Rev. Lancaster To Be Pastor At Big Spring

The Rev. C. E. Lancaster will present to the congregation of First Baptist church Sunday morning his resignation as pastor, and will leave soon for a similar post as pastor of First Baptist church in Big Spring.

Date for his resignation to become effective has not been set, and will depend upon the wishes of the churches affected. Mr. Lancaster said that he will remain until the church here can arrange for a supply pastor, as the Big Spring church is being served temporarily by Dr. Atwood of Simmons University.

Mr. Lancaster is starting the eighth year of his present pastorate, to which he came in July, 1930. However, he was pastor here from 1917 to January, 1921, a service that was interruped by two years as chaplain in the United States Army during the world war. He was discharged with the rank of captain, after supervising welfare work in southern France several months after the Armistice was signed.

Has 1,700 Members

The Pampa church was the first he served as a full-time pastor, although he worked in small churches during his student days at Howard Payne college, Brownwood. Between 1921 and 1930 he studied at the Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth, then served as pastor at Chillicothe and Coleman.

During his last seven years here, First Baptist church has grown from a membership of 525 to 1,700, and has practically wiped out its building debt while conducting a $20,000 improvement program.

On last Thanksgiving day an honorary doctor of divinty degree was conferred on Mr. Lancaster by Howard Payne college in recognition of his work in the Texas Baptist church.

He terms his "favorite hobby" teaching a downtown Sunday school class for men. He has been active in civic and welfare work in Pampa, his latest service being as chairman of the board for the city's supplementary relief fund this year. He is a member of the Rotary club.

With Mr. Lancaster to Big Spring will go Mrs. Lancaster and their foster daughter, Margery.

WALLACE AND MARVIN JONES IN ARGUMENT

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—Secretary Wallace and Chairman Jones (D-Tex.) clashed at a House agriculture committee hearing today on how much a farm price stabilization program would cost.

The Texan, questioning ability of the treasury to finance the program which Wallace urged, told the secretary he estimated $635,000,000 to $1,250,000,000 would be needed annually for "parity" and soil conservation payments if all farmers complied.

"I think, Mr. Chairman, that your mathematics must be in error," Wallace replied.

Saying he had based his estimates on production figures for the past ten years and parity prices as determined by the agriculture department, Jones declared he would stand by them until shown they were incorrect.

Jones then suggested that department statisticians estimate the cost.

Police Seeking Hit-Run Driver

City police today were looking for a hit-and-run driver who ran into a car at the intersection of Frost and Foster streets at 6 o'clock last evening. The rear of the W. E. Speed car was damaged in the collision.

According to Mr. Speed and witnesses, who included City Manager C. L. Stine, the Speed car was proceeding north on Frost street when it was in collision with the other car being driven east on Foster.

Officers were given the license number of the other car by City Manager Stine.

FACTORY EXPLODES.

TOKYO, May 28 (AP)—More than 20 persons were killed or seriously injured today in a gunpowder factory explosion at Kuamnmoto on Kyushu island.

BETTING FOES LOSE CLASH IN TEXAS SENATE

REPEALISTS ATTEMPT TO AVOID HOSTILE COMMITTEE

AUSTIN, May 28 (AP)—First votes in the Senate in the current controversy over repeal of the state law legalizing wagering on horse racing today showed a remarkably close division of sentiment.

Motions by both repealists and anti-repealists to send a bill knocking out the statute to committees other than that on criminal jurisprudence to which it had been referred lost by the same margin, 13 to 13 with one pair.

The votes were the first in the upper legislative branch on the subject of race repeal since the legislature convened yesterday in special session at call of Governor James V. Allred to consider the matter.

The repealists wanted the bill sent to the committee of the whole Senate while the antis sought to have it go to the committee on state affairs.

Repealists Despondent

Leaders among those advocating repeal were plainly disappointed at the failure of the attempt to have the Senate sitting as a committee consider the bill, which was identical to one also introduced in the House of Representatives.

"I am afraid we may never get the bill out of the committee on criminal jurisprudence," said Senator G. H. Nelson of Lubbock author of the repeal measure.

Senator Grady Wooruff of Decatur, who made the motion to refer

QUINS TO EAT ONLY OATMEAL AND SPINACH

CALLANDER, Ont., Mary 28 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne's five famous daughters were three years old today but—save for a half hour deviation in their supper time—it was mostly another day of oatmeal and spinach, bathing and play.

The saucer-eyed little girls, far too young to realize the passage of the third milestone in their once tenuous lives, did not have cake, ice cream or candy; they had to stick to their routine diet of milk and other body-building foods.

To make way for a public ceremony and a late afternoon radio broadcast in which Marie, Cecile, Yvonne and Annette were importuned to sing and talk, the quints' supper-time was moved back until after 6 o'clock instead of between 5:30 and 6.

The master of ceremonies was Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe.

Today the girls have learned to feed themselves and brush their own teeth. Their weights average 30 pounds, five ounces.

They do not talk so well but have mastered a French-Canadian song, "En Roullant Ma Boule.'

NINE-YEAR OLD BOY WINS HOUSTON TITLE

Don Warren, nine-year old Sam Houston school third-grader, has his eye on the free trip, expenses paid, and $10 spending money, to the Pan American exposition at Dallas, which will be awarded the champion of the Top O' Texas marble tournament here June 3 and 4.

Yesterday, Don won the Sam Houston school tournament—just as he did last year. He knocked over all contestants even easier than he did last year. Sam Houston school boys believe they'll have to be pretty good to beat Don out of that free trip. The runner-up will also receive a free trip to the exposition.

All school champions of this area will compete next week for the two prizes.

Farley Says Sentiment Growing Over Country For 3rd Term For FDR

Sentiment for Roosevelt staying in office for another term may overshadow the mention of Postmaster General James A. Farley as a 1940 presidential possibility.

This was the postmaster general's answer to a question as to whether he was planning to become a candidate for the No. 1 job in the United States.

It was made in the course of his trip through Texas yesterday when he stopped over in Pampa for a five-minute radio talk to Pampans and a crowd of 1,500 gathered at the Santa Fe station here yesterday afternoon when his train pulled in, a half-hour late.

"It is too early to tell just exactly what will happen," Mr. Farley said. "There is already much sentiment forming in behalf of the chief staying on the job for a third term."

Talks Over Radio.

As Mr. Farley's train pulled into the station here around 2:35 p. m. yesterday, he appeared on the observation platform of his private car and began almost immediately a radio talk over a KPDN remote line.

Holding the microphone in his hand, General Farley briefly recounted accomplishments of the Roosevelt administration, stated that Mr. Roosevelt's popularity is greater now than ever, and that the New Deal program launched in 1933 will be carried to fruition just as rapidly as possible.

The postmaster general also paid a high tribute to the men in the postal service and asserted that it was his privilege to be head of the federal department which he considered to be the greatest branch of the government.

He named the HOLC, FHA, PWA, and WPA and one or two other alphabetical bureaus, instituted by the administration, as having done a

Virgil Howell Injured; Crash Wrecks Plane

Department of commerce inspectors will come to Pampa to investigate an accident at the Pampa Airport yesterday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock when Virgil Howell miraculously escaped death in a crash which nearly demolished the plane he was flying.

Howell received a bad scalp laceration which required 15 stitches to close, minor bruises and a possible minor fracture of the pelvic bone, attending physicians reported this morning at Worley hospital where he was taken in a cab.

Howell, post office parcel post carrier, had been in the air eight minutes when the ship, a Taylor Cub, went into a spin. Witnesses said that Howell had circled the airport a couple of times and was putting the ship into short climbs with the throttle back before leveling off. On the last climb the ship banked but failed to right itself and went into a spin. They said Howell fought the ship to the ground and almost had it under control when it hit the ground, nose first.

At 400-Foot Altitude

The ship was at an altitude of about 400 feet when it went into the spin, witnesses told a NEWS reporter. Howell's safety belt broke when the ship hit the ground and he was thrown clear. He was flying from the rear cockpit which probably saved him from having his legs crushed and receiving major injuries.

Howell was conscious when Mel Dunn, Bill Mann, C. V. Timmons and the driver of a taxi cab which was cruising near the airport arrived at the scene. With help, Howell walked to the taxi but lost consciousness before reaching the hospital.

Just before the crash, Mel Dunn had flown the plane. Bill Mann was at the controls ahead of Dunn. The plane was owned by L. K. Bray of the Tarpley Music store. It had been stationed at Amarillo for some time and was flown to Pampa Wednesday.

The motor of the plane, the undercarriage and the cockpit were

ANOTHER RAIN FALLS IN AREA

Another drenching rain after last midnight added moisture to the record precipitation which fell in the dust bowl sector of the Panhandle Wednesday. Pampa got four-tenths of an inch around 2 o'clock this morning boosting the week's total of rainfall here to two and a half inches since last Sunday.

The rainstorm, accompanied by thunder and lightning, swept in from New Mexico and reached as far north as Dalhart. The rainfall day before yesterday was reported to be the heaviest in the dust bowl in five years.

In addition to all this, the weatherman continues today to predict showers. Ranges are brightening up from the heavy fall of rain in the past few days.

Conway, with four inches, reported the heaviest downpour, with Claude almost as much. Mobeetie reported half an inch, Groom an inch, and Alanreed and McLean a quarter. Between Claude and Clarendon three-quarters of an inch fell.

In the Dust Bowl area Dalhart reported 2.73 inches; Stratford, 1.5; Boise City, one inch; Guymon, one and a half; Liberal, Kansas, an inch; Perryton and Spearman, almost an inch.

Amarillo received 30 hundredths of an inch of moisture from Wednesday night's rain.

BURNS TO DEATH.

PALESTINE, May 28 (AP)—W. T. Bickers, 66, of Jewett, Texas, was burned to death last night when his automobile caught fire on the highway seven miles west of Oakwood. The machine, overturned, was discovered in flames by motorists, who pulled Bickers' charred body from the wreckage.

Pioneer Ideals Praised By Dr. Dale To Grads

Defining a pioneer as one "who looks to the future and sees changes he would like to bring about," Dr. E. E. Dale of the University of Oklahoma history department, addressing the high school graduating class last evening, named pioneer characteristics needed by young men and women looking to the future today.

He spoke to the 115 seniors and a crowd of parents and friends that filled the new high school auditorium. Afterward, diplomas were presented by Supt. R. B. Fisher, assisted by Principal L. L. Sone and Assistant Principal E. N. Dennard.

Mr. Dennard, who is leaving Pampa to be principal of Marshall high school next year, presented the scholarships to the honor students, Gwendolyn Underwood, valedictorian; Margaret Tignor, salutatorian, and Roy Lee Jones, high ranking boy.

Dr. Dale reviewed the story of American pioneering, especially the settlement of the plains area, in which he had a part. He spoke briefly of modern pioneering in the field of invention, mechanics, and science.

Characteristics of the pioneer still needed by the world, he said, are preparation for the job, simplicity and friendliness; hard work, without regarding education as a means to get out of work; and the high courage that comes from faith in self, man, and God.

His talk was preceded by a vocal solo, "For You Alone," Geehl, by Ruby Scaief, member of the graduating class. Miss Helen Martin played the processional to which faculty members found their places on the auditorium stage and the seniors in a reserved center section. Invocation and benediction were by John S. Mullen, First Christian minister.

A high school chorus directed by Miss Martin sang the alma mater "Dear Old Pampa High School" from backstage to close the program impressively.

Senior mothers had decorated the stage with palms and red and white carnations. Reserved seats for graduates, their parents, and school board members were marked with red and white, class colors.

TWO SUSPECTS IN BURGLARIES UNDER ARREST

Two suspects in Pampa safe burglaries of three months ago were in jail at Ardmore, Okla., today, and Gray county officials are making preparations to go to the Oklahoma town and question the men.

According to word received here by County Attorney Joe Gordon and Deputy Sheriff O. T. Lindsey, the men already have confessed to burglaries in a score of Texas towns, including one at the Texas Company warehouse in McLean, in which they stole six cases of motor oil.

They gave their names as Herbert Davenport and Frank Dice. A complaint has been filed against them in connection with the McLean burglary, County Attorney Gordon stated.

The men are suspected, according to their confessions in Oklahoma, of having participated in many burglaries in cities throughout the Texas Panhandle and the South Plains.

POOL TO OPEN HERE SUNDAY

The Pampa Municipal swimming pool, under management of Mrs. Josie Young, will be officially opened at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Young announced today.

Admission prices will be the same as last year, Mrs. Young said. Single admissions will be 25 cents for adults, 15 cents for children between 8 and 16 years and 10 cents for children under 8 years. Season tickets will be $8 for adults and $5 for children under 16 years.

The pool interior has been newly painted. The bath houses, fences and office are being painted now and everything will be ready for the opening, Mrs. Young said.

$10 Reward Offered For Traffic Sign

Police Chief Art Hurst will pay a $10 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who last night stole the traffic zone sign from the north end of Central park.

The sign was set out yesterday afternoon to urge motorists to drive with care in the park area where children will be playing all summer. This morning one of the signs was missing. Police found it northwest of the city on Kentucky avenue. It was broken.

DUKE AND WALLIS TO VISIT UNITED STATES ON 2ND HONEYMOON

MONTS, France, May 28 (AP)—An associate of the Duke of Windsor disclosed today that Edward and Mrs. Wallis Warfield were planning a visit to the United States as a "second honeymoon."

Under arrangements which the abdicated British king and his bride-to-be are considering, the associate said, their stay in the United States would be brief and part of a trip around the world.

They were said to have selected tentatively either October or November for the trip to America, traveling westward from Europe after spending their "first honeymoon" in Austria.

Herman L. Rogers, spokesman for Windsor and Mrs. Warfield, acknowledged they might go on a world cruise and visit the United States but added "not in the immediate future."

50 BUILDINGS WRECKED IN WORST RAID OF WAR

VALENCIA, Spain, May 28. (AP)—Five insurgnet planes, described by competent observers as Italian Caproni, carried out a terrific bombardment of Valencia before dawn today and killed an estimated 200 persons.

Droning in from the sea and down on this temporary capital of the Spanish government an hour before daybreak, the planes dropped fifty 300-pound bombs.

By noon 76 of the dead had been identified.

The American consul, Milton K. Wells, was caught in a rain of debris, but was unhurt. Several Americans, including Norman Thomas, the United States Socialist and his wife were housed a few hundred feet from where three bombs fell. The building housing the American embassy was damaged, but not the embassy itself. No American was reported hurt.

An English boat, the Cadin, anchored in the harbor, was reported sunk, with seven crew members killed and eight injured. Other reports said a bomb fell on the English steamer Pinzon, but that no serious damage resulted.

Sleeping men, women and children were blown from their beds to a terrible death. Some of them were pitched into the street from upper stories.

