FIREMEN INJURED ON WAY TO BLAZING BARN

Girl Strikers Satirize 5 and 10 Heiress

Between counters loaded with 10-cent merchandise, girl employees of the main Woolworth 5-and-10 store in Detroit romped and sang songs which gaily satirized Countess von Haugwitz-Reventlow, the former Barbara Hutton, Woolworth heiress and formerly "the richest girl in the world." Five of the strikers are pictured here. Meantime, the strike leaders threatened to extend the "sit-down" throughout the entire Woolworth system, demanded more pay, shorter hours. The 150 girls in this Detroit store, and a dozen in another, ate at the store's fountain, slept on mattresses dragged into the aisles.

STEEL OWNERS ASK AFL HEAD TO AID THEM

PITTSBURGH, March 5 (AP)—A committee of employe representatives from 18 mills of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation today asked William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, for assistance in a fight against the John L. Lewis industrial union.

The committee sent a telegram to the federation president at Washington seeking his counsel and advice on reorganization of the so-called "company union" system so that it might continue to function.

The Carnegie corporation last Tuesday extended formal recognition to the Lewis union and signed a year's contract agreeing to a 40-hour work week and a 10 cents an hour increase in wages.

Twenty-five employe delegates, constituting a general council representing workers in Pittsburgh district plants, earlier designated a grievance committee to act as an executive group to bargain with the corporation on hours, wages and working conditions. This grievance committee made the appeal to Green. Its chairman is Owen Jones, of Martins Ferry, O.

A spokesman for the representatives announced their action after a two day meeting called primarily to decide what form of reorganization would be chosen for the employe representative plan in the struggle for leadership of the workers.

It was announced that no decision had been reached on reorganizing the plan, but previously members hinted an independent union might be formed to contest Lewis' campaign.

COMPENSATION ASKED IN B. L. KEIM SUIT

A lawsuit to recover accident compensation for injuries received in an oilfield accident in October of 1935 was filed in district court today by B. L. Keim, Gray county, former employe of the Continental Oil Co.

Defendant in the action is Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co. Keim alleges in the petition that he was injured by a truck while employed on the Carey-Wright lease near LeFors. He seeks past due compensation from Oct. 22, 1935 at the rate of $15 a week and also asks further compensation at the same rate for 200 weeks from the date of his injuries.

Mother-In-Law Is Old Owl To Navajo Braves

GALLUP, N. M., March 5 (AP)—Mother-in-law may be queen in Texas today, but to Navajo Indian braves she is still "the old owl" to be avoided with more fear than the very "chindi"—devil.

And it's no joke to the Navajos, either. Blindness and death, they firmly believe, are the twin penalties for son-in-law and mother-in-law who may chance even to see each other.

To avoid a surprise meeting, the watch-word when a mother-in-law approaches is "here comes the old owl." Son-in-law departs in haste.

This taboo—one of the most stringent in the tribe's religion—is so ancient that Indian students have been unable to fathom its origin.

The Navajos also believe that when a mother-in-law dies, her spirit enters the body of a bear. For this reason, the tribesmen will kill a bear only upon utmost provocation, and after a lengthy apology to the offending spirit.

It's all right for white men to kill bears, though. In fact, the Navajos encourage it.

Tack Started It. AMARILLO, March 5 (AP)—Ha, ha, remember that joke about the farmer whose horse ran away and killed his mother-in-law?

"Why," said the farmer, "every married man for miles around tried to borrow that horse."

Don't tell that one in Texas! Not today, brother. Not today.

This is mother-in-law day in the Lone Star State. Gene Howe, the self-styled "Tactless Texan," started it. Remember Gene? He's the editor who brought down a boy out of himself in 1928 by writing that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had a "swelled head." Later he apologized. In 1929 he criticized Mary Garden as tottering with age. The opera singer replied in kind. Later they became friends.

Then he referred in light vein to his mother-in-law as "the standing army." Gene hadn't meant any offense. But she was hurt. So she started a mother-in-law day four years ago.

Said the son of Ed Howe, "the sage of Potato Hill," in explanation: "Alfred Proclaims Day.

"An angel of a woman does not become a shrew and busybody or a devil in skirts and a homewrecker who marries... The greatest asset who marries... The greatest asset a young couple can have is a mother-in-law."

Governor James V. Allred ruled the idea official for the whole state—and that takes in a lot of mothers-in-law.

In Amarillo alone approximately 1,000 women are duly registered with letters of recommendation from their children's mates. First they are going to a free luncheon today. Then to a tree show.

Many Amarillo merchants have some free merchandise ready for them. Next year the nation's No. 1 mother-in-law, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, is to be invited by Howe to the festivities.

Maybe he'll give her an introduction.

NEW YORK IS DESCRIBED AS VICIOUS CITY

CONTEMPT POKED AT BOTH MAYOR AND GOVERNOR

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—The United States apologized to Germany today for remarks made recently by Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York about Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

The state department said that James C. Dunn, chief of the division of western European affairs, in an oral statement to Dr. Hans Thomsen, counselor of the German embassy, said, in substance:

"The German government through its embassy here makes complaint against certain utterances of Honorable Fiorello LaGuardia in a public address at the Hotel Astor in New York on March 3, stating that such utterances seriously and severely reflect upon the head of the German state and the German government. "In this country the right of freedom of speech is guaranteed by the constitution to every citizen and is cherished as a part of the national heritage. This, however, does not lessen the regret of the government when utterances either by private citizens or by public officials speaking in an individual capacity give offense to a government with which we have official relations. "I very earnestly deprecate the utterances which have thus given offense to the German government. They do not represent the attitude of this government toward the German government. It is our policy to conduct the official relation with other nations upon a basis of complete and mutual respect for the rights and sensibilities of each other."

BERLIN, March 5 (AP)—The United States embassy today transmitted to Washington a full report on strictures against Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia and "crime conditions" in New York, appearing in Der Angriff, the newspaper of Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, German minister of propaganda and public enlightenment.

The embassy made no comment on its report, forwarded to the state department.

STEEL WAGE HIKE IS PASSED TO CONSUMER

PITTSBURGH, March 5 (AP)—United States Steel, two billion dollar giant of the booming steel industry, passed along to the consumer today the wage increase it granted employes three days ago.

William A. Irvin, president of the March 16 will receive a 10 per cent pay boost for a 40-hour week, said sharp rises in supplies and raw materials" also had their part in advancing prices $3 to $8 a ton, effective today.

The epochal wage agreement signed Tuesday by Benjamin F. Fairless, president of Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation—U. S. Steel's biggest subsidiary—reduced the work week eight hours and provided time and a half pay for overtime.

Typical increases included standard rails from $39 to $42.50 a ton and sheet bars from $34.50 to $37.50 a ton.

Financial circles foresaw the announcement as presaging a general increase throughout the industry.

Waiters Out $17,730 On Demo Dinner

BY EDDY GILMORE. WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—A group of mathematically-minded waiters eyed today the stacks of dirty dishes from last night's $100-a-plate Democratic victory dinner and calculated they were out just $17,730.

"Let's see," said a big red-faced vituals-juggler, "1,800 eaters at $100 a head adds up to $180,000."

"And—" he continued "what's a gentleman's tip supposed to be?"

"Ten per cent," chorused the others.

"O. K.," said the leader, "ten per cent of $180,000 is $18,000."

If there are 300 waiters that's 60 bucks apiece. How much did you get, Joe?"

"Forty-five cents," said Joe. "Well," reasoned the leader, "everybody didn't do that bad. Say we got an average of fifteen cents a head, that's $270."

He paused to drive home his punch line.

"Which means," he said slowly, "we lost $17,730 on the victory dinner."

"Whose victory?" asked the little fellow they called Joe.

GAMBLING ON HORSES IN TEXAS APPEARS DOOMED

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP)—The fate of legalized betting on horse racing in Texas was balanced today and the scale tipped heavily toward repeal.

A big majority of both Houses of the legislature was on record as favoring killing the statute which four years ago authorized the certificate system of wagering and "crime conditions" in New York, appearing in Der Angriff, the newspaper of Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, German minister of propaganda and public enlightenment.

TESTIMONY HEARD IN CONTESTED DIVORCE

District court activities today centered around the hearing of testimony in a contested divorce action in which Mrs. Gertrude Walker, Pampa nurse, is seeking the breaking of marital bonds with Earl Walker, oil field man.

The divorce petition accuses the defendant of striking Mrs. Walker with his fist on two occasions. The action was filed last Dec. 31.

Mrs. Walker is being represented in court by Attorneys John P. Sturgeon and Walter Rogers, and Mr. Walker by Judge Newton P. Willis.

Experts Praise 'Balloon Barrage'

LONDON, March 5 (AP)—Military experts today stressed the "balloon barrage" as one of the most efficient of modern weapons against an attacking airplane fleet.

The balloon barrage consists of a series of kite balloons which support steel cables. From the cables hangs a screen of wires.

Any contact with these wires, however slight, is said to be enough to wreck an airplane or cause a pilot to lose control of his machine. The idea was tested, with success, at Paris during the World war.

FREEDOM WILL NOT WAIT IS FDR'S OPINION

CONTRADICTORY ON COURT PLAN UNLIKELY, SPEECH HINTS

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt's warning that decisions by the present Supreme Court endanger democracy intensified today the dispute over his judiciary program and virtually dispelled hopes for compromise.

Congressional leaders viewed his determination to carry the issue to the people as heralding an historic struggle to reorganize the court, not because of his burdens, but frankly to encourage interpretations of the constitution more in accord with the administration objectives.

Addressing the $100-plate Democratic "victory dinner" here last night, the President declared sharply:

"Economic freedom for the wage earner and the farmer and the small business man will not wait, like emancipation, for 40 years. "It will not wait for four years. "It will not wait at all."

His words were nearly drowned by cheers from the more than 1,500 party enthusiasts.

Mr. Roosevelt told his audience what he has been saying to members of congress, that he aspires to no third term in 1940.

His ambition, he said, is to turn over to his successor "a nation intact, a nation at peace, a nation prosperous, a nation clear in its knowledge of what powers it has to serve its own citizens, a nation that is in a position to use these powers to the full in order to move forward steadily to meet the modern needs of humanity—a nation which has thus proved that the democratic form and mode of national government can and will succeed."

Mr. Roosevelt described the American form of government—the executive, legislative and judicial—as a three horse team.

Without mentioning the Supreme Court—he did not mention it at any time—he said three horses working together could plough a field.

"If one horse lies down in the traces or plunges off in another direction, the field will not be ploughed," he proceeded cryptically.

He spoke of how the AAA and NRA, the Guffey coal act, the first rail-road retirement act "were successively outlawed as the child labor statute had been outlawed 20 years before."

"You know who assumed the power to veto, and did veto that program," he reiterated after mentioning each law.

Recalling the decision which ended NRA regulation of hours and wages and the subsequent decision against a state wage law, he said these declared no legal power existed for the nation "to deal with its most difficult problems—a no man's land of final futility."

"Furthermore," he continued, raising his hand for silence, "for I'm not through yet, court injunctions have paralyzed the machinery which we created by the labor relations

Connally Is Debated By Texas House

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP)—The Texas House of Representatives voted today, 51 to 50, to print President Roosevelt's address last night ahead of that of the United States Senator Tom Connally of Marlin here Monday. Connally spoke against the Presidential court plan.

Pep Paris Smith of Bay City opposed the motion on grounds it was unfair to the senator, saying Connally had insulted Connally was a "Jeffersonian Democrat."

Argument started on a resolution to pay a stenographer $12.50 for transcribing Connally's talk. After the resolution had been adopted, Dr. J. C. Davis of Rule moved to print the President's speech in the same journal with that of the senator. An effort to table his motion failed. Rep. Virgil A. Fieldon of Mount Pleasant then moved to place the President's talk first.

"Economic freedom for the wage earner and the farmer and the small business man will not wait, like emancipation, for 40 years. "It will not wait for four years. "It will not wait at all."

His words were nearly drowned by cheers from the more than 1,500 party enthusiasts.

Rift Between AFL And CIO

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON—Breach between American Federation of Labor and the committee for industrial organization widens.

CLEVELAND—C.I.O. sympathizers chase A.F.O.L. organizers from entrances of General Motors' Fisher Body plant.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—2,000 truck drivers rally agreement ending three-day Rhode Island strike; promised wage boost, 48-hour week, closed shop.

AKRON, O.—10,000 rubber workers idle in Firestone Tire & Rubber co. dispute.

NEW YORK—Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors, tells employes the corporation will bargain with all employe groups, limiting C. I. O. representation to its own members.

DETROIT—Settle strikes in two auto parts plants; negotiators seek compromises in many other sit-down strikes.

By The Associated Press The unionization drive of the committee for industrial organization encountered mounting opposition today from the American Federation of Labor and employe groups.

Indicative of the A. F. O. L.'s determination to halt the advance of John L. Lewis' followers was an order to fight the C. I. O. shoe workers organization campaign in New England.

The A. F. O. L. units responded to President William Green's call to battle. The Maryland State Federation of Labor ordered city central bodies to suspend Lewis locals. The Cleveland central body suspended unions affiliated with the C. I. O.

