COLORADO BANKER CONFESSES CONGRESSMAN KVALE IS BELIEVED BURNED TO DEATH JURY COMPLETED NEAR NOON IN REBECCA ROGERS TRIAL

HARD FOUGHT CASE REQUIRES EXTRA VENIRE

State Preparing for Use of Forty Witnesses

RECESS GRANTED TILL 2 O'CLOCK

Many German-American Farmers Placed as Jurors

NEW BRAUNFELS, Sept. 11. (AP)—The jury in whose hands rests the fate of Mrs. Rebecca Bradley Rogers, who entered the Farmers' National bank of Buda, Texas, in December, 1926, and at the point of a pistol held up 120 employees and escaped in an automobile, was completed today after 182 veniremen had been examined.

Judge John Watson ordered a recess until 2 p. m., so the state might marshal its testimony. District Attorney Fred C. Blundell said he had not determined what witness would be placed on the stand first.

The state had used 10 and the defense 16 challenges when the final juror, Erich Rosenthal, Hunter farmer, was accepted. Nine farmers, all of German-American descent, two merchants and a cotton mill worker made up the jury.

After the state had exercised its eighth challenge, Alvin Tausch, farmer, was chosen as the eleventh juror. The state accepted E. H. Kirmse, farmer, to complete the jury, but the defense challenged him. The challenge was allowed by Judge Watson although the defense had used all of its 15 such proceedings allowed in a capital case last night.

"I feel," Judge Watson said, "that possibly one of the jurors the defense removed last night should have been disqualified for cause. That is the reason I am allowing an additional challenge."

District Attorney Fred L. Blundell of Lockhart announced that two hours after the jury had been completed he would be prepared to bring to the stand the first of approximately 40 witnesses for the prosecution.

FANATICS ARRESTED

BERLIN, Sept. 11. (AP)—A dangerous conspiracy of terror against the German republic organized by nationalist fanatics who are members of the notorious "consul" organizations founded by the ex-naval Captain Ehrhardt, it is believed, has been unearthed by police, who have arrested twenty men implicated in recent bomb outrages in various parts of Germany, including an attempt against the Reichstag buildings.

German Plane Sinks
11. (AP)—All thirteen passengers and rests in sixty feet of water. Salvage crew of the Hohbach superhydroplane "Romar" escaped with their lives today when the great craft submerged after a forced landing. The "Romar" rests in sixty feet of water. Salvage vessels rushed to the spot but have not yet raised the plane.

THE WEATHER VANE

WEST TEXAS: Occasional rains tonight and Thursday; somewhat warmer in north portion.

OKLAHOMA: Mostly cloudy, probably local showers in west portion tonight and Thursday; slightly warmer.

—AND A FROWN
FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—Johnny Doe is a talking tennis player, he talks especially to himself, such as "ouch, rotten," or "oh, murder," when he makes a bad shot. Sometimes he tells himself after sundry outbursts: "Shut up, Doe."

"ONE TOO MANY" CALLS FOR HELP MADE BY PORTER

Prospects for picking cotton are rather slim, according to a Pampa negro porter who is trying to return to Pampa from a trip to the South Plains.

This amusing telegram was received by his former employer: "WIRE $24.30 CHIEF POLICE MEMPHIS. AM ON WAY HOME BUT IN JAIL AT PRESENT."

Surmising that a "friendly crap game" may have had something to do with the interruption of the homeward journey, the employer was inclined to let the porter spend some thoughtful hours behind the Memphis bars. Previously, such appeals for help have been promptly answered, but the present one was considered "one too many."

COOL WEATHER CONTINUES WITH DRIZZLE TODAY

A clouded sky, temperature of 50 degrees, and fitful drizzles today marked a continuation of the cool, damp weather that has been predominant in North Texas for nearly a week. Prospects for a change tomorrow are poor, according to the weather observers.

The continued rains precluded possibility of improving the roads and main highways, which are badly cut up by traffic but are passable.

DALLAS, Sept. 11. (AP)—The autumn's first assortment of inclement weather had left most of Texas in relatively favorable position today.

The initial norther blew chill over most of the state yesterday, and the general rains left a possible flood situation in one area—the Mitchell county sector of the Colorado river—but it was eyed without apprehension. Reports from Austin that the river's crest there had fallen strengthened belief the 18-foot rise at the town of Colorado would occasion no serious trouble.

Two cities—Amarillo with 52 and Wichita Falls with 57—had winter-time temperatures, as also did Dallas and Fort Worth, each with readings as low as 50. Others were in the 60's and 70's.

The Gulf Coast and the Rio Grande were cooler than usual but did not experience the bite of the cold felt in most of the state.

Palmer Wells Are Nearing Pay

Phillips Petroleum company's No. 7 Palmer, section 31, block B-2 is drilling on top of the pay at 2,887 feet. Ten million feet of gas was encountered at 2,864 feet.

A test of the well is to be made as soon as 6-inch casing is set. Drilling at the same company's No. 6 Palmer in the same section has reached a depth of 2,660 feet.

Phillips No. 3 Palmer, which was completed last week for an initial production of 2,400 barrels and later dropped to 600 barrels, is now producing 1,500 barrels daily.

Trigo Wins Race
DONCASTER, England, Sept. 11. (AP)—Trigo, owned by W. Barnett and winner of the Epsom derby, today captured the St. Leger stakes, worth $60,000.

Stands Operation Well
Oscar Dial underwent an operation for appendicitis last night at McKean and Connor clinic hospital. His condition today was considered satisfactory by hospital authorities.

Enter Amarillo Academy
Little Miss Anna Sadalle McNamara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. T. McNamara, and the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gribben, Margaret, Joseph, and Robert, have entered St. Mary's academy, Amarillo, for this school term.

BODY IS FOUND IN RUINS AFTER COTTAGE BURNS

Minnesota Representative Believed Alone

IDENTIFICATION IS NOT CERTAIN

Neighbor Discovers the Tragedy Early Today

BATTLE LAKE, Minn., Sept. 11. (AP)—A charred body found in the ruins of his summer cottage north of here today was believed to be that of Congressman O. J. Kvale from the seventh Minnesota district. The cottage was destroyed by fire last night.

Although definite identification was impossible, Owner J. Vigen said, he was certain the body was that of the congressman who, neighbors said, was alone in the cottage last night. The coroner planned to remove the body to Fergus Falls at once.

The ruins of the cottage were discovered this morning by a neighbor who talked with Mr. Kvale last night and was told to return today to fix a fence.

