Submarine S-4 Is Raised After Three Months of Work

SALVAGE CREW CHEERS LOUDLY AS WORK ENDS

Sunk Almost Exactly Three Months Ago by Paulding

DIVING HERO IN DEMONSTRATION

Twenty-Four Deep Sea Experts Prepared for Lifting

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., March 17.—(P)—Just 15 minutes short of three months from the time she sunk in collision with coast guard destroyer Paulding off this port the submarine S-4 was brought to the surface today by a naval salvage crew. The submarine was sunk at 3:37 o'clock on the afternoon of December 17 and her conning tower broke water at 3:22 this afternoon.

A dramatic demonstration on the deck of the salvage ship Falcon greeted the culmination of three months of grueling effort in winter weather on the part of the salvagers. As the conning tower appeared above the surface diver Tom Eadie, who won the Congressional medal for saving a fellow diver the day after the S-4 went down, led the crew of the salvage ship in a burst of cheering.

The men on board eight other vessels clustered about the scene joined in the shouting and officers on board the Falcon hurried to congratulate Captain Ernest J. King and Commander Harold S. Saunders, who were in charge of operations.

Although divers had braved winter frosts and rough water for three months to get the hull ready for raising, the final operation lasted about four hours. At 11:05 o'clock the water was blown from the control room of the submarine, and one by one the other compartments were rendered buoyant. Then came the six great pontoons which had been lowered and arranged in pairs along the hull. Commander Saunders, watching the air valve had hoped to time the raising so that the S-4 could come up at the same minute of the day she had gone down.

As the submarine emerged he exclaimed: "We made it fifteen minutes before she was sunk just three months ago today."

All of the 24 navy divers who had worked on the S-4 were on the deck of the Falcon as the submarine came up. In the 91 days since the collision these men had had 441-2 days suitable for diving and had made 586 dives to the ocean bed, 102 feet down. Although no serious accidents occurred there were 10 cases of "bends" or caisson disease.

Mayor Hobart Does Not Choose to Run For Office Again

Mayor T. D. Hobart yesterday spiked talk of his running for re-election by issuing a statement to The News. He was elected when the new city charter was adopted a few months ago. His statement:

TO THE CITIZENS OF PAMPA. I have been asked if I would be a candidate for re-election to the office of mayor of the city of Pampa. My answer is that I will not be a candidate for re-election.

I am glad to assist in any way that I can consistently for the upbuilding of the city with which I have been so long identified, but pressure of other matters will preclude my considering the position again.

In passing, I want to state that I appreciate to the fullest extent the sentiment of the people as expressed at the last election. I also want to add that it has been a pleasure to me to work with my associates, Messrs. Osborne and Boyd, as they have the best interests of the city at heart.

T. D. HOBART.

Sinclair Repudiation Fund Grows as Contributions Reach Sen. Borah

WASHINGTON, March 17.—(P)—The first deposit of the Sinclair repudiation fund was made today by Senator Borah, of Idaho, in a bank here. It totaled $1,490 and the day's returns ran the amount of collections so far to $1,601.

Confident that he would receive the full $100,000 from Republicans throughout the country in answer to his appeal to repudiate the contribution of this amount to the Republican campaign deficit of 1920 by Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of Teapot Dome naval reserve, Mr. Borah declared tonight that "we will raise it and we must raise it before the next campaign."

The contribution of Senator Cutting Republican of New Mexico, is the largest single contribution so far—$1,000.

F. T. Mason Out For Mayor—Was Councilman in '27

The first city candidate to announce for commission to be elected April 3 is F. T. Mason, former city councilman, who comes out for mayor.

"My announcement as a candidate for mayor of the City of Pampa comes after many urgent requests from citizens residing in all parts of the city," said Mr. Mason.

"I consider that we are now passing through and are approaching the most important time for progressive, constructive, and conservative definite action to build Pampa a city equal to the opportunities that are knocking at her door. Having served as one of your councilmen during 1927, a year which brought Pampa many improvements, the records thereof establish my record, to which you may refer, and likewise speak the progressiveness, conservatism, and constructiveness which you may expect of me in the future."

"If elected, I pledge for your support progressiveness, which will be constructive and consistent with good conservative business judgment. In making this, my first public announcement, as a candidate for mayor of the City of Pampa subject to the support of the voters on April 3, I wish to conclude with an expression of my high esteem for our present mayor, Mr. Hobart."