Opposition to the C. I. O. from employe groups to the steel industry crystallized at a meeting in Pittsburgh. Partisans of the so-called "company unions," comprising a defense committee of employe representatives, mapped plans for combating the C. I. O. unionization drive among the nation's 550,000 steel workers.

Several A. F. O. L. organizers who solicited employes of the General Motors' Fisher body plant in Cleveland were chased from plant entrances by a group of 200 C. I. O. sympathizers.

At New York, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors, said the corporation will regard the C. I. O. union as bargaining agent only for its members and would

CAR WRECKED AND 2 YOUTHS CUT, BRUISED

BUILDING ON FURNEAUX RANCH SAVED BY FIREMEN

Two members of the Pampa Volunteer fire department, Albert Hollenbeck and Andy Walker, miraculously escaped death about 7:30 o'clock last night when their car overturned 15 miles south of Pampa while they were en route to a fire. Hollenbeck, owner and driver of the car, suffered serious cuts and bruises but no broken bones. Walker was less seriously injured although badly cut and bruised.

The two volunteers were driving along the fire truck, operated by Fireman George Christopher with Driver Calvin Dittmore his companion, when their car failed to make a turn and overturned into a narrow pit. Walker and Hollenbeck were placed on the truck which started back to Pampa. A passing motorist came along and volunteered to bring the injured men to Pampa while the truck proceeded to the fire. The car was almost demolished.

After placing their injured companions on the truck which started back to Pampa, a passing motorist came along and volunteered to bring the injured men to Pampa while the truck proceeded to the fire. The car was almost demolished.

Flames shot from the building through the opening but were soon placed under control. The fire was confined to siding in the lower portion of one side of the barn, a corrugated building with board side about eight feet high.

Firemen said the fire probably started from a hot iron foot which had been stored in the barn some time ago. Although the fire fighters stayed on the job until nearly 1 o'clock this morning, the feed continued to smoulder. It will be necessary to move it from the barn, a job which will require several days to complete.

Yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock the fire department received a call to 323 South Ballard street where the Cleavenger truck barn and three trucks were on fire. Quick work in extinguishing 600 feet of hose and getting water to the burning building kept the trucks and all the building from being destroyed. The building is owned by Clowe & Cowan of Amarillo.

Cause of the fire has not been determined. Fire Chief Ben White reported today. Damage also has not been estimated.

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP)—The Senate began consideration today of an enabling act for the constitutional amendment adopted last year authorizing retirement of Texas school teachers. ## BLACK-DRAUGHT For Clean System Helps To Prevent Sickness

One of the advantages of Black-Draught is that, if it is taken at the first disagreeable feeling of constipation, one or two doses usually bring relief. Prompt relief, such as that, is well worth while. Constipation is too dangerous to be neglected.

"A clean system for health" plan has saved thousands of people much useless sickness. They keep a package of Black-Draught in the family medicine cabinet and take this purely vegetable laxative at the first sign of constipation. They say the relief it brings is mighty hard to beat.

Find out, by trying it, why so many people prefer Black-Draught when it comes to buying a laxative.

MUNI, RAINER WIN HIGHEST MOVIE HONORS

GARY COOPER IN MR. DEEDS FAILS TO PLACE

HOLLYWOOD, March 5 (AP)—The Academy awards for motion picture greatness were in the possession today of Paul Muni, stage and screen veteran, and Luise Rainer, comparative newcomer from Vienna.

The two highest honors of the academy of motion picture arts and sciences were presented at a gala affair last night.

Muni's performance in the title role of "The Story of Louis Pasteur" was adjudged by Academy members the best work done by a motion picture actor in 1936.

Miss Rainer, as the glamorous Anna Held in "The Great Ziegfeld," won the corresponding prize for actresses.

The customary storm of controversy did not develop when these winners were announced.

Critics generally were of the opinion that Spencer Tracy as the priest in "San Francisco" ran Muni the closest race, and that had he been placed in the category of supporting actor competition he might have won that hands down.

The other three nominations for best actor were Gary Cooper, Walter Huston, and William Powell, appearing respectively in "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," "Dodsworth" and "My Man Godfrey."

Pitted against Miss Rainer were Irene Dunn in "Theodora Goes Wild," Gladys George in "Valiant Is the Word for Carrie," Carole Lombard in "My Man Godfrey," and Norma Shearer in "Romeo and Juliet."

Frank Capra, whose work is characterized by deft lightness and slightly mad whimsy, won the award for direction for the second consecutive year, for his comedy hit, "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," last year he scored with "It Happened One Night."

"The production award of merit for 'The Great Ziegfeld' aroused, perhaps, the most argument by 'experts.' Some thought that 'Dodsworth,' 'Mr. Deeds Goes to Town,' or 'The Story of Louis Pasteur' would have been a happier choice.

Walter Brennan, as Swede Bottom in "Come and Get It," was selected as the best supporting actor of the year and Gale Sondergaard, the shrewish, canny Faith in "Anthony Adverse," was the outstanding supporting actress.

Walter Disney, with his Mickey Mouse "Country Cousin," won the best cartoon award for the fifth consecutive year. A special award, last year given to David Wark Griffith, pioneer film producer, was bestowed upon "The March of Time," screen news feature.

ETERNAL LIFE THROUGH CHRIST.
Text: John 14:1-5.
BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of Advance.
We have seen how the shadow of death and of destiny was already over the circle of disciples, as Jesus, in mystic words, spoke concerning His mission and its fulfillment thru sorrow and sacrifice.
The disciples undoubtedly must have been puzzled by words that they could not quite understand; and it must also have been a keen disappointment to them to be told that the kingdom that they supposed was going to be realized in earthly power and glory was in reality to be established through loss and sacrifice.
It was to disciples in this puzzled state of mind that Jesus expressed the words of our lesson, "Let not your heart be troubled." The remaining portion of that verse may be variously translated as "Ye believe in God, believe also in me"; or as a two-fold exhortation, "Believe in God, believe also in me."
Jesus spoke to the disciples in parables or in symbols. He speaks of mansions in His Father's house. He speaks of a place that He is going to prepare for the disciples, and He speaks of coming again and receiving them unto Himself. He speaks of a way that He is going that the disciples know.
Was it any wonder that Thomas spoke out very plainly and said, "Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how know we the way?" It was this word of Thomas that brought the reply of Jesus, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life." Jesus centers the great hope of life and immortality around Himself. There are certain things that He suggests the disciples could take for granted. If these mansions above, the reality of the eternal life, did not really exist, He would have told them.

Is not that essentially true as we read the story of Jesus and His earthly life among the disciples? If they could not find the evidence of God's presence and of eternal life in what the Master was for them, what further proof could there be? Philip, somewhat troubled like Thomas, was still anxious to have certain matters cleared up. Despite the word of Jesus that He had revealed the Father, Philip said, "Lord, show us the Father, and it sufficeth us."

What could Jesus reply to that, except to say: "Believe me that I am in the Father, or else believe me for the very works' sake." That is, He said in effect to Philip, "If you have not found the reality of the Father's love and grace in me, then I have lived among you in vain."

Where does this lead? Right back to the love that we have seen emphasized in the preceding lesson. "If ye love me," says Jesus, "ye will keep my commandments." It is in response to the love of Christ that the message of Christ is revealed, and that one is led to see in Jesus the earthly manifestation of a loving God and Father. If one cannot find the evidence of God and the way of God in Jesus, where can he find God?

GEISHA GIRL CHOOSES DEATH TO NUDE RITES

OSAKA, Japan, Mar. 5 (AP)—A beautiful 22-year-old geisha girl chose death today rather than join her sister sit-down strikers in nude rites of purification within the sacred precincts of a Buddhist temple.
The geisha girls, barricaded within the temple precincts on Mount Shin-ki, rose before dawn, stripped off their nightgowns and plunged into an open air bath of freezing water in ritualistic purification before praying for success of their strike against exploitation.
But modest Fukuko Miyamoto slipped away from her sisters and went secretly down the mountain to a city where she took poison.
While Fukuko was stealing silently to the death her modesty dictated, her colleagues marched before the director of police and petitioned him to organize an independent geisha guild.
On that condition only, they declared, would they return to their nightly jobs of entertaining Osaka's tired business men.

Illness Fatal to Canadian Resident

Mrs. Dan Witt was elected president for next year of the P. E. O. club at a luncheon the first of the week. Mrs. Frank Phillips was initiated to membership.
A manufacturing census shows an average of 62,139 wage earners were employed in Missouri in 1935. Wages totaled $159,499,550.
The National Resources Committee has estimated about $8,000,000 would be required to provide adequate water and sewage plants and water supplies for Oklahoma's cities and towns.

Golden Kid From Caribee Is Fistic Idol Of Gotham Fans

By SCOTTY RESTON.
 NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Pedro Vega Montanez, the golden kid from the Caribee, paced the floor of a 40th street hotel room today and told the fabulous story of his fistic wanderings.

His two managers, Lew Burston and Jimmy Bronson were the willing interpreters, though it could not be established that either Mr. Burston or Mr. Bronson knows a single word of Spanish.

In that mystic corner of Manhattan where Harlem tumbles carelessly into Little Spain, Montanez is the unofficial lightweight champion of the world. He is undefeated in 23 fights in this country. And even on Eighth avenue, where the ticket sellers are the final critics, Montanez is considered the most valuable piece of fighting machinery below the heavyweight class.

These facts being the justification for the story, here's the story:

 The boy was born in Cayey, Puerto Rico, 22 years ago, the son of Jewish-Spanish parents, who earn a precarious living trading cattle. He seems to have learned to fight in self defense.

"We just fight," he blurted in English, not understanding people who do not fight.

He remembers his first fight was in 1931, and that by 1933 he had exhausted the fighters of Puerto Rico. He went to Venezuela, then Spain, fought 11 bouts and won them all by knockouts. His fame reached Paris, where Burston was promoting fights, and the pair struck a bargain.

Burston took him to Italy to meet Carlos Orlandi, pride of that peninsula's lightweights, and Montanez beat him so badly Italian boxing authorities made Carlos quit the ring.

Finally Burston brought him to New York in 1935. Madison Square Garden authorities told him to go and get a record—and Montanez did.

In Little Spain, he became the idol.

Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers recently fought at a small club, and they paid off on $3,800. Soon afterward, Montanez fought at the same club, and the net was around $11,000.

Three weeks ago at the Garden, Freddie Steele and Babe Risko drew about $17,000 for a middleweight title fight. The following Friday, Montanez thrashed Enrico Venutri and the gate was $31,000.

Now Burston and Bronson are dickering for a match with Ambers, and if they don't get it, they are willing to step among the bigger boys and fight either Jimmy McLarnin or Barney Ross.

Plains Tennis Teams Will Compete Here On Saturday

Boys' tennis teams from the north Panhandle will meet here tomorrow in the first invitation meet of the season. Play will be under direction of B. G. Gordon. On next Saturday girls' teams will compete. Drawing for opponents will not take place until all teams have registered at the high school gymnasium. Play will begin on the courts at Central park at 9 a. m. and will be continuous throughout the day.

Pampa will have a full team entered in the tournament. Other schools expected to send players include LeFors, McLean, White Deer, Panhandle, Borger, Canadian, Miami, Perryton and probably others which have failed to notify Mr. Gordon.

Of the five sets of tennis courts started more than a year ago by the city, only one set of two courts has been finished. Could the others be completed, greater interest in tennis would be found.

Salmon Detour at Bonneville Dam

To protect the salmon industry, which yields $3,500,000 and supports 25,000 persons annually, this concrete "ladder" has been built to route the salmon around Bonneville dam on the Columbia River. Protests that the 72-foot dam would prevent the fish from moving upstream to spawn produced the idea. Although salmon have been known to clear 20-foot barriers, engineers are not certain the salmon will use this ladder, which requires jumps of less than a foot.

Training Camp News

(By The Associated Press)
HAVANA—Manager Bill Terry will give the New York Giants two "make-or-break" pitchers their first taste of training camp competition this week-end. He will use Hal Schumacher against the Havana club tomorrow and Carl Hubbell against Almendares Sunday.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—With Catcher Bill Dickey's contract signing and Pitcher Lefty Gomez's arrival in spring training camp, the New York Yankees' holdout troubles seem gradually disappearing. But Manager Joe McCarthy, who negotiated most of the last few contract squabbles, appears to have his hardest ahead—with Lou Gehrig, Red Ruffing and Joe DiMaggio.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—The young outfielder who created quite a stir among National league batters last season until he collided with a "beanball" in August is showing the Brooklyn Dodgers that the fractured skull which resulted has not affected his hitting eye. Little Eddie Wilson, who cost the Dodgers $300,000, banged out two hits in his first day's action since then.

PASADENA—Thornton Lee, 205-pound southpaw pitcher obtained by the Chicago White Sox in a three-cornered deal with Cleveland and Washington, will be starting hurler this season. O'Neill said he'd use Johnny Heving as a relief pitcher if the 32-year-old Kentuckian makes the grade.

CHICAGO—Manager Charlie Grimm already is planning to develop the big punch so lacking among his Cubs last year. Pitchers from the Los Angeles club, the Wrigley Pacific Coast league team, will do most of the throwing during the first two weeks of training which will be devoted largely to batting.

NEW ORLEANS—Manager Steve O'Neill sized up his Cleveland Indian pitchers today and came forth with a prediction the aging Earl Whitehill should win a dozen or 15 games this season. O'Neill said he'd use Johnny Heving as a relief pitcher if the 32-year-old Kentuckian makes the grade.

