SOCIETY GIRLS MODEL FOR DROUTH FUNDS

NEW YORK, March 13. (AP)—Society girls and matrons are using their knowledge of how to wear clothes with distinction in the interests of welfare and prosperity.

In New York and many other cities junior league members have taken up dress modeling, replacing professional mannikins at charity fashion shows.

A group of Mayfair's social register are appearing as mannikins twice a week at an exclusive dress shop.

For four weeks they will model the latest styles on Tuesdays and Fridays at the tea hour. Their fees as mannikins, about $10 apiece an afternoon, are turned over to the Red Cross fund for drought sufferers.

Young women taking part in the mannikin shows include Anne Valentine, Cornelia Prime, Mrs. William Bayard Hawthorne, Jr., who was Miss Bettina Miller, Mrs. Frederick E. C. Roelker, Martha Milliken and Frederica Gallatin, all socially prominent.

At several charity balls and tea dances here this season debutantes have acted as mannikins, displaying clothes for Palm Beach and other winter resorts.

Junior league members are urged, as part of their contribution to the junior league program of usefulness in the community to help local commerce. Wearing the latest styles for philanthropic causes is one way of doing it.

Big Conventions

FERRYTON, March 13. (Special) Perryton is to be host to three big conventions, which will be held here during the next 30 days, and preparations are being made to entertain the visitors in first class manner.

The first convention will be March 21 and 22, when the American Legion and Auxiliary members of the 18th district will be here for a two-day session. First Commander Van W. Stewart, and Mrs. Horace Lackey, president of the local auxiliary, have committees at work making the arrangements for a real convention. Josh Lee, head of the public speaking department of Oklahoma university, will be the principal speaker at this convention, and a dance, a dinner, bridge games and a 40-8 wreck will be other entertaining features.

The Parent-Teachers association of northwest Texas will hold its annual convention here April 1-2-3, and committees are already at work arranging an attractive program and other entertainment for this convention.

The district convention of the Baptist Young People's union will be held here the second week in April and this will receive the attention of the local Baptist church and other civic organizations of the city.

The city commission has ordered uniform flag decorations to be installed on each of the main posts in the white way system, and these will be here for the Legion convention. They will be used for each of the other conventions that are to follow. Every effort will be made to make Perryton attractive and to plan some real entertainment for the conventions which are to come to Perryton.

NORWOOD IS INDICTED
TEXARKANA, March 13. (AP) — A Bowie county grand jury yesterday indicted Travis Norwood, 30, on charges of being an accomplice to robbery with firearms in connection with the kidnaping and wounding of E. W. Hanks, Redwater bank cashier, last December. Jess Glasscoe previously had been given a 25-year sentence upon conviction of robbery with firearms, for the attack on the banker.

JENKINS HOLDS EDGE
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 13. (AP) — The battle between "Long Tom" Jenkins and Larry Betts, court for the right field job with the St. Louis Browns went on merrily today with Jenkins apparently holding the edge. Betts, court, who started off with a bang, has been slowed down by a slightly strained back.

TOKYO, March 13. (AP) — Japan's latest bit of royalty was christened Yori Atsuko today on the seventh day after the princess's birth and shortly thereafter, in strict accordance with time-honored rites, Emperor Hirohito had duly reported the name to the spirits of the imperial ancestors.

The name was chosen from the ancient Japanese scriptures, Yori meaning obedience to heaven and Atsuko meaning generosity to those on earth.

Princess Yori is the fourth daughter born to their imperial majesties, Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako. The sovereign is without a direct male heir to succeed him on the throne of "the line unbroken for ages eternal."

Simultaneously four high noblemen, garbed in the dress of the ancient court, twanged bowstrings, an archaic rite intended to drive all evil influences out of the life of the imperial infant.

Followed then the christening. Then came the ceremonies whereby the name of the infant was conveyed to the gods and imperial ancestors.

PAUL WANER WELCOMED
PASO ROBLES, Calif., March 13. (AP) — There was a lot of back-slapping and hand-shaking going on in the training camp of the Pittsburgh Pirates here today as the boys welcomed Paul Waner, heavy hitting outfielder. Waner, who has been nursing an infected foot in a St. Louis hospital, reported last night but the club physician said the wound was not completely healed.

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 13. (AP) — Gene Rye, rookie Red Sox outfielder who has been smacking the ball all over the lot, has introduced a new one. The little Chicagoan calls it "eye practice."

HAS ONE CONSOLATION
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 13. (AP) — Bill McKechnie's beginning to wonder when the slaughter's going to stop. If it isn't the Yankees, it's the Cardinals and the Braves' manager is getting kind of sick of seeing his tribemen get the "run around." Yesterday's game was marked by one bright spot so far as the tribemen were concerned — Wes Schulmerick's batting. Wes drove in four of the six Braves' runs.

At Cage Finals

KANSAS CITY, March 13. (AP) — It's California against the Midwest in the semi-finals of the A. A. U. national basketball tournament here tonight.

