Harvesters Open Season With 6-0 Win Over Quanah

HARDIN TAKES BALL OVER ON 28-YARD DASH

Thousand See Game on Ayres Field—Stores Close

EACH TEAM HAS 6 FIRST DOWNS

Heavy Visiting Eleven Held by Fighting Pampa Men

After starting uncertainly in the first quarter, the Pampa Harvesters hit their stride in the second to score the only touchdown of the game; and thereafter they outplayed the heavy Class A Quanah eleven Friday afternoon on Ayres field. The final score was Pampa 6, Quanah 0.

A recovered Quanah fumble, two good gains by Roberts, and 22 yards reeled off by Hardin and Roberts on a backward pass placed the ball on Quanah's 28-yard line soon after the second quarter opened. On the following play both teams were off-side, but on the next Hardin, plucky little Harvester quarterback, took the ball and by his weaving field running broke through for a touchdown. His drop-kick for the extra point was wide.

Thousand Present.

Pampa business men closed for the game and a crowd of probably one thousand persons opened the Pampa grid season, which will bring many visiting teams here, with a fine showing of interest in the Central high squad. High school students were grouped on the sidelines, and Gladys Carter and Lucille Mooney led the rooting section.

Captain Ed Herlacher of the Harvesters won the toss and elected to kick. Captain Davis of Quanah took the wind advantage by defending the west goal.

Roberts got away a low kick to Captain Davis, who returned five yards. The rest of the quarter was written by Quanah in successive off-tackle gains by Davis and Brooks, with Fraser occasionally relieving that pair of ground gainers. Three first downs were made by Quanah before the ball was lost on a fumble.

Harvesters Improve.

Hardin delayed the march by covering the ball. He lost a yard on two attempts to carry the ball, however, and Pampa punted 35 yards. Brooks took the ball on the run and dodged 20 yards toward the locals' goal. The Pampa line then stiffened, and the first quarter ended with the ball on the Harvesters' 30-yard line.

Quanah lost the chance to get within scoring range by losing the ball on incomplete passes. The Harvesters then started the most impressive march of the day, with Roberts skirting the ends or dodging through holes in the line. He ended his gains by taking a nicely executed backward pass from Hardin and stepping off 22 yards before being downed by a trio of visitors.

Hardin looked elusive as he evaded half a dozen tacklers and sent the roosters' hats in the air by easily making the end zone. His attempted drop-kick was of good height, but was several feet south of the uprights.

Quanah Fumbles.

Pampa's kick-off was well done, but the Quanah captain, aided by good interference, managed to run the ball to the Harvesters' 34-yard line. The threat was just a gesture, however, for Stalls and Kennedy broke up the next two drives and on the next play Quanah lost

Savage Talks to Dead, Not Living Audience

(By The Associated Press.)

PARIS, Sept. 17.—On the slopes of Mt. Valerion, overlooking all Paris and surrounded by marble crosses marking the resting place of 1,500 comrades who gave their lives on the battlefield, General John Pershing and National Commander Howard Savage today paid the tribute of the American Legion to their fallen buddies.

There was a drizzle of rain at times during the short ceremonies at which General Pershing, Commander Savage, and Marshal Foch made the only addresses.

The Legion commander spoke directly to the dead, rather than to a living audience.

That cold, slanting rain closed in on the American delegation here today, and the men found that it chilled them just as it did in the trenches.

Three thousand Legionnaires arrived today after having landed at Cherbourg. Twenty-two thousand men and 6,000 American women forming the delegations of the American Legion and its Auxiliary are now here for their respective conventions, which open Monday.

San Diego Rancher Is Ambitious—Parties Criticized

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—William McAdoo has informed his friends that he will not be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1928.

His decision has been communicated to George Milton, publisher of the Chattanooga, Tenn., News, in a letter sent in response to a request from Milton that he announce his candidacy.

Declaring that his chief concern was the supremacy of Democratic principles and progressive policies, McAdoo said, "perhaps I can do more to advance the objects as a private citizen than as a candidate for president."

NEW YORK, Sept. 17. (AP)—Governor Smith, potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, declined to comment today on an announcement by William McAdoo that the latter would not be a candidate.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—A call for Governor Smith to follow the lead of William McAdoo by withdrawing from the race was contained in a statement here today by Senator Harris of Georgia, who said that unless the governor takes such action the next Democratic convention will see a repetition of the Madison Square Garden fight.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—The first man formally to announce his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination is Louis Francis 45-year-old San Diego, Calif., rancher and former railroad engineer.

He criticized both Republican and Democratic parties for lack of progressive principles and leaders in a statement of policies made public here today.

Markham has his friend Vance, a wealthy idler and art connoisseur, accompany him to the scene of Alvin Benson's murder. Benson has been shot through the head while reading in a chair.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IV.

At first Vance had looked over the room incuriously and watched the proceedings with bored apathy; but during Heath's brief questioning of his subordinates, an expression of cynical amusement had appeared on his face. Following a few general queries to Assistant District Attorney Dinwiddie, he had sauntered, with apparent aimlessness, about the room, looking at the various articles and occasionally shifting his gaze back and forth between different pieces of furniture. At length he had stooped down and inspected the mark made by the bullet on the wainscot; and once he had gone to the door and looked up and down the hall.

The only thing that had seemed to hold his attention to any extent was the body itself. He had stood before it for several minutes, studying its position, and had even bent over the outstretched arm on the table as if to see just how the dead man's hand was holding the book. The crossed position of the legs, however, had attracted him most, and he had stood studying them for a considerable time. Finally, he had returned his monocle to his waistcoat pocket, and joined Dinwiddie and me near the door, where he had stood, watching Heath and the other detectives with lazy indifference, until the departure of Captain Hagedorn.