MEXICO CITY—Manager Connie Mack was impressed with the work of a rookie southpaw pitcher on the mound during part of a game the Philadelphia Athletics took from the Mexican Comitas, 12 to 3.

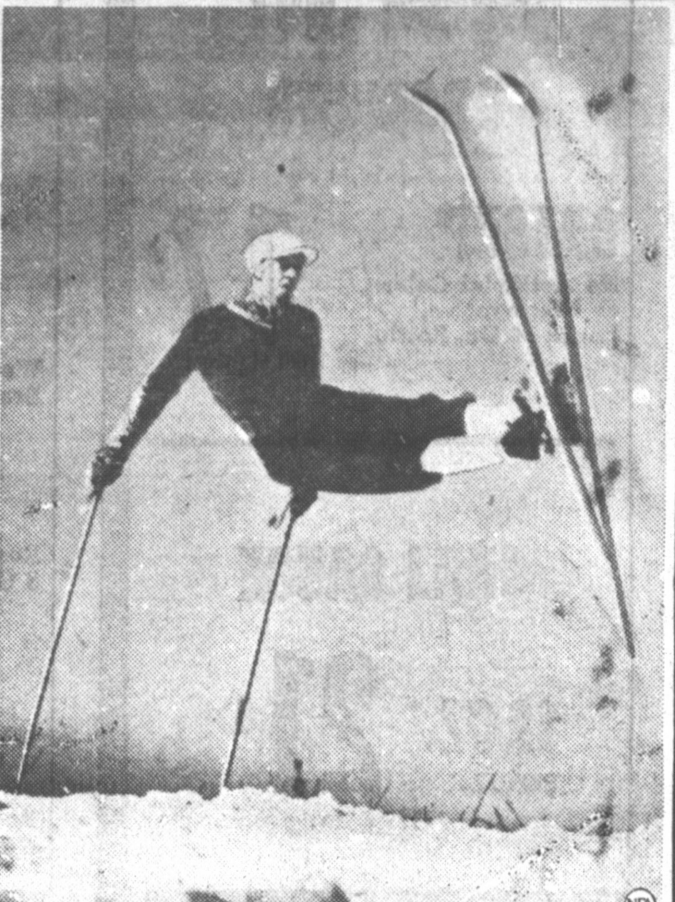

The rookie, Edgar Smith, struck out five Mexican players and did not allow a hit in three innings.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Again an aspiring rookie may try to block Marvin Owen, veteran regular, from playing third base for the Detroit Tigers. Manager Mickey Cochrane is cogitating over young Rudy York, slugging first baseman from Milwaukee, as a third-base possibility if Hank Greenberg's comeback has its promised success.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—Don Padgett, Columbus outfielder, is attracting Manager Frank Frisbie's attention in practice sessions of the Cardinals. The young rookie, a 6-foot-2 giant is fast and possesses a strong throwing arm.

ORLANDO, Fla.—Manager Bucky

2ND SCREWBALLING HUBBELL MAKES HIS BID FOR MAJORS

ARKANSAS CITY, Kas. (AP)—The Hubbells of Meeker, Okla., have another contribution for the majors—may be.

He is 19-year-old John Hubbell, right-handed screwball-pitching brother of Southpaw Carl, the New York Giants' master of the corkscrew delivery and the National league's "most valuable" of 1936.

With John in tow, Brother Carl went to the Giants' Havana training quarters making the announcement that he never had seen John pitch—and wanted to.

Carl declared that he had nothing to do with the Giants' interest in John, that a scout had seen and become impressed by John's sandlot moundmanship in this territory last summer.

King Carl pointed out that the Giants could not sign John because of the major-minor sandlot agreement but that Manager Bill Terry, sufficiently impressed, could slip John to the farm club at Greenwood, Miss., for further seasoning.

John's advancement to the big show would be no surprise to baseball fans hereabouts. They declare he won't stop short of the majors.

Becomes a Hero
 When the state champion Arkansas City Dubbs were looking for a pitcher to reinforce their mound staff last summer, they brought in quiet and unassuming young Hubbell and started him against the Duncan Cementers, runners-up in the 1935 national semi-pro tournament.

The Cementers had scored 20 runs on the Dubbs the evening before, as several pitchers paraded to the showers. Hubbell beat Duncan 2-0, allowing but three hits, striking out 13 and issuing no walks.

Immediately young Hubbell became the town hero. At the state tournament in Wichita, young Hubbell won three games, shutting out the opposition in the finals.

Hubbell was sitting in a local drug store last fall talking to a group of admiring fans.

"When Carl comes to Meeker in the winter," he said, "it's usually too cold for him to show me much. We often talk about pitching although he doesn't like to talk baseball during the winter.

"One spring we had some warm weather and we were playing a little catch. He showed me some finer points of the screwball. I have been working on it ever since."

Has An Assortment
 The younger Hubbell was probably the only sandlotter to use the screwball effectively. He also has a good fast ball and a late-breaking curve.

He has remarkable control and a good "pitching sense."

Six feet 1 inch tall, the same height as Carl, he scales 185—just 10 more than Carl. He played three years at Meeker high school where Carl once was a star.

After finishing high school in 1935 John played with a sandlot team at Watanga, Okla. He pitched two games with the Shawnee (Okla.) Blackwell Oilers last summer before joining the Dubbs.

Major league scouts, confusing him with another Hubbell brother, didn't make any offers at the state tournament, saying that he had failed to make good with several attempts as to what will happen Saturday afternoon in the $50,000 added, mile and a quarter Widener challenge cup at Hialeah park.

With the boost in added money from last year's $10,000 the second running of the closing day classic promises to threaten turnstile, betting and racing records.

The major share of pre-race attention is going to Finance, five-year-old bay gelding by Bull-Dog-Bourse, who will go into the race backed by four brilliant victories this winter and the amazing luck of Chicago's Mrs. Emil Denemark. As running partner, Finance will have the sturdy fillies, Two Bob and E. D. Shaffer's Floradora.

In all, 12 or 13 crack routers are expected to start, although nearly 20 have been regarded as possible candidates. Should an even dozen compete, the net value of the race would be approximately $65,000.

H. P. Headley's Whopper, largest horse in training and second to Finance when they met Saturday at even weights of 118 pounds, will command plenty of respect.

Should the track be heavy, such campaigners at Columbiana, Macriell, Count Morse, Two Bob, Count Arthur, Our Reigh, and Floradora would be right in their element.

State Basketball Tourney Will Start This Afternoon

AUSTIN, Mar. 5 (AP)—Eight regional championship quints, survivors of county, district and regional meets which started with 1,600 teams, start their contest for the state high school championship this afternoon.

Two faced elimination before nightfall and two later as all were entered in the first round of the University of Texas interscholastic league finals.

The semi-finals and finals were slated for tomorrow, the former in the morning and the latter, with a curtain-raiser clash for third place, at night.

Interscholastic league officials announced Governor James V. Alfred would award trophies to the winners. Referees named were T. W. "Ziggy" Sears and Ab Curtis of Fort Worth and L. R. "Dusty" Bogess of San Antonio, all southwest conference officials.

Only two big city cage outfits were included among the eight contenders—Polytechnic of Fort Worth and Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio. Carey of the Wichita Falls district was the only last year's aggregation to return.

First round schedule:
 2 p. m.—Dublin vs Carey.
 3:15 p. m.—Harlingen vs Polytechnic of Fort Worth.
 7:15 p. m.—Gober vs Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio.
 8:30 p. m.—Fort Stockton vs Livingston.

CHILDREN ENTERTAIN
 Veterans of Foreign Wars at their last meeting were entertained by children of members who gave an interesting and talented program of music and dances.

Joan Appelby opened the program with a reading. Mary Joe, Shellebarger then entertained with accordion numbers. John McColm rendered a solo and Marjory Gaylor gave a dance, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Kathryn Steele.

A business session followed the program.

GARDEN HITS BACK
 NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Beginning with a suit charging Champion Jim Braddock with "anticipation" breach of contract, Madison Square Garden will look around to see what other legal action will be necessary to uphold its side of the heavyweight muddle. The suit against Braddock will be filed next Wednesday or Thursday in federal court, the Garden's attorneys explain, in contention that his signing for a fight with Joe Louis in Chicago "threatened" breach of the contract he signed to meet Max Schmeling for the Garden June 3.

OLD AGE PENSIONS
 AUSTIN, March 5 (AP)—W. A. "Jack" Little, acting director, ordered old age assistance commission district supervisors today to confer with county commissioners regarding eligibility of pension applicants. He said supervisors had for some time been working with commissioners courts but the new order was issued in compliance with a house resolution of February 24. The order provided supervisors should meet at least once, more often if necessary, with commissioners in their district.

ROCHESTER WANTS SLEEP
 ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Mrs. Mildred Agnes today expressed a wish for a settlement and a desire for sleep as she began the third day of a "sit-down" strike designed to speed collection of maintenance funds she claims her husband owes her. "I just want this thing to be settled and go home and go to sleep," said the weary-eyed, 35-year-old "striker" after passing her second night on a table in the cleaning shop of her husband, Howard.

GAME LICENSES ARE APPROVED BY COMMITTEE

Hunting and Fishing Permits Would Be Issued

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP)—Universal hunting and fishing licenses and regulatory powers for the game commission, long sought by some sportsmen in Texas, today bore the approval of the House game and fish committee.

The license sponsors said in a committee hearing last night, would provide some funds for additional wardens to protect the state's wildlife resources and furnish means of proper propagation of fish and game.

Regulatory powers were desired to enable emergency relief regulation in game matters in the absence of the legislature which is not in session the greater part of the year.

The hunting license bill, under the sponsorship of Rep. Fred Felty of San Antonio, would set fees at $3 for large game, $2 for small and $1 for small game within the county of residence. The fishing license of $2 would exclude those fishing in the county where they lived.

Hunting dogs would not be licensed under the bill as amended and out-of-state licenses would be $25 for big and $10 for small game.

A bill creating a separate department for coastal waters with a director responsible to the commission was considered and action delayed until Monday night.

By another approved proposal, the javelina, which some claim is near extinction, would be declared a game animal with an open season Nov. 16 to Jan. 1. There has been no closed season on it.

LONG REPENTANCE. BUFFALO, N. Y.—Paul Valenti, 28, has two years to pay for the sedan he drove into Buffalo harbor in a fit of temper.

He bought the car for $190 last fall, paid $15 down. "I found out it was a year older than he (the salesman) told me, so I ran her into the harbor," he told City Judge Robert J. Summers. Judge Summers put him on probation with the condition he must pay the balance of the debt.

It costs the government $1.44 for each $100 of revenue it collected in 1935, as compared with $1.17 in 1934.

Poetry In Motion Captured By Artist

"He strained every muscle and fiber," is a popular expression. Here is evidence of its truth, furnished by the brush of Artist Stowitts, who gives his impression of Phil Cope, University of Southern California high hurdler, in action. Stowitts hopes such paintings will influence people to appreciate the beauty, as well as competition, in sports.

Truly, he flies through the air with the greatest of ease, does Al Olson, former star broad jumper of the University of Southern California, as painted by Hubert Stowitts. The artist offers Olson as additional proof of his assertion that American athletes have produced the greatest physical specimens since the mighty days and men of old Greece.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

Tony Lazzeri finds himself in a strange spot. Instead of listening to the customary "experts" who have taken it upon themselves each winter to count Tony out of the big league picture, the veteran second baseman of the world champion Yankees is blushing after the verbal bouquets tossed in his direction at the annual dinner of New York baseball writers. Tony was selected by that group as the "player of the year," and presented a plaque to prove it.

All this leaves Lazzeri puzzled. It gave him considerable satisfaction in the past to confound the experts who insisted on relegating him to the boneyard. But now that they have singled him out for special honors, what is he going to do? Flop, to prove them wrong again? It puts Lazzeri in a spot.

Yanks Agreed. The Yankees themselves figured that Tony's days as a big league player were numbered. They took precautions to guard against the day when Tony would no longer be able to play as a regular. They bought youngsters like Jack Saltzgaver and Don Heffner. They even started Saltzgaver at second one season. It wasn't long before Tony was back.

When Lazzeri seemed slipping a few seasons ago they moved him to third where he would have less territory to guard. He did all right. Another time he played shortstop. He even filled in at first base for Lou Gehrig—when Gehrig was sick and played only part of an inning to maintain his iron-man mark. Tony filled in as a left-fielder more than once.

He has had better seasons than 1936 both at the plate and in the field. But he had his moments last season. There was that day in Philadelphia when he hit three home runs, two with the bases loaded, and batted in 11 runs. In the World Series he poked out a homer with three men on the bags. All told, Tony finished the season with three new and one tied major league records, one broken American league standard and one new and two tied World Series marks.

EMPLOYERS ASKED TO RETURN PENSION SLIPS

Pampa employers who have not filled out and returned employers' return slips for Social Security Act records should do so immediately. Anyone not having received the necessary slip may get one at the postoffice, Postmaster C. H. Walker announced yesterday.

The form, in quadruplicate, should have been in the hands of the inspector of internal revenue at Dallas by Feb. 28. It should have contained data on salaries paid during January.

