to repeat his triumphs of 1924 and 1925. Not only will he have to contend with the sturdy Los Angeles star, George Von Elm, who wrested the title from Bobby last year at Baltusrol, but the Atlanta wizard will be meeting Harrison (Jimmy) Johnston on the latter's home links.

Johnston has been a title threat several times. He was a two-day sensation in the National Open this year at Oakmont before slipping. Aided by familiarity with Minkahda's difficulties, "Jimmies" may seize his big chance.

Bronson E. (Bon) Stein of Seattle, the new Western Amateur champion; Watts Gunn of Atlanta, the intercollegiate king; George Voigt of Washington, his eligibility sustained after a stormy debate; and Eddie Held, the St. Louis ace, will be among the others eager and anxious to topple Von Elm or hold Jones in check. In addition there will be such veteran contenders, all ex-champions, as Francis Ouimet, Jessie Gailford, Bob Gardner and Max Marston.

"One of the most satisfying things an Associated Press official or editor encounters at the end of some political or partisan campaign, is to have the leaders of both sides say, 'You have been fair.' And that is our great desire, to be fair. Generally speaking, we are succeeding in our purpose notwithstanding the fact that there are advocates of both sides of any problem who consider that unless we are biased in their favor, we are partial to the other side.

No Taint on News "And it is because it is impartial, that The Associated Press serves its country best. Can you think of anything more harmful to the people at large than for a news source to be in the hands of designing men who place a taint upon the news, or color it to meet their own ends. On the other hand, will you agree with me that in placing before the sixty or seventy millions of people who daily read our dispatches, the truth, clearly stated, is one of the most potent influences in our country safeguarding it against a destructive element? I think you will, for some of the greatest publishers and public women and men have said as much.

"But while The Associated Press may not be partisan in its handling of public events, it can exercise a healthy supervision over the character of news it shall handle. More than 25 years ago Mr. Melville E. Stone, its former general manager, declared it to be an indefensible act to print news simply to sell newspapers. Succeeding administrations have followed Mr. Stone's lead and all down the line managers and editors have worked to keep afloat from Associated Press dispatches. As Mr. Kent Cooper, the present general manager, has said, 'we will handle any news that is decent'."

WEE WILLIE WINKIES WIN BREVET TITLES IN NATIONAL GUARD

The Kansas National Guard has a whole "Wee Willie Winkie" brigade. When sons are born to guard officers they are given the titles of their fathers. Thus Master William McFarland (upper left) is a captain at seven months, Richard W. Ryan (lower left) is a second lieutenant and six-year-old John Somers Jr., is a first lieutenant. Brig. Gen. Milton R. McLean (upper right), adjutant general of Kansas, sponsors the "infantry."

Clubwomen Motor Veterans To Clinics

(By The Associated Press.) BELMONT, Mass. — Free motor transportation to and from hospital clinics is being given to sick and crippled veterans of the World War, who cannot afford to pay for such service, by the Woman's Club of Belmont, Massachusetts. This is one of the most active New England units of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Less than a year ago the Volunteer Motor Corps was organized by the philanthropy committee of the club, working in conjunction with the Metropolitan Chapter of the American Red Cross. Two drivers filled the needs at first, but now a total of 23 women, including ambulance drivers and attendants are needed. The service of these women is used every day by the Red Cross. On Labor day, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas extra workers are added.

All of the hospitals and charitable institutions of Boston and Greater Boston have the privilege of calling upon the corps at any time. In turn the club calls to service its members and other persons who are willing to lend their cars for such use.

Hairpins Return With Growing Locks

(By The Associated Press.) PARIS—With the return of long tresses, hairpins are coming back too.

Novelty pins, in the form of large pearls, Spanish ornaments, and tortoise-shell combs are not only being shown, but sold. Because back hair is still lacking in quantity, if not actually planned on, the ornamental pins have to be extremely light in weight.

Wigs are one way of keeping hair ornaments in place.

the "infantry" the National Guard commander makes every boy, except a colonel's or a general's son, equal in rank to his father. No boy starts his "military career" in a grade higher than major, for General McLean insists that every man must win his eagles and stars. The "infantry" of the Kansas National guard is unique in that it is the only one in the United States.

Associated Press Stands For Clean News, But Gives Whole Truth As Long As It Is Decent

(By The Associated Press.)

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 29.—"The Associated Press Attitude on Clean News," was the subject of an address here recently by Edgar T. Cutter, of Chicago, superintendent of the Central division of The Associated Press, at the fifty-third convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

A lack of information of the real mission of The Associated Press and the more than 1,200 daily member newspapers that it serves, has, said Mr. Cutter, led in some quarters to a feeling that their particular doings were not adequately covered to the public.