Dunigan Child Dies Tuesday at Amarillo Hospital

One day after the inment of her mother in the local cemetery, Kathleen Marie Dunigan, two years and nine months old, daughter of E. J. Dunigan, Jr., died in an Amarillo hospital.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Holy Souls church with the Rev. Joseph Wenderly, pastor, in charge. The body is scheduled to arrive here on the afternoon train. Burial will be made beside her mother in Fairview cemetery.

The child is survived by her father and a younger sister, G. C. Malone will have charge of the body. The child had been suffering of a stomach disorder a week Saturday when, critically ill, she was taken to an Amarillo hospital. Mrs. Dunigan died in an Amarillo hospital the same day the child was taken to the institution.

Will Sing Mass
The Mass of the Angels will be sung by Rev. Father Joseph Wenderly at Holy Souls church tomorrow morning at 6 o'clock, in honor of Kathleen Dunigan, small daughter of E. J. Dunigan, Jr., who died yesterday in Amarillo, and whose funeral is to be held at Holy Souls at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

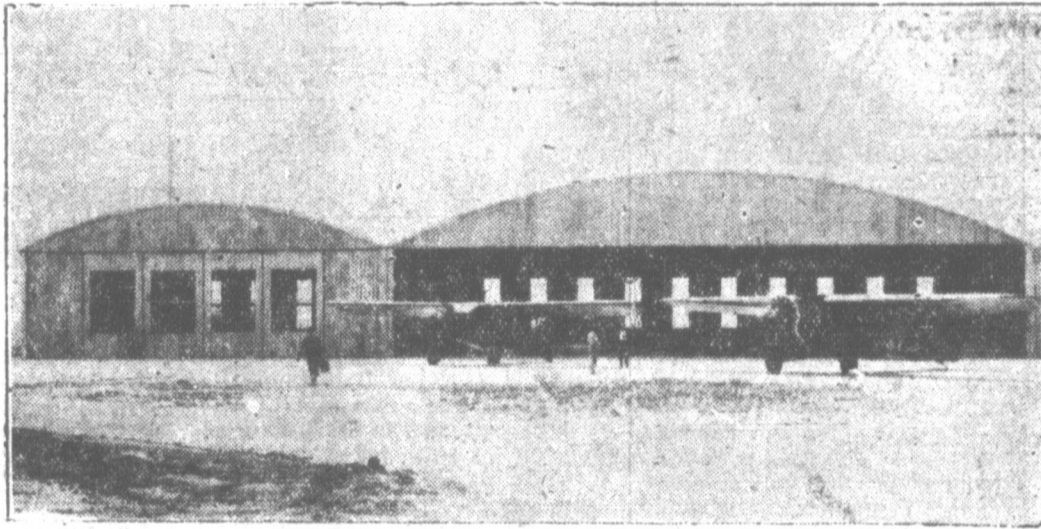

W. W. Meerten Improves
W. W. Merten is recovering satisfactorily, after an operation for appendicitis, which was performed Monday night at Pampa hospital, according to today's hospital report.

ORIENT OPPOSES LINE
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. (AP)—The Kansas City and Orient railway company of Texas has filed a brief with the Interstate Commerce Commission protesting against the construction of a line between Iran and Rankin, in Texas, by the Yates and West Texas railway company.

Nebraska Pilot Killed
COLUMBUS, Neb., Sept. 11. (AP)—Frank Cropsey, 35, piloting a plane in the first annual Nebraska air tour, was killed instantly today. He crashed from a height of 1,000 feet.

FORMAL PROBE ORDERED
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. (AP)—The senate today formally ordered an investigation of activities of American Shipbuilding corporations at the unsuccessful 1927 Geneva naval limitations conference.

Hangars at Big Spring's New Airport

Here is a view at Big Spring's airport, which is being dedicated today. The field is fully equipped for night landing and is said to be one of the best in the country. It has a machine shop, passenger waiting room, administration building, telephone, telegraph and restaurant service, and 2,800-foot runways a block wide. It is located on 230 acres of rolling prairie land.

Semi-Wildcat Is Filling With Oil North of Lefors

Paul Thorpe and others No. 1 Finley, two miles north of Lefors in the B. E. Chaney survey, struck top of the pay yesterday at 1,367 feet. The hole soon filled with 1,300 feet of oil.

Drilling will be continued. The well is two miles northeast of production in the Finley-Brown pool and was considered a semi-wildcat test.

Champlin Refining company's Cook-Faulkner No. 2, in section 30, block B-2, touched pay yesterday to flow 10 barrels an hour. The well offsets Operators Oil company's No. 5, which is on top of the pay at 2,745 and has not been drilled in yet.

Highway Chairman Waits on People for Political Move

MEKIA, Sept. 11. (AP)—Whether Ross S. Sterling, chairman of the state highway commission, would become a gubernatorial candidate depends on the enthusiasm with which his followers call on him to make the race, it appeared today.

The Houston capitalist, speaking at a lighting system inauguration ceremony before several thousand persons here last night, declared he "had no idea of being a candidate for governor. That," he added, "depends on the people."

J. I. Riddle introduced Mr. Sterling as "the next governor of Texas."

The commission chairman devoted most of his address to highway problems.

Russo-Chinese Fighting Ends
MUKDEN, Manchuria, Sept. 11. (AP)—An official communique of the Manchurian government today announced fighting which broke out at the end of last week between Russian and Chinese soldiers at frontier points in Western Manchuria had ceased on Monday evening.

J. H. Walker, Land Office Chief Clerk, Chosen to Replace Robison

AUSTIN, Sept. 11. (AP)—J. H. Walker, chief clerk of the general land office, was appointed commissioner to succeed the late J. T. Robison, by Governor Moody today.

Mr. Walker had served as chief clerk of the land office for 21 years. He entered the land office as Spanish translator in January, 1908, coming here from Johnson county. In 1901 and 1902 he was chief clerk of the comptroller's department, and financial agent for the penitentiary system for four years under the administration of Governor Lanham.

Mr. Walker is said to be especially well informed on Texas land matters by reason of his long connection with the land office.

He had not appointed a chief clerk, but said he would do so today.

ONLY FOUR MORE DAYS REMAIN IN WHICH TO PLACE BOXES FOR FREE MAIL DELIVERY IN CITY

OIL MEN WILL BE GUESTS OF CHAMBER SOON

Oil men of Pampa and Gray county will be guests of the Chamber of Commerce at the monthly luncheon, Sept. 23 in the First Methodist church, according to plans announced today by George Briggs, manager.

A committee has been appointed to plan an entertainment program. About 75 men will be invited.

Rate Change Approved

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission has authorized the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroads to reduce freight rates on grain and grain products from Kansas City to the Gulf 7 cents per 100 pounds.