The four of us had no more than taken seats when the patrolman stationed in the vestibule appeared at the door.

"There's a man from the local precinct station here, sir," he announced, "who wants to see the officer in charge. Shall I send him in?"

Heath nodded curtly, and a moment later a large red-faced Irishman, in civilian clothes, stood before us. He saluted Heath, but on recognizing the district attorney, made Markham the recipient of his report.

"I'm officer McLaughlin, sir—West Forty-seventh Street station," he informed us; "and I was on duty on this beat last night. Around midnight, I guess it was, there was a big gray Cadillac standing in front of this house—I noticed it particular, because it had a lot of fishing-tackle sticking out the back, and all of its lights were on. When I heard of the crime this morning I reported the car to the station sergeant, and he sent me around to tell you about it."

"Excellent," Markham commented; and then, with a nod, referred the matter to Heath.

"May be something in it," the

What are you doing there?" Heath demanded, in a tone of surly truculence.

later admitted dubiously. "How long would you say the car was here, officer?"

"A good half hour anyway. It was here before 12, and when I came back at 12:30 or thereabouts it was still here. But the next time I came by, it was gone."

"You saw nothing else? Nobody in the car, or anyone hanging around who might have been the owner?"

"No sir, I did not."

Several other questions of a similar nature were asked him; but nothing more could be learned, and he was dismissed.

"Anyway," remarked Heath, "the car story will be good stuff to hand the reporters."

Vance had sat through the questioning of McLaughlin with drowsy inattention—I doubt if he even heard more than the first few words of the officer's report—and now, with a stifled yawn, he rose and, sauntering to the center-table, picked up one of the cigar butts that had been found in the fireplace. After rolling it between his thumb and forefinger and scrutinizing the tip, he ripped the paper open with his thumb nail, and held the exposed tobacco to his nose.

Heath, who had been watching him gloweringly, leaned suddenly forward in his chair.

"What are you doing there?" he demanded, in a tone of surly truculence.

Vance lifted his eyes in decorous astonishment.

"Merely smelling of the tobacco," he replied, with condescending unconcern. "It's rather mild, y' know, but delicately blended."

The muscles in Heath's cheeks worked angrily. "Well, you'd better put it down, sir," he advised. Then he looked Vance up and down. "Tobacco expert?" he asked, with ill disguised sarcasm.

"Oh, dear no." Vance's voice was dulcet. "My specialty is scarab-car touches of the Ptolemaic dynasties."

Markham interposed diplomatically.

"You really shouldn't touch anything around here, Vance, at this stage of the game. You never know what'll turn out to be important. Those cigar stubs may quite possibly be significant evidence."

"Evidence?" repeated Vance sweetly. "My word! You don't say, really! Most amusin'!"

Markham was plainly annoyed; and Heath was boiling inwardly, but made no further comment: He even forced a worthless smile. He evidently felt that he had been a little too abrupt with his friend of the district attorney's, however much the friend might have deserved being reprimanded.

Heath, however, was no sycophant in the presence of his superiors. He knew his worth and lived up to it with his whole energy, discharging the tasks to which he was assigned with a dogged indifference to his own political well-being. This stubbornness of spirit, and the solidity of character it implied, were respected and valued by the men over him.

He was a large, powerful man, but agile and graceful in his movements, like a highly trained boxer. He had hard, blue eyes, remarkably bright and penetrating, a small nose, a broad oval chin, and a stern straight mouth with lips that appeared always compressed. His hair, which, though he was well along in his forties, was cropped about the edges, and stood upright in a short bristly pompadour. His voice had an aggressive resonance, but he rarely blustered. In many ways he accorded with the conventional notion of what a detective is like. But there was something more to the man's personality, an added capability and strength, as it were; and as I sat watching him that morning, I felt myself unconsciously admiring him, despite his very obvious admiring him, despite his very obvious limitations.

"What's the exact situation, Sergeant?" Markham asked. "Dinwiddie gave me only the barest facts."

Heath cleared his throat.

"We got the word a little before seven. Benson's housekeeper, a Mrs. Platz, called up the local station and reported that she'd found him dead, and asked that somebody be sent over at once. The message, of course, was delayed to headquarters. I wasn't there at the time, but Burke and Emery were on duty, and after notifying Inspector Moran, they came on up here. Several of the men from the local station were already on the job doing the usual nosing about. When the inspector had got here and looked the situation over, he telephoned me to hurry along. When I arrived the local men had gone, and three more men from the homicide bureau had joined Burke and Emery. The inspector also phoned Captain Hagedorn—he thought the case big enough to call him in on it at once—and the captain had just got here when you arrived. Mr. Dinwiddie had come in right after the inspector, and phoned you at once. Chief Inspector O'Brien came along a little ahead of me. I questioned the Platz woman right off; and my men were looking the place over when you showed up."

"Where's this Mrs. Platz now?" asked Markham.

"Upstairs being watched by one of the local men. She lives in the house."

"Why did you mention the specific hour of 12:30 to the doctor?"

"Platz told me she heard a report at that time, which I thought might have been the shot. I guess now it was the shot—it checks up with a number of things."

"I think we'd better have another talk with Mrs. Platz," Markham suggested. "But first: did you find anything suggestive in the room here—anything to go on?"

Heath hesitated almost imperceptibly; then he drew from his coat pocket a woman's handbag and a pair of long white kid gloves, and tossed them on the table in front of the district attorney.

"Only these," he said. "One of the local men found them on the end of the mantel over there."

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic—The Kingdom Divided.
Scripture Lesson—1 Kings 12:12-20.

12. So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king bade, saying, Come to me again the third day.

13. And the king answered the people roughly, and forsook the counsel of the old men which they had given him.

14. And spake to them after the counsel of the young men, saying, My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add to your yoke: My father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.