The Los Angeles Athletic club is matched in one semi-final game with the defending champion Henry team of Wichita, Kansas, and Young Men's institute, San Francisco, meets the Kansas City Athletic club in the other.

All of the semi-finalists except Y. M. I. have won the title in previous years—Los Angeles in 1919, the K. C. A. C. in 1921 and 1923, and 1923 and the Henrys last year.

Man Is Burned In House Blaze

WACO, March 13. (AP) — The body of a man believed to be L. T. Whitlow was taken from a burning frame house here early today. E. D. Johnson, owner of the house, said he had rented it to Whitlow. A letter found in the house indicated the tenant's wife and daughter were in Santa Anna.

Two patrolmen found a burning mattress in front of the house. Whitlow's body was found on a bed without a mattress. It was believed he had carried out the burning mattress, re-entered the house, and had been overcome by smoke.

Offset Well In East Texas Comes In Late Yesterday

DALLAS, March 13. (AP) — The Texas Refining company-Rosser & Pendleton No. 1 Rodden, south offset of the Lathrop discovery well in Gregg county and first to spud in after the discovery, was brought in as a producer late yesterday, flowing 208 barrels on the gauge for the first hour. It was flowing through a one-inch choke with two-inch tubing.

The Rodden well cored oil sand from 3,572 to 3,577 feet. It is 300 yards south of the discovery well and is 200 feet from the north east east line of a 32-acre lease 3,700 feet from the west line and 6,400 feet from the north line of the William Robinson survey.

Unintentional Suicide

Many people are slowly poisoning themselves just as surely as if they drank poison every morning for breakfast. They are daily absorbing the toxins of poisons, created by accumulated waste matter in their undigested digestive systems. From a later disease will conquer their weakened bodies.

If you have headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, no appetite, bilious attacks, you are probably suffering from self poisoning caused by constipation. A relief for this condition is Herbine, the vegetable cathartic which acts in the natural way. Get a bottle today from Fatheree Drug Co.—adv.—2

Tobacco Company Profits Large

NEW YORK, March 13 (Special) — Net earnings of the American Tobacco company for 1930, after providing for all expenses of management, depreciation and taxes, amounted to $43,345,370, according to the annual report which will be mailed to stockholders today. Taxes paid to the federal government alone were more than $150,000,000.

These earnings, the largest in the company's history, represent an increase of 43 per cent over the net earnings of 1929 and amounted to $8.56 per share in 1930 as against $5.76 per share in 1929.

The increase in net earnings last year over the preceding year was $13,116,165. This was more than twice the combined increase in earnings of the company's three principal competitors.

Dividends paid to stockholders in the common and common B stock established a new high record of $29,293,983. In addition, dividends of $3,161,962 were paid on the preferred stock.

JOHN NEEDS HOSPITAL

SAN ANTONIO, March 13. (AP) — John McGraw is thinking of opening up a new hospital to take care of his long list of ailing New York Giants. The invalids now include Leslie and Leach, colds; Schumacher, lame ankle; Danning, torn finger nail; Richbourg, blister on foot. But all the news has not been bad. Bill Terry has signed his contract.

Since coming to Pampa my practice has been limited to office work, but since I have been solicited so much to resume general practice of medicine and surgery, I have decided to do so. Hereafter I will make calls and give special attention to obstetrics and diseases of children.

YANKEES ARE STILL GREAT BUT HAVE SOME PROBLEMS

PITCHING IS UNCERTAIN IN GOTHAM CLUB

Babe Ruth is Doing Well and Spectator Appeal Appears to Be as Great as Ever This Season.

By ALAN GOULD
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 12. (AP)—The New York Yankees still have the most expensive athletes in baseball and the batting punch sufficient to terrify any pitching talent. They still have spectator appeal. Otherwise, their case remains open to argument and it is just a wild guess where they will finish in the American league race. They were third in 1930.

Marse Joe McCarthy, late of the Cubs, now undertaking at least a two-year term as manager, has inherited an assortment of great ball players led by Babe Ruth and a flock of pitchers of all sizes and capabilities, plus a few choice problems. It has worried about them, Marse Joe doesn't manifest it.

Much Juggling
The Yankees have floundered since the death of Miller Huggins. In Ruth and Combs of the outfield, Gehrig and Lazzeri of the infield they still have the main cogs of Huggins' last championship club. Otherwise the shuffling process is still on.

This early in the training program, it appears the veteran Joe Sewell, long one of the greatest American league infielders with Cleveland, may solve McCarthy's infield puzzle. The Alabamian has shown great form, at bat and in the field. If he fits in at third, the infield will be rounded out with Tony Lazzeri at second, Lyn Lary at short and Lou Gehrig on first. If not, Lazzeri likely will cover third and Ben Chapman receive the assignment at second base.