Williams Test Will Help Hold Major Pool Status

Texas Company's J. A. Williams No. 6 in section 6, block 1, came in early in the week, flowing 650 barrels after swabbing. It has now settled down to a steady flow of 360 barrels. Drilling in the well had reached a depth of 2,697 feet when pay was struck.

This well's production should assist in keeping Gray county in the major pool list, making up for loss of production in older wells of this field.

TO TALK RAILROAD

Railroad enthusiasts of Childress, Perryton, and Pampa will meet this afternoon at the B. C. D. in the interests of the Childress to Pampa railroad. About a dozen men from the three towns are expected. The men will discuss new plans to secure Interstate Commerce Commission approval of the road.

About 300 residents on the proposed free delivery mail routes have installed boxes, and many more have bought but have not yet set up boxes, according to Postmaster W. A. Crawford.

Mail patrons have only four more days in which to install the receptacles, as 85 per cent of the residents on the routes must have boxes by next Monday, Sept. 16, Mr. Crawford says. There should be at least 600 boxes up by Monday, according to the postmaster.

Mr. Crawford urges patrons to set up boxes as soon as they buy them. A Lions club committee and the Boy Scouts plan to canvass the town this week-end, urging residents to buy boxes.

The federal postoffice department has announced that the free delivery service positively will not be maintained in Pampa unless 85 per cent of the patrons have mail receptacles at their addresses. The variety and hardware stores received additional shipments of boxes last week-end. They are being sold at cost at a number of places.

BELIEVES TOO MUCH MONEY ASKED TO FIGHT FRUIT FLY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. (AP)—Chairman Wood of the house appropriations committee said after a call at the White House today that Florida citrus growers would "have to make a much better showing" before he would be willing to support an additional $20,000,000 to carry on the campaign of eradication against the Mediterranean fruit fly.

This sum has been recommended by the secretary of agriculture as needed to carry on the war against the pest.

Wood said he had told President Hoover that on the basis of present representations, this was more money than he believed necessary.

WALKER UNDER BOND FOR LIQUOR POSSESSION

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11. (AP)—Mickey Walker, middleweight boxing champion, was at liberty today on $300 bail pending a jury trial October 7, on charges of possession of liquor.

The pugilist was arrested at a Hollywood apartment house drinking party. Monday Walker pleaded guilty to intoxication charges and paid a fine of $20.

Taking Airplane Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaw and Dr. J. C. McKean left yesterday afternoon in the Shaw's American Eagle plane for Mangum, Okla., where they will spend several days visiting and transacting business.

PROTECTION OF DEPOSITORS IS EXCUSE GIVEN

Telluride Conditions Collapsed, He Claims

BLAME TAKEN FROM OTHERS

May Not Even Hire Lawyer for His Defense

NEW CASTLE, Wyo., Sept. 11. (AP)—C. D. Waggoner, president of the Bank of Telluride, Colo., arrested here in connection with the transaction by which he obtained $500,000 credit from New York banks on unauthorized telegraphic orders from Denver banks, said today he engineered the deal in the hope of protecting depositors of his bank in Telluride.

"I knew exactly what I was doing," said Waggoner. "There is no one to blame but myself. I was the one who sent the telegrams out of Denver to the six New York correspondent banks, and neither my wife, my family, nor any of the officials of the bank had any connection with the transaction."

"The bottom had dropped out of things in Telluride, and a desperate move was necessary."

Town Goes Dead
"At one time the bank had deposits of $1,750,000. Then conditions in the town went from bad to worse. I wanted to get some money and put it in the Telluride bank so that the banks of New York couldn't possibly get it back."

Waggoner said he was thinking only of the creditors of his bank when he planned the transaction and that he knew he had nothing to gain and everything to lose.

"I would rather see the New York banks lose money than the people of Telluride, most of whom had worked all their lives for the savings that were deposited in my bank," he banker said. "As a matter of fact I was really glad the officers arrested me. I suppose I shall go to jail for the rest of my life. I don't know whether I shall even hire a lawyer when I get to Denver."

NEW CASTLE, Wyo., Sept. 11. (AP)—C. D. Waggoner, president of the Bank of Telluride, Colo., sought in connection with financial manipulations involving $500,000, was in jail here today. The banker was arrested last night at a tourist camp north of here where he had registered under his own name. He said he had made no attempt to conceal his identity and was driving his own motor car.

Waggoner declared he had "thought out the whole scheme carefully ahead of time," and insisted that neither his wife nor C. W. Downlain, cashier of the Bank of Telluride, knew anything about the transaction. He said he expected to go to jail "for the rest of my life."

NEW YORK, Sept. 11. (AP)—Charles H. Tuttle, United States district attorney, today wired police at Newcastle, Wyo., to hold Charles D. Waggoner, president of the Bank of Telluride, Colo. for federal authorities here.

MANY AVIATORS ASSEMBLE

BIG SPRINGS, Sept. 11. (AP)—With 25 planes, including 12 army ships from Kelly field, here, the Big Spring air fet opened today under auspicious conditions.

VARE DECISION DELAYED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11. (AP)—The senate today voted to postpone until December 3 consideration of the Norris resolution to deny a seat in the senate to William S. Vare, Republican, Pennsylvania.

IS ANY OLD TRUTH SAFE ANY MORE? It was a time honored saying that the best way to feel well was to get out of doors and breathe the pure fresh air. But times have changed.

Dr. E. Vernon Hill, health engineer, says that "indoor life, under controlled ventilation, is more helpful than outdoor life in big cities, where residents in congested areas eat a pound and a half of dirt a year." Dr. Hill, the reader may have surmised, makes his living solving ventilation problems. He is prejudiced in the sense that he is trying to state his own case in an effective way, but his statements are nevertheless of interest. "There is no such substance as 'fresh air,'" he asserts. "That is an erroneous concept long ago exploded. It is simply a term used synonymously with outdoor air. It is my sincere belief that the day is not far distant when there will be more sunshine indoors than outdoors."

To sunshine addicts, of whom there are growing numbers, the above will seem treason to nature, and many will not countenance the idea that Old Sol's health-giving rays can be improved upon. The science of sanitation, however, is doing wonders in the skyscraper zones, and artificial light rays approximating the sun's effectiveness will save many tiny lives. Breathing of cool, clean air of proper humidity can be brought about, moreover, by mechanical means even in the dusty, smoky cities. And such air is the best substitute for "fresh country air," which is practically identical.

Clean, cool air and good light, coupled with proper working positions, will prevent a multitude of pains and ills. Average Chicagoans, it is said, breathe and retain the surprising total of 28.4 ounces of dirt annually—around a pound and one-half. Detroit residents retain 1.61 pounds from their air, and other cities lesser amounts. Those of us who reside on the plains, where air circulates easily, probably are not suffering.

