WASHINGTON, April 13. (AP)—In a speech recalling the recent drought relief controversy, President Hoover today congratulated the Red Cross for its work in that disaster and for its dependence upon voluntary assistance exclusive of federal charity.

Mr. Hoover, who is president of the relief organization, declared it had again been put to a severe test "not only as to practical ability to meet national disasters but a test involving its whole moral and spiritual purpose."

Dumas Watchman Held By Bandits

City officers were on the lookout this morning for four men who kidnaped the Dumas night watchman, took him five miles out of that city and left him, after holding up and robbing a Dumas cafe of an undetermined amount of money.

The men were in a Chevrolet sedan carrying an Oklahoma license. One of the men was tall and slim, about six feet in height. He wore a gray hat and a gray overcoat. He was about 35. Another wore overalls. He was about 25 years old and five feet and eight inches tall.

JOKE CAUSES DEPORTATION OF AMERICAN WOMAN BY RUSSIA

Husband Loses Lucrative Engineering Job With Soviet Regime.

BERLIN, April 13. (AP)—An American woman's anecdote at the expense of Joseph Stalin, Russia's "man of steel," has cost her her right to live in the Soviet union and her husband his lucrative Soviet employ as an anthracite mining expert.

Mrs. Eve Gareete Grady, an American magazine writer, arriving here from the U.S.S.R., said a foreign office official had served her with expulsion papers explaining that while her recent article, "See Russia and Die Laughing" was not offensive the government could not allow the story about Stalin to go unnoticed.

At the same time her husband, William H. Grady, a consulting engineer of New York, was expelled with instructions to keep his wife out of Russia. "We were asked to leave Russia, as soon as possible," Mrs. Grady said. "We were not treated rudely; on the contrary our exit was expedited by every courtesy."

The anecdote to which objection was taken related that a Jewish boy saved a stranger from drowning, the

East Texas Oil Injunction Order Is Limited to Carl Estes

PRORATION TO BE LIKELY IN OTHER LANDS

Dan Moody Maintains That Order Applies Alike to Other Leases—New Action Likely.

FAX RULE MADE

U. S. Supreme Court Says Income From State Land Is Subject to Federal Levy.

AUSTIN, April 13. (AP)—Fred Upchurch, assistant attorney general, today construed the proration injunction obtained last week by Carl Estes as applying only to Estes and possibly to his partners in three East Texas tracts and said the railroad commission was free to enforce proration in the remainder of the new East Texas field.

The temporary injunction restrained the commission from enforcing proration against Estes, a lease and royalty owner, and others "similarly situated."

Dan Moody, former governor and chief counsel for Estes, contended that held up proration throughout the new field. Upchurch said today it did not.

Upchurch is representing the commission in the case. Acting on his advice, the railroad commission likely will endeavor to enforce proration against the other East Texas oil men.

Can He Drive Out Chicago Gangs?

"We're going to clean up Chicago in time for the world's fair," declared newly-elected Mayor Anton J. Cermak, as he took over the chief executive's chair yesterday by "Big Bill" Thompson. His first act was discharging 2,300 employees put on by the former mayor during the election campaign. Gang rule must go, he asserts.

Governor Woodring of Kansas Has Found Outlet for Most of Stripper Oil—Still Lacks 1,500 Barrels

TOPEKA, April 13. (AP)—Owners of approximately 12,000 small stripper oil wells in southeastern Kansas appeared assured today of a permanent outlet for most of their production.

Gov. Harry H. Woodring announced over the week-end that agreements had been negotiated under which all except 1,500 of the 7,000 barrel daily production of the wells would be taken after expiration tomorrow of a 90-day arrangement under which the Standard Oil company of Indiana has been purchasing the stripper well oil.

The announcement indicated an outlet had been found for an additional 1,050 barrels since a conference here early last month when the governor announced five major oil companies had agreed to take 4,300 barrels of the production.

The latest announcement said the production would be taken as follows:

- Standard of Indiana, 2,700 barrels daily; Sinclair, 1,000; Standard of Kansas, 900; Skelly, 250, and Phillips, 500.

House Refuses 4-Cent Gasoline Tax

AUSTIN, April 13. (AP)—The house today refused to increase the state gasoline tax from four to five cents. The increase was proposed in an amendment by Representative Engelhard of Eagle Lake to a bill by Representative Hubbard of New Boston to place the gasoline tax on refiners instead of wholesalers. The vote against the amendment was 65 to 25.

The Hubbard bill was passed 114 to 0. Hubbard said he believed it would increase the state gasoline tax revenue by approximately $2,000,000 annually by preventing "bootlegging" of gasoline.

In supporting his amendment, Engelhard said it would be necessary to increase the funds of the highway department if the department was to take up outstanding county bonds from current revenues, as provided in a bill by Representative Brooks of Bagwell, passed by the house last week.

Women Demand Raskob's Resignation

WASHINGTON, April 13. (AP)—A demand for the resignation of Chairman Raskob of the Democratic National committee was made today by Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson, chairman of the National Woman's Democratic Law Enforcement league.

In her keynote address before the biennial convention of the league, Mrs. Nicholson asserted a drive would be made to have organized democratic women desert the party unless a new leader were chosen.

The attack against Raskob was initiated shortly after the meeting was convened by Dr. Jennie M. Callias of Omaha, Nebraska, who resigned as a democratic national committee woman in 1928 in protest of the nomination of Governor Smith.

