

Incentive for Organ Donors Should Be to Do Right Thing

DEAR ABBY: I am not normally a person who would write to you, but I am prompted to do so as a result of the letter you printed relating to obtaining inheritance tax, estate tax or income tax incentives for people to become organ donors.

I am a lawyer who practices in the estate and tax field, and I thought that the proposition was interesting from that standpoint.

However, as a registered organ donor, I question both the proposition and your support of it. My questioning does not concern the need to get more organ donors, but it concerns the motivation of people to donate organs in return for tax relief.

I am concerned that our society needs to have "incentives" to do that which is right. Do we really need to have income tax deductions to support our favorite charities? Do we need tax incentives to encourage people to employ persons otherwise unemployable? Will charitable giving collapse if, for some reason, charitable deductions are eliminated from the Internal Revenue Code?

I would hope that the answer to these questions would be no, so I am not in support of the person who suggests that we give incentives to encourage people to become organ donors. The incentive should be that you are doing the right thing for the right reason. There is no other incentive necessary.

ALFRED K. HETTINGER, ALLENTOWN, PA.

Abigail Van Buren

SYNDICATED COLUMNIST

DEAR MR. HETTINGER: The answer to all of your questions could well be "yes." And I agree with you that no incentive other than doing the right thing for the right reason should be necessary.

However, at this time 66,717 people are on organ-donor waiting lists, praying for a heart, a kidney or a liver that will save their lives. Last year, 4,900 people died waiting for that prayer to be answered. Is it more immoral for someone to die because there is a shortage of organs available, or to offer tax incentives to those who would otherwise bury their dear departed, organs and all? To me, it seems like a terrible waste.

My philosophy coincides with that of the late Robert Test, who wrote the following:

TO REMEMBER ME

At a certain moment a doctor will determine that my brain has ceased to function and that, for all intents and purposes, my life has stopped.

When that happens, do not attempt to instill artificial life into my body by the use of a machine. And don't call this my "deathbed." Call it my "bed of life," and let my body be taken from it to help others lead fuller lives.

Give my sight to a man who has never seen a sunrise, a baby's face or love in the eyes of a woman.

Give my heart to a person whose own heart has caused nothing but endless days of pain.

Give my blood to the teen-ager who has been pulled from the wreckage of his car, so that he might live to see his grandchildren play.

Give my kidneys to one who depends on a machine to exist from week to week.

Take my bones, every muscle, every fiber and nerve in my body, and find a way to make a crippled child walk.

Explore every corner of my brain. Take my cells, if necessary, and let them grow so that someday a speechless boy will shout at the crack of a bat and a deaf girl will hear the sound of rain against her windows.

Burn what is left of me and scatter the ashes to the winds to help the flowers grow.

If you must bury something, let it be my faults, my weaknesses, and all my prejudice against my fellow man.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19) From frustration to inspiration, you follow an interesting path at work. You come up with a noteworthy idea; others are more than willing to pitch in. Financing could become an issue. Intimate discussions with a boss. Tonight: Get some exercise.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Creativity soars in the face of an initial hassle. You cruise through problems, making headway left and right. You are inspired with great ideas, and you know where to find more. Someone at a distance applauds your efforts. Tonight: Brainstorm.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You might not know which way to turn as different factors in your life prove to be challenging. Research information. Sign up for a course if need be. You are delighted by a partner's musings. Together, you make quite a team. Negativity has no place in your thinking. Tonight: Relax at home.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Though another jolts you, you meet the challenge. Don't shut off communication, keep it flowing. Not everyone needs to think like you. Welcome differences. Honor another's intentions.

rather than his words. Clear your desk. Tonight: Stay away from groups.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone pushes all your buttons. Tempers flare over funds. Creative brainstorming produces long-sought-after answers. A co-worker pitches in. Work as a team. Tension surrounds an authority figure. Can you really please this person? Tonight: Pay bills.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Another's attitude could turn you to stone. Don't let this affect your interactions. Stay open and creative. A child or new friend expresses admiration; listen to what he shares. Steer clear of office gossip. Keep your integrity intact. Tonight: So what if it's Monday?

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Sometimes, even you charge into situations like a bull in a china closet. Establish limits. Know what you are willing to take on. Personal concerns are favored. Express your feelings. A purchase for your home delights. Tonight: Play ostrich.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Another's tantrum could be disconcerting, but you see right through it. Understanding where this person comes from helps you clear out any negativity. Communication flourishes because of your empathetic manner and caring ways. Tonight: Where your friends are.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Others look to you for answers, which you might not have at your fingertips. Discuss finances. Imagination proves key to making your wildest dreams happen. Work drags on. You might have difficulty staying focused on the mundane and practical. Tonight:

Work late. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Reach out for others. Your softer side emerges. Even if another is testy, you seem to understand what ails him. Carefully check on a moneymaking idea. You understand much more than is evident. Tonight: Let your mind roam to a favorite piece of music.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You jump over obstacles with your customary style. You don't need to understand another's motives. Just handle a problem. One-on-one relating helps you financially and emotionally. A family member rains on your parade. Tonight: Enjoy a favorite person.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Your temper doesn't help. In fact, it could distance a partner or loved one. Expressing what is behind all this helps clear the air. Visualize what you have been dreaming of. Another pitches in to make it so. Follow your instincts. Tonight: Plans need adjustment.