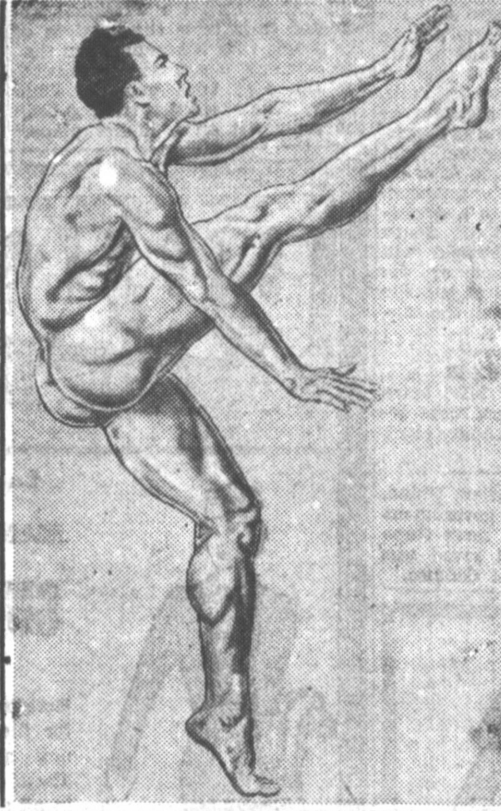

After one slip has been sent in, if receipt will be returned with another slip enclosed for use on the February report which must be mailed in before the end of March.

Pampans Urged To Buy C-C Tickets

Have you reserved a ticket for the chamber of commerce membership banquet Tuesday noon in the basement of First Methodist church when Harry Hines of the state highway commission will be the guest speaker?

If you haven't you are urged to do so by noon tomorrow. Many out of town guests will attend the luncheon and as a result the supply of tickets to be placed on sale will be limited according to President Jim Collins. A call to the B. G. D. office, phone 394, will reserve you a ticket. Mr. Collins reminded members and any others desiring to hear Mr. Hines speak.

The 77 basketball games of the University of Iowa during the past four seasons were watched by 536,000 persons, an average of 6,957 per game.

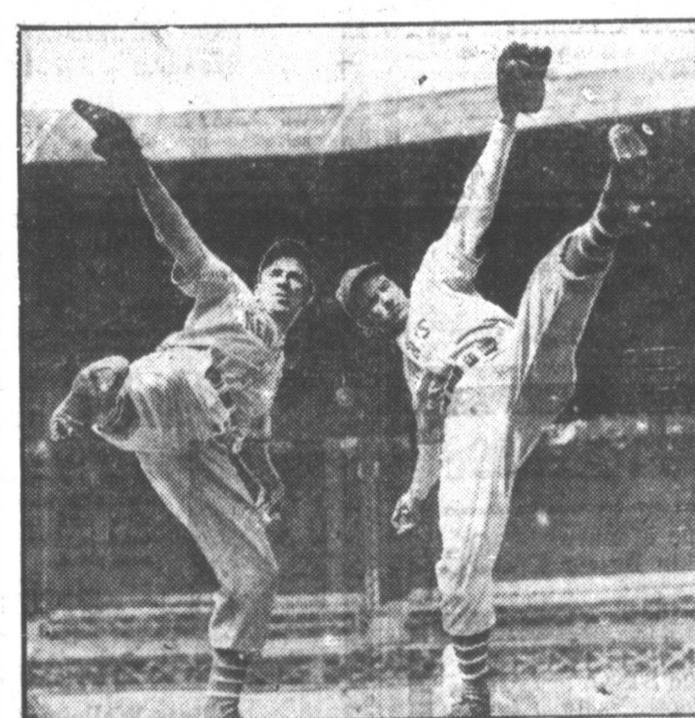

Poetry in motion has been captured by the brush of Hubert Stowitts, famous Los Angeles artist, in a series of life-sized paintings of athletes in action. Above is his conception of Ambrose Schindler, Southern California quarterback, getting off a 'long punt. Stowitts was most impressed by Schindler's "dynamic form."

Contrasting types of athletes are depicted on canvas by Hubert Stowitts. Lee Guttyer, former All-America basketball player of Southern California, is the nervous, dynamic kind. Jack Hupp, another former Texas star, is of the cool, effortless variety. The artist's brush has caught them as they leap for the ball.

Famous Milers Will Race In Chicago Saturday Nite

Kiwanis Governor Visits Local Club

Tom W. Archer of Dallas, governor of the Texas-Oklahoma Kiwanis district, was the principal speaker at the regular noonday meeting of the Pampa Kiwanis club today in Hotel Schneider. District Governor Archer came to Pampa from Amarillo where he presented a charter to the newly organized San Jacinto Kiwanis club. A number of Pampa Kiwanians and their wives attended the Amarillo meeting last night, attending a banquet and dance in the Crystal Ballroom of the Herring Hotel.

BY WILLIAM WEEKES.

CHICAGO, March 5 (AP)—Master-Miler Glenn Cunningham and his old and new foes, Gene Venzke, Archie San Romani and Don Lash, will go to the post again tomorrow night in the revival of the famous Bankers' mile.

This installment of the struggle among the country's fleetest middle distance stars will be the feature number of the Chicago Daily News relay program which will bring major league indoor track back to Chicago for the first time since 1932. The Bankers' mile, now almost forgotten, once ranked as one of the choicest events of the winter.

Cunningham, of course, will be the favorite in the mile. However, he is just recovering from a cold that kept him out of the National A. A. U. 1,500-meters championship race last week and may be ripe for a beating.

San Romani, who already is being figured as Cunningham's successor as king of American milers, won the A. A. U. metric mile in spectacular style, and probably will be ready to step in if Cunningham should happen to falter.

The meet also will present a pair of Olympic titleholders in Earle Meadows and high jumper Corrie Liss Johnson. Meadows will continue his battle with Japan's Sueo Ohe in the pole vault, and Johnson will tackle Eddie Burke, Marquette university Negro who bettered the world indoor record with a 6 feet, 9 3/4 inches performance at New York last week; and Ohio State's great Negro pair, Dave Albritton and Mel Walker.

The sensational Rideout twins, Wayne and Blayne, of Tuscola, Ill., and North Texas Teachers, will put on their brother act against Indiana's Tommy DeLard who achieved a 9:06.6 two-mile in the Millrose games.

TEXAS DOG IN FINALS OF NATIONAL TRIALS

GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn., March 5 (AP)—The nation's bird dog championship hinged today on the final casts in the 42nd running of the national trials over the Hobart Ames plantation.

It was virtually certain a male pointer would be named champion by tonight, breaking the two-year reign of female pointers. Spunky Creek Ace, owned by J. N. Edens, Jr., of Corsicana, Tex., and Lawless Boy, from the Nashville, Tenn., kennels of John E. Cain, Jr., ran in the final morning heat, each with a chance to clinch the title by eclipsing the mediocre form shown by the field thus far.

TILDEN BETTER THAN PERRY, THINKS VINES

DENVER, March 5 (AP)—Bill Tilden, at the top of his game, would have licked Fred Perry thinks Ellisworth Vines, angular Californian, who has played against both.

"I don't think Perry is as good as Tilden at his peak," Vines said here today. He added however, Perry "is better than the Tilden of 1934 when I first started to play him."

"In the final analysis, when it comes down to the variety of shot and outstanding performance over the years, no one can compare with Tilden," Vines said.

"But you must remember Tilden is 15 years older than Perry." Vines and the Britisher will tangle in the city auditorium Saturday night in the 27th encounter of their barnstorming tour.

Vines called his adversary "a marvelous court coverer and very steady."

"When he reaches the ball he just doesn't bat it back," Vines said. "He makes a darn good shot of it. My own style is more erratic than Fred's and that being the case I don't always win. In fact, lately I seldom win."

BOB SEEDS TO REPORT TO YANKEES AT CAMP

SHAMROCK, March 5.—Bob Seeds, who joined the New York Yankees last season in time to participate in the world series, will report for spring training at St. Petersburg, Fla., on March 9, he has been notified.

Mr. and Mrs. Seeds are now visiting at Minera Wells. Mrs. Seeds will return to Shamrock when her husband leaves for Florida.

For the coming season, the Shamrock outfelder has been farmed by the Yankees to their Newark, N. J., club in the International league.

NAVAL AVIATION STUDENTS WILL BE CHOSEN IN SOUTHWEST CITIES

According to advice received from the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., Lieut. A. Laverents will again head the Board of Naval officers appointed to examine and select a large number of students for training as naval aviators. This board is composed of naval aviators and a flight surgeon.

Lieut. Laverents is a war-time aviator, having entered the aviation service of the Navy early in 1917. He has had a wide experience in the training of aviation students and is at present the disciplinary officer of the aviation cadet battalion at the Naval Air Station at Pensacola. As additional duty he has been senior member of the naval reserve flight selection board for the past seven years.

Lieutenant Laverents has announced that the student selection board will meet throughout the South as follows:

Atlanta, Ga.—Week beginning March 15, 1937.

New Orleans, La.—Week beginning April 5.

Jacksonville, Fla.—Week beginning April 19.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Week beginning May 3.

Dallas, Texas.—Week beginning May 17.

Additional meetings may be necessary and will be announced later. The meetings of the board consume one week in each place. The board travels by air and in naval planes from Pensacola.

While many applications are being received the full quota desired from the South has not yet been filled and no definite selections will be made until after the meetings of the board.

Lieutenant Laverents advises all interested candidates who are qualified to write him immediately. Applications must first be reviewed by the board and if found qualified the applicant is advised when and where to appear before the selection board for personal interview and physical examination. No mental examinations are given as the candidates' educational qualifications are determined entirely from his scholastic record which must accompany the application.

Briefly the qualifications are as follows:

1. Must have college education. (Candidates who did not quite graduate may be considered).
2. Must be American citizens between the age of 20 and 28.
3. Must be in good physical condition.
4. Minimum height 5 feet 6 inches. Minimum weight 132 pounds (without clothing).
5. Must have perfect vision in both eyes without glasses.
6. Must be unmarried.

Selected students will go to duty in six monthly classes commencing May 15th. This allows the student year and go to duty later in the year.

The training is particularly attractive to young men interested in aviation as it covers four years flying duty in the Navy. The first year is spent in training at Pensacola after which the student is sent to three years duty with the aircraft squadrons of the Fleet as a fully qualified naval aviator. During this time the student is paid $155 per month, is supplied with uniforms and is covered by a $10,000 government insurance policy. At the end of his duty he is given a cash bonus of $1,500. By this time he has about 2000 hours in the air which makes him qualified and desirable for excellent positions in commercial aviation. He retains his status as a naval reserve officer and cannot be called to duty without his consent except in case of war or national emergency.

Sports Roundup

ORLANDO, Fla., March 5 (AP)—This is the part of Florida where you see lots of oranges and lots of Washington ball players.

Just about as many of one as the other seems to us . . . and all big . . . In-field is worrying Cardinal big shots as much as Dizzy Dean . . . Frisch would play every game at second if he could borrow a pair of legs and may wind up on third, anyway . . . Vince Dundee, former middleweight champ is trying a comeback . . . His former manager, Max Waxman, is getting rich—and fat—in the Jack Dempsey organization.

If anything should happen to make Lou Gehrig end his streak of consecutive games this year, the Yankees will be fixed. . . All they'll have to do is send an SOS for Rex Weyant, one of Cardinal's "officer crowd" . . . Rex formerly played a wicked first for dear old Syracuse and has been looking good in workouts around the bag at St. Pete . . . Middlewestern papers are blasting Jimmy Braddock for taking on Louis before Schmelling . . . So old Mike Gibbons has put on a special? . . . The dolls still go for Max Baer in a big way . . . Did you read how they swarmed all over the docks and screamed their pretty heads off when Max wouldn't make a personal appearance before sailing for Europe?

FISHING WITH BAIT IN PANHANDLE PERMITTED

Fishing with all kinds of bait will be legal in the Panhandle until April 1. In other sections of the state the season is closed during March and April. In the Panhandle, spawning is later than in the other sections and a special law was passed making closed season in the Panhandle April and May.

Anyone fishing with artificial bait must have a license. It is not compulsory, although a move is on foot to make it so, to have a license for fishing with live bait.

Several fishermen have reported good catches in the Panhandle so far this season.

Open counties in the Panhandle are: Dallas, Sherman, Hansford, Oldham, Hartley, Lipscomb, Moore, Hutchinson, Roberts, Hemphill, Potter, Carson, Gray, Wheeler, Deaf Smith, Randall, Donley, Armstrong, Farmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, and Hall.

Carpenters and painters recently began reconditioning Buffalo stadium, 9-year-old home of Houston's Texas league baseball club. Cost of the job was estimated at $7,500.

Dr. C. D. Grinnells, veterinarian at the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment station, says swine erysipelas, or diamond skin disease, is spreading in North Carolina.

Drug smugglers in China have adopted the use of homing pigeons, each of which can carry three ounces of dope, to evade the vigilance of government inspectors.

Take a tip from the label

TWO THINGS TO LOOK FOR ON A WHISKEY LABEL

1. The type of whiskey . . . blend or straight
2. The "proof" . . .

These statements on the label are dependable guides to the kind of whiskey you want.