PAYMENT OF BILLS TAKING TIME OF COMMISSIONERS

Relief Work and Sale of Bonds to Be Studied Tomorrow by Them.

For their approval or rejection today, Gray county commissioners had more than a hundred bills, totaling several thousand dollars. The bills are being opened by Judge S. D. Stennis, and conforming to the procedure inaugurated at the beginning of the year by the county judge, they are being discussed and explained by the commissioners.

The bills which will be paid were approved by Auditor R. C. Wilson and the commissioners before they were brought into the commissioners' courtroom.

Indications were this morning that the whole day will be required to dispose of the bills. Tomorrow Mrs. W. H. Davis and other members of the Welfare Board will appear before the court to renew their plea for a county hospital to provide medical attention for the destitute ill of the county.

The court at this session is also due to make several important decisions concerning the sale of county-wide road bonds in the amount of $2,250,000, which were recently voted. Representatives of many companies have already conferred with the commissioners regarding printing of the bonds, taking up road district bonds previously issued, and the sale of the new bonds.

Man Is Held as Girl Dies

LUBBOCK, April 13. (AP)—Awaiting outcome of an autopsy on the body of Miss Elsie Forman, 16, of near Spur, a man told officers here was J. N. Edmondson, 39, of Spur, is in the Crosby county jail without charge.

A physician who conducted the autopsy here said he found no evidence of the immediate cause of death. The stomach was sent to state laboratories at Austin for analysis.

An inquest was held in the hotel room and decision withheld pending outcome of an autopsy.

The young woman was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Forman, who live 10 miles west of Spur.

Congressman Says Privileges Must Not Be Extended to Fcw—Cities Need of Low Farm Rates.

Communism was described as an "absurd philosophy and system of government," but a spur which should move the American government to abolish special privileges to favored groups, by Congressman Marvin Jones in an address at noon today before 150 members of the Chamber of Commerce and visitors from Miami, LaFors, Canadian, and McLean.

"The greatest trouble with our government today is that special privileges have been granted to special groups, namely: that small group of industrial leaders which comprise 'Big Business,' Mr. Jones declared.

In this connection, the representative from this congressional district mentioned that during the last session of congress which he characterized as a "family row," he introduced a resolution, wholly non-partisan in nature, designed to correct discriminatory freight rates. Mr. Jones pointed out that industrial commodities enjoy a reduction in freight rates from the factory to the sea shipping point when they are exported. He said this reduction amounted to 25 per cent and up. Likewise, he said, imports, including coconut oil, are shipped at reduced rates from the sea to inland American factories.

Farmers Need Same

The congressman declared that farm products should enjoy similar reductions, or that the whole freight rate structure should be revised or lowered. The U. S. Steel company has enjoyed a reduction on its commodities for the last 30 years and the stockholders have never missed a dividend, he stated. "If farm products enjoyed the same reduction, farmers would receive so many dividends," he declared. Mr. Jones said that he had conferred with Chairman Legge of the farm board regarding the reduction but that that individual, although agreeing with him, had "passed the buck."

The Little theater is planning to present "Nothing But the Truth," in White Deer tomorrow evening. The play, a three-act comedy by James Montgomery, will be given under the auspices of the junior class of the White Deer high school.

Those to take part in the presentation will be W. B. Weatherhead, Morris Johnson, W. O. Workman, A. L. Patrick, Walter Hardin, Miss Katherine Vincent, Mrs. Helen Turner, Miss Dary Meador, Miss Susie Bell Hickman, Miss Louise Barton, and Miss Florence Sue Dodson.

The production staff includes W. J. Smith, director-at-large; Dr. A. B. Goldston, house chairman; Mrs. Curtis Douglas, property chairman; Olin E. Hinkle, publicity manager.

Mrs. G. M. Woodward of Hardisty, Okla., is the guest of Mrs. C. R. Cobb, 207 North Ward.

Let of Bantlinging

Mr. Jones mentioned the treasury department had intended to postpone construction of the Pampa postoffice and that "it took a lot of button-holing" to induce the building committee to include it in this year's program. "However, it would have been impossible to land the federal building for Pampa if it had not been for the support of Pampa citizens, newspapers, Chamber of Commerce, and others."

Proceeding Congressman Jones' address, George Briggs made a report.

Little Theater Helps Eliminate Bleacher-Sitting of Americans

Pampa's Little Theater movement deserves unstinted support and more interest than ordinarily attaches to home talent enterprises.

Talking pictures have killed interest in legitimate stage performances in most cities, but science cannot take from the people the enjoyment which they have in personally staging the dramas.

America is too much a nation of bleacher-sitters. The people need to climb down into the arena. The Little Theater is one step in the right direction.

Last Saturday was peculiar—it had no election to claim attention of voters and newspaper men.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, April 13. (NEA).—The real story behind the recent excitement about wage-cutting, in which President Hoover first was represented as feeling deeply concerned and then represented himself as not being concerned at all, is that the first couple of months of this year were accompanied by a far larger proportion of wage-cutting than in any two months of the depression year of 1930.

The government's best figures on wage cuts, quite incomplete but at the same time obviously indicative of general trends showed that the number of workers in manufacturing plants affected by wage cuts as reported for January and February was four times as large, as the monthly average for 1930.