"If you realize at the start that The Associated Press' mission is to report impartially all happenings of general interest and that it can have no interest in taking sides on any question, whether it be peace or war, religion, woman suffrage, the politics of republicans or democrats, or the question of 'dry or wet' it will bring us quickly to an understanding of this world-wide news organization which has been spoken of as one of the greatest forces for good of our times," he declared.

Quotes Missouri Man

"Perhaps I can state it best by quoting the recent remarks of Mr. Ovid Bell, of Fulton, Mo., a man respected by his fellow newspaper workers for his impartial handling of public questions and who has earned a place high in his state. Mr. Bell said this:

"In a free country it is essential that the people know the truth concerning not only their government but also of those things of news which affect them as individuals. In a free country intelligence must not be bound or subsidized or corrupted. It must be free; it must be honest. Because it collects and disseminates the truth in this free country, The Associated Press is a great national bulwark.

"Every intelligent newspaper reader in America knows The Associated Press is a cooperative, non-profit-making organization which devotes itself exclusively to just one task—reporting the truth. He knows The Associated Press has no editorial policies to conform to and no self-seeking masters to serve. Hence he trusts The Associated Press even though he mistrusts some of its member newspapers.

"If The Associated Press were a privately owned institution, selling its services to whomsoever would buy, it could not serve the nation as it does, for though it might be ever so honest and ever so capable, it could not free itself entirely from suspicion and doubt. Because it is what it is, The Associated Press has the confidence of the public. And being incorruptible and unafraid, as well as always intelligent and ever alert, it is a national asset of incalculable worth."

"In a word, what Mr. Bell tells you is this: Because The Associated Press is made up of newspapers of all beliefs, politically and religiously, and is controlled by them, these newspaper publishers would not tolerate their organization in treating unfairly any public question. They insist that world events be covered upon a strict news basis, and I ask you to remember that the mission of this news association is to record the world's daily history, not to make the news. It is you who make the news, and as you help us to uncover it while it is yet live, you do your part in cooperating in the recording of that history.

"Too often, however, W. C. T. U. workers ask that things regarding their organization that is not news but propaganda, or that is a repetition of oft repeated statements, be run again. If you will realize that while The Associated Press considers the wet and dry question as an important news problem, we are bound to see news on both sides. It is not for us to editorialize on such news, or to discriminate in its handling, but to know it represents the action of thousands on either side who have their own following and their right to be heard.

Beards Heathen

Many of the "heathens" in India no longer swear "by the beard of the prophet." They are using the beard of Rt. Rev. T. Van der Schueren, Jesuit missionary, who in forty years has established 38 churches, 800 chapels and 700 missionary schools among the benighted natives of Bengal.

ACHIEVEMENT—Few other sections of the nation, and indeed, of the world, offer earnest young men the opportunities that the Panhandle affords. This has been called a pioneer region, which is true in the sense that each year brings new development, new peoples, and new achievement.

In the little town of White Deer is a "boy wonder of life insurance." His twenty-first birthday passed but a few weeks ago. Yet he has a record in his chosen business which will remain long in the annals of his profession.

This achievement by a young man in one of the Panhandle's smaller towns should point out the opportunities in West Texas and call attention to the qualities of this Lindbergh of insurance.

There are many other possible examples in every community of young men who are doing things. Those who have been willing to pay the price of thorough preparation have little difficulty finding ways to be of service.

PREJUDICE — Use of the word "nigger" by an Oklahoma City prosecuting attorney has resulted in a new trial for a negro sentenced to death for murder.

A court of appeals held that the prosecuting attorney, in appealing to race feeling had prejudiced the jury. The decision should be a warning to those who treat lightly the racial question. Too many newspaper men allow attempted humor to creep into almost every story about members of the negro race.

Recognition of the feeling of racial difference which obtains in West Texas should not be allowed to become an excuse for prejudicial references couched in derogatory terms. On the other hand, negro leaders agree with most other people that segregation of the two races, in regard to living quarters, is desirable in this section.

MOTURING — While this country is awaiting with interest the appearance of a light car reported to have embodied the gear-shift principle in its mechanism, other countries are discussing the need for doing away with the shifts altogether.

To the average automobile owner, it is pointed out, driving a car is simple. But to the nervous or timid or elderly persons who fear to attempt negotiation of heavy traffic the thought of driving is something of mental torture.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON. — Senator J. Boonboom McWhorter, who not only knows, it seems, all he reads in the papers, but scans between the lines as well, says the day of the war brides is at hand.

"The servants of Mars are about to be rewarded," was the quaint way the senator put it as he looked up from his paper which he had been shearing diligently of all political news, particularly little items about Senator McWhorter.