At least 50 buildings were wrecked. Bombs falling into the

PAMPA WOMEN INJURED IN CRASH IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, May 28 (AP)—Bernice Chapman and Mabel Davies, members of a Dallas, Texas, bankers excursion to Mexico, were injured in an automobile collision near Puebla.

W. A. Philpott Jr., Dallas, secretary of the Texas Bankers Association and head of the bankers excursion, suffered a fractured left arm and right ankle in the accident.

A physician who examined the women, both of whom are from Pampa, Texas, said they were not hurt critically.

The car in which they were riding collided with another on a mountainous road. The Mexican driver and two occupants of the other car also were injured.

This note from Harry A. Nelson: "John Henry has finally consented to let you announce the Harvester dinner at his residence Friday (tonight). Those invited are requested to meet at the Red School house at 7 p. m. The Harvester bus will go direct to the farm and I think it best for all cars to go in a body so none will get off the road. Every football boy is asked to board the bus which will be driven by Joe Shelton and come out and get that feed." The dinner was announced late December but had to be postponed several times, due to weather and conflicting engagements.

Marie, left, has lifted one candle from her cake, and Cecille, next, is pleased to have lifted some icing on her thumb. But Emilie, center, seems to have achieved both. And Annette and Yvonne are both trying the icing and finding it good. "Many happy returns" is the wish they're sending back to their many admirers.

Bridge Party for Skellytown Club And Guests Given

By Mrs. W. W. Hughes

SKELLYTOWN May 28 — Mrs. H. F. Patton entertained with bridge at the school library Wednesday evening for Amigo club and nine additional guests.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis made high score for guests. Mrs. J. B. Speer, a guest, held the floating prize. Members making high score were Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Harlan; and Mr. and Mrs. Ike Hughes, second high.

Ice cream, cake and punch were served to Messrs. and Mmes. Spear, Marshall Coulson, Lewis, Wesley Black, Hughes, Harlan, Jack Propst, S. C. Dickey and Mmes. Joe Miller, L. R. Jones, Pearl Patchett, Ed Hughes, Orman Harlan, and the hostess.

Ladies Aid Meets

The Ladies Aid of the Community church met at the home of Mrs. Ray Hawkins Wednesday afternoon. After a business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. J. C. Jarvis, the ladies busied themselves by tying a comfort.

A new member, Mrs. W. K. Taylor, was added to the Aid. The hostess served refreshments to Mmes. Tyler, W. P. McMicken, Jarvis, H. C. Boyd, S. C. Dickey, and J. W. Lee.

What-Not Club

Mrs. Joe Wedge entertained the What-Not club at her home Wednesday afternoon. Fancy work furnished entertainment. Gifts were given the hostess for her home, by the members.

Salad, wafers and iced tea were served to a guest, Miss Evelyn Baker of Whittenburg, and members, Mmes. Lee Harvey, C. R. Jackard, W. F. Farmer, of Whittenburg, and Misses Anna Laura Pike and Vanice Wedge. Mrs. Farmer will be hostess next Wednesday, for covered dish luncheon.

O. E. S. OFFICERS PROGRAM

Officers recently elected by the Order of Eastern Star will go to Borger Monday evening for a joint public installation to be conducted by Mrs. Inis Walker of Mobeetie. They will meet at the Masonic hall here at 6 p. m. to make the trip. A covered dish supper first planned for the occasion has been postponed, it was announced from Borger.

MIND your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usages by answering the following questions then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Should the wives and husbands of members of a bridal party be asked to the breakfast which follows the ceremony?
2. Where are the parents of the groom seated at a church wedding?
3. How long in advance should the wedding invitations be mailed?
4. How soon after receiving an invitation should one send a gift to the bride?
5. Is it correct to write a message of good wishes on the card which is enclosed with the wedding gift?

What would you do if—

You have recently lost a member of your family and want to attend the wedding of an intimate friend—

(a) Attend the wedding and reception?

(b) Stay at home?

(c) Slip into an inconspicuous place in the church, but not go to the reception afterward?

Answers

1. By all means.
2. First pew on right, facing chancel.
3. Three weeks.
4. Any time. The bride has more time to enjoy those which are sent early.
5. Yes, particularly if one is a close friend.

The first soil survey of an Oklahoma county was finished in 1906.

Ready for Rodeo

All ready for the Top O' Texas Fiesta is this little cowgirl, Virginia McNaughton, whose costume is authentic even to boots and spurs. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McNaughton, 710 E. Kingsmill, and is a dance pupil of the Vincent Studio. In the studio's annual junior follies this evening, she will be one of the soloists.

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

I have been very much interested in the statement of Mrs. I. L. Huff, superintendent of a home for children in Oklahoma. Mrs. Huff asserts that the problem child can be cured if given pretty clothes to wear, and proves her point by results attained when girls straightened up and gained pride and assurance after being dressed in shapely, colorful little frocks, while boys who played truant never did so again after being garbed in smart shirts and trousers instead of overalls.

The point is one that I agree with most thoroughly. Both adult and child react miraculously to good-looking raiment.

This does not mean, necessarily, that he, or she, must be decked out beyond the habitual trappings of his mates, but rather that he must not feel a discrepancy or difference between himself and others.

Clothes, in spite of the strong-minded, do make the man.

Animals Behave Same Way

And to carry the analogy further, even birds preen their feathers and cats lick themselves clean. Watch a dog that has had a bath. He wants to tell the whole world about it. He loves a clean coat and won't strut when he is dirty.

Children are very philosophical about clothes. They rather love their old comfortable sweaters and shoes. But they also like to feel that there is something behind the door to dress up in when the occasion demands.

In the old days, children had to preserve their best for Sunday. It was a grand custom and instilled a providential outlook. The very knowledge that something rather better hung in the closet, gave him a sense of well being. I advocate a return. Never to use up the best, and to leave a thrill for a special occasion is an excellent idea.

However, as clothes go, the parent who despairs of Johnny's conduct or Suzy's natural pride might try Mrs. Huff's idea of fixing said delinquents up a bit, to boost by a bit of vanity, the laggard instincts of good behavior.

Perhaps it sounds materialistic, but in such a case the end most assuredly justifies almost any means.

Taste Offsets Low Cost

The woman who fears to make a speech at her club, will find remarkable courage in a new and becoming hat. The man who goes into make a sale will find his charm and vocabulary at their best, if his shirt and tie are right, and his shoes what they ought to be.

It is a secret behind grooming, beauty-culture and style, the hunger of the race to look its best.

And so, the adult psychology being what it is, why not the children? I recommend, not only to the parent of the problem child, but especially the inferority child, that she try out this magic of attractive dressing, which is not necessarily expensive, but rather a matter of care and taste.

LEGION'S MEMORIAL PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

Final plans for the American Legion Memorial day program, to be given at 8 p. m. Sunday at the First Baptist church, were completed today by the program committee, of which Sherman White is chairman.

Members of the 40 and 8 will be ushers. E. C. Nelson, Jr., judge of the 47th district court at Amarillo, will deliver the principal address.

Music for the program has been arranged by Harry Miner, educational director of the First Baptist church.

Taps will be sounded by James Raynie Jr., 12-year-old musician who has won several music contests, and who is a member of the Sons of the American Legion. Haynie Sr., is with the Oil Belt Flag and Decorating company, of Cisco, the company that is decorating Pampa for the Top O' Texas Fiesta.

FACULTY GIFTS PRESENTED TO BRIDES-ELECT

Two teachers at Sam Houston school who resigned at the close of this term to be married soon, were honorees at a faculty dinner in the school cafeteria this week.

Gifts from other teachers were presented to Miss Lillian Mulinax, who is to marry James H. Baldwin of Borger on June 10, and to Miss Ruby Thompson of Hereford, who will marry Pete Carmichael of Amarillo.

In addition to the Sam Houston teachers, guests for the chicken dinner were Supt. R. B. Fisher, Mrs. Fisher and Brent.

Faculty members of Sam Houston school were entertained by the Parent-Teacher association with a theater party Monday evening. After seeing "Maytime," the party went to a confectionery for refreshments.

Teachers present were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Patrick, Mmes. John I. Bradley, C. C. Cockerill, Teresa Humphreys, Sam Irwin, L. K. Stout, Misses Wilma Chapman, Vida Cox Mullinax, Tidie Sessions, Thompson, Florence Jones, Myldred Bishop, Violet Durrett, and Evelyn Sudbrook, and C. O. Croson.

Acting as hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Odus Mitchell, Mmes. H. E. Carlson, L. L. McColm, and Marvin Lewis.

Amarada Church Continues Services While Remodeling

Work of remodeling Amarada Baptist mission on the Merten lease is under way, but services are being conducted as usual, the Rev. Mr. Barrett, pastor, announces.

An illustrated lecture on the life of Christ will be given at the evening service Sunday at 8:30. It will be preceded by the young people's meeting. Sunday school is conducted at 2:30 each Sunday afternoon.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Three marriage licenses were issued yesterday: M. A. McQuerry and Pauline Givens; G. B. Devenney of Pampa, and Fraidie Scott of Arnett, Okla.; Henry L. Jordan, Pampa, and Irene Wren, Happy.

Most important single cause of low production and death in sheep is said to be stomach worms.

FAREWELL DINNER GIVEN FOR SHELLS

Movie Ticket Sale to Benefit Episcopal Women

Friends of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Mathew's Episcopal church are invited to attend the showing of "The Prince and the Pauper" at LaNora theater this evening or tomorrow, and to purchase tickets from a member of the Auxiliary, which will receive a portion of the proceeds.

Tickets may be secured by calling Mrs. Earle Scheig or Mrs. A. C. Lovell, on the ticket committee; Mrs. C. P. Buckler, Auxiliary president, or any member.

The film is a new version of the Mark Twain classic, unique in that the title roles are played by twin boys, Billy and Bobby Mauch. In the silent movie and in stage productions a young actor was always forced to play a double role, but the identical appearance of the Hollywood twins made this unnecessary. Erroll Flynn is starred with the twins.

Mrs. Hall Honored At Kitchen Shower Following Marriage

A kitchen shower complimenting Mrs. Houston Hall, who before her marriage May 9 was Miss Jean Dotson, was given Saturday by Mrs. Jesse Carter.

Refreshments were served after the gifts had been presented and displayed. The guest list included Mmes. Elden Clark, Herbert Evans, Elwood Ball, Jonas; Misses Jo Edelan, Frances Nash, Pauline Ringle, and Billy DeRoss.

PIE SUPPER TONIGHT

An old-fashioned pie supper and program will be conducted at First Christian church this evening at 8 o'clock, and funds raised will be used to purchase equipment for the church softball team. The program will consist of music and humor. Everyone is invited.

A certain grade of sulphur has been found an efficient dip for goat lice.

Gift Is Presented to Minister at Departure

A farewell courtesy to the Rev. and Mrs. L. Burney Shell and daughters was a covered dish dinner given by a group of friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wanner last evening.

The Shell family is leaving today to visit relatives in Plainview and Waxahachie before going to a new home. Mr. Shell recently resigned as pastor of First Presbyterian church after two years here.

Dinner was served last evening at a table decorated with honeysuckle. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Shell and Frances Jane, Sara, and Martha; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Voss, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hoare and children, Mrs. T. D. Hobart, Mr. and Mrs. Wanner and children.

A gift was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Shell from the group present and also from numerous other friends in the church and the city.

MODERN MENUS

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer

Even the most avid of cooks has a right to get temperamental in June. Against such emergencies there should be a few slightly out of the ordinary recipes to banish the mood, yet not starve the family. For example, when cake, cake, cake exasperates, then try a "health" cake. Won't hurt anyone, may help, and will be different.

Wholewheat Cake

Three eggs, 1 1-2 cups sugar, 1-2 cup butter, 3 level teaspoons baking powder., 1 cup milk, 1-2 cup strained orange juice, 3 cups whole wheat flour, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon grated orange rind, pinch nutmeg.

Cream butter, then add sugar and cream together. Beat eggs well and add. Slowly add milk and juice, alternately with flour sifted together with baking powder and salt. Add nutmeg and orange rind. Beat. Bake as loaf or layer cake and ice with boiled icing flavored with grated orange rind. If the family's everlasting demand for more pie becomes too terrible to stand up under, try this variation and your mood will sweeten.

Graham Cracker Pie Shell

Seventeen graham crackers, 1-4 cup sugar, 1-2 cup melted butter.

With rolling pin, crush crackers to fine crubs. Add sugar. Then work in butter and mix thoroughly. Pat this cracker paste into pie pan. Run into moderate oven (350 degrees F.) and bake for about 14 minutes. Cool, then fill with fresh fruit mixture and serve to that persistent family without one word of explanation.

Tomorrow's Menu

Breakfast: Stewed apricots with chopped nuts, small pancakes, honey, bacon, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: Codfish cakes, tomato sauce, rolls, apple sauce, old-fashioned sugar cookies, tea, milk.

Dinner: Sliced tomatoes with chives, casserole of round steak with mustard, baked potatoes, string beans, strawberry graham pie, coffee, milk.

On days when the family unreasonably insists on something new, something fancy, become rebellious in a satisfying way and bake old-fashioned cookies just to spite and delight them.

Old-Fashioned Sugar Cookies
(2 1-2 dozen)

Two and three-quarter cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup butter or other shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, creaming together until light and fluffy. Add well beaten eggs. Add vanilla. Add flour a small amount at a time, mixing well after each addition. Chill until firm enough to roll. Roll about 1-8 inch thick on slightly floured board. Cut with floured cookie cutter. Springle with sugar. Bake on ungreased baking sheets in hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 10 to 12 minutes.

'INEFFECTIVE,' SAYS EXPERT OF AGREEMENT

ELIZABETHTON, N. Y., May 28 (AP)—The prenuptial agreement by which Mrs. Mabel Harlow Green relinquished all claim to the $70,000,000 estate of her husband, the late Colonel Edward H. R. Green, was characterized as "ineffective" by a legal expert today.

The opinion was expressed by Charles A. Leddy, of Houston, Tex., former member of the Texas Supreme court commission, who testified yesterday for the widow in her court battle to share in the colonel's fortune.

Leddy, called as an authority on Texas property law, said his opinion was based on previous testimony in the case, taken at hearings in three states.

Mrs. Green contends the agreement is invalid because Texas was the legal residence of Col. Green and that state does not recognize such instruments.

An echo of the reference to "two daughters" of Col. Green, which stirred a recent New York City hearing, developed duirng a brief appearance of Mrs. Green on the stand yesterday.

GOVERNMENT DESCRIBED AS 'MOST WASTEFUL'

RICHMOND, Va., May 28 (AP)—Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia told University of Richmond students today that "there exists at Washington the most wasteful and bureaucratic form of government that has ever been known in our history."