At the same time, the important thing about wage-cutting has been practiced only to a minor extent as ratio of unemployment, part-time employment and the reduction of the American worker's average annual wage caused by those two factors.

The threat to wage scales, however, will continue to increase along with the pressure of sentiment for wage cuts until there is a definite pickup from the depression. In most past slumps, wages have been the last factor in production costs to fall and the last to increase with the return of prosperity.

The widely published story emanating from "friends of the president" indicated plainly enough that someone very close to him was worrying a lot about the situation. Just what was indicated by Hoover's subsequent assertion that there was nothing to worry about it still not quite clear.

But the incident at least called general attention to the government's own figures on wage-cutting and to increasing demands by certain bankers and certain others for general reductions which would adjust wages to fallen commodity prices. Those who argue for wage cuts contend that they can be effected fairly because the cost of living is lower. The department of labor has figured that the cost of living dropped 6 1/4 per cent between December, 1929, and December, 1930, but the wage cuts reported do it thus far have averaged 10 per cent.

Some 203,000 employes in manufacturing industries have been affected by wage cuts reported to the Bureau of Labor Statistics for the 14 months ended February 15, half of them in the last four months of the period. There were 43,000 persons affected by wage cuts in January and 39,000 in February. High months of 1930 were 25,000 in August and 20,000 in July.

More than 203,000 persons have had wages cut, however. Workers in plants making the monthly report represents less than 10 per cent of American wage and salary earners.

Some establishments may cut wages without reporting it and various methods of camouflage have been reported by which wage cuts are effected without being called that. The fact that 200,000 of 3,000,000 manufacturing workers have had their wages cut means one worker out of 15. But there is no way to estimate a total of those affected unless one arbitrarily supposes that the same employed persons have suffered, the result of which probably is much too high.

Ball Franchise Back To Tulsa

TULSA, Okla., April 13. (AP)—Plans went forward today for the return of Western league baseball to Tulsa, with the franchise in the hands of Frank Isbell, former Chicago White Sox first baseman, and for 17 years a Western league club owner.

FIVE TEAMS HAVE PENNANT HOPES IN NATIONAL LOOP

CLOSE RACE IS SURE TO BE FEATURE

Cards Favored to Repeat But Other Teams Will Be Pressing Hard.

Associated Press Sports Writer. NEW YORK, April 13. (AP)— Another close race in the National League with at least four or five clubs in the running—that is the hope of the day before the 1931 season opens. Optimism is the rule in the elder major league and few clubs are willing to admit they won't be close to the top in September.

The St. Louis Cardinals are generally favored to repeat their triumph but only after the hardest kind of struggle from the Chicago Cubs, Brooklyn Robins, New York Giants, and Pittsburgh Pirates. The consensus of experts has picked the five leaders to finish in that order with Boston, Philadelphia and Cincinnati bringing up in the rear.

With Rogers Hornsby, now manager, back in condition, the Chicago Cubs are brimming over with confidence. Hornsby has made no changes in last year's regular lineup but has acquired a lot of good reserves, both recruits and experienced players.

Brooklyn's Robins plugged a few holes by trading some of their spare man power to the Phillies for Fresno Thompson, a steady second baseman, and Frank O'Doul, hard hitting outfielder, and also, are highly optimistic. The New York Giants are counting on Young Johnny Vergez to take care of third base while Freddy Lindstrom plays right field.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, handicapped by injuries last season, again are rated as a fifth National League contender. With Pie Traynor and Lloyd Waner back in shape, the Pirates should be much stronger.