Danielle Zuniga received a 5.1 on vault, 7.3 on bars, an 8.2 on floor and a 6.7 on beam for an all-around score of 27.30.

Jessica Palmateer received a 7.3 on vault, 8.6 on floor and a 6.6 on beam. She did not compete on bars at the meet. Callie Brewer received a 7.5 on vault, 6.9 on floor and a 6.7 on bars. Jazmine Rose received a 5.7 on vault, 7.3 on floor and a 6.8 on bars. Rose and Callie did not compete on beam.

The M.G. Flyers will compete again in Amarillo on Jan. 29-30.

Students of Gymnastics of Pampa recently participated in the recreational Pre-team portion of the Santa's Cup in Amarillo.

Twenty-six Pampa gymnasts ages 5 to 10 competed in Level 2, 3 and 4 at the Non-sanctioned event.

Gymnasts who participated in the meet and their results are as follows:

Titans are no longer nomads

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — NFL teams have changed cities, but it's safe to say that no one has ever, or will ever, go through what the Tennessee Titans have survived to reach the AFC championship game.

Four different stadiums in four years. Hated in one city, ignored in another. Nomads with more questions than fans.

That is why the former Houston Oilers feel that nothing can bother or distract them now as they shoot for the first Super Bowl appearance in the franchise's 40-year history.

"It's like we've been battle-toughened," offensive guard Bruce Matthews said.

"We've been through the wars, and that isn't just football. That's the circumstances that we played under and just all the things that we've gone through."

Imagine not knowing if you're playing home games in Nashville or Houston in 1997 until a month before training camp. Or being a national joke with the NFL's worst attendance in Memphis' Liberty Bowl, a commute that left families driving 400 miles round-trip for home games.

Then came 1998 and tiny locker rooms at Vanderbilt's stadium, the NFL's smallest with 41,000 seats. And they filled that up only three times.

"You couldn't give Tennessee Oilers tickets away," running back Eddie George said.

The head of the players' union in 1997 criticized their temporary practice facility, a collection of trailers and areas tacked to the back of a medical office building. Rain forced players to run plays in the parking lot.

But the worst came before the Oilers ever left Houston.

"The uncertainty and the newness of leaving really didn't pose as much a disappointment as actually seeing no one come out and see us," left tackle Brad Hopkins said.

"You'd go around town and hear people talking mess about us, like, 'Why don't we just leave now?'"

Seeing busloads of Cleveland Browns fans fight to keep their team when Art Modell announced plans to move it to Baltimore only made it worse as crowds dwindled in the Astrodome.

"We realized that we were all alone," running back Rodney Thomas said.

Once the move came in July 1997, coach Jeff Fisher tried to keep his players focused on football despite the problems. Hopkins said the fact they went 8-8 three straight seasons was great.

"It would be easy for us to have below-500 seasons, and we never did. So is that to say had this been in place three years ago would we have gone to the Super Bowl three years ago? You have to pose that question," he said.

"This" includes an 80,000-square foot, state-of-the-art practice facility with three outdoor fields and an indoor field and the 67,000-seat Adelphia Coliseum.

"Right now I'm living my daydreams," George said. "I used to daydream about being in this position around a classy place like this sports complex. It's a great feeling."

Tennesseans finally have connected with the original AFL franchise thanks to the new nickname, logo and uniforms. Their playoff run has merchandise flying off the shelves, ranking the Titans behind only St. Louis and Indianapolis in NFL sales by Pro Player Inc.

At least 7,000 fans followed the Titans on the road last week, and up to 10,000 greeted them on their arrival home, something none of them had ever seen before.

The Titans are 9-0 playing on a true home field for the first time since owner Bud Adams announced in August 1995 that he wanted to move his team to Nashville.

Rockets' image is changing as younger players step in

HOUSTON (AP) — The image of the Houston Rockets is changing.

With the aging of Hakeem Olajuwon, who turned 37 on Friday, and the retirement of Charles Barkley, the future is in the young faces of Steve Francis, Kenny Thomas and Cutting Mobley.

Olajuwon returned this week after missing 20 games recovering from hernia surgery. He is still a marvelous athlete, but a warrior with diminished skills. Olajuwon's signature "dreamshake" has become more like seeing a museum display than a regular attraction.

He looked a little out of place amid the flying youngsters, led by point guard Francis, who is now the one directing traffic instead of Olajuwon or Barkley.

The Rockets started the season with the offense running through Olajuwon and Barkley. Now it's guard-oriented. On many plays, Francis is the one telling players, including Olajuwon, where to line up.