Lewis Cox Will Quit as Commander of American Legion

The band expects to give a concert some time in April, and members declare Pampa can have a municipal band second to none if it is given a little support. Practices are to be held on Monday and Friday evenings at the Methodist church.

QUARTERS FOR COUNTY TO BE WELL SUITED

Remodeling of Church to Be Completed by Thursday

OFFICIALS LIKE ARRANGEMENT

Injunction Quickly Denied for Lack of Any Evidence

Soon after the procession of trucks with the fire engine in the lead brought the county records to Pampa now Gray county seat, work was under way to make the new quarters convenient for county officials.

Chas. H. Sharp, whose workmen are remodeling the basement of the Baptist church and building a fireproof vault, expects to complete the work by Thursday night. County officials have expressed satisfaction that so convenient a place could be arranged on short notice, and they expect to be settled down to routine work immediately.

First Papers Filed
Charles C. Cook yesterday morning filed the first paper, Deputy Scott Rheudisal the first deed, and the first paper issued was an automobile license to D. N. Ehrlick of Culberson-Smalling Motor company. Some couple can go down to the records as the first to obtain a marriage license in Pampa.

Lack of evidence to support allegations of the petition resulted in quick denial of the injunction asked Friday. The local bar entrance was present to represent the new county seat, and S. D. Stennis and W. M. Lewright took the floor many times in the short session. Judge Newton P. Willis declared the session to be "in chamber," since the recent term was extended. His ruling in denying the injunction follows:

Must Have Proof
"The result of an election will not be set aside except for causes plainly within the purview of the law. The certificate of the result of an election is prima facie evidence that the matters stated in the return are true. It is doubted by the Court that the petition in this case is sufficient as a matter of law because it does not specifically show that the voters of Gray County Texas, failed for any reasons to cast their legal ballots in favor of the removal of the county seat to Pampa."

The petition does state that there was a fraudulent conspiracy which caused more than one thousand illegal votes to be cast, which, if true, would be cause for setting aside the election, and the County Judge's proclamation ordering the removal to Pampa, but there is no evidence to sustain this proposition.

Cites Requirements
"It appears from the evidence that the contestants rely upon an allegation and proof that there was a precinct number nine carved out of precinct number two, and part of which new precinct, at least, is number nine, was composed of a portion of the city of Pampa. It appears from article number 2934 that the commissioners' court could establish a new precinct dividing the precincts in a city or town, if there were not in the city or town more than three hundred and fifty voters as ascertained at the preceding general city election. It was also necessary for the said Court to have published the order for the precinct three consecutive weeks in a newspaper in the county, and it is provided that it should not be formed out of two or more justice precincts. Also, it was the duty of said court to deliver to E. S. Graves, Tax Collector, before September 1, 1927, a certified copy of the order for the new precinct. The evidence fails to show that these provisions of law were complied with."

There is no showing that the election was not held at the usual voting place or that any voter was denied the right to vote by reason of the failure to deliver or have voting boxes in precinct number nine, and it is therefore the opinion of the court that under the authorities of 63-S. W. 132, 151 S. W. 1089, 12 S. W. 987 and 19 S. W. 480, the plaintiffs have wholly failed to show that the election was illegal and that the injunction should be and is in all things, denied and that the County Judge's proclamation shall remain in effect removing the county seat from LeFors to Pampa."

Trader Horn Here

Alfred Aloysius Smith, otherwise "Trader Horn," whose autobiographical adventures in Africa have proved a current best-seller, returns like a modern Rip Van Winkle to the America he knew in younger days. He smoked placidly as the S. S. Olympic bore him up New York bay.

John Studer Is Elected President of Shriners Here

John Studer, county attorney Friday night was elected president of the newly organized Shrine club, which held its first meeting Friday night with 34 local shriners present.

Other officers elected were Ed Stinson, with the Empire Gas and Fuel company, vice-president; Lee McConnell, real estate and oil leases, treasurer; and H. W. Johns, real estate, secretary. The Shriners present were entertained in the club and a campaign will commence immediately for additional members.

Ed Stinson was chosen captain of one team and August Gordon captain of the second team. The losing team must at the close of the campaign banquet the winners.

A membership of more than 150 men of this community is expected. Committees were appointed at Friday night's meeting to consider by-laws, rules, club house and other necessary matters in the organization of the club.

The next meeting will be held Thursday night in the Scheider hotel and all Shriners from Pampa, White Deer and Miami are requested to attend.