Promising Rookies Will Be Started

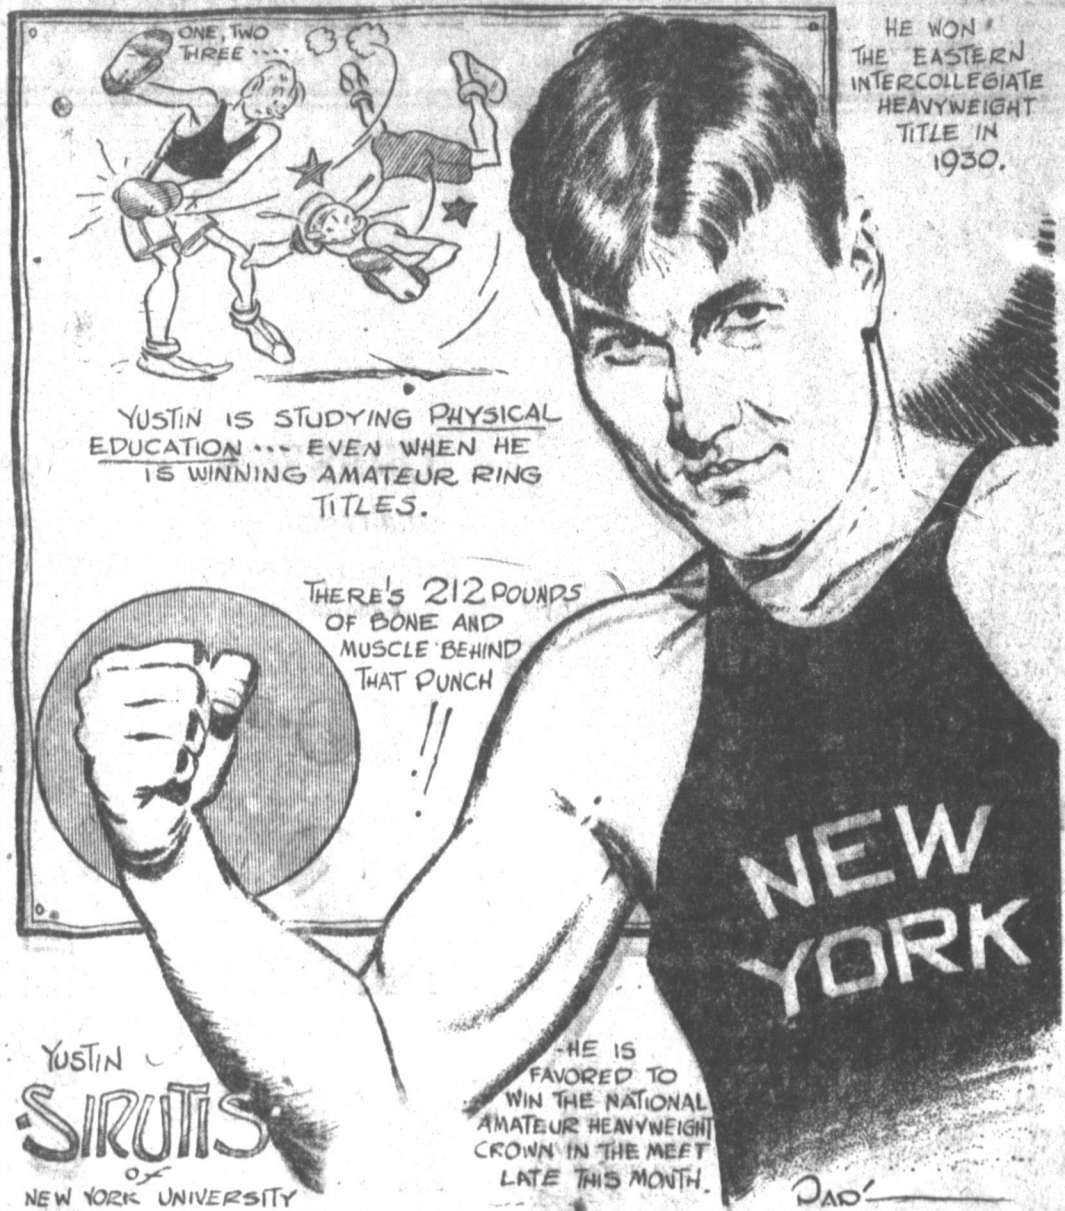

By The Associated Press. Promising rookies in the big leagues: Veterans will fill most of the posts on the major league teams when the season opens tomorrow but a number of recruits, up for the first time, may break into the lineups as regulars. Aside from pitchers, the outstanding rookies who seem to have battled their way into a starting place include: National league: New York—Vergez, third base. Cincinnati—Heath, first base. Phillies—Arlett, outfield, and Malton, second base. Boston—Schulmerich and Worthington, outfielders, and Wilson, third base. American league: New York—Hoag, outfield. Chicago—Simmons, outfield. Detroit—Harvey and Gerald Walker, and Ivey Shiver, outfielders. Cleveland—Yosmik, outfield. Boston—Wardler, shortstop, and Yancamp, first base.

Feminine Fancies By HOLLYCE SELLERS HINKLE

King Cotton for royalty! Miss West Texas and her court will be attired in organdie frocks, pastel shades, when the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention is held at Lubbock next month.

Cotton is increasing in popularity among club women and co-eds of Texas.

We have spoken of the University of Texas, Simmons university, and Texas club women. Now Texas Technological college has joined the ranks of cotton boosters by observing Cotton day. Despite the cold weather, the girls of the college attended classes in cotton dresses and concluded the day with a style revue.

The colleges have taken admirable steps by the increased attention given the more practical things of life.

Last year a Texas Technological college organization sponsored lectures and demonstrations pertaining to good etiquette. The students were taught how to entertain, how to be good mixers, and yes, the proper silver to use at dinner. We'll wager the facts learned from these lectures were remembered long after history lessons were forgotten. Students heard the lectures not for credit but because they felt the need of the information.

There were many upturned noses among older folk when it was announced that a course in feminine charm would be conducted in Carroll college, Waukesha, Wis. But for the co-eds it meant self-improvement, an attainment for which they felt the need more than for any of the more abstract subjects. It is the aim of the classes to help the co-eds be themselves, to aid them in making the most of their natural characteristics. One of the classes is to give living demonstrations of several distinct types of women: The sophisticated type, the cameo type, the gypsy type, the madonna type, the Diana type, the tailored type, who sports clothes, and the ingenue or "baby" type, who, when looking at a man plays with a button on his coat as she looks up at him with adoring big eyes and says: "You is a great big, handsome man."

LARGE LIVING ROOM ADDS TO HOME APPEAL

Among its other good points, this house features a large living room, increasingly popular the world over. In the arrangement here the living room is to the right of the spacious entrance hall. On the left is the dining room, and directly ahead is the stairway.

Adding attractiveness to the exterior is the tall bay, which enlarges the dining room and bedroom above it. Adjacent to the living room is a convenient lavatory.

The very large fireplace claims much interest in the living room. Other notable features here are the space for books and the fernery bay window beside the chimney.