15. So the king hearkened not unto the people; for it was a thing brought about of Jehovah, that he might establish his word, which Jehovah spake by Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Neber.

16. And when all Israel saw that the king hearkened not unto them, the people answered the king, saying, What portion have we in David? neither have we inheritance in the son of Jesse; to your tents, O Israel: now see to thine own house, David. So Israel departed unto their tents.

17. But as for the children of Israel that dwell in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them.

18. Then king Rehoboam sent Adoram, who was over the men subject to taskwork: and all Israel stoned him to death with stones. And king Rehoboam made speed to get him up to his chariot, to flee to Jerusalem.

19. So Israel rebelled against the house of David unto this day.

20. And it came to pass, when all Israel heard that Jeroboam was returned, that they sent and called him unto a congregation, and made him king over all Israel: there was none that followed the house of David, but the tribe of Judah only.

Time: The division of the kingdom took place B. C. 982.

Place: Shechem, ancient and important city in central Palestine, in the territory of Ephraim, called Samaria in the time of Christ.

Golden Text: Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall. Prov. 16:18.

Introduction

As in the case of David, so in that of Solomon, we have a peak of glory and a valley of humiliation. After bringing up the Ark of Jerusalem as the expression of glowing religious fervor, David fell into sin and his last years were clouded. After dedicating the completed Temple and uttering a noble prayer, Solomon became worldly and sinful and left behind him an oppressed and angry people to the government of a weak and incapable successor.

Solomon's Despotism

"On the whole, the reign of Solomon, with all its outward magnificence, gives one the impression of an Oriental despotism, in which the welfare of the people is made quite subordinate to the personal interests and caprices of the king." Solomon's harem, with a thousand members, included many women who were foreigners and idolaters. For them he erected many idol shrines. Thus he added licentiousness and idolatry to his despotism. Besides the superb temple, he built himself a wonderful palace which took thirteen years in building. In various parts of the country he laid out gardens and vineyards. He maintained a large army. He sent ships and caravans in all directions and built store cities in distant regions to facilitate commerce. All of these tremendous operations were built upon the toll and sufferings of his people."

Jeroboam

Jeroboam, a young man of the tribe of Ephraim, was placed by Solomon in charge of a part of his building operations in Jerusalem. He had an important post and was evidently a man of great ability. One day he was met by the prophet, Ahijah, who took the new garment Jeroboam was wearing, tore it in twelve pieces, and gave the young man ten of them. The prophet informed him of the meaning of his acted parable, on account of Solomon's complicity with idolatry the kingdom was to be torn away from his family, all but Judah (and most of Benjamin); and the ten tribes were to be given to Jeroboam, who was to be their king.

Rehoboam

Solomon died at the age of about sixty, after a reign of forty years, leaving as his successor his son Rehoboam. The young prince had been reared under circumstances as unfavorable as possible for the production of noble manhood. "On the death of his father, Rehoboam seems to have at once, and without opposition, assumed the reins of government.

His enthronement at Jerusalem implied the homage of Judah and its neighbor-tribe, Benjamin. But, instead of repairing to Jerusalem, the representatives of the ten northern tribes gathered at Shechem, the capital of ancient Ephraim, where important popular assemblies had previously been held. They presented to Rehoboam a series of bold and just demands, their spokesman being Jeroboam, whom they had brought back posthaste from his exile in Egypt. "Thy father," they said, "made our yoke grievous: now make our service lighter and we will serve thee." It was a righteous demand and should have been granted instantly by the young king. Instead, he asked and obtained three days in which to consider it.

Rehoboam Seeks Advice

In the meantime, Rehoboam called the older men in counsel and consulted with them as to what should be done. These wise representatives of the people urged him to adopt a conciliatory policy to reduce the taxation and enrollment for service and to adopt a kindly tone toward the discontented. But Rehoboam made the fatal mistake of calling the younger men who in their pride of youth advised him to speak roughly to the people, assert his authority, and declare that he would go even further than his father had done in his executions and in the penalties for disobedience. It was a boastful and foolish speech and action and the consequences were disastrous.

Rehoboam's Folly

The result of Rehoboam's folly was to precipitate what had long been brewing among the people and bring on a permanent division into two small kingdoms. Jeroboam, representing the people, came to Rehoboam at the end of the third day and received a rough and harsh answer. He repeated the words suggested by the young men and declared that whereas his father had made their yoke heavy, he would make it heavier, and whereas his father had chastised them with whips, he would use scorpions. This was either a merely boastful speech, or there may have been a kind of whip called scorpions because they stung so severely. Here the inspired writer recognized that Rehoboam's action was in the mind of God who had prophesied through Ahijah that this would be his course of action.

The Kingdom Divided

The expected came to pass. The people were aroused. Their outcry showed a deep movement of their minds. There had always been jealousy among the northern tribes toward Judah and that broke out in the saying, "What portion have we in David? Neither have we inheritance in the son of Jesse." It will be remembered that even in David's lifetime the hostility of the northern tribes had appeared more than once. All that the smoldering embers needed was a breeze, and it came, so they shouted, "To your tents, O Israel." This was not a call to assemble, but to break up the assembly. The phrase came down from the old time of tenting in the wilderness. It simply meant, Scatter to your homes, break up anything that links like union so as to continue the house of David. So of course the assembly broke up, the people went to their homes, but moved with deep indignation and ready to be assembled again in case of war. On arriving at Jerusalem the king sent Adoram, who was the superintendent of the forced labor, to carry on his unpopular work. But he was stoned to death. The king realized that all was lost and he returned to Jerusalem. The breach was now complete. It was never healed. The northern kingdom continued for more than two hundred years and then fell beyond rescue and passed out of history. Rehoboam retained Judah and those who had become identified with that tribe, probably including Benjamin and Simeon.