Safety indoors also, exists in another sense. For the week of August 16-23 in Texas there were 42 accidental deaths and 138 injuries. Of these automobile wrecks contributed 18 casualties, and airplanes none. The American annual toll of traffic is given as 20,000 persons killed and 500,000 injured, representing a direct economic loss of $2,000,000,000. Much of this loss may be traced to unscientific and inadequate regulation of motoring. Aviation seems likely to atone some of the mistakes of motoring. Fliers cover such a broad expanse of territory that any lack of uniformity will result in accidents and dangers. It is fortunate that the aeronautics branch of the federal department of commerce has been given authority and jurisdiction over such regulations. Federal air traffic rules already effective apply to all aircraft and airmen, whether engaged in interstate or intrastate flying. Individual airports are expected to adopt the federal code, subject of course to local applications and necessities. This federal set of regulations is being perfected and will be ready for distribution soon.

Wanted: Substitute for Weather

A motorized pilgrimage along much traveled roads brings variety of scenery, all kinds of tourist "accommodations," and a diversity of "stands". In one particular, however, uniformity rules the highways. Everyone wants to talk about the weather.

The motorist draws up for gasoline at a neat looking filling station. As the man pumps fuel into the tank, he remarks: "Mighty hot day! You know, I put a thermometer over there in that flower bed, and the mercury ran up to 128 degrees. Yes, sir!"

The motorist loses his way in a maze of crisscross roads and stops his car to ask directions from a native son. "Take the next right turn," says the guide. "Pretty hot day, ain't it? Must be 100 degrees in the shade."

By the time the hotel is reached the pilgrim is thoroughly satisfied that it is indeed a torrid day, and he is still more convinced when the hotel clerk spins the register, with the jaunty reminder, "Hottest day of the summer. Wouldn't wonder if it would rain."

That completes the job. Little rivers begin to run down the gable of the motorist's nose, and his disposition and his collar become ready for the laundry.

The only sure way to forestall references to hot weather is for the motorist to start the conversation first with some other enlightening topic. These preliminary bids for talk might include the following subjects: The population of the village; garage architecture; the care and domestication of gladiolas; the need of more benches in the park; the opening of school; tariff and farm relief; golf; new models in cars; radio; some fairy story in the newspapers.

Fortified with such small change, the motorist may reach his journey's end at night cool as an ice wagon, and twice as intelligent.—Monitor, Boston.

Out in the vacation country the folk catering to the traveling public complain about getting so many bills of large denomination. And the motor public complains about getting so little back in change much of the time.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
WASHINGTON—The Anti-Saloon League, reporting on prohibition conditions over the country in its 1929 year book, prefaces its reports on each state with citation of presidential election results for last November, regarding the greatly preponderant number of Hoover victories as triumphs for prohibition.

Reports of the state leagues, which are being summarized in this and a previous story, sometimes fail to describe enforcement conditions from the dry standpoint in states where the league opinion might be the most interesting. Thus the Michigan league, doubtless aware of extensive liquor smuggling from Ontario, fails to mention that situation.

Other state reports, continued in brief, are:
Minnesota—A new wet congressman was elected, with reduction of wet strength in state House of Representatives. Observance of state's temperance instruction law leaves much to be desired.

Mississippi—State law limits possession of liquor to one quart.

Missouri—Now has one dry senator and 13 dries among 16 congressmen and a drastic state enforcement law.

Montana—Dries fighting to regain grounds lost in popular referendum to repeal state enforcement laws in 1926 and defeat of proposal for new law in 1928.

Nebraska—State enforcement officers have recently optically increased their activity, resulting in more convictions and heavier penalties.

Nevada—Enforcement badly handicapped through lack of state law. State has fewer than 40 churches, which cramps Anti-Saloon League.

New Hampshire—Enforcement officers are doing good work, but state supreme court decision has made it practically impossible to deal with bootleggers on charge of illegal possession.

New Jersey—Dries look forward to a reasonable degree of enforcement as a result of Governor Larson's election.

New Mexico—Nothing to worry about.

New York—Has been the storm center of opposition for prohibition. Enforcement situation not likely to change without enactment of a state dry law.

North Dakota—Wets plan to promote another referendum in 1930 after narrow defeat in 1928.

Ohio—Enforcement made more difficult by court decision against jurisdiction of mayors and justices of peace in violation, and overwhelming 1927 referendum defeat of proposed drastic enforcement law.

Oklahoma—State enforcement code has been strengthened from time to time.

Oregon—Enforcement conditions improving, despite some difficulties.

Pennsylvania—Better control over industrial alcohol and closing of some illicit breweries.

Rhode Island—Has always been a large consumer of beverage liquor. State police have greatly strengthened enforcement.

South Carolina—Enforcement conditions improving steadily, with more and heavier sentences.

South Dakota—Enforcement fairly good, lacking appropriations.

Texas—Shows a 25 per cent increase in number of imprisoned bootleggers.

Virginia—More fines and more stills and liquor seized. Trial and conviction under state law quicker and more certain than under Volstead act.

Washington—Enforcement conditions considerably improved in last three years.

Wisconsin—Most recent of the states to repeal enforcement laws. Continues to be "a center of anti-prohibition agitation."

Wyoming—No gain; no loss. Dries anticipate better days.

C. de Cordova, in petit chapeau, or president, of the salon and its official delegate to the Port Arthur convention.

Lester in Group of Ag Workers

CANYON, Sept. 11. (Special)—Professor Wm. Gouley of Silverton will head an organization of workers in agriculture in the Panhandle region during the next year. The first regular meeting will be held the last Saturday of the Amarillo Tri-State fair.

Professor Geo. P. Grout of Panhandle is secretary of the new organization and L. J. Young of Parwell is vice-president. It is hoped that all teachers of agriculture, workers under the Smith-Hughes and Smith-Lever plans, and others teaching any phase of agriculture with adults or children will become members.

QUITE A SWELL PERFORMANCE—IF BABY DID IT

CHICAGO, Sept. 11. (P)—Proud parents who go wild with joy when their baby toddles his first steps without outside help have a right to be green with envy concerning two-year-old Mary Ann Daughman.

Up to Sunday Mary Ann had not been able to navigate without assistance. On that day she managed to get from one side of the room to the other under her own power, and Mr. and Mrs. George Daughman were elated beyond words.

CRIPPLED WOMAN HELD FOR DISPENSING LIQUOR

HOUSTON, Sept. 11. (P)—A 48-year-old widow and mother, paralyzed from the waist down since childhood, was brought to federal court here today in an ambulance for a preliminary hearing on a liquor charge.