Do you like your taste "straight"? Then pick a straight whiskey. It's "all whiskey and all one kind of whiskey." While you're about it, why not get your full money's worth of straight whiskey? Look for the "proof" . . . the measure of strength and, hence, a measure of value.

Just remember to ask for "Old Mr. Boston." It's full 100 proof. Worth remembering because its higher proof delivers more whiskey taste. Extra economical because it takes less to make a full-flavored highball . . . enough less to give you at least two extra highballs to every bottle. Buy a bottle of Old Mr. Boston 100 Proof Straight Whiskey tonight, and enjoy the extra pleasure of recalling how little you paid for so much solid whiskey value.

LaGuardia personally today ran a series of news photos intended to show New York and the United States as "the land of freedom—for all gangsters."

Another photograph purported to depict the family of a New York slayer "kneeling at the gates of Jehovah and his faithful servant, the Jew Governor Lehman, for saving the kinsman from the electric chair."

Der Angriff, in another placement, assailed the "shilly shally" treatment of the LaGuardia case by the Washington state department.

The new Nazi press outburst against LaGuardia resulted from his suggestion before the Jewish Women's meeting in New York Wednesday that the 1939 New York world's fair have a "hall of horrors," the chief figure in which would be "that brown-shirted fanatic" who, he said, was menacing world peace.

in Washington, and Secretary of State Hull yesterday made an informal expression of regret. LaGuardia "besmirched" the United States rather than der Führer, Hitler's own paper Voelkischer Beobachter bitterly observed, for in a well governed state such agitation would be confined "either to an asylum or a penitentiary."

Other journals said the Washington government would not be able to "gloss over" this incident by pointing to the government's lack of control over the speeches of an individual.

Garden Clubs of State to Convene

WESLACO, March 5.—Members of the Federation of Texas Garden Clubs will be greeted upon their arrival in Weslaco, in the heart of the Lower Rio Grande Valley, at their annual convention on March 10, 11, and 12, by fresh and fragrant orange blossoms, gorgeous flowers in bloom, hibiscus, bougainvillea and other tropical plants and shrubs, according to information today by Mrs. E. H. Damon, president of the Pampa Garden Club.

Twelve Rio Grande Valley Garden clubs will act as hostesses to the state organization, and over 300 Texas women are expected to attend the three-day meeting. The valley clubs have a reputation for cooperation, and this is well illustrated in this instance in that headquarters of the convention will be Weslaco; but numerous meetings, entertainments and dinners will be held in other cities of the valley. Dinners will be held in Old Mexico, where well prepared wild game dinners will be served to the Garden club delegates.

A very elaborate and enlightening program has been arranged by the hostess clubs, according to Mrs. T. P. Rives, Weslaco, president of the Rio Grande Valley county of Garden clubs. The morning sessions will be devoted to business and interesting discussions by noted national authorities on Garden club work, and will be presided over by Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, Wichita Falls, state president. Such speakers as Mrs. E. W. Frost, retiring president of the Arkansas federation, and Miss Sadie Hatfield, Texas A. & M. college, will appear on the program.

A magistrate in Tahasian, China, forbade school or government kitchens in the city to serve three meals a day. The food saved was to be used for national defense.

FDR's Address Is Praised, Flayed

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—While supporters were praising President Roosevelt's court reorganization address, opponents of his judicial plan gave notice today they intended to continue their fight against its adoption.

Postmaster General Farley declared Mr. Roosevelt's speech last night would be recorded in history as "one of the greatest ever delivered in this country."

On the other hand, Senator Burke (D. Neb.), one of the most outspoken foes of the President's plan, said: "I commend the President for his eloquent statement of the splendid objectives he has in mind for a better America. I utterly condemn the method by which he proposes to meet that goal."

Senator Barkley (D. Ky.), who favors the court program, viewed the address as one which "will put fight into the supporters of the judicial plan both in Congress and in the country."

For the most part opponents chose to withhold comment. Sen. Wheeler (D. Mont.), however, affirmed his unwavering opposition. He said: "I regret that the President attempted to inflame the passions of the people with the implication that the Supreme Court was responsible for the dust bowl and the Ohio floods. The opposition tried to keep the argument on a higher plane."

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP)—Gulf fishing may lure President Roosevelt to waters off the Texas coast next summer, Governor James V. Allred says.

The governor recently returned from Washington, says the President tried fishing in the Atlantic and other places and is distinctly interested in what may be found in the southwestern gulf.

The President may combine a fishing vacation with a brief visit to the Pan-American Exposition at Dallas, some think. He visited the Centennial celebration there last year.

Governor Allred went to Washington in an effort to speed up allocation of federal money to Texas cities that voted bonds for improvements under the Public Works program.

Accompanying him for an interview with the President were W. M. Massey of Fort Worth, chairman of the state planning board; Ed Clark, secretary of state; Robert Lee Bobbitt, chairman of the state highway commission; Everett Looney of Austin, a former assistant attorney general; Ira Butler of Fort Worth, member of the state Democratic executive committee; L. R. Hagy of Amarillo and United States Senator Morris Sheppard.

The party saw the President about five minutes.

"The President is as enthusiastic and dynamic as ever," Allred says.

Clark was "lost" in the commerce building, one of the largest in Washington, Governor Allred says.

"He not only could not find his way out but he could not find a guide to show him the way," he laughed.

"However, that is not an unusual thing. Anyone can do it easily. I usually have to get a guide."

En route to Washington, the governor passed through some of the territory devastated by the Ohio river flood.

"It is impossible to comprehend the devastation unless one sees it," he says. "Whole towns were covered. Not just parts of towns, or low sections, but whole towns!"

"Water still was standing in back yards and around some buildings, and we saw people splashing in boots."

"It was the worst thing I ever saw."

When the flood was at its height Governor Allred offered President Roosevelt use of the Texas National Guard to aid in evacuating residents of the area. The troops prepared for instant movement, but never were called.

On his return the governor had only brief comment on the signing of a bill by Acting Governor Walter F. Woodul raising the salaries of district judges from $4,000 to $5,000 a year.

Woodul signed the day the Senate passed the bill, the House of Representatives having acted previously.

Allred had told the legislature he would not approve any salary-increasing measures unless they provided revenue to meet the increase. The legislature had not, at the time, enacted a single revenue bill.

"Woodul was governor," Allred commented. "Far be it from me to criticize an act of the governor. He had the power to sign the bill."

AUSTIN, March (AP)—Several times in the early days of the general legislative session Gov. James V. Allred said he would not approve state salary increases unless revenue to meet the boosts was approved.

While Gov. Allred was in Washington trying to get some Public Works Administration funds for Texas cities, the Senate passed a bill increasing salaries of district judges from $4,000 to $5,000 a year, a measure already passed by the House of Representatives.

The day the Senate acted, Lieut.-Gov. Walter F. Woodul, acting governor in the absence of Allred, signed the bill, making it law.

Woodul has had considerable experience as acting governor, having sat in for Gov. Allred on numerous occasions. Relations between him and the governor have been cordial.

Probably no one did more active work for the constitutional amendment which increased the governor's salary from $4,000 to $12,000 annually than Woodul. The Lieut.-Gov. made many speeches in behalf of the amendment and also sent out thousands of letters to show the greater remuneration was justified.

During the first term of Gov. Allred, too, Woodul sent concrete demonstrations to the gubernatorial mansion of his understanding of the governor's financial problems. At one time he sent 100 pounds of potatoes; at another, some sugar and other supplies.

Gov. Allred and Woodul talked by telephone at 1 a. m. while the former was in Washington. The next day the resignation of R. B. Anderson as chairman of the unemployment compensation commission and appointment of Orville S. Carpenter as his successor were announced.

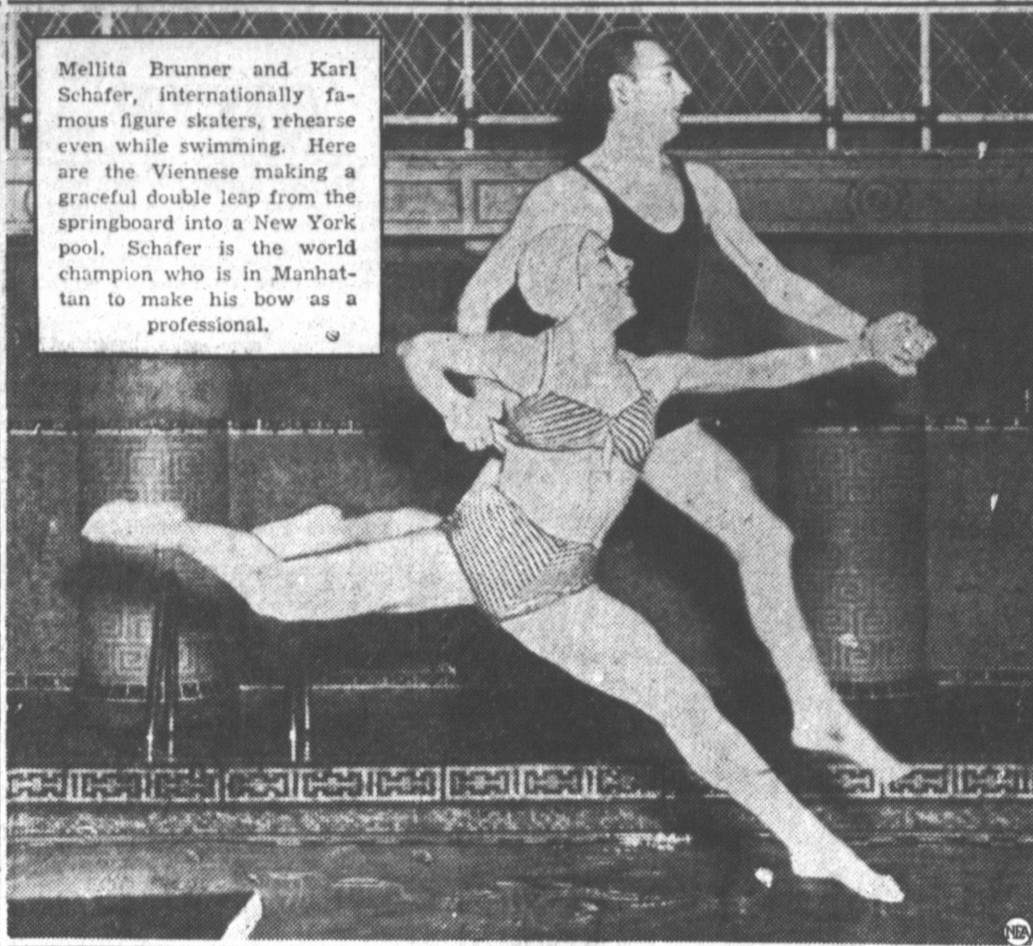

Woodul shied away when asked for details of the conversation with the governor, although it was a fair assumption it concerned the switch in the governor's office.

"I'll tell you this," he laughed. "Jimmy said that Ed Clark (Clark is secretary of state and formerly secretary to Allred) had been to a night club or two and already was wanting to return to Texas."

"You see, Ed never had been north of Van Buren and was homesick."

The Maharajah of Indore, Gail Patrick's guest here, presented her with a gold key to the front door of her home.

"The school that grew up instead of out" is the theme of the University of Pittsburgh's 150th anniversary celebration, scheduled from Feb. 28 to commencement week in June. # MANNISH LINES ABANDONED IN SUITS FOR FEMININE DETAILS ACCENTED BY THE ACCESSORIES

BY MARIAN YOUNG, NEA Service Staff Correspondent. NEW YORK—Even if you've never worn a suit before, this is the year to get one. Suits are fashion "musts"—the real leaders of the 1937 parade. You'll see them in such diversified manifestations of the mode that they're not likely to become monotonous although every parader has one.

Rivals for the fashion palm are mannish tailcoats, soft dressmaker models, swaggers, reefers, box jackets. The colors would do justice to a spring garden and are truly beautiful. The new suits are designed to make you look chic as a Parisienne day after day all spring, and next fall as well. If it's classic in design and fabric, it will be the backbone of your wardrobe for two, or even three years.

New are the three-piece ensembles which consist of dark skirts and jackets under swinging pastel topcoats or dark skirts with matching coats and pastel jackets. If you want the picture you make to be new and different and casually correct, consider a slim black skirt, cozy pink flannel jacket and a short swagger in matching pink. Or a black tweed suit with hip-length beige reefer.

Details No Longer So Exaggerated. Especially interesting in Helen Cookman's spring collection is a green tweed jacket suit under a green and white swagger, in novelty diagonal weave. Also a soft blue tweed number with four godets in the slightly flared skirt and a trim little jacket with unlined lapels and a peplum effect at the back. Shoulders are not as overgrown. Reefers have shrunk in size, too. It's best to have a suit with shoulders only slightly padded to make you look nice and square across the top, but not top-heavy. Look for diminutive reefers, or none.

Mannishness is out. Strictly tail-

Final Touch to Spring Outfits Is In Blouses

BY MARIAN YOUNG, NEA Service Staff Correspondent. NEW YORK—New spring blouses are so feminine that even the shirtwaist models have lost the mannish characteristics they have so long starred. Tailored types are finished with short sleeves, necklines which can be worn open as well as high around the throat, shirring, tucks and pleating.