I. S. Jameson to Seek Re-Election as Justice of Peace

I. S. Jameson, Justice of the peace Precinct Number Two, Gray County, Texas, the present incumbent of that office, announces his candidacy for re-election, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, July 23.

Mr. Jameson is basing his candidacy for re-election upon his past record and the manner in which he has held the office of Justice of the Peace Colonel Jameson, as he is familiarly known to his many friends, has lived in Gray county for the last 17 years and is well known in Gray county and the Panhandle of Texas.

Colonel Jameson's many friends have urged him to ask for this office for another term and point to his record in the past. The Colonel stated that if he is elected he will endeavor to perform the duties to the best of his ability and will assist and cooperate with all local officers in every way for better law enforcement.

OBTAIN $30,000 WHEN SAFE IS BURNED OPEN

Worked for Hours and Only One Man Heard Them

"BOILED" WAY TO TREASURE

Water Poured on to Prevent Damage to Bonds

BERTRAM, March 17.—(P)—Burglars who early Saturday battered and burned their way into the vault of the Farmers State bank of Bertram and literally boiled $5,100 in currency, and $25,000 in liberty bonds out of a heavy "Nigger Head" safe, worked for hours with crowbars and acetylene torch, but only one person heard them.

He was Granville Knox, high school principal. Because he thought the noise was coming from a tin shop adjoining the bank, Knox did not investigate.

No arrest has been made late Saturday. Three chairs, drawn up near the door on the inside of the bank, evidence that the looters kept armed men on watch throughout the early morning hours when the job was done.

Reed Davidson, cashier discovered the loss when he opened the bank for business.

A back window had been pried open and a twenty-four inch brick and concrete wall battered through.

A torch flame bit out chunks of the safe but in doing so, heated it up so that it was necessary to pour on water.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Jesus Teaches Sincerity.

Scripture Lesson: Mark 7: 1-13.
1. And there are gathered together unto him the Pharisees, and certain of the scribes, who had come from Jerusalem.

2. And had seen that some of his disciples ate their bread with defiled, that is, unwashed hands.

3. For the Pharisees, and all the Jews, except they wash their hands diligently, eat not, holding the tradition of the elders;

4. And when they come from the market-place, except they bathe themselves, they eat not; and many other things there are, which they have received to hold, washings of cups, and pots, and brasen vessels.

5. And the Pharisees and the scribes ask him, Why walk not thy disciples according to the tradition of the elders, but eat their bread with defiled hands?

6. And he said unto them, Well did Isaiah prophesy of you hypocrites, as it is written. This people honoreth me with their lips, But their heart is far from me.

7. But in vain do they worship me, Teaching as their doctrines the precepts of men.

8. Ye leave the commandment of God, and hold fast the traditions of men.

9. And he said unto them, Full well do ye reject the commandment of God, that ye may keep your tradition.

10. For Moses said, Honor thy father and thy mother; and, He that speaketh evil of father or mother, let him die the death;

11. But ye say, If a man shall say to his father or his mother, That wherewith thou mightest have been profited by me is Corban, that is to say, Given to God;

12. Ye no longer suffer him to do ought for his father, or his mother;

13. Making void the word of God by your tradition, which ye have delivered; and many such like things ye do.

Time: April, A. D. 29, in the third year of Christ's ministry.
Place: Capernaum.

Golden Text: Keep thy heart with diligence; for out of it are the issues of life.—Prov. 4:23.

Introduction

After the feeding of the five thousand our Lord gave in the synagogue of Capernaum his great interpretative sermon on the Bread of Life. He followed this with many miracles of healing in the land of Gennesaret, his fame increasing constantly. In the meantime the scribes and Pharisees Christ's bitter enemies, having visited Jerusalem for the feast of the Passover, returned to Galilee, and took up again their shameful work in opposition to the Saviour's loving deeds and the words of wisdom. The conflict resulted in the theme of our lesson.

Very likely some of the religious leaders from Jerusalem had returned with the scribes and Pharisees of Galilee. They had heard of the attempt to make Christ king and of his popularity and, fearing for their own influence, inaugurated this new attack upon our Lord.

Hypocrites

Verse 6.
"And he said unto them, Well did Isaiah prophesy of you hypocrites." A hypocrite is an actor, a person who pretends to be something that he is not. These scribes and Pharisees were acting religion but did not possess the reality of it, as they proved by their hostility to Christ, the worker of good deeds and teacher of noble truths. "As it is written, This people honoreth me with their lips." The quotation is from Isa. 29:13, and God himself is the speaker. "This people" refers to Isaiah's countrymen. They did well, of course, to honor God with their lips, since "with the mouth confession is made unto salvation," and God is well pleased when men speak and sing his praises; but he is not pleased with false praise, with lip service, with honoring phrases that are not backed up with honoring deeds.