Such ways and means as may be accepted by the club for raising the fund will be developed under the supervision of the fellowship and scholarship committee, of which Miss Fannie Florence Sims is chairman, with, however, the support of the entire organization.

The committee will recommend the club's giving two costume dances, one at Halloween and another in February, and a bridge benefit during the Thanksgiving season. It is estimated that a sum of more than $300 would result from the three affairs.

In addition to the scholarship benefits, the projects committee will recommend the club's furnishing speakers for a series of lectures to high school students. What students would make up the audience for the addresses, subjects for discussion, and dates would be under the jurisdiction of the superintendent, the high school principal, and Miss VeLora Reed, the club's faculty adviser, according to the plan to be proposed by the committee.

Indications are that fifty or more members will attend the luncheon Saturday, Mrs. Robert Chafin, chairman of the reservations committee, said today. The majority of active members have retained their standing reservations for the first meeting, she said, and a number of inactive members have made special reservations. All active members are to be held responsible for the price of a plate fee at every luncheon unless they cancel reservations before Thursday evening with Mrs. Chafin. Inactive members will make reservations by calling Mrs. Chafin before Thursday night.

The meeting of Saturday will be a business session together, one of two to be held during the year. Other monthly luncheons will be featured by programs to be presented by the various committees. Two large social affairs, established last year as annual events, will be the anniversary banquet in January and a tea for the senior girls in the late spring.

Dinner at Canary

Jack Osgood entertained Mr. and Mrs. Tom Morris, Mrs. Osgood, and on, Bobby, at dinner at the Canary Sandwich shop last evening, in celebration of Mrs. Osgood's birthday. A beautifully decorated cake, topped with candles, was cut by the honoree.

Be a good sport and get a little kick out of life. Roller skating will bring back the kick.

About New York

By RICHARD MASSOCK
NEW YORK—It cost only $3.55 to send a letter around the world on the Graf Zeppelin. But an envelope with the cachet "First Round the World Flight: Graf Zeppelin," twice the size of a silver dollar, is worth a lot more to a stamp collector.

In a Fifth avenue window of the "Lasa Trust company there was placed on exhibition one of three envelopes started around the world in the dirigible's mail pouches by Henry Behrens, an accountant.

Behrens, a native of Hanover, Germany, went to Lakehurst to post his three letters. Two he addressed to himself; one to a mythical name at a real address in Tokyo, with a return card in the corner of the cover.

An extra precaution against neighbors "snooping" the envelopes from his mail box, he wrote the superintendent of the branch postoffice that serves his house to hold the envelopes in the safe for him. The day after the Graf returned he called and got the two that circled the globe. The one mailed to Tokyo, he hopes, will be returned by steamer.

Morgan Yacht
If this column can be allowed another reference to J. P. Morgan, it will hasten to report on the financier as a yachtsman.

'Tis said that his "Corsair," which led a fleet of submarine chasers in the Bay of Biscay during the war, is being replaced by a bigger and finer $3,000,000 boat, not because Mr. Morgan wanted to give it up, but because the ship's master, Captain Porter, wanted the new craft.

The new yacht also to be called "Corsair," will be 343 feet long and 42 feet wide, the biggest in the world; will have steam turbine power because the banker has a fondness for steam, just as some old salts preferred sails, and probably will be launched at Math, Me., in January. It will not be ready for a cruise, however, until some time in the fall of 1930.

Although construction details are kept secret, a report comes that there will be only six staterooms—unusually few for such a large ship, indicating lots of deck space. The old yacht, Mrs. C. Cravy will open school of first grade work under supervision of the public school, for children under school age, September 16th, in the basement of the Methodist church. All wishing to enroll children, see Mrs. Cravy at 426 North Cuyler Street.

Walkers Prefer Ground
With all the current air-mindedness around them, Mayor Walker has flown only once and his wife but twice.

Neither care for personal aviation, Mrs. Walker made her first flight with her mother three or four years ago, taking the cloud route from London to Paris, a three-hour trip that made her ill.

The second time was when she visited the Ford factory in Detroit. Invited to ride in one of the planes, she did so out of courtesy, but recalled her previous experience.

After she aighted, 20 minutes later, the pilot said:
"Now, Mrs. Walker, wasn't that better than your first flight?"
"Yes," replied Mrs. Jimmy. "Two hours and 40 minutes better."

SPUDDERS ARE NEAR PENNANT AFTER SPURT

By GAYLE TALBOT, Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer

The Spudders just about slammed the door to the second half pennant in the collective faces of the Shreveport Sports by downing San Antonio in both ends of their doubleheader yesterday, 8 to 1 and 7 to 0. The scores, decisive as they are, would indicate Jim Galloway's men are quite themselves again.

Without going into the thing too far, it may be seen that the north countrymen, two and a half games in front, have what amounts to a chattel mortgage on the privilege of playing Dallas in the big series next week. If they win three of their last five games they are in, even if the Sports win all of their five remaining contests.

Rain, which had injured the Spudder cause the previous day, came to their assistance yesterday, washing away the Sports' final game with the Exporters and enabling the leaders to add a full game to their advantage over the field.

The semi-final series of the season opens today, with the Exporters at Spiderville, Waco at Shreveport, Houston at Fort Worth and San Antonio at Dallas. On the face of their record to date, the Shippers scarcely will be expected to damage the Spudders chances.

Waco's Cubs said farewell to Panther park for 1929, punctuating their adieu with a 12 to 4 victory over the Cats. Lefty Stein had the Kittens baffled in all except the second inning, when they did all their scoring. His mates pounded Haynes from the hill in the seventh and finished up with four runs off his successor, Sullivan.

The Steers took a parting shot at the Buffaloes, 9 to 1. It was the Bisons' eighth loss in nine games since hitting the highway.

Vernon Asks Game With Harvesters but Open Date Not Likely—Practice Is Pointed for Estelline Crash

Vernon's Lions wish a game with the Pampa Harvesters, according to a letter received by Coach Odus Mitchell, but there is apparently no way to schedule the encounter. If played, the game likely would be at Vernon.

With but two more practices possible before the game with Estelline Friday, the Harvesters must perfect their play and develop an offensive. The team looks fairly good defensively, considering the pre-game showing, but the scrimmages so far have largely been of the dummy variety.

The mud and cold weather have been hard on the boys, and "Charley Horse" have been more than ordinarily plentiful. Of the first string crew, Muller, English, Barnard, and Largin are afflicted. With the possible exception of Muller, these will see plenty of action Friday however, and the linesman also is likely to work out the kink by that time.

Several new freshmen were out for practice yesterday afternoon. Assistant Coach A. M. Fox is coaching the line in fundamental tactics and Coach Mitchell is teaching the backfield the fine points of penetrating brick walls. Then the squads are called together for a period and later are divided for scrimmage.