Byird, speaking at the university convocation, said that "with the extended operations of the federal government, some of which may be beneficient and desirable, the cost of these numerous bureaucratic machines of duplicated activities is too great to be borne."

"They are rapidly becoming Franksteins—the contrivances of ingenious idealistic theorists—that may grow so powerful as to destroy the right of citizens to liberty, life and happiness," he said.

"This is probable because the great bureaucratic machines, once established and made operative, can rarely be dismantled."

RIPPING NEWS

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—"They're ready now," came the voice over the police radio. Fellow officers sought an explanation of the message from Deputy Sheriff Y. V. Burks. "It means," explained Burks, "the jail matron has finished mending the seat of my pants. I tore them off duty and had to borrow a pair."

Returns to Dance in Recital

Something of a homecoming will be the appearance of Frankie Lou Keehn, above, in the Vincent Studio dance recital this evening at the high school auditorium. She recently returned to Pampa with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keehn, after an absence of several weeks. Frankie Lou will dance four numbers, accompanied by her mother and Helen Poolos, violinist.

FDR Vetoed World Fair Bill For Political And Not Economical Reasons

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 28. — It might be nice to suppose that the presidential veto of the bill authorizing $5,000,000 in federal funds for New York's world fair was really an economy gesture, however small.

The unannounced motive, however, was political. Actually a reduction of the sum mentioned to $3,000,000, is only a technical saving, if that. For the bill didn't really appropriate any money, leaving that to Congress at some later date.

But the bill provided for a United States Commissioner General for the fair at a salary of $10,000. And then it provided for two assistant commissioners general at $7500 who must be "not of the same political party."

Legal sharks at the Department of Justice pointed out that this might mean compulsory appointment of two Republican assistant commissioners.

Furthermore, the Senate had amended the bill so as to give the appointments for those three jobs to a government's world's fair commission, to be composed of three cabinet members and seven members of Congress.

The appointments and the millions of dollars to be handled by the appointees make up the sort of item that in these days the White House wants to control. If Roosevelt and Jim Farley have anything to say about it, the substitute legislation will contain different provisions.

An active candidate for the commissioner-generalship is Congressman Sol Bloom of New York. He headed up the George Washington bicentennial and the anniversary of the Constitution, and would now be glad to spend five or even three more millions to help the world celebrate and commemorate the 150th anniversary of the first presidential inauguration and the establishment of the federal government.

No Gold Price-Cut—Yet

It has become fashionable here lately to speak of recent rumor flurries about a possible cut in the price of gold as largely the work of crafty speculators who profited when prices of stocks and commodities dropped. No one doubts that the speculators were on the job, but the question of a lower price or an import tax on gold was seriously discussed for a while in high places.

The idea has been dropped for the time being. It proved easier not to worry so much about the continuing influx of foreign gold than to risk the effect of lower prices for farm products and other exported commodities which would be sure to follow a change in gold price.

If a wave of higher prices comes next fall, as many economists predict, the price of gold will again receive serious consideration.

Meanwhile, gold coming into the country at the rate of $100,000,000 a month or more continues to add to the national debt. Under the present monetary policy the government's gold supply has increased from something over $7,000,000,000 to $11,900,000,000, or by more than four and a half billions. Thus a reduction of 10 or 15 per cent in the price would necessitate writing off a very large loss.

P. S.—He Lost the Job

A certain United States senator has a brother whose weakness happens to be strong drink.

The senator managed to get him a job in one of the minor New Deal commissions. Occasional lapses from grace were overlooked until a recent warm day when the brother came into the office carrying a fish which spectortors say weighed about 50 pounds and was quite dead.

Very shortly thereafter the young man was sound asleep on the floor, the fish nestling in his arms.

Sawmill Worker Dies in Chair

HUNTSVILLE, May 28 (AP)—Lonnie Joiner, Newton county sawmill worker died in the electric chair at the state penitentiary here at 12:03 a. m. today.

The East Texan was executed for shooting his wife last January in their lumber camp shanty home. He pleaded guilty, saying he had been drunk three days and that he shot her when she threatened to take the children and leave...

He told Warden W. W. Waid in the death chamber, "I am guilty."

Cansler Acquitted Of Lufkin Murder

LUFKIN, May 28 (AP)—M. H. Cansler was acquitted of murder last night, the latest development in a series of fatal troubles which have linked the Cansler and Warren families for the last three years.

Cansler was found not guilty of shooting to death Albert Warren last July 4. A jury took only 10 minutes to make its decision. The defendant had testified he shot Warren in the head when the latter threatened, at pistol point, to kill him.

Cansler's father and mother were found beaten to death and robbed in 1934. Glenn Warren, son of the man M. H. Cansler was accused of killing, was convicted and electrocuted for the elder Cansler's slaying.

Testimony tended to show M. H. Cansler and Albert Warren quarreled over the latter's intention of bringing the executed youth's body home for burial in Zavalla cemetery.

The case went to the jury last night without arguments.

Colmery to 'Invade' Panhandle

(Special to the Pampa NEWS)

PERRYTON, Texas, May 27 — Legionnaires and Auxiliaries of the Southwest will have the opportunity to hear the National Commander, Harry W. Colmery, at the convention of the Panhandle-Plains Legion Association to be held in this city on Saturday, May 29. Never before in the history of the five-state area, New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, has there been such a distinguished array of Legion and Auxiliary notables at a state convention as will be at this one-day meeting.

In addition to the National Commander, the Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas department commanders will be present. The Auxiliarly presidents of Oklahoma and Texas will attend. Then there will be division and district officials from all of the states. Representatives of the Wichita and Oklahoma City Veterans Administration offices will be here to confer regarding service claims.

H. B. Ackerman, Liberal, Kansas, Commander of the Association, announces a full day's program, with business sessions starting at 10.00 a. m. The joint Legion-Auxiliary meeting is set for 1:45 p. m.; banquet at 6:00 p. m.; National Commander public speaking at 8:00 p. m. with a dance concluding the day's entertainment.

OIL ALLOWABLE FOR OKLAHOMA INCREASED

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 28 (AP)—The state corporation commission increased Oklahoma's June oil allowables production to 625,300 barrels daily but reduced prorated zones 1,500 under last month and used the gain of 2,600 barrels over May for unprorated areas.

The Oklahoma City-Wilcox class A zone was cut 4,000 barrels to 128,000. The same amount was taken from the Fittsupper Simpson, fixed at 56,000 barrels daily.

An increase of 6,000 barrels to 36,200 barrels daily was given the Fitts-Hunton Class C zone, while the Moore field was left at 13,000 barrels daily.

Butter prices during the summer months are expected to average the highest for the season in the past six years with the possible exception of 1936.

BALDWIN WILL GO BACK TO RAISING PIGS

LONDON, May 28 (AP)—Great Britain smoothly switched governments today and Stanley Baldwin, "saviour of the monarchy," left the prime ministry to return to his favorite avocation of raising pigs.

The 69-year-old statesman handed over one of the world's biggest jobs to Conservative Arthur Neville Chamberlain, his right hand man who is only one year his junior.

"Honest Stan" Baldwin quit with his political prestige at its peak. Although he was virtually unknown to the general public 16 years ago, probably no other prime minister in 100 years has retired amid such acclaim—chiefly because of his handling of the abdication crisis last December.

Baldwin arrived at Buckingham Palace at 9:21 a. m., (3:21 a. m., EST), and was at once conducted to the king's private apartments where he formally handed in his portfolio. He was closeted with his monarch only a few minutes and when his car left the palace it missed that bringing Chamberlain to confer with George only by minutes.

The new prime minister remained at the palace for 45 minutes and then returned to his residence at No. 11 Downing Street, next door to the the premier's house to which he will move this week-end.

As soon as he left the palace, the king approved the creation of an Earldom for Baldwin and appointed Mrs. Baldwin a dame grand cross of the Order of the British Empire.

Chamberlain immediately called a conference of his party leaders to make the final draft of the cabinet personnel for presentation to the king at a later audience.

Tonight before the privy council, Chamberlain will take the oath of office as first lord of the treasury which is the official designation of the post he holds as the king's "first minister."

100 KILLED IN MINING CAMP OF OLD MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, May 28 (AP)—A hurriedly reinforced army of rescue workers dug through millions of tons of rock studded mud today in a frantic effort to reach the more than 100 dead estimated to have been buried beneath an avalanche that crashed down on the mining town of Tlalapujanua.

A bursting dam, high the mountains of the Tlalpujahuila Sierra of northwestern Michoacan state, loosed the 3,000,000-ton mass on the sleeping city shortly before dawn yesterday.

Reports from El Oro, 15 miles away, said the death toll might go as high as 500 when the last of the once golden silt had been cleared from the three square miles it buried.

The dam held back the "tailings" left after gold had been washed out in the cyanide metal processing operations of the Dos Estrellas Mining company.

Dispatches to the newspaper El Excelsior said the slide burned or destroyed more than 400 houses in the town which has a population of 10,000. Water backed up behind the mass increased the damage.

Thirty bodies had been recovered at dawn while Rafael Reyes, secretary to Hoken E. Niberg, general manager of the company, said the dead could be "conservatively estimated at more than 100."

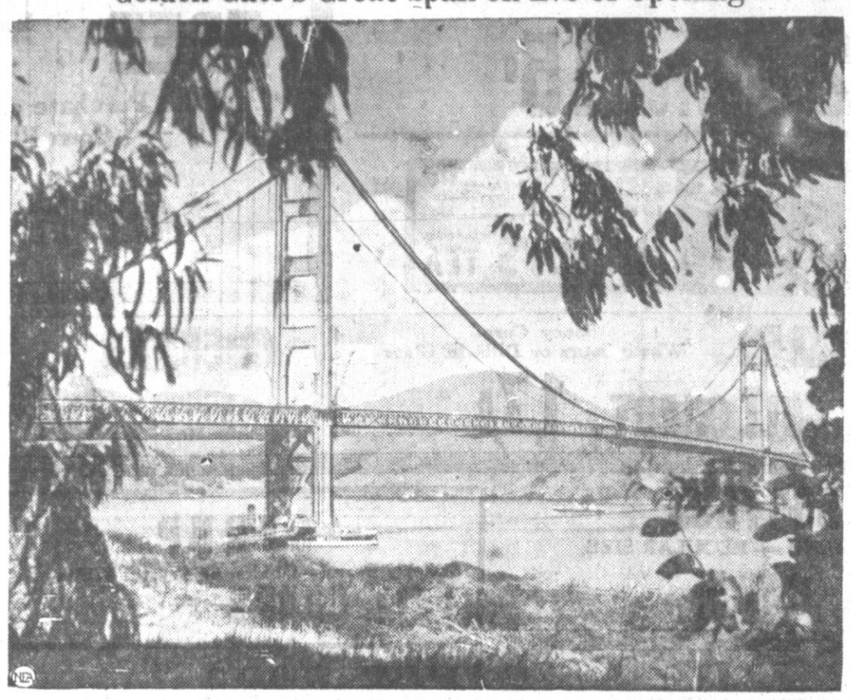
The BEER That Made Milwaukee Famous

Golden Gate's Great Span on Eve of Opening



Flung across the entrance to San Francisco bay in the world's longest single span, the Golden Gate bridge is pictured here as workmen added finishing touches before the elaborate formal opening during an international ceremony starting May 27. A single deck suspension, 6,450 feet from tend to end, the bridge is more than three times the length of Brooklyn bridge. To complete the structure required four years and $33,000,000, and cost 10 lives. It crosses over "Chrysoceros"—the Golden Gate—at a height of 250 feet, and connects San Francisco by highway with northern California. The towers, visible in this picture which was taken looking from San Francisco, are 746 feet high, built for strength and a setback artistic motif.

International Sunday School Lesson

THE REMAKING OF JACOB
Text: Genesis 28:16-22; 32-24-30

By WM. E GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

"The Remaking of Jacob," the title of this lesson, is itself significant. Jacob certainly needed remaking. The title of the lesson for intermediate and senior groups, "Finding One's Better Self" also is significant, for this was precisely what happened in Jacob's remaking.

Jacob the shrewd trickster, grasping for himself and his own interest, was transformed into a man capable of thinking of others.

Face to face with new responsibilities that put upon him the care of other people and duties in relation to his community, he became a different man, the sort of man upon whom civilization can be built.

One may easily read into a narrative like this conceptions of God and of religious experience that are associated with a later development in the life of Israel. But the remarkable thing is the way in which this simple, primitive narrative is so true to vital experience.

Lying down, weary, and with a stone for a pillow, Jacob dreamed a dream of a ladder reaching up to heaven. Awakening, the dream became for him a symbol, an evidence of the divine presence, and he showed the spirit of devotion by taking the stone upon which he had slept, setting it up for a pillar, and pouring oil upon the top of it.

He was capable of reverence and devotion, and no man can have the true experience of religion, or can face life with adequate equipment, who is devoid of these things.

His conception of religion was not altogether the highest. There is more or less a sense of bargaining in his vow that if God would be with him and would prosper him, giving him food and raiment, he would give one-tenth of all that he had to God.

But one need not quibble too much about Jacob's bargaining spirit. There probably are very few of those who might criticize him who give one-tenth of ther income for religious purposes.

The point is that Jacob was thoroughly moved to something higher and finer than he had had in his life before. The story of the wrestling apparently symbolizes some inward struggle before this experience of Jacob became real.

From that struggle, Jacob emerged with a sense of conquest and with a new hope and peace. He had had an experience that transformed his life, and the Jacob who came from Bethel to go about his daily tasks and duties was a very different man from the Jacob who had tricked Esau out of his birthright, and who had hitherto lived so completely for self-seeking.

Perhaps the transformation began before his experience at Bethel when Jacob realized the meaning of earthly love. There is a world of significance in the simple Bible statement that "he served 14 years for Rachel, and it seemed but a day."

One recalls the proverb of a later world. "Man, while he loves, is never quite depraved," and one wonders whether the experience of Bethel did not have its beginning when Jacob first developed a new sense of love and earthly devotion. That is often the first real step of a man toward God.

PROPERTY RECOVERED BY PRESBYTERIANS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 28 (AP)—A special committee reported to the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. today that it had recovered opproximately $1,600,000 worth of property from the Presbyterian Church of America.

The property was taken by former members, officials said, when they withdrew from the parent church and formed the Presbyterian Church of America a year ago.

The committee said it expected to recover an additional $400,000 worth of property from the ultra-fundamentalist denomination.

Recovery of the property was reported by the committee on legal procedure as the general assembly entered the second day of a session that will last until June 2 under the direction of a new moderator, Dr. William Hiram Foulkes of Newark, N. J.

Dr. Foulkes, pastor of the old First Church in Newark, was elected on the first ballot yesterday by the 872 commissioners (delegates) composing the assembly.