Upstairs there are four bedrooms and a bath. All rooms have good sunlight and cross-ventilation. Exterior walls are of buff, coral or cream stucco. The half-timbering and wide clapboards are rough-hewn, and other marks showing through the weathered gray finish.

The roof is given colorful touches here and there by the judicious mingling of stannas and sepia with the prevailing dark gray slate.

Echoing the color note from above, the slanting sides of the large stucco chimney are covered with shingle tile in the colors of the roof slate.

The entrance should face east, providing east, west and south exposures for the living room. Some owners might prefer to let the end house the dining room and kitchen face the street, thus throwing the long way of the living room upon the garden.

The lot should be at least 60 by 125 feet, while one 75 by 125 feet would be even more suitable. Trees and landscaping will add greatly to the charm of this spacious residence.

The cost will range between $6,000 and $8,000, subject to local conditions and the owner's choice of materials.

"Kid" Party Is Held For Dorcas Class on Friday

Dorcas class, Central Baptist church, was entertained with a "kid" party in the home of Mrs. Kelly Langard, 304 North West, at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening.

Prize for best costume was given to Mrs. Rena Belle Anderson.

Ice cream cones were served at refreshment time to Mesdames Madge Satterwhite, Linnie Shair, Margaret Langard, Rena Belle Anderson, Mildred Chapman, Jerry Evans, Mattie Woolley, Anna Lee Stonesifer, Ruby Langford, Iva Kenas.

Reality of Sin, Disease, Death Are Discussed

The lesson-sermon subject was "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" in all Churches of Christ, Scientists, Sunday, April 12.

Duromony 7:15 furnished the golden text: "The Lord will take away from thee all sickness, and will put none of the evil diseases of Egypt, which thou knowest, upon thee."

The following passages from the Bible (Luke 12:11-13) were included in the lesson-sermon: "And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years. . . . And when Jesus saw her He called her to Him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. . . . and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God."

The following paragraph from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, was also read: "If sickness is true or the idea of Truth, you cannot destroy sickness, and it would be absurd to try. Then classify sickness and error as our Master did, when he spoke of the sick, 'whom Satan hath bound,' and find a sovereign antidote for error in the life-giving power of Truth acting on human belief, a power which opens the prison doors to such as are bound, and sets the captive free physically and morally."

JUNIOR HIGH P-TA TO NAME NEW OFFICERS

Officers will be elected by the junior high school Parent Teacher association at a meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home economics room of the school.

Included on a program will be a talk, "Value of Good Reading in the Home," by J. A. Meek, principal of Baker school, and a piano solo by Ann Sweatman. Another musical number also will be given.

NURSERY USED TOTAL OF $777

In the financial statement of the children's day nursery published in the NEWS-POST Sunday, the amount received by the treasurer, Mrs. DeLea Vicars, was omitted due to an error made in the composing department.

The total amount disbursed was $777.50. Mrs. Vicars stated that the nursery was closed March 31 for lack of funds to operate. She said that the nursery was to get $200 per month from the community chest but did not get it, and that "the funds are coming in so slow the Welfare Board does well to meet the demands for family relief without helping other organizations."

AD MARRIAGE

By LAURA LOU BROOKMAN, Author of 'HEART HUNGRY', etc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Gypsy McBride, 19-year-old twin in a New York office, is miserable and lonely when she finds that Alan Crosby, just returned from a year and a half in Paris studying art, no longer cares for her. Crosby is infatuated with Mrs. Gangle, wealthy divorcee, who considers herself a patron of art.

Gypsy becomes disgusted with her job and when she is criticized for carelessness impulsively resigns. She accepts an invitation from her wealthy cousin, Anne Trowbridge, to take the place of another guest at a formal dinner. The party is a bore. She leaves to get her wraps and go home, hears a noise in the next room and opens the door to see a man climbing in the window. He is James Wallace, guest of the Trowbridges, who has entered by the fire escape to avoid the dinner party guests. Wallace tells Gypsy he has just been jilted by his fiancée. She admits she has had the same experience. To spite the girl who cares for Wallace asks Gypsy to marry him. She first refuses but later accepts.

"They are married next morning and take the train for Forest City. At Jim's home they are greeted by his aunt, Miss Otis. Wallace makes no secret of her hostility to the girl. Jim takes Gypsy to lunch at the Carlton hotel next day and she sees two women watching them. Gypsy asks who they are. Jim replies, "Someone I can't want to meet. Let's go."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XVII
Mrs. Halle Butterworth, resplendent in a purple ensemble, with her daughter directly behind her, less obtrusive in blue, headed across the room directly toward the table at which Jim and Gypsy were sitting. Gypsy had barely time to warn in a subdued voice: "They're coming over here!" before Mrs. Butterworth was beside them.

"My dear Jim," she began in a quavering voice, "I've been in the news and just had to come over to see if it's really true! Is it—over is it—?"

Jim had risen. "How do you do, Mrs. Butterworth," he said. "Hello, Daphne. This is Mrs. Wallace." He turned to Gypsy. "I want to introduce some old friends—Mrs. Butterworth and Miss Daphne Butterworth."

"Then it is true!" beamed the older woman nodding her head vigorously as she spoke. "And this is the little bride!" she stepped back, commiserating her aunt as Gypsy, but before anyone else could speak she was off again: "We heard this morning you were married and I declare you could have knocked me over with a feather! Jim's one of our boys, you know. To think you're actually married!—It must have happened a sudden, didn't it? Young love, I suppose!"