What is True Worship?

We call our worship in church a "service," but it is rather a preparation for service; its purpose is to give us strength and wisdom for service through communion with God and instruction in God's ways. It is true that merely going to church is not worship and also that one may worship God out in the woods; but one is far more likely to find God in a place dedicated to worship and among a company who are seeking him than outdoors where is only inarticulate beauty. Note the merry-makers in parks on Sunday afternoons; how many of them look worshipful and exalted? True worship, like all other noble acts, requires preparation. If we do not on Saturday "do all our work," but leave much of it undone to disturb our minds on Sunday we shall have only a part of our spirits to give to God on his day, and we shall be constantly tempted to desecrate the Sabbath with secular employment.

"Tradition of Men"

Verse 8.
"Ye leave the commandment of God, and hold fast the tradition of men." In explaining the law and its applications the scribes, of one sort and another, had produced a great mass of oral glosses, comments, tradition. Reduced to writing, at a later time, the constitute the Mishnah, the Midrash and the Talmud; still highly prized by orthodox Jews. Lacking inspiration these "traditions of men" were very fallible. Yet by many of the Pharisees they were regarded as of even greater value and sanctity than the law—Scripture—itsself (verse 9.) You will be in danger of "making void the word of God" if you neglect it for mere human teaching, or make it secondary to such teaching.

Honor Thy Father and Thy Mother

Verse 10.

"For Moses said, Honor and thy mother." The "and" is not to be overlooked.

Christ often said unto you for it was his testament rules. But the scribblers such right. The evil of faith the death."

against the soul's will and desire. The Pharisees believed that they could be defiled by an insect's lighting upon them, by brushing against a heathen in a crowd, by eating a mouthful of meat that had not been butchered in just the prescribed fashion.

Inward Defilement

Over against that negative teaching Christ immediately placed the positive teaching: "Man is defiled only by what comes from within his heart." He gave a fearful list of those unclean products of our inner selves; evil thoughts, lustfulness, thefts, murders, adulteries, covetings, wickedness, deceit, lasciviousness, an evil eye, railing, pride, foolishness. The list is typical, and sadly complete. Somewhere in it every man may find himself. These, said the Master, are what put a man to shame, and not the failure to comply with a man-made custom or rite, fashion or observance.

Heart Purity

"Blessed are the pure in heart," said Christ, "for they shall see God." That is the test of heart purity, the vision of God. If you are not conscious of a life lived with God, then look to your heart and obtain Christ's cleansing for it.

"From a pure heart proceeds the fruit of a good life."
"We shall never win a victory outside us until we are masters, with Christ, in our own house."

"Unless the vessel whence we drink is pure, What'er is poured therein turns foul be sure."

CHAPTER LIV

Spotswoode opened the book, and began reading in a voice whose very fervor held us all silent:

"I brought about my own downfall. No one, be he high or low, need be ruined by any other hand than his own. Readily as I confess, there are many who will, at this time at least, receive the confession skeptically. And although I thus mercilessly accuse myself, bear in mind that I do so without offering any excuse.

"Terrible as is the punishment inflicted upon me by the world, more terrible is the ruin I have brought upon myself. In the dawn of manhood I recognized my position. I enjoyed an honored name, an eminent social position.

"Then came the turning point. I had become tired of dwelling on the heights—and descended by my own will into the depths. I satisfied my desires wherever it suited me, and passed on I forgot that every act, even the most insignificant act, of daily life, in some degree, makes or unmakes the character; and every occurrence which transpires in the seclusion of the chamber will some day be proclaimed from the housetops.

"I lost control of myself. I was no longer at the helm, and knew it not. I had become a slave to pleasure. One thing only is left to me—complete humility."

He tossed the book aside.

"You understand now, Mr. Markham?"

Markham did not speak for several moments.

"Do you care to tell me about Skeel?" he at length asked.

"That swine!" Spotswoode sneered with disgust. "I could murder such creatures every day and regard myself as a benefactor of society. Yes, I strangled him, and I would have done it before, only the opportunity did not offer. It was Skeel who was hiding in the closet when I returned to the apartment after the theatre, and he must have seen me kill the woman.