Apparently neither party will draw from veterans of the front line trenches next year. But 1928 may see the first nomination of anyone connected with the military or civil administration of the World War. It is thus more or less interesting to consider the madam's prophecy in the light of past history.

The first three presidents were Geo. Washington, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson. Washington had been commander-in-chief of the revolutionary army; Jefferson wrote most of the Declaration of Independence, Adams was also on the committee which reported the declaration—war service put all three in line for the presidency.

President William McKinley a major.

The Spanish War and San Juan Hill had brought Roosevelt to the front and he was elected vice-president in 1900 and president in 1904. Even Bryan, who was a candidate so often, had been an officer during the Spanish War.

Even now, one can predict that while the 1928 candidate of one or both parties may have achieved his first important national prominence during or as a result of the war, no candidate is going to be nominated or elected on his war record alone.

Just to illustrate how we are sloganized, let us take one model or typical week, and we find the program runs about as follows: Monday, pay your debt; Tuesday, buy a piano; Wednesday, poison your rats; Thursday, take out more life insurance, be polite, eat canned goods, buy a new car, read a book, plant a tree and adopt a cat; Friday, have your teeth pulled; Saturday, learn a poem and get your brakes reined; Sunday go into training for the next week.—Thrift Magazine.

Menus for the Family

By Sister Mary

BREAKFAST—Honeydew melon, cereal, cream, crisp broiled bacon, soft cooked eggs, toast, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON—Cream of pea soup, toasted crackers, stuffed tomato salad, blueberry bread pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Country fried spring chicken, milk gravy, mashed potatoes, corn on the cob, cold slaw, apple pie, cheese, rolls, milk, coffee.

A "fryer" should weigh from two to two and one-half pounds dressed.

A chicken this size is disjointed rather than being split in half as a broiler is. Each joint is rolled in flour, seasoned with salt and pepper, and quickly browned on all sides in a mixture of butter and lard. Then the heat is reduced, the frying pan covered and the chicken cooked slowly for one hour.

Blueberry Bread Pudding
One pint blueberries, 1/2 cup granulated sugar, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons water, bread, butter hard sauce.

Mix berries, sugar, cinnamon, salt and water. Cook ten minutes. Remove crust from several slices of bread cut about 1/2 inch thick. Spread one side evenly with butter and cut each slice into 1/2 inch cubes. Put one tablespoonful of the hot berry mixture into each of four custard cups. Add a layer of bread and press down until bread is covered with berry mixture. Continue layer for layer, "pressing" each layer of bread firmly into fruit until all is used. Place on ice to chill and serve with hard sauce.

BREAKFAST—Fresh plums, cereal, cream, crisp broiled bacon with tomatoes, graham toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Molded salmon salad, rye bread, apple tapioca pudding with lemon sauce, milk, tea.
DINNER—Mutton chops, rice, potatoes, new turnips in cream, orange salad, blackberry sorbet, coconut cup cakes, milk, coffee.

The custom of including finger bowls with the fruit service for breakfast will save many a stained napkin. While fresh fruit stains will usually disappear if boiling water is poured through them before laundering, occasionally a napkin is overlooked and the stain disfigures it for months. If the fingers are dipped in water after the fruit course and gently "dabbed" across the lips before using the napkin, all danger of stain is removed.

Blackberry Sorbet
One quart blackberries, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 teaspoons granulated gelatine, 2 tablespoons cold water, 1 egg white.

Boil sugar and water together for five minutes. Press berries through a sieve to remove seeds. Add to syrup with lemon juice. Soften gelatine in cold water for five minutes and dissolve over hot water. Add to berry mixture. Cool. Turn into mold and freeze, with or without turning until mixture begins to thicken. Beat in egg white beaten until stiff. Freeze until firm.

Hotel Venture Fails In Brandegee Home

NEW LONDON, Conn.—A "death calm" has closed the New London home of the late Senator Frank B. Brandegee, who three years ago took his life in Washington in a fit of despondency over financial reverses.

The beautiful estate in which a generous host once welcomed friends from all over the nation lies deserted. The mansion is closed and the once carefully kept grounds are a shambles.

Not long after the death of its owner the property was sold to Mrs. M. J. Russell of this city, who spent considerable in improving the property and turned it into an inn.

The venture started off splendidly but, as the story runs, a somber air hovered about the house and spacious grounds. Negro helpers could not be kept. Under no circumstances could they be induced to enter the cellar. "It's haunted down there," they said.

The venture wound up in the courts. The house was closed and it remains closed.

BRITISH WORKMEN UNEARTH SKELETON

LONDON (AP)—Workmen excavating on the London road through Sittingborne, the site of the ancient Watling road built by the Romans, have unearthed a six-foot skeleton. It is believed to have been one of the noted Canterbury pilgrims whose safes were perpetuated by Geoffrey Chaucer.