Her voice carried to half a dozen surrounding tables. Jim's face burned with slowly mounting color. "Won't you sit down?" Gypsy suggested.

"Oh, no, thank you, my dear, but we can't stop. We're on the wing. Yes—on the wing! Where is your home, Mrs. Wallace? I suppose you're a stranger in Forest City?"

"I've always lived in New York," Gypsy told her.

"So that's where you were married, Daphne and I had been wondering. Quiet wedding I suppose since none of Jim's relatives were there. They weren't, were they, Jim?"

Mrs. Butterworth's inquisitive frame darted from one to the other. The purple hair flaring abruptly back from her forehead was trimmed with a feather ornament of brighter shade. It reminded Gypsy of a headlight, singularly appropriate considering Mrs. Butterworth's dynamic approval of her spectacles bobbed as she talked.

Wallace was annoyed. "No," he said, "none of my relatives were at the wedding."

Since he did not volunteer any other information Mrs. Butterworth tried again:

"Well, of course lots of people prefer a small wedding," she went on. "Sometimes I think they're nicer. Only I was thinking about your Aunt Ellen. Must seem queer to her for you to bring home a wife like she goes to live with you."

"I don't think Aunt Ellen has quite settled her arrangements," Gypsy spoke up serenely. "You must come to see us some day, Mrs. Butterworth. I'm awfully anxious to know all Jim's friends."

Daphne, who throughout the conversation had been shadowed by her mother, now interrupted. "Don't you think we should go now, Mother?" she said. "My appointment was for 11:15."

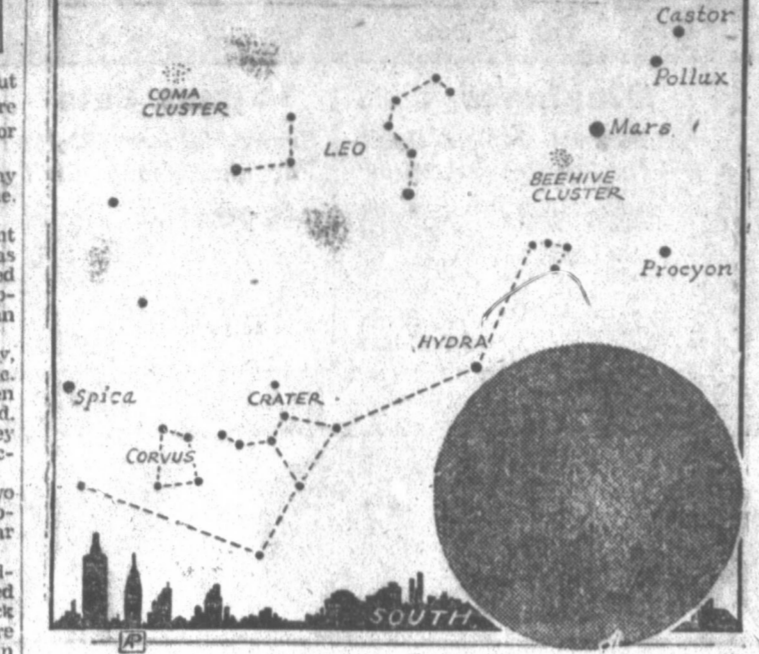

"Of course," Jim simply delighted to have her go. "You're welcome, you're a sweet little thing—yes, you are! You and Daphne will have to get together. I'm sure you'd have a lot in common. Give my love to your aunt, Jim. Come, Daphne, Gypsy."

With a heart-felt "goodby" Jim dropped down to his chair. "Town pest!" he grumbled. "That woman can scent gossip a mile off and tells everything she knows. Never saw such a person! Only reason she came over here was to see what she could find out. You know how to handle her though. That was smart not to give her any satisfaction about Aunt Ellen."

Gypsy smiled. "I was afraid you'd do something violent," she said. "You looked as though you were about ready to leave. You know how the water brought the desert. Wallace said, 'There's one other thing I'd like to take you since we're downtown. How about coming over to the office? Mark ought to be there now. Like to go?'"

She told him she would. "We must go too," said Gypsy. "Jim's aunt will think we're lost."

'BEEHIVE' CLUSTER OF STARS GLOWS NEAR MARS IN APRIL

The southern sky in the early evening of April 1 shows the Beehive and Coma clusters and the planet Mars. Inset shows how a cluster appears through binoculars.

By ROBERT H. BAKER, Professor of Astronomy, University of Illinois.
URBANA, Ill., April 4. (AP)—The "Beehive" cluster may be seen in the southern sky early in the evening during this month.

To the naked eye it is a faintly luminous patch against the dark sky. A field glass readily resolves the haze into a fine cluster of stars. It is known also as Praesepe, the Manger.

It is especially easy to find this cluster at the present time because the red planet Mars is near by. On the first of April Mars is directly in the south at 8 p. m. high in the sky. The Beehive is only a little way to the east of the planet.

Mars is now moving swiftly eastward. It will pass the Beehive, a little above it, on April 29. Anyone who has not noticed the movement of a planet among the stars will find it interesting to watch Mars during April.