HOUSE WILL CONDUCT RACE BETTING HEARING

AUSTIN, May 28 (AP)—Sparks may fly today in the renewal of an offensive upon Texas' four-year-old law legalizing certificate wagering on horse racing.

The House state affairs committee was ready to conduct a hearing today on a repeal bill introduced yesterday. It was identical to one approved overwhelmingly in the House in the previous session but not acted on finally in the Senate.

Senate repealists said they would offer a similiar bill in that chamber today.

Rep. Harry L. McKee of Port Arthur, opponent of repeal, failed in an effort to have racing bills removed from the state affairs committee and referred to the House as a committee of the whole.

The measure before committee proposed immediate repeal. Other bills permitted local option on the issue or delay of repeal until the summer of 1939.

Rep. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene, author of the repeal bill sent to committee and endorsed by the governor, said he would move for a favorable recommendation as soon as the group concluded the hearing.

ONE OF RICHEST MEN NEAR DEATH ON OCEAN

ABOARD CUTTER TANEY IN MID-PACIFIC, May 28 (AP)—Transformed into a floating hospital, this coast guard vessel ploughed thru the rough Pacific early today in a race to rescue one of the world's richest men from death by peritonitis.

Ahead, 300 miles southwest of Honolulu, George F. Baker Jr., 59, chairman of the First National Bank in New York, lay seriously ill aboard his yacht Viking, on which he and a party of friends were returning from the South Seas.

Aboard the rolling cutter were medical supplies which might save the banker's life if the vessel can reach the yacht in time.

The Viking appealed for aid yesterday after Baker had undergone an emergency operation performed by Dr. W. B. Clarke of the Canadian Pacific liner Niagara, which hove to in answer to the Viking's plea for aid.

200 Catholics Sit Down in Nogales

NOGALES, Sonora, Mexico., May 28 (AP)—Two hundred devout Catholics, engaging in what their leaders described as a sit down strike against religious policies of the Mexican government, remained stolidly early today in the pews of the Nogales cathedral which they forcibly entered last night.

There had ben no official attempt to remove them from the church whose doors they broke open after a demonstration in which 5,000 persons demanded that permission be granted to resume worship in churches closed for several years.

The self-styled religious strikers said they were prepared to remain in the church indefinitely. They will not leave, they asserted, until officials in Mexico City issue an order permitting the church to open legally.

SENATOR KING HITS NEW WAGE AND HOUR LAW

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—Senator King (D., Utah), first Senator to voice outright opposition to the new wage and hour bill, described it today as "worse than NRA."

"It goes too far and infringes on the rights of the states," he said. "It commits absolute power to a governmental bureau to determine wages and hours.

"It is in harmony with the plan instituted in Italy by Mussolini to bring all labor under one head."

King, long an opponent of the invalidated NRA, said the proposal to fix minimum wage and maximum hour standards in interstate industries would concentrate too much power in the federal government.

Many Senators were waiting to see what figures would be written into the bill before definitely committing themselves. There has been much discussion of a 40-hour week and a 40-cent minimum hourly wage.

Senator McCarran (D., Nev.) said he was sympathetic to the bill, but it raised questions which needed careful study—"possibly more than could be given at this session."

Prospects for Senate consideration were somewhat clouded by the intense fight over the Roosevelt court bill.

Some Senators were talking of a quick test vote on the court bill. They said they believed this would convince President Roosevelt of the sizeable opposition to his proposal.

HONORARY DEGREE WILL BE GIVEN SNODGRASS

FORT WORTH, May 28 (AP)—Five honorary degrees will be conferred by Texas Christian university at the 64th annual commecement exercises Monday evening, President E. M. Waits said today.

The degrees will be conferred upon Representative Fritz Lanham of Fort Worth, doctor of laws; Rev. Roy Snodgrass, Amarillo, doctor of laws; Rev. Clifford S. Weaver, McKinney, doctor of divinity; Prof. Bonner Frizzell, Palestine, doctor of laws; and Dr. Little May Owen, Fort Worth, doctor of science.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached by Rev. Mr. Snodgrass at exercises Sunday morning in the University Christian church. Lanham will deliver the principal address at the commencement exercises to be held on the campus Monday evening.

GLADYS MACKNIGHT AND WIGHTMAN SENTENCED

JERSEY CITY, May 28 (AP)—A second degree murder conviction in the hatchet slaying of her mother cut short today renewed friendship between Gladys MacKnight, 17, and her 19-year-old boy friend, Donald Wightman.

Love that turned to hate during their trial in Hudson county court appeared to be on the verge of reviving when a jury found them guilty last night.

The verdict carries a maximum penalty of 30 years in state prison.

Rebudding of their friendship was disclosed last night.

Donald asked to speak to Gladys and "wish her luck," a court officer said. The request was refused, but the two who blamed each other for the slaying exchanged a smile after the last noon recess.

It was the first time their eyes had met since the trial began.

All school champions will compete in the finals of the Top O' Texas marble tournament here June 3 and 4 when the champion and runner-up will be awarded free trips to the Pan American exposition at Dallas.

SOLONS ACTED 'LIKE A MOB' CLAIMS TEXAN

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—House Leaders, trying to reverse a defeat on salient provisions of the $1,500,000,000 relief bill, appealed today to President Roosevelt to help bring about a compromise.

Rep. Rayburn (D., Tex.), majority leader, indicated he would canvass the entire subject with the President during the week-end.

Rayburn staved off a final vote on the bill in a turbulent session yesterday, asking members to "cool off" until next Tuesday.

Rayburn, who spoke after his fellow Texan, Rep. Maverick, had accused the members of "acting like a mob," disclosed he had just come from a White House conference.

The cause of the controversy was tentative earmarking of one-third of the proposed relief fund for roads, dams and other special projects, approved Tuesday during a revolt by a coalition of Democrats and Republicans.

Rayburn and other administration chieftains sought yesterday to throw out the earmarking provisions, giving the administration a free hand on relief expenditures. (The House can reverse itself under its rules at any time before final passage of the bill).

Instead, the revolt continued, and the coalition put across a tentative reduction of $2,000 in the $12,000 salary of Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress administrator.

CROWDS LARGE AT AMARILLO RACING MEET

Largest crowds in the history of the Tri-State race meet in Amarillo have been attending the spring session this year. Yesterday's crowd was the second largest of the meet as favorites romped home in front.

With only two days of the meet left, horses were expected to start trekking to Pampa today or tomorrow to get ready for the Pampa Downs meet June 5 to 19. Rain has kept officials from working the local track over but two or three days of dry weather will put it in excellent condition.

Stables have been completed for care of 200 horses. Construction of the mutuel and concession booths under the grandstand is progressing despite the rainy weather. The judges stand is being constructed but it cannot be set in place until after the Top O' Texas Fiesta Rodeo.

Jockey Loswell had a big day at Amarillo yesterday, bringing home three mounts in the lead. The feature race went to Idle Bubbles after a terrific home-stretch battle with Fair Gem and Texas Miss. F. Law, who rode Dr. R. M. Bellamy's Moving Cloud to a third Tuesday, was in the saddle.

AUSSIE NET ACE ILL OF INTESTINAL FLU

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP)—Upon the luck of the draw today, and the ability of curly-haired Vivian McGrath to fill in for Adrian Q. Quist, depended the chances of the Australians in their bid to duplicate last year's Davis Cup tennis victory over America's youthful forces.

McGrath, a short time off the sick list, was slated to take Quist's place to support Jack Crawford, former world champion, in the three-way, best-three-out-of-five match series. Play will start tomorrow at 1 p. m. (EST) on the turf courts of the West Side club's stadium at Forest Hills.

Facing the Aussies California's Don Budge, No. 1 singles star, will be supported by Gene Mako in the doubles and Bryan (Bitsy) Grant of Atlanta, picked for the secondary singles role. The Americans ruled 7 to 5 favorites in betting odds.

Cliff Sproule, the Australian captain, withheld official choice until the draw at noon today. It was pointed out that Quist could be named to start, if latest doctor's reports today indicated sufficient overnight improvement from intestinal "flu."

The 1935 census lists Texas with 7,000,000 head of sheep, or 14.5 per cent of the United States total.

Mel Ott Hits Homer In 9th And Hubbell Wins Another

BY SID FEDER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Carl Hubbell, with the longest winning streak in baseball history, is sticking out his chin.

He's not only going right on with his winning streak, but he's going to do it the hard way.

King Carl was riding on his twenty-fourth straight triumph today, four better than the previous all-time high. Since he passed the 20-game mark, every win has been achieved either at the expense of the National league's lustiest larrupers or in a situation that would have put the whammy on a less masterful moundsman.

Between May 13 and last Monday, he whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates twice and the St. Louis Cardinals once. Yesterday, only three days after beating the Bucs for the second time, he ambled into the eighth inning of the Giants' go with Cincinnati's Reds, and found a club that already had sent two Giant pitchers to the showers, was on its home lot with the score tied, and had Lefty Grissom, anything but a pushover, on the mound.

So Carl faced six men in two innings, and made all of them strangers as far as first base was concerned. The final score was 3-2. Mel Ott's ninth inning homer turned the trick for Hubbell and the Giants.

The victory boosted the Giants to within a game of the pace-setting Pirates, whose tilt with the Dodgers was rained out after 3½ innings. The third place Cardinals dropped farther back by losing an 8-7 battle of homers to the Boston Bees, with Roy Johnson's two run pinch four-bagger in the eighth putting the game on ice.

Detroit's Tigers finally caught up with the New York Yankees and, in the American league's longest game of the season, finished on top 5-4 in 13 innings, despite Lou Gehrig's three-run homer. The Cleveland Indians made a clean sweep of their series with the Athletics by registered an 8-7 win on Hal Trosky's triple with the bases loaded.

The day's best full-length pitching efforts were turned in by Bucky Walters, the Phillies' converted infielder, and Monte Weaver, Washington's curve baller. Walters fanned four and allowed nine hits as the Phils smashed the Chicago Cubs 11-2. Weaver let the White Sox down with half a dozen safeties and the Senators came through 2-1. The Browns-Red Sox title at Boston was rained out.

That Certain Swing!

Looking as though poised for a flight as he rides standing up with hands pointed skyward is Marion Ramsey, Tulsa, one of Ramsey's Flying Cloud group of trick riders, who will perform at the Top O' Texas rodeo here June 3 and 4.

NESTELL AND PASTOR WILL FIGHT TONIGHT

LOS ANGELES, May 28 (AP)—Two promising young heavyweights anxious to crash the million dollar dollar gates of pugilism, collide tonight on an all-star card expected to draw 35,000 fans to Wrigley field.

They are Bob Pastor of New York and Bob Nestell of Los Angeles.

Pastor will go into the ring a slight betting favorite over Nestell.

The pastor camp, over which the James J. Johnstons, senior and junior, preside, predict the ex-New York University athlete, will knock Nestell out.

California admirers of Nestell, who have seen him score 11 straight knockouts and a decision victory in his 12 professional fights, believe he'll add the Gothamite to his list via the kayo route.

BEAUMONT FINALLY DEFEATED BY MISSIONS AS BUCS WIN

(By The Associated Press.)

WHERE THEY PLAY TODAY:
San Antonio at Houston.
Beaumont at Galveston.
Fort Worth at Oklahoma City.
Dallas at Tulsa.
(All night games.)

Beaumont's fast-flying youngsters were well aware today, perhaps, that they had tried their last-minute tactics once too often.

San Antonio showed them the error of their ways last night in nipping last inning rallies in which Beaumont punched across all their scores, the Missions winning 4 to 3.

The Padres plugged along to run across one tally in the first frame and three in the sixth. They nicked Poffenberger for only seven hits but the Beaumonter was wild, while Liebhardt and Pyle allowed 11 hits.

Despite their loss the Shippers remained two games in front of Oklahoma City, which with Tulsa was taking a night off.

Another close contest went to Galveston over Houston, 3 to 2. Joe Valenti's double with a man aboard in the ninth decided the issue.

Fort Worth moved to within a game of Oklahoma City in toppling Dallas 5 to 1. Aside from the fine pitching of Fullerton of Dallas and Greer of Fort Worth, the game was highlighted with Peel's three-hit performance. His work at bat bat hoisted his league-leading average to .446.

SOFTBALL TEAMS' MANAGERS FAIL TO REPORT THEIR GAMES

Managers of teams in the City Softball team have fallen down on their job. They are failing to report their games to the secretary at the Pampa Daily NEWS by 9 a. m., of the day following the games. It is impossible for the secretary to keep a record of games won and lost for a standing report unless managers cooperate.

Only game played yesterday and reported before the deadline this morning was the Jaycee 15 to 9 victory over the Gerhard Creamery. Home runs by Harris, with two, Prock and Jameson help the Jaycees along. Brown was on the mound with Barnett receiving. O'Neal and Dale started for the creamery men.

In postponed games, Coltexo "B" won a 4 to 3 game from the Skelly Oilers Wednesday evening. Ellington was the big factor in the victory with a home run with two on and 11 putouts, seven unassisted, at third base.

Texas took a 22 to 5 slugfest from Shell in another postponed battle. McBride and Payne collected home runs for the Texans.

Weatherred's home run helped the Jaycees cop an 11 to 8 decision from Cabot in another delayed game.

Skelly downed Gerhard Creamery 14 to 2 and Harris Food beat Cabot 16 to 13 in other late games.

SWEENY TO FINALS.

SANDWICH, Eng., May 28 (AP)—Robert Sweeny of New York and London, swept into the final round of the British Amateur golf championship today, handing Charles Stowe, British colliery engineer, a neat 6 and 5 trouncing in the semi-finals. In magnificent form, Sweeny was out in 32 to stand four up at the turn and Stowe never really had a chane.

COOPER WILL PLAY MANERO IN PGA MEET

PITTSBURGH, May 28 (AP)—The professional championship today provided the match that golf has wanted for a long time, Harry Cooper against Tony Manero.

Cooper had fired pars and birdies over the rugged course for a 284, lowest total in history, a performance that battered the long standing Chick Evans-Bob Jones' 286 record.

But in with sunset and dusk came Manero, riding a flock of birdies and shepherded by the veteran Gene Sarazen. He banged putts in with a magic wand and Harry's hopes collapsed under Tony's marvelous 282.

If Harry wasn't a golf fatalist before, he became one then.

"We'll have a good scrap," Harry said.

Their match today marked the first time they've ever met in hand to hand conflict.

The other 36-hole fourth round contests today, all "naturals", send Champion Denny Shute, Boston, against Jimmy Hines, Garden City, N. Y.; Medalist Byron Nelson, Reading, Pa., against Ky Laffoon, Chicago, and Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., against Harold McSpaden, Winchester, Mass.