The skeleton—that of a man—is in a remarkable state of preservation. It was only two feet below the surface, with the hands crossed upon the breast and feet pointing towards the east.

The Resurrection is coming. 47-5c

Eve's Dance Wins Heart of Paris

First in an obscure little cafe, then in a larger restaurant, finally the idol of Paris—that's the story of the swift rise of Eve Faill. The danseuse is shown here in one of her Egyptian dances with which she has won the heart of the French capital.

Amarillo Divides Double-Header At Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 29.—Joe Newton again found Western league hitters to his liking, and blanked the locals here yesterday. But his Texan mates, although battling twelve innings, could not take the second game of the double bill.

The scores were 4 to 0 and 6 to 5. In the second game, Amarillo scored first, went behind, broke into the lead in the fifth, and were tied in the ninth. Craig, pitching for Amarillo, was touched for the deciding double with one man on.

Twenty-nine games behind first place is a long distance down the ladder but the Amarillo Texans will show up differently next season. It cannot be expected that a newly organized team could step out and win a pennant, but many Amarillo fans think this is what the Texans should have done. Then the Texan club played in hard luck all season, several of their most valuable players being injured. Joe Newton pitched his eighth victory in the opener at Oklahoma city yesterday, but the Texans lost the second, in twelve innings.

Tulsa got socked right between the eyes yesterday and lost both ends of a double header to Wichita. The scores were the same, 3 to 2, and both games went ten innings.

The Fort Worth Cats lost a double-header yesterday to Waco. Errors played a prominent part.

The mighty king of swat slammed out his 42nd homer yesterday when the Yankees took their seventeenth game of the season from the St. Louis Browns. The best Gehrig could do was two doubles.

Washington and Detroit have hit the fobogon and are still sliding. The Athletics tightened their hold on second place by defeating Detroit yesterday, while Chicago was white-washing the Senators. Reeves got three of the Senators six hits.

BILLY EVANS Says

McCarthy KNOWS GAME. There is no doubt about Manager Joe McCarthy of the Chicago Cubs knowing his stuff.

In discussing the National League race recently he spoke thusly: "The second division clubs in the National League are in a sense the fellows that make the National League race a close one and prevent any club from running away with the race. Any of them are liable to rise up and smite you not once but twice in the same place, I mean the neck, on the same day."

McCarthy made such a speech before his club invaded Boston a few days back and all the Braves did was take a double header from the Cubs, winning each game by a one run margin.

Two trimmings in one day at this stage of the race hurt considerable, since all the other pennant contenders won.

SLAPS FROM WEAK ONES.

The month of September, by the way, promises to be a strenuous one for the Cubs. It will test the courage and ability of the team to the limit. It's tougher on the nerves to be out in front and trying to stay there, than to be trailing, always within striking distance.

Recently the Cubs suffered several setbacks that will tend to show just how good the club really is. The fact that it is, on the whole, made up of young players, makes the test all the harder to survive.

CUBS GOOD AT HOME

The Cubs so far this year have been a much better team at home than on the road. In this respect the National League schedule for 1927 is a distinct advantage to McCarthy's proteges.

After the club finishes its present road trip, most of the last 20 games of the long grind of 154 battles are to be played in Chicago.

If the Cubs come home with a lead of five games, they can almost be counted as in, but if the margin is three games or less, it is certain to be a battle to the final week of the season.

In figuring the chances of the Cubs it must be remembered that Pittsburgh, several years back, enjoyed a seven-game lead in early September, only to fritter it away by the time October rolled around.

A victory for the Cubs would be popular. Fandon is always with the underdog. Those who were pulling for the St. Louis Cardinals at this time last year are now shouting loudest for Chicago.

Washrites and Merten Lease Teams Split City League Games

Errors caused the defeat of the Pampa Washrites in the first game of yesterday's double-header at the Magnolia park, but Gaitner and Hust were the bright lights in the second game with the Merten Lease team.

Gaitner and Hatton engaged in a pitchers' battle in the second game and the red-thatched boy won the contest, which went three innings overtime, for the Washrites.

The first game of the afternoon was good after the second inning when the Merten team shoved over nine runs on three hits. Errors did the rest. Pitcher Lee Ellis was the best man for the Merten team, while Martin and Dick Culpepper were hitting the ball long and often for the laundrymen.

Good pitching and snappy fielding featured the second of the city league postponed games. Gaitner had eight strike-outs and two hits, while Hust made a double play unassisted in the fifth to put the game into overtime. The laundry shortstop was also hitting the ball, having a triple, double, and single, to his credit in three times up. White also played good ball.

C. Ellis was all over the infield at the balls and was the most valuable man on the Merten team. Lunsford and Kelly were the hitters.