"Had I known he was behind that locked closet door, I would have brooked how was I to know? It seemed natural that the closet might have been kept locked—I didn't give it a second thought. And the next night he telephoned me to the club here.

"He had first called my home on Long Island, and learned that I was staying here. I had never seen him in it down and wiped him out then. But how was I to know? It seemed natural that the closet might have been kept locked—I didn't give it a second thought. And the next night he telephoned me to the club here.

"He had first called my home on Long Island, and learned that I was staying here. I had never seen him before—didn't know of his existence. But, it seems, he had equipped himself with a knowledge of my identity—probably some of the money I gave to the woman went to him. What a muck-heap I had fallen into!

"When he phoned, he mentioned the phonograph, and I knew he had found out something. I met him in the Waldorf lobby, and he told me the truth; there was no doubting his word. When he saw I was convinced, he demanded so enormous a sum that I was staggered.

Spotswoode lit a cigaret with steady fingers.

"Mr. Markham, I am no longer a rich man. The truth is, I am on the verge of bankruptcy. The business my father left me has been in a receiver's hands for nearly a year. The Long Island estate on which I live belongs to my wife.

"Few people know these things, but unfortunately they are true. It would have been utterly impossible for me to raise the amount Skeel demanded, even had I been inclined to play the coward. I did, however, give him a small sum to keep him quiet for a few days, promising him all he asked as soon as I could convert some of my holdings.

"I hoped in the interim to get possession of the record and thus spike his guns. But in that I failed; and so, when he threatened to tell you everything I agreed to bring the money to his home late last Saturday night.

"I kept the appointment, with the full intention of killing him. I was careful about entering, but he had helped me by explaining when and how I could get in without being seen. Once there, I wasted no time. The first moment he was off his guard I seized him—and glared in the act. Then, locking the door and taking the key, I walked out of the house quite openly, and returned here to the club—That's all, I think."

Vance was watching him musingly.

"So when you raised my bet last night," he said, "the amount represented a highly important item in your exchequer."

Spotswoode smiled faintly.

"It represented practically every cent I had in the world."

"Astounding!" And would you mind if I asked you why you selected the label of Beethoven's Andante for your record?"

"Another miscalculation," the man said wearily. "It occurred to me that if any one should, by any chance, open the phonograph before I could return and destroy the record, he wouldn't be as likely to want to hear the classic as he would a more popular selection."

"And one who detests popular music had to find it! I fear, Mr. Spotswoode that an unkind fate sat in your game. If I were religiously inclined I might talk poppycock about retribution and divine punishment."

"I'd like to ask you about the jewelry," said Markham. "It's not sportsmanlike to do it, and I wouldn't suggest it, except that you've already confessed voluntarily to the main points at issue."

"I shall take no offense at any question you desire to ask, sir," Spotswoode answered. "After I had recovered my letters from the document-box, I turned the rooms upside down to give the impression of a burglary—being careful to use gloves, of course. And I took the woman's jewelry for the same reason.

"Parenthetically, I had paid for most of it. I offered it as a sop to Skeel, but he was afraid to accept it; and finally I decided to rid myself of it. I wrapped it in one of the club newspapers, and threw it in a waste-bin near the Platoon Building."

"You wrapped it in the morning Herald," put in Heath. "Did you know that Pop Cleaver reads nothing but the Herald?"

"Sergeant!" Vance's voice was a cutting reprimand. "Certainly Mr. Spotswoode was not aware of that fact—else he would not have selected the Herald."

Spotswoode smiled at Heath with pitying contempt. Then, with an appreciative glance at Vance, he turned back to Markham.

"An hour or so after I had disposed of the jewels I was assailed by the fear that the package might be found and the paper traced. So I bought another Herald and put it on the rack. He paused. "Is that all?"

Markham nodded.

"Thank you—that's all, except that I must now ask you to go with these officers."

"In that case," said Spotswoode quietly, "there's a small favor I have to ask of you, Mr. Markham. Now that the blow has fallen, I wish to write a certain note—to my wife.

"But I want to be alone when I write it. Surely you understand that desire. It will take but a few moments. Your men may stand at the door—I can't very well escape. The victor can afford to be generous to that extent."

Before Markham had time to reply Vance stepped forward and touched his arm.

"I trust," he interposed, "that you won't deem it necessary to refuse Mr. Spotswoode's request."

Markham looked at him hesitantly. "I guess you've pretty well earned the right to dictate, Vance," he acquiesced.