'IRON MIKE' FIGHTS BATTLE OF HIS LIFE

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP)—Mickey Cochrane, fighting the greatest battle of his life, held his own today against the injuries that sent him to a hospital after he was felled by a pitched ball in the Tiger-Yankee game, Tuesday.

While reporting the condition of the fiery leader of the Tigers as "unchanged," after he had showed improvement early yesterday, the attending physicians emphasized that he still was in a very serious condition.

"He's still in the acute stage," said Dr. Byron Stookey, one of the three physicians attending "Iron Mike." "Just when we can expect a definite change one way or the other, I could not say."

When Cochrane was told that his Tigers had beaten the Yanks, 5-4, in 13 innings, for the only Detroit victory of the three-game series, a smile softened "Iron Mike's" tired mouth.

MAX BAER KNOCKS OUT BEN FOORD IN NINTH

LONDON, May 28 (AP)—Max Baer, former world heavyweight boxing champion, was all-square with his English opponents today.

After dropping a decision to Tommy Farr, the empire titleholder, April 15, the clowning California fighter came back last night to score a technical knockout over Ben Foord of South Africa in the ninth round of a 12-round bout. Foord held the empire crown until beaten by Farr two months ago.

Baer floored Foord twice in the second round and had him on the mat again in the ninth when the referee stopped the bout.

OILERS WILL PLAY 2 GAMES IN WEEK-END

Pampa's mighty Oilers, after a thrill-packed 9 to 7 victory over the Kansas City Monarchs Wednesday night, will be away from home this week-end. Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock the Oilers will be in Littlefield for a game and on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock they will play Amherst.

Manager Fred Brickell and his squad will leave Pampa early tomorrow morning and return on Sunday night. With the team will be Sam Baugh and Dale Mills, two newcomers to the lineup. The two, along with Sam Scaling, whose home is at Hale Center, are expected to help fill the stands on the road trip.

Scaling has a reputation around the south plains country and has a large following. Baugh, of course, is known over the entire state. Mills joined the club from Portland, Ore., on Tuesday.

Business Manager Harold Miller is trying to schedule a game here for Tuesday night when "Slingin' Sam" Baugh will be introduced to Pampa fans. Mills will also get his baptism under fire if the game can be arranged, it is predicted.

Appropriate names for the three "Sams" on the club are being sought. Of course there will be no change in "Slingin' Sam" Baugh but the question is what to call Scaling. It has been suggested that he be identified as "Sluggin' Sam." Then, of ocurse, there is Sam Dailey who should be "Slingin' Sam" but who will have to get another monicker.

40-YEAR RESIDENT OF PAMPA, LAKETON DIES

M.rs. Mary E. Gillis, 63, resident of Pampa and the Laketon community for nearly 40 years, died yesterday afternoon in a local hospital. She was the widow of the late W. L. Gillis who passed away 14 years ago at the farm home near Laketon. Soon after, Mrs. Gillis moved to Pampa where she had since made her home.

Surviving Mrs. Gillis are three daughters, Mrs. John Turcott, Mrs. Bert Benton and Mrs. W. M. Hubbard, all of the Miami community, two sons, Arthur Gillis and C. C. Gillis, both of Pampa, 16 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Other immediate survivors are a sister, Mrs. Emma Burrow of Fe!', Okla., and four brothers, Bird Stump and Eddie Stump of Waka, Okla., Louis Stump, Range, Okla., and Sam Stump, Texhoma, Okla.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in First Baptist church by the Rev. S. E. Thompson, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, of which Mrs. Gillis was a member, and the Rev. B. F. Jackson of Miami. The body will be taken to Miami for burial by the side of her husband by the G. C. Malone Funeral home.

Pallbearers will be Allie Byrum, Clyde Gray, Wheeler Paris, Harley Talley, L. Goad and Walter Jones.

Flowers will be in charge of Mrs. George Clark, Mrs. Amos Harris, Mrs. Herman Whatley and Mrs. W. D. Benton.

who proposed the legislation to congress last week, were $287,000,000 to $700,000,000 annually.

"Would you have the farmers give up the hope of getting parity prices for their products?" Wallace demanded.

"Well, I'm in favor of giving them parity, but we face the very practical question of whether the treasury could meet the cost as it appears it would be under this bill," Jones replied.

Wallace said that if the program would cost "any such figure as you suggest, of course, we would have to change our goal.

"But I think it would be well," he added, "to let the farmers know that Congress feels that parity is a hopeless thing.

"I don't think you should place it on Congress' doorstep alone if the money is not available," Jones reported.

The object of the legislation is to assure producers of basic farm commodities prices that would give them the same purchasing power they had during the 1919-14 period.

When market prices fell before predetermined "parity" prices, the treasury would make payments bringing the farmer's total income up to the parity total.

Wallace told the committee he believed that if the parity objective could not be reached through the bill, he though farmers would want reestablishment of the old AAA with its processing taxes.

Jones suggested that the present soil conservation program be retained and that Wallace's plan for an "ever-normal" granary, with a system of commodity loans, be established instead of the parity program.

Wallace declared yesterday it would be sound public policy to spend more than $500,000,000 a year to assure the farmer as much purchasing power as he enjoyed in 1909-1914.

If the price of the farmer's produce could be placed on a par with the cost of things he buys, Wallace said, it would help preserve a proper economic balance in the nation.

FOOD FORMED - A SOLID MASS

Awful Gas Pain, Distress, Misery; But Van-Tage Brought Relief.

Some of the Best-Known People of This Section are praising and endorsing Van-Tage, the "Amazing New Medicine," now being introduced in Pampa. Just a few days ago Mrs. Mattie Snow, of 1301 S. W. 23rd St., Oklahoma City, Okla., made the following statement:

MRS. SNOW

"It was just awful the way I suffered. Everything I ate would disagree with me. in fact, my meals laid in my stomach in a hard mass and would swell me up with gas until I was in a terrible state of pain. I had sluggish-acting kidneys which caused awful pains across my back. This suffering had been going on for years and it looked like nothing could do me any good, and then recently I heard about Van-Tage and started taking it. I got results from THE FIRST DOSE. It relieved my gassy, fermented stomach and now my food digests like it should. It also flushed my sluggish kidneys and relieved the pains in my back. Oh! I tell you, Van-Tage just worked wonders for me! It's a grand medicine."

VAN TAGE helps clear away poisonous wastes from the system in several ways at once! It helps cleanse bowels, assists Nature to flush excess impurity from kidneys and brings forth gas and bloat from stomach. So much Van-Tage is sold that its price is very reasonable, so get it—TODAY—at The Cretney Drug Store, next to LaNora Theatre.

the bill to the committee of the whole Senate, also indicated disappointment at the result.

"It looks pretty bad," he said.

There was no debate and the votes were had after a flurry of parliamentary maneuvering by both sides to get position for the tests.

To Try Again Monday

As evidence of the importance which he attached to the committee to consider the repeal bill, Senator Nelson said he would again move Monday to re-refer to committee of the whole.

The committee on criminal jurisprudence at the general legislative session concluded last week favorably a repeal bill, 8 to 6, but the measure never reached the Senate floor. The House had passed it overwhelmingly.

The Senate followed House action in adjourning until Monday after short sessions.

The House, awaiting a State affairs committee hearing later in the day on six racing bills, veered from that subject and acted only on uncontested resolutions.

Numerous House members joined Rep. J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene in authorship of a bill calling for immediate repeal. Bradbury expressed confidence the state affairs committee would give the proposal a quick, favorable report. It voted overwhelmingly for a similar bill in the regular session.

great job in the rehabilitation of a needy people.

"There is no need of going into details," he said, "all of you are familiar with what these departments have done." He mentioned the mail subsidy and stated that with the additional income from air mail revenue the subsidy from air expected to be overcome.

Thanks Voters.

Benefits of the administration to all classes of people were briefly reviewed by Mr. Farley, starting with the President's acts of the first 48 hours after he took office, mentioning particularly his handling of the national banking situation.

"I think a lot of Texas and Texas people," Mr. Farley said in Pampa, "and I want to express the appreciation for the splendid vote rolled up for the President. At the same I wish to apologize for the way things turned out in Maine and Vermont, but I promise it won't happen again."

Accompanying Mr. Farley was Smith Purdum, fourth assistant postmaster general. They are en route to Flagstaff and Presicott, Ariz., for the post office dedication program and will return by way of El Paso and Hot Springs, N. M., where the postmaster general will speak at a children's hospital dedication. Fort Worth is their next stop and from there they will go into Arkansas and Louisiana, before returning to Washington next Friday.

They left Washington Sunday on a swing through Chicago, Oklahoma City and back to Wichita, Kas., for a program Wednesday night. The party plans to be back in Washington next Friday.

Mr. Farley was met in Canadian yesterday afternoon by a Pampa delegation made up of Postmaster C. H. Walker, Siler Faulkner, Attorneys S. D. Stennis and Clifford Braly, John Ketler, J. E. Lyons, and Tex De Weese. Also among those who greeted the postmaster general at Canadian were Judge E. J. Pickens, Carl S. Studer and Jep Todd, of Canadian, and Postmaster Fitzgerald, of Miami.

Come in Private Car.

The party accompanied Mr. Farley to Pampa in the private car of Tom Gallaher, assistant Santa Fe vice president, who is host on the trip.

Mr. Farley talked of the dust bowl problems, praised Congressman Marvin Jones' work in Washington, and discussed local and national problems in general as the various subjects came up.

The train was held up here for seven minutes to permit the postmaster general to make his radio address and extend greetings to the crowd gathered on the station platform and ramps.

Mr. Farley said he didn't know whether the President would insist up on the Supreme Court reform bill in its original form, in view of the recent favorable decisions by the court, but said he is positive it can be passed through Congress if Mr. Roosevelt wishes it passed.

badly damaged. Front portions of the wings were also crushed but the rest of the ship was apparently undamaged. It landed nose in the ground and then bounced back a couple of feet. The tail remained almost straight in the air with the undercarriage holding it in that position.

Howell spent a fairly restful night and this morning X-ray pictures were taken to determine whether any bones had been broken. Attending physicians, after examination of the wet films, said a slight discoloration that could be a fracture was noticed in the pelvic bone. They would not make a definite report until seeing the finished pictures.

Howell is married. He is a brother of Bert Howell of Thompson Hardware. He held a private pilot's license and was eligible for a limited commercial license having had about 170 hours in the air.

LLOYD HOLLIS DIES AFTER 2-WEEK ILLNESS

Lloyd Hollis, 32, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hollis, died yesterday afternoon in a local hospital following an illness of two weeks. He was employed by Frank Lard, well driller, and made his home with his parents on Faulkner street. Mr. Hollis is in the real estate business here.

Survivors are the parents, two sisters, Miss Maggie Hollis, and Mrs. G. B. Perkins, both of Pampa, four brothers, Roy, Frank, Robert and Tommie, all of Pampa, and an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Hollis, Sterling.

Funeral services were to be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon in First Methodist church with the pastor, the Rev. Will C. House, and Rev. C. E. Lancaster, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. Burial was to be in Fairview cemetery under direction of G. C. Malone Funeral Home.

Pallbearers named were Dave Turcott, Carl Smith, Marvin Daugherty, Bill Foreman, Billy Taylor, and Pete Cole.

32 WORKERS SEEKING C-C CAMPAIGN FUNDS

The race between two groups of workers conducting the Pampa chamber of commerce investment campaign will end at 9 o'clock tonight when all reports must be in the hands of Garnet Reeves at the chamber of commerce.

Thirty-two workers attended a luncheon at the Schneider hotel this morning when President James Collins and Tom Aldrirge, chairman of the drive, told their workers to "hit the ball" today and make all reports by deadline tonight.

When the gathering convened, there was $300 difference in the standing of the two teams. When the luncheon closed, with reports, the difference had disappeared and the groups started the day's drive on an equal foting.

Follow-up contacts will be necessary but the official drive will close tonight. The winning groups will eat chicken with the losers dining on beans at a date to be set.

Investments to date have been larger than last year and many of the large investors have not been contacted, it was announced.

CHAMBERLAIN WILL BE NEW PRIME MINISTER

By WITT HANCOCK

LONDON, May 28 (AP)—Stanley Baldwin, "savior of the monarchy," retired today as Great Britain's prime minister after historic service and was succeeded by Arthur Neville Chamberlain, his chancellor of the Exchequer.

King George VI conferred on Baldwin the highest distinction within the gift of the crown — a Knighthood of the Garter—tonight after the smoothly managed switch of governments.

The King received the new national government, still a coalition administration, in a special audience at Buckingham palace after the change-over from "Honest Stan," the king-maker, to cool, efficient Chamberlain, "as practical as a plumber."

Chamberlain quickly reorganized the cabinet, to fill vacancies created by Baldwin's resignation, the elevation of Walter Runciman, erstwhile president of the board of trade, to the peerage and the advance of Baldwin ministers to higher posts.

GOLDEN RULE SUBJECT OF DAUGHERTY SPEECH

An address by Walter Daugherty, secretary of the Pampa Credit association, on the "Golden Rule," featured the observance of Golden Rule Week at the noonday meeting of the Pampa Kiwanis club today.

Entertainment was furnished by Howard Zimmerman, vocalist, and Howard House, pianist.

Reports from various committees were heard.

The Amarillo club will come to Pampa to stage a program on June 11 as a part of the district's interclub relationship program. "All Kiwanis Night" will be observed on Monday night, June 21.

On July 19, the Pampa club will go to Amarillo and conduct the program in a return visit.

LOAD TEST ON LOCAL GRANDSTAND PLANNED

City and Works Progress Administration officials will make a final load test on the grandstand at Recreation park late this afternoon when 250 sacks of cement will be piled on each section. The cement is being loaned to the city by the Tulsa Rig and Reel company.

The test to be made will be 25 per cent greater than required so as to prove that the grandstand is thoroughly braced and safe to hold capacity crowds. Standard requirement is considered 75 pounds to the square foot. The test here will be 100 pounds per square foot.

HASTINGS BABY DIES.

Jimmie Wayne Hastings, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hastings, died this morning. Survivors are the parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Vaught of Pampa and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hastings of Archer City. The body is at rest at Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home pending burial arrangements.

V. L. Boyles, accompanied by his son, Ray, Aubrey C. Green, and James Evans, left yesterday on a fishing trip to Lake Childress. They expect to return tonight.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, May 28. (AP)—A delicate market fluttered a little higher today but met late selling.

Thin trading reflected approach of the long holiday and inability of traders to make up their minds which way prices would jump.

Quiet demand which dribbled in most of the session was ascribed to the market's recent unruffled disposition despite strikes in independent steel companies.

Higher motor output this week and optimism over the nearby prospect for steel operation put some Dall Streeters in a good mood but this was tempered by reports of a let-down in construction.