Several disputes and arguments made the games more interesting.

Batteries for the first game: Washrites—White and Culpepper; Merten Lease—L. Ellis, Hatton and Lunsford.

Lady Oxford Mocks Talk About Weather

LONDON—Lady Oxford is gaining success in a new field. Lay sermons on various subjects are provoking more comment than anything she has written since the "Margot Asquith Memoirs."

One of Lady Oxford's recent sermons was a wholesale denunciation of those persons who make weather a constant topic of conversation.

But when Lady Oxford was greeted by the King, at the recent garden party which King George and Queen Mary gave to about 10,000 of their subjects, it is said she remarked: "How wonderful it is, Your Majesty, that the day is so pleasant."

So-Called Harmful Birds Do More Good Than Harm, Says Naturalist Who Defends Hated Fish Eaters

(By The Associated Press.)

HOUSTON, Aug. 29.—Prof. H. P. Attwater, widely known Houston naturalist, has a good word to say for some of the so-called harmful birds, the extermination of which has been advocated in many quarters.

Special investigations of the fish-eating birds, he said, proved that by far the greater part of the fish consumed by pelicans, terns, gulls, and other seabird were not food fish and that a very large percentage of the fish was menhaden, a species of fish so enormously abundant that their chief economic value is for fertilizer and oil, hundreds of tons of which are annually produced by the fertilizer factories on the coast. Moreover, Mr. Attwater said, pelicans, gulls, cormorants, and other seabird are nature's greatest scavengers of the ocean and should be protected.

Of the so-called predaceous birds, according to the professor, hawks and owls are the most prominent. However, he continued, the United States government has proven that the majority of the fifty species of hawks and owls in this country are mainly or wholly beneficial, as they destroy mice, rats, gophers, reptiles and other vermins. Only three species of hawks, the Goshawk, Cooper's hawk and the Sharp-shinned hawk, which is commonly known as the Blue Darter, were condemned as harmful.

Examination of the stomachs of nearly 500 hawks of three species, according to Prof. Attwater, showed one contained poultry, two small birds and one game bird while all the rest variously contained mice, other small animals, or insects.

As for screech owls, Prof. Attwater, found, in 255 individuals, one had eaten a pigeon, 10 had small animals, chiefly mice, and 100 held insects.

"It has been used as an excuse," Professor Attwater said, "that laws for the preservation of useful wild life interfere with practical business by slowing up the sale of fire arms, ammunition and hunting accessories.

"It was practical business," Prof. Attwater dryly remarked, "that almost exterminated the American buffalo for their hides; that slaughtered the passenger pigeons by the millions and fed their bodies to the dogs; that tore the wings from millions of gulls and terns, the plumes from millions of herons and egrets and the breast from thousands of grebs in their breeding seasons, leaving the young birds to perish in their nests. It is practical business which is destroying our forests, polluting our streams, destroying out fish and exterminating our noble wild birds and animals."

TEMPERANCE WOMEN PLAN FIGHT AGAINST DRY LAW MODIFICATION

Leaders of the Women's Christian Temperance Union which holds its annual convention in Minneapolis this year include, (upper row, left to right): Dr. Valeria H. Parker, of New York, director of the department of social morality; Miss Melissa A. Davis of Delaware, O.; Miss Cora E. stintance. Its efforts will be directed particularly against campaigners for the return of wine and beer. The results of a two years' study of the effects of alcohol on the human system, including 2.75 per cent beer, will be reported by Miss Cora E. Stoddard of Boston. Miss Stoddard is director of the department of scientific investigation and instruction of the W. C. T. U.

Three thousand women from the United States and from a number of the 52 foreign countries where the "White Ribboners" are represented, are expected to attend.

India, some of the South American countries, Canada and several European countries will furnish delegates.

Miss Anna A. Gordon, president of the World W. C. T. U., whose headquarters are at Evanston, Ill., will present the plans which she has outlined for greater participation in the fight for prohibition in foreign countries.

A place of honor at the convention will be devoted to Miss Melissa A. Davis, of Delaware, O., who is 88 years old. In the past four years she has brought in 89 new members.

For the first time in 20 years, the organization will bestow a diamond medal for the greatest contribution towards the education of young people to the value of total abstinence. All but six of the 57,000 girls who originally entered the contest have been eliminated. The winner will be selected from among the following: Bertha Brinker, Los Angeles; Miss Evelyn Demaree Cooper, Sanford, Fla.; Miss Mary Haisley, Marion, Ind.; Miss Vera Powers, Minneapolis; Miss Gladys Widrick, East Syracuse, N. Y., and Miss Laurine Proffitt, Chattanooga, Tenn.

It was in 1886, at a national W. C. T. U. convention in Minneapolis that some of the first steps towards campaigning for prohibition were taken by the organization.