"Then he ordered Heath and Smitkin to wait outside in the hall, and he and Vance and I went into the adjoining room. Markham stood, as if on guard, near the door; but Vance, with an ironical smile, sauntered to the window and gazed out into Madison Square.

"My word, Markham!" he declared. "There's something rather colossal about that chap. You know, one can't help admiring him. He's so eminently sane and logical."

Markham made no response. The drone of the city's mid-afternoon noises muffled by the closed windows, seemed to intensify the ominous silence of the tiny bedchamber where we waited.

Then came a sharp report from the outer room.

Markham flung open the door. Heath and Smitkin were already rushing toward Spotswoode's prostrate body, and were bending over it when Markham entered. Immediately he wheeled about and glared at Vance, who now appeared in the doorway.

"He's shot himself!"

"Fancy that," said Vance.

"You—you knew he was going to do that?" Markham spluttered.

"It was rather obvious, don't you know?"

Markham's eyes flashed angrily.

"And you deliberately interposed for him—to give him the opportunity?"

"Tut, tut, my dear fellow!" Vance reproached him. "Pray don't give way to conventional moral indignation. However unethical—theoretically—it may be to take another's life, a man's own life is certainly his to do with as he chooses. Suicide is his inalienable right. And under the paternal tyranny of our modern democracy, I'm rather inclined to think it's about the only right he has left, what?"

He glanced at his watch and frowned.

"D'ye know, I've missed my concert, bothering with your beastly affairs," he complained amiably, giving Markham an engaging smile; "and now you're actually scolding me. Pardon my word, old fellow, you're decidedly ungrateful!"

STUDEBAKER engineering genius has increased the new Dictator's horsepower from 45 to 70 and added to its speed. But its cost to you has not been increased. And the new Dictator engine is actually more economical of gasoline than ever before. It delivers a perfectly paced 65-miles-an-hour—accelerates like a rocket—possesses the flexibility of the finest 6-cylinder construction.

Lubricate only every 2500 miles

Studebaker engineers have also eliminated the necessity of oil change but once every 2500 miles. Chassis greasing has been reduced to 2500-mile intervals through a unique system of magazine high-pressure lubrication.

Engineering genius and traditional quality

Throughout its design the new Dictator is the product of advanced engineering development—yet its One-Price price is still only $1195, f. o. b. factory, and it bears a famous name—Studebaker—the highest guarantee of motor car excellence!

Proof of the new Dictator's advanced performance was established when a stock Dictator sedan traveled 24 continuous hours at better than mile-a-minute speed. No stock car under $1400 has ever equaled this record.

40-mile speed even when new

Due to advanced engineering practices, precision building, high quality materials and rigid inspections which this new Dictator receives, it can be driven 40-miles-per-hour the day it is delivered. No laborious 20-mile-an-hour breaking-in.

WELCOME TO PAMPA

This city is the county seat of Gray county. But while enthusiasm naturally was aroused by reason of the effort made to move the county capital here, Pampa is not gloating over the results.

PAMPA HANGS OUT THE WELCOME SIGN TO ALL GRAY COUNTY.

In presenting her advantages as a prospective county seat, Pampa contended that the county would be better served here. The city now proposes to demonstrate that this is true. Her full facilities are freely offered.

While the present arrangement leaves some things to be desired, it is fortunate that so well suited temporary quarters could be obtained on short notice. Until more permanent steps can be taken, we feel sure that the county officials will find their surroundings wholly acceptable.

Pampa holds no resentment for those who voted with their neighbors in a spirit of community rivalry. On the contrary, it is realized that had local people been similarly situated, they would have done likewise. People everywhere are very much alike.

These facts being true, it behooves all to conduct themselves as good friends and neighbors.

Pampa welcomes Judge Willis and his district court, all of the county officials, and all who may come to Pampa as the county seat. Again we say, Welcome, let us serve you.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—One observes with something akin to indignation that at least one congressman who throws large and popular annual liquor parties here for his friends voted Bureau's policy of using poison in favor of the Prohibitionists to make alcohol unfit for beverage purposes.

The question doubtless will go unanswered whether this gent was thinking more of the votes back home than of the health of his friends or whether it's just that he is confident of his source of supply. Probably the latter, as no one reported sick after the last party.

The large signs jutting out into the corridor which advertise the offices of the Senators Walsh, Tom of Montana and Dave of Massachusetts, do not indicate any lack of modesty. Other senators are content with minute bronze plates with their last names and abbreviations of their states, the same being hard to read.