British Queen Had First Pin Money

(By The Associated Press.)
LONDON, Sept. 17.—The term "pin money" originated early in the 13th century, according to A. H. Riddle, a member of the famous British pinmaking firm of Ryland and Sons.

Pins, says Mr. Riddle, were first used in 1372, when the pinmakers of London were incorporated into a city craft or guild.

friction between different elements of society."—William Jennings Bryan.

In the reign of James I an act of parliament was passed to protect the manufacturers by forbidding the importation of pins. This act was later confirmed by Charles I who received annually from the pinmakers $2,500. He handed this amount over to his wife, Henrietta Maria, for her private purse and originated thereby the term "pin money."

THE Amarillo College of Music

ANNOUNCES

Mrs. Nina McSkimming

Pianist and Teacher At Our Branch Studio In Pampa

We are standardizing our work by putting a score of branch studios throughout the Panhandle. The "Progressive Series of Piano Lessons" is used as text. Through this text and the supervising of the teaching of it we are able to give a definitely graded course of musical education. Credits given all who study in branch schools and on same basis as those at the main studios, and in 20,000 schools throughout the country.

Mrs. McSkimming will come to Amarillo every two weeks during the teaching season to attend a three-hour normal class session in the teaching of the "Progressive Series." This class will be a "clearing house" of ideas and teaching methods for a large family of music teachers all working to the same end. We stand for a bigger and better program of music in Pampa and want to be of service in every possible way.

Our faculty with Mrs. McSkimming will be in Pampa soon to give you a FREE Faculty recital. Call on Mrs. McSkimming at her studio or write, phone or call on us direct.

NEWS AND VIEWS - Last year when cotton prices started downward and each successive government crop estimate sent them sliding with renewed impetus, cries against the reports had little effect.

The overproduction was so obvious, and the government report so near to well known indications, that the business world in general thought the forecasts worthwhile.

The flare-up of this week, however, is not along the lines of production and consumption primarily. Mere reports on the cotton crop caused futures to soar, although there was a reaction as weather improved and the south started hedging on futures.

The crop reporting service of the Department of Agriculture is of great value, and it does not seem the part of wisdom to discontinue its reports.

But the Department of Agriculture has a bureau of economics, whose report on prospective price trend, coupled with erroneous statements in connection with its publication, caused a severe break which aroused the cotton men and commercial organizations of the whole south.

It would seem that the south is right in demanding that such reports be discontinued. Crop estimates are probably advisable over not too frequent periods, since no news is bad news in some cases.

COLLEGE DEGREES - The partly justified attitude of the public in discounting the worth of college degrees, except in certain scientific and professional fields, may be changed by a new practice now gaining headway.

Physicians may serve internships, BB. A. students of some universities must serve a certain time in some business to obtain the degree of Bachelor of Business Administration.

The University of Texas is starting an engineering project which may terminate similarly. Industrial engineering students will be given opportunities to work in connection with actual experience in their chosen field.

A large school of journalism plans to withhold its degree until the graduate has proven his ability through a year's actual experience.

Education can and is being made as practical as ordinary experience, and retain much of the cultural and broadly educational virtue as well.

NEW WORK - Some of these days we people of the Panhandle are going to catch up in development affairs and give more thought to our neighbors.

There has been some discussion recently of welfare work in the Panhandle among underprivileged children. Civic clubs almost invariably stress that activity when they become well enough organized.

Many Oklahomans know of the fine work done in that state by the Oklahoma Society for Crippled Children. It is a credit to the oil game, for one of the biggest figures in the work is Lew Wentz of Ponca City, who has been the chief financial support and who has personally supervised the surveys in his own and other counties.

From personal contact with these men and their work, the writer learned what many people do not realize; that a crippled child, if given the right treatment soon enough, may become practically normal.

The Panhandle needs a few men of Wentz' philanthropic calibre. The underprivileged child exists in the midst of prosperity, and often receives little attention from those who could, without financial hurt to themselves, build lives as well as skyscrapers.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON.—Time was when one heard considerable crabbings about the predominance of Massachusetts men in the federal government.

Weeks was secretary of war Lodge was chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee and Gillett was speaker of the House.

Now Weeks and Lodge are dead, Gillett is in virtual retirement in the Senate and even President Coolidge himself has started on the way back toward private life.

Massachusetts isn't getting many of the big plums and no other state seems likely to establish an "oligarchy" here such as she had attained in the last days of Murray Crane. Even Pennsylvania, which is the most solidly Republican of all the very big states, complains frequently at the fact that she doesn't get much federal patronage simply because the party knows she needs no coaxing.

On the other hand, the tendency to smile upon New York is more and more reflected in the administration's appointments. Enough of these instances have been cited in previous dispatches to dispense with any repetition here, but the belief is constantly strengthened that the Republican party is doing all it can to reduce the possibility of a victorious Al Smith ticket in November, 1928.

Hence the play to New York. The party

From the Kansas City Times:

Better farming is a factor, and perhaps a big one, in the solution of the farm problem. The industry of agriculture is going forward. Great changes have taken place as a result of investigation and experiment.

Under the head of better farming is improvement in stock raising and breeding, whether regarded as a primary or incidental enterprise. Under this heading in turn we come to the keen interest manifested by farm boys and farm girls in livestock.

These farmers of the future come from the extensive 4-H clubs and from the vocational agricultural high schools. They are all winners of preliminary honors or, where there are no contests, are chosen by district leaders or school authorities because of special merit.

Menus for the Family

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST — Chilled apple sauce, cereal cooked with dates, cream, minced lamb on toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Vegetable soup, toast (sticks), orange bread and cream cheese sandwiches, curly endive with French dressing, rice and apple pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Boiled mutton, mashed turnips, casserole of summer squash with corn and tomatoes, pears in chocolate sauce, milk, coffee.