Ruth Feels Fine
The only debatable outfield post is left field. Allen (Dusty) Cook, if he has found himself, will get the call but he will have to outlast and outshine Sammy Byrd, one of the few ball players who can best Babe Ruth at goit.

Old Man Ruth himself admits that at 224 pounds he is in grand condition, ready for a big year. He looks it and he is hitting the new and supposedly less lively ball with all his accustomed vehemence. Center field belongs to the Kentucky colonel, Earle Combs.

With Bill Dickey as backup-infielder, the Yankees have at least six regulars capable of hitting well over the 300 mark.

Pitching is worrying the experts more than McCarthy, although George Pipgras, star right hander, will not be recovered sufficiently from an appendicitis operation to start the season.

The teething problem seems to center around Gordon Rhodes, up again from Hollywood; Big Boy Sherid, and Henry Johnson. These three right-handers all have had experience. If they settle down and produce consistently, the club's pitching should be the best in years.

Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Harvey spent Sunday night with her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Ed McCracken of Pampa.

Legalized Boxing Would Be Made Possible Under Proposed Statute

AUSTIN, March 12. (AP)—A bill to legalize boxing contests in Texas was introduced in the house today by Representatives Davis of Brownwood and Mathis of Houston. The bill would permit boxing exhibitions to be held by clubs, colleges, and non-profit associations, unlawful under present statutes. Participants in the exhibitions would be prohibited from accepting cash for their appearances but could receive only medals and trophies. The bill, however, would not prohibit finish boxing exhibitions. Davis is an ardent boxing fan and recently made an address at a meeting of legislators urging enactment of laws to legalize boxing in Texas.

Cox-MacFarlane Duet In Victory

MIAMI, Fla., March 12. (AP)—Wille MacFarlane and Wiffy Cox today won the dual crown of Miami's international four-ball matches after a 56-hole struggle. They won the championship 3 and 2, but it was Wille and his course score of nine-hole 20, six under par, who took the spotlight for the victory over Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell. MacFarlane and Cox took first money of $750 each and a quarter share of approximately $1,500 gate receipts at their 18-hole play-off match. The losers gained $500 each and an equal share of the gate.

CUCCELLINO HITS WELL

TAMPA, Fla., March 12. (AP)—Manager Dan Howley expects to have no trouble with his present choice for the clean-up position in the Cincinnati Reds batting order this season. Tony Cuccellino, hard-hitting little second baseman, is starting off where he finished last year, Howley said, "batting more than 400 during the last two months of the campaign, and I believe he can keep up the gait this year."

MORGAN WANTS JOB

NEW ORLEANS, March 12. (AP)—Reports that Eddie Morgan, the Cleveland Indians young first-sacker, was anxious to come to terms continued to filter into camp today. The young slugger, who has returned from his honeymoon, has said nothing about his desertion of baseball for building boxes but his friends insist he has had a change of heart. The veteran Lew Ponsica, however, is showing himself ready to handle the job capably.

STADIUM DEDICATED

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., March 12. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers were here today to open their 36-game exhibition tour with a game against the San Francisco Seals, dedicating the Seals' new baseball stadium. Manager Bucky Harris will start Waite Hoyt, ex-Yankee, pursuant to the insistence of the Seals management that a first stringer take the mound at the outset of the dedicatory game.

KLEIN STAYS PUT

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 12. (AP)—Manager Shotton has announced Chuck Klein will continue in right field for the Phillies. "He's made a study of ball-bouncing off the wall behind him," Shotton said, "and he seldom guesses wrong. He throws strong and accurately to the bases. It would weaken the club to move him to another field. There is nothing the matter with Klein's hitting."

WRESTLING IS SURE TO DIE, FABIANI SAYS

PHILADELPHIA, March 12. (AP)—Ray Fabiani, Boston and Philadelphia wrestling promoter, made a plea today to keep wrestling for the wrestlers. Circus-type promoters who import athletes from other sports are a serious threat to the game, he said. "Now that professional wrestling is profitable and drawing record crowds all over the country and a new and better type of man is going into it from the competitive side," Fabiani said in a formal statement, "there are many new promoters rushing into it. They know little or nothing about wrestling or wrestlers. So they get football players like Joe Savoldi, Gus Sonnenberg, Ed George, and Tex Hamer, and boxers like Carnera and George Geddy and try to make a circus out of it. So surely as athletic commissions in the various states permit them to do this, so surely will the public abandon it as quickly as it has taken it up. When the fans go to wrestling matches they want to see wrestlers."

STEERS CLOSE DRILLS

COROSICANA, March 12. (AP)—A long batting practice session, to be tapered off with a snappy infield workout will close this week's training grind for the Dallas Steers. Manager Hap Morse, after today's workout, will select a team for the Steers' two-game series against the New York Giants at Dallas Saturday and Sunday. An intra-club game yesterday saw the regulars win, 2 to 0. Sam Langford, outfielder, is the only player in camp worrying Morse. Langford has been sick over a week. He will be removed from the training camp to Dallas this week-end, and remain there until he is ready to resume training.