The first few evenings of this month will not be favorable for observing faint objects in the sky. For the moon is at the full phase on April 2. Early in the afternoon on this date the moon will, in fact, be totally eclipsed for an hour and a half, but this eclipse will not be visible in the United States.

The Beehive cluster is the most spectacular object in the rather dull constellation Cancer, of the zodiac, after which the "Tropic of Cancer" is named. Two thousand years ago the sun reached its most northern point in this constellation. Now this point, the summer solstice, has moved west into the adjoining constellation Gemini.

Eastward from the Beehive, just beyond the constellation Leo, another cluster of stars can be seen—the Coma Perseids, cluster. At first sight it looks like a "cobweb in the sky," but field glasses show it was a cluster of stars.

Introduction of the vice president, secretary, reporter, song leader, and pianist, was made at the meeting of the Bo Knot club of Pampa Junior high school in the Lamar building Thursday. The officers, introduced by the president, Juliette Jane Canfield, were: Elizabeth Atterbury, vice-president; Flora Dean Finley, secretary; Loris Bryson, reporter; Maxine Turner, song leader; and Willie Reese Taylor, pianist.

A talk was made to the club by Mrs. Nina Moskimming. The other parts of the program were: piano solo, "Waltz in D," by Juliette Jane Canfield; violin solo, "Russian Dance No. 2," Willie Reese Taylor; readings, by Katherine Snell and Hazel Pierce; story, "Two Boys and a Drum," Patty Wall; talks on the subject, "The Ways the Bo Knot club has helped my room," by Loris Bryson and Flora Dean Finley; singing of "Dixie Land" and "Onward Christian Soldiers," led by Maxine Turner.

A duck owned by H. Goldberger, of 414 W. 17th St., La., lays eggs that are jet black, outside and inside. "They were women's voices and Ellen Wallace's rose above the others."

"Oh, Jim I don't want to meet any more people now!" Gypsy whispered. "Won't it be all right if I go upstairs?"

"More gabbling!" he murmured as he went. "The mob—tell 'em you've got a headache."

Gypsy smiled gratefully and ran up the stairs. Her husband hesitated a moment, then disappeared into the library. "Trouble!" he murmured as he went. "The mob—tell 'em you've got a headache."

"You'll do it. You two ought to get along all right. By the way, Jim, Wheeler called. He says that hearing's set for next Tuesday."

"The two men were deep in a legal discussion when Miss Otis appeared in the doorway. "Mr. Harrison," she said, "you made that appointment with Judge Hutchinson for 3 o'clock. It's 10 minutes after."

"Oh, God bless my soul! So I did. Have to run—!" Harrison was on his feet, hat in hand. "You'll excuse me, Mrs. Wallace? Glad you came to see me. Come again. Jim—when are you going to ask me out to dinner?"

"Just as soon as you'll come," Wallace assured him. "I'll be here. We must go too," said Gypsy. "Jim's aunt will think we're lost."

Wallace led the way and Harrison and Gypsy followed. As they went through the door the old lawyer said to the girl in a lowered voice: "Don't let Aunt Ellen frighten you. She's talking, all right."

Talks To Parents

By ALICE JUDSON PEALE
Donald is the child of two parents who love him wisely and well. His routine is sane and regular. Every day, morning and afternoon, he plays in the park with other children.

His mother, who cares for him herself, is blessed with common sense, and her love for him shows itself in an even-tempered friendliness and genuine delight in his companionship. His father, who is a professional man and works at home, is able to see a good deal of his little son.

Donald's home life is pleasant and cheerful, a product of good management and of the harmony which exists between his parents. It is no wonder, then, that he stands firmly on his feet, greets the world with a smile and every new experience with eager interest.

Such a background is the birthright of every child. With good health and a fine, sensible home back of him, he can start without handicaps to make the acquaintance of the larger world outside his home.

He is ready to make friends. His pleasant personality and engaging eagerness send him off on the right foot. He is all set to meet the world and enjoy it.

The child whose home conditions are such as to make him irritable, whiny, over-emotional and unstable, who feels insecure in his parents' love for him because of their erratic behavior toward him, who is troubled by under currents of disharmony in his background or who is spoiled and excessively dependent upon adults, is not all set to meet his world.

The chances are that the effects of his early conditioning will be reflected in difficulties in school and in his social life and in the ever more complicated adjustments he will be called upon to make.

Europe to Begin Daylight Time

LONDON, April 13. (AP)—Within another week Europe's clocks, in those countries which look kindly on the notion of daylight saving time, will slide forward for the summer.

With so many contentious subjects in hand, Europe has not been able to get excited over a daylight saving controversy. The various countries just take it or leave it as they choose and at present only half a dozen nations take it. They are France, Belgium, Portugal, Spain, Holland and Great Britain.

Charline Culp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Culp, of Phillips camp near Borger, is attending this week with Mrs. Oscar Bell.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Pressnell and Mrs. Oscar Bell visited Phillips camp near Borger yesterday.

'CHUTE ALLOWS 100-FOOT JUMP

NEA San Francisco Bureau
Absolute safety in leaps from a falling plane at less than 100 feet from the ground, heretofore almost certain death, is promised in a new silk parachute which is shown above being tested at Oakland, Calif. airport. The parachute jumper stepped from the plane, flying near the ground, and the silk bag performed perfectly, as you can see. The new 'chute is of special value when an airplane "folds up" at low altitude.