The luncheon soup is made with a rich beef stock. The vegetables are diced or cut in matchlike pieces and served in the broth. This makes a hearty nourishing dish superior to a clean thing bouillon for luncheon.

Orange bread will be popular in the school lunch box, on the afternoon tea table or at any family meal.

Orange Bread.

One cake compressed yeast, 1-4 cup lukewarm water, 3 oranges, 4 tablespoons sugar, 3-4 cup candied orange peel, 2 teaspoons grated orange rind, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1-2 cup chopped nut meats, 2 1-2 cups white bread flour, 1 cup whole wheat flour, yolk of 1 egg.

Use water which has been boiled and cooled to lukewarm temperature. Dissolve yeast cake in water. Add orange juice, sugar, salt, grated orange rind, candied orange peel finely chopped, melted butter, egg yolk and nuts. Mix well and add whole wheat flour. Mix well and add white flour, using only enough flour to handle. Knead on a floured molding board until the dough is smooth and bubbly. Place in a warm bowl, cover with a clean cloth, put in a warm place and let rise until double in bulk. Shape into a loaf, put into a buttered bread pan and let rise again. When double in bulk, bake one hour in a hot oven.

Coarse sawdust is a good extinguisher of oil fires, especially if the oil is in a deep container. Poured on burning oil, the sawdust floats and smothers the fire by shutting off the oxygen. Care must be taken that the sawdust does not become oil soaked and as dangerous as the oil itself. Two or three pounds of common soda mixed with a bucketful of sawdust makes it almost entirely incombustible. On a very hot fire the soda gives off a gas which aids in smothering the flames.

In making quick breads and cake, allow in general 1 to 1 1/2 teaspoons of baking powder for each cup of flour. Butter cakes that have a great deal of egg white, however, may need less. Pop-overs and sponge cakes are the exception, and need no baking powder at all.

Wheat To Table In Twenty Minutes

AGAR, S. D. (AP)—Only 20 minutes elapsed between the cutting and threshing of wheat on the farm of C. L. Falkenhagen, and the serving of wheat gems made from the flour of the grain.

The farmer claims to have cut in less than half a previous world record of 45 minutes for the process. He rushed a quantity of wheat from his combined harvester and thresher to a farm feed mill, ground the wheat twice, sifted the flour and passed it on to his wife, who made the gems.

P. T. A. Reception Enjoyed By Hundred

One of the most enjoyable of social occasions of the new season was the Parent-Teachers association reception Friday evening at the beautiful I. B. Hughey residence in honor of the 50 school teachers of the Pampa Independent school district.

During the evening more than one hundred persons registered their attendance. Acquaintances were formed or renewed during the informal program. Guests mingled in the various reception rooms, received refreshments of punch and wafers, and gathered for the program of readings and music arranged by Mrs. A. H. Doucette and Mrs. E. E. Fisher.

Mrs. Joe Smith, president of the Parent-Teachers association, opened the program with well chosen words of welcome to the teachers, and Supt. R. C. Campbell responded for himself and co-workers.

Parents, members of the Parent-Teachers association, members of the school board, and other citizens were among those who greeted the teachers.

The program included violin solos by Prof. Otto Schick; piano solos by Mrs. Forrest McSkimming and Miss Ruth Ann Mitchell; vocal solos by Mrs. E. E. Fisher and Mrs. W. A. Bratton; and readings by Mrs. T. F. Morton, Mrs. James Todd, Jr., Miss Frances Campbell, and Miss Dorothy Doucette.

The P. T. A. wishes to express its thanks to each of those who contributed to the success of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Len Williams were in Amarillo Saturday on business.

Child Study Club Will Federate

The Child Study club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. C. M. Bryson as hostess and fifteen members present.

During a short business session presided over by the president, Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, the club voted to federate with the state organization.

Each member responded to the roll call with a quotation on the beauty in the care of a little child. Mrs. W. Purviance led the lesson study, and spoke on "What a Child Means to Its Parents." "Teaching Young Children Obedience" was discussed by Mrs. Alex Schneider, Jr.

"The Child's Dream of a Star" by Charles Dickens was given by Mrs. Roger McConnell, and Mrs. I. E. Duncan very thoroughly explained "The Care and Nature of the Young Child."

Little Janice Purviance gave a delightful reading entitled "Her Answer." Concluding the program, Mrs. A. H. Doucette sweetly sang "Sleep, Baby, Sleep."

The club will meet on the first Friday in October with the Parent-Teachers association at the Central school building.

The Amusu Club will meet with Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

Members of the Eastern Star held a business meeting in the Masonic hall Friday night, with sixteen members and two visitors present.

Members of the Eastern Star served a 10 o'clock dinner to the Masons in the First Christian church annex Saturday night.

Wave Of Hot Weather Lowers Many Batting Averages

HEILMANN IS IN BAD SLUMP

Langford Has Only .400 Mark In Western

(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—The scorching heat wave has melted the batting averages of the American League leaders, reducing the chances of Harry Heilmann for capturing his fourth title. Sitting on the bench in the shade, Al Simmons watches his .391 mark stand firm, while the others slide below it one by one. Since season batting championships are rated on a basis of 100 games, Simmons may be denied the title since he has played in but 91 games, and there are not many left.

Heilmann had a bad slump, losing 13 points this week, in figures compiled today, including Wednesday's games. He is now five points below Simmons' .391. Among those hit by the hot weather slump was Tris Speaker, who slid out of the first ten, where he has roosted most of the season. Not so with Ty Cobb, though. The Georgia Peach climbed up to fifth place.