Transactions fell to the lowest in two years or so. Volume approximated 550,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 28. (AP)—Late setbacks of wheat prices here today carried the market down nearly 4 cents a bushel.

Forthcoming holidays leading to prospects of curtailed export business tended to pull wheat values down, and so too did a disposition shown to await authoritative June unofficial domestic crop summaries due on June 2. Only about 250,000 bushels of Canadian wheat was bought today for export.

At the close, wheat was 2½-3¼ cents under yesterday's finish, July 1.18⅞-1.16, Sept. 1.14-1.14¼, corn 1½ off to ½ up, July 1.25-¾-⅞, Sept. 1.12⅝-¾, and oats showing ⅝-⅞ decline.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 28. (AP)—Trading demand tapered off during the morning and near mid-session the price level was unchanged to one point higher compared with the previous close.

Oct. made a new high during the morning and sold up to 12.72 but some profit taking carried it off to 12.69. July traded at 12.65 and Dec. at 12.76. There was no trading in other positions.

Business was at a standstill towards the middle hour and traders apparently were unwilling to transact new business in the face of the three day holiday in New York over the week-end.

The weather map was favorable, the belt was dry except for some moisture in the western section where it was welcome.

WOOL

BOSTON, May 28. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"The wool market continues generally quiet, with little indication as yet from the piecegoods market of the trend for the new season. Men's wear mills are waiting for the opening of tropical lines. Some government orders are affording a little more encouragement, especially to the knitting trade, although the new effect upon the market as a whole will probably be small.

"Operations in the west are few and for small quantities. Merchantable medium wools out of the middle west at 40 cents delivered for the better types seems to be the nearest to a stable market one can quote. Five wools are held relatively dear.

"Foreign markets are dull and favoring the buyer.

"Mohair is slow but steady."

The Bulletin will publish the following quotations:

Domestic:

Scoured basis:

Texas: Fine 12 months selected 1.00-1.02; fine short twelve months 97-98; fine 8 months 95-96; fall 92-93.

Mohair:

Domestic, good regional bag, Texas spring, ½7-70 cents; Texas kid, 90-95; Arizona and New Mexican, 63-65; Oregon, 65-67.

NOMINATIONS MADE FOR LIONS CLUB OFFICERS

Nominations for officers of the Lions club which will hold an election on June 17 were made at the regular weekly luncheon of the club yesterday.

The following nominations were made:

For president: R. B. Fisher, R. A. Webb and John Osborne; for secretary-treasurer: Roy McMillen; for lion tamer: L. L. McColm and Ralph Thomas; for tail twister: Charlie Maisel and J. S. Wynne; for directors (three to be elected): Ralph Thomas, Charlie Thut, Will C. House, C. H. Walker, K. I. Dunn, Charlie Duenkel, Crawford Atkinson, and James Saunders.

The Rev. C. E. Lancaster addressed the club yesterday on "The Golden Rule," in observance of Golden Rule Week.

TAX EVASIONS TO BE PROSECUTED, SAYS FDR

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP) — President Roosevelt said today he would ask for legislation this session to check what he termed both evasion and avoidance of income taxes running into millions of dollars by a small group of wealthy persons.

He told a press conference he had received reports from the treasury of glaring evasions and avoidances which had raised an important moral issue and that there was no question there would have to be additional legislation to plug loopholes.

Earlier today treasury officials disclosed they were mapping legal action against scores of large taxpayers. In some cases, they said, civil proceedings will be undertaken.

In others fraud prosecutions will be recommended to the justice department.

SEWING ROOM TO MAKE COSTUMES FOR FIESTA

Anyone wishing to have costumes made for the Fiesta next week can have them made at the WPA sewing room in the courthouse, it was announced today by Charles Maisel of the Fiesta parade committee.

Mr. Maisel stated that if persons will furnish the material, the labor for making the costumes will be supplied by the WPA workers.

Anyone wishing information may get in touch with Mr. Maisel, Ben Guill, or Mrs. Buena Birchfield, sewing room supervisor.

CCC Enrolment in July Seems Likely

Probable opening of a CCC enrolment in July was announced today by Mrs. Willie Baines, of the Gray county relief committee.

Age limits are likely to be restricted to 17 and 23 years, however men between 23 and 38 years are also urged to contact the office, third floor of the Gray county courthouse.

Washington headquarters of the Civilian Conservation Corps also is requesting an estimate of available enrollees from needy non-relief families, Mrs. Baines stated.

P. O. TO CLOSE

The Pampa postoffice will be closed Monday in observance of Memorial Day which falls on Sunday, Postmaster C. H. Walker said today.

General delivery, parcel post and stamp windows, however, will be open from 9 until 10 a. m. Street delivery will be discontinued for the day but persons on routes may call at the office for their mail during the hour the windows are open.

Kenneth Carman, high school speech arts teacher and dramatic coach, left this morning for Evanston, Ill., where he will attend Northwestern university this summer.

Many were injured and many were unaccounted for, with rescue workers finding more bodies hourly as they cleared away debris.

The building housing the Paraguay consulate was wrecked and seven occupants killed, but Consul Carlos Dupuy and his wife, mother, sister and four children escaped injury. The consulate office was destroyed and the Paraguayan flag on the building was torn to shreds.

MARBLE WINS ROUND.

LONDON, May 28 (AP)—Alice Marble, American singles champion, reached the final round of the Middlesex tennis championships today, defeating Mary Whitmarsh of Great Britain, 6-3, 6-0, in the semi-finals.

PETITION FILED IN $20,000 DAMAGE SUIT

A second amended original petition in the $20,000 damage suit of F. N. Reynolds against Harry Wofford, is on file in Gray county district court.

The plaintiff alleges that he was injured when riding in the defendant's car which overturned between Shamrock and Wheeler on May 7, 1935. Mr. Reynolds charges he was permanently injured in the accident.

WILL HEAR COLMERY.

All local Legionnaires who expect to hear National Commander Colmery in Panhandle tomorrow have been asked to be at the high school auditoruim in that city by 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Colmery will speak at 2 o'clock. Several Pampans plan to accompany him to Perryton where he will give an address and attend a convention.

TO EXTEND CCC.

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—Senate and House conferees agreed today on a compromise proposal to extend the Civilian Conservation Corps for three years. The House had voted to limit the life of the agency to two years, but the Senate adopted President Roosevelt's recommendation that it be made permanent.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hartman arrived yesterday from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., for a visit with their son, D. C. Hartman, and with friends here.

COPS WILL GET BEHIND DESTRUCTIVE CHILDREN

The Pampa police department will cooperate with city property owners to stop children from stealing fruit and breaking branches from fruit trees, Police Chief Art Hurst announced today.

Anyone catching children stealing fruit or in any way mutilating property, both city and private, is asked to hold them and call the police. Parents will be held responsible.

Several citizens have notified Chief Hurst that limbs of cherry trees have been smashed by children stealing the cherries. One citizen had to pick all his cherries last night to keep children from ruining his trees.

Chief Hurst asks parents to warn their children not to destroy property.

DRIVING WHILE DRUNK CHARGE FILED HERE

S. F. Eshelman, Pampa, arrested last night by Deputy Sheriff O. T. Lindsey on a charge of driving an auto while drunk, was placed under $1,500 bond when he appeared before Justice E. F. Young for examining trial today. Eshelman is awaiting action of the county grand jury which will convene Monday. The deputy sheriff reported that the accused man struck two cars on Kingsmill-ave, shortly before his arrest.

"You ought to see a Doctor"

What a familiar ring in those half-dozen words. How often they are heard. And how infrequently—more's the pity—do we take heed of the sound counsel of our friends.

Yes, you ought to see a doctor, if there is the slightest question concerning your health or well-being. Health is too precious to squander on hit-or-miss methods. And there may be grave danger in delay. You ought to see a doctor—and before it's too late!

CURB ON COLLEGIANS

Judges and police officials who hold forth in college towns might be interested in remarks made from the bench recently by Judge Arthur P. Stone of Cambridge, Mass.

Some of the exurbant lads from Harvard and Massachusettes Tech got riotous the other night, threw part of Cambridge into a mild turmoil, destroyed a bit of property and fought with the coppers. Five of them landed in court; and when they came before Judge Stone he promptly fined them, remarking that "there seems to be some idea that there is something sacred" about the person of a college student but that he, as a judge, did not in any way share in the idea.

That idea, it might be remarked, is usually held by no one but the collegians themselves. And so almost every college town has known moments in which thoughtless students made rowdies of themselves, expecting that the town authorities would make allowances simply because they were students. Wider adoption of Judge Stone's attitude might abate such nuisances.

BUILDING DICTATORSHIP

To most Americans, the formula for creating a dictator requires only an armed uprising, a march on Rome or a beer-cellar putsch. Actually those things are merely the climax of a long preparatory period of secret plotting and chicanery, a covert siege of buying off and promising of dodging and playing with loopholes in the constitutional law.

Japan right now is giving us a rare clinical example of that very thing. Rebuffed by the Japanese Diet, Premier Senjuro Hayashi called for a general election in support of his neo-imperialistic measures. But the people overwhelmingly outvoted Hayashi's program. Then, instead of resigning himself to the public will, Hayashi announced he would disregard the vote and rule with Parliament until the Diet manifested a "spirit of world co-operation that is fast withering."

Japan may never reach full dictatorship, but it certainly is on the way, in the best accepted tradition of Hitler, Mussolini, Metaxas and others. The situation provides America with a splendid object lesson and a chance to brush up on the new world politics.

—AND SO, TO WORK

Speaking to his ministers, George VI declared he would follow their deliberations "in the confident hope that they may advance the happiness and prosperity of all my peoples."

That's a big confidence for a man so new on the job. In spite of coronation clatter, the new king undoubtedly had ear for discords involving his empire. There was Ireland's new independence move, India's home rule law quarrel, Italy refusal to "be friends" loss of a British warship off Spain, England's own financial and labor stress and in general, the world's disaffection with itself.

A gracious, likeable figure was George VI as he accepted his destined glory in the pomp of coronation. Now comes drab circumstance and the crowning test of a man born to rule.

It looks like the battle has been lost. . . It was too much like the charge of the light brigade, anyway. . . The odds were too great . . . There are a couple of old acquaintances back there who would have loved it. . . Heh, heh, heh!

Joe Gordon has a good story about Ben Bernie. . . Emmett Gotcher, the composing room superintendent, can answer any of your baseball questions without looking in the book. . . Here at the Daily NEWS, Mr. Gotcher is Sports Editor Harry Hoare's reference library. . . If it has to do with baseball he knows all the answers, right now! . . . Which reminds us that we have been forgetting most of the answers lately.

This definition bears repeating now and then: A real friend is the one who walks in when all the others walk out on you. . . We have just received a threatening letter. . . It will not be turned over to the police. . Ina May Dean, Pampa's No. 1 beauty, has a pretty voice, too. . . It sounds well via radio. . . Miss Dean will clash with beauties from one hundred Texas cities in Fort Worth on June 5 for the title of Texas' Sweetheart No. 1

Riding over from Canadian with Postmaster Jim Farley yesterday, convinced one that the U. S. postal chief is a very human sort of person. . . While waiting during the half-hour stop for lunch in Canadian, Mr. Farley found time to use a couple of very mild cuss words as he joked with a couple of cow hands. . . He also took time out to tweak the chin of a chubby baby boy in the arms of its mother . . . And the postmaster general laughed heartily at a joke about WPA workers as told by Judge E. J. Pickens, of Canadian.

In the comfort of his private car, Mr. Farley shed his coat and "un-laxed" . . . Incidentally, he informed us that the Democratic National committee, as of last Saturday, was only $168,000 "in the red" on the last successful campaign to elect President Roosevelt. . . The sale of some books is expected to bring in $60,000 or $70,000, and with some other things in mind, they expect to be doing all right before long. . . And, he added, by the way, that it costs around $20,000 to $25,000 a month to operate the national committee.

Mr. Farley left Pampa, a booster for the Top O' Texas Fiesta. . . He wore on his coat lapel a Fiesta souvenir button, presented to him by Jim Lyons. . . The 1940 presidential possibility had already heard that Pampa was the capital of the Top O' Texas. . . He referred to Amarillo as "the place near Pampa" . . . One of the most active members of the Farley "vacation" party is Smith Purdum, fourth assistant of the Postoffice Department.

When his train stopped at the Santa Fe station here, Mr. Farley was taken aback by the enterprise of Sid Patterson's KPDN staff, as Production Manager Monte Rosenwald hopped aboard the observation platform with a cheery welcome to the postmaster general and handed him a remote microphone into which Mr. Farley began speaking before he knew what it was all about. . . "It's the first time these radio folk ever worked that fast on me," Mr. Farley said. . . And then he talked for five minutes for the visible audience of 1,500 persons gathered at the station, as well as for the radio audience.

Mr. Farley likes Texas people and Texas, he said. . . Of course he liked the vote Texas turned up for Mr. Roosevelt last fall. . . And because of this splendid support in the Lone Star state, the postmaster general took time in his Pampa talk to apologize for the poor showing in Main and Vermont." . . . He promised his auditors that it would not happen the next time. . . A pretty girl climbed aboard the platform to pin a rose on Mr. Farley's lapel as he proceeded with his radio talk.

Mr. Farley says he is supposed to be on a vacation, but still wonders if he really is. . . "I've talked so many times within the last couple of days," he said, "that I talk in my sleep." . . He's not accustomed to getting up too early in the morning, he admits, and when a band turns out to meet him around 7 a. m. at some town along the route, it's just a bit disconcerting to get out of your berth, pajama-clad, and give a cheery, bleary-eyed, "good morning" greeting to the assembled throng on the station platform, he says.

In Canadian he was trying to find time to run over to a barbershop and get a shave, but there wasn't enough time left after he had shaken hands with everybody and finished up his autographing. . . His beard still was with him when he arrived in Pampa, but he entertained hopes of shaving himself between here and Amarillo, his next scheduled stop. . . It was 1:30 p. m., yesterday, between Canadian and Pampa, before Mr. Farley got time to eat his lunch, and then he had to hurry it up. . . He said he had eaten breakfast about 6 o'clock yesterday morning.

Somebody in the party aboard the train asked Mr. Farley is he was in favor of President Roosevelt's judiciary reorganization plan . . . And everybody laughed and laughed, including the young man who had asked the question. . . When Mr. Farley appeared on the car platform here, a man, all out of breath, clambored up the off-side of the car and handed over a bunch of hand-bills labeled, "What I Think of President Roosevelt." . . . Nobody had time to read them before the train left. . . As the train pulled away, Postmaster C. H. Walker, of Pampa, stopped on the station ramp long enough to tell the radio audience that he had nothing to say. . . "Mr. Farley has just taken the words out of my mouth," he said, waving at the Postmaster General as the train moved across Cuyler to the westward.