ATTACHES AIRPLANE THAT HIT HIS COWS

PARIS (AP)—An airplane collision with cows has caused a French judicial comedy in which airmen and a farmer are at odds.

At Dunkirk the London-Brussels air liner with ten passengers aboard came down in a clover field and ran into two cows. The farmer had to have the cows killed. He promptly drew up a bill of expense.

Besides the two cows he added the item of one field of clover and presented it to the pilots. The pilots argued and wouldn't pay. The farmer went off to the seat of justice and came back with a court order and a bill of attachment. The airplane owners finally had to put up security before the indignant farmer would let them board the machine and fly away.

BOYS ON BOULEVARDS GOING IN FOR BATHS

PARIS (AP)—Men's bath hats with bath ribbon streamers are being introduced to Paris by male mannequins.

The first of them appeared at the noon hour at a cafe near the theatre Francais. Frenchmen take the bath head-gear calmly.

They find the streamers fluttering to the shoulders "eccentric" but not objectionable. As for the multi-colored, bright head-wear has been worn by respectable French citizens for so long that a mixture of colors seems more or less of a natural development to the Frenchman.

PARIS HAS STREET OF CUBIST HOMES

PARIS (AP)—Modern cubist houses line one little street in Paris. This is a revolution has been marked by a formal dedication of the lane as "rue Mallet Stephens," the name of the architect who built the homes.

The new houses, only a dozen of them, are in Passy, the good residential quarter. They stand out like lighthouse among the ancient, classic chateau-like homes of the rich and aristocratic around them.

The young art world here is excited in its praise. Some of the more conservative lament the era of geometry in art, but are not surprised that people rushed to rent or buy the places.

Cubes are the keynote of the houses. They are built of reinforced concrete, lined with hollow tile. Parts of the second and third stories are set back in terraces. The lines are broken by balconies, covered recesses and windows of unusual dimensions.

"FATHER OF WIRELESS" PAID $75 A MONTH

PARIS (AP)—Edouard Branly is cited by newspapers as typifying the struggle of French scientists to work under miserable conditions. Branly is inventor of the condenser. France calls him the "father of the wireless."

Branly has as his only assistant in a ramshackle "laboratory", an aged woman who ekes out a living by doing extra hours of housework in other homes. This maid of all work, is now the scientist's "laboratory chief." She is intelligent and the professor trained her in his work.

For 50 years Branly has worked under these conditions, drawing a salary of about $75 a month as professor and supporting his family by occasional practice as a physician. These facts are told by French papers as illustrating the need to pay well men who give their lives to science.

FRENCH BABY BAND WINS HIGH PRAISE

PARIS (AP)—Ninety orphans form a brass band that has won much praise at many public ceremonies.

The children, some of them no bigger than the horns they blow, are from five to ten years old. They have been trained in the Saint Georges-de-Lille Orphanage by good conductors.

Dressed in white, with assistants to hold the drums and straps to help support the larger instruments, the band is a feature wherever it goes. They won much credit when they played before a musicians meeting.

DIAGNOSE DISEASE FROM DROP OF BLOOD

PARIS (AP)—It is said to be possible to diagnose certain diseases by examining a drop of blood serum from the patient.

Such is the contention of Doctors Douris and Mondain, as set forth in a paper which Professor d'Arsonval read to the French Academy of Sciences.

A drop of red from which the red corpuscles have been removed by centrifugal action is placed upon a glass and evaporated by uniform application of a heat of 40 degrees Centigrade. This causes different patterns to appear, according to the nature of the serum.

It is from these patterns that Drs. Douris and Mondain believe they can tell the nature of the disease from which the patient is suffering. A normal serum gives an image recalling the section of a lemon. In the case of a cancerous subject the pattern is irregular, leading the discoverers to draw a parallel with the cellular anarchy which characterizes cancer. And permitting, they believe, the diagnosis of a cancerous state before the growth has developed.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 29. (AP)—Prohibition will not be modified if the "dry" women of the country succeed in the educational campaign they propose launching.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union held its 53rd annual convention here the week of August 25. At that time several plans were presented to the dele-

"Chain investments offer the best security—as possible loss of profits due to conditions in one locality are offset by added profits in others—so that the General Profit Average is maintained."

AN IDEAL INVESTMENT

From the above standpoint the Nunn-Warren Publishing Co., Inc., 7 Percent Cumulative, Participating Preferred Stock makes an ideal investment.

It is not usual that investors have the opportunity of buying stock in successful, local institutions—they are most generally "closed corporations," but the management of your "home town" newspaper believes that a wholesome effect will be created in having some of its Preferred Stock in the hands of numerous investors throughout the Panhandle.