YANK'S CHANCE IN AMERICAN IS ALMOST GONE

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN Associated Press Sports Writer

As the Cubs marked time through an open date in the schedule yesterday, the Athletics rushed several strides nearer a pennant already theirs to all intents and purposes. A Philadelphia victory over Cleveland in the first part of a double-header, the permanent removal of the second game from the schedule because of rain and an even break for the Yankees against Detroit all combined to reduce the needs of the Mackmen from nine victories to six.

That unplayed second portion of the Athletic-Indian game double bill Athletic-Indian double bill stands Mr. Mack in just as good stead as a game won. By sweeping their remaining twenty-one games, the Yankees could finish with 98 victories and 56 defeats. To better such an improbable performance, the Macks would have to win only six.

Such a small pace would send them under the wire with 98 won and 55 lost.

George Earnshaw sought his twenty-first victory at Philadelphia yesterday, but was sent reeling from the mound in the seventh. The Macks rallied in the eighth and ninth to give Rommel credit for a 6 to 5 victory.

Babe Ruth celebrated with his forty-third and forty-fourth home runs in New York. The second of these blows, delivered with two Yanks aboard in the ninth round of the nightcap, sent the ex-champions into a tie and paved the way for them to pull out the decision 10 to 9 a moment later. The Tigers had won the opener 8 to 4.

Jack Russell achieved the unenviable distinction of losing two games in one day at Boston. The Browns knocked him from the box in less than an inning of the opener, which they won, 6 to 1, and the Red Sox booted home an unearned run in the first round of the second game when he tried to make a comeback. The Browns took this one 1 to 0.

The Washington-Chicago game was prevented by rain.

The National league's abbreviated program was featured by the game at Forbes field. The Pirates pulled out the decision 7 to 6 when Paul Waner drove in two runs with a triple in the ninth.

The Reds defeated the Giants 7 to 5 at Cincinnati. The rest had an open date.

Rockne Machine Has Hard Row in Coming Season

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 11. (AP)—Knut Rockne, the melancholy genius of Notre Dame football, is scheming and planning on ways and means of whittling a path through a schedule unusual even for a Notre Dame team—and believes his boys will make a "good showing."

A "good showing" for a Rockne team means misery for opponents, but even the craft of Rockne will be taxed to conquer Indiana, Navy, Wisconsin, Carnegie Tech, Georgia Tech, Drake, Northwestern, Southern California, and Army.

Rockne is planning on a lot of help from Jack Elder, who already has made his mark in intercollegiate competition on the boards and cinder paths of the country. Elder, holder of sprint records will lineup at a halfback post, with Marty Brill, a transfer from Pennsylvania, as his probable running mate. At quarter Frank Carideo ranks as first choice, and Joe Savoldi, a powerful fullback, is slated to fill the fourth position.

The line, with a flock of letter men back, presents less of a problem than the backfield. Only Fred Miller, tackle and Captain, and George Leppig, guard will be missing from last year's lineup. Captain John Law will operate at one guard position, with Jack Cannon on the other side of center. Ted Twomey and Tom Nash, both veterans, will handle it out for the job in the middle of the line.

Ends are abundant, with Johnny Colerick and Manny Vezie topping a list of six experienced workmen.

Reserve power, somewhat lacking last season, promises to be present for every position.

Buffaloes Show Plenty of Fight

CANYON, Sept. 11.—(Special)—The 1929 West Texas Buffaloes may be lacking in some qualities but pep and energy are not numbered among them. This year's squad at the training camp is continually talking things up, fighting and scrapping for a trial at the first string positions and there is, so far, not a loafer in the bunch.

S. D. Burton, physical director, says the men are rounding into condition faster than any he has seen since his advent in West Texas.

Tilden's Road to Another Title Is Being Smoothed

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 11. (AP)—Form reversals resulting in the elimination of some of his leading antagonists are smoothing the path of Bill Tilden to his seventh national singles tennis championship.

George Loti, the Chicagoan, whom Tilden expected to have to beat to win the crown, is the latest important casualty. Wilmer Allison, the impetuous Texan who upset Loti in the third round yesterday, is not considered such a formidable hurdle in Tilden's way as Loti would have been.

Your not too dumb to learn, if you are we will give you your money back. Try roller skating.

BIG SPRING IS EXPECTING BIG CROWD SOON. BIG SPRING, Sept. 11. (Special)—Certain that every hotel room will be filled during the airport opening Wednesday and Thursday, the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce today reiterated its call to the people of the town to list with the chamber any and all spare rooms. More than 10,000 visitors are expected to attend the air fête. C. T. Watson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said.

For the accommodation of aviators alone, an entire floor at each of the two principal hotels have been reserved, since he has received assurance that fifty planes will attend the celebration from all over Texas and surrounding states. Hotel accommodations will be free to all visiting fliers, as will gasoline and oil to those who do not "joy-hop" passengers off the field. A carload of gasoline has been ordered for use in servicing the planes, and the Kendall Refining company is giving the oil.

The Big Spring airport, which is located two miles west of the heart of the town, is comprised of 230 acres of gently rolling prairie and is singularly free of obstructions. It has four runways, each 2400 feet long and 300 feet wide, which are being kept oiled, and is the only illuminated airport between Fort Worth and El Paso. The lighting includes a revolving beacon which can be seen for fifty miles on a clear night, and a full complement of flood, boundary and obstruction lights.

The airport is equipped with two large steel hangars, one 100 by 80 feet and the other 80 by 60 feet; with a machine shop, 40 by 60 feet; with an administration building of tile and stucco, and with restaurant, telegraph and telephone facilities. A licensed mechanic will be kept at the field, and also, at night, there will always be someone there to turn on the flood lights in case the drome of an engine is heard overhead. The field is the division point and luncheon stop of the Dallas-El Paso passenger line of Southern Air Transport, a subsidiary of the Aviation corporation.

Sport Slants. One of the most interesting angles in what looked like a rip-snorting battle for the Pacific Coast conference gridiron championship honors this season is the exceptional quality of material on hand to man the pivotal position of the lines-center.

This far western sector has always had a big share of great centers. Among the most recent of All-American fame was Larry Bettemcourt, the chunky St. Mary's star who later turned his talents to the big league diamond. But the calibre is unusually high for the coming season, playing no small part in the strength of five of the main title contenders—Southern California, Stanford, California, University of Oregon and Washington.

Nate Barrager, U. S. C.'s captain, held down the pivot post last year, ranking as about the best on the coast, but so good a prospect is George Dye, an Alabama product now doing his stuff with the native sons, that the team leader is slated to be moved elsewhere in the line. At Los Angeles, Dye is reported as one of the best snapper-backs the Trojans have had.