NO SORE "WINGS"

PORT WORTH, March 12. (AP)—Manager Art Phelan of the Fort Worth Cats reported today there was not a sore arm, strained muscle or charleyhorse in camp. Infield work for the pitchers was on today's training schedule. Phelan reported he had laid aside his ax for a few days until Eddie Palmer, the manager of the Monroe (La.) club, which also will train here, has a chance to look the rookies over. Palmer will start work Monday.

SHIRES' VOICE MISSING

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 12. (AP)—Usually easy to locate by the sound of his voice, Art Shires is missing—or at least the management of the Milwaukee Brewers can't find him. The "Great One's" presence here has been heralded daily for a week but so far he has failed to appear for spring training. President Louis Nahn decided last night Shires had delayed his appearance long enough and sent out a tracer in the form of a telegram. It came back undelivered. Shires—if he shows up—is expected to play first base for the Brewers.

LOUGHRAN IS DUE TO TAKE BAD BEATING

NEW YORK, March 12. (AP)—To the superstitious, Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia dancing master, seems to be attempting a little too much in his ten-round battle with Ernie Schaaf, rugged Boston heavyweight, in Madison Square Garden tonight. In the first place, Loughran twice has been beaten by Schaaf; in the second, it's Friday the thirteenth, and in the third, Tommy's the betting favorite. The faithful shudder every time they think what's happened to favorites at the Garden this year. But the one-time light heavyweight champion of the world is not worrying. He tumbled in one of the finest boxing performances of his career in outpointing Max Baer at the Garden recently. Schaaf, however, has taken the stiffest blows of much more dangerous punchers than Loughran without foundering and is a much more damaging puncher.

RECRUITS ARE BELIEVED

LOS ANGELES, March 12. (AP)—Several Chicago Cub recruits were breathing more normally because of the knowledge no one will be cast adrift before April 5. Scheduling of four games for the irregulars while the first string club is playing elsewhere, made it necessary for Manager Rogers Hornsby to hang on to all hands.

Spuders Have First of Regular Morning Drills

WICHITA FALLS, March 12. (AP)—Manager Carl Williams of the Spuders does not believe in strict training camp rules, and he has made few regulations concerning the conduct of his athletes during spring training. The only iron clad "don'ts" he has posted on the club's bulletin board in the clubhouse and house bulletin board have to do with drinking. He makes no effort to tell the athletes how long they are to sleep each night, but he bunks right in the clubhouse with the boys and soon learns the identity of any whose sleeping hours might need special regulations. The squad turned out today for its first morning workout and the program for the rest of the week is two a day, at 9:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m.

Roth Explains But Fingers Crossed

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 12. (AP)—Mark Roth, business manager of the New York Yankees, has one for the book. During a recent game between the Yanks and the Boston Braves, a stranger from the north appeared at the gate and, in place of a ticket, presented a Yankee rain check he'd carefully preserved from the 1930 season. The gate-man couldn't persuade the stranger that the check was useless. Roth was called in to explain it had no value south of 128th street, New York. He wisely refrained from adding that it wasn't any good there either after the season closed.

CLINGMAN PULLS OUT OF TROUBLE TO DEFEAT HINDU

Oily Visitor Is Difficult but Local Man Wins Match in Straight Falls.

Two hard-won falls last night enabled Otis Clingman to defeat the Hindu wrestler, Basanta Singh, and to keep his long string of victories intact. The first fall went to Clingman with a step-over toe-hold and the second with a drop toe-hold perfectly executed. In fact the Hindu's feet proved to be the only part of his anatomy that Clingman could do anything with. Clingman left after the match for Albuquerque where he has a match tomorrow night. He was accompanied by Red Michaels who will also be on the card. Tommy Thomas of LeFors took the semi-final from Barber Kelly and Clarence Lee won the preliminary from Andy Gump. Baldheaded, dark skinned and bare-footed, Basanta Singh was the first to enter the ring. His weight was announced at 152 pounds. Clingman entered the ring at an even 160 pounds. Basanta Singh had the most prodigious strength in his small legs that has been seen here in some time. Clingman could hardly get a toe hold. Slip, slip, slip, every hold the Pampa boy got would slip off the oily Hindu and Clingman would look disgusted and try another. Clingman was in plenty of trouble from an arm stretch and then a Boston split. Coming out of the split Clingman got a step-over toe-hold and the Hindu patted the mat in 23 minutes. The second fall started like lightning with the Hindu rabbit punching. Otis took a wrist lock but it slipped and Otis again shook his head in disgust. Then started a series of wrist locks, arm bars and rabbit punches that had the crowd on their chairs. Clingman tried five of his famous drop toe-holds but the nimble Hindu jumped out of danger or the hold slipped off. Then the dirty work began. The Hindu used everything in plenty of trouble when the straight-edged Pampa boy slipped his drop hold on and Singh patted the mat. The fall lasted 23 minutes, the same time as the first fall. The fall made Clingman's 32nd, out of 24. Barber Kelly and Tommy Thomas started things in a hurry. They rolled around the ring and through one another through the ropes like main events. Kelly had the best of the argument for a while but Thomas' wind told and at five minutes he threw Kelly with a body scissor. Clarence Lee won the opener from Andy Gump with a body scissor that elongated Gump's sound-n't break. The fall went four minutes.