The Cunard-Red Star lines Queen Mary will have a sister ship in the water in about a year and a half . . . construction of the sister ship has been assured by a $25,000,000 grant from the British treasury . . . Coming elephant trend in India is toward tuskless animals. Indian naturalist declares . . . Ceylon elephants have already lost their tusks.

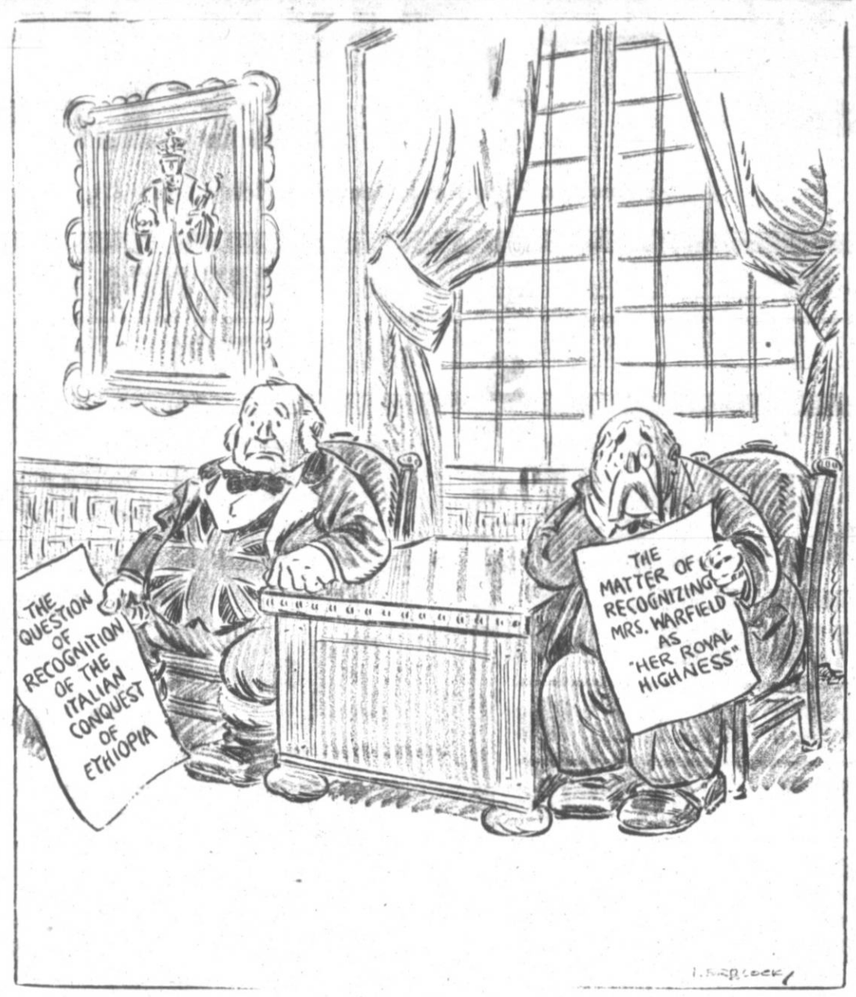
Big Worries in the Life of a Great Empire



Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—A new version of the gag about the punch-drunk fighter who didn't know where he was has bobbed up, and Benny Leonard is the donor.

The ex-light-weight champ was reminiscing in a nostalgic mood and it was natural that his remarks should concern busted beaks, cauliflower ears and round-house rights. Finally he arrived at the current crop of heavyweights and that brought up Joe Louis.

"Ask Eddie Simms if you don't think he hits hard," said Leonard. "You know what happened when he fought Simms, don't you? He knocked him out in a couple of seconds, but that isn't what makes me laugh like you laugh when the other fellow slips on the banana peel. It was the aftermath.

"They draged poor Simms, unconscious, to his dressing room and finally succeeded in bringing him around, but he was in a bad way. Then they got his clothes on him, and his manager led him out into the night.

"As they ambled down the street, the rain beating against them and the gloom enveloping them omniously, Simms looked up: 'This rain is apt to hurt the gate tonight,' he observed.

"That brought his manager up short. After eyeing his man carefully, he murmurred softly:

"'That's all right, kid. They've called the fight off!'"

Here is the tale of an acrobat which proves conclusively that things aren't always as they seem.

Ben Dova, after a year or so in Europe, was on the Hindenburg when she came zooming into Lakehurst that day so many lives were lost. Being an acrobat, he jumped, and knowing how to jump probably saved his life. Anyway he got off with minor injuries and some curious burns. It was the blistered hand, held up for inspection, which caused gasps from several of his intimates.

"But how strange," one observed, "only your hands are burned!"

"Oh," said Ben, "I didn't burn them on the zep. I broke my ankle when I jumped, and I blistered my hands trying to walk with crutches."

Duke Ellington, king of the sepia orchestra leaders, is an ex-pianist . . . He used to play for Maurice Chevalier . . . Maurice Evans gave up his ambition to be a lecturer and became an actor. . . Mickey Walker had the most picturesque of all fighting names, I thought . . . It was The Toy Bulldog . . . He is now a Manhattan resturanteur. . . . Experts agree that one may sop gravy without fear of offending the dictates of good manners . . . My, that's a load off my mind!

CHARGE WAS CRUELTY

CHICAGO—Mrs. Margaret Dyck Mertes told Judge Joseph B. David she had two reasons for divorcing Edward B. Mertes.

At a night club, she testified, the master of ceremonies crooned "I Love You Truly" for her, but her husband became jealous and struck her.

Later, she testified, they attended a wrestling bout, and her choice won. On the return home, Mrs. Mertes said her husband tried to show her the hold his favorite should have used, and bruised her severely.

A divorce was granted.

People You Know

Today, it will be fitting to say a good word for Roy Showers among whose trophies now stands the Lions club sportsmanship silver statuette. The Lions were right as rain this time, and that isn't saying they've been wrong in the past. Roy, they said Pampa wouldn't have a chance against Amarillo last Thanksgiving, but you boys showed them. You didn't pay any attention to anybody except Coach Mitchell and Coach Prejean. Never will we who sat in the stands forget that "flea-flicker" type pass you helped toss.

It didn't matter that it was ruled out, it put the fear of God in Amarillo and made you boys heroes. What we liked about you and the rest of that team last year was our courage. Roy, you had it. We bragged on you a lot after that game, but you didn't get a swelled head. Playing football didn't change you a bit, and that's a big compliment. You didn't think the teachers should give you your grades, and you studied and made good grades. You didn't think the school owed you a living or should give you special privileges just because you played football. You didn't go around in basketball season watching football, but you supported the team by encouraging it, and by attending the games. You didn't assume that all the girls were crazy about you and you didn't act as if they were (now you and your mother, who laugh just alike, may laugh explosively at that). So, Roy, stay in there. You probably were the best passer Pampa ever had, but boy we liked you most because you were a good sport and could hold your head.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

By JEAN HARLOW
(Guest Columnist For Robbin Coons)

HOLLYWOOD.—Hollywood is a place in which to work, not to play. No snickers, please. I know. I work here.

In two years I have been out to night clubs three times and then only to accompany friends. During vacations and brief weekend rests, I haven't been farther from Hollywood than Lake Arrowhead, a mountain resort three hours by automobile from my home.

Oh, yes, I know that I went to Washington with my mother, and Robert Taylor to attend the president's birthday party. It was a thrilling and tremendously interesting experience, but not exactly play. I was two weeks recuperating from making that 6,000-mile trip in nine days.

25 Costumes In Play

Appearing in from four to six pictures a year leaves an actress little time for play. After finishing "Personal Property" I had exactly a week to rest before starting preparations for "Saratoga." I wear 25 costumes in the new picture and the fittings took me to the studio almost every day for two weeks, although this was my vacation. Make-up tests and hairdress also required a great deal of my time.

Just when I might have had a few days' vacation, Director Jack Conway called me back to the studio to start work. While a picture is in production, my days follow a strict routine. I try to be in bed by nine o'clock, to be up at seven, at the studio by eight and on the set by nine.

Dislikes Large Parties

I never give formal parties, preferring to have a few close friends drop in once a week, usually on a Friday or Saturday evening. My guests rarely number more than ten, and generally include Bob Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck, Clark Gable and Carole Lombard, W. S. Van Dyke and Mrs. Van Dyke, Bill Powell and Carey Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, the former Carmelita Geraghty.

Sunday mornings I have my one breakfast in bed—big treat of the week. For relaxation and pleasure I read a great deal and write. I've finished one novel, "Today Is Tonight" and have started another.

Perhaps that doesn't sound like a very exciting life, but it suits me. I have a pleasant home, friends I enjoy, and my work. A person couldn't ask for much more.

How's Your Health?

Edited by DR. IAGO GALDSTON for the New York Academy of Medicine

THE PRESCHOOL CHILD

The preschool age embraces the years between three and six—critical years for the youngster. The kind of physical care it receives during this period deeply affects its well being later in life.

During these years the child is likely to run the gamut of the common infectious diseases such as measles, whoping cough, scarlet fever and chicken pox. If neglected, or improperly treated, these diseases and their complications may do irreparable damage to the heart, kidneys, ears and eyes.

Furthermore, the preschool child is likely to prove hard to handle. The transition from a speechless, helpless babe to a walking, talking and reasoning youngster is fraught with difficulties alike for child and parents.

From the adult view this age is characterized by its selfishness, its noisy and senseless play, the eternal questioning, little appreciation of or respect for objective truth and reality, and a strong tendency to "make believe." Patience and the observance of a few simple regulations, however, go far in promoting the favorable development of the child.

Nutrition is perhaps the most important item in the care of the preschool child. Between three and six the average child experiences some of its initial growth spurt. It therefore has an acute need for "raw materials" to build its body. These must be supplied in its foods.

The preschool child's diet should contain liberal quantities of the protective foods—milk and milk derivatives, eggs, citrus fruits, vegetables and meats. The American dietary is generally too rich in starchy foods and too poor in those containing vitamins and mineral salts. The growing child especially needs to be safeguarded against dietary deficiencies.

The healthy and well nourished preschool child requires little urging to exercise. It is more likely to be too active and hence to suffer from excessive fatigue. Two daily rest periods, in the morning and afternoon, will protect the child against the hazard of excessive fatigue.

Two other items call for special vigilance—eyes and ears. The function of these most important sense organs should be examined carefully by a physician, and such corrective measures as are indicated should be started promptly.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing ThePampa Daily NEWS Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. What is Ralph De Palma's latest record and in what car was it made?—J. K.

A. This month at the Indianapolis Speedway Ralph DePalma averaged 82 miles an hour in a 500-mile test run driving a stock LaSalle V-8. The run, sanctioned by the American Automobile Association, was made to show the progress in endurance and reliability of the modern passenger car.

Q. Is it possible for European nations who owe us war debts to borhow money in the United States?—W. R.

A. The Johnson Act forbids any country in default to the United States from floating loans in this country.

Q. Who is painting the biggest picture in the world which will be exhibited at the Paris Exposition?—K. L. J.

A. Raoul Dufy is the artist who with his brother and several assistants has been working on the canvas for eight month. The picture will depict the history and development of electricity from the days of Archimedes to the present. It will also be exhibited at the New York World's Fair in 1939.

Q. How much will the Queens Midtown Tunnel (New York City), cost?—P. L. M.

A. It is being built at a total estimated cost of $58,365,000 and is expected to be completed in 1940.

Your Weight and Your Health

This, That and Everything

BY WILLIAM HUSLEY CLARK.

Nothing else, it seems, will make a fellow so conscious of his seniority as a visit to the old home community. Unconsciously we go back home after years of absence expecting to find people and the country the same as when we left. Well the country may not have changed so much—at least parts of it—but how the people have changed! Boys and girls with whom we have associated have children old enough for school; and we find an unexpected number of young people who have out grown our knowledge. It is interesting to observe these boys and girls and try to identify them through family resemblances.

After all, there is something about these childhood friends that we can not describe but is greatly appreciated by all of us. We take their friendship for granted, and they make valuable contributions to our memories.

It is a rare privilege to go back home. It must be a strange person inded who can not find genuine pleasure in going back to the old home community.

BOOK A DAY

By BRUCE CATTON

"BLOOD ON THE MOON," by Linton Wells; (Houghton-Mifflin: $3).

For a quarter century Linton Wells, broad shouldered and quiet spoken, has wandered up and down the turbulent corridors of the world, servinb at times as an authoritative commentator for American news services, and in odd moments participating as a soldier of fortune in alien armies.

He was a lieutenant in the Chinese republican army, a colonel in the Nicaraguan air force, and a major in Carranza's Mexicon army. For New York newspapers and the various news services he has been war correspondent in China, Mexico, Morocco, Syria and Nicaragua betwen 1912 and 1936. His latest assignment, and it almost was in fact his last one because of vagrant shrapnel, was as correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune in the Italo-Ethiopian war.

Even away from war Wells would not be still. As as surveyor he went to the South Sea Islands of Samoa in pre-journalistic days to build dams and other water conservation projects. In 1926 he joined Edward S. Evans in a record-breaking circumnavigation of the globe in 28 days, 14 hours and a few extra moments. A year before he made the first non-stop automobile drive from Los Angeles to New York in 167 hours.

Now, in "Blood on the Moon," he calls back the colorful details of all he has done and all he has seen in these 25 years. He ends with only the simple, despairing observation that "I hate war."

Almost equally succinct and perhaps more pertinent is the conclusion of this journalist-soldier who has watched the military arenas of the world from ringside seats since the days when this nation went to war to end war.

"There will be another terrible world conflict, I am convinced," he writes, "and the line-up will probably be Japan, Italy, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Bulgaria and Albania against England, France, Belgium, Soviet Russia, Turkey, China, Jugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Roumania and Greece with Poland doubtful and the Scandinavian countries, Holland and Switzerland neutral."

Wells should know. He's been in all of them.

CAST OF CHARCTERS.

PATRICIA WARREN, heroine, secretary to Don Monteray, actor-playwright.

TRISSY WARREN, Pats' cousin anr roommate in New York.

DON MONTERAY, Patricia's actor-employer.

ROSAMOND AKERS, Patricia's rival.

Yesterday: Pats, adopting a stage makeup, decires to substitute for her cousin as secretary to the actor, Don Monteray. Her cousin leaves to wed in Minneapolis.

CHAPTER II.

Pats took Trissy to the depot on Monday morning. It had been a week-end of hilarity, sudden tears, gay conversation and long doubtful silences. When the train finally thundered out of the sheds and Pats was left standing alone, she felt her first dreadful moment of panic. Gone was the necessity of convincing Trissy that her plan was perfectly feasible, gone too was any confidence she might have felt in the wild scheme. The imminent prospect of facing Don Monteray caused little shudders to run the legnth of her spine and now the whole affair seemed preposterous, fantastic.