One of the few outstanding stars left from Stanford's great 1928 line is Walter Heinicke, a short package of dynamite, who used up about three or four Army centers in the big game at the Yankee stadium last season. Heinicke is big, fast, a fine blocker, and declared to be in good condition despite reports a weak ankle might handicap his start.

Captain J. J. McEwan, the head coach at Oregon, was an All-American center himself when he starred for West Point, so that is isn't strange to see him develop so fine a pivot man as George Stadelman, who stands out in a veteran line, one of the strongest in the big conference.

Washington's center is the giant Paul Jessup, captain of the eleven, oarman and weight-tosser. Jessup's 6 feet 7 inches tower above any line and give him a chance to pluck stray enemy passes out of the air. He is being shifted from center to tackle, where he played last year.

Winding up the list is Roy Riegels of California, famous as the "man who ran for his own goal" in the game with Georgia Tech last New Year's Day, but a fine center for all that he has that celebrated "boner" to live down.

Less vital mistakes than that made Riegels have been the undoing of exceptional players but around the campus at Berkeley they expect Roy to be one of the team's big stars.

THIS HAS HAPPENED. MOLLY BURKHARD, between plays and taverns, is leading a hellish life. She has two plays on Broadway, both of them costing money. And she has three hot friends, RED FLYNN, a reporter who spends all his money on his invited mother, and his sworn enemy to marry, BOB NEWTON, a widower of Molly's dearest friend and father of the little Rita she loves and has adopted. And JACK WEBER, independent young architect, with a perpetual chip on his shoulder.

Molly, returning one afternoon from a concert at the Ritz, finds Rita with her small daughter, Rita, who lives with Molly. Molly invites him in to tea, and he begins to make love to her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY. CHAPTER XXXIV. MOLLY wondered why she hated Bob's hands. And why she thought they were horrid, because they were white. It might, of course, have been because they were also moist. And cold.

Clammy, she thought. And, shuddering slightly, drew her fingers away.

"You don't like me, do you, Molly?"

Bob's face was flushed now, and his mild blue eyes were brighter than she had ever seen them.

"Why, of course I like you, Bob."

"Well, not much you don't."

"Not very much," she admitted, trying to laugh, as though it were a quite unimportant matter. "You see, you're not a bit my kind of a man, Bob. Not the type, I mean, that I particularly like. That is, oh, dear, I'm afraid I'm not being very tactful. . . . Anyhow I do like you."

"What type do you like?" he demanded.

"Oh, a sort of an athletic type," she declared, smiling. "A big, brawny he-man. The tender, powerful sort, you know."

"I mean it," he insisted. "Don't kid me, Molly."

She laughed. "Personally," she said, "I've a lamentable weakness for the shocking, fascinating kind. Most women have, I guess. But the wise ones never marry them."

"Now, Molly," he reproved, "you're simply being adolescent. I'm quite serious."

"Well, I'm not," she bantered. "Besides, it's time your young daughter was in bed."

"I'm a good girl," announced Rita solemnly.

"You're an angel-girl," corrected Molly. "But it's time to go to bed, just the same."

She swept the child into her arms. "I'll tell you about the gingham dog and the calico cat," she proffered, "and the hushaby lady from lullaby street."

Rita sighed contentedly. "All right," she said. "Dood night, daddy."

Rita sighed contentedly. "All right," she said. "Dood night, daddy."

HE climbed into his lap, and kissed him dutifully. Molly had noticed that the warmth of little Rita's kisses was reserved exclusively for her. She hoped that Bob would not notice. It would probably hurt his feelings.

"You don't mind if I wait?" he asked, as she carried the baby away. "No, I don't mind," she told him. "Red's coming for dinner. Would you like to stay too?"

"You're seeing an awful lot of Flynn, aren't you?"

"Oh, yes!" she exclaimed. "He's such good com. . . . I love having him around."

"And you think I'm rotten company, don't you, Molly?"

"You're no little ray of sunshine," she countered.

"Well, I'd hate to spoil your bright evening. What does Red do to amuse you? Turn hand springs and spring wiserachs? I suppose he has a lot of cute parlor tricks."

"Now you know better than that!" he exclaimed. "If there's anything I hate it's one of those bright young men who's the life of the party. Red isn't a bit like that, and you know it."

"No? May" she the great lover (then?) Bob smiled hatefully. "Of course he doesn't look it. But there must be some explanation for the way he fascinates you. Some hidden charm. Tell me, Molly, does he make love to you?"

Molly turned furiously. "I shan't quarrel with you, Bob, she told him coldly. "I've too much respect for your daughter's sensibilities. But, under the circumstances, I doubt if you would particularly enjoy having dinner with us tonight."

"No," he agreed. "I don't believe I would."

A few hours later Molly sat with Red over their coffee cups. There was a little pink alabaster table in the drawing room. And Molly's demitasses had roses on them. She particularly liked pouring coffee in front of the pink porcelain fireplace, because it was such an attractive ceremony. Sometimes she wondered what her father would think if he could see her. Sitting in her low-cut evening gown, behind her great silver service, pouring amber liquid in egg shell china cups, as tiny as she could find. Her father liked his coffee in a big course cup, with plenty of cream and sugar. He would think her dainty demitasses absurdly affected. . . . Molly stared a long, long way from . . .

RED was smiling now as he raised the little cup to his lips. "You're certainly done wonders to a police court reporter," he remarked.

marked. "What's that they say about making a silk purse out of a sow's ear? What's a sow, Molly?"

"An adult female swine," she told him promptly. "All little girls from Snodgrass know that one. You're not a sow's ear, Red. You're the cat's meow. Speaking of swine—Bob Newton left shortly before you came. You know, Red, he's simply impossible! What do you think he said tonight? He asked me if you made love to me!"

Red grinned. "He's got a nerve. What did you tell him?"

"I didn't tell him anything. I sent him home." Molly considered her guest quizzically. Her eyes were smiling, but her voice was serious.

"You don't actually make love to me—do you, Red? You're just sort of casually affectionate. Of course you put your arm around me, sometimes. And you hold my hand in the theater. But I shouldn't call that 'making love.' Should you?"

Red looked startled. "Good lord, Molly, you don't want me to make love to you, do you?"

She laughed at his alarm. "No," she said. "I think it would be simply poisonous. I should probably want to stay you."

"No joking," he told her solemnly. "You wouldn't want to start something we couldn't finish, would you, Molly?"

She shook her head. "Because," he continued soberly. "I should love you so fiercely, my dear. So unreluctantly. So terribly. I think you would be afraid to be loved the way I should love you."