FRISCH SHOWS UP

BRADENTON, Fla., March 12. (AP)—The arrival here last night of Frankie Frisch, reduced the number of missing Cardinals to one. "Chief" Hafey, reported to be a stubborn holdout. Frisch brought his arranged contract with him, but said he expected no trouble in reaching a satisfactory agreement with officials of the club.

About New York

By RICHARD MASSOCK
NEW YORK — Tallulah Bankhead, the blond from Alabama who left her London pedestal for the American talkies, has become a new source of Broadway stories. One of them is about her fondness for fast-food drivers. It seems she had a way with them in Piccadilly and after she had called for home one of them sent her a wireless message, regretting her departure and wishing her luck. On arrival here, the first to win her favor was the taxi driver who took her from the pier to her hotel. She liked his chauffeuring technique so well that she hired him as her regular chauffeur. Now he drives her in his cab every day to the Long Island studio where she is starring in her first picture.

Modern Janus
 An odd job is that of a certain woman who demonstrates a facial rejuvenation process. The inventor of the process employed her as a "before and after" example. One side of her face was left in its natural state. The other half was coated with the cream, or whatever the cosmetic is, and as a result was transformed into a youthful profile. The result, according to the story which I have second-hand, was remarkable. The woman goes around showing one side young, the other not so young. So noticeable is the contrast that she has been embarrassed. Riding in a subway one day she was approached by a fellow passenger, who handed her a card. It introduced him as proprietor of a side show. He offered her a place among his freaks, an offer which she indignantly refused.

It now is reported that she is very glad she has only six months more to wear the dual face under a one-year contract. She has not said, however, whether she intends making it all youthful, or letting it return to normal at the expiration of her job. Master's Whim

 Passing of The World revived stories of the late Joseph Pulitzer's close check on his newspapers no matter where he happened to be. Copies of The World and clippings of all important stories were mailed to him day by day.

His chief concern was the editorial page. Even after his sight failed, he had it read to him every day by a squad of secretaries and expressed his opinion about every article, the style in which it was written, the manner in which a thought was expressed. That spirit in journalism, it appears, is not yet dead. The Friday deadline of a metropolitan newspaper, one of the largest in America, was advanced only recently. The order came suddenly and the staff worked frantically to make the new press time, which was 20 minutes earlier than on the other days of the week.

Somebody investigated the cause of the alteration, changing the routine of hundreds of men and tons of machinery. He found the publisher had returned going to a suburban estate for the week-ends. He had ordered the great rollers of his plant to begin grinding out the thousands of copies of the bulgoc edition a few minutes earlier so that a single copy could be sent to him on a certain train.

NEGROES PROTECTED
HOUSTON, March 13. (P)—Fearing mob violence, Sheriff Ernest Lee Lawrence last night placed two negro men, suspected of implication in the fatal shooting of Constable Roy Sterling of Hempstead Tuesday, in a county jail somewhere near Hempstead because of feeling in the Waller county seat. Hempstead was the scene of the shooting in which Constable Sterling killed Willie Henley, before himself falling a victim of the negro's pistol.

Hiram Dempsey, 73-year-old father of Jack Dempsey, former world heavyweight boxing champion, obtained a license in Salt Lake City to marry Mrs. Hannah Lyle Chapman who will be his third wife.

WELL STILL WILD
SAN ANGELO, March 13. (P)—Drillers continued their efforts today to bring under control the latest and largest of the world's deepest oil producers, Group No. 1 Oil corporation's No. 4-B University in Reagan county, which burst its steel bonds at an undetermined point beneath the surface. It continued last night to flow out of control from a depth of 8,587 feet. Oil of 61 gravity, forced by gas that gauged 66,000,000 cubic feet before the well was tamped, was showering through the steel derrick.

As a part of the prohibition movement in Japan, an effort is being made by the national anti-liquor league to bar the sale of alcoholic drinks in the houses of the diet.

THE CRIME IN THE DUTCH GARDEN

BY HERBERT ADAMS

SYNOPSIS: Audrey Winford's admission to Jimmie Haswell that she and Dr. Netherton are engaged convinces him of Police Superintendent Richmond's error in blaming the physician for the murder of Annabelle Quendling. It had been the officer's theory that he had killed the spinster so as to share her fortune through marriage with Marjorie Blake, a niece. A missing will disinheriting Marjorie and her sister, Evelyn, in the event of marriage may have been stolen to invalidate this threat. Audrey, urged by Haswell, questions Netherton concerning his mysterious meetings with Marjorie and a call on Captain Stirling, the latter on the murder night, but as refusal to tell and suggest that their engagement be put off. Audrey tells Jimmie she will seek the identity of the driver of a car, like Stirling's, seen near the house at the time.