Pats was dressed for the part. The sun glasses had been replaced by horn-rimmed spectacles which, decidedly tinted, gave her eyes a reddish owl-like appearance. All the way down Park avenue she practiced the prim pursing of her lips, forcing herself to play the part of the competent, self-effacing secretary she was to be. Determinedly, she submerged her own sparkling personality. The thing to do, she kept telling herself, was to pretend that Don Monteray's suits was merely a stage set, that the curtain was about to rise. Thinking that made it easier.

Reaching the Avalon she walked briskly through the lobby, conscious that Trissy's jacket hung absurdly from her straight shoulders, that her skirt was much too wide and sagged a little, that her dark blouse, without a touch of relieving white, accentuated the grayish yellow of her skin, that her cotton gloves were dispiritingly ugly. At Don Monteray's door she hesitated. The sound of voices came from within, one shrilly feminine and insistent, the other distracted, pleading.

"But I tell you Mr. Monteray is in his bath," came the distracted voice. "He hasn't had his breakfast. He's engaged for the morning." The voice had a nasal quality, a decidedly British accent. The valet without a doubt. Pats knocked timidly, then again more fimrly. Ignored, she opened the door and walked in.

Beyond the foyer, in the center of a beautifully furnished living room, stood two persons, the valet, slightly stooped with deferential servitude, and a woman with a florid, aggressive face.

"I intend to see Mr. Monteray," she repeated for the third time in Pats' hearing. "I insist upon a personal interview with him."

Placing her hat and coat on a chair, Pats stepped camly into the room. With a pleasant nod to the surprised valet she addressed the woman.

"Mr. Monteray only gives interviews upon appointment. Step this way please and we'll make arrangements." Two minutes later the florid lady departed. Alone, Pats looked about her. The foyer was literally filled with unopened mail, fan letters, she correctly surmised. As she frowningly surveyed them the valet appeared again.

"Has she gone?" he hissed.

"Yes." Then: "I am Miss Warren, the new secretary."

He bowed formally. "I am Sims, Mr. Monteray's man."

Pats nodded gravely although a laugh ached in her throat. The curtain had indeed gone up. The preliminary business was well under way. She asked a few questions and Sims answered them. It seemed the previous secretaries had occupied a desk in the living room. A very bad arrangement, very bad according to Sims. Very annoying to Mr. Monteray. With his help Pats moved the desk to the foyer and found that the living room door could be locked. As they rearranged the new office Sims talked.

"It's the girls and women, Miss Warren. They won't let Mr. Monteray have any peace. He's trying to write a play for himself and he can't make any headway. His nerves are very jittery if I might say so, miss." Worriedly he repeated, "It's the girls and women."

"I'll attend to them," Pats promised with more assurance than she felt.

"He doesn't want to see anyone nor talk to anyone. Those are his orders." Sims spoke emphatically and she nodded agreement.

She decided to tackle the mail and he showed her desk drawers filled with stationery, stamps and photographs of Don Monteray. It seemed his feminine public demanded photographs and his public must not be offended.

"I'll get along," Pats said uncertainly, looking at the typewriter.

Sims rubbed his hands together in evident approval. "Mr. Monteray is really very pleasant to work for," he remarked. With this he departed for the inner regions and Pats closed the door behind him.

"Pleasant, my eye," she groaned. "He sounds like a spoiled baby to me."

At first Pats read the fan letters

"If you'll sign these, please," she said primly. "I opened a personal letter by mistake."

but before she had been at it an hour she had learned to skim over the trite lines of adulation, to weed out the questions which must be answered, to discard, to sort, to destroy. One letter caught her attention. It began, "Don, Darling:—You are a mean old beast not to let me come to New York." It was signed "Rosie" and Pats dropped it into the lower desk drawer. Its tone was decidedly personal.

More mail was brought in and the telephone rang incessantly. It was always a feminine voice and Pats' answer was always the same. "Mr. Monteray is out. Is there a message?" If Don Monteray wanted secretarial protection he was going to get just that. She had not seen him but all day the intermittent tap of a typewriter came to her ears through the closed door. At five she went to a lavatory, repaired her unattractive makeup, saw that the wig fitted smoothly, then went back to tap on the locked door. A deep, stirring voice called, "Come in," and she used her key for the first time.

Don Monteray, the despair of thousands of romantic girls and women, sat before a portable typewriter. Pats' first impression was that he was even more handsome than his pictures. He had the head of a Greek god, he was tall and broad and graceful in repose. Instantly she felt his charm. He was friendly, likeable, winning. As Pats entered the room he glanced up casually.

"I don't know how you've done it," he remarked, rising and stretching his big frame, "but I've had the first peaceful day since I came East."

Every instinct urged Pats to fall into conversation with him but she merely nodded a response and laid a stack of letters on his desk.

"If you'll sign these, please," she said primly. "I opened a personal letter by mistake." As she started back to her desk he said,

"From a girl?"

"Yes—it is signed Rosie."

An expression of irritation darkened his good-looking young face.

"Let it go,' he said. "There's no answer." Lighting a cigaret he roamed about the room. "Any callers?"

"Twenty-four. They would not give their names."

"Oh, Lord, what a relief," he groaned. "You did a real job today, Miss—er—"

"Warren." Pats was a bit overwhelmed by the fact that she was talking to Don Monteray, the great lover, the most popular idol of the silver screen.

"Thank you, Miss Warren. Here's how it is," he told her boyishly. "I came here because I want to write a play for myself. It's going pretty well, too. Laid in Labrador; not a woman in it. I'm to play the part of a funny old geezer who has spent 20 years in a wireless station. I'm all steamed up over it."

Pats said nothing. The glamorous Don Monteray, an old geezer in a wireless station. He who could fairly make you ache and throb with his love making, who could take your breath with a mere glance from his eyes.

"I want to be a character actor," he was telling her confidentially. "If I can— Say," he broke off "You're dead tired and I keep you standing while I prattle of my ambitions. I'll make up for it by sending you home in the car.' He reached for the telephone.

almost fell asleep with weariness.

He ignored her completely. Absolutely impersonal in his kindness he turned back to his desk and signed the letters. He grinned over them.

"Great stuff," he murmured. "A he-man writing to a lot of strange dames—sending them his pictures—lotta rot if you ask me."

Pats rode home in the elegance of Don Monteray's car. She wanted to taste the poy to the last drop but almost fell asleep with waeriness.

Later, preparing a rather sketchy repast, she thought over the events of the day. She had bathed, her golden hair curled damply around her tired young face, and now she lounged in gay pajamas. It had been the hardest, most exacting day of her life, and the most thrilling. She went to sleep early and her last waking thought was that she had pleased Don Monteray . . . and that he was the most attractive man in the world.

M'LEAN LIONS VOTE TO SPONSOR PLAY PROGRAM

McLEAN, May 28.—Assuring McLean boys an opportunity for organized recreation through the summer, the Lions club voted Tuesday to sponsor a play program with Martin Murdock as director.

A committee, Jesse J. Cobb, Dr. W. L. Campbell, and Boyd Meador, was appointed to secure funds for financing the project.

Boys will participate in three divisions. Those 11 years of age and younger will meet each morning from Monday through Friday from 9 to 10:30 o'clock. The 12-14 year age group will meet from 10:30 to 12 o'clock. High school boys will meet from 3 to 5:30 p. m.

A twilight softball league will be organized for men and boys, with playing time from 6:30 to 8 p. m. Intentions for sponsoring teams have been filed already by Smith Bros. Refining Company, City Drug, City Food, Tigers, Ex-Tigers. Several other teams are in process of organization.

Work and play will start Monday. Headquarters for the project will be the ward school building. A varied and interesting program is being mapped out by Mr. Murdock to insure McLean boys an active summer.

Boys' 4-H club work interested more farm and ranch boys in Texas in 1936 than since the World War.

"ALL-BRAN LIVES UP TO REPUTATION"

If you are troubled with common constipation, read Miss Bundy's enthusiastic letter:

"I used to feel poorly all the time—just down and out. After reading an advertisement about ALL-BRAN, I got a box. It has helped me ever since." Miss Mary Bundy, Bennettsville, S. C.

Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings "bulk" to exercise the intestines; vitamin B to tone up the intestinal tract.

Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water. This soft mass gently clears the intestines in a safe, natural way—without any of the weakening action of pills and drugs.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—with every meal in severe cases. Serve as a cereal with milk or fruits, or cook into recipes. Remember—ALL-BRAN is a food—not a medicine. You buy it at the grocery store. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SECURITY BOARD WILL APPROVE PENSION EVERY EIGHT MINUTES

One claim approved every eight minutes of the working day—that is the rate at which the Social Security Board's claims service will be equipped to handle claims for Federal old-age benefits, Ernest L. Tutt, field representative in charge of the Dallas field office of the Social Security Board, announced today.

Expansion of claim adjudication work to handle the growing influx of claims emphasizes the increased activity in this phase of the social security program, with an estimated 320,000 persons or their estates eligible for payments in 1937, Tutt said.

Of this number, about 125,000 will involve lump-sum payments to workers 65 years old, and 195,000, it is estimated, will be death payments to estates of workers who die before reaching this age or reach age 65 before qualifying for annuity payments.

Claims experience to date reveals that approximately 70 per cent of wage earners who die leave a widow or widower, and in 50 per cent of the cases wherein an application for death payments has been filed, no other assets have been reported aside from the amount to be certified for payment by the Federal Government.

Mr. Tutt added that claims actually submitted during the year may not equal these totals, because some claimants may not apply for small amounts, and some claims may not be filed within the year.

Lump-sum benefits are corollary to the major program which begins in 1942, when the Social Security Board will begin to pay monthly benefits for life to qualified retired workers age 65 or over.

"As knowledge regarding Federal old-age benefits spreads, possession of a social security account number by every eligible worker becomes more important," Mr. Tutt stated, "since the payments are made on the basis of wages received by the worker and recorded by the Board in his social security account. These wage reports will be made on informational returns submitted by the employer and will include the worker's account number.

"The worker will insure the proper recording of all eligible wages for the payment of his old-age benefits by obtaining a social security account number immediately after he goes to work in a covered employment."

Mr. Tutt urged all eligible workers who have not yet done so to apply for an account number immediately. He pointed out that account numbers will be assigned from any of the 45,000 post offices which are cooperating with the Board until June 30. Effective July 1, the Post Office Department will in cities in which there are no Social Security Board offices—continue to supply application forms for social security account numbers. Such applications should be sent after June 30 to the nearest Social Security Board office. The Dallas office is located at 1530 Allen Building, Dallas.

At the same time wage earners participating in the Federal old-age benefits program were cautioned by Mrs. Tutt against having more than one account number, because they may create difficulties for themselves and for the Board in the maintenance of accurate wage records on which old-age benefits will be based.

"The participant in the Federal old-age benefits program will have the same number during the entire period of his participation," he emphasized. "The account number is not altered regardless of the duration of employment, changes in employment, or the number of employers worked for at the same time. Furthermore, the same account number will be used if a worker leaves covered employment and later returns to it."

Wage earners who have secured more than one account number were advised to bring or send all account cards they have received to their local post offices, where the proper corrections will be made.

SOONERS BUY THREE VALLEY NEWSPAPERS

BROWNSVILLE, May 28 (AP) — Next Tuesday three of the Rio Grande valley's largest papers will begin operations under the joint control of H. R. Hudson, former Oklahoma City railroad organizer and oilman.

Hudson announced last night he had purchased the Brownsville Herald (afternoon), the Harlingen Valley Morning Star and the McAllen Monitor (afternoon), his control to become effective June 1. The papers are members of the Associated Press.

Carl C. Magee, former Oklahoma City editor, will become editor-in-chief of the three papers and McHenry Tichenor, publisher of the Harlingen paper, will become business manager.

Planned expansions include new buildings and new presses at McAllen and Harlingen, Hudson said.

Hudson came from Boston to Oklahoma City and organized a railroad. He came to Brownsville last January.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 28 (AP) —H. Hudson, who announced the acquisition of three Texas newspapers, and Carl Magee, who will become their editor-in-chief, are widely known in Oklahoma.

Hudson left Oklahoma City last January and moved with his family to Brownsville, where he purchased controlling interest in the State National bank, largest in the Rio Grande valley.

When he left here, he was chairman of the board of directors for the Oklahoma Railway Co., and president of the Oklahoma City community fund.

Magee has long newspaper experience. He has been editor of a paper in Albuquerque, N. M., and came here in 1927 as editor of the Oklahoma City News, which position he held until 1933.

He invented the parking meter, first installed in Oklahoma City, and later in many cities throughout the country. He is president of the Dual Parking Meter company.

Magee said tonight he will go to Harlingen, Tex., June 1. He said he would retain his interest in the Parking Meter company, but a new president will be named.

PAMPANS VISIT BUICK FACTORY AT DETROIT

FLINT, Mich., May 27.—How Buick cars are built was witnessed at first hand by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Vollmert of Pampa, who were visitors at the Buick factories here. Mr. and Mrs. Vollmert spent several hours going through the plans under the direction of a guide who explained the various processes in automobile manufacture as each manufacturing department was visited. Following the inspection trip through the plant, Mr. and Mrs. Vollmert took delivery of a new Buick in which they are driving back to Pampa.

Mildew on roses can be prevented by keeping the plants thoroughly sprayed or dusted.

CITIES ASKED TO FILE BID FOR NEW HOSPITAL

AUSTIN, May 28 (AP)—Claude D. Teer, chairman of the board of control, said today June 20 was the deadline for cities to file applications for location of a West Texas state hospital for the insane.

The $817,000 institution, authorized by the legislature, must be located west of the 100th meridian or in a county through which it passes.

Teer requested that delegations not call on the board until a schedule of hearings had been set. The bill provided that not less than 300 acres of land be donated for the hospital and Teer advised that between 300 and 500 acres of fertile agriculture land and between 500 and 1,000 acres of other land be provided.

The hospital would be located with a view to accessibility to the greatest number of inhabitants to be served by it indicating, Teer said, that it should be in central West Texas. Accessibility of utilities and supplies also would be a major factor. A distance of not more than 6 miles from a city was desirable, Teer said.

FOULKES IS MODERATOR

COLUMBUS, O., May 28 (AP)—The highest office in the Presbyterian church in the United States of America—Moderator of the general assembly—appeared likely today to go to Dr. William Hiram Foulkes, of Newark, N. J., as the 149th assembly convened.

Friends of Dr. Foulkes, pastor of First church in Newark and a member of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions, declared he was almost certain to be elected.

State figures show the average teacher in small Florida high schools has taught five years as compared with an eight and one-half average for those in large high schools.