"It might be rather wonderful," she murmured. "Don't cheapen yourself, Molly. Love's nothing to play with."

"Oh, I didn't mean exactly that," she declared, setting her chin down nervously. "I think you're wonderful, Red. I wouldn't have you change for anything. I like you just the way you are. Besides, there's your mother, Red. You know you have to think about her."

HE laughed shortly. "I wasn't thinking about marriage, Molly. I was talking about love."

"Oh," she said. "And then, after a moment, 'I don't think you're the marrying kind anyhow.'"

"No," he agreed. "I don't know as I am."

He came and stood in front of her, and taking her hands, drew her to her feet. "Then, for a moment, he put his arms about her. . . . And then, abruptly, he released her."

Red went away early that evening. And after he had gone, Molly sat for a long while on the cubist sofa, deliberating.

It was time, she told herself grimly, to call a halt. Two men in a single evening. And both of them making love to her. She had even rather encouraged Red. Poor Red! He couldn't marry her, if he wanted to. Why make Red miserable and Bob? He probably had feelings too. Most likely she'd been leading him on. Not really meaning to, of course.

Molly, like most attractive women, played a game that is more or less unconscious. Some women cannot help halting men. They are not purposely ruthless, nor intentionally unmerciful.

Buck Jones Coming to Pampa with Robbins Circus

Here is Buck Jones, America's great western star and idol of motion picture fans who like their heroes astride plunging bronchos, mounted upon his world renowned wonder horse, "Silver". Both of these celebrated Hollywood movie stars will positively appear in person at both performances of Robbins Bros Big 4-Ring Circus, which will exhibit afternoon and evening in Pampa next Saturday, September 14. Buck is appearing in person as the featured attraction with the big circus this season and at the same time making a "Western talkie." Scenes from this picture will be "shot" at the Robbins Bros. circus lot Saturday.

Judge Willis, Who Helped to Lay Out Pampa Townsite and Who Handed Down County Seat Rulings, Now Here

The man who took care of the legal work in the laying out of Pampa townsite in 1900 and who 29 years later decided that Pampa should be the county seat of Gray county, Judge Newton P. Willis, late of the 84th judicial district, arrived in Pampa yesterday to begin the practice of law in the new firm of Willis, Studer and Studer. Why Judge Willis resigned as district judge and came to Pampa to practice law instead of going back to the town where he had lived for 39 years, Canadian, was summarized in a statement he made to The News today. "Such a splendid opportunity for service presented itself here. I could not turn it down, and besides I don't believe any man should continue to hold office until he has become addicted to it. Office-holding can have the effect of a narcotic drug on a man."

of it was read at the 1928 meeting of the American Bar association and was widely quoted. With Judge Willis yesterday arrived his son, Everett, who last year graduated from the University of Missouri where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary fraternity, and Sigma Uu, social fraternity. The young man will leave next Sunday for Harvard university where he will take special courses in corporation law. He is a talented pianist. Mrs. Willis and daughter will move to Pampa as soon as arrangements can be made to leave Canadian, where the family has lived for 39 years. Judge Willis is a pioneer in the Panhandle, as was his father, who was district judge in the early days. While holding court at Perryton three weeks ago, Judge Willis made his

"Placing a case lawyer on the bench is like jamming a thrill-hunting reporter behind a copy desk of a newspaper. Both will come out of their seats pretty soon." Judge Willis says has been asked by his Canadian friends and his friends over the North Panhandle if he was not taking a "leap in the dark" by resigning his comfortable and not-likely-to-be-contested position on the bench and coming to Pampa. "Taking a leap by moving to Pampa? Not much!" he declared. "I have confidence that the energetic citizens, the fine characters of Pampa will build a town of 50,000 before long, and after that, growing will become a habit. It is my intense desire to help build a greater, more beautiful Pampa... exclusive of the oil development and bearing in mind the agricultural potentialities of Pampa's territory. I believe Pampa is due to become the metropolis of the North Plains." Judge Willis suddenly stopped talking, his gaze wandered through the window in the Studer office over the buildings to the south. His eyes seemed to be seeing the greater Pampa of which he is enthusiastic, then he suddenly turned, his face smiling. "I am certain of it, Pampa has a great future in store for her... this is a city of destiny." Judge Willis is well-known in Gray county. He represented clients of Pampa at LeFors when Pampa's population was less than 500. His first charge to a grand jury in the 84th district, a year and a half ago, was re-printed in leading newspapers of the South and in law journals throughout the country. It contained progressive ideas on court reform and tarting observations on the "crime wave" and the 18th amendment. Part

Army Is Concocting "Yellow Peril" for Eleven Opponents

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 11. (AP)—Eleven football teams, distributed from the Atlantic to the Pacific through the East and Middle West, will do well to provide themselves with the proper serum to ward off jaundice or yellow fever, or both. The Army football team is busily engaged in concocting a yellow peril in vivid jerseys almost too golden to be true, the Cadets are preparing for a season that will send their shock troops against Boston University, Gettysburg, Davidson, Harvard, Yale, South Dakota, Illinois, Dickson, Ohio Wesleyan, Notre Dame, and Stanford in order. To fill these impressive garments, Head Coach Biff Jones and his brother officers are rapidly putting together a machine-like team. There will be some newcomers in the center of the line, at the snapper-back and guard positions, but experienced men will form a great foundation on which to build.

The familiar faces include the crafty Keener Cagle, a back who has few equals in contemporary football at either passing or running; Dick O'Keefe Hertz Murrell, and Herbert Gibner, looming as the probable starting back field, and other good prospects from last season.

Ed Messinger and Carl Carlmark are certain to play the ends, and George Perry, Charlie Humber, Bill Parnham, and Winston Maxwell will be available for the line. Among the linesmen who have their spurs to win are Paul Miller, Ed Saurez, Dan Spengler, Coughlin Gordon, and others. "We like 'em tough," is the Army answer to hints that the 1929 schedule is formidable.

Grain Is Upward
CHICAGO, Sept. 11. (AP)—Grain showed an early upward trend today, largely as a result of the United States government crop report on corn. Reduction of the official estimate of the 1929 probable yield of corn was much more drastic than expected. Opening 5-8 to 1 3-4c higher, corn afterward continued to point upward. Wheat started 1-8c off to 1c up, and later showed gains all around. Oats were firm. Provisions declined.

Mexican Children Scared
LAREDO, Sept. 11. (AP)—While en route to points in the United States to attend school, 47 Mexican children were fired on by bandits near Salinas, Mexico, Monday evening, they reported when they arrived here yesterday. The children were forced to lie on the floor of the cars as the train ran the gauntlet of rifle shots. None was injured, but great excitement prevailed. Daily News want-ads bring results.