Printed blouses, in animal, vegetable and people figurines, are the last word in fashion innovations. One especially neat little number, in colorful South African motif, is cut like a waistcoat with vari-colored buttons down the front and short, pointed revers. This would be lovely with a black, gray or navy suit.

Select a number of blouses carefully and your spring suit can serve as a complete wardrobe. Have one soft lingerie model to wear to tea and luncheon, crisp tailored ones for the office or shopping, more casual types for country week-ends and such.

Gay striped fabrics make some of the most attractive little shirts with breast pockets and collars that can be worn up or down. Consider how fetching a linen one, in red, navy, green and white stripes, would be with almost any suit.

Linen, flat crepe, lawn and Swiss organdy, with a permanent finish which stays crisp regardless of laundering, are most popular fabrics. While you are in the blouse department, consider some of the new organdy neckwear, guaranteed to make dark dresses look glamorous and definitely 1937. Stylists agree that a dark silk frock with two or three collar and cuff sets a suit with various blouses, a topcoat and perhaps a print compose the perfect spring wardrobe.

If you are shopping on a budget, remember that really good accessories make an inexpensive suit or dress look expensive. If you have to economize, do it on suit or dress, but not on shoes, hat, gloves, bag or blouses.

Police Chief C. E. Mensinger of Allentown, Pa., advocates a law "to arrest and fine reckless pedestrians."

but wouldn't it be smarter to try brown shoes and hat, bright yellow blouse and gloves? Remember, all ways, that the accessories make the costume. A nineteen-dollar suit looks really expensive if the accessories are of highest quality and original in design or color. By the same token, a cheap, badly planned accessory ensemble can make a handsome suit look positively mediocre.

Unless you have decided on a swagger coat or one of those reefers which is supposed to be full amidships, be meticulous—just plain fussy, in fact—about it. The lines from underneath arms to top of hips should be sleek and trim. Fitted jackets must fit.

Accessories can match, but you show more individuality if you work out a special color scheme. It's smart to wear brown hat, shoes, bag and gloves with a beige tailleur.

Yet most people at some time suffer from common constipation. Why not correct this condition the natural way—by including a ready-to-eat cereal with your daily meals instead of taking weakening pills and drugs?

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN adds the "bulk" the average system needs. In the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, forming a soft, spongelike mass—which gently cleanses the intestines. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B to tone up the intestines and iron for the blood.

A BENEFIT OF WAR

In a recent interview abroad, Viscount Astor, husband of American-born Lady Astor, M. P., cited an interesting fact.

Under auspices of the League of Nations, a group of nutrition experts has been endeavoring to get countries to devote more care to the important matter of proper food for their young.

"In some countries where we cannot get interested in nutrition on the ground of child welfare," maintains Lord Astor, "we find it aroused by the need for stronger recruits for the army."

While this seems too strongly reminiscent of fattening kine for the market, preparedness for war apparently does serve at least one good purpose. What an ideal state of things it would be, now, if this trend toward proper child care would gather momentum and become a permanent feature of our civilization, and war could be outlawed.

HISTORICAL MISTAKES

Admiral Henry T. Mayo, U. S. N., who died the other day after a long and distinguished career, will get his name in the history books in a rather odd way.

He was commander of our Atlantic fleet during the World War, of course—and, incidentally, a right good commander, too; but he will be remembered chiefly for his part in America's near-war with Mexico in 1914.

It was Admiral Mayo who demanded an apology and a 21-gun salute from the Huerta government after Mexican soldiers had arrested a marine detail at Tampico; Admiral Mayo, who, backed by the administration, was in charge during the bombardment and occupation of Vera Cruz a little later.

These days, as we see them now, were mistakes—but the mistakes were not Admiral Mayo's. A good soldier, he was doing only what his government wanted him to do. But the histories will remember him principally for those mistakes, just the same.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON.—Among Federal "don'ts," each backed by a stiff penalty are:

Don't transport women across state lines for immoral purposes (Mann act).

Don't transport stolen automobiles across state lines (Dyer act).

Don't transport stolen children or adults across state lines (the "Lindbergh" law).

Senator McCarran of Nevada proposes in a bill to extend the idea to stolen livestock.

It grows out of a cattle rustling racket of real proportions out west, helped by development of fast trucks. Long ago the new style rustling took hold in a petty way. Country jakes needing fourth of July money would drive a truck out on the range, knock off and butcher a fat steer or two, and haul the carcasses to meat shops ready to accept them at cut rates for retail sale at little risk.

But big time operators soon stepped in, pools for stolen stock were formed where regular, although clandestine, auctions were held. The cattle, butchered or on foot, were taken off to large market centers, either within the state or outside. Several western states passed laws for brand inspection and slaughter inspection without checking the racket.

Nevada, where cattle mean money, found its stock snatched into California or other nearby states in spite of diligent local efforts. The state farm bureau asked McCarran to put through a Federal cattle-snatching act without any clear idea of what help it would be except to make Federal officials share responsibility.

Two hundred thousand expatriated milk bottles are waiting patiently the enactment of a bill introduced by Representative Dondero of Michigan. The bill would wipe out the 4 1/2 cents tariff on the bottles.

Tourists buy milk in Detroit, drink it in Canada, and there the bottles waste. Canada does not use quart-size milk bottles and anybody wishing to return them must pay a 4 1/2 cents duty. Canada charges no duty for taking them over.

Since the bottles cost only a nickel to manufacture in this country it does not pay milk dealers to gather them up, even from the Canadian customs house where returning tourists give them up. American bottle makers do not want the tariff protection removed. It is all right with them if the bottles remain in Canada so the milk dealers will buy new ones. Dondero says Detroit dairymen estimate that 200,000 bottles a year are lost to Canada, mostly via Detroit.

TEX'S TOPICS

Around Pampa, hour-by-hour: Up not too early after a restless night brought on by eating a late pastry against the rules. . . . Learn that duster, scared up evening before, has entirely vanished with the new sun. . . . Morning headline informs that citizens have been invited to condemn the President's court proposal. . . . If we recall, one or two of them already have done just that.

After a not too smooth shave, out of the house and off for the office by gas-buggy to see what Uncle Sam has brought via Santa Fe, air line, et cetera. . . . Nothing much that counts in ye mayle. . . . First visitor of the morning is a man who came all the way from Borger to keep a dinner date the night before, saying that we were supposed to meet him at a given time and place, and about all of which we still insist there was some mistake. . . . One thing we always pride ourselves about is punctuality in the matter of keeping appointments.

It developed that while the man waited nervously for us to put in an appearance we were at another spot, dining with an ex-Borger, now Pampan—the ex-Borger chumping on club steak, we dallying with basted eggs and buttered toast. . . . talking of this and of that and hearing how a radio actress collapses in the middle of a local broadcast. . . . Later to be joined at the dining table by a young man who ordered pimento cheese, decked between toast, and then didn't eat it because he said he wasn't hungry.

But, back to the day again: After apologizing to the visitor for a social error of which we pleaded innocence, away with him a few doors for a wee breakfast and talk over coffee. . . . It being too far into the morning to really eat breakfast and not far enough to eat lunch. . . . Conversation with the man who had come from Borger and waited overnight to catch us, netted much of interest. . . . Then he leaves for a first stop in Skellytown and points west.

On to judicial halls of Gray county, meeting up with the Hon. W. R. Ewing, busily engaged with three legal minds in the clerk's office. . . . Later to chat with the county judge and to find an irksome deputy sheriff impatient to gain admittance to the sanctum sanctorum. . . . Try to borrow a pencil from an office girl with no avail. . . . Around and about through the halls, etc., getting a stint of news here and there, but nothing tip-top.

Finally, back to the office and down to the routine which leads through one thing and then another. . . . All adding up to the place in the day where it looks like a good time to sit down to the typewriter and get rid of this column for another day. . . . You are now reading the feeble result. . . . And that is another sample of how it is done.

Central American republics, closest neighbors to Texas, already have accepted almost unanimously invitations to take part in the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition, opening at Dallas June 12. . . . Director General Frank L. McHenry received reports at the Exposition offices in Dallas this week from two flying emissaries as they completed their swing through Mexico and the six Central American Republics, without a refusal at any point.

Mexico's formal acceptance is expected momentarily from President Cardenas, who was out of the capital at time of the visit of Dr. Roscoe R. Hill of Washington and Charles H. Abbott of the Exposition staff. His cabinet members already have signified acceptance. . . . Guatemala and Nicaragua have accepted. Unofficially, participation in the Exposition has been planned by Honduras and it is anticipated, by El Salvador, Costa Rica and Panama. This makes the record perfect up to the envoys' entry into the South American continent with first calls at the capital of Ecuador, then Peru and Chile. Crossing to the Atlantic seaboard, they will return through Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil, Venezuela and Colombia, then across to Cuba to complete their trip about mid-April.

The participation already planned gives strong Latin American flavor to America's only international fair of 1937, which will run a 20 weeks season through October. . . . The $25,000,000 exposition park already is redesigned to conform to distinctive architecture of the American civilization that flourished before colonization from Europe.

The after-dark feature of Marshall's entertainment program for the fair will center in a huge theater casino, where a program that is designed to make all America talk will feature the stage, screen and opera performers of all communities, from Hudson Bay to the Pampas.

Yesteryear In Pampa

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

A temperature of 9 degrees, coldest of the year, was registered.

Mrs. Earl G. Wyatt of Amarillo, state president of A. A. U. W., was a guest of the Pampa chapter and spoke at a luncheon.

Night classes were being conducted at Kingsmill by J. L. Lester and J. K. Burke, with instructions in farm poultry raising. Mrs. Lester and Mrs. Burke were teaching women's classes in health and home beautification.

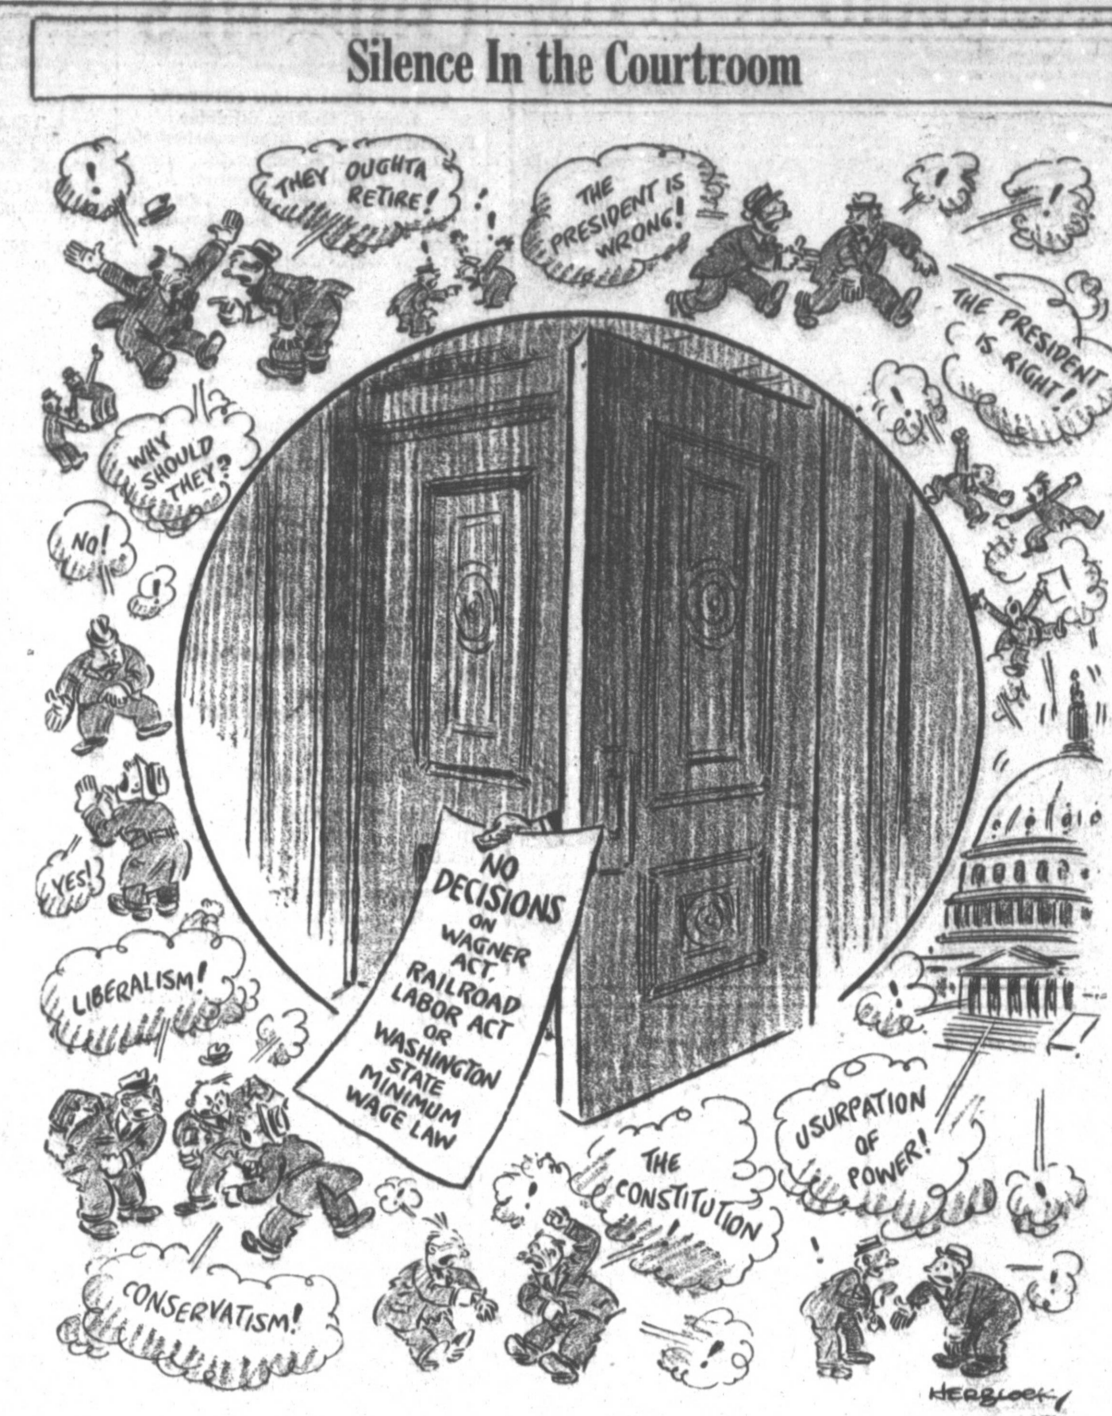

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

About 200 attended a dinner of the new chamber of commerce, and elected H. C. Wilson, Bert Curry, Ivy Duncan, D. J. Gribbon, and DeLea Vicars to an advisory board, for this adjunct to the B. C. D.