Chapter 20 MARJORIE HESITATES
"That car was seldom out of Jimmie's mind. From the local registration bureau he had learned that Captain Stirling and 10 others in the locality owned Morris two-wheeled of the type seen near the grounds. Major Crenshaw owned one, but he said he had walked over on the night of the tragedy. The car might have come from a distance or, if a local one, possibly even when they are untraced. Jimmie is suspected. Ought I to say that he wrote to me before he came down here? He told me he was coming and he asked me to see that Aunt Annabelle was in a good temper."

"Have you got his letter?"
"No, I didn't keep it."

Jimmie considered the question for a few moments. Such a letter would be further evidence that Vincent Blake had not made a secret visit to his aunt's abode, though it would not dispose of the possible theory of a plot between himself and one or both of his sisters. Nor would it dispose of the suggestion that he might have seen his aunt and quarreled with her.

Marjorie did not want to tell the superintendent of Vincent's letter, but told Jimmie that he might see it though Vincent had told her that Richmond would ask why it had not been told before. Jimmie suggested that Vincent tell him.

"I don't think it matters much either way," Haswell commented. "But what did you think, when you found your aunt and Vincent did not appear?"
"You mean did I suspect Vincent? No, I did not. I had forgotten about him."
"And now? Yourself, your sister, your brother—knowing your aunt and all the circumstances of her life better than any one else could—can you make no suggestions that will help to solve the mystery?"
"But we ourselves are suspected." "The more reason then to tell all you know."
After a slight hesitation she said, "We told about the letters but they never discovered who wrote them."
"Suppose the letters had nothing to do with it?"
"But why suppose it? I must leave suspicions to you and to the police."
"You spoke of the danger of harm resulting to Doctor Netherton. Have you done all you can to prevent that danger?"
"What do you mean?" she asked.
"If you believe Dr. Netherton to be innocent, is there nothing you can tell that will help to establish his innocence? To clear his name reference to the Quendling case?"

"I know I have no real right to interfere," Jimmie paused to let his words sink in, "although one of the parties concerned asked me to help them. We want, if possible, to punish the guilty, but, most of all, we want to save the innocent."
She looked away from him, the old trouble coming again into her eyes. "Do you suppose," she whispered, "I would help you if I could?"
"Would you? Think it over, Miss Blake. Think over all it may mean to Bill—and others. Then, if there is anything—will you let me know?"
Once more she hesitated. When she spoke it was in a new mood—there was something of a defiance in it. "You are wrong, Mr. Haswell. Altogether wrong. The whole thing is as great a mystery to me as it is to you. I hope you will discover who killed my aunt. I wish it as much as any one, and I am as thankful as any one for all you have done. But there is nothing I can do to help you."
As he walked toward the Wades' home he considered what Marjorie had told him, but more conjecturally, the thought of what she had not told him was uppermost as he greeted Nancy and gave her Marjorie's message. It was forthwith arranged that the little party from Fairways should go over to Merrow Craig the following evening.

In the morning Jimmie played a round of golf with Nancy, meeting Evelyn and Lionel on the course. Evelyn repeated the invitation to the Wades and Jimmie for bridge that evening and passed on. In the distance was Captain Stirling and another man, the one-armed golfer making some accurate long drives.

In the afternoon he went to see Roscoe and again met Superintendent Richmond, who seemed greatly discouraged. "The safe way to commit a murder is on impulse. Every plan you make is a source of danger. If a man hates another, there is murder in his heart. Suddenly the chance to kill is offered and he takes it. That sort of crime is the most difficult to detect."
"Are you talking at large or with reference to the Quendling case?"

"To this case, of course. I am coming back to my first idea that the chauffeur did it. He was furious at her, she was there under the image and he gave it a shove. No one saw him and nothing can be proved."
"I follow the argument," said Jimmie, "and to some extent agree. The visit to Ben Acres for the hammer was not the only walk that evening."
"On the way to Ben's, or coming back, he went around by the Dutch garden and saw his chance."
"What about the empty car?" asked Jimmie.
"He thought it would put us off the track, but our failure to trace it justifies our doubting its existence."
If, as Jimmie suggested, Collett and Mrs. Frater had seen it, too, Richmond said it might not have been the same one.
Richmond had seen Green again, he said, but the chauffeur stuck to his story. Certainly proof would be difficult. Others had the same opportunity as the chauffeur, with apparently stranger motives—not angry or only, but very definite gain. Jimmie left him, little thinking what the night was to bring forth.