RITE BODIES SUPPORT FREE BABIES' CLINIC

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 29.—More than 40,000 poor babies and children have been treated during the past two years, by the Babies' and Children's Clinic of the University of Maryland, which is supported wholly by the Scottish Rite bodies.

Since its organization over 120,000 have been cared for. When Scottish Rite aid was first extended in 1920 the clinic was one of the smallest of the University hospital, with a yearly attendance of about 1,000 cases. It is now the largest clinic of this nature in Baltimore and one of the largest in the country.

The clinic is one hundred per cent charity in every respect. Medical attendance by physicians trained in children's diseases, nursing care and instruction, both in the clinic and in the home, diet materials which enter into the babies' food, and milk and clothing, are furnished absolutely free to the poor of the city and state without respect to race or color, creed or nationality.

It is also educational in character, and in this respect is serving a double purpose. Not only is the mother taught to care for her child, but the students of the University of Maryland receive instruction in children's diseases, and post-graduates are usually in attendance.

The twenty-two physicians who constitute the medical staff, all give their services free. Moreover, nearly 100 ladies of Baltimore have organized as Nursing Aids. Mrs. Chas. U. Sumner having been the president since the beginning; and, under the guidance of trained nurses, help in the work of taking care of the patients.

THE ORCHID AND THE CACTUS

Grand Oil Yield During 1926 Was 7,131,000 Barrels of Crude

According to final figures compiled by the bureau of mines and department of commerce, from the annual canvass of producing and pipeline companies, the production of crude petroleum (oil brought to the surface) in the United States in 1926 amounted to 7,708,740,000 barrels, a new record figure. This represents an increase over 1925 of 7,131,000 barrels, or nearly 1 per cent. Of the total production 633,736,000 barrels, or 8.2 per cent, was classed as light oil, this indicates a slight increase in the proportion of light oil production of 1926 over 1925, due undoubtedly to the decline of Snatchover, the principal heavy oil field of the country.

The major portion of the increase in production in 1926 was recorded in Texas. Production in California, the leading producing state, dropped off approximately 8,000,000 barrels, but Oklahoma registered a gain of about 2,500,000 barrels and established a new record. The most important fields from the standpoint of new production were Spindletop, (deep sand) and Panhandle in Texas, and Ventura avenue and Huntington beach in California. The most important discoveries of the year were the Seminole field of Oklahoma and the Seal Beach field of California.

Imports of crude petroleum in 1926 amounted to 60,382,000 barrels which is a slight decrease from 1925. A material decrease in imports of Mexican crude petroleum was nearly compensated by increased shipments from South America.

Shipments of crude petroleum through the Panama Canal to eastern ports in the United States decreased in 1926, but shipments of refined products were considerably higher.

Total stocks of crude petroleum east of California were reduced from 301,412,000 barrels at the beginning of the year to 284,168,000 barrels December 31. This decrease of approximately 17,000,000 barrels was the net result of a 6,000,000 barrel increase in refinery stocks and a 23,000,000 barrel decrease in other stocks. Producers' stocks, or stocks at wells, east of California were reduced during the year from 7,660,000 barrels to 5,904,300 barrels, the lowest point since the early part of 1922. Stocks of refinable crude in California were reduced about 30 per cent in 1926, while heavy stocks in that state were increased by only 1,500,000 barrels.

The total value at the wells of the crude petroleum produced in the United States in 1926 was $1,447,760,000, an increase over 1925 of 12 per cent. The average price per barrel was $1.85, a gain of 20 cents over 1925. Outside of a small decrease in average in the majority of Appalachian states, the only other case of decreased value was in Montana, where it fell from $1.57 in 1925 to $1.52 in 1926.

On December 31, 1926, there were 311,000 producing wells in the United States, a gain of 12,500 over the preceding year. The average production per well per day was 7.4 barrels, the highest figure ever recorded.

The total number of wells drilled in 1926 was 29,319 of which 19,015 or 65 per cent, were oil wells, 2,341 or 8 per cent were gas wells, and 7,963 or 27 per cent were dry holes.

The total world production of crude petroleum in 1926 amounted to 1,896,000,000 barrels, an increase over 1925 of 27,000,000 barrels. Venezuela, which nearly doubled its output, recorded the largest increase in production of any of the large producing countries. The United States produced 70.3 per cent of the total in 1926, as compared with 71.5 per cent in 1925.

The balance sheet of the combined supply and demand of crude petroleum, refined products, natural gas gasoline, and benzol in 1926 as given shows the following comparisons with 1925: A gain of 2 per cent in new supply; an increase of 8.5 per cent in total demand and of 7 per cent in domestic demand; and a decrease in total stocks of nearly 25,000,000 barrels.