SCOUT NEWS

By LEROY CROSS, Troop No. 80
The Scouts of Troop No. 80 met at 7:15 o'clock, Friday night in the basement of the Methodist church. Fourteen boys were present, also Scoutmaster Sackett and Clarence Coffin, assistant scoutmaster.

We were all glad to see Mr. Sackett back and our meeting was again put back in its natural routine. We discussed the coming summer sports and activities, but did not forget the all-important court of honor. Some of the boys are anxious to again begin on woodcraft and it won't be long before swimming will become a national by issue. Most boys intend to pass some swimming tests and some intend to learn.

The spring drive is beginning to gather force and any boy will be welcome to join our troop as a new scout or as a scout that has come from some other town. Our meeting closed with the scout benediction at 8 o'clock.

By HARLAN MARTIN, Troop No. 15

Palo Duro Canyon Will Be Opened

CANYON, April 13. (AP)—What is said to be the most attractive section of the Palo Duro canyon, 11 miles east of this city, will be opened to the public, the Canyon chamber of commerce announced today.

A formal opening is being planned for some time in May, or as soon as a highway can be built to the canyon rim.

Five canyon tributaries converge on the section of land obtained by the chamber of commerce. It is in the heart of that part of the canyon proposed as a state and national park.

Program Is Given Bo Knot Members
Introduction of the vice president, secretary, reporter, song leader, and pianist, was made at the meeting of the Bo Knot club of Pampa Junior high school in the Lamar building Thursday. The officers, introduced by the president, Juliette Jane Canfield, were: Elizabeth Atterbury, vice-president; Flora Dean Finley, secretary; Loris Bryson, reporter; Maxine Turner, song leader; and Willie Reese Taylor, pianist.

A talk was made to the club by Mrs. Nina Moskimming. The other parts of the program were: piano solo, "Waltz in D," by Juliette Jane Canfield; violin solo, "Russian Dance No. 2," Willie Reese Taylor; readings, by Katherine Snell and Hazel Pierce; story, "Two Boys and a Drum," Patty Wall; talks on the subject, "The Ways the Bo Knot club has helped my room," by Loris Bryson and Flora Dean Finley; singing of "Dixie Land" and "Onward Christian Soldiers," led by Maxine Turner.

A duck owned by H. Goldberger, of 414 W. 17th St., La., lays eggs that are jet black, outside and inside. "They were women's voices and Ellen Wallace's rose above the others."

"Oh, Jim I don't want to meet any more people now!" Gypsy whispered. "Won't it be all right if I go upstairs?"

"More gabbling!" he murmured as he went. "The mob—tell 'em you've got a headache."

Gypsy smiled gratefully and ran up the stairs. Her husband hesitated a moment, then disappeared into the library. "Trouble!" he murmured as he went. "The mob—tell 'em you've got a headache."

"You'll do it. You two ought to get along all right. By the way, Jim, Wheeler called. He says that hearing's set for next Tuesday."

"The two men were deep in a legal discussion when Miss Otis appeared in the doorway. "Mr. Harrison," she said, "you made that appointment with Judge Hutchinson for 3 o'clock. It's 10 minutes after."

"Oh, God bless my soul! So I did. Have to run—!" Harrison was on his feet, hat in hand. "You'll excuse me, Mrs. Wallace? Glad you came to see me. Come again. Jim—when are you going to ask me out to dinner?"

"Just as soon as you'll come," Wallace assured him. "I'll be here. We must go too," said Gypsy. "Jim's aunt will think we're lost."

Wallace led the way and Harrison and Gypsy followed. As they went through the door the old lawyer said to the girl in a lowered voice: "Don't let Aunt Ellen frighten you. She's talking, all right."

by C. E. BUTTERFIELD

(Time Is Central Standard) NEW YORK, April 13. (AP)—With the feel of spring just beginning to permeate New York City, Bill Murray has appeared on the scene.

Murray, who is making a name for himself on the networks as a football and other sports announcer, is in town for a few days to talk things over at NBC. He lives in Atlanta, Ga., the home of WSB and he writes sports for The Journal there when not on the air.

Incidentally Bill is still anxious to learn what the listeners thought of his play by play description of the Alabama-Washington State Tournament of Roses game new year's day at Pasadena, Calif.

Nocturne, the WABC program in which Ann Leaf, organist, and Ben Allen, tenor, appear each night, goes to a coast to coast network starting April 17. Beatrice Belkin, soprano, who has resigned from the Metropolitan Opera company is to devote all of her time to radio and concert programs. When WOR, New York, carries a Pan-American day address by President Ortiz Tuesday night it will be broadcast by WKWAF, Schneclady, on 3.48 meters for Latin America.

Try these on your radio tonight: New program, conducted by Ray Atwell, comedian, WABC and stations at 5:30. History of Magnolia Is History of Early Oil Development in Southwest

An existence without motor transportation and all the other conveniences made possible by petroleum fuel is hardly conceivable to the younger generation of today...

Pennsylvania was the cradle of American petroleum industry, but it was only the beginning of a development which was soon to transform the habits of mankind...

Long before the war between the states, the Indians who inhabited Texas, Oklahoma, and other southwestern states made use of petroleum seepage to which they attributed many curative properties...

Petroleum was produced in Texas as early as 1896 when several shallow wells were drilled in Nacogdoches county, but this development was never of any commercial value...