Talks To Parents

DEFENDING THE UNFAMILIAR

By Alice Judson Peale

Certain types of children meet every experience with a kind of natural eagerness, while others seem inherently distrustful of whatever is new and strange. They must first discover how the new thing acts before they go toward it to investigate or befriend it.

This type of child is particularly open to fear, disgust, shrinking or aversion whenever these are suggested to him.

If he spends his days in charge of an adult who is always cautioning and warning him while he plays, he is likely to grow up afraid of entirely too many things, and therefore unhelpfully limited in the range of his learning and experience.

Such a child, should on the contrary, be encouraged to meet new experiences with interest and pleasure. If he stops to look at a beetle making its way across the porch floor, look at it with him, help him to notice its feelers, its hairy legs, pointing out that it is a wonderfully interesting creature.

The nest of field mice he discovers is as worthy of his delight as are the newly-hatched robins on the lawn.

The loud and formidable steam roller he may regard with apprehension until his attention is drawn to the way it is smoothing the pavement and making it fine for daddy's automobile.

The moaning shriek of the vacuum cleaner may frighten him until he sees how nicely it picks the crumbs and fuzz from the carpet, and discovers that with one finger he can turn it on or off.

Daily living offers countless opportunities to help such a child overcome his apprehensiveness. Watch for the signs of fear and disarm it through interest. Encourage familiarity with whatever naturally interests him.

OIL LEGISLATION "GUMMING" CURRENT WORK ON SOLONS

By CHARLES E. SIMONS, Associated Press Staff Writer, AUSTIN, March 13. (AP)—The legislative machinery of Texas has become "gummed," figuratively speaking, with oil.

Three house committees have considered bills affecting all parts of the oil industry. They are the committees on oil, gas and mining, common carriers and public lands and buildings. The first two committees have dealt, primarily, with bills affecting the oil industry while the latter has been concerned with land title validations and items that affect mostly property owners.

A bill by Representative Hardy would "divorce" the retailing end of the oil industry from the producing, transporting and refining end. Another by Representative Young of Wellington, would restrict earnings of pipeline companies to ten per cent of their capital investment. Several house members expressed opposition to both bills, although the two generally have been supported by the independent oil operators. They say they believe the proposed legislation discriminatory and aimed at crippling one part of the industry to aid another part. Hearings have been held on both bills.

Claim Damage
The major claim the divorce bill, which would compel the producing, transporting and refining companies to dispose of their retail branches within one year, is controversial. They claim such a law would force the price of filling stations down to a point where it would be impossible to obtain a fair price for their investments. They also contend it will deflate the price of real estate in general and will add greatly to unemployment by throwing thousands of men, now given regular employment, out of work.

Proponents claim that the industry, whose operations are so extensive that it will cause such widespread distress to prohibit them to engage in the retail end of the business already has too large a hold on the state and should be curbed without more ado. The major claim the divorce bill, which would compel the producing, transporting and refining companies to dispose of their retail branches within one year, is controversial. They claim such a law would force the price of filling stations down to a point where it would be impossible to obtain a fair price for their investments. They also contend it will deflate the price of real estate in general and will add greatly to unemployment by throwing thousands of men, now given regular employment, out of work.

Too Many Stations
Representative of a Texas company admitted, in response to questioning by a member of a committee, that perhaps there were too many gasoline filling stations in the state and that in some instances he believed them to be an economic loss, saying his company needs little, if any more, from its retail operations. Those supporting the divorce bill claim the majors have "gummed" up the retail market until the independent producer cannot find an outlet for his product. They also hold out that centralization of the market outlet in the hands of the large companies is a detriment to the public good because it permits the majors to set the price of the finished product, with the result that the public is being forced to pay an exorbitant price for gasoline and other refined goods.

The main complaint of the independents is that it is rapidly forcing independent refineries and oil producers out of business because they cannot sell their oil and gasoline after they have produced it. They claim that "divorce" will re-establish free competition, will force out of business the stations that are not economically needed and will result in drastic price cuts to the general public.

Many Are Interested
That more persons are interested in oil legislation than any other kind is shown by the crowded galleries present at the hearings on proposed laws affecting oil and gas business. Since oil has been discovered in many parts of the state, public interest, generally, has become heated to a fever pitch.

The latter condition has resulted in many former titles of the soil seeking validation of their titles to land received from the state. Senator Clint Small of Wellington has taken the lead in another land title validation right that bids fair almost to equal the river bed validation right of a few years ago. He is seeking to validate the titles of West Texans to fifteen-sixteenths of the land sold by the state as mineral and grazing land.

land in this classification is a little different from other land and the state is entitled to one-half the rentals, royalties and bonuses from oil development on land so designated. West Texans claim this is discriminatory. In that owners of other land purchased from the state have been given title to fifteen-sixteenths of the minerals.

Bitterly opposing the Small bill, Representative Graves of Georgetown has introduced a bill directly controversial to one offered by the former candidate for governor. It would "validate" the claim of the state to one-half the profits from development of the land. Graves claimed the West Texans knew the kind of contract they were signing with the state when they took the land that the state school fund is rightfully entitled to share in the development of the minerals.