"We have guys on our team that create so much energy for us," Olajuwon said. "We have to choose which weapons to use at certain times."

"It's different, I'm playing with all new guys. Our goal is to just do our best to make progress. If we keep that focus, the rest will fall into place. The playoffs? The goal is to go for it."

The Rockets hoped to squeeze a little more magic out of the Olajuwon-Barkley tandem and allow their talented young players time to fit into the system.

That didn't happen. Barkley went down for the count with a career-ending knee injury and Olajuwon's surgery put the ball in the hands of Francis. He has responded.

How will Olajuwon align with the new order?

"I'm not sure how he fits in," forward Matt Bullard said. "You look at our offense and it's a lot different. For 16 years, he's been in the box with all the plays going through the center. It's going to be a challenge for the team and for Hakeem.

The old system worked, but now it is, well, old.

"It's something that you look forward to with Hakeem," Bullard said. "I've been around since 1990 and we've had a lot of success with the old system."

"We won two championships but the way things are now, it's going to be a challenge for all of us."

After watching from the sidelines early in the season, Thomas has become more of a threat along with Francis.

"I'm trying to play hard in every game that I play in," Thomas said. "I feel like I'm playing pretty well lately."

Francis and Thomas have been keys to the Rockets surge. In the current five-game winning streak, Francis is averaging 25.0 points and 10.5 assists and Thomas has averaged 15.8 points and 10.6 rebounds.

Francis, who will represent the Rockets on the NBA rookie all-star team, has adjusted to his forced-feeding. The Rockets are holding up much better in fourth quarter crunch time.

"You don't have to lose to learn," Francis said. "But it helps you to have that feeling of how many times you've been ahead in the fourth quarter and how many games you lost down the stretch."

Mills accepts Permian job

SUGAR LAND, Texas (AP) — T.J. Mills, who led Sealy High School to state championships in five of the last six seasons, agreed Friday to take over as head coach and athletic coordinator at Odessa Permian.

"We decided to take the job," Mills said Friday night after stepping off a private plane that had taken him, his family and two assistant coaches to Odessa and back.

"We saw a lot of good things today. We saw a lot of good kids, good school atmosphere, good administrators. We met some outstanding people in the community. I felt like it was the place for me. I felt it was a great place for my kids," Mills said.

Mills reportedly will receive $78,000, an increase of about $7,000 over the salary Randy Mayes got at Permian last season.

Mills' eyes teared as he talked about leaving Sealy. He said the return flight from Odessa was tough.

"It's hard (leaving Sealy), very hard. I's been a very emotional flight back," Mills said. Two daughters were on the plane, and the excitement wasn't as great for them.

"The kids were upset, you know. And all of us coaches discussing things. Lots of memories flooding over you. It's just tough," Mills said.

Sealy is about an hour's drive west from Sugar Land, where the plane picked up his entourage earlier in the day and then returned them.

Learning about newspapers can be a fun and interesting experience. Students at St. Matthew's Episcopal Day School and Day Care have realized how informative and entertaining newspapers can be following a visit from a local newspaper representative.

ReDonn Woods, advertising representative at The Pampa News, recently spoke to the students at St. Matthew's in their Friday Friend program about The Pampa News. The Friday Friend program invites community representatives to address the students to educate them with hands-on training. Woods explained to them about the different sections of the newspaper and how the news is provided.

Woods divided the 63 students, ages three through six years, into six groups— advertising, weather, sports, comics, photography and front page— to explain to them how the newspaper is produced.

The students learned it is important to read a newspaper to gain a varied knowledge about their community as well as the world, and also that the newspaper is entertainment. Woods explained to the students that advertising is very important to a newspaper as revenue received from the ads in the paper is the economic base of the newspaper and also causes newspaper readers to shop at the stores which advertise in The Pampa News.

"The ideas and excitement from each one of these children was too much to keep to myself. Plus, their hard work shouldn't go unprinted," said Woods. Some of the drawings the students worked together to produce in learning about the functions of the newspaper are pictured on this page.

"Unfortunately, I couldn't print every picture, so a few were chosen to represent each department," she said. Woods said she wants all the children to become interested in newspapers. "Hopefully, each child will become an avid Pampa News reader, maybe even a future newspaper employee."

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Haynes

Haynes anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Haynes of McLean celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Jan. 22, 2000. Children of the couple hosted the reception.

John M. Haynes and Glenda Joyce Smith were married Jan. 22, 1950, at First Baptist Church in McLean. For the past 50 years, the couple have been McLean residents and have owned-operated a cattle ranch north of the city. They belong to McLean United Methodist Church, McLean Lions Club and American Quarter Horse Association.

Mr. Haynes is also a member of Masonic Lodge #889 and currently serves on the board of Tri-State Senior Golf Association.

Children of the couple are Mike and Kathy Haynes of Amarillo, David and Ginger Haynes of McLean, Sheri Haynes of Lubbock, Morse and Dorinda Haynes of Odessa and Sam D. and Jan Haynes of Pampa. They have eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.