E. Bacuss resigned as mayor of LeFors and Hank Breining was named to complete his term.

Reports showed a 5 per cent gain in postal receipts in February, 1936 over the preceding February.

The cowcatcher of a Santa Fe engine carried a car 50 feet at a railroad crossing, but the auto's occupants, Bob Nelson and O. E. Palmer, were unhurt.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—This is going to be a swing column. And if you'll promise not to swing to some other section of the paper while I'm not looking, we'll get down to business and see what there is to it.

Swing makes you think of music, and music brings up Vincent Lopez. . . . Not everybody knows that once he studied for the priesthood. . . . Or that he lived nearly four years in a monastery, where conversation is permitted only one hour a day. . . . It isn't generally known, either, that Lopez is a corking good writer, and that his fingers are just as adept at luring prose from a typewriter as music from a piano. . . . Most of his writings deal with the occult—numerology and astrology—which have been vital factors in his career.

Everybody knows about swing music. . . . And, by this time, everybody ought to know about swing pictures. . . . Swinging pictures is just like a game, and they go just as I hope this column is going—from one to another. . . . The first one, for instance, is a picture of Garbo. . . . Garbo is Swedish, and that brings up Swedish punch. . . . So the next picture is a bowl of Scandinavian punch. . . . Punch makes you think of Joe Louis, because he packs one in either hand, and so it goes—to the end of the layout.

On Broadway a layout means dough, and dough means money. Money brings up the subject of tariff. . . . So now we swing to the high tariffs in the glitter spots about town—always they seem higher and higher. . . . Dinner, ordinarily, is listed about $2.75, but the chances are your bill will be three times that before you get out.

Out is a term employed by umpires, and umpires make you think of baseball. . . . With baseball in mind, we swing to Cuba, where the Giants are training, and where the Rockies are swinging at Carl Hubbell's curves.

Curves suggest leg-shows, and leg-shows suggest Broadway, and Broadway means theater, so that reminds us that Helen Hays is going to England, some time in May.

England just now makes you think of the coronation, and that brings up thoughts of the Duke of Windsor, who won't be there. . . . He will probably be the guest of a New York society woman who recently purchased a villa on the Mediterranean. . . . The Mediterranean's most famous point is Monte Carlo, which suggests gambling. And right now the race track bookies are poring over stakes for the Kentucky Derby. . . . This makes us swing back to America. . . . And I'm getting dizzy from music swinging. . . . So, with pictures and news and columns delayed until they go out into the world, it must start in cradle days. The same mother, however, who trains her baby in arms to follow the routine of infancy, who lets him cry when he needs the exercise or if he simply wants to be taken up and attended to, is very apt to change her whole attitude as soon as the child is able to talk and walk.

Now, all of a sudden, he must be permitted self-expression, he must be allowed to choose his own interests and studies, must not be punished or forced against his own bent. . . . Just as a baby cries to be picked up because being taken up is pleasant, so does the older child follow the easiest way, and in the end to his own undoing. From the cradle up he should learn to exercise self-control, and only discipline can teach it to him. In time the discipline imposed from without will be-

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

You play lovers, you amateur actors, if you will jump on Ben Gull, now with the Cabot company, you might get him to help resurrect the Little Theater. . . . He was secretary of the vote of its own members 3 years ago, at that time they just decided they weren't doing any good, or making any progress, or something like that, and voted to discontinue the Little Theater indefinitely. . . . Now, in all the time since then, Mr. Gull himself satisfactorily furnished the town with plays—in brief, a Little Theater would have taken a back seat as long as he and his young actor were turning out good plays at the high school—championship plays, comedies, tragedies, pageants. Here lately, people have been saying, "I wish somebody would start up the Little Theater again. . . . You say Ben Gull would be interested?" Yes, it is likely that he would be, and if Ben should decide to help you could bet on it that the plays would be worth attending. The Little Theater could start up any time. There is money in the bank that was on hand when the Little Theater was put on the shelf. There are many young people and many not so young who would like to see it start up again. Maybe somebody ought to take the bull by the horns and get it going. Instead of criticizing him, the play-minded people would probably thank him.

How's Your Health?

Edited by DR. IAGO GALLSTONE for the New York Academy of Medicine

REDUCER'S DIET

Eating is decidedly an individual matter. Tastes and habits vary greatly. Some eat little but often; others have few meals but large ones.

It is therefore practically impossible to draft a diet suitable for any substantial portion of the population. The task is even more difficult when the diet is intended to reduce body weight.

No more than general rules can be effectively given. The applications of these rules must in the final analysis be subject to individual preferences, prejudices and limitations.

But some pointers are of value. The reduction diet should be formulated out of your regular diet. To establish the latter, keep a record, preferably in a small notebook which you can carry about with you, of what and how much you eat at each meal. Record also whatever you consume between meals of food, candy, sodas, cocktails or snacks.

Keep this record for at least a week. Then calculate the caloric value of each day's intake. Strike an average for the week, and you will have an idea of the amount (caloric) and of the kinds of foods you consume.

Now proceed to examine critically the facts revealed, and decide where and what extent the caloric content of the diet needs to be curtailed.

Here are a few general pointers which should help:

Reduce your daily diet by at least 800 calories.

Strike off your food list all forms of candy, sugar, jams, jellies, nuts, ice cream.

Allow yourself a minimum of butter and cream, bread, potatoes, and other starchy foods.

Avoid fat meats and foods fried in fats, gravies and sauces.

Add to the bulk of your meals by including generous portions of fresh salads, vegetables and fruits.

Do not eat between meals, or if you must, take fruit.

Do not starve yourself excessively.

Do not allow yourself to lose more than two pounds a week.

Be certain to include in your diet citrus fruit, milk, green vegetables, eggs, meat, fish.

Have patience. The reduction diet will work miracles, but allow it plenty of time, a month to six weeks at least. Remember too, salads will spare you hunger.

ROUGH ON PETS

CHICAGO—Mrs. Catharine March, 40, asking a divorce in superior court, alleged her husband: (1) choked her pet dog to death; (2) killed two canaries, and (3) tormented her by caressing a "plump" woman in a taxicab beneath her window.

FAMILY AFFAIR

PUEBLO, Colo.—Go slow and see the town—go fast and meet the Lattimer family. Police Magistrate Warren Lattimer followed Charles Beebe's motor car, ordered his arrest for reckless driving, heard his trial, summoned Mrs. Lattimer as a witness and imposed a $10 fine.

TWO WAY SPLIT

ELYRIA, O.—Ever since January 1 the two Democrats and one Republican on the board of county commissioners had wrangled over allotting orders for three typewriters. But everything is all right now. One Republican and two Democrats declared received the orders.

Kansas farmers, who harvested only 75 per cent of the wheat acreage planted last year, have seeded 16,500,000 acres—the largest acreage in the history of the state—for 1937.

Q. By what name did the Cherokee Indians know Sam Houston? A. He was christened by Coconoke, the Cherokee chief, "Co-con-neh," the English interpretation of which is "The Raven."

Q. At what homes did Houston spend most of the latter years of his life? A. At his town home in Huntsville; at Cedar Point, his summer home on Galveston Bay; and at Independence, where his wife's mother lived. He took his family frequently from one place to another, seeking Mrs. Houston's relief from asthma. He sold the Huntsville home

This, That and Everything

By JESS KELLEY

One of the most serious handicaps to better government is the popular demand for narrow favoritism. It is too generally implied that when we support some candidate in election, we in return, expect that candidate to pursue a policy favoring the special loyalty or class we represent. Too often those who support someone for a certain office is doing so in hope of being especially favored by that person when he takes office. If people took the position of seeking the greatest good for all, it would not make any difference to them whether the candidate came from the farming section or from the industrial section. If character and principle were demanded in the important offices instead of narrow favoritism—in short, if we always sought to place men in office who dare to follow a Christian conscience in all their official duties, this problem of political corruption would be solved—and with it a multitude of others.

But you say we can never hope to have such a perfect blending of practical politics and Christian idealism. I realize my proposition is rather Utopian, but that is just what is required by the very law behind the universe if we are to escape the pestiferous embarrassments of political corruption.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD.—The years, contrary to the movie title, are not so long. It was only ten of them ago that Kay Francis was in a four-line role on Broadway, doubling also as understudy. Stars were Kay Johnson and James Rennie, and also in the cast were Douglas Montgomery, Chester Morris and Sylvia Sydney.

The play returns to mind because Irving Rapper, who directed, now is serving time as a Hollywood dialogue director. That is, he translates for the actors what Director Michael Curtiz, who is frequently more enthusiastic than intelligent, wants them to say. Rapper, after his apprenticeship, probably will be a director himself.

As I understand it, Rapper might have been out here long ago had not Hollywood looked with suspicion and fear upon his association with Gilbert Miller in the theater. Anything connected with Rapper's name is likely to be on the "artistic" side, and Hollywood—the business is not so sure of "art." At any rate, Rapper was available to Hollywood a long time before Hollywood cared to throw out a line and land him. What turned the trick (at least in Rapper's mind because Irving may deny it) was that some producer happened to thumb through a scribbled and read clippings on the aforementioned play. The title thereof was most reassuring—almost, it might be said, right up the Hollywood alley. The title was "Crime."

Hollywood Agreed Itself.

In the film, "Talent Scout," which spotlights Hollywood again, they have built a set to represent the reception office of a movie studio, reason being that the studio's own reception room was too plain to conform to the average Hollywood idea of what such a cubicle should be.

The set is velvet draped and gilded, with ornate furniture and its walls adorned by five huge framed pictures of "Apex Pictures'" handsome star. The captions separately proclaim that this is the idol with his dog, with his house, with his pipe, with his book, and alone.

But the only difference between these pictures and those in the average studio reception room is that these are all of the same person.

Went's Return.

Laurence Olivier, recently a hit in the English film "Fire Over England," might have stayed in Hollywood but for what happened on his previous visit.

He was imported originally to play opposite Garbo in "Queen Christina." After he arrived, the exploitation value of reuniting Garbo with the late John Gilbert struck Metro as too great to overlook. Olivier, puzzled but smarting none the less, stayed on to make a few films, then departed.

And he won't be back, is the word from England unless one certain director, William K. Howard, happens to need him.

and "Raven Hill" shortly before the Civil War and was living in the "Steamboat House" during his last illness.

Q. Where was Sam Houston received into the Baptist church and when?

A. At Independence, being baptized in Rocky Creek, Nov. 19, 1854 by Rev. Rufus C. Burleson.

Q. How much of the Indianola railroad was built and what became of it?

A. It was chartered, and 15 miles constructed in 1855, out of Indianola to a junction with the San Antonio and Mexican Gulf Railway, a Fort Lavaca enterprise. It was completely destroyed in the Indianola storm of 1875 and never rebuilt.

Q. Who was the last Republican elected governor of Texas?

A. Edmund J. Davis, whom Richard Coke succeeded, Jan. 15, 1874 was the only Republican ever elected governor of Texas.

Q. What Texas vessels were transferred to the United States under the terms of annexation?

A. The American, the Aquila, the San Bernard and the Wharton.

THE FINANCIAL WHIRLIGIG

By LOUIS SCHNEIDER

FAVORED.
The business conduct committee of the New York Stock Exchange explains its new "free ride" margin stricture which went into effect last Monday. It isn't absolutely necessary that a customer have full margin requirements at all times. It allows the brokerage firm to decide whether the customer is taking advantage of the "free ride" margin stricture. If so the broker is expected to act.

A Wall Streeter says that the committee's interpretation does not satisfy the Securities Exchange Commission, which wants professional traders held in check. As the Stock Exchange committee defines the new law it means that large traders may be "favored" by brokerage firms. This the S. E. C. isn't expected to tolerate.