But Senator Dave moved from the third to the fourth floor of the Senate Office Building and took an office about two doors from Senator Tom's. So many of Senator Dave's callers wandered in on Senator Tom and so many of Senator Tom's callers were ushered in to Senator Dave that their secretaries decided to erect signs large enough to end the confusion.

This Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York is doing a great deal to aid the reputation of Tammany Hall in Washington. Wagner, who delivered his maiden speech on his resolution for an investigation of unemployment, which was promptly ordered, determined at the outset to be a real senator and master his job as soon as it could be done. Early in the session one found him reading such information volumes as "The American Government," "The American Senate," and "The Condition of Agriculture in the United States and Measures for Its Improvement." He had gained a wealth of legislative experience in Albany, but he frankly admitted that he was down here to learn the science of government.

Should Al Smith begin to tackle national issues in his campaign for the presidency, Wagner will be one of his most important advisers. Wagner is on the Military Affairs, Public Lands, Interstate Commerce and Banking and Currency committees and attends all their meetings unless they conflict with each other. One hears that he studies national problems several hours every night.

TWINKLES

And Anxious Hubby wants to know the exact amount of diplomacy in the form of "How much I miss you," and "Don't shorten your visit for my sake" phrases should a married man put in his letters to his wife in order that her visit with her mother may be extended as long as possible without arousing any suspicions.

An English inventor has attached a trousers-press to the back of a chair. A man that smart ought to invent a chair without any legs to stump one's toes on.

It may have been an irony of fate that when a Budapest lecturer concluded his talk on Socrates by drinking hemlock his pupils were asleep and missed the point.

Perhaps the meaning in the world is of that which gives farm animals names likely to be had also by pretty girl visitors. Fortunately, motors seldom have such cognomens.

Today's figures: He was the kind of man a traveling salesman likes to corner by the stove.

The Wife Wins

When the Cleveland Indians told Harold MacKain, rookie hurler from the Mississippi Valley League, that he couldn't bring his wife to the Indians' training camp at New Orleans, MacKain said: "No wife—no pitcher!" He left camp. Here are Mrs. MacKain, above, and MacKain, who are again at home in Council Bluffs, Iowa, waiting for the Cleveland officials to relent in their decision.

Coming Amateurs Matched in Card by Athletic Club

Another amateur night will feature the Pampa Athletic club boxing card tomorrow. Several better boys than were seen in action last amateur night have been matched. The main event is especially of high calibre.

Johnnie Cable, 163 pounds, of Oklahoma City, a fast stepper and a hard hitter with a string of knockouts to his credit, will meet Kid Cochran, the Omaha Wildcat, also a tough, hard hitting boy, in the main go. On account of the hard-hitting ability of the boys the bout is scheduled to go six rounds but either is apt to finish it in less time.

The six round semi-final sees Roughhouse Thompson and Tuffy Graham in action. Thompson is a worthy opponent for the slugging Pampa boy and a second headliner is the result. Graham had an easy bout last Monday night, but is in training this week for a hard bout.

Two new boys will feature the four-round special event. Jack Kramer of Memphis, Tenn., and Charley Watson of Borger are the two. They come highly recommended as fast, clean boxers of ability.

In the first preliminary, O. D. the newsboy is in for a battle when he comes up against Sonny Jackson, a Pacific coast boy, who is in the class of the fighting newsboy and has been beating all comers.

Battling Rutledge of Altus and Kid Kyler of Pampa will be the other two boys seen in action tomorrow night. The bouts will commence at 8:30 o'clock.

Ladies' Day at A's Camp

Not all the good ball tossers in the Athletics' camp at Fort Myer, Fla., are hirelings of Connie Mack. Some of them are the good-looking wives of the Athletic stars. #### CARRIED TO SAFETY

ALBANY, N. Y., March 17.—(P)—Two hundred patients were carried to safety down ladders, fire escapes and elevators here today within 20 minutes after fire started on the upper floor of the memorial hospital. A nurse failing to strike a life net squarely in her leap from an upper floor, was hurt seriously. One patient leaped into the net without injury, while several jumped from lower floor windows. The latter was believed to have suffered

Girl Marries Hindu.

BARWAHA, India, March 17.—(P)—Nancy Ann Miller of Seattle and Tukoji Rao, former Maharajah of Indore, were married here today with the prolonged but richly picturesque ceremonies of Hinduism. The rites, solemn in their performance but rather tiring in their detail, contrasted strongly with the simple marriage ceremony of western lands.