Cobb and Big Boy Fothergill were the only ones of the leaders to show any improvement, and these two lead the second division of the batting stars, with Simmons, Heilmann and Lou Gehrig twenty points higher.

Gehrig's Batting Off
Gehrig, now distanced in the home run race, is falling off in his general hitting too. Ruth had a lead of seven on Thursday, and the Babe was only seven short of his 1921 record of 59. Gehrig has more doubles than the two-base king, George Burns, of Cleveland. Lou had 50 and Burns 49 with no chance of either to break Burns record of 64 set last year.

Sweeping on like a prairie fire with the pennant safely stowed away, the Yankees' pitching staff has all the honors of the league, among the regulars. The first six places are held by Manager Huggins mound staff. Waite Hoyt, topping the list, is tied with Ted Lyons of the White Sox in total victories won at 21.

Leading hitters of the American league: Simmons, Philadelphia, .391; Heilmann, Detroit, .386; Gehrig, New York, .380; Fothergill, Detroit, .359; Cobb, Philadelphia, .353; Combs, New York, .350; Ruth, New York, .349; Goslin, Washington, .340; Meusel, New York, .339; Schang, St. Louis, .336.

Waners Still Strong
There is still time for the Waner brothers at Pittsburgh to get together and divide up the batting honors of the National league for the season, if Brother Lloyd can keep on with his spurt to catch Brother Paul who has been on top nearly all year. Lloyd has climbed up to third place, not so very far behind Rogers Hornsby. Paul is still fifteen points ahead of Hornsby, though he dropped a few points today in averages compiled including Wednesday's games.

Close on the heels of these is old Joe Harris, cast off by Washington last winter, who has shown a decided liking for the National league brand of pitching.

Frankie Frisch, unable to get close to the top in batting honors this season, has nailed down the base stealing record beyond doubt. He pilfered six this week, and now has 40. While this is less than half Ty Cobb's record it is still 11 better than Hendrick of Brooklyn, the runner-up.

Meadows at Top
With the Pirates back in another winning streak, Lee Meadows moved back to top among the regular pitchers, with 18 victories to seven defeats. Larry Benton of the Giants is runner-up with 15 and 6. Charley Root of the Cubs, with 25 victories, has a good lead, his nearest rival being Jess Haines of the Cardinals with 22.

The home run lead is again temporarily in possession of Hack Wilson of the Cubs, who developed a hitting streak when the Cubs first came home for an extended stay, but soon lost it. Hack has 27, a lead of but one on Cy Williams of the Phillies.

Leading batters of the National league: P. Waner, Pittsburgh, .382; Hornsby, New York, .367; L. Waner, Pittsburgh, .350; Harris, Pittsburgh, .347; Stephenson, Chicago, .343; Traynor, Pittsburgh, .339; Frisch, St. Louis, .338; Harper, New York, .329; Barnhart, Pittsburgh, .329; Farrell, Boston, .328.

Milwaukee Hard Pressed
With only a week to go, the pennant race in the Association has developed into one of the hottest in years, with Kansas City and Toledo hard on the heels of the fast travelling Brewers of Milwaukee.

Oscar Orwell, one of the bright

Flynn Is the Cause of This

You'd think Jack Dempsey was preparing for a crew race instead of a prize fight from this picture, but don't laugh! It was Leo P. stars of the Brewers, can hold his place at the top of the Association pitchers, but when he tries to double in the outfield and with the war club he is just a shade below the best in the circuit. Perhaps first place in both pitching and batting are a bit too much to expect, even from Orwell. He has won sixteen, while losing only five, on the hill this year, and is hitting .376 for second place in the circuit. Reb Russell, who used to do his regular turn on the mound, too, is holding his own around .393, headed toward the batting championship which went to Lebourveau last year. This year Lebourveau is in tenth place.

Sheehan Wins 23
Sheehan of Kansas City has the longest string of victories among the twirlers, 23. Two more honors were added by Frank Emmer, the Millers' shortstop, to protect his leadership. He has 31 circuit drives, with Earl Smith, Miller fly chaser, in second place with 25.

McMillan of St. Paul appears to have the base stealing honors clinched, with 40 to date and Matthews of Indianapolis, runner-up, five back at 35.

The first division clubs still are hitting better than .300 exactly in their order in the standing of games won and lost, though there is a few points difference between the Hens and the Blues.

Leading batters of the American association are: Russell, Indianapolis, .393; Orwell, Milwaukee, .376; Grimes, Toledo, .371; Kirkham, Columbus, .365; Veach, Toledo, .361; Hauser, Kansas City, .358; Guyon, Louisville, .357; Riconda, Milwaukee, .355; Heving, Toledo, .354; Lebourveau, Toledo, .353.

Langford Western Champ
The batting championship of the Western league for the 1927 season which closed a week ago, goes to Langford of Des Moines who poked out the only .400 mark of the season in any of the larger leagues. He scored .403 in 149 games with the Demons, making 250 safe hits. Joe Rabbit of Omaha made one more safe blow, but played in six more games, according to the final unofficial averages released today.

Adam Comorosky of Wichita, who was recalled by the Pittsburgh Pirates just before the Western Season closed, was second in batting honors, ten points below Langford.

Home run honors of the circuit went to Munson of Tulsa, who made 32 circuit drives. Sturdy of the Oilers was second with 23. Pete Casey, the Oilers home run king, was incapacitated by a beanball in midseason and played only two or three games thereafter.

Rabbit the Thief
Joe Rabbit was by long odds the champion base runner of the league, with 49 stolen bases to his credit. Langford was his closest competitor on the paths with 31.

The champion pitcher of the league was George Blasholder, with 26 victories and only 9 defeats, with the heavy hitting Tulsa champions back of him. Several were higher on percentage but none close to the Oilers' mound ace in number of wins. Black of Tulsa had the highest percentage among the regulars, with a dozen wins and but two losses.