FAME'S NEW DAUGHTER

Here you are, gentlemen—Lorelei Lee herself, the very blonde of your legendary preference. The world knows her as Ruth Lee Taylor, heretofore obscure comedy bathing beauty. To her has fallen the coveted role of the gold-digging Lorelei in the forthcoming photoplay version of Anita Loos' book, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

Features From Other Lands

SPIDER WEB HOBBY LATEST ENGLISH CRAZE

LONDON (AP)—The collection of spider webs is the newest craze in England for collectors having plenty of time to devote to their hobbies. The cobwebs are gathered carefully during the warm weather, sprayed with shellac and pressed between two pieces of glass. Collectors call them spidergraphs, and say they are as different from one another as fingerprints.

SELLS GRAIN TO FEED PIGEONS IN SQUARE

LONDON (AP)—Among Nelson's pigeons at Trafalgar Square there stands every day an elderly man who piles one of the quaintest trades in London.

Londoners call him Soldier Jim, for he fought in the Zulu war. At a penny a packet he supplies grain to all who wish to feed the pigeons. Many of his customers are children.

Soldier Jim invented the trade about three years ago "when he was down on his luck."

"I often thought," he said, "when I saw people feeding the pigeons bits of bread that it would be a good idea to have some grain on the spot and one day I brought some packets down. They sold fast and I cleared six shillings in a few minutes."

Among Soldier Jim's regular customers is a woman who comes once a week from Tunbridge Wells. "I have known her to bring fourteen pounds of grain with her and then buy four shillings worth more from me," he said.

BRITISH MINISTRY PERFECTS SHRAPNEL-PROOF AIRPLANE

LONDON (AP)—The British Air Ministry is perfecting a shrapnel-proof airplane which will withstand the heaviest gunfire.

It is a formidable craft built entirely of steel. Even the wings are of metal. The engine is armored against machine gun bullets or shrapnel. The plane is lighter than one of the same size built of wood and fabric. The pilot is more sheltered. Spare parts can be stored easily and will not warp or deteriorate.

CHAMPAGNE BOTTLED FOR MAYFAIR BATHS

LONDON (AP)—Champagne is now being put-up in special bottles for Mayfair baths.

The bottles are smaller than the usual size, complete with knobbyorks, wired and covered with gold foil. They cost more than the regular kind.

They are sold by Mayfair and Belgrave beauty parlors. One bottle of the bath champagne is diluted with a tub of water for lady's bath.

BRITISH ADVERTISERS SAY IT WITH WOMEN

LONDON (AP)—"Say it with pretty women" is one of the slogans brought out at the Olympia advertising Exposition.

"Put a pretty woman beside your name in the newspapers—whether you make hats and bolts, penwipers, or motor cars—and you have everybody noticing you, which is the first step toward buying," advertising says.

To carry out the idea, each of sixteen national and international advertisers who placed exhibits at the show were represented by a pretty girl.

"Tell the women," the experts explained, "as they are the world's spenders and the ones to whom advertising must be directed. Women spend 50 percent of the world's money, directly or indirectly. Men make the money but women spend it, therefore talk to the women."

DOGS NOW ATTEND LONDON WEDDINGS

LONDON (AP)—Dogs are now part of the up-to-date Mayfair bride's equipment for the altar.

Mrs. Quentin Dick and Lord Howe dispensed with most of the "dainties and trappings" of the society wedding when they were married at St. Mark's, and also dispensed with the usual honeymoon trip. There was no reception. The bride, however, followed the recent fashion of bringing a dog along, in this instance, a Labrador.

ANIMALS APPEAR ON NEW COINS

LONDON (AP)—The new Irish Free State coins which have been approved and will be issued shortly are intended to portray the distinctive characters of the Free State industries.

The coins and the subject depicted upon them will be: half crown, a florin, a shilling, a bull; sixpence, an Irish wolfhound; three-penny piece, a hare; penny, a hen and chicks; halfpenny, a pig with a litter; farthing, a woodcock.

Laundrymen Boost Prices in Shanghai

(By The Associated Press.)

SHANGHAI—The bill for the week's washing has been increased in China, original home of the laundryman and the unapproachable laundry ticket.

The Guild of Shanghai Laundrymen, made up of Shanghai's thousands of washermen, has issued notice to customers that, due to increased costs of living, piece rates have been raised a half cent, gold, and contract price 30 per cent.

Shanghai's host of foreign residents, faced already with higher living expenses in other directions, have no recourse but to pay the washermen the wages they demand.

NEGROES ARRESTED

A negro reported to the sheriff's office last night that he had been robbed of $65 while he slept. During the investigation which followed, two negro men and a negro woman suspect were arrested and are being held for further investigation.

Also, one negro was found carrying a loaded weapon. Two "drunks" were brought in with the rest.