CAR RUNS INTO RIVER
PORTLAND, Ore., March 13. (AP) The Willamette river was dragged today for a closed car carrying an undetermined number of persons which plunged from a ferry slip here last night.

Witnesses said the automobile hurled down a hill and across the slip to strike the water about 30 feet from the shore. They said the car was traveling about 35 miles an hour when it reached the slip.

Don't let constipation sap your health and strength. Guard against it—now. Just eat two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Relief is guaranteed. At all grocers—in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

GRAINS HOLD STEADY
CHICAGO, March 13. (AP)—Dipping a little at the start today, grain prices soon steadied as a result of buying on resting orders. Early downturns followed an announcement that Australian wheat exports for the week were unusually large, 5,304,000 bushels, compared with 3,024,000 of the week previous and 1,480,000 a year ago. Opening at 1-4 cent off to 1-8 up, wheat later held near to the initial figures. Corn started at a shade decline to 1-4 advance, and subsequently showed little change.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Corson are spending today in Spearman.

RADIO DAY BY DAY

by C. E. BUTTERFIELD

(Time Is Central Standard) — NEW YORK, March 13. (AP)—Both networks will carry the broadcast of the Oxford-Cambridge boat race from the Thames river, England, March 21. The broadcast is expected to start at 8:15 a. m. and continue 45 minutes.

A 15-minute talk by Leopold Stokowski, conductor of the Philadelphia orchestra, is to be transmitted by WEAQ and stations Monday evening preliminary to the broadcast of a half-hour of the world premiere of the opera "Wozzeck" Thursday night from Philadelphia.

Morton Downey, radio tenor, plans to sing the most popular Irish song in his broadcast St. Patrick's day. To learn which song is the favorite he is asking listeners to name it for him.

Beniamino Gigli, operatic tenor, sings on the WEAQ network the night of March 29—Harry Richmond's orchestra now plays twice a week, Tuesdays and Thursdays, on the WJZ chain — Rudy Vallee and packed Little Jack Little as his guest, artist March 19—Buddy Rogers is billed for the musical cocktail, WABC and stations March 18 and Norma Shearer on March 25.

Try these on your radio tonight: Fifth episode of the "Crime" club story, "The Mystery Mile," WABC and network at 8:45. Alice Boulden, comedienne, and Nat Brusloff's orchestra, WJZ group at 7. Old time songs in a dramatic setting, WABC chain at 7:30. Raymond Knight and the Skinko orchestra, WEAQ hookup at 8. Gypsy trail conducted by Emery Deutsch, WABC and stations at 9. Celen and Johnson, comedy team, in the theater of the air, WEAQ network at 9:30.

Identify Money Taken From Bank

ABLENE, Mar. 12. (AP)—A man arrested here today with $142 on his person, identified as part of the loot taken by burglars who entered the State Bank of Jean, 15 miles north of Graham last night, was returned to Graham tonight by Sheriff J. E. Foster of Young county. Foster said burglary charges would be filed against the man.

Graham P. Sherwood, president of the bank, accompanied the sheriff here and identified the money as part of the loot taken by the burglars who burned a hole in the safe with an acetylene torch.

BATTLE OF BONDS IS LAUNCHED

It will be interesting to see how those who opposed the proposed statewide road bond issue will line up when it comes to a vote in the legislature on its merits.

In the gubernatorial campaign, only Governor Ross Sterling and Tom Love espoused the bond issue. Some persons jumped to the conclusion that because Sterling stuck to his guns on the highway bond issue he was elected. The real issue, however, was Fergusonism.

During the state campaign someone tackled the figure $350,000,000 on the highway proposal. It stuck, although Sterling disclaimed concocting it and the sum is now placed at $200,000,000 for the proposed amendment. Half of the amount would be to take up outstanding county bond issues, such as Gray's $400,000, and place the retirement of the state bonds on the traffic—an admittedly sound plan.

Chief opposition is not to the principle of the plan, but to the manner of administering the big fund. Some wish an elective highway commission, with the people voting without restriction, of poll taxes. The net effect of this would be to delay action on the proposition for several years. The proponents of the issue argue for immediate passage in order to relieve hard hit and heavily taxed counties from their ad valorem levies.

The argument is going to get warm over the issue, and the alignments are going to be somewhat different from what they were during the gubernatorial campaign. It would not be surprising to see Senators Woodward, Parrish and even Clint Small voting for passing the amendment to the people for approval or rejection.

Suspect Attacks Federal Witness

ABLENE, Mar. 12. (AP)—G. T. (Buster) Dunn one of 30 persons charged here today in Federal court with violations of the liquor laws after a series of raids here yesterday, was so glad to see the undercover man who proved his undoing that he promptly went to work on him with a large monkey wrench.

The attack took place in front