Leading batters of the Western league, in the final unofficial averages for the season, were: Langford, Des Moines, .403; Comorosky, Wichita, .398; Bennett, Tulsa, .385; Munson, Tulsa, .383; Sturdy, Tulsa, .374; Rabbit, Omaha, .361; F. Griffin, Des Moines, .361; Wingfield, Amarillo, .354; Cunningham, Des Moines, .348; Reagan, Denver, .347.

Terrible Turk May Have Trouble When He Tackles Chick

When Hnsouff Hussan and Bobbie Chick, two of the fastest wrestlers that have been matched in Pampa, meet tomorrow night at the Pampa Athletic club on West Foster avenue, fight fans will see something different. The two men are considered to be evenly matched and will wrestle Turkish style.

Some witty party asked the other day if Turkish style of wrestling was wearing baggy trousers with a harem in attendance.

Chick is the undisputed wrestling champion of the Southwest in his class, while the Turk is wrestling champion of Turkey and the East. The Turk is considered to be a better man than Chick, but only the meeting tomorrow night will prove that.

The bout will commence at 2:30 o'clock at the Athletic club.

MEADOWS MAY REPEAT

Winning 20 ball games in a season by a major league pitcher continues to be quite a task.

Last year four in the National League turned the trick, each winning exactly 20 ball games. They were Ray Kremer and Lee Meadows of Pittsburgh, Pete Donohue of Cincinnati and Flint Rhem of the St. Louis Cardinals.

In the American League, George Uhle, of Cleveland, with 27 victories, and Herb Pennock, Yankee southpaw, with 23 wins, were the only two twirlers to top the charmed mark of 20 conquests.

It is more or less baseball precedent that few pitchers seldom have two consecutive big years. As a rule the league leaders of one year usually fall away to nothing the following season.

Of the six major league pitchers who won 20 or more games last season, three have no chance to repeat, two are mere possibilities, while one, Lee Meadows, has better than an even chance to make the grade.

George Uhle, still a great pitcher, despite his poor showing this year, has shown the greatest reversal of form. With only 20 games to play, he has but seven victories to his credit against 27 last year.

TWO DISAPPOINTMENTS

In a class with George Uhle as a bitter disappointment is Pete Donohue of the Cincinnati Reds.

Like George Uhle, Pete is still one of the best pitchers in the game, even though with less than three weeks of play remaining, he can show only four victories against 20 for 1926. This is Donohue's worst year. Coming direct to Cincinnati from college, he won seven games in his first season, 1921.

A knee injury that kept him out for a couple of months is the only thing that has kept Kremer of Pittsburgh from being in the select winner's class. Incidentally, such a showing on the part of Kremer would have had the Pirates comfortably out in front at this time.

Falling to report in the spring because of salary trouble, Flint Rhem lost three weeks of conditioning and his pitching suffered. He has 10 games won against 20 at this time last year.

Just think what those 10 additional games on the right side of the ledger would mean to the St. Louis Cardinals at this time.

Lee Meadows, therefore, is the only one of the six stellar performers of last season who has a real chance to repeat in the matter of winning 20 ball games.

SHOULD MAKE GRADE

The pitching statistics of 1927 to date make it seem that four will be close to the quota of each league in the winning of a score of games.

Three pitchers in the National League: Root of Chicago, Hill of Pittsburgh and Haines of St. Louis have already reached or passed the mark. The veteran Grover Cleveland Alexander has 19 wins to his credit as I write these lines. He should go over.

Lyons of Chicago, one of the great pitchers the game has ever produced, and Waite Hoyt, who ranks in the same class, are showing the way with 20 or more games in the bag.

"Lefty" Grove, with 20 wins, is certain to add several more to his record, while Wiley Moore of New York and Al Thomas of Chicago need three each to get into the select circle.

When a pitcher wins 20 ball games it means more salary for next year and every club owner is more than willing to come through with the extra compensation. Pitchers who can win 20 ball games in a season make for pennants.

Where Airplanes Lost—They Won

No less hazardous than flying across the water was the trans-Atlantic voyage and return to Newport, R. I., of the little sloop Primrose IV, whose crew is shown here at the end of the trip. Their sail to England and back, a distance of 4,200 miles, was replete with high adventure and danger. In the center is Frederick Lothrop Ames, wealthy owner of the vessel; in front (left to right) are Frances La Farge and Tom Shirwin and in back, Jack Bishop and Warwick Thompson.

queror, in Leeds Castle, now being restored.

home series. Much interest is being taken in the Pirates' trip from home. How well they go on the road trip that will decide the series.

Monday night Bobbie Chick and Husnoff Hussan will battle to a best two out of three falls, Turkish style of wrestling.

Cal Farley Says Tunney's Eye Is Healed and Champ Is Ready For Gong; Golf Match On Today

BY CAL FARLEY

(Special to The News.)

After motoring some 350 miles, I arrived Saturday at Gene Tunney's camp from St. Louis, and got here in time to see him tame three of his sparring partners. The old boy surely looks the part he is to play next Thursday night—that of the champion—when he will attempt to hold back the mad rushes of Jack Dempsey.

Dempsey will be in there trying everything in the book to bring back that much-cherished crown. Gene appeared to be in the very best of condition, stepping six fast rounds, the last two with Chuck Wiggins, who is a very clever boxer, but who was unable to cope with the high stepping champion, whose counter attacks were a little more than the Hoosier batterer cared to receive.

After the work-out, which was attended by some 2,000 spectators along with nearly as many sports writers, I went to Tunney's dressing room, where I found him ready with the old glad hand as usual. The first thing he thought of was his English bulldog, Jiggs, which he has given to the Marine corps for their mascot to replace the original Jiggs who passed out some time ago.