TO PAY.
United Gas Corporation has completed 165 wells on its Louisiana Reddosa oil field properties. There are now some 70 drillings in the process of being completed. After that there will be no further costs for additional developments. But with insiders expect the properties to be on the back side of the ledger by September. That is why they anticipate a clearing of preferred dividend accumulations before the close of this year. When that is out of the way the common shares will receive dividend consideration.

HIGHER.
The manufacturing insiders look for a price increase announcement within the next 10 days. Barring a runaway market in crude rubber or other raw materials, the new price schedules will hold into the summer months. The increase will run from five to eight per cent. Higher commodity costs resulted in the planning of a three to five per cent price advance. But with labor rates expected to higher averages tire manufacturers are agreeing on a five to eight per cent increase to offset the expense.

As a rule when a product's price is increased manufacturers leave a bit of profit for themselves. It means larger earnings. That is why those close to the manufacturing companies have been accumulating the shares.

DOUBT.
Latest available statistical data does not confirm the bullish prediction of the inflation theory. The buying public is relying on "unknown" factors to get rich quick. The last time Park-Utah operated at a profit was in 1929. In that year it netted only 22 cents a share. Records show that on January 1, 1928, the management estimated a life of about 10 years for its ore properties. Insiders wonder if recent development work will have much success.

CAUTIOUS.
The stock market leadership of the past two weeks led to the liking of experienced Wall Streeters. They don't care for the activity in the low priced shares while old line leaders move sideways or down. It is shown that the bull market of the past 30 months was based on the inflation theory. But now with Secretary Morgenthau showing that steps are being taken towards the balancing of the national budget this theory is overthrown.

War talk isn't gaining in popularity in good circles. The "big boys" say that if war should come it will not bring a boom in share prices. They rather expect a decline because of possible European selling. It is also pointed out that low priced shares are discounting too much in advance. Many are priced at levels which take into consideration dividend possibilities which may never be realized. On the whole, the better element of the speculative fraternity is very cautious.

ARMOUR.
Early last week your correspondent stated that Armour would show a net of 50 cents a share for the fiscal year ended January 31. A correction is in order. The company's fiscal year closes October 31. The 50 cents a net reported as anticipated by insiders will cover the first fiscal quarter ended January 31. It was also learned that if all goes as

Better Be Safe

(Editor's Note: The following article written by a member of the high school journalism class for the Kiwanis safety committee is one of a series being published in the interest of safety in the NEWS.)

By Dorothy Davis
Just how much and what do you see when you look through the windshield of your car? Do you see all there is to see or get only a blurred vision of the objects before you? If you have doubts concerning the efficiency of your eyes, it would be to your benefit as well as others for you to have the defect, if such there is corrected. The eye is the greatest asset the human being possesses; they can make a person or leave him absolutely helpless. The expertness with which you drive depends first upon your eyes. If they interpret the signals before them to your brain correctly, then you have a better chance of handling your car correctly and safely. Thus if you see poorly, emergencies may arise that you are not prepared to meet.

If you do not wish to take needless driving risks, have your eyes tested immediately and stay from behind the wheel of your car until you are certain your eyes will give you no trouble. Night driving particularly, calls for good eyesight and a clear, quick thinking brain.

An average loss of water of more than three pounds an hour through skin evaporation has been registered by coal miners.

Malt liquor taxes were collected on $3,197,820 gallons by the government in 1936; on 45,207,080 gallons in 1935.

HER NAME IN LIGHTS

CHAPTER IX.
Anne Cockerell shook herself and bent her head forward. Water ran in rivulets down the brim of her hat and fell on the carpet as she bent to remove her overshoes.

"Get your lazy bones out of that chair, Jennifer Brett, and give me a hand with these packages," she said.
"Sorry, darling. I didn't know you needed help." Jennifer took Anne's umbrella and coat. "Come over by the fire. I'll bring you some dry slippers. How about a cup of hot tea?"

Anne sighed and then smiled. "Jennifer when I get ready to scold you, you go and get sweet on me."
"So that's why you came early? Can't you wait until Daph gets here and you can both give me a good combined lecture?" Jennifer tweaked a curl at the back of Anne's head.

"No, that isn't why I came early. I wanted to see Daphne and we had planned to have dinner together tonight but I've got to work so I dropped by on my way home. And I'm a girl who believes in seizing opportunities. Like this one. I just thought maybe we could have a good old-fashioned talk."

"About what, Anne, men or money?" Jennifer was pleasantly impudent.
"Money." Anne was curiously embarrassed. "I mean about Daphne's money. I know you aren't going to like this, honey, but I think you ought to know about it. Daphne's sending you to a secretarial school means that..."

Jennifer sighed. "Oh, Anne, help me! You're going to say that it costs a lot and you want me to make good. Well, I never will. I simply loathe secretarial school and I can't make those funny little lines but Daphne won't let me give it up. Anybody'd think I hadn't tried to earn a living when I had my job in Wall Street. It wasn't my fault that I got fired."

"What do you want to do?" Jennifer played with the tassel on her belt and sighed. "I don't know. That's the trouble. There are so few careers..."

Anne studied her for a few minutes and bit her tongue to keep back all she knew. She might have said, "The trouble is that you are have a lovely time playing house in Daphne's apartment. You don't want to do anything but stay in bed until noon and stay up all night. You don't want to help." She didn't say it.

She was saved from saying anything more. Daphne called from the other side of the door.
Jennifer jumped up and opened it. "Oh, Daphne, what on earth have you there? She began relieving Daphne of the packages that weighed her down."

"Hello, Anne. I've been Christmas shopping. Not that I can afford it, but it's to be done and Christmas is only two weeks away. And what a night to be shipping."

"Winter seems to have come with a vengeance," Anne said comfortably, stretching her toes out to the fire.
"Hasn't it though? It's a night out not fit for man nor beast. It feels like rain and we have rain over these frozen ruts. It will not be any fun getting around New York."

"Speaking of getting around..." Jennifer looked up from the tea she had poured for Daphne. "Tuck is taking me to a party in the Village tonight."

Daphne had not had her tea, her nerves were jumpy and she was tired. "You're not going," she said flatly.
"Come off it, Daphne. Anybody'd think I was an infant in swaddling clothes who couldn't keep my eyes open after 6 o'clock."

"That isn't the point," Daphne went on coldly. "The point is that you've got to get to school in the morning and I know that crowd in the Village. I don't happen to like them. For that matter I don't happen to like your going out with Tuck all the time. I told you that. His friends are entirely too sophisticated for you. You are not going out with Tuck tonight."

Anne watched Daphne blow up with some amusement but she didn't say anything until Jennifer had left the room, swinging out airily and with a disdainful glance at Daphne.

The girls in the living room heard the shower running in a few minutes. "Atta baby!"

"I didn't really mean it, Anne, but oh, I give up! I'm really annoyed at Tuck. He knows she's 18 and he has deliberately disregarded my wishes. I don't want her running with that Village crowd. She's too pretty, too eager, too prone to fall for that line of living-or-owning."

"She goes out with him and stays late and I worry about her. I wish to goodness she'd fall in love with some nice boy and get married."

"I thought she was going to marry a millionaire."

Daphne looked up and pursed her lips. "Any minute now," she said laconically.
"Oh, since we're in the romance department, any word from Smith?"

"No word from Smith," Daphne said shortly.
"Hasn't he meant, I just thought that speaking of the 'right man'..."

"Anne Cockerell! Will you please tell me why two girls can't get together for more than 10 minutes without talking about men? If we were couple of men you'd be telling me about what Joe Dokus said in this morning's paper about the hockey game and I would be spouting my trouble over the Georgian Creme account. I've got a problem there that would make your hair stand on end but do we talk about it? No. And why not?"

Anne thumbed the pages of a fashion magazine. "I think Joe Dokus writes drive and I've business problems of my own. Also, I think women have too much sense to waste their time on such trivia. Now this Larry Smith matter is important. He affects your state of mind. You were all blown up with anticipation because he was going to call you. Then he didn't. The telephone rang in the bedroom. 'I'll get it,' Jennifer called back."

"It's for you, Daph. It's Smith," Daphne bounced out of her chair. Anne couldn't hear what she said but she could hear the purr of her voice.

She put on her overshoes and tucked her hair under her damp hat. "I guess you won't mind if I run along tonight?"

Daphne, with a flush on her cheek, a broad smile said, "Must you, Anne? He's coming right up. We're going to a German restaurant and to see that ridiculous melodrama, 'The Drunkard'."

"I call that subtle!" Jennifer said. "The first time he calls up and asks for a date, she accepts. Keep 'em dangling. That's my method."

"Anne, shall I wear the black taffeta?"

"I think a little Tyrolean costume would be cute," Jennifer proffered. "Oh, Jennifer, I don't happen to do about dinner?" Daphne asked, suddenly contrite. "There isn't anything in the house but stuff for toast and eggs?"

"Who me?" Jennifer asked brightly. "Why I think I'll have the cook take a date, she accepts. Keep 'em dangling. That's my method."

Then, when Daphne went to the door with Anne, Jennifer slipped into the bedroom, closed the door behind her and took the telephone from its stand. She was going to pursue her learning her own way.

No sister was going to tell her what to do. Keeping her in like a schoolgirl. She was a woman who had a right to do as she pleased!

She dialed her number and bit on her lower lip.

"Hello..." she said after a moment. "I can't talk now but... I'll meet you later... yes, yes, I told you I would... I've been good too long."

She put the receiver back on the hook. (TO BE CONTINUED.)

BRITISH BARE UNIQUE LONDON AIR DEFENSE

STEEL CABLE CAGES WOULD ENSNARE ENEMY PLANES

LONDON, March 5 (AP)—The British air force disclosed its plan today to defend London from an air attack by a cage of steel cables in asking Parliament for appropriations that would boost the 1937 cost of Britain's war machine to $269,739,000 ($1,384,695,000).

The air ministry announced its expense estimates for the current year would reach $82,500,000 ($412,500,000) or more than double the amount asked for last year.

The Royal Air Force, Viscount Swinton, secretary of state for air, announced, would be increased to 70,000 officers and men with a first line strength of 1,750 aircraft organized in 124 squadrons.

The special units of an auxiliary air force would be treated, he declared, to operate a balloon barrage for the defense of London from the air.

Huge fleets of balloons, he explained, would be sent into the air at the first alarm of a hostile raid to drop a network of cables that would ensnare in the city and ensnare any enemy plane that tried to dash through.

The air estimates disclosed by Lord Swinton pushed the cost of Britain's triple threat war machine beyond the billion dollar mark.

The air force personnel as planned for 1937, the minister said, means an increase of 20,000 men. By April 1, he proudly told the House of Commons, the Royal Air Force will number 100 squadrons stationed at home, 20 squadrons serving with the air arm of the fleet and 26 squadrons in the dominions beyond the sea.

Civil aviation was not slighted by the air ministry in its expense estimates with a total of $10,575,000, more than doubling 1936, set aside for that branch.

Inauguration of the Empire mail service, development of the extended organization of Empire air routes and experimental ocean flights, including those over the North Atlantic, he said, caused the civil increase.

A subsidy of $90,000 for Imperial Airways was asked for the projected Bermuda to New York service which he said he hoped would be inaugurated in conjunction with Pan American Airways by April.

He found the man of the house gallantly plugging a hole with his finger. Ten inches away was the shut-off valve.

GOVERNATORIAL GARB.

ST. PAUL—Andrew Johnstad, a farmer, attended the Democratic victory dinner attended in one of Governor Elmer Benson's suits and had a free dinner to boot.

A friend had wagered Johnstad a dinner ticket if the latter, who professed not to have the proper clothes, would wear a suit of the governor's.

Governor Benson heard about it and provided the outfit with his compliments.

FREE MARKET IN GOLD WILL OPEN MONDAY.

FRANCE TAKES STEP TO EASE MONEY SITUATION

PARIS, March 5 (AP)—Premier Leon Blum announced today a free gold market would be established in France Monday as one of the first steps to ease the country's critical financial situation.

Stabilization of the franc was not mentioned in the surprise communique read by Blum at an emergency cabinet session. But the tenor of financial and economical measures taken indicated defacto stabilization at about the present rate of 21.50 francs to the dollar and 105.13 francs to the British pound.

It had been expected no announcement of the measures taken to halt the flow of capital from France and put the government into the gold market, would be made until after financial markets had closed for the day.

The cabinet communique declared three measures had been taken. There would be no exchange control because, Blum said, "the three power monetary agreement remains the basis of our monetary policy and recourse to exchange control is therefore excluded.

"The government asked the Bank of France to give a general authorization for free trading in gold, domestically.

"Beginning the week of Monday, March 8, the bank will buy gold at a daily rate and without identification of the owner."

The second measure for restoring confidence, the premier said, concerned the budget in which large cuts would be made.

No new credit, he added, would be asked of parliament.

Coincident with the opening of the free gold market, Blum said, a loan will be offered for sale at home and President Albert Lebrun will make a radio appeal to the country for support Sunday on the eve of launching the issue.

Five thousand messages of felicitation containing 300,000 words were received by the Nanking telegraph office on Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's 50th birthday.

The C.C.C. boys have planted nearly 1,000,000 seedlings and carried on insect and disease control over 13,500,000 acres since establishment of the camps.