The elaborate wedding ritual of Hinduism was supplemented by several preliminary ceremonies which were necessary to bring Miss Miller into the same caste as the bridegroom and otherwise conform to Hindu practice. She was first admitted to the dhanagar caste and then adopted by Princess Tarabai, who in turn gave her official of the bridegroom's household, in adoption to Colonel Lambhart, as so that he in turn might give her in marriage.

WHEAT PRICES UP

CHICAGO, March 17.—(P)—Unexpected scantiness of wheat supplies in country mills and elevators brought crowds of brokers back to the wheat pit today, and swung the market upward. Meanwhile, corn rose to fresh top price records for the season but fell off under heavy profit taking. Rye finished at the highest level yet for the present crop.

FOR OLD IRELAND

NEW YORK, March 17.—(P)—Sons and daughters of the Emerald Isle marched up Fifth Avenue today in a colorful procession, the climax of many celebrations in honor of Ireland's patron saint.

Fire Siren Fails While Frozen Friday

For the first time since being installed, the large fire siren failed to respond Friday afternoon. The heavy rain and sleet of the afternoon froze the fans and when a call was received at 6 o'clock the siren on the new truck was pressed into service and was found unsatisfactory for cises in members.

The call was received from the home of L. J. Starkey, in the Hillcrest addition, where an overheated vent from a gas heater under the water tank in the bathroom had ignited the roof of the residence. A slight amount of water was used to put out the fire, no damage being done except a small hole burned in the roof.

This is the third fire of its kind in the last two months and the matter of defective plumbing has been reported to the city manager by the fire chief. The city ordinance allows the vent pipe to pierce the ceiling, but not necessarily go through the roof of a residence, thus causing a fire trap.

BRICK WORK IS TO START ON MODEL HOME MONDAY

Details Are Completed on the Interior Furnishings and Arrangement

TO BE OPEN FOR INSPECTION WITHIN FOUR WEEKS—PUBLIC IS INVITED.

The New Model Home on North Frost Street is going up rapidly and now gives a very definite idea of the beauty of design which is being built into the home. The new oak-bark brick, which is being furnished by the Vernon-Williams company of Amarillo, was unloaded yesterday and work on laying it will begin Monday morning.

The combination brown and green thatch roof will be put on the first of the week. The materials, the only ones obtainable in this part of the country, have arrived and will be a creditable covering for the Model Home.

Screens for the home have been bought from the Agee Screen company of Fort Worth and Amarillo. The Agee company has furnished many large buildings in Pampa and the Panhandle with the necessary screens.

Lighting fixtures have been selected and will be installed soon. Each room has its individual color scheme carried out by the furniture, wall coverings and lighting fixtures. An Atwater Kent Radio, furnished by the Frank Davis Electric company will be a feature of the home's furnishings.

The home is located in the fourth block north of the high school on Frost street on the east side of the street. Mr. Symonds, designer and builder invites the public to drive out and see it at any time. It is planned to hold a formal opening for three days when it is completed giving plenty of time for inspection.

Proration Plan For Winkler Now Nearly Finished

FORT WORTH, March 17.—(P)—A plan for prorating of over-production in Winkler county, termed the most stupendous field yet brought to light in Texas, was incomplete at the end of an entire day's conference here of members of the advisory committee to the Texas Railroad commission.

The next session is subject to call of the chairman, R. D. Parker, chief supervisor of the oil and gas division of the Railroad commission. Parker indicated that it would probably be held at Austin Friday or Saturday, the intervening time being spent in solution of certain problems appearing. The discussion Saturday indicated that members of the committee were, in the majority, in favor of the proration method outlined at a conference of Winkler county producers in Fort Worth Thursday.

This provided for the adoption of a forty-acre producing unit as basis of prorating and the division of the entire outlet by trunk pipe line between the number of units of production, on equal basis. Producers also asked the recognition of existing contracts and special provision made for them. This was the snag which held up progress today, the point being raised that this provision would, in case of certain contracts, call for an allowed production on certain units which would, during their life, force neighboring lease owners into a large storage program and defeat one of the principal objects of the effort. However, at the end of the day, members of the committee expressed the belief that they were on the way to a solution of this difficulty.

From 1914 to 1917, Mr. Cary was in the Philippine Islands in the government educational service, from which he resigned to return to America to enlist when war was declared.