Gene sure is in love with that dog, and what a face that hound carries around with him—one that only a champion could love.

If confidence can be considered an asset, there is no trace of anything but victory around the Lake Villa camp. As for that talked-of eye that Wiggins busted open last week: don't lose any sleep over that optic.

I asked Gene how his eye was. In reply he said "Which eye?" turning his head so that I could pick out a sore one. I really couldn't see any difference in them, as they both have scars that are all healed up. So there is no worry over the champion's lamp not being ready for the battle. Gene says that he is ready for the gong and is confident that the outcome will be more decisive than before. He will rest over Sunday.

But your representative is going to contest Gene on the golf course and I'll guarantee that your Panhandler will go down swinging if the worst comes to the worst.

SPORT TALK

That 28-yard run by Hardin and three successive gains by Roberts were the sweetest play in the Harvester-Quannah game at Ayres field yesterday afternoon. Carlton and Walstad were in there fighting every minute. Stalls was effective, despite his hobby to grab for the neck instead of the knees.

Roberts went in for Quannah to rough things up a little in the second quarter, but Dutch Hust had his eye on him. Frasier and Davis were the ball carriers for the Quannah squad and they usually made a gain when they hit the line. Davis has the makings of a real football back.

The Giants and the Pirates are still battling away for the leadership of the National league, with the Pirates four and a half games ahead. The Cardinals slipped one Friday but may pick up on the

Fastest Four in America Proves Its Claim to Title

Dodge Averages 67.35 miles per hour in Beating All Other Fours in Atlantic City A. A. A. Race

The Atlantic City (N.J.) Speedway Association, without Dodge Brothers instigation or knowledge, bought a Dodge Brothers Four and entered it in a Labor Day race for four cylinder stock cars. Four cars of other makes also competed. All were strictly stock cars as required by the rules of the association. The race was for 25 miles—to determine which was "The Fastest Four in America."

The Dodge won. Its average speed for the entire race, from a standing start, was 67.35 miles per hour (officially timed by A. A. A.).

Generous confirmation, to say the least, of the modest claim of "Mile-a-minute Performance!" Even more remarkable than the speed, however, is the fact that the car had been driven only 10 days and yet was able to withstand this difficult test without once stopping. Thus the race not only offers conclusive proof of the Dodge's superiority in speed, but stands also as a glowing tribute to the rugged materials and excellent workmanship that go to make it—America's Fastest and Finest Four!

the ball on a fumble. Pampa made short gains, drew an off-side penalty, and punted to Frazer, who was nailed in his tracks. Saulsbury stopped Frazer on Quannah's eight-yard line as the half ended.

Honors were nearly even in the third period, as listless playing was featured by defensive flashes. Quannah failed to make the necessary yardage after receiving Clayton's good kick at the start, and Saulsbury broke up what looked like an attempted pass formation by throwing Edwards for an eight-yard loss in connection with poor handling of the ball.

Fall by Inches.

Hardin lost eight yards on a bad pass, but Carlton regained six yards around left end. He repeated for five yards off right tackle, but a back pass failed by inches to make a first down.

Quannah made two first downs as the quarter ended, mainly on plunges and a pass, in which Captain Davis was the central figure. But no real progress was made, and the ball was in mid-field to start the last period.

The Harvesters showed mastery as the line opened up large holes and the backs found their way through for three successive first downs. The team was going for a touchdown when a back pass launched from the eight-yard line was fumbled by the Hardin to Carlton combination and Quannah recovered and kicked out to the 33-yard line. Roberts went through left guard for seven yards and repeated for five more and a first down. Carlton was held. Hardin made two at left tackle. A pass, Hardin to Walstad, was barely missed. Hardin then tried a dropkick which fell short.

Late Gains Worthless.

Davis passed to Frazer for seven yards, but Roberts broke up the next heave. Davis made two and one-half yards, and Brooks made two yards for a first down as the game ended.

Conservative football was used, but the Harvesters showed some development toward the running game which is expected to distinguish the team. The backfield, although working with early season form, showed great possibilities. Hardin mixed erratic play with his good broken field running, but may be expected to improve with needed practice.

The line, playing closely in, broke off tackle early in the game, but improved as it learned the strength of the center and Kahl started roving more.

Quannah presented a team which outweighed the Harvesters five pounds or more to the man, and the strength of the locals defensive was shown by the fact that, excepting Quannah's early and only scoring chance, the ball was in Quannah territory the major portion of the time.

Captain Davis of the visitors was the outstanding offensive player, and with Fraser accounted for most of the Quannah gains. Both teams made six first downs, but Pampa furnished the most threats, and failed in two scoring opportunities, compared with Quannah's one. Quannah threw five forward passes and completed one for seven yards, while Pampa avoided the air except for a heave which barely failed.

Plenty of Stamina.

Taking time out but three times, and not losing a single player through injuries, the teams showed better condition than expected, although play was often listless after a few hard efforts. Most of the local fans were pleased with the showing the Harvesters made in their first appearance.

The next game will be against the Amarillo Golden Sandstorm in Amarillo, September 24.

Work of enlarging the store and the adding of new departments has just been completed by the Gordon Stores company. A new marble front has been placed and new L-shaped windows built to give the store added attractiveness.

The stock in the ladies' ready-to-wear department has been placed in enclosed cabinets with glass sliding doors, and mirrors for the display of the suits and dresses were added. The shoe department has been enlarged and a complete boys' department added.

The Gordon Stores company opened for business here August 27, 1926, with a shoe and millinery department and a jewelry department in connection. Since that time Mr. Gordon has taken over the shoe and millinery departments and done away with the jewelry store.

Mr. Gordon says the success of the store has been beyond his first expectations, and he has put $8,000 worth of improvements on his store.
